High water caused damages

Level of Lake Memphremagog stabilizing

The level of Lake Memphremagog is presently declining, after unusually high waters caused considerable damage to properties along its shorelines.

William Farrell, vice-president of Memphremagog Conservation Inc., said Tuesday the Dominion Textile's dam on the Magog River, which controls the flow out of the 32-mile-long lake and hence its level, has opened its gates to bring the level to 681.70 feet above sea level.

This move came after the lake level reached as high as 682.55 feet on Tuesday, resulted in damages to lakeshore properties. The worst cases were found on the American side, where,

Mr. Farrell estimated, some $1.5 million has been lost because of high water, bolstered by hard north winds blowing across about 10 miles of open lake, eroded the sand cliffs near Newport, where a number of residences are found.

Damage has also been caused on the Canadian side, particularly to wharfs that have been swamped and washed out.

According to Mr. Farrell, the high levels were the result of the Magog textile dam's gates being closed, allowing no more than a minimum of water to pass, while the small rivers and streams that flow into Memphremagog continued to flow in as usual.

Why the dam was closed,

By ROBERT MacPHERSON (Record Reporter)

however, is not clear. Dominion Textile and Memphremagog Conservation had reached an agreement last year, whereby the lake would be maintained near the satisfactory level of 681.50 during the months when it was not ice-bound.

Reports, are that Sherbrooke Hydro, with its plant further down the Magog River, had asked the textile to close the dam gates. Sherbrooke city officials could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Jean Bourassa, director of the city-owned utility, was quoted recently as saying that if the level of Lake

Memphremagog were to be set at 681.50, the water supply required for the production of electricity would be threatened.

But Mr. Farrell, maintaining that the lake is not intended to a reservoir for hydro dams, cites reports by Sherbrooke Hydro which show that, although lake levels varied throughout last year, the water flow through the Magog River and the Sherbrooke Hydro dams remained consistent.

He adds that, according to the graph, the only time the flow changed in 1975 was when gravel was poured into the river as Magog was constructing a new bridge, and when the textile dam did its annual cleaning of gate screens.

On other points, Farrell said a higher lake level would not result in better-quality water along the Magog River; indeed, pollutants in the river are the result of raw sewage dumpage below Little Lake Magog, near Deauville. Also, a high lake level would result in algae bloom in Memphremagog — a pesky phenomenon that was licked last year by the 651.50 level.

And as for fears that Sherbrooke, which collects its water from Memphremagog, would run the risk of a water shortage this summer with a lower lake level, Mr. Farrell replies "They could take another million gallons. What they take out is merely a drop in the bucket."

Meanwhile, city councils at both ends of Lake Memphremagog express mutual concern with the high water.

Magog council has agreed that the lake should remain at last year's level, while Newport, has moved to inform the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers of the situation. The Corps is responsible on the American side for the level of the lake.

Although there is no formal agreement between the United States and Canada on the matter, a series of letters in 1932 between diplomats of the two nations which share Memphremagog agreed that the highest level allowed be 682.70 and the lowest, 678.98. The natural level of the lake — that is, the level it would be at if the Magog River were not dammed — is 683, while the record high is 685, a point attained only two or three times over the past four and a half decades.

CLOSER AND CLOSER — The recent high level of Lake Memphremagog water resulted in the shoreline being closer than usual. This photo was taken Tuesday, near Newport, Vt., where the high water has caused an estimated $1.5 million damages to property. Water levels now, however, have been brought back to normal levels. (Record photo by Robert MacPherson)

Common front walkouts continue

MONTREAL (CP) — School and hospital services throughout Quebec were disrupted Wednesday by the ninth major walkout by the current labor dispute between the common front of public workers and the Quebec government.

About 130,000 of the front's 175,000 members began the walkout at midnight Tuesday night for "at least 24 hours" in retaliation for what the unions called the province's refusal to negotiate.

Almost half of the province's French-language schools were closed, and services were curtailed in most general hospitals. Protestant school boards, who have been negotiating separately with the provincial government, have indicated they might join the walkout today if their demand for a viable offer on teacher workloads was not made by Wednesday afternoon.

Quebec Education Minister Jean Bienvenue, who has so far kept public statements on the matter to a minimum, reserved an hour of time on a Montreal television station for late Wednesday night, apparently to comment on the issue. The 5,400 English Catholic teachers, not members of the common front, have reported "considerable progress" in their contract talks, and were optimistic Wednesday night a settlement would be reached before the weekend.

ACTION ORDERED Solicitor-General Gerard Levesque ordered Wednesday that action be taken against teachers who defied the government's anti-strike legislation.

Fines against a union for violations of the recently-passed legislation, which placed an 80-day ban on school and hospital work disruptions, can go from $5,000 to $50,000 a day.

In Montreal, the management's negotiation committee for the social affairs sector proposed that Montreal's assistant bishop, Most Rev. Jean-Marie Lafontaine, be named a conciliator in that dispute.

Management spokesman Paul Pleau said he was confident the unions would accept Bishop Lafontaine, who helped mediate the long United Aircraft dispute.

Hydro-Quebec estimated saboteurs caused $48,000 of damages to installations in various parts of the province and said 125,000 people in the Quebec City region were left without power for up to two hours Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

beautify their property with Norway spruce, white spruce, red pine, scotch pine, fir, larch or white cedar. According to Mr. Downey, the trees will grow on an average of a foot per year and some may reach the height of 20 to 30 feet in 15 or 20 years. He advises that the small trees be planted away from telephone lines and town property in anticipation of their growth. (Record photo by Gordon Alexander)

Proposes ways to cut boom and bust cycle

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The United States put forward new proposals for development aid to the Third World today and retreated from its opposition to international stockpiles of key commodities to regulate prices.

State Secretary Henry Kissinger outlined the proposals to the fourth United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), which opened Wednesday. He said they might help "free the world from disruptive cycles of boom and bust."

Kissinger proposed: —An international resources bank that would protect multinational corporations from expropriation risks while assuring underdeveloped countries a reliable flow of capital.

—Creation of a technology corps of businessmen and university professors to help train the Third World in specific development programs.

—Creation of energy and industrialization institutes to spread scientific information.

CONSIDER BUFFER

Kissinger also said the U.S. government is willing to negotiate the amassing of buffer stocks of raw materials to be used to shield producing countries from extreme price fluctuations. He said the funds to accomplish this might come from the resources bank he proposed, from government contributions or from export taxes.

Trudeau meets with premiers for energy price negotiations

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau and the provincial premiers gathered today to negotiate higher energy prices with little likelihood they will decide anything.

As the government leaders arrived for the private meeting at Mr. Trudeau's home, at least two had said publicly they expect no agreement at the talks.

Premier Frank Moores of Newfoundland said in an interview that positions had solidified to a point where a consensus appears impossible. He thought it likely Ottawa would have to set a new price by itself or in consultation with the producing provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed, whose province produces 85 per cent of the country's oil, also has said he sees little hope for agreement today.

The meeting, which starts at noon, was called to negotiate a new oil price to go into effect July 1 when the current pricing accord runs out.

EXPECT RISE

Most of those taking part in the negotiations say they expect an increase of between $1.50 and $2 a barrel on the current domestic price of $8 a barrel. It would add between four and six cents to the price of a gallon of gasoline or home heating oil.

Ottawa and the producing provinces are bucking for the price increases, which they say are necessary to encourage exploration for new oil and natural gas supplies.

Ontario says it is opposed to the price increases, saying oil prices are getting to the point where they bear no relationship to the cost of production.

The province, which also led opposition to increases last year, proposes blending the price of old oil, new domestic oil and imported oil at world prices. They say that would yield a price this year of $8.20 a barrel.

But Ottawa and Alberta say the blended price system will not provide the additional exploration money needed by the companies.

PORTLAND ST. FLOOD — Everyone thought that after the snows melted and the ice went out that flooding in the Sherbrooke area was over for another year. No one counted on a man-made flood yesterday at the corner of Portland Blvd. and Wilson Streets which blocked traffic both ways as a result of a break in a water pipe near the pumping station. The break has been mended and the water pumped away, bringing traffic back to normal on the busy street that runs parallel to King St. (Record photo by Gordon Alexander)

Giguere ordered to court

MONTREAL (CP) — Senator Louis de G. Giguere was ordered Wednesday to appear in sessions court here June 1 on charges of theft of $16,536 and breach of trust involving Liberal party funds.

The offences are alleged to have taken place between April 20, 1970, and April 1, 1975, during which time the senator was trustee of $55,000 contributed by various companies and financial institutions "for the use and benefit of the Liberal party."

Named as having a "special interest" in the funds were: Power Corp. of Canada, Ltd., Distillers Corp. Ltd., Steinberg's Ltd., Canadian Pacific Ltd., the Royal Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal and the Liberal Party of Canada.

