Next week's weather

November 19 to 26

By ERIC NEAL

Bright, cold and windy with occasional mists or flurries. Mornings quite cool, afternoons relatively mild. During this week of alternating frost and thaw the temperature range will be 15-55°F in the south and 10-45°F in the mountains. Much colder in the north and east.

Agreeable into the middle of the week, but cold with some drizzle or flurries, then warming and mainly sunny. Some years Vermont and the Townships have a heavy snowfall at this time, then rains take it away again.

For the end of the week, sunny periods, fog, misting rain or soft snow. Roads icy. Recheck your anti-freeze, a really cold spell is arriving.

Unity Boys' Club

Awards to highlight father, son banquet

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Next Tuesday and Wednesday, some 600 fathers and sons, mothers and daughters, will be guests at the Unity Boys' Club on the occasion of Eight Annual Father and Son Banquet and the Seventh Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet.

In order to avoid a last minute disappointment, all club members who plan to attend are urged to register before Saturday, November 19. Seating accommodation is limited and the maximum allowed per banquet is 300.

One of the highlights of the Boys' Banquet will be the awarding of Unity's top prize "the letter 'U'" and "certificate of achievement" — this year, to be presented to John McDonough, Keith Gavin and Richard Cessford. The letter and certificate is awarded to the club member who qualifies under the constitution of Unity's award system in effect since the 1957 program season. This award is presented on the basis of participation, leadership and service.

Trophies will also be presented to Robert Gleason and Beverley Reid who were judged the top performers at the annual track and field meet.

Other items on the agenda will be the question and answer period conducted by one of Montreal's top radio commentators and entertainment which will be supplied by Danny Smith's CKGM's Road Show.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT

Indoor soccer continues to command keen interest every week at the Club. Friday from 6 until 7:30 p.m. has been set aside for intramural games. Juvenil Fernandes, Neil Fernandes, Clifford Vawer and Hudson Alleyene are showing to good advantage in the games.

An additional basketball team,

Don't wait until the last minute to winterize your car and your habits. In our climate, the first snowstorm often comes as a surprise, following a glamorous Fall season. Even the weatherman is sometimes taken by surprise. Snow tires and other winter equipment are a must when the first signs of winter appear, if we are to avoid traffic jams and serious accidents! Lack of foresight on the part of some drivers is responsible for both. Don't be one of those. Be wise — winterize!

known as Bidy "B" has been formed and will play exhibition games this year only. Made up of some twenty boys under 12 years of age, the Bidy "B"s are challenging Unity's representative team which recently won the opening game of the Montreal Bidy Basketball League. Unity defeated Tyndale House 27-18 on the fine team play of Bobby Johnston, Jimmy Hotton and Billy Holden.

The Bantam and Midget team under coaches Richard Cessford and Keith Gavin respectively, continue to practice bi-weekly in preparation for the opening of the Montreal Basketball League.

Now that the gymnasium mats have been covered with durable plastic material, amateur wrestling has been resumed with some 15 boys learning the art of one of the world's oldest sport.

Individual achievements with better than average results is being maintained by the junior members in the fitness test challenge. A large group of boys are vying for top honors.

Four hard working and aspiring members are bound to show dividends as to the value of weight resistance in training for sports by a constructive weight training plan. They are: Wayne Dallas, John McDonough, Keith Gavin and Richard Cessford.

Gymnastics is forging ahead with Mentor Jimmy Prince and his gymnastic charges busy preparing for a future exhibition.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Real modelling clay is being used in the art classes and a collection of animals is being made for a zoo exhibition.

Miss Anderson's class is starting to make plaster plaques and ash trays decorated with original designs for Christmas presents.

The Charm School under the direction of Mrs. Massie is off to exercises as the first fundamental.

The Paste Party, whose members are all boys and who have been assisting with club decorating, have now resumed making scrap books for the club.

Localites named winners in Quebec literary test

W. DE GARTHE, well-known Canadian painter and novelist, author of "Peggy's Cove", visited artist Bèth Galbraith-Cornell, Metcalfe avenue, while passing through Montreal last Monday on his way to Europe with Mrs. de Garthe. The "Ocean Gallery", his new show-room, was officially opened in Peggy's Cove recently. Representatives of Federal, Provincial, and municipal Governments along with prominent people in the art world, attended the ceremonies.

The gallery will provide an additional tourist attraction for Peggys Cove, and will give Mr. de Garthe an opportunity to display his magnificent seascapes, autumn scenes, landscapes and finger paintings. It will be open during the summer months only. Mr. de Garthe is a member of the Independant Art Association whose fall exhibition is scheduled to open at the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. ninth floor foyer, Friday, November 25, and will continue until December 10. Jury members headed by Eric Wesselow, president of the association, will meet this week to choose pictures for the show at their studio on Academy road.

To the strains of "Smile a While", youngsters wearing beautifully hand knitted sportswear in different shapes, sizes and styles, enjoyed their first day on ice at the Westmount Skating Rink. From time to time skaters were shunted off the rink to the sidelines, while a spray of hot water was applied over the artificial ice by a "zamboni". This trundling contraption, noisily spreads boiling water that washes away chips of ice churned up by eager feet wearing newly-sharpened skates. Skaters patiently wait for the operation to be finished, and eagerly whirl away at the first all-clear signal.

Two Westmount residents were awarded top honors this year in the literary section of the Provincial Government's literary and scientific contest. The names of the winners were announced by Provincial Secretary Bertrand during a ceremony held in the Provincial Museum in Quebec City in conjunction with the "Salon du Livre." In the literary section, which this year was reserved to books written in the English language, the first prize of $1,500 was awarded to Colin McDougall, Lansdowne avenue, for his novel entitled "Execution". The second prize of $1,000 went to Herbert Steinhouse, Springfield avenue, for a novel entitled "Ten Years After". Mr. McDougall is registrar of McGill University. Mr. Steinhouse is a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation producer.

'Let the fool have his way'

"Temper," claims the Canadian Highway Safety Council, "can be fatal in traffic." The Council, sponsoring Canada's national Safe-Driving Week from Dec 1 to 7 inclusive, points out that, while it is only human to resent intrusion on what are considered "our rights," it would be folly for a driver to let that resentment become anger when another motorist cuts in or a pedestrian takes his time crossing in front.

"Sit back and let the fool have his way," the Council urges. He is a menace to traffic but there's nothing to be gained by a driver who loses his temper and takes it out on other drivers. It could, warns CHSC, be fatal. You drive sensibly and let him drive his way. Don't look for revenge. Get on the bandwagon and work for traffic safety with your local safety council.

62 are enrolled in Rotary public speaking course

The Rotary Club of Westmount public speaking course for high school students opened its fifth season in the King's School gymnasium Friday night.

Under the leadership of Rotarian Ted Harrison, the group has this year enrolled a total of 62 students of senior high school age from Westmount High School and St. Leo's Academy.

The course continues for 13 weeks and is conducted on a participation basis rather than a lecture basis, with most of the fundamentals of effective speech introduced.

A suitably inscribed diploma under the Rotary seal is presented to each graduate at the end of the course.

Mrs. Art Spiers and Mrs. Bob Willis, both wives of Westmount Rotarians, assist in the course.

Westmount 'Y' seeks $8,600

The Westmount YMCA, seeking $8,600 to balance its budget, has launched its annual campaign for funds.

During the three-week campaign period, 96 volunteer workers, divided into 20 teams, will visit 1,100 Westmount homes and firms.

W. D. Macdonald, chairman of the Westmount YMCA Maintenance Campaign Committee, said the $8,600 target is no greater than last year, "but rising costs make it more essential," he added.

Chairman of the Westmount Board of Management, J. C. Annesley, pointed out that the 'Y' membership had increased from 680 two years ago to 1,040, and was still rising.

Lloyd G. Welton, executive secretary of the Westmount branch stated the 'Y' "is no longer strictly a man's organization. In Westmount we attempt to meet the needs of every resident over nine years of age — boys, girls, men and women." He admitted, however, that special emphasis is placed on teenage friendship groups, particularly Hi-Y, a program for high school students.

Maintenance Campaign Committee for the Westmount division includes W. D. Macdonald (Northern Electric), C. Reckitt (Sherwin Williams), D. Y. Novinger (Crown Trust), R.C.B. Love (Bell Telephone), E. L. Hamilton (C.I.L.), and J. C. Annesley (Aluminium Ltd.).

Team captains are Miss Judi Bryant, R. C. B. Love, Mrs. Dorothy Horne, Mrs. J. C. Annesley, L. Calderisi, D. M. Steeves, C. C.

McGill production casts four Westmount students

Four McGill students from the Westmount area have been cast in the forthcoming McGill Players' Club production of Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood."

