Field Marshal Wilson Assassinated In London Today

DE VALERA STATES HE DOES NOT BELIEVE DAIL WILL PASS IRISH CONSTITUTION IN PRESENT FORM

County Cork Is Only District from Which Election Returns Have Not Been Announced—Michael Collins Heads Poll with About Thrice as Many Votes as Necessary to Win—Labor Candidates Are Expected to Win Two Seats, Displacing Treaty Opponents—Shootings Continued in Belfast Last Night—Two Men Murdered.

(Associated Press Despatch) DUBLIN, June 22.—Eamonn De Valera issued a statement last night saying that he does not believe the Dail will pass the new Irish constitution in its present form.

ELECTION OF MICHAEL COLLINS IS CERTAIN

(Associated Press Despatch) DUBLIN, June 22.—Cork County is the only district from which the election returns have not been announced, and these are not expected to be completed before midnight. Enough is known, however, to show that Michael Collins heads the poll with about thrice the votes necessary to win.

SHOOTING WAS CONTINUED IN BELFAST LAST NIGHT

(Associated Press Despatch) BELFAST, June 22.—Shortly before the curfew last night, shots were heard in the vicinity of Nelson Street, in the York Street area. Police who hurried to the scene found a young man lying in a pool of blood. He has not been identified.

The shooting of William Miller, aged seventy years, in the Willow Field district, of East Belfast, last night, was particularly atrocious. Hearing a knock at the door, he opened it, whereupon four men rushed in. Suspecting their murderous intentions, Miller fled to the backyard of his home, but was pursued and riddled with bullets.

EARL BALFOUR ADDRESSED THE HOUSE OF LORDS

Motion Against the Government, Requesting Postponement of Modification of the Palestine Mandate, Was Passed.

(Associated Press Despatch) LONDON, June 22.—In the House of Lords the Earl of Balfour enjoyed at once triumph and mortification yesterday.

There was a full muster of peers to hear the distinguished recruit to their ranks. As usual he spoke with only a few notes jotted on the back of an envelope and was as much at his ease and as much a master of debate in the House of Lords as he was in the House of Commons.

Despite his years, his voice is still full and eloquent, and he delighted the peers with his oratory. A striking feature of the Earl of Balfour's speech was the long passage dealing with the tribulations of the Jewish race, and their contribution to the arts, philosophy, science and religion of the world, and suggesting that Christendom was not oblivious of the wrongs done them and should embrace the chance of giving the Jews a local habitation, where in peace and quietness they might develop their culture and traditions.

The peers, however, seemed more concerned with the position of the Arabs under the Palestine mandate, and although the House cheered the Earl of Balfour with unusual warmth, it carried a motion against the Government, requesting postponement of the modification of the mandate. The Government whips had not expected a division and this presumably explains the small ministerial muster. The defeat involves no domestic political consequences, but its effect on the Palestine mandate cannot be judged after today's debate in the House of Commons on practically the same subject.

Today Johnson Hicks will raise the question of the Rutbenburg concession and Winston Churchill will make an important statement.

THE CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS TO INCREASE THEIR INSURANCE RATE

MONTREAL, June 22.—Stuart Silver, seventeen years old, employed by an Ormstown farmer, was shot in the abdomen and is not expected to survive when he accidentally discharged three handgrips who were attempting to rifle a store in the township last night. UNION MINERS MAKE ATTACK; MANY KILLED

Reports State that More Than Twelve Men Were Killed During Fight.

(Associated Press Despatch) HERRIN, Ill., June 22.—The union miners are known to be dead today, six unaccounted for and nearly a score of men wounded as the result of an open fight between striking union miners and non-union men employed by the Southern Illinois Coal Company at its strip mine, six miles east of here which broke out late yesterday and continued until darkness influenced its cessation. Unverified reports were that more than twelve men were killed in the fight at the mining camp in an explosion between Carterville and May, near the scene of the trouble, in an attack on a truck carrying non-union men to the mine, which occurred near Carbondale. It was impossible to verify these reports because of confusion at the camp.

Joe Pitchovic, a union miner of Herrin, died in a local hospital early today, after being seriously wounded in the fight. The other dead miner is Jordan Henderson, also of Herrin, who was killed in the action. The fighting started after receipt of a telegram from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, terming the men working at the mine as "common strike breakers." Soon after a truck carrying ten men to work in the mine was subjected to a barrage from striking miners near Carbondale. One of the group escaped unharmed, but three were wounded and are in a hospital at Carbondale, while the six others, who swam Big Muddy River, amidst a fusillade, have not yet been accounted for.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson Murdered—Two Assailants Were Arrested

Former Chief of Imperial General Staff of British Army Was Shot and Killed Outside a House on Eton Square, London, This Morning.

(Associated Press Despatch) LONDON, June 22.—Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson was shot and killed outside a house on Eton Square, London, this afternoon.

Two assailants of the Field Marshal were arrested. The Field Marshal delivered a speech at the Liverpool Street Station in the city this morning in connection with the unveiling of a war memorial. Apparently he had just returned home when the tragedy occurred. Later reports stated that Field Marshal Wilson was not killed outright, but that his wounds were expected to prove fatal. A few minutes after this, however, it was reported he had died. A policeman who was near him at the time of the shooting was wounded.

A few months ago, Field Marshal Wilson accepted an appointment as military adviser to the Ulster Government and made frequent visits to Ulster. He spent most of his time in London, however, attending the House of Commons.

STRUCK BY THREE SHOTS.

(Associated Press Despatch) LONDON, June 22.—The Central News account of the tragedy says Field Marshal Wilson was stepping from his automobile a few minutes after three o'clock this afternoon when two men suddenly appeared and opened fire upon him with revolvers. He was struck by three shots, the account adds, and died almost instantly.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson was formerly Chief of Imperial General Staff of the British Army. He retired from this post early in the present year and stood for the Imperial Parliament as a Unionist candidate for North Down, Ireland. He was elected member for this Ulster district on February 21st, and shortly afterward was appointed by Premier Craig as Ulster's prime agent for the restoration of order.

The Field Marshal went to Belfast from England early in March with plans for restoring order, which he submitted to the Premier. While the choice of Field Marshal Wilson, as organizer of pacification methods was favorably received in Ulster, it had a contrary reception in Southern Ireland. The former British Chief of Staff was regarded there with more or less the same feeling as Sir Edward Carson, the former Ulster leader, and predictions were freely voiced in the South that he would be strongly in sympathy with the Orange side of the feud between the two factions.

DO NOT FAVOR RAISING JUVENILE DELINQUENT AGE TO EIGHTEEN YEARS

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, June 22.—On the ground that general opinion is adverse in this Province to the raising of the juvenile delinquent age to eighteen, and also on the score of economy, the Government of Quebec states that it does not wish to have the statutes brought into operation under which the age limit may be extended to eighteen from the present limit of sixteen years.

House Considered Problems Of Returned Soldiers—Amendment To Extend Scope Of Royal Commission Finally Withdrawn

Debate on Report of Special Committee on Pensions and Re-establishment Was Continued Until Early Hour This Morning—Mr. Marler Agreed to the Commission Investigating Practically the Whole Returned Soldier Problem.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, ONT., June 22.—Problems of the returned soldier held the House of Commons, yesterday. They arose on a motion for concurrence in the report of the special committee on pensions and re-establishment. Herbert Marler, of St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, chairman of the committee, related at length its activities and its findings. He emphasized the great debt of Canada to the returned men, but observed, too, that they were also citizens of Canada, and on that devoted the duties of citizenship.

