COMMONS TURNS DOWN CONSERVATIVE MOTION U.S. Looks To Geneva For Next Naval Disarmament Move

Defeated Second Censure Motion Against Veniot

House Divided on Motion of Hugh A. Stewart, Conservative Member for Leeds, Yesterday Afternoon—Vote Was 92 to 63—With Two Exceptions, Labor Members and Progressives Voted for Conservative Amendment.

(Canadian Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Ont., May 2.—A general motion of censure of Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster General, the second such motion to be presented within two weeks, was defeated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by a margin of ninety-two to sixty-eight. The motion was moved by Hugh A. Stewart, Conservative member for Leeds, as an amendment to the motion of Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, to go into committee of supply.

The result of the previous division on this issue was ninety-eight to seventy-one. H. B. Adhead, (Labor, East Calgary) and L. H. Jelliff (Prog., Lethbridge) voted with the Government, the remainder of the Progressive and Labor members voting for the Conservative amendment.

Mr. Stewart during this address in the House declared that from Oct. 1st, 1928, to February 1st, 1929, the Postmaster General had dismissed 98 postmasters, and from February 1928 to April 1929 eight more had been dismissed. In the cases of 32 appointments by the Civil Service Commission there had been rejection by the Postmaster General, and he added, in some cases returned soldiers had been rejected in favor of civilians. Mr. Stewart, in anticipating defeat of his motion, which might be considered a vote of want of confidence, said that if his amendment were rejected it would be carried to "the great jury of the people."

Following the defeat of the motion post office estimates were considered briefly in committee of supply and progress reported.

On motion to go into supply on Post Office estimates in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, H. Stewart (Conservative, Leeds) gave notice that he would move an amendment.

A few days ago, Mr. Stewart said, he had moved an amendment on a similar motion to go into supply. This amendment was in the nature of a censure to the Postmaster-General, Hon. P. J. Veniot.

That amendment had been defeated. In the meantime many facts not known to him had been brought out. Mr. Stewart continued. Further information had also been derived from the decisions of estimates. Had all these facts been known to him before, the censure would have been more general.

Facts had been brought out which had startled the country. The whole background of the matter was the Civil Service Commission and the attitude of Mr. Veniot thereto. From October 1, 1928, to February, 1929, the Postmaster-General had dismissed 98 postmasters, and from February 1928 to April 1929, eight more dismissals had been made.

In 32 cases of appointments by the Commission, rejections had been made by Mr. Veniot. In some cases returned soldiers had been rejected in favor of civilians. The Postmaster-General had attempted to justify his actions in dismissing officers of the Postal Department, and had imported the Justice Department to stand as his defense. Mr. Stewart said, but when he quoted the ruling of the Department of Justice he omitted an important part of it. Files which the Postmaster had tabled had been found incomplete. He had dismissed for petty shortages men and women of the Postal Department all over Canada. But in the case of an inspector who, it was shown, had taken funds improperly, Mr. Veniot, had not only increased his salary but had given him a further higher responsibility.

The Postmaster-General had impaired the efficiency of the Civil Service Commission and his attitude toward it was akin to contempt said Mr. Stewart. The people of Canada were determined that the Commission should function for the greater efficiency of public service.

VOTING TAKES PLACE MAY 20 FOR L'ISLET

Opportunity for Farmers to Express Opinion on Liberal Plans for Aid to Agriculture.

(Canadian Press Despatch) QUEBEC, May 2.—Quebec farmers will soon have an opportunity in one of the finest agricultural counties of the province to express approval of the Taschereau Government's new plans for agriculture, and notably of the appointment of Hon. J. L. Perron as Minister of Agriculture. It was decided yesterday that the bye-election in L'Islet County should be held on May 20, nomination day to be the 15th. A contest is expected, since it is not believed that the Conservatives will let the constituency go by acclamation in view of the holding of the Conservative convention there in July.

The vacancy occurred because of elevation of E. Theriault, who sat for L'Islet County from 1926 up to two weeks ago, to the Legislative Council.

Thornton Makes Comparison Of Financial Situation Of C.N.R. With U.S. Railways

C. N. R. President Finds That Comparison of Lines West of Mississippi and Great Lakes Is Not Favorable to Canada—Finances of Steamships Also Considered—Outlook Bright for Trade With West Indies.

(Canadian Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Ont., May 2.—In order to develop a country, railway mileage must be built for that purpose. For a certain period that is not profitable, and those who provide the capital must wait until the population overtakes the railway. This was the observation of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, made to the preliminary committee on railways and shipping here yesterday. Sir Henry was drawing a parallel between the railway construction west of the Mississippi in the United States and that in Canada west of the Great Lakes. He found that that comparison was not favorable to Canada. In the United States there had been 191 reorganizations of railway property since the Civil War, and $874,000,000 had been eliminated. Securities to the value of $1,141,000,000 had been "stepped down" from superior to inferior positions; and if those losses were subject to interest as the C.N.R. deficits were, the figures would be about $3,250,000,000.

The committee considered yesterday the financial situation of the Canadian National Steamships. Sir Henry declared that the prospects for increased trade with the West Indies, arising out of the new service inaugurated to those islands, were bright. The company would employ whatever means were at its disposal to increase that trade and make the service rebound to the advantage of Canada.

Financial Report Adopted. The financial report of the Canadian National Railways was adopted yesterday. Sir Henry Thornton, president of the system, gave some particulars regarding the financial issues of the company since January 1, 1923. Total securities issued amounted to $255,668,256; total issues secured and paid off were $102,611,267, while interest on sinking fund amounted to $13,103,218.

Reverting to the matter of freight cars, and the necessity of the C.N.R. renting cars from other systems during the peak season, Sir Henry said that the peak of business last year was during the week of Nov. 15th. Then there were 144,820 cars being used on the C.N.R. lines. Those belonging to the C.N.R. totaled 119,224, less approximately 17,000 being operated on foreign lines, which made an actual net of 101,546. On the Canadian National Railways there were 38,254 "foreign" cars, additional to 5,920 private freight cars.

Before proceeding to the consideration of the annual report of the Canadian National Steamships, Sir Henry gave a comparison of the financial history of the C.N.R. and the railways of the United States west of the Mississippi River.

Report of C. N. Steamships. The tenth annual report of the Canadian National Steamships shows a decrease in operating revenues of $1,121,453, and in operating losses of $833,106. The net operating loss was $1,209,083 as compared with a corresponding loss in 1927 of $720,735. After debiting $2,451,515 for depreciation and $9,905,126 as representing interest or Government rates and advances, the total nominal loss for the year was $7,545,525 as compared with $7,086,939 in 1927.

The adverse showing was due to reductions in rates, the increased competition on certain routes as well as to the strike at Antwerp during the summer months and the continued reduced buying power in South Wales due to the limited coal mining operations. Some of the difficulties facing the company were mentioned by Sir Henry. The company was faced with the problem of the coal shortage in South Wales, which had caused a reduction in the carrying capacity of the company's ships. The company was also faced with the problem of the coal shortage in the United States, which had caused a reduction in the carrying capacity of the company's ships. The company was also faced with the problem of the coal shortage in the United States, which had caused a reduction in the carrying capacity of the company's ships.

TORNADO AT WHEATLEY CLAIMED SEVEN LIVES

Woman Identified as Mrs. Edwards, Her Two Children, Three Unidentified White Persons and an Unidentified Negro.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 2.—The Brinkley correspondent of the Arkansas Gazette reported last night that seven persons were known dead and probably more than twenty injured in the tornado at Wheatley. The dead were given as Mrs. Edwards and her two children, three unidentified white persons and an unidentified negro.

Quebec Government To Enforce Fair Wage Clause In Contracts

Order-in-Council Given Final Approval by Cabinet—All Employees on Government Work Throughout Province To Be Paid Wages Customary in Department in Which Work Is Being Carried Out—Contractors to Keep Records.

QUEBEC, May 2.—A fair wage clause will henceforth be inserted in all contracts awarded by the Provincial Government, according to the terms of an order-in-council given final approval by the Cabinet yesterday. During the course of last session, the question of a fair wage was frequently before the House, and several labor organizations have advocated the adoption of a Government scale. The present order-in-council marks a forward step in ameliorating the conditions of workers.

In virtue of the new ruling, all employees on Government work throughout the province falling under the provisions of the order-in-council, will be paid the wages customary in the department in which the work is being carried out. If there is no general scale in existence, the workers will receive a just and reasonable wage. Hours of work will be regulated on a similar basis, and where the contractor fails to pay such wages or violates the rule concerning hours, the Minister will have the power to withhold the amount from the sum owed by the Government for the contract and pay it to the workers. The provisions of the order-in-council will not operate where there is an agreement existing between the employer and the workers on pay and hours of labor.

Power Export Measure Is Left Over Until Next Tuesday, When More Information Is Expected

Certain Changes Considered Regarding Granting of Licenses—Amendment Proposed by Hon. Jacques Bureau—Manner of Dealing With United States—Hon. Belcourt Could See No Cause for Friction With Southern Republic—Several Bills Given Royal Assent.

OTTAWA, May 2.—The bill amending the Electricity and Fluid Exportation Act, on its third reading yesterday in the Senate, was moved into Committee of the whole for discussion, and finally allowed to stand until Tuesday, so that more information would be available.

This is a private bill which was introduced into the Commons by H. A. Stewart, Brockville, and amended to meet the wishes of the Minister of the Interior, Hon. C. A. Tanner, who had charge of the bill in the Senate, said that it was proposed to substitute the approval of Parliament for the granting of licenses for export of power instead of, as at present, the approval of the Governor-General-in-Council. There were certain exceptions to this change, among others the authority to continue existing licenses, and also to permit of authority by the Governor-General-in-Council to act in temporary emergencies.

Hon. Jacques Bureau, who afterwards moved an amendment, said that Parliament in 1907 granted the Governor-General-in-Council authority to allow the export of electric power. This authority was followed by the adoption of certain regulations. He wanted to know why the change was made, and if any benefit to the country would ensue from this change, it surely must have suffered less under the previous arrangement. If there was any change, the control should be given in entirety. He wanted to know what licenses were in effect when granted; original licenses; present licenses; quantity of power allowed to be exported; if the amount was conditional on Canada's needs; whence exported and to where; and the cost of this power at the point of delivery on the frontier.

Mr. Bureau maintained that the bill provided no machinery for the approval of Parliament. He also thought that there might be discrimination between those who have licenses and those who wanted licenses.

Two Classes of Electric Plants. Hon. W. A. Griesbach said there were two classes of electric plants in Canada, those producing for domestic purposes, and those for export. The Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario exported a certain amount of power at certain periods and derived considerable revenue. He thought that it would be impracticable to come to Parliament for approval for export of power for certain periods during the year.

Hon. J. D. Reid favored the bill if it could not be amended to stop all the export. Applications for export of power years ago were temporary, but those who received them made long-term contracts with customers. It was understood that when the power was required in the country it was to be supplied.

