HELD CONFERENCE WITH GOVERNOR-GENERAL

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Until Premier King formally announces the intention of his Government, further developments in the political situation are not expected. But, while there is still no official pronouncement, the impression prevails that:

- 1.—The Government has decided in favor of meeting Parliament;
 - 2.—That Parliament will be summoned as early as is practicable.
- Premier King saw the Governor-General last night and submitted to him his views of the situation. It is, however, unlikely that he will publicly announce his intentions until final election returns are in. This, owing to uncertainty in Provencher, Man., may take some days.
- Conservatives, in the meantime, are holding their hand.
- Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, declines to make any statement until the intentions of the Government are made formally public.

PREMIER TO RUN IN ONTARIO—FAVORS WEST MIDDLESEX

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Elected members of the cabinet and defeated members of the cabinet met around the council table yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of the Privy Council, presided over by Premier King. While it is rare that outsiders know what takes place at a cabinet meeting, it was not difficult yesterday to guess the main topic which came up for discussion. The members sat all afternoon but no announcement was made at the conclusion by the Prime Minister as to the intentions of himself and his government in regard to remaining in office, and later the Prime Minister's office announced there would be no statement.

There is a feeling now that after all, Mr. King may, after he can secure a seat in the House of Commons, offer the resignation of his government to the Governor-General. He is receiving strong pressure from members of Parliament from Quebec and from the ministers who were elected to hold on to office until Parliament meets, on the theory that something may happen before the meeting of parliament which will clear up the present situation to the advantage of the Government. But the advice of defeated ministers and defeated members of parliament is in the main contrary.

It is believed now that the Prime Minister may endeavor to get elected in either West Middlesex, Prescott or Russell, and that he will refuse a seat in Quebec, preferring to remain in his own province, which would give him more prestige as leader of his party, even though he were not Prime Minister. As soon as it is possible for him to have the writ for the seat which he decides upon returned and the new writ for a new election issued, it is rumored here that he will then hand his resignation to the Governor-General. He would thus hold office for several weeks yet and would justify his course of action on the ground that he could not resign office until all the returns are received by the chief electoral officer, which will not be for five or six weeks yet. No statement, however, from the Prime Minister as regards his intention is forthcoming but from reliable sources it is learned that this course appeals more strongly to him today than it did the day after the election.

The western ministers have not yet arrived namely the Hon. Dr. King from British Columbia, the Hon. Mr. Motherwell from Saskatchewan, and the Hon. Mr. Stewart from Alberta. It is hardly likely that any definite announcement will be made until these ministers,

CONCEDE ELECTION OF CONSERVATIVE IN QUEEN'S

(Associated Press Despatch)

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Nov. 3.—The election of John Messervey, Conservative, over Hon. John E. Sinclair, minister without portfolio, is now generally conceded as the result of a complete checking up of the figures furnished by the deputy returning officers, although the issue will not finally be decided before declaration day. The re-checked figures for the three candidates in line for the junior seat in Queens, as accepted by the Charlottetown Patriot, Liberal, give Messervey, Conservative, the victory by twenty-four votes:

Messervey, Conservative	7424
Sinclair, Liberal	7400
McKinnon, Conservative	7396

The Charlottetown Guardian claims the election of Messervey by twenty-nine votes.

TEN MISSING AS RESULT OF BROKEN DAM

Houses and Buildings Were Swept Away and Hundreds of Cattle and Sheep Drowned.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LILANDUDNO, Wales, Nov. 3.—A woman and nine children are missing as the result of the bursting of a dam and the destruction of the village of Dolgarrog.

Houses and buildings were swept away and hundreds of cattle and sheep drowned when 180 million gallons of water from Eigiau Lake rushed down the vale of Conway yesterday.

Most of the occupants of the houses escaped. North Wales is without electricity as a result of the flood.

Later despatches this morning showed the disaster to be worse than was first reported. When the dam burst, the released waters formed two torrents, each from twenty to thirty feet in depth, raging down the valley and leaving ruin in their wake.

The furnaces in the electric power station exploded when the flood reached them, filling the little valley with steam. The furnace men, however, had made their escape, rushing down the valley to warn the occupants of the dwellings there.

There were some close escapes, the people running at top speed, many manning in some cases to reach high ground at the moment their homes were swept away.

Painleve Ministry Will Continue Efforts Started By Preceding Government With A View To A Settlement Of Debt Problems

Finns Financial Problem Greatest Facing France—Declares for a "Sacrifice in Which Will Participate All Forms of Wealth" and Revenue from Which Is to Be Used Exclusively in Reducing Debts—States "Menace" of Rebellion in Morocco Has Been Completely Set Aside.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The new Painleve Government in its declaration of policy to parliament says it will "resolutely pursue, with determination to succeed, the negotiations with the Allies begun in London and Washington by the preceding government, with a view to settlement of the debts."

The ministry's pronouncement finds the financial problem the greatest facing the country. As was expected, it declares for "a sacrifice in which will participate all forms of wealth," and the revenue from which is to be used exclusively in reducing the debts.

To accomplish its programme of financial rehabilitation, the declaration says, the government intends to assure monetary stabilization.

The "menace" of the rebellion in Morocco, it declares, has been completely swept aside. The first move for peace must come from the rebellious tribesmen.

As for the troubles in Syria, the government says they arose from anti-foreign intrigue and "false news from Pan-Islamic and revolutionary centres."

It lays down a programme calculated to hasten the hour "when the peoples of Syria shall be capable of governing themselves."

SOCIALISTS WILL NOT SUPPORT NEW GOVERNMENT (Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The Socialists have decided not to support the new government of Premier Painleve in Parliament, thus making a survival of it more than doubtful before it even has appeared in the Chamber of Deputies. This decision was reached early this morning at a council meeting of the Socialist party following a conference previously between M. Painleve and a committee of the council at which the Premier outlined his plans. The vote of the council on the question of supporting the Government was 1,431 to 1,228 against.

PROHIBITION CHIEF ISSUE IN U.S. ELECTIONS

Ku Klux Klan Issue Has Been Raised in Mayoralty Fights in Detroit and Louisville, Ky.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Prohibition and the Ku Klux Klan furnished the issues in some of the more spectacular of the election contests which are to be decided today in thirteen states.

The wet and dry question is right at the front in the New Jersey gubernatorial contest with Harry Moore, the Democratic candidate, declaring for modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the state enforcement act, and State Senator Arthur Whitney, Republican, favoring enforcement of both of those acts.

The Ku Klux Klan issue has been raised in the mayoralty fights in Detroit and Louisville, Ky. Prohibition also has figured in the Detroit contest. The campaign for Mayor of New York is between State Senator James J. Walker, Democrat, and Frank D. Waterman, Republican.

Two seats in the House of Representatives, are at issue in today's election, with the Republicans seeking to retain control over that from the New Jersey district and the Democrats seeking to keep that from the third Kentucky district.

New York, New Jersey, Kentucky and Virginia are to elect members of the State Legislature, while the voters of Pennsylvania will fill one state office. Constitutional amendments also are voted upon in New York and Ohio.

CO-OPERATION OF CITY COUNCIL SOUGHT BY AUTO CLUB; I.O.D.E. REFERENCE TO ARMISTICE DAY

At Regular Council Meeting Last Night Only Minor Items of Business Came Before City Fathers—Letters Read from I.O.D.E. and Royal Automobile Club of Canada—Council Asked to Co-operate to Force All Vehicles to Carry a Light at Night—City Asked to Bear Part of Armistice Day Celebration Expense—Reports of Different Committees Were Adopted—Alderman Langis Appointed Pro-Mayor.

SEVERAL minor items of business were brought before the City Fathers at the regular meeting of the City Council held at the City Hall last evening. Owing to the fact that the last regular Council meeting had to be adjourned because of a lack of a quorum, it had been expected that a rather busy session would be held last evening. The chief business, however, to come before the authorities was the presenting and adoption of reports of the different committees.

These reports covered the payment of accounts and salaries for the past month, while several minor business matters were also included.

Two letters, which had been received at the City Hall and were also read by the City Clerk, and the suggestions contained in them were referred to different committees for consideration.

One of these letters was from the Sherbrooke Branch of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, in which reference was made to the anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, which is to be observed next week. It was pointed out in this letter that in the years the anniversary of this event has been fittingly observed in the city by the erection of a cenotaph on the Court House Square.

Owing to the fact that the cenotaph which has been used in past years is badly in need of repairs, a request was made to the City Council that this year the city bear the expense of having a new cenotaph made, or of having necessary enlargements and improvements made to the present one.

It was further pointed out that in past years the greater amount of expenses in connection with Armistice Day celebrations had been borne by the Order, and a request that financial support be given this year by the city was made.

After the letter had been read, it was referred to the finance committee for study and consideration.

Royal Automobile Club Asks For Co-Operation.

A request was also made to the City Council in a letter from the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, that the two bodies co-operate to force all vehicles to carry a light at night, and also that when locks of animals are being driven along the highways or public roads at night that the owners be forced to carry a light and that a man be in charge in the front and rear of the flocks.

In the letter it was pointed out that many accidents resulted from the fact that teams and other vehicles failed to use a light on the highway at nights, and also that many farmers and other people would drive herds of animals along the roads and highways without sufficient precautions.

An effort is being made by the Royal Automobile Club of Canada to co-operate with the different municipalities, in order to combat this difficulty. The matter was referred to the police department.

Alderman Langis Appointed Pro Mayor.

A motion was made by Alderman Tetrault and seconded by Alderman Newton that Alderman Langis be appointed pro mayor for the next three months. This motion was carried.

Several Reports Were Presented.

The chief item in the report of the finance committee was in connection with the present legal difficulties between the city and the Sherbrooke Railway and Power Company. In this connection it will be remembered that some time ago a difficulty arose between the city and this Company regarding the furnishing of electric power to the Canadian Connecticut Cotton Mills, Ltd.

The city made an agreement whereby the Sherbrooke Railway and Power Company could furnish 1,000 horse power of electric current to the Cotton Mills. An appeal was made by the Railway Company that it be allowed to furnish a larger amount. The city objected to this request and the matter was brought before the courts for settlement.

It was, therefore, moved and adopted at the meeting last night that the city attorney be authorized to secure the services of a Montreal attorney to act with him in connection with this case.

