INTRODUCES MEASURE TO NULLIFY GENERAL ELECTION CONTESTATION

Hon. J. H. Dillon Gives Notice of Amendment to Controverted Elections Act to Validate Election of Present Members—Only Members Whose Election Is Not Contested to Vote—Review of Technical and Night Schools Presented by Provincial Secretary.

QUEBEC, Nov. 25.—Legislation to dispose of the election contestation cases without clogging court and administrative channels is to be introduced in the Legislature by Hon. J. H. Dillon, Minister without Portfolio. Hon. Mr. Dillon, who is Liberal member for St. Ann's, Montreal, is one of the few members whose election is not before the courts, and is thus enabled to attempt to straighten out the difficulty that at present exists.

While the exact text of the bill, notice of which was given yesterday, has not been made public, it is expected to take the form of an amendment to the Controverted Elections Act. One of the provisions of the bill is that only members whose election is not challenged can vote on the measure. There are ninety members of the House, seventy-nine Liberals and eleven Conservatives. The election of sixty Liberals is under fire, while three Conservatives are meeting opposition. But as the elected Conservatives have generally pronounced their opposition to the general contestation, the bill is expected to carry unanimously.

Definite decision on the part of the Government to bring in remedial action was awaiting the judgments on preliminary objections. The judgments came during last week, and showed a wide variety of opinion on the part of Their Lordships, followed by consequences which would entail the courts being held for providing three days per week and a system of rotation.

Amedee Caron, Liberal M.L.A. for the Magdalen Islands, has given notice of motion of a law concerning certain methods of transportation of alcoholic liquor.

Dr. Ernest Poulin, Liberal M.L.A. for the Laurentides, has given notice that he will introduce a measure regarding persons employed on certain works, and one of his ideas is to distribute the employment as much as possible, even to the extent of providing three days per week and a system of rotation.

Amedee Caron, Liberal M.L.A. for the Magdalen Islands, has given notice of motion of a law concerning certain methods of transportation of alcoholic liquor.

In the Assembly yesterday Jos. Cohen, Liberal M.L.A. for St. Lawrence, Montreal, secured first reading for a bill amending the charter of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power, Consolidated. This is to permit the company to issue debenture stock to be given to customer-shareholders in lieu of common stock, the choice to be made by such customer-shareholders.

The bill permitting the St. Luc Hospital to borrow $1,500,000 was given third reading.

Provisions for cases where it is impossible to procure a court stenographer's notes is made in a bill which Premier Taschereau has before the Legislature. An article is inserted in the code of civil procedure to enact that "when it has been established that it is impossible, through the death of a stenographer, to procure, within a reasonable delay, for preparing the records for the appeal, the transcription of the stenographer's notes of the evidence, or part of such notes, the Court of Appeal or a judge of such court, may order that the case be restored to the same state as before the trial. In such event, the parties shall bear the costs incurred from the first trial up to and including the order referred to by this article."

It is enacted that the provisions mentioned are to apply to civil cases instituted before the Court of King's Bench, appealed since the first of March 1931.

NIGHT SCHOOLS REPORT INCREASED ATTENDANCE

QUEBEC, Nov. 25.—The annual report of the Provincial Secretary's department was tabled in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary. Probably no other department of the government covers as wide a range of activities as this section. Yesterday's report covered matters of public health, incorporated companies, reformatories, insane asylums and education.

A slight increase was noted in the asylum inmates and prison population. Letters patent were issued to 906 companies with a total capital of $71,416,136, while 1,500 companies forwarded annual reports. The total revenue of the department, received from fees, amounted to $119,698.

Discussing the subject of special school grants, the Minister says: "Whilst recommending that the school corporations practise the (Continued on Page Seven.)"

MAJORITY OF MEN PREFER THE OLD-FASHIONED GIRL

Canvass of Northwestern University Students Reveals Many Interesting Beliefs.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 25.—The "old-fashioned girl" apparently hasn't gone out of style after all.

The Daily Northwestern, student publication of Northwestern University conducted a survey of the ideas of men students on the question of the ideal girl.

Eighty per cent of the men, the sponsors of the canvass said, specified that they were not enthusiastic about girls who smoke, drink intoxicating liquors, or overdo the use of rouge and lipstick.

The men for the most part, expressed no preference as to whether the girl be blonde, brunette or red-haired, but they did say they would have "charm, intellect and sophistication."

NEW ECONOMIES ARE PROPOSED BY RAILWAYS

One of Most Drastic Train Service Reductions Ever on Record in Canada Made in Effort to Reduce Expenditure.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—One of the most drastic train service reductions ever announced in Canada has been made by the railways in an effort to further curtail expenditures.

Almost simultaneously with that train reduction are the hearings of the Board of Conciliation on the application of the railways for a 10 per cent reduction in the wages of the running trades in which over 23,000 employees are involved. If this is granted a further saving of close to $5,000,000 annually may be made.

To cope with the unfair competition of the highways the Quebec Government has already proposed an increased gasoline tax, and it is expected that the Ontario Government at the next session of that Legislature will propose an increase in the licence fees of trucks and buses. It is urged, though, that further steps should be taken and in the direction of some central regulation of the conditions under which trucks and buses operate.

The question is certain to receive a full airing before the recently appointed Royal Commission to inquire into railway matters.

DWELLING AND BARN AT BURY WERE BURNED

Property of Alden Allison Fell Prey to Flames Early Last Evening.

BURY, QUE., November 25.—Swept by a powerful wind early last evening, flames destroyed the house and barn of Mr. Alden Allison, located about a mile and a half from this place on the Scotstown Road.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Dougherty and family, who returned home last evening after being away all day. Mrs. Dougherty and children were visiting at a neighbor's house, while Mr. Dougherty built a fire in the kitchen stove. The stove fire under way, Mr. Dougherty went to the barn to do the evening chores, and it was during his absence that the house caught fire.

Help from the nearby district soon arrived, but the blaze had gained too great headway in the interval and the house was soon reduced to ashes.

The flames were swept from the dwelling to the barn which flared up in no time. A voluntary bucket brigade was organized, but the valiant helpers were unable to check the blaze. A large quantity of hay in the barn, the property of Mr. W. E. Goodenough, of Bury, was destroyed, but most of the stock was saved.

MAYOR WALKER JOINS FIGHT TO FREE MOONEY

Acting as Private Citizen, New York Mayor Will Meet Californian Governor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 25.—Private citizen James J. Walker of New York, who came here to ask a pardon for Tom Mooney, and Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, from whom he will make the request, marshalled forces today for their formal meeting next Tuesday.

Walker, who except during this visit to California is Mayor of New York, poured over records and trial and subsequent developments concerning the man who was sentenced first to be hanged and later to life imprisonment for bombing a Preparedness Day parade here in 1916.

Governor Rolph consulted attorneys before he met Walker at the Tuesday meeting. Mooney is seeking a pardon on the basis of testimony which convicted him was false. He has refused to ask parole fearing such action might be construed as admission of guilt.

This morning Mayor Walker and Governor Rolph will meet here to decide how next Tuesday's meeting will be conducted.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES IN INDIA FACE ANOTHER GRAVE SITUATION

Developments in Bengal Reported to Be Extremely Serious, With Every British Officer Doing His Duty in "Deadly Terror of His Life"—Menace of Bomb-Throwers Has Forced Lord Willingdon to Abandon Train Travel for Airships.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Information received today from India indicates that the situation there is grave following indication that the round table conference here will probably end this week without a settlement satisfactory to the Nationalists.

The situation in Bengal is said to be especially critical and the Marquis of Lathom, Under-Secretary of State for India, declared in the House of Lords that in some Bengal districts every British officer is doing his duty in "deadly terror of his life." The menace of bomb-throwers, it is reported, has recently become so great that Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India, now travels in aeroplanes instead of by train.

"Drastic action must be taken to end this menace to liberty and social peace," the Marquis of Lathom declared. "The situation is one of extreme gravity."

Coincident with the Under-Secretary's warning, fourteen Indian delegates to the conference issued a statement saying that they must grant of provincial autonomy to India would not be accepted.

"It would only give rise," they said, "to a situation of great

SITUATION IS ENCOURAGING FOR DEMOCRATS

Election of Democrat Yesterday Gives Party Majority of One in House Membership of 435.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 25.—Democratic organization of the United States House of Representatives appear certain as a result of the party's victory in the fourteenth Texas congressional district yesterday at a special election.

Elections of Richard M. Kleberg, of Corpus Christi, Democrat, gave his party a majority of one in the house membership of 435.

The new line-up is as follows: Democrats 218, Republicans 214, Farmer Laborite one, vacancies two.

The outcome encouraged the Democratic membership as the leaders laid plans to elect Representative John N. Garner, of Texas, as Speaker, and take over the House after thirteen years of Republican domination.

CHURCH NOT ATTRACTIVE ENOUGH, SAYS PRINCIPAL

Noted Theologian Would Take Drastic Action to Enliven Church Services.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 25.—The Church was not making its services attractive enough, said Rev. R. B. McElheran, principal of Wycliffe College, addressing the annual diocesan laymen's banquet of the Church of England in Canada, here last night. He gave this as one reason why the Church of England was not holding the younger people.

To remedy the situation he suggested formation of an organization similar to the Knights of Columbus in the Roman Catholic Church, with Knights of St. George as a possible name. He called for a change of emphasis which would bring back to prominence the true purpose of the church, which was spiritual.

"We endure the most hideous music in our churches," he said, declaring church services were not sufficiently attractive.

Dr. McElheran is a former Archdeacon of Prince Rupert's Land and was rector of St. Matthew's Church, Winnipeg, prior to his appointment as principal of Wycliffe College.

ARGUMENTS IN CONTESTATIONS HEARD TODAY

Hearing of Proceedings in Brome and Missisquoi Counties Being Heard This Afternoon at Sweetsburg by Judge Cousineau—Shefford County Case Will Be Heard Tomorrow.

SWEETSBURG, Que., Nov. 25.—Argument in the contestation proceedings in Brome and Missisquoi counties are being heard this afternoon by Mr. Justice Philemon Cousineau, of Montreal, in the local Superior Court. Tomorrow morning argument will be started for Shefford County, where the election of R. R. Bachand has been contested.

In Court yesterday, Joseph G. Gras, Waterloo lawyer, stated that the $1,000 deposit in connection with the Brome petition had been made by Edward Hiller, of Knowlton, co-petitioner with Frank Mooney, also of Knowlton. Mr. Gras declared that he had received one thousand dollars from the Conservative headquarters in Montreal, but had returned the money.

An attempt to disqualify Sheriff Jamieson was another feature of the hearing. The attempt was made by Tancrède Biron, prothonotary of the Superior Court for the district of Bedford, who claimed that there was no record to show that Mr. Jamieson had taken an oath of allegiance as sheriff. Judge Cousineau ruled out the evidence as illegal, maintaining that public officers are duly qualified.