Judy Brown, of 1 de Casson road, has been cast as Mrs. Dai

Bread; after theatrical experience with the University of New Brunswick, and four English Department productions at McGill, Miss Brown's most recent work has included backstage positions for the MRT presentations of "The Corn Is Green" and "The Bad Seed."

Julie Daniel, of 4890 Grosvenor avenue, will appear as Mae Rose Cottage.

Tom Lewis, of 26 Willow avenue, will be seen as Lord Cutglass; he is a veteran of Westmount High School dramatic productions.

Stephen Roth, of 5 Bellevue avenue, has been cast as Mr. Waldo, and Utah Watkins; among his credits are two summer-stock productions in Naples, Maine, and last year's English Department presentation of "The Relapse."

Stuart Baker, an editor and assistant director with the National Film Board, is directing "Under Milk Wood," which will be presented November 23, 24, 25, and 26 in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the McGill Union, 690 Sherbrooke street west.

Pickers 'a nuisance'

"A NUISANCE," said Mr. Pascal.

Cecil Pascal, treasurer of the Pascal Hardware chain of stores was talking about the picketers in front of the branch store at 4833 Sherbrooke street west.

"These people are not employed and have never been employed by this firm," he claimed.

Why are they picketing your store?

"We wish we knew," he replied. Mr. Pascal told us that the Retail Clerk's Union (whose placard is being paraded to and fro in front of the shop) "is not recognized by the Labor Relations Board."

"Why should we recognize it?" he asked. "You can never tell what's in back of the minds of some of these people."

He said that the necessary legal steps are being taken to "rid them of this nuisance."

Mr. Pascal does not think the public will associate the picketing with the management in a detrimental fashion. "We don't think it will affect our customer relations. But please mention that the pickets are not and never have been our employees. Perhaps one person in the whole union was — I don't know."

West End cadets still recruiting

City needs Metro on Dorchester project

THE City of Westmount is not quite as independent as it may think.

Plans to widen and re-vamp Dorchester boulevard, for example, are still just plans.

Although Westmount has homologated the necessary land for the project, work will not go ahead before the City of Montreal submits its plans for the Dorchester project from Guy to Atwater, and the access roads from the Nun's Island Bridge.

It boils down to one thing: Westmount cannot act on this project until Montreal nods its head. And Montreal has been known to give a great deal of "study" to various projects it has undertaken over the years.

Westmount, like every other municipality across the Island, needs Metro.

Instead of waiting on sister municipalities to take the first step toward co-ordination in multi-municipal projects, Metro would make the first step, would set up and order co-ordination, would see the job through.

BY THE WAY

GIRLS employed in a factory which makes a shampoo mixture with beer as its basis apparently believe that beer was made to be drunk, not rubbed on women's heads. So, says my paper, they helped themselves from the barrels. Of course, really smart women insist on the more expensive Danish lager for their hair. It sounds less vulgar than "bitter" or "mild and bitter." I hope they sent the tea which they were told to drink instead to a few fashionable hairdressers with their compliments.

A NEW definition of democracy is required. I suggest this: the imprescriptible right of cleverly and unscrupulously manoeuvred block votes of unions to decide what policy the elected representatives of the Labour Party are to follow. After all, under the present unfair conditions, many of those who vote Labour in an election do not belong to any union.

Refuse press space to Soviet harangues

Dear Sir: — The inroads of socialism and the cancer of communism threaten not only the world's peace, but the progress and prosperity of the democratic peoples. In season and out of season, the principal and subordinate apostles of the gospel of Marxism, labor by every means to indoctrinate the unthinking into a belief that capitalism is an evil that must be rooted out in the interest of the "exploited proletariat." They encourage subversion by paid agents and dupes to infiltrate into organizations of workers and get them to accept the Marxian formula of world revolution.

Once the communist minority in any country secures even a simulation of power, they take steps to imprison, exile, or liquidate their opponents. They openly declare in favor of civil war and the eliminating of the hated bourgeoisie, whom they regard as parasites and exploiters. Their policies in the lands they have subjugated should be a warning to all who value liberty as they love life.

Communism corrodes the soul and enslaves the body in the interests of the clique that secures power. The lengths to which they will go was shown in the massacre of liberty loving Hungarians and Poles. There is no denying the fact communism is at war with democracy as it is understood and appreciated in the Western lands.

The communists will not mind their own business since they profess to be world benefactors, hence, entitled and justified to denounce capitalism, substituting for it their own type of control and the robotizing of the misled proletariat. Socialism opens the door to communism. Basically, there is no distinction between fascism, nazism, and communism, since each is based upon the rule of a dictator whose will is law and controls absolutely the armed forces of his nation and the so-called internal security forces. Labor camps are instituted to which are sent all who in any way criticize or antagonize the ruling oligarchy.

The masters of the Kremlin are responsible for the huge defence budgets that the democracies must provide as a measure of protection and defence. While we give every latitude to communist leaders to spout their venom against the Western nations, we cannot enter the lands they control to preach the gospel and advantages of democracy. Eminent democratic statesmen have been grossly in-

Dossier on a Disappearance at sea by Donald Cameron

IN THE heaving, grey wastes of the Atlantic Ocean, a woman passenger vanishes from a liner. On his bridge, Captain Arthur Patey is told — in the same way that he learned of another disappearance from a ship of his 13 years ago.

The disappearance, in October 1947, from Cabin 126 of the liner Durban Castle, of 21-year-old actress Eileen Gay Gibson.

And later, there was the sensational trial for murder of one of his crew, 31-year-old deck steward James Camb.

Camb was sentenced to death, reprieved, given a life sentence, and released from prison last year. His case made legal history. His was a trial for murder in which there was no body.

The facts

NOW at this second crisis these were the facts Captain Patey had to consider:—

The missing woman was Mrs. Edith Frances Agnes Duncan, aged 40. With her husband, John Sandison Duncan, 45, and their children, Helen, 15, and Peter, eight, she was on her way from Yeovil, Johannesburg, to her native Aberdeen.

The trip had sounded good fun. The 25,000-ton Union Castle liner Athlone Castle had been entirely taken over for the voyage by a South African travel organisation.

Fares had been slashed from the normal £89-£245 to as little as £38.

Eight cabaret artists were being flown out from England to entertain on the voyage. Nearly all the family's fellow passengers were gay and high-spirited. It is said there were parties every night.

The Duncans boarded the Athlone Castle on October 21. Mother, father, and little Peter were given Cabin 576 in the forward, tourist section of the ship. Helen was to sleep near by.

With planes dipping in salute overhead and bands playing on the shore, the sleek, single-funnelled liner set sail.

Passengers did not take much notice of the Duncans. He, a stonemason, was small, bespectacled, dark-haired, cheerful.

She, a little shy and highly strung, asked pretty stewardess Ethel Ryzak about the runsulted and reviled for refusing to conform to the plans or meet the wishes of the spokesmen for Russia. It is about time the press in the democracies clamped down on Russian propaganda, and gave little or no space to the harangues and attacks of Soviet representatives at the United Nations or meetings they address. The wily intriguers of the Soviet know the value of propaganda and utilize it to the utmost for home consumption. Why play into their hands?

Western statesmen must become bolder and more challenging in their attitude to the Soviet. They have been altogether too polite and patient in their dealings with the communist demagogues. They may as well recognize the fact, that there can be no coexistence with the communists in spite of the leanings of a millionaire industrialist to the Russian form of economy.

Bernard Rose

ning of such a mighty ship. She had never travelled in one before, she said.

The Athlone Castle ploughed her way northward, through the Tropics. The Duncans developed fine brown tans — Peter, the son, too much tan in fact. He had to see the ship's surgeon about it.

Friends

THE family made quiet friendships in the tourist-class smoke-room, ate first-sitting lunches in the tourist-class saloon.

Finally, the grey, northern seas were reached.

It was Wednesday, November 2. The time was 11.45 a.m. The ship's position off the coast of Spain was 42 degrees N., 10.5 degrees W.

There was a heavy sea running. The Athlone Castle was riding it easily, but Mrs. Duncan had felt sick all the morning. She was in her cabin with her husband and Peter, and two of Peter's young ship-board friends.

Mr. Duncan suggested that the children should run an errand to the smoke-room. Mrs. Duncan said they would not find their way through the queues.

There was, said Mr. Duncan later, a "slight tiff." His wife muttered something he did not quite catch and disappeared from the cabin and from his sight for ever.

When his wife left the cabin, Mr. Duncan strolled to the tourist-class dining-saloon expecting that she would either be there already or would soon join him.

