He will also visit Washington and other cities in the United States.

Yesterday he met a number of employers and also went out to Dominion Park where the labor picnic was being held, and met Messrs. Alphonse Verville, M.P., Gustave Franc, and J. T. Foster, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council.

ELECTING A GOVERNOR IN VERMONT.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 3. — One of the most interesting political campaigns that Vermont has experienced for years closed last night and to-day it is expected that between 65,000 and 70,000 voters will decide between five candidates for Governor. Vermont is considered a staunch Republican state, but a successful candidate for Governor must receive a majority of the vote or else the election goes to the legislature. As Vermont is the first state election since the National conventions, the decision is looked upon as having some bearing upon the presidential contest in November.

MAKE MONTREALERS PAY.

Pointe Claire Council has decided to take action against any Montreal merchants who send delivery carts there without paying the license fees. New buildings in that municipality show an increase of $150,000 over last year.

MONTREAL TO WELCOME THE PREMIER ON HIS RETURN

Montreal is to do its share in acclaiming Mr. Borden when he returns from England. This was decided at a meeting of prominent citizens held at Freeman's Hotel to-day. Ex-Mayor Laporte, president, and Mayor W. O. H. Dodds and Mr. A. Papineau Mathieu acted as joint secretaries. Among those present were Sir Alexandre Lacoste, Sir Hugh Graham, the Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Ex-Mayor Guerin, ex-Mayor Ekers, D. Lorne McGibbon, Ald. A. D. Fraser, Ald. J. U. Emard, T. Chase Casgrain, A. F. Leggatt, C. E. Gault, M.P.P., F. J. Bisaillon, K.C., L. J. Tarte, J. Davidson, D. McDonald, E. W. Villeneuve, S. W. Ewing, C. A. Harwood, K.C., A. W. Grenier, K.C., C. P. Beaubien, Paul Lacoste and F. J. Curran.

The receptions tendered to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir John Thompson were recalled, and as they were non-partizan in character, the mayor of the time reading the address it was decided to make this reception of a similar nature, Mayor Lavallee to be asked to present the address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Montreal, regardless of political affiliations.

A large committee was formed, and after the executive committee has interviewed the civic authorities, a general meeting of the committee which every member is urged by the president to attend, will be held at Freeman's at eleven o'clock to-morrow morning.

GREAT RECEPTIONS FOR MR. BORDEN.

Ottawa, September 3. — Word has been received at the Capital that Mr. Borden will likely reach Ottawa next Sunday. A civic welcome will be given him on Monday, and Monday at a big Conservative banquet at the Chateau Laurier.

On his way from Quebec to Ottawa the First Minister will be given a series of receptions. Demonstrations will likely be tendered him at Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal. It is understood here preparations are being made to make the Montreal reception a notable one. A large number of Ontario Conservative members may go to Montreal to receive him.

The Toronto Board of Trade is arranging for a reception on September 23, which will surpass all of the demonstrations. An invitation has already been accepted by the Premier. Twelve hundred will sit down to the banquet, and arrangements will be made to have seven or eight thousand hear him. The Toronto banquet will be non-political.

THIRTY-SIX DROWNED IN PENNSYLVANIA FLOODS

Damage to Property Amounts to Two Million Dollars—People Drowned Like Rats, Asleep in Their Homes—Train Wreck and Loss of Life Results From Landslide.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—There are 36 deaths as the result of floods in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Eastern Ohio on Sunday night and yesterday. The damage to property may not exceed two million dollars.

Numerous families are homeless, railroads traffic greatly impeded, and many cities spent Monday night in total darkness, both electric and gas plants being flooded.

Among the larger towns which suffered from the rise of the water were Washington, Beaver, Burgettstown, Canonsburg, and several smaller places in the Chartiers, Cherry and Beaver valley, of Western Pennsylvania, while in West Virginia, colliers and the surrounding territory suffered a great loss.

In the various localities, attempts are being made to take care of the homeless and to repair in part the damage caused by the floods.

Crews of railroads arrived on Monday night at the different places where a washout occurred, and are hard at work to-day putting tracks in shape to restore traffic, which has practically been at a standstill for the past 48 hours.

A TERRIBLE STORM.

Pittsburg, Sept. 3.— At least 22 known to be dead and eleven others believed to have perished, were the results last night of a terrific storm which swept Western and Northern Pennsylvania, the Panhandle district of West Virginia, and a section of East Ohio early yesterday.

The monetary loss cannot even be estimated at this time. After a 24-hour period of excessively hot weather, the storm broke Sunday evening. In addition to an extraordinary rain fall the electrical features were most spectacular. The steady rain caused every stream to leave its banks. Within a short time the water had washed away railroad tracks in many places and sent tons of earth from surrounding hills, making all thoroughfares in the flood zone impassable.

Latest reports from the various districts give the following table of fatalities.—

Colliers, W. Va.—Nine dead. It is estimated that twenty persons met death.

Cherry Valley, Pa.—Six drowned.
Burgettstown, Pa. —One drowned.
Avella, Pa.—Three drowned.
Cannonsburg, Pa.—Three drowned.

At Washington, Penna., the storm was especially severe. Six were drowned at Cherry Valley and one at Burgetstown, in that vicinity. All through that part of the state manufacturing plants were put out of commission and many homes wrecked. At Cherry Valley the flood waters caught the family of George Gillespie, while asleep. Gillespie, his wife and four children were victims of the sudden raging water. Mother and father were found dead, free of their home, but the bodies of the children were recovered drowned in their beds. Flood conditions at Cherry Valley are serious to-night.

Forces of men are working to clear up the wreckage, and others are on the way to the scene from surrounding towns. It is believed that others lost their lives at Cherry Valley, but this remains to be seen. Just what is being accomplished at that point to-night is not definite. Telegraph wires are down and only meagre telephone service is to be had. It 's known that stretches of country for ten and twelve miles at various places are completely washed over. Railroad service is absolutely crippled, and progress into the stricken territory is slow. In this vicinity alone the damage is estimated at $200,000.

CLOUDBURST CAUSED TRAIN WRECK.

Camp Douglas, Wis., Sept. 3.— Four persons were killed in the wreck of a passenger train, No. 10, on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway, which plunged into the Lemonweir River near Camp Douglas yesterday, owing to the washing away of a bridge. Twenty-six persons were injured, six of them seriously.

Every car, including the sleepers, with passengers still in their berths, was hurled into the stream, whose waters, augmented by the cloudburst of Sunday night, had made it a torrent. Panic-stricken occupants of the sleeping cars, clad only in night clothes, struggled through broken windows to escape. The smoking car was carried down stream, but all its occupants escaped.

The dead are:—Ralph Thompson, engineer; Abraham, fireman; mail clerk, nameunknown; Lee, baggageman.

The train had passed safely over the bridge a short time before, but was flagged at Tunnel because a washout further on had made the track impassable, and was ordered back to Camp Douglas so that the passengers might breakfast.

Meanwhile the Lemonweir, flooded by a cloudburst several miles up the valley, had torn away the bridge and, unwarned, the engineer could not stop his train in time to save it from plunging into the river.

BECKER NOT PREPARED, TOLD TO PLEAD 'NOT GUILTY

New York, Sept. 3.—Becker was arrangned before Mr. Justice Goff for pleading shortly before 1 o'clock, but still refused to plead, on his counsel's advice that the indictment had been "improperly and illegally found." By direction of Mr. Justice Goff a technical plea of "not guilty" was entered for the prisoner.

Counsel for Becker protested that he was not ready to go to trial and insisted that he needed a week at the least for further preparation. Mr. Justice Goff quickly over-ruled four motions brought by Mr. McIntyre to obtain a delay and at Mr. Whitman's request set the trial for Thursday, September 12.

To the surprise of all, Becker's lawyer did not ask for a change of venue. He requested, however, that the trial be set for some time about the middle of October, when the "present hysteria and clamor" should have subsided. This was necesary he said, in order that his client might have a fair and impartial trial.

Becker came into court nonchalently and pleasantly greeted several friends. He stood erect, with his arms resting on the railing before the bar, and followed the proceedings closely.

New York, Sept. 3.—On the application of Mr. Whitman, district attorney, the case of Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Rosenthal, was transferred to-day from the Court of General Sessions to the criminal branch of the Supreme Court, before Mr. Justice Goff, sitting in extraordinary term. Mr. Justice Goff granted the application, agreeing not only that Becker should be tried before him, but that he should plead to the indictment before him.

In hopes of catching a glimpse of the prisoner, crowds gathered early at the criminal courts building, and others more hardy and less obtrusive, stood patiently in the rain under the Bridge of Sighs, which spans the street between the Tombs and the court room.

Aside from the arraignment of Becker, the most interesting of the day's developments in the Rosenthal case was the discovery by the district attorney's office of two alleged refugees conducted by the so called 'vice trust,' and the report that a sum of money belonging to Becker had been traced to Port Jervis, N.Y. The refuges uncovered were said to be a hotel in Hoboken, N.J., and four cottages at Centreville, N.Y., where workers of the under world, who might be sought as witnesses for the prosecution, could hide quietly until the storm blew over.

DISARMAMENT RAID SHOWS FOREIGNERS ARE AFRAID TO CARRY FIREARMS NOW

The round up of foreigners, suspected of carrying [illegible] weapons, which was conducted on Saturday by Chief McCaskill [illegible] Detective offices [illegible] Lieutenant Savard, of the City Hall station, was most successful from the police point of view, as showing a remarkable decrease in the number of men who find it necessary to go about the streets with loaded revolvers in their pockets, and stilletos up their sleeves ready for service. Out of eight hundred who were forced to [illegible] up or go to the police station for refusing to empty pockets, only five men were found with the weapons on them.

Chief McCaskill this morning was elated over the result, making as a comparison the raid of four years ago, when, in a search that lasted a day and a night no fewer than six hundred guns and other weapons were collected and confiscated from seventeen hundred suspects, quite a record for a single day.

That was the beginning of the crusade to disarm the foreign population, and each successive search resulted in a smaller number of arrests, the second one yielding fifty weapons, and the third eighteen. On Saturday, although the number of hold-ups came near the thousand mark, there were only five arrests made, and it is on this showing that Chief McCaskill bases his jubilation, declaring the disarming campaign a success.

The men arrested were in court this morning, and were remanded for a few days. The attorney-general in the meantime will hear the report of the case from the Provincial Department, which will ask that a severe sentence be imposed, still further to suppress the custom of carrying pistols, which has [illegible]

NEW PRECAUTION DEALERS MUST TAKE.

A new precaution for second hand dealers to observe was started by Mr. Recorder Weir this morning, [illegible] of registering in a special book the sale of every revolver or firearm, the name of the purchaser, the date as well as the make of the weapon, according to sub-section 2 of section [illegible] of the criminal code.

Frank Sheehan was arrested yesterday charged with being drunk and on being searched a revolver was found in his possession. When asked by Mr. Recorder Weir this morning where he obtained the revolver he stated that he did not know the name of the [illegible] but could identify the place. Accordingly Sheehan [illegible] constable Levert went [illegible] and the proprietor, Mr. [illegible] second-hand dealer, was [illegible] before the Court, and when asked whether he had registered the sale of the revolver to Sheehan he [illegible] not. As it was his first [illegible] was let off on personal bonds. Mr. Recorder Weir gave instructions to the police to take special care that all weapons sold should be registered.

Sheehan was sentenced to [illegible] days for keeping a revolver in his possession.

MILITIA TRY TO KEEP RIOTING CONVICTS INSIDE PRISON WALLS

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 3.—Rioting convicts confined in bull pens, have broken out, and are now in the prison yard with the officials, exerting every effort to keep them from going over the walls. The local companies of the state militia have been ordered to the prison at once, and, it is said, have orders to shoot the first prisoner who attempts to scale the walls. The fire department has been called to the scene, some fires having been started by the convicts.

When the prisoners reached the yard they began ruining everything within reach, and fearing they would set the factories on fire the city fire department was summoned, and is now aiding in an endeavor to subdue the rioters. Hundreds of shopmen and others are on the streets surrounding the prison and the special police, hastily summoned, are having trouble in keeping the crowds orderly.

New York, Sept. 3. The [illegible] of armed guards which has been stationed around the John D. Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, near Tarrytown, for the last two weeks was established because of death threats received by Mr. Rockefeller himself and members of his family, according to the 'World' to-day.

Eighteen negroes, deputy sheriffs and a squad of detectives, all armed, constitute the guard. According to the 'World,' Mr. Rockefeller and his son have received a number of letters threatening both their lives and property, and demanding heavy ransom.

Threats to kidnap Mr. John D. Rockefeller, jr.'s two young children who are ill with measles at a nursery on the estate, have also been made, it is said.

1,500 NEW BOX CARS.

C. P. R. Places Another Large .. Order For Rolling Stock.

The C. P. R. has ordered another 1,500 box cars from the National Steel Car Co. of Hamilton, the cars to be delivered early next year. The order was placed in view of the growing freight traffic and grain trade of the country. The cars cost about $800, so that this new order means an outlay of about $1,200,000.

MUSHROOM CULTURE

Profitable Crop When Successfully Grown—Details of the Process.

The ordinary commercial mushroom (Agaricus campestris) may be recognized by the creamy white under surface of the cap, which turns to a light pink as the plant matures.

The common causes for failure in mushroom growing are the use of poor spawn or spawn killed by improper storage, spawning at too high temperatures, too much water at spawning or later; and improper preparation of the bed. One of the first requisites is fresh, reliable spawn. This can be obtained from reliable seedsmen or from certain mushroom spawn dealers in different parts of the United States and Canada. The usual price is $2 for enough spawn for ten square feet.

Mushrooms may be grown in a shed, cave, cellar, or any vacant space in a greenhouse, if the temperature and moisture conditions are favorable. The temperature should range from 53 to 60 degrees, 55 to 58 degrees being best. The place should not be very damp, though a moist atmosphere is desirable. Cold is less injurious than heat. That is why so many mushroom houses are built half below the ground, so that there is less trouble in keeping down the temperature. Mushrooms are usually grown in early spring or summer, and in fall or early winter, but in proper houses they may be produced the year around. The color of the product is much improved by darkness, but a little light may be allowed to harvest the mushrooms and work in the bed.

The manure must be in the primary stage of fermentation, and should not contain more than a moderate amount of straw or such substitutes as sawdust or shavings. It should first be piled in a heap three or four feet high, and if dry should be watered slightly to start fermentation. In four or five days it should be turned, and again in seven or ten days, to permit of even fermentation and prevent burning in spots. In fifteen days or three weeks the temperature will begin to fall and it will be ready for use.

The beds are usually three and a half by four feet and ten or twelve inches deep, with boards outside to hold the manure. The compost should be just moist—a state when water cannot readily be squeezed out. Layers of four to six inches should be put in and packed slightly. The temperature should be allowed to fall to 75 degrees before the spawn is put in.

