

Rank Seventh In Cost

WASHINGTON (CP)—A United States Atomic Energy Commission official has disputed the economic efficiency of Canada's proposed atomic power system. Frank K. Pittman, the commission's reactor development director, suggested to an atomic industrial forum Tuesday that power could be produced cheaper from a number of other systems than the heavy-water natural uranium plant idea Canada has adopted.

W. B. Lewis, research vice-president of the Crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada, immediately shot back that Canada's system would be as efficient as any in existence.

Lewis compared U.S. and Canadian commercial atomic efforts with that of the tortoise-and-hare fable. At present, he said, the U.S. is ahead, but in a few years Canada may catch up in development.

However, he conceded in an interview after the conference that his efficiency estimate for Canadian commercial reactors is based on a lower return on investment than the one made by Pittman.

PLACED SEVENTH

Pittman downgraded the Canadian system to seventh place in listing potential costs of commercial power from various atomic systems. Compared with a potential cost of 7.81 mills a kilowatt-hour for the pressurized water system widely used in the U.S., he estimated the potential Canadian heavy-water power cost at 9.03 mills.

But he added: "It must be recognized that our evaluation is based on U.S. economic conditions and that theirs is based on Canadian conditions. . . . The differences are matters of judgment and only time and an intelligent program of research and development and plant construction will show which evaluation, if either, is correct."

Lewis estimated Canada's proposed big Candu commercial reactor, to be completed in 1964, will produce electricity at a cost of 4.75-5 mills a kilowatt-hour. He based this on a seven-per-cent rate of return on investment. Pittman made his estimate on a 14-per-cent return.

Lewis said that if his estimates of low operating and fuelling costs are borne out by events, the Ontario Candu project will be only one of a series.

"Including some other prospective users, I personally expect Canada to build such plants at a rate of one a year in the first four years." Pittman suggested that on the basis of current technology, some of the proposed atomic plants would have trouble competing with existing costs of producing electricity in conventional steam plants.

Sherbrooke Next?

Winter Is On Its Way Snow Blankets Canada

Winter is on its way and is due to arrive here tomorrow. The forecast for the Eastern Townships today is cloudy with a few scattered showers or snowflurries with little change in temperature and light winds. One word, for tomorrow in this area is - SNOW. The outlook for tomorrow in this area is - SNOW. Some areas today are shovelling it, others, like Sherbrooke and district are awaiting it.

Southern Alberta reported the worst snowstorm so far this season. It stopped traffic and crushed hopes that weather-hit grain—still standing in the fields—might be harvested. Calgary reported seven inches of snow; Medicine Hat and Lethbridge more than five. Up to 10 inches fell in the mountainous Crownst Pass area in the southwest. The storm ranged from Red Deer in Central Alberta down into the United States. Temperatures, under a blanket of cold Arctic air, were in the 20s.

Another area hit was Gander, Nfld., where transport department plows ground on to the runways of International Airport for the first time this fall. Four inches of snow fell Monday night and more Tuesday. The prospects? A disturbance is reported heading east into the Maritimes, with more snow. In the Montreal and Ottawa areas, there were flurries. About two inches fell Tuesday in Ottawa, most of it melting quickly away. Montreal, with temperatures about freezing, greeted its first flakes about dusk. In Manitoba, the word was: "generally cloudy with snowflurries and temperatures dropping to 15-25 degrees above zero in the south; zero-15 above in some northern regions." Southern Saskatchewan reported light snow falling with high temperature set for today. There also was snow in the north. Even the normally warm west coast lay under a blanket of Arctic air. Heavy frost was forecast in the fruit-growing interior. Northern Ontario also received snow.

Late Bulletin

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian living costs rose in September for the third consecutive month, pushing the consumer price index to a record high of 128 on Oct. 1 from 127.1 a month earlier, the bureau of statistics reported today. The rise of .7 per cent was due mainly to a 1.5-per-cent increase in food prices, described by the bureau as "seasonal."

But all other sectors of the consumer budget also showed price increases in September. Swastikas Legal PFORZHEIM, West Germany (Reuters)—A court here today ruled that two men who produced and sold cuff links and tie pins decorated with swastikas were not guilty of anti-constitutional glorification of the Nazi regime. The public prosecutor had demanded a fine for a breach of a law forbidding the sale of "filth and rubbish." The accused told the court they had made the jewelry to meet orders from American souvenir hunters.

Baron Morrison Of Lambeth

"Erb" Decides On Peerage Title

LONDON (CP)—"Our 'Erb' decided rather regretfully Tuesday night that he will be known in future as Baron Morrison of Lambeth.

Ever since Herbert Morrison decided to accept a life peerage after nearly 40 years of public service, the 71-year-old labor politician has been wrangling politically with the College of Heralds over a choice of a title. His first idea—simply to call himself Lord Morrison—was ruled out because someone else already holds the title.

He suggested Leisham, the south London constituency he served as a cabinet minister in the wartime coalition and postwar Labor governments. No go. That would confuse him with Viscount Leisham, whose wife sits in the London county council as an ardent Conservative. A Londoner all his life and chairman of the county council for 17 years, Morrison couldn't incorporate London in his title because the name belongs officially only to the City of London financial area, with which he has no connections. So he settled for Lambeth—home of the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Lambeth walk and the borough in which Morrison was born. The son of a London policeman, he ran errands in the borough and later made his first political speeches in his pubs and on its street corners. Morrison, who did not contest his House of Commons seat at the last general election for the first time since 1923, was reluctant at first to accept a peerage, but was persuaded by friends that he could still contribute to parliamentary life in the House of Lords.

Democrats Consolidate Their Gains

WASHINGTON (CP)—Democrats generally consolidated gains on state and local levels in Tuesday's scattered "off-year" elections throughout the United States. In the main contests they easily retained the Kentucky governorship and the Philadelphia mayor's office. Democratic politicians, looking for a 1960 presidential year trend, could point to a strong showing as well in Indiana and Connecticut municipal elections. But the Republicans gained in New York State, where they ousted nine Democratic mayors while losing four municipalities. And in New Jersey the Republicans not only staved off a Democratic bid to win control of the state senate, but apparently cut the Democratic majority in the assembly.

Protest US Control In Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP)—Panama was out of bounds to Americans living in the Canal Zone today following violent anti-United States demonstrations during the 56th anniversary of Panama's independence. At least 82 persons were injured, three seriously. Crowds of demonstrators, protesting U.S. control of the canal, tore down the American flag at the embassy Tuesday, stoned the embassy and the U.S. information service office, overturned American-owned automobiles and battled U.S. canal police for four hours. The mobs finally were routed by Panamanian national guardsmen, Canal Zone police and firemen and U.S. Army troops armed with rifles, bayonets and machine-guns. Demonstrations also took place in Colon, Panama's second largest city at the Caribbean end of the canal. No casualties were reported from there.

CIVILIANS CONFINED Troops from the U.S. Army's Caribbean command stood guard along the Canal Zone's borders. The 9,000 Americans living in the zone were ordered to stay inside the 500 square miles of U.S. territory. The target of the outbreaks, touched off by Panamanian nationalists, was the unusual hold the U.S. has over the zone. The U.S. was granted control of the zone in perpetuity after it helped the Panamanians win their independence from Colombia early in the century. In recent years Panamanian nationalists have been demanding that their government establish its sovereignty over the zone.

Prepare TV Ground Rules Move BBG Hearings Behind Closed Doors

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Broadcast Governors sits behind closed doors today to prepare its final word on the ground rules for Canadian television. It is expected to be a tough session, lasting two or three days, but no announcement of a decision is expected before Monday and Tuesday, 12 members of the board—two were absent and there is one vacancy—went through a mental grind, listening to varying opinions on its proposed TV regulations. A summing up of the two days of oral argument in support of the written brief goes roughly like this:

The broadcasting industry generally and some elements of allied fields raised objection to the proposed regulations. Some representations were dead against some of the regulations. Others showed differences were only matters of degree or emphasis.

OTHERS BACK PLAN On the other hand, labor and groups interested in—but not directly involved in—broadcasting were all in favor of the board's proposals. For the board members, none of whom had any close experience with broadcasting when they were appointed a year ago, it may be a problem to reconcile their initial proposals, based on their concept of the broadcasting act, and the industry's views.

During the hearings board members listened patiently and asked questions but gave no recognizable hint that they will either stick to their proposals or modify them to any extent. The major issue was the board's proposal that 55 per cent of television programming must be of Canadian content. Private broadcasters, represented by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, flatly opposed any "percentage regulation," but offered alternatives.

Versions Of Fight Conflict

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli and Egyptian fighter planes clashed today near the Israeli-Egyptian border.

The two governments, officially at war despite a long-standing armistice, gave differing accounts of exactly where the clash took place and of what happened.

The Israeli version is this: Four Egyptian MIG-17s, Soviet-made jet fighters, penetrated 15 to 20 miles over the central Negev Desert of Israel before they were intercepted. All Israeli planes returned safely to base after driving the Egyptian planes back into Egyptian air space. The Egyptian version: The fight took place over Egypt's Sinai Peninsula between Rafah and El Arish, just west of the Gaza Strip. An Israeli fighter of the Mystere type, built in France, was hit. Flames and smoke were seen coming from it as it fled toward Israel. Six Israeli planes took part. The Egyptian planes returned undamaged.

The incident was reported to the UN commission supervising the Egyptian-Israeli armistice. Cairo Radio said an Israeli Mystere jet fighter was hit in the aerial battle over Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. The radio said six Israeli jets took part in the battle before noon in a region between Rafah and Arish on the Egyptian side of the frontier. Flames and smoke were seen emerging from the hit Israeli plane as it fled toward Israeli territory, the radio added.

Steel Court Ponders Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court today pondered which way to rule on a back-to-work order in the steel strike as federal mediators strove anew for a settlement in the contract dispute.

The court gave no indication of when it would hand down its decision. Three hours of discussions behind closed doors Tuesday brought no announcement of results but it was expected generally that the court would not long delay its ruling, with the strike already in its 13th costly day.

The ruling will affect both the strike itself and emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor relations law, under which the back-to-work injunction was issued two weeks ago by federal Judge Herbert Sorg in Pittsburgh.

May Expand Inquiry

Quiz Show Sponsor Now On Carpet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigators of quiz show rigging talked today of expanding their inquiries to take in other kinds of television programs accused of misrepresentation. The staff of the House of Representatives legislative oversight subcommittee, it was learned, has begun gathering information on at least one unidentified show of a different nature. The subcommittee, meanwhile, pushed ahead today in its hearings of the admittedly controlled $64,000 Question and $64,000 Challenge, formerly carried on CBS. It called as witnesses two officials of the Revlon Company, $64,000 Question sponsor, President Charles Revson and Vice-President Martin Revson.

Mert Koplin, associate producer of both shows, testified Tuesday that Revlon officials knew about the controls and made suggestions that involved keeping some contestants going and letting others drop out. COMPANY ANSWERS Revlon issued a statement contending that "pressure from a sponsor to do a better job did not give quiz program producers a licence to cheat." Noting that the shows were controlled by their producing companies, Revlon said it "did suggest numerous ways in which the programs could be improved, but rigging was not one of them." Representative John B. Bennett of Michigan, senior Republican member of the subcommittee who said in an interview he does not think the group should stop at the quiz shows, called for criminal penalties for those guilty of deception on the air, saying no other bans would be effective. Koplin acknowledged that on occasions on all the shows he asked contestants in advance questions that were virtually identical to those used on the program. And he admitted that when the contestant didn't know the answer he sometimes supplied it himself. CLEARS TWO CONTESTANTS But Koplin said Teddy Nadler of St. Louis, who won $264,000, and blonde psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers, who collected $134,000 as a boxing expert, received no help. He said Nadler was "completely encyclopedic in some areas" and Miss Brothers performed an amazing memory feat by studying boxing encyclopedias.

ADMITS TV SHOWS WERE RIGGED—Charles Van Doren, appearing before the House subcommittee in Washington admitted that his 14-money-winning television quiz-show appearances were rigged, even to the point of following a script written in advance. He also admitted that he gave false information to a New York grand jury which previously investigated fixed TV quiz shows. (NEA Wire Photo)

Charles Van Doren, featured in Monday's testimony, got a further blow Tuesday when NBC fired him from his $50,000-a-year job because of his part in the rigged Twenty-one show. He already had been dropped as assistant English professor by Columbia University. But a new magazine, Leisure, said it would retain him as an associate editor despite the TV scandal.

Sports Editor George Dulmage Dies Of Leukemia

TORONTO (CP)—George Dulmage, former sports editor of The Telegram, died in hospital today of leukemia. He was 50. Mr. Dulmage, who resigned from The Telegram in June because of poor health, had been in and out of hospital for the last year. Born in Guelph, Ont., he was the son of the late Mark Dulmage, editor of the Owen Sound, Ont., Sun-Times for 26 years.

He is survived by his wife Elsie and two sons, Paul, sports editor of the Prince Albert, Sask., Herald, and Doug, at home in Toronto. A brother, Elmer, owns a weekly newspaper in Canaan, N.H., and a second brother, Jack, is sports editor of the Windsor Star.

Postpone Vote BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—The Lebanese parliament Tuesday night decided to postpone for one year municipal elections due to start Nov. 13. The decision was made "to avoid possible disorders."

Stanstead Scout Exes Returned

MASSAWIPPI — All officers of the Stanstead County District of the Boy Scouts Association were returned by acclamation at the group's annual meeting held last weekend in the Community Hall.

Officers are as follows: District Commissioner, the Hon. Justice William Mitchell; district scoutmaster, Alden Peacock; president, Ed. Struthers; 1st vice-president, Stanley Beerworth; 2nd vice-president, Roger LeBaron; secretary, Mrs. D. M. Gerrard; treasurer, Beverley Haselton; public relations officer, Morris C. Austin.

The meeting was addressed by President S. Simms of the Yamaska Valley District of the Boy Scouts Association.

Among other items of business, it was decided to hold the annual financial campaign for Stanstead County at the same time as the Provincial financial campaign, approximately the first three weeks in February.

The meeting closed with the showing of slides on scout and cad activities by Ed Struthers and Darryl Bedford, district field commissioner.

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The wife of an air force sergeant, described as upset over her husband's impending overseas assignment, shot and killed two of her three children Monday night. Police said they booked Mrs. Harry Blue for investigation of murder. The victims were Harry Norman, 10, and Gwendolyn Earl, 8.

Home And School Resumes Meetings By Honoring Staff At North Hatley

NORTH HATLEY—The Home and School Association met in the Memorial gymnasium of the High School. As in previous years, the first meeting of the school term had been arranged to honor the teaching staff and to introduce them to the assembled parents and friends.