DEATH TOLL IN BERLIN RIOTS TOTALS EIGHT

May Day Demonstrations in German Capital Yesterday Dispersed by Police After Heavy Fighting—Armored Cars Used—Six Hundred Communists Under Arrest.

(Associated Press Despatch) BERLIN, May 2.—This capital today counted the cost of rioting which culminated May Day demonstrations yesterday. Eight persons were dead, some of them policemen, seventy-eight were seriously injured and hundreds of others suffering from bruises and minor injuries. More than six hundred Communists were under arrest.

The principal rioting occurred after dark in the working class quarter of Berlin where Communists in an effort to force their "conquer the street" slogan for May Day, erected barriers in the main thoroughfare of the Pank Strasse and its side streets.

More than eight thousand workers arranged themselves behind their barricades and held them against five hours between the two groups with snipers picking off opponents from behind windows of buildings in the neighborhood. Those Communists who did not have guns picked up paving blocks, bottles and rocks and used them to good effect. It was not until eleven p. m. that the police were able to subdue them and get the surrounding houses cleared.

FATE OF DEBTS CONFERENCE IN BALANCE TODAY

Results of Meetings Rest on Suggestions Made by German Spokesman to Commission—Failure Foretold.

(Associated Press Despatch) PARIS, May 2.—The fate of the conference of experts on reparations seeking to effect a settlement of Germany's ponderous post-war debt problem, should know definitely today or tomorrow.

If Mr. Hjalmar Schacht, German spokesman, returned to Paris from Berlin today, maintains the intransigent attitude, which made failure of the conference imminent almost two weeks ago, the experts will have only quickly to finish their final report and go home.

This latter alternative was regarded today, however, as extremely doubtful. Information from Berlin was that Dr. Schacht would make a new proposal but there was little indication there would be anything satisfactory to the allied nations.

GERMANY BELIEVES NO BASIC OFFER IS READY

(Associated Press Despatch) BERLIN, May 2.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht expressed the opinion, prior to his departure for Paris last night, that no offer he could make Germany's creditors could serve as a basis for permanent settlement of the reparations problem. "Even a provisional solution," which official circles favored for a long time, no longer seemed satisfactory, and German officialdom was inclined to view that it was better to have the Dawes plan continue than to accept a provisional settlement with its new uncertainties.

Special Committee At Capital Urges Unemployment Insurance For Whole Dominion Of Canada

Scheme Recommended in Report of Special Committee of Parliament on Industrial and International Relations in Report Presented in House of Commons Yesterday—Health Survey Asked—Should Be Based on Compulsory Contributions.

(Canadian Press Despatch) OTTAWA, May 2.—The principle of insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity is accepted and endorsed by the Special Committee of Parliament on Industrial and International Relations in a report presented by its chairman, Cameron R. Macintosh (Liberal, North Battleford), in the House of Commons yesterday. The insurance should be based on compulsory contributions derived from the state, employers and employees, the report states.

The report continues: "Your committee recognizes that, while it is highly desirable that such legislation should be uniform in all the provinces, and while social insurance has a federal aspect, nevertheless, according to the Department of Justice, under our constitution, legislative jurisdiction in relation to the establishment of a compulsory system of unemployment insurance is vested exclusively in the Provincial Legislatures."

"Your committee finds that the provinces, on being consulted by the Department of Labor with regard to their attitude towards the establishment of a general scheme, do not appear to be prepared to take immediate action."

"Under these circumstances, your committee submits the following recommendations: (a) That with regard to sickness insurance, the Department of Pensions and National Health be requested to initiate a comprehensive survey of the field of public health, with special reference to a national health programme. In this, it is believed that it would be possible to secure the co-operation of the Provincial and Municipal Health Departments, as well as the organized medical profession."

"(b) That in the forthcoming census provision should be made for the securing of the fullest possible data regarding the extent of unemployment and sickness, and that this should be compiled and published as early a date as possible."

Calling Of Another Navy Conference Is Not Highly Favored

Washington Government Looking to League of Nations Preparatory Commission at Geneva for Next Move—New Formula for Measuring Naval Strength Quite Different From Old Tonnage Basis Must Be Agreed Upon—Suggestions That President Hoover Repudiate Action of Ambassador Gibson Have Been Discredited.

(Associated Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Washington Government is looking to the League of Nations Preparatory Commission at Geneva for the next move in the naval disarmament discussion.

Big administration officials are still of the opinion that it would be futile to attempt another naval disarmament conference in the immediate future. Before such a conference would have greater chances of success than that which failed in 1927, they feel, a new formula for measuring naval strength quite different from the old tonnage basis must be agreed upon.

Suggestions Discredited.

Suggestions that President Hoover repudiate the action of Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, chairman of the American delegation at Geneva, in withdrawing the general reservation of the United States against exclusion of trained reserves in considering land armament reductions have been discredited here. They were advanced in Washington despatches which apparently were published widely in Europe, but officials declare his protest.

LARGE DEFICIT SHOWN BY RED CROSS SOCIETY

(Canadian Press Despatch) MONTREAL, May 2.—Undiminished activity in the care of indigent sick ex-soldiers and increased work on peace-time organization was reported at the annual meeting of the Quebec Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society held here yesterday afternoon. The outstanding features in the peace-time work were the tremendous growth in the Junior Red Cross, which, in this province alone, now numbers about 29,000, and the establishment of small outpost hospitals in the isolated and thinly-populated areas of Quebec. Yesterday's meeting also passed upon the election of officers for the coming year and Robert Adair was elected president to replace the late P. J. Shaw, whose death occurred during the past year.

The financial statement showed that receipts for the year had amounted to $50,958, while the expenditures had been $62,443, leaving the society with a deficit of $11,485. The budget for 1929 totals $70,500. Bishop Farnham, who was also present, complimented the Montreal public on its generous support of the organization.

Work Bound to Increase.

While the number of cases of ex-service men applying for sick relief was not increasing, the problem of dealing with these cases satisfactorily was becoming greater, the executive committee's report stated. "Ten years have been added to the lives of all those who served during the period of the war," the report read, "and it is a matter of common knowledge, and of official record too, that there were many men of 50 years of age and over who were accepted and served. These men are today between the ages of sixty and seventy, and in many cases they are permanently crippled with rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and other ailments, the origin of which it is difficult to determine, and which the Government refuses in most cases to recognize as war disability."

Post-War Duties of Society.

The post-war work of society last year included the operation of the Convalescent Home at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, where 339 soldiers were cared for at a per capita cost per day of $1.81, and the total cost of maintenance amounted to approximately $7,500. The society also dealt with 3,505 cases of sick relief and granted help in some form to 2,174. The expenditure for tubercular treatment during 1928 showed a decrease of $5,132, as compared with 1927, but the report stated that it could not be hoped to continue to show such a low expenditure in the future, as many new cases of tuberculosis had recently been brought to the notice of the society.

New Device By Which Airmen May Speak From Clouds Is Perfected

Western Electric Company Demonstrated Series of Tests—Associated Press Reporter in Flying Telephone Booth Carried on Conversation With New York Office.

(By W. W. Chaplin, Associated Press Staff Writer)

HADLEY FIELD, N. J., May 2.—Airmen were prevented yesterday by the means of speaking from cloudy peaks with their bosses, their sweethearts, or any one else of the earthbound millions who have access to a regular telephone instrument.

The Western Electric Company demonstrated in a series of tests for the press an invention linking planes on the wing to the landlines of the commercial telephone system. The first call was put through by an Associated Press reporter who went aloft in the flying telephone booth, eleven o'clock and stayed until noon. Wearing a regular telephone head set and speaking into a microphone held in his hand he gave the telephone number of the Associated Press office in New York to the Bell Telephone experimental radio station at Whippany, N. J., by wireless telephone. A moment later he heard the Associated Press switchboard operator respond and was switched to the city desk which in turn handed the call over to a rawrite man who took the report of the demonstration from the flying reporter. Though the reporter in the plane was sitting but four feet from the roaring engine, from which he was separated only by a thin pane of glass, he could hear the people in the New York office as clearly as an ordinary phone conversation, and his words were plainly audible in New York. The take-off was made in a driving rain but the telephone plane rode above the storm and the demonstration was made while 2,000 feet over Plainfield, N. J., and while the plane was making about 100 miles an hour.

NEW STRENGTH FOR ALL WEAK GIRLS

Comes From the Rich, Red Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anemic girls and children. If your daughter is languid, is short of breath after slight exertion or on going up stairs, if she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia—the medical name for poverty of the blood. Any delay in treatment may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life. When the blood is thin and watery give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle outdoor exercise. The new, life-giving blood which comes from a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, increases the appetite, stimulates the nerves and brings a glow of health to pale cheeks. Mrs. Robert Jackson, R.R. No. 5, Shelburne, Ont., praises this medicine for restoring her daughter's health. She says:—

"When my daughter was nine years old she was so weak and thin that we feared we would lose her. She was very nervous, and going to school seemed too much for her. Often she would have to stay at home for days at a time. At times she would have a

JAIL LIBRARY POPULAR WITH ALL PRISONERS

Former Penitentiary Official Says Most Prisoners Avail Themselves of Library — Those Who Cannot Read Take Out Picture Magazines.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

TORONTO, Ont., May 2. — Romeo P. Lapierre, B.A., has left off teaching convicts in penitentiaries and next year will teach French to the pupils of Humber-side Collegiate here. After six years of work in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, Quebec, and a period in Portsmouth Penitentiary, Mr. Lapierre has many interesting things to tell about his work in the prisons.

"Every inmate has a library catalogue in his cell," he said recently, "and these are 8,000 volumes of all kinds in the prison library to choose from. In addition the Government subscribes to about sixty magazines. Practically all of the men avail themselves of the library privileges and even the illiterate take out picture magazines. Fiction is most popular and the library is quite up to date."

Part of Mr. Lapierre's duties consisted in visiting the men in their cells and asking them what they would like to read as well as advising them what books to select.

"The idea," he said, "is to try to mould a man's life in prison so that he can better his position after he gets out."

The penitentiary school, Mr. Lapierre explained, is conducted in the noon hour. Attendance is not compulsory except for illiterates, but many of the convicts undertake various kinds of voluntary studies. Last year eight wrote the high school entrance examination and passed, one with honors.

In the lower school examinations six wrote and three passed in five subjects while several wrote the middle and upper school examinations with a measurable degree of success.

Mr. Lapierre said he was unable to teach all the convicts but received assistance from some educated men among the prisoners, one of whom was a school teacher. He said he had never had any trouble with discipline but there were always three or four guards presiding over the school.

Mr. Lapierre comes from Montreal. He was transferred from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary to the institution at Portsmouth after six years service. He graduated from Queen's University in 1927 and this year will obtain his high school teacher's certificate at the Ontario College of Education.

MILK DIETS

If there is a definite ulcer of the stomach or small intestine, or even a severe gastritis, it is sometimes necessary to use an exclusive milk diet until the inflammation has subsided. Only small quantities of milk should be taken at a time and under a regular schedule to avoid having the milk form in large curds. It may be advisable to use a small amount of milk of magesia in addition to the cow's milk. My usual procedure is to give the patient an eight-ounce glass of raw or certified milk at one-hour intervals as long as he remains awake, although sometimes a smaller quantity is indicated.