Among the witnesses heard yesterday were Ed. Caldwell, returning officer in Brome county, the two petitioners, Edward Hiller and Frank Mooney, of Knowlton, Bert Mitchell, of Brome, and Carl Stone and Forest Morgan of Knowlton. Mr. Gras was also heard, while Mr. Biron was the last witness at the hearing.

McVERNAL WAS FOUND GUILTY OF SEDUCTION

Jury Added Rider Asking Clemency of Court in Passing Sentence on Rock Island Man

The Crown secured its second conviction before the present session of the Court of King's Bench yesterday afternoon when John McVernal, of Rock Island, was found guilty of seduction of a girl under the age of fourteen years. The jury required but fifteen minutes to render their verdict, but added a rider to their verdict, asking clemency for the accused.

McVernal was undefended. He asked but few questions in cross-examining the witnesses called by the prosecution and made a short address to the panel on his own behalf.

Mrs. Ida Gallup Kerr, of Sherbrooke, was acquitted of a charge of perjury in a case which lasted about three hours. The accusation which Mrs. Kerr faced arose from her testimony in the Magistrate's Court when Tom Lothrop, of this city, was charged with theft. The accused was one of the witnesses.

The witnesses called by the Crown were J. Began, Court stenographer, Gerard Gauthier, deputy clerk of the Court, Allan P. Blue and T. Lothrop, while Mrs. Kerr was the sole witness for the defence. His Lordship, Mr. Justice Archambault, in a lengthy discourse summed up the facts of the case and instructed the jury on questions of law.

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT RESIGNS FOLLOWING DEFEAT IN ASSEMBLY

Cabinet of Prime Minister Scullin Defeated After Charges of Political Bias Against Federal Treasurer—Opposition Parties Joined With Recalcitrant Labor Group Led by Hon. J. A. Beasley—Election Expected Early in January.

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 25.—The Commonwealth Government today was defeated by five votes on a motion by J. A. Beasley, former Minister of Labor, to adjourn the House of Representatives.

Prime Minister J. H. Scullin at once announced the Government would resign and that an election would be held probably in January. The vote on the motion for adjournment was thirty-seven to thirty-two.

Allegations had been made that Hon. E. G. Theodore, Federal Treasurer, had shown political bias in distributing unemployment relief, and Mr. Beasley pressed for the appointment of a select committee to investigate the charges. The Opposition decided to support the motion unless the Government was able to prove the allegations false, with the result that a combination of Mr. Beasley's followers and the Opposition gave a majority of five against the Government.

Mr. Theodore made a complete denial of the charges and the Prime Minister declared he would neither grant a Royal Commission nor a select committee to conduct an inquiry into the charges.

Mr. Beasley then moved the adjournment of the House.

"You can have your election now, and it's a mighty poor issue to fight on," the Prime Minister shouted across the floor of the Assembly.

COURT TO DETERMINE WHAT REALLY CONSTITUTES LIFE

Heart of Infant Beat After Birth, But Child Never Breathed, So Court Has to Determine Whether Life Existed or Not.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25.—A district court jury was empanelled yesterday to decide a case hinging on the question whether breathing is essential to life.

The matter involves payment of a $20,000 judgment given the heirs of Henry J. Steurtz, killed in a Nebraska accident. Several months after his death a daughter was born to Mrs. Pauline Steurtz, his widow. The child's heart beat ten to twenty minutes, hospital attendants said, but the baby never breathed.

County Judge Robin Heid decided heart beats indicated life. Under his ruling Mrs. Steurtz would collect the entire judgment.

Steurtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Steurtz, appealed. They contended the baby was born dead. Should their contention be upheld they would collect half the judgment.

In either case the widow would be entitled to only half the estate in her own right, but if the jury decides the baby lived and, therefore, inherited the other half, she would become the child's sole heir.

DAIRY PROBE INAUGURATED AT MONTREAL

Commission Appointed to Investigate Dairy Conditions in Province Will Hold Hearings in Various Cities, Including Sherbrooke.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—The Quebec Dairy Industries Commission, under the direction of Elie Bourbeau, director of the Provincial Government School at St. Hyacinthe, held its initial session here yesterday.

The sitting of the commission in Montreal will last only a few days. It is believed, following which members of the commission will proceed on a province-wide tour, sitting in such important centres as Quebec City, Hull, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke, Nicolet, Chicoutimi, Lake St. John, Rimouski and Batisca.

The commission has been created by the Hon. Adelard Godbout, Minister of Agriculture, with a view towards supplying data as to necessary procedures to be taken by the Provincial Government for reorganization of the dairy industries in Quebec. A wealth of evidence will be amassed from farmers, dairy and milk producing agencies, and from milk distributing companies, and will be embodied in a report which will seek to assure producers of milk, cream, cheese, etc., increased compensation without increasing the position of the large companies distributing these products. The report will entail complete revision of the provincial laws governing the production of milk and cream and their by-products, it is believed.

Two witnesses only were heard yesterday. They were L. P. Lacoursiere, of Batisca, Champlain, and Omer Tessier, of Beloeil, both provincial cheese and butter factory inspectors, who gave evidence as to the classification of dairy products, particularly fresh cream and fluid milk. They also testified as to the working of the agreement between farmers and distributors regarding payment for products on a butter fat basis.

This preliminary evidence, given behind closed doors, afforded the commission a clear and well-defined outline of present conditions in regard to the price received by the farmers for their produce, and the basis upon which payment was made.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a 10 oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germinant phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Planning A New Adventure

Jack Miner

in His Book on Current Topics.

In the spring of 1914 I drove to Point Pelee, a distance of about fifteen miles, where my intimate friend, Mr. Forest H. Conover, and I pulled three hundred and sixty little red cedar seedlings out of the sand. There were none of them over a foot in height. I brought them home and planted them in the clay on May 15, 1914. I cultivated them for five years and today fully ninety-five per cent. of them are over twelve feet in height and have been bearing fruit for the last three or four years. Now, isn't that "interfering with nature"? This is where the five robins that wintered here got their food. This year we have had a cardinal added to the songsters, and there has not been a day but what he has sung for us. He has fairly set me cardinal crazy—or wise—and is going to let the cause of nature be "interfering with nature," for I am going to import some of these winter and summer singers. I am going to put a pair in each cage. Then, in March, I will let the male bird out, but I will feed him on the outside of the cage. Here he will stay, just flitting and singing among the trees, but will not go far from his mate, who is still in captivity. Then, after he has got well acquainted with the whole outside proposition, I will let her out, and in this way I expect to have the whole place cardinal with song.

Dear readers, don't let me try it first. Jump in ahead of me. It can be done. Yes, if you are privileged to live in the country, you can make your home into a little earthly heaven by "interfering with the balance of nature," as you call it, but, as I term it, "assisting nature." You can get seedling trees from our government forestry department free of charge. If you will plant five hundred of them in the proper place and formation around your home, by cultivating them the same as you would hills of corn for the first five summers, which will not take you over one day a year, in ten years' time these trees will be from twelve to fifteen feet high and will break the wind off your home and, on a cold wintry day, will reduce your fuel bill and, if you can be big enough to ignore the criticism of men and take God's promise as a guide, your assistance will double and treble the quantity and quality of the birds at your home every year.

Scotch pines I planted on a thickly clay field in the spring of 1914 have now grown into a lovely little forest, but the lower limbs are bent by the weight of from three to five thousand mourning doves that have roosted there during August, September and October of the last few years.

On this beautiful frosty morning, which father used to call "the seven-teenth of Ireland," I awoke before the stars had closed their eyes, and how could I go to sleep again and miss such a musical feast, for that cardinal I had mentioned apparently had his voice focused right on my open window, saying in distinct tones: "Good cheer! Good cheer! Good cheer!" This is mingled with the low notes of the song sparrows and even the robins are trying to join in the chorus. The lovable mourning doves, one of God's chief mourners, in low voices, are saying: "Khoo-coo-coo!"

In spite of all this, I will admit I was about to doze back into dream-land again when, all at once, the honking of at least a thousand wild geese seemed to echo from every spot on the premises, saying: "Home again!" Really, my thoughts drifted nearly one-half century back to the morning we left Ohio, when a dear old Yankee by the name of Calvin Pease said to me: "Good-bye Jackie." Then, as he gripped father's hand, which I believe was for the last time, he said: "John, do you think you can make a living over in Canada for your big family?" Father apparently gripped his hand tighter and he looked him square in the face and replied: "Calvin, we are going to make more than a living—we are going to make a life," but never did the interpretation of this statement ring louder in my living-room than it did this morning, March 17th.

Life carefully planned

ASK any of the boys who've made good and they'll tell you it didn't just happen by a lucky break. Their success was the result of careful planning. Hard work. Night school, perhaps. And above all, always attending strictly to this important matter of health.

"I had no time for outdoor exercise," is the story you'll hear. "I couldn't afford one of those gymnasium courses. But I figured I could keep myself in good shape by taking Nujol. I've taken it ever since. And it's helped as much as anything to keep me fit and on the job every day."

There's no easier way to keep in first rate condition than by taking Nujol. Nujol is not a medicine. It's just a pure, natural substance that helps your system to function as Nature meant it to under all conditions. Normally. Regularly. Easily.

It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them), but aids in their removal. Nujol can't possibly upset or disagree with you, because it contains absolutely no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure, natural substance. Perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City.

Start Nujol today. Give it a fair try—for the next three months, anyway. By the end of that time—even before then perhaps—see if you don't feel much more all round fit.

You can buy Nujol at all drug stores for a small sum. Worth trying, isn't it? Nujol is sold in sealed packages only. Stop and buy a bottle on your way home tonight.

CONFERENCE ON BOYS' WORK AT SUTTON, NOTES

Large Number of Boys from Surrounding Towns Attended Interesting Event—Personals from Sutton and District.

SUTTON, Que., Nov. 24.—An interesting conference on boys' work was held here by Rev. James Finlay, secretary of the National Boys' Work Board and Rev. David Forsyth, religious education secretary for the Montreal conference. The boys were accompanied by their ministers, coming from Farnham, Cowansville, Bedford, and Knowlton. The ladies of the United Church provided a fine supper, when over sixty boys were present, and as many more older people at other tables. After the repast, the boys enjoyed a sing-song led by the Rev. Mr. Finlay. Later, two groups were formed, and Rev. Forsyth talked to the boys about "building the house of character."

Rev. Mr. Finlay then discussed the responsibility of older men taking a real interest in boys. Both groups then merged in a meeting led by the young men themselves. Mr. Forsyth spoke a few words, which were received with marked attention by all, after which Mr. Finlay gave the address of the evening on "boys who were different." Three stories were told by the speaker for illustration, each bringing out the finer types of budding manhood in certain boys, and designed to give the boys a mental view of the desirability of making a worthwhile contribution to the game of life.

The meeting of the boys began in a happy and play, and rightly ended in a serious contemplation of the part which each would be called on to contribute to the world and the community in which they moved.

* Tired Out * Here's the Reason! * Eat Yeast *

STRENGTH GONE and errands not half done! Know the feeling?