Commercial spawn comes in bricks, which are cut or broken into two-inch squares, ten or twelve pieces to the brick. These are put ten inches apart, an inch under the surface of the manure. It is usually unnecessary to water the beds after spawning, which almost invariably damps off the young spawn. If in two weeks there are no white threads in the manure about the spawn a layer of loam not too heavy nor too light, about an inch and a half deep, may be spread over the surface. It should be barely moist, to prevent the bed from drying out.

When the mushrooms appear the bed may be sprinkled lightly once or twice a week, but never soaked. The walks and walls of the house may be watered to keep the atmosphere moist. The mushrooms usually appear some six weeks after spawning. In picking the cap, or cap and stem, should be grasped and twisted to remove it easily from the soil. All defective ones and the small 'buttons' should be removed. Shipment is made in small boxes similar to strawberry boxes, or in cardboard boxes holding two to five pounds, often lined with paper to keep the mushrooms in good condition. The market price ordinarily averages thirty-five to fifty cents a pound, and sometimes goes up to seventy-five cents.

The bed will produce successfully from six weeks to three months, many growers figuring the profitable yield to be half a pound to the square foot of surface. Many get two pounds to the square foot. When a bed is no longer profitable the manure may be used for garden purposes, though useless for mushrooms since the heat is exhausted. The house should be thoroughly cleaned, before another crop is raised.—'Fruit Magazine.'

HOW TO FEED ALFALFA.

Valuable Pointers on Handling an Excellent Feed Advantageously.

The best use I have found for a small plot of alfalfa is for soiling cattle and for feeding horses and poultry. Alfalfa is the best soiling crop known, and those who have an acre or more well established will do well to feed it with ensilage, or green cornfodder if they have it, to supplement pastures. It is very valuable as hay, but if I had only a small acreage I would first use it for soiling, wilted under hay-caps. There is danger in feeding green alfalfa without wilting, especially if it is wet. It may then cause bloat. If one has plenty of pasture in early summer, it may be well to cure the first cutting for hay and use the other two or three for soiling, but however good the pasture, if alfalfa is fed to the cows when on it the flow of milk will be considerably increased. In my experience the maximum yield is obtained only with alfalfa. The cow will leave all other food for green alfalfa, and the alfalfa will increase the flow of milk after all is obtained that is possible with other foods. This fact has been learned by breeders of pure-bred cattle, and they try to grow some alfalfa to feed when making official tests. When pastures are supplemented with alfalfa, there are generally enough of the more carbonaceous pasture grasses, as timothy, etc., to well balance the high-protein content of the alfalfa. When pastures begin to dry up or are short in late summer, there should be a reserve of corn-ensilage or green corn-stalks to feed with the alfalfa. In this way, with no cash outlay for grain, the cows can be kept up to the maximum flow of milk. This means that more milk can be obtained than with the average pasture which is supplemented with grain.

I wish my readers could all see the value of alfalfa for all farm animals. It is as good for sheep and poultry as for cattle and horses. For poultry yarded in summer, alfalfa is the best green food, if cut in short lengths and put in slatted boxes. It is far better than any commercial mixture, and it costs only the knowledge needed to grow it and a little work. Better than anything else, alfalfa will help the farmer solve his feeding problems and will enlarge his margins of profits. Besides its feeding value, it will build up his soil by filling it with humus, so that he can grow large crops of corn, etc.

The best food for farm horses in summer is alfalfa, wilted under hay-caps, with only a little grain. The heavier draught horses with larger stomach capacity, if kept on the farm, will do the ordinary work with a liberal feeding of alfalfa and a few pounds of grain. When wilted under hay-caps, it contains just the right succulence for the farm horse, if used moderately, but too much for the driving horse. For the road horse I prefer wilted alfalfa to ordinary hay, only I would give less of it and more grain. I should have mentioned one difficulty in soiling animals with alfalfa alone, that is that it cannot be cut continuously without injury. There is an interval of about two weeks with each crop when the alfalfa should be let alone to grow, but this can be bridged over by feeding a fine quality of alfalfa hay. The main trouble I have found in thus feeding the cattle and horses has been that after they have become accustomed to eating the alfalfa, they don't want any other roughage and will not eat it as long as they expect the alfalfa.

Besides knowing the right way to feed alfalfa when used in summer for a soiling crop, farmers should understand they will get better results from feeding alfalfa hay in winter if it is fed with a carbonaceous succulent roughage, such as a good quality of corn ensilage. Without ensilage or other green or succulent food it would be a good thing to do to grow some root crop to feed with the alfalfa hay.—W. H. Jenkins, in 'Farm and Fireside,' Ohio.

GOOD FEED MEANS MUCH

In Bringing the Best Out of a Cow—The Difference in Cows

Why is it, says 'Hoard's Dairyman,' that two cows may stand side by side, and eat practically the same feeds in nearly the same amounts one giving milk that test 8 percent fat or more, while the other cow's milk may test less than 2 percent? No answer ever having been found to that mystery, it has lately become more and more the habit, or fad, no matter what you call it, to consider this an inherited trait, and no one has as yet been able to successfully disprove this idea.

Inherited from whom? From dam or sire, or from all the other dams and sires since the first pair stepped out of the Ark to pluck the green vendure of Ararat, after the wettest spell of weather of which there is any record. Here is a problem which is surely large enough for all breeders of dairy stock to work at. The beginner in the breed business is very apt to think that any heifer calf from an extra good cow, should be as good as her mother; but under ordinary conditions they very rarely are. Hence many of the oldest and most experienced breeders are strong in the belief that certain traits, especially this of milk richness, are inherited by the male calves, and through them to be transmitted to their female calves. Therefore, whenever some cow breaks what has hitherto been the world's record, bids are often sent in for any of her bull-calves, in figures that would make the price of any ordinary calk look like the infinitesimal part of 18 cents. And strange as it may appear to many, some of these same bulls are advertised for service as figures greater than the average dairyman would dare to pay for a full-grown cow; and this, mind you, simply to insure the birth of a calf.

These breeders, scores, perhaps hundreds of them, appear to think so, while there are others, who, by actions that speak louder than words, seem to think that any kind of a creature,' that will make his cows become pregnant is all that is required. Perhaps it is, if the calves are to be condemned to death before they are born, as is far too often the case in many so-called dairy countries. But is this conservation; that big word lately so often printed, in papers that bemoan the high cost of living.

Certainly not. A true dairyman should also be a breeder, and by all means raise the heifer calves from his best cows. And to give these best cows an even show, they should be bred to a bull, as least as good as they are. He need not start out by drawing his cheque in big figures for an unborn calf; though after he once gets in the game he may even do that with great profit, as others have. But if these calves, when raised are ever to equal or excel their mothers he must use a sire of whom he knows something more than the color of his hair. So, accepting as true, the proposition that breed has more to do with the amount of fat in milk than feed has, all dairymen will do a wise thing to remember that feed still has a great deal to do with the amount of milk that his cows give. Great is the Babcock test, but neither this nor any other test has as yet, and probably never will, controvert that hoary old truth that the only way to get milk out of any or many cows, is to put feed into them.

LEARNING MODERN METHODS.

S. G. Moore, the Maritime representative of the Dominion Seed Growers' Association, after travelling the province from end to end and keeping in touch with agricultural developments, states that interest in scientific farming is on the increase, and that the farmers are beginning to realize the necessity of adopting more modern methods of farming.

Mr. Moore's special work is to promote the laying out of seed plots by the farmers with a view to raising the standard of their grain by selecting and planting the best types. About thirty-five farmers now have seed plots in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Mr. Moore stated that in his opinion a Dominion experimental farm would without doubt soon be established in Fredericton similar to the one in Truro.

PIG FEEDING EXPERIMENTS

Some Valuable Pointers Regarding the Question

The West of Scotland Agricultural College recently issued a bulletin giving particulars concerning pig feeding experiments conducted at the Kilmarnock Dairy School, which should prove interesting and instructive to breeders in Australia.

It was found possible to use whey profitably by feeding it alone to pigs. Pigs fed on whey only increased in live weight at an average rate of 1 lb. per head per day, and gave a return of a halfpenny per gallon for the whey, and a further sum of 8s. 7d. per pig towards other expenses.

Pigs fed on barley meal and water, with a little wheat bran, without any dairy by-product, did not thrive so well as on whey alone, or give such a satisfactory return for the food consumed. Barley meal and water alone were found to be quite unsuitable. On the average feeding on whey and barley meal gave no better direct return than giving whey alone. In three cases out of five, the return was less. Whey and maize meal given during the whole period of the experiment gave better results than whey with barley meal in the first period, with barley and maize meals in the second, and with maize meal in the remaining period.

The relative positions of the lots receiving maize meal were in order of quantity of maize meal consumed. The proportion of maize meal to whey, which gave the best results, was 2 lb. meal to 2 1-2 gallons whey on an average over the whole period, with a smaller proportion of meal earlier, and a greater proportion later in the experiment. In three experiments, separated milk and barley meal gave greater increases in live weights than whey and barley meal. From these results the relative values for bacon production of separated milk and whey respectively were found to be approximately as three to two. The amount of dry matter in the food required to produce 1 lb. of live weight increase varied with, among other conditions, the kind of food, the proportion of solid to liquid food, and the live weight of the pigs. It required least dry matter when the food was maize meal and whey.

The bacon producing values of separated milk, whey, and meals respectively were found to be increased when the liquid and solid foods were combined. The smallest amount of dry matter was required when maize meal was given at the rate of 2 lb., to 2 1-2 gallons of whey. As the weight of the pigs increased, so did the quantity of food required to produce 1 lb. live weight become greater; at 214 lb. live weight it required 50 percent more food than at 118 lb. While the pigs went on increasing at about the same rate per day from 100 lb. to 200 lb. live weight, the larger pig required more food to satisfy it. A heavier and older pig was found to be a less economical bacon producer than a lighter and younger pig.

It was found posible to increase the live weight of the pig from 100 lb. to 210 lb. in from nine to ten weeks at the average weight of 1.72 lb. per head per day by feeding with separated milk and barley meal. When the ration was whey and maize meal it required 11 weeks to produce the same increase. Barley meal, without skim milk or whey, produced a bacon inferior in quality to that from meals given with milk or whey. Barley meal and separated milk in every test gave the best quality. Whey with a mixture of equal parts barley meal and maize meal gave better results than whey with cooked potatoes and a similar mixture of meals. But whey with a mixture of equal parts barley meal and maize meal gave better results than whey with a similar mixture of meals and either cooked potatoes or raw potatoes.

FITTING BEEF CATTLE FOR THE FAIRS.

Now that the fall fairs are starting, some fat can be put on beef animals and the hide, hair and horns be much improved. For early winter shows, a great deal more can be done.

The first consideration is the selection of such types as will make good feeders and that when fitted will meet show yard standards. The ideal beef animal is low to the ground, broad and symmetrical, with an especially deep covering over the back, loin, rump and quarters. The muzzle should be broad and full, indicating good feeding qualities; the face short, forehead broad, neck short, dewlap and brisket comparatively fine, shoulders well laid in and deeply covered, back board, ribs sprung wide, loin wide, quarters deep and full, dressing percentage high, hide pliable and hair fine.

Choose animals meeting these requirements as nearly as possible and bring them gradually to heavy grain ration. Oats, corn, barley, bran, oil meal, soy bean meal, cotton seed meal, roots, green corn, alfalfa hay and clover hay are widely used in beef fitting. Oats, corn or barley, bran or soy bean meal, and roots make a good western ration. Green corn or good pasture aid during the first few weeks of feeding. Alfalfa hay or clover makes an excellent roughage. The animal will have a better appetite, be not so liable to get off feed and put on firmer flesh if given exercise. Until hot weather and flies are gone, better results are secured by keeping fattening animals in a dark barn or shed. Night grazing is preferable.

Frequent washings are advisable. The University of Idaho show steeds are washed weekly using soft water and tar soap. Grooming will aid materially with hide and hair. The horns should be polished. First take off the outer dead covering with a rasp. Complete the operation with a pocket knife and emery paper. Oil with sweet oil and later polish with cloth and chamois skin. Long sled-runner hoofs must be trimmed. Cut them back and pear the soles until the animal stands squarely on his toes. Trim the long hair from around the base of the horns and over the poll and clip the tail, leaving a neat medium-sized brush. Exercise enough with the halter that the animal will lead well, and, as with other show beasts, beef cattle should be taught to stand and stay in position. Presenting animals to the judge at their best, frequently makes the difference between standing at the top of or way down in the class.

There is a final finish or bloom that is recognized as the right condition for the showing. This only comes on an animal in good health, rightly fed and exercised and forced for a long enough feeding period of have a deep, mellow covering of meat and with hide and hair fit.

BACK TO NEW BRUNSWICK.

The growing interest in the farming opportunities of New Brunswick, is reflected in the inquiries received at the office of the provincial superintendent of immigration. Mr. Gilchrist states that since he assumed office there has been quite an increase in the number of letters received from different parts of the continent and from Great Britain.

This week he has received letters from parties in Maine, Alberta, Connecticut, and several districts in Great Britain asking for information about available farm lands in the province. Most of the enquirers want land for raising fruit and poultry, or for market gardening.

'I believe that when the government farm settlement board get down to work they will find that they will not be able to meet the demand for ready made farms,' said Mr. Gilchrist.

USEFUL BOARDS.

The British Board of Agriculture has gained a reputation as a tract distributor — the circulation of its leaflets has reached six figures—but the American Department of Agriculture leaves it far behind. It has in stock close on 3,000 different agricultural publications. An enterprising countryman who lately asked for the price of a set was quoted by the superintendent $650.

HOW TO TEST BEESWAX.

Put a piece of the material to be tested, about as thick as a pencil, and an inch long, into a glass; pour benzine over it and leave it stand for two hours. Pure beeswax will then dissolve into small leaflets, whereas other stuff remains unaltered. If the material is a mixture, some leaflets appear, but the shape of the piece remains. After some experience or practice it can be ascertained what percentage of pure wax the piece contains.

FEEDING DAIRY COWS

For the Maximum Production—Practical Suggestions by an Expert.

(By Prof. Hugh G. Van Pelt, Dairy Expert of Iowa.)

There is one system of feeding cows for milk production that I have never known to prove unsuccessful when it was intelligently employed. True it is that to practice it requires some extra time and labor, but if feeding cows is worth while at all it is certainly advisable to do it in that manner which will return the best results in great and economical milk and butter-fat production.

If my suggestions in the following paragraphs seem too complicated to make use of on the whole herd, they should be tried on just one cow with intelligence and persistency. In this case there is no doubt that better lessons will be learned pertaining to the art of feeding the cow for the purpose of stimulating milk production than can be any other way.