The breach of trust count is punishable on conviction by up to 14 years imprisonment while the theft count carries a maximum 10-year sentence.

The charges were laid before chief sessions court Judge Andre Fabien on the basis of information supplied by RCMP Staff-Sgt. Pierre Gourdeau. Gerard Girouard, chief Crown prosecutor, was handed documents on the case Monday by RCMP who had been investigating the Sky Shops affair.

Film raises furor

JERUSALEM (Reuter) — A film depicting Jesus Christ as a political leader who faked his death and resurrection has aroused a furor.

The film — a screen version of The Passover Plot, a book by 70-year-old British writer Hugh Schonfield — was made here in Jerusalem and other parts of present-day Israel.

For maximum authenticity, it was filmed at Easter — when the trial and crucifixion of Christ took place nearly 2,000 years ago.

Sea conference ends

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The third session of the UN Law of the Sea conference is headed for an inconclusive finish Friday with agreement still lacking on the key issues of the 200-mile economic zone and mining the sea floor.

A bloc of non-aligned nations proposed that the conference resume next January. The United States urged a summer meeting, warning that failure to agree by the end of the year might doom the 150-state effort to write a comprehensive treaty of rules for the world's oceans.

The conference's general committee scheduled a meeting today to discuss the future schedule.

Sniper fire continues

BEIRUT (AP) — Only occasional sniper fire punctuated a new truce in Beirut today, but police reported heavy artillery exchanges in the suburbs, the mountain towns to the east and in northern and eastern Lebanon.

The combined casualty toll during the night was 39 killed and 64 wounded, a police spokesman said. But in Beirut the count was only three killed and four wounded by snipers early today, and two killed Wednesday.

Despite the lull in the city, there was growing speculation that the presidential election scheduled Saturday will be postponed again.

Condemns socialists

LISBON (Reuter) — Communist Secretary General Alvaro Cunhal has hinted that his party will help to bring down Socialists if they attempt to form a minority government in Portugal's legislative assembly.

He condemned the Socialist party as undemocratic for saying that it intends to govern on its own after gaining only 35 per cent of the vote in last month's parliamentary election.

Cunhal told 20,000 Communists attending a rally here Wednesday night that Socialist leaders are counting on the Communist party to support a Socialist minority government — or at least not to reject its program.

"It is necessary to emphasize here once more that this will not happen," he said.

He added: "If the Socialist party presented a government to the assembly, without previously having the support of other parties, it would evidently know in advance that the other parties would vote against it."

Trial opens in murder of prison painting instructor

SWEETSBURG COURT — A jury of seven men and five women will determine the fate of Mario Gauthier this month. Gauthier, 20, of Montreal, is standing trial on a charge of murder punishable by the death penalty in the slaying of Georges Nadeau at the Cowansville Penitentiary April 8, 1975. Mr. Justice Jean Louis Pelouin of Sherbrooke is the presiding judge.

Crown Prosecutor Claude Noiseux who is assisted by Michel Cote of Sherbrooke opened the trial here yesterday with the testimony of penitentiary director Guy Lemire.

Mr. Lemire stated Mr. Nadeau, 34, was a penitentiary employee on April 8, 1975 and under oath said the only time he saw him that day was in the prison paint shop somewhere between 11 and 11:15 a.m. He added there were 10 inmates who were working in the shop on that day.

Under questioning by defence lawyer Robert LaHaye, Mr. Lemire said he believed Gauthier still had three to five months left prior to completion of his sentence and stated although there had been a discussion of a possibility of a ticket of leave he had never seen any official documents.

Dr. Noel E. Monast, the penitentiary doctor, said he was called to the workshop at approximately 10:17 that morning when he saw a man on the floor with his face battered and covered in blood along with pieces of brain strewn on the floor. Dr. Monast stressed he was told it was Mr. Nadeau, as he wasn't recognizable due to the condition of his face. He said he saw a hammer on the floor near the body and he presumed death had occurred some 15 to 20 minutes prior to his arrival.

Under examination by Mr. LaHaye Dr. Monast said he had given Gauthier tranquilizers over a five day period to allow him to sleep after an accident sustained to his ankle during a fall in one of the penitentiary cell blocks. He was emphatic in saying the drug had no carry-over effect.

A QPF technician provided the jury and court with a scale plan of the scene of the crime.

Louis Desjean, a QPF photographer, produced photographs of the paint shop and cell block eight which were admitted as evidence. He added he saw the victim on the floor and he was covered in blood from his chin to the top of his head. Mr. Desjean said he took fingerprints of the victim which coincided with those in the penitentiary record office.

Dr. Claude Pothel, a pathologist attached to the Medical Legal Institute, said he performed an autopsy on the victim April 9, 1975. He said the victim had suffered 23 skull and facial fractures and his right eye was almost detached from the eye socket. He indicated most of the fractures showed the form of the blunt instrument in the assault and they were semi-circular in form.

Photographs taken immediately prior to the autopsy were produced. However, Judge Pelouin ordered them held in reserve. Under examination by Mr. LaHaye Dr. Pothel said it was the sum of the series of blows that caused death.

Another technician testified he had taken the photographs requested by Dr. Pothel.

Pierre Boulanger, a QPF technician, stated he lifted blood samples from the floor near the body which later proved to be human blood, A Rh positive. He further said there were blood stains throughout the office in the paint shop where the victim's body was located and said that further stains allegedly found on the assailant's pants, shoes and shirt were human blood, type A. Under redirect by the crown he said the samples were not sufficiently large to allow him to determine the Rh factor.

Gauthier was originally ordered to the Penal Institute by the presiding judge at his trial in Montreal on a charge of robbery with violence.

The crown may produce another 38 witnesses prior to completion of the trial which continues today.

INTRODUCTIONS — Two students, one English-speaking, the other French-speaking, introduce each other Tuesday night to participants at a six-day inter-board cultural exchange program. They are being assisted by LDSB French consultant Barbara de Vos, one of the organizers of the program. Fifty students from the Thetford Mines, Black Lake and Disraeli areas are visiting the homes and schools of 50 LDSB students for three days this week. Next week they will be guests at their French-speaking partners' homes and schools.

Unique exchange program on

SHERBROOKE (BS) — One hundred English and French-speaking students are taking part in a unique six-day cultural exchange program designed to improve their knowledge of each other's language and culture.

Participating are 50 French-speaking 11 and 12-year-old boys and girls from 20 schools in the Thetford Mines, Black Lake and Disraeli area who have been paired with 50 English-speaking students from the Lennoxville District School Board (LDSB) region.

The unique feature of the program is that each child is spending three days living and going to school with the child with whom he has been paired.

This week the French-speaking children are guests in English homes while next Tuesday the 50 LDSB pupils will travel to the Thetford Mines area to be guests in French homes.

During the three days spent in each other's region, the students will attend school with their partner and take part in regular family activities at their host's home.

"This gives the children an opportunity to meet with another culture and gives them a better chance to speak the other language," explains George Byrns, Thetford Mines area pedagogical advisor, English as a second language.

Mr. Byrns organized the exchange program with Mrs. Barbara de Vos, LDSB French consultant.

At least two months preparation went into the program, including choosing participants and having them fill out questionnaires to aid organizers pair the children.

Students were chosen based on the degree of interest and ability they have shown in the other language. Then after parental consent had been obtained, the children filled out detailed questionnaires letting organizers know their interests and whether they wanted to be billeted in the town or country, Mr. Byrns said.

Matching the children resulted in some humorous incidents. Mrs. de Vos explained, like when she paired Carol Isabel who she assumed was a French-speaking girl, with an English-speaking female partner. However, it turned out Carol Isabel is a boy; so another partner had to be found.

The program opened Tuesday night when the Thetford Mines area children arrived at Sherbrooke Elementary School to have supper with their hosts. A brief period of games followed before the children left for their partner's homes.

Eight of the 10 LDSB schools are participating. Lennoxville Elementary and Sawerville Elementary are not taking part since they are planning other similar programs.

Next Tuesday the LDSB students will go to their French-speaking partners' homes to spend three days.

The program is financially supported by the provincial government under its cultural and linguistic exchange program.

Principals at all the schools have been involved with the program. Classroom work continues as usual with some special events such as field trips to the Lennoxville Experimental Farm or the Sherbrooke Seminary Museum possibly undertaken by some teachers who have saved such trips for when the visiting students are present.

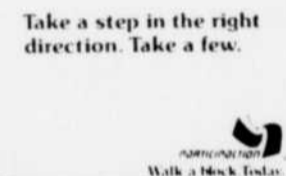

LDSB schools have carried out cultural exchange programs for the past three years. However, this is the first time students have been billeted in each other's homes and it is the first board-wide program. The boards will evaluate the program when completed.