POISONS that arise here are the cause. Keep intestines clean

BY EATING yeast. Try it in milk shakes—or just plain.

Do you Tire Easily?

ISN'T it discouraging, when pep gives out . . . when you feel listless, tired and cross for no apparent cause?

That's how Intestinal Poisons affect you, doctors say!

Yet the cause exists . . . right inside your body! In most cases it's simply that age-old evil . . . intestinal fatigue!

In Intestinal Fatigue, undigested food masses accumulate and stagnate in the intestinal tract because elimination has become irregular. As a result, depressing poisons seep into the blood and circulate throughout your system. Your appetite fails.

Color fades. Vitality is slowly undermined! Now what you need is simply to cleanse your system regularly—not with weakening cathartics but by a gentle, natural means.

For this purpose, famous physicians, for over three-quarters of a century, have recommended fresh yeast.

This food—for that's what fresh yeast is—softens harmful waste matter in the intestines and at the same time stimulates the natural action that removes it. It tones up digestive functions, too, so that we derive the utmost nourishment from everything we eat.

So, if you feel run-down, start eating Fleischmann's Yeast today! Just eat three cakes every day, regularly—before meals, or between meals and at bedtime—plain or in a third of a glass of water (hot or cold), in milk, or any other way you like.

You can get Fleischmann's Yeast at grocers', restaurants, drug stores and soda fountains. Each cake is rich in three vitamins—B, C and D.

"It isn't life that matters; it's the courage we bring to it," said Hugh Walpole in his book called "Fortitude." This enduring bit of philosophy is borne by the man who has courage in adversity and the persistence to carry on in the face of a first defeat.

THE HOW, THE WHO AND THE WHY.

To select a judge as chairman of the Dominion Committee or Transportation Investigation Board is not as good a selection as had been the Speaker of the House or the chairman of the Railway Committee of the House of Commons. Judges are not strong on business procedure nor on practical business analysis.

Sir Joseph Flavelle, one of Canada's greatest business executives and the one-time chairman of the British Munitions Board in Canada had been the better man.

The more compact the committee the better for its activities. To add a few names of men just because they live in a certain locality is just a repetition of the foolish way in which the directors of the Canadian National Railways are selected.

Jurists have no place in a business conference unless they are versed in business affairs other than just their legal aspect.

On the Railway Board there should be representatives of every form of transportation carried on for the general advantage of Canada.

Steam Railways.
Electric Railways.
Trucks and Busses.
Private Motor Cars.
Ocean Steamships.
Inland Steamships.

These six divisions of transportation should each be represented by one individual of outstanding merit, and be captioned by a broad-wise executive such as Sir Joseph Flavelle. They should be commissioned at once, and then be given three months to study and to gather facts, figures and all the data which a wide research could bring to mind. Then, and only then, could they hold public hearings which will give to the public that confidence in their findings which is necessary to their fruition. Previous committees appointed for transportation study have reported, and their findings have been carefully filed away and as joyfully forgotten.

This coming year the people, the burdened taxpayers want a verdict and a decision.

We can only presume that an underground railway man is being brought from England as a member of the Board because of a few mountain tunnels, or as a mole to find "the tube" under the mass of slag on the C. N. R.

POLITICAL RETROSPECT CARRIES A LESSON.

The Ottawa Conference of the Liberal party managers gets away on the wrong foot as far as Quebec and the personnel of its published representatives are concerned. Not a single English representative has been chosen by the Ex-Premier from the Eastern Townships. There is no sign of reformation in this respect.

For years the traditions of the Eastern Townships were ignored by Mr. King, and the usual result followed. We ignored him and sent seven members of the deep blue line.

Readers will pardon a personal experience of the Editor in his younger days whilst he still tarried with the party of his forbears, and preached the ideals of Liberalism in Canada.

The recital will be brief.

As owner of the Ottawa Free Press, then the only Liberal newspaper at the Capital, the writer sensed an impending calamity to the strong administration of Sir Oliver Mowat, after that gentleman had been taken into the Laurier Cabinet, and thence transferred to the Lieutenant-Governor's residence in Toronto. Sir Arthur Hardy had passed on. Hon. G. W. Ross, now in the Senate, was at the helm. The Editor joyfully accepted an invitation to a Toronto convention, as he thought, called to reorganize the party. He condescended to accept a seat on the platform, which was a bit overcrowded by the Toronto warhorses who had never elected a Liberal member for any of the Toronto ridings. They were never-wases.

After an interval of loud-spoken addresses by these clever and impractical gentlemen, the Editor of the Free Press advised the assembly, a large one, that they must purge themselves of their parasites, remove the barnacles which had gathered on the ship of state, and avoid dalliance with the long-haired freaks who were Janus-like in their adherence to any party. This plain-speaking was more practical than politics, for the managers were only seeking applause, and not advice. A few of the lobbyists howled.

But the election was fought on the old cries, except in our Ottawa district, where the Ross Government gained three seats and lost only one, and that in a constituency where we opposed the Liberal nominee, a man named Latchford, who is a judge now, but was a political dolt. The Ross Government was swept out of existence, for Mr. Ross only confessed to the barnacles at the Ottawa campaign meeting, where the Free Press insisted that he should do, and it was in Ottawa City and the counties in the newspaper's sphere of influence which turned from the Conservative to the Liberal column.

When their Leader confessed to being in the "Valley of Humiliation" after the Beauharnois revelations, there was a reaction which had tended to the axiom that to know all is to forgive all. But when, later, Mr. King sought to justify and to excuse by the schoolboy argument that "you're another," he only rekindled the fire and deepened the valley.

The Game of Politics is best played by thinking twice about what you say, and then say it yourself, face to face. Have an open mind behind a fixed purpose and a sincere conviction.

And we repeat now that had the Liberals not so pointedly ignored the Eastern Townships it had been better for their political welfare, even if not for Canada's.

The triumph of the Provincial Liberals would prove that if other sense be lacking in conviction.

THE RICH RESOURCES BEHIND THE LOAN.

Canada is richly endowed with water-power resources. These resources belong to every region of the country, with the exception of the central part of the prairies. The development of these resources from the beginning of this century has been phenomenal. Hydraulic turbine horse power installed in Canada has grown from 173,323 horse power in 1900 to over 6,000,000 in 1930. Average kilowatt hours generated daily has increased over three-fold since 1923. This development has conferred a "national service" for the manufacturer, the miner, the farmer, for every citizen of the Dominion.

As the investors in public utility securities have helped Canada to progress, so the investors in the National Service Loan will make for a bigger and better Canada. The proceeds of this loan will be used for the orderly financing of national undertakings.

The naming of the new loan to be issued by the Dominion of Canada, the "National Service Loan," shows an excellent choice of names.

The meaning of the two words: "National," of or belonging to the whole nation; "Service," any work done for the benefit of another, the act of helping another or of promoting his interest in any way.

The National Service Loan will aid all parts of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific; it will provide for undertakings that will promote Canada's progress. As Canada progresses, so every citizen of Canada will be helped on his way to prosperity.

This is the promise behind the loan which pays a generous 5.17 per cent.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

Those who have read Jack Miner's writings in his "Book of Birds," and his other contributions telling about his work in the Bird Sanctuary near the shores of Lake Erie will gladly contribute the price of a few bushels of corn to help him carry on the good work. Jack will be in Sherbrooke on December 14th and 15th, and will give two lectures, aided by movie picture screens. He will assess the cost of the seats at $1 down, and Hubert Ames, who is in the wholesale grain business, says that the reserved seat price will buy a couple of bags of corn. Jack has to feed cart-loads each day to his wild bird guests, chiefly ducks and wild geese, who look upon his farm as a way station and a meeting place. Keep open either the Friday or Saturday, for Jack Miner is a world character.

For myself I do not think any compulsory law ever promulgated by any long-haired sissy boys would ever persuade a man to slide off or stay on the water wagon, even to get his whip. To force, to compel, to use a police baton or a hosegown for any moral suasion takes us back to the days of the Spanish Inquisition, which torture practices reduced Spain from a first to a fifth-rate negligibility. Bring down the puddle-jumper, George, I go to visit to shoot a grouse which has drummed the drum of the Inverness band.

Two young men of this city, Paul Lemay and Hector Blouin, who pleaded guilty to three charges of theft, were sentenced by Judge J. H. Lemay in the Magistrate's Court this morning to two years on each offence, the terms to run concurrently.

The young men admitted having broken into the Shiparo Department store at Bedford and stealing merchandise valued at two hundred dollars, and of entering L. A. Langevin's store, also in Bedford, and escaping with merchandise amounting to about three hundred dollars. The third theft was committed in the office of J. O. Royer and stole a number of tools.

Amadee Belanger, of Magog, who pleaded guilty last week to a charge of grievous assault upon the person of his uncle, Godefroy Rioux, of this city, was sentenced to one year in the local prison. The judge explained that Belanger's offence was considered very serious, and that the court exercised clemency on account of the prisoner's advanced age and the recommendations received from various persons.

Belanger and Godefroy were about to step out of a taxi-cab one night about two weeks ago on Windsor street, when they started to argue over some trivial matter. Belanger suddenly drew a small knife and stabbed Rioux, his uncle. Suffering from severe gashes and wounds, the victim was removed to the hospital, and Belanger was taken to the Fort-Couci-Ernest court exercised clemency on account of the prisoner's advanced age and the recommendations received from various persons.

LATE DR. WILFRID DEROME FREQUENTLY VISITED SHERBROOKE.

The people of Sherbrooke have on several occasions benefitted from the services of Dr. Wilfrid Derome, medico-legal expert of the province, whose death in Montreal is keenly regretted throughout the entire province.

Dr. Derome was called to give expert advice in connection with several major trials held in the Sherbrooke Court House. He also assisted in connection with the investigation into the death of Mrs. Durand, of St. Johns, Que., whose body had been exhumed from the cemetery by her husband and buried in a sand pit, and was also associated with other perplexing cases which have occurred in the Eastern Townships.

Winslow.

Mrs. George Parsons, Portland Avenue, entertained last evening, having as her guests members of the Ladies' Circle of Trinity United Church. There was an unusually large attendance, with Mrs. E. A. Tomkins, the president, in the chair. The devotional exercises were in charge of Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, and his brief address "was much enjoyed by the members. The treasurer's report on the supper, organized by the Ladies' Circle for the Youth Conference held in Wesley Hall on Saturday was very satisfactory, about 123 being served at the time. The Christmas sale was discussed, and further arrangements made. A pleasant social hour followed, during which the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. George Hall and Mrs. E. A. Tomkins.

Members of the Brompton Women's Institute were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. H. McLeod on Saturday afternoon at her home on the Brompton Road. There was a large attendance of members and visitors, and Mrs. F. Goodfellow, the president, presided at the club during the business session. Following the reading of the minutes, the reports of the various committees were presented, showing that good work had been accomplished. It was decided that the W.I. would donate fruit for the Christmas sale to be held at the McLeod Schoolhouse. The kind invitation of Mrs. E. Riches to hold the meeting on December 12th, at her home was gladly accepted. At the conclusion of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. McLeod, the Misses McLeod and Miss Gibson.

