IL DUCE TO WITHDRAW HIS TROOPS

Germany-Italy Ready To Talk Over Spanish Peace With Britain

Pressure of Friends and Families of Italian Soldiers in Spain May Force Mussolini to Withdraw Troops from Civil War—Discouragement Over Military Stalemate May Also Affect Decision of Italian Dictator.

London, May 21.—Simultaneously with reports that British proposals for an armistice in the Spanish civil war were meeting with no opposition from Italy and Germany, Reuters News Agency dispatches from Gibraltar today said reports were current there that Premier Mussolini had informed the Spanish insurgents Italian troops will be withdrawn from Spain.

The Associated Press quoted "well-informed diplomatic personages" as saying both Italy and Germany were now ready to join in general discussion of the British scheme both for an armistice in Spain and for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers.

Mussolini's decision to withdraw his troops from the Iberian peninsula, the Reuters dispatch said, was attributed to pressure of friends and families of Italian soldiers in Spain, of whom thousands have been reported killed in action, and to discouragement at the military stalemate there after ten months of fighting.

Juan March, the Spanish capitalist who is credited with having financed the original insurgent uprising, sailed on the liner Conte di Savoia from Gibraltar for Italy last night, and rumor linked his trip to Rome with Mussolini's reported decision. With March were the Duke of Alba and the Duke and Duchess of Montellano.

For several weeks the British Government, through its embassies and legations abroad, has been sounding out the attitude of the various powers on its armistice plan. In Paris both Roman Catholic and Socialist sources suggested the Belgian Government would likely conduct negotiations with the Spanish Government and the insurgents.

The plan, it was said in Paris, calls for dispatching of international commissions to Spain and gradual application of the truce until it covers all government and insurgent-held territory, simultaneously disarming and sending home foreign soldiers.

SKETCHES OVER TRUCE POSSIBILITIES

However, Germany and Italy were both described as being skeptical over the possibility of a truce, holding withdrawal of volunteers, if feasible, could be effected without a truce, to which points in Spain preparatory to their departure from the country.

During their recent conversation here Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos decided it was necessary to check first on the practical possibility of the plan and agreed to approach the powers to ask if they would support representations to Valencia and Salamanca.

The technical sub-committee of the Non-Intervention Committee, already created to consider ways and means of withdrawing foreign volunteers, was expected to complete its report at a meeting late today.

The utmost secrecy is being maintained about its contents but it is presumed to contain detailed proposals for concentrating the volunteers at various points in Spain preparatory to their departure from the country.

It was in view of these developments that British circles here received coolly and even with certain annoyance the Valencia Government's proposal to turn to Page 2, Col. 3.

Washington May Negotiate Currency Accords With Individual Nations

Surveying General Monetary Picture, Authorities Agreed Proposal by Representative Dies for an International Currency Congress Probably Would Face U.S. Treasury Opposition.

Washington, May 21.—United States financial authorities speculated today on whether the administration, shying away from general monetary conferences, would negotiate currency agreements with individual nations.

Some said the disclosure by Treasury officials that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau prefers to deal with nations singly on money matters indicated a series of currency talks may develop looking toward stabilization and the relation of exchange controls.

Other informed persons, however, expressed the belief Morgenthau's stand merely was a new demonstration of past administration policy. They predicted the Treasury would continue to listen to any currency proposals of other countries but would not seek such pacts.

picture, authorities agreed a proposal by Representative Dies (Democrat, Texas) for an international currency congress probably would face Treasury opposition.

Dies asked Congress to direct President Roosevelt to call a conference to stabilize currencies on some permanent basis and distribute the world's gold and silver stocks more equitably.

Treasury officials declined to discuss the Dies proposal specifically, but other informed persons said such a conference at present would face some of the knottiest international exchange problems in history.

RULES OUT CANADA AS STARTING POINT FOR ATLANTIC AIR RACE

EDWARD DENIED NAVAL ESCORT ON HONEYMOON

British Government Allegedly Refused to Grant Duke of Windsor Naval Protection on Wedding Cruise Down Spanish Coast.

Monts, France, May 21.—The British Government was reported today by a source close to the Duke of Windsor to have refused him the protection of a naval escort for a honeymoon cruise down the coast of civil war-torn Spain.

The Government was said to have turned down the request in view of naval incidents growing out of the Spanish conflict.

The original honeymoon plan was said to have called for the Duke and Duchess to leave Chateau de Candé immediately after their wedding on June 2nd for an automobile trip to Biarritz, French resort on the Bay of Biscay, whose waters also wash the Basque coast of Northern Spain.

After three days at the watering place, the couple were to cruise down the Spanish coast, through the Straits of Gibraltar to the Mediterranean and the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia.

The owner of the yacht which the former Edward VIII planned to use, had insisted upon the naval protection. There was a possibility the Duke might change his honeymoon plans.

While the question of finding an Anglican clergyman to perform a religious ceremony, despite the Church of England's objections to Mrs. Warfield's being twice divorced, still was in the air, other preparations for the wedding proceeded.

Should the Duke be unable to find an Anglican clergyman willing to perform the religious ceremony on his own responsibility, a source close to Edward said the Church of England may appoint a minister.

A mild flu was caused by the arrival at a Tours hotel of a Scottish clergyman named Ritchie. The report immediately rose that he might perform the ceremony, but he quickly dispelled any such ideas.

"Is Edward in France?" he asked. "I did not even know where he had gone."

PERMISSION FOR YACHT'S USE WITHDRAWN

EXPANSION OF MAGOG PLANT IS ANNOUNCED

$500,000 Will Be Spent by Dominion Textile Company on Magog Print Works—Expansion Programme Will Give Employment to Many More Workers.

Involving an expenditure of $500,000 and calling for enlargement of the Magog Print Works of Dominion Textile Company, Limited, at Magog, a major plant expansion programme was announced at Montreal last night by G. B. Gordon, managing director of the company. More than $300,000 of the total expenditure will be spent in Canada, it is estimated, and employment of a large number of additional workers will be made possible.

The erection of a large new building adjacent to the existing print works and the installation of about $250,000 worth of new machinery and equipment is included in the expansion plan. According to Mr. Gordon, it is hoped to complete the building by early fall and to have the new plant in operation by the end of the present calendar year.

Decision to go ahead with the project was made recently by the directors of Dominion Textile Company, and the necessary plans and specifications are now being prepared. Tenders for the erection of the building and the necessary equipment have recently gone out and will be let soon.

Specializing in the printing and finishing of fine shirtings, the new unit will help to serve a growing demand in the Dominion for goods of that type. When this addition is completed, Magog Print Works will be outstanding in its field, according to the managing director, and will be in a position to give the best of service to Canadian shirt manufacturers.

Known across Canada for the high quality of its cotton dress fabrics, the Magog Print Works produced 65,000 yards of printed cotton and rayon fabrics during the twelve months ending March, 1937. At present the plant employs approximately 900 workers, besides 800 workers employed in the Magog Cotton Mill, adjacent to the print works.

Magog Print Works was established in 1884 and is one of the best known textile mills in Canada. Since that time it has steadily increased its output and the new expansion marks another step forward in a long and successful history.

In 1927 the plant produced around 38,000 yards of cotton print goods, while today it is producing at the rate of 65,000 yards. It is one of the largest on the American continent and houses twenty-four modern printing machines, capable of printing up to fifteen colors on cotton or rayon goods.

The new expansion means a further substantial increase in the production of Magog printed shirtings and will involve the expenditure of a large sum of money in Canada, plus the employment of a large number of additional workers.

Council Opposition To Court Changes Delays Prorogation

Big Liberal Majority in Upper House Forced Government to Grant More Time for Study of Contentious Measure Calling for Revision of Quebec Courts—Premier Duplessis to Introduce Minimum Wage Act for Men.

Quebec, May 21.—The Liberal majority in the Legislative Council have accomplished what their colleagues in the Lower House of the Legislature failed to do by obtaining time to study the contentious Union Nationale Government bill for revision of the courts. Premier Maurice Duplessis planned to prorogue the session yesterday, but the courts bill proved a stumbling block and he acceded to the Upper House's request for time to digest the measure. Both houses adjourned until next Wednesday, and prorogation will likely take place next Friday.

When the courts bill came before the Legislative Assembly the Liberal Opposition pleaded in vain the measure be given a six months' trial of opinion of the bar, bench and general public could be ascertained. The Union Nationale majority pushed the bill through second reading on a vote of forty-nine to thirteen.

And allowed third reading without division. It was a different story in the Upper Chamber, where Liberals outnumbered Government supporters by twenty to four, and though there was no vote, opposition to passage of the bill without a few days to study it was so pronounced Sir Thomas Chabais, Government leader, had to yield.

Revising jurisdiction of several courts, the bill also provides for possible abolition of Recorder's Courts and for establishment of a Social Welfare Court. The new tribunal would assume care of juvenile delinquencies, handle hospitalization of indigents and the insane and serve as a medium on conciliation in domestic relations cases. Premier Duplessis' bill also clarifies authority of chief justices and senior judges, and he explained the purpose was to allow them to distribute work more equitably among judges.

The Legislative Councilors will study the bill in the week of grace the Premier gave them, and while they resume debate on the measure next Wednesday morning the Lower House will face a new Government bill to establish minimum wages for men.

Premier Duplessis has not revealed details of the wages bill, but it is understood it will apply minimum wage scales to workers not parties to contracts under the Collective Labor Agreements Act.

The Lower House gave yesterday to two minor bills yesterday afternoon before adjourning. One authorized the town of Coaticook, to extend $55,000 in purchase or construction of a factory building on a view of tenting the premises to an industry from outside the municipality. Premier Duplessis said the town was one of the most progressive in the Eastern Townships, adding that the capital expended would be amply repaid in rentals from industry. The other measure passed was a bill for reopening of idle paper mills in Chicoutimi.

The Government cancelled $200,000 in debts owed by the Company which formerly operated the mill, and the lands and forests department took over and cancelled $2,600,000 worth of common shares owned by Consolidated Paper Corporation and Price Brothers and Company. When second reading was called, Liberal Leader T. D. Bouchard asked for a vote, the Government winning fifty-three to five. Nationalists voted with the Government against the five Liberals present.

WILL IMPROVE BROADCASTING FOR DOMINION

Construction of Two High Power Stations in Eastern Canada, Longer Broadcasting Periods and Improved Programmes Are Announced by C.B.C. Chairman.

Regina, May 21.—Plans for immediate construction of 50,000-watt radio broadcasting stations in Montreal and Toronto areas and for longer broadcasting periods and improved programmes are announced by L. W. Brockington, Winnipeg, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In an address broadcast over the C.B.C. network last night, Mr. Brockington said new 50,000-watt stations at Vercheres, Que., just east of Montreal, and Hornby, Ont., thirty miles northwest of Toronto, are expected to be in operation by October 1. Those points were chosen because they are national centres of broadcasting activity.

The chairman said the Corporation will recommend to the Government that all new leases and increases in power for private stations be restricted to 1,000 watts. The C.B.C. will construct and control all high-powered stations in Canada, he said.

Other high-powered stations are expected to be constructed in the Maritimes and Western Canada within the next two or three years, he said, and it was hoped the Government would consider construction of a high-powered short wave station to enable broadcasting to other parts of the world.

Mr. Brockington said a new agreement was being negotiated with the telegraph companies whereby Corporation broadcasting periods would be extended from the present six hours a day to from twelve to sixteen hours effective by October 1.

By that date, too, he hoped national programmes and exchange programmes with Great Britain, United States and France would be increased.

In connection with interference with reception by foreign countries, Mr. Brockington said a conference similar to recent international conversations in Havana, Cuba, would be held in November, when it was hoped agreements would be signed enabling each country to operate on assigned channels without interference.

The new expansion means a further substantial increase in the production of Magog printed shirtings and will involve the expenditure of a large sum of money in Canada, plus the employment of a large number of additional workers.

SURVEYS TROUBLED CONTINENTAL SCENE

London, May 21.—For another hour this morning Foreign Secretary Eden continued to survey the troubled continental scene for the chief delegates to the Imperial Conference.

Delegates met in the Cabinet room at 10 Downing Street. Those from the Dominions had a number of questions to ask on points on which they desired elucidation.

The Dominions have still to have their say but it was not expected that on foreign affairs the conference would advance beyond an exchange of ideas, leaving to each Dominion the subsequent task of giving those ideas such practical application as it deems proper.

The discussion of foreign affairs will be resumed late today.