Fire victim recovering

MONTREAL (JM) — A Royal Victoria Hospital spokeswoman said yesterday Adelard Bergeron, 50, of Cowansville who sustained third degree burns to 75 per cent of his body in a fire at his dwelling last Sunday is well on the road to recovery.

"He is out of a coma and we anticipate being able to place him in a bath today in the initial steps towards removing scar tissue. His morale is extremely high and the nurses on his floor are showing great delight in working with this patient thanks to his strong will to live."

Habitat aims described

SHERBROOKE (SB) — The topic at this week's regular Rotary dinner-meeting was Habitat, the United Nations Conference on Human Settlements, described by guest speaker Serge Joyal, MP for Maisonneuve riding in Montreal. The conference, which will be held in Vancouver from May 31 to June 11 is the largest and most important UN meeting outside the New York headquarters.

Mr. Joyal said in an interview that it is imperative that there be great participation in the conference on the part of the host country, Canada. Nowhere else is there a greater platform from which to pick up useful ideas and concepts on urban planning, he said. Mr. Joyal explained one of the reasons for the slowness on the part of Quebecers to develop long-term urban planning is that traditionally the province has been rural oriented. Consequently, its thinking is primarily in the agricultural realm. Only in the past few years has Quebec become aware of the full extent of urbanism here. Quebec isn't alone in its viewpoint since Canada itself is very lax as far as long term urban development is concerned. Statistics released by Statistics Canada reveal that 75 per cent of the country's population lives in the three major urban areas; Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver.

The rest of Canada is relatively sparsely inhabited.

And it is for these reasons that the UN conference on human settlements is so important to Canada. It gives Canadians a chance to exchange ideas and problems with the over 123 countries expected to attend. Underdeveloped countries such as the South American countries and countries such as the United States and Switzerland have different problems and solutions for the urban planning. The seminar type conference will make it possible for delegates to exchange ideas and possibly find solutions to their own urban problems.

In a conference bulletin, the conference committee states that the policies and programs aimed at meeting the needs of future human settlements will never work economically, socially, politically, or morally if they are not based on a firm commitment to achieve minimum standards of decent existence for all people. It goes on to list the conference objectives: to proclaim and ask all nations to subscribe to a commitment pledging that the future human settlements of the world will be places of human dignity and well being.

Other aims are to build among peoples of the world a better understanding of human settlement problems and the challenge they will pose in the years to come; to demonstrate that the most pressing problems of human settlements can be solved with existing technology and systems if the political and social will can be marshalled to use them; and to formulate a program of international activities in support of human settlement improvements which will give priority to the strengthening of financial mechanisms and institutions dealing with the problems in developing countries.

Also contained in the bulletin are some startling facts. What does it mean that the population of the world will double in the next 30 years, adding 3,500 million people to the human family?

Mr. Carter to the Fore

The way American political parties select their presidential candidates every four years is costly, convoluted and frequently confusing. But the exhausting series of state-wide primary elections now under way is giving the political establishment in the United States some clear indications about what the voters want from the man who will live in the White House next year.

The mood of the nation, as reflected in the primary results, is one of caution and conservatism, and of discontent with runaway government spending.

President Gerald Ford is clearly a beneficiary of this cautious mood. To be sure, many voters — some 45 per cent of the Republicans who have voted in the primaries — feel the president is not conservative enough. Instead, they prefer the blig rhetoric of former California governor Ronald Reagan. But a majority of Republicans, so far, have chosen to side with Mr. Ford, a known and proven if hardly inspiring politician.

Of course, the president's lacklustre campaign style and less than dynamic leadership are more than offset by the impressive recovery of the American economy.

Inflation in the United States is currently a mere 2.9 per cent, far lower than in Canada, and the Gross National Product is increasing by 7.5 per cent, better than Mr. Ford's economic advisers had anticipated. Mr. Ford, in the view of many voters, is clearly doing something right even if the economic forces are not as controllable as the president would like people to believe.

Among the Democrats, former Georgia governor Jimmy Carter has struck a chord that is in tune with the nation's mood. He has won seven of the first nine primaries, the most recent victory coming in Pennsylvania this week, and is the clear front-runner for his party's presidential nomination.

Mr. Carter's political views are hardly as conservative as his opponents in the Democratic party have tried to make out. His policies — as enunciated on the campaign trail — are capitalizing on popular sentiments that are more cautious than conservative in the traditional, ideological sense.

The former governor supports, for example, what he describes as a "comprehensive, compulsory" national health insurance program. In the United States, that is a liberal proposal indeed.

Mr. Carter has pledged to eliminate some of the 1,900 or so federal agencies, and merge those that are left into no more than 200 different branches of the bureaucracy. Whether that is liberal or not — a desire to cut back on social programs or merely curb a self-perpetuating bureaucracy — is a moot point.

The only man who could take the presidential nomination away from Mr. Carter is Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who has decided to shun the primaries.

Mr. Carter will most probably arrive at the convention several hundred delegates short of the approximately 1,500 delegate votes needed to win the nomination.

However, it will be exceedingly difficult for the party to deprive Mr. Carter of the nomination. To do so would undoubtedly drive many voters to Mr. Ford, who seems likely to win the Republican nomination despite some possible difficulties in the May primaries.

At this stage in the primary campaigning, the only man thought to have a chance of leading a "stop Carter" movement is Senator Hubert Humphrey.

But even he recognizes the remarkable popularity of the former governor and announced recently that he will not actively pursue the nomination. Sen. Humphrey did say that he is still susceptible to a draft if the party's convention becomes hopelessly deadlocked. That prospect looks ever less likely.

A race against Mr. Carter has Mr. Ford's advisers worries, despite the tremendous advantages of an incumbent — albeit unelected — president. Such a campaign — between a former governor whom few Americans had ever heard of only a few months ago and a president who was a virtually anonymous midwestern Congressman before Watergate — would certainly be a thriller.

"Over the last quarter of a century, we in the United States seem to have lost the ability to care for each other. It is paradoxical that this dehumanizing trend should be manifest in the healing arts."
— Stanley S. Bergen Jr., M.D., president of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, calling for improved communication between physicians and patients.

"Realistically and regretfully we must face the fact that this nation now operates under a 'controlled enterprise' system, and unless the headlong dash to regulate our individual and business lives comes to a halt soon, we even will have to eliminate the word 'enterprise.'"

— Richard A. Riley, president of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

"Most (black) people don't believe success is possible. So they get discouraged before they start. They think that all the cards are stacked against them, and many blacks think the white man's not going to let them succeed...Anger and fear of failure get in the way."
— John H. Johnson, publisher of Ebony and other black magazines.

"What urban education needs is not more money but more parents willing to give their children care, motivation and chastisement — the will to learn. It takes strong soldiers to fight a strong enemy (racism) and you don't produce strong soldiers by crying about what the enemy has done to you."
— The Rev. Jesse Jackson, director of "Operation Push," on fostering a new spirit of responsibility among inner-city parents and students.

Lawlessness part of Israel's fabric

By Macabee Dean

TEL AVIV — (NEA) — Israelis woke up recently to discover they were in the midst of a wave of violence and crime — in the best (or rather the worst) American tradition, complete with threats, extortion, "protection money", rape, murder — and even a corrupt police officer or two.

According to official police figures for 1974, one out of every 21 Israelis (or 162,000 persons out of a population of 3,400,000) was the victim of a "serious" crime. This is approximately the same rate as in the United States, according to FBI figures.

There has always been crime in Israel, despite stories of the "good old days" 30 to 40 years ago, when persons left their doors unlocked. (As one wit said, "they were left unlocked since there was nothing to steal then.")

But the crime has always been of a "passive type," such as doctoring income tax returns, dealing on the black market, stealing cars and breaking into and robbing apartments. The victim, often the state itself, would lose financially — but physical harm was a rarity.

But all this has changed. The days of peaceful crime in Israel have passed.

Police Minister Shlomo Hillel recently told the Knesset (Parliament) that crimes of violence had increased 37 per cent in 1975 over 1974 — and were still rising. Attempts at murder had increased by 100 per cent, murder threats had increased by 35 per cent. The overall crime rate increased by 13 per cent in 1975, and by a total of 32 per cent since the Yom Kippur War of October, 1973.

The sharp upsurge in crime was expected, for every war brings in its wake a crime wave. As Inspector-General of Police Shaul Rosolio wrote more than a year ago:

"The Yom Kippur War influence was felt throughout 1974. Its results were widespread social, economic and political unrest, the dissolution of moral values and an increase in criminal activity."

But the roots of the present outburst of violence go back many years before the Yom Kippur war, according to both criminologists and sociologists here. A primary cause is the fact that Israel is, and was, a land of immigration, with a mingling of persons from diverse backgrounds, cultures and outlooks. And this causes friction.

