Shawville WI will represent Pontiac at provincial competition

At Quyon on Saturday evening three short plays were performed by the ladies of three Pontiac Women's Institutes in a competition for one to represent this County at a Province-wide competition next month at Macdonald College. The three local contenders were Beech Grove WI, Shawville WI and the hostess group, Quyon WI.

Along with the three plays, the evening of entertainment included a delightful variety of singers, a novelty dance and trumpet solo by one of Quyon's most talented young men, Earl Bottril accompanied on the piano by Gwen Peppard. The dance was a Mr. Pastry routine performed in a most professional manner by Maureen Tracy and the singers were Emmett O-Donnell singing in an easy going and most enjoyable manner, with Gary Young on the guitar, Gervase O'Reilly who doesn't have to sing to be entertaining but did so to the utter delight of the audience, little Gillie Fraser accompanied by Rose Morin, Dottie McColl accompanied by Jacqueline Pilon and later both these little charmers singing duets, and finally some rousing fine singing as performed only by Ron Bottril.

Mrs. Fraser accompanied the singing of O Canada at the outset and Mrs. Taber accompanied God Save the Queen to close. But the main event of the evening was the performance of the three playlets. Judges to decide which should go on to represent Pontiac County as the Provincial contest were Mr. Bill Brandum Assistant Manager of the Hilton Mines, Miss Elizabeth Dickson Process Engineer at the Consolidated Paper Corporation Pontiac Mill, Miss Hilda Graham, Aylmer school teacher, Mrs. O'Grady president of Gatineau Cty WI and Mrs. David Dickson, editor of The Equity. All the judges had previous experience of one sort or another with dramatic production and the sum of their scoring brought a decision that the Shawville entry would be most likely to win for Pontiac.

The Beech Grove play was an authentic re-enactment of the March 1 South Onslow Council meeting in the year 1876. The same table, pictures on the wall, racoon coats suitable for March weather, even the actual minutes of the previous meeting were used in this fascinating documentary. The originality of the idea and the sheer delight of the ladies taking the parts of those bearded nineteenth century councillors all added up to a very worthwhile production.

Quyon's entry was a skit involving four radio orators whose programs became intermingled with most amusing results. The announcers were dressed in the garbs of their trades and the County-wide enthusiasm supports Sheriff's project

When Joe Sloan took his covered wagon to Otter Lake on Sunday he had riding at his side Mrs. Sloan and their two sons, Dominic and Shawn, and accompanying him were Bill McTiernan who built the wagon, Dennis Holland who helped, Mel Kensley who painted the portraits of the Fathers of Confederation, Queen Victoria and Sir John A MacDonald on the sides and Ron Pringle who did the lettering on the front, back and sides and who painted the Provincial crests on the body of the wagon.

The list of contributors to the Sheriff's covered wagon to Expo journey grows each week. This week we are asked to report donations from Chapeau Council, Allumette Island Council, Sheen Council, Thorne Council (whose Mayor Sidney Sheppard took a team and carriage to join the Otter celebration for the Sheriff on Sunday) and also Harold McCoshen, David Romain, Clement Romain, Mrs. Ned Hearty, Joe Kelly and family, John McGee, Joe Stafford, Dominic Doyle all of Vinton, Romeo Mousseau, Smith Bros., Mrs. A. Arbic, H. R. Lunam and Son all of Campbell's Bay, Robert Carswell of Bryson, Ivery Newton and Myrland Sparling of Shawville and Labine's Hotel of Fort Coulonge.

At present Sheriff Sloan would appreciate the loan of several good saddles for some of his outriders who have not got anything between themselves and their horses. Anyone having a saddle to lend the Sheriff should contact him immediately at home (Campbell's Bay 34) or at work (Campbell's Bay 60) and leave the message with whomever answers in either case.