SOCIALIST AND LABOR PARTY MADE GAINS

Increased Representation in Many Councils in London and Wales, But Not Sufficiently to Give Them Control.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The outstanding feature in yesterday's municipal elections in England and Wales, as far as they have decided, is the progress of the Labor and Socialist party. They have gained about fifty seats in the provinces and forty in London.

There has, however, been no Labor-Socialist landslide, for although they increased their representation in many councils, this is insufficient to give them control.

In Shoreditch alone, of the fourteen London results declared, was the Labor-Socialist gain enough to give them control of the council, which they previously had not ruled.

The Poplar district remains almost solidly Labor-Socialist.

Fourteen additional London results will be made known today, in addition to numbers from the provinces.

EIGHT KILLED WHEN BUS WAS HIT BY TRAIN

Fast New York-Florida Passenger Train Collided With Crowded School Bus at Nahunta, Ga.

(Associated Press Despatch)

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 3.—The collision of the Atlantic coast line's fast New York to Florida passenger train, the Everglades, and a loaded school bus at Nahunta, Ga., yesterday resulted in the deaths of eight children and injuries to twenty-one others.

Eloy Stockland, who was driving the bus, told railroad officials here that there was a mist at the time and he had all side curtains up. When the bus approached the crossing, he said, he asked one of the boys to look to the north to see if a train was approaching.

"At the same time," he stated, "I looked to the south. Just as the bus reached the crossing the train crashed into it."

The terrific impact of the heavy locomotive threw the bus a distance of twenty feet and strewn its occupants along the right of way. Three of the children were killed instantly.

Read Alberta Woman's Experience With Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

THE TRAVELERS ARE WAYLAD*

(By Thornton W. Burgess) Who travels never knows when he May face to face with danger here. Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse were peeping out from under an old board at the foot of a post at the lower end of the Long Lane when they talked with Peter Rabbit. They were explaining to Peter that they were preparing for winter by traveling, and Peter was having hard work to get that through his head. They teased him for a while and then they explained. "You see," said Danny, "we had such a very comfortable winter when we went down to the Sunny South that we decided we must do something this year to have as comfortable a winter as possible. So we are moving up to Farmer Brown's."

"Farmer Brown's!" cried Peter. "Do you mean to say that you are going up to farmer Brown's to live?" Again Danny chuckled that squeaky little chuckle of his. "We're going up to his barn to live," said he. "It is a wonderful place, that barn. You know Nanny and I lived there one winter, and we've never forgotten it. It is warm, there is plenty to eat, and there are no end of hiding places. I wouldn't care to stay there in the summer, but in the winter it is wonderful. Nanny and I talked it all over and decided that we would move up there for this winter. So we're on our way. We're taking our time, you know, because there is no particular hurry about getting there. So far we've had a very pleasant journey. Blacky the Crow was the first one to make any trouble for us. This old board came in very handy."

Peter Rabbit looked up. Then, without even stopping to say goodbye, away he ran. You see, Farmer Brown's boy was heading right straight for that old post. Stopping absence of Mr. Long. A DUBIOUS RULE Secretary Mellon is reported as saying, "Don't put your money into another man's dreams." Still, the men who backed up Bell and Ford in their phone and flivver dreams, lost nothing by it.

They ran from one shelter to another over, he picked up the board. He was going to take it back up to the barn. My, you should have seen Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse take to their little heels! They squeaked with fright and away they ran. Farmer Brown's boy apologized, but they didn't hear him. "You poor little scamps," said he. "Were you living under there? I'm sorry to give you such a fright." Then he looked very carefully to see if there was a nest. Of course there wasn't a nest, and then he concluded that they weren't living under that board at all, but were just hiding there. He went whistling up the Long Lane and on his shoulder he carried the board. As for Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, they also continued on up the Long Lane. But they went by a series of little runs followed by stops. You see, here there were no little paths for them up there. They ran from one shelter to another, and in each shelter they stopped to look and listen for danger. You see, it was a very dangerous trip for two such little persons. They had been lucky that so far no one but Blacky the Crow had discovered them. Presently, as Danny ran from one little clump of grass to another, a great black creature sprang. Danny squeaked with fright, for two black paws had all but landed on him. In fact, they had landed on his funny little short tail. Nanny Meadow Mouse had wanted to squeak, but she wisely had kept her mouth shut. Just in time she had seen Black Puss the Cat. So now, with her heart going pitter-pat, pitter-pat, she crouched under the grass and, holding her breath, watched to see if Black Puss would catch Danny. She expected every second to see Black Puss with Danny in her teeth. But Black Puss seemed to be having difficulty. She hadn't caught Danny. Nanny couldn't think how Danny could have escaped. She could tell that he had by Black Puss's actions. "Don't you let her get you, Danny. Don't you let her get you," she kept saying over and over under her breath.

You may be quite sure that Danny had no intention of letting Black Puss get him—not if he could help himself. (Copyright, 1925, by T. W. Burgess)

Was Nearly Crazy From Headaches

Headaches and Biliousness

Are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

When you feel irritable, cranky and downhearted, you can easily blame the liver, for there is no organ in the human body which so quickly throws the system out of sorts as a torpid, sluggish liver. You do not need to be in the blues long, if you know about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for by their direct action on the liver they relieve promptly and prove lastingly beneficial.

Once the liver is right the bowels function regularly and the whole digestive system resumes its work. You feel fine and take a delight in telling others of the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This is why this favorite prescription of Dr. Chase is so popular and is found in every store where medicines are sold.

Feel Glorious! Nicest Laxative, "Cascarets" 10c

Don't stay head-achy, bilious, constipated, sick! One or two pleasant, candy-like "Cascarets" any time will gently stimulate your liver and start your bowels. Then you will be both look and feel clean, sweet, refreshed; your head clear, stomach light, tongue pink and your skin rosy.

Because cheery, harmless "Cascarets" never gripe, inconvenience or sicken, "Cascarets" has become the largest selling laxative in the world for men, women, children. Buy a box at any drugstore.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally. Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to remove them like you remove the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is step-pensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads—dis-solve them. Get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store and rub with hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads. They simply dissolve and disappear by this safe and sure method.

4 out of 5 is grim pyorrhea's count DENTAL STATISTICS tell this grim story: four people out of every five are destined, through neglect, to contract pyorrhea after they pass the age of forty. Thousands younger also suffer. Pyorrhea is the dread disease of the gums which is responsible often for loss of teeth, rheumatism, neuritis and other dangerous disorders. It starts with tender bleeding gums. Pockets form below the teeth and poisons spread relentlessly through the body. If you have pyorrhea or any of its symptoms see your dentist at once and start brushing your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums. To safeguard yourself against pyorrhea make Forhan's your regular dentifrice. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., and contains his pyorrhea liquid which has been used by dentists the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. If used regularly and used in time it will prevent pyorrhea or check its course. Depends on Father John's Medicine to Keep Her Boys and Girls Strong and Healthy.

A very heavy responsibility rests on the mother of a family. Children are subject to so many sicknesses—are constantly playing around and exposing themselves to all sorts of dangers. Wet feet—running outside without coat or hat—standing in open doorways, and a hundred other little things, cause Coughs, Colds, Tonsillitis and Bronchitis. Every mother knows what that means and takes every precaution to prevent it, but often in spite of her vigilance a cough or cold develops and it seems almost impossible to get rid of it. This is because the affected parts are weakened and the system is unequal to the task of building up sufficient resistance. Mrs. Edward Sheridan, of 41 Sault au Matlot St., Quebec City, has every reason to be proud of being able to keep her family of seven children in such robust health. She says: "I have used Father John's Medicine for years and always have a bottle in the house. My children had Bronchitis for a long time and I used Father John's Medicine. It proved to be wonderful, so I thought my testimonial would help some other sufferer." For seventy years mothers have used Father John's Medicine and have found that it so nourishes, strengthens and builds up the body that Coughs and Colds are driven out in a natural way. On the first appearance of a cold—or on the exposure to the danger of contracting one—mothers bring out the bottle of Father John's Medicine and find that this treatment usually prevents the cold from getting a foothold. It is a real food- tonic, containing cod liver oil and other valuable ingredients in a blend which is particularly palatable to children and easily digested by them. It enriches the blood, nourishes the nerve and body tissue, and in this natural way builds up the system's power of resistance so that disease finds it extremely difficult to batter down the defences. As Father John's Medicine contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs it is perfectly safe for anyone.

CHORUS GIRLS CLEVER ATHLETES. The ballet of bewitching beauties with Le Conte and Fleisher's musical masterpiece, "My China Doll," which is to be presented at His Majesty's Theatre tomorrow night, are often spoken of in a class with the well known English "Rockets," because of their skill and perfect execution of the difficult dances. These clever girls, with possibly one or two exceptions, have been together for four years, working in the same show each season and immediately following the closing of the attraction in the spring, go direct to their cottage on the east side of Lake Michigan, where they can be seen in swimming, long before the cold chills are out of the water. They devote their entire vacation to water sports, running and jumping—therefore, when the water meets are held along the lake front—during the summer, they get their share of the prizes for endurance contests.

ALL DRESSED UP WITH SOME WHERE TO GO

For the past ten years in the middle of September through the larger cities of the United States and Eastern Canada, Dad has begun to fidget and fume and fuss. "Hum," says Mother, looking wise, "He gets in the fall what stirs me to house-cleaning in the Spring. It's his gun and tackle and old, old smelly clothes he wants." So Mother goes to the attic, but finds Dad has been there first, the whole floor is strewn with his paraphernalia—all she has to do is look it over and have it ready for packing. Then Dad boards the train for the Maritimes, the hunting season is open and he knows that up the St. John, with all its branches, are to be found such hunting and fishing as is found nowhere else. And back from the beaten track in Nova Scotia are whole areas where moose and deer and partridge abound, Dad has been going every year and he knows, Take a tip from him, get out your oldest togs, get dressed up and any Canadian Pacific Ry. Ticket Agent will tell you where to go.

MR. HOWARD'S MAJORITY REDUCED BY OFFICIAL COUNTING

The official majority received by Mr. Charles B. Howard, the newly-elected member of parliament for Sherbrooke County, over his opponent, E. B. Worthington, according to an announcement made to the Record this morning by Mr. J. A. Lazure, the returning officer, was 1,117.

The official counting of votes, which took place at the Court House yesterday, showed that in all 12,100 votes were cast by the electors of Sherbrooke County at the polls on Thursday last. Of this number 6,596 went in favor of Mr. Howard, the Liberal candidate, while Col. E. B. Worthington, the Conservative standard bearer, received 5,443.