FORMER FARNHAM RESIDENT DIED IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, May 21.—F. E. Warren, formerly car foreman in the Canadian Pacific Railway Weston shops, Winnipeg, died yesterday. A native of Chelsea, Que., Mr. Warren began railway work at Farnham, Que., and worked in Montreal and Toronto C.P.R. shops before coming to Winnipeg. He retired in 1925.

KENNETH BROWN IS GIVEN STAY OF EXECUTION

Reprieve Has Been Granted Until August 27 to Milton, Vt., Man Who Was Fated to Hang in Yard of Local Jail Friday Morning Next.

Kenneth Brown, of Milton, Vt., convicted slayer of Willis Keith Baldwin, former member of Parliament for Stanstead, who was fated to ascend the scaffold in the yard of the local jail a week from today, was this afternoon granted a three-month stay of execution.

Announcement of the reprieve was made early this afternoon by Albert Fregeau, of Rock Island, attorney for the condemned man, who has been making a determined fight to save him from the gallows.

Mr. Fregeau received a telegram from W. P. O'Meara, Acting Secretary of State, shortly after noon today.

The telegram read:

"His Excellency the Governor-General is pleased to order that Kenneth Brown, now lying in Bordeaux jail, under sentence of death, be reprieved and that execution of his sentence be postponed until the 27th day of August, 1937. Confirmation will follow in due course."

Preparations for the execution of Kenneth Brown had already been started at the local jail, and the accused was expected to be brought to Sherbrooke on Wednesday next to await that fateful dawn when he would climb the thirteen steps of the scaffold to expire his crime.

Brown is reported to be seriously ill in Bordeaux jail, where he has been incarcerated since being found guilty of the Baldwin murder in the local criminal assizes.

Willis Keith Baldwin, a former member of the Federal House of Commons for the County of Stanstead and wealthy philanthropist, was murdered in his general store at Baldwin's Mills, a few miles from Coaticook, on April 17-18, 1935.

Two men were arrested and charged with the crime. They were Kenneth Brown and Lucien Red' Morin, the latter a cobbler of Barnston, Que., who had made Brown's acquaintance while serving a three-year penitentiary term in Windsor, Vermont.

Police charged that the two plotted to rob Baldwin. Brown had taken the general store alone to carry out the crime, while Morin waited his return in Barnston to split the proceeds from robbery.

Lucien Morin, tried in Court of King's Bench here for the murder, was convicted on a reduced charge of manslaughter and sentenced to St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for twenty-five years.

Brown was convicted of the slaying. His case was carried to the Appeal Court by his attorney, Albert Fregeau, but the verdict of the Sherbrooke jury was maintained and the Vermont man was condemned to hang in this city on Friday, May 28.

MAJOR DOUGLAS MAY ADVISE ALBERTANS

Edmonton, May 21.—G. L. MacLachlan, Chairman of the Alberta Social Credit Board, is expected to leave London, England, within a few days following negotiations which may lead to Major C. H. Douglas, British economist, coming here this year as technical adviser to the government.

Dr. J. L. McPherson, acting chairman of the Board, announced yesterday from his home at Ryley, Alta., that a cablegram from Mr. MacLachlan indicated the negotiations had been "favorable toward securing Major Douglas," originator of Social Credit theories.

United States Churchmen Join Chicago Prelate In Denunciation Of Hitler

Catholic Bishops, Protestant Ministers and Jewish Rabbis Attack "Satanic Measures Presently in Effect in Germany to Separate Millions of Good Men, Women and Children from Their Church and Their God"—Vatican May Issue White Paper on Situation.

Chicago, May 21.—Catholic bishops of Minnesota and North Dakota joined Chicago Protestant and Jewish churchmen today in supporting Cardinal Mundelein's denunciation of the German Government's attitude toward the Catholic Church.

Archbishop John Gregory Murray, of St. Paul, Minn., said the "present critical situation in Germany" demanded that "all Christendom unite in solemn protest against the diabolical methods being pursued to eliminate every vestige of Christianity" from the German people.

"No circumstances of physical separation," he said, "can justify an attitude of indifference on the part of any Christian to the Satanic measures presently in effect in that hapless nation to separate millions of good men, women and children from their church and God."

Bishop Aloysius J. Muench, of Fargo, N.D., asserted Nazi officials were "making a laughing stock of themselves" in their protests against Cardinal Mundelein.

Bishops Francis M. Kelly, of Winona, Minn.; Joseph F. Busch, of St. Cloud, Minn., and Vincent Wehrle, of Bismarck, N.D., joined Archbishop Murray in condemning Nazi officials. Their statements appeared in a German Catholic newspaper published in St. Paul.

Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago chapel, expressed the opinion "most of the charges against the Catholic clergy of Germany must certainly constitute a frame-up for political purposes."

NOVA SCOTIA TO HOLD ELECTION ON JUNE 29TH

Premier Macdonald Announced this Morning that Seventeenth Legislature Since Confederation Had Been Dissolved.

Halifax, May 21.—The Nova Scotia electorate will go to the polls on June 29 to elect a new Provincial Government.

Announcement was made early today by Premier Angus L. Macdonald that the seventeenth legislature since Confederation had been dissolved and the Provincial election would be held next month.

A special meeting of the cabinet was held last night immediately after the Premier returned from the Coronation ceremonies by way of New York and Boston, and the announcement was made today.

Decision to have the election this year was made before the last session of the Legislature concluded, Premier Macdonald declared, although the exact date had not been fixed. But it had been determined not to hold it until after the Coronation.

Informed of the Government's verdict, the Opposition leader who was swept from office in August of 1933 by the present administration declared the Conservative party was ready in all constituencies to enter the campaign immediately.

The standing of parties at dissolution was: Liberals twenty-one; Conservatives eight; vacant one; total thirty.

Nomination day is June 22, one week before the election day. Ballots will be cast exactly forty days from today.

Toronto, May 21.—The forty-sixth annual convention of the Baptist Young People's Union, of Ontario and Quebec opened here today.

Labor Forces Of Lewis Triumphant In Collective Bargaining Election

Committee for Industrial Organization Given Better than Two to One Majority in Balloting of 24,412 Workers of Large Independent Steel Producer.

Pittsburgh, May 21.—Union labor forces of John L. Lewis emerged triumphant today by a better than two to one margin in the balloting of 24,412 workers of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation in the biggest industrial election ever supervised by the United States Government.

The result, announced by Regional Director Ernest C. Dunbar, of the National Labor Board, was 17,028 to 7,207, with fifty-six votes void, thirty-one blank and ninety challenged.

The balloting was a straight "yes" and "no" decision to the proposal: "Do you want the union to deal for you with the company?"

It marked a new climax to a spectacular $1,000,000 organization campaign started last June by the Committee for Industrial Organization through its steel workers organizing committee, under direction of Philip Murray.

The result was handed out in a typewritten statement in which Dunbar thanked all who helped with the election and Jones and Laughlin for its "complete co-operation." He also thanked the steel workers committee.

The election was quieter, but more serious—because it involved so directly the economic future of the workers—than many municipal campaigns.

Chairman Murray and other steel labor leaders indicated the outcome would have a profound effect on their now fast moving drive to bring into line the big independents, steel producers independent of the United States Steel Corporation.

Producing subsidiaries of that Corporation last March signed epoch-making contracts with the union. Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2.

SHAW DECLARES CORONATION IS "TOMFOOLERY"

Dramatist Claims Real Reason for Edward's Abdication Was His Refusal to Participate in "Thousand-Year-Old Coronation Tomfooleries."

London, May 21.—George Bernard Shaw said today the real cause of the abdication of King Edward VIII was his refusal to take part in the coronation ceremony and "its thousand-year-old tomfooleries."

The dramatist, giving his own theory of the abdication in a letter to the magazine "Time and Tide," described the Duke of Windsor's decision to marry Wallis Warfield as "a diplomatic masterpiece."

Shaw referred to the coronation symbols as obsolete because they "represent the King's investment with powers he no longer wields," and added in scathingly Shavian manner:

"The clothes used are the clothes of William the Conqueror and Queen Matilda transmogrified by generations of costumers into fancy dress symbolic of nothing but the Russian ballet."

(Editor's note: "transmogrified" is a humorous coinage—to change completely with absurd effect.")

"If I were in the Royal succession, I would renounce fifty limited monarchies sooner than go through such a ritual," Shaw wrote.

"I was not at all surprised to learn Edward VIII had flatly refused to endure its thousand-year-old tomfooleries and that this and not his diplomatic masterstroke of marrying an American lady was the real cause of his abdication."

The British public got its first hint today of a rumored dispute between the Government and the Royal Family over attendance at the Duke of Windsor's wedding to Mrs. Warfield on June 3.

The Daily Express, under a front-page heading in bold type, "The Duke and Royal Family: Allegations in United States Press," produced in its last edition quotations from a number of New York papers.

The Express added strong denials of the stories of a conflict were true.

Other morning papers carried full wedding news from the Chateau de Candé, where Windsor and his fiancée are guests, but did not even hint at any controversy.

PARIS WORLD FAIR WILL OPEN MONDAY

Canada's Pavilion Is Among Many Exhibitions on Banks of Seine — Nazi Germany and Communist Russia Also Have Exhibits.

Paris, May 21.—Two monumental gates at the bridge of Alexandre III will be thrown open next Monday to President Albert Lebrun, followed by a procession of officials, who will march through, officially inaugurating the Paris World Fair of 1937.

The fifty miles of streets and midways are practically ready for the opening to the public Tuesday. Many buildings, construction on which was delayed by labor trouble, neared completion. Most of them will be ready for opening day.

Viewed from Eiffel's 880-foot steel tower, vestige of the 1878 fair, the new fair is seen built about two major axes. One is the wide arc of the river Seine extending from the Isle of Swans on the west to the Pont de la Concorde, bridging the Seine on the east. The other axis is bordered on the north by the new Trocadero Palace, and extends along the broad tree-lined Champs de Mars to the seventeenth-century Ecole Militaire on the south.

Canada's pavilion is among the many exhibitions on the banks of the Seine. Facing each other on the right bank of the river are the two pavilions, largest in the foreign section, of Nazi Germany and Communist Russia.

Washington May Negotiate Currency Accords With Individual Nations

States House of Representatives' battle over the size of next year's relief fund developed today into a contest between administration forces and groups wanting to increase or decrease President Roosevelt's recommendation for $1,500,000,000.

Observers described the final vote, expected late in the afternoon, as an important test of sentiment on the economy issue.

Those pitted against the President's supporters offered three diverse proposals.

1.—A $500,000,000 cut in the President's figure, which Rep. Woodrum (Democrat, Virginia) declared would "take the racketeering out of relief."

2.—A $3,000,000,000 relief fund, which Rep. Boileau (Progressive, Wisconsin) said would provide jobs for 3,000,000 and a twenty per cent. increase in the pay of W.P.A. workers.

3.—A $2,200,000,000 "compromise" which Rep. Mervin (Democrat, Texas) said would prevent the lay-off of 600,000 men under the President's programme.

CANADA MAY BE STARTING POINT FOR AIR DERBY

Jimmy Mattern, Noted Flyer, Claims Canadian Businessmen Interested — Declares Commercial Airline Aired Paris Race Will Steal Their Thunder.

Chicago, May 21.—Aviation circles buzzed with comment today over an announcement by Jimmy Mattern, noted flyer, that Canada probably will be the starting point for a trans-Atlantic air race to Paris.

New York originally was selected for the take-off, but the United States Department of Air Commerce announced disapproval of the proposed air derby, sponsored by the French Air Ministry and the Aero Club of France to commemorate the Lindbergh flight.

Mattern, who twice attempted a "round-the-world" flight, said last night prominent Canadian businessmen were interested in launching the race and he had cabled French officials to revise plans accordingly.

The Chicago pilot said he and Henry T. "Dick" Merrill, trans-Atlantic flyer, conferred yesterday with Toronto business men. Mattern said Mitchell Hepburn, Prime Minister of Ontario, also was receptive to the proposal.

Mattern said he would enter the race as a representative of the State of Texas while Merrill would compete as the official Canadian entry. He added there were twenty-two entries, most of them representing European governments.

Pierre Côté, French Air Minister, announced a year ago the prizes for the race would be $140,000, with $70,000 going to the flyer making the best time.

Mattern said a commercial airline was planning regular trans-Atlantic flights and that "it seems that certain interests were afraid our race would steal their thunder."

"You may be sure we're going to hold our flight regardless of objections," he added.

COMMUNITY SERVICE CONFERENCE THEME

Delegates to Annual Convention of Junior Leagues of America Told 30,000 Members Pledged to Community Service.

Chicago, May 21.—Mrs. Peter Harvie, of Troy, N.Y., President of the Junior Leagues of America, told delegates at the closing session of the seventeenth annual conference today that the organization's 30,000 members in Canada and the United States were pledged to community service.