Noon came, then 12.15. He noticed that he was eating hurriedly. He was worried. At 12.30, he left the saloon, and with the help of a friend started looking for his wife.

At first he was looking, not searching. The anxiety mounted. At 1.20 he told stewardess Ethel Ryzak.

Search

STEWARDESS Ryzak, a 26-year-old brunette on her second voyage, remembered Mrs. Duncan and her questions about the ship. She made her own search of rest rooms.

At 1.55, First Officer William John Howson, 38, of Sevenoaks, Kent, started a thorough search of the ship.

With stewards, he worked methodically from stem to stern. Crews' quarters, first-class cabins, tourist-class cabins, even lockers.

This was the first indication the 800 other carefree passengers had that something might be amiss.

Over the ship's loudspeakers appeals went to Mrs. Duncan to report to her cabin immediately.

At 2.15 the first officer gave the news to Captain Patey.

He had been told about Gay Gibson in just the same way by a first officer 13 years before.

If Mrs. Duncan had gone overboard two and a quarter hours before, there was almost no hope of her survival in a sea whipped up by a fresh south-westerly wind.

The captain decided to go back and search. Lower port-holes were made fast so that the Athlone Castle could turn into the seas without swamping herself.

Look-out

AT 2.30 she was steaming full ahead on a "reciprocal course" — back along the way she had come.

At 2.55 urgent radio messages went to other ships to keep a watch for the missing woman. Eight ships acknowledged it.

Captain Patey doubled his own look-outs and checked who had been on watch during the vital 30 minutes between 11.45 and 12.15.

It proved to be David Hugh Jones, a fresh-faced, 19-year-old ordinary seaman from Southampton. Halfway through his 8-12 watch he had been sent from the bridge to the crow's-nest and thus had an all-round view of the ship.

Horizon visibility was good, he said, but the sea round the ship was dark and yeasty. He had not even seen slops go overboard.

After two and a half hours the search was abandoned. The Athlone Castle resumed her normal course for Southampton. And Captain Patey wrote in his log against the name of Mrs. Duncan: "Missing at sea; supposed drowned."

Inquiry

YESTERDAY, when the Athlone Castle docked, the Ministry of Transport held an inquiry.

An inspector heard Captain Patey say that the decks were bone dry, and that there was no possible chance that Mrs. Duncan could have been washed overboard.

The inspector also heard how Mrs. Duncan suffered from a nervous disorder. She had been a patient in South African hospitals. She worried over trivialities, suffered fits of depression.

And the inspector endorsed the entry in the captain's log: "Missing at sea. Supposed drowned."

Early this week the results in the 1960 campaign passed the $2,750,000 mark.

Arthur Pascal, general chairman, has expressed his determination not to extend the drive beyond the closing dinner. He has appealed to all campaigners to complete their coverage by that date.

A number of crash teams have been set up to take over uncompleted cards. These teams, headed by Jack Becker, Alfred Grossman, and J. A. Lyone Heppner, Morley Cohen, Nathan Gaisin, and Al Cutler, are lending their special support to Mr. Pascal to complete the drive on time.

The main award to be presented at the closing dinner is the Michael Hirsch Memorial Trophy to the outstanding campaigner in the men's division.

Montreal Flying Club gets new manager, CF1

By LARRY McINNIS

A NOTE OF INTEREST: Popular and genial Ed Gates will take over this week as General Manager and Chief Flying Instructor at the Montreal Flying Club, replacing Bob Van Der Veecken. Bob has not announced just what he intends to do as yet, but he has always been known as a competent pilot. Ed is a graduate of many years flying with the RAF where he ended up being the personal "driver" for an Air Officer Commanding. He likes to tell about the magnificent Anson he had, completely equipped with the best and most of everything, including radio-navigation aids and hydraulics, automatic starters, et al. As happens with a lot of us, the thrill and glamor of air force life eventually wears off, and Ed was no different. He took his discharge and came to Canada to make his way in aviation circles. The surprising thing is, though, that he chose instructing because — and I've always said it — it takes a special breed to teach some fledglings how to behave in the air. Ed, along with many other talents, knows how to get the utmost from any student. It's a happy day for the Montreal Flying Club and it should prosper under Ed's able leadership.

TRAFFIC JAM UPSTAIRS: A problem facing the air lines, and all pilots, these days is the complete lack of progress in air traffic control, even though the numbers of aircraft using the air ways are greatly increasing. And nothing can be more frustrating than making record flying time to a destination and then facing a lengthy delay over the airport before the aircraft lands. Traffic jams are almost inevitable at times when more than 90,000 aircraft clamor for air space in congested areas over North America. The steps which are being taken to remedy the situation will be outlined on a "Twentieth Century" TV program this coming Sunday afternoon. For those who are interested in the complexities of air travel, it should be recommended watching.

NEWS AND NOTES: Mentioned here a few weeks back, the employees of Trans Canada Airlines (ground and flying personnel) have formed their own recreational flying club and have set up their headquarters at Cartierville. A special arrangement allows them to use the Pipers of the new Curtis-Reid company. Curtis-Reid, by the way, is under new management and rumors current around Cartierville say they are planning on building a new hangar. There has been no comment, though, on whether or not they will be able to pick up the Piper agency, lost some time ago to Trans Air.

AND MORE: We'd like to take this opportunity to draw attention to the Hobby Guide, which will be appearing in this paper next week. There will be a special article on flying as a hobby, and what the new student can expect when he starts his first "learn-to-fly" lessons. It's really a fascinating sport. In fact, the two models we used for the pictures, neither of whom had ever flown before, liked their first flip so much that they have said they are very interested in learning.

Economist suggests vigorous policies

Arthur Lerner, professor of economics at Sir George Williams University, said the Federal government should undertake "vigorous" monetary, immigration and trade policies and warned that the "approaching recession" may be the worst since World War II, called for a national policy to continue Canada's prosperity. He called for long-range promotion of economic growth rather than "short-run stabilization."

Prof. Lerner made his remarks at a meeting sponsored by the current winter employment campaign of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Day now is considered to begin at midnight.

Canadian Cancer Society workshop set Nov. 23-25

Pierre de Lean, of the Provincial Department of Health and Chairman of the Education Committee of the Canadian Cancer Society, will act as conference chairman.

Dr. Carlton Auger, Professor of Pathology of the Faculty of Medicine of Laval University, Quebec and President of the National Cancer Institute of Canada, will lead a panel discussion in cancer control on the opening day of the conference.

Maurice Forget, president of the Quebec Division and National vice-president of the Canadian Cancer Society will welcome the delegates. On Thursday, Nov. 24, the second day of the conference, education, welfare and campaign delegates will meet separately to evaluate and discuss their programs, and will make their reports at a general meeting. Prior to adjournment an open discussion and question period will be held.

Fourth biennial ceramics show to open April, 1961

The 4th biennial exhibition of Canadian ceramics, jointly organized by the Canadian Handicrafts Guild and the Canadian Guild of Potters, will be held in April, 1961, it was announced today.

Miss Helen Duncan, of Toronto, president of the Guild of Potters, Mrs. Helen Copeland, of Toronto, chairman of the exhibition committee, and Mrs. Eileen Reid, chairman of the Montreal section, are handling arrangements.

A total of 175 works were received for the 1959 exhibition.

The '61 show will open at The Royal Ontario Museum and will be presented in May at The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

Announcing the exhibition, Mrs. Reid said the show will be national in scope, adding,

"We feel sure that Quebec connoisseurs as well as potters will want to have an important share in it."

Until a few years ago, Canada had no truly national exhibition of Canadian ceramics of art museum standards, Mrs. Reid said.

"Both from the point of view of the potters themselves, who needed the stimulation of seeing the carefully judged work of their contemporaries, and of the public, who had been largely unaware of the fine ceramics being produced in this country, it seemed that such an exhibition would be of great value," she added.

The first exhibition, planned by the Handicrafts Guild and the Poor knowledge in

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

TUESDAY OF THIS WEEK started "Canada Book Week". It is a wonderful opportunity to publicize one of the greatest hobbies a person can have, nay, it is really a duty . . . READING. It not only increases knowledge but leads the reader into new vistas and realms that transport him in thought to foreign lands and customs . . . into the domains of the famous . . . into the intellectual surroundings that may not be his . . . out of the rut of routine chores . . . out of the monotony of a distasteful though necessary job.

THE JOY OF READING can make books great companions . . . one need never be lonely in the company of a good book and happiness incurred through reading (which should be drilled into children from their most tender years) is a lifelong pleasure.

NOWADAYS we have many channels of information . . . these should be used to publicize BOOK WEEK . . . the press . . . the radio . . . television . . . mouth-to-mouth and mentioned at all meetings.