The teachers were presented with corsages from the Association and Mrs. H. Krichew and Mrs. E. Greer were hostesses in the absence of the convener, Mrs. J. Guild. Mrs. C. Smith, president, and the teachers greeted the guests as they arrived.

The meeting was opened with the reading by the secretary of the objectives of the Home and School Association. The minutes of the annual meeting gave a summary of last year's activities.

A report was heard of a Community Club meeting, and the Home and School voted to pay the annual subscription and support the Community Club in its endeavor to provide a well-equipped and maintained meeting place for youth groups and other organizations.

The matter of notifying members and parents of the meetings was discussed, and notices will continue to be sent from the school, with the Home and School preparing master sheets for mimeographing.

An expression of sympathy and wishes for a speedy return to good health was extended to Mrs. J. Guild, who has been ill.

It was reported the regional Council of Home and Schools are making a survey of how many parents are interested in having their sons take a technical course in Sherbrooke. A questionnaire will be circulated for parents to fill out, and if there are enough interested boys, there is a good possibility a class for English speaking boys may be formed.

On Nov. 6, a School Workshop of the Stanstead Regional Council is being held at the Princess Elizabeth High School in Magog. There will be cars going, and it is hoped that a good representation will attend. The subject of the Workshop will be Leadership Training in Administration, and the guests will be Mrs. Woolgar, Mrs. Symons and Mrs. McIntosh.

For the November meeting two highly interesting features have been planned. A member of the local school board will be present to answer questions concerning the school, school program and work of the board. Anyone having questions are requested to submit them to Mrs. C. Smith well in advance of the meeting.

Nov. 18. That week in November is known nationally as Young Canada Book Week, and Mrs. Victoria Plow of the Candlelight Shop will put on display some of the books recommended by the Canadian Library Association, and to help any interested parents to choose, from the great variety of books, those which would be most suitable for the age and inclination of their child.

Before calling upon Mrs. H. Montgomery, principal of the High School, to introduce her staff, Mrs. Smith expressed her pleasure in welcoming them on behalf of the Home and School.

Mrs. Montgomery thanked the Association for setting aside a special evening of welcome. She also stressed the co-operation needed between parent, child and teacher, and mentioned that, "if there should be a difficulty, the teacher should be the first person contacted, not the last. Most difficulties she said, can be solved easily and satisfactorily if given a chance." She then presented the members of her staff. Grade 1, Mrs. Nelson Pike; Grade 2, Mrs. Fearon, from Lennoxville; Grade 3, Mrs. Chapman; Grade 4, Mrs. R. Vaughan; Grade 5, Mrs. A. Cruickshank; Grade 6, Mrs. G. Young, from Massawippi; Grade 7, Mrs. V. Packard; Grade 8, V. Giggie, from Bath, N.B.; Grade 9, Mrs. Jenne, from Lennoxville; Grade 10, Mrs. Loomis. Mrs. Loomis has also done much to promote a sports program, and North Hatley is able to compete in a creditable manner with other high schools. Organized games under the supervision of Mrs. Jenne, assisted by Mrs. Jenne, have begun. Household Science is taught by Mrs. Barron, from Coaticook. Grade 11 is taught by the principal, Mrs. Montgomery. To indicate the growth of the school, in 1953 there were 150 pupils, five full time teachers and one part time teacher. In 1959 there were 225 pupils, 11 full time teachers, and one part time teacher.

The North Hatley High School has been commended by the Department of Education for its choice of subjects offered.

The teachers and parents took their places at the attractively decorated tables where they could talk together and inspect new text books on display. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour followed.

Cowansville H. And S. Association Plans To Assist Students' Council

COWANSVILLE — The Home and School Association met with the president, A. G. Pryde, in the chair. More than 100 were in attendance. The usual silver collection was taken and amounted to $23.69. Collections are used largely to pay for hot lunches for pupils whose parents are unable to afford the cost.

A motion had been passed by the executive at its last meeting, which required the ratification of the general meeting. It referred to the raising of funds to replace the Students Council income from the McLean-Hunter subscription plan.

Mr. Pryde put the issue before the meeting, and it was decided that the Association add the sum of $300 annually to its budget, and that this sum of money be given to the Student's Council.

The penny bank comes will be distributed as last year for the Student Loan Fund. The panel members were introduced by Mr. Peacock, moderator. The panel consisted of two parents, Mrs. W. White and Ed. Bruhmeler, two teachers, R. Douglas and Mrs. Murray Blinn, four students, Miss Claudia Gunson, Miss Joan Tanaka, Gary Shufelt, and Walter Shufelt. The subjects discussed affected relationships between teen-age children and their parents and teachers, and included Going Steady, Late Hours, and Allowances. Discussion was animated, with wide participation by the audience. Rev. C. J. Gustafson thanked the panel.

W.A. AND GUILD MEETS
Mrs. Bruce Miner entertained Trinity W.A. and Guild at her home. Miss Isabelle Beattie was in the chair and minutes were recorded by the secretary, Mrs. Winch.

A successful rummage sale was brought here from Montreal for interment in the Protestant Cemetery. Mr. Gates was the father of Mrs. Roland Cummings, formerly a resident on Eastern Avenue. Mrs. Orval Lewis and Mrs. Lloyd Maynes received the mourners at the home of Mrs. Maynes following the service.

Mrs. Paul Jones was in Drummondville to visit her son and daughter and families.

Miss Florence Bowker spent the weekend at her home in Cookshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith, of Montreal, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith. Miss Shirley Maynes, of Granby, was home for the weekend.

Mrs. McKenny, Montreal, visited her sister, Mrs. Allan McKergow. They also visited their mother, Mrs. King, and also Mrs. Nellie Irwin at the Courville Rest Home.

A successful food sale was held in the Public Library. The sponsors were the Social Service committee.

Mrs. E. F. Bailey is home from hospital.

Mrs. Alberta Sanborn from Sweetsburg has taken an apartment in Toussaint's Block to be near her daughter, Mrs. N. F. Grenier.

A banquet meeting was held at the Mon Homme Hall under the auspices of Southern Canada, Sylvania Electric and Canadian Westinghouse. Mr. W. A. Parkes, local manager of the Southern Canada Power presided. Twenty municipalities were represented by their mayors and councillors. Approximately 135 were present. Modern and improved methods of lighting the streets were discussed. Dollard Street and Lewis St., in Waterloo were named as examples of better lighting.

Sunday, November First was Family Sunday at St. Luke's. A full-vested Junior Choir led the service, assisted by the Senior Choir. Rev. Barry Valentine, director of the Religious Council of Education, conducted the service and preached the sermon.

Hallow'e'en passed off peacefully here with no accidents or damage of any extent reported.

The funeral service for Mrs. P. Chapman, of Frost Village, was held in St. Paul's United Church. A large number of friends and relatives attended. Mr. Chapman predeceased his wife less than a year ago. Interment was in Frost Village Cemetery.

Rev. H. C. Boomhour, chairman of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery, took the service in Cowansville on Sunday. Rev. C. Gustafson conducted the service at St. Paul's and spoke on the Sector Plan.

Miss Carol Hanson, who is taking physiotherapy at McGill spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Lewis have taken up residence in their new home on Purdy's Hill.

While here to take the service at St. Luke's, Rev. Barry Valentine was a guest of Mr. O.B. Rexford.

Mr. Gill Clark has sufficiently recovered to be able to return from the hospital to his home in Quebec City.

40th Anniversary Is Celebrated By Birchton Couple

BIRCHTON — Upwards of 150 parishioners and friends from outlying districts gathered at the Birchton Hall, to celebrate with Rev. and Mrs. J. A. H. Plowright the 40th anniversary of their wedding.

The guests of honor were escorted to the Hall, where they were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Curtis Ross, president of the Bulwer Women's Association, and Mrs. Alex Glen, president of the Birchton Helping Hand.

After congratulations had been extended to the couple, the evening was spent socially combined with the enjoyment of a program of music by local artists.

A solo by Mrs. Marie Nutbrown; piano selection by Elizabeth Moore; a number by the Bulwer Junior Choir, directed by Mr. Wolters; piano solo by Miss P. Todd; a Dutch duet, by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolters, in Dutch costume; solo by Miss Margaret Wood; piano selection by Miss Joann Merrill, and several selections by the Bulwer Orchestra composed of Basil Prescott, Sidner Prescott and Jim Robinson with Charles Robinson at the piano.

At the supper hour, those at the head table included the bride and groom of 40 years ago, two sisters of the bride, Mrs. Ed. Newton and Mrs. Grace Fletcher, of Ditchfield, Mrs. Pearl Wright, of Lennoxville, a long time friend, Rev. and Mrs. H. Fraser and young son, of Sawyerville, and Rev. Donald Sterling, of East Angus.

Messrs. Sterling and Fraser in a few appropriate remarks conveyed the congratulations and good-wishes of their friends to the guests of honor. They were replied to by both Mr. and Mrs. Plowright. Numerous letters and gifts on a decorated table also conveyed good wishes.

Arrangements were in the hands of a committee from the Bulwer Women's Association and the Birchton Helping Hand Club.

WATERLOO —

A St. Paul's congregational dinner meeting took place. Guests at the head table were: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Boomhour, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McKergow, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Heath, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan McKergow. Mr. Boomhour opened the meeting with devotions, and Mr. O. L. Lewis presided. Mr. Alan McKergow outlined proposals for 1960 and resources for implementing them. Mr. Roger McKergow presented the program to the congregation for discussion. The motto chosen was the Plan Works if you Work the Plan.

The Young People's Union of the United Church held a Conference in Ottawa over the weekend. Mr. Roger Darbyson drove the delegates, who included June Smith, Georgia Bailey, Helen Maynes, Norma Cousins, and Norman Emmett.

Mrs. McClintock is spending a few days with her son, Mr. G. McClintock, and family in Sherbrooke.

Unique Chapel Performance

Morality Play Marks Dramatic Milestone

By ROBIN KOTZE
(Record Correspondent)

The Bishop's University production of "Everyman", a 16th century morality play of Dutch origin, is being presented in St. Mark's chapel for four days this week, beginning tonight and ending on Saturday.

The morality play first became popular in the 14th century, representing allegorically as its characters such moral abstractions as Vice, Charity, Faith, Good Deeds, etc. The typical plot was the contest between Evil and Good, with victory, of course, going to Good. Everyman is probably the most celebrated of these plays, and is one of the later ones, having been printed in 1525.

The story tells how God, dissatisfied with the worldliness of his creatures, sends Death to summon Everyman to a pilgrimage. In his need, Everyman is forsaken by Fellowship, Kindred, Goods, Knowledge, Beauty, Strength, and Five-Wits. Only Good Deeds accompanies him when he goes to meet God's judgment. All earthly things are thus proved to be vanity.

The play is written largely in rhyming couplets, and is presented without any scenery, but with special lighting effects, on the full length of the chapel aisle. The accompanying music consists of variations on Gregorian themes which have been worked on by organist Rosemary Martin until they approach the original. The effect created by this is something entirely new to Bishop's dramatics.

DOCTRINE CATHOLIC

The doctrine presented is Catholic, the play having been written before the Reformation by an unknown author.

Professor Motyer of the university's English Department directs the play which has a cast of 16 in all. Special costumes have been obtained from Malabar's in Montreal because, as far as is known only one other production of the work has been put on recently in Canada by a similar group.

Tickets are available through H. C. Wilson's in Sherbrooke, and the University Council Office, and will be by reservation only due to the small seating capacity of the chapel. The play is in one act, with a running time of about one hour. Curtain time is 8:30.

Shell-Out Campaign Big Success

Lots Of Pennies Make Up Dollars For UNICEF Fund

Co-operation is the key to success every time.

Reports from local "Shell Out For UNICEF" Halloween campaigns show that this year's canvassing efforts were the best since inauguration of the program in the area.

The Lennoxville and Ascot Home and School Association sponsored a UNICEF Halloween for the first time this year. With the help of students from St. Anthony's Convent, $750 were collected, more than most Home and School members had even dared to hope for.

The students of Mitchell and East Ward elementary schools collected under the supervision of the Sherbrooke Home and School Association. Over $160 in pennies was collected, which was considerably more than last year.

The one hundred elementary school boys canvassing for St. Patrick High School collected $205 for UNICEF early Saturday.

Donations for three parties at Lennoxville High School were received from Mayor Ernest Gilbey, the Lennoxville Optimist Club, the Lennoxville School Commissioners and an anonymous gift.

The UNICEF Fund campaign in Lennoxville was started with one $150 anonymous donation and a $5 donation from Clark's Newsstand.

Lennoxville High School Student Council members co-operated with the Home and School UNICEF Committee to supervise the canvassing on each street, to help organize the junior parties and to open the UNICEF cans to count the money.

At the first party given at the high school for students of grades one to four, 187 students attended. The prize winners were: Girls - Linda Kaladotis, Robin Bryant and Marlene Johnson.

Sher-Lenn Choir To Sing Remembrance Day Work

An appropriate act of remembrance will be observed this year when the well-known Sher-Lenn Choir will present Brahms' "Requiem" in Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke, on Wednesday, November 11th at 8:30 p.m. This work is being sung in memory of those who fell in two World Wars.

The soloists will be Miss Suzanne Gagnon, Soprano, of Montreal, formerly of Sherbrooke, Mr. Fred Sangster, baritone, and Mr. Jean-Paul Fortier, tenor. The choir will be under the direction of Morris C. Austin, and Mrs. Bertha Bell will be at the organ.

The Sher-Lenn Choral Society consists of both English and French adult singers from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville and the surrounding districts, and its performances over the past 10 years have been widely acclaimed. The forthcoming special Remembrance Day program is being sponsored by the Optimist Club of Sherbrooke. Tickets will be on sale at the Church door on the evening of the performance.

Four Escape Flames

EAST ANGUS—Overheated cooking oil is believed to have been the cause of a $40,000 fire which broke out in a restaurant here late last night, causing severe damage to the Haddad Clothing store and apartments above it.

Flames in Ben's Bar B-Q on Main St. were first seen shortly after midnight.

Earlier that afternoon there had been another scare when some cooking oil began smoking badly.

It took an hour for firemen to bring the flames under control after cutting through the walls.

According to reports, damage in the store was caused by smoke and water. However, flames completely demolished the basement restaurant and the second floor apartment, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Stickle and their two children.

They escaped unharmed.

Twelve volunteer firemen under chief Andre Phaneuf answered the call and three men remained behind until 6:00 a.m. today to guard against further outbreaks.

The building is owned by Mr. Calidi Haddad.