Mrs. Harvie, who will continue in office for another year, said in her address prepared for delivery today that 134 of the 145 Leagues were giving financial support to some community project.

She asserted that in the past year Junior League volunteers had given assistance to more than eighty-three museums and art associations in their communities, thirty-one libraries, sixty-eight symphony orchestras and five historical societies "in an effort to make the community more aware of the cultural facilities they already possess, and to increase the public's capacity for appreciation and enjoyment of these programmes."

Windsor Fire Department Rescued Squad Manning Inhalator in Effort to Maintain Spark of Life in Boy Who Touched a High Tension Wire.

Windsor, Ont., May 21.—A fire department rescue squad continued unceasingly today its efforts to keep alive a feeble spark of life in the still form of nine-year-old Robert Sumpter, described by hospital authorities as in an "extremely serious" condition after touching a transformer wire in descending a tree.

In the light of automobile headlights, the rescue squad worked for two hours last night at the spot where the boy fell. Then, when his breathing returned almost to normal through use of an inhalator, he was taken to hospital where resuscitation efforts were renewed. Members of the squad said the lad's heart twice stopped en route to hospital.

MAKES MOTION FOR NON SUIT IN FRAUD CASE

Attorney for Grimard and Rodrigue Claims Crown Failed to Prove They Conspired to Defraud Eastern Townships Farmers.

Defence Attorney Charles deL. Mignault this morning made a motion of non-suit in the case of Louis Rodrigue and Lionel Grimard, of this city, when their trial before Judge J. S. Couture was continued in the Magistrate's Court. The two men are accused of having conspired to defraud a number of Eastern Townships farmers in what police allege were questionable real estate transactions.

Antonio Drole, Crown prosecutor for St. Francis District, has endeavored to prove that the accused conspired to take away the properties of a number of district farmers by purchasing, selling and exchanging numerous farms. Mr. Mignault contended, when making his motion for non-suit today, that the Crown had failed to prove its case, and that there was no evidence against the accused to warrant their conviction.

Judge Couture declared that he would render a decision upon the motion on Friday next, May 28.

Both Rodrigue and Grimard were convicted at their preliminary hearing to stand trial at the next term of the Criminal Assizes, scheduled to take place next fall. However, they optioned for a speedy trial, which has been proceeding for the past three weeks.

The wedding gown is a long, slim, light blue frock with a short jacket to match.

A. C. STEVENS IS RE-ELECTED BY LOCAL Y.M.C.A.

Reports Submitted at Annual Meeting of Local Organization Last Evening Indicated Highly Successful Year in All Departments.

A. C. Stevens, who guided the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A. through one of the most successful years in its history, was unanimously re-elected president at the annual meeting held last evening. The remaining officers, W. G. MacDougall, vice-president, W. H. Griffith, recording secretary, and Walter Mutchler, treasurer, also were re-elected.

The reports submitted to the gathering last evening all reflected the booming state of affairs in the organization. Mr. Stevens in his remarks indicated that during the year just closed the mortgage on the property of the Association had been reduced by three hundred dollars.

The financial review given by Treasurer Walter Mutchler recorded that during the twelve months the receipts totalled $11,533, and the expenditures, including depreciation, $11,560, leaving a small deficit on the year's operations.

The membership of the local branch had reached the highest point in years, namely 610. W. H. Wolter, the general secretary, stated in his report, and thirty-two distinct activities were being carried on by the branch. The dormitories had been occupied by a majority of the year.

The general secretary stressed the great need for improved accommodation. The facilities for the physical education section were sufficient, he stated, but a new front section was required to care for the increasing demands for social and recreational services.

The guest speaker at the meeting was John Beaton, general secretary of the Montreal Central Y.M.C.A., who chose as his subject, "The Y.M.C.A. in the Life of Today."

The great burden of the depression, he declared, like the great burden of the war, had been placed on youth. Today they were seeking a way out of the morass, Communism and Fascism had been offered in certain quarters as a remedy for the prevailing ills. It was the clear duty of the Y.M.C.A. and kindred organizations, he believed, to devote a considerable share of their efforts to training youth to take full advantage of the democratic system. Boys, he said, should be trained to make their own decisions, and this could be best accomplished through such self-governing groups within the Y.M.C.A. as the H-Y, the Y's Men and other clubs.

The five members of the Board of Directors who served at the office of the Y.M.C.A. last evening were returned by acclamation, namely, Walter Mutchler, W. G. MacDougall, A. C. Stevens, J. W. Booth and H. E. Grundy, who were the three retiring trustees, E. J. Page, D. J. Salls and F. S. Rugg.

Preceding the annual meeting, supper was served to the members by the Ladies' Auxiliary, with five members of the Y.W.C.A., the Misses Lois Stoddard, Margaret Daniel, Florence Pearson, Emily Von Berg and Irene Wardleworth assisting as waitresses.

Mr. Rugg proposed the vote of thanks to the ladies and that to the press was made by D. J. Salls.

MODIFICATION ASKED BY COURT BILL FOES

Talk of Modification Centring on Idea of Two New Justices Rather than Increase to Thirteen.

Washington, May 21.—Senator Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, called on foes of the Roosevelt Court Bill today to stand firm, declaring that United States Senators leaders were "putting pressure" on doubtful Senators.

"The present calm is largely on the surface," he said. "Now is the time for opponents of the bill to be made clear."

Foes of the measure said talk of modification was centering on the idea of two new justices instead of a possible increase to thirteen.

The White House, however, was standing by the original provision for appointment of a new justice for every member serving past seventy and one-half years of age. At present five justices are beyond that age.

A White House secretary, speaking for the President, said administration Senate advisers were urging that the fight for the entire measure continue.

such a campaign could succeed. It was pointed out that bitter hatred divided the warring factions in Spain.

United States Churchmen Join Chicago Prelate in Denunciation of Hitler

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, of New York.

Under the caption "hair-raising immorality in New York high schools," the official news agency distributed an item throughout Germany describing an investigation into charges there had been wholesale bootlegging of contraceptives among students of Brooklyn high schools.

"The action by the Board of Education," the dispatch said, "is further evidence of what unheeded things are possible in this city under the eyes of the Jew La Guardia."

(An investigation is being made by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan, of Brooklyn, into what he termed immorality among high school students in that borough.)

The press generally insisted on a definite showdown with the Vatican over Cardinal Mundelein's description of the Reich-Chancellor as "an Austrian paperhanger, and a poor one at that," and of German trials of priests and lay brothers on immorality charges as worse propaganda than the atrocity tales of the Great War.

The L'Espresso in a special article based on an interview with States Attorney Mattingen of Bonn said the Church had been given a long period of grace to "cleanse" religious orders but had done nothing.

Hence, the paper declared, the state was obliged to intervene, "not for the satisfaction of sending priests to jail but because the state alone is able to eradicate the evils."

The Catholic Church was described as defending the condition it was powerless to end because of "the question of prestige."

Mattingen in the interview tabulated more than a thousand alleged sex offenses which resulted in charges against priests and lay brothers of the Church. About 150 offenders were sent abroad, he said, while 160 cases were passed by the statute of limitations. Three hundred of the remaining seven hundred were reported to have been brought to trial, including eighty on which sentences have been passed.

The fortnightly issue of General Erich Ludendorff's Neopaganist magazine, in an article by his wife, Dr. Mathilde Ludendorff, blamed the immorality cases on the institution of celibacy among the clergy.

Dr. Ludendorff shares with her husband the leadership of the German movement, a faith for Germans based on purity of racial stock which Hitler recently decreed should be listed as one of the recognized German religions.

WOULD REFER CHARGES TO SEWER COMMISSION

San Francisco, May 21.—Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York suggested today German press comment on asserted immorality in New York high schools be referred to the New York Sewer Commissioner.

Statements such as those made in the German press, said a Guardia, "can only be referred to Commissioner Blinger who has charge of sewer disposal in New York City

Mrs. Harold Dresser and two young daughters were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haines and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Haines.

Mr. Rich Leavitt and daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan, of Framingham, Mass., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moulton and family, also visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Woodman and Mrs. Ruth Hartwell.

The service on Sunday at the United Church followed the program for Mother's Day. The choir rendered appropriate music and a beautiful duet, "Mother's Old-fashioned Garden," was sung by Mrs. Allen Wheeler and Mrs. Maude Pellierin. Dance at Red Wing Pavilion, May 24th. Good music.

"It makes a man think," SAID MR. PICOBAC

"Well," remarked Les, proprietor of the leading two-chair barber shop of Essex Centre as Mr. Picobac walked in, "did you hear the Coronation Broadcast?"

"I certainly did," replied Mr. Picobac, exhaling a fragrant cloud of smoke as he took a luxurious seat in one of the two chairs. "And I wouldn't have missed it for worlds. I tell you it makes a man think."

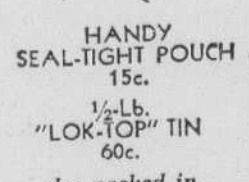

"And what does it make you think?" asked Les, removing Mr. Picobac's pipe and laying it on the shelf under the mirror.

"Well, it makes me think how proud I am to be British... to be born a subject of the British Crown. And what's more, we are the most democratic people in the whole wide world and we've got the most democratic king. God Save The King!"

"Hear, hear," said Les, tucking in the towel.

Mr. Picobac chuckled. Then realizing that shaving operations had interrupted a mild... cool... sweet Picobac smoke, he stiffened to attention.

"Give me a quick one, Les," commanded he. "I've got important business down street this morning."

"IT DOES TASTE GOOD IN A PIPE!"

Peace Is Worth Little If War Causes Remain.

Terrible as war is, it is a symptom of the world's troubles rather than the cause of them. To work for a warless world without realizing that the maintenance of peace is only half of the job is to surrender to one of the greatest of delusions.

An illustration is provided by the tragic case of the fierce Touareg tribesmen of the Sahara desert.

For many years the Touareg were among the most dreaded fighters of Africa. They fought with other tribes, they fought each other, and they fought most of all with the French, providing the long-suffering Foreign Legion with some of its most desperate engagements.

The Touareg had always been nomadic tribes, roaming up and down and across the limitless Sahara. When peace came they stopped roaming and settled down, swarming to the oases and the villages, and multiplying in numbers faster than they ever had in the age-old era of unceasing warfare.

Now the Sahara is not exactly a garden spot. The number of people it can support is strictly limited. When villages and oases increase in population, the Sahara's productivity is tested to the very limit. A brief run of bad luck can cause disaster.

The run of bad luck promptly came. A long dry spell set in. The Sahara's power to produce was abruptly reduced. The Touaregs, centered in villages and around the waterholes, fell easy victims to famine.

A United Press correspondent recently finished a tour of the desert and reported that never in his life had he seen such frightful scenes of starvation and suffering as are on view among the Touaregs. Thousands upon thousands of the tribesmen have died. Other thousands are reduced to the most pitiful beggary in the towns. Altogether the Touaregs are suffering far more than they ever suffered from desert warfare.

Now the point of this case is that the job of making the desert orderly and peaceful was only half done. Peace was established—but nothing was done to make peace workable. The age-old forces that drove the desert men to unceasing warfare were left untouched. And so peace spelled disaster.

You can carry out the analogy elsewhere. Peace came to Europe in 1918. But the job of making peace workable was left undone. The causes of war remained as they had been; indeed, through human folly and neglect, they were permitted to grow stronger and sharper than ever. So Europe's peace became a painful sham, an uneasy lull between battles.

Averting war is not enough. If the things that cause war are not attended to, our work for peace is a delusion.

Death Abroad.

Addressing a conference of state health officers in Washington, D.C., Dr. Halbert L. Dunn, of the Census Bureau, made an interesting statement.

One-third of all persons killed in automobile accidents, he said, are tourists who are far from home.

That such a high percentage of crash victims should die in accidents that occur in places distant from their homes seems an odd fact, and one that, perhaps, might well be studied carefully. Are tourists far more liable to become involved in accidents than people who are driving in their home precincts; could this be due to ignorance of speed or traffic regulations; and, if so, would standardization of laws be of any benefit?

If it has not already been made, a survey of the reasons behind such deaths in far places might be helpful in the campaign to cut down the grim auto toll.

Flexibility Of Mind.

The cultivation of flexibility of mind and resistance to the tendency to desire things always your own way and to have other persons necessarily conform their lives to yours is urged by Grenville Kleiser in the Palm Beach Post-Times. Continuing Mr. Kleiser says:

Life would be monotonous if all people thought and acted precisely alike. Diversity of thought and purpose are essential to a progressive world. Will to do right yourself, but do not use your will to control and dominate others. The habit of generous acquiescence gives right balance to a strong-willed nature. You will have the will-power of a giant, but should not misuse it. Be kind, generous and forgiving, since these are qualities which link you closely to God.