HABITS FORM IN YOUTH, so the seeds of learning should be planted as soon as possible.

BOOKS ON MUSIC are comparatively few when we visit libraries and see the small section marked "MUSIC". There are reasons for this. It is expensive to publish a book and if the volume does not reach a large readership it does not get to a second printing. Music books seem to be in this unfortunate state. Therefore music books are all the more valuable because many are unobtainable now and those who own various music books should reread them from time to time, knowing they are rare treasures.

THE LIVES OF GREAT COM-

Potters Guild, was staged in 1955. Regional juries were held in Montreal and Toronto.

In 1957, to give more emphasis to the national character of the exhibition, the jurying system was expanded, with selection centres added in Sackville, N.B., for the Maritimes and Vancouver for the west.

"The response from both ceramists and the public has been most enthusiastic each time the exhibition has been held," Mrs. Reid said. "There seems no doubt that this exhibition has been one of the strong factors in the rapidly rising standards of ceramic work now being done in this country."

The Royal Ontario Museum, the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts and the National Gallery of Canada have all assisted in staging the exhibitions.

POSERS enlighten us not only about the music of the period and the personal life of the subject of the book but about the customs and history of the times.

Some years ago we wrote a series of articles on various composers and a quiz on "matters musical" about every six weeks. Just recently several people asked "Why don't you write some quizzes like you used to?" and "Why did you stop the composer series?" (We can't always know what appeals to readers unless they mention what they prefer and after writing for so many years one touches on many subjects) I was glad to know that reading about composers appeals to readers because I may suggest that complete books on their lives make very exciting reading in many cases.

As these are usually quite expensive one can get them at various libraries and one of the best collections of books on music is housed in the Westmount Library.

ONCE A CHILD has read a colorful biography of a composer he wants to hear some of the pieces and in special editions of children's books on music there is usually an appendix with suggested recordings. A splendid idea.

CHILDREN SHOULD READ NEW BOOKS constantly and those who study music ought to read some concerning the composers they are playing. READ . . . READ . . . READ . . .

SAYING OF THE WEEK: A good book is the best of friends, the same today and forever. MARTIN FARQUHAR TUPPER (1810-1889).

Ballet to aid Cystic Fibrosis

The art and pageantry of the ballet will be linked with a fight against a deadly disease when the Cystic Fibrosis Association of Quebec combines with the National Ballet of Canada to present "Swan Lake" on November 23 at Her Majesty's Theatre.

Proceeds of the performance will be used by the Cystic Fibrosis Association to aid the child sufferers from this little-known but widespread disease.

Becoming more known in Canada and long ranked by U.S. physicians as the second deadliest killer of young children, behind cancer, cystic fibrosis is hereditary in nature, and afflicts vital organs, particularly the lungs. At the moment, there is no known cure, and hospital treatment is largely therapeutic.

The Cystic Fibrosis Association has been instrumental in purchasing therapy equipment for home and hospital use, and has contributed financially to research efforts now being made.

The performance of the National Ballet Company is at no increase over regular prices from $1.00 to $3.75, tickets attainable at Her Majesty's, and is an opportunity for ballet-lovers to assist this worthy cause.

Further information on this event or regarding measures now being taken against cystic fibrosis may be obtained from Mr. A. F. Smith, President of the Cystic Fibrosis Association of Quebec, 44 - 48th avenue, Lachine, or by telephoning ME. 7-6682.

Baroque Trio selections are listed

The Baroque Trio of Montreal will give a public concert at the Normal School of Music, 4873 Westmount avenue Monday, November 21 at 8.30 p.m.

The program will consist of a trio in G-minor, Adagio, Allegro, Adagio-Allegro by J. C. Pepusch (1667 - 1752), played by Mario Duchesnes, flute, Melvin Berman, oboe, Kelsey Jones, harpsichord; "The Recorders" — a) alto recorder: Boree, H. Purcell (1658-1695), b) tenor recorder: Lavolta, W. Bird (1542 - 1623), c) soprano recorder: Dancers of 13th Century (Anonymous), d) bass recorder: Suite in F, Johan Fischer (1646-1721), e) soprano recorder: Dance of 17th Century, Anonymous; and Sonata de Camera (1957), Prelude - Courabte-andante-Giga, Kelsey Jones.

Immediately following the intermission will be a sonata in C minor for oboe, Largo-Allegro-Adagio-Allegro by G. F. Handel, Prelude and fugue for harpsichord by J. S. Bach, and trio in G Major, Adagio-allegro-Adagio-Presto by J. S. Bach.

Recreation facilities well used

Census takers could, without a doubt, learn a lesson from methods used by the Westmount Recreation Department in providing statistics regarding attendance at their various facilities throughout the city.

For example, 3,266 persons took advantage of shuffleboard, horse-shoes, checkers, putting and various sports at the artificial ice rink during the month of September.

Other examples: six games of tackle football were played; 42 games of touch football; one game of municipal softball and four of military ball.

Tennis attendance at Western, adult, King George and Devon courts totalled 2,864.

Students using Westmount and King George Parks, from Westmount Junior High and Roslyn, totalled 7,388 during the month.

The Nazi Party — has it been reborn in Canada?

Nazism is "like a cancerous growth", which, if not checked, "could assume greater proportions", said Rabbi J. J. Fromm of Shaar Hashomayim Congregation, joining other West End clergymen in registering shock and indignation about the recently-exposed Nazi-style movement in Canada.

"The American Nazi Party has definite roots here and Parliament should pass legislation to outlaw Nazism here," he said.

"Mr. Bellefeuille (the self-styled Canadian Nazi leader who recently appeared on a television news program) should not be re-instated in his civil service job to show that the government will not tolerate such outbursts".

Rabbi Fromm was an inmate of Buchenwald concentration camp for six weeks in 1938 until he made his escape and emigrated. His mother was not so fortunate and was exterminated.

"It is a shocking thing that a Nazi movement could exist here after the terrible holo-

By Miriam Armstrong

ocaust of war and the Eichmann case," said Rabbi Harry J. Stern of Temple Emanu-El, 4100 Sherbrooke west.

Eradicate Nazism

"My opinion is a simple one," he said. "When such a movement exists, one must, in a democracy, strive to eradicate it through legislation and education. It must be taken seriously as Hitler wasn't taken seriously and thousands of lives were lost. It is of Jewish and Christian concern because it is anti-semitic, it is also anti-Christian and anti-religion."

Transport Minister Balcer has announced that Mr. Bellefeuille, a draughtsman employed by the Department of Transport, has been suspended from his position in accordance with Section 55 of the Civil Service Act which prohibits on threat of dismissal political activity "in connection with any election" or for dealing in party funds.

Rabbi Paul Liner of Temple Beth Shalom, 6666 Terrebonne, stated, "Mr. Bellefeuille, as a civil servant, has violated his trust and the trust of the government and should be expelled from his present position. Further, the government should proceed with a full investigation of this party and suspend its activities."

A Nazi apology

He added, "By preaching division and divisiveness among different people and races he is espousing a doctrine contrary to the democratic way of life. It is in the public interest that such hate-mongers be exposed so that steps can be taken to curb their activities."

Calling himself a Canadian National Socialist, Bellefeuille has since told reporters he wanted to apologize to the Canadian Jewish community for whom he had the greatest respect. He acknowledged that his political activities were the greatest mistakes in his life and all he wants is his job back.

The Civil Service Commission told the Department of Transport it must decide for itself whether Mr. Bellefeuille should be dismissed.

Editorial comment in the French press advises Canadians not to take "these crackpot ideas" seriously, stating that too much importance must not be given to a Canadian Nazi party or its chiefs, as such attention is probably just what the party would like. But the editorial warns, "no doubt it would be a good thing to keep an eye on the actions of a group which tends to sow hatred and discord."

Emphasizing that the attitude of the churches, priests, and ministers is important, Rabbi Sidney Shoham of Beth Zion Congregation, 5740 Hudson, described Nazism as "a social disease" which has killed millions of people, worse than physical illness on which Canada spends millions of dollars.

He might yell fire

"He might yell fire", he said, referring to Bellefeuille, "if he were let off free and that would be dangerous. Pressure made him reconsider his statements, so pressure is a good thing."

Rabbi Shoham felt that the people in Canada should realize the danger of a Nazi party to democracy, and do what they can to see the country remains on the foundation on which it was built.

Monsignor Edward James Lapointe of Ascension Church, 375 Kitchener, said he was against talking against anybody, but believed that Mr. Bellefeuille's suspension from his job was condemnation enough. He reflected that his memories of the Nazi party were not too pleasant, and that he had many very good friends who were Jewish.

"But I think the party here should be ignored," he said, "and it will die down like other radical ideas."