Superimposed on this was an enormous, unwieldy and inefficient bureaucracy. And the best way to fight this bureaucracy, as thousands of newcomers learned all too soon, was "to pound on the table." If this did not help, "to pound on the head of the official sitting behind the table."

Punishment for such acts was generally mild — for the public usually sympathized with the attacker, not with the official. Such violence becomes a way of life.

Social workers were soon beaten up, not for inefficiency but for not granting higher monthly social welfare payments. Teachers were attacked not for being bad teachers, but for giving bad marks. Doctors were thrashed for not giving the medicines that the patient — yes, the patient — demanded.

The narrow line faded between those demanding their legitimate rights from the bureaucratic system, to those actually preying on the system, and on the public, in some criminal form.

"Get rich" schemes by illegal means proliferated. And the easiest of all schemes was the "protection" racket.

This was the state of affairs when the Yom Kippur War broke out — and thousands of Israeli soldiers fell; others came home in a bitter mood. The entire population went into a state of shock, casting a bitter eye at the country's leaders, whom they felt, had betrayed them.

Yitzhak Rabin replaced Golda Meir as prime minister. Even a charismatic figure like Moshe Dayan fell in public favor.

A series of financial scandals rocked the country. The Israel-British Bank collapsed — since its director-general of the Israel Corporation was found guilty of fraud, bribery and corruption. Even worse, corruption was found in the Israel Defense Forces, a body which had been held until now in the highest esteem.

Faith in the country's police and judicial system wavered, and more persons with grievances took the law into their own hands.

A doctor in Nahariya refused to give the treatment a patient demanded; he was murdered. An official in Ashdod refused to give a man who failed his driving test a driving license; he was shot to death. An irate fan at a soccer game in Rehovot stabbed a player to death. A kangaroo court in Jerusalem sentenced a member of the underworld to death — and carried out the sentence.

And an American couple, new immigrants who had settled in a small village near Jerusalem, pulled up stakes and went back to the States since a pair of hoodlums were terrorizing them and the rest of the village.

These cases, admittedly, were isolated and extreme.

But in Israel today the underworld flourishes as never before. Conservative estimates place the number of citizens living off of crime — including prostitution and the black market in foreign currency — at between 20,000 and 30,000.

There is much talk of "organized crime" in the American pattern, but so far it has failed to materialize.

Fortunately strong public pressure is causing an improvement of the situation. Some time ago when the situation reached intolerable proportions in Tel Aviv, the police moved a unit of the crack Border Force — whose job is to fight infiltrators along the border — into the city. The crime rate dropped by some 30 per cent.

"AM I ESTABLISHING ANY SORT OF PATTERN?"

Brakes put on bus upgrading

WASHINGTON — What's good for General Motors seems to be what's good for the White House.

The two have teamed up to block a major upgrading of the nation's buses in order to protect the auto firm's profit picture, according to a confidential federal study.

In 1971, the government began a $27 million project to develop a bus of the future. It was to have wide doors, special features for the handicapped and other safety and efficiency improvements.

But a federally funded report by Stanford University describes in detail how the new concept of a "Transbus" fell afoul of politics and corporate finagling.

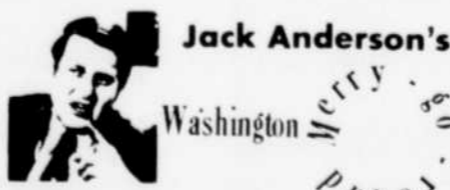

In the beginning, the Urban Mass Transportation Administration provided funds to three firms to build a sample "Transbus." The company with the winning model would win contracts that might eventually run into the billions.

The three were General Motors, American General and Rohr Industries. The two smaller firms, American and Rohr, were enthusiastic about trying to produce the new bus and expected continued federal funding.

But, suggests the draft study, "General Motors, which is primarily an auto manufacturer, realized that the Transbus program had the potential of increasing mass transportation usage." This, of course, "translates into a net reduction in auto sales" for General Motors.

Then last year, for what the report describes as "technological, economic and political" reasons, the White House stepped in and scrapped the laboriously prepared design specifications for "Transbus."

In their place, the White House invited the bus manufacturers themselves to come up with a bus design as long as it met certain performance standards.

This played right into the hands of General Motors. It permits the giant of the auto industry, which already controls 50 per cent of all bus sales, to build the kind of bus it wants, as opposed to a "Transbus."

The White House, meanwhile, has further aided General Motors by holding back future funding for the "Transbus" project. Since the two smaller companies cannot compete with General Motors unless they get the funding, the White House actions have effectively turned over future bus sales to General Motors — without "Transbus reforms."

Consumer groups and the handicapped fear that the combination of the fund cut-off and General Motors' readiness to build buses with its own funds will doom any hopes of improved mass transit for the handicapped. There have been no major design changes in 15 years.

Footnote: Tomorrow (May 5) the Urban Mass Transportation Administration will hold public hearings on the Transbus imbroglio.

Nazi Eulogy: The Voice of America recently eulogized Adolf Hitler's leading Slovakian propagandist as a great patriot. The moving tribute by VOA, which speaks for the U.S. government abroad, was inspired by the funeral of Joseph Pauso, who died a few months ago in Mid-dletown, Pa.

Pauso escaped to the U.S. after World War II. As an editor in Slovakia, he had trumpeted the Nazi line, hailed persecution of the Jews and praised the "benevolence" of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler."

As late as 1957, Pauso described his wartime work as editor-in-chief of the Nazi newspaper "Slovak" as a cause of "great and sacred truth." Yet, he personally sat on a tribunal that ratified the execution of American-backed Slovakian freedom fighters.

During the Nixon years, the dapper and charming exile worked his way into the affections of Republican leaders and became a top GOP political adviser on ethnic affairs. When we exposed his Nazi past in 1971, he was eased out of the job, but was kept on as a consultant to the Small Business Administration.

Yet, despite his ex-Nazi notoriety, the Voice of America broadcast a long commentary praising his dynamism, enthusiasm and high principles. This glowing tribute to an ex-Nazi was transmitted to Czechoslovakia last November.

Although the VOA mentioned he was a "journalist" in Slovakia, it neglected to add that his "journalism" consisted of spewing out hatred against Jews and the U.S.

Instead, the VOA lauded Pauso's "full Slovak soul," saying his writing would endure "as his legacy." His "many friends and enemies (are) only proof of his truthfulness and strong national feelings," eulogized the VOA. "He was a dynamic figure."

Footnote: A spokesman for the United States Information Agency, which runs VOA, said USAIA head James Keogh, a former Nixon speechwriter, takes full responsibility for the broadcast. It was, said the spokesman, a "routine obituary."

Mining company sued for polluting lake

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Reserve Mining Co. has been fined more than $1 million for polluting Lake Superior and for failure to disclose information during the lengthy suit by the State of Minnesota.

In a 17-page decision released Tuesday, U.S. District Court Judge Edward Devitt noted that Reserve held a state permit to dump industrial waste into the lake but that it did not empower the firm to pollute the lake with "carcinogenic waste."

The company mines low-grade iron ore at Babbitt, Minn., processing it into taconite pellets at Silver Bay for manufacture of steel. From this operation, up to 67,000 tons of finely ground waste rock are dumped each day into Lake Superior.

The health issue emerged as a key element, since district and appellate courts have found that tiny asbestos-fibres in drinking water at Duluth and four smaller towns come from the Reserve plant.

PLANT UNFINISHED
Duluth's new water filtration plant won't be completed for another year, and the U.S. Corps of Engineers began furnishing filtration two years ago.

Devitt has directed that Reserve pay costs of filtration and for pure water supplied to residents. This could eventually amount to about $6 million.

The suit against Reserve, owned by Republic and Armco Steel corporations, had sought $40.2 million in fines and court costs.

"If we comment at all, it's going to be after we've had time to look at the decision," a Reserve official said after Devitt released his ruling.

Demands full share of ocean resources

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The leader of a powerful assembly of landlocked and other countries attending the international sea law conference says the group will never surrender its demands to a full share in the ocean resources of coastal states.

Karl Wolf, head of the Austrian delegation the current round of talks, said in an interview Tuesday:

"We have made very little headway. But we stand by our position that we must have guaranteed rights to share in living and non-living resources in the economic zones of coastal countries."

"We have very little to offer in return. But without our votes there will not be an international law of the sea. Our votes depend on recognition of our rights and that recognition is not forthcoming."

The conference, which began trying to hammer out a new sea law in 1974 and now is in its third session, is nearing a consensus on establishing 200-mile offshore economic zones in which coastal states would have jurisdiction over fishing and minerals.

There has been talk of granting certain limited fishing rights to landlocked countries, but coastal countries refuse to concede rights to their minerals.