It is quite generally conceded that the cow should have a rest of four to six weeks between milking periods. This is true for several reasons, among them the fact that the cow will yield more milk if properly cared for in ten and one-half months than she will in twelve months. She is one of the hardest working animals on the farm and she needs a rest to recuperate between her strenuous milk making campaigns. The calf which she is to deliver will be more efficiently nourished while in its embryonic state, and will be born in a stronger, healthier and more vigorous condition.

FEED YOUR COW
WHILE SHE IS DRY.

After determining the particular cow you will experiment on turn her dry six weeks before she is due to freshen. As soon as she is dry begin feeding her well. Don't think that because she is dry she needs little or no feed. This is the most prevalent mistake that is being made to-day on the average dairy farm. All feeding should be done with well defined purposes in view. The purpose at this time is to rest the digestive apparatus of the cow, to furnish nourishment for the unborn calf, and to build up strength, stamina and flesh for the cow to draw upon after she freshens. If the resting period comes during the summer months and the grass is good, little else need be fed, but in the winter or during the summer drought, the cow should be given all the corn silage and alfalfa, clover or other leguminous hays she will consume daily and in addition a grain ration composed of an equal mixture of ground corn, wheat bran, ground oats and oil meal in amounts varying in proportion to the size and condition of the cow. Such a ration, judiciously fed, will insure excellent condition of the cow and a well born calf, not predisposed to calf scours, calf cholera and the other diseases so prevalent where no particular attention is given to embryonic nutrition.

Two or three days before the calf is due the grain ration should be taken away and bran mashes substituted. Make these by mixing to the consistency of gruel, bran and warm water to which a few ounces of salt have been added. The mash will aid in removing the fever which is very likely to be present on account of the high condition of the cow. After feeding the bran mash for two or three days prior to and after freshening, the feeder will be surprised to note the great yield of milk secured from so small an amount of feed.

After the inflammation has left the cow's udder the feeding of grain in conjunction with the continued feeding of corn silage and leguminous hays should begin. At this period, so shortly after freshening, heavy feeding should never be practised. Herein is the great value of having stored up feed on the animal's body while she was in condition to withstand it.

A ration with a comparatively large percentage of protein should be used in starting the cow on her lactation period to stimulate the transference of the flesh deposited in and on her body to the milk pail in the form of butter-fat. A ration of four pounds daily consisting of equal parts of ground corn, oats, bran and oil meal, cotton seed meal, gluten feed, or some other such nitrogenous food is advisable.

The ration should be increased from a half pound to a pound each alternate day. The milk should be weighed daily and close attention given to determining whether or not there has been an increase in the milk flow corresponding to the increase in the ration. If the cow is well bred and of the right sort the grain mixture fed in conjunction with the roughages mentioned and increased thus slowly will have a tendency to stimulate the maternal instincts of the mother, and there will be a gradual and certain increase in production for every increase in feed extending over a period of at least thirty days and probably longer.

Just so long as the cow increases in her milk flow in response to the increase in the grain ration to the extent that each cent's worth of food given her produces two cents' worth of milk and butter-fat, the proposition is a good one. It means the feeder is receiving in return for a dollar's worth of raw material a profit of 100 percent by feeding that cow.

At the end of thirty days the feeder will be surprised to note what a great amount of milk the cow is giving. He will also be surprised to note that she is consuming more feed than he believed heretofore was advisable to give a cow daily, but because it has been given her gradually no ill results hve followed and the result which is desirable, namely, net profits, will be far greater than might accrue from any other system that might be followed in caring for the same cow. So greatly has she been stimulated, however, that by this time she is likely to be declining considerably in flesh. This is due to the fact that the ration was planned for the purpose of inducing her to do so. Care must be taken not to work her too hard at the expense of her own body, however, and no doubt it will be advisable to begin widening the ration at this time or supply more corn, corn silage and such carbonaceous foods in proportion to the amount of protein food.

The grain ration will always depend upon the character of the roughage. If silage and alfalfa hay are used then the roughage ration is probably balanced in itself and a grain ration equally well balanced will be suitable for feeding. But, as is the case on most farms, if timothy hay, corn stover and corn silage are used for roughage, then it will be necessary to feed a concentrated ration consisting more largely of protein foods, which are more expensive.

By this time the feeder has learned more about the character of the feed the cow demands than could be told in chapters. The use of the scales in weighing feed and the milk and butter-fat resulting has taught him what kind of foods are most suitable for stimulating milk production, and what kinds of food protect and build up the cow's body. He is now in a position to change the rations backward and forward so to speak, stimulating greater milk production at one time and at another, when it seems necessary, supplying the feed that the cow can utilize to recuperate.

'THE SCALES
TELL THE STORY.'

When the summer drought comes the scales tell the story. The cow begins to decline on her milk and the feeder knows at once that something must be supplied to take the place of the grass which the cow does not have access to. By holding up the milk flow with corn silage, green feeds or even commercial food stuffs through the short period of drought he is able to maintain the milk flow up to the time the cow comes into her winter feeding quarters, with surprising success.

Throughout the year the scales act as a barometer and by knowing at all times just how much feed the cow is receiving and how much milk she is giving it is possible to vary the ration one way or the other to the extent that feeding and caring for the cow becomes a pleasure rather than drudgery.

If it is possible to do this with one cow it is possible to do it with your whole herd and as surely as it proves profitable when used with only one member of the herd as certainly it will prove profitable when put into practice with all individuals making up the herd. It is the only system that can be followed whereby the feeder has the cow under control. By all other systems the feeder is under the cow's control.

A DRY WEATHER TROUBLE.

One of the causes of loss amongst dairy stock in the dry weather is the impaction of the stomach due to improper food. This is entirely avoided where stock receive supplies of ensilage, a fact constituting an additional reason in favor of this mode of feeding.

With good hay chaff as a basis, a mixture of molasses, crushed oil cake, and boiled linseed or barley, even if only fed once daily, will be found a sure preventive to impaction.

NOTES.

Scours in pigs is an indication of indigestion in the mother.

Powdered charcoal fed in the sow's slop will usually control the trouble.

Eight or ten drops of laudanum in the sow's feed twice a day for a few days is a good remdy.

Don't leave the sheep in a dry, short pasture. Give them a chance in a fresh pasture, or give a good grain ration.

Keep the sleeping places dry and clean.

POULTRY POINTERS

Breed more for winter eggs than to get phenomenal year-round records.

The demand for poultry and eggs is annually on the increase. It will take years before it will be fully met.

The best time of the year to kill off the old hens is July, just before they begin to lose condition through molting.

The average age of the hen that is about declining in her egg-laying qualities is when she is two and a half years old.

Poultry houses are easily dirtied—the scratching of the litter by the hens fills the house with dust and dirt; the house should, therefore, be made with as few nooks and corners as possible.

The beginner will have a hard road to travel who lacks patience, perseverance, pluck, enterprise and capital.

Clover is a most valuable poultry food. It supplies the much needed mineral elements (ash) so necessary to the vigor of the new-hatched chick, and that much-desired mineral element must be in the egg from which the chick is hatched.

The pullet that lays very early in life, either due to a natural disposition or by being forced with highly-stimulating food, becomes stunted in growth, and does not become the finely developed bird so desirable to either keep as a stock bird, or to sell as a table fowl.

Where it is intended to sell hens for roasting, they had better be killed at one and a half years old, at which age they will not only secure a better price, but they have had a chance to lay from one hundred to one hundred and fifty eggs before being sent to the block.

After all said and done, in regard to fattening fowls, it is doubtful whether there is any better food for this purpose than sweet corn meal. Feed it frequently during the day, not less than four or five times, beginning early in the morning and giving the last as near roosting time as possible. Give only as much as the fowls will eat with a relish. Feed it raw, not ground too fine, and moisten with a little water.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEWS AND STOCKS

A well known industrial company organizer made the statement that no company with which he was connected would be allowed to pay a dividend on its common stock the first year of its existence, no matter how successful it might be.

This is the eminently conservative attitude, and, although this country has been reasonably free from mishaps as the result of 'wild-catting,' the lesson needs to be driven home and indelibly impressed on the minds of impatient promoters, whose chief aim is to make a market for stocks and unload them on the public.

Violation of the common business ethics in matters of this kind usually hurts both parties to the bargain in the long run.

ENGLISH PARTY OF FINANCIERS AT STEEL PLANT

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 3.—The growth and development of the Lake Superior Steel Corporation and the possibilities of this progressive concern are beginning to attract foreign interest, and especially is this true as regards English capital. The entire plant is in full operation, and President T. J. Drummond, of Montreal, who is here at present, is greatly pleased with the conditions of things in and about the works.

A distinguished party of British capitalists is at the 'Soo' to inspect the Algoma Steel Co.'s plant and other industries. The party consists of Rt. Hon. Earl Stanhope, Earl Winterton, M.P., Sir Wm. Garstin, Sir Charles Hunter, M.P., the Hon. Sir Arthur Lawley, Gen. Sir Ronald Lane, A. M. Grenfell, the Hon. C. T. Mills, of Glyn Mills, S. Catlow, of the Bank of Liverpool, C. Goschen, and a number of other distinguished gentlemen.

CUBA RAILWAY

The annual statement of the Cuba Railway Company, just issued, shows excellent progress for the year ending June 30 last. Gross earnings increased 24.8 percent, and with a reduction in the proportion of working expenses; net earnings made a favorable showing, 32.4 percent. The figures of the statement compared with the previous year are as follows:—

Gross earnings	$3,819,253	$3,059,649	$759,603

There was no further change in the market for potatoes but prices are easy at the recent decline, with sales of Cobblers in car lots at 90c. to $1 per bag and in a jobbing way at $1.20 per bag.

BEAN PRICES STEADY.

The market for beans is without any new feautre. Car lots of three-pound pickers are quoted at $2.75 per bushel.

OPINIONS on the MARKET

F. Nash & Co.— We think such stocks as Power, Shawinigan, Canadian Pacific, 'Soo,' Rio, etc., can all be purchased on weak spots, and for those inclined to purchase non-dividend paying stocks with good prospects of an early declaration of dividend we would say on any weakness Spanish River, Canners, Montreal Cotton, Tucketts common, and National Brick offer splendid opportunities for profit.

McCuaig Bros. & Co.—Trading on the local exchange during the past week has been rather irregular in character, and in general if anything, the tendency has been in a downward direction. Public interest seems to have been considerably lighter than for some time past. Undoubtedly the long period of bull market which we have had gave the impression to many that prices would continue in their upward trend, but apparently there is now a feeling that with the quieting down of the market there is likely to be a readjustment which may soften prices generally.

R. & O. MERGER PROFITS AHEAD OF OTHER YEARS

Official of Big Merger Concern at Toronto Discusses Conditions With the 'Witness'

Toronto, Sept. 3.—(Special.)—The season of lake and river navigation has now advanced to a point where officials and directors can figure out, with comparative accuracy, what the proceeds of the season's work will aggregate.

The 'Witness' correspondent had the opportunity to discuss with one of the Toronto officials of the big Richelieu and Ontario Merger Company, whose business it is to be in touch with all branches of the service—the conditions of the present season. This authority said that, although much bad weather had told against the boats taking short local trips it had apparently no effect whatever on the tourist traffic and that this had been so exceptionally heavy during the early summer that undoubtedly a considerable balance of business would be shown to the credit of the present year over of last season.

'As far as the dull and cold weather is concerned,' he said. 'It has been general both above and below the international boundary line, so that no business was diverted from ourselves to other lines. Moreover the Americans seem to have more money to spend—we notice this particularly in connection with tourists from the middle western states who are quite numerous.'

Are the merging arrangements proving advantageous,' was asked.

'Decidedly so,' was the reply, 'if you look around a bit you will find that we are going into improvement matters pretty thoroughly. By next year we will have a really splendid equipment and service. We need a little time, of course.'

Are travellers from Montreal westward very numerous?

'Not so numerous as one might expect who knows the route,' he replied. 'The course of travel from Montreal seems to be eastward, along the Saguenay route, which is becoming one of our biggest business assets, but it is a fact that those in the east are coming more and more to learn about the beauties of the Thousand Islands and the big lakes, and judging from the impulse given to this branch of the business this season it looks as if our Thousand Island ramble trips—we make three a day on different steamers—will soon be an exceedingly popular and attractive branch of our service.'

This authority states that business has been really more remunerative this year than last. The Northern as well as the Inland lines have done a big business, and the hotels owned by the Richelieu Company are well patronized.

SHAREHOLDERS BETHLEHEM CO. MAKE REQUEST

MR. SCHWAB.

New York, Sept. 3. — Certain shareholders of Bethlehem Steel Corporation are bringing pressure to bear to resume dividends the latter part of this year. While Chas. M. Schwab president, believes the company now in position to resume payments, the matter may be delayed until the first quarter of next year. Shareholders argue that Bethlehem Co. has spent enormous sums for new construction since Mr. Schwab secured control, and that disbursements are fully justified by earnings.

The Bethlehem Steel, according to Mr. Schwab, is spending approximately $1,00,000 for six open-hearth furnaces and other extensions, and contemplates further construction later on. Construction planned would probably involve over $10,000,000; but nothing as large as this is contemplated in the near future.

NEW HAY IN DEMAND.

Since the annual report of Lehigh came out this stock has not had a good effect upon the other issues in the railway list. Last year there was a narrow margin of earnings over the 10 percent dividend rate and perhaps a reduction in coal rates may soon come.

STAPLE LINES OF FISH QUITE SCARCE HERE

Messrs. D. Hatton and Co., in reporting the wholesale fish market situation for the 'Witness,' reports that halibut, one of the staple lines, is getting scarcer. Haddock is not so plentiful on account of dogfish being on the ground. Lake fish is improving.

The opening up of fishing in rivers on Sept. 1 will help to increase the supply of fish for the immediate future. The lobster season is practically closed here and imported lobsters are at a prohibitive price. Smoked fish, such as haddies, bloaters and kippers, are expected to be in good demand now, as the weather is getting cooler.

We quote fo rthis week as follows:

Fresh Fish—Halibut, 12c per lb.; haddock, 5c; Gaspe salmon, 23c; steak cod, 6c; lake trout, 12c; whitefish, 12c; dore, 15c; pike, 8c; carp, 6c; brook trout, 25c; eels, 8c; sea bass, 15c; smelts, 12c; swordfish, 10c; flounders, 6c; small mackerel, 8c; fresh herrings, 3c each.

PALESTINE TO-DAY.

The Rev. S. Schorr Describes Conditions in the Holy Land.