FAIR CHAIRMAN AND PRESIDENT CONFER $8,000 Profit From Annual Rotary Fair

The 28th annual Rotary Fair netted a profit of close to $8,000, it was reported last night at the regular meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club attended by the fair workers as guests.

Fair treasurer, Don Watson presented the financial statement which showed net proceeds of $7,993, some $650 less than last year. Bingo was reported as top booth in net receipts with a profit of $1,365.

Norton Baldwin, chairman of the raffle, announced a slight decrease from last year's total of $5,333, with proceeds to date at $4,925.

President Lyman Tomkins extended a warm welcome to the non-Rotarian workers, saying that he was constantly amazed by the wonderful help they give each year at the Rotary Fair. "It speaks well for the projects which the Fair assists," he added.

Everett Nicol, chairman of the Fair, expressed the clubs thanks to all those who had assisted with the project, including officials of the federal and provincial government, the City of Sherbrooke, the fire and police departments and various companies and individuals. He added a special word of tribute to Rotarians Fred Wilson and Norton Baldwin for their great assistance.

Carb Christmas of the Rotary Youth Committee, announced that the Club will be holding its annual donation of shoes, over-shoes and stockings to needy children of the community on Nov. 14. He requested as many cars as possible to pick up the children and bring them to the Bon Marche warehouse on Grandes Fourches.

Head table guests at last night's meeting included: President Lyman Tomkins, Maurice Allard, M.P., Alderman Paul Gervais, representing the Mayor, Lt. Col. Lee Watson representing Hon. Johnny Bourque, Detective Henry Boisvert, Police Dept., Capt. Charles Audet, assistant fire director, Lt-Col. D. W. Ward, Major A. C. Britton, Major A. V. Laberge, and Rotarians Everett Nicol, Cliff Bryant, Don Watson, Fred Wilson, Norton Baldwin and Bill Richardson.

Warmer, Dark, Snowier That Was October '59

A little bit warmer, a lot of snow last month, you're right. A total of 2.9 inches fell, well over the 45-year average of 1.1 inches.

In October, 1958, nary a flake of snow fell in the district. But folks had it worse in October 1925. More than a foot of snow fell that month — 15.1 inches.

The average temperature of 45.46 degrees for Oct., 1959 is the same as the average for the last 45 years and almost one degree higher than last year.

The lowest temperature of the month was recorded on the 22nd at 15 degrees. The lowest temperature in the last 45 years was 12 degrees on the 26th, 1941.

Sherbrooke and district were left pretty much in the dark last month according to meteorological data from the Lennoxville Experimental Farm for the month of October.

We had almost 32 hours less sunshine this year than last—100.8 hours. This was still 19 hours more than the lowest October sunshine recorded over the past 45 years. In 1917 only 81.1 hours were seen.

This year's damp October reading of 5.12 inches of rainfall compares favorably with last year's 5.79 inches. This is one and one half inches less than the highest monthly rainfall recorded in 1919.

$58,000 Breach Of Contract Suit Expected Here Tomorrow

A $58,838.97 damage suit against the Atomic Mining Company Ltd. of Coleraine by two Coleraine citizens for breach of contract, is expected to be heard in Sherbrooke Superior Court tomorrow.

The two men claim that the contract with the company called for payment of work if the mining company did not mine them for various clearing, dynamiting and transportation work done by them during the last few months of 1957.

Elzear Frechette and Fernand Gagnon, claim that the Atomic Mining Company Ltd. did not pay them for various clearing, dynamiting and transportation work done by them during the last few months of 1957.

Old Klondike Gold Rush Centre Reviving Dawson City — From 30,000 To 700 To 855

By BILL RATHBUN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dawson sprang up into a city of 30,000 at the confluence of the Yukon and Klondike rivers, 350 miles north of Whitehorse and 1,200 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The city status that it earned in 1901 is retained. The miners moved away when the gold fever died down, but now population is again on the increase. The 1956 census listed 855 residents, compared with 700 in the last previous count.

The excitement of '98 is gone, but businessmen believe the recessions are past, for the time being anyway. ### L'ville Vets Plan Armistice Parade

Lennoxville Unit 318 of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans will be participating in the Armistice Day parade to be held this Sunday morning.

All veterans are invited to take part and to form up on Depot st., at 10:20 a.m., to parade to the Lennoxville United Church for a Remembrance Service.

Mr. Gray told of a movement now under way to take over some of the old abandoned buildings and open them to the public.

Most of the famous landmarks, like the Floradora dance hall, have gone.

But the romance of the gold rush still is here. Wooden sidewalks lead past old miners' cabins, long - disused stores with goods still on shelves and old wooden mansions where the millionaires of the Klondike held forth.

In contrast, there is the ultra-modern elementary - high school and the signs on the old stores around Pat Callison's place to "stand clear of helicopters."

Only one new house has been built in the last couple of years. Freight, which doubles the cost of all materials, makes the cost prohibitive.

The houses are old and bolstered against permafrost, needing constant attention to the foundations. But they are comfortable and withstand 60-below-zero temperatures.

Many of the town's present residents—there still are more than 30 families which date back to the Gold Rush—came in during the depression when the company was expanding and offering top money.

"For them to go outside now would mean they would have to take laborers' jobs at lower pay than they make here," Mr. Shaw explained. "Many have nothing to go back to. Their relatives and friends now have gone."

Mr. Gray, whose home is across the street from the cabin where Yukon poet Robert Service once lived, estimated that a good average house would cost $4,000. Rent, if anything is available, is about $25 a month.

The Yukon gold company is credited by the mayor with holding the town together. The company employs about 450 persons; at one time it provided work for 700. A company subsidiary operates the power and water facilities.

Visitors, branching off the Alaska highway at Whitehorse or Telling Junction in Alaska, are increasing about 50 per cent each year, said Chuck Gray, owner of Dawson's only modern motel and only theatre. In the past visitors to Dawson consisted mainly of those who came downriver by the old steamers.

It is the tourist who is becoming an increasingly important source of "gold."

MAYOR MIKE MACAGNO

stabilize the economy," says Mayor Michael J. (Mike) Macagno.

The mayor, a 51-year-old native of Prince Rupert, B.C., added in an interview: "In the last five years the exploration has given the town a boost, with possibly as much as 50 per cent of the economy now depending indirectly on the area."

George Shaw, jeweller, artisan and territorial councillor, said he feels the oil companies "now will spend two to three times what they originally planned" to determine the extent of their finds. In the last six years, exploration companies have spent $7,000,000 in the area.

The spending has had its heaviest impact on the flying and transport services. When Consolidated West Petroleum's Limited first went into the Peel area, Pat Callison, one of the North's best known bush pilots, was operating a small air service. The demand for air transport put him the helicopter business. This summer, Mr. Callison's Klondike Helicopters Limited had five helicopters working throughout the Yukon.

Gold still is the foundation of Dawson's economy. Yukon Consolidated Gold Corporation, which holds most of the claims in the Klondike Valley, uses giant dredges to sift every bit of gold dust from the muck of the creek bottoms, ripping the scenery away and leaving the valleys strewn with washed-gravel tailings. The company takes an annual $2,000,000 in gold.

Sourdoughs who came in over the "Trail of '98" still pan for gold, as do many of the townfolk who came much later. Placer mining is active. But the days of the raw gold in the Klondike may be numbered. Yukon Consolidated Gold Corporation expects to have its operations cleaned up in the next 10 years. After that it may be the tourist who is on the creeks with a pan in hand.

TOURIST MAGNET It is the tourist who is becoming an increasingly important source of "gold."

Makes a man feel ten feet tall! What does? Why, having money in the bank, of course! When you've got a nice pad of savings behind you, you can take advantage of sale prices. And when you spot something you want, you can pay cash for it. Or, if someone in the family gets sick, it's nice to know the money is right there to look after him. The fact is, everything in life looks better when you've got cash in the bank. And it doesn't take long to run up a nice sum when you make small but regular deposits. Yes sir, money in the bank really does give a man that ten-foot tall feeling. Do you know where I save my money?

TV Voracious Demands

The Board of Broadcast Governors, at its Ottawa hearings, is learning something of the voracious appetite of television.

Its members are finding out that television, unlike radio, can't fill in the time with chit-chat, recorded music and oft-repeated outlines of the day's news.

Viewing audiences demand something different. And, according to broadcasters and the companies producing television films in Canada, this country's resources are not yet sufficient to supply the film that would be required, if the Board institutes its 55 per cent Canadian content rule.

So what's the answer? The film producing companies complained yesterday that there isn't sufficient risk capital in this country to support an enlarged production program. A solution would be found, they claimed, if the Board relaxed its proposed financial requirements — that 75 per cent of the shares of any producing company be held by Canadians.

But would this solve the problem? The point seems to be that if Canadian film producing companies had reached a point where they could compete with companies in the United States and Europe then there would be no lack of risk capital in Canada to back their enterprises.

But the industry is not yet full-grown and, while foreign capital might be available to it under an artificial situation such as would be obtained under the Canadian content rule, it remains to be seen whether its products could be sold abroad.

It has been reported that an average filmed TV episode costs from $25,000 to $30,000 to produce but that only from $4,000 to $8,000 can be recovered through sale to the CBC network.

It seems obvious that an export market has to be developed if film production in Canada is to be made practical and profitable.

The way to achieve this is by improving the product not by providing protected and limited home market.

The obvious aim of the Canadian content rule is to advance Canadian culture. A few judicious Canadian Council grants to film producing companies might accomplish this and at the same time improve the product.

Traffic Lights

Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke has called for a complete overhaul of the city's traffic light system.

He claims that the present system is antiquated, and said at a council meeting Monday night that he would like to see overhead lights only at all points in the city.

Taken as a whole, there is nothing wrong with the present traffic light system. The post-type lights serve their purpose as well as overhead lights. To change all of them to overhead devices would not only involve a large and unnecessary expense; it would also confuse city motorists for quite a long time.

Installing overhead traffic lights at places where there are no lights at the present time may be worth council study. But to replace lights now in operation should not even be given consideration.

What is really needed — and this has been said many times before — is improvement and extension of the present system. If the ratepayers' money is to be spent on traffic lights, here is where it would be most fruitfully and most economically spent.

Inflated Battle Costs

Much has been said about the part played by war in inflation but very little about the part of inflation in war. Economists in their study of history have worked out that when Julius Caesar was spreading the power of Imperial Rome over the world it cost him 75 cents a head to get rid of enemy soldiers.

But, according to Admiral Henry Eccles in his book "Logistics and National Defence," generals in the years that followed found it more and more costly to kill off their enemies. Thanks to inflation, in 1800 Napoleon found out he had to raise approximately $3,000 a head for slaughtering off his opponents.

By the end of the First World War, the price of disposing of the enemy was $21,000 a head and during the Second World War every dead German or Jap represented the fantastic expenditure of $200,000 by the Allied nations.

One thing nobody is anxious to find out is the cost of battle slaughter today, but judging from continued inflationary trends and the more complicated battle weapons, it would not be unreasonable to assume that the cost might jump to $1,000,000.

Puppet Assists In Teaching Of French Tongue

MONTREAL (CP) — Pictures, pantomime and a puppet are used as aids on a television program designed to teach children of preschool age how to speak French. The 15-minute daily program, "Chez Helene," started this week on the coast-to-coast CBC network. It originates in Montreal with Helene Baillargeon offering conversational French to the children.

One of French-Canada's best-known entertainers, Miss Baillargeon speaks no English on the program but conveys her meanings with pictures and pantomime. A young girl, a young boy and the puppet, all on the program, start the series with no knowledge of the French language.

The series will use the Tangau system, currently being practised in Oakville, Ont., public schools. Under this method the learning procedure is divided into two steps — comprehension and expression.

Consultant for the series, Raymond Duplantie, says the comprehension phase is an incubation period when the learner's ear becomes attuned to the new sounds and the eye sees meaning through vivid illustrations. The mind is trained to grasp speech patterns and thought units rather than isolated words.

Because the method stresses comprehension and the child is not asked to speak French in answering questions, followers of the system say expression comes naturally and relatively quickly as the ear becomes attuned to the speech of the teacher. Bad habits of pronunciation are avoided because the pupil does not speak until he learns the sound thoroughly.

"A child's brain has a specialized capacity for learning languages," explains Dr. Wilder Penfield, the noted Montreal neurosurgeon, "but it is a capacity which decreases rapidly with passage of the years."

Miss Baillargeon has been singing and acting on radio since 1943, and on television since its inception in Canada in 1952. She and Alan Mills have recorded more than 40 French-Canadian and Acadian folk songs. She was born at Saint Martin de la Beauce, Que.

The program producers are Jacques Faure and Mervyn Rosenzweig. The scripts are by Marie Brewer and cartoons by Hubert Blais, with sets by Edmundo Chiodini.

Press Comment

NEW YORK OR TOKYO? (Edmonton Journal)
Probably no one expected that Tokyo's claim to being the largest city in the world would go undisputed long, and sure enough, a statistician for New York City has risen to the challenge. After an undoubtedly impartial analysis of the relevant figures, he has reached the solemn conclusion that "New York still ranks as the number one city of the world."

Moreover, says Donald D. Jones, of the New York City department of commerce and public events, London has some claims to being larger than Tokyo. The Japanese capital has claimed more than 9,000,000 inhabitants, awarded London a figure of 8,250,000 and written off New York with a mere 8,000,000.
Mr. Jones found his trump card in a comparison of the jurisdictional boundaries of each city's administrative organization. Thus the population claimed by Tokyo actually is scattered through a "prefecture" (similar to a Canadian province or a U.S. state) which includes ten cities, three counties and some small islands in the Pacific Ocean. Since 1943, this entire area has been administered by one government. The City of Tokyo occupies but thirteen per cent of this area and in 1958, according to Mr. Jones, had a population of 7,438,000.
As for London, he continues, the London County Council has jurisdiction over an estimated population of only 3,300,000. Greater London, he adds, including sections of Essex, Kent, Hertfordshire, Middlesex and Surrey contains a population of 8,250,000.
If New York's population were taken to include the surrounding counties, as does London's and Tokyo's, says Mr. Jones, it could boast a population exceeding 14,000,000. However, it prefers to count only those five boroughs which were consolidated in 1898 to form the City of New York.

"I Have Wonderful News---It's His Fault"

North African Progress

Moslem Women Gaining Freedom

PARIS (Reuters)—The emancipation of Moslem women is getting under way in North Africa. More progress has been made in the last 10 years towards freeing women from the age-old prejudices and Moslem religious traditions by which they were bound than in all the centuries past. One significant indication of the acceptance of this new-found freedom for women, found in North Africa today, is the appearance of more and more Moslem women without the traditional veils which have come to be regarded as symbols of social slavery.