You have inspired moments, times of mental exaltation, when you feel a sense of unlimited personal power. This is the time to note such thoughts, and to set them down in writing for actual use. Make a record of your new ideas, plans, purposes, ideals and resolutions. The habit of putting these vital matters into writing will make them more definite and concrete, and serve to remind you of possible negligence. Bear in mind that there is not a moment in which your character is not being shaped in one direction or another, and that your life is simply the product of repeated choices. Grandeur of character is the effect of many habits. Know precisely what you want, proceed directly to it, and the best results will reward your diligence.

Good attracts good. The man of upright character radiates an influence for good wherever he goes. Goodness of mind reflects itself in the face and manner so that it can be clearly read by other men. A genuinely good man is a constant guide and inspiration to those about him. It is amazing what the personal example of a good man will do in imparting confidence, vitality and enthusiasm to his friends and associates. A virtuous life is often more persuasively eloquent than much verbal counsel. It is well to mingle freely with good men, that their influence and example may be felt and utilized, but it is still better to be a good man. Goodness has a power all its own to instruct, persuade and inspire.

The cash-register keeps a man honest, but does not necessarily make him honest. Abstaining from evil because of the fear of punishment does not destroy evil. The only way to annihilate evil is to realize that it has no power to confer happiness upon you, but on the contrary is a counterfeit and spurious coin masquerading as genuine. Realize that the only real, enduring, joy-giving power is goodness, and that through right-thinking you can be wholly emancipated from belief in sin. Give some thought daily to eternal truth. As you spiritualize your mind by understanding the all-inclusive goodness of God, every motive for wrong-doing will disappear as mist before the sun, and you will become a new creature.

What Editors Say

THE COSTLY WAY.

Vancouver Sun.

Two items in the news should interest economists. One tells of a young man who kicked in a full plate-glass window in Vancouver early the other morning to secure an orange for himself.

The other tells how the Spanish civil war has been eating up money at the rate of $7,000,000 a week.

The first story annoys and irritates you, not because of the impudent nonchalance of this orange-hungry young man, but because his action involves a wanton waste of property that is offensive to our economical instincts.

The young man will probably go to jail for it.

But the patriots in Spain who have so far blown up and exploded and burned some $1,740,000,000 worth of munitions and property are fighting for a reward that is far more elusive than an orange and yet they will probably go down into history as heroes on the strength of it.

For what is there at the end of the war trail in Spain that could possibly justify the wanton waste of almost two billion dollars?

What are they fighting for that could possibly be worth the full amount of all Spain's revenues for eight years, as they calculate it?

Is it freedom?

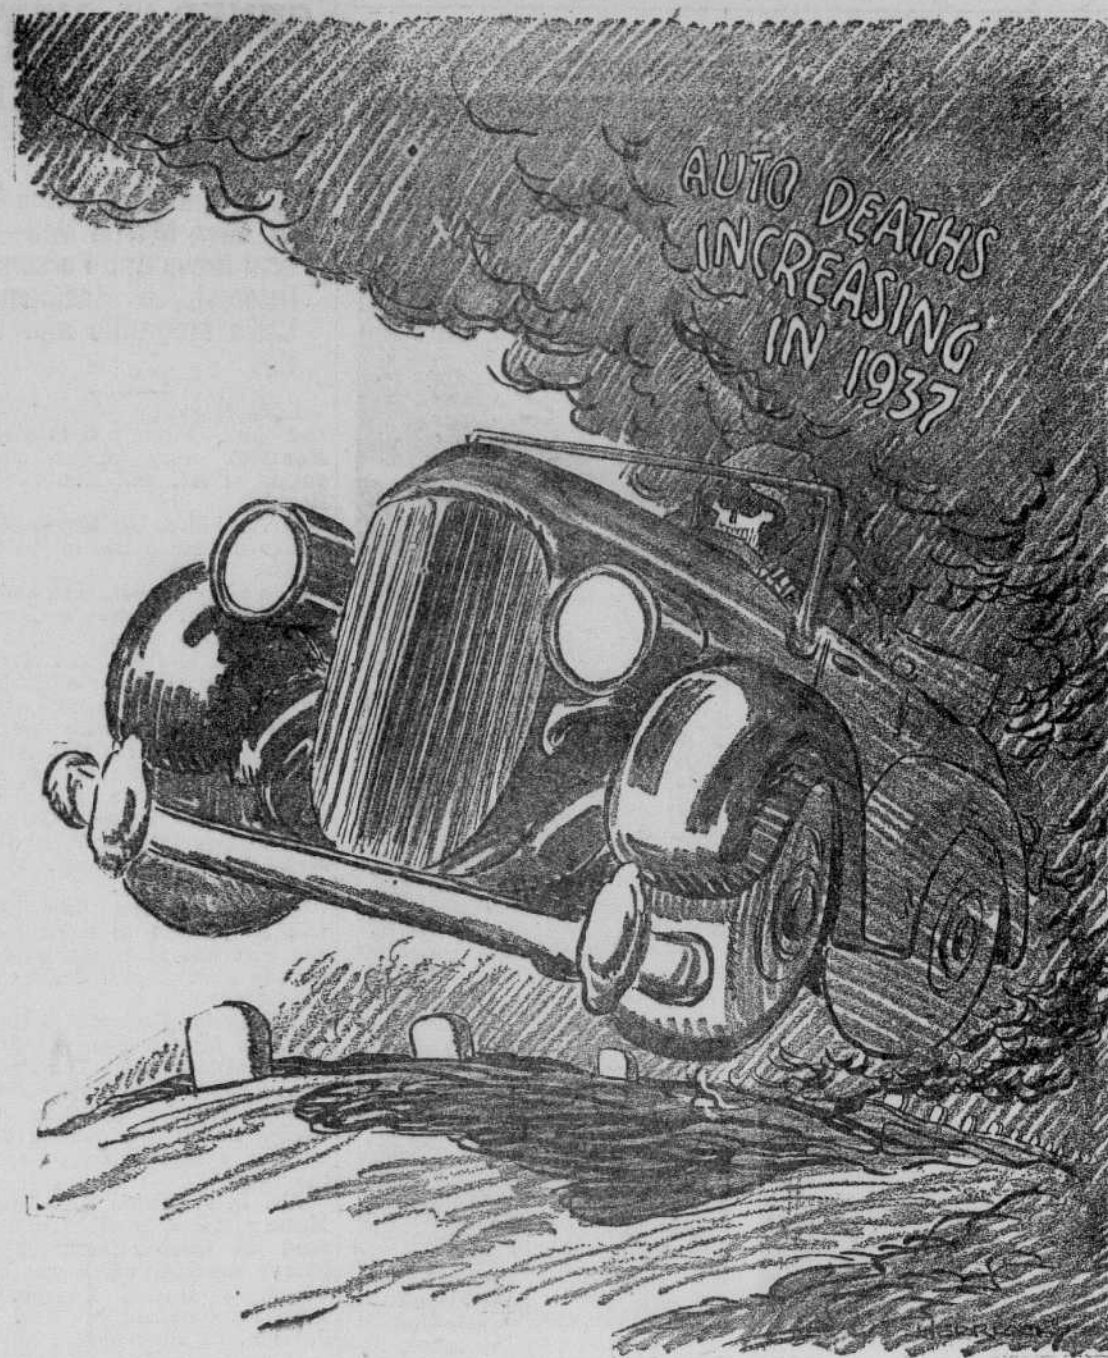

Freedom, of course, is priceless.

But after they have bankrupt themselves and their nation, have the Spaniards any guarantee that they are going to be nearer freedom than they were before?

Has war ever conferred any benefit anywhere that was worth the colossal price that those who indulge in it must pay, not only in their own generation, but in the generations that follow?

As absurd and stupid and wanton as was the action of the young fellow who smashed a window of plate glass to get an orange, he would appear to us to be a logician and a philosopher beside those who appeal to arms to gain their ends.

DECREASING THE MORTALITY RATE

La Presse, Montreal.

As we have already had occasion to remark, the Province of Quebec is not, like the other provinces of the Dominion, populated with the help of a strong admixture of British and European immigration.

Now, if the increase in this Province depends only upon natural resources, upon the vital reserves of the Province, and if this increase is today less marked, it is obvious that we should pay particular attention to preventive undertakings aimed at decreasing the mortality rate.

Doubtless, we are going through difficult and abnormal times, which exert a somewhat unfortunate influence upon demographic statistics. However, for some years the birthrate tends to vary and it would be well that we should organize ourselves in consequence.

MOTORIST WON RACE WITH STORK

Peoria, Ill., May 21.—E. L. Brown "picked up" two motorcycle policemen and a police squad car as he raced through downtown streets at sixty miles an hour.

"Why the hurry?" one officer asked after Brown was finally stopped. "The stork is riding in the back seat with my wife," answered the nervous driver.

The police escorted him to the hospital where Mrs. Brown gave birth to a son two minutes after her arrival.

SOME FISH STORY

New London, Conn., May 21.

Joseph Watterson cast his worm-baited hook into a stream. A trout and an eel raced for it. The trout won, but knocked the worm off the hook. The hooked trout and the eel continued fighting for the worm, and the trout twisted Watterson's line around the eel.

Watterson pulled them both up with the line, in a neat clove hitch about the eel.

PROGRAMME IS ANNOUNCED FOR JUBILEE FETE

Official Programme that Will Be Followed During Month that Sherbrooke Will Celebrate Its Hundredth Anniversary Made Public Today.

The Centenary Office in the City Hall is a veritable beehive of activity these days as preparations are pushed ahead for the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of Sherbrooke's incorporation as a town and industrial centre.

The official programme that will be followed during the month of August when this city will be en fête as never before in its history upon the occasion of its centennial birthday has been announced by Leon Trepanier, Chief Organizer of the Centenary Celebration.

An attractive folio of a bi-lingual nature, containing a brief history of Sherbrooke and district and a complete programme of the celebration, has been drawn up for distribution.

The programme that has been prepared for the jubilee celebration is as follows:

July 31.—Great opening ceremony—Heralds at arms ride through the city—First sounding of the trumpets at half-past four o'clock in the afternoon. In the evening, at ten o'clock—Sparkling fireworks glow the sky.

August 1.—In the forenoon, Catholics and Protestants manifest their faith. His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve, Primate of the Canadian Catholic Church, celebrates an open-air Mass. Liturgical singing by the United Chorus of the City, with the accompaniment of an electric organ. In the afternoon, annual festival of amateur bands of the Province.

August 3.—In the evening at nine o'clock, at the Centennial Amphitheater on the Fair Grounds, first performance of "The Chimes of Normandy," with three hundred participants and a powerful orchestra.

August 5.—In the evening, at half-past eight o'clock, at the Centennial Amphitheater, great historical pageant in 15 episodes, with 1,500 participants garbed in epochal costumes.—Ballet composed of 150 dancers.—Fairy scenery.—Phantasmagoria of colors and light effects.—A prologue with two mixed choirs, French and English, composed of 800 voices.—Presentation of "Vox Populi" a composition by Henri Miro, an adaptation of native folk songs of the Canadian, English, Scotch, Irish, Welsh and American repertoires.

August 7.—In the afternoon, at four o'clock, imposing military display.—Presentation of colors to the Sherbrooke Regiment and Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke—Visit of the famous "Black Watch" Regiment and Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, of Montreal.

In the evening, bonfires on the heights of the City, and Grand Military Ball.

August 8.—In the afternoon, at three o'clock, parade of legendary characters of Fairy Tales—especially dedicated to Eastern Townships children. More than 350 participants in this gigantic parade. In the evening at eight o'clock, "The Apotheosis of the Grand Vicar." Grand Vicar Dufresne may be considered as the Father of the social and religious life of French-Canadians in the Eastern Townships. The present diocese of Sherbrooke is the result of his thirty-eight years of apostolic work.

August 10.—Seigneur J. B. R. de Ramezay receives the seigneurs, his neighbors, in his mansion—Reconstitution in music and song of the gay and gastronomic life of our forefathers—the guests wear epochal costumes. An unusual spectacle.

August 12.—Second performance of the pageant: "Evocation of a Century of History" (Same place and hour as the 6th of August).

August 14.—A gracious procession composed of young ladies delegated by surrounding cities will parade through the streets in epochal attire. This procession will include 2,000 participants and will start at 8.30 o'clock p.m. Twelve hundred Zouaves in their colorful uniforms of the memorable Vatican War of 1870.