But has Nazism been revived?

Free speech was declared an essential of our way of life by Canon R. K. Naylor of Trinity Memorial Church, 5220 Sherbrooke who opined that it would be "better" to ignore the Nazi party in Canada.

"A man has a right to speak his mind," said the Rector, "but Bellefeuille should be penalized for deliberately provoking a difficult situation for the community and for the authorities."

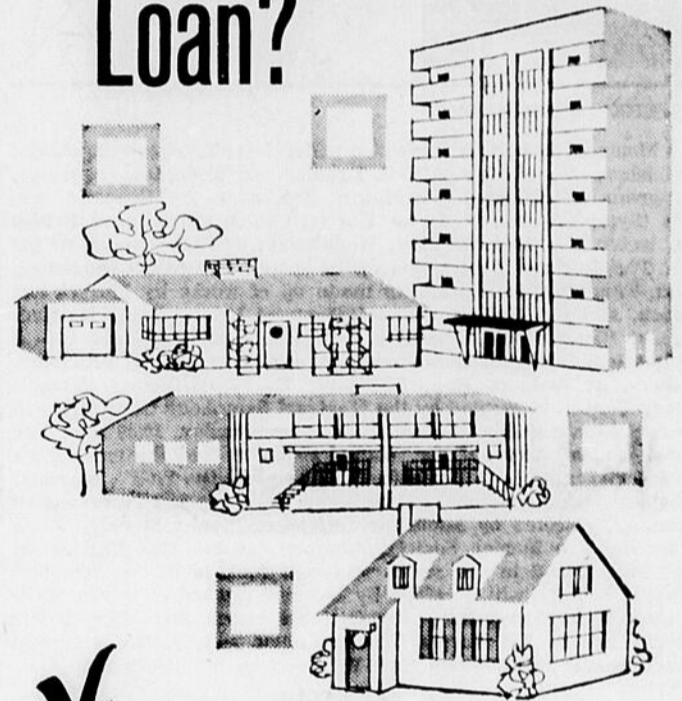

A revival of nazism was described by the American Jewish Committee in a recent report as "a growing international network" linking the old world with the new in a neo-nazi movement. The report expressed serious concern over Nazi activities in Latin America, Argentina and Mexico where anti-American and anti-semitic propaganda is being circulated, and the report asserted Nazi activities to be "rooted in anti-democratic, anti-semitic and totalitarian philosophies." The Zionist Organization of Canada Convention has been assured by Premier Jean Lesage that everything possible will be done to investigate the reports of a neo-nazi movement here, Canada and 200 in this province.

The RCMP has filed a report to the effect that no more than 12 persons showed up at any of Bellefeuille's meetings. Meanwhile 40-year-old André Bellefeuille, who says he has moved all Nazi posters from his home in Sorel, awaits a final decision on his job and possibly his future.

RCA Victor: Elvis in G. I. Blues. An Original Soundtrack Recording, LPM-2256. This is our finest Elvis Presley review in this column, due mainly to the pressure from our own teenager who says we are not keeping up with the times. Well, we found a more appealing and relaxed Elvis in the jacket pictures and the eleven selections from his new movie, and the youngsters will certainly go for this one. Most of the numbers are new, the exception being 'Blue Suede Shoes,' while 'Tonight Is So Right For Love,' carries the tune of the 'Barcarol' from 'Tales of Hoffman'. We preferred the simplicity of 'Wooden Heart', the spirit in 'G. I. Blues' and 'Didja' Ever', 'Big Boots', 'Pocketful of Rainbows', and 'Doin' The Best I Can'. One of Elvis' best!

Camden: Living Strings Series. A nod to this low-priced label for an excellent series of orchestral discs presenting fine concert ensembles in popular standards devoted to various moods and themes. Recorded in England, CAL-637 features Music For Romance arranged and conducted by Bill Bowen, CAL-638 Music In The Night arranged and conducted by Bob Sharples, and our choice CAL-639 Music Of The Sea with Johnny Douglas. Nearly forty numbers in pleasant good taste, with beautiful jackets each bearing an appropriate Kodachrome. Recommended.

Dame Harriet Cohen, the eminent British pianist, lectures at Redpath Hall, Wednesday, 8.30 p.m. (open to the public). The Juilliard String Quartet is at the Comedie Canadienne, 2.30 p.m. Thursday, in a program made up of works by Mozart and Beethoven, and the Philharmonia of Montreal led by Louis Hartiver perform at Plateau Hall, Thursday, 8.30 p.m. Also on Thursday — a recital by pianist Boris Maximovitch, with works by Chopin, Schumann and others, at Redpath Hall, 8.30 p.m. The third Young People's Symphony Concert presented by the Montreal Symphony Orchestra will be given at Montreal High School Auditorium, Sunday, 10.30 a.m. The conductor will be, as usual, Dr. Wilfrid Pelletier, and the main work chosen for this program is Prokofiev's 'Peter and the Wolf', narrated by associate conductor Michel Perrault and featuring 'Les Marionnettes de Montreal', directed by Micheline Legendre. Pianist Monique Haas plays for the Pro Musica Society, 4.30 p.m. at the Ritz Carlton on Sunday. The second in the series of organ recitals of the complete works of J. S. Bach will be given by Bernard Lagacé at Queen Mary Road Church in Hampstead, Monday, November 21st. The Dollar Concerts series at the Forum Tuesday night will feature as guest conductor Arthur Fiedler, and Earl Wild will be the solo pianist.

ON THE AIR

In the transition from summer to fall schedule it is inevitable that some last minute changes take place, and programs heard on the air may at times differ from those published. BBC Concert Hall (Wed. 10 p.m.) brings you the BBC Symphony Orchestra conducted by Eugene Goossens in Symphony No. 2 by Bax, Berger's Rondo Ostinato and Bacchanale by Jacques Ibert. Milanov, Bjoerling and Warren are the soloists in Puccini's 'Tosca' on 'Tonight at the Opera' (Thurs. 10 p.m.) The Warsaw 1960 Contemporary Music Festival (Fri. 10 p.m.) is given to Spisak's Sinfonia Concertante No. 2, performed by the Hungarian Radio Symphony Orchestra. International Concert Hall will be heard Saturday, 8 p.m. and will feature an Overture by Haydn, Mozart's beautiful Sinfonia Concertante, K.364, with Leonid Kogan, Violin, and Rudolph Barshai, Viola, accompanied by the Slovak Philharmonic Orchestra, and DeFalla's popular Suite from the 'Three Corners Hat'. Mozart's 'Marriage of Figaro' will be heard on Sunday, 9.30 p.m., with Fischer-Dieskau, Seefried, Della Casa and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and Choir led by Karl Bohm, recorded at the Salzburg Festival. Sibelius' 4th Symphony and other works will be heard on Sibelius Festival Monday, 10 p.m. and 'New Classical Releases' is on the air 11 p.m. Tuesdays.

You may not be aware of all the good listening you are missing, that is, in case you do not own an F.M. set. Sets may be rented from CKVL for as little as $1.00 a week. For information, call PO. 6-2311.

NEW RECORDS

'Sound Off' — Marches of John Philip Sousa/Eastman Wind Ensemble - Frederick Fennell / MERCURY MG 50264.
An even dozen by Sousa — some of them not so famous and, subsequently, not overplayed. This is a welcome relief, and for lovers of band music here is a Hi-Fi treat.
Chopin — Concerto No. 2 in F, Op. 21 / Fantaisie in F, Op. 29 / Witold Malcuzyński with the London Symphony Orchestra — Walter Susskind / ANGEL 35729.
A solid performance of this lyrical concerto, actually the first of the two concerti composed by Chopin.
The Orchestral Verdi — Ballet Music from 'Il Trovatore' and 'Sicilian Vespers', and Overtures to: The Force of Destiny, Nabucco, Alzira and Luisa Miller / Philharmonia Promenade Orchestra — Charles Mackerras / ANGEL 35751.
A nice change from the usual 'Aida' Ballet Music, this record brings us two beautiful ballet scores as well as four of the infrequently performed overtures.
Paganini — Concerto No. 1 in D / Wieniawski — Concerto No. 2 in D / Michael Rabin, violin and Philharmonia Orchestra — Sir Eugene Goossens / CAPITOL P 8534.
Rabin made his debut as a boy wonder of the bow some ten years ago. One of his first recordings that I still cherish was a Columbia 10" of Paganini Caprices for violin solo. On the present disc Rabin turns in virtuoso performances of these two popular scores, with first-rate support from Goossens and the Philharmonia.

Scouting in Canada on increase, census shows

Canada now has 288,032 Boy Scouts and Leaders, census figures as of June 30 indicate. This is an increase of 13,424 over the 1959 total of 274,608. Increases are shown in all branches except Lone Scouts which dropped 59.