But female emancipation goes deeper than that, at any rate in Tunisia and Morocco, where one of the main reforms concerns the polygamy permitted to Moslem men.

President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia, who has done more for the emancipation of Tunisian women than anyone before in the country's history, dropped a bombshell on Tunisia's centuries of tradition on Aug. 10, 1956, when he banned polygamy. Regulations governing the marriage status of women, although not as strict as those in Tunisia, also have been introduced in Morocco. Whereas Tunisian law forbids polygamy, Moroccan law merely advises against the practice.

A leading figure in the movement to emancipate women from ancient social customs is Princess Lalla Aicha, the eldest daughter of King Mohammed V of Morocco, who has discarded the traditional veil as a symbol of the new freedom from binding customs.

"Discarding the veil is not important in itself," Princess Lalla Aicha once said, "what counts is that a woman has the right to wear a veil or not as she pleases."

UNFAIR (Financial Post)
Calgary grocers are reported "seething with anger" at the recent action of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in raising store milk prices to the same level as home deliveries. And they have every right to seethe.

Certainly the person who goes to the trouble of lugging home a bottle of milk should get it considerably cheaper than when it is left on his doorstep. Door-to-door delivery can account for up to 25 per cent of the total price. Yet Calgary merchants have just been warned if they don't raise prices to the level of home deliveries they will get a summons. Not only is it unfair for these provincial milk boards to insist that store prices be on the same level or within a cent or two of the price of milk left on the doorstep but it is economically ridiculous as well. We face a surplus of milk in Canada. We have all sorts of dried and condensed piling up in government storage — milk that can't be given away. Yet, at the same time these provincial officials are going out of their way to keep down sales. It is high time they were told to get back to their original job of guarding the purity and quality of the country's milk supply and stop trying to throttle competition.

BRITISH TOURISTS (Windsor Daily Star)
It is a great boon to British tourists that they now can get about as much money as they wish for travel abroad — and travel "abroad" in the United Kingdom means travel to the European continent as well as to others.

It wouldn't be wise, however, for Canada to expect any tremendous influx of English, Scots, Irish or Welsh into Canada on vacation. Availability of currency for travel purposes just doesn't mean it is easily available to all who would like to travel.

The potential British tourist must have his own money which he can have translated into dollars, francs, marks, etc. And the average person over there has no great surfeit of cash, for travel or any other purpose.

A Canadian earning, for instance, $80 per week can save up enough money for an overseas trip much more quickly than an Englishman earning $30 or $40 per week. The fares are the same to one as to the other. Also, a Canadian travelling to England will find his money goes much further while there than an Englishman would find the equivalent amount of money goes on this continent.

Britons, for this reason, are likely to increase their travel to the "continent" to a much greater degree than to North America.

PICTURES AT SEA (PARIS (Reuters)—The French Line's transatlantic liner Liberté has become the first liner fitted with radio-photograph receiving equipment, the company announced. The ship's daily newspaper now carries photographs of world events.

Jacoby On Bridge

LITTLE SLAM IS ELUSIVE
Today's hand which was sent me by John Waina of Greensburg, Pa., might well be called the little slam that wasn't there.
Since the heart and spade finesse both lose and the clubs don't break six no-trump must be set unless East is kind enough to open a heart. Six clubs must also go down.
It appears that six spades is a nice easy contract but look what happens if West opens a heart. South goes up with dummy's ace and takes three rounds of diamonds in order to get rid of dummy's queen of hearts. Now, suppose he ruffs a heart and leads dummy's queen of spades? West refuses to win the trick!
Even looking at all the cards South can't avoid the loss of a trump and a heart.
Suppose South goes to dummy with a club and leads the spade queen. This time West wins and leads the suit back. If South ruffs a heart, he can't get out of dummy to draw the last trump. If South draws trumps, he can only get one heart discard.
Of course, there is one slam in the hand. If North plays the six spades he will wrap it up.

CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 Club Double Pass 1 Spade
2 Clubs Pass Pass 2 Dmnds.
Pass 2 Hearts Pass ?
You, South, hold:
Spades J-7-4-3, Hearts 6-5-4, Diamonds A-K-3-2, Clubs 7-6.
What do you do?
A—Pass. Your partner is showing a five-card heart suit but you are not strong enough to raise him.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You hold the same hand and your partner has bid two hearts directly over West's two-club bid. What do you do now?
Answer Tomorrow

Bygone Days
THIRTY YEARS AGO
A fresh wave of selling orders has overrun Wall Street with the result that stock prices have suffered another acute break.
A slander action of $10,000 has been entered by Conservative leader Camilleien Houde against a Liberal speaker over remarks made in the Compton County by-election.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Britain has decided to intensify the economic warfare, placing an embargo against all exports from the Reich in addition to the former imports ban. The freighter City of Flint has been released to its United States owners by the Norwegian Government. It had been brought into a Norwegian port by a German prize crew.

TEN YEARS AGO
Sylvio Lacharite, local musician and director, will be heard over the CBC this Wednesday, when he will direct a symphonic orchestra of some 35 musicians. The government has eased rental controls, allowing landlords to charge between 20 and 25 per cent extra on specific types of accommodation on which leases are coming up for renewal.

Le Justice of Newcastle, N.B., and the feuding Sissiboo Echo and L'Acadie of Weymouth, N.S. The Archives recently acquired more than 300 microfilm volumes of official documents covering French rule in Eastern Canada. These were obtained direct from Paris on special agreement between the Canadian and French governments. It is one of two collections, the other at Ottawa. Father Cormier hesitates to estimate the size or value of the collection. "That would be most difficult to assess in terms of money," he said.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Sherbrooke Daily Record,
Sherbrooke, Que.
Dear Mr. Editor:
CAN you tell me why all the fuss over the T.V. quiz programme exposure?
Forgetting for the moment that T.V. is a competitor of newspapers and magazines, can you truthfully say you see anything wrong in what is a common practice in all walks of life, namely coaching. Actors on the stage have prompters — all sorts of people have tutors and coaches — why not T.V. performers?
After all the quiz programmes were just one form of entertainment and good entertainment it was too — viewers saw and heard a good show and learned a lot they did not know — some promising people with talent were given a break — the advertisers received a lot of publicity — so why all the fuss?
The only good I can see out of "exposure" is that a lot of people realize they were not so dumb as they thought they were.
Yours truly,
BERT NELSON.

OATMEAL TIME

(Windsor Daily Star)
It's a fair bet that the sales of packaged oatmeal are increasing these days as chill morning give notice of the winter to come.
"A breakfast that sticks to the ribs," the traditional description of oatmeal porridge, still holds true, even in these days of speed and efficiency.
To face the nippy morning, nothing builds a man's courage and sense of self-importance like a still-bubbling bowl of porridge covered (true Scots will excuse us) with semi-melton brown sugar and good thick cream.

matter of FACT

Two thousand screaming women brandishing blunderbusses, flintlock muskets, and bows and arrows swept through the small village. This was a raid by the unique women warriors of the African kingdom of Dahomey. The unhappy captives of these female legions were led away, some of the women to be recruited into the army, others to go with the terrified men of the village to be slaves. As late as 1850, these amazon women were terrorizing surrounding tribes in French West Africa.

Giard's New Furniture Store, Rock Island, Opens Tomorrow

ROCK ISLAND — Giard's new furniture store on Railroad st., will officially open tomorrow afternoon. The blessing ceremony took place Sunday, Nov. 1, with Rev. George Guay, parish priest of Our Lady of Mercy church, officiating. Paul E. Giard, owner of Rock Island's modern new establishment, renovated what was formerly an apartment and built an addition, making the total floor space 30 feet by 20 feet.

ROCK ISLAND'S NEW GIARD FURNITURE STORE

The store is decorated in shell pink with a white ceiling and rose beige floor tile. It has striking Dufour window front and fluorescent lighting fixtures installed by Wilfrid Lacroix of Beebe. The building materials were supplied by Three Villages Building Association.

Mr. Giard will feature RCA Victor appliances, Roy's refrigerators and oil furnaces, the Canadian Tappan ranges and all types of household furnishings. He also has the agency for Crown Diamond paints and Quick Flame Gas.

Mr. Giard was born in St. Hyacinthe and received his early education there. He graduated from Notre Dame College in Montreal and taught school at Ville Marie for 12 years. During his teaching years he was married to a Magog girl and they now have four children. Mr. Giard came to Rock Island from Coaticook five years ago when he opened up a store on a small scale.

Religious, Civic Dignitaries Attend Blessing Of Store

ROCK ISLAND—The ceremony of blessing the new Giard furniture store took place on Sunday afternoon. Rev. George Guay, priest at Our Lady of Mercy Church, officiated in the presence of about 50 relatives and friends as well as civic dignitaries.

Speaking in English and French, Father Guay explained the meaning of the ceremony and offered prayer. Mr. Giard extended words of welcome and said he will give the best service possible to residents of the area.

Rene Letourneau, M.P., and Raymond Fregeau, Mayor of Rock Island, each spoke briefly and offered congratulations to Mr. Giard and his wife on their new undertaking. Mr. Letourneau proposed a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Giard and their new store.

Later lunch was served from a table centered with a bowl of white chrysanthemums and yellow and bronze snapdragon. The store was decorated with autumn flowers and plants, gifts to the Giards.

WEST SHEFFORD —

Mrs. William Phillips has left Shefford to reside with her daughter at 20 Fairholme Ave., Toronto. During the 20 years Mrs. Phillips lived in Shefford, she was a public-spirited villager who could be depended on to do her share.

Mr. Ernest Doonan of the local S.C.P. patrol staff has been informed that his sister, Mrs. C. Welcome, 98 Chatham Street, Worcester, Mass., won the first prize of $10,000 in a $30,000 FIND THE NAME contest.

Mrs. Jane Carroll, St. Mary's, Mrs. Magown and Mrs. Edward McDonald, Granby, visited their sisters, Miss Ellen McMahon and Mrs. Arthur Dunn, after visiting Mrs. Payne who suffered a seizure early in October. Mrs. Payne's daughters are with her. Her son, J.J.B. Payne, Granby, joins the family circle daily.

COWANSVILLE —

Mrs. George Dorey of Toronto, was guest of honor at a small tea arranged by Mrs. Amos Laiduke and Mrs. J. B. Moore, and held in the Senior Club room of the United Church, while Mrs. Dorey and her husband, the Very Rev. Geo. Dorey, were in Cowansville for the weekend. Mrs. Dorey was happy to meet some of her former school-chums. Mrs. Dorey was the former Alice Ann Dent and was born and educated in Cowansville. Autumn flowers and foliage were used to decorate the room.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Shower had a pleasant holiday in Washington and New York.

Such public-minded radio and TV watchdogs as the Canadian Broadcasting League supported the rule, and one Montreal group representing unions of artists and technicians suggested a higher percentage—75 per cent — could be economically profitable.

The board's proposal to regard TV films from Commonwealth countries and France as 50-percent Canadian—an apparent easement of the 55 per cent rule—was attacked from many sides. The CBC said that under such a rule, a station could, if it wanted, operate within the 55-per-cent rule by using 10 per cent of Canadian programs and 90 per cent of films from Commonwealth countries.

Film companies opposed a board proposal that a Canadian firm must be 75-per-cent controlled by Canadians before its TV films will be considered acceptable for Canadian content regulations. The firms said this would drive out foreign investment in the Canadian film industry.

A proposed ban, with some exceptions, on telecasting during the forenoon also was opposed on the grounds it would be an infringement on Canadians' freedom to watch TV in the morning and that it would mean the loss of viewers to American outlets.

The board also heard the CBC disclose it does not plan to provide programs for second TV licences to be issued in the major cities now served exclusively by CBC or private stations.

Ordered To Pay For Pranks

Three young men had their sentences postponed for three months after they pleaded guilty to charges of property damage amounting to $350 resulting from Halloween pranks.

Claude and Raymond Roy, 21 and 18 years old respectively, both of North Hatley, and Francois Bachand, 18 of Katesville pleaded guilty before Judge Redmond Hayes in District Court yesterday to causing $150-worth of damage to a tow-truck, and $200-worth of damage to two road signs.

Judge Hayes told the trio that he was postponing the sentence to give them a chance to pay for the damages they caused.

"Who is the gang leader," Judge Hayes asked.

"There is none," they replied.

"You are not going to tell me that all three of you had the same idea at the same time," the judge asked.

"We had decided to spend Halloween together," was the reply.

Judge Hayes then tried to find out the motive behind the vandalism.

"You knew the owners of these objects. What did they do to you for you to damage their property," the judge inquired.

"Nothing," they said.

"Did you realize that because of your pranks, human lives could have been lost?" he asked.

No reply.

When further questioned by the judge, the three young men told the court that the acts were committed by them on their way home from a dance at 2 a.m.

one million tons of minerals. If the company succeeded in mining over one million tons of minerals the mining company would not have to pay the salaries of the two men, they say.

According to the two Coleraine citizens, the company mined less than one million tons of minerals therefore should have paid them for the work they accomplished.

The $15,000 damage suit brought by Albert Bell, resulting from his dismissal as Asbestos police chief four years ago, is also scheduled for tomorrow in Superior Court.

The action is reported to be against police Captain Joseph Dionne, who informed Bell of his dismissal.

The court action was taken on grounds that Bell suffered damage to his reputation as a result of statements made by Dionne during the course of a council investigation into the affair of the police department held on March 29, 1955.

The inquiry resulted in a decision of the council to dismiss Bell.

First Quarrel No Disaster, It Can Be Quite Helpful

Memo to brides: If you're smart you can learn a lot from your first quarrel with your up-to-the-minute perfect husband.

When you've dried your tears, kissed and made up and agreed to forget the whole thing just as though it never happened — make a mental reservation.

Tell yourself that tomorrow you'll go back over the quarrel and try to learn all that it can teach you about yourself, your husband, and your marriage.

You don't learn anything from ignoring a quarrel or pretending that it never happened. But you can learn a lot by sorting and sifting until you discover why you quarrelled in the first place, how much truth there was behind the wild charges both of you made in the heat of battle, what your real conflicts are, how they can be worked out through understanding and compromise.

Quarrels between married couples aren't so horrible or so degrading that they can't be examined in the light of day. An intelligent wife can look for understanding and not just for reasons for deciding that her husband doesn't really love her after all.

An occasional quarrel may be good for a marriage because it not only acts as a safety valve but permits things to be said that should be said, instead of hidden. And a quarrel can always be reviewed later for better understanding by a wife who isn't afraid to face the unpleasant facts brought out.