Following Mr. Marler, Alf Spackman, of Red Deer, chairman of the sub-committee on land settlement, reviewed what was proposed in the way of assistance to soldier settlers on the land.

The idea of the scheme was sound, he asserted. The difficulty lay in changed economic conditions. Subsequently came criticism. J. T. Shaw, Progressive, of West Calgary, himself a war veteran, had an amendment to extend the scope of the Royal Commission proposed to investigate G. W. V. A. charges against the Pensions Board. Under Mr. Shaw's amendment, the Commission would have power to make a complete survey of existing re-establishment needs, to investigate the questions of exchange and canteen funds.

Mr. Shaw regretted that the special committee had made no definite proposals in regard to unemployed. He criticized limitations placed on returned soldiers' insurance. From other members also came pleas that the scope of the proposed Royal Commission should be extended. Ex-Mayor Church, of Toronto, thought a proper court should be established to hold a thorough investigation.

He charged that insufficient was being done for the blind soldier, that the Government had appointed numerous secretaries, but that few of the appointees were returned men.

AMENDMENT WAS WITHDRAWN.

After a lengthy debate the amendment was withdrawn. Mr. Marler agreeing to the commission investigating practically the whole returned soldier problem.

TO AMEND IMMIGRATION ACT.

The report of the special committee dealing with the Woodsworth bill to amend the Immigration Act was concurred in.

Joseph Archambault, Liberal member for Chambly-Verchères, who acted as chairman of the committee, said that the committee had come to the conclusion that the whole Immigration Act should be revised.

BRITISH GOVT. WAS DEFEATED IN COMMONS TODAY

Defeat Unlikely to Lead to a Modification of the Government's Policy.

(Associated Press Despatch) LONDON, June 22.—The Government was defeated on a financial amendment to the National Health Insurance Bill in grand committee of the House of Commons today. The committee adjourned in order that the Government might consider its position. The amendment was carried against the Government by a vote of 20 to 14.

The defeat is considered in political quarters as of no greater importance than that which occurred in the House of Lords yesterday, and as unlikely to lead to a modification of the Government's policy.

REPORT ON RAILWAY COSTS.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, June 22.—It is taking time to put the report of the special House committee on railway costs into shape. The decision of the committee to recommend further suspension of the Crow's Nest agreement, as already intimated, is understood to remain unchanged.

A session of the committee was held last night and was devoted to putting into official form the transform on this point and also in regard to the incorporation of the offers of reductions of rates by the railways. The work was not completed when the committee rose, however, and another meeting will be held today, when it is expected that the report will be approved.

BUILDING AND MAINTENANCE OF ROADS TAKEN UP AT CONVENTION; MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTING OUTLINED

Alderman Skinner Introduced Discussion on Evaluation Questions—Deputy Minister Morin Recommends Method Adopted by Quebec City—Mr. H. E. Pawson Gave Interesting Treatise on Water Power Development in Vicinity of Sherbrooke—Statistics Showing Comparison of Rates in 1908 and Today—Delegates Shown Around the City—Convention a Decided Success—Exhibits by Local Manufacturers Appreciated.

(Associated Press Despatch) THE annual convention of the Union of the Municipalities of the Province of Quebec, brought to a close yesterday afternoon, was acknowledged by the delegates to have been one of the most successful ever organized.

Yesterday's session was devoted largely to a discussion of the different methods of constructing and maintaining roads and the broad manner in which the matter was treated enabled the delegates to secure some valuable information.

Roads and Methods of Construction.

Dirt and gravel roads was the theme of an address by Mr. J. S. Strumbert, C.E., of Chicago, who commented upon the advisability of keeping dirt and gravel roads under continual supervision and he strongly recommended their construction in country sections. Following his address, he answered a number of questions relative to the cost of machinery, such as pressure rolled rollers, graders, etc.

The Handling of Protests.

Deputy Minister Morin, of the Department of Municipal Affairs congratulated the speaker on the ideas projected and asked what recourse the taxpayer had in case of protest. Ald. Skinner answered that protests were received by the City Council, who had the final word in the matter, unless the taxpayers cared to take the question before the courts.

Mr. Morin claimed that members of a city council are apt to be influenced by various factors in a case of this sort and are in an awkward position when they are called upon to judge an appeal. In Quebec, the Deputy Minister pointed out, the first appeal is made to the board of valuers, who have the power to revalue and seventy-five per cent of the cases are settled before this board.

Each valuator is designated to a separate ward and in the case of an appeal, the disinterested valuator's judgment. Some cases, however, are taken to the courts, with the usual result of a long drawn out struggle. Mr. Morin, in closing, urged that this matter be given close attention here, stating, "I wish you would give this some consideration and you will undoubtedly find it of value to the city of Sherbrooke."

The Mayor of Verdun, Mr. Leclair, also pointed out the difficulties and expenses attached to appeals re valuation, which had developed into court cases, telling of the troubles experienced by Montreal East in matters of this sort.

Mr. Morin stated that the final court of appeal for valuation questions is the Superior Court and in any cases have reached the Privy Council, it has been because of jurisdiction.

New Bases of Valuation.

Owing to the enforced absence of Ald. S. R. Newton, an address on the new bases of valuation for civic assessment was handled by Ald. A. C. Skinner.

Ald. Skinner outlined the method suggested for adoption in this city, giving a short and lucid resume of the investigations of the committee, that had studied this matter for the City Council. The speaker pointed out that a determined effort is being made in Sherbrooke to revise the methods of valuation so as to make them satisfactory to all concerned.

Ald. Skinner showed to an interested gathering a sample of the proposed valuation sheet saying, "We propose to take stock of the city, as it were and we propose to have a sheet for every individual lot." Although there are about nine thousand lots in the city, it is intended to keep a separate record of each, with particulars as to dimensions, services on the street (gas, water and drainage), and all information regarding values. "We propose to separate land values from improvement values," said Ald. Skinner, who stated that the city would obtain the separate areas of each lot from the Registry Office or if necessary, the city would have the lots measured.

The speaker stated that it was intended to adopt front foot valuation on each street and that standard and recognized tables of valuation would be used. "In residential sections corner lots shall not carry any extra values," said Ald. Skinner, pointing out that this extra value is applicable only to the business sections of a town or city.

However, it is a more difficult proposition when it comes to the valuation of buildings but it is proposed to divide buildings into four or five main classes and then subdivide these classes. One building will be the standard for each ward and the cubic contents of each building will be taken, thereby obtaining a basis for standard valuation.

"Depreciation will be up to the good common sense of our valuers," said Ald. Skinner. "They will have to write off an amount for each individual building, for it is impos-

With the aid of a delatone paste, it is an easy matter for any woman to remove every trace of hair or fuff from face, neck and arms. Enough of the powdered delatone and water is mixed into a thick paste and spread on the hairy surface for about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This completely removes the hair, but to avoid disappointment, get the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.