August 15.—Another performance of the Pageant.

August 17.—Sir Alexander Tilloch Galt is proclaimed by many historians as the Father of Confederation. He was a citizen of Sherbrooke for about thirty years and its Member of Parliament in the Union Government from 1854 to 1867 and Minister at the House of Commons from 1867 to 1873. He has left his mark in the history of our country.

August 19 and August 21.—Performances of the historical pageant.

August 22.—In the evening, at half-past eight o'clock, second performance of "The Chimes of Normandy" at the Centennial Amphitheater.

August 24.—At nine o'clock, in the evening, in one of the public auditoriums of the City, reconstitution of the Ball given in 1831 to Lord Aylmer, who then visited Sherbrooke. It is the initiative of Lord Aylmer which brought about the rapid growth of the Eastern Townships during the XIXth Century. The Governor's Ball will be a gorgeous display of gracefulness of the romantic age.

August 26 and 28.—The two last performances of the Pageant.

August 29.—In the afternoon, a repetition of the Fairy Tale Parade held on August 8th. In the evening, a night festival.

Apart from the above-mentioned events, all kinds of games and sports will take place during the celebration: Tennis, Lacrosse, professional Baseball, Golf, Foot Races, Bicycle and Motorcycle Races, International Regattas, Boxing, Wrestling, etc. In case of bad weather,

NINE GRADUATES FROM HOSPITAL WIN DIPLOMAS

Unusually Large Attendance at Graduating Exercises in Arena Yesterday—Dr. G. Elery Read Addressed the Graduates and D. J. Salls Presented Prizes.

"The greatest day in the hospital's year," remarked John P. Wells, R.C. D.C.L., president of the Board of Directors of the Sherbrooke Hospital, in his inaugural address at the graduating exercises in the Arena yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wells immediately qualified this statement by adding, "at least to ten of this large gathering, the nine young women who are about to receive their diplomas and the man who is now talking to them, for this is the first time I have had the privilege of presiding at one of these happy occasions." Following the invocation by Rev. Oscar Berry, Mr. Wells presented diplomas to the 1937 graduating class of the Sherbrooke Hospital School for Nurses, namely: Miss Muriel Gault, Sawyerville; Miss Jessie Levick, Montreal; Miss Norma Edwards, Granby; Miss Cynthia Libby, Coaticook; Miss Louise Lake, Sawyerville; Miss Annie Marchant, East Angus; Miss Beryl Mandigo and Miss Blanche McKenna, Sherbrooke; and Miss Phyllis Drew, Coaticook. Simultaneously with the presentation of diplomas, Miss Verna K. Bean, superintendent of the Sherbrooke Hospital, distributed the class pins, affixing the mas she said a kindly word of congratulation to each graduate after she had received her cherished diploma.

The recital, in unison, of the "Florence Nightingale Pledge" is ever an impressive and touching ceremony, bringing home to everyone the true meaning of the high ideals and solemnities of the promise made by the members of the class before they are admitted into that noble and highest of professions, "Graduate Nurse." Many are familiar with this beautiful dedicatory pledge, but for the benefit of those who have forgotten it is now repeated: "I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practise my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

The presentation of prizes was the next exciting event, and to D. J. Salls fell the pleasant task of distributing these special awards to the members of the 1937 class. Mr. Salls was happy in his brief remarks, likening himself to a "perennial," returning each year to award prizes, but the graduating exercises at the Sherbrooke Hospital would not be complete without Mr. Salls and his kindly remarks to the graduates, for like all "perennials" his re-appearance is ever welcome. To Miss Annie Marchant, of Granby, was awarded the president's prize for the student who has shown the most loyalty to the hospital and the greatest interest in upholding the standards of the hospital and training school; Miss Norma Edwards, of Granby, carried off Mr. Justice G. Gordon Mackinnon's prize for the student who has shown the best executive ability in the class; Miss Edwards was also awarded the Dorothy Seiveright prize for general proficiency; Miss Blanche McKenna, Sherbrooke, won Dr. W. W. Lynch's prize for "the best work in surgery"; Miss Cynthia Libby, of Coaticook, was awarded Dr. H. D. Bayne's prize for the best practical work in the wards; Miss Jessie Levick, of Montreal, was presented with Dr. J. Winders' prize for the student obtaining the highest marks of the year; Miss Muriel Gault, of Sawyerville, was awarded the prize of the memorable Vatican War of 1870.

URGE CITY TO STOP SALE OF FIRE-CRACKERS

Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce Last Night Approved Organization of Amateur Athletic Association—Would Prohibit Use of Fire-Crackers in City.

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce went on record last night as being opposed to the sale and use of fire-crackers in the city because of the danger of such explosives.

H. R. Tremblay, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, related how several persons had had their clothing damaged during a recent celebration when fire-crackers had been thrown and exploded at their very feet. Such explosives constituted a menace that should be immediately eliminated, he said, and the Chamber of Commerce decided to forward a resolution to the City Council urging that the sale and use of fire-crackers be prohibited.

The formation of a local amateur athletic association was discussed by the Chamber members, this subject being introduced by Leo Foley, president of the trade body. Mr. Foley believed that such an association would relieve the sporting element of Sherbrooke of the difficulties in which it frequently finds itself and would make for the promotion of various pastimes as no other movement could. Could such an association be formed, he said, it could with time have its own building and field. It was decided to form a committee, to be headed by a local sportsman, to endeavor to organize such a group.

That only two members from any one Chamber of Commerce be allowed a vote at the meetings of the Eastern Townships' Associated Boards of Trade was the suggestion made by the Junior trade body, through Mr. Tremblay. It was decided to place this proposal before the Associated Boards at their meeting. Mr. Tremblay pointed out that this matter had first been taken up by the Magog Board of Trade and that the Junior body had been asked to place it before the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce.

Regarding the Sherbrooke exhibit at the Toronto Fair, President Foley reported that only about ten manufacturers were willing to take part. It was useless to think of having such an exhibit, he said, unless at least twenty manufacturers were willing to do so. He did not believe that that number could be secured.

The Chamber of Commerce, after considerable discussion upon the subject, also decided to urge the city authorities and the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association to level the land in front of the grand stand on the Exhibition Grounds and develop an athletic field.

The downflow of mud and water near the Seminary building on Frontenac street during heavy rains was discussed and it was decided to bring this matter to the attention of the city engineering department.

The housing problem, selection of a site for a trailer camp, commercial electric rates, the construction of an information bureau and of a municipal building and the industrial exhibit at the Sherbrooke Fair during the centenary celebration were other subjects discussed at last night's meeting.

Social and Personal

Mr. Justice Gordon Mackinnon is arriving tonight to spend the weekend at his home on Victoria street.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Penhale, of Thetford Mines, are visitors in Sherbrooke today.

Miss Isobel McMahon, King street west, is visiting Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Charon in Plessisville.

Mrs. Philippe La Rose, of Saskatoon, Sask., is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dundin, Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodson are arriving from Montreal on Sunday and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Wood, Melbourne street, for a few days.

The many friends of Mr. Arnold McNab will regret to hear that he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he underwent a serious operation. Latest reports state that Mr. McNab is progressing as favorably as can be expected.

The engagement is announced of Rhena Kathleen, daughter of Mrs. Hattie Smith and the late Mr. Smith, to Randall Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Williams, both of Bulwer, Que. The marriage to take place quietly in June.

The many friends of Mr. Gordon Foster, son of Mrs. Foster, and the late Mr. Gordon Foster, of Sherbrooke, will be pleased to hear that he has successfully passed all his examinations at the Naval School in Portsmouth, England, and was aboard a British warship yesterday when the fleet was inspected by His Gracious Majesty King George VI.

Miss V. K. Bean, superintendent of the Sherbrooke Hospital, and the graduates from the Training School for Nurses, who yesterday received their diplomas, formed the central attraction at the delightful reception and tea which followed the graduating exercises at the Arena yesterday afternoon. The social gathering was an exceptionally enjoyable affair, the bright and happy faces of the graduates as they exchanged greetings with proud parents and interested friends, surrounded with masses of cut flowers and each carrying a lovely bouquet of yellow roses, mauve sweet peas and statice, and holding fast her daintily bound diploma, being in charming contrast to the inclement weather.

Miss Amy Wells, sister of Mr. John P. Wells, president of the Hospital Board, and Mrs. L. A. Darey, president of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, did the honors at the beautifully appointed tea table which with spring flowers in a crystal bowl and ivory candles in crystal candelsticks.

The attendance at the exercises was unusually large yesterday, and the extra space available at the Arena enabled everyone to enjoy the proceedings, whereas heretofore many had to remain in the halls and corridors owing to lack of room at the Nurses' Home, where the ceremony was formerly held.

Saturday and tomorrow a greater crowd is anticipated. Added attraction—vaudeville at intermission.

FARM LANDS FLOODED

A number of farm lands bordering the St. Francis River were under several inches of water today as a result of the heavy rain that this week sent the river to a high level and for a time held out the threat of a flood.

Little or no actual damage has been caused to the properties inundated, however, for pasture lands and hay fields can withstand a good deal of moisture. In fact, the heavy precipitation is expected to help out the hay crop, although it has retarded seeding and planting operations.

SHIELD'S GROCETERIA

A new type of shop will shortly open in Sherbrooke in the White Block at 96 Wellington Street North. A grocerette of the Self Service kind where the customer may roam about where and choose at leisure. It will also be the largest grocery store in the city.

John Shields, the proprietor of this new enterprise is well known to Sherbrooke where he spent five of his twenty years of experience in retailing, most of the time acting as manager and superintendent of a large chain store organization. Coming to Sherbrooke direct from Montreal, Mr. Shields brings with him a thorough knowledge of modern merchandising methods. It is expected that an opening announcement of the new store will be made in the course of the next few days.

Messrs. Edwin Sarney, Lawrence Gorham, Bud Gorman and Clifford Shuffelt are at Silver Lake, where they will spend the summer months at their grandfather's camp. Mr. C. E. Sarney and family expect to join them on July 1st to spend a month at the lake-side.

The Misses Jessie Levick, Cynthia Libby, Louise Lake, Blanche McKenna and Phyllis Drew, who came out from Montreal for the graduating exercises at the Sherbrooke Hospital and the student dance last evening, have returned to Montreal to conclude their course at the various hospitals affiliated with their training school.

The climax to a most wonderful day for the 1937 graduates of the Sherbrooke Hospital Training School for Nurses was reached last evening when the student nurses entertained in their honor at a delightful dance in the Nurses' Home. Beautifully decorated in purple and gold, this comfortable residence, which has been "home" in reality to the young women graduates during their years of training, was en fête to wish them every success as they leave its sheltering walls to go out into the world to practise their profession. Miss V. K. Bean received, and upwards of fifty guests enjoyed the charmingly arranged party. An orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancing, and later delectable light refreshments were served.

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church were pleasantly entertained at yesterday's meeting by Mrs. George C. Hall at her home on Cliff Road. Mrs. R. Havad was in charge of the session, and the devotional leaflet was read by Mrs. S. McLean, the subject being "Jesus and the Joy of Service." An interesting resume of the presbyterial meetings in Danville was given by Miss Heath, who with Mrs. Forest represented Trinity W.M.S. there. The study book period was in charge of Mrs. E. A. Tomkins, Mrs. W. E. Hodge and Mrs. George Parsons, and afterwards the members were entertained by Miss Donahue, representative of the Upper Canada Tract Society, who gave much information regarding the work accomplished in Canada.

The Sherbrooke Hospital Alumnae Association gave a dinner last evening in honor of the graduating class, as is their annual custom. This year the delightful social recognition by the alumnae of their new conferees in the nursing profession took place at the Magog House. Lovely spring flowers and lighted candles adorned the tables, at which covers for forty-eight were laid. Mrs. Gordon MacKay, president of the alumnae, who presided, also gave the address of welcome to the graduates of the 1937 class. Miss Evelyn Warren most graciously toasted, "the graduates," and Miss Jessie Levick, of Montreal, very happily responded. A pleasing interlude was a song by Mrs. Leonard Akhurst, of Coaticook, a former graduate of the local hospital who was warmly welcomed by many old friends.

Miss Amy Wells, sister of Mr. John P. Wells, president of the Hospital Board, and Mrs. L. A. Darey, president of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, did the honors at the beautifully appointed tea table which with spring flowers in a crystal bowl and ivory candles in crystal candelsticks.

The attendance at the exercises was unusually large yesterday, and the extra space available at the Arena enabled everyone to enjoy the proceedings, whereas heretofore many had to remain in the halls and corridors owing to lack of room at the Nurses' Home, where the ceremony was formerly held.