The game was board-a-match team of four and both West's opened with three diamonds. At one table East elected to pass and it was up to South to do something. He looked at what appeared to be eight sure tricks and tried three notrump. Everyone passed and after West opened the queen of diamonds South ran off 12 tricks.

Everyone laughed when they noted that a spade lead, diamond return, second spade, second diamond, etc. would have given the defenders a grand slam.

North and South were so happy that they overlooked the fact that they could have made a suit slam.

This wasn't overlooked at the other table. East bid three spades, South four spades and eventually South wound up at six clubs. He needed to exercise a little care to bring it home. He wasn't happy with the result since six hearts would make even easier, but he had a winner while his lucky opponent at the other table had a loser.

 The answer is that in standard American you should open three notrump. You have 26 high-card points and want the lead to come up to your hand if notrump is going to be the final contract.

Mother-Daughter banquet is held

AYER'S CLIFF (IH) — The Parents Committee of the Ayer's Cliff Rangers, Girl Guides and Brownies sponsored the first of what they hope to be an annual event, a Mother and Daughter banquet that was held Wednesday evening, April 28 at St. George's Parish hall, Ayer's Cliff.

The Rangers were the hostesses and the banquet hour was 6 p.m. attended by 115 persons.

The Rangers were responsible for the attractive floral arrangements that decorated the tables. The Girl Guides made the pretty corsages presented the Moms and lady guests while the two men folk present were recipients of a floral boutonniere. Not to be outdone, the Brownies made their contribution. Pack One making olive cards and Pack two, the adorable serviette holders.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kirby, President of the Parents Committee, spoke a warm welcome to all assembled. Among the guests were Rev. Owen Merriman, pastor of St. George's Church, who spoke the blessing in English, Father Denis Fortin, pastor of St. Bartholomew Church, who spoke the blessing in French and Mrs. M. Church, the Guide-Brownie District Commissioner. Guide Angela Higginbotham was MC for the evening.

The Rangers were in charge of the kitchen and a delicious buffet supper was served by "Curly Joe's" with the Moms responsible for the cookies and squares that was the dessert.

Three of the Rangers proposed a toast to The Queen, Lady Baden-Powell, founder of the Guiding movement and to the Mothers. Mrs. Church spoke about the Ranger-Guide-Brownie movement, and parts were demonstrated by the girls. Mrs. Church presented some of the girls with badges they had earned and congratulated them and their leaders on their efforts, also speaking words of encouragement to one and all to continue with their fine efforts. Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson assisted Mrs. Church with the presentations.

Each Brownie Pack in turn sang a song and gave a tribute to the Moms. Cheryl Beasley spoke remarks of appreciation to the Parents Committee and to the Moms and all who had assisted to make the first Mother and Daughter Banquet the success it was and to the Rangers for their time and talents on their behalf.

Fashion and Beauty Tips

Belts Boo-Boo
Wide belts should never be used to camouflage a wide waist. If anything, they accentuate it. Going beltless is best.

Sitter's woe
To help prevent hip spread from sitting too much, sit up straight so that your weight is better distributed.

Au natural
The latest look in eyebrows is soft and natural, with as little penciling as possible. None, in fact, if possible. To keep straggling hair in place, brush brows to train them.

Older and brighter
Lipsticks in bright, clear colors look best on mature women. Those pastels and white-based slickers may be tempting, but they tend to emphasize creases and lip wrinkles.

Nose shaper
To make a wide nose appear narrower, use a cream highlighter in the following way: Apply a thin line down the center of the nose, then draw lines down the sides with liner pencil and blend well.

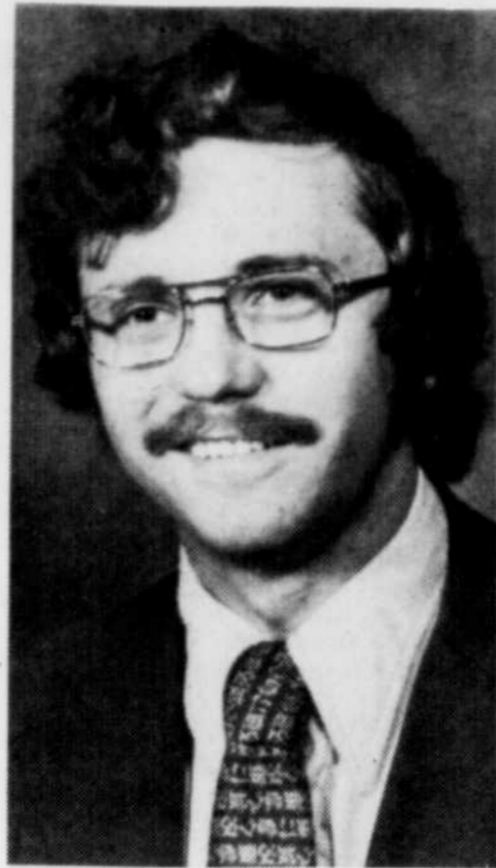

Looking back
If you have very bony shoulders and a bony back, it's best to avoid low-cut and backless evening dresses.

Aristocrat of vegetables appears, and spring is here

Suddenly it's spring and the good news is that fresh asparagus is in peak supply, crisp, richly green, completely tempting. Asparagus has been called the "aristocrat" of vegetables. It does come from the rather royal family of the orchid and the lily...and there can be no denying that it has been held in very high esteem for a very long time.

Fresh asparagus is graded as Canada No. 1 and Canada No. 2. Quality asparagus means fresh, closed, compact tips and the entire green portion should be tender. It deteriorates rapidly after cutting. So when buying, watch for tips that are beginning to open and spread or are wilted, or stalks that are coarse and fibrous. Tender asparagus is brittle and should snap off easily. Angular or flat stalks are also likely to be woody and tough.

When you bring it home, store unwashed and untrimmed asparagus in plastic bags, in the refrigerator. Nutritional value, color, and flavor are preserved best if it is cooked within a day or two of purchase. Before using, wash asparagus carefully but thoroughly and remove any large scales where sand may collect. A pound of asparagus will provide three to four moderate-sized servings.

The "King" of vegetables should also have an "easy to cook" status symbol. Basic asparagus cookery should accent the positive — freshness, greenness and fine flavor. It's a culinary sin to overcook it in a large amount of water. Bend each stalk so it snaps at the tender spot. Set aside the woody stems if you want to use them later for soups. Because asparagus cooks best in an upright position, stand the stalks in about two inches of boiling water in a deep covered saucepan. The tips will then be cooking in steam. If you don't have a deep enough pan, the top of a double boiler inverted over the bottom works as well. Allow six to twelve minutes depending on the size of the stalks.

The simplest thing to do with a platter of hot, crisp-tender asparagus is to drizzle a little melted butter over it. Beyond that there are dozens of delicious ways to prepare this spring-time delicacy. Food Advisory Services, Agriculture Canada would like to give a lively lift to your menus with two recipes featuring plenty of spring-fresh asparagus: "Molded Asparagus Salad" and "Sweet and Sour Asparagus."

SWEET AND SOUR ASPARAGUS

Stork Showers

ROCK ISLAND (IH) — Thursday evening, April 29 the Parish hall of Our Lady of Mercy Church, Rock Island, was the scene of a pleasant event when relatives and friends gathered to honor Mrs. Ronald (Carmen) Farley of Stanstead with stork gifts.

As the guests gathered they were invited to sign the guest book and to place a number down in a macaroni quiz. The prize for this was claimed by Jeanne Wolski.

When Carmen arrived she was greeted by all and escorted to a chair reserved for her between her mother, Mrs. Adrien Therrien, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Earle Farley. A large size bib was placed around her neck, adorned with several stork tiems, pink and blue ribbon bows.

The trio opened the many gifts from those attending and others unable to be there. They contained many lovely and useful items for the expected wee one and were circulated and admired by all. The gifts of a bathnet and dressing table were among the gifts from her mother and sisters.

In French and English, Carmen thanked everyone for their thoughtful gifts. A card game was played, the winner of prizes were Mrs. Eileen Roy and Mrs. Genevieve Channel.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated with flowers. The stork cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon, round layer decorated in white, yellow and green and a baby doll with accessories in miniature. This was also the birthday of the expectant paternal grandmother, Mrs. Farley. She was presented with a decorated cake and received good wishes for many more to enjoy her grandchildren.

Guests attended from the Border Villages.

MELBOURNE RIDGE — Mrs. Georgina Fowler was the guest of honor at a stork shower at the home of her good friend Mrs. Grace Johnston.

She arrived, expecting a Tupperware party, and was welcomed by the co-hostess, Mrs. Robin Fowler who pinned on a corsage made up of baby rattle, safety pins, nipples and other small baby items.

About 20 friends were there to greet her. Out of town guests were Linda Fowler of Montreal, Gail Fowler and Marilyn Fournay of Cornwall, Ont. and Barbara Richardson of Dartmouth, N.S.