The milk should be slightly warmed by placing the glass in a pan of warm water. The water must not be hot enough to pasteurize the milk however. A good way to test the temperature of the water is to place the hand in the water and allow the water to reach a temperature as high as can be permitted, or about 120 degrees Fahrenheit. If the water is no hotter than this the milk will not be pasteurized but warmed just enough to soothe an irritated stomach.

No water should be used with this diet, and the patient is not usually thirsty because of the large amount of water contained in the milk. The milk should be sipped slowly and taken exactly on a one-hour schedule. It taken on the forty-five minute schedule one time, and an hour and a half schedule at another, the milk will not agree with the patient, and one who is suffering cannot afford to be careless. Pure Holstein milk should be used and no extra cream added. It is sometimes advisable to temper the glass of milk with a teaspoonful of lemon juice to assist in the digestion of the milk.

If an ulcer exists, the patient should remain in bed for at least two or three weeks, and while taking this diet it is a good plan to use hot applications on the abdomen in the region of the stomach staying for the present with Mrs. Robert Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and son, Clayton, were dinner guests of Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rooney on Sunday.

Mr. William Johnson was in Sutton, one day last week on business. Master Clayton Johnson has been ill for a few days but is now convalescing.

and if possible a large therapeutic lamp may be used several times daily.

Massage treatments should be used over the entire body. To retain his strength the patient should exercise in bed, using tensing exercises for the arms and legs. While the patient may arise to go to the toilet as often as necessary, he should be back in bed as soon as possible to keep the abdominal muscles relaxed.

After all soreness has disappeared from the abdomen upon pressure, the patient can cautiously change to another food. As soon as the acute symptoms have subsided, the patient should be encouraged to leave the bed and walk as much as possible, taking care not to bring on further irritation of the stomach by any too violent exercise.

You may expect two or three months to elapse before the ulcers and inflammation have sufficiently healed to adopt a general diet regimen, and by this time the patient should be thoroughly familiar with the changes necessary in his dietetic habits to prevent any subsequent development of ulcers.

I tomorrow's article I will tell about the citrus and vegetable broths diets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Discarding Glasses
Question:—J. H. writes: "I have worn glasses for about ten years, but recently after reading some literature I have discarded them. Will this be helpful or injurious to the eyes, or is there anything I can do to help them?"

Answer:—The eyes bear a close relation to health and you should not discard the glasses without consulting an optometrist. There are some exercises which can be used which will in many cases strengthen the eyes so that glasses may eventually be discarded.

Melba Toast and Milk
Question:—E. J. B. asks: "Would melba toast with milk, either hot or cold, be harmful or could it be used as a meal?"

Answer:—Melba toast does not make a good meal by itself. It is prescribed in my diets mainly to take the place of bread in their diet. As both toast and milk have a tendency to produce constipation, it is not wise to use them at the same time unless a large amount of leafy green vegetables are used with the milk and toast combination.

Chewing
Question:—K. G. F. asks: "Is it necessary to chew on both sides of the mouth? I had two teeth extracted from my lower left molar so that I became in the habit of chewing with the right side of my mouth. Would it be all right to continue chewing in this way?"

Answer:—It is better to use both sides of the jaw in chewing. The side that is not used becomes weakened through lack of exercise and the remaining teeth may gather deposits which will cause decay of the teeth or inflammation of the gums. One should keep the teeth in good condition and if the fibrous, tough foods are chewed, the diseases affecting the teeth and gums can usually be avoided.

And every housewife knows it is the best.

PLAY SUCCESSFULLY PRESENTED IN DOUGLAS HALL

"The Hidden Guest," a three act comedy, was presented by a cast of eleven characters from the members of the Young People's Society of the United Church. The large audience was greatly entertained and amused by the manner in which the play was presented, the various characters taking their parts in a realistic manner, showing at once native dramatic talent and careful coaching.

The scene of the play was the living room of the home of Miss Minnie Mayville (Miss Nellie Gilroy) an ineffectual little spinster.

Timorous and sensitive, she is a prey to fears of spirit visits and looks constantly for the supernatural return of her uncle Timothy, who shared her home before his death. Her niece, Miss Ruby Mayfield (Miss Thelma Crawford) a modern young lady, pays her a rush visit to escape the matrimonial alliance with an elderly admirer, Mr. John Judkins (Mr. Ernest Alby) who follows her to her aunt's home accompanied by a dashing widow, Mrs. Barrington (Miss Dettie Downs) and Miss Nellie Trotwood (Miss Helen Harris) a society girl who is fond of "thrills."

Complications arise when Mr. Bert Judkins (Mr. Allan Willard) undertakes to carry out his promise to his college class, the "Theta Phi Gamma," to stay in a strange house among strangers, over night, to dress an ironing board in women's clothes and photograph it as proof of his adventure, to dress in prison stripes and wear a cow hall until he had fulfilled his promise.

Needless to say this strange vow leads the unlucky student into all sorts of tight corners; he is mistaken for a real estate man, a burglar and a ghost. The ironing board proves to be the hiding place of a number of liberty bonds, for which "Melons" the deaf and superstitious servant maid of the house (Miss Nancy Roberts) is continually searching, as they were left to her in "Uncle Timothy's" will. The possession of the bonds is also the objective of Otto Hubner (William Worster) the original thief, now an escaped convict. Chester Driggs (Mr. Ross Spry), the parasite follower of Mr. John Judkins and a muscular policeman, McCarthy (Mr. Guy Littlejohn) completed the cast.

Mr. Bert Judkins meets Miss Ruby Mayfield in the course of his adventure in the strange house and falls in love on sight, without knowing that she is his father's fiancée. The appearance of yellow slickers going up and down the stairs and flitting about in undisciplined places causes much excitement, as both the college student and the would-be burglar wear such garments. All happenings which are not easily explained are put down by the superstitious "Melons" as "a sign and a warning" that spirits are abroad.

The bonds are discovered at last by Ruby Mayfield, who is robbed of them by the crafty Hubner, who makes his escape at the moment that the dignified Mr. John Judkins, also wearing a yellow slicker, is triumphantly carried off by the policeman, who mistakes him for the thief, to spend the night in a prison cell.

The thief however is caught by Bert Judkins and handed over to the authorities. The elderly lover pleads illness and wishes his fiancée to return to town with him. At this point explanations reveal the fact that father and son are both suitors for the hand of Ruby Mayfield, and the son generously gives way before the claims of the older man. He and Ruby, however, are unable to part and here the widow, Mrs. Barrington, takes a hand as she has tried to do all along and her sympathy is so sweet to the deserted old man that he decides to take both gift and giver.

"Melons" to her unbounded joy, finds in Bert Judkins' pocket the packet of bonds, which he has recovered from the convict Hubner, and faithful to the last to her belief in supernatural intervention devoutly looks upward and ejaculates, "Uncle Timothy!"

The play was replete with laughable situations and was greatly enhanced in the effect by the use of the lights in its more mysterious parts. The "spirit-walking," the sepulchral voice of the departed "Uncle Timothy" and the thunder and lightning effects were managed very cleverly. The Young People were assisted in preparation by Mrs. Donald Ross, as Mr. A. I. Speid, who loaned stage equipment and assisted materially in perfecting the play. Orchestral selections by Bud Harris, Kenneth Crawford, with Rod Sterling at the piano, were enjoyable features of the evening. The play will be repeated tonight.

PRINCE LAID CORNER STONE OF LONDON DENTAL CLINIC

His Royal Highness Spoke Appreciatively Yesterday of Donation by George Eastman, of Rochester, N.Y., Which Made Building Possible.

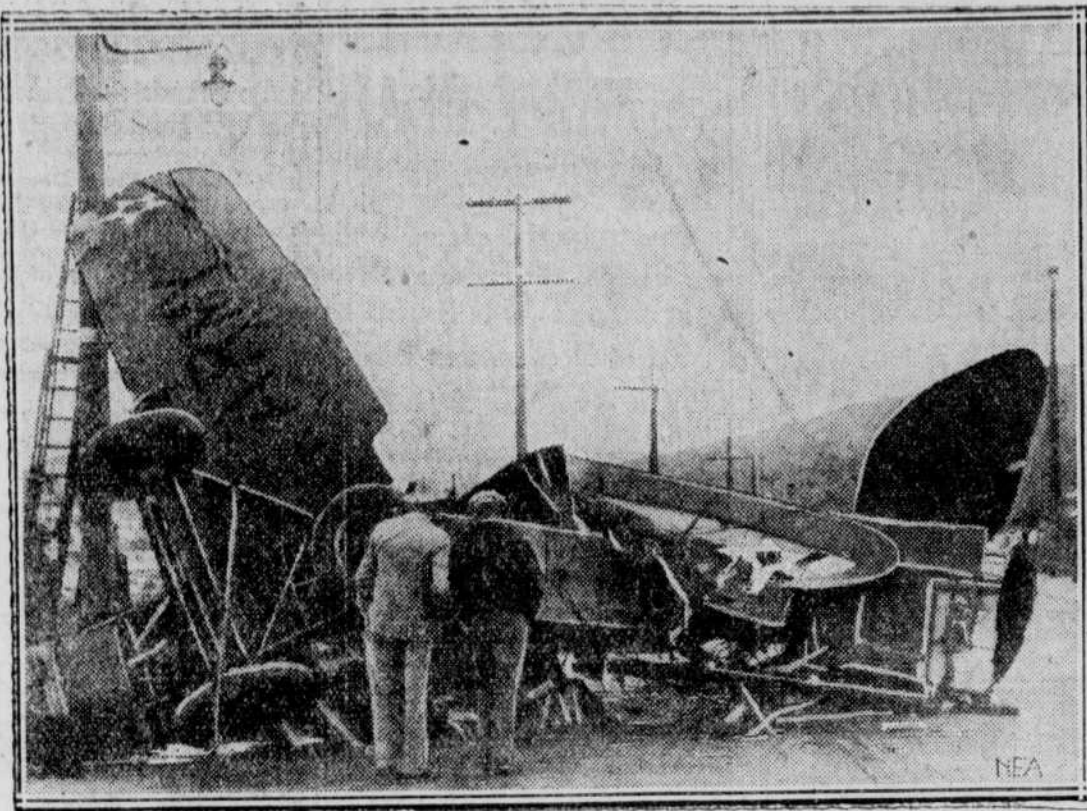

LONDON, May 1.—The Prince of Wales, laying the corner stone of a new dental clinic in connection with the Royal Free Hospital, the gift of George Eastman, of Rochester, N.Y., spoke appreciatively yesterday of the donation, and said it was not the first time American assistance had been gladly welcomed.

After the Prince had spoken, Premier Baldwin expressed thanks to Mr. Eastman for "his noble gift." American generosity, the Prime Minister said, had become proverbial, and he thought that Americans gave in the wisest direction—in education and towards health.