Wolf Cubs head the list with a total of 156,541; Boy Scouts, 96,465; Lone Scouts, 341; Sea Scouts, 2,368; Rover Scouts, 3,857; Rover Sea Scouts, 186; total boy membership, 259,758, plus 28,274 adult leaders (all volunteers).

Boy Scouts of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, are exchanging tape recorded messages and Scouting program ideas with American Boy Scouts in Lewiston and in Sabbathus, Maine. Two members of "Tape Respondents International", an organization for tape recording enthusiasts, Larry Ward of Lewiston, Maine, and O. J. Borrowman of Prince Albert, are sponsoring the unique project as part of the Boy Scouts of America's 50th anniversary.

A powerful short wave radio transmitter and receiver was set up by the Canadian Army at Connaught Ranges, near Ottawa, for use at the Boy Scouts International Bureau station during the 3rd Jamboree - on - the - Air, held from midnight October 21 to midnight October 23.

Sponsored by the Boy Scouts International Bureau, Jamboree - on - the - Air encouraged Scouts throughout the world to exchange greetings by means of short wave radio. For the first time a special effort was made to interest "SWLs", Scouts who, while they have no short wave transmitters, did have access to radios with short wave receiving facilities. Station VE3JAM operated on the following approximate frequencies; 10M — 28,450KC; 15M-21; 20M — 14,175KC; 40M — 7,100-KC; 80M — 3,750KC.

were issued by the International Special acknowledgement cards Bureau in Ottawa to all Scouts who reported contacts, during the Jamboree - on - the - Air period. Scouts in the Ottawa area were invited to visit station VE3JAM at Connaught Ranges, (the site of next year's 3rd Canadian Jamboree), in uniform, between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

It took two giant cranes to lift a 70-foot British Columbia totem pole into place in front of the new Canadian Scout Headquarters, under construction in Ottawa, recently . . . and some 66 tons of cement to anchor it. The totem pole is four and one half feet across at the base, and was carved by Chief Mungo Martin of the Kwakiutly Tribe, in Victoria.

Another touch of color for the new Canadian Scout Headquarters in Ottawa is a gift of 1,000 tulip bulbs from the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland. The gift was presented by B. Van Eyk, First Secretary of the Netherlands Embassy in Ottawa, and was accepted for the Boy Scouts' Association by Lt.-Col. C. W. Gilchrist, Ottawa, chairman of the Association's National Public Committee. The Scouts of Canada were represented by Wolf Cub James Wright and Queen's Scout George Clouston, of the Ottawa District. The National Capital Commission is kindly arranging for the planting of the bulbs when the grounds are ready.

A record total of more than 225 tons of paper was collected late in September by the Cubs and Scouts of the North Waterloo, Ontario, Boy Scouts' Association.

Work is nearing completion in the granite quarries at St. Brevard, in England's Cornwall District, on a nine-foot statue of Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, Founder of the Boy Scout Movement. It is to be placed at the new International Scout Hostel being built in London.

During 1959, the combined circulation of English language daily newspapers reached an all-time high of 57,611,447.

RCA Victor have given us a pot-pourri of some of their most popular discs over the years, mixing up popular and classical artists indiscriminately with pleasing and nostalgic effect. Space forbids listing all the thirty selections, but the following will give you the idea: — 'The Quartet From Rigoletto' with Caruso, Galli-Curci, Perini and deLuca, Fritz Kreisler playing 'Thais', Maurice Chevalier singing 'Louise', Grace Moore and her unforgettable 'Ciribiribin', 'The Swan' with Pablo Casals, Tommy Dorsey and 'Boogie Woogie', Allan Jones singing 'The Donkey Serenade', the late Leonard Warren singing 'The Toreador Song' from 'Carmen', and selections by Guy Lombardo, Toscanini, Leopold Stowkowski, Glenn Miller, etc., etc., etc. Very enjoyable.

People and Places

If you're planning a little combination in the way of ski tows and trails some weekend this winter, try the Orford set-up at Magog, the new development at Sutton, Quebec, the Jay Peak lay-out at just over the line in Vermont, and the North Hatley arrangements . . . They're all about 20 miles apart — give or take a few miles — in very lovely places and with very nice people offering accommodations . . . This might be old by now, but Stowe, Vermont, has another double chair and new trails added to the multi-million dollar investment at the Mount Mansfield Ski area . . .

There's a movement afoot among the lodge and restaurant owners for improved road markings and indicators to this delightful spot from St. Albans, Vermont on in . . . Considering the fact that Montreal provides the outstanding potential for this resort town, it's about high time (as we say in our set) something was done to simplify the maze of byways, which would make a pleasant trip of only slightly more than 100 miles . . .

Recently a couple of people we know started from Montreal and arrived about six hours later, after meandering around the New England state for 4 hours . . . their mistake occurred as they left St. Alban's . . . A matter of 50 miles from Stowe . . . Buddy Clayton, the music man, is with Chantecler again for the season . . . Gerhard Roming, the genial manager of Maxlyn's at Stowe, travelled all the way to Stamford, Connecticut, to vote in his home precinct. The winning candidate slipped in by one vote . . . and all the rock-ribbed Republicans in Vermont are eyeing our boy suspiciously . . . Beaugard and your faithful chronicler (that's us) had the rickshaw over to Mad River Glen and Sugarbush (they're ski operations near Waitsfield, Vermont) . . . We suckered the old gentleman with the promise of viewing some lovely girls in terrific ski outfits . . . Of course, there weren't any around, and the last we saw of the Pride of the Cottillions of 1920 was at Waterbury grabbing a train for the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City . . . Oh well, he'll be back . . . and when the snow flies, so will the girls, we guess . . .

GERHARD ROMING

By the way, upstate New York has been heard from with Wilmington reporting $70,000 budgeted for Whiteface Mountain improvements in anticipation of the North American Alpine Championships to be held there early in March 1961 . . . and from Tupper Lake, that their $500,000 ski area will be ready for around December 15 . . . This latter spot will be a really posh one . . . with that kind of money kicking around, why shouldn't it, you may well ask? The soaring popularity of skiing is evident everywhere!

Before we shut up shop for this week, it might be a good time to put in a couple of cents worth of warning anent careful driving. It's really worth while, and it's nice to arrive where you're going in one piece.

Drive with great care, please. See you next week.

'Five Peppers' proves success

"The Five Little Peppers", a popular children's play, presented at Victoria Hall last Saturday afternoon by the Children's Theatre, under the direction of Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, was warmly received by an audience of hundreds, young and old.

The youthful thespians acquitted themselves with distinction, working well together as a unit. The production as a whole was realistic, and held watching youngsters from the opening curtain to the last act of the show.

Showing great promise as an actress, Harriet Eisenkraft, as the youngest member of the Pepper family, delivered her lines clearly and distinctly. As the older sister, Rebecca Broder gave an excellent performance, and Beverley Light as Mrs. Pepper made a truly delightful mother, lovable and believable. Grandma Bascum was played by Esther Ravinsky, who proved herself a capable character actress.

Equally good were the boys of the Pepper family: Bud Solloway, Earl Strauss and Peter Svatek. The Prof. Tourtelotte of Ian Devoy was excellent and provided many laughs. Judy Friedman, Roslyn Penn, Eleanor Lifshitz, Jon Warren, Steven Vineberg, Michel Shore, Vera Joffe and David Light all turned in good performances as well as Walter Wakefield in the role of Mr. King.

This amusing and delightful play is recommended for an entertaining afternoon, and may be seen at this Saturday's performance, with tickets available at the door.

MRT extends 'Fifth season' another week

"The Fifth Season," the spicy comedy about New York's fabulous fashion industry, has been held over for a third week at The Montreal Repertory Theatre.

Starring Joseph Golland, "The Fifth Season" is a hilariously funny play about the trials and tribulations of two men engaged in the business of manufacturing women's fashions. Originally an eighty-two week hit on Broadway, "The Fifth Season" has played at numerous theatres around North America, and is now regarded as one of this country's standards of stage production.

Walter Winchell was prone to report after seeing "The Fifth Season" that it is "Good for your funny bone," and The Montreal Star stated that the "MRT production provides an entertaining evening."

"The Fifth Season" plays nightly at the MRT Playhouse on Closse street, except Sundays and Mondays. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

Transport workers elect 1961 officers

Executive officers of Local 312 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers have been elected for the coming year representing employees of major transportation lines.

Those elected were president, E. Gagnon; vice-president, R. Mainville; financial secretary, A. Gervais; treasurer, R. Austin; recording secretary, R. DeGuire; reporter, A. Gervais; local chairman, N. Fortier; and education chairman, F. Robidoux.