Georgina spent a pleasant hour unwrapping diapers, blankets, toys, bottles, and many items of clothing, then she thanked all her friends for the lovely, thoughtful gifts.

The hostesses served a delicious lunch which ended by serving a special shower cake, made and decorated by Grace Johnston. The cake was centred by a small crib with a baby covered with a blanket, nestled down in the pink and blue icing.

Freeze baked potatoes and heat when needed

By Polly Cramer

Inflation Fighter

DEAR POLLY — Perhaps you or some of the readers could suggest a way to bake two potatoes without heating a large oven. I do not always have an oven dinner but we like a baked potato each evening.

—JEAM
DEAR JEAM — Why not bake several potatoes when you are having an oven dinner, use two that night and then scoop out the inside of the others (after they are cut in half). Mash them, season as desired and then wrap and freeze. Heating them will not take as long as baking a potato from scratch and if you have a portable broiler oven they could be heated in it. Perhaps some reader has a better idea. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that when dining out the salad is so often served covered with mayonnaise or some other dressing. I do wish they would serve the dressing separately so it could be disregarded if one did not want it. It seems they would realize many people are on diets and cannot eat it, therefore the salad is wasted and the customer is disappointed. The prices restaurants charge are terrible, too. Any suggestions from you other readers? —DOROTHY.

DEAR DOROTHY — You asked for suggestions and I have one. I feel sure that if you specified "No dressing, please" when ordering your salad your request would be respected. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY and L.C.S. who has problems with a lunch box rusting — I used waxed paper in the bottom of my husband's lunch box. But once I substituted a paper towel and found it not only worked better but served as a napkin when he ate. Instead of washing the bottom of the box I wipe it clean with a wet cloth and use a soap filled pad on any rust spots. This eliminates further rusting. —ETHEL.

DEAR POLLY — I live alone and found it difficult to open a three pound can of coffee until I came up with the idea of using an opener such as one which opens fruit juice cans. I put a good size hole on each side of the top. I can then pour out the needed amount of coffee and still have the plastic lid to cover the top. —RUBY.

DEAR POLLY — We do not smoke so no cigars were passed out when our children were born. I came up with the idea of using personalized pencils to announce the arrival of our second. We bought such pencils with half bearing the name we had chosen for a boy and half with our favored girl's name. As my husband's work mates discovered these pencils on their desks they got the message and had something useful besides. The kids are happy to receive the "inaccurate" pencils for their own use. —MRS. R.S.S.

DEAR POLLY — When saving a used razor blade put it in a plastic medicine bottle and it will be safe in the medicine cabinet. —HELEN.

Sher-Lenn Fifty Plus Club has busy 2 months of events

March and April have been most interesting and productive months for the members of the Sher-Lenn Fifty Plus Club. The craft group have been arriving early in the morning, having lunch at the club, and continuing work on into the afternoon.

A variety of crafts were being worked on at each session. Some of the items made were woven placemats, patchwork placemats, quilted crib covers, fabric flowers and fancy pillows. Some of the pillows were made in the same manner as shag rugs.

Cushion kits sell for $14.95. However, by buying the materials, creating their own design, and cutting the wool, the Sher-Lenn pillows are much less costly. One of these pillows was included on the raffle along with a handsome smocked pillow made and donated by Mrs. Jessie Bennett.

A new craft was added to the program when Mrs. Rob Benzen came to the club to conduct a class in decoupage. This craft involves a lot of painstaking work, the finish on the plaques being built up with between 15 and 20 coats of varnish.

On April 26th the group treated themselves to a chicken dinner. Miss H. McGregor organized the dinner, and was assisted by other craft members. Thirty-five hungry members enjoyed the luncheon, and spent the day adding the finishing touches to various craft items to be sold at the upcoming spring bazaar.

St. Patrick's Day was the birthday of one of the members, H. Bench, who shared his birthday cake with the members. D. Donnachie entertained, singing some Irish songs, and the members joined him in the chorus. It was decided right there and then that the club should have a choral group, and Mr. Donnachie offered to take charge of organizing it.

Sixteen members joined that day, others have since swelled the ranks. So it can be said that St. Pat's Day was also the birth of the choral group, as yet unnamed. Names are to be submitted by members, and the most suitable will be chosen by a panel of the singers.

On Shrove Tuesday the men's group enjoyed a pancake dinner. Hot lunches for the men will continue to be served until the end of May, to be resumed in October. Men who attend the lunches remain at the club in the afternoon to play pool, darts, or cards, or just enjoy good conversation together.

A number of fine films have been shown on Fridays, and will continue to be shown until the end of May, to be resumed in September.

Bingo is held once a month and is always popular. Military Whist is another popular pastime, and is also scheduled once a month.

Mission Circle meets

SUTTON - The Baptist Mission Circle met at the Baptist Parsonage on April 30 with Mrs. H.H. Woodard and Mrs. O.H. Baker as hostesses.

The President Mrs. H. Woodard presided. Psalm 46 was read responsively by nine members, and one visitor, Mrs. John Jones. The hymn, "We've a Story to tell to the Nations" was sung. The Devotional period was taken by Mrs. Roland Gibson reading Matthew 5: 1-12. The subject was "Jewelry". The theme "Gentleness." The armament of a meek and quiet spirit is a part of Christian character.

The topic was taken by Mrs. G.F. Knights which related to missionary work in Angola and Zaire in Africa.

Mrs. O.H. Baker gave the newscast which concerned Canadian and foreign mission work.

The Prayer requests were read by Mrs. A.P. Rumsby.

The Circle members were happy that their President was able to conduct the meeting, after having been a patient in the Jewish General Hospital, Montreal.

The annual meeting of the Sher-Lenn Fifty Plus Club was held on March 24, with a large number of members in attendance. President D. Armitage presided over the meeting.

Mr. Armitage welcomed all, and thanked the members, executive and staff for their cooperation during the past year, looking forward to another successful year of achievements. He concluded with a resume of the events of the year.

Mrs. W. Mutchler, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting. Mrs. V. Hutchison, treasurer, gave a financial report, and drew the members attention to the auditor's report posted in the club, which those interested in more detail might peruse at their leisure.

Mrs. S. Gaulin, coordinator, reported on club programs.

D. Armitage then handed the meeting over to H. Barter who, as chairman of the nominating committee, read the nominations for the executive, asking for further nominations from the floor.

There being none, the members indicated their acceptance for the slate nominated. Mrs. D. Hughes-Games had resigned from the board, her position being vice-president, and this position was filled by Mrs. M. Tector. Mr. Barter voiced the executive's and members' thanks to Mrs. Hughes-Games.

The executive for 1976 is as follows: President: D. Armitage. Vice-President: Mrs. M. Tector. Secretary: Mrs. W. Mutchler.

Treasurer: Mrs. V. Hutchison. Board Members: Mrs. A. Hunting, Mrs. D. Hughes-Games, Miss H. McGregor, Miss C. Morrison, Mrs. P. Munkittrick, Mrs. E. Sawyer, H. Barter, P. Robins, F. Smith, Liaison, St. Peter's Church - A. Hanson.

There were quite a number of special events on the spring program. Paul McKenna of McKenna's Florist Inc., gave a talk on the care of plants and flowers that one receives from the florist, and answered questions on the care of houseplants.

Mr. McKenna made two beautiful flower arrangements, which he donated to the members. One was given as a door prize with Mr. McKenna choosing the winning ticket - held by Mrs. G. Noonan who received an attractive arrangement suitable for the dinner table.

The other arrangement, a high triangular shaped arrangement of white mums and red carnations was, on the following day, the subject of paintings by the art class. It was then delivered to Miss F. Wright, a member who had recently returned home from the hospital.

The art group has displayed some of their work in the club, and hope to continue painting during the summer and to hold an exhibition in the fall. They too, have been bringing their lunch to the club, and have Sherbrooke Trust. Wills may Mrs. E. Sawyer be hostess for another hot luncheon which was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. H. Tolhurst was to be the hostess on April 29 but members decided to postpone that dinner until after the May 1 bazaar.

The club is honored to have as a member, Neil Tracy, a well-known poet and life-long resident of Sherbrooke. Dr. G.C. Cappon, who has recently become a member of the club, gave a reading of Mr. Tracy's latest volume of poetry, picking poems at random.

His interpretation of many of the poems gave special significance to what the poet, Mr. Tracy, was saying, adding to the appreciation of the poetry for the members of the Sher-Lenn Fifty Plus Club.

Richard St. Dizier, of the Sherbrooke Trust Company, took time out of his busy day to come to the club and address members. His mother, being a member of Sher-Lenn, and P. Robins of the Sherbrooke Trust serving on the board of directors of Sher-Lenn, gave Mr. St. Dizier an insight into club member's needs. He spoke of the many services extended to the public by a trust company.