Fort Coulonge receives provincial grant for a Community Centre

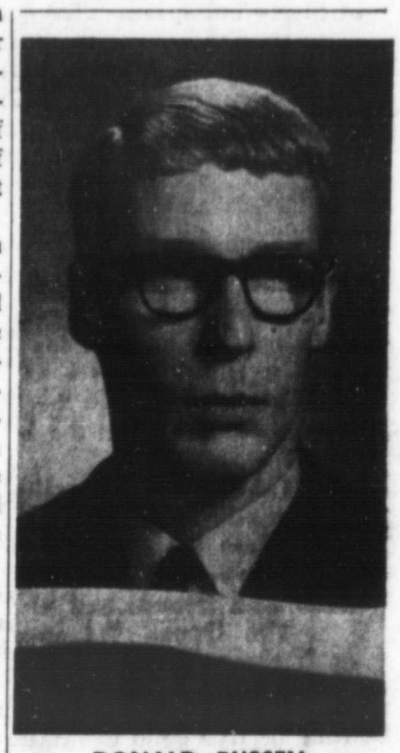

On Friday by telephone from Hon Raymond Johnston, Edgar Allard was notified that the Government of the Province of Quebec has promised a grant of $180,000 to the Municipality of Fort Coulonge towards the cost of a Community Centre.

The Municipality has drawn up plans for a Community Centre which will cost an estimated $203,000. The building of the Community Centre was approved by the electors of Fort Coulonge even before the local amount of $23,000 had been raised. Now the town will issue bonds to raise this amount and is calling for tenders to sell these bond.

The site chosen for the Community Centre, which will serve all of Western Pontiac, is a ten acre property bought by the town of Fort Coulonge from Henry Francoeur. It is on the road to the ferry known as the Lapasse Road.

The contract for the Community Centre has been let to G O Auclair of Quebec City, the same firm which put in sewers and waterworks at Chapeau and Fort Coulonge and has done other public works in the area.

It is expected that ground will be broken in two weeks and that the Centre will be ready for use by the Fall of 1967. It will include a natural ice rink, indoor tennis courts, basketball court, rooms for meetings and a kitchen and will be in two stories. Seating capacity intended is for 1400 people.

Spring Horse Show draws many entries

A good entry of about 65 horses spelled an interesting Spring Horse Show at the Shawville Fair Grounds outdoor ring on Saturday afternoon but a very small attendance in the stands caused the Agricultural Society to go in the hole for the event.

The parade leading from the Chamber of Commerce picnic park through the town on Main Street and around the Fair Grounds was predominantly made up of members of the Shawville Pony and Saddle Club which had been rallied in force by past president Phil Thompson of the Diamond T Ranch. Mrs. Philip Thompson and little Valerie led the parade until it met up with the Sheriff's covered wagon when Mr. and Mrs. Bill Racine took over. In line with the giant covered wagon which Sheriff Sloan will take to Expo were three other covered wagons, each drawn by a suitable team, entries of the Diamond T Ranch, the Bean family and the Dickson brothers.

At the grounds the horse show was announced by Rev Stan Snowden. Winners were as follows:

Small parade ponies: Vern Brownlee, Janyce Dale, Loren Smart, Dorothy McColl, Kim Hodgins.

Injured in car collision

Mrs. Esther Quaile is in hospital with multiple injuries as are several children who were with her on Sunday night when the car which she was driving came into collision at Moorhead with another car driven by Robert Graham of Shawville. The children in the car were Mrs. Quaile's son and daughter, Michael and Linda, Michael, Christopher and Stephen Bolton, Ross Baird, Judy Lett, Dorothy Black and Melanie Smith, all of Campbell's Bay. One week left to buy tickets for Costume Ball

The Centennial Costume Ball which will take place in Shawville on the night of the Confederation Picnic, July 1st, has been being planned for several months and now appears to be shaping up as the social event of the Century. Tickets are being sold in advance and we are advised that there is one week left in which to purchase tickets. Shirley Paul is convener of the Ball and Carol Rowat is her assistant and their husbands have permitted them to use the Gordon Paul Insurance Office on Centre Street and Rowat and Rowat Notaries Office on Main Street as ticket sales depots. To avoid disappointment later, those intending to go to the Ball are urged to get their tickets his week.

CPC wins again

CPC made it 2 in a row Monday night behind the superb pitching of Garry McCallum. The game in which CPC crossed the plate nine times to the Shawville Pontiacs' 4 was a rescheduled game due to the dropping out of the Moorhead team. Each team connected for a round tripper, Bob Essiambre for CPC and Bert Murphy for Shawville.