GENERAL NOTES AND PERSONALS FROM BEDFORD

Newsy Items of General Interest from Bedford and Vicinity.

BEDFORD, Que., May 2.—On Saturday afternoon, a most enjoyable afternoon was spent in the church hall of the United Church when fifty-five friends of Miss Elsie Morse assembled for the purpose of giving her a miscellaneous shower on the occasion of her approaching marriage to Mr. Horace Dimick, of Farnham, which will take place on Saturday, May 11th, in the United Church in Bedford. The shower, which was organized by Mrs. Forest Smith, was most attractively arranged, the gifts were placed on a large table over which was suspended a large white wedding bell, decorated in green and yellow, the color scheme which was carried throughout. The tea-table was decorated with yellow poppies in green bowls.

After the arrival of the guests, a short time was spent in social intercourse, after which the guest-of-honor was escorted to a seat by the table, where the gifts were presented to the bride-elect. Miss Morse was most grateful to her many friends for their many and useful remembrances of her and expressed her thanks in a very pleasing manner. Miss Morse has lived in Bedford for a number of years, having a position with the local branch of the Torrington Company and during these years Miss Morse made many friends, who wished to express their appreciation of her, before her departure for her new home. The gifts were many and varied, consisting of china, silver cut glass and linen. At the conclusion of the afternoon refreshments were served by

Mrs. Smith, who was assisted by Mrs. Arthur Sheltan, Mrs. Wesley Gilman, Mrs. Marvin Smith, Mrs. Ismael Corey and Miss Leslie Smith, while the tea table was presided over by the pastor's wife, Mrs. David T. Lancaster. Shortly before the guests departed a lovely wedding cake decorated with a tiny bride in wedding dress and veil was passed by Miss Morse, which was most delicious. Among the guests present were Mrs. Henry Smith, of Mystic.

Beginning with Monday the trains on the local branch of the C.P.R. went on daylight saving and the schedule is as follows: the outgoing train in the morning leaves at 8.27 while the noon train arrives at 10, the outgoing train in the afternoon leaves at 3.12 and the evening mail arrives at 5.05.

Mr. John Cook was the guest over the past week-end at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corey, on Stanbridge Ridge.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in the work of missionaries in foreign fields to be present.

Mrs. L. R. Stevens and Mrs. E. F. Currie, accompanied by the Misses Leslie Smith, Angeline Stevens and Isabel Currie motored to Montreal on Thursday. On Friday, the Misses Currie, Stevens, and Smith, took their examinations in music and theory, at McGill.

ONTARIO CITY HAS PROMISING FLYING FUTURE

As Result of Recent Announcement of Postmaster-General, Windsor Believes that Walker Airport Will Be Hub of Trans-Continental Route.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 2.—Postmaster General P. J. Veniot's recent announcement in the House of Commons that air mail service will be established this year between Toronto and the border cities, is an indication that the Walker airport near here will become one of the most important aerial stations on the continent. It will be the transfer junction for all air mail en route to the western states and western Canada. It is believed here that the Walker airport will be the eastern terminus of an important American mail route, which would form a link between Windsor and Calgary via Winnipeg.

The postmaster general made the definite declaration that Windsor would not be the terminal of the route. It is therefore believed American planes will land at Walker Field for connection with Toronto flyers. A rapid transfer of mail would be made and the American planes will transfer their mail at Winnipeg after dropping Chicago and mid-western states mail at Chicago.

Expert estimates are that, the new combination of routes will bring Montreal and Calgary within twenty-four hours of each other for mail service, and also for passenger work.

Mr. Veniot's announcement was to the effect that steps will be made at important points between Toronto and the Border Cities, but only at points where the municipalities have established landing fields. He made it plain that the facilities must be supplied by the cities themselves. The Post Office Department has no intention of setting up its own airports, at great expense.

Hamilton and London will, therefore, probably be the only two stops. They are the only cities which have recognized airports. Some others have small private fields, but it is unlikely that these will be used. Eventually, the service will extend to the Pacific coast, but the Postmaster-General said that this would probably not be made this year.

Another conjecture made by aviation officials was that mail from Toronto for Detroit would probably be unloaded at the local field and transferred by motor across the river. They pointed out it would not be economical for the planes to proceed to a Detroit landing field as all those in the vicinity of the Michigan metropolis are actually further from the Detroit post office than is Walker Airport.

Meanwhile, keen competition is going on for the contract which is to be let. Two lines of aircraft are definitely in the running, the National Air Transport, headed by Capt. Earl M. Hand, M.C., of Toronto, and International Airways of Canada, the president of which is Major-Gen. J. H. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada.

Both companies have begun a daily service between here and Toronto, carrying passengers and express. The National is flying Buhl Airedans, while the International uses Fairchild's and Fokkers. Capt. Hand's company flies out of the Leaside Aerodrome, Toronto, while the International's Toronto terminal is at Weston.

Buying here doesn't mean waiting a few days for it.

THAT is an old saying and a true one.

But it's surprising how few people realize that it is true. How often have you yourself gone to your service man in a hurry and just had some grease added to what is already in your transmission and differential?

That's what you call greasing your car, but in reality, you might as well have saved your money, because the fresh grease is only wasted.

Added to impure grease, it immediately loses its value as a lubricant. What you should do is to have the old grease flushed out and a complete fresh supply put in.

Your dealer sells and recommends "WHIZ" GEAR GREASE as the most perfect of tested greases.

GLARE LIGHT NUISANCE

Speaking of the enforcement of the traffic laws, the police authorities would undoubtedly please a great many if they would give immediate attention to the headlight nuisance. The law forbids the use of glare headlights within the city limits, yet every night motor cars are to be seen travelling along Sherbrooke's thoroughfares with glaring beams shining from their headlights.

This nuisance should be stopped and stopped at once, for this practice on the part of some motorists is decidedly not in line with "safety first" principles. A motorist whose vision is impaired by the strong glare from the headlights of a car coming toward him might very easily run down a pedestrian crossing in front of his car that otherwise he would be able to avoid striking, while many smash-ups have been caused by drivers being blinded by glare lights.

Automobile accidents are numerous enough without drivers going about courting them. Motorists who insist on using glaring headlights within the city limits should be punished according to the law.

THE LATE DOCTOR J. O. LEDOUX

The passing away yesterday morning of Doctor J. O. Ledoux closes the life of one of Sherbrooke's most highly respected citizens and the professional career of one of the outstanding French-speaking physicians of the city and, indeed, of the Eastern Townships.

The illness from which Doctor Ledoux suffered was one which his family and friends knew would in time prove fatal. He had been suffering from ill health for several years, and for the past month his death had been expected at any time.

As chief surgeon of the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Doctor Ledoux rendered a service to that institution which will remain as a memorial to his name. His death is a distinct loss to the Hospital, while the Reverend Sisters of the Institution have been deprived of a kind friend and wise counsellor.

To the many patients who continually sought his advice and help, and the countless who have been restored to health as a result of his ability as a surgeon, his name will remain honored.

Doctor Ledoux was at all times a physician of honor, a citizen who commanded the highest respect and a friend beloved by all who knew the more personal qualities of his private life. His death is a distinct loss to the community.

BRITISH GENERAL ELECTION

Seldom has a general election in any country created as great world-wide interest as the present campaign in Great Britain. Newspapers in all countries are daily publishing lengthy articles on the progress of the contest and editorial writers are kept busy summarizing and commenting on the many outstanding features in connection with the three-party battle for votes.

Possibly the "headline" of the campaign to date has been the unique stand adopted by Premier Stanley Baldwin, who steadfastly refuses, in defiance of the advice of the politicians in his party ranks, to make any sensational promises or spectacular bids for votes. In support of his stand Mr. Baldwin states: "Our first duty is not to be popular, but to run straight, and neither secure the people with flattery nor deluge them with promises. We do not regard the general election as an auction of the unemployed, to be sold as so many remnants to the highest bidder."

In discussing the British general election campaign the Christian Science Monitor says:

"The Prime Minister's programme announcement at Drury Lane is a compromise between the views of those who advised him to outbid Mr. Lloyd George with a bold programme of 'Tory democracy,' and those who advised him to fall back on old-fashioned Conservatism. He takes credit for making no promises, but does in effect offer something to everybody if he is returned to power. He will provide better secondary schools, rebuild slums, help farmers, assist railway development and increase maternity benefits so that equal chances are offered to everybody. His language is vaguer than that of Mr. Lloyd George, but he covers as much ground, though he is careful to say nothing about expenditures. He promises not to tax food, but hints at an extension of safeguarding, though in a cautious way which has disappointed the Protectionists of his party, some of whom still believe that protection would be a winning card at the election.

"The electors are rather puzzled by the apparent similarity of the programmes of all three parties. The Labor leaders hardly ever mention the word Socialism, and are presenting themselves as the party of social reform, who can safely be entrusted with the financial and commercial interests of the country. They say they can do better than the Liberals, what the Liberals propose, and the Conservatives say they can do better than either if given a chance. All the old battle cries between Conservative and Liberal have faded, and all three parties profess to be zealous social reformers, equally concerned about unemployment.

"The chief sensation of the past week has been Philip Snowden's outburst about the Balfour note, which is more surprising since Mr. Snowden is supposed to be the most orthodox and conservative of the Labor leaders. No one believes that a Labor Government would repudiate the Balfour note, which by this time is an integral part of the funding agreements signed and delivered between Great Britain and other European powers, and there is general regret that Mr. Snowden should have left the impression that this was possible. He has since endeavored to remove this impression, and it need not be taken seriously, but he has undoubtedly given voice to a widespread but hitherto silent opinion about the British debt settlement. The British people thought they had acted generously in remitting the chief part of the debts due to them in Europe and waiving all advantage for themselves in any future settlement, and it is rather galling to them to find themselves perpetually reproached with having made a bad settlement with America and be considered harsh for asking their allies to repay what they are paying on their account to America. The delay of the French in ratifying their funding agreement with Britain has increased this irritation, and though Mr. Snowden's indiscretion is regretted, there is an undercurrent of satisfaction at someone's having spoken out. This, however, is not likely to play any serious part in the election.

"Hugh S. Gibson's speech on naval disarmament at Geneva, and what is reported of President Hoover's opinions about British-American relations, have given warm satisfaction to all parties. All are agreed in professing a desire for the best possible relations with the United States."

NOTES ON SPECULATION

The history of the race might be written in terms of the endless contest between brute fact and blind faith.

Two men have, through the ages, bid for the leadership of human affairs, viz: The exhorter.

The experimentalist.

The exhorter is usually a man who has arrived at his conclusions by speculating.

The experimentalist is a man who has arrived at his conclusions by searching.

Speculation is important. It would be a sorry day for humanity if the world were to lose its abstract thinkers. Men who do no more than sit still and brood over the dilemmas of mankind are, if their brooding is of a high order, precious people. Plato could hardly be set down as a total loss. And we should hardly care to rid the record of the gadfly genius of Socrates which shines through Plato's pages.

But the fruits of speculation depend for their nutrient value upon their springing from the soil of fact.

Speculation married to fact is precious. Speculation divorced from fact may be perilous.