In all about eighty-five votes were rejected. The returning officer stated in answer to a question that about three votes had been cast in favor of Mr. F. N. McCrea, who came into the field as Independent Liberal Protectionist, but who later withdrew. These votes were included among the rejected ballots. The number of rejected votes is considered to be very small in comparison with the large number of votes cast.

The ballot boxes were opened by the returning officer, in the presence of Mr. Eugene Oliver, who acted as election secretary, and a number of supporters of both the Liberal and Conservative parties.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHERBROOKE DEANERY OF THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Inspiring Addresses Given by Rev. H. R. Bigg and Rev. J. Atkinson, of Magog—Splendid Reports Presented—Next Annual Meeting to Be Held in Lennoxville.

A successful annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Deanery of the Women's Auxiliary, M.S.C.C., was held last week in the parish hall, preceded by a celebration of the holy communion in St. Peter's Church, the celebrant being the Rev. H. R. Bigg, who also gave a most inspiring and helpful address, taken from Psalm 106, 45.

Following the service in the church the members assembled in the parish hall and were warmly welcomed by Mrs. James MacKinnon, president of the Sherbrooke Branch, who presided in the absence of Mrs. Simms, Diocesan Deanery Secretary, who was unable to be present. The Secretary submitted and excellent report of the year's work, in which she referred to the "Forward Movement" for new members and stated that the membership campaign had already been launched in several parishes with very good results, and of the possibility of a big rally meeting being held here in the near future, at which it was expected that one of the Dominion officers, would be present to address the meeting.

Distinctive features of the various branch reports presented, were that all pledges had been met, the usual preparations for the bales and outfits for the Indian Schools, and mission stations and all reports spoke of increased interest and progress in all departments of work. A lengthy discussion arose regarding the new Constitution submitted, but was finally accepted, subject to minor changes, by a passing resolution.

The election of a Deanery Secretary resulted in the return to office of Miss M. W. Twose for the ensuing year. An address was delivered at noon by the Rev. J. Atkinson of Magog, who took for his text, St. John, 20-17.

At the afternoon session, a very interesting and helpful paper on the thank-offering fund, was read by Mrs. E. W. E. Wright, of Lennoxville, who explained very clearly the aim and object, thus giving the members a better understanding of the fund. This was followed by a short talk on the forward movement, by Mrs. S. Jones, and a synopsis of the annual meeting of the Dominion Board, held at Vancouver, given by Mrs. Seiveright, all of which was much enjoyed and appreciated. By the kind invitation of the Lennoxville branch, it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Deanery W. A., next year at Lennoxville.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. J. Atkinson, of Magog, for his address, and to the Rev. H. R. Bigg for so kindly allowing the meeting to be held this year in St. Peter's parish, for conducting the service in church and for his very instructive and helpful address. Several interesting items in connection with the W. A. closed the day's programme, and the delegates returned home much benefitted by the successful meeting and the day's outing.

A report in connection with the rummage sale was given, which proved most satisfactory, and votes of thanks were moved to all those who had assisted during the sale by donations, etc. It was also reported that several new books had been given to the Library.

There was a large attendance at Plymouth Church Hall last evening, when the Young People's Society held their celebrations in connection with Hallowe'en. Most of those present wore costumes, which were very attractive. The hall was tastefully decorated in black and orange, and Hallowe'en games were played, including the time-honored custom of ducking for apples. Some very effective charades were put on by different groups of young people, while music also added much to the pleasure of the evening. Following the programme, enjoyable refreshments were served, they being kindly donated by Mr. J. T. Reid. The party was in charge of the president, Mr. Robert Smith, while appointed committees had in hand the decorating of the hall, the programme, etc. After refreshments, the young folks sang Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King, later departing for their respective homes commenting on the splendid time which they had enjoyed.

Miss Masten proved to be an immensely interesting entertainer, and her different readings were very much enjoyed and appreciated by her hearers. Miss Masten took her selections one of Dr. Hammond's habitant poems, also two other readings, "The Highwayman," and "A Proposal." Following the programme, tea was served by Mrs. G. E. Mr. Lennox Keeler, the president, occupied the chair, and following the usual devotional exercises, the roll call and the transaction of certain business items, the Society had the pleasure of listening to a debate between the Canadian Girls in Training and the Tuxis Boys of the church school. The debate was: "Resolved that an education is more essential to a boy than a girl." The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Donald Watson and Willard Humphrey, and the negative was supported by the Misses Honour Bright and Jean MacKinnon. Many excellent arguments were developed by the speakers on both sides of the question. The judges of the merits of the debate were Mrs. M. MacKay, Mrs. A. MacDonald, Mr. George Pebins and Mr. J. R. Duncan. The last mentioned, in a brief and humorous way, complimented the speakers on the high standard of their addresses, and announced that the negative had won the debate. The debate was followed by a sing-song, led by Miss G. Imrie. Refreshments were afterwards served, and the gathering dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

An event which is looked forward to with considerable anticipation by the young folk of Trinity United Church took place last evening, the occasion being the annual Hallowe'en party held by the Young People's Society in Wesley Hall. The hall was artistically decorated with orange and black paper streamers, while goggle-eyed pumpkins occupied conspicuous places about the walls. In various corners of the hall, booths, containing amusements of various sorts, had been erected, each being visited in turn by the young people. The majority of those present were in costume, and games in keeping with the occasion were enjoyed, including ducking for apples, etc. During the course of the evening all the lights were turned out, with the exception of a candle burning in a Jack o'lantern, and, while weird and mysterious figures robed in white glided about the hall, Mr. Rhys Lloyd read in a genuine ghost-like manner one or two "creepy" stories, as also did the pastor. Following about two hours and a half of games and amusement of various sorts, refreshments were served by members of the Society. Credit is due those who had charge of the affair, which was a decided success in every way. Those who looked after the refreshments were Miss Phyllis Bridgette, Mrs. J. Thomas and Miss Gladys Lennon. The decorations were being by Messrs. Earl Beerworth, Eric Lennon, Charles Varney and Cyril Green, who also looked after the erection of the various booths. Mrs. R. J. McHarg, assisted by her daughter, Miss McHarg, had charge of the congregation of fortune telling, and their tent was constantly filled by anxious

INVITATIONS TO MR. KING.

The Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King will not be without a county in which to again try his fortunes. A Quebec City constituency was "wired" him on election night when his defeat in his own Ontario riding became known, and two seats in Ontario are said to be at his disposal. This is added the offer of Sherbrooke Liberals and possibly of party organizations in some other counties.

It may be assumed, however, that Mr. King will not go outside of Ontario for his constituency if it can be avoided. The situation of the Liberals in the sister province is not good and they require whatever support the inclusion of the party leader in their contingent to Ottawa would give them. Mr. King will find his opportunity in Ontario if possible.

The Sherbrooke constituency would, after all, not be the best for his purposes, especially if his Ottawa decision is to continue in office with the aid of the Progressive free trade element. Sherbrooke is an industrial city with strong protectionist sentiment and in the face of the circumstances under which Mr. King might go to the polls in a bye-election could hardly be regarded as a safe county. With seats at a premium, as they now are, a stiff fight would at least be in prospect.

It is no doubt a very loyal and generous act for a member or a local party to extend an invitation to the Federal leader under such circumstances, but for reasons cited Sherbrooke is not likely to be the one to receive the honor.

CANADA'S NEEDS.

The Farmers' Advocate takes an optimistic view of the future of Canada, including the agricultural industry. It regards as the chief need of the country an increase of population.

"We need more people to utilize our great public utilities, to help pay the taxes, to produce tonnage for the railroads," remarks this farm paper. "Our major problems arise because of the fact that there are too few people in Canada, too few hands to do the work waiting to be done. A substantial and permanent increase in population would solve our greatest problems, and they will never be solved by any government, organization, or group, except through an increase of wage earners and producers. There is a vast mineral wealth in Canada awaiting harvest, and this in turn requires capital and confidence. Our natural resources can be made to provide employment for millions, and when this materializes the development will open a market for an enormous volume of products of the farm. Development industrially means development agriculturally, financially and commercially. The future for Canada is brighter than for any other country. Our resources are yet unexploited; the opportunity for growth and development is not a thing of the past. There is the chance to build here, between the Atlantic and the Pacific, a nation numbering twenty-five to fifty million souls and it will come to pass, for it is the last white man's country to which the eyes of crowded populations are ever turning. The opportunities, the chances and the natural wealth are here. Men of strength, courage and confidence can find no better country in which to expend their energy. Rational optimism, confidence and hard work will pull us to the crest of the wave and then we shall enjoy the period of growth and expansion that is now overdue. Agriculture has provided the stimulus through a bountiful crop. Let's get started!"

CANADIAN RURAL LIFE DEPICTED IN VERSE.

Canada is the theme of Robert Kirkland Kernighan's new collection of poems, "The Khan's Book of Verse," which is published by the Toronto Evening Telegram. These poems should have a message for all Canadians. The patriotism of the author, his enthusiasm for Canadian scenery and his faith in his country's future is the undercurrent of thought which runs through his poetry. Simplicity characterises all his work. His descriptions of western Canada are especially worthy of notice, and he shows us rural life as it really is. It is more the author's subject than his style that attracts you. He seems to follow a set form and there is little variation in his rhyming. Nevertheless he has caught some of the spirit of Canada and passed it on to us, for which we should be grateful to him. (The Evening Telegram, Toronto, price $1.50).

PRESS COMMENT

TRADE BUOYANCY RETURNING.

All Canadians must feel gratified at the continued buoyancy of the country's foreign trade. Despatches from Ottawa tell of an increase of $144,000,000 in the trade for the first half of the fiscal year ending September, the total being $1,030,583,162, compared with $885,784,833 in the same period last year. The increase in exports was eighty-nine millions, and in imports fifty-five millions, thus showing a healthy gain on both sides, but maintaining, and even increasing, the favorable balance of trade. The gains in trade are on the increase as time passes, the advance in exports being forty-two millions and in imports fifteen millions in September alone. Those figures disclose the great expansion already under way, and at the time of their computation the heavy grain export had not yet gained full momentum.

SNOBS.