Saturday and tomorrow a greater crowd is anticipated. Added attraction—vaudeville at intermission.

The Most Important Change in the Manufacture of Ice Cream in 25 Years!

HUNTING'S ICE CREAM

INSTANT FROZEN

Richer, Creamier Texture!
Dealers Ready To Serve You.

At last!

FIRST

For years pioneering has been a Hunting habit. Whenever science produces a new and better method of processing, this concern installs it as soon as practicable. In bringing you INSTANT FROZEN ice cream, we believe that you'll agree that here is the creamiest, smoothest and most delectable ice cream you ever ate.

NOW... a marvellous new discovery! "Instant"—that's the big idea. Science has now found that the greater the freezing speed, the smoother and tastier the ice cream.

NOW... the speed applied to Hunting's Ice Cream is so intense that ice crystals can't form—hence the supertexture. Long freezing subdues flavor. Instant freezing brings out its full deliciousness. In Hunting's Instant Frozen Ice Cream, there is not the slightest variation in quality. Whenever you serve it, you'll thrill over its satiny smoothness, its rich flavor. In a quarter of a century there has been no such improvement in ice cream manufacture.

Instant freezing is revolutionizing the ice cream industry. If you've thought Hunting's Ice Cream was good... try it now... and you'll be amazed at the rich smoothness!

RICHMOND PAID HONOR TO KING WITH CEREMONY

Coronation Day Celebration, Under Auspices of the Canadian Legion, Most Pretentious Affair Ever Recorded in Annals of Town.

Richmond, May 21. — The celebration in commemoration of the Coronation of Their Gracious Majesties King George VI and Queen Mary that was held in Richmond was one worthy of a much larger place and will be recorded in the historic annals of the town as the most pretentious ever held here.

The Richmond Branch of the Canadian Legion was responsible for all the arrangements and under the capable direction of their president, Sgt. Major Henry E. Smith, the veterans gave a demonstration that will be long remembered.

A special Coronation service was held in St. Ann's Church on Sunday morning which was attended by the Legion and a large congregation of worshippers. The rector, Rev. H. O. N. Belford, gave a stirring address commemorative of the occasion.

The special choral service, commended by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York for the Coronation was sung by the choir. On Wednesday afternoon, May 12, the largest parade ever held in Richmond gathered at the town hall and after parading through the principal streets, proceeded to the Monument Park where the celebration was held. Preceded by the Richmond Band, upwards of two thousand joined the parade. A feature of the parade was the presence of over seven hundred school children of the district all wearing the Coronation Medals furnished by the Legion. Included in the parade were the pupils of the Convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame, St. Francis College, Sacred Heart Academy, the schools of Cleveland and Melbourne, the Canadian Legion, the Militia, the Mayors and Councillors of Richmond and adjacent municipalities, St. Jean Baptiste Society, Sons of England, Knights of Columbus, St. Andrew's Society and hundreds of citizens. On arrival at the monument all joined in the singing of O Canada after which an English oak was planted by Mayor S. E. Desmarais, J. P. Mullins, M.P. and J. V. Brooks, past president of the Canadian Legion. This was followed by commemorative speeches in French and English by Rev. Father J. A. Lavie, parish priest; Rev. S. Gorley Brown, Mayor S. E. Desmarais, Sgt. Major Henry E. Smith, President of the Canadian Legion; Redmond Hayes, Gaston Desmarais, J. P. Mullins, M.P. A telegram was read from Albert Gaudreau, M.L.A. for Richmond County, regretting his inability to be present from Quebec.

A radio with loud speaker and amplifier was installed by the Legion to receive the address of His Majesty.

Following the speeches the vast throng joined in the singing of God Save the King.

A feature of the celebration was the sounding of "Taps" and the lowering of the flags in Richmond and Melbourne at sundown. This is the first time that citizens of Richmond and Melbourne have had the opportunity of witnessing the observance of this impressive ceremony. At night a splendid display of fireworks was shown at the monument and was enjoyed by a large crowd. Richmond then joined with other municipalities from coast to coast in lighting a huge beacon fire on a nearby hill.

The celebration was concluded with a Coronation dance in the town hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

THE CORONATION SERVICE CLOSES

Bringing to an end the ancient and trying Coronation spectacle which required two hours, King George VI, marked out by arrow, is shown making his exit from high-valued Westminster Abbey proudly wearing the Crown that for centuries has symbolized the British monarchy. He is attended by nobles and dignitaries of the church as the procession winds its way past the rows of notables and peers who cram every vantage point.

"HOLEY" DOLLAR A PROBLEM FOR LT.-GOVERNOR

Prince Edward Island Administrator Cut Centre-Piece from Spanish Coins to Keep Them in Circulation.

Charlottetown, May 21. — One-time Governor Charles Douglas Smith, if he were alive today, might sympathize with Albertans sticking one-cent stamps on prosperity certificates, for the administrator of Prince Edward Island, history reveals, had some monetary problems of his own back in 1815 which he solved in an ingenious manner.

His invention, not a mere paper issue, but a coin with a hole in it, became known as the Prince Edward Island "holey dollar," now highly valued by coin collectors. The story of the "holey dollar" leads at once into the atmosphere of the Spanish Main and desperadoes reckoning their ill-gotten gains in pieces of eight.

Centuries ago the Spanish Government had minted a large silver coin that was current in trading centres of the world. It was in such demand that the British Government merely restamped it for use in Merrie England.

The coin was in constant circulation in the United States and Eastern Canada at the end of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. It was valued higher in snipping points because of its use in international trade. Consequently Halifax merchants paid a premium for the coins and they became scarce in Prince Edward Island because energetic merchants would gather them up and ship them to the Nova Scotia capital to reap a profit.

So serious became the situation that Governor Smith pondered long and deeply on the best means of keeping the Spanish dollars in circulation on the island.

He hit upon a clever idea that killed two birds with the one stone. He would have his silversmith punch out a small piece of the coin to pass as a shilling and the outer rim would go into circulation valued at five shillings.

Accordingly, says Charlottetown's historian, Benjamin Bremner, all available Spanish dollars were gathered in and the work was entrusted to a mechanic in the island capital. The work was duly executed and the financial problem of Prince Edward Island was solved. The mutilated coins were not accepted outside the island and as a consequence remained in circulation as they were intended.

History provides an anti-climax to the story with a Scottish anecdote. One shrewd Charlottetown merchant, a Caledonian, discovered to his joy that the Governor had been over-generous in cutting the centre piece from the "doughnut-dollar." The resulting piece was worth nearly two shillings instead of one. The merchant commenced a collection of the punchings and when he had a large shipment, sent them to London to be melted.

But "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley." The ship that carried them went down to Davy Jones' locker and so, legend relates, the depth of the Atlantic holds the secret of those interesting coins of pioneer Canada.

GIRLS' GROUPS HELD FESTIVAL AT EAST ANGUS

Cup Presented to East Angus Guides as Winners of Competition Between Five Girls' Organizations Affiliated with Church of England.

East Angus, May 21. — Christ Church parish hall was the scene of a very interesting series of competitions entered into by representative teams from different girls' groups of the southern part of the Diocese of Quebec. The event was the holding of the first girls' festival for the Eastern Townships on Friday evening, May 14th. Teams were present from Lennoxville, Cookshire, Bury, Coaticook and East Angus. Entry was open to all girls' organizations affiliated with the Church of England, competitions were held in choir work, posters, dramatics, essay writing, first aid, home nursing and child nursing. The choir tests were made in the church, where Coaticook and Lennoxville teams made a splendid showing indicative of careful training.

The programme at the hall opened with the massed choirs singing Kipling's hymn, "Land of Our Fathers." The address of welcome was given by the incumbent, Rev. C. E. S. Bown, who expressed pleasure at seeing so many out-of-town guests and teams. He expressed the pleasure of the gathering at having the Lord Bishop of Quebec present at the inauguration of the festival and introduced Mrs. Sidney Wood, of Danville, the girls' branch secretary of the W.A., who had had much to do with the arranging for the festival.

A symbolic sketch presenting the great foundation truths of Guiding and mission work was presented by East Angus very acceptably, then followed the best dramatic event of the evening, "The Scene at the Tomb on the First Easter Morn." which was contributed by the Coaticook team. A splendidly presented demonstration in home nursing was then made by the Cookshire team. This event was without doubt one of the best items of the programme.

First aid and child nursing were presented by two East Angus teams in the form of a play. There was a large exhibit of needle work from all the entrants, work being of a high order of merit. Cookshire, East Angus and Bury all receiving high mention. There was a very interesting display of posters, Lennoxville, Cookshire and Bury taking the honors in this department.

A very beautiful trophy cup had been given by Mrs. Philip Carrington, of Quebec, as an award to the winning team. After the judges had made their decisions, the Lord Bishop of Quebec made the presentation to the winning team, which was East Angus Company of Guides. This team won through good team work and a full series of entries. The work of all the competing teams was commended by the Bishop. His Lordship expressed Mrs. Carrington's sorrow at not being able to be present for this first festival. He commended the organizing of it by Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Elmer Warcup, and urged all girls' groups to plan a better and bigger one for next year.

The Lord Bishop, Rev. Prof. and Mrs. Elton Scott, Mrs. A. V. Richardson and Miss Stevens, of Lennoxville, Rev. Sydney Wood, of Danville, and Mrs. Lloyd Somerville, of East Angus, acted as judges.

The programme closed with a patriotic tableau and "the singing of 'Rule Britannia,'" presented by all the competing teams. After the National Anthem had been sung, all partook of refreshments provided by the local Girl Guide Company and were served by members of St. Mary's Guild, Mrs. E. Warcup, the company leader is deserving of praise for her careful arrangements for this very happy gathering.

The results of the competitions were as follows: choir work, 1 Coaticook, 2 Lennoxville, 3 Bury; dramatics, 1 Coaticook, 2 East Angus; first aid, 1 East Angus; home nursing, Cookshire; child nursing, 1 East Angus; posters, 1 Lennoxville, 2 Cookshire, 3 Bury; needlework, 1 Cookshire, 2 East Angus, 3 Bury; essay, 1 Coaticook.

East Angus won the cup for this year. The second best team was Cookshire, Coaticook was third.

HUNTINGVILLE PLANTED TREES; GENERAL NEWS

Rev. R. L. Weis Heard in Very Interesting Address Regarding History of Royal Oaks at Tree-Planting Service on Church Grounds.

Huntingville, May 21.—The Coronation Day tree-planting service on the church grounds, in which Girl Guides and school children took an active part, was a memorable occasion for the large number present. The National Anthem and "O Canada" were sung, and Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees," and the "Chant of the Trees" were recited in unison by the Guides.

Several children gave recitations and two small girls, Menie Hunting and Edith Harrison, planted two Royal Oaks, presented by the Ladies' Aid Society. Rev. R. L. Weis was present and assisted in the ceremony, offering prayer and delivering an interesting address to the children.

In an address to the children by Rev. R. L. Weis, pastor of the North Huntingville church, he said in part, "I am going to tell you children something about why we are planting these trees today. They are called, 'Royal Oaks,' and I suppose that is because King Charles II once hid in an oak tree for twenty-four hours, while his enemies were trying to find him. The English people who were loyal to their King were so interested in this tree that they cut it all to pieces so that they could have souvenirs, but somebody planted an acorn from this same tree and the tree is still alive."

"Another tree planted by King Charles from one of the acorns of the tree in which he hid is said to be standing in Hyde Park, although the exact tree cannot be identified. Those two trees which grew up from acorns are now nearly three hundred years old."

Mr. Weis spoke of having seen giant redwoods in California over one thousand years old, and a great cypress tree near the president's summer palace in Mexico estimated to be over 2500 years old—a tree living before Christ was born. Another remarkable tree was seen at Santo Domingo City in the West Indies, said to have been the very tree to which Columbus tied his boat centuries ago.

The speaker continued with a history of the most famous oak tree in America, the Charter Oak, which grew near Hartford, Conn., and was estimated to have been nearly one thousand years old. This tree derived its name from the tradition that a hollow in it formed the hiding place of the charter of the Connecticut Colony, which was placed there to avoid confiscation by Andros, the British governor, who in the name of King James II, demanded the surrender of the colony. When James was overthrown, the charter was brought from its place of concealment.

The oak, which was nearly seven feet in diameter, was blown down in a storm in 1856, but a section of the trunk is still preserved by the Connecticut Historical Society. A piece of the actual tree, belonging to Mr. Weis was viewed with great interest.