PURITY FLOUR "More Bread and Better Bread" Use it in All your Baking

SURPRISE A PURE HARD SOAP

A Big Bar A full-size, full-weight, solid bar of good soap is "SURPRISE." Best for any and all household use

Dampen the cloth—then add UNDER a tap you hold your cloth and wring it out until you have it "just damp". Then pour on just a little O-Cedar and rub the wood surface you wish to polish. A slight lather will form—this cleans the wood and reveals all its grain beauty. Complete the treatment by a brisk polishing with a dry cloth. This, the only correct way to use O-Cedar, gives the truly wonderful O-Cedar result. All fine furniture improves under this treatment—mahogany, walnut and all varnished surfaces. You do not have to apply O-Cedar Polish frequently—its finish is not only brilliant but lasting; and so hard and dry is this finish that it will not collect the dust. CHANNELL LIMITED, TORONTO

CONSIDERABLE ROAD WORK IS BEING DONE

City Road Department Men Active on Many of City's Streets.

The activities of the Road Department of the City of Sherbrooke are going forward along many lines. The paving of Belvidere Street is proceeding rapidly. The asphalt surface has been laid on Belvidere South, thus finally completing the stretch between the Royal Hotel and King Street West. The surface on the north end of the street is not yet completed, although it is expected that the men at present employed on that job will have completed the work in a few days.

On Frontenac Street, the excavation work is not entirely completed, although the laying of the street car tracks is almost finished. This work will be completed in a few days. The surface of the street when completed, it is understood, will be of paving block from Marquette to Peel Street, and of asphalt from Peel Street to Belvidere.

Sidewalks are being laid along the south side of Montreal street. Upon the completion of the sidewalk on the south side of the street, the walk will be put in on the north side, and paving operations will be commenced as soon as the work on Frontenac Street is completed. The surface of this street will be partly granite block and partly asphalt.

Upon the completion of the work of laying the asphalt surface on Belvidere Street, the surface will be put on Brook Street, after which the small section of Aberdeen Avenue near Alexander Street will be completed. Bowen Avenue will be finished upon the completion of these other streets.

Gangs of men are at present employed in laying a new sewer on Gait Street, and the city is doing extensive work in levelling and straightening the side sidewalks on various streets of the city, notably on Court Street, Quebec Street, Drummond Road and Melbourne Street.

LAW RE PARKING CARS ON STREET TO BE ENFORCED

Police Take Numbers of Cars Parked on Wellington Street for More Than Half Hour.

Many of the automobile owners of the city appear to be in ignorance of the municipal law which makes it illegal to park autos and vehicles on Wellington Street for a longer period than half an hour. Many autos are parked on Wellington Street for hours at a time. This street is very narrow for even ordinary purposes, but when it is lined on either side with automobiles, it becomes a dangerous thoroughfare.

The driver along the street must be continually on edge, for many motorists, who have parked their cars along the curb will swing out into the middle of the street without any warning signal. Many narrow escapes are observed daily from this cause.

Another source of danger in allowing cars to park indefinitely on the street is due to the fact that pedestrians wishing to cross from one side to the other must step out into the stream of traffic from between stationary autos, thus stepping most probably directly into the path of an oncoming car. It is a difficult thing for the driver to swing clear instantly, and unless the pedestrian is extremely nimble footed, he is liable to get a painful bump.

It is pointed out that all these unnecessary and unpleasant dangers may easily be avoided if the driver will only remember that by parking his car for a long time on Wellington Street he is breaking the law and making himself liable to a fine, as well as causing annoyance, inconvenience, and danger to every other driver who passes along the street.

The city authorities have taken the matter in hand, and some time ago two officers were noticed on the street taking the numbers of all cars which remained there more than half an hour. A notice ordering the owners to report to the Chief of Police was placed in all such cars, and they, upon their arrival at the Police Station, were informed of the law by the Chief as well as of the fine which is to be imposed upon those who break it.

The Police Department, it is understood, is simply warning all owners on the occasion of the first offense, while it is their intention to follow up in the courts all those guilty of a second contravention of the law.

MARRIAGES

CLEVELAND-CASSADY. DANVILLE, Que., June 22.—A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at St. Augustine's Church, Danville, Que., on Wednesday morning, June 14th, when Miss Eva Margaret Cassidy, formerly of Kingsley, Que., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Cassidy, of Danville, was married to Mr. Henry Herbert Cleveland. The church was prettily decorated with lilies, syringas and ferns by the choir, of which the bride was a member. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. O. N. Belford, and the Rev. George Harrington assisted, in the presence of many friends of the bridal couple.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore her going-away gown of brown messaline silk, with touches of green, with milan hat to match. Her only ornament was a lovely green cameo ring, which was worn by her grandmother. Her bouquet was large and of peonies and honeysuckle in pale pink. The matron of honor was Mrs. George Trurbur, who was gowned in gray silk, with large black hat. The best man was Mr. Geo. Thurbur, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert Boutelle and Stanley L. Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland left later for their honeymoon to Quebec and the Saguenay.

BELLAM-BETTS. CLIFTON, June 22.—An event which proved to be exceedingly pretty and interesting was the marriage of Edith Betts, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Betts, one of Clifton's most popular young ladies, to Mr. Wesley Bellam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Bellam, of the same community. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Shier, pastor of Clifton Methodist Church, at the Betts residence, in the presence of friends and immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The room was decorated in a manner that attracted the attention of all present.

The bride was assisted by Miss Essie Betts, while the duties of best man were ably carried out by Mr. Stanley Bellam, brother of the groom.

The happy couple were presented with a large number of beautiful presents by their friends and by the church societies, in which the bride always took an active part. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served. A reception was held in the evening of the same day, and the home was crowded with invited guests, and a most pleasant time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bellam returned to Vermont with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bellam, who were married two weeks ago. The best wishes of the community are extended to the youthful couple.

PLAN CONTROL OF FINANCES IN GERMANY

BERLIN, June 22.—Preliminary discussions by the representatives of the German Ministry and the members of the Allied Committee on guarantees have resulted in the creation of four sub-commissions to investigate various subjects in connection with the financial control in Germany proposed by the Reparations Commission.

The first sub-commission is to investigate Germany's revenues and expenditures, the second will deal with the "smuggling" of capital across the German frontier, and the others will study the floating debt and official statistics bearing on exports and imports and industrial data generally.

BUILDING AND MAINTENANCE

3.—Control over the acquirement and collection of revenues, and accrual of arrears of same.

4.—Control over the municipality's purchasing and contracting obligations.

5.—School funds, their collection and disbursement or transfer to school commissioners.

6.—Permanent property owned by the municipality together with the bonded or other debt incurred in providing same.

7.—Loans from the Government for the construction of roads, bridges, etc., and the restrictions placed by the Legislature on the officials with reference to their disbursement.

8.—Sinking funds for the retirement of bonded indebtedness.

9.—Control over the service and fidelity of officials.

Regarding these features it is unnecessary to discuss them item by item as they will assume their natural places in the general scheme of accounting as it is laid before you.

The bookkeeping and accounting of the majority of the municipalities that have come under our observation has heretofore been very crude, consisting for the greater part in merely recording the cash received and expended, marking off the taxes received on the collection rolls, (with varying degrees of accuracy or inaccuracy, as the case may be) and possibly keeping a few ledger accounts to take care of the various bond issues and the like. Such a thing as keeping books on a double entry basis, whereby errors could be located and the accounts properly balanced seemed in most cases to be unknown.