In a recent number of The Varsity, the breezy daily of the University of Toronto, there was a half-column on "College Snobs" the last paragraph of which we quote with particular pleasure: "Just because you enter her portals of higher learning your university does not wish you to change the even tenor of your ways. Our college accepts us all, regardless of past reputations. It is your duty and ours at the outset of a new university year to prove to the outside world that the college man is not a snob. Remember each of you in your own community is Varsity's representative." Snobbery wins nothing for any one but the contempt it deserves. It is one of the most surest proofs of vain conceit, pitiful in the young and contemptible in grown-ups.

EDITOR'S BLESSING.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise because they believe in it and in their business; for their prosperity shall increase many fold. Blessed are the country correspondents who send in their items every week, for fame of their friendly neighbors shall go abroad in the land. Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of a party or wedding; for she shall see the details of the function and the names of her guests correctly reported. Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who call up and tell him whenever an interesting event accrue to them; for they shall have a newsy paper in their town. Blessed are they who get their copy in early; for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart. Blessed are they who co-operate with the editor in his efforts in behalf of the community; for their town shall be known far and wide as a good place in which to live.

"MODERNS"

The Camp Fire Girls do not like the term "flapper," and that much is welcome. But what a painful choice they have made of a substitute. They would have the girls of today called "moderns." Here is an adjective which makes an ugly noun. Worse, it reeks with self-consciousness. The Camp Fire Girls, to be sure, do not so intend it. They say it bespeaks "the up-to-date girl, the girl of progress with the edge in her hair." The truth is, it might speak all these things if it were not so utterly silent. But this cannot be. The moment a person sets out to call himself "modern," the epithet shrieks. The basic fact is that we are all, whether we like it or not, of the modern age. For a group to single itself out and expressly proclaim itself modern, is not common sense. It is sheer affectation. It suggests not progress, but shallowness. It flaunts its newness in a way which belies respect for all the vast old fund of human wisdom and experience that forms the soundest basis for the achievements of young and fresh ambition.

But there is not a chance in the world that the girls of today will come to be called "moderns" in popular speech. The term has nothing of the quality of the new epithet which "catches on," or of the slang that grows instantly popular. "Flapper" will continue in use until the flapper ceases to flap. What she shows that she does not like the name as to be ready to abandon the characteristics which gave the title, then, and not until then, someone will come along and invent a new and successful name. But it will not be a "modern."

THE DOG IN THE ARCTIC REGIONS.

Just as in those sections of the world where climatic and other conditions are favorable to the development of those devices which seem to speed up the progress of the world, and yet where some intervening check appears often to be placed upon efforts to annihilate space, if not even to halt the progress of time itself, so in the vast regions of the Far North, it appears, circumstance has decreed that, perhaps for decades to come, the humble dog shall reign as king. This high place in the economy of mankind has been ascribed to the dog of the Arctic Circle by Donald B. MacMillan. It is his conclusion that airplanes, no matter of what type, are not practicable for use in the frigid zone which he has recently visited. Henceforth, as for uncounted years past, communication, travel and commerce in the interior sections of the sparsely settled country which still belongs to the intrepid explorer will depend largely upon the use of dog teams and sledges.

The dog, like its master, is an adaptable creature. He is able to work or play or rest under almost any conditions. It is because of this adaptability and resourcefulness of human adventures that new areas of the earth have been sought out and subjugated. It is because of this that civilizations newer and better than those left behind have been carried into lands across the seas and beyond the high mountains. If explorations and discoveries had been compelled to await the initiative of formalists and the followers of tried and tested methods and means, the progress of the human family would have been halted almost where civilization began.

MEETING WAS HELD BY W.C.T.U. AT WATERLOO

Members of Union Held Regular Monthly Session—Interesting Report Read by Mrs. England—Other General Notes.

WATERLOO, Nov. 3.—The monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Tuesday, October 27, at the home of Mrs. A. E. Savage, and was very well attended. The president, Mrs. Nutting, presided.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Walter Colburn, evangelistic superintendent, who read the 98th psalm, part of which formed the basis of her short and interesting discourse.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Two new members were welcomed to the union and several items of business received attention, after which a report of the Quebec provincial convention was given by Mrs. England, the following being a short sketch of the same:

The forty-first annual convention of the Quebec Provincial W.C.T.U. was held in Westmount Park Church on October 13, 14 and 15, and was called to order by the president, Mrs. Geggie, of Beauport. On behalf of the Hochelaga County Union, Mrs. R. M. Cushing extended a very cordial welcome to the convention. Mrs. W. G. Brown, of Cowansville, president of Missisquoi and Shefford counties, responded.

Reports submitted to the convention by the various departments of work revealed a very encouraging situation.

The officers of the ensuing year are as follows: Hon. president, Mrs. (Rev.) J. G. Sanderson, Danville, and Mrs. S. W. Foster, of Knowlton; president, Mrs. H. Mrs. Geggie, retiring president, was given a very hearty vote of thanks for her very efficient services during her long term of office. She was also presented with a bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Wilson, the new president, was made a world's member by the convention.

Among the resolutions passed was one asking that the Quebec Liquor Commission notify the public before planting a saloon in any district. Another was in praise of the "Montreal Witness" for its integrity of purpose.

The convention speaker was Miss McCorkindale, of Brisbane, Australia, who is touring the world in the interest of the World's W.C.T.U. Others who addressed the convention were the Rev. Mr. Runnels, S. J. Carter, Mr. Collins, Judge Lee, Rev. Mr. Jones, Mr. Davis and Dr. Hart, of the Prohibition Federation, and Mr. George Holland and Mayor McLagan, who welcomed the convention to Westmount.

Following this report a very unanimous vote of appreciation was ordered to be forwarded to Mrs. Geggie for her very faithful service as president of the Quebec Union.

A vote of thanks was also given to Mrs. England for the report of the convention.

A social cup of tea was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

ANNUAL W.M.S. CONVENTION AT SAWYERVILLE

Interesting Reports Presented—Committees on Various Matters Appointed—Greetings from Branch President Read—In-branch Addresses Heard.

SAWYERVILLE, Que., November 3.—The annual convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the former Quebec District was held in the United Church, Sawyerville, on October 28, with a good attendance of delegates and members. This was expected to be the last convention, since as a result of the United Church, this district will probably be greatly enlarged in the near future.

The District Superintendent, Mrs. M. T. Stokes, of Bury, opened the convention at two o'clock. Mrs. R. Lingsy, of Lennoxville, conducted devotional exercises.

The following committees were appointed: President, Mrs. P. Pergau, Mrs. Mackie Fuller, and Mrs. J. Monroe; Courtesy, Mrs. Geo. Hall, Mrs. E. C. James and Mrs. Lipsey.

Reports given by the delegates present from Bury, Cookshire, Lennoxville, Quebec, East Angus, Sawyerville, Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills and Island Brook, contained many items of interest and showed progression in the work during the past year.

Birchton auxiliary was reported to be disbanded and Island Brook band has become a circle.

The following greetings from the branch president, Mrs. Mary Henderson, of Ottawa, were read by the secretary who was also instructed to reply to the message.

"To my fellow workers of Quebec district, greetings. It is with a tinge of sadness that we think of this our last meeting as Methodist women, and yet our hearts are filled with a great gladness as we realize that what Christian men and women have played and worked for, has at last come to pass, the consummation of union, and so our meeting is turned into one of thankfulness as we pass into the greater responsibility of the United Church of Canada with its wonderful opportunities for service. May God help each one of us to measure up.

"Our missionary work is like a piece of tapestry that you and I are weaving for the Master. The central figure is the Christ. Grouped on one side stand our missionaries of the cross. Near them are those whom they have won for Christ. On the other side are those who are ready and willing to go. Circling them are the members of our missionary society who are upholding them by their love and prayers. Running through the weave like a thread of gold, the comforting words of the Master, His 'Lo, I am with you.' Outside are the millions and millions of women and girls whom we have to weave into the tapestry before it is complete. But alas, our shuttles have not moved fast enough and the time is short, so I beseech you, that in this coming year our shuttles may fly swiftly, and that all may be worked in, and our tapestry be fit for the master.

"The call to prayer and consecration, How are you responding? We need every woman in the United Church a praying member of our W.M.S. May we fully realize the glorious privilege of being a co-worker with God, in the bringing in of His kingdom, and His will done will be our exceeding great reward.

"Your loving president, 'MARY HENDERSON.' An exceedingly good report of the branch meeting held in Kingston was given by Mrs. Mackie Fuller, of Sherbrooke. Mrs. Fuller said the words emphasized most were prayer, sacrifice and service.

Prayer—"United, international should form a large part of our missionary programme."

Sacrifice—"that we might have the desire to be spent in service for God like Henry Martyn and others of whom the world was not worthy. The world at large is recognizing the value of missions as never before. Are we, as missionary workers as zealous as we should be? Our missionary programme does not consist of material things, but rather the spread of Christ's kingdom on earth, and a united brotherhood throughout the world."

Service—"God today does not set apart a tribe or individual to perform His work as in the olden time, but He asks each one of us to share part of His work, to be busy in service." Continuing, Mrs. Fuller said: "The W.M.S. of Canada has seen forty-two years of service and has grown to such an extent that we have now 1611 auxiliaries with 62,755 members, of whom 14,690 are life members. The income last year was $479,314.88 an increase of $21,607. We have thirty-five missionaries in Japan, thirty-two in West China with many teachers, Bible women, and native helpers.

This paper was followed by a vocal solo, "O Blessed Redeemer," by Mrs. Pergau, accompanied by Mrs. Learned, of Cookshire, which was much enjoyed.

A helpful and rather unique paper prepared by Mrs. Long, of Danville, and read by Mrs. Ross, of Lennoxville, was entitled: "The work of the strangers secretary in rural communities."

"This department of strangers secretary," she read, "is the youngest child of our W.M.S. Her function is to bring the spirit of friendship and love into our homes. She seeks out the new Canadians wins their interest and links them up with the Church in the new home. She visits the home of the shut-in, the new comer, those who are house bound, keeps in touch with those who are leaving for a new home, and gives to each the personal touch, the friendly hand. As a result of her labor of love she has glorious results. Yes, dear Spirit of friendship, give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you. Who gives himself with his arms feeds three, himself, his hungering neighbor and me."

Mrs. Bailey, of Sawyerville, was greatly appreciated in a reading entitled, "Mrs. Pickett's Missionary Box."