In each of us, as in the life of our age, there is a contest between speculation and science. It is sometimes assumed that the difference between speculation and science is, viz: Speculation is interested in ideas only.

Science is interested in facts only. This is, in no sense, true.

As Franklin H. Giddings put it, the essential difference between speculation and science is the difference between a single-entry and double-entry bookkeeping.

Speculation makes up its account of life in terms of ideas only.

Science makes up one account of life in terms of ideas and another account in terms of facts that can be found and felt, and will not rest until the two accounts agree.

And this is what the effective mind does.—Cpt. 1929.

REVEAL DISAPPEARANCE OF DOCTOR AND HIS FORTUNE

The mysterious disappearance of Dr. Charles Brancati, upper right, wealthy New York physician, five months ago, was followed by the disappearance of more than $200,000 of his fortune, police have just been notified by Ernest Brancati, upper left, a brother, below is Dr. Brancati's home on Long Island, once well known as the Governor Morris mansion. A search of the house revealed a threatening letter and several bullet marks in the doctor's bedroom. Police, believing him to be a victim of a powerful extortion ring, said the search for him probably would lead to Europe.

CANADA ENJOYS ANOTHER YEAR OF PROSPERITY

Report Prepared for League of Nations Shows that in 1928 North America Witnessed Rapid Trade Development.

(Canadian Press Despatch) GENEVA, May 2.—"Canada enjoyed a year of unprecedented prosperity," says the Review of Economic Conditions in 1928 issued by the League of Nations last night as a basis for the work of the consultative economic committee next Monday.

"North America," the report continues, "it seems probable, was the continent where trade developed more rapidly. The United States not only maintained its position of the world's leading commercial country but increased its excess of exports over imports."

In all leading commercial countries of South America trade continued to develop. Particularly striking was the substantial increase of exports from Chile and the continued prosperity of Argentina, whose trade had advanced even beyond the exceptional levels of 1927. The report said that economic life enjoyed the benefits of greater monetary stability, particularly in European markets, and that international trade continued to increase in volume and value. Agricultural production as a whole increased considerably, but the downward trend of prices made it difficult to estimate whether there had been any substantial increase in total sales value. The wheat crop of 1928 was the largest since the war. The sugar market was affected by abolition of restrictions of output in Cuba and by rapid growth of production in Java. The production of crude oil increased considerably in Colombia and Venezuela.

GRAND JURY RETURNED NO BILL IN SHOOTING CASE AT GENEVA, ILL.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith Exonerated from Blame in Killing of Mrs. Lillian DeKing—Eugene Fairchild Held on Perjury Charge.

(Associated Press Despatch) GENEVA, Ill., May 2.—One indictment was returned here yesterday as a result of a March 29 raid in which Mrs. Lillian DeKing lost her life and a deputy sheriff was shot. The only charge preferred by the Kane county grand jury was perjury against Eugene Boyd Fairchild, whose false affidavit of buying liquor at the DeKing home led to the raid.

The man who killed Mrs. DeKing, Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, was exonerated by the jurors, who also returned a no bill for Joseph DeKing, husband of the woman killed. Shot in the leg by the twelve-year-old son of the woman he killed, Smith has been in Elgin Hospital unable to walk.

OLD RESIDENCE OF POPES WILL NOT BE OFFERED

Idea of Offering Pope Pius Famous "Palace of the Popes" at Avignon Set Aside—Feared Move Might Be Misinterpreted by Mussolini.

(Associated Press Despatch) PARIS, May 2.—The idea of offering Pope Pius the famous "Palace of the Popes" at Avignon, suggested by several Paris newspapers yesterday, is regarded as an idle spring dream by the French Government.

Officials chuckled when they read several Paris newspapers, which seriously suggested it, and said that the Government was considering it.

Quite aside from the poor climate of Avignon, which would preclude the Pope making it either a summer or winter home, it was remarked that Premier Mussolini would be pretty sure to interpret it as an effort to entice the Pontiff from Italy.

Avignon was a flourishing town, and is celebrated as the residence of the Popes during the period 1309-1376, to whom it belonged until its annexation by the French in 1791.

The cathedral of Avignon is in great part of the eleventh century, and contains the sculptured tombs of Pope John XXII and Benedict XIII. The Papal throne of these Popes also is in the church.

The palace of the Popes is a huge structure built during the 14th century, with towers 150 feet high and walls a hundred feet high.

Avignon was the residence of nine Popes, Clement IV., to Benedict XIII, inclusive. After the restoration of the Holy See in Rome the spiritual and temporal government of Avignon was entrusted to a legate.

FARMER GIVEN TREATMENT SIMILAR TO WHAT HE GAVE

South African Cabinet Declined to Show Mercy to Man Who Abused Native So Severely that He Subsequently Died, and He Was This Morning Given Ten Lashes.

(Canadian Press Despatch) PRETORIA, South Africa, May 1.—For the first time in many years a white farmer was today flogged for injuring a native.

Jack Nafté, who tied a native employee head downward by the leg from a tree and lashed him so severely that he subsequently died, had already been sentenced to seven years at hard labor, but the judge in passing sentence on an assault which he described as "horrific in its cruelty," said that punishment would not be adequate unless it included infliction upon Nafté of physical pain.

The cabinet of South Africa decided that it was unable to recommend mercy for Nafté, and the farmer received ten lashes in the Pretoria jail today.

graph Company announced one of the largest bond offerings floated since the war in the form of $219,000,000 in four half-per-cent ten year convertible debentures, carrying a block purchase rights worth about $100,000,000 to stockholders, on the basis of current market prices.

This is the first offering of bonds by American Telephone since 1925. Of the proceeds $75,000,000 will be used for payment of the collateral trust four per cent bonds due on July 1st and the remainder will be used for new construction required by the Bell system.

GRAF ZEPPELIN WAS REPAIRED WHILE IN AIR

One of Propellers Dismantled, Repaired and Replaced While Dirigible Was Flying at Average Speed and Height on Recent Mediterranean Cruise.

(Associated Press Despatch) FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, May 2.—The dismantling of one of the Graf Zeppelin's propellers and repairing and replacing it while the giant dirigible was flying at its average speed at a height of 1,000 metres was accomplished under the direction of Chief Engineer Siegel on the airship's recent western Mediterranean cruise. A defect in the propeller shaft was discovered while the Zeppelin was flying over Lieben, and preparations immediately were made to repair it without slowing down or informing the passengers.

Confined to close quarters in a motor gondola, the Zeppelin's mechanics, some of them suspended in mid air as they were while repairing a broken fin off the Bermudas on the transatlantic flight last year, proceeded to dismantle the propeller, disconnect it from the motor, and replace the broken shaft, all in an interval of four hours.

At the Zeppelin works it is said that this is the first instance on record of important repairs to the

NEW FIRM MAY ESTABLISH IN THIS DISTRICT

Final Negotiations at Present Under Way Between Board of Trade and New York Textile Firm Which Is Desirous of Establishing Canadian Branch in City.

Sherbrooke is to have a new textile industry, according to information received from reliable sources this morning, and it is understood that the final papers will be signed within the course of the next few days.

While the name of the company and the details of the transaction are being withheld until the final completion of the deal, it is known that the interested company is a New York establishment which is desirous of opening their Canadian branch in this city. Through the untiring efforts of the Board of Trade, the officials of the concern were interested, and, following an inspection of the different buildings and sites in the city at their disposal, decided upon the old original Kayser factory, near the Wolfe Street dam, which is being vacated shortly on completion of the new addition to the present Kayser building.

Negotiations were at once entered into with the city, the owners of the building, and it is understood that satisfactory arrangements are in the course of completion, so that in a short time a new industry will be operating in the city.

SUCCESSFUL ROVER MEETING HELD.

A successful meeting of the Tot H. Rover Patrol was held last evening in the Tot H. hut on Cliff Road. A short business meeting was held and it was decided to postpone the election of a Rover Mate until later, when all the members had passed their first tests. Mac Wilson was elected temporary Rover Mate for the next meeting with a different one each meeting for the next few weeks.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in discussion of the Scout laws, each prospective rover taking a law and explaining it from his own point of view. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, May 8th, and will start sharp at 7.15 o'clock. A splendid programme has been drawn up by the Rovers, and includes a "free for all" discussion on the Rover First Tests (signs, compass and salutes), a singing and, for variation light refreshments. All Scouts over the age of sixteen are invited to be present at the next meeting.

NO DISORDERS WERE REPORTED IN BARCELONA

LONDON, May 2.—A telephone message from Barcelona to the Associated Press last night said that nothing abnormal occurred in the city yesterday. Rumors of disturbances in connection with a revolutionary plot were declared to be unfounded.

The message stated that there had been some slight interruptions to railway and telephonic communication but that it had been quickly repaired.

Reports from the Franco-Spanish frontier stated that two bombs had been exploded on a bridge connecting Barcelona with Badolona. The reports indicated, however, that the explosions were an isolated instance and that the city as a whole was peaceful.

CONFERENCE NOT FAVORED

Official Statement Issued
Reports from Geneva that "limitation" and not reduction of armaments would be the guiding principle of the conference there and inferences drawn from them that the American proposal for a cutting down of naval forces has been rejected, meanwhile, have brought the following announcement from the State Department:

"With reference to press reports that the Preparatory Commission has scrapped the conception of reduction of armaments in favor of that of limitation only, Ambassador Gibson has reported that the only basis for such allegation was that a Soviet amendment injecting quantitative considerations in the text of the draft convention under a guise of a commitment for reduction below levels prevailing on a fixed date was rejected unanimously on a point of order. The whole question made it clear that in rejecting the amendment of a point of order its position regarding reduction was in no way prejudiced."

1928 the society has established out post hospitals and nursing service stations in outlying and newly settled districts. The experience in other provinces where such hospitals have been previously been established is that while the Red Cross pays the initial costs, the money is in practically all cases returned later by the local community. This year the Quebec branch will establish an additional hospital on the Magdalen Islands.

Another important peace-time activity has been the operation of the Junior Red Cross which, it was reported, had resulted in the children becoming much cleaner and suffering less from communicable diseases, while in one instance at least, it had supplanted the regular hygiene of the school curriculum entirely. The Juniors' interpretation of healthful living was not limited to healthful living, however, for over $700 earned through their own efforts were spent during the year on the improvement of their surroundings in paying for medicine cabinets, hot lunch equipment, water coolers, wash-benches, etc. Much time and energy were also spent on the actual scrubbing, painting and polishing of school buildings and the tidying of school grounds.

There is on record a sum of $4,025 earned or saved by the Juniors during the past twelve months, though it was stated that the full figures would be nearer $5,000. This money was spent on the Julius Richardson Convalescent Home at Chateauguay, the rental and transportation of a hospital marquee to Greenfield Memorial Summer Home for eight incipient tubercular patients from Ste. Agathe, as well as for the care of many individual cases by the children of different communities, and the distribution of 3,000 Christmas boxes and clothing.

Mrs. J. T. Morkill, of Sherbrooke, was elected a member of the executive of the association.