Mrs. A. L. MacDonald, a pioneer member of the Belvidere Women's Institute, was unanimously voted a life membership in the club at the November meeting held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Ross, Drummond Road. Owing to ill health, Mrs. MacDonald has been unable to attend the regular monthly sessions during the past few years, but has always displayed a keen interest in the Institute's activities.

The meeting was held under the presidency of Miss F. I. Drummond, and several visitors were present from the Orford Club, including Mrs. A. W. Mills, Mrs. A. Faith, Mrs. A. Crawford and Mrs. J. Armstrong. The formation of a branch club at Suffield was discussed at length, and it was decided that the president, Miss Drummond, accompanied by Miss E. Duckert, visit the district and endeavor to organize a Suffield branch. The question of organizing a "Grady" club for the winter was also brought to the attention of the meeting, and a committee consisting of Mrs. H. R. Ross, Mrs. C. Drummond, Jr., and Miss G. Bramfit was appointed to proceed with organizing the club. An appeal was received from Miss Hazen, superintendent of the Quebec Women's Institutes, for clothing to be sent to Saskatchewan. Much privation exists in that province owing to the recent drought and severe cold storms. Mrs. H. Purdy and Mrs. S. Cillis were requested to look after this request. The usual donation to the prize list at the Short Course to be held in Lennoxville during the coming winter was sent by the club. At the conclusion of the business meeting, the hostess, Mrs. Foss, served a splendid meal. The Purdy family, assisted by Misses Audrey Elliott, Elsie MacVicar, Lorna and Doreen Ross.

MILD WEATHER STILL REMAINS IN VOGUE HERE

Although Christmas Day is Only One Month Distant Weather Remains More Like Early Spring Than Late November.

With Christmas Day but one month distant, weather conditions in this locality during the past few weeks has been anything but seasonable. Today, however, there was a sharper tinge to the air, and indications seemed to point to snow before very long.

While Sherbrooke has been enjoying real spring-like weather, the Queen City of the Eastern Townships has not been alone in this respect. From more distant sections of the Eastern Townships have come reports of budding flowers and sprouting trees.

The unusual weather has been enjoyed by everyone. Farmers have been given every opportunity of attending to their regular fall work with time for their hands to undertake some new outside work about the farm. Golfers have been able to get in a few extra rounds on their favorite courses, quite a few being out yesterday, and motorists have enjoyed several ideal week-ends for long trips.

Heavy coats were more noticeable on the street this morning than they have been for a long time. The sky was rather cloudy and many "local weather prophets" prophesied colder weather and snow. Some people have expressed the belief that winter will set in permanently on December 2nd.

It is a safe prophecy to make that Christmas, 1931, will not be a "green Christmas." Old Man Winter is sometimes slow in taking charge of this situation, but he usually is standing just around the corner where he can easily make a sudden appearance.

RECOMMENDED CLEMENCY FOR STRATFORD BOY

Louis Hebert, Aged Sixteen, of Stratford, Found Guilty of Theft from Store at King's Bench Session This Morning.

The clemency of the Court in view of the age of the accused was asked by the Court of King's Bench jury which found Louis Hebert, sixteen years old, of Stratford, guilty of theft with infraction this morning. The young man, scarcely old enough to be out of school, was undefended and spent from denying the accusation he faced in a few words to the jury, made no defence on his own behalf. The trial lasted but a short time, and the abbreviated session was concluded at eleven-thirty o'clock, shortly after Edmond Ducloux, a Cookcook, informed the Clerk of the Court of the unanimous verdict at which he and his colleagues had arrived.

On Sunday, September 13th, during high mass, the store of Pierre Hebert, at Stratford, was broken into and money, cigarettes and a rough green taken. The news soon spread in the small centre and that evening Hebert is alleged to have told two companions that he was the one who had robbed the restaurant.

The witnesses called by the Crown were H. Hebert, Joseph Nicol, Clement Champeau, Desrochers and Adelard Gagnon, all residents of Stratford. The restaurant owner related that he had found that entrance had been gained into his store by forcing a window and a door. He claimed that about ten dollars worth of money and merchandise had been taken.

Nicol, the second witness called by Wilfrid Lazure, was unable to tell his exact age, but informed the Court that he thought he was about twenty-two years old. The Stratford garage man declared that at a party on the night of the robbery Hebert had told him that he had executed the theft, but had asked him to keep silent about the confession he had just made. Nicol then produced evidence which he had not given at the preliminary hearing to the effect that he had seen him make his way towards Hebert's store and circle the establishment. Asked why he had not divulged this information at the enquete, the witness stated that he had not been questioned on that point and claimed that he had been told before entering the stand to answer the questions asked him and nothing more. Nicol was positive that he had seen Hebert approach the store about nine-forty o'clock, although the accused claimed that he had left the Church an hour later and had proceeded straight home.

Champeau corroborated the testimony given by the previous witness, adding that Hebert had offered him two cigarettes of different brands. At this stage Judge Archambault told the accused that the Court was ready to help him make his defence, but Hebert continued his own questioning, denying that he had made an admission of guilt. That he had noticed money hidden in Hebert's stocking was the principal point in the evidence of Gerard Lacroix, a Lacoste, who testified that he had received a package of cigarettes from the accused, and that Hebert had handed another package to a second friend. "Hebert gave me two dollars to buy liquor," claimed Adelard Gagnon, "and hired a taxi to take the robbery." The witness claimed that Hebert lived with his mother and earned no salary. The accused did not take the witness stand and Mr. Lazure, in his address to the panel, stressed that it

SOCIAL SERVICE ORGANIZATION HELPING MANY

No Less Than 242 Persons in Need of Immediate Relief Have Registered During Short Period of Ten Days.

During the short period of ten days that the permanent office of the Social Service Organization (English-speaking section) has been open in the Whiting Building no less than 242 in need of immediate relief have registered. With such a large number of worthy cases already listed for assistance, it was the general opinion of last night's meeting of prominent men and women that a campaign should be launched without delay, early next month if possible, to augment the treasury in order that aid may be rendered the needy as quickly as possible.

Various details in connection with the proposed campaign were discussed during the meeting, over which Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg presided, and it was finally decided to leave the decision of the exact date in the hands of the following committee, Messrs. James Mackinnon, D.C.L., (convener), J. H. Walsh, M. W. Mitchell, Guy Bryson, B. N. Holman, G. W. Murphy, H. G. Munro, E. J. Page, R. N. Robins, W. McManamy, A. C. Stevens, Andrew Sangster, Guy Bishop, D. A. McManamy, D. J. Salls, J. A. McKechnie, J. P. Wells, F. S. Rugg, and A. Reid.

It was pointed out that the money raised during the campaign will be used for relief work only, the overhead and office expenses having already been guaranteed by private parties. The social relief work will be carried on in co-operation with the City Council, and an effort will be made to lend assistance to all deserving cases.

Those who have not already registered at the Social Service room in the Whiting Block are urged to (Continued on Page Seven.)

was not the amount stolen that mattered, but rather that the theft had been committed with infraction. His Lordship charged the jury that he had the greatest sympathy for prisoners of such tender age, but remarked that society had to be protected against offences of this nature. The jury required but a few minutes before rendering a verdict of culpability.

This afternoon Adelard Gregoire faces trial for the theft of a pair of boots. Gregoire formerly pleaded guilty to the offence, but changed his plea and was ordered to stand his trial before the Assizes.

Leo Breault, of Notre Dame des Bois, will have to stand trial for grievous assault as a result of the dismissal of the motion made by his lawyer to quash the indictment against him on account of irregularities at the preliminary hearing. His Lordship rendered judgment to this effect yesterday afternoon when he dismissed the objections raised by Cesare Gefais.

FUNERAL OF MRS. REGINALD E. NOBES

The death occurred on Saturday at the Sherbrooke Protestant Hospital of Mrs. Reginald E. Nobes, after a brief illness. Mrs. Nobes was the third daughter of the late C. E. Page and his wife, Louisa Sykes, and was born on the Spring Road, near Lennoxville. Three years ago she was married to Mr. Reginald E. Nobes, who now is left to mourn her loss. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Harry E. Webster, Mrs. Fred McGee and Mrs. Archie Mosher.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, with family prayers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Webster and the service in the United Church. Rev. F. R. Matthews, who officiated, spoke words of comfort and hope, and the hymns, "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Abide With Me," were sung. The casket was borne by six young men, Messrs. Eric and Gilbert Nobes, James Paige, Eldon McGee, Arthur Benton and Ralph Mosher. Following as mourners were the husband, Mr. R. E. Nobes, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Webster, Miss Grace Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. John Nobes, Mr. and Mrs. Sam MacMillan and children, Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. William Paige, as well as many cousins and other relatives and friends. Those from out-of-town attending the funeral were Messrs. Percy and Harold Connor, cousins, North Hatley; Miss Vivian Sykes, Windsor Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Paige, and Mr. Melville Paige, Bromptonville; Mr. and Mrs. John Mosher and Mr. and Mrs. A. Dezan, Massawippi.

Among the many floral designs with which the casket was covered were designs from Mr. Reginald E. Nobes, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Webster and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. John Nobes and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. MacMillan and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Short, Springfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. William Paige, and Mrs. Judson Farwell, Mrs. Clifford Butler and Miss Ella Sykes.

Fair Attendance at Market. The attendance at Lennoxville Market both of farmers and customers, was fairly good yesterday, although somewhat less than that of previous weeks. Little change was noted in the prices of the produce offered, which ranged around the following:

Dairy produce: butter, 25 cents per pound; cream, 10 cents a pint, and buttermilk, 10 cents a quart. The apples offered were largely Fameuse, a nice table apple, selling at 40 to 50 cents a peck, while cooking apples sold at 20 to 25 cents a peck.

Vegetables were priced as follows: potatoes, 50 cents a bushel; cabbage, 5 to 15 cents each; squash, 15 to 25 cents each; marrow, 25 to 30 cents each; pumpkins, 10 to 25 cents each; carrots, 40 cents per peck; turnips, 10 to 15 cents each; and dried beans, 12 to 15 cents per quart.

In the provision section, beef sold at from 6 to 18 cents a pound; steak at 14 to 18 cents; roast, 16 cents a pound; pork chops, 14 cents per pound; roast, 12 to 16 cents; chicken, 25 cents per pound; and eggs were 50 cents a dozen.

Mrs. Bowen Addressed I.O.D.E. "The Peace Tower at Ottawa," was the subject of an interesting paper read on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Cecil Bowen, of Sherbrooke, at the meeting of the I.O.D.E. Chapter of the I.O.D.E. Mrs. Bowen's question, "Can Canadians Justly Lay Claim to the Title of a Nation," she answered in her description of the Parliament Buildings, where are enshrined symbols representing the history and fixed principles of England, as well as of Canada, with memories of her great, heroic dead. The speaker brought the atmosphere of the inner sanctuary of the Peace Tower vividly before her audience, and concluded her paper with the reading of her recent poems on "The Parliament Buildings" and "The Memorial Chamber."