The District Superintendent then gave her annual report. She said: "We may not be a Nellie McClung, John Wesley or a Billy Sunday, but each one possesses some talent, and each can help in her own society where she counts most. If each would carefully and prayerfully systematize her talents, what would be the result?"

She urged a greater study of missions, "for mission study," she said, "is the key which will unlock five doors, information, interest, prayer, money and workers."

"We enter the United Church with colors flying, thankful for the privilege of having had some share in the missionary work."

The election of officers by ballot resulted as follows: district superintendent, Mrs. Stokes; assistant superintendent, Mrs. E. C. James; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Pergau.

Mrs. Geo. Hall conducted the question box, which was well filled, and the discussion of these was one of the most helpful features of the convention.

The Rev. Mr. Knowles conducted the closing moments, and a bountiful supper was then served in the hall by the Sawyerville ladies of the W.M.S.

A very sincere welcome was extended to the convention by Mrs. I. Cass in a pleasing address, also greetings were conveyed from the W. A., by Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Cathcart, of Bury, fittingly replied, and Mrs. Logie also spoke as a representative of a real working United Church in Windsor Mills.

The evening session opened at half past seven o'clock, with Rev. Mr. Knowles presiding. An anthem by the choir was much appreciated, as was also a trio sung by three Cookshire ladies, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Learned and Mrs. Cleveland, entitled, "Teach me to Pray." Mrs. Bailey again favored the audience with a reading, "Prayer and Potatoes."

Mrs. E. C. James of Cookshire, who, for a number of years was a missionary in Japan under the W.M.S., then gave the address of the evening. As she spoke of the Japanese people, all realized she spoke not from hearsay but from actual knowledge and experience.

"There is a changed attitude toward our missionary work to that of former years," she began. "We used to talk and sing about the 'benighted heathen,' but the day of condescension has gone, and now we speak of cooperation. We white people must lay aside our prejudices and seek to gain a clearer knowledge and appreciate more fully those whom we strive to help."

"The cleanliness, thrift and honesty of the Japanese people are often spoken of and are a splendid foundation to build up a Christian character. We take these for granted, but ask ourselves what other contribution can Japan make, and what else is there in her character or customs upon which we can build?"

"The answer," the speaker said, "is loyalty, which is one of the real fundamentals of Japanese character. There is loyalty to country, to Emperor, filial loyalty, that of employee to employer, of wife to husband, but there is also a lack of the true spirit of humanity, no consideration of husband for wife, of employer for employee, of parent for child. The Japanese have largely lost the individual in the family, and often many a woman sacrifices herself, and many a girl sells herself to a life of sin and evil in order to gain a livelihood for her parents and family. If women could be led to give themselves in like manner to Jesus Christ, what a wonderful Christian nation could be established."

"One great handicap to the nation," continued the speaker, "is the condition of her womanhood. Conditions in regard to labor are about one hundred years behind us. The law is all in favor of the employer." The factory life in regard to women and children with its horrors and evils, was gradually described and instances from her own work were given by the speaker. "The statement is frequently made that ninety-two per cent of the children are in school," she went on, "but this is not so. Thousands are in the factories under twelve years of age. Two thirds of all the factory employees are women under twenty-four years of age, and a large proportion under seventeen years of age, all working where there is practically no limit to the hours and no Sunday rest."

The appalling housing conditions, controlled by the factory owners, and the marriage customs were described. "The Japanese religion teaches that woman has no soul unless she is fortunate enough to be born a man in a future existence. Wonderful as are many characteristics right, there is a vital point in the life of the nation, for no nation can rise higher than its womanhood. Christianity is the only thing which can raise the standards of life for woman, and this is the hope for Japan to elevate her womanhood."

Courtesy committee then presented the following report, which was read by Mrs. Geo. Hall: "On behalf of the delegates and visitors to this district convention, your committee beg to report that we desire to express our sincere thanks to the officials of this Church for preparation of the programme we have enjoyed today. To our secretary, Mrs. Pergau, for her careful attention to the clerical work of this organization, and for the noble way in which she fulfills the duties of her office. To our district superintendent, Mrs. Stokes for her undying devotion to the cause, and for the splendid work she has done during the past year. We desire to place on record our appreciation of the deep interest, the untiring energy, and the cheerful optimism she has manifested in her work. We trust that during the coming year she may enjoy the best of health and that God's richest blessings may rest upon her in the work of missions, so dear to her heart."

Rev. Mr. Wilson pronounced the benediction closing the convention.

Mr. Murdo McKenzie, of Marsboro, who held an auction of all his farm animals, etc., last week, is moving into town, having bought the old Malcolm Smith property on Ness Hill. Mr. McKenzie has disposed of his farm at Marsboro.

Mr. Murdo Morrison is very critically ill, the result of a fall he suffered on Thursday evening. Mr. Morrison is under the care of Dr. Dorrance and his daughter, Miss Katie Morrison, who was called from her nursing duties in Montreal to care for her father. At his advanced age any decided improvement is hardly looked for.

Mr. Miller, of the Bank of Commerce, has rented the house owned and until lately occupied by Mr. J. R. Parker and family.