The newly elected officers will assume office on January 1 and will serve for a one year term. Local meetings are held monthly throughout the year except during July and August. Local 312 was chartered in 1955.

The Brotherhood, founded in Moncton in 1908, is Canada's largest national union, and also the nation's largest transportation union. It has 40,000 members, including railway workers, city and inter-city bus employees, airline pilots, seamen, marine officers, truckers, hotel workers, and canal employees.

Morey Amsterdam opens at El Morocco Nov. 21

Morey Amsterdam, known in show business circles as the comedian's comedian, is a man of amazing versatility. He has been a night club owner, concert cellist, movie writer and director, song writer, recording artist, stage performer, orchestra side man, radio and television director, producer and star.

He opens at El Morocco Nov. 21.

Amsterdam began his professional career as a cello player, then switched to gags. At one point in his career, he was doing so many shows a week, Fred Allen was prompted to remark: "The only thing we can turn on in our house without getting Morey Amsterdam is the water faucet."

He was born in Chicago, Dec.

14, 1912. His family moved to San Francisco when his father, Max Amsterdam, first violinist for the Chicago Opera, joined the Symphony Orchestra there.

His father, desiring a musical career for his son, began encouraging him to study the cello. Although Morey dropped music in favor of the stage. After two semesters at the University of California, his proficiency with the cello has proved invaluable as a comedy prop, as well as a source of relaxation.

He started his career by joining his older brother's vaudeville act, playing theatres all along the West Coast.

He made his stage debut as a single in Chicago at the age of 16, but proved not yet ready for such a big step.

The Collection

by
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There is a sentence in the last chapter of St. Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians which always provokes a smile in the congregation. It is: "Now concerning the collection."

It is the favorite text of those who feel that the Church is always asking for money. They generally add that the Church should be concerned with spiritual things and leave money alone. It is perfectly true that money is a very great danger to the Church.

Dom David Knowles shows in his great history of the Monastic Orders in England that it was money that corrupted the Orders. Nevertheless, it is also true that the Church must be concerned with money, for there is nothing which concerns man which does not also concern the Church.

Like everything else money can be used or abused. When it is used rightly it is a blessing; when it is abused it becomes a curse. St. Paul was aiming to use money; in fact, he felt that it was essential to his plans in two ways. He wanted the Christians of the Gentile world to raise a fund to relieve the poor in Jerusalem. That was simple Christian charity. Paul, however, had another purpose in asking for a collection. He felt it would be the outward expression of the love of the brethren for one another, and would serve to overcome the desperate cleavage between the Jewish and Gentile parties in the Church. He made no apology for his asking for money, but he did take steps to see that it was handled in such a way that he would not benefit from it personally. At that moment Paul was not considering the local needs of the Church, but those came a very short time later and he had no hesitation in pressing them.

The fact is that money is an essential part of our everyday life, and no less of the religious side of our life. The Hebrew was required to give his tithe for the upkeep of the Temple and the priesthood and he was also required to care for the poor.

The same is true in every branch of the Christian Church; each one is a brotherhood or society, and though the great Society is divine, it makes use of material as well as spiritual things, and generally speaking, money is the form in which the material things are provided. How generously? As God has blessed each one of us. Our Lord's special commendation was for the woman who gave two mites — which together make a farthing. She gave generously because she gave what she could not spare. Too often we give grudgingly of what is left over.

At the present time very many congregations are in the midst of an Every Member Visitation. The purpose is to knit together each congregation in fellowship; to urge the members to participate in worship; to let each member see that the congregation is weakened if he absents himself; and lastly to impress on each member that there is a real satisfaction in sharing in the support of his part of the great Church which today is doing our Lord's work in the world.

Cystic Fibrosis Association will have ballet night

The art and pageantry of the ballet will be linked with a fight against a deadly disease when the Cystic Fibrosis Association of Quebec combine with the National Ballet of Canada to present "Swan Lake" on November 23 at Her Majesty's Theatre.

Proceeds of the performance will be used by the Cystic Fibrosis Association to aid the child sufferers from this little-known but wide-spread disease. Becoming more known in Canada, and long ranked by U.S. physicians behind cancer as the second deadliest killer of young children, cystic fibrosis is hereditary in nature, and afflicts vital organs, particularly the lungs. At the moment, there is no known cure, and hospital treatment is largely therapeutic.

The Cystic Fibrosis Association has been instrumental in purchasing therapy equipment for home and hospital use, and has contributed financially to research efforts now being made.

The performance of the National Ballet on November 23 is at no increase over regular prices, tickets attainable at Her Majesty's, and is an opportunity for ballet-lovers to assist this worthy cause.

Further information on this event or regarding measures now being taken against cystic fibrosis may be obtained from Mrs. A. F. Smith, President of the Cystic Fibrosis Association of Quebec, 44-48th avenue, Lachine, or by telephoning ME. 7-6682.

Every Sisterhood member is urged to be generous in this all important cause. Second list of patronesses, Mrs. Harry Horn, Mrs. Jack Pickard, Mrs. Eli L. Yaphe, Mrs. Samuel Schwartz, president and her associates on the Sisterhood Board look forward to a most successful Donor Luncheon.

Notes on the Peking Opera

The Peking Opera, to be seen over TV CBC channel on Festival '61, Monday, Nov. 21, from 9:30 p.m., to 11:00 p.m., EST on the CBC-TV network will be as follows:

The Dance of the Peacocks — A dance taken from the folk lore of the Tai national minority in the southern part of China. Featuring Tsi Hua-tuan (female dancer) and the corps de ballet of the Chinese Classical Theatre. Descriptive of the peacock as he preens and gambols by the side of a lake.

The Three Encounters (mime, acrobatics, dialogue and weapon-play) — Extract from The Peking Opera, the first of three on this program. A general on his way into exile has stopped at an inn to spend the night. Another general enters, under orders to follow and protect the exiled general. The innkeeper, a friend of the exile, suspects the second general of treason, and during the night enters his room with the intention of killing him. Dramatic action underlined by orchestral themes, the strings predominating.

Orchestral Number — The orchestra of the Chinese National Theatre plays a dance of the Yao nationality, and extract from The Village Girl.

The Dance of the Red Ribbons — The corps de ballet performs a dance seen all over China. Girl and boy dancers weave patterns in the air with wide, cloth sashes.

John Grenfell will interview Chang Tung-chuan, artistic director of the Chinese Classical Theatre, about theatre in China, his company of artists and their training.

The Autumn River (singing, mime and dialogue) — Hsia Meichin and Sun Cheng-wu perform the second excerpt from The Peking Opera. It is a simple story about a young girl who asks an old boatman to take her across the River of Autumn to rejoin her fiance. He maliciously complicates the departure, almost tipping her out of the boat, but eventually smiles and takes her to her love.

The Dance of the Bounteous Harvest (dance and mime) — Girl dancers, wearing outsize masks which make them look like young children, wake little Piao ta-chang of Chiangsi, who has fallen asleep under a cabbage. Celebrating the harvest, they play hopscotch and blind man's buff.

The Pearl on the Rainbow Bridge (grand finale with singing, mime and weapon-play) — third extract from The Peking Opera — The beautiful goddess of the Si-shui Sea marries a mortal and gives him a magic pearl. The Emperor of Jade Heaven feels she has broken a celestial law, which forbids a goddess to seek happiness on earth. He orders the celestial army to seize the goddess, who assembles her sea-people to fight. Helpless without her magic pearl, she soon retreats.

Local artists display creations at exhibition

By PAT IPPOLITO

Fine porcelain and imaginative earthenware created by two Montreal artists, Jean Withey and Eileen Reid, was displayed the last week of October at a special exhibition at the Potters' Club, 346 Victoria avenue.

This was the first exhibition of Mrs. Withey's porcelain work in Montreal, although it has been displayed in Ohio and Michigan where she lived before moving here. It also appeared in the 21st Ceramic National at Syracuse, N.Y. this month.

For several years Mrs. Withey has been interested in Chinese porcelain, and has done much research in an attempt to find a modern method of reproducing the copper reduction glazes for which early Chinese potters were famous.

She likes earthenware for the variety of expression it affords, and for its warm earthy color. Her pieces range from tableware, ash trays to sculpture.

According to Mrs. Withey, her ox blood, flambe (a purple glaze) and peach bloom glazes are all basically the same glaze, but with different firing schedules, and using varying periods of oxidation. Her work of porcelain wine sets, covered bowls and vases, shows the use of these three color glazes exclusively.