Hostesses for the tea which followed the meeting were Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. C. Herring and Mrs. Halls. During the business session, Regent, Mrs. W. H. Ames, presided, and a sum of money was voted for the use of the Girl Guides. Mothercraft classes were discussed and it is expected they will be carried on under the V.O.N. during the next year.

First Christmas Sale of the Season. In striking contrast to the summer weather out-of-doors was the interior of Douglas Hall yesterday afternoon when the Philatheta Society held its annual Christmas sale. The hall was decorated in the Christmas colors, red and green, with shaded lights and red tapers and red carnations on the tea tables. A pretty Christmas tree, laden with the things that children love, occupied the platform, assuring everybody that Christmas is really approaching, although the weather man is doing his level best to deny it.

Mrs. Gibeay was in charge of the tree, and various sales tables were arranged as a background for the serving of afternoon tea. At the table of fancy work Mrs. S. J. Forbes and Mrs. McAllister had charge, while Miss C. George sold aprons, both useful and dainty. The food table was in charge of Mrs. J. A. Crawford and Mrs. Swayne, and Miss C. Johnston acted as saleslady at an attractive collection of jams, jellies and pickles.

Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. R. S. Nutbrown received the guests and the tea committee included Mrs. W. G. Macdougall, as convener, Mrs. P. O. Ripley, Mrs. E. Lane, Miss Stella Wellman and Miss Adaminia Brown, with Mrs. F. Gagnon and Mrs. C. H. George pouring. Those in charge of the kitchen were Mrs. Abercrombie, Mrs. Frizzell, Mrs. E. A. Orr, and Mrs. Ralph Mosher.

General Notes. Miss Adaminia Brown, of Ives Hill, is the guest of friends in town for a few days.

Miss Florence McCurdy, of Shawinigan Falls High School staff, spent the week-end at her home in town.

Forty-Three Daily Newspapers in Canada Have Gone to the Wall in as Many Years Because of Bad Management and Lack of Business Ability.

Charlie Creighton, a former Owen Sound newspaper man, was a visitor at the Record office a few days ago. During the course of a reminiscence session between two warhorses in the journalistic field, there occurred a dual recital of all the newspapers which have died and been buried in the fifty years since Charlie and the Editor had learned how to set type and make 'pi'.

In the daily newspaper field the mortality has been heavy. But in the weekly field it has only been unfortunate in Quebec province, where conditions are more difficult, and where most people take a daily on account of the accurate mail service.

Charlie Creighton's brother, David Creighton, was the publisher of a weekly paper in Owen Sound and at the request of Sir John Macdonald he sold his paper and invested his money in "The Empire," a paper in which the Conservatives of Toronto invested and lost $500,000 within two years.

I recall at this time the launching of the Victoria Daily News, which within a year was merged with the Colonist, at a loss to its starters of $100,000. It was published at the expense of the money-powerful Dunsmuir family, who had induced others with less money to invest in the undertaking.

Toronto had six daily newspapers several years ago. Now, there are but four. One gentleman of means bought the Evening News, and within five years lost $500,000. The World also passed out under the Sheriff's hammer, after thirty years of a struggling life.

In Ontario there are 42 daily newspapers, but in all the smaller cities there is but one. It takes a city of 100,000 to support two daily newspapers.

In the passing thirty years these daily papers have gone the way of poor business management and of irresponsible ownership, chiefly because they were purely partisan and lacked independence. Some have been merged with contemporaries:

In Ontario tombstones have been erected over these daily papers:

Belleville Intelligencer, Brantford Courier, Brockville Times, Chatham Banner, Fort William Journal, Galt Reformer, Guelph Herald, Hamilton Times, Kingston News, Kitchener Chronicle, Ottawa Free Press, Peterboro Review, Peterboro Times, Port Arthur Chronicle, Port Hope Times, St. Catharines Star, St. Thomas Journal, Sarnia Observer, Sault Ste. Marie Times, Stratford Herald, Toronto World, Toronto News, Woodstock Times, Windsor Times.

In Quebec: Montreal Witness, Montreal Telegraph, Montreal Daily Mail, Montreal Evening News, Quebec Chronicle.

In New Brunswick: Fredericton Mail, St. John Standard, St. John Globe.

In Saskatchewan: Moose Jaw Herald, Regina Post, Saskatoon Phoenix.

In Alberta: Calgary Star, Lethbridge News.

In British Columbia: Vancouver News-Advertiser, Vancouver World, Vancouver Telegram, Victoria Standard, Victoria News, New Westminster News.

Here are 43 daily newspapers in Canada which have been merged or snuffed out, within the recollection of our old-timers, and there may be more. There are now but 102 dailies in all Canada but only 59 are recognized by the Canadian Press. There are 19 of no account.

In the olden days of the Washington hand press it was quite easy to start a newspaper as did Lord Atholstan in Montreal 63 years ago, with a few hundred dollars. But in a recent issue of the Winnipeg Free Press a similar story of growth shows a present investment of over $1,000,000. Any kind of a newspaper plant today will cost $300,000, the actual cost of the Record plant, and this first investment, followed by a struggling period of years, will mean an expenditure of around a million before a newspaper crosses the deadline and scores.

This may explain both the mortality and the futility of amateurs venturing their money in an industry where the only urge is some futile purpose. And it is not the promoters who suffer so much as the uninformed investor and the subscriber who pays in advance and takes the risk.

To establish and maintain a newspaper the interests of the general public must ever be held in mind, and there must be a loyal staff imbued with the higher ideals of journalism, all free and independent from mercenary cliques.

A. C. Hewitt, of the Duplex Printing Press Company, who recalls the installation of the $30,000 printing press in the Record office, this week informed the Editor that his old Goss press, used in the printing of the Free Press by the Editor of the Record, was still doing splendid work in the Kingston Whig-Standard, a merced daily in the Limestone

LARGE CHURCH IN WEST WARD IS IMPRESSIVE

Work on Exterior of Stately Structure for Roman Catholic Parish Nearly Completed—Will Have Seating Capacity of 1,050.

Situated at one of the highest points in the city, the summit of the steep Larocque street hill, whence one has a clear view of the entire city of Sherbrooke nestling in the St. Francis valley, the new $273,000 church for the parish of Notre Dame de l'Immaculee Conception, now nearing completion, stands in majestic splendor, a huge edifice of stone.

The church can be seen from most sections of the city and in some cases for many miles outside the limits. Now that the exterior work is practically finished and the scaffolding has been torn down, it presents a striking appearance. From a short distance, it seems more massive than it really is, its grey Gothic facade standing out against the blueness of the heavens.

When completed, the new church will be one of the most stately structures in the city and will be a pride of, not only the west ward, but of the whole of Sherbrooke. Although work on the exterior is rapidly nearing completion, it is not expected that the edifice will be ready for use before April 1st. Having approached the building, and scrutinized the impressive stone front that towers a hundred and twenty feet high, one enters the church to become entangled in an intricate network of stairways that are still needed to work within. Work is now progressing on the artificial stone, with over fifty local men employed. The size of the church will be 204 by 100 feet, and it will have a seating capacity of 1,050.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 25.—The World's Grain Exhibition will be held in Regina from July 24 to August 5, 1932, it was decided at a meeting of the national committee of the exhibition. It was originally proposed to hold the exhibition in 1932.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN FIVE MONTHS AGO RECOVERED

Nearly five months after it had been stolen, the automobile of Mr. Charles Dobell, 34 Montreal street, was recovered by the Montreal police yesterday, and two men, believed to be the ringleaders of a gang of automobile thieves who committed a large number of robberies in the Eastern Townships, have been arrested.

Mr. Dobell's car was stolen from in front of his residence on the night of July 3rd, and from the time of its disappearance until yesterday it travelled over 6,000 miles. The car when found, however, was in fairly good condition.

ARRESTED FOR DISCHARGING FIREARMS WITHIN CITY LIMITS

After being warned by the local police on several occasions, Leo Piquet, twenty-one years old, of this city, was arrested yesterday, accused of having discharged firearms within the city limits. He was given a severe reprimand by Chief Camirand and let off on a suspended sentence on payment of the costs.

Shooting off rifles within the city limits is a serious and dangerous practice, and the police are determined to stop it for the protection of citizens in general.

"Once more and I'm through"

"YOU'VE disgraced me for the last time! I'm sick and tired of going out in the evening with you when you haven't shaved since morning. How you think you can get away with it is beyond me. You don't fool anyone but yourself by dabbing a little powder on your face. There wasn't another man at the party with a dirty growth of stubble. I don't care if it is a nuisance to shave. What if your beard is tough and your skin tender! There must be something wrong with the way you shave. I'm sure there's a razor blade that will remove your whiskers without hurting your face, and it's up to you to find it."

How much domestic discord can be traced to scenes like this? We might as well admit a growth of stubble is repulsive to most women—wives, sweethearts, mothers and all. By shaving carefully once and often twice a day, we help to hold or win the respect and affection of friends and family. A short time ago shaving was a task many men liked to avoid. Today Gillette is offering a razor blade of remarkable quality that shears stubborn beard cleanly and smoothly. Your razor glides so easily you scarcely know you're shaving. Try this remarkable new Gillette blade on our money-back guarantee. Use a blade or two. If every shave isn't far more comfortable than any you have ever experienced, return the package to your dealer and he will refund the price.

Press Described as an Important Medium of Education Which Tends to General Betterment of World.

Journalism and newspapers as a medium of education were discussed by Louis Wiley, business manager of The New York Times, at the commencement exercises, Washington College, Chestertown, Maryland.

"One cannot imagine the graduates of this class doing without many of the mechanical conveniences of modern life," he said. "It is impossible to think of them as stopping in their educational tracks, and doing without the newspaper, which today brings them, as never before, a wealth of information about the important events of the world."

"I think of the newspaper as an educational institution. We can all name some which by no stretch of fancy can be so described. There are many false schools and colleges, however, masquerading under the name of educational institutions. It is not hard for the intelligent student seeking learning to distinguish between the false and the true. Nor is it difficult for any really literate person to choose between the newspaper which is an educational influence, and the cheap and sensational sheet which glorifies the notorious and the criminal in the news."

One might as easily separate the books from which you have drawn the real treasures of the ages, and the tawdry magazines which commercialize the banal stories of pathetic romances.

"Lord Hewart, Lord Chief of Justice of England, who is often a most caustic critic, spoke not long ago in generous praise of the service of the best type of journalism. He said: 'In a country that enjoys, or has or is supposed to have, representative institutions, the newspaper is, of course, a necessity. It is not any the worse for that. But do we always think as gratefully, or indeed, as justly as we might of the amazing ability, diligence, care and learning, the wit, the humor, the skill, and the versatility, the dutifulness, the courage, the conscientiousness, and the sheer hard work which go into the making of the best kind of newspaper?'"