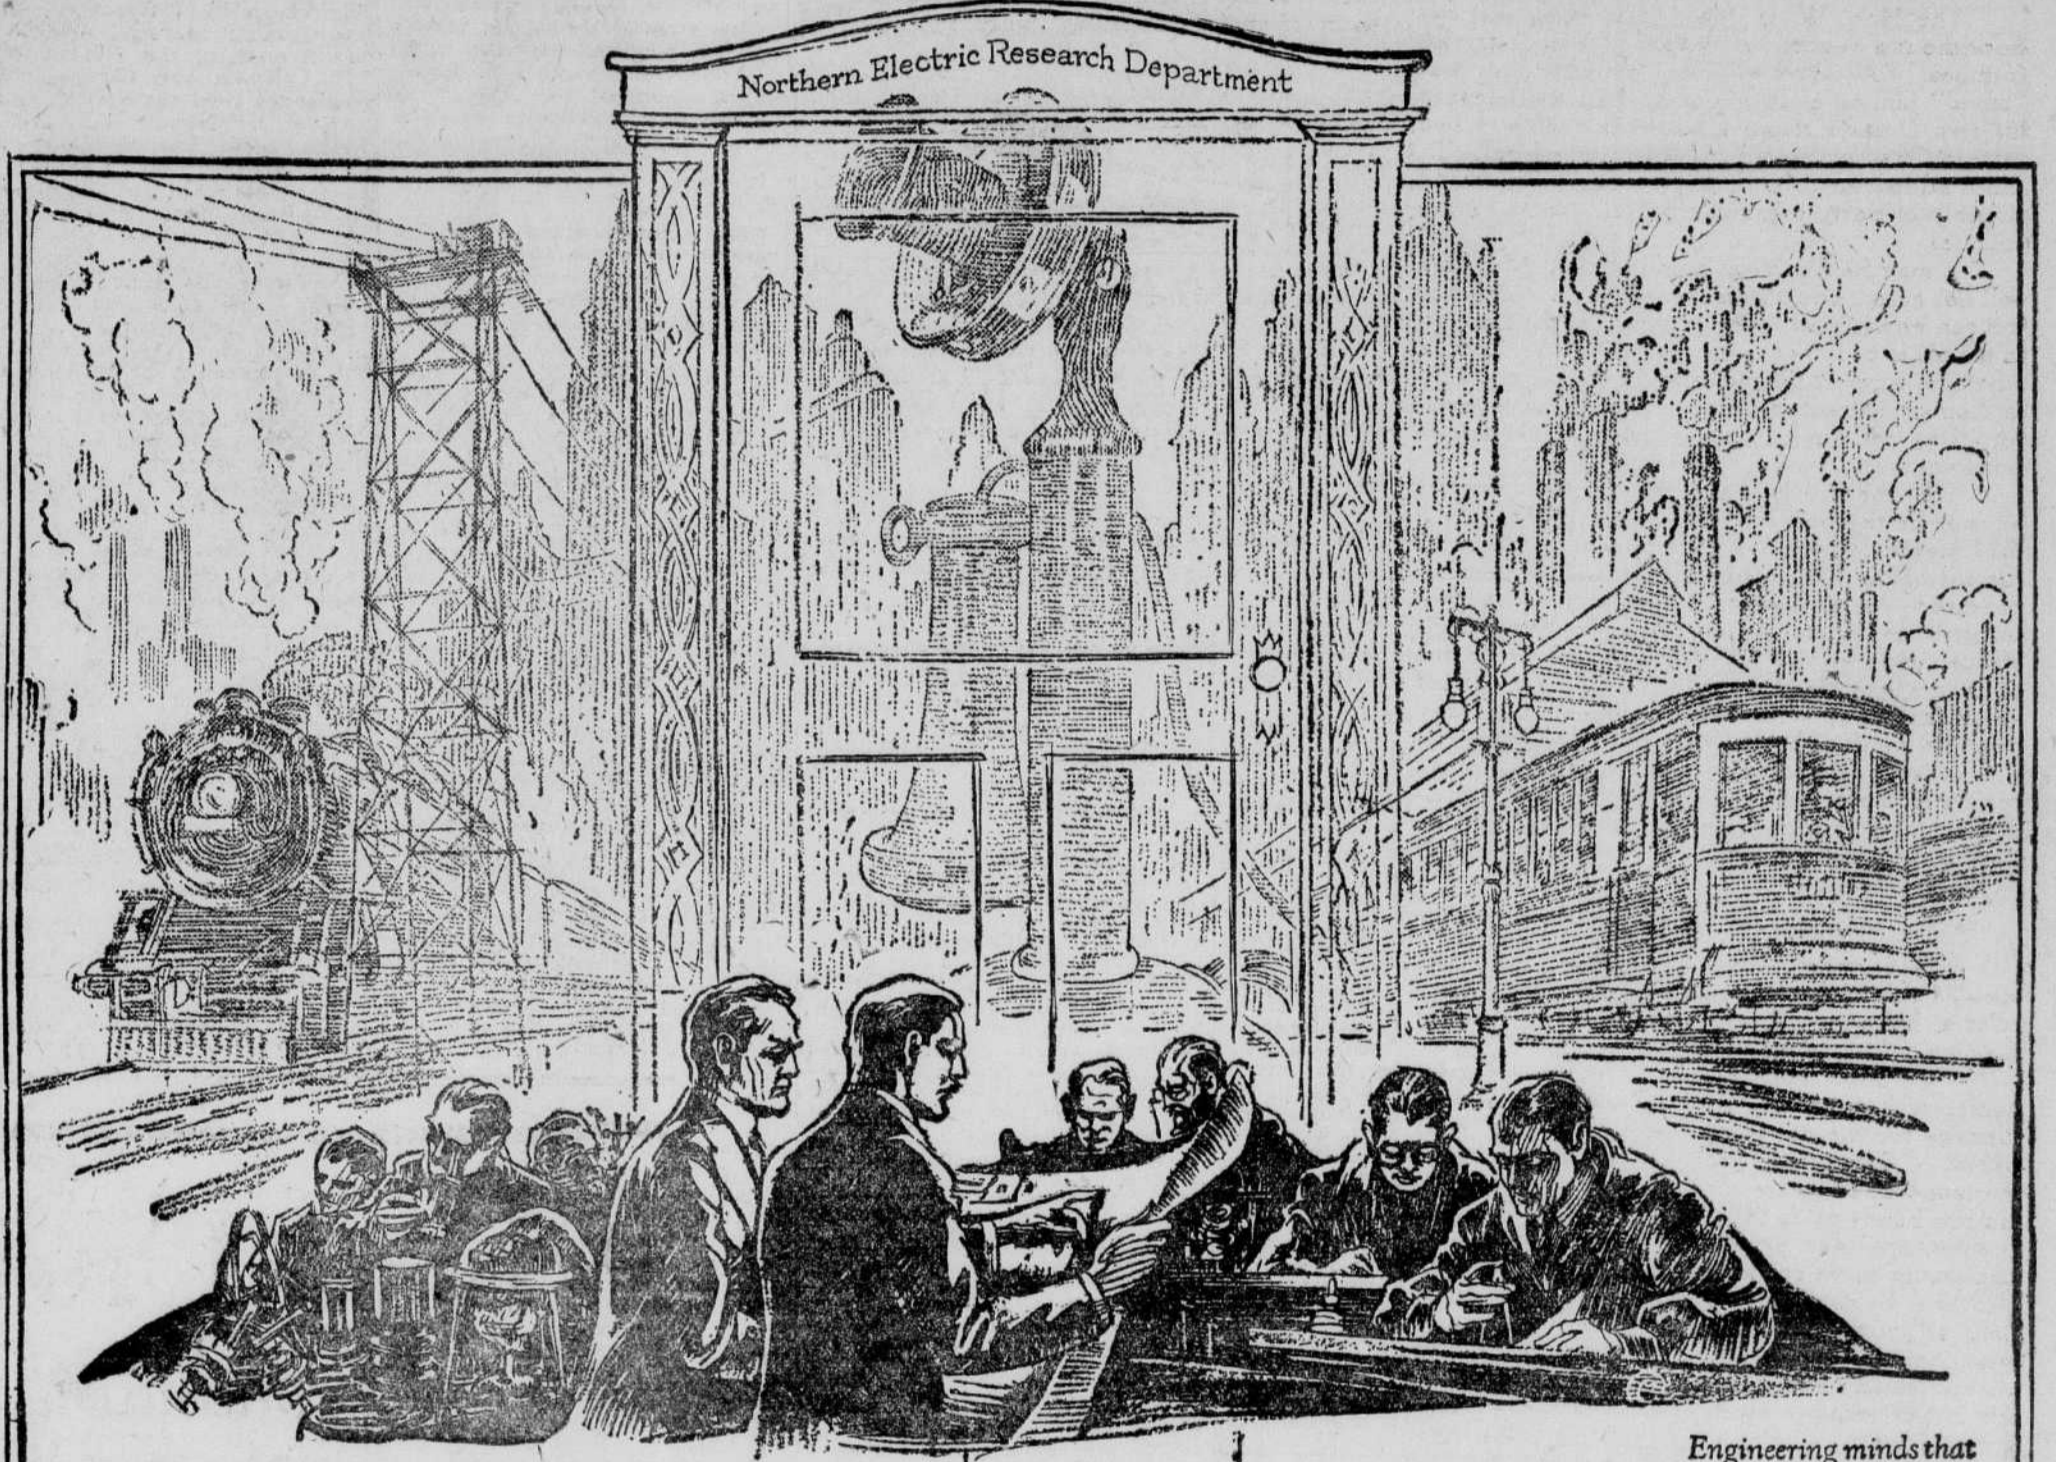

On Thursday evening the members of Fidelity Lodge A. F., and A. M., held a very enjoyable social evening in the nature of a send-off to Mr. J. R. Parker, one of their members, who left with his family that night for Granby, where they will make their future home. After a programme of songs, music, etc.,

Mr. Parker was presented with a pipe and tobacco pouch, accompanied by many expressions of appreciation of Mr. Parker's character as a citizen and neighbor, and regret expressed that he and his family were severing their connection with Megantic.

Mrs. John Brown, of Sohier, Miss Jean Gordon, and Mr. Thomas Gordon, are moving here for the winter, having taken one of Mr. Villeneuve's houses.

Mr. George Smith, who has been employed at St. Vincent during the summer, has returned home.

Mr. Murdo McDonald came home from the Canadian West, last week, after spending some time working there.

Engineering minds that are forever anticipating the future needs of a people and their industries.

The DOOR to the FUTURE

TO-DAY there are prophets—more than at any time in the world's history.

They are found in big business institutions, for big institutions are built on the faith and vision of far-seeing men. While other men around them work in 1925, these business prophets work, by habit of thought and training, in the future—five, ten, yes, twenty or twenty-five years ahead of the times.

They are the men who are planning new applications of science and industry; perfecting new processes, new products, new appliances—not for today, but for the time when public service will demand them.

In the research department of the Northern Electric Company there is a door through which the men of this engineering organization are always trying to peer.

It is the door to the Future Electrical Age.

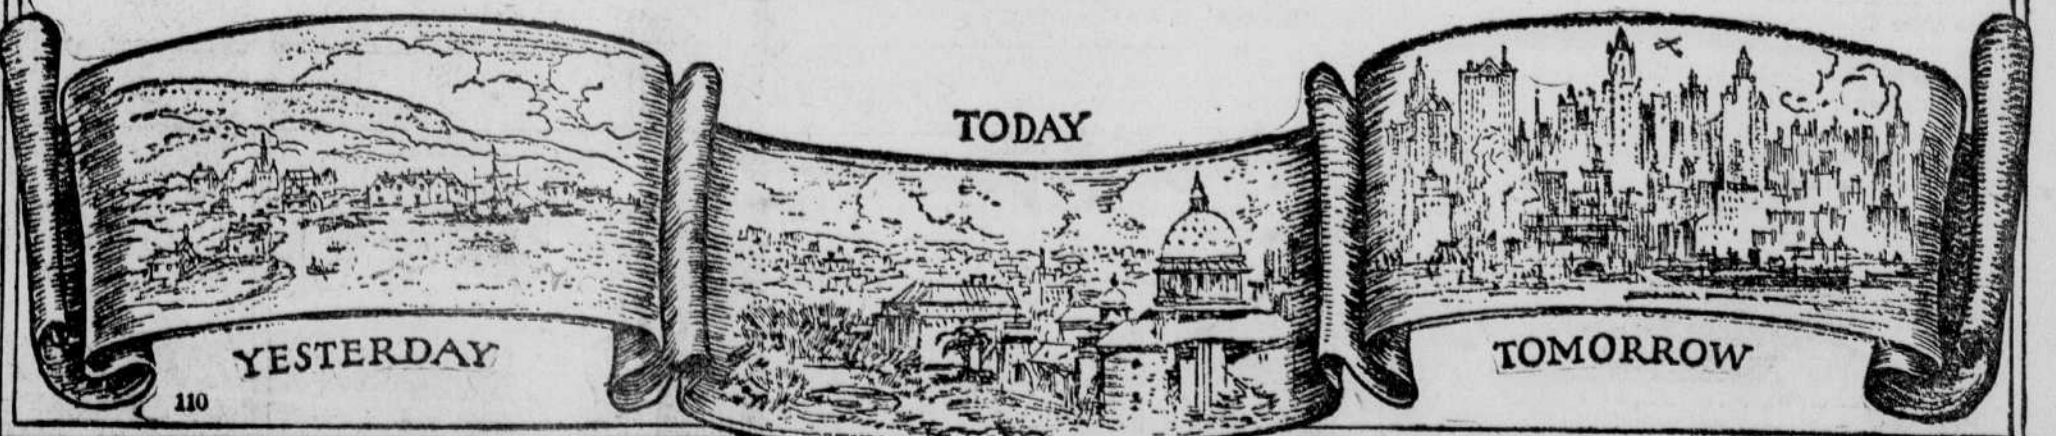

Our products of today are the result of their efforts in peering through that door. Products which will appear on the market perhaps tomorrow, perhaps five or ten years hence—these have already crossed the vision of the prophets who peered through that magic door and saw the needs of this and future generations.

Information Canada has one telephone for every eleven people—a percentage that is surpassed by only one country in the world.

DEATHS REPORTED

MR. E. N. ROBINSON, COATICOOK

COATICOOK, Que., Nov. 3.—One of Coaticook's highly respected citizens, Mr. Edward N. Robinson, passed away on October 28th, after a long illness at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Avery, with whom he had made his home for the past six years.

Mr. Robinson was in his seventy-sixth year, having been born December 2nd, 1849. Most of his recent years were spent in the interest of the Eastern Townships Bank. In 1881 he associated himself with the bank in Farnham, where he remained for six years as manager and in 1887 he became manager of the bank in Granby for ten years, then at Huntington and for nine years was the manager of the bank in this town. Mrs. Robinson, formerly Miss Chandler, died seven years ago.

Prayers were said at the house on Thursday afternoon by the Rev. C. G. Stevens and were attended by intimate friends in town and Mr. McKimmon of Sherbrooke, and Mr. McCabe of Windsor Mills, and his nephew, Mr. Reginald Buzzell, who has been with his uncle for a few days.

The burial took place in the family lot in Abbotsford on Friday afternoon at two o'clock, and was attended by an only sister and four nephews, from Cowansville. Mr. Reginald Buzzell, of Montreal, Rev. C. G. Stevens, Mr. L. M. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Avery, of Coaticook.

MR. JAMES H. CARLIN, SWEETSBURG, QUE.