'I am afraid you westerners have forgotten that the Bible is not an English book,' said the Rev. S. Schorr at the morning service in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday. 'In my travels through this country I frequently hear people say, 'the Bible is such a difficult book to understand.' Assuredly, unless one has an understanding of Oriental customs and habits many passages of Scripture must be obscure.'

Mr. Schorr, who accompanies the Palestine Exhibition which will shortly visit Montreal, was himself born in the city of Jerusalem. His knowledge of Jewish life and history and his interest in that once mighty race are deep and far reaching. The coming exhibition, Mr. Schorr stated, was not planned to be a social event but a religious responsibility for every Christian in Montreal.

'Read in the light of the unchanging life of Palestine,' said Mr. Schorr, 'there is much to be learned from the Bible.' The purpose of the Palestine Exhibition was to surround those who attended with the atmosphere of life in the Holy Land and the speaker invited his hearers to follow him while he sketched a word picture of that life.

Selecting for his text St. Luke 19: 40 Mr. Schorr gave illustration after illustration from present day life in Palestine to prove that indeed the very stones were crying out that the Bible is true. A person landing at Jaffa (the Jaffa of old) immediately feels that he has indeed stepped into the old world. One runs up against Scripture quotations at every turn. The life of the people has not charged since the time of Elijah, some 4,000 years ago. There is the beggar asking alms, the burden bearer at his task, the ox-drawn wooden ploughs, and the same old fashion of dress and house furnishings. 'Take up thy bed and walk' causes no wonder as to the literal fulfilment of that injunction when one sees the eastern bed, equal perhaps to the ordinary hearth rug in this country. The ruins of various olden cities bear out the prophecies which predicted their downfall, and other cities still standing and beautiful claim the fulfilment of more peaceable forecasts.

'In the ordinary course of events,' said Mr. Schorr, 'the Jewish races should have been rooted out centuries ago. They have been persecuted and despised everywhere. But it was prophesied in connection with this people: 'Though I make a full end of all nations I will not make a full end of thee.' Russia may succeed in exterminating herself, but she will never exterminate the Jews.'

The greatest stone from Palestine, claimed the speaker, is Christ; 'he that was rejected and is made the head of the corner.' Christianity was not a science; it was something to be lived. As it was believed that Christ and the Bible came to the world through the Jewish race a greater toleration should be exercised towards the Jewish people.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1912.

When we contrast the number of railway accidents in America with those in the old world we generally explain that the railway system here covers such vast stretches that it is impossible to apply the same rules of safety as where the business is confined to small and busy areas. Whatever there may be in that does not seem to apply to those misadventures that occur in the vicinity of great cities. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that the recent fatal collision at St. Lambert was not due to a certain avoidable laxity. A train leaving the station for a siding which was round a curve from the station was struck by a passenger train before the rear end of it had left the main track. This is a sort of thing that might occur a thousand times a day, and may only happen once a year. Hence, apparently the lack of the precise discipline that would have prevented the accident.

Not a spring or summer passes without one or more disastrous floods occurring in the state of Pennsylvania. Once well wooded this state is now practically denuded of its forests with this pitiful result Its rocky hills have been lumbered, and few such have not at some time in the course of the last two hundred years had fire run over them licking up the peaty soil, moss and debris which had taken many centuries to accumulate. Much, too, of the land that is farmed has been so badly farmed as to have lost the water holding humus from its soil, and now offers little resistance to the water draining through it. Pennsylvania is blessed with a bountiful rainfall. The treatment the settlers have given the country has made this blessing a recurrent danger. Instead of using the heavy annual rainfall to the utmost they have ever increasingly created conditions that were wasteful of it. Civilized nations are only beginning to understand and conserve this most valuable of all assets, the rain. Ever larger quantities of it will be held on the ground on which it fails by the enriching of the soil, the keeping of its surface open and the more dense growth that will be secured to absorb it. After it has been made every possible use of for vegetation its every fall to the sea will be taken advantage of for power plants with storage reservoirs. It is interesting to hear in this connection that the spruits, or dry stream beds, that run through the South African velt are in certain regions already less violent in time of storm as so much of the land has been opened by the plough to absorb the rain-fall.

ARBITRATION.

Mr. Taft, even he, is reported to have been taken by surprise at the reported proposal of the British Government to appeal to the Hague Tribunal. There seems to have been much uncertainty in British Government quarters whether such an appeal had or had not been announced to the United States government, but the latest statement is a denial. It would be a diplomatic blunder if that position was not at once taken. In any case we have Mr. Taft's attitude on the announcement of it to him. He is reported to have looked for a lengthened period of diplomacy, in which the attitude of Great Britain would no doubt have been that of a suppliant for justice and that of the United States would have been: Well, what do you propose to do about it? As it may fairly be assumed that Great Britain is not going to war to enforce this claim, it was a matter of easy calculation that such so-called negotiations would have petered out, leaving the people of the United States far more convinced than they are now that Great Britain's protest was a mere impertinence. And Mr. Taft, even he, is said in the despatches to have counted on this issue. In any case he has sent his Secretary of State to Japan, and did not propose to give Great Britain any answer till he comes back. With some glee the Washington people are saying to themselves and to their countrymen: it is all very well the British Government proposing to appeal to the Hague tribunal, but it cannot do that without our consent.

They do not seem to see how much worse the refusal of that consent makes it for them. The difference between the two powers is a small one compared with the ignominy of that attitude. Indeed, since the question of general ocean trade was, at the last moment, eliminated from the Panama act, lawyers have been divided as to how the decision of an impartial court would go. Mr. Taft is himself a very eminent legal authority, and others might think as he does. The refusal to send it to the Hague Tribunal would constitute to the world a confession of judgment against the United States. Besides, such a refusal would constitute a repudiation of another treaty—the very last made between the United States and Great Britain—made at the instance of the United States only four years ago. That treaty signed in the Hague Conference of 1908 was an elementary one, entered into in the reign of Mr. Roosevelt, the Nobel peacemaker, very far within the universal lines on which Mr. Taft negotiated later. Yet even that Mr Taft does not, it seems, propose to insist on, but counts on a brow-beating diplomacy to take the place of the arbitration method that was to have handed down his name in golden letters to posterity. It would have been well for the United States, at least on this occasion, if presidential candidatures were confined to a single term. At least most people outside of the United States, and possibly most people within that country, will be of opinion that, but for the prospective election, President Taft would have had much more solicitude for his name and less for his seat.

FUNGUS FOOD.

A general knowledge of the difference between poisonous and eatable fungi would be of great value to the world. A number of persons are reported as having died in France through eating a species that they presumed to be wholesome. This is a somewhat rare occurrence. On the other hand an enormous amount of delicious and highly nutritive food is lost to the world through fear of mistake; hundred-weights of it rotting in our fields and woods while the poor starve and while many in the country are living on a diet so monotonous as to be unwholesome. One enthusiast averred that he could feed a regiment through a campaign with the food they were spurning, and the fellow mycologist to whom he wrote this declared it was not much of an exaggeration. It is a wrong to mankind when good food goes to waste. In some countries the semi-sacramental quality of the food is so recognized that any waste of it is shunned and rebuked as a sin against God. In any case it is a mighty pity that so many people lose the enjoyment and nutrition of mushrooms, and other esculent species which form the great majority of the fungus tribe. There are for instance the common puff ball of the pastures and the magnificent coral fungus which grows on old stumps. There are some forms of fungus off which a family could make a satisfactory meal, the fungus possessing the food qualities of meat

There is no doubt reason enough for the caution which proscribes all this order of food; for there are among the fungi—generally repulsive in their qualities but not always—certain ones that mean to the eater the most serious results—in the case of the worse ones, certain death, as no symptoms appear for some ten hours after eating, when it is altogether too late to adopt any remedy. The case in France was probably due to a kind of mushroom which occasionally asserts itself in cultures for the market mushroom to the exclusion of the legitimate occupant of the bed, easily enough distinguished when care is taken, but easily overlooked in ordinary marketing. There is a kind of fungus used in Russia as unfortunate people here use cocaine, people similarly becoming victims of it. It remains true, however, that most of these things are very wholesome and very delicious. The Encyclopedia Britannica begins its article on the mushroom by saying that there are few more useful or more easily recognized members of the vegetable kingdom. It is found on wind-blown horse pastures, never in woods or wet places; it does not lose its whiteness when broken; the gills are detached from the stem which is solid or slightly pithy; the spores are a brown black. It is not our purpose here, however, to enter on a description of the thousands of fungi that may be freely eaten, or even of the dozen or so that, for practical purposes, it would be sufficient to know. We are only taking occasion to note that in this direction, as in many another, the abundant provision made for man's sustenance on earth is largely lost.

ABDUL BAHA'S DOCTRINE

Irreligion Not Religion Causes Strife Between Nations Says the Sage

A strange mystical figure with a white silk turban and white vestments under a loose brown robe occupied the pulpit of the Church of the Messiah on Sunday. He was Abdul Baha, the Oriental 'prophet' and peacemaker. Speaking in his native Persian, his words had to be interpreted by a compatriot.

The Rev. F. R. Griffin introduced the sage, saying he came not to unfold a fresh mystery, or to teach a new theology, and much less to establish a new church. 'The strangest part of all about him is that nothing is strange. He seeks to be the embodiment of that which is most natural. Is this not turning back to religion itself? Venerable in years, he is young as a child in the purity of his outlook on life; disciplined by long years in prison, his spirit has never yet been crucified by pain.'

Abdul Baha, speaking through his interpreter, in his opening sentences said: 'God the Almighty has created all humanity from earth, from the same element. All men are descended from the same race and live on the same globe. As members of humanity he created them equal in all susceptibilities. He left no difference whatever. He provides all; he trains all; he protects all; he is kind to all.

'All lands,' continued the speaker, 'are under the same shepherd. If one lamb is separated from the flock, all thoughts must be to bring it back. Baha Oullah proclaimed that religion must be the means of live and fellowship. If religion is the cause of hatred it has no meaning; it is not religion, but is irreligion, for it produced opposite results.

Reverting to national prejudices again, the speaker asserted: 'Before God there is no Germany, no England, no France, No Turkey. All these people before God are equal. God did not ial prejudice among the animals. There is no difference between an eastern and a western sheep or dove. Europe is a continent. It is not divided, but we have created imaginary lines.'

After touching on the duty of parents or the community to give instruction to children, Abdul Baha spoke of woman's status, 'Women,' he said, 'were very much degraded in the Orient. Baha Oullah proclaimed the equality of the sexes. Men and women both belonged to the human race, and both were the servants of God. Before God there is no difference or gender. Whosoever has a human heart is nearer to God and more favored, whether man or woman. These differences exist only for the present and only on account of education, for woman has not had the same instruction. If women receive the same curriculum they will become equal in all degrees, for both are human and receive the same share of powers. God has not made any difference whatever.'

In his closing sentences Abdul Baha said a universal language was needed, and that this would help the cause of international peace and good-will. When all nations could talk with each other they would understand each other better,

WORLD OF NATURE
DARK AND DEGRADED.

'New schools of philosophy blindly claim that the world of Nature is perfect, and all their discussions are carried along that line. Why then, do they put children in schools? As long as the world of Nature is perfect, why all the sciences? All these sciences and discoveries have been produced through education, for they are not known to the world of Nature.'

In this way Abdul Baha attempted to deal with modern philosophy in an address to a drawing-room meeting at 716 Pine avenue west last night. He said that the world of Nature is dark, materialism is dark and degraded, and it needs to be illuminated by the application of intelligence. Nature, said he, is the material world. His view is that it can be clearly perceived to be dark and imperfect.

Prophets sent by God, said he, are gardeners. Had the natural world been perfect there would have been no need of a revelation nor indeed of a God.

To-night Abdul Baha will speak on 'The economic happiness of the human race,' in Coronation Hall, 204 St. Lawrence Boulevard, and on Thursday evening in St. James Methodist Church, on 'Bahai principles for the happiness of the human race.'

MILD CYCLONE AT ZENDA, ONT.

Methodist Church at that Place Damaged Sunday Afternoon.

Ingersoll, Ont., Sept. 3.—Damage much greater than the first reports indicated was caused by the cyclone of Sunday afternoon, which swept over a small area of Dercham township, and was particularly violent at Zenda.

Not only was the large concrete shed in connection with the Methodist Church demolished, but the church itself was seriously damaged. Large patches of the slate roofing were torn off, windows were broken and plaster was jolted off the ceiling and walls. The cyclone caused a panic amongst those who had been in attendance at the Sunday School, and were preparing to leave the church. In the opinion of those who viewed the wrecked shed and the barn on the farm of William Hughes, the escape of those in the church was miraculous.

One man who saw the big shed collapse, stated that the first gust of wind seemed to lift the structure off its foundation, but it settled back only to be swayed to one side the next instant and toppled over, the cement blocks in many instances broken to pieces. Of the numerous vehicles under the shed at the time were eleven buggies, many of them almost new, were practically destroyed.

DULL DAY ENLIVENED BY TRADES UNION PROCESSION WITH BANDS AND BANNERS

Twelve Thousand Workingmen and Women Represented Labor in Great Holiday Parade Through Streets of Montreal.

With silk banners flying, numerous bands playing and some ten thousand workingmen and working women marching in line, Labor in Montreal duly celebrated its annual holiday yesterday with a great procession. The parade took exoctly forty-five minutes to pass the corner of St. Hubert and Cherrier streets. Possibly the unfavorable weather was responsible for the fact that the marching host, though large, did not come up to anything like the prediction of 20,000 or 30,000 workers. There were also scarcely any floats. About a dozen bands, however, enlivened the march to a great degree, while every union had a mounted leader or a carriage in which its leading officials rode. The men in many of the unions did not keep in line or march in as orderly a manner as they might have, if they had sought to make the parade as impressive as possible.

INTERESTING STUDY OF MEN.

The whole procession was an interesting study of the labor army of the City. It was very representative as far as the men were concerned but represented only by two women of the musicians' union and a few score women garment workers. The boiler makers, iron moulders and such workers were naturally of a different typ and physique from those engaged in lighter, indoor employment, while the men of the carpenters' union had characteristic traits of their own, such as a clearness and brightness of the eye, due no doubt to their outdoor life.

The only float was that of the tinsmiths, who had a metal-covered canopy with samples of their wares also displayed at the sides.

THE JOLLLY
DECORATORS.

The painters and decorators had emblems of their art in the shape of two huge paint brushes. One of these was a great hollow black brush with a union man walking inside of it, the long black hair of the brush falling down to his ankles. As he walked along he bowed the tall handle of the brush in the direction of the cheering spectators.

NEWS BOYS IN LINE TOO.

The news boys marched along with the other unions, many of the boys wearing the new suits which were distributed on Saturday night. They had also secured the services of the Highland Cadets band. Peter Murphy president of the union carried a large bouquet of flowers.