Members were unaware of some of the services which can be obtained from the Sherbrooke Trust. Wills may be drawn up by the Trust and administered. There is the necessity of having wills renewed from time to time, as conditions change and a will may no longer be applicable for various reasons. Assistance may be had in applying for pensions.

Some senior citizens do not realize what may be available to them. For instance, the wife of a pensioner may not yet be of the age to receive a pension, but the law has recently been amended to allow a special pension for the spouse of a pensioner.

On April 6, the Unity Fifty Plus Club of Ayer's Cliff entertained the Sher-Lenn Fifty Plus Club at a sugar party. The party was held in the Legion Hall, Ayer's Cliff, which was tastefully decorated with flowers and pussy willows.

On their departure the members received bouquets of pussy willows, the traditional harbinger of spring. The members were warmly welcomed by the Unity club executive, H. Barter of Sher-Lenn.

Barter responded, giving the Sher-Lenn members' appreciation for the lovely afternoon.

On the 28th a number of members of the Unity Fifty Plus Club, Ayer's Cliff, joined the Sher-Lenn club at the Carrefour de l'Estrie Shopping Center where they had lunch at Eaton's; and enjoyed a movie, courtesy of Mr. Robitaille, manager of the Carrefour theatres. The movie shown the members was the current film, "Rooster Cogburn".

On Saturday, May 1 the Spring Bazaar was held at the club's headquarters, 200 Montreal Street. It was again a very successful event, and the members appreciated the splendid support given their tea and sale by the community.

The winning tickets for the raffle of the two pillows were held by Mrs. Charles Bleich and Mrs. Desmond Connor. Assisting the club during the bazaar were the Misses Karen Christiansen, Jane Paulette, Beverly Wheeler, Doreen Wheeler and Carling Woods. These charming young ladies served the tea and cookies during the afternoon and their courtesy and efficiency added greatly to the club's bazaar.

The new program for May, June and July has been finalized and the members look forward to many pleasant activities and trips this summer.

UNIQUE SOUVENIR - Gordon Robinson, who has been driving buses for the Lennoxville area Protestant school system for 27 years was honored at a retirement party last Friday evening in the Huntingville Community Hall. Stanstead College

By IVY HATCH

Dr. and Mrs. Steve Penton will be here at the school on May 9 and 10 as guests at the Headmaster Home, Thomas Russell and Mrs. Russell. Dr. Penton will be speaking to the boys and given a tour of the school. He is Head Master of Lower Canada College, Emeritas, in Montreal.

Mike Shayne was at Plymouth State College to attend the Model United Nations. Mike represented the Philippines with his subject being Law of the Sea. Mike was given recognition in his group. He travelled with students from Alexander Galt and Bishop's College School. Because Mike was given financial assistance by the Boundary Rotary Club, he will be speaking to them telling them of his experiences there on the tentative date of May 17.

There were 18 boys to participate in the three categories of the Alexander Galt badminton tournament on May 1st. The Bantams, Midgets and Seniors, Jamie Kyle and Jacques Petrucci were runners up in the Bantams.

Duncan Graham and Dorothy Duncan, both staff, and some 37 boys in grade 8 enjoyed a delightful visit to Caughnawaga Indian reservation near Montreal last week. They were given a guided tour of the Jesuit Church and Museum by Andrew Delisle, son of one of the Caughnawaga Chiefs who is a graduate of Stanstead College. Also, two boys from there, Jimmie and Louis Patton, are students here, with Jimmie accompanying the travellers.

The Science fair of 1976 was another success with a total of 13 exhibits by 16 boys who participated. There were seven from the lower school and six from the senior school.

In the lower school section Richard Martin won the Banting trophy and cheque for $7; Robbie Allan and Marc Lacoste placed in second and third to win cheques of $5 and $3. In the Senior division Jean Benoit placed first to be the recipient of the Banting trophy, and cheque, with Mike Herrick and Joe Curtis in second place, Peter Churchill, third. They received money prizes the same as the Lower school winners. The judges were Dr. Ron Yates from Bishop's University, Bob McConnachie, AGRHS and Mike Peirce, from Queen's University.

Dr. Yates spoke to the boys about the quality of the exhibits and congratulated all participants. He offered words of advice, "If you do something, do it well" and "deliberately create gaps in your exhibits that will solicit questions to the judges."

The exhibit was left until Saturday, May 1 for the members of the Board of Trustees to view as they held a meeting at the school this day.

LEN O'DONNELL

THE BEAVERS ARE ON THE SIDELINES. That about sums up the finals of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League. They were installed as heavy favorites to sweep into the Memorial Cup playdowns but the experts seemed to have forgotten about the Quebec Remparts, who were on the sidelines.

THE BEAVERS WILL NOW BE ABLE to enjoy their summer holiday a little sooner than they expected. They all had plans of making the Memorial Cup and I believe they had the idea it was just a matter of going through the motions.

THEY WEREN'T THE ONLY ones who thought along the same lines. You had to be convinced after checking over the season's record between the two clubs. After all the Beavers had posted seven wins against one tie in the schedule and this should have been sufficient evidence that it wasn't going to be much of a battle.

THEY HAD CHALKED UP 49 GOALS WHILE holding the Remparts to a mere 22 which is some difference and it is natural that the Beavers should have been top favorites in the series. They held a big edge all around.

ON PLAYOFFS IT IS ANOTHER GAME and the season record doesn't count too much. I have always said that playoffs are another thing and you shouldn't figure too much on the season's results and this was certainly proved in the series.

COACH RONNIE RACETTE didn't figure his team had much of a chance as he said they lacked scoring punch and that was true according to the records. On the other hand what they lacked in the scoring department you must admit that they made it up with the determination and desire to win and that was the big difference between the two clubs.

I BELIEVE NO MATTER what Ghislain Delage did could change anything as the players had to do their share. Some did and some didn't. It is about as short as that. A team can have the best coach in the business but if the players don't all pull together he is useless.

I MAINTAIN, AND NO ONE CAN CHANGE MY MIND, that the Beavers were the better club if they played in the manner in which they were capable of. I have stated all season that a few stars don't make a club, it is a complete "TEAM EFFORT" as everyone must do his share and it is only in this manner that a club can win.

WE WHO HAVE WATCHED THE BEAVERS all season know they are better than what they displayed in the finals. Penalties hurt them but on the other hand the rest should pick up the burden, that is where team play comes in.

COACH DELAGE STATED, after the game, stated "he was proud of his team but that Ronnie Racette and his Remparts played better, capitalizing on our error and this was the difference. Now it is over you can rest assured I will be behind Ronnie to try and help him in any manner which I can in the Memorial Cup. He did it last year in Kitchener so I will be there on the sidelines to help," added coach Delage.

THE LOCAL HOCKEY FANS had a good season as the Beavers gave them plenty to shout about. It is a shame the team lost out but on the other hand let's not forget the enjoyable evenings we had watching them in action.

TO GHISLAIN DELAGE AND GEORGES GUILBAULT along with the players a very sincere vote of thanks for the season. One can only say that we hope that the players, who will be returning, have learnt something from this year. No matter whom you play, never count them out until the final whistle and watch out for the under-dog. They always come back to haunt you. Good luck for the summer, one and all.

THE QUEBEC MAJOR JUNIOR HOCKEY LEAGUE set a new attendance record for the season when a grand total of 1,092,282 paid their way through the turnstiles. Last season the figure was 905,915 for an average of 2,516 compared to 2,751 for this year.

IN THE PLAYOFFS THE REMPARTS set the pace with a total of 68,374 for their games while Sherbrooke was next with 45,599 and Cornwall had 10,958 for their five games while the Beavers played nine games. In the finals 49,739 fans took in the six games.

THESE FIGURES WERE RELEASED by the league which shows all in all the fans enjoyed the winter attraction throughout the Lagace circuit. It speaks well for the teams, league officials and shows that the fans were satisfied with over-all. The finals drew 33,570 at Quebec while at the Sports Palace 16,169 attended for an average of 5,390.

THESE FIGURES SPEAK WELL for the league and teams in the loop. After all if the teams didn't give good performances the fans would have remained at home watching their TV's.

SO FROM THE VIEWPOINT of hockey it was a very good season for all concerned. The fans turned out and the players gave good exhibitions to attract them to the various rinks. Shawinigan and Laval didn't reach the playoffs as they had a little internal trouble but no doubt it will be cleared up for next year.

Liverpool wins English Soccer crown to edge Queen's Park Rangers by only one point

LONDON (Reuter-AFP) — Liverpool won the English League First Division soccer title for a record ninth time Tuesday, beating Wolverhampton Wanderers 3-1 with all the winners' goals coming in the last 15 minutes.