In every municipality where it is at all possible to have the work intelligently and accurately performed, the double entry system of bookkeeping should be installed. From the ledgers belonging to such a system, balance sheets can be drawn at the close of the fiscal period showing the financial position of the municipality in the same manner as the annual balance sheet shows the position of a limited liability company. The ledgers would contain accounts representing all assets and liabilities, both fixed and current, as well as operating accounts, representing the revenues and expenditures of the various departments. Included therein would be control accounts showing the balance due from ratepayers and others for taxes, licenses, etc., and accounts payable showing the amount due to creditors of the municipality.

It is to be assumed that every municipality as required by law, provides its secretary-treasurer with an assessment or valuation roll, a collection roll and a cash book. The two former are more or less standardized and presumably are familiar to all of those present. We will, therefore, turn our consideration more directly to the cash book.

The cash book, purchase book, journal and ledger were discussed in detail.

Public Utilities.

Many municipalities own and operate certain Public Utilities, such as Waterworks, Lighting Plants, Tramways, Etc.

It is unnecessary to consider any problems relating to the operations of Tramways, as public ownership of same, I believe, is not a live question in any of the municipalities in our Province. Municipal operation of water and lighting plants is common enough, however, to justify our giving consideration to the necessary accounting in connection therewith.

When a waterworks system or lighting plant is established in a municipality the cost is set up in the books as a permanent asset, subject of course to provision being made for natural wear and tear and depreciation. The bond issue made for the purpose of installing these plants is presumed to have been sufficient to provide the initial working capital for their operation, pending the production of revenue, as it is essential that the financial operation of such utilities should be kept separate from the ordinary municipal funds raised by taxation. Each of these utilities should be entirely self-sustaining as no proper degree of efficiency in their operation can be maintained if it is felt that the ratepayers' taxes can be used to make up deficits. It is taken for this reason that care should be taken to keep proper records of the electrical output and water consumed in order that the entire annual cost of operation of each utility may be applied to the volume produced, thereby showing the unit cost. Only in this way can rates be established that will be fair to the citizens and at the same time be sufficient to cover the cost of the service.

At the close of a fiscal period, if it is found that a substantial surplus has been made on the operation of the public utilities, after due provision has been made for depreciation and all current liabilities, such surplus may be brought in to the general revenue of the municipality. If, on investigation, it is found that the surplus has been produced by rates charged to consumers being in excess of the total cost of production, steps should be taken to reduce such rates in the subsequent period. It may be considered by some that it makes no difference whether there are profits or losses in the operation of waterworks or lighting plants as the only effect is a reduction or increase in the taxes. This argument would hold good if every citizen was served by these utilities in exactly the same proportion as he contributed taxes, but a moment's reflection will show that such is not the case. A citizen might own property in a municipality on which he was paying a considerable amount of taxes, and at the same time be making little or no use of the waterworks or lighting facilities, a condition that would apply more particularly to rural municipalities.

Books and forms necessary for public utilities were outlined.

The property owned by the average municipality, aside from public utilities, will probably comprise:

land, buildings, furnishings, fire apparatus and equipment, road machinery and street cleaning equipment, police uniforms and equipments, general stores.

The item land will include that upon which the municipal buildings stand, together with parks and squares. The whole may appear in the ledger account, but the value of the different parcels should show in detail in the ledger account. Buildings account will include the value of the town hall, police and fire stations, market buildings, etc. For insurance purposes, the value of each of these buildings should be clearly ascertainable from the account or accounts representing same. Furnishings account would also show the value of the furniture in each of the buildings. A depreciation reserve account should be set up to provide for the replacement of furniture and all more or less permanent equipment, notwithstanding the fact that the upkeep and maintenance of same is taken care of in the general repair account, which is chargeable to revenues. Such a reserve would obviate the necessity for making a special levy whenever it was found necessary to refurbish the town hall or other buildings, or replace any of the road machinery. Contrary to business custom, a municipality does not set up a depreciation tion reserve account to provide for the wear and tear of its buildings or other permanent assets, as the life of the latter is presumed to coincide with that of the bond issues made to provide for their construction, which bonds should be extinguished at maturity by the sinking funds. The depreciation of the permanent assets is taken care of by writing a fixed annual percentage off their value and at the same time making a corresponding reduction in the capital or surplus account.

Current Financing Budget, Etc. "Naturally the current operations of a municipality must be taken care of out of the funds raised by general taxation. Early in the fiscal year the preparation of a budget is undertaken, showing as far as possible the requirements of the different departments during the current year, including the amount necessary for the sinking fund. A good idea is to establish an appropriation book in which to show that portion of the total taxes being levied for, applicable to the needs of each department.

"As the collection of the taxes may be somewhat delayed, it is often necessary for a municipality to obtain loans from its bankers to tide over between the taxable periods. It should be the aim of every municipality, therefore, to expedite the col-

Special Financing "For all expenditures of a capital nature, funds are required to be raised by the issue of bonds or debentures, or Government loans. Bond issues are of two kinds, viz., one wherein the amount of the loan is repaid by a fixed equal annual amount containing both principal and interest. These are known as Serial Bonds. When the amount of the loan is received, it is set up in the books as a liability which is to be extinguished by the proportion of capital contained in the annual payments.

"In various municipalities that we have audited, we have had to make adjusting entries in connection with the foregoing, as we found that the payments that were being charged against the bond issues were wrongly allocated, and at the close of the life of the bonds there would have been a considerable balance either at the debit or credit of the account. By making the proper entries each year the account set up for any definite bond issue will be automatically balanced at the maturity of the

STATED THAT CASE CAUSED DEATH OF POPE

Trial of Delorme Is Continued at Montreal—Many Women Present in Court Room.

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, June 22.—That the death of the late Pope Benedict was directly caused by the Delorme case, and that when His Holiness heard of it he had a fit and died, was the statement in evidence yesterday afternoon by J. F. Cardinal, a notary, who testified that Delorme had made the remark to him and then had laughed after making it.

charge against Adolard Delorme, ex-priest, of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul, in this city on January 6 last. Mr. Cardinal also stated that Delorme, during the progress of the investigation, had gone around cafes and restaurants without his soutane, and had listened to conversations about the case.

Attempts were made at the opening of the Court in the morning to limit the number of spectators admitted to witness the proceedings, but every means was employed to gain admittance, with the result that by the afternoon the courtroom was crowded to suffocation, most of the spectators being women.

The accused for the first time showed signs of nervousness. His eyes displayed a harried look, and he clasped and unclasped his hands. He followed the morning's evidence very closely, and at the opening had a whispered conversation with his lawyer, Gustave Monette, and handed him a piece of notepaper. In the afternoon his calmness returned and he appeared quite at his ease, taking little or no notice of the evidence.

Owing to the heavy rains since Friday, the road work has been delayed somewhat, and the Lake has risen so high that the road at several places is from four to five feet under water. Several teams have been kept busy hauling the autos out as they got stalled in the bad places. A great many took chances by going through these bad places as the road is very narrow and the water quite deep at this particular place. There was quite a little excitement for a while Sunday afternoon, while the rush of water came and flooded the meadows, many horses and cattle were stranded out on a small spot of land and to save them a number of men got in small boats

RAINS ENSURE BIG CROPS.