So don't brood over your first fight — or any later ones that come along. Instead, see how much you can learn from it.

If you do, your quarrels won't be for nothing or just unpleasant incidents that you want to blot from your memory. They'll be real lessons in learning to live with and understand another human being.

St. Andrew's Auxiliary Holds Successful Tea

Mrs. H. Gilbert, president of St. Andrew's Auxiliary, welcomed the many guests who attended the chicken patty tea held recently in the church hall.

Autumn shades were used to decorate the hall and the lace covered tea table was tastefully arranged with bronze and yellow mums. Mrs. B. Woolgar presided at the tea table and Mrs. M. Brown acted as tea replenisher.

Individual tea tables were in charge of Mrs. M. Page, assisted by Mrs. D. Jones and Mrs. J. Leckie.

The sales tables, with their attractive array of gift suggestions, were in charge of Mrs. A. Michie, and Mrs. Sam Berwick, who had charge of the sale of dolls' clothes. The table of home cooking was presided over by Mrs. Emerson Smith.

Tea was prepared by Mrs. R. Allatt and the salads and patties were served by Mrs. D. Ross, Mrs. Keith Moe and Mrs. M. Roarke. Squares were cut by Mrs. L. Leslie and Miss B. Page.

Fascinating Flavors

Baking powder biscuits are always a delightful addition to a meal. Even the novice cook can make them with ease. The basic biscuit dough lends itself to all sorts of flavorful variations such as this recipe for Cheese-Capped Biscuits. Few people would identify the source of their delicious, yet elusive flavor as canned consommé. A generous sprinkling of finely shredded cheese melts as they bake to make the savory topping. These biscuits are tempting accompaniments for fruit salad, cold meat, fish, or on a buffet table. The flavor is finest when they are warm from the oven — either freshly baked or reheated in foil.

lightly with a fork, adding more milk, if necessary, to make a soft dough. Turn out dough on lightly-floured board or canvas and knead 10 seconds. Pat or roll out into a rectangle 6x8 inches. Cut the dough into 2-inch squares.

Arrange the biscuits well apart on prepared baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven 5 minutes. Sprinkle biscuit tops with shredded cheese and bake them about 5 minutes longer. Serve hot with butter or margarine.

CHEESE-CAPPED BISCUITS

Yield: 1 dozen biscuits.
1 1/2 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, or 2 cups once-sifted pastry flour, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 3/4 cup chilled butter or margarine, 1/2 cup undiluted canned consommé, 1/2 cup (about) milk, 3/4 cup shredded old Canadian cheddar cheese.

Grease a baking sheet. Preheat oven to 450° F. (hot).

Sift together into a bowl the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder and salt; add butter or margarine and cut it in finely. Combine consommé and milk. Make a well in dry ingredients. Combine consommé and milk.

Approaching Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Shepherd, of Lunenburg Road, West Townsend, Mass., announce their approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Ann, to Peter E. Daine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Daine, of Waterloo. The marriage will take place on Saturday, November 7.

Miss Shepherd is a 1959 graduate of Spaulding Memorial High School and is employed at Leominster Hospital. Her fiancé is a graduate of Waterloo High School and is employed at Independent Lock Company, Fitchburg, Mass.

Miss J. Dean Weds In Iroquois, Ont.

IROQUOIS.—A marriage of local interest took place in Iroquois United Church, Iroquois, Ont., when Mary Joyce Dean, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. Leslie Dean, formerly of Richmond, Que., became the bride of William George Stevens of Montreal, son of Mr. Russell Stevens and the late Mrs. Stevens of Tremholme, Que. The ceremony took place at three o'clock on Saturday, October 31, Rev. J. Leslie Dean, father of the bride, officiating. The wedding music was played by Mrs. H. Thompson and the soloist was Mrs. O. English. The church was adorned with baskets of white Shasta daisies and mums.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Morley Dean, the bride was in a floor length portrait gown of cloud silk taffeta trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearl tone sequins. The fitted bodice was finished with a bateau neckline and lily point sleeves and the bell-shaped skirt fell into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil was held by a shell-shaped headress of lace and sequins, and she carried a white Bible encrusted with yellow Sweetheart roses and streamers of yellow baby mums. The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Morna Dean, as maid of honor, and Miss Edna Stevens, sister of the groom as bridesmaid. They wore identically styled gowns of peacock blue iridescent taffeta, the caplet collars forming scoop necklines. The full skirts were highlighted with a bustle effect at the back, trimmed with matching taffeta rosettes. They wore toning head-dresses and carried colonial nosegays of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Walter Stevens acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Weldon and James Stevens, also brothers of the groom.

The bride's mother received in a moss green wool sheath dress with brown accessories with which she wore a corsage of bronze and yellow mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall where baby mums in rich fall shades were used to decorate.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left for a wedding trip to Pennsylvania, U.S.A., the bride wearing a two-piece green wool dress and matching hat, and carried a light coffee colored coat. She wore a cameo pin, a gift of the groom, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses and mums. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens will reside in Montreal.

Out of town guests were present at the wedding from Richmond, Trenholm, Shawville and Montreal, Que., Renfrew, Perth, Cornwall, Brinston, Cardinal and Welland, Ont.

Marriages Of Local Interest

DERBY—FRIZZLE

BROME.—A pretty autumn wedding took place at four o'clock on October 3, in St. John's Anglican Church, when Sheila Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Frizzle of Knowlton, Que., was united in marriage to Charles Stewart Derby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Derby of Sutton Junction, Que. Canon F. W. Gedy officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. George Soles. Baskets of white chrysanthemums were arranged on the altar and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a waltz-length gown of white tulle and Chantilly lace over satin, styled with a full skirt, the fitted bodice finished with a scalloped neckline accented with seed pearls and lily-point sleeves. She wore an elbow-length veil and carried a bouquet of red Sweetheart roses.

Miss Marilyn Ling, the bride's only attendant wore a waltz-length gown of pastel blue net over satin, with a full skirt and a net bolero over the strapless bodice. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Alfred Derby was best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Lionel Foster, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Eugene Jones, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Frizzle, mother of the bride, chose a burnt orange wool dress, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Derby, the groom's mother, wore a royal blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a re-

MR. and MRS. CHARLES STEWART DERBY, whose marriage took place on October 3 in St. John's Anglican Church, Brome, Que. Mrs. Derby, the former Sheila Jean Frizzle, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Frizzle of Knowlton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Derby of Sutton Jct.

ception was held in the Town Hall at Brome, where the couple greeted friends and relatives.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom within an arch of lilies-of-the-valley. Tall lighted white tapers in silver holders and seasonal flowers completed the arrangement. Pouring tea at the buffet table were Mrs. George Newman and Mrs. Matilda Derby. Mr. Glen Brown, M.L.A., was master of ceremonies.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Derby left for a short honeymoon. For travelling Mrs. Derby chose a royal blue wool dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations. On their return, they took up residence in Knowlton.

Out of town guests were from Smiths Falls, Ont., Montreal, Dunham, Sutton Jct., Bolton Glen, Mansonsville, Knowlton and Farnham.

LAGUE—PATENAUE

DERBY LINE.—The marriage of Jeannine Fleurette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Patenaue of Derby Line, to Mr. Bertrand Lague of Newport, son of Mrs. Lucien Asselin of Lachine, and the late Mr. David Lague, was solemnized at ten o'clock on Saturday, October 24, at St. Edward's Church.

Rev. Father A. Fortin was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass and officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Gaudreau played the wedding organ music and accompanied Mr. Conrad Haselton, the soloist. Pink and white chrysanthemums were used to decorate the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a portrait model taffeta gown designed with a fitted bodice featuring a V neckline outlined with Alencon lace and embroidered with sequins. The very full skirt was accented with a wide cummerbund and at the back a butterfly bow. Her fingertip length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book encrusted with red roses.

Miss Cecile Patenaue, as maid of honor for her sister, was in a gown of shrimp pink silk organza over taffeta. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and a shirred cummerbund topped the bouffant skirt. She wore a matching coronet and carried a bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums.

Miss Pauline Labrecque of Newport, and Miss Jacqueline Desmarais of Barton, as bridesmaids, wore gowns of identical styling in mist blue and mint green silk organza over taffeta. They wore matching bandeaux and carried nosegays of white baby chrysanthemums.

Mr. Merle Wheeler was best man for the groom, and the ushers were Lawrence Patenaue, brother of the bride, and Norbert Lague, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Patenaue, mother of the bride, was attired in a gown of black peau de soie, toning accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Asselin, mother of the groom, was in a gown of midnight blue sheer over satin, a winter white fur hat, toning accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The reception was held at the Hotel Newport, where the bride's table was arranged with the tiered wedding cake, flowers and lighted tapers in crystal holders. Orchestra music was played during the luncheon and later for dancing.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Lague left for their honeymoon trip and on their return will reside at Clark St., Newport. For travelling the bride wore a bronze wool jersey dress under a muskrat jacket, her accessories were brown and she wore a red rose corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart Convent, Newport, and was a student at Stanstead College. The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart, Newport, served two years in the United States army, and later, graduated from Champlain Business College.

Guests attending the wedding were from Magog, Barton, Lachine, Montreal, St. Hyacinthe, Detroit, Mich., New York, N.Y., West Charleston, Derby, Derby Line, Rock Island and Orleans.

MRS. LOUIS CYR, OF WATERLOO

Formerly of Glen Sutton
 WATERLOO — The many friends of Mrs. Louis Cyr learned with regret of her sudden death at an early hour on Wednesday morning, Oct. 7, at her home here.

Esther Elizabeth Jacobs, youngest daughter of Freddie Jacobs and the late Mrs. Jacobs, was born at Glen Sutton on Feb. 9, 1923. On June 15, 1946, she was united in marriage to Louis Cyr of Knowlton, and one son, Oscar, was born to them.

She is survived by her husband, her four-year-old son, her father and her only sister, Mrs. E. Poulin, Madeline, also several uncles and aunts and many nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rev. E. F. Macklin, of Mansonville, officiating, paying high tribute to the deceased. The church was filled with relatives and friends and the floral pieces were many and beautiful.

Bearers were William Burnham Gale Deyette, Gerald Fuller and Lyle Leavitt.

Interment took place in the Glen Sutton Cemetery, beside her mother, who passed away 17 months ago.

MRS. EDWIN F. CURRIE, Formerly of Bedford

BEDFORD — The death took place on Friday, Oct. 9, at Notre Dame de Rosaire Hospital, of Mrs. Edwin F. Currie, who had been in frail health during the past years, had been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corey, Stanbridge Ridge, since August last, when she came from Greenfield, Mass., where she had lived for several years.

Mrs. Currie, the former Cora Maud Hulburd, was born Nov. 1, 1879, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Heman Hulburd, at East Farnham. The greater part of her life was spent in Bedford, where she was married to the late Mr. E. F. Currie and where she continued to reside for some years, following Mrs. Currie's death. Later she went to Montreal to live. Prior to going to Greenfield, she spent some years in Toronto with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie.

Mrs. Currie's departure from Bedford was deeply regretted, as she had been a public spirited woman ready at all times to give of her time and energy in all good works. She was an active member of the congregation of St. James, serving as organist for many years, as well as being a helpful and loyal worker in both the church guild and the Woman's Auxiliary. It was through her efforts that Missisquoi Chapter I.O.D.E. was formed and she was for several years regent of the Chapter.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Currie is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Fred Lyman, of Greenfield; two step-children, Mrs. F. E. Drapeau, of Bedford, and Frank Currie, of Toronto; a step-daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lewis Currie, Bedford; five grandchildren, Peter, Ricky and Ann Currie, of Toronto, and Martha and John Lyman, of Greenfield; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Currie, and a son-in-law, Fred Lyman. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at one-thirty from the home of Mrs. George Moody to St. James Church. The officiating clergymen were Canon F. L. Whately, of Montreal West, a former rector of St. James Church, Rev. Walter Bockus, rector of the Anglican Church at Greenfield Park and a former resident of Bedford, and Canon Willis, of Hudson Heights.

L. Hendon was organist and the bearers were Malcolm McCaw, John Ewing, Richard W. Craighead, John Cook, of Bedford, L. McGregor and A. Darche, of Montreal.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGraw; Pointe Claire; Mrs. L. McGregory, Mrs. A. Darche, Mr. H. Plazie, the Misses Dorothy and Ileen Ewing, Montreal; Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Corey, Richmond, Vt.; Walter Bockus, Greenfield Park; Mrs. Earl Cornell, Stanbridge East; the Misses Lila Burrage and Clara Smith, St. Armand; Mr. and Mrs. L. McFee, St. Armand's East; Mr. and Mrs. B. Currie, Mr. Frank Currie, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lyman, Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corey, Miss Jean Corey, Stanbridge Ridge.

JOHN W. MINNAUGH, OF BELFORD, N.J., Formerly of Inverness

BELFORD, N.J. — John W. Minnaugh passed away on Thursday morning, Oct. 1, 1959, in his 92nd year, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Donovan, of Belford, N.J., with whom he had made his home since the death of his wife in 1949.

Mr. Minnaugh was born Dec. 20, 1867, on the 8th Range of Inverness. The last surviving member of a family of eight, he was the son of the late Henry Mimmer and his wife, Elizabeth Rooney. On May 14, 1895, he was united in marriage to Josephine O'Malley of Inverness. Twelve children were born of this union, Edwin, of Lakewood, N.J., Evelyn, Mrs. I. J. Lanagan, Fort William, Ont., lelen, Mrs. Frank Meehan, Water and George, of Elizabeth, N.J., Gertrude, Mrs. W. Davidson, Port Monmouth, N.J., Myrtle, Mrs. J. Donovan, Belford, N.J., Elsie, Wilfrid and Gertha, who died in infancy, and Winnie, Mrs. Oswald Beattie, who passed away several years ago. Besides his family, he leaves to mourn his loss 27 grandchildren, a number of great-grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

Deceased spent the greater part of his life in Inverness residing on the old homestead until 1926, when he moved with his family to Elizabeth, N.J.

CHARLES PRANGLEY, OF BURY

BURY — Funeral services were held in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Tuesday, Oct. 13, for Charles Prangley, who passed away at his home on Saturday, Oct. 10. Rev. G. L. Norris officiated.

The choir sang two favorite hymns, There Is No Night in Heaven and, Safe in the arms of Jesus. Bearers were Irvin Cuming, Arthur Ward, Ronald Ward, Gwynn Lawrence, Osborne Sylvestre and Rayfield Ross.