A goal by Steve Kindon after 12 minutes put the Wolves ahead and they held the margin until England international striker Kevin Keegan scored the tying goal in the 76th minute.

The winning goal came from Keegan's partner on attack, Welsh international John Toshack, after 85 minutes. Ray Kennedy added the clincher with a minute remaining.

The triumph gave Liverpool the title by one point over Queen's Park Rangers, who needed a Liverpool loss or a high-scoring draw to take the championship.

The loss sent Wolverhampton to the Second Division with Burnley and Sheffield United. Rangers played their last league match 10 days ago and beat Leeds United 2-0 to finish with 59 points from 42 matches. The win gave Liverpool 60 points from 42 matches. Liverpool last won the crown in 1973. Derby County won last year.

TEAM CONSISTENT It was a worthy achievement for the most consistent club. Away from home, Liverpool conceded only 10 goals, two of them scored by Queen's Park on the opening day of the season.

In 21 away matches, Liverpool was defeated three times, the last at Highbury against Arsenal in February. It was Liverpool's fifth league title since the Second World War, and its first under Bob Paisley who took over from Bill Shankly as manager two years ago. Liverpool shared the record of eight championships with Arsenal of London.

Hereford finished as champions of the Third Division. Also promoted to the Second Division were Millwall and Cardiff. Crystal Palace finished fourth.

Lincoln City finished as champions of the Fourth Division.

Habs will have battle on hands tonight

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerry Hart, a key man on the New York Islanders defence, says there has not been much difference in the manner his club has played against Montreal Canadiens during their National Hockey League Stanley Cup semi-final series.

"I don't think we've really changed anything that much from the first game to the fourth game through the course of the series," said Hart. "We certainly cut down on our mistakes Tuesday night. Our concentration was much better than it has been."

The Islanders defeated

Montreal 5-2 but still trail the best-of-seven series 3-1 heading into tonight's game at the Forum.

"Almost all the goals they scored against us were the result of mistakes that we made," Hart added. "I'm not taking anything away from them. They made good plays too. They capitalized on the mistakes."

The Islanders came through with a solid over-all effort against the Canadiens Tuesday night as they snapped Montreal's seven-game unbeaten streak in this year's playoffs.

"We were in pursuit all the time," Hart added.

"We were forcing them to make the mistakes." Hart said that going into Tuesday's game the Islanders "had nothing to lose."

"We are still probably a Cinderella team. We're playing what we consider the best team in hockey today. I guess it would be a disappointment for them to sweep the series from us."

"All we had to do was go out and play our game and we had nothing to lose. If we lost the game, well, who's to say that people really don't expect the same from us."

The Islanders, who had a win and a tie in four games against Montreal during the regular season, are faced with a tough task tonight—winning on the Canadiens' home ice. Montreal had just three losses at the Forum during the regular season.

"I think we have to remind ourselves of the whole complexion of the series," said Hart. "I think any game, really, has been in question. There wasn't one game we couldn't have won."

"We are going in to their building thinking very positively about the game. We have to go out, do the best we can, play our system."

"We never look behind us. Tuesday night's game is over. It's Thursday's game we're thinking about. We have to take it one game at a time. If we look at it, and say we have to win the next three games, that's a task where

Bruins lose three players with injuries

BOSTON (AP) — Three veteran Boston Bruins were injured Tuesday night in their 4-2 National Hockey League semifinal loss to Philadelphia Flyers, who lead the best-of-seven series 3-1.

Right winger Bobby Schmautz, the most seriously injured, had x-rays at hospital which showed he suffered a broken left knee cap. Right winger Wayne Cashman also was taken to hospital with damaged ligaments in his left knee.

Centre Jean Ratelle, outstanding for the Bruins all season, suffered back muscle spasms and had to leave the game in the second period.

Coach Don Cherry said the players will miss the next three to four games.

Bruins face Flyers with depleted crew

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Flyers are poised to deliver the coup de grace to Boston Bruins when their National Hockey League playoff resumes here tonight.

The Flyers, in full gear now for their third successive Stanley Cup championship, have won three in a row from the Bruins to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final.

Boston coach Don Cherry is trying to get his club back to basics in the wake of Tuesday's 5-2 Flyers victory, their second in a row at Boston and only the fourth over the Bruins since the Flyers entered the NHL in 1967.

"Our system broke down," said Cherry. "It was good enough during the regular season—why we have to get away from it in important games like these, I'll never know."

But if Cherry didn't know, some of the Flyers had a good idea. They attributed the wins to Philadelphia's swarming, tight-checking defence.

"It's very noticeable that their defencemen tire at the end," said Flyers defenceman Tom Bladen. "We have forwards digging at them all the time and even our defencemen take a shot at keeping them on the run."

LOST IN LAST PERIOD

In each of the two games in Boston, the contest was tied going into the last period, but the well-conditioned Flyers pulled away in the final 20 minutes.

Flyers' star winger Reggie Leach, who has tied an NHL record by scoring in each of the last eight playoff games, agreed with Bladen.

"I think we wore down their defence," he said. Flyers' coach Fred Shero has taken advantage of his team's better conditioning, switching lines often to wear down the Bruins.

"We keep saying on the bench, 'remember 11 to 4, 11 to 4,'" Shero said. "It is to remind us that every time we make them chase the puck or outwork them in the corners, it takes something out of them."

The numbers refer to the fact that the Bruins are down to four healthy defencers while the Flyers' strong back-checkers give Philadelphia the equivalent of several more defencers than the two defencemen on ice.

Besides regrouping, the Bruins will also have to overcome injuries to forwards Wayne Cashman and Bobby Schmautz and their leading scorer, Jean Ratelle. All three were hurt Tuesday and Cherry said they will probably not play again.

Saying "Ratelle disagreed, but: 'We can wait and see.'"

Padres' Rader belts homer to stop Expos

MONTREAL (CP) — It wasn't Doug Rader's birthday, but the lanky San Diego third baseman took time out after Wednesday night's National League baseball clash here to express his appreciation for a special gift from Montreal Expos pitcher Steve Rogers.

"It was either a nothing fastball or a nothing slider," mused Rader about a sixth-inning pitch he hit high into the left-field bleachers, producing three of the Padres' six runs in a 6-4 victory.

"In any case it stayed right down the middle and I obliged by putting some good wood on it."

Rader's blast of a 3-2 pitch with two out capped a four-run sixth for San Diego as the visitors erased a 3-2 deficit. Tito Fuentes led off the inning with a double which barely eluded the glove of Expo left fielder Bombo Rivera who made a diving try to grab the ball.

Willie Davis and Willie McCovey followed with singles before Rader brought home both Willies with his second homer of the season. McCovey UNLOADS

Rogers also served up a fat pitch for McCovey in the first inning which the San Diego first baseman pounded over the scoreboard more than 450 from home, driving home Davis for a 2-0 lead.

The Expos trimmed the margin by one in the second on Pete Mackanin's leadoff homer and then moved ahead in the fourth with a two-run rally.

Larry Parrish ignited the outburst with a double which brought home Nate Colbert who had drawn a walk to lead off the inning. The blast appeared to fool Davis, who jogged back toward the fence before realizing the ball was going to sail over his head. Then, too late, he made a leaping stab at the ball but ended up chasing it to the warning track in straightaway centre.

After Barry Foote drew an intentional pass, Rogers lined a single into centre scoring Parrish.

The Expos threatened in the ninth, but could come up with only one run.

Wrigley field was paradise for home runs, total of 10 blown out of park yesterday

It wasn't healthy to be a National League pitcher in Atlanta or New York on Wednesday night. It's never healthy to be one in Chicago. St. Louis' Pete Falcone had a neat three-hit shutout going in the eighth inning in Atlanta when Jerry Royster knocked him down—and out of the game—with a double off his kneecap.

It didn't hurt much—and neither did the performances of relievers Mike Proly and Al Hrabosky, who kept the Braves hitless and preserved the Cardinals' 4-0 victory.

New York's Jon Matlack was working on an equally neat six-hit shutout against Cincinnati in the 10th inning, when cramps in the fingers of his left hand—his pitching hand—forced him out of action. Ken Sanders took over and got the final out of the inning. In Chicago, the wind was blowing, namely blowing up the pitchers' earned-run averages by carrying baseballs out of Wrigley Field at an alarming rate.

Los Angeles hit a club-record seven home runs, including two by Henry Cruz, in their 16-hit attack and the Cubs got 21 hits, including a pair of three-run homers from Rick Monday. The Dodgers' power prevailed for a 14-12 victory that extended their winning streak to 11 games.

In Wednesday's other National League games, Philadelphia Phillies beat Houston Astros 6-3, San Diego Padres defeated Montreal Expos 6-4 and Pittsburgh Pirates downed San Francisco Giants 6-1.