The heavy rains of the past few days have been general throughout Eastern Canada and the United States. In some parts they have been excessive but on the whole those engaged in agriculture will rejoice and that means that the whole country will benefit.

An abundant hay crop is assured. The barns should be filled to the hidgepole this year. With the return of sunshine other crops will come along.

The outlook for a bountiful harvest is good. And there is nothing more necessary to stimulate the return of good times.

Beware of the Ladder.

Who ever thought of the ladder as a great menace to public safety. And yet it is associated with more accidents than almost any other device.

An exchange which has compiled statistics puts it this way:

"Whenever you use a ladder, remember that it is the most dangerous device in existence. Ladders continue to cause more accidents than anything else. This is shown by insurance experts' latest check-up of fatal and non-fatal casualties.

"Human deaths by accidents in the United States average about 60,000 a year, or 165 a day, according to the census.

"For each 67 people killed by autos, 68 are burned to death, 6 die in railroad accidents, 56 are drowned, 26 die in mines, 34 are asphyxiated by gas, 21 are killed around machinery, 23 by street cars, 23 by bicycles and horse-drawn vehicles.

"And, topping the list, 111 are killed by falls—from ladders, out of windows, down elevator shafts or slipping on icy sidewalks that could be made safe by a sprinkling of ashes.

"Nearly all accidents are the result of carelessness—taking needless chances in the face of danger. Obviously, then, nearly all accidents could be prevented. The prevention of accidents, according to safety engineers, is about half safety devices and half personal caution."

SPEAKING OF AGE.

"One is no older than he feels" is an old saying which stands well the test of time. One may show age but feel young. One may actually be as old as forty as another at eighty.

Speaking of age, the following is taken from the New York Herald:

"Although he gave up tobacco sixty years ago, Thos. J. West, of Wheatley Hills, Long Island, is afflicted with another common habit of mankind. He thinks he sees signs of age in other people. Mr. West was having a little party the other night in honor of his hundredth birthday. In came his son, Edward. 'Well, Ed,' said Peter West, slapping his son on the back, 'you're getting to be an old man.'

"As the son is only seventy-four, the father—unless he was merely joking—must harbor that delusion which many humans have. John Doe looks at Richard Doe and thinks Dick seems a little grayer. 'Roe,' says Doe to himself, 'is getting on in life, but I'm just as young as I ever was.' Each critic of his neighbor's appearance fancies that he himself has saved his poll from the frosts of time by careful living and the possession of a clear conscience.

"Maybe the younger Mr. West thought that his father had aged a couple of years since the Civil War, but no youngster of seventy-four can come right out and tell his father that he is getting old. Not while there are woodsheds and the prehistoric right of the father to chastise an erring son remains the tribal law.

"Hereafter, however, the elder West should be more considerate of the boy's feelings. If he gives another party when he is 125 and his son drops in for the festivities the father should say something about Ed's being a full year short of a century. Young folks are sensitive."

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

June 22, 1922.

Dressing the Well.

The sight of a spring or well, gushing forth its crystal stream as a gracious gift from mother earth to man, has moved the devotees of all religions to particular reverence. From the Biblical story of Moses and the rock to the present-day wells of New Mexico and Southern Colorado, held by the Indians as sacred to the rain god, there has been a continuous parallel among every race.

Nor is the honoring of wells always a barbaric custom. In England there are several score wells, either now or formerly held in great repute as places of sanctity.

Today's a holiday in Barton, England, which celebrates the annual well-dressing ceremonies. Undoubtedly this is a carrying on of the old Roman rites of the Fontinalia, an annual flower-festival of the spirits of streams and springs.

A wooden framework is erected about the well, and over this wet clay is plastered. Then flowers, divested of their stems, are impressed into the clay in such a manner as to form designs and legends. The well-dressing is the event of the year.

From all parts of the British Isles visitors are to be seen. A procession is formed in the early afternoon. It marches round and round the well, singing modern hymns. The strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "A Living Stream" sound strangely mingled in this survival of so primitive a rite, but the well-dressing ceremony is gone through in all seriousness. Maypole dances and a festive time enliven the evening, and here as elsewhere hundreds will taste of the waters of the well, believing them to have some superstitious virtue, some presage of good fortune.

PARAGRAPHS

Mary Garden will summer on a peak in the Alps. It will be a delightful rest from the pique in opera stars.

There's one consolation. The twisted face of the tenor in the choir indicates that he is suffering as much as you are. Now, if folks at home won't burn anybody for a week or two, we may get in shape to protest against Turkish atrocities.

The mere fact that some men offer for office proves that they have a profound contempt for the judgment of the people.

A radio concert is just as enjoyable as a phonograph record after you grow accustomed to the absence of needle scratching.

These newspaper stories are so incomplete. Here it says a man gave a bootlegger a bogus cheque for $1900, but it doesn't say what became of the quart.

One thing a strike doesn't settle is the striker's grocery bill.

Mayonnaise dressing is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence.

Despatches from Ireland are meagre now. Doubtless they are too busy despatching one another.

Be modest. The smaller the diamond, the better its chance to escape the charge of being paste.

The proof of a people's ignorance lies in the number of things it is afraid to make a joke about.

We seldom envy those who are far ahead of us, but only those of our own class who are one jump ahead.

Just because a law is necessary, humanitarian and reasonable, it doesn't always follow that it is unconstitutional.

The new orchid called "Sophralaecoccitelya" makes it a little more difficult to say it with flowers.

Peanuts are a versatile family. In the summer they serve at ball games, and in the fall they serve in politics.

It is the duty of every man to learn enough about the radio to take an intelligent interest in the conversation.

When the wife's away, the devil's to pay.

Our friends are those in whom we imagine good qualities; our enemies are those in whom we imagine bad qualities.

There is little demand for fairy tales now; but one with that kind of imagination can become a war correspondent.

It might save wear and tear in the courts by granting marriage licenses for one year with the privilege of renewing.

It's a hard life. If you live in the lowlands, the floods will get you; and if you live in the mountains, the revenue men will get you.

PRESS COMMENT

NOT ATTRACTIVE.

(Louisville Courier Journal.) The new generation applies its own similes to conditions. Speaking of a very homely girl, a youngster recently said: "She looks like seven miles of bad road."

SHOES AND STRAW HATS.

(Shoe and Leather Reporter.) Let any man who paid $5 for a straw hat imagine two of these head coverings for $10 and then consider his two shoes for $10. A very little consideration will convince anyone that there is several times the expert workmanship and twice or thrice the value of materials in two shoes as compared with one straw hat.

THE NEW BOOK.

(Congregationalist.) Only as the Bible is approached in the human way, with an honest purpose to know what it is, and how it has come to us, and what it has done, can we rightly appreciate to ourselves its teaching, and understand the nature of its inspiration. We may see it in a new light, but it will be to us a new book, and it will speak with new power.

BUILDING PROGRESS.

(Christian Science Monitor.) Recently the London Guild of Builders issued its first annual report and balance sheet, consisting of a record of its progress to date. This report showed remarkable growth and included the statement that at the time of issuance contracts were in hand amounting to $600,000. Building of homes is everywhere recognized as an index to the prosperity of the people. It is easy to complain of continued hard times, but the evidence on all hands is accumulating to show that conditions really are again becoming normal and that it will not be long before the effects of the World War shall have been completely surmounted.