Thornton Makes A Comparison

Canadian National Steamships Service were outlined by Sir Henry. He believed that the prospects for increased trade with the West Indies were good, but that it must be encouraged. The whole project must be regarded as an adventure which required co-operation between the transportation and producing agencies in order to develop. A large proportion of West Indies products were going to the United States, and purchases were being made in the United States for the West Indies. The object of the Canadian National Steamships would be to divert both in favor of Canada.

R. B. Hanson, (Conservative, York Sunbury) asked if the Canadian National Steamships were in the transatlantic combine. Sir Henry replied in the negative, but added that the company worked in a co-operative way with that group. "You have to work with your competitors," Sir Henry said. Mr. Hanson asked why the company permitted "collect freightage" on non-perishable goods across the Atlantic, and did not permit this to operate to the West Indies. Sir Henry replied that if the adoption of this in the West Indies service could be shown to promote more traffic without endangering revenues, the company would do so.

Social and Personal

The members of the Bar of St. Francis were guests last evening at a dinner given in the Court House by Mr. J. S. Couture, K.C., newly elected barrister.

The committee for the endowment fund for the Memorial Building report a good sale of tickets for the play, "Take My Advice" which is being given on Friday evening in the Cambridge School Assembly Hall as a gift to the fund from the members of the Association of St. Andrew's Church. The play is bright and entertaining, and the young people promise a happy evening for all who attend.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church met yesterday afternoon in the church hall with a good attendance of members and the president in the chair for the business routine. After business had been attended to, a presentation was made of a pair of silver candle sticks from the members of the Auxiliary to Mrs. Perkins, who is leaving Sherbrooke to reside in St. John's, N.B. A dainty tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. K. Scrimgeour and Mrs. A. McAllister, with Mrs. Preston Powers presiding at the table, which was centered with a basket of tulips. Assisting were Mrs. W. S. Varney and Mrs. T. J. Perkins.

St. Peter's Guild held a most successful musical, food sale and afternoon tea yesterday in the Church Hall. The numerous guests were received by Mrs. S. G. Thomson, president of the Guild. The food table was in charge of Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. McKenna, with Miss Eileen McKenna assisting, and their wares were soon disposed of. A very delightful musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Ryott, piano solo; "Waltz in A flat" (Chopin); "I Love a Little Cottage"; song by Miss Lawrence, "Sleepy Hollow Tune," and song by Miss Leonard, "Do You Know My Garden." Miss Mullins acted as accompanist for all the vocal numbers. The tea table was attractively decorated with daffodils and narcissi in a silver basket, and tea was poured by Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Steele. The hostesses were Mrs. Bigg, Mrs. Robert Newton and Mrs. L. A. Darey, assisted by Mrs. Marchant, Mrs. Pearson, Miss Mona Bigg and Miss Peggy Borlase.

Miss Helen Robertson's group of the C. G. I. T., met last evening with Miss Sylvia Reid, Walton Avenue, when several business matters received attention, among them arrangements for the group's party in the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet to be held on May 17th. The C. G. I. T. Field Day, which is held in June, was also discussed, and arrangements made for the special service on Mother's Day, May 12, in which the C. G. I. T. will take part. The remainder of the evening was spent in making place cards and favors for the banquet, each group having its own part of the work. Three other groups met in the church hall and discussed plans for the summer months, among them the C. G. I. T. camp on Lake Memphremagog, the girls being advised as to all requirements for camping, expense, etc. The evening's routine included the groups' part in the Mothers' and Daughters' banquet and the special service in St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Mother's Day. The girls completed the "Indian Treasure Book" which is to be sent to Toronto this month, and worked on the table decorations and favors for the banquet, thus providing an evening of activity for all in attendance.

The police war on speeding on the city streets continues as another taxi driver has found to his cost, being summoned yesterday for the breach of this ordinance respecting the speed limit. On his appearance this morning the accused was fined the usual amount.

LOCAL MAN CHOSEN FOR BISLEY

Among the names of those chosen for the Canadian Bisley team this year is that of Lieut. J. W. Houlton, of the 1st Sherbrooke Regiment. Lieut. Houlton's name is well known in range and rifle circles in this district, as he has taken many prizes and honors at the various contests, held both locally and at Pointe aux Trembles.

SPRING CLEANING AT COURT HOUSE

Spring cleaning is in full swing at the local Court House. Halls, court rooms, offices and stairs are being scrubbed, cleaned and scoured. Even the private offices of officials are not escaping soap suds and water, and the occupants are forced to take up temporary quarters in the main offices until their rooms have been put in spick and span order by the cleaners.

Y.M.C.A. EXHIBITION CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Another very good programme was run off last night at the 33rd Armory when the physical department of the Y.M.C.A. put on their exhibition for the second night. Again the interest centred in the

The Ladies' Guild of Plymouth United Church met last evening with Miss Laura Rugg, Frontenac street. Mrs. George Lothrop, president, took charge of the meeting. During the business session several matters of importance were discussed. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Miss Rugg, assisted by the Misses Hope MacLagan and Alice Sangster.

The Mothers' Auxiliary for the 4th Troop Boy Scouts held a card party last evening at the home of Mrs. H. E. Martin, King Street West. Cards were played at six tables and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. O. Williams, Mrs. E. Riff and Mrs. W. Dunlop. At the conclusion of the game refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Frances Hodges.

Mr. L. A. Desnoyers, who for the past five years has been treasurer of the City of Sherbrooke and had to relinquish this post on account of ill health, has entered the financial field having become associated with F. J. Fairhall and Associates Limited, of Montreal.

Announcement has just been made of the appointment of Mr. Desnoyers with Mr. G. M. Ransom as joint district representatives of the house of Fairhall for the Eastern Townships.

FINE NEW GARAGE AND APARTMENT HOUSE TO BE BUILT

Important items on the building programme at the present time include the new, thoroughly modern, fireproof public garage which is to be built on Minto Street by Mr. F. J. Southworth, of the Royal Hotel, at an estimated cost of $30,000, and the apartment house which Mr. Adelaar J. Cote is erecting on Gillespie Street at a cost of $12,000.

FUNERAL OF LATE ROBERT KEMP

The funeral of the late Robert Kemp, who died suddenly in a local hotel a few days ago, was held from Jalbert's Undertaking Parlors yesterday afternoon, to Elmwood Cemetery.

He was buried with full military honors, a Union Jack draped the casket. The bearers were all ex-service men, while a large number were in attendance. Canon Bigg officiated at the services.

CANADIAN CLUB ATTRACTING INTEREST

Considerable interest is being taken in the formation of a Canadian Club for Sherbrooke, the acting secretary having sent out nearly one hundred notices of the meeting which is to be held on May 10th, also application forms for membership in the club. It is recognized by the executive, however, that in the group that are expected a large number of men who are really interested in the club will have been overlooked. However, it is hoped that all who would like to become members of such a club would get in touch with the acting secretary, P.O. Box 717, and application forms will be forwarded. From present indications it would seem as if Canadian Club No. 124 would get off to a splendid start at the supper meeting in the New Sherbrooke House on May 10th, when Mr. J. M. Macdonnell will be the speaker of the evening.

PARKING QUESTION ON WELLINGTON STREET

Chief Camirand, in an interview with the Record this morning, stated that by-law 461, governing the parking of automobiles on Wellington street, is to be rigidly enforced this summer. Parking has been tolerated on this street for some time past, in spite of the by-law, but the authorities state it cannot be tolerated any longer, as it is claimed people having business in stores on Wellington street find it practically impossible to draw up to the curb to stop.

Chief Camirand drew attention to the fact that Lansdowne market is available to motorists wishing to leave their cars for any length of time, thus relieving the condition of Wellington street.

The practice of some persons of leaving their car all day on King street from Wellington street to the Aymer Bridge is also going to receive attention, the Chief stated. In closing he stated that all motorists are being given ample warning, so that ignorance cannot be pleaded as an excuse for a breach of the law.

TWO THIRTEEN-INNING GAMES WERE PLAYED

Reds Staged Rally in Ninth to Tie Score in Game With Cubs—Contest Called With Teams on Even Terms to Allow Chicago to Catch Train.

NEW YORK, May 2. (By Wm. J. Chipman, Associated Press Sports Writer).—The Chicago Cubs closed their Cincinnati stay yesterday by fiddling through thirteen innings of baseball in a game eventually called with the score tied at 4 to 4 to permit the Cubs to start their trek eastward on schedule. The defense perked up, but the hitting was not there.

The Cubs seemed to have the game in hand by 4 to 2 over the regular route until Red Lucas and Hughie Critz smacked doubles in the home ninth on either side of a hit batsman. Guy Bush walked the next batter on purpose and pulled out of the hole. The thirteen saw him in difficulty again. Dixon led off with a double and reached third on a sacrifice. Two batters were intentionally passed, and Shaner and Allen fell down in the pinch.

The Cardinals and the Pirates also engaged in a 4 to 4 tie game over the thirteen inning route yesterday as rain swept out all National League competition in the east. Wee Willie Stedel went the distance against Carmen Hill, Steve Swetonic and Irvine Brame. The Cardinal southpaw permitted the Pirates to tie the score with a two run rally in the ninth and the teams remained fastened until darkness fell over Sportsman's Park in the thirteenth.

Athletics Made Twenty-nine Hits
The Athletics featured an abbreviated campaign in the American League by stampeding the Boston Red Sox by 24 to 6 at Fenway Park in a game which netted the Athletics twenty-nine hits, good for forty-four bases.

Al Simmons capped the Athletic attack with five hits and lost his chance to get a sixth when he let a third strike float by unmolested in the eleventh. One of Simmons' drives was a homer, which, with a single, delivered in the sixth round, helping the Athletics to ten of their runs.

Jimmy Fox also contributed five safeties to the cause of Connie Mack. Two of them were homers. Sammy Hale hit four times. Milton Gaston, Ed Durham, Billy Bayne and Ed Carroll were exposed to the fire of the Mackmen. Professor McGillicuddy employed Bob Grove until it became no contest in the sixth. After that Orwoll took a few on the chin and Bill Shores rushed to the rescue.

Browns Chalked Up Another Victory
While all this commotion was churning up the Fenway, the Browns were quietly opening their invasion at Cleveland by shading the Indians by 4 to 3 behind the smart pitching of Alvin Crowder.

The rest of the American League programme yesterday was swept away by rain at New York and Chicago.

NEW WESTMINSTER CAPTURED CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE
(Canadian Press Despatch)
NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., May 2.—Staging a sensational offensive in the last half that cut through, for the first time during the series, a stubborn Windsor defence, New Westminster Adanacs, British Columbia basketball champions, last night brought Canadian cage honors to the Pacific Coast for the first time in history.

Nine points in arrears at the midway mark, Adanacs caught the flying collegiate alumni basketballers from Windsor, Ontario, 1928 champions, near the finish and pushed their round total to a single point higher than that of the clever easterners.

Adanacs won the game, 18 to 15, and carried the round by one point, 35 to 35. Windsor won the first game of the series here on Monday night by 20 to 18.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What suggestions can you make that would help in gaining accuracy in putting?