In conclusion, Mr. Weis said, "We are here today, not only to plant the Royal Oak, but also to play a tiny part in making history. You may find history rather dry in learning about kings and queens, and soldiers and sailors who lived hundreds of years ago, but if you would only stop to think that these people you read about in books were once alive and real, like yourselves, you would find history much more interesting."

"Now today, a new King of England has been crowned, and hundreds of years from now Canadian and English school children will be reading about this Coronation, though the name of King George VI will not mean very much to them. People like current history—they are keen about what is taking place while they live. And so today, if you were fortunate enough to have heard the Coronation service on the radio, you heard history being made, and now as these trees are planted before your eyes, you are seeing history made."

"This will always be an important day in Huntingville history and you will never forget it. As long as these trees last they will remind you of the Coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, and when you grow up and have children of your own, you will tell them why these trees were planted."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

SETS UP EXTRA ENTRY

Declarer's Handling of Side Suit Gives Him Game by Permitting Two Finesses to Own Hand.

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

The question of entries, or ability to put the lead in a desired hand at will, is one of the problems constantly confronting the declarer at bridge. After the success of a contract rests on ability to lead from one hand up to tenace combinations in the other. Sometimes entries are obvious, but at other times they must be created.

It was the question of creating an additional entry in the dummy that confronted Morrie Ellis, of New York, member of the team finishing second in the recent National Masters' Team of Four event conducted by the American Bridge League. He had two sure losers in clubs, and had to limit his losses in trumps and hearts to one.

The bidding is rather interesting.

indicating the weak suits which expert players now bid, so long as it can be done at the range of one. North's immediate overall over Ellis' double was an indication of a weak hand. When East passed, South bid a heart in search of the best contract if his side was to become declarer.

When the dummy went down, the entry problem became apparent. South undoubtedly held the heart queen, and probably both king and jack of spades, for his bid. The diamond queen, which dropped on the first trick, probably was a singleton.

Ellis led the jack of hearts to the second trick and overtook with the ace. He then played the ten of hearts, thereby creating another entry in dummy.

South refused to cover, and the ten-spot held. A spade was led and the ten was finessed.

Declarer then laid down the ace of trump and conceded one trump and two clubs to the opponents.

MANY ATTENDED TREE PLANTING AT MASSAWIPPI

Residents of Village and Its Environs Joined School Pupils in Ceremony—Interesting Programme Carried Out.

Massawippi, May 21.—Coronation Day was a red-letter day in Massawippi Village for both children and grownups. The school grounds presented an animated picture when residents of the village and its environs joined the pupils of both schools in a tree-planting ceremony. Singing "O Canada," the English pupils, wearing the King's colors, marched out and formed a double line; the French pupils, who had formed up on the ground, sang the same patriotic air in their own language, both groups showing that they had been carefully trained by their teachers.

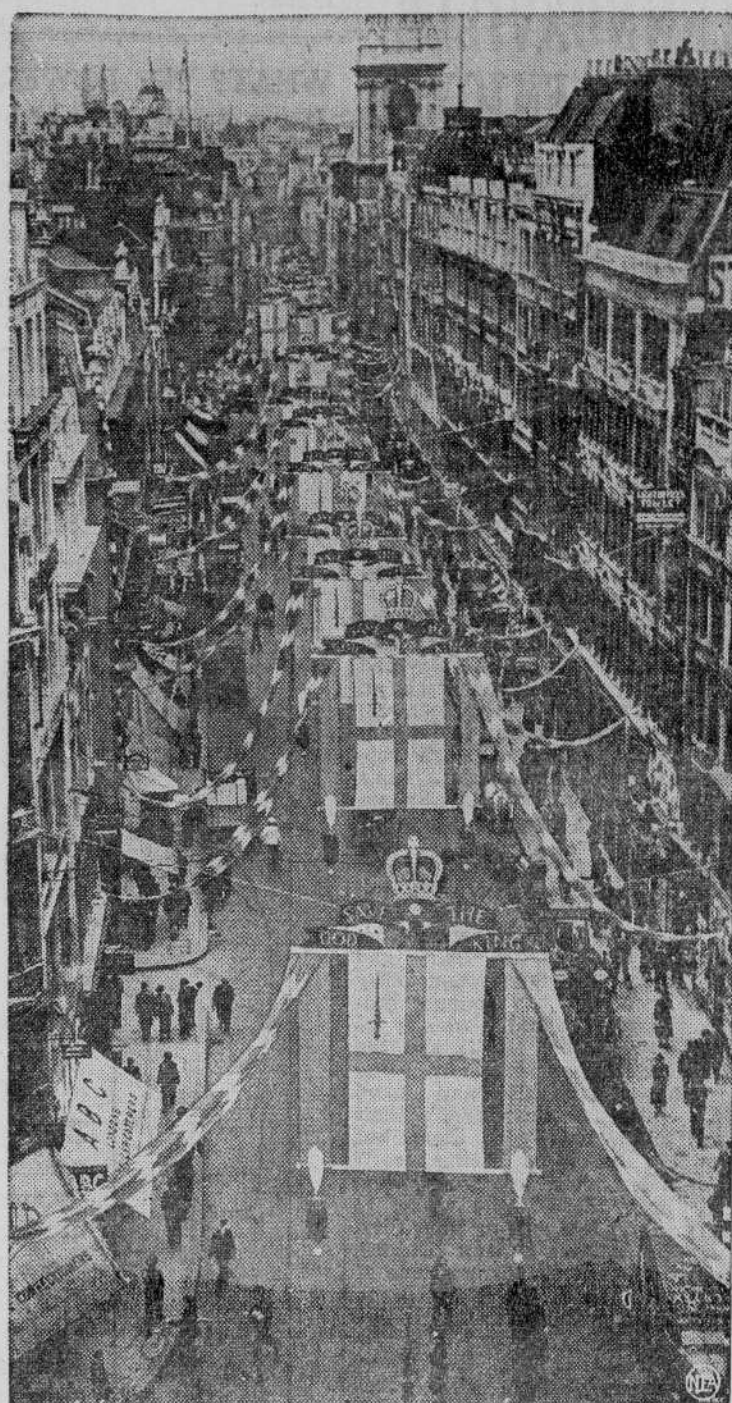

During the ceremony the children explained why they were celebrating and planting trees. Helen Taylor then told the story of the Royal Oak and King Charles of England, and Douglas Houlé followed with information regarding tree-planting in Stanstead County when five men came from New Hampshire in 1789 and planted apple seeds which later became the fine orchards of this county. He also told how Gilbert Hitchcock and Alex Kezar had planted a large number of maples and birches in the village on the first Arbor Day in Quebec Province, May 7, 1883. He made further reference to this work by pointing to the sturdy spruces that stand in line with the noble maples, saying: "These forty-two spruces were planted by Mr. Kezar fifteen years ago. We watch them grow with pride."

Each pupil who planted the tree-seedling repeated the little prayer: "May it grow and thrive and add its part to the beauty and wealth of Canada." Four junior pupils, two from each school, planted four acorns, each repeating: "May this acorn grow to be a tree." Two maples were planted by pupils and all joined in singing "The Maple Leaf Forever," while the children replied to questions about maple trees and its meaning to Canadians.

Charlotte, daughter of Mayor Whitcombe, planted a pine tree in honor of Grey Owl, the Beaver Man, saying: "I plant this young pine in honor of Grey Owl, the protector of trees, animals and birds. May it ever remind us of what Grey Owl has done for Canada." At the conclusion of the ceremony all the planters repeated together: "In planting these trees we again pledge our allegiance to King George the Sixth," and all joined in singing "God Save the King." The music was made more inspiring by having an organ on the grounds, played by Mrs. Price.

ANOTHER ANGLE ON CORONATION FASHIONS

London put on its finest "street dress" to greet King George and Queen Elizabeth in proper style during the Coronation procession. In the prosperous business districts, like Cheapside (above), lavish displays of ornate banners, with miles of bunting streamers, paid tribute to Their Majesties.

The King and Queen weren't expected in Hoxton's poverty-ridden Essex street, but loyal Britons all the residents chipped in ill-spared pennies to buy the pennants and flags with which they have given their thoroughfare a festive air that challenges the sumptuous displays of more fortunate quarters.

The six oak seedlings were donated by the School Board and the acorns by interested friends. The text for the ceremony was written by Mrs. Bertha Price, who contributed the pine tree, in honor of Grey Owl, a greatly admired writer as well as conservationist. Mr. Hargreaves instituted some games and races in which all joined merrily. This gave just the right touch to the morning's proceedings and the children had a special favor in the form of homemade candy distributed by Mrs. Kezar.

In the evening a beacon fire was set alight on the hillside where people gathered from round-about to the number of a hundred or more. Rockets went up at intervals, and all could see other fires, and the dark sky was pierced with gray colors. Then darkness descended and the day was over.

W.I. DISCUSSED LIBRARY

The members of the Women's Institute held their May meeting in the Orange Hall.

It had previously been arranged to have a special speaker at this meeting, but due to the bad roads this was impossible and the regular business routine was followed.

The meeting opened by singing the Ode, followed by roll call, which was answered by naming articles manufactured in Compton County. Minutes of the April meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Marguerite Gaulin, and the treasurer, Mrs. M. D. Blue, reported that $17.20 had been raised by serving lunch at a dance.

The library committee reported that the council had granted permission to have the library in the council room, and letters regarding various available libraries were read. It was decided to make further inquiries regarding the one offered at Ayer's Cliff.

It was also decided to expend the sum of twenty-five dollars for books, and a committee was appointed to canvass for books or money, this work to be finished by the end of June.

Mrs. M. Matthew and Mrs. A. G. Hurd were appointed on the sick committee, and Miss I. L. Matthew, Miss E. Long and Miss M. Gaulin were appointed to decorate the hall for the county annual. A quilt was donated to the Institute by Mrs. Cora Austin. The meeting closed by repeating the Club Women's Creed.

INDIANS AGAIN LEADING MERRY PENNANT CHASE

Cleveland Replaced Athletics at Top of American League Standing Yesterday—Bartwell's Ninth Inning Homer with Bases Loaded Gave Giants Victory Over St. Louis.

The whole thing doesn't make as much sense as an insane asylum, but the figures—which never lie—show the American League is off to a closer start than it has been in years.

By the end of the first month last year, five games separated first from fourth place. This season the race was regarded at the getway as New York, Detroit, Cleveland and nothing much else, but so far it's been as tight as a mustard plaster. So close, in fact, that only four and a half games separate the leaders of the moment, Cleveland's Indians, from the cellar-riding St. Louis Browns.

Most astonishing of all is that the longest of the long shots, Connie Mack's Athletics, are still in second place, leading both the Yankees and the Tigers. They were on top until yesterday, but the Indians suddenly came to life and licked the Boston Red Sox by sixteen to five, while the A's dropped a three to two decision to the Tigers, which gave the Tribe the pace by a percentage margin.

Host of all right now are the reviving Washington Senators. Although their pitching is still in a sorry state, the Nats are starting to hit, and on this strength alone have won their last four games to climb from eighth to fifth place. It took two twirlers and seven innings before they finally overcame the Browns yesterday by five to four on Ossie Bluege's timely single.

Thornton Lee found out the Yanks are still his "cousins." The White Sox southpaw became the first flinger of the year to whip the hillless World Champions twice by mauling them with three hits for three runs, one win, thereby dropping them to third place.

Featuring the National League larping for the third straight day, the Giants and Cardinals wound up their three-game series with the New Yorkers coming out on top by seven to four on the strength of Dick Bartell's ninth inning homer with the bases loaded.

Roy Parmelee not only pitched a seven-hitter, but also blasted a homer with two aboard as the Cubs clouted the Brooklyn Dodgers to the tune of six to one. Vince DiMaggio banged out a pair of homers and the Boston Bees knocked off the Reds by four to one. Pittsburgh's pace-setting Pirates, cashed in on Bill Swift's six-hit flinging with a five to two triumph over the Phillies.

NEWARK INCREASED LEAD
Newark Bears, a youthful and nimble group of opportunists, are utilizing the "knock off the tough ones" technique employed last year by their parent club, the New York Yankees, with great success in the International Baseball League race.

Toronto Maple Leafs opened a four-game series with the Bears with high hopes of overhauling Osear Vitt's club and moving into first place. Yesterday, the Bears won their third game of the series by seven to five in thirteen innings and increased their lead over the second-place Bisons to three and a half games.

George McQuinn won the game for the Bears and their hurler, Joe Beggs. He hit his second homer of the game in the first of the thirteen with a man on base to snap a five to five tie.

Buffalo showed no pity on the hapless Baltimore Orioles and an old Buffalo player, Buck Crouse, by tripping the Orioles by ten to three and two to nothing in a twin bill.