SEEKING THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH.

(New York World.) From time to time scientists announce they have discovered a new method of fighting old age, of wresting from time a few more years to add to the span of life. In some instances it is a preparation of milk that will confer a semblance of immortality on man in his mundane form. Again it is the transplanting of glands; now it is substituting new cells for old. We all want to have longer lives. Many of us think of life chiefly in terms of this one dimension, but what the world needs most is wider lives and deeper lives, widened in our sympathies, interests and realization of our responsibility and possibility, deepened in our realization of great basic principles and of the eternally great value of life.

ICE CREAM COQUERING ENGLAND.

(Manchester Guardian.) A pleasant subject on a day like this is the ice-cream trade. It has now a newspaper of its own—the "Ice Cream and Soda Fountain Journal"—edited by Mr. A. Pompa, a member of one of the ice cream families of Piacenza, a South Italian village which has provided England with thousands of ice cream vendors. The Journal is printed in English and in Italian.

According to this authority there are 60,000 retailers of ice cream in the United Kingdom and 200 wholesale ice cream factories. The number of soda fountains is given as 2000. The Italian ice cream, it seems, is being replaced by American cream ices, which have a more attractive flavour. "The stamina of the Americans," according to this authority, "arises from the fact that they consume from six to twelve glasses of soda (soda water, ice cream, and crushed fruits per day in summer and in winter." A glass of soda is said to contain 400 food calories.

The school trustees of the academy, the parents of the pupils attending that institution, and the community in which Miss McCaskill has made her influence felt during her six years' residence in Danville, gladly testify to her ability, faithfulness, and never failing patience and steadfastness. She carries with her the esteem and cordial goodwishes of all and may rest assured of a warm welcome should she return her at some future time.

Miss Eva M. Cassidy was the guest of honor of a miscellaneous "showers" recently which was given her by the Misses Gibson on her approaching marriage to Mr. Henry H. Cleveland. Dainty refreshments were served and the bride-to-be received the best wishes for her future happiness.

CHAPTER X.

For a moment their eyes met, and just for a moment all her doubts and fears were swept away; he did love her—he did!

Had they been alone then she would have forgiven him and wiped out the past; but as it was—

"I'll write to you—I'll write . . ." she said in a trembling whisper.

"Dearest!" He let her hand go then; her fingers felt crushed and numbed with the hard pressure of his; Lillian, turning to speak to him, saw the flush in Jean's face—the look in Gavin's eyes, and the words died on her lips.

She hardly spoke all the way home; when they reached the house she bade both men good night; Symons looked absurdly disappointed; he had expected to be asked, "I shall see you again soon," he said, squeezing Jean's hand.

Gavin merely bade her a formal good night, but his eyes were a caress as they met hers for a moment.

"Mr. O'Neil has just called, madam," the somber butler told Lillian as he admitted them. "He is waiting in the drawing-room."

"Oh—very well . . ." Lillian looked at Jean. "You'll come and speak to Robin?" she said.

Jean hesitated; she would have liked to refuse, but—"I will if you think I ought to," she said, not very graciously.

She followed Lillian into the drawing-room.

Robin stood in his favorite position, back to the fire.

"Keeping all the warmth from every-one else," Jean thought as she bade him good evening.

She had thrown her cloak aside; she sat down on the arm of a chair, starting down at her white slippers. The old awkwardness came back to her in this man's presence; she knew that his eyes were upon her.

"A most dull evening," Lillian was saying with a touch of sharpness in her voice. "I was bored to death! Why didn't you come and save me, Robin?"

Jean looked up with amazed eyes; she could not understand that Lillian could possibly have been bored.

"I thought it was lovely!" she said impulsively. "I have never been to a theatre before."

Lillian laughed rather disagreeably. "You'll hate them when you've been to as many as I have," she said. She leaned back amongst the sofa cushions; she stretched a white hand to Robin. "Give me a cigarette for pity's sake . . ."

O'Neil held her cigarette, "Russian on the left," he said laconically; he struck a match and gave it to her. Jean watched him from under her long lashes.

He was in evening dress, and though he was not nearly such a handsome man as Gavin Dawson, there was a certain air of distinction about him that—against her will—filled her with a sort of admiration.

He was tall and well built, and thoroughly English-looking, in spite of the tanned color of his face caused by years in India.

"What have you been doing?" Lillian asked him languidly. She was not really anxious to know, but it was something to say.

"I've been at the club—playing bridge."

She looked up quickly. "Is that all?" You said you had an important engagement which would keep you from coming with us this evening."

He colored a little. He glanced at Jean and laughed with a touch of chagrin.

"Did I? I'm sorry! It was a cram! I merely didn't want to come that's all."

Lillian bit her lip. "How very gallant!" she said frigidly.

Everything had gone wrong with her today. First Gavin—now this man. She turned her head on the silken cushion and looked at Jean.

"I hope you realize what a compliment we have been paid, my dear," she said with sarcasm.

Jean half shrugged her shoulders. "I suppose Mr. O'Neil means that he didn't want to come because of me," she said.

"You used to call me 'Robin' when we were in India," said O'Neil. He knocked the ash from his cigarette into a fern-pot. "And sometimes when I was in extra favor 'Robin, dear' . . . I've told you this before though, haven't I?"

"And with regard to this evening," he went on calmly, "it was on your account I stayed away. You so obviously prefer my room to my company, and I haven't any particular desire to be snubbed in front of a man like Dawson." There was a sort of contempt in his tone.

Jean raised her eyes now; her cheeks were fiery. "Mr. Dawson is a gentleman at least," she said impetuously.

The words were out before she was aware of it; she broke off.

"Which I am not, I suppose you mean," he submitted calmly.

Lillian gave a little exclamation of annoyance.

"Oh, you two make me tired!" she said. She threw the half-smoked cigarette into the grate irritably and sat up. "It seems to me that we are going to have a very lively Christmas if this cat and dog wrangling is going to be kept up. After all, this is my house, and the least you can do is to be commonly civil to each other if you intend to stay here."

The other class of bonds or debentures provide for the payment of interest only at yearly or half-yearly intervals, as may be arranged. In such cases it is necessary for the municipality to arrange sinking funds that will be sufficient to retire the capital amount of the bond issue at its maturity. In order to do this a certain amount has to be levied for through the general taxation. As collected, such amount must be deposited into a special sinking fund bank account, through which purchases of investment securities must be made for the sinking fund. It is necessary that all money collected from the ratepayers for sinking fund purposes must be kept entirely separate from the current funds, and as the calculations of the rate which must be levied for this purpose provide that such funds must be invested at a certain minimum rate in order to produce the capital amount in the life of the bonds, no time should be lost after the funds are collected in investing them in sound securities.

I wish to draw your attention particularly to the fact that when the levy is made for sinking fund purposes, the total amount, instead of being credited to the general revenue account, is credited to an account known as sinking fund reserve. The sinking fund itself, being an asset and on the debit side of the municipality's balance sheet, should be kept in balance with the sinking fund reserve on the credit side. As this fund only increases gradually as the taxes are collected, I would recommend that as the finances permit, lump sums should be transferred from the current funds to the sinking fund, irrespective of whether all of the sinking fund levy has been paid by the taxpayers or not, the reason for which being, as I have already intimated, the necessity for getting the fund on a revenue-producing basis as quickly as possible.