Answered By
JOHNNY FARRELL
Winner of Eastern, Metropolitan, Wheeling, Massachusetts, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pennsylvania Open Championships 1927; La Gorce Open, 1928; Tied for Bahama Open, 1928; National Open, 1928.

There are three suggestions that I would make for the golfer who would improve his putting.

1. Stand close to the ball, with seventy-five per cent of your weight on your left foot. Most people stand too far from the ball in putting, thereby losing control.

2. Do not grip the club too tightly. It stiffens your muscles and prevents relaxation.

3. Practice swinging the putter slowly and smoothly. Do not jab at the ball as though you were in a hurry to get your stroke over with.

VERDICT GIVEN DID NOT MEET WITH APPROVAL

Ray Miller Awarded an Unpopular and Perhaps Undeserved Decision Over Billy Petrolle Last Night.

(By Chas. W. Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer)

DETROIT, Mich., May 2. — Ray Miller, Chicago left hook artist, was awarded an unpopular and perhaps undeserved decision over Billy Petrolle, the Fargo express, at the conclusion of their lightweight championship elimination contest at the Olympic Arena here last night.

When Elmer "Slim" McLelland, the referee, raised Miller's right hand at the finish of the ten rounds, the crowd of fourteen thousand, startled and amazed, cut loose with boos and hisses of disapproval. In the next instant the customers in the arena and gallery sections flooded the ring with newspapers and programmes. Miller was loudly hissed, along with referee McLelland, as they left the ring.

Petrolle, battle scarred veteran of the lightweight ranks, won six, perhaps seven of the ten rounds, in the judgment of observers at the ringside. Miller was credited with winning three, with the opening session being fairly even, although some of the experts credited Petrolle with having the shade even in that session.

The experts credited Petrolle with winning the second, third, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth rounds, with the fourth, fifth and seventh going to Miller. There was no doubt in their minds as regards Petrolle's superiority in the last three rounds.

SASKATOON, Sask., May 2.—Declaring they are unable to find employment and are suffering from hunger, more than five hundred unemployed men gathered here yesterday and passed a resolution criticizing the government for bringing men to this country without providing employment for them.

The majority of the men were Ukrainians and Hungarians. They also went on record as being opposed to accepting less than $50 per month for farm work or fifty cents an hour for labor.

It was decided to wait until Saturday to see if the labor market opens up and failing that copies of the resolution will be forwarded to Ottawa and Regina.

SPEED RECORDS SHATTERED IN OUTBOARD RACING CLASSIC

Here's the thrilling finish of the American classic of outboard motor-boat racing. Nearly 200 entrants from all parts of the middle west, south and east started from Albany, N. Y., for the 132 mile dash down the temperamental Hudson river to New York. The winner, Jake Dunnell, of Boston, is shown at the top as he crossed the finish line in a 3 hours, 36 minutes and 40 seconds, 57 minutes better than the previous record. In the center, Dunnell is being congratulated by John W. Griffith, right, chairman of the race committee and donor of the $500 main prize, Julius over the line for second place.

Varying crops... but always the same King Cole

THE tea crops are never twice alike. Even tea from the same garden will change in flavor, fullness and strength from month to month and season to season. Yet King Cole is always uniform. Only by seeking out, hoarding up and skillfully blending teas paramount for their particular qualities can a tea as delightful as King Cole be produced in its unvarying perfection. The fullness you recognize may come from Northern India, the strength from Assam, the flavor from Ceylon.

The blend is King Cole.

Healthful Cleanliness
in Every Particle

The extraordinary efficiency and superior quality of Old Dutch make its usefulness unequalled. For all uses listed on the label and many others—cutlery, refrigerators, mirrors, stoves, stone steps, etc., there is nothing else like Old Dutch.

Old Dutch keeps everything spick and span and assures that most important feature of good house-keeping, Healthful Cleanliness. Old Dutch does this by removing the unhealthful invisible impurities as well as all visible dirt.

Old Dutch is composed of a natural detergent of distinctive character, free from harsh, scratchy grit, acid and caustic. To the eye a fine powder—the microscope shows that its particles are flaky and flat shaped. Like thousands of tiny erasers they remove all uncleanness without scratching. Scratches are catch-alls for dirt and impurities.

As Healthful Cleanliness is the safeguard to health, so Old Dutch is your safeguard to Healthful Cleanliness. There's nothing else like it.

Canada that exports should be stopped. On reference to United States, it was found that the U.S. companies took the position that the long-term contracts could not be cancelled, and he thought that the New York State Commission had taken the same position, and had stated that cancellation would be considered an unfriendly act. If action had been taken there would have been retaliation in the U.S.

During the week Hon. Mr. Reid continued, Canada urged on the U.S. Government to agree to cancellation, and this was refused. New York State got Ontario power at $3 per horsepower, while Ontario was paying $15.00 to the Gattineau company. Once power is gone it could never be got back.

Retrieve Errors of Past

Hon. Gideon Robertson would like to retrieve the errors of the past, but doubted if that were possible. He thought the bill without any amendment was good, and the amendment would cause loss of revenue.

Hon. Jacques Bureau said: "Let the people of Canada, by Parliament, decide whether we are to be intimidated and the export of power go on forever. We can show we are not animated by bad feeling, and that our power is a necessity to us."

Hon. N. A. Belcourt could not see any cause for friction, or that the control of the export of power would be an unfriendly act to the U.S. He did not believe Parliament should be hampered by such ideas. He could not understand why there should be a difference between licenses granted before and after the first of January, 1929.

Hon. Mr. Reid did not think the bill went far enough, but thought it should be accepted for, if amended, it might not be acceptable to the Commons, and then there would be no protection.

Hon. Mr. Bureau then moved the following amendment: "But no such license shall be extended or renewed by the Governor-in-Council beyond the first of January, 1935, unless the approval of Parliament has been obtained."

Senator Dandurand pointed out this was not a Government measure, but he would secure all the information available.

Senator Lynch-Stanton thought the Government had given Parliament a valuable concession in this bill and there should be no delay in passing it.

Senator Beaubien agreed with the suggestion that further consideration of this bill be deferred until information was secured. He thought the export of power was bad, and that the opportunity to safeguard Canada in the future should not be lost. It was agreed that this bill would be considered on Tuesday next.

Defeated Second Censure Motion

could not be tolerated. Canada did not want a dictator in office. Mr. Stewart referred to Mr. Veniot as the champion executioner of Canada. His amendment might be treated as a vote of want of care. There were things more serious than the defeat of the Government, however, and the Minister could not openly defy the will of the public. If the amendment were rejected by Parliament it must be carried to the "great jury of the people," Mr. Stewart concluded.

Mr. Speaker Lemieux read the amendment as follows:

"In the opinion of this House, after consideration in the Committee of the whole of the estimates of the Post Office Department, it is apparent the administration of that department by the present Postmaster-General have been characterized by inefficiency, disregard of the provisions of the Civil Service Act, the Post Office Act and other statutory authority, and merits the disapproval of this House."

Postmaster-General's Reply.

The Postmaster-General rose to reply.

In the first place, Mr. Veniot said, Mr. Stewart had omitted to point out in what way his administration was inefficient, or in what manner he had violated the Civil Service or any other act. It was charged, he added, that he had disregarded certificates issued by the Civil Service Commission. That was correct. But he had done so only for valid reasons, and was given authority to do so under the act. He had only done his duty, said the Postmaster, as head of the postal service of Canada.

There had been charges which questioned his loyalty. These were untrue, Mr. Veniot said.

The Acadians were more loyal to the Empire, Mr. Veniot said, than were some Canadians of British ancestry.

"Why should I make that statement," Mr. Veniot proceeded.

"Cheap, cheap," Conservative members interjected.

"There is nothing in it," Mr. Veniot answered. "You English people of British descent—," he continued.

"What has that to do with it, a Conservative member interrupted.

"Will the hon. gentleman keep silent?" the Postmaster-General returned. A reflection had been made on his loyalty in connection with his administration of the Post Office Department, Mr. Veniot said.

"No reflection has been made on any Acadian," shouted a Conservative member.

Proceeding, Mr. Veniot said that the loyalty of the Acadian was stronger than the English-speaking people. The English-speaking people, he continued, were British born and loyal by nature; Acadians were a conquered people who, under the British flag, had received justice. Consequently the Acadian became loyal by gratitude, and a man who became loyal by gratitude was stronger in his loyalty than one who was British born and consequently was loyal by nature.

Question of Returned Soldiers.

I. D. McDougall (Conservative, Inverness) arose at this juncture on a question of privilege. The interpretation of the words of the Postmaster-General, Mr. McDougall said, was that members of the Opposition accused the Acadian race of disloyalty. "I object to that," Mr. McDougall emphasized.

Mr. Veniot replied that he had not made such a statement. He had not made any attempt, Mr. Veniot said, of any kind to "show that the Conservative party was attempting anything of the kind." He was merely replying, Mr. Veniot said, to a published article in respect to the treatment of returned soldiers, and which article, Mr. Veniot said, went on to suggest that he was not loyal to the Empire.

He then referred to certain vacancies for postmasterships where returned soldiers had been applicants. In the case of Hawkesbury, Ont., the vacancy had occurred in 1922 or 1923.

In 1927, when he came into the office, the matter was drawn to his attention. A certificate had been issued to a returned soldier by the name of McAllister. As the case had been standing for five or six years, Mr. Veniot said, and as there had been some differences of opinion on certain interpretations of the Civil Service Act as between the Commission, the Post Office Department and the Department of Justice he had had the position re-advised. Certain difficulties arose in connection with this new advertisement "not going the full course" in connection with specified qualification calling for bilingualism.

"That case stands unsettled today, today," Mr. Veniot said. "There is the history of the turning down of a certificate issued in the case of a returned soldier."

Appointment at New Glasgow.

He then referred to the appointment of a postmistress at New Glasgow, P.Q. A returned soldier had applied, but this returned soldier had been re-established. The second applicant, he said, was the widow of a returned soldier and a former postmaster. Having all the facts in mind, he had given the position to a politician by the Civil Service Commission because it was considered that the returned soldier in question was not properly qualified.

Mr. Veniot said. When the position became vacant in 1926, the report of the inspector on this returned soldier, who again was an applicant, was no better, and the position was not given to the returned soldier.

Another vacancy in Quebec province was then discussed by Mr. Veniot. A returned soldier applicant, with a net income of $3,100, had been turned down for a position carrying with it a salary of $900 yearly, because, Mr. Veniot said, the applicant intended to "farm out" the position.

The application of a returned soldier as postmaster of St. Boniface had been refused, Mr. Veniot continued, because of the importance of the post, which he did not consider this returned soldier had the experience to fill. He, however, had offered the applicant a position in the Winnipeg post office, where he would have had an opportunity to advance as he gained experience in the work. The offer was refused.

In Brussels, Ontario, the position had been given to a returned soldier, although strong pressure had been brought to bear that the assistant postmaster, son of the former postmaster, be appointed.