SWEETSBURG, Que., Nov. 3.—Another quite old and very highly respected citizen of this town passed away on Friday morning, October 23, 1925, in the person of Mr. James H. Carlin, who would have been seventy-four years of age had he lived until the eleventh day of November.

Mr. Carlin was born at Franklin, Vt., in 1851, where he resided until 1873, when he came to Swetsburg, and opened a harness business, of which he made a great success, and continued fervently and diligently at this work until about three weeks previous to his death.

On January 1st, 1876, Mr. Carlin was married to Miss Nellie Miner of Fairfield, Vt., thus if Mr. Carlin had been spared until the coming New Year's Day, this worthy couple with their many friends would have had the opportunity of celebrating their golden wedding. The late Mr. Carlin had made many warm friends during the fifty-two years which he had been a resident of Swetsburg. His pleasant smile, charitable disposition and kindly word for every person will long be remembered by all who knew him.

The late Mr. Carlin leaves to mourn his loss besides his widow, Mrs. Nellie Carlin, and daughter, Mrs. Preston Scott, one sister, Mrs. William Ross, of Springfield, Mass., formerly of Cowansville; one brother, Mr. Alonzo Carlin, of Franklin, Vt., and three nieces.

Prayers were said at the house and the cortege then proceeded to Christ Church, where the funeral took place at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, October 25th. The church was well-filled with friends and relatives of the deceased.

Rev. A. T. Love, rector of the parish, officiated. The choir rendered three very appropriate hymns, namely, "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er," "Rock of Ages," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." These pall bearers were Mayor F. H. Pickel, Messrs. Clement Cady and John McCabe, of this place, and Mr. Preston Scott, of Montreal.

Beautiful floral tributes covered the casket, bearing silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased gentleman was held. Among these tokens were noticed flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kirk, Mrs. J. Houston, Montreal; the Parish Guild of Swetsburg, and other friends besides the family.

The interment was made in the Anglican Church Cemetery. Friends from out of town who attended the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Noble French, of Farnham; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cope and Mrs. J. Houston, of Montreal.

The Vital Flame

A Stirring Serial of Primitive Passions by May Christie

Marcella politely drew her into the conversation. She was a kind-hearted girl, and was sorry for plain, unattractive women who try to be kittenish and coy.

"Dear Lady Warrington is such a splendid hostess, though she is so forgetful sometimes," went on the woman who was called Tryphena, giggling. "She has the quaintest way of inviting husbands to meet their divorced wives, and vice versa—or jilted fiancés—or people who fight like dogs and want to avoid each other."

"I have never noticed it," was Marcella's cool comment. It was one thing to be sorry for this creature posing as a kitten, but she wasn't going to encourage her to be a cat!

"Oh, I love occasions of that sort," was Sir Humphrey's contribution. "Lives up things a bit! Did you hear the story of what happened to old Grandma Get-Rich-Quick's town house the other night? She gave a dinner, and it turned out to be a perfect scream, because—"

Fishy-eye Tryphena thrust her head forward with such a jerk that Marcella's tea was spilt, and in the sudden diversion the story wasn't ended.

"I shall never be able to live through the week down here," thought the young girl wearily.

Opposite her, Lady Warrington was hanging on the words of a thin weedy-looking youth with a flowing tie and unkempt locks.

"That's Dicky Prendergast, the playwright," muttered Tryphena. "He's collaborating with our hostess in a play that's going to startle even the Little Theatre! Mary Warrington will of course finance it. What a thing it is to have brains!"

Her tone, however, clearly said, in place of the latter sentence: "What a thing it is to be a fool!"

Marcella made an excuse that she was tired after her long motor trip and the housekeeper showed her to her room. It was a pleasant apartment, full of violets and early spring flowers, with a white bear-skin rug in front of a bright wood-fire, for the evening was becoming chilly.

A maid had already unpacked her things, and came in to ask if there was anything that she could do?

"I'd like a hot bath," said Marcella, "and then I'll rest until it's time to dress for dinner."

After her bath she wrapped herself in a fleecy kimono, lay down on the comfortable bed, and pondered on the happenings of the day.

It was astonishing how painful it had been to receive congratulations on her engagement with Warwick Treman! She ought to feel elated ably, whatever she might feel in private. He was quite popular, and rich, and everyone was envying her. What a foolish impulse she had had, to burst out crying, right in front of them all!

"I must go through with it," she assured herself that the "strangeness" would soon wear off, and she would grow accustomed to hours and hours spent in his company—to a life-time. . . .

Ah! What life?

What of Miles?

No, she wouldn't let her thoughts dwell there, but revert rather to her father, who—thanks to Warwick's generosity—was setting off for Egypt in the near future, and who had now gone for a few days to a distant town, to appear at important archaeological meeting and dinners.

Yes, her yielding to Warwick's impetuosity had brought happiness to that dear, dreamy father whom she loved.

CHAPTER XXV.

"Newly Engaged."

Marcella fell asleep at last, and dreamt of . . . Miles! He was here, and they were very, very happy, she and he!

The dressing-gong awoke her with a start, and she came back to this prosaic world.

Twenty minutes later, she was in the hall with Lady Warrington, Sir Humphrey, Warwick and several of the other guests.

"I hear taxi-wheels. How stupid of me to have forgotten to send a car to the station for our late comers!" exclaimed the hostess. She turned to Warwick and Marcella.

"You two ought to sympathize with them, for they're another pair of lovers," she said. "I met them both in Paris, and was quite fascinated with them. Here they are!"

The butler had flung the front door open, and Marcella could vaguely see—for that part of the hall was dimly lit—a slender young man enter by the side of a woman.

Lady Warrington bounded forward effusively.

"Leonie Day? Of course it is; And Mr. . . . Mr. . . . now isn't it dreadful of me, but I've forgotten the name again?" She led them forward.

Leonie Day? Marcella's heart was hammering in her chest. So this—this was the woman who had kept "him" in Paris. . . . the woman who had ruthlessly smashed Marcella's castles-in-the-air. . . .

Her throbbing gaze turned to the bronzed young man. . . . good heavens. . . . yes. . . . no. . . . it couldn't be! . . .

It was Miles!

Miles Holden stood there, cool and self-possessed, the acknowledged lover of another woman!

"And you must meet our Newly-Engaged's!" twittered Lady Warrington, drawing Marcella forward with one hand, and indicating Warwick Treman with a sweep of the other. "Miss Day, Mr. Holden, may I present Miss Field to you?"

Marcella felt the blood ebb from her face back to her heart, and a queer dizziness caught her, so that out of the blur of people she could barely see Miles outline.

Then Leonie Day, in a high-pitched voice, and with rather an insolent drawl, inquired:

"Are you referring to Miles and me as the 'Newly Engaged's', or is this young woman—?" she glanced coolly at Marcella, with a pert smile—"is this young woman a conspirator with someone else?"

"The more the merrier," began the hostess, when Miss Day's gaze came to anchor on Treman. She ran forward artlessly to greet him.

"Good gracious, Warwick! Isn't this a pleasure? I'd forgotten you were to be here!" She held his hand a little longer than was necessary, in the circumstances. (A good thing, thought she shrewdly, to make Miles Holden jealous!)

Lady Warrington interrupted, with a giggle.

DODGERS' CHIEF HAS A LARGE RESERVE LIST

Uncle Wilbur Robinson Making Determined Effort to Gather Together a Winning Combination for 1926.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Nov. 3. — Uncle Wilbur Robinson, big chief of the Brooklyn Nationals, is leaving no bush uncombed in his efforts to gather together a winning combination for the 1926 baseball campaign.

The club's reserve list of players for the next year, just made public, reveals a substantial number of changes and additions. The biggest deal so far since the close of the regular season has brought Gus Felix, Mickey O'Neil and Jess Barnes to Brooklyn in exchange for Zeck Taylor, Jimmy Johnston and Ed Brown.

Seventeen of the thirty-five players on the reserve list are pitchers, a corps from which Brooklyn hopes to obtain greater strength in the box than existed this year. Two of the most promising candidates are George Boehler and Douglas McWeeny, both obtained from the Pacific Coast League and both having had major league experience.

Aside from Kohlbecker, a catching recruit from Memphis, all the other new men are infield candidates, including Herman from Seattle, Standaert, recalled from Springfield, Mass., Partridge, recalled from Waterbury, Conn., and Corgan, purchased from Wichita, Kansas.

PREMIER KING LIKELY TO STAND IN WEST MIDDLESEX

Elliott, and that Premier King will enter the House via that riding. Conservative campaigners are not saying much, but they look as if they were itching to turn the whole organization loose against the Premier. MR. J. H. BLUE SPEAKER AT KINSMEN CLUB

Spoke in Optimistic Terms Concerning Canada's Industrial Situation — Stressed Importance of Need of Immigrants — Fine Musical Programme.

Mr. J. H. Blue, well known business man of this city, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the local Kinsmen Club held in the New Sherbrooke House last evening. Mr. Blue was approached some time ago and asked if he would address the Club on Canada's present industrial situation. He consented, but later, hearing that Mr. A. A. Somerville, British member of Parliament, was to be in city to address a meeting at the Cambridge School, communicated and made arrangements for him to speak at the Kinsmen Club as well. Mr. Somerville was unavoidably detained in Montreal, and was unable to arrive in the city in time to speak to the Kinsmen. Mr. Blue expressed his willingness to address the Club, and despite the fact that he was called upon at a moment's notice, delivered an interesting discourse on the industrial condition of the country, his key note being one of optimism.

Mr. Blue divided his talk into two sections: Canada's past and Canada's future.

Canada's Past.
 In speaking of the country's past, Mr. Blue went back to the Armistice. "Immediately following the signing of peace," he began, "there was a period of inflation, and everything in the country was prospering. This continued for about a year afterwards, then, prices dropped, and we began to realize that we had to reconstruct Canada."

"It was hard to fit into the new conditions. Good reliable business houses went to the wall, crops failed and people talked of 'blue ruin.' But that spirit that is in every Canadian heart said: 'We are going to bring our country back to a sound footing and make it better than ever before.'"

"Just as things were beginning to improve, there came a spirit of pessimism, a lack of confidence; and just as we were trying to get a grip on ourselves, we were faced with those well known editorials, 'The Whippers of Death.' Fortunately we had people who did not take those views, and we gradually got over that period, and have been improving ever since."