"I do not mean to ask your admiration for the men and women who labor on newspapers. Journalism is imbued with a sense of public service, and that is a substantial part of the reward of such a career. We do not ask you to be grateful, as Lord Hewart suggests you might be, for whatever good newspapers do, whatever pleasure they give. The newspapers which do supply the information which the intelligent and educated leaders of our modern world demand, make no such request. Such journals offer a service which is indispensable to those who must keep abreast of the progress of the world. It is worth mentioning that this service is offered at a price which is within the reach of all. Only recently an advertisement of a great corporation stated that a telephone call was the greatest service rendered for a five-cent piece. By comparison, think of the service of a morning newspaper which ranges the world for complete, accurate news, prints it and distributes it so that nearly everyone can buy it for two cents."

"Largely because the true journalist feels that he is an educator, one of the foremost men in his field, Dr. John H. Finley gave up the high office as State Commissioner of Education of New York to become associate editor of The New York Times. Dr. Finley, one time college president, the head of many learned societies, including the American Geographical, and holder of twenty honorary degrees, believes that a newspaperman who sincerely labors to gather and interpret the news makes a genuine contribution to education. The newspaper is a school which any man or woman who reads may attend, and a more democratic one even than any public school, for it has no age limit."

W. Corey, F. E. Best and E. Dery. The sum of $450 is required for this work. Over $125 has been subscribed by the village and Stanbridge Station, while the sum of $100 was voted by the council at their meeting on Tuesday evening. The remainder of the sum will be raised by private subscription. The plowing will be looked after by two modern large-sized plows. Snow fences have been and are being erected along the roads in preparation for the winter. Arrangements are being made by the municipal officials of Stanbridge East, Dunham and Freilburg to maintain open roads also.

no racial discrimination such as is practised in some sections; and it keeps school every day twelve months of the year."

(Dr. Finley presented to McGill University on May 29 the Whitney goodwill fountain on behalf of the committee of Americans responsible for this token of friendship, of which Mr. Wiley was a member.)

"It is perhaps a newspaper's misfortune that it is published so frequently," Mr. Wiley continued. "We come to lose our sense of wonder when the deed of assembling the news of the whole world is performed day after day. If it should happen that newspapers could appear only once a week or a fortnight, and that the public must wait upon such publication for information of the events of the world, a fantastic price would willingly be paid for copies, and publication day would be a signal event. But we have become accustomed to finding at our doors each morning a newspaper containing perhaps 150,000 to 200,000 words of fresh information. At six o'clock the evening before, a line of news had been in type; the cables and wireless from Europe, South America and the Far East had not begun to come in volume; the leased wires from Washington had not opened. In the space of a few hours the news of the whole world had been received, appraised, edited, set in type, assembled into pages, printed and distributed to readers miles away."

"The abdication of kings, the economic policies of a communistic nation, civil war in China, international conferences in Geneva, national debates in Congress or in political campaigns, science, music, art, the theatre, business and finance, books, the humble incidents of individual lives, accident and crime go into the news to present a record of the twenty-four hours. Some of it is trivial, perhaps, but in a great metropolitan newspaper the proportion of the trivial is infinitesimal. Too much important news is pressing for attention."

"Such news is the world's history day by day, challenging the educated men to read, understand, interpret, and to lead public opinion. Of what avail is it that you have learned the principles of political science if you do not follow the progress of the Russian experiment, of the struggles of the new nations born since the war to achieve the aspirations of their peoples, of the efforts of the older and greater nations to hold their authority and pre-eminence? What advantage is it to you to have won honors in the study of economics and politics if you do not follow in the years before you the rise and fall of nations, such issues as the tariff, agricultural relief, the relation of government and business? As citizens you owe it to your country to capitalize the privilege of your education at Washington by forming and proclaiming sound opinions on public affairs pressing for solution.

"This information necessary to the forming of such opinions is found in the best daily newspapers. I hardly need urge before this assembly that you be careful of the reliability of the information upon which you base such opinions. Demand of your daily newspaper that its news columns be non-partisan whatever its editorial views be, that its reports be comprehensive. Do not be a mental and education backslider now that you have taken out a form of mental insurance that you will be able to understand and apply correct principles to your reading of the news; and will thereby be more valuable to the world in your profession or business."

"The fiction which deals with newspaper life is likely to place too much emphasis upon the occasionally exclusive story known as a 'scoop' or 'beat.' These triumphs are matters of a few hours at best because news travels fast and other newspapers can call upon their correspondents and facilities to gather news of the same event. Every great newspaper has had a large share of such brief triumphs. But most important, particularly to the educated reader, is the determination of the newspaper to maintain what a distinguished journalist executive described as 'the daily habit of gathering into its columns from the four corners of the earth all the news which vigilance and faithful effort can obtain, and in which intelligent minds are likely to be interested, giving enduring character and reputation and determines the public judgment.'

"An important parting word to you is to choose good newspapers to read the news intelligently. Your education here has equipped you to enjoy the durable satisfaction of life and of these suggestions one of the greatest is to feel yourself a full citizen of the world in which you live by keeping intelligently informed of what mankind is doing."

Country and Dairy Produce Prices

	Monday	Tuesday
Butter	24.00	24.00
Eggs	24.00	24.00

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—There will be no cheese auction today at the Board of Trade. Weekly auctions have been held on Wednesday for the last few months, but receipts have now fallen to such a small quantity, and the export season being about over, it was decided yesterday that no auction would be held this week, or for the balance of the year. The Cornwall cheese board held its final meeting of the season yesterday when 375 boxes were offered and were sold at 9 3/4-10c.

Cheese prices at Montreal now show considerable variance, depending on time of make. Current arrivals are the cheapest, being around 10c to 10 1/4c for Ontario, and 9 3/4c to 10c for Quebec, with earlier season makes correspondingly higher.

The St. Paschal board met yesterday and forty boxes of butter were sold at 20 1/2-21c.

The different association conventions get under way today in Ontario. Dates are announced as follows: Canadian Creamery Association of Ontario, Toronto, Ont., November 25 and 26; Eastern Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, Kemptville, Ont., November 27; Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association, Belleville, Ont., December 1 and 2; Eastern Ontario Dairywomen's Association, Ontario, Dec. 6 & 7, 1932; Western Ontario Dairywomen's Association, London, Ont., January 13 and 14, 1932; Manitoba Dairywomen's Association, Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, Man., February 2, 3 and 4, 1932.

The butter market was unchanged yesterday, being generally 23c for carlots of No. 1, with smaller lots selling up to 22 1/4c. Jobbing houses were quoted retailers at 24c for solids and 25c for prints.

Dealers were generally hopeful that the prevailing mild weather will give way to more seasonable cooler weather soon, as it was believed business would be better with a wintry touch to the weather. This was particularly true on the egg market. Prices, however, ruled about the same. Eggs in carlots were quoted as follows: fresh extras, 50-52c; fresh firsts, 45-48c; fresh pul-

VEGETABLE AND FRUIT MARKET TRADING SLOW

Unseasonable Weather Affecting Demand for Commodities on Montreal Fruit and Vegetable Exchanges.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 25.—The following cars of fruits and vegetables arrived in Montreal for the week ending November 24: Apples, 47; other fruits, 13; bananas, 26; other vegetables, 13; other tropical fruits, 34; potatoes, 79; onions, 3. Total, 220 cars.

With the exception of apples and potatoes, arrivals are not as heavy as might be expected at this season of the year. This is due possibly to the present slow trend of business and also to the unseasonable weather which is prevailing. The latter factor is particularly noticeable on the domestic market, especially apples and potatoes. Cold weather is essential for the creation of a good demand for these two commodities. Generally speaking, apples reached maturity very early this year and the present high temperatures are having an adverse effect upon keeping quality of stock other than that in cold storage.

Business generally has been slow on all lines, demand is concentrated for the most part on the less expensive lines. This holds true particularly for apples. McIntosh and Pafar varieties are moving slowly while varieties which sell at a lower figure are meeting a better demand. The greater percentage of the offerings are confined to the domestic grade. Nova Scotia barrelled spiced domestic grade is selling from $3 to $3.25. Ontario is selling from $3 to $3.25. No. 1 Quebec McIntosh sell from $5.50 to $5.75 while boxes sell for $2 to $2.25. Extra fancy, $1.75 to $2.00. Fancy C grade $1.40 to $1.60. British Columbia McIntosh sell for $2.50 for extra fancy; $2.25 for fancy and $2 for C grade.

MONTREAL, QUE., Nov. 25.—There were 85 cattle, 39 hogs and 409 lambs for sale in the Montreal livestock markets today, including about 75 cattle and 400 lambs held over from Monday's and Tuesday's markets.

Cattle and lamb trading was slow with no early sales.

Beacons, butchers and lights were sold around 5 1/2, fed and watered.

IRREGULARLY HIGHER MOVE AT WALL STREET OPENING

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The stock market opened irregularly higher today. Johns-Manville opened up 1/4 at a point, and issues up 1/4 to 1/2 included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, International Telephone and United Corporation, U. S. Steel, however, opened 1/2 off, and Westinghouse Electric broke 1/2 to a new low.

INTRODUCES MEASURE TO NULLIFY GENERAL ELECTION CONTESTATION

strictest economy, we have exerted every effort to help them as generally as possible in connection with the construction of repairs to their school houses. The subsidies which were granted for this purpose aggregate $670,965, divided as follows: $80,000 for new boys' academies; $282,089 for elementary schools of all descriptions; and $308,875 for the smaller schools erected in conformity with the dispositions of the law respecting assistance to rural school corporations.

The registration in night schools is increasing all the time, and the Minister comments that there is also an improvement in the average intelligence of the pupils and in their application.

"They seem to have a better realization of the advantages and utility of education and the increased chances it gives them in securing good positions in trades as well as in other occupations," states the Minister of night school pupils.

The polytechnical school reached the maximum of registration, 216 students being enrolled. The school of higher commercial studies had 112 pupils, while "the school of fine arts, which was assiduously attended last year, has more than realized the hopes of our population; it has reached an unprecedented development."

A very appreciable increase in the number of pupils at the technical schools is noted, more than 6,000 pupils having registered in the several schools. "Our technical schools see their success asserting itself in a most brilliant manner," states Hon. Mr. David.

On the subject of hygiene and public assistance the comment is: "The department of hygiene has continued, as in the past its beneficent activities and despite the financial crisis through which we are passing today, Johns-Manville opened up 1/4 at a point, and issues up 1/4 to 1/2 included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Union Pacific, International Telephone and United Corporation, U. S. Steel, however, opened 1/2 off, and Westinghouse Electric broke 1/2 to a new low."

The manner in which the industrial depression has affected pupils of the technical schools is given in the report of Augustin Frigon, director-general of technical education, in a report which Hon. Mr. David has in his review. Mr. Frigon remarks in part: "The placing of pupils coming out of our schools has been made difficult this year due to the economic crisis. Our former pupils have even suffered somewhat from such conditions, much less, however, than their colleagues who had no special preparation. At Shawinigan especially a complete summary of the situation has revealed that only one pupil having a diploma from the Shawinigan Technical Institute and employed by local companies lost his position."