The members of the Hat and Cap makers' union all wore soft check peak caps. The blacksmiths wore light blue and black caps with a white anvil on the peak. The sheet metal workers wore white shirts, black over-alls and caps made of tin. The iron moulders carried their spades, screens and runners with which they worked and, out of respect for a deceased comrade, they had all these implements tied with purple ribbon.

MINDFUL OF FORMER LEADER.

The members of all the unions wore purple badges, with a hasp bearing a picture of the late J. A. Rodier, who did so much for organized labor in Montreal.

In front of the whole procession rode five mounted policemen, followed by Chief Marshall R. Lynch and Assistant Marshall J. A. Laflamme, The civic authorities were represented by Controller Ainey, and Aldermen Clement and Lariviere.

The procession was scheduled to start at 9 o'clock, from the Champ de Mars, but it was 10.15 before the march began, the delay being due to the fact that the Iron Moulders' Union were attending the funeral of a deceased member.

During the delay a number of fire balloons were sent up from the square containing various advertisements and such labor mottoes as 'Union is Strength.'

HUGE CROWD OF SPECTATORS.

The line of march was along Craig street, St. Lawrence, St. Catherine, St. Hubert and Cherrier to Lafontaine Park, and in the lower part of the city there was a great crush of people around Viger Square and Craig and St. Lawrence streets. The traffic coming down St. Denis street was turned down Bonsecours street, keeping Craig street free.

The procession disbanded at Lafontaine Park, and after dinner the union members and their friends held a great picnic at Dominion Park. There was no speech-making in connection with yesterday's celebration.

The Socials defeated the Standards in two baseball games in the professiona eague. All over the province the towns observed the day, except Sherburne where, according to a despatch, the shipyards and other establishments were in full swing, as though there was no holiday.

PICNIC MARRED BY RISAGREEALE WEATHER.

The annual picnic of games held by the Montreal Trades and Labor Council at Dominion Park yesterday was not so largely attended as usual owing to the bad weather.

About 5,000 were in attendance. The programme of sports was commenced at 2 p.m.

THOUSANDS SPENT THE HOLIDAY OUT OF TOWN.

A record in the number of people who left the city yesterday to enjoy the Labor Day holiday was established this year. Both the C. P. R. and the G. T. R. lines were kept busy with a continuous flow of passengers, in spite of the fact that they had carried many extra cars.

Hundreds of the people went out of the city for the Toronto and Ottawa exhibitions, and the growing chilliness of the atmosphere at the seaside resorts resulted in bringing many people in their city residences. Many people, however, who were too busy to give themselves a holiday during the hot spell, took advantage of the Labor Day holiday, and all the points along the lake shore were well patronized on both lines, the traffic to Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and intermediate points, Chateauguay, Beauharnois, the mountain resorts in the neighborhood of Ste. Agathe, and the travel to Sherbrooke and other points in the Eastern Townships being very heavy, and by far more than in past years.

RECORD CROWDS AT STATIONS.

It was estimated that at the Windsor and Bonaventure stations fully thirty thousand people arrived and departed, and in spite of this record crowd everything went along smoothly and no mishap of any kind took place.

HALIFAX HAD A BIG PROCESSION.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 3.— Labor Day in Halifax was favored with fine ut cold weather. The Halifax district Trades and Labor Council managed a big procession in the forenoon, and in the afternoon they held sports on the exhibition grounds, which drew an attendance of about 3,000 persons.

LABOR DAY SERMONS.

Labor Day sermons were preached in many churches both Protestant and Catholic on Sunday.

In St. James Methodist Church the Rev. Dr. Sparling prophesied that some day there would be a combination of the masses and the classes, and then of the nations of the world.

'We are slowly emerging from a process of the rankest individualism,' said Dr. Sparling. 'The time was when everything was wrought out by the individual. The industrial habits of the past fostered individualism, and the division of labor was not very extensive. Rural life was the life of the past, and that has always favored individualism. City life is becoming more the order, and that always fosters socialistic life. Modern development has changed the whole complexion of things, and multitudes of people are reacting from the old individualistic position.'

CAUSES OF DISSATISFACTION.

The phase of the labor question on which the Rev. T. E. Bourke, the pastor, spoke was the popular discontent of the masses. Although the masses were better clothed, fed and housed than formerly, it was plain they were not satisfied. Among the reasons for this state of discontent the speaker enumerated first the great increase in education and intelligence. Not only school education, but travel and the press and other factors contributed to this higher standard of intelligence 'I confess,' said the Rev. Mr. Bourke, 'that I look upon the dissatisfaction of the laboring classes as one of the hopeful signs of the times.' The second reason for discontent lay in the selfishness of those who had to buy labor. The system of regulating wages by the law of supply and demand did not seem in harmony with the law of God. In the third place, said the speaker, there was a growing conviction that the masses were not sharing the prosperity of the country. In support of this statement he quoted figures showing that two hundred people in America had seventy percent of its wealth. A revolution was coming, he prophesized, but he believed it would be bloodless because it would be based on the gospel which would [illegible] men that they were not here to become millionaires, but to help one another.

RIGHTS BRING RESPONSIBILITIES.

'Why should there be any antagonism between Capital and Labor? Are not both necessary for the common good? Does not the success of the one depend upon the healthy co-operation of the other? And is not he who sows seeds of discord between employer and employed, the deadly enemy of all social order and progress?—In these words did the Rev. Father Mulhern, C.S.S.R., of Toronto, epitomize his views on the Labor question, at a large demonstration of workingmen and working women, at St. Patrick's Church. The preacher dealt with the right of workingmen to organize so that they might better attain a common good; but, in no less emphatic terms, did he state that, along with the privileges possessed by labor, there went certain obligations, principal amongst which was that the rights of the employer must not be invaded.

CATHOLICS AND

Father Lalonde, S.J., in a labor sermon he preached at Notre Dame Church, summed up the conditions existing between labor and capital. The sermon was addressed to the wealthy classes whose surprise the preacher painted in satiric tones when they had heard that Leo XIII. had issued his famous encyclical on the just rights of those who toil. Reverting to the foundation of the Christian Church Father Lalonde declared that Christ came on earth to console the poor man, and the rich man who was humble enough to join the poor man's company. The Catholic Church had kept to that interpretation of life by favoring democracy.

TEACHERS CHARMED.

Hospitality in Europe Surprised and Delighted Them.

Those Canadian school teachers to the number of 250, who have been visiting Europe and the Near East, for the most part arrived back in Montreal by the 'Scotian' yesterday.

They all expressed themselves as delighted with the trip, during which Egypt won its way to the hearts of most of them before other countries.

The organizer of this travel expedition was Mr. Fred J. Ney, of the Hands Across the Sea Association, assisted by Mr. J. M. Roe, assistant secretary; Messrs. J. F. Boyce, F. C. Colbeck, Geo. A. Inch and Miss Cora Tapscott, local secretaries; Dr. W. E. Struthers and Miss Lina Rogers, medical advisers, and Miss Mary Squires and Miss K. A. Morrison, official recorders.

Most of the members of the party were from Manitoba and Alberta, and were loud in their praise of the hospitality shown them in the east of Canada, in Liverpool, London, and the great cities of Italy, Germany, Belgium and France. All these touring Canadians voted that the educational advantages of the two months' trip were inestimable.

THE RED ROSE.

The cover of this week's programi at His Majesty's announces that J. C. Fisher presents, '"The Red Ros dainty musical comedy in three a The description is misleading; it not dainty. Almost any other jective would have been nearer truth; tuneful, rollicking, hilari even sumptuous, it might have called, but not dainty. Not a sing member of the company tries to m it dainty from the leader of the chestra to the, shall we say, plump la who was once a queen of the ba This is said at the outset to rem any misapprehension, for anyone pecting daintiness will be disillus ized in the first ten minutes. On contrary the performance might described as horse-play studded w diamonds. Mechanically and sceni ly, no expense has been spared and three hours are crowded with dan songs and jokes. There is so m dancing that it rather tires those prefer less generous displays of ank and considerably more. The comp is large and capable in its line; b oh, it does need toning down; musical director might start with end; the show star, Miss Zoe Barnett might take as her motto, 'Tone down.' Then she would really be fir class, for as a vocalist and as an tress she is not lacking in ability, her work at times indicating unusual power. The costuming has been done with a lavish hand and the performance from beginning to end is a carnival of color.

A DRUNKEN PLAY.

'An English company' is a description to conjure with in theatrical matters in this country, because, apart altogether from the sentimental aspect of the case, English productions have always been identified in the past in the minds of Canadian audiences with acting of unimpeachable merit and staging that has left nothing to be desired. This reputation was established first of all by the numerous stars whose orbit through North America included Montreal, and secondly by the excellent company which played here this year under the management of Miss Horniman. The revival of 'The New Barmaid' at the Princess Theatre, with an entire company of English artists, who were brought out direct to Montreal, is undoubtedly a recognition of the field which exists for plays and players exclusively English in Canada. It is to be regretted that this 'musical comedy,' does not live up to the precedents which have created this field and particularly so because the failure of the piece to attract may summarily check further enterprise in the same direction.

'The New Barmaid' has been reproduced with a wealth of talent and scenic effects quite unworthy of so unpleasant a vehicle. It was positively sad last night to see men and women of unquestionable ability wasting it in scenes which attempt to make drunkenness humorous and callous references to divorce, bigamy and kindred subjects laughable, for, as may be gathered from the title of the opera drink and its effects are the main themes dwelt upon where cleverness unconnected with ribaldry was to found it was warmly applauded by the audience. Where a character of a type that the police arrest on the streets reeled across the stage was introduced he was greeted with an ominous silence.

BETTER MILK.

Co-operative Association of Milk Shippers to Supply It.

(See also Page Ten.)

The formation of a co-operative association for the purpose of handling milk wholesale and retail in Montreal will be considered by a committee representing the milk shippers, who will meet about Thanksgiving Day for this purpose. It is claimed that the association will be able to guarantee milk of the first quality, which will not be watered, and from which none of its fats have been extracted.

SAMOS WANTS NO TURKS THERE.

Athens, Sept. 3.—A belicose mass meeting held on Sunday in the Greek island of Samos, adopted and sent to the foreign consuls a resolution demanding the departure of the Turkish troops from the island and a revision of the constitution. The Russian consul promised that the troops would leave the island as soon as the Samos gendarmerie was organized.

GREEK OFFICERS

London, September 3. — Greek army officers residing in Egypt have been ordered to return at once to Athens in consequence of the recent grave conflicts between Turkish and Greek troops on the frontier, according to a news agency despatch from Alexandria.

The adventure was projected by a French journalist in Turkish pay, according to the Cretan 'Journal,' to-day.

GOT SAFELY OUT.

Panic Prevented by Prompt Opening of Exits in Burning Picture Show.

A fire which started in the operator's box at the Lune Russe moving picture hall, 781 Ontario street east, last evening caused some excitement for a little while, and served to show what can be accomplished in the way of safely getting out of a burning building.

Although the house was crowded, every exit was immediately thrown open, and the audience filed out in safety with no signs of a panic or of undue crowding. The stopping of the picture machine, co-incident with the throwing open of the exits, allayed the fears of the audience.

The damage by fire was slight.

MOTHER FOUND SON KNEELING, DEAD.

Bridgetown, N.S., Sept. 3.—Wilbur Young shot himself dead at Bridgetown on Sunday evening while his mother was at church. After service Mrs. Young read for an hour before retiring. It occurred to her that her son Wilbur was very still in his room. She went up-stairs and found Wilbur kneeling by the bedside, with hands and head down. A foot away was a revolver. A slight examination showed that her son had been shot through the heart. The coroner's verdict was accidental death by a shot from a revolver in the hands of the deceased. Young was 35.

TRAIN SMASH NEAR MATTAWA

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 3.—Five dead and ten severely injured was the toll taken by an accident on the Canadian Pacific Railway near Mattawa on Saturday, when a work train engaged in ballasting the tracks, while running caboose first, collided with a fast through freight train.

Dead—Thomas Duncan, conductor of the work train; Thos. O'Keeffe, Felix Chenier, August Desjardins and Ernest Chenier, laborers.

The work train backed out of the Mattawa yard about six in the morning, with the engine behind pushing cars and caboose ahead. One mile and a half from Mattawa, the two trains came together, the engineer and fireman of the fast freight just seeing the on-coming work train in time to jump for their lives.

WHY DISBAND SIKH REGIMENT?

Speculation Whether Decline is Actually a Euphemism for Disaffection

London, Sept. 3.—The question of the strength and efficiency of the Indian army is attracting attention in connection with reports of its impending reduction. The 'North German Gazette,' of Berlin, quotes a statement from the Indian press to the effect that a commission which is now in session at Simla, under the presidency of Field Marshal Sir William C. Nicholson, will propose to disband 27 native regiments and send home six English battalions. The commission was appointed mainly to consider whether the Indian military expenditure could be reduced without in any way effecting its efficiency.

The 'Manchester Guardian' says there are facts of the gravest and most important nature underlying the question. These include the opinion of commanders that the native troops are no longer of much fighting value, and the government is compelled to sacrifice part of them. This work was begun by Field Marshal Viscount Kitchener, now the British agent and Consul General in Egypt, when he disbanded some of the southern regiments, and it may be expected to continue in much more drastic fashion. It will affect particularly the Bengali and Sikh regiments.

The most disquieting and most surprising fact, says the 'Guardian,' is that the Sikhs, who were supposed to be the flower of the Indian army, are now regarded by the officers as no longer possessing useful fighting qualities. Henceforth the Gurkhas will be the backbone of the army, and they will be supplemented by enrolling Afridis and Pathans in existing regiments.

There is speculation in London as to whether the alleged decline in the efficiency of the Sikhs is actually a euphemism for disaffection.

PATH OF GLORY

A ROMANCE OF THE FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR.

BY

PAUL LELAND HAWORTH

(Copyright, Little, Brown, and Co., Boston.)

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

On the eve of the French-Indian war, George Washington, in company with Charles Randolph, a young Englishman, an Irishman, Barnaby Currin, and Jacob Van Braam, a Dutchman, and a number of Indians, is the bearer of a menacing letter from the British governor of Virginia to the Chevalier de Saint-Pierre, commander of a fort near Quebec, accusing the French troops of encroaching on British territory. The envoys are gallantly entertained by the Chevalier and his beautiful daughter, Alfrede, but Captain Reparti, commander of another French fort, shows hostility, and plans to surprise the Britishers; however, they receive a timely warning from Alfrede. Charles Randolph is given the captaincy of a company in the army, while Barnaby is made a lieutenant. The Chevalier de Saint-Pierre is summoned to Quebec for military orders, and Alfrede, who bids good-bye to the old fort, follows in company with her trusty servants. On the way they are taken captive by a squad of Indians, who over hear their plans, and Alfrede is on the point of being burnt to death when she is rescued by Charles Randolph, Banaby, and their company. Randolph escorts her to within sight of Fort Presqu' Isle, where she is discovered by Captain Reparti and his men. The captain discovers the whereabouts of Alfrede's rescuers, and he cunningly inflicts a great massacre at the British fort, and takes Barnaby's family prisoners. Randolph and his men set out to avenge the deed.