The large attendance testified to the love and esteem in which Mr. Prangley was held. Funeral arrangements were in charge of G. Boynton. Interment was in the Bury

Mr. Prangley was born April 2, 1886 in Wiltshire, England.

One of the 11 children of the late Elizabeth Prangley and his wife, Elizabeth Perks. He came to Canada in 1907 and made his home with his uncle, Frank Prangley.

In 1912 he married Hilda Ross of Bury. He was employed by the C.P.R. for 37 years but retired at the age of 58 due to ill health.

Mr. Prangley is survived by his widow; a son, Arthur; a daughter, Lena; six grandchildren; three brothers, Steven, Frank of Britt, Ont.; and Stanley of West Australia; also several nieces and nephews.

He will be greatly missed by his family and friends.

Eskimos And Lions Face 15-Degree Weather Tonight In Second Game; CBC-TV To Carry Feature At 10.00

EDMONTON (CP) — British Columbia Lions and Edmonton Eskimos trot out on a rock-hard field tonight in numbing 15-degree temperature for the deciding game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final.

Eskimos lead the two-game, total-point series, having defeated Lions 20-8 Saturday in Vancouver.

About 18,000 hardy fans—little more than half the 34,000 in Vancouver Saturday—are expected to turn out. The game starts at 10 p.m. EST and will be televised nationally by the CBC.

What effect will the cold weather have on the game?

"Naturally we'll have to adjust to the sharp change," Lions coach Wayne Robinson said Tuesday night. "I was happy about the prospects of a dry field."

DOESN'T LIKE COLD

Coach Eagle Keys of Eskimos was pessimistic. "I don't think out guys play best when it's cold but I hope it won't affect us too much," he said.

Eskimos are nine-point favorites in the second game. How did the coaches feel about that?

"I don't look at this game as one in which we're 12 points down," said Robinson. "I think of it as just a game we have to win by 13 points."

Again the note of pessimism from Keys: "I said after we won the opener that it was probably better we didn't win by more in case we got a little overconfident. . . . I wish now that we had a cushion of 20 or 25 points and I think most of the players feel the same way."

Keys said quarterback Jackie Parker is almost a certain starter. A pulled leg muscle bothered him after practice Monday night.

ONE DOUBTFUL

It was doubtful whether import guard Al Ecuier, with a broken bone in his left thumb, would play. The injury has been encased in an elbow-length cast.

The other Eskies were in top shape. The B.C. lineup was unchanged.

Both clubs practised Tuesday night followed by lengthy briefing sessions.

Robinson said his players would wear cleats, not sneakers, despite the frozen surface of the field. Keys was undecided.

Though Lions defeated Eskimos twice in four games during the regular season, they haven't been able to score more than 14 points. The Eskimos wins were by 29-7 and 38-14 scores.

The league final against the Blue Bombers, a best-of-three series, begins in Winnipeg Wednesday.

Ticats Coach Says 1959 Team Hasn't Reached Peak

HAMILTON (CP) — Jim Trimble, coach of the team that has ruled Eastern Canada football for three years, says his Hamilton Tiger-Cats haven't hit their peak for this year.

At this stage of the season, he said, the 1959 team isn't as advanced as the 1957 or 1958 squads, both Grey Cup finalists and the former the Cup champs.

"If we have hit our peak, then we're in trouble."

But this year's team has outscored by only 10 points in their four losses and only once did the defence allow more than touchdowns in any game.

The 1959 version of the Tiger-Cats averaged 21.3 points a game; in 1958 was 20.8 and in 1957 it was 17.9.

In total offence, the 1958 team was tops, grossing 5,099 yards. This year it was 4,605, in 1957, 4,537.

In 1957, Hamilton rushed for 900 yards more than this year and 867 more than the 1958 team. Ticats' passing was tops last year at 2,019 yards, almost 1,200 yards more than 1,37 and 202 yards more than this year.

In first downs, Hamilton's total has dropped each year—254 in 1957, 247 in 1958 and 241 this year.

This year's team intercepted more passes—32—than in either comparable year and had fewer picked off—18. Last year, Hamilton intercepted 20 to its foes' 28; in 1957 it was the other way around.

This year's team has held on to the ball better than the 1957 and 1958 crews. Ticats fumbled 62 times in 1957, recovering 29. In 1958 it fumbled 36 and recovered 12. This year, Hamilton bobbled the ball only 23 times, recovering seven.

In first downs, Hamilton's total has dropped each year—254 in 1957, 247 in 1958 and 241 this year.

This year's team intercepted more passes—32—than in either comparable year and had fewer picked off—18. Last year, Hamilton intercepted 20 to its foes' 28; in 1957 it was the other way around.

This year's team has held on to the ball better than the 1957 and 1958 crews. Ticats fumbled 62 times in 1957, recovering 29. In 1958 it fumbled 36 and recovered 12. This year, Hamilton bobbled the ball only 23 times, recovering seven.

APPEARS TRIMBLE WRONG

However, this year's club was outscored by only 10 points in their four losses and only once did the defence allow more than touchdowns in any game.

The 1959 version of the Tiger-Cats averaged 21.3 points a game; in 1958 was 20.8 and in 1957 it was 17.9.

In total offence, the 1958 team was tops, grossing 5,099 yards. This year it was 4,605, in 1957, 4,537.

In 1957, Hamilton rushed for 900 yards more than this year and 867 more than the 1958 team. Ticats' passing was tops last year at 2,019 yards, almost 1,200 yards more than 1,37 and 202 yards more than this year.

Women's Curling Championship To Be Inaugurated In 1961, Grocery Chain Has Offered To Sponsor The Event

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans for an annual interprovincial bonspiel to be inaugurated in 1961 for the Canadian women's curling championship were disclosed Tuesday.

A grocery chain has offered to sponsor the event. Acceptance, with some exceptions, is considered little more than a formality.

Envisaged is a round-robin competition bringing together the 10 provincial champions. But this isn't expected to begin until the year after next.

For 1960 the plans are to determine the championship by a play-off at Oshawa, Ont., in March of two rinks—one from the East and one from the West—chosen in regional play-offs.

While some of the arrangements announced at a press conference Tuesday were described as tentative, the general picture that emerged was of plans to give the women curlers a national championship patterned after the men's competition.

Before it becomes official, each of the provincial women's curling associations must approve it at their annual meetings. The six eastern provinces were reported to have already indicated they favor the plan.

In Eastern Canada, where a championship play-off was held without sponsorship last season for the first time, provincial champions from Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland will play off in Oshawa.

Girls Hinder Modern Professionals, Says Coach Bud Poile Of Flyers, Women Steer Them In Wrong Direction

EDMONTON (CP) — Girls hinder the careers of modern professional athletes, says Bud Poile, coach and general manager of the Western Hockey League's Edmonton Flyers.

"It's very seldom today that you'll find even a young pro athlete who is obsessed with improving himself and his team," Poile, never renowned for pulling punches, told a Businessmen's Association meeting Monday. "His mind is on too many other things, and it is the so-called weaker sex I blame."

"Rather than helping the players, the girls hinder them." Specifically, wives and girlfriends kept players out late at dances, parties and movies.

"The women are after them to take them shopping—or if they agree to let the players stay at home, then a job of baby-sitting goes along with the privilege while the girls head off downtown."

The difference could be noted when a club was away from home, the former National Hockey League star pointed out.

"The players take it real easy before the game. Perhaps they will take in a show, then eat their steaks around four o'clock and go back to their rooms to sleep until it's time to leave for the arena."

Poile made his points after being asked what is wrong with today's athletes.

"Instead of encouraging them to observe rigid discipline, which is necessary if an athlete is to tap all his potential, the girls all too frequently steer them in the wrong direction."

Poile stressed that he was referring to athletes in general, not just to the Flyers. No. 1 farm club for Detroit Red Wings of NHL.

His wife, Marg, interviewed later, said "I guess it's true in some cases" that girls hamper the players.

The Poiles, married in 1944, have two children.

New Soccer Names Win Bold Type In Britain's Sport Pages As Underdogs Are Taking Over In Cup Competition

LONDON (CP)—The names of Division Nottingham Forest in the third round by tying the eventual Cup sinners 2-2. Tooting fans still say Forest's tying goal should have been disallowed.

Tooting went out 10 in the replay at Nottingham, failing to emulate the feat of Yeovil Town, a non-league club that actually put out a first-division opponent 10 years earlier by defeating a bewildered Sunderland 2-1.

Bursough, a Lancashire side with an average age of 20, has a chance to shine with a home match against Crewe Alexandra, a lesser Fourth-Division club.

DONCASTER SLIPPING

Gainsborough Trinity, a Lincolnshire club, has an away against Doncaster Rovers, who have dropped from the Second to the Fourth Division in successive years and won only five of their 18 starts this season.

Another non-league club with a chance is Shildon, which entertains Oldham Athletic, in the Fourth Division cellar and without away-from-home victory all season.

Norwich City, the third-Division side that knocked over mighty Manchester United on its way to last year's semi-finals, is drawn at home against Reading, a Third-Division colleague. Peterborough United, one of the most powerful non-league clubs, is at home to Third-Division Sheffsbury Town.

Halfback Howie Schumm, 19-Year-Old Farm Boy, Seems Headed For Brilliant Future With Esks, Says Coach Keys

EDMONTON (CP) — Halfback Howie Schumm, a 19-year-old farm boy who has leaped from grain fields to professional gridiron in three years, appears to have a brilliant future with Edmonton Eskimos.

"Half the season was gone before I realized how good he was," said coach Eagle Keys after Saturday's game in which Schumm played a big part in helping Eskimos beat British Columbia Lions 20-8.

"When we had to name our imports we gambled on Schumm and he's proved the best Canadian find in the league in three years."

The husky rookie, who won't be 20 until next March, gained 88 yards and scored a touchdown as Esks won the opener of a two-game total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final series.

"He's got great potential," said Keys. "One of his biggest assets is his ability to grasp what he's taught."

FINE RECEIVER

Schumm's other assets are a smooth, deceptive stride, sure fingers that seldom miss a pass.

Finishes As Leading Driver While Beaudoin's Boum Boum Bumpas Cops Pacing Event; Program This Evening

Gilles Lachance has won the Carling Red Cap Trophy for the top driver this season at the Sherbrooke Raceway. Lachance amassed a total of 379 points for his 337 starts this season.

The Dow Brewery Trophy for having the best pacer goes to Amedee Beaudoin and his Boum Boum Bumpas. The smooth-going pacer has registered more wins than any other local entry. Both these trophies will be presented Sunday afternoon at a party which is being held at the Elks Club following the racing program.

Yvan Boisvert and Jean-Paul Briesebois, of Dow and Carling's respectively, will make the presentations at the oyster party. The card which was slated for Saturday evening will be presented tonight while over the weekend two more are on the agenda with several new horses making an appearance.

Lachance has registered 63 firsts, or wins, 64 place finishes and 71 shows during the season for his big lead over the runner-up, Amedee Beaudoin. The Bulwer owner-driver has a total of 279 points in his 273 starts. In third place is Fern Desrochers with 226 while Florent St-Denis follows next with 205. These are the only drivers to finish over the two-hundred mark.

Buster Huckins, who was out part of the season, has 191 points for his 201 starts with Lucien Denault next with 169. Lachance has most in each department as well as the most starts during

More snow coming — months of BAD DRIVING AHEAD

Remember the inconvenience and delay caused by the first snow? Maybe you were one of the many local motorists who got stuck or slithered into minor but costly collisions. Or perhaps you were among the far-sighted motorists who were ready for the worst that winter could bring—with Firestone "Town & Country" tires to help you stop fast and pull you through safely.

Month after month of treacherous driving is ahead of us. Why not act now and take the worry out of winter driving with "Town & Country" tires. They give the secure traction you need wherever you drive... in the city, the suburbs or the country. Now is the time to buy "Town & Country" tires. Don't put it off. There

Bruins' Uke Line Is Reaching New Heights In National Hockey League

Bronco Horvath Is Top Marksman For Club, Line Tallies Five Goals To Down Hawks 6-3 To Move Into Third

Boston Bruins' Uke line is reaching for new heights in the National Hockey League.

Ever since Bronco Horvath, Vic Stasiuk and Johnny Bucyk were united at the start of the 1957-58 season, they've averaged better than one goal a game. They combined for 72 the first season and got 70 last even though Horvath missed 25 games with a broken jaw.

With the present campaign only four weeks old they appear certain to better their previous accomplishments. In 12 games they have scored 21 goals. Horvath setting the pace with 12. Stasiuk has five and Bucyk four.

Tuesday night in Chicago the line scored five goals as the Bruins moved into third place with a 6-3 victory over Black Hawks. The defeat was the ninth for the Hawks in their last 10 games. They tied the other one.

GET 12 POINTS
Horvath scored twice and got two assists. Stasiuk added two goals and one assist while Bucyk had one goal and four assists. Leo Labine got Bruins' other goal.

The outburst put Horvath atop the scoring race.

Murray Balfour, Eddie Litzenberger and Phil Maloney scored for Chicago. It was Litzenberger's first goal in 11 games this season after getting 33 last season.

The sometimes-temperamental Horvath attributes his goal-a-game pace to the fact that he's shooting more often. A centre who would normally feed his wings, he is set up by Stasiuk and Bucyk because they know he has equally effective forehand and backhand shots which have made him a feared scorer.

Goalie Glenn Hall had a bad night as he stopped only 11 shots. Don Simmons, in the Boston nets, stopped 23.

The Hawks, with a surprisingly inept offence this season compared to an attack that scored 197 goals last season, drew only 5,118 fans for the game. The Hawks have managed only 14 goals in their last 10 games.

LINEUPS
Boston — Goal: Simmons; defence: Flaman, Mohns, Armstrong, Erickson, Ward, Boivin; forwards: Mackell, Burns, Toppazzini, Horvath, Stasiuk, Bucyk, Mickoski, Labine, Meisner, Gendron, McKenney, Leach.

Statistics Make Ottawa Favorites In Big Four Semi-Final Saturday; Riders Hold Big Edge In All Games

OTTAWA (CP) — What do the records tell us about this Saturday's sudden-death semi-final between Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders?

The two teams played five games in the regular season, two in Ottawa and three in Montreal. Montreal beat Ottawa 21 - 8 in Montreal and 22-7 in Ottawa in the first two games.

Then Frank Clair's squad returned with a vengeance to beat Larks 43-6 in Alouette territory. In Ottawa again, Riders won 36-8, and in the last game in Montreal they won 28-12.

Total score: Ottawa 122, Montreal 71.

BIG EDGE

Since the semi-final will be in Ottawa, let's look at the two games played in the capital. Ottawa rushed for 278 yards and passed for 409. Montreal rushed 238 yards and passed 342.