This is a good example of what a close collaboration may do between a technical school and local industries. We are forced to admit, however, that generally we do not receive from the manufacturers the enthusiastic support which was by right entitled to get. The best informed firms seek our graduates and give them good positions. Several unfortunately, do not yet seem to sufficiently care about the preparation of their specialized employees. That is very unfortunate for there is plenty of testimony to prove that technicians having diplomas from our schools have an incontestable superiority over their less prepared colleagues.

"We are constantly trying to overcome this apathy and we hope in a certain measure to do so with the co-operation of well advised heads of industry. On the other hand, we are pleased to note that every year the same big industrial organizations engage a certain number of our young pupils having diplomas, and the fact that such practice exists among some of them for several years past shows that the young men we are forming have given satisfaction."

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 25.—Sixty Chinese and four Japanese were killed and nine Japanese wounded in a sharp battle late yesterday at Hotianwan when two Japanese companies routed 350 Chinese troops, according to an official report received here today.

The Japanese force was a railway guard composed of a company of infantry and one of engineers. They were fired upon, the report said, from the Chinese position on a neighboring hill.

The fighting ended at 7 p.m. when the remainder of the Chinese force fled, leaving many rifles and a trench mortar behind them.

RALEIGH HAD STARTLING AND ACTIVE CAREER

Great Part of His Second and Long Imprisonment Spent Adjoining Bloody Tower.

Sir Walter Raleigh, the founder of Virginia, was really a great man, although not without many a stain upon his escutcheon. On the accession of James I to the throne, one of his first acts, as a preliminary towards peace with Spain, was to imprison Raleigh in the "Bloody Tower." Previous to this, he had been incarcerated in the "Great Tower" (the residence of Sir George Carey, Master of the Ordnance) by Queen Elizabeth, for his relations with his future wife, Elizabeth Throgmorton, one of Her Majesty's maidens of honor. Upon his marriage, however, he was released from his confinement.

A great part of his second and long imprisonment was spent in the Bloody Tower and the adjoining Garden House; writing near a grated window, working on the little garden on which it opened, or pacing the tower on this wall, which was afterwards known as Raleigh's Walk. He received many visits, among whom were poets and scholars and inventors. Some came to discuss the political situation, or to sound the depths of his philosophy, others to study the shipbuilders' art, the map of Virginia. In the Garden House he distilled essences and spirits, compounded his great cordial, discovered a method (afterwards lost) of turning salt water into sweet, received the visits of Prince Henry, wrote his political treatise, and wrote his "History of the World."

The pretext for Raleigh's seizure and imprisonment was the presumed part that he took in aiding Lord Cobham, the brother-in-law of Cecil, in a plot to raise Arabella Stuart to the throne.

Cobham, clinging to life with the sordidness of Claudio, in "Measure for Measure," accused Raleigh of complicity, with the afterwards retracted. A report was spread that Raleigh had tried to stab himself while sitting at the Lieutenant's table. He was held a prisoner for fourteen years, his wife and son being allowed to live at the Tower, with his three poor servants, on a living allowance of only five pounds a week. At last, from sheer poverty, he was obliged to part with his faithful friend, Thomas Hariot, whom he had sent to Virginia in 1584, and whose mathematical discoveries Descartes is said to have stolen. Raleigh was allowed to use a pen roost in the garden near the Bloody Tower as a place for chemical experiments and for distilling. There he made cordials and balsams and occupied himself with many scientific inquiries.

When increased suspicions began to fall on Raleigh, he was deprived of his distilling room, and his wife and two children (a second son having been born during his imprisonment) were sent from the Tower to reside elsewhere. Shortly after this, he became so ill from the dampness and cold that he was allowed to move to a room in the Garden House, which had been the still-room where he studied. Here he discoursed, from time to time, with Prince Henry on naval manoeuvres and battles. It was after one of these visits that the Prince called out to one of his attendants: "No man but my father would keep such a bird in a cage."

It was here that Raleigh finished the first volume of his "History of the World," assisted, it is said, by Ben Jonson and other scholars. And here also, bit by bit, King James arranged to have Raleigh's quarters, including Durham House and Sherborne Castle, after his release and unsuccessful voyage to Guiana, whither he went in search of gold, Raleigh was returned to the Tower, and placed in a poor upper room of the Brick Tower, after having been in the Garden House quarters in the Wardrobe Tower. By this time, Spain had resolved upon the destruction of Raleigh, and James I. was only too ready to give his consent. His enemies urged him to commit suicide, but their efforts were in vain; his reply being, "He would never die by his own hand."

On the morning of his execution, (October 1618), Peter, his barber, complained as he dressed his master preparatory to his march to the scaffold, that his hand had not been curled that morning. Raleigh, "I answered unconcernedly, 'Let them comb it that shall have it.'"

There was an old slander against Raleigh, to the effect that at the execution of Essex he stood at a window opposite, and puffed out tobacco smoke in disdain of him. Raleigh declared, however, in his speech at the scaffold, with all the solemnity due to such a moment, "My lord of Essex did not see my face at the time of his death, for I had retired far into the armoury, where I indeed saw him, and shed tears for him, but he did not see me."

The morning of Raleigh's execution, his keeper brought him a cup of sack, and inquired how he liked it. "As well as he who drank of St. Giles' bowl as he rode to Tyburn," answered the knight, and said, "It was a good drink, if a man could tarry by it." To his old friend Sir Hugh Ceston (who was refused admittance to the scaffold by the sheriff), he called out, "Prithee, never fear Ceston, I shall have a place."

An old head-banded gentleman who pressed forward in disdain of him, prayed God for him, caught Raleigh's eye, who immediately took a rich embroidered cap from his own head and, placing it on that of the old man, said, "Take this, good friend, to remember me, for you have more need of it than I."

"Farewell, my lords," was his cheerful parting to a courtly group, who affectionately took their leave of him, "I have a long journey before me, and I must even say good-

The laudable endeavor of the men and women who have organized for social service to their less fortunate fellow citizens should be loyally supported by all who believe in fair-play, businesslike distribution and co-operative in charitable work. Christmas is near, and the spirit of giving is at its height. Season must surely appeal to all fair-minded citizens.

TWO BIG UPSETS IN N.H.L. GAMES LAST EVENING

Boston Turned Tables on Canadiens and Montreal Maroons Handed Out a Bad Trouncing to Detroit Representatives.

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—The two biggest upsets of the 1931-32 edition of the National Hockey League campaign so far occurred in the east last night when Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons returned to their home ice and handed Canadiens of Montreal and Detroit Falcons seven to one and six to one setbacks, respectively. Although both home clubs were conceded a better than even chance of gaining a victory in last evening's tussles, neither was expected to win by such wide margins. The other game on the night's programme resulted in a tie when a last minute goal by Chicago Black Hawks gave them a split point verdict with New York Rangers.

Dropping a three to nothing decision in Montreal on Saturday when they were outplayed for the greater part of the sixty minutes, Boston Bruins returned to the Hub City last night and handed the Flying Frenchmen one of the most humiliating defeats they have met in recent years from the initial face-off the Bruins banged and battered the Habitués and slowed them down considerably. They piled up a two goal lead in the first period when Shore and Oliver both beat Hainsworth and added to this in the second frame when Oliver, Clapper and Toney all found the net. Going on a rampage at the opening of the third session, the Bruins added to their lead when Cook took a pass from Chapman to make the score six to nothing. Harry Oliver, brilliant winger of the Bruins, then gave a colorful display of sharpshooting when he passed from Barry he caged his third goal of the game. The Habitués fought desperately to avoid a shutout and when Manager Cecil Hart sent five forwards on the ice the Frenchmen were rewarded with a goal as Howie Morenz took Joliat's pass over from the corner to beat Thompson.

Minus the services of their stalwart left winger, Hec Kilrea, whose eye was injured in Sunday night's game against the Americans at New York, Detroit Falcons invaded Montreal last night with the hopes of gaining two points from the Maroons. Their hopes, however, faded when the Maroons put on their greatest scoring spree of the season and banged home no less than six goals to their opponents' one.

Play was fairly even through the early periods with the Montrealers having two to one lead at the end of the second chapter. Coming back for the final stanza the Maroons went on the attack and soon the Stewart-Seibert-Smith combination hit their bearings and rammed home three curators within fifteen minutes. "Baldy" Northcott, a product of the International League, then gave the Montreal club a five goal lead when he swung in front to take Jimmy Ward's pass in front of the Falcon cage.

Chicago Black Hawks still remain the only undefeated team in the N.H.L. by virtue of their last minute tie with New York Rangers last night. Trailing from the first period when Bun Cook, left winger of the Rangers, scored on a pass from Boucher, the Hawks threw five men into the attack in the closing minutes of the game and were rewarded with the tying score when Lela Couture beat Roach on a pass from Jerry Lowrey. The Rangers' lone curator came toward the close of the first period when the Black Hawks were short-handed. A series of long passes about the centre ice zone and a shot on the net by Cook gave the New Yorkers the victory over the Hawks.

Shortly after his return he was injured when he cut the tendon in his leg in a collision with Earl Seibert. Abusive talk to the referee toward the end of the first period cost "Stew" Adams, Hawk forward, a $25 fine.

Free-for-All Fight Followed in St. Trond Among Disturbers, Loyalists and Police—Six Persons Were Arrested.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 25.—King Albert was booed and hissed yesterday at St. Trond, in the Province of Limburg, where he visited a Catholic institute, and mounted police were called to help him escape from a hostile crowd.
A crowd, including students of the University of Louvain and Flemish Nationalists, gathered along the King's route and shouted, "Down with the King, long live Borms."

King Albert later went to Liege to attend a ceremony on the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Society of Walloon Literature.
Dr. Borms was sentenced to life imprisonment by the Belgian War Council, but was released two years ago. Flemish Separatists hail him as "King of Flanders."

RUGBY

R.M.C. WILL NOT COMPETE FOR DOMINION CHAMPIONSHIP

KINGSTON, Nov. 25.—Owing to the lateness of the season and the approach of Christmas examinations, Royal Military College, who retained the Intermediate Intercollegiate title by defeating McMaster University last Saturday, will rest content with the honors they have already accumulated and refrain from entering the play-downs leading to the Dominion championship. The Cadets ended the play-offs last year, but it took much time from studies, and definite official announcement yesterday declared that the intermediate college championships would not compete this year.