CHAPTER XV.

THE FIGHT AT THE RAPIDS.

From his post in the thicket Randolph noted with deep concern that the three canoes containing only warriors were some distance in advance of the others. He began to fear that they would reach the portage too soon. So it fell out. When the foremost canoe, propelled with vigorous paddle strokes out of the swift current that threatened to sweep it into the rapids, touched the landing place, the seven warriors in it sprang ashore and, lifting it out of the water, began to carry it along the portage. The warriors in the next two canoes did likewise, and so it happened that more than half the enemy came abreast of the ambush at a time when the canoes containing the captives had either just reached the landing place or had entered the eddy above it.

Randolph now began to think that after all the circumstance might favor the rescuers. He delayed giving the signal to fire in the hope that the foremost savages might pass on and the immediate attack be made on those having charge of the prisoners. It required much self-control wait quietly and watch the painted murderous band at whose belts swung gruesome evidences of their bloody work file past; but all the frontiersmen saw the great advantage which would be gained if some of their foes were to re-embark before the fight began, so, with fingers itching for the trigger, they repressed their rising indignation. But that so many alert enemies, with senses keen as the wolves of the forest, should pass the ambush without discovering it proved too much to hope for. One of the warriors wearing a coat that Barnaby recognized as having belonged to his father, chanced to glance into the thicket and perceived the protruding muzzle of a rifle. Instantly he released the canoe as if it had been converted into red hot iron, and his mouth flew open.

The bullet from Barnaby's rifle cut short the yell of warning. Without waiting for any other signal the whole body of rescuers poured in a volley so well directed that it struck down a dozen other warriors. Three or four of the survivors sprang away in terror-stricken flight; most of the remainder discharged their fusils hastily and ineffectively into the thicket; but a few of the more experienced fired coolly and with fatal effect at the white forms that with furious shouts and flourished weapons came leaping out upon them.

'Save the prisoners!' cried Randolph and Barnaby in the same breath. Followed by Sergeant Armstrong, Cohoon, and three or four others, they sprang toward the landing place, leaving the rest of the Virginians engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle in which clubbed guns, tomahawks, and long knives all played a deadly part, while the wild clamor of the combat rose even above the roar of the rapids. The savages who guarded the prisoners were not in good position for defense. One of the canoes had just been lifted ashore, and the warriors who had occupied it had not yet taken up their guns when the surprise came. One of them succeeded in snatching up his weapon and firing a shot that struck down the sergeant gasping and dying, but both he and his two companions fell an instant later under a hail of blows from the irate Virginians.

At the moment the fight began, the fifth canoe had just reached the landing place. It contained three warriors, five women and children, and Hermann Weiser the sole remaining man captive. Weiser was an enormous Pennsylvania Dutchman, the slowness of whose mental operations had become a byword among his neighbors. But on this occasion he displayed a courage and nimbleness of wit that gained for him the respect of all backwoodsmen, and no man thereafter was ever known to joke about 'Hermann's thick-headedness.' Throwing his great weight to one side of the frail canoe, he overturned it, spilling all its occupants into the river and wetting the rifles of the warriors. The water was mercifully shallow; and grasping the two children, the Dutchman waded to the shore with them, safely followed by the half-drowned women. There he dropped his burden, caught up a convenient boulder, and turned on his captors. He did so none too soon, for one of them was just aiming a blow at him with a tomahawk. Weiser caught the upraised arm with his left hand, and brought the boulder down with sufficient force upon the tufted head. A second savage sprang upon his back. The two wrestled with each other, now upon the sandy beach, now in the shallow water beside it, the guttural cries of the savage mingling with the deep Dutch oaths of the aroused settler. Once the savage managed to draw a knife from his belt, but the doughty Dutchman wrested it from his grasp, and it fell in the water out of the reach of either. At last, as they lay prostrate with the white man on top, Weiser seized the warrior's head with both his vast hands and put all his strength into a great wrench. There was a sickening crunch, and the settler rose from the twitching tawny body of his foe.

Meanwhile an equally desperate struggle was taking place for the bateau, which contained four warriors, Ellen Currin, and five other captive women. At the moment when the rescuers came charging down to the landing place, the vessel was some yards from the shore; but its momentum, aided by an eddy, caused it to touch the land; and Cohoon, coming up that instant seized it. Barnaby had also made directly for it; but one of the Indians who had been in the canoe with Weiser sprang in his way, and a contest was unavoidable. Before it was decided the great hound leaped upon his master's antagonist, and dog and savage came to the ground together. Thus relieved, Barnaby ran to where the savage in the bow of the bateau was striking Cohoon blow after blow with a tomahawk, while his comrades were desperately backing water with their paddles. But Cohoon, utterly careless of life, and inspired by a consuming desire for vengeance, held on doggedly until a blow pierced his brain and he fell forward into the water a dead man. Freed from Cohoon's detaining grasp, the bateau was quickly a dozen feet from shore. It was at this instant that Barnaby came bounding up. With a light leap he cleared the interval and landed upright in the bow.

'Barnaby!' exclaimed Ellen, gladly yet fearfully. 'Barnaby!'

'Lie down!' cried Barnaby to the prisoners, who fortunately were nearer the stern than were their captors.

And now ensued a grim conflict that for generations was told round the firesides of the border. If ever man was endowed with supernatural strength and skill and daring, this was the occasion and Barnaby Currin was the man. Before him were four warriors, each armed with a loaded gun. As the first raised his weapon to fire, Barnaby delivered a quick blow with his clubbed rifle that laid him bleeding in the bottom of the bateau. The second savage attempted to grapple with his antagonist, but was tossed out into the river as though he had been an infant. The savage nearest the stern then aimed his gun; but, before he could pull the trigger, Ellen, who alone of the prisoners had disobeyed Barnaby's order, splashed a handful of water into the firing-pan, and the falling flint failed to ignite the charge. At the same instant the barrel of Barnaby's rifle descended with withering force on the head of his third antagonist.

'The rapids, the rapids! We are drifting into the rapids!' cried Ellen.

It was true. The bateau had been hurled out of the eddy and was floating broadside on to destruction. Ahead the river plunged with monotonous roar down a steep decline filled with jagged rocks and the mighty trunks of uprooted trees, round which the reckless surges dashed and bounded in the sunlight like tigers at play. Both white man and Indian looked and saw the danger. As if by mutual consent, they dropped their weapons, and catching up paddles, began an equally desperate battle with the watery element. To upset meant certain death for the women and probably for the men also, for in that swirling torrent even the most powerful swimmer could not keep his head above the surface for an instant. Even as the two foemen settled to their work, they saw the warrior whom Barnaby had thrown from the canoe dashed with resistless force against a rock and then disappear from view.

It seemed impossible that the bateau, heavy and unmanageable as it was, could be brought through in safety. But the Indian was the best boatman of his tribe, while Barnaby himself was not without some skill upon water. Working instinctively together, they managed to keep the craft out of the fierce surges that threatened to engulf it. A projecting rock rose full in their path, but a cunning and powerful stroke of the red man's paddle sent the craft glancing swiftly into the open current. Down they went, amid the screams of the women, on the final plunge into a foaming caldron, where the curling waves swept in deluges over the gunwales. But the boat righted herself, and, though well-nigh sinking, was soon riding peacefully in the eddy below the carrying place, beside the dead body of the warrior who had gone through the rapids before it.

Barnaby at once snatched up his weapon to renew the conflict. But the savage had no mind to take his chance against the white demon who had destroyed his three comrades. Shaking off the feeble grasp which one of the women had bravely ventured to lay upon him, he dived headlong into the river; and the bedraggled feathers of his scalp-lock did not appear again until he was many yards down stream. After a hurried breath he vanished again, and the last the occupants of the bateau saw of him he was wading ashore toward a dark thicket. Barnaby made no effort to pursue him, but paddled hastily to the shore, where the sounds of conflict had ceased.

CREPE HATS FOR MOURNING.

Black and white crepe are combined in the picture hat for mourning wear. The white crepe facing under the brim softens the harsh lines and the white crepe wing is very smart.

For a young girl the other hat shown is especially smart and graceful. It is made of crepe, two wired loops of the crepe lending height and dignity, while the turned back brim is youthful and girlish.

"BED-TIME STORIES"

DONKEY STORY.

There was once a donkey that didn't know he was a donkey. In fact, he didn't know what he was because he had no relatives or friends to tell him and no mirrors to look in. So he used to sit and think.

'I wonder what I am, anyhow? I don't believe I am a bird, and I don't feel exactly as if I were a bee, and I can't bark like a dog. I really don't know what I am.'

At last one day he made up his mind to go out into the world and find out what he was. After he had gone a little distance he met a woman picking up sticks.

'Excuse me,' he said, 'but should you mind telling me what I am?'

'Do you mean to say you don't know what you are?' exclaimed the woman.

'No,' I haven't the least idea.' he replied.

'Then you must be a goose!' she cried.

'Thank you,' said the donkey. 'I'm much obliged,' and he went on his way saying to himself:

'Now, to think that I am really a goose and never knew it! I wonder why I can't seem to flap my wings. Perhaps I shall be able to if I keep on trying.'

So he went on a while longer trying to flap his wings and attempting to quack until he came to a nice heap of red apples.

When he had finished two or three a little girl in a blue dress came running down to the beach.

'Those are my apples! Go away!' she cried.

'Oh, excuse me!' said the donkey. 'But before I go would pou mind telling me what I am?'

'You're a pig, that's what you are!' cried the little girl, rudely, she was still angry.

'Dear me,' said the donkey, as he walked sorrowfully away. 'What a disppointment! I'm sure I'd rather be a goose. And I'm afraid I must be a pig, as she says, because I know pigs eat apples.'

He went on until he came to a beautiful big house where there were some children playing outside.

One of them ran toward him shouting, 'Oh, see the darling little gray donkey!'

'To think of that!' exclaimed the donkey. 'And I believe they are right. Somehow the name seems to fit me exactly. I really believe I am a donkey.'

And in time he was sure of it. He stayed with the children, who kept him as their own special pet, and they always spoke of him as their own dear, precious donkey.

WHAT SAITH THE SCRIPTURE?

September 3.

The just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.—Heb. x., 38.

Grace alone can cure our ills,
Sweeten life with all its cares,
Regulate our stubborn wills,
Save us from surrounding snares.

But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul.—Heb. x., 39.

KILLED MAKING MOVING PICTURES.

London, September 3.—Budapest despatches give a remarkable instance of the lengths to which cinematograph film-makers will go in the pursuit of sensational pictures. As a result of a deal there, a schoolboy, Dionys Kovalik, dived from the Frans Josef Bridge into the Danube and was killed.

Kovalik went to the cinematograph theatre and proposed to make a sensational leap from the bridge for 1,000 crowns ($200), but afterward accepted a quarter of the amount.

Diving at an angle of 45 degrees, turning a double somersault and striking the water on his back with terrible force. His body disappeared immediately below the waves. The cinematograph people were arrested. They are charged with being accessory to murder.

ROUGH LACROSSE ON THE MAISONNEUVE GROUNDS.

Irish-Canadians Defeated the Frenchmen in Labor Day Game—Shamrocks Also Lost Yesterday to the Champs—Indians Dropped Two Games and Are Anchored in the Cellar.

CORNWALL'S CLOSE WIN ON THE M.A.A.A. FIELD.

The final match of the season on the M.A.A.A. grounds took place Saturday afternoon between the champion Cornwalls and the Montreals and proved to be one of the most closely contested matches played this year, the final score being seven goals to six in favor of the visitors and this result was only attained after an extra period had been played. The M.A.A.A. boys have consistently been playing good lacrosse of late, and had they started out at the beginning of the series with anything like their present strength and form it is altogether likely that Cornwall would not have got away with the championship as easily as they have. Although the match had no bearing on the championship quite a lot of interest centred in the result. The Montreals were indeed lucky to pull the game out of the fire in the closing moments of the struggle. Both teams were at their full strength, and incidentally it may be observed that Cornwall, while they put up a fairly good brand of lacrosse, will have to step out a little if they hope to trim the New Westminster in the Minto Cup matches at the Pacific Coast, where the visiting team must of necessity be considerably stronger than the cup holders in order to get the big end of the score on their sloping field. If the Montreals can hold their present team together for next year they should make a fine showing in the race for first honors regardless of what teams may figure in the mooted new league or reconstruction of the old one.

The game opened with very fast play, neither being able to claim superiority. Jimmie Hogan scored for the home team inside of ten minutes, and Cummings equalized seven minutes later, the score being one all at the end of the first quarter.

At the restart L. Degray put his side ahead, but not for long, as Jimmie Hogan added two more, and McDonald another three minutes later. Cornwall seemed to be touched by this reverse, and attacked viciously, Cummings scoring shortly before the end of the quarter.

The third quarter was entirely in favor of the visitors, who scored twice through the brothers Degray. The first point was the outcome of a pretty piece of play on the part of Baker.

In the fourth quarter Montreal made strenuous efforts to equalize, Jimmie Hogan doing the trick after several attempts. This was the fourth goal scored by him. The fourth quarter ended with the score five all, which necessitated a supplementary period.

McDonald put the locals ahead in 15 minutes, and they appeared to have the game in hand, which Cornwall recovered and succeeded in pulling it out of the fire, through R. Degray, who scored twice, incidentally scoring his third point during the game. The winged wheelers bore down upon their opponents in an endeavor to save the game, but were unable to increase their score, the Factory Town men running out winners by the odd goal in thirteen.

The teams lined up as follows:

Montreal.		Cornwall.
Fyon	Goal	Smith
Finlayson	Point	Thompson
Thompson	Cover	F. E. Degan
O'Kane	Defence	Sommerville
Kenna	Defence	H. Baker
Brady	Defence	F. Cummings

I.C.'S BEAT INDIANS IN VERY ROUGH GAME.