Total yards gained: Ottawa 687, Montreal 581.

All this seems to favor Ottawa. Odds-makers probably will be giving 10 points or more on Ottawa.

But Clair and likely Alouettes coach Peahead Walker will say the statistics don't mean a thing. In fact, they'd probably sooner not look at them, Clair because his players might become complacent, and Walker because his might be discouraged.

If Clair's men think they have the game cinched, however, the coach need only remind them of Montreal's victory over league-winning Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday 15-14.

GAINS CLOSE

There is also the fact that in spite of lopsided statistics between these two teams alone, in the over-all picture the total yards-gained figures for each team over the full season are pretty well balanced, Ottawa with 5,336 and Montreal with 5,151.

Coach Clair himself said in an interview he's far from confident of a win Saturday, although good news about Ottawa's injury situation made everything "much brighter."

"At one time it was looking pretty black," said the coach. Seven Riders came out of last Saturday's bruising encounter with Toronto Argonauts on the limp. Ottawa beat the cellar-dwelling Argos 31 - 21. But all seven were out to practice Tuesday night and able to run.

Bangkok, Thailand — Samart Sorndaeng, 150, Bangkok, outpointed Del Flanagan, 151, St. Paul, Minn., 10.

Goalie's Advice Helped Horvath With Shooting

CHICAGO (AP)—Bronco Horvath is the National Hockey League's scoring sensation because he heeded a goaltender's advice—shoot fast and along the ice.

The 29-year-old centre, contributing two goals and two assists as Boston Bruins beat Chicago Black Hawks 6-3 Tuesday night, has 12 goals in 12 games. He says of his success:

"It's not how hard you shoot, it's how quick you get your shot away. The element of surprise is the big thing. If you hold your shot to get it set, the goalie gets set too. But if you get your shot away fast, the goalie isn't ready and you can beat him easily."

"Rocket Richard (of Canadiens) is the best example of that. He shoots the instant he gets the puck and you know how many goals he's scored."

Since his youth in Port Colborne, Ont., Bronco has been a student of scoring. Much of this was acquired in talks with Port Colborne neighbor Don Simmons, a goaltender with the Bruins.

One of the Simmons' tips concerned the element of surprise. Horvath began practising snapping his shots quickly for hours at a time—he still does. Simmons also told Horvath, a six-foot, 170-pounder, the toughest shot to stop is along the ice.

South Africa Defeats Canada In Opening Match Of Commonwealth Golf Tourney; Silverberg Is Lone Winner

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—South Africa defeated Canada 7½ to 1½ Tuesday in the opening match of the Commonwealth golf tournament.

South Africa, favored to win the tournament, swept through the three foursome matches to pick up three points, and then took four of the six singles matches while halving one for 4½ more points.

The only Canadian win of the day came in the singles when Doug Silverberg of Calgary defeated R. Williams 7 and 6.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., and A. Walker split their match for Canada's other scoring point.

In the day's other match, Australia was upset 6-3 by New Zealand. Australia, which won the first Commonwealth championship at St. Andrew's, Scotland, in 1934, had been rated the team with the best chance of overtaking South Africa.

BRITAIN HAS BYE
Britain had a bye Tuesday and opens play today against South Africa.

In the Canada - South Africa match, the local teams showed too much experience for the visitors. Two of the foursomes were close matches but the Canadians never were able to match the South Africans' play.

Silverberg, 26-year-old veteran of international amateur play, teamed with Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver in the closest foursomes match. They finally were defeated 1 up by R. Taylor and Williams.

Cowan, who at 20 is the youngest player on the Canadian team, and Ron Willey of Vancouver also were defeated 1 up, by Walker and J. Le Roux.

In the other foursomes, Johnny Johnston, 33-year-old real estate salesman from Vancouver, and Nick Westlock of Windsor, Ont., lost 4 and 2 to J. Boyd and D. Hutchinson.

In the other singles matches, Hutchinson defeated Johnston 6 and 5, Boyd beat Ticehurst 7 and 6, Taylor beat Willey 5 and 4 and Le Roux beat Westlock 2 up.

Odds Against Vancouver Getting Another WIFU Game But If So Sam, Tony, Jiggs And King Are Ready

VANCOUVER (CP) — The odds are against another West-ern Interprovincial Football Union game in Empire Stadium this year but Sam, Tony, Jiggs and King will be ready if the British Columbia Lions manage to reach the final.

Their specific job will be to control exuberant fans. In the course of their duties they'll probably save another set of cross-bars and some valuable stadium turf.

Sam, Tony, Jiggs and King are four police dogs who kept the fans in check at Lions' last two games here. They were brought in after B.C. supporters, fired by Lions' best-ever showing in the league, started doing some damage to the stadium.

When 1,000 fans milled around the goalposts after B.C.'s victory over Calgary two weeks ago, constables walked two of the dogs onto the field. The fans meekly dispersed.

Deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose admits none of the four dogs would ever be actually let loose among a crowd. But so far, one look at the dogs has been sufficient to frighten off the bravest of fans.

If the crowd doesn't disperse immediately, says Ambrose, all the handler has to do is speak a command and the dogs, still on leashes, lunge and snarl at the fans.

"We've never found anybody," he says, "who won't back away from a snarling dog."

Two of the dogs, King and Jiggs, are fierce German Shepherds. Sam is a black Belgian Shepherd and Tony a Golden Labrador. Only two of them are needed to control one football crowd but all four are kept busy with other duties.

Police chief George Archer reported to city council last week that since they were introduced here in April, the four canine constables have helped in 36 arrests and the execution of nine warrants, helped check 465 persons and 139 automobiles, covered 153 calls, walked 480 miles on their patrols and travelled another 10,000 miles by car, and even helped issue 14 traffic tickets.

Pee Wee Reese Quits Dodgers To Join Dean

NEW YORK (AP) — After 20 years as player and coach with the Dodgers, Pee Wee Reese is quitting the club to become a baseball commentator on television, it was learned Tuesday. Official announcement of the switch will be made Thursday.

The 39-year-old veteran has signed a two-year contract to join Dizzy Dean in handling the commentary of the CBS "games of the week" on Saturdays and Sundays for a midwestern brewery. Reese replaces Buddy Blattner, a former major league infielder.

Reese will receive $32,000 a year under the contract, which has a two-year option after the first two years. He received an estimated $18,000 salary as coach with Los Angeles.

Canada's International Jumping Team Is Strictly Simon-Pure As Riders Compete In Spare Time Only

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't get much more Simon-pure than Canada's international horse jumping team.

"We are lucky if we can practice two nights a week," 25-year-old Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont., said Tuesday night as the U.S. National Horse Show started an eight-day run. "And practice and training can tell the story in this business."

Elder won the West Point Challenge Trophy, the first of the big international tests, Tuesday. It was his first victory after four years of trying.

"But I don't mind not winning," he said. "And neither do my teammates. We use his time as our vacation and we're happy just to compete. We hit only four or five shows a year."

OTHERS PREPARE

Elder notes that United States riders make a European tour in the summer and that the other teams in the National-Mexico, Argentina and Brazil—all have military riders who work most of the year.

But for a team that is strictly catch-as-catch-can, the Canadians are doing fine. Tom Gayford of Toronto, at 32 the veteran of the

Colombo Plan Has Nurtured Friendship Between Canadian And Indian Peoples

By RUSSELL ELMAN
NEW DELHI (CP) — Half a world apart and as diverse as any two countries can be, Canada and India today share a unique common bond in cementing the unity of the new Commonwealth.

The relationship, nurtured over only a 12-year period, has become a remarkable example of Commonwealth flexibility, permitting free and close association between widely differing countries. It perhaps has also contributed to the Commonwealth's survival.

"Relations between India and Canada are good, even more than averagely good," Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said during a brief interview.

"This is partly because of the close association between Canadian leaders and ourselves, and partly because Canada, it seems to us, though distant, tries to understand our viewpoint. This always helps to bring our countries together."

At first sight differences between the two countries might seem so great that no meeting ground could be found.

On the one hand, Canada is the world's second-largest country in land area, a monarchy but long independent, relatively developed economically with a high standard of living, and fully committed to a policy of military alliance for her defence.

On the other hand, India is the world's second most-populated country, a republic but newly independent, underdeveloped economically with a low standard of living, and dedicated to a policy of non-alignment and neutrality in international affairs.

Upon India's gaining independence from British rule in 1947 the only substantial link and reason for closer bonds between the two countries was that both were members of the Commonwealth and United Nations. Immediately after independence, a new pattern quickly began to evolve as New Delhi almost overnight became one of the world's most important capitals. It soon became a regular port-of-call on round-the-world tours by Canadian prime ministers, cabinet ministers, businessmen and tourists.

Canada swiftly established formal relations with opening of a high commission, first diplomatic mission in Asia outside Japan. Today the New Delhi office ranks close behind London, Washington and Paris.

In 1950 Canada and India, as Commonwealth members, shared in the birth of the Colombo plan for economic assistance to the underdeveloped countries of South and Southeast Asia. Consequently, for the first time, the Canadian government became involved in a financial "investment" in India.

Under the Colombo plan and special wheat gifts, Canada has since given more than $200,000,000 in capital aid to India to ease food shortages and assist economic development.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS
But many Indians, although highly appreciative of Canada's material aid, place even greater emphasis on the value of the Canadian relationship, attaching particular importance to Canada's role in international affairs and in the United Nations.

To them it is significant that Canada is not a colonial power, pursues no racial discrimination policy, is not suspected of promoting aid programs with an ulterior motive for economic or political gains, has no troops in Asia, and is not a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, seen by some Asian critics as a Western device to perpetuate imperialism.

Noting Canada's "considerable role" in Commonwealth and world affairs, Prime Minister Nehru said:

"One thing about Canada that impresses us is her quiet dignity. She doesn't throw her weight around."

Brome Branch Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. have been busy making arrangements for their forthcoming Remembrance Day observances. # Alaska highway project involves dig winner works program in the Yukon

By HELEN BOGART
WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) — One big winter works program in the Yukon concerns the Alaska Highway.

For years a cold weather problem for the Northwest Highway System, which maintains the Alaska Highway from Mile "0" at Dawson Creek, B.C., to Mile 1225 at the Yukon-Alaska border, was an icing condition.

Popularly called "glaciers," these are found on northern sections of the road where insufficient drainage causes sheets of ice to pile across the roadway. Improved drainage corrected most of the problem.

NEW METHOD
Major H. E. A. Devitt, senior highway superintendent, discovered a new twist to beat the icing condition during a visit to Alaska.

Major Devitt said the technique — using a space heater — will be tried this winter at Beaver Creek, Mile 1140.

Under the system devised by Alaska road engineers, heaters placed at drainage ditches to keep the ground from freezing and thereby keeping water running freely.

Paving of southern sections of the highway is coming along quietly, with Mile 35 to 52 completed this year. With the exception of a detour around the collapsed Peace River bridge at Taylor, B.C., an all-new paved section has been finished to Mile 52 north of Dawson Creek.

Major Devitt said preparatory work now is under way between Mile 52 and 56 for paving next year, with paving contracts already let to extend hardtop to about Mile 82.

BUSY SECTION
In the Whitehorse area, engineering studies are being carried out for the paving of Mile 903-926, where there is a heavy density of traffic. No date has been set for actual paving.

The job of maintaining the Canadian section of the highway falls to the highway maintenance establishment under senior highway engineer Lt. Col. J. H. Reeves, with headquarters here.

This army unit has the enormous task of keeping the highway in good shape and continually improving it by realignment, bridge and culvert construction and resurfacing.

Resurfacing involves laying three inches of crushed gravel on the road. Engineers plan to replace each mile of gravel surface every four years.

BATTLE WEATHER
Despite difficult weather conditions, the five major crews resurfaced about 300 miles of road in 1959. Each crew of up to 30 men and a dozen five-ton dump trucks live at temporary camps during the summer, moving along with the job.

The summer of 1959 also saw an innovation on the highway, billed by the Canadian Travel Bureau as the "best gravel highway in the world." Steel guardrails were erected in the Muncho Lake section and at Steamboat Mountain in northern B.C.

New road signs also were added to make for safer, as well as more interesting driving. Army engineers put up signs to point to tourist attractions as well as settlements.

Road signs have been patterned after those in B.C. Because the province will eventually take over part of the highway, Army engineers felt road signs should be standard throughout, to prevent confusion.

Major Devitt said the technique — using a space heater — will be tried this winter at Beaver Creek, Mile 1140. Under the system devised by Alaska road engineers, heaters placed at drainage ditches to keep the ground from freezing and thereby keeping water running freely. Paving of southern sections of the highway is coming along quietly, with Mile 35 to 52 completed this year. With the exception of a detour around the collapsed Peace River bridge at Taylor, B.C., an all-new paved section has been finished to Mile 52 north of Dawson Creek. ### Golden Wedding

Mr. And Mrs. W. Hull Honored

ROCK ISLAND.—In honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, a reception was held on Monday evening, Oct. 26, in the I.O.O.F. Hall, which was attractively decorated for the occasion with gold colored garlands, 50 numerals and white wedding bells.

About 90 relatives and friends assembled to honor the couple. Mrs. Hull wore a bottle green satin dress, featuring an all over embroidery of dark blue. On arriving at the hall the bride of the golden years was presented with a corsage of yellow roses by her daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Planche and Mrs. William Higgins, Nellie, and their father with a boutonniere.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by Hector Channell, Dean Wheeler and Paul Morel, Mr. and Mrs. Hull were escorted by their son-in-law, Mr. Higgins, to two special chairs decorated in gold. As the anniversary waltz was played they were the leading couple on the dance floor.

Mr. Higgins paid high tribute to his parents-in-law. Best wishes from the two daughters followed. Mrs. Gladys Hunter, representing Crystal Rebekah Lodge, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hull with a basket of gold colored Shasta daisies and the family presented a basket of gold chrysanthemums.

PRESENTATION
Mr. Hull expressed appreciation for the kind words, the reception and the gifts.

Later in the evening, Eugene Webb of Toronto, a brother of the groom, on behalf of the assembled friends and others unable to attend, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hull with a gold satin-bound guest book and a purse of money. Mr. Hull responded with "God bless each of you."

Dancing was the entertainment of the evening. Refreshments were served buffet style and the celebrants' table was arranged with a three-tier anniversary cake centre. The cakes, made by Mrs. Planche and Mrs. Higgins, were decorated by Mrs. Ben Blais in white and gold, topped with a gold pedestal and numeral. The lower tier featured red carpeted steps with a bride and groom standing under a white arch. Ivory candles in crystal holders and baskets of gold colored flowers completed the decor.