TARIFF RATES DESIGNED TO AID DOMINION

Advantageous Move Expected at Ottawa Parley Regarding Exports.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Within the short period of a week's time the National Government of the United Kingdom implemented and put into force what is really a prohibitive tariff, to the elation of the dominions and to the consternation of such foreign countries as the United States.
To Canadians what is more important than the fact that a one hundred per cent. preference is established by Britain for the Dominions. Over $250,000,000 of manufactured goods heretofore imported by Britain from the United States will be stopped, but obviously the chief purpose of this particular division of the new British tariff was to give immediate and substantial stimulus to Britain's cotton, steel and woollen industries.
It is on foodstuffs chiefly that Britain can give real assistance to the Dominions, and it is not doubted here that at the adjourned Imperial Economic Conference to be held here next summer Canada will be given a new and advantageous deal, and United States politicians and economists are already expressing themselves as apprehensive over the benefits that are likely to accrue to the Dominions from that conference.

An important suggestion has been made as a means of Britain giving a big stimulus not only to Canada's export business with the Mother Country but also to this country's internal business. It is pointed out that were Britain to stipulate that in any preference given to Canadian foodstuffs that preference would only apply to goods exported from Canada to Britain through Canadian ports it would give a tremendous advantage to Canada producers.
A large amount of Canadian wheat now goes to Britain through United States ports, such as New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, and such a move would serve to vastly increase the export business through Canada's ports, such as Montreal, St. John and Halifax. There could be no fear of wheat exports which go out through Vancouver to Britain through the Panama Canal, being interfered with by any effort of the United States at reprisal, as canal treaty rights would have to be preserved.

PREDICTS COLD SPRING TO BALANCE WARM FALL

Veteran Navigator Claims Nature Has Way of Averaging Northern Winters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—November has been lovely, Captain Bryan Kerrigan grudgingly admitted today, but watch out for next March and April. Balmey autumns are "averaged up" by fierce springs, the captain said.
"You'll pay for this," said the veteran seaman, who has known weather on the seven seas during a long life time. "It's nature's habit to even up on the weather."
"Do you remember the blizzard of '87?" he asked, gestulating with his pipe. "Well, when I woke up that morning and looked out the window, there it was, and we had had such a warm winter."
Captain Kerrigan has rounded the horn in the teeth of gales that would shiver the timbers of any but the hardest windjammer, and he touching on the African coast long before Trader Horn had his adventures there.
"You've got to watch out for weather like this," he said. "We'll have to pay for it later. It is nature's way."

COCKTAIL GARB NEW ADDITION TO WARDROBE

Latest Advance in Feminine Styles Related to Both Afternoon and Evening Dresses.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 25.—And now comes the "cocktail dress." Which is to say that here is the answer to that feminine wail of "what to wear" during the hours shading from daylight to dark.
In relation to the rest of the feminine wardrobe, the "cocktail dress" is a first cousin to both the evening gown and the afternoon dress. In some instances a matching jacket turns an evening dress into a cocktail frock.
As described by smart shops it is the "formal informal" frock that can stop by for tea—or what have you—and go right on through the evening to dinner, the theatre or bridge.
It can be as formally informal or as informally formal as desired, but the fashion-wise eye can ferret out the little details that distinguishes this up-to-the-minute successor to the "Sunday night" frock from its cousin.

The same materials are employed in these dresses as are used in evening and afternoon garments—velvets, satins, semi-satins, bright crepes, metal cloth and combinations of materials. The colors are gayer than strictly afternoon but more subdued than for formal later hours. There is an impression of youthfulness, daring—cocktail.

LIBERALS NAME A NEW CENTRAL ORGANIZATION

New Committee to Take Charge of Publicity and Organization Work of National Party.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 24.—The National Liberal Organization Committee decided upon the formation of a new central committee of twenty at their session yesterday afternoon. Nine of the twenty members were appointed, but their names will not be announced until after the completion of the committee today.
Completion of the membership of the new executive organization committee was held up pending meeting today of representatives of the National Federation of Liberal Women, and of the Twentieth Century Club. It is proposed to appoint representatives from these organizations on the new committee, the intention being to have all sections of organized Liberal thought represented. Both the men's and women's section of the Twentieth Century Club will be given representation on the new committee.
Another decision reached yesterday was that the National Liberal Organization Committee will meet once a year at Ottawa. Thus the parent organizing body will be in a position to keep in touch with matters of interest to the Liberal party.
While no announcement was made, it seems probable that all decisions in regard to organization steps will be left to the new committee. Who will be its chairman was not indicated at this evening. The names of Hon. Vincent Massey and of Major C. G. Power, of Quebec, have been mentioned as chief organizers for the party. It seems probable that a central bureau will be established in Ottawa with provision for the carrying on of publicity work, but no definite announcement along these lines has yet been made.

Today the Federation of Liberal Women and the Twentieth Century Club will make their selections for the new executive committee. When that is done the new slate will be completed and the names of the members of the new committee announced.

ONLY ONE MOON PROVES TO BE WELL BEHAVED

The Earth's Moon Only One of Twenty-Six in Universe to Follow Well Defined Course.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 25.—One of the twenty-six known moons in the sun's family, our own, is the only thoroughly decorous one with no jazz motions in space in annual flight around the sun.
This "unique" absence of the modern tempo was reported today by R. N. Petrie, of the University of Michigan, in a mathematical treatise. His calculations show that our moon "is in a class of its own."
"All moons have two motions, one their orbits around their planets, and the other the course in space which they describe while being dragged around the sun by their respective worlds.
Analyzing the resulting path of our satellite, Mr. Petrie finds that it is always concave with respect to the sun. In a diagram the moon's annual course would look like the curvature of an egg shell, with the yolk representing the sun. Any section of this path whatever would be curved away from the sun, like any fragment broken from the egg shell.
All other moons do anything from mild aeroplane-like glides toward the sun, to real nose dives and even loop-the-loops. Ganymede, one of Jupiter's moons, does a very tight little loop. Galileo, another of Jupiter's satellites, makes a big loop shaped like writing in space a gigantic script letter "s."

MANY INTERESTING WORKS IN NAPOLEONIC LIBRARY
Rare Volumes in 12,500-Book Library Recently Sold in Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Historic campaigns are recalled by the sale in Berlin of the joint private library of Napoleon I, his consort Marie Louise and their son, the ill-fated King of Rome.
The library includes about 12,500 volumes besides 1,200 cases of Napoleon's war maps—all that remains of the vast collection that was partly destroyed in the great fire of the Tuileries during the French commune in 1871.
Most volumes are exquisitely printed, illustrated and bound by leading artists of Napoleonic times, foremost among them Giambattista Bodoni, "printer of Kings and King of printers." Many bear the rare imprint "Cabinet of H. M. the Emperor and King."

The great Corsican's taste in books was world-embracing. Besides the French classics, there is a goodly number of English, German, Spanish, Italian and other authors.
That is done the new slate will be completed and the names of the members of the new committee announced.

HIGHLY FAVORS PARTNERSHIP OF DOMINIONS

Governor-General Does Not Believe that Days of British Empire Are Numbered.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 25.—The Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, told members of the Empire and Canadian Clubs of Toronto that the creation of equal status among Great Britain and the Dominions is "a splendid deed of partnership, but one which admits of no 'sleeping partners.'"
"Modern business conditions admit of no deadheads," the Governor-General said. "It is no less true that, in any modern association of nations, each nation must pull its own weight. The strength of the chain is its weakest link; if the chain of the British Empire is to stand the strain that the troubles of this post-war world are bound to put upon it, each individual link must be as strong, as truly tempered, as its fellows."

The Governor-General emphasized that he did not think the days of the British Empire were numbered. "In all history, since the dawn of time, tribes and kingdoms first came into being, no association of human beings has ever been less of a rigid political abstraction than has the British Empire," he said. "It is far more adaptable to a living organism than one of Jupiter's moons, does a very tight little loop. Galileo, another of Jupiter's satellites, makes a big loop shaped like writing in space a gigantic script letter 's.'"

Has this widening of political responsibilities brought with it a corresponding loosening of the ties that first bound the Empire together? he asked. "I see no reason why that should happen. The very fact that its several members are attaining a stage of development undreamed of a few generations ago, is surely proof that the whole is sound."

"Belief in the Empire, therefore," he continued, "must be grounded in the recognition of what the Empire is today, not on a dogmatic hidebound recollection of what it was yesterday, not on falsely imperialistic analogies from other empires of the past. Those empires fell because they were static; the British Empire goes on because it is dynamic—because it is instinct with the life force it has deliberately fostered in its younger members."

Lord Bessborough dwelt on the responsibilities of the members of the British Empire and the duty of each nation to develop its talents to the greatest possible extent. High among these talents he placed the talent for culture.
"I do not need to remind you that with every nation in history that has earned the epithet 'great' there has invariably been associated some notable contribution to the general culture of the world. Canada, if she is to do justice to herself and to the Empire, must continue to foster her own Canadian development, and by that—"

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION WAS LOWER FOR OCTOBER

Canadian Total for Month Was 1,440, Against 4,541 in October of Last Year.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Production of automobiles in Canada for the month of October totaled 1,440 cars, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. When compared with the output for September, the output of passenger cars fell from 2,108 to 781, while trucks advanced from 538 to 679. The output of all cars for October, 1930, was reported at 4,541.

Customs records for the month under review showed that 150 cars were imported into Canada and that 712 cars were exported during the period. Figures for the first ten months of this year showed total imports at 8,604 cars and exports at 13,756 cars as compared with imports of 21,673 cars and exports of 3,990 cars during the corresponding period of last year.
Of the total output during October, 743 cars were made for sale in Canada and the balance of 697 were intended for export. The apparent consumption of automobiles during the month as determined by adding the 743 cars made for sale in Canada to the 150 cars imported, amounted to 893 cars. The number of new cars available for use in this country during the ten months ending October 31, 1931, totaled 75,682 cars as compared with 127,126 cars in the first ten months of 1930.

let it be clearly understood—I do not mean that she merely kept in touch with the culture of other nations; I mean that she must water the cultural plants in her own garden, so that Canadian sciences and literature, Canadian art, Canadian music and Canadian drama may thrive as vigorously as those of other material activities which are equally part of the equipment of a great nation."

Lord Bessborough at the conclusion of his address, said he would like to see the little theatre repertory movement developed till it became Dominion-wide and culminated in an annual dramatic festival. He believed such a movement of intellectual rivalry would promote good fellowship and create a feeling of national solidarity.

MANY BENEFITS EXPECTED FROM NEW DISCOVERY

Medical Men and Scientists Expect that Powerful Microscopic Instrument Will Aid in Checking Contagious Diseases.

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 25.—Fourteen years of application by one man to the development of a new and powerful microscopic instrument has resulted in what is hailed by medical men and scientists as a discovery that may mean much toward checking the spread of contagious diseases.
Before a group of medical men, astronomers and other scientists, a demonstration of the instrument was given by its inventor, Dr. Royal Raymond Rife, of San Diego, Calif.

The new microscope was credited with a magnifying power of 17,000 diameters, compared with 2,000 diameters, said to be the limit of commercial instrument.
Physicians said it made visible forms of bacteria never before beheld by man. Dr. Rife's microscope, he announced, has confirmed the belief of Dr. Arthur I. Kendall, of Northwestern University, that certain communicable disease germs change their forms and become invisible with ordinary microscopes when their environment changes.