PERSONAL ENTERTAINMENT

When television appeared on the Pontiac horizon about a decade ago personal effort in the entertainment business collapsed. The good old amateur shows lost their audience and then discontinued altogether. The groups that used to put on plays became discouraged because not only was there no audience left but nobody had time to take part in the plays and do the work involved. Even the Pontiac Film Council practically folded up because people were not interested in going to the personal inconvenience of running a projector when all their potential audience was home watching TV.

Now that television has gone past the novelty stage —(remember the days when practically everyone sat transfixed for hours a day so as not to miss something)— and has taken its place as merely one more useful and entertaining gadget in the home, people are beginning to take another look at the business of personal entertainment.

Taking part in the show, whether it be a ball game, a dramatic production or a band concert has become once more the thing to do, and audiences are coming out in droves to see something happen which involves their own friends and neighbors.

The Quyon WI sponsored drama contest which took place last week brought in as large a crowd as the Onslow Intermediate School auditorium could hold in spite of the fact that on the TV screen that night four or five good dramatic shows were scheduled. Professional entertainment in the living room just couldn't compete with the efforts of close acquaintances at the school house.

The whole healthy atmosphere of live entertainment, produced by people we know seems to be coming back and from this corner, it seems to be a very good signpost of things to come.

Rev J A Wadell solemnized the wedding on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in Western United Church of Miss Verda Clarissa Grant, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grant of Quyon to Mr. Russell Clifford Cowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Cowan of Kinburn.

The 108th anniversary of the United Church was fittingly celebrated on Sunday with special services and a full church at both services. The guest preacher for the day was a former pastor Rev Mahlon I. Robinson of Norwood. In the morning two anthems were sung and Miss Kay Woodley sang as a solo "Thy Will Be Done". Because of war restrictions it was decided to hold no anniversary supper this year.

USCM appreciates interest

Dear Friends,

Our campaign to provide free spectacle aid to the needy in leprosariums, hospitals and missions in Europe and Asia will terminate on July 15th 1967. By that time, we will have sent 4500 pairs of spectacles and $125. in contributions to help the wonderful work of the United Christian Service mission.

It was a thrilling experience, on the one hand to be closely associated with those dedicated people at the UCSM who devote their lives to this work, and on the other, to deal at firsthand with all those who helped with specacles, money and moral support.

To those who would wish to continue their interest and support in this Christian service, may I urge you to correspond directly with:

overall effect caused many a chuckle.

The Shawville playlet concerned the perplexities of engaging domestic help and gave a number of members an opportunity to take on an amusing and distinctive character. The play required less ambitious costuming than the previous two but afforded the actors more scope in characterization to which challenge they rose nobly. The group is now in the process of improving their production hoping to stand up well for Pontiac County in the next round, a responsibility the ydonotidnnteaottrteityi-zity they do not intend to treat lightly.

Paddler's follow route taken by D'Iberville

In 1686 d'Iberville reached Hudson's Bay by passing along the Ottawa River. Two hundred and eighty one years later, at six o'clock Saturday evening, June 10, 1967, six canoes and twelve paddlers landed on the shores of the Ottawa River about two miles from Fort Coulonge.

The expedition was headed by Lt Jacques Vallieres with Sgt Normand Lacoste, Corporal Trnest Arsineau, Paul Couturier, Jacques Dicaire, Adrien Casavant, Michael Lacombe, Jean Theberge, Jean Grenier, Roland Preston, Roland Bernier, Arthur Delisle, all men of strong arm and brave heart and all members of the first battallion of the Royal 22.

They were re-enacting the voyage to render homage to the fathers of the colony who had travelled on the historic Ottawa River.

The canoes landed on the shores where Mervin Pearson, Fort Coulonge hotel keeper, has a summer resort. They were given a warm welcome at the beach by Mr. Pearson and Mr. Jean-Marie Leguerrier. After a good night's rest, the party started out on the next lap of their journey at six o'clock on Sunday morning from Bryson's point on Coulonge Lake.

Veteran's Cenotaph Parade held by Legion

On Sunday, June 11, the Royal Canadian Legion, Pontiac Branch 162 held a Cenotaph Parade in conjunction with veteran groups across Canada conforming with the wish of the Honourable Roger Teillet, Minister of Veterans Affairs, that June 11 to 17 be a time to feature the achievements and sacrifices of Canadians who have fought in wars. At the opening of this newly proclaimed Veterans Week, a good representation of Pontiac County Veterans convened in front of the Church parking lot in Campbell's Bay and paraded down Main Street, past the fine new row of young maples recently planted there, down over the tracks to the Legion Hall where a short ceremony took place.