In East St. John, N.B., the postmaster was found dead. A returned soldier was recommended, but the Minister, knowing the man, did not think he was temperamentally qualified and refused. When the Soldier's Legion of that place protested, he had agreed to give the returned soldier the appointment if a board consisting of a representative of the Legion and of the Post Office Department reported satisfactorily on him. This board confirmed the opinion of the Minister that the man was not suitable for the position.

Mr. Veniot referred to other instances in British Columbia, Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan, where he had rejected Civil Service certificates given to returned soldiers. Character, civil re-establishment, or some other cause took the weight out of the certificates and gave him grounds for his decision.

995 Returned Men Added To Staff.

"What about Spruce Lake, Saskatchewan?" Mr. Stewart interjected. The Postmaster-General replied that there was no returned soldier implicated in this instance. He added that 995 returned men had been added to the Post Office staff throughout Canada in various capacities during his administration.

The charges that he had unmercifully wielded a political axe were without foundation. The 557 dismissals occurring since he had taken office were the results either of incompetency, dishonesty, or other similar causes. He did not intend to bring chaos into his administration by taking the advice of Conservative members as he had done once.

The Postmaster-General reviewed briefly the improvements in the mail service since he had assumed office. He did not wish to take all the credit for this himself, and he was desirous of paying tribute to the capable and conscientious men in the postal service who had assisted in maintaining and developing the efficiency of that service. The charges made in the House of Commons were, he considered, a reflection on these men.

He then turned to a discussion of the correspondence in the St. John, N.B., case. He had been asked, said Mr. Veniot, to produce this correspondence and he had agreed to do so. Later, however, in view of the fact that an investigation of the St. John office was in progress, he had informed the House that he felt the files should not be made public. This view had been concurred in by the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Kennedy, and he had agreed to do so. Strong and Active Display Featured First Half Hour's Trading This Morning — Power Stocks Irregular.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

MONTREAL, May 2.—A strong and active display by Brazilian Traction featured the first half hour's trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning. The stock came out with an overnight gain of 1½ points at 56.

International Nickel was the most active of the balance of the list and opened unchanged at 52.

The power stocks were irregular. Montreal Power was steady at 105. Quebec Power was off a like figure at 73½, and Power Corporation was unchanged at 106.

PRICE MOVEMENTS MIXED ON WALL STREET TODAY

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, May 2.—Price movements were mixed at the opening of today's market. Borg Warner and Purdy Baking each dropping two points on opening sales, and Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Union Carbide yielded a point or more. Texas and Pacific opened 1½ points higher at 181, a new high record, and American Can, Andes Copper, Electric Autolite and Wright Aeronautics advanced a point or more.

NEW YORK PRESS

MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh.

Journal of Commerce—Speculative all Street took the benefit of an abundance of "good news." The market's response to all this strongly suggests that it has once more created its own difficulty in the form of "technical resistance."

It has reached a price level obviously sufficient to increase the pressure of selling on the part of those more concerned with realizing cash profits than with the possibilities of next week's call rate.

Wall Street Journal—Further sweeping gains took place in many sections of the list, but more stocks ran into profit taking on an active scale in the afternoon.

Wall St. Journal will say today: Steel Corporation continues to make new record.

Texas Corporation has national scope.

Outlook promising along the St. Paul Railroad.

Hudson Motor shipments big.

affirmation that his record as Postmaster-General had been endorsed by the Conservative journals of Montreal and Quebec cities.

D. M. Kennedy (U.E.A. Peace River) directed the attention of the House to the rejection by the Postmaster-General of an application at Wabamun, Alta. The postmaster had rejected the man on the man on the grounds that he was not a resident of the district. According to his information, the man had been in Canada for over twenty years, was educated at Brandon College, served overseas in the Canadian forces and for nineteen months prior to his application had resided at Wabamun.

This instance was simply another example of the exercising of political patronage on the part of the Postmaster-General, declared Mr. Kennedy. It was another indication of the fashion in which Mr. Veniot overruled the decisions of the Civil Service Commission.

"We in this corner of the House take the stand that all appointments to the Civil Service should be made by the Civil Service Commission," said Mr. Kennedy.

In spite of the grave nature of the amendment, and the significance it had, he added, he found himself obliged to vote for it on principle.

Mr. Speaker, Lemieux put the amendment to the House.

After defeat of the amendment, the post office estimates were then briefly considered in committee of supply and progress was reported.

Members of the House then proceeded to the Senate chamber, where royal assent was given to a number of bills. Members then returned to the Commons and the House was adjourned.

The Old Order Changes

By David Lyall.

That Granny had accepted the hardships and sorrows of her lot cheerfully did not mean that she did not feel that she had not been the more active brain, the higher intelligence. Had she been born in later days, she would have been in the very forefront of the fight for more equality, and the true liberty born of right conditions of existence. As it was, she had guided and informed the one son she had saved from the State, and to her was largely owing the excellent conditions under which the people lived in her employment. Her interest, her criticism, her suggestion were inexhaustible. It was with his mother and not his wife that Freeland discussed every step in his business life and progress. Had he been married to a woman like her or like his own daughter Mary, a woman of vision and power coupled with womanly sweetness, he would long since have had his rightful place among those who have in them the makings of good government. A man, speaking generally, only achieves the amount of success his wife permits. This was true of Freeland's inner life rather than his outward. He had had a lonely uphill fight with conscience, and the night of warfare by which he had surrounded and guarded his employees' interests long before the word had been adopted by and insisted on by the State had never met with Harriet's approval. She was pleased when he was elected to the Town Council solely because she imagined that some social uplift might come of it. But as the years went by, and he became more and more lukewarm in it and refused steadily to stand as Mayor, her interest slackened and she often referred to it contemptuously as the Squabbling Board.

It was his interest in the Housing Scheme, his determination to do something to remove or at least to mitigate the evil which an influx of new workers had rendered acute in the town which caused Freeland to inform his colleagues when the Mayor's office came under discussion in October, that he would stand.

At the same time the subject of two Labor members offering for election to the Council came up for discussion. It was being strenuously opposed by the members who were mostly business men, with considerable interests in the place. Freeland listened for a little while to the discussion saying nothing as was his

BUILDS HER OWN GLIDER PLANE

In an effort to break the sustained flight record for motorless planes, Miss Geraldine Louise Cuthbert, above, of Long Beach, Calif., has designed a new mono-glider herself. Miss Cuthbert, said to be the only glider aviatix in the country, is doing most of the work of constructing the craft she will fly.

This morning I'd speak at his meeting for them."

These words and Freeland's very firm attitude caused a perceptible revulsion of feeling in favor of the Labor members.

It was impossible to deny knowledge or experience to Robert Freeland, who had over two hundred employees at Coppetts Mill and its extension. Individual members regarded him with a new kind of curious interest.

His daughter's engagement to the Squire of Mardocks was announced and they were to be married in the following week. It might have been expected therefore that vested interests would have claimed his first allegiance.

Personalities were not always absent from the Corporation meetings when feelings became a little heated, but nobody dared somehow to make personal remarks to Freeland. Something austere and remote about the man forbade it. He had undoubtedly put a new complexion on the Labor candidature, however, and in the subsequent voting for the Mayorality he came out with a large majority. That decided, he rose to his feet and made a short speech, which briefly indicated the considered policy he intended to adopt.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I'm quite sensible of the honor you've done me and I am proud to accept the position. I may just say here that my reasons for refusing it last year and the year before were ill-considered, selfish reasons. I did not want to be bothered with the thing. I'm so constituted that if I take a thing on I have to see it through, and the man who is Mayor of Sherbrooke, or for that matter, of any other town of the size in the next year or two has his work cut out. On what is done, more especially regarding getting houses for folk in the next year, more may depend than we can see at the moment. I'm for forging ahead, without consulting the Government. Our past experience of them has been that they hindered progress instead of anything else. They've been choked with their own officialdom."

"You'll maybe find yourself in hot water, Robert, before you're done," said Thomas Marlett, the Town Clerk, facetiously.

"I may, but that'll not keep me awake at nights, Thomas," said Freeland with his slow confident smile. "What we've got to do is to put our shoulders and our backs into this business, gentlemen, and see if we can put something through within the next six months. We've lost a whole summer already, say, two of them, wrangling with departments. We'll forge ahead on our own now. That's to be my policy and if they don't like what we're doing let them come down and show us a better way. My belief is that they'll only be too glad to leave us."

"But they're our masters, Robert, don't forget that. Where's the money to come from? The rates won't bear another penny. We agreed on that at our very last meeting."

"I'll see that money for immediate needs at least is forthcoming, gentlemen," he said in his quiet way which somehow silenced criticism and even kept questioners at bay. He was able with less speech than any man to infuse and inspire the confidence of his fellows. The meeting dispersed with relief and a feeling of comfort that almost amounted to elation. Basingfold would be heard of in the next few months if Robert Freeland had his way, and lymphatic Government departments would have to sit up.

Freeland walked home from the meeting part of the way with his old opponent, Josiah Caulfield, who lived in a gorgeous mansion on the rising ground to the west of the town and was one of the old-fashioned, industrial magnates who regarded, and indeed, talked of his employees as "hands." That was how Harriet Freeland spoke of them too, "my husband's factory hands." It always angered him and he never omitted to correct her for it.

"I'm not sure about this move on your part, Freeland, you know," said the old man whose ruddy unlined face, clear eyes and general air of well-being spoke of untrodden days and comfortable nights. "It's throwing too many soap to the working class. You and I both know at the back of our minds that they are really a shiftless, ungrateful crew, best ruled with a tight hand. Elemental you know, very elemental."

"Maybe, but they're the life force all the same, Mr. Caulfield," said Freeland dryly. "You and me see things differently as we needs must. I was born in a working man's house in the Clyde where there never was enough to eat. It's left its mark, and all my brothers and sisters are the kirkyard ba: myself, so I've got both insight and sympathy you see, that's all."

"Bless me, what an extraordinary story! Do you suggest that your brothers and sisters were killed by capital?" asked Caulfield rather testily.

"I don't suggest anything. I say that they would have lived if there had been the good food, warm clothes and fire in winter, and more fresh air in summer. Five in a bed, we were sleepin'," he added, relaps-ing into broad Scotch as he invariably did in moments of strong emotion. "That's what makes socialists and revolutionaries out of folk."

"Dear me!" repeated Josiah Caulfield, slightly disturbed in his comfortable mind. "What an extraordinary story!"

"Instead of following in the steps of William Raikes and that ilk," continued Freeland steadily, "I've laved made a bit of money, and now I'm meaning to try if I can spend some of it for the good of the folk who have helped me to make it."

A curious gleam shot across Caulfield's face.

"But it was true, wasn't it, that you bought Gorham Lacy, Mr. Freeland?"

"Yes, it was true. I had something of the same kind at the back of my mind in that purchase, Mr. Caulfield—to alter the conditions of village living, institute a bigger system of small land holdings; but in the end I saw that the system out there would be more likely to master me than me to master or alter it. So I sold it over again."