OTHER GIFTS
The couple also received gifts from a granddaughter, Mrs. Clarence Mott, (Carolyn Planche,) Mr. Mott and two children, of

Cabin Walls Of Junk Aid Dew Worm Trade

HAILEYBURY, Ont. — (CP) — A mosaic of bottle-caps and knickknacks on the outside walls of a log cabin has helped to double the dew worm business of a retired lumberjack and prospector.

Tracy Ross, 76-year-old veteran of the First World War, began his unusual decoration scheme last spring. Now, thousands of bottle caps and miscellaneous trinkets adorn two walls and the door of a cabin which stores logs for the stove, and the dew worms that are sold to tourists and local anglers.

A quick look at the decorations shows counterfeit money, Santa Claus dolls, wishbones from chickens and turkeys, razors, partridge tails, deer antlers and a bird house, among many other articles.

FILLED SPARE TIME

Mr. Ross, who retired from prospecting five years ago because of a heart ailment, said he had nothing else to do, so he decided to decorate the cabin.

"Everything we come across that we have no room for inside, we nail to the walls."

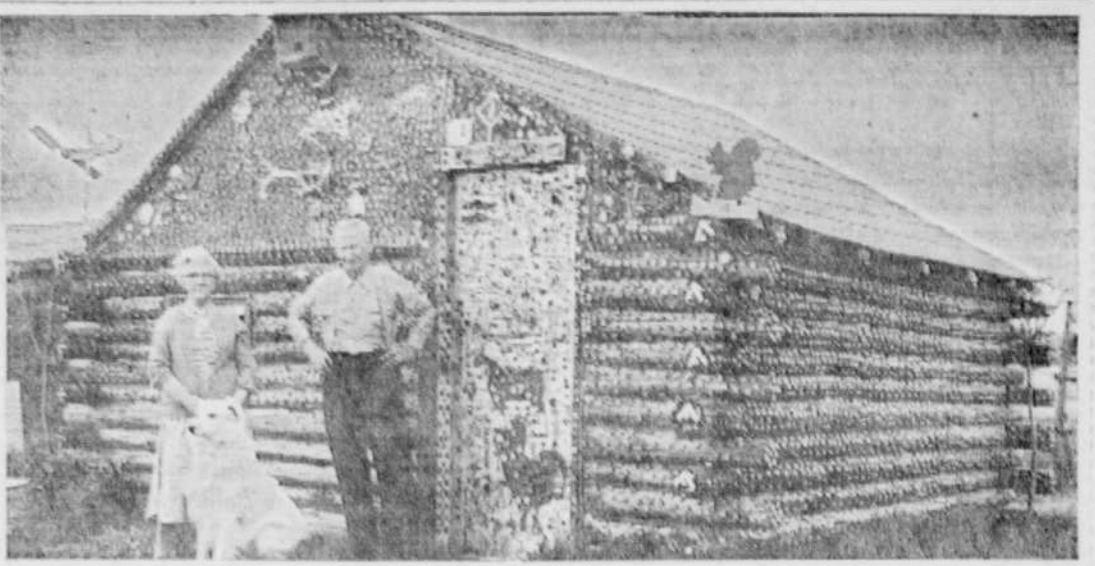

The idea proved profitable. The cabin is such an attraction that his dew worm business has doubled. Signatures of hundreds of visitors fill three notebooks. Many have promised to return with trinkets for the display. "We haven't had one trinket stolen from us," he said. He has tried to count the items but can't get an exact total. "I couldn't begin to guess how many objects are nailed down," he said.

His wife, Lillian, estimates that more than 10 pounds of nails were used in making the mosaic.

But it isn't yet complete. The elderly pensioner, who has spent 42 years in Haileybury, said he hopes to cover the entire building—except for the roof.

PIONEER HOSPITAL
Canada's first hospital, Hotel Dieu at Quebec City, was started by nuns in 1639.

The Doctor Says

Growing Boy Does Fine Without Help of Tapeworm By THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

"How do you get examined for tapeworm?" asks a midwestern mother. "My 12-year-old son never stops eating and he's still thin as a rail. My mother says he must have a tapeworm. Is that true and what do you do to find out and cure him?"

Dear lady, it's easy enough to find out if your boy's got a tapeworm. All you need to do is send a specimen of his stool to your doctor and ask for a report.

However it's only fair to say that the chances are small that he has a tapeworm and if he has, the chances are even smaller that removal of the worm will make much change in your boy's eating habits.

Growing boys and girls need stoking like an open fire. In addition to normal body maintenance, they need nutritive material for growth.

We elders tend to burst our seams. The kids outgrow their sleeves and trouser legs.

Then too, there is the demand created by their untiring activities. They burn enormous amounts of energy playing games or running and jumping for the sheer joy of it.

They can't even remain quiet while they're reading or studying. Legs are crossed, thrown over the sides or the back of the chair or wound around its rungs. Time is taken out to try a few dance steps, go through the motions of pitching or batting or make a trip to the icebox or cookie jar.

Every game is played as if the outcome were to decide the fate of the world. Every rational parent develops an acute attack of exhaustion just watching a sock-hop or an evening of square dances.

Maybe the letter writer's mother is right and her grandson has a tapeworm. More likely, he's just a growing boy who'll soon enough have to let out his belt and begin to count his calories.

Patience seems, as in so many cases, to be a reasonable prescription.

Joint Meeting Attended By Commissioner

SUTTON — The Sutton Girl Guides and Brownie Pack held a combined meeting in the High School auditorium, when Mrs. Monk of Granby, District Girl Guide Commissioner, was present and awarded the following badges:

Hostess Badges: K. Whighton, S. Moynan, A. Bower and C. Thompson.

Golden Bar Badges to Brownies: D. Inglis, A. Bosely, K. Whighton, L. Gocher, D. Day, C. Cooke.

Golden Hand to Brownies: G. Hawley, L. Rutter, C. McGovern, M. Dyer, N. Thompson, C. Lengacher and J. Knights.

Instead of the Brownies "fling-up" to Guides, six little Brownies were rocketed to the moon. G. Hawley, C. McGovern and L. Rutter received their wings and "flew down" to Guides; C. Cooke, K. Whighton and D. Day walked down to Guides.

The Brownies and Guides served lunch to the mothers and visitors and the evening was brought to a close with Campfire and Taps.

A unique feature of the Girl Guides and Brownies of Sutton, is the fact that their Leader and

By RUKMINI DEVI
BOMBAY (CP)—India is planning a medical campaign designed to eradicate smallpox and cholera, which take a heavy toll of lives each year.

In the last decade death rates from the two diseases have declined steadily following expansion of health services, especially in the rural areas. But there have been sudden epidemics in rural areas, as happened last year in four states.

Newspapers reported that one-half the people in one village of 250 in Orissa died in a smallpox epidemic.

There have been angry debates in several state legislatures. Opposition members complained that remedial and preventive measures were inadequate.

VACCINATIONS URGED

The central health ministry in New Delhi appointed a top-level committee of experts to prepare a comprehensive program to deal with the problem.

The committee suggested the "Brown Owl" is Miss Doreen Meacoe of Abercorn, who directs both groups from a wheel-chair. Miss Meacoe, a victim of multiple sclerosis, gives a fine example of courage overcoming adversity in carrying on this wonderful work among the young girls.

entire population of India — now estimated at about 397,000,000—should be vaccinated within about three years. On a modest estimate, this would require some 50,000 persons to handle the vaccinations.

States like West Bengal and Orissa which have been plagued by large outbreaks of smallpox have been asked to take up the work immediately. Health is primarily a state responsibility under the Indian constitution but the central government will make liberal financial grants to states undertaking the work.

WORK OPPOSED

Vaccination work already has been speeded up in the countryside. In the past nine months, some 4,000,000 rural residents have been vaccinated. But the work is not without its heart-breaks. In rural areas many still believe smallpox can be eradicated by prayers and incantations. They not only ridicule the vaccination officers but prevent their children from being vaccinated.

Orthodox Hindus hold that vaccination is sinful since the smallpox vaccine is prepared out of animal matter. Some Indian leaders also oppose it on "ethical" grounds. India's Finance Minister Morarji R. Desai, for example, is a staunch vegetarian and is against what he calls "the injection of animal matter into the human system."

Among out of town guests were Mrs. Bessie Cobleigh, Bennington, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Webb, Toronto, Ont., Mr. Wm. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ball, North Hatley, Mr. and Mrs. Burnie Smith, East Barnet, Vt., and others from Beebe and the Boundary Villages.

Mr. Hull and the former Elsie Webb were married on October 27, 1909, at Derby, Vt., by Rev. Ernest W. Hilman. They have two daughters, Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Planché, four grandchildren, Mrs. Mott, Mrs. Bilodeau, Miss Gail Higgins and William Higgins, and four great-grandchildren. They have lived for 50 years in the Boundary Villages.

On October 27, Mr. and Mrs. Hull were host and hostess to a family dinner held in their home.

Canada's oldest brewery will launch Canada's newest beer, a truly Canadian lager, early in November. Above SENATOR H. deM. MOLSON, president of the brewery which bears his name, discusses the new product with his assistant, MR. J. DAVID MOLSON, a sixth generation member of this illustrious brewing family. Their meeting is under the watchful eye of John Molson who founded the brewery in 1786 and whose portrait occupies a place of honour in the Board Room. The new Molson's Canadian Lager is the result of a three-year survey and gives Canada a truly national beer brewed to the taste preferences of modern-day Canadians.

Molson's To Introduce New Beer Next Week

A new and distinctively Canadian lager, Molson's Canadian Lager Beer, will be introduced next week by Molson's Brewery Limited.

"This new brand is the result of three years of careful research into consumer preferences and market requirements," Mr. P. T. Molson, Quebec General Manager explained. "It is a lighter and distinctively Canadian lager, brewed to satisfy the Canadian taste and, logically, has been given the name Canadian Lager Beer," he said.

Mr. Paul-A. Cote, General Sales Manager, added:

DAY

NOVEMBER 8th

Greater Love Hath No Man . . . Than That He Lay Down His Life!

Remembrance Day is a time to set aside to pay tribute to those who have fallen in battle and to civilian dead. Yet the celebration of Remembrance Day is empty if it does not prompt us to remember the causes for which they have given their lives and to rededicate our own lives for the welfare of humanity. Let us, each and every one, resolve to keep faith with those who have gone before us and to give substance to that faith in our daily thoughts and actions.

The Poppy—A Symbol Of Remembrance

The poppy has a history dating back to antiquity. In the mythology of ancient China it was well known, by the very potency of the drug distilled from it, as the flower of forgetfulness, and through the ages it kept this meaning until the time of the Napoleonic Wars when a thoughtful and observant writer of the period first remarked the intimate association the scarlet poppy had with the graves of those who had fallen in battle.

In the First World War millions had the opportunity of observing this phenomenon in France and Flanders. They saw their fallen comrades lay, a vast profusion of poppies waving defiantly at the terror of warfare and hiding from view the starkness and grimness of the beaten earth. Newcomers to the field of battle remarked on this to their comrades, and seasoned veterans replied, "Yes, it's like this every year, but they seem to increase in number each time they blossom." Perhaps it was from these words that the association between the blood shed on the field of battle and the blood red poppy first grew up in men's minds. Certainly it is impossible to prove that the idea of associating the poppy with the blood shed in sacrifice by our gallant warriors originated with any one particular person in any one particular place.

In the United States the idea for Poppy Day is attributed to a fair, blue-eyed lady who died in Milwaukee a short time ago at the age of 86. The story goes that Mary Haney got the inspiration from John McCrae's immortal poem "In Flanders Fields" and had it adopted as the symbol of remembrance by a post of the American Legion.

In Britain the first poppies sold were made by women and children from the devastated areas of France where the real poppies were still in full bloom.

In Canada the earliest reference to the Flanders Poppy as a symbol of remembrance is contained in an excerpt from the minutes of a meeting of the Great War Veterans Association held at Port Arthur in July, 1921. It reads, "Following a motion suspending the regular order of business, Madame E. Guerin, 'The Poppy Lady of France', was presented to the conference and invited to outline her suggestion as to the adoption of the poppy as a national emblem to be worn on Armistice Day in memory of fallen comrades. It was moved by Comrade Churney, seconded by Comrade Hamilton that this conference representing the Dominion Command of the G.W.V.A. of Canada hereby approves the proposal that the citizens of this Dominion of Canada accept the poppy as its flower of remembrance and recommend that the poppy be worn on the anniversary of Armistice Day."

The first poppies sold in Canada were also those made by the women and children of France. But the next year, following the leadership of the British Legion, the poppies that were sold on the streets of our towns and cities were made by disabled Canadian veterans who understood only too well their significance.

Each year the number of poppy emblems distributed throughout Canada has steadily increased until last year over four million poppies were worn by Canadians. Through the Canadian Legion's national poppy campaign this symbol has come to stand for more than mere remembrance of the dead. In the hands of this organization it has come to mean a source of solace in time of trouble and hope for the future. It has become a source of useful employment for disabled veterans both in the Veterans Shops and in the homes of those unable to stand the strain of regular employment. In the face of this it is not surprising that John McCrae's poem has come to be more and more associated with Poppy Day, for it seems to speak of all those things which the poppy symbolizes.

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below,
We are the dead, short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

Weekend Activities Announced

Citizens of the border community will be observing Remembrance Day this weekend, with a program of activities planned by the Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5 of the Canadian Legion. The activities will get under way on Saturday afternoon, when the Legion Home at Stanstead will be open to the public. Everyone is cordially invited and will have the opportunity of seeing the newly renovated home and to meet the Legion members. On Saturday evening at 6:30, following the reception at the Legion Home, the annual veteran's dinner will take place in Stanstead South United Church Hall, Rock Island. As in the past, this and all other activities will be open to all veterans on either side of the border. The speaker on Saturday evening, and at the memorial service on Sunday, will be Norman MacLeod, of Montreal, vice-president of Quebec Provincial Command and a man of wide experience in Legion affairs.

The veterans' parade to the Haskell Opera House will move off on Sunday from the Legion Home at 2 p.m., with the memorial service starting at 2:30 p.m. All veterans are urged to attend and the dress will be berets and medals. The Stanstead College Cadet Corps and Band will lead the parade, and the College boys' choir will furnish the singing at the Opera House.

On Sunday morning, detachments of veterans and other organizations will place wreaths at all local war memorials and crosses will be placed on veterans' graves in all local cemeteries. The public is most cordially invited to attend and take part in this memorial service to veterans from both sides of the border who gave their lives in the cause of freedom.