A somewhat sparse audience turned out on the National grounds on Saturday afternoon when the Irish-Canadians and the Tecumsehs lined up for their final meeting of the season. The local team eventually won out by a score of twelve to eight, but the match, unfortunately, was considerably rougher than the rules called for, the players, at times, mixing it up in decidedly rough-house fashion. The slashing drew such a number of fines that the bookkeeping ability of the penalty recorder was taxed to keep an accurate account. At the start the game promised to be a good exhibition of lacrosse, and both teams played in a cautious manner, each holding their own even up to the end of the second quarter. On resuming play in the third period they started off with an even break the score being four all. The Irish Canadians scored and the visitors disputed the game so that the goal umpire was replaced by another. This was followed by another tally at the hands of Charlie George, and again another goal umpire was replaced as the Indians disputed the game, and it was afterwards admitted that it was not scored by Referee Marshall, who claimed that he had no power to overrule a goal umpire. The quarter closed with a tally by the Tecumsehs.

In the early stages of the last period Yeaman was struck over the head in a deliberate manner by Kane, and was carried off the field. He was replaced by Donald Smith, who had previously retired, and then the real mix-up started. Smith and Kane started a free for all in which not only the players on the field took part but the reserve men on the line. The police fearing more serious trouble stepped in and brought the matter to an end for a while. The goals came quick and fast for the Irishmen, they having demoralized the visitors who hung around their goal to prevent a larger score being run up on them. With about ten minutes play there was another mix-up in which all hands took part.

THE GRAND TRUNK BOATING CLUB REGATTA.

START OF THE SENIOR FOURS.

CAPITALS ONCE AGAIN BEAT THE SHAMROCKS.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.— Threatening weather and counter attractions kept down the attendance at the Shamrock-Capital game on Saturday, and the result was the smallest crowd in years, about 300 people turning out to see a fast exhibition, which was won by the locals by a score of 7 to 4. Play was clean and there was only one major penalty, John Quinn being banished in the fourth quarter for slugging Jacobs over the head. Kelly, Shea and Hall were injured early in the game, but their bruises were the result of accidents, and no one was forced to retire. The Capital defence held down the Shamrock home throughout, while the Capital attack proved too fast and tricky for the defence of the Irishmen, though Barry and Troughton, a new goalkeeper, did stellar work. Benedict stopped scores of wicket shots, and Fairbairn and Eastwood gave him good protection.

Capitals scored two goals in the first session via Harkness and Dooley, and in the second Ellard tallied one for the Shamrocks, and Harkness and Jacobs each registered one for the Capitals, making it 4 to 1 at halftime.

In the third quarter each team tallied two and the score at the commencement of the fourth quarter was six to three. Both teams scored in the final quarter, leaving Caps. winners by 7 to 4.

The line-up: —

Capitals —Benedict, Fairbairn, Eastwood, Pringle, Kelly, Shea, Dooley, Hall, Seed, Lavelle, Harkness, and Jacobs.

Shamrocks—Troughton, McMullen, Barry, Quinn, Clingen, Allman, Rennie, Munroe, Ellard, Butler, McIntyre, and Maguire.

Referee: M. Cooney; judge of play, Tom Gorman.

TORONTO NAILED DOWN THE D.L.A. PENNANT.

Toronto, Sept. 2.— The Toronto lacrosse club nailed down the championship on Saturday and killed the last hope of the Nationals by defeating the Frenchmen 5 to 2 in a runaway game. The importance of the game between Toronto and Nationals reconciled the fans to any weather defects, including a chilly wind, and about six thousand were present. An energetic breeze had dried the oval, and the weather conditions were not bad. The teams:—

Nationals — L'Hereux, Cattaranich, Duckett, Decarie, Clement, Lachapelle, Degan, Dulude, Gauthier, Pitre, Lamouroux, Bouillaine.

Torontos—Gibbons, Harshaw, Marshall, Powers, Braden, Stagg, Longfellow, W. Fitzgerald, Doniheee, Barnett, Kalls, and Warwick.

Referee—John Brennan; judge of play—John Tucker.

Torontos started with a rush and Fitzgerald scored first in one minute and eleven seconds. Time and again were the visitors' flags in danger with an occasional French attack, relieving the monotony. In one interval it looked like a National opportunity, then the pendulum swung the other way. Gauthier was sandwiched between two adversaries, and took a short rest. This was at Torontos goal, but the play shifted again, and Warwick made it 2 to 1 just before the quarter ended.

The Nationals gingered up at the start of the second. Gauthier passed two or three men on his way up the field, but strained his knee and was just able to limp to the bench. The Torontos made it three straight, Longfellow converting a pass from Warwick in six minutes. The National goal tender was kept busy fending shots and Toronto kept the early advantage. The second quarter closed with the score at 3 to 0, and there was no score in the third.

The final quarter had a swift commencement, Warwick scored in 25 seconds. Dussault charged the fence in a scrimmage, and bruised his shoulder. Briault took his place. Donihee bored in alone, and it was Torontos, 5; Nationals, 0. Nationals escaped the whitewash, Pitre and Dulude both tallying the last five minutes.

LACROSSE MATCHES ON LABOR DAY.

IRISH-CANADIANS WON FROM NATIONALS YESTERDAY

The Labor Day match on the Maisonneuve grounds between the Irish-Canadians and the Nationals resulted in Kennedy's bunch wiping out old scores by trimming the Frenchmen in a most interesting struggle. The final score of six goals to four in favor of the Irish-Canadians very correctly indicates the merits of the play. The Nationals played in poor form, while their opponents showed up to great advantage all through. A comparatively small crowd went down to witness the proceedings—there being hardly more than fifteen hundred on the stands when the game commenced. The threatening weather, and the fact that Nationals had lost their Saturday game in Toronto were given as reasons for the slim holiday attendance.

The match was a strenuous exhibition, due probably, to the current report that the Irish-Canadian team would voluntarily forfeit their salaries if they lost, while, on the other hand, it was stated that in the event of the Nationals winning out each of the players was to receive a building lot gratis. As things turned out, the Irish-Canadians saved their salaries, while the Frenchmen missed the real estate.

The result of the match had no bearing on the Big Four championship—the Torontos having already safely tucked away the 1912 pennant. Considerable rivalry, however, was exhibited on the field, and heavy checking was early in evidence. There was very little really rough tactics until the closing moments of the match, when several of the players started in to 'get at' at each other in no uncertain fashion—probably as tokens of remembrance to be conned over during the approaching long winter evenings.

Early in the match the Nationals became seriously crippled by the loss of Gauthier, who got injured in a collision, and had to retire for the game. Dussault replaced the 'dare devil,' but, although he worked hard, he was not in the same class as Gauthier. The Nationals are weak in their spare men. Secours, who was also used on Saturday, being below the calibre necessary for senior company.

The entire Irish-Canadian team played fine lacrosse—a big improvement over some of their first performances. The Nationals failed to show their usual d[illegible], and only in spasms did one get a glimpse of the brilliant work which has been characteristic of most of their matches this season. Their severe struggle in Toronto last Saturday seemed to have sapped their reserve supply of vitality, and while they died hard, they lacked the recuperative power for a brilliant finish.

The teams lined up as follows:

Irish-Canadians — Goal, Brennan; point, Neville; cover, Gagnon; defence, White, Rockford, Aspell; centre, Kane; home, Layden, Munday, F. Scott; outside, H. Scott; inside, G. Roberts.

Nationals—Goal, L'Heureux; point, Cattarinich; cover, Decarie; defence, Duckett, Lachapelle, Clement; centre, Degan; home, Delude, Gauthier, Pitre; outside, Lamoureux; inside, Boulianne.

Referee, Jack Marshall; judge of play, John Brennan.

The summary:

First Quarter.

1	Irish.-Can	H. Scott	2.45
2	Nationals	Pitre	4.15
3	Irish-Can	Munday	5.12
4	Nationals	Boulianne	4.00

TORONTOS WON CLOSE GAME FROM TECUMSEHS.

Toronto Sept. 3.—Torontos and Tecumsehs met in their final game at Hanlan's point yesterday, and again the blue shirts were victorious, the score being 5 to 3. About twenty-five hundred attended and despite the slippery grounds, saw a good game.

Torontos were without the services of Norman Harshaw, their clever point player, who dislocated his shoulder in Saturday's game with Nationals.

Torontos did not play up to their usual good form, especially the home, who could not get their quick passing game to work except in the second quarter, when the 'Tecumsehs' defence took a little balloon ascension and Torontos scored four goals. The defence, however, played good lacrosse throughout, and gave Gibbons plenty of protection.

Line-up:—

Torontos—Gibbons, F. Fitzgerald, Marshall, Powers, Stag, Braden, Longfellow, W. Fitzgerald, Donihee, Barnet, Kalls, Warwick.

Tecumsehs—Kinsman, Green, Yeaman, Whitehead, McKenzie, Rountree, Felker, Gorman, G. Smith, Collins, Querrie, Durkin.

Referee, St. Pere; umpire, Tucker.

CORNWALL DOUBLED SCORE ON SHAMROCKS.

The Cornwall team, which is the undisputed champions of the N. L. U., added one more victory towards the nailing of it down when they defeated the Shamrocks on the North End grounds by a score of eight to four in an easy manner. For the first part of the game the Shamrocks held their own, but once settled down the champions fairly romped away from their old-time rivals. At the end of the second quarter the teams had each scored two goals, while from then on it was all Cornwall, who assumed the lead and were never again headed. A unique feature turned up in the third quarter, when Doran, one of the Shamrock players, scored a game against his own team. Shortly after pulling off this trick he was replaced by Altman. The line-up and summary:—

Cornwall — Goal, Smith; point, Thompson; cover, F. Degan; defence, Summerville, Baker, Cummins; centre, Degray; home, Degray, Ramson, Degan; outside, Nicholson; inside, Cummins.

Shamrocks—Goal, Trouton; point, Clingen; cover, McMullin; defence, Barry, Doran, Munroe; centre, Quinn; home, Ellard, O'Brien, Penny; outside, McIntyre; inside, Butler.

Referee—Tom Carlind.

Judge of play—C. McKerrow.

TEMPLARS HAD TUG OF WAR

Sports and Picnic at Greenfield Park Yesterday

The annual picnic of the International Order of Good Templars was held yesterday, the place selected being Greenfield Park. Three special cars conveyed the excursionists, who numbered about two hundred, to St. Lambert, and after a march to Coronation Park games and sports were engaged in, the juniors being catered in the forenoon and the seniors in the afternoon.

The most exciting event in the senior section was the inter-lodge tug-of-war contest, each lodge being represented by six members, the team from 'Jubilee Advance Lodge' being the winners, with 'Hope of Montreal' as runners up. The one mile race for brothers, was won by Gordon Fletcher, Brother White, and Brother Meech running a dead heat for second place. In the skipping competition, Sister A. White, took first prize; Sister Mrs. Blair, second; Sister M. Caldwell, third; and Sister Goldsworthy, fourth. On arriving back at the car an open air meeting was held when addresses were given by Mr. John H. Roberts, Mr. G. W. Jones, Mr. A. H. Patterson and Mr. J. Grant Smith.

St. Andrew Lodge of Good Templars had a most interesting session last Friday. A full house, forecasting large increase of membership, enjoyed the first item of a strong winter programme.

The various events were run off with no delay, and the afternoon's sport was not marred by any accidents of any kind. Among the guests of the club was the Hon. C. J. The prizes were distributed by the Commodore at a largely attended bonnet-hop held in the evening. The 37th annual regatta will go down to history as a red letter day in the annals of the club, and the officers and committee deserve every praise for the excellent afternoon's sport provided.

BASEBALL

Rain Fell in Torrents at Yesterday's Games at Buffalo

THE ROYALS GOT BUSY EARLY IN THE GAME AND LAID UP TWO RUNS IN THE FIRST INNINGS.

Buffalo Sept. 2.— It was during the second inning of the morning game that old Jupiter Pluvius thought things were too merry and decided to dampen all the shouting of the fans with a little rain. From that time on all that appeared at the Ferry Street lot was cloudbursts and then some and by the time that the game was called in the seventh one might as well try to walk over the Erie Canal as to go across the diamond.

The Bisons lost at that but no one seemed to care about that game as all their thoughts were centred on how to reach home. Jameson was opposed to Mattern on the mound and never did the little southpaw have a chance, owing to the backwardness of his team-mates in hitting Mattern's slants. Only three hits during the six innings, and these went to Stock, Murray and Truesdale.

The Royals secured an early start by getting two runs in the first innings. Singles by Butcher, Hanford and Cunningham did the trick, and these alone were enough to beat the Bisons.

McTigue pitched better than any twirler seen here this season, for the first seven stanzas and it looked like a no-hit game. Stock's clean single in the eighth, however, started McTigue, and though he was touched up for eleven hits, he managed to hold the visitors to two runs. These came in the fifth on Madden's single, a pass to McTigue, and Connolly's hit to centre; and one in the seventh, on Purtell's single to centre, Madden's single to right, and McTigue's two-base hit to the fence. On three other occasions they reached third, but could not score. It was a case of one, two, three in every inning for the Herd, except where McTigue became generous and issued a free trip, until the eighth, when three hits and two passes resulted in one run.

Purtell was the all-round star in both games. At fielding he put up a clever exhibition both morning and afternoon.

Madden also played well, pegging down to first and second like a veteran, and nailing his man every time.

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

The principal transactions recorded in real estate at the week-end were the Grand Union Hotel on Notre Dame Street, the purchaser being Mr. F. E. McKenna, and the price $115,000, or $11 a square foot, a lot with residence on Peel, near Sherbrooke street, for $27,000, and four lots at Royal Park, Notre Dame de Grace, for $82,100. The following are the details:

NOTRE DAME STREET. — The Grand Union Hotel, on Notre Dame Street west of McGill, has been sold to Mr. Frank E. McKenna at $115,000, or nearly $11 a square foot. The property was sold by the estate of H. B. Smith, and it is believe that Mr. McKenna acted for Mr. F. J. Murray, the present manager, who is now out of the city.

PEEL STREET.— Findlay and Howard have sold to Mrs. G. MacDougall lot 315 Peel street, near Sherbrooke St., measuring 26 x 130 feet, for $27,000.

NOTRE DAME DE GRACE—E. N. Hebert has sold to O. Lamoureux, contractor, four lots in Royal Park in Notre Dame de Graces Ward, for $82,120.

The estate of the Hon. J. O. Villeneuve has sold to Mrs. Benj. Schwartz the northwest part of lots 380 and 383, St. Jean Baptiste ward, bounded at the west by St. Lawrence Boulevard, near Marie Ann Street, both lots giving an area of 5,958 square feet, for $26,811.

PELTED BISHOP WITH TOMATOES.

Crowd Did This When Short-Sleeved Girl Was Told to Leave Church.

Rome, September 3. — Mgr. Liviero, Bishop of Citta di Castello, was administering confirmation yesterday in the Cathedral there, when he noticed a girl wearing a short-waist with sleeves which he considered far to short. He interrupted the ceremony and called on her to withdraw.