After touching upon financial matters in general, Mr. Grant added: "In addition to all of this, the best safeguard is the employment of experienced auditors to periodically inspect and audit the books of the municipality. I am aware that many municipalities consider the employment of proposed auditors from outside points an unwarranted expense, but I am sure that those municipalities that have been enterprising and progressive enough to bring in chartered accountants to reorganize their accounting systems and audit the books regularly would be the first to recommend that other municipalities should take similar action.

"It is a very poor municipality, indeed, whose business is not worthy of being conducted as carefully and systematically as that of a private corporation, yet how often do we see business men who are most careful and particular in their private dealings, showing the utmost indifference toward municipal affairs. It would seem that they do not realize that every bond or debenture issued by their municipality is really a mortgage on their property, in common with that of their fellow-citizens, or that the expenditures made by their councillors, wisely or unwisely as the case may be, must eventually come out of their own pockets. The installation of a proper system for the conduct of the municipality's affairs and the handling of its funds, together with provision for competent and efficient supervision by qualified auditors, is an investment that undoubtedly yields good returns to the taxpayer by ensuring that he gets good value for the money he pays in taxes, as well as minimizing the risk of improper alienation of his property."

Municipalization of Electrical Power.

"It is not the object of this paper to hold any brief for or against the underlying principles of municipal ownership of public utilities; one or the other system of operation may be equally justifiable when circumstances mitigate against, or prevent the adoption of the other; but to present for your interest a brief history of the hydro electric development as carried out municipally by the City of Sherbrooke, and let the answer rest with you, to whether the undertaking has been a success from every point of view or whether such development could in your opinion have been more successfully and advantageously carried out by private enterprise and capital. "Phenomenal" as has been the rapid growth and development of the cities and towns of the province of Quebec; probably none has been more spectacular nor more solidly justified than that of the City of Sherbrooke; the commercial and social capital of the Eastern Townships, situated at the confluence of the Magog and St. Francis rivers, and is representative of the appreciation of the value of the development of the water power resources of a district, even though such may be relatively small, provided that their development can be carried out at reasonable cost."

Comparison of Rates

"In the year 1908 the prevailing rates for power and light was as follows:

Lighting (domestic and industrial) 10c per K.W.H. Power (flat rate, sliding scale) $5.00 to $45.00 per E.H.P.

"In 1908, the city was lighted by 95 old style arc lamps and a few 32 c.p. carbon incandescent lights. Today, there is a total of 1639 modern high efficiency nitrogen lamps installed, which service is rendered to the City of Sherbrooke absolutely free of all-charge. All expenses for labor and material being borne by the department.

"The present schedule for lighting and power rates is covered by a regular by-law or amendments, and is well known, but, for the benefit of those not previously informed, are here briefly quoted:

Domestic Lighting:—6c per K.W.H. less 15 p.c. discount for prompt payment, or approximately 5c net. Industrial Lighting:—2c per K.W.H., no discount allowable. Heating or Cooking:—2c per K.W.H., no discount allowable.

"Power, as per K.W.H., provided that the customer (figuring on a 10 hour working day) maintains a load factor of not less than 75 p.c. and a power factor of not less than 85 p.c. or, in other words, and as quoted in the by-law, 1c per K.W.H. subject to a minimum bill of $1.75 per E.H.P. contracted for per month.

"The way to the development of resources under municipal control is full of pit falls beset with many thorns, and must be more hazardous than when undertaken by private capital, due principally to the ever changing political character and personnel of the administrative board of control, and unfortunately there are many, many more records of municipal failure than of municipal success. Success in the operation of municipal utilities covering a period of years is not usually an easy achievement. Business success is essentially management, not a plant, plans, blue prints, or rules, but men. Business is the functioning of a highly skilled, managing personnel, in addition to plant, equipment and finances. The continuity of adherence to a sound proven business policy is the essential to continued successful operation, and the maintenance of the concurrent necessary good will of customers and employees alike. This is very difficult and almost impossible in most municipally owned and operated public utilities. It involves upon all municipalities who might have ambitions toward the municipal ownership of their public utilities, therefore to take heed lest they fall.

"It has been a common belief that any water power development will be a profitable one. As an undeveloped water power is a continuous waste of energy, it has commonly been assumed that the harnessing of this waste is bound to result in profit to those who acquire the rights and develop the power.

"That many water powers can not be developed at a profit is a fact that has only been realized in many instances after large expenditures of money have been made.

"The first Niagara development operated for over twenty years without paying a dividend.

"The great developments of the Pennsylvania Power Company, at McCull's Ferry, on the Susquehanna River, at Messina on the St. Lawrence River, and at Sault Ste. Marie, are outstanding examples of financial catastrophes, and many other illustrations of such failures can be cited if desired.

"Foreclosures and sales of water power properties on a large scale have been very common.

"I can say, for instance, that it is wholly impossible to expect general water power development under present conditions on a six per cent. basis. The risks are too large. Ten or fifteen per cent. would be more like what is required to induce capital to go into that field.

"The experiences, therefore, of the City of Sherbrooke in the development of the local resources have been extremely gratifying, and have justified the faith which was placed in them by the early pioneers who undertook the work.

"Before closing, it might be of interest to some to show just exactly what the hydro-electric development of this city represents in economic value to the area covered in particular and to the Dominion of Canada as a whole.

"Including not only the hydro-electrical developments of the city, but also all other power developed in the city or for the use of the city, that is, of the Sherbrooke Street Railway Co., Paton Manufacturing Company, and the water pumping plant, etc., there is at present developed approximately 16 2/3 E.H.P.

"It has been shown from statistics prepared by the Federal Government that the coal equivalent of water power is approximately 10 tons per horse power per year, so that, in the case of this city, 163,200 tons of coal per year, almost all of which would have been imported from the United States, have been saved, which at an average price of $8.50 per ton, represents an economic national saving of $1,387,200 per annum, equivalent to a return of approximately 33 p.c. per annum on the capital invested in the water power development.

"The public needs the development of its water power."

Some Excellent Exhibits

In the Machinery Building there were a considerable number of exhibits of interest to the delegates, all the articles being closely connected with municipal affairs. These included farming instruments, trucks, construction machinery, road building materials, fire equipment, the products of foundry and forge, and many other exhibits of various kinds. The Canadian Fairbanks-Morse had an interesting display of machinery, while the International Harvester Company showed a variety of trucks and engines. Ex-Fire Chief Tremblay, of the Fire Equipment Limited, displayed a village fire pump, chemical tanks and other fire equipment, while the MacKinnon Steel Company had an attractive exhibit, featured by photographs and designs of steel structures. The Canadian Ingot Iron Company displayed corrugated iron culverts and iron road signs, while cement mixers and electric motors were featured by O. E. Bernard. The Canada Iron Foundries, Limited, had a considerable amount of water and gas fittings on exhibit, and paving materials were displayed by the Legare Foundry. The Super-Heater Company and the National Meter Company also had good exhibits, and Reo trucks and speed cars were in prominence.

Outside of the Administration Building the Canadian Ingot Iron Building had erected a rock drill and demonstrations were given. There was also an excellent display by the Bell Telephone Company on exhibit at the Art Building and special phones were installed for the benefit of the delegates.