Music for the marching was provided by the Shawville Community Band, under the direction for this performance of Bud Rowat. The band also played the National Anthem and God Save the Queen and a number of selections during and after the ceremony.

As the flag was lowered, Mr. Rowat played the Last Post and the Queen's colours and the Legion standards were dipped at the same time. A moment of silence was followed by the playing of Reveille and the raising of the flag, colours and standards. The Hon Raymond Johnston, Minister of Revenue for the Province of Quebec then laid a Memorial Wreath on the Cenotaph, a gift to the Legion from the Federal Government.

Rev David Bolton addressed a message to the veterans and those who had gathered to witness the ceremony expressing his opinion that though war was wrong in every way it was right to honor those who go to war, those mothers and fathers who send their sons to war, those wives who send their husbands to war, those children who have to learn to grow up without a father (who presumably has been killed in war). Father T. P. Tait then conducted prayers of thanksgiving and benediction and after "The Queen" a March Past was performed with dignitaries taking the salute on the steps of the hall.

For the occasion the veterans were suitably attired in Legion uniforms or berets and medals. Flag bearers were Cyril Lepine Jr, Roy Wyman, Alex Buchanan at the flag pole, Peter Morrell and Ernest L. Dean.

After the ceremony the veterans and their guests enjoyed a supper and reception in the Legion Hall with food provided by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Contracts are now in force for bulldozer work for improving farms. Any farmer wishing to have bulldozer or backhoe work done, should apply to the Agronomist's office. Each farmer is eligible for a maximum of thirty hours of work. Eligible work is considered to be farm work of a nature that will improve a farm.

Preference will be given to farmers whose main source of income is farming.

There has been a change in bull premium policy for dairy breeds: no premium will be paid on purchased bulls if the farm of the buyer is situated within an area serviced by an artificial insemination unit. CANADIAN TIRE — SHAWVILLE

Hell Driver show features the daring of both young and old

Hell Drivers usually crash up old cars for the chilling amusement of spectators and this year's visit from the Imperial Hell Drivers will be no exception in that way but something new has been added. In the Hell Driver show being brought to Shawville Wednesday June 21 by the Shawville Agricultural Society a brand new 1967 Dodge truck will leap through space from ramp to ramp. Also some of the wild driving will be done with Sunbeam and Simca compacts, another innovation.

But more interesting than the vehicles in the show are the people. Redheaded Collette Chantal of Paris, France started as a crash driver and now is the only female MC in thrill show business. Natch Miller of Atlanta, Georgia has performed all over the States, in Central America and the Caribbean. Happy Knapp is the clown of the show, strictly for the kids, who will pose with the children for Hell Driver snapshots. Linus Molyneaux of Prince Edward Island is the '67 Dodge leaper and enjoys meeting the fans and answering their questions after the show.

Jean Pierre Audet is billed as a ladies man being a bachelor from Roxboro, Quebec, and the youngest driver in the show. Doug Yenson is the troupe's body man and painter as well as one of their star performers. He's an Ottawa man and when he's not with the show he operates his own body and paint shop.

Then there is Paul and J. B. Riddell. J. B. is 76, a well-known athlete before the First World War, a professional Lacrosse player when Lacrosse was the national sport of Canada and a past President of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association of Canada, the Montreal Hockey Club and the Montreal Lacrosse Club, is the oldest living member of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association having joined in 1898, was an official of the Winged Sheelers Football Club when they won the Grey Cup, and was a decorated Captain in the First World War. Paul Riddell at 22 was the youngest thrill show operator, getting his start during summer vacations from Ashbury College in Ottawa. Now 30, he has worked his way to the top in the business as a fearless Hell Driver being one of the few drivers to do the reverse spin with a standard transmission.

Those are the people who will be here on next Wednesday, June 21, and the show is slated to start about 7:30 pm.