As his advice was not followed, and as the girl remained in the Cathedral, after service the Bishop walked up to her, and attempted to eject her. Several young men, including the son of an Italian deputy, at once took the girl's part, and the Bishop rettired to the sacristy. In the evening a demonstration took place before the Episcopal Palace, and when Mgr. Liviero appeared at a window, intending to address the populace, he was pelted with tomatoes and other vegetables.

STEAMER TOOK FIRE AND SANK.

Baltimore, September 3. — Fire was discovered late yesterday in the lower forward hold of the steamer 'Nantucket,' of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company, as she was discharging freight at a railroad pier at Locust Point. The water that was poured into her by the fire fighters caused her cargo to list and she turned over and sank to the bottom of the harbor. Two sailors are missing, and it is thought they were overcome by smoke in an effort to save some of their effects and lost their lives. They are:

Joseph Wroton, of Norfolk, Va.

Harry Wharton, supposedly of Boston.

The damage to the vessel is estimated at $75,000.

Several firemen, including Chief Emerich, were on the boat as she went over, but they climbed to places of safety and were rescued by tugs.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT PRAISES SASKATOON.

Prince Albert, Sask., September 3. — The vice-regal party arrived here yesterday afternoon, and departed for Edmonton after a busy day. At every stop on the line there were enthusiastic crowds, and H. R. H. often spoke to farmers on the wayside. Saskatoon gave a striking demonstration, and the Duke congratulated the city, and said that it was a real type of western city, full of energy and self-confidence.

September Sapphires

The predominating color of fashion noted at the races and other fashionable gatherings in Paris thus far, this year, has been blue, and this fancy in dress is noted in the apparel of both men and women.

This popularity of color has brought the beautiful cornflower blue Sapphire to the front, as the season's most popular gem.

We are showing in our window this week, probably the finest assortment of SAPPHIRE JEWELLERY ever shown in America, which includes many designs received direct from the Paris shops.

The demand for Sapphire Jewellery has never been so great, and we look for it to take a leading place in the season's jewels.

The Sapphire is September's Birthstone.

GENERAL BOOTH THE THEME OF PREACHERS

At Many Services in Montreal References Were Made to Dead Leader.

'General Booth's Life Story and Example' was the theme in many churches on Sunday.

Dr. Symonds, in Christ Church Cathedral, reviewed the career of the founder of the Salvation Army, and said the man in the street knew they had fed the hungry and clothed the naked, and so did not ask whether their theology was right or wrong.

'Whatever changes there are in store,' concluded Dr. Symonds, 'the Salvation Army holds to-day the respect and sympathy of the community at large, and we unite in wishing it the best success of its labors, and we pay our willing tribute to the greatness of the late General Booth as one of the most striking figures of the nineteenth century.'

In Olivet Baptist Church the Rev. Joseph Sullivan used the Army's motto: 'Blood and Fire' as his text, and showed how the words symbolized purification and power.

'Men like William Booth and Spurgeon,' said Mr. Sullivan, 'had done as much in the past century for the moral and spiritual welfare of England as had men like Lord Kitchener and Lord Roberts for its military glory.'

At the Central Y M C A. a largely attended service in honor of the late General was conducted by Brigadier Rawling, divisional commander, and at the various Army headquarters the services took a memorial character. At night, the Salvation Army band paraded St. Catherine street playing the 'Dead March in Saul.'

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD.

Winnipeg, September 3. — The weather map of the Canadian prairie west for Sunday night was ideal, almost every district reporting brighter skies and drying winds, while on neither Saturday nor Sunday night did the temperature drop below 34. As a consequence farmers are putting in a busy Labor Day and the whirr of the binder, after practically a week's suspension though wet, is again heard in every district. Every indication points to the weather being set fair and if this is maintained during the current week a tremendous hole will be cut in standing grain.

SHERBROOKE FAIR OPENED YESTERDAY

Eastern Townships Farmers Make Display that Rivalsthe West.

('Witness' Staff Correspondence.)

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 3.—Without any special ostentation, but with such a display of the products of garden, field and orchard, as to justify a strong confidence in the success of the venture, the Great Eastern Exhibition, which enjoys a celebrity that extends considerably beyond the Eastern Townships, was opened for the twenty-eighth annual time yesterday for a week's duration. This fair, which was inaugurated in 1885, say the officers, has made substantial strides forward and upward each year. In addition to its general educational aim, it has before it, to cite the words of Mr. J. Mackinnon, the president, the manifestation of the greater advantages of this province as a field for agriculture, and for homes as compared with the attractions of the West with its boundless wheat fields and monotonous plains. It aims at proving that the farmer can make his home as happy in the Eastern Townships as in any other part of Canada.

Particular pleasure on this account is expressed by the directorate at the responses made by exhibitors, who, although extremely busy this season owing to the lateness of the harvest, have found occasion to steal an hour from their multifarious duties, and to send representative samples of their products, animal and vegetable, to the fair. It was freely pronounced by the exhibition management that in its totality the showing of farm products this year exceeded the showing of other years.

It was with particular pleasure that directors made their last rounds yesterday to superintend the final touches to the exhibits and to satisfy themselves that everything was ship shape. Though the skies were leaden the faces of the directors were bright, and the only hope is for fair weather for the rest of the week to make the exhibition a big success.

FINE EXHIBITS OF CATTLE.

As this part of the Province has gained distinction for its dairying in is naturally expected that this branch of industry will be well represented. Mr. A. F. Ward, a director, said that the entries in live stock were good all through. The increase is so great that the management is taxed to find accommodation for all the cattle. Both from a numerical and a qualitative point of view ,it was said, the exhibits of cattle exceeded those of past years. Butter and cheese, made with such success in these townships, were also shown, and indeed so excellent are the general samples of these on view that the judges will have the time of their lives in deciding on the superior exhibits.

As opening day is mainly devoted to putting things in shape and making the live stock comfortable for the rest of the week, the public are not expected to besiege the gates of the grounds seeding admission. The press of the people comes later in the week. The attendance yasterday was small, but some of those who were present came with the intention of transacting business ,and made tempting offers to buy fancy poultry and fancy stock.

PROFUSION OF FLOWERS.

Entering the main gates the sightseer perhaps as a rule is first attracted to the horticultural building. Here are shown a profusion of garden flowers. These bloom in a rioting of brilliant colorings from vases and pots dazzling the visiting by their many hues. Geraniums, begonias, fuschias, gloxianas, pansies, verbenas, zinnias, nasturtiums, roses, and a score or so more of varieties are visible.

There are also tempting displays of the fine arts, drawings, ladies' fancy work and kindred arts. Baked foods, bread, buns, cakes are shown, as well as a quantity of canned goods done in the country home-made style so rarely found in the city, and smacking of generous use of the component parts, fruits and sugar.

In the manufacturers' section nearly everything in common use from a plug of chewing tobacco to a grand piano are on exhibition, and daintily dressed and comely young ladies are on hand to give out souvenirs and to explain the wares.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT.

A feature in this manufacturers' building is the school exhibit by the Provincial Department of Public Instruction, in charge of Mr. J. C. Sutherland, inspector-general. The dominating aim of this play is to set forth the advantage of the grouped school, where districts are consolidated and pupils conveyed by vehicle to their instructors. Explanations of how this works out in Manitoba are given, and copious illustrations are furnished. A big display of scholo furniture is also being made.

Perhaps the vegetable and fruit exhibits are the least in evidence of all. This is owing to the lateness of the season, and the result of the rainy spring and summer, which have made the crop of garden produce much lighter than usual.

Mr. D. E. Taylor Richmond, said that such garden products as citrons, melons, late cucumbers, were a failure this season. Roots would be a fairly good crop. Potatoes were plentiful, but a percentage were scabby.

The horses shown this year, said an exhibitor, were seldom better. This is attributed to the good prices obtaining in the markets of the world for them. Here the automobile is laughed at, and horse men say that no matter how many motor cars are sold, the demand for the horse continues to be all the greater. Practically every description of horse, from Clydesdales to hackneys, and trotters are on exhibition, and keen, but friendly rivalry obtains among the competitors. The only absentees were the high-stepping classes from Montreal.

The exhibit of swine was better than usual this year. The pigs were in good condition, and entries were full. The space provided for their display was inadequate, and temporary pens had to be improvised.

SHEEP NOT QUITE SO GOOD.

The quality of the sheep, it was said, was scarcely equal to last year. Prof. W. J. Reid, Macdonald College, a judge, attributed their slight falling off in condition to the wetness of the season. This made it difficult to raise lambs.

The principal live stock exhibit was cattle. Here were many varieties, Jerseys, Shorthorns, Durbams, Ayrshires, Holsteins. Dairy cattle were in the preponderance, and some pretty fancy cows were on exhibition. Beef cattle were not so numerous, their place being taken by dairy cattle.

In the poultry building twelve hundred domestic fowl are being shown. The chickens vary in value from five to fifteen dollars, and one of the principal exhibitors was Miss Georgine Cameron, who refused $15 for a particularly fine rooster, offered by a Baltimore fancier. Mr. John Cameron estimated the value of the poultry shown as at least ten thousand dollars.

Special attractions in front of the grand stand will be provided throughout this week.

There is also a midway, with a real live animal show, views of the world, diving girls, phrenolgists and palmists. The side shows are under supervision of the police.

TO PRESENT ADDRESS TO LIEUT.-GOVERNOR.

Wednesday is to be a big day of the fair. Sir Francois Langelier, Lieut.-Governor of the province, will be present as the guest of the management, and in the evening Sir Francis, the Hon. Martin Burrell, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and the Hon. J. E. Caron, Provincial Ministers of Agriculture, will be dined at a banquet in the evening. The following address has been prepared and will be presented to Sir Francois Langelier by Mr. J. Mackinnon, president, and Mr. H. E. Channell, secretary-treasurer of the exhibition:

'On behalf of the directors of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association at its 28th Annual Exhibition I beg to extend a very cordial welcome to your Honor as the distinguished representative in this province of His Gracious Majesty, King George the Fifth. As his dutiful subjects we desire to express our unswerving loyalty to the throne and our respectful admiration for his person.

'Started in 1885 with the object of furthering the cause of the agriculturalist in these eastern townships, our early fairs were largely local in their character. Quickly the organization acquired the confidence of the farming community, mainly as the result of the generous contributions of its founders, supplemented by the foresight and energy of their management —ever a labor of love to them, not less than to their successors to the present date.

'It will be a matter of satisfaction to your Honor to learn that its yearly fairs continued to grow in size and importance and that their influence has extended beyond the limits of the of townships and the province. Thus, not for many years might be seen here exhibits and visitors from the other Provinces as well—from Nova Scotia on the East to British Columbia on the West. Moreover, to many who live in the neighboring states to the south of us, Canada's Great Eastern Exhibition is looked for with pleasant anticipation and we are glad to welcome them in ever increasing numbers.

'For the success of the fairs hearty recognition is made for the general both financial and otherwise, given from time to time by both the federal and provincial authorities: to the government over which your Honor so acceptably presides, our thanks are this year due for a generous subvention in money as well as for the inauguration of a special exhibit of what the province produces.

'May we be permitted to express the view that if the need of such an association was felt thirty years ago, it is now doubly necessary when all Canada is straining every nerve to fill up the Western Province, drawing people from the older Provinces as well as from other lands. But there is space for the settler here as well as in the West; the farmer has made, and we believe the farmer of the future can continue to make, a house as happy here as in any other part of Canada. While we have not the boundless wheat fields to offer, the other inducements of rich lands, a beautiful and healthy country and the advantages of a settled land must appeal to many who are coming from the Old World. It is quite apparent then that for this association much useful work still remains.

A reference to the beauties, advantages and boundless wealth of our fair province should we feel, touch a responsive chord, at a time when Canada and its provinces are in the eyes of the world as never before. It is specially gratifying then to know that we have in Your Honor the present representative of our King and of our Province, one who, following a long public service in parliament, unquestioned leadership at the bar, the highest place on the bench, coupled with deep learning and the respect of his fellow men.

'In conclusion permit me to add the gratification we feel in Your Honor's visit to us to-day. It can hardly fail to be instructive and to give evidence of the farmers' work for the country. We trust that it may be a pleasant one as well.

NEXT YEAR'S BISLEY TEAM.

TRAGEDIES OF THE WEEK END

Fireman Killed by Engine—Terrible Death of a Street Railway Employee.

Two terrible tragedies took place in Montreal on Sunday, when one man was crushed to death by a street car, and another by a railway engine.

At dawn, Joseph Goddard, a foreman, met his fate while extinguishing the headlight on his engine at the Turcot yard of the G. T. R. He fell between the locomotive and the string of cars, was jolted off, his body cut in two, and with an arm severed, being found after several cars had passed over him.

In the St. Henri car barns of the Montreal Tramways Company, at 10 o'clock on Sunday night, Edward Decoeur, a window washer, was crushed between two cars by the sudden placing on of the trolley, while the motorman's lever had been left on. The huge searchlight on the rear car was driven right through Decoeur's body, and when the car was driven ahead he dropped dead. His father, who had been talking to him a minute previously, collapsed when he witnessed the tragedy.

Dina Stemovitch, of Chicoutimi, died in Notre Dame Hospital on Sunday, from an injured back.

MILK GOES HIGHER.

Shippers' Association Raises Prices From Oct. 1st.

From October 1st until April 30th the price of milk will be 22 cents a gallon, and cream testing 30 percent butter fat $1.35 delivered to milkmen in Montreal. These were the rates fixed on Saturday by the Montreal Milk Shoppers Association, presided over by Mr. D. A. Macfarlane, first vice-president.

Complaint was made that the past season had been unsatisfactory, with poor crops, and an unfavorable outlook.

That the prices paid by the association had pretty generally realized was the report of the secretary, Mr. W. F. Stephen. The treasurer announced a balance of $77.50 on hand.

Satisfaction was expressed that the railway companies had issued orders that all milk shipped in eight gallon cans be waybilled, thus safeguarding its arrival.

The election of officers and directors resulted:—

President, D. A. Macfarlane, Kelvin Grove; first vice-president, George Armstrong; second vice-president, T. O. Bourdon, Chateauguay; secretary, W. F. Stephen, Huntingdon; treasurer, H. S. Tannahill, Trout River.

Directors:—A. Watt, Lancaster; J. C. Hall, Cornwall; Donald McPhee, McAlpine; W. R. Stewart, Athelstan; Neil Sangster, Ormstown; John Brown, Howick; W. J. Burke, Lachute; Gordon Miller, St. Hermas; Frank Manson, Como; C. V. L. Robinson, St. Eustache; H. J. Lawrence, West Shefford; Paul Denis, Vaudreuil; Felix Lebeau, St. Paul l'Ermite; Bernard Hibert, St. Constant; Arthur Pouport, Cote Ste. Therese; William Allen, Chesterville.