Syracuse Chiefs walloped two Rochester Red Wing hurlers for a seven to three victory, while the veteran Fred Fussell was winning easily. Les Gamble, Chiefs' center-fielder, helped himself to five of the Syracuseans' twenty hits and Keith Moleworth got four blows.

The game between Jersey City and Montreal was postponed because of wet grounds.

FELLER'S ARM STILL SORE
Washington, May 21.—Manager Steve O'Neill announced today that Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' youthful strikeout king, would do no further pitching on the club's current eastern trip which ends May 27.

O'Neill's announcement came after Feller reported his "million dollar" right arm felt weak and that some trace of soreness remained.

HUBBELL WAS "STAR OF THE MONTH"
New York, May 21.—Although pressed closely by five other players in both leagues, Carl Hubbell was "big league" baseball's "star of the month" in the opening thirty-day period of the season.

The Giants' great left-hander was named five times during the month in the Associated Press daily list of "yesterday's stars," once more than each of his nearest rivals—his teammate, Dick Bartell; Van Mungo, of the Dodgers; the Cardinals' "Ducky" Medwick and "Dizzy" Dean and Detroit Tigers' Gerry Walker.

A total of seventeen players from both leagues were mentioned three or more times.

Mungo, the No. 1 "star" of 1936, started off well enough, but faded his last two times out.

O'DOUL PROVING SUCCESS AS A MANAGER
San Francisco, May 21.—Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, twice leading hitter in the National League, is showing the baseball world what he can do with a team of youngsters and there-by hopes to get back to the majors—this time as a manager.

After some ten years under the big top O'Doul came back to his home town and made good as a pilot of the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast League.

At the start of the 1937 schedule, practically every observer predicted either a cellar championship or a continued second division berth for the Seals. But they have been fighting for the league leadership, either in front or just a stride off the pace.

It's O'Doul's third season as manager. In 1935, when the New York Giants released him to the San Francisco club, he led it to the pennant. Last year, with Joe DiMaggio gone, the Seals finished seventh.

CRIPPLES ARE GRADUALLY RECOVERING
New York, May 21.—The cripples are beginning to recover but for the first month or so of this baseball season major league managers have found it necessary to learn to read hospital charts and X-ray plates, rather than batting averages, before they could name their daily lineups.

Disregarding spring-training troubles, every major league club has been effected to some extent by either illness or injury since the campaign started, with Chicago's Cubs easily topping the list.

The Cub's hospital list has dwindled considerably from the all-time high, but since the campaign began it has been something like this: pitchers, Curt Davis, "dead" arm; Tex Carleton, chipped bone; Larry French, broken hand; Clay Bryant, flu; catchers, Gabby Hartnett, sore arm, then a split finger; Bob Garlock, broken finger; Ken O'Dea and John Bostart, minor hurts; infielders, Bill Jurgens, broken wrist; Bill Herman and Ripper Collins, minor injuries.

Two serious operations have been performed on prominent and ailing ball players. Paul Dean, of the Cardinals, running-mate of the famous brother, "Dizzy" had a piece of cartilage removed from his shoulder. Jake Powell, of the Yankees, had his appendix removed.

Difficulty to classify are the unidentified illness that has kept Detroit's "Schoolboy" Rowe from taking his turn and caused him to be "laid off" until he gets into shape, and John Whitehead's lack of girth control which made manager Jimmy Dykes suspend him until he got into condition.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were:
Dick Bartell, Giants: His homer with the bases loaded in the ninth inning beat the Cardinals by seven to four.

Thornton Lee, White Sox: Muffled Yanks with three hits for three to one win.

Roy Parmelee, Cubs: Pitched seven-hit ball and hit a homer with two on base for a six to one win over the Dodgers.

Billy Rogell, Tigers: His double in the sixth drove in winning run to top Athletics by three to two.

Vince DiMaggio, Bees: Belted two homers in four to one victory over the Reds.

Ossie Bluege, Senators: His twelfth inning single sent the winning run in to down the Browns by five to four.

NEW CHAMPIONS FOR DOMINION ARE CROWNED

Fourth Try Won Welterweight Laurels for G. Schmaltz, of Kitchener—Montrealers Captured Five of Eight Titles.

Montreal, May 21.—Dark-haired Gordie Schmaltz, dubbed the "Kitchener Killer" by fight fans, felt cautiously at a tender spot under his right eye today and ventured the opinion that "maybe the fight game wasn't so bad after all."

Schmaltz, after three successive years of being a finalist but never a winner, was all set to give up boxing if he didn't come through this time at the Dominion amateur boxing championships.

Today the Ontario boy wore the welterweight crown he found so elusive but finally won in his fourth time out, beating Rolfe Potvin, of Montreal, last night before 4,000 fans in one of the best titular matches of the night.

Seven other champions were crowned among them Tommy Osborne, of Montreal, who has waited almost as long as Schmaltz to become a titleholder. It was Osborne's third go in the finals and this time he made the grade, in a dull match with Len Stein, of Toronto.

The Maple Leafs' six other champions are Joe Gagnon, of Montreal, flyweight; Joe Debrofsky, of Montreal, bantamweight; Mike Martyk, of St. Catharines, Ont., featherweight; Jean Paul Lachapelle, of Montreal, lightweight; Steve Sloan, of Niagara Falls, Ont., middleweight; and Eli Brown, of Montreal, light-heavyweight.

Smiling Steve Sloan dumped the hopes of another Ontario, Bus Hurdman, of Toronto, in the middleweight division by taking an easy decision. It marked the second time Hurdman reached the final only to fail, for last year he met defeat at the hands of Irving Pease, another Torontonian.

Ontario's other title went to Martyk, the speedy St. Catharines boy who gave Harry Hurst, of Montreal, a boxing lesson with his precise two-fisted jabbing and counter-punching. Perhaps the two most popular kids in the country fought fourth out for the flyweight title with Joe Gagnon, who danced with the speed of light, getting the decision over Billy Brade, of Winnipeg.

Eli Brown, sixteen year old Montrealer, carried enough sting in a two-fisted attack, to win the decision in the light-heavyweight final against Oeto Mattiussi, of Guelph, Ont.

In the bantamweight and lightweight classes all finalists were Montrealers. Joe Debrofsky took the bantam title with a victory over Bill Barrie while Jean Paul Lachapelle was winner against Joe Polissen.

CHAMPIONS CROWNED LAST NIGHT
Canada's new amateur boxing champions, established at Montreal last night, with former titleholders in brackets:
Flyweight: Joe Gagnon, of Montreal, (Mickey Hennessey, of Montreal).

Bantamweight: Joe Debrofsky, of Montreal, (Herve Lascelles, of Ottawa).
Featherweight: Mike Martyk, of St. Catharines, Ont., (Billy Marquardt, of Winnipeg).
Lightweight: Jean Paul Lachapelle, of Montreal, (Babe McLeod, of Montreal).

Welterweight: Gordon Schmaltz, of Kitchener, Ont., (Maurice Camyree, of Winnipeg).
Middleweight: Steve Sloan, of Niagara Falls, Ont., (Irving Pease, of Toronto).
Light-heavyweight: Eli Brown, of Montreal, (Oliver Shanks, of Edmonton).

Heavyweight: Tommy Osborne, of Montreal, (George Bird, of St. Catharines, Ont.).
Of the former titlists, Marquardt, McLeod, Camyree, Pease and Shanks have turned professional. The others did not defend their titles.

SPORTS FLASHES
New York, May 21.—Reports persist the New York State Athletic Commission will reinstate Barney Ross without making him go through the formality of defending his welterweight title against Ceferino Garcia, of Los Angeles. Which would pave the way for a Ross-Pedro Montanez bout, which Jack Dempsey is pulling the old wires for.

No wonder Mike Jacobs and the Garden are jittery. They've been trying to land this plum for months, but were handicuffed by the suspension of Ross. They will burn to a crisp if Dempsey plucks it from right under their noses.

Stan Bordagaray, of the Cardinals, not Wally Berger, of the Bees, is the outfielder the Giants are dickering for, but the fisticuffs the other day may have delayed the deal.

Can it be true Al Weill intends to turn down a guarantee of $50,000 for Lou Ambers to defend his lightweight crown against Pedro Montanez. Quick, Watson, a shot!

Lou Brix is on the way to Detroit with bantamweight champ Dixie Escobar to close for a title shot against K.O. Morgan under Jack Kearns' auspices. Sixton will take the bout if they can agree on a date before July 15. Otherwise, he is going to London to fight Peter Kane for a $15,000 guarantee.

PLAY HELD AT LENNOXVILLE MUCH ENJOYED

Fine Success Scored Last Night by "The Path Across the Hill," Staged by Ayer's Cliff Y.W.A. Under Auspices of Lennoxville Y.P.U.

A tremendous success was scored last evening in Douglas Hall at Lennoxville when the Ayer's Cliff Young Women's Association presented the three act comedy-romance, "The Path Across the Hill," under the auspices of the Lennoxville Young People's Union. The play, written by Lillian Mortimer, held the interest of the large audience from beginning to end.

Much credit is due Mrs. Willard Rexford, who acted as coach and prompter, for although the play had had only a month's rehearsal, all parts were nearly letter-perfect, and naturalness, clear diction and a genuine understanding of each role were apparent throughout, while suitable costumes and cleverly applied make-up added greatly to its success.

The story of "The Path Across the Hill" concerns the trouble and happiness of "Ruth 'Bobby' Conrad," a young school teacher, who, after the death of her father and mother, assumes the responsibility of the home and her younger brother, "Walter Conrad," who is inclined towards bad habits and the desire for life in a large city, being discontented with his small town life.

"Samuel Crawford," their grandfather, lives with them, but feels that Ruth is sacrificing herself for him instead of marrying young "Dr. Jimmy Reed," who wishes to marry her and go to New York City, where he believes he can establish himself through the connections of Ruth's wealthy aunt, "Mrs. Davis, or Grandma," neighbor, is in love with Grandma Crawford and proposes marriage to him. He believes that by marrying Ruth will feel free to wed Dr. Reed. However, a visit from Ruth's cousin, "Flo Gray," results in Dr. Reed jilting Ruth for her, and later regretting his hasty move, "Robert Post," a holiday guest, thinks he has discovered in Grandma Crawford the man who embezzled money from his father's bank. He accused Grandma of this and threatens to reveal the truth. He has however, fallen in love with Ruth, and upon being told by Grandma that it was really Ruth's father whom he has been protecting by taking the blame, he relents.

"Lutie," a neighbor of Ruth's loves Walter, and following his unhappy escapade in New York, when he is saved from imprisonment by Robert Post, he returns to her and promises to "go straight," and marry her after he has finished college. "Zuzu," the darkie cook, and her husband, Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, servants of Ruth, prove faithful and their optimism is a joy and comfort to all. The story ends happily for all concerned.

The various roles were splendidly portrayed as follows: "Samuel Crawford" (grandpa), Guy Brown; "Robert Post" (the visitor), James Walker; "Walter Conrad" (Ruth's brother) Nelson Pierce; "Dr. Jimmy Reed," Sheldon True; "Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones" (Zuzu's choice), George Robinson; "Mrs. Davis" (Grandma), Gladys Dustin; "Ruth Conrad" nicknamed Bobby, Gwen True; "Flo Gray" (Ruth's cousin), Ruth Pomeroy; "Lutie" (a neighbor) Esther Helfield; "Zuzu" (the cook), Annie Riley.

During the intermission between the first and second acts, a most enjoyable humorous negro act was staged by "The Nutt Brothers, Chess and Wall, and their sister Hazel," Wayland Mosher and George Robinson, who threatened to "steal the show" with their antics, and Miss Annie Riley.

Fred Wyman was heard in two clever readings, "And His Day's Work was Done," into which he wove the names of several of the townspeople to the amusement of the audience, and "What is an Anthem?" both of which were greatly appreciated.

At the conclusion of the last act of the play, Mrs. Rexford presided at the piano for the singing of "God Save the King," after which the cast was served a delicious light lunch by members of the Lennoxville Young People's Union, who also assisted in various ways during the performance. Mr. Ross Spry acted as cashier.

General Notes.
The rummage sale held yesterday afternoon by the Lennoxville Women's Institute in the Band Room of the Town Hall was a decided success, the splendid sum of $28.49 being realized. The "Waves and Means" committee acted as conveners, headed by Mrs. Calvin Sterling.

Citizens of Lennoxville are extending congratulations to Mr. W. T. Evans, who was elected Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Encampment of Quebec, I.O.O.F., at the session held in Granby this week.

Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Kingston, Ont., is a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. N. R. Barrett, and Mr. Barrett.