Quyon, Luskville

Plans made to greet Joe Sloan

Final plans are being drawn up to welcome Sheriff Joe Sloan on the occasion of his overnight stay in Quyon on June 23. A community supper and street dance are among the events planned by the Centennial Committee. The Committee has appointed Mrs. Basil Stanton convenor of the supper. This meal is a real community effort with both individuals and organizations being asked to contribute. The supper will be a smorgasbord and will be served at 5:00 pm that evening at the Quyon Fair Grounds.

The next day Joe Sloan will be in Luskville and he has been invited to lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Archambault at their B A Service Station about half a mile west of the village. Everyone is invited to bring their families to see and wish "bon voyage" to the Sheriff and his party. Mr. and Mrs. Archambault are also planning on having a bit of entertainment. Anyone wishing to volunteer will be most welcome.

I is for Islamic Community

Islam means, in Arabic, obedience to the will of God. Islam includes all Mohammedans no matter where in the world they live.

All their religious beliefs are contained in the Koran which is a collection of revelations written by Mohammed. It is written in Arabic and is the basis for the religious, social, civil, commercial, military and legal regulations of the Mohammedan world which is the same as the Islamic Community.

Various miracles attended the birth of Mohammed at Mecca, Arabia, about 580 years after the birth of Jesus. Little is known of his early life but he became a shepherd and a camel driver. At about 30 years of age his work as a prophet began. He proclaimed the one God of the Jews and the Christians to be the only true God, and believed in the prophetic teachings of Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses and Jesus. Authorities who objected to Mohammed's religious activities plotted to kill him, so he fled to Medina, Arabia. This flight was known as the hegira, which simply means flight in Arabic, and took place in the year 622 which year marks the beginning of the Mohammedan era. At Medina, Mohammed's new faith was accepted by heathen idol worshipping Arabs as well as a number of Jews and Christians. Those who didn't accept the new faith declared war. The religious wars which followed were won by the Mohammedans who returned to Mecca in triumph, smashed the idols in the heathen temple and turned it into a sacred shrine. Mohammed died in 632, mourned by more than a million followers.

Islamic peoples have three holy cities, Mecca, Medina and Jerusalem which was the city from where Mohammed took off on a trip through heaven to stand before the throne of God. This was just one of the miraculous deeds of this great prophet.

There are now more than four hundred million members of the Islam religion which is based largely on the Jewish and Christian religions. They believe that God gave the Law to Moses, the Gospels to Jesus and the Koran to Mohammed. They believe that the soul lives on after death and that on judgment day the souls of the dead will rise and together with the souls of the living will be summoned before God's throne to answer for their deeds. They believe the fate, which they call kismet, of each individual is settled before birth. Believers have five duties. They must recite the creed, ("There is no God but Allah and Mohammed is his Prophet") they must pray to God five times a day (dawn, noon, before sunset, after sunset, night—always facing towards Mecca), fast during the ninth month of the Mohammedan year, give alms, and make a pilgrimage to Mecca at least once during their lifetime.

Islam teaches respect for the aged and car for the needy and orphaned. It forbids gambling, wine drinking and money lending for interest. They believe there is no greater glory than to die on the battlefield in a holy war. Many wars were fought under the banner of the crescent, emblem of Mohammedanism. For 200 years they fought against Christian crusaders who unsuccessfully tried to take possession of Moslem lands, and later against Christian defenders when the Moslems tried unsuccessfully to take possession of Christian lands in Europe.

The modern Molem no longer heeds the call of the prophet to engage in holy wars in order to convert all mankind to their faith. They continue to gain converts but by more peaceful methods. The new leaders of Islam are carrying on a great reform movement which includes the emancipation of women and a general trend towards monogamy although it is still permitted for followers to keep four wives. Like Christianity and the other religions, Mohammedanism is not a unified whole but is divided into a number of sects.

This description of Mohammedanism, or Islam, has been a bit longer than that of some of the other religions in this series because it is less commonly understood than some of the others. In discussing it with various people Islam has been discovered to be in fact very much misunderstood. The Islam Community is number thirteen on our list of the Canadian Interfaith Conference.

Pastoral comment...

Rev. G. O. Atkinson

Peace!—the thing men search for but can't locate; the commodity no money can buy; the state of mind most men seek for but only a few find. Peace — the need of every nation, and of every individual today.