Canada's Future.
 Mr. Blue, on turning to the second topic of his address, Canada's future, declared that the outlook for the Dominion is promising, and that the main thing that is needed at the present time is immigrants. "We have a population of some 9,000,000 people," he said, "with a territory considerably larger than that of the United States. What we lack, therefore, is people."

At this point, the trend of the speaker's remarks turned in the direction of politics. "Whatever party comes into power," he stated, "they will be faced with this problem. Let us throw down the barriers and let every physically and mentally fit man that will come into the country. When we get a population of 25,000,000 when we get to that era of prosperity, we can then put up the bars and select the future citizens of our country."

In closing, Mr. Blue stated it was up to the young men of today to make the future of the country, and emphasized the fact that we should never lose confidence. "Let us put our shoulder to the wheel," he concluded, "and let us believe that the future of our country is a bright one. I hope that those who are going to govern our country will look at the situation from a broad viewpoint and forget politics. And may we, in the future, look back at the crisis we have gone through."

Following Mr. Blue's address, a vote of thanks was moved to him by Kinsman Evans Joslin and seconded by Kinsmen Charles St.

ROBBERIES AT SUMMER HOMES AGAIN OCCUR

Six Cottages at Little Lake Were Entered by Thieves Sunday Night or Early Monday Morning — Several Articles Taken in Each Place.

Police activities are being directed to robberies which are occurring almost regularly at summer homes in nearby summer resorts. During the past two nights' activities along these lines have been exceptionally heavy, with the result that the summer homes of Messrs. Charles Stenson, T. Tremblay, city engineer, G. Delorme, J. Mignault and Drs. L. Forest and Ledoux, all situated at Little Lake Magog, were entered, and in each case articles taken.

The robberies were first noticed on Sunday night or early Monday morning, when residents living in the vicinity of Little Lake found that robbers had been at work at the Stenson cottage.

An investigation was immediately begun, and a short time afterwards it was discovered that the other summer homes had likewise been entered.

It is understood that two suspicious looking men were seen in the vicinity of Little Lake yesterday and Sunday, and that they were carrying a well-filled bag. It is also learned from a good source that these two men visited a certain home in that vicinity, asked for some supper, which was given to them, and then offered to pay for the meal with different articles, such as fishing tackle, which were believed to have been taken from the Stenson cottage.

Although these cases do not come directly under the local police, owing to the fact that they occurred outside the city limits, nevertheless the local authorities are working on the cases.

These robberies bring to the number of similar occurrences to a rather high figure. Several days ago similar robberies occurred in cottages on the Magog River bank, where some five cottages, the property of local residents, were robbed and much damage done to the cottages.

The Sherbrooke police made two arrests shortly after these robberies. Neither one of the men arrested in this connection, pleaded guilty to the charges, and will appear before Judge Lemay tomorrow for sentence, while J. Lapointe, the other suspect arrested, pleaded not guilty, and was ordered to stand his trial.

POPULATION IS THIS COUNTRY'S BIG PROBLEM

Canada Should Open Doors to Immigrants Who Will Develop Natural Resources — Outlook for Dominion Is Bright, Says A. A. Somerville, British M.P., If Such Action Is Taken.

That a brilliant future lies before Canada if only her gates are opened to immigrants of the right sort, who will develop the untold natural resources of the country, and in time bring in still more immigrants, was the statement made by Mr. A. A. Somerville, British member of Parliament, when he addressed a gathering of people in the assembly hall of the Cambridge School on "Empire Migration," last evening.

Mr. Somerville, in opening his address following his introduction by Dr. W. O. Rothery, who acted as chairman, said that this was his fourth trip to Canada, and declared that the more he saw of this country the more he realized that it had great possibilities.

Distribution of Population Chief Problem.
 The chief difficulty that faces Great Britain at the present time is the distribution of her surplus population, and there are two things to be kept in mind when a survey of the situation regarding the proper distribution of the British people was being made, he said. They were that England was in urgent need of an outlet for her surplus population and that Canada was especially in want of settlers. Other British colonies also needed immigrants, although their necessity was not so pressing. With these facts in mind the remedy appeared somewhat simple, he continued, but this was not altogether the case. The situation was continually being made more difficult by the constant drain of Canadians into the United States.

The class of immigrant Canada was most in need of was not the class England wants to get rid of. The present congestion in England was caused by the fact that there had been practically no emigration since the war began. There were more people employed now than there had ever been before, but the situation was less acute on that account. The necessity of placing a great many factories on short time had added to the quota of unemployed.

But settlers of this type were not welcome in the colonies. The industrial life of Canada in particular, was none too bright at present and the authorities were in no mind to introduce further difficulties in the way of workers who were already hard put to it to find sufficient occupation. The colonies did, however, welcome with open arms anyone with agricultural training or the intention of taking up land in the thinly populated West. Their present need was for farmers and farmers only.

The Dole System.
 Continuing regarding the unemployment situation in England, the speaker informed his hearers that in the country where he came from there were thousands of people living under what is termed the dole system.

Although the dole system was not nearly as great an evil as many people believed, he said, it could certainly be charged with responsibility for part of the increase of emigration from England to the colonies. In defence of the dole, Mr. Somerville stated the money being paid weekly to unemployed was not a gift from the Government. Even in normal times there was a Government unemployment insurance, the funds of which were contributed to by every worker and employer of labor. But in the past few years unemployment had become so general that the fund had become exhausted and the Government forced to grant loans to keep it from bankruptcy. The money the British Government was paying out in doles would all be returned in time, he maintained. Even under present conditions the taxpayers of England were required to shoulder only a very small part of the burden. The major part of the dole was contributed by workers as a premium for insurance of their own.

Nevertheless, the system, such as it was, led thousands of people who might otherwise have come to the colonies to remain at home. "Their attitude must not be too severely criticized," said the speaker, "for they are aware of conditions in the colonies. They feel they would be foolish to give up certainty of livelihood to come to Canada or Australia, where they might fall to gain a living."

Other Difficulties.
 In England there was no lack of work for the agrarian classes. The Old Country could spare only a very few farm workers while the colonies were in need of them. So the result was practically a deadlock.

Four hundred thousand children were leaving the schools of England every year, Mr. Somerville declared. Upon leaving, they found their way for the most part into blind alley jobs. Most of them left school at the age of 14 years, and at that age had comparatively little difficulty in getting settled. But two years later, they were forced out by their younger brothers and went out to swell the already overflowing ranks of "unemployed."

"Big Brother" Movement.
 As a remedy, the speaker suggested that Canada follow in the footsteps of Australia, where a "Big Brother" movement had been started to aid in the settlement of 'teen age boys in the rural districts of that colony.

Briefly outlining this scheme, he said that young Australians, pre-

FALL SESSION OF CRIMINAL COURT OPENED

His Lordship Mr. Justice C. D. White Opened Court of King's Bench This Morning — Following Calling of Cases, Court Was Adjourned — Several Serious Charges Included.

The fall session of the Court of King's Bench was opened here this morning at ten fifteen o'clock by His Lordship the Hon. Mr. Justice C. D. White, and after the calling of the different cases, was adjourned on a motion made by Mr. L. Forest, K.C., Crown Prosecutor.

The cases which were scheduled to come before the court included two charges of manslaughter, one of grave assault, one of obtaining money under false pretences, three of burglary, and one of theft.

Herman Girard, of Richmond appeared before the court on two charges, namely, that of manslaughter and another serious charge, while Ferdinand Lepine, of this city, also appeared on a charge of manslaughter. Johnny Lapointe, also of this city, appeared on three charges of burglary, while Leon Berard was present to face a charge of grave assault; and Maurice Lafontaine and Paul Drouin, were called upon to answer to charges of obtaining money under false pretences and theft, respectively.

Bail Given in Lepine Case
 Upon a request made by Col. E. Rioux, K.C., bail to the amount of five hundred dollars was granted in the Lepine case by His Worship. It will be remembered that Lepine was arrested on October first charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Hormidas Gatin, which occurred following a disagreement between Gatin and Lepine, during which Lepine struck Gatin in the face, knocking him to the pavement.

In asking for bail Col. Rioux remarked that Lepine had been in jail since the first of October, and that he was a person in very poor financial circumstances. He further added that if the Quebec Government saw fit to adjourn the fall session of the Court of King's Bench it was in no way the fault of the accused, and therefore it was unjust to keep him in jail until such time as the court should meet.

Girard Case Scheduled to Come Before Last Session of Court
 The case of Herman Girard, of Richmond, it will be remembered, was scheduled to come before the Court of King's Bench at the fall session last year, but the session at that time was also adjourned, and consequently the case is still unsettled.

Girard was arrested some time ago charged with murder, which was later changed to manslaughter, in connection with the death of a young girl. This young girl, aged about nineteen years, was employed as a servant in a Richmond home. One evening Girard took the deceased girl out for a ride in his automobile, and during the course of the evening, while she was in Girard's com-

TRADING SHIP IS MANNED BY ESKIMOS

Arrived at Montreal from Chesterfield Inlet to Be Overhauled — Experiment Successful.

(Associated Press Despatch)
 MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Unique in the annals of Arctic navigation is the bringing down from Chesterfield Inlet, bordering on the sixty-fourth degree to Liverpool, Nova Scotia, a distance of nearly three thousand miles, of a northern trading schooner manned by full-blooded Eskimos. The schooner, Jean Revillon, is a fur trading craft belonging to Revillon Freres, of Montreal. It was built in 1923, and since then has plied the Arctic waters north and west of Chesterfield Inlet.

To overhaul the vessel, it was necessary to bring it to civilization to Shelburne, N.S. In charge of Captain W. H. Robertson, a Newfoundland, and with C. J. King, of Montreal, as engineer, the vessel left on August first, with a crew of four Eskimos.

Taking the Hudson Straits route, the schooner plodded its way through fierce fogs. The whole of the journey was a perilous undertaking. Only three weeks late, the Jean Revillon arrived at Liverpool, N.S., on Sunday night, the captain, engineer and crew thankful that the voyage was nearly at an end. The crew are stated to have been very proficient and the experiment has proved successful. It has never before been thought advisable to take Eskimos out of their own sphere, but this has proved that the feat can be done.

For about a year the native crew has worked on the vessel and they have had a good training. Although excellent seamen in their own waters, it was thought that the voyage so far south would be too much for them. The climate south does not agree with them and their journey north is being arranged as expeditiously as possible.