A native of Montreal, Mrs. Reid is the founder of the Potters' Club, is its present president, and is Eastern vice-president of the Canadian Guild of Potters. She has been closely connected with the Canadian Handicrafts Guild. Her work has been seen in the city in several major exhibitions, both local and national.

Mrs. Reid explained the difference between earthenware pottery and porcelain as a difference in material. While she uses natural clay for her earthenware, porcelain is an artificial mixture.

Pieces of her work have been twice selected to be included in the circuit show of "Ceramic National," which is held biennially in Syracuse. The 1958 circuit included such stops as the Metropolitan Museum in New York City and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Exhibitions at the Stratford Festival as well as a recent international ceramics show at Ostend, Belgium, have also included pottery, signed "Kenlynden," by Mrs. Reid.

"My clay would be a solidified molasses," she said, "if it were fired at the high heat necessary for porcelain."

HAMILTON: THERE ARE times, even in this hard-boiled business, that you have to pinch yourself to see if it is true. The fact of the matter is that Verdun Sham-Cats have won themselves an Eastern Canada senior 'B' title and now move into the Dominion final against St. Vital in Winnipeg on the weekend. For nine years we have watched, right from the start the birth of the Verdun Sham-Cats. We saw them lose and win. We saw them choke up as the saying goes when the chips were down and although they were close they never got past the winning of the QRFU title. Two weeks ago they made it and here, on Saturday, they moved and passed the Hamilton Ti-Cats Bees and are now in the Dominion final.

I have to go back to 1938 when intermediate football, that's what it was called in those days, and Verdun had their own four team league. At that time along with Buck Tahamont, who was league president, this writer was the secretary and treasurer. We saw Argos win the QRFU title and later Verdun Grads, who did it twice. That was 1940. Along came the war and football was forgotten in small cities across Canada. It was not until 1946 that playoffs were arranged just for the Eastern title. Later came the west and now we have a Dominion playoff.

It was pleasing to be in the kill as Verdun Cats fought a good team of Cats from this city, the 'B' team for the Big Four Ti-Cats. The line work was good, but much is to be desired by Verdun for their Western game on the weekend. Western lines are good because they are carbon copies of the western pro clubs. Two Hamilton men, McCoy and Koshul almost made monkeys of the Verdun Cat defense line, but, the Verdun crew came up with the big stops.

The game had its breaks. Hank Lapointe, Johnny-on-the-spot, picked up two touchdowns by grabbing loose balls. These were important. The Hamilton team got a break on a blocked kick from the Verdun 10. Hamilton were a heavier club, about 15 to 20 pounds would be a fair estimate. Verdun's success this year, stems from having pro players, veteran seniors and the eight junior players up from NDG. Those Maple Leafs can take an assist on Verdun's run to-date.

At Home . . . It was a fast trip to Hamilton in order to catch the Eastern Canada junior final between Rosemount and AKO Windsor. We knew of the Windsor club for they played Lakeshore some eight years ago and later they played Verdun junior Sham-Cats thrice and won every time out. This time, Rosemount, a much heavier club won 26-0. Windsor fielded the lightest club we have seen in the past 10 years. Al Newman is still their coach who also handles a school team and knows just where he is going to get his next replacements.

It will be a Dominion junior final Saturday at the Verdun Stadium. That's two in three years as NDG Maple Leafs faced the same Hilltops at the Old Westmount Grounds in 1957. The Western club will be good, for that fact, when two teams get this far, into the Dominion, both clubs must be good.

Final rugger playoff action slated Saturday

Last Saturday's semi-final in which Irish beat Westmount and Mount Royal defeated Wanderers settled the finalists to compete for the Mair shield.

Irish, in their surprise upset of the strong Westmount team showed that their traditional fire and verve can pay-off. Westmount went into the game as favorites because of their splendid record in the season's league games (they finished second in the league competition).

The final game will be played Saturday at the Town of Mount Royal arena, 2 p.m. Trophies will be presented at a dance at the Town of Mount Royal Town Hall in the evening.

Westmount started off strongly and got the ball frequently from set scrums and the talented back division promised results.

The first score was a penalty by Allistair Wittit for Westmount after five minutes of play. Irish held off further scoring by excellent covering and hard tackling. The men in green started to dominate the lineouts and were really fired up in the loose play. Their efforts paid off when Gerry Brennan scored two penalty goals.

With 15 minutes of play gone, Irish were ahead 6-3. The battle raged back and forth without further scoring until, with only seven minutes left in the game, Joe Field got a touchdown for the Irish which Brennan converted and so the Irish won 11-3.

League champions Mount Royal were at home to the Wanderers in the other semi-final match and this proved to be a hard fought and very exciting game.

Mounties got a quick lead with two penalty goals by Niall Quaid but the Wanderers did not give up.

The heavy town scrum got the ball frequently in tight play and Wanderers were getting it often from the lineouts.

Both sets of backs had scoring opportunities and there was some splendid running and passing, but good hard tackling by both teams brought these movements

Loyola beats Mounties to advance into final school playoff Friday

Loyola High School won the first round, a sudden-death senior football playoff, when they beat out Mt. Royal 26-12, at Lower Canada College grounds.

The next step for Loyola will be against Cardinal Newman, winners of the third division, Friday, in another sudden-death game.

The hero of Loyola was George Poirier, in action for the first time since he suffered torn leg ligaments, collected two touchdowns, one a 45 yard pass-and-run play and the other an 80 yard run back on an intercepted pass.

Quarterback Bernie Young, localing Poirier and Paul Leblanc for one payoff pitch apiece, was another dominant figure in Loyola's victory — the club's seventh in a row. Young also booted a pair of converts.

On the winners' first play from scrimmage, Young combined with to nought, often times the ball carrier was brought down inches short of a touchdown.

The battle raged on but in spite of many exciting moments and near misses no more scoring was possible, and the Town won 6-0.

Poirier on a 40-yard aerial, setting the stage for Barry MacDonald's two-yard burst to open the flood-gates.

Poirier's first TD and Young's two extra points gave Loyola a 14-0 cushion after one quarter of play.

A 65-yard Young-to-Leblanc combination and Poirier's second major pulled Loyola into a commanding 26-0 lead before Mount Royal could reach the scoreboard midway through the third stanza.

Sparked by the never-say-die line charges of fullback Dave MacDonald, coach Bill Wade's Mounties battled back with unconverted touchdowns in each of the last two quarters.

Tommy Bramhill went the route on a kickoff return from his own 40, and Bobby Palov followed with a 12-yard scoring slant.

Dave Lennon and Pete Loranger were defensive standouts for coach Ed Meagher's Loyolans, while halfbacks Paul St. George and Jimmy Newman chalked up huge chunks of yardage on offense.

Two-way stalwart Don Taylor shone for Mount Royal, which tasted defeat for the first time this season.

Five teams enter army ball league

Five teams will operate in the Officers Military Fastball League this year. The League starts its 49th season, Friday, November 18, with two games.

One new team enters the fold a composite club, formed by members of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps and the Provost Corps.

The new entry replaces the Grenadier Guards who bowed out of competition this year.

Other members of the league include Fusiliers Mont-Royal, Black Watch, Royal Montreal Regiment and Maisonneuve.

In opening games Fusiliers play at Black Watch and Maisonneuve plays at Royal Montreal Regiment. Both games are scheduled for 8.30 o'clock.

Black Watch won the pennant last year but lost out in the championship round to Fusiliers.

The Military League has been in operation since 1911, except for time out between the two World Wars.

Tom Branchill's one yard touchdown gave Mount Royal a 6-0 win over Lower Canada College, in Senior high school football action.

Chris Bryant stood out in Lower Canada's defeat.

Metro player is suspended

Claude Bourelle, star forward with Nationale of the Metropolitan Junior Hockey League, has been suspended and his team is to lose its three points in the league standings.

Nationale manager Jean Trotier said he received a telegram from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association ordering the suspension because Bourelle produced a false birth certificate when he signed with Nationale.

The three points are to be taken off Nationale's record and given to Notre Dame de Grace Monarchs, the team they beat once and tied once for the points.

However, the ruling will not go into effect until a QAHA meeting Nov. 19. Officials will then decide what other measures are to be taken against Bourelle.

Snuff is made from the stems and leaves of the tobacco plant.

WHAT KIND OF MEN?

The overriding issue of the 1960's is to determine what kind of men can best deal with the tumult of change in the world. Everywhere the accent falls on the new... the birth of new nations, the impact of new machines, the threat of new weapons, and the stirring of new ideas in economics, politics, and social values.

HERE IS THE YMCA'S ANSWER

The great need of our day is a strengthening of the moral values of our nation. The supreme and primary purpose of the Y.M.C.A. must be to provide an educational experience for youth and young adults in the learning of values.