Why is it that men find peace so illusive? Often it is because they look in the wrong place; they seek at the wrong sources. Ambitions are realized but contentment is still elusive; fleshly appetities are gratified but the yearning for peace is still strong. Until it is recognized that the wellsprings of peace are found in God, men are engaged in a fruitless and futile pursuit.

The Bible names Jesus as the "Prince of Peace". Christ, prior to the climactic events of his last days on earth, gave an invaluable gift to his followers when he declared "Peace is my parting gift to you" Jn 14:27. Only by a personal knowledge of Christ can men enjoy true contentment. It is in the complete surrender of life to God that the quest for peace ends successfully.

Making this a personal matter, there are two questions each of us can ask ourselves, "Have I found the quietness of soul that I desire? and "Have I ever truly believed in Christ as my personal Saviour with an accompanying surrender of life to His Will?" The answer to the last question will determine the response to the first.

The past year brought them many extra events, such as: Bowling League Trophy-Awards; several conventions and social evenings in connection with the Plowing Match; the Teacher's Quebec election; the County Convention. They catered to them all.

MISSIONS

They helped the Precious Blood Sisters Building Fund.

MEETNGS

Otter Lake greets Joe in fine style

The largest turnout yet to greet Sheriff Joe Sloan met him and his covered wagon in Otter Lake Sunday. People were reminded of the days when the horses from Gillies Bros used to be herded into town for sale by the number of horses milling about the village. The people and ponies and horses and carriages were organized into a parade which included a dozen saddle horses, 35 girls dressed as Indians, a dozen teams with wagons and single carriages, a float provided by Basil Quaile carrying twenty-seven people including a violinist and a guitarist, a carriage carrying the Hon Raymond Johnston dressed as one of the Fathers of Confederation and his wife, and also carrying His Worship Mayor Roland Duval. Leading the parade was Mrs. Lorraine Racine on her beautiful palomino Flaming Star. Bearded Bill McCord brought his fine saddle horse from Charteris and on one of the floats was a crosscut saw demonstration.

Everyone enjoyed a dinner of sand baked beans, sand baked by Esmond Johnston and this bean supper raised about $100 for the Centennial Committee.

Mel Kensley provided music for the supper and David Dagenais, Ronnie Desabrais, George Lafleur and Timmy Zimmerling played for the dancing which followed. Thomas Narlock jr gave the use of his hall for the celebration and Joe Sloan had to admit that Otter Lake's style of greeting the County Sheriff provided an unforgettable experience.

COWBOY BRADLEY

Confederation Picnic may be "event of the century"

The Confederation Picnic on July first in Shawville may turn out to be the event of the century. The whole committee in charge of plans met for the last time before the big day on Monday to finalize their plans.

Baby sitting service will be provided on the grounds by the Shawville Girl Guides under the direction of Mrs. Bob Bourget.

Another newly conceived idea is an Artorama which will take place at the front of the grandstand. Students of any age will compete in an instant art competition which will be judged by Mrs. S E McDowell and Miss Elizabeth Dickson. Anything may be used to create the "art" which might turn out to be the one aspect of the whole day which is not keyed to the old fashioned idea. Some modern art includes such items as hair-nets and ketchup and any young people interested in bringing along their own materials and creating something modern may compete. The only regulation is that the end result should be pleasing to the eye as the works will remain on the grandstand throughout the entire day. The time of the creation of this instant art will be published next week.

The buggy races which will take place during the afternoon will include period costumes on all participants, and all those who will take part in the grand parade of period vehicles should contact Lee Hodgins or Ray Sheppard as soon as possible. A number of floats have been offered and some vintage automobiles will be on hand as well as numerous old time horse drawn vehicles but until the entire list is made up the order cannot be arranged.

A first aid tent will be provided by the St John Ambulance service equipped with sunburn lotion because sunshine has been ordered by the committee for the entire day of July first in Shawville.

Inside the Community Centre there will be a collection of antiques and fascinating pictures of Shawville in its earlier days and on the grounds the plans for field sports, tug of war, square dance contests on feet and demonstration of square dancing on horses, band concerts, chariot races, the arrival of the perpetual flame which the Scouts will bring on foot from Parliament Hill, the musical pony ride, beard judging, evening singsong, fireworks and other events should keep everyone entertained either participating or just watching & listening from the 8.30 am pancake breakfast until the midnight smorgasbord after the grand Costume Ball.