Resolutions

At the close of the final session a considerable number of resolutions were passed, dealing with various subjects and having a wide range in importance. These included a resolution that the municipalities co-operate with the Government in its battle against tuberculosis; that the Government of the Province of Quebec be requested to engage an industrial agent to aid in the establishment of industries; that tourist traffic be encouraged in this Province; that the Government be exhorted to undertake a vigorous policy of repatriation of Canadian manhood as the most desirable and pre-eminently fitted immigrant for the development of our Province. The convention also showed itself strongly in favor of the bridge between Montreal and the South Shore and it also expressed its appreciation of the various speakers, who had addressed the meetings, and several committees were appointed to study the various problems that had come up for discussion. A resolution of appreciation was passed because of the thoughtfulness of the Bell Telephone Company in providing telephone communication for the delegates.

Visitors Yesterday

Additional visitors at the Convention, yesterday, were: S. G. Newton and C. E. Soles, Sherbrooke; Wm. T. Smith, Leeds; J. A. McClary, Lennoxville; P. L. Baldwin and B.N.

TRAIN CRASHED INTO BOULDER AT BROWNVILLE

Fireman Was Instantly Killed and Engineer Badly Scalded—Rock Dislodged During Storm.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 22.—A serious derailment occurred on the Canadian Pacific Railway line near Lakeview, ten miles east of Brownville, Maine, at 5:20 o'clock this morning, when No. 16 passenger train en route from Montreal to this city crashed into a large boulder. Fireman Albert Lockhart, of Brownville, was instantly killed, and Engineer Rogers was quite badly scalded. The engine was derailed as well as the express car, and practically the entire mail car, while a section of the rails was torn up.

RATHER IRREGULAR TONE ON WALL STREET 'CHANGE

NEW YORK, June 22.—(Wall Street Noon.) Oils and motors, influenced the more uneven movement of the morning, Mexican Petroleum extended its decline to 3 1/2 points from which it rallied four points. Pan American A and B shares, California Petroleum, General Asphalt, and Houston added to early advances. The rise was checked before noon such leaders as Standard, Baldwin, and the Independent Steels reacting sharply. There was heavy selling of Chandler, which fell over three points. Food specialties, including sugars, and Coca Cola, eased under pressure. Rails were dull and lower aside from firmness of New York Central.

HIGHER PRICES RECORDED ON CHICAGO WHEAT BOARD

(Associated Press Despatch) CHICAGO, June 22.—Reports from South Dakota that heat and drought were endangering the wheat crop tended to bring about higher prices for wheat here today in the early dealings. Unless rain came soon, it was said, the yield of wheat in a large section would be reduced in a material degree. Heat damage advice from Nebraska, counted also as a bullish factor. The opening, which ranged from 1/2 cent decline to 1/4 cent advance, with July at $1.13 to $1.13 1/2 and September $1.13 1/2 to $1.13 3/4 was followed by a moderate general advance and then something of a reaction.

Calendar buyers were again active in the corn market, but were met by Commission House selling. After opening 1/4 cent off to 1/2 cent higher with July at 62 1/2 to 62 3/4 cents, the market sagged. Bad crop reports especially from Illinois gave strength to the oat market, which opened 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, with July at 35 1/2 cents and after a slight reaction scored further gains. Provisions were steady despite weakness of the hog market.

YANKEES GAIN FULL GAME ON ST. LOUIS TEAM

Shawkey Held Cleveland in Check, While Athletics Took a Fall Out of the Browns.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, June 22.—Because of Shawkey's effective hurling, Huggin's awakened Yankees yesterday defeated the Indians by 7 to 3, and by virtue of the league-leading Browns' defeat by the Athletics, advanced a full game toward the top of the ladder. They were one and a half games behind the leaders today.

Rommel held the Browns to four hits, while Wright and Danforth were touched for eleven swats and five runs.

George Sisler escaped with another stolen base, his twenty-fifth of the season.

The Boston Red Sox, in two innings counted nine runs, enough to defeat Cobb's Tigers by 9 to 8.

The White Sox developed a ninth inning punch to win from the Senators, and went into fourth place, tied with the Indians. Washington now occupies the fifth position.

Brooklyn, in a game of many hits, errors, runs and wild pitchers, engaged in a nose-and-nose contest with the Pirates and beat them 15 to 14 and tumbled them from the third position in the National League. The Pirates out-hit the Dodgers 25 to 19, but they made six errors, the majority of which contributed to their opponents' run column.

The Phillies, in a six inning affair with the Cubs, got three home runs, but lost 6 to 3.

Rain prevented the Giants-Cardinals and Cincinnati-Boston contests.

Batteries—Rommel and Bruggy; Wright, Danforth and Severeid, Collins.

NEWPORT WON FROM MAGOG
MAGOG, Que., June 22.—(Special) —Newport won from the Magog

Prue team at Newport on Tuesday by a 7 to 1 score. The game was fast and interesting up till the 5th inning when Newport broke the ice by putting a run across. Emerson held the Newport batters, without a hit or run up to the 5th.

Magog was in a scoring position several times, but lacked the necessary hit. Poli pitched effectively for Newport, and received good support. The outstanding feature was the play of the Magog shortstop, Codere, who took care of twelve chances without a flaw, and knocked down several hot ones which looked like sure hits.

The line-up: MAGOG—Codere ss, Barry 2b, Tetreault lf, Pender 1b, Perrault cf, Gaunt rf, EEmerson p, Turcotte 3b, Muise c.

NEWPORT—Hastings lf, Laird ss, Bower 2b, Eastburne cf, Brown rf, Nicora 1b, Vanotti c, Finnegan 3b, Poli p.

INCREASED RUTH'S SUSPENSION

(Associated Press Despatch.) CHICAGO, June 22.—President Johnson of the American League, increased Ruth's suspension, originally for three days, for disputing a decision made by Umpire Dineen in Monday's game at Cleveland, to five days, when he received a long letter from the umpire yesterday detailing the remarks made by Ruth when ordered off the field in compliance with Mr. Johnson's first ruling.

LAURIER DEFEATED TIGERS

In a scheduled fixture of the Junior Twilight League, Laurier defeated Tigers in a closely contested game by a score of 5-4. Buckman, on the Laurier pitched a fine game and struck out nine men, while Ruel also turned in a good game and struck out four men.

Laurier got away to a two run lead in the opening inning, added another in the second and piled on two more in the third. With the score five to nothing against them, the Tigers made a splendid come back and in the fourth reduced the lead, while in the fifth inning they ran up three tallies and came within a point of tying the score.

The game was called in the fifth on account of darkness.

Tigers—0 0 1 3—4.
Laurier—2 1 2 0—5.
Batteries: Tigers—Ruel and Blais; Laurier—Buckman and Dion.
Umpires—Jenkins and Landry.
On Monday next, the Y. M. C. A. line up against the Fairmount Tigers

CLEVELAND GIANTS HERE OVER WEEK-END.

The game against the Cleveland Giants on Sunday promises to be one of the hardest contests of the season and after a couple of weeks of disappointment, owing to rain, the baseball fans are anticipating a real good game. The visitors played off with the Brooklyn Royal Giants last season for the colored championship of the world but lost the series 4-3.

This season the Cleveland Giants have not suffered a defeat and the local management is under a pretty heavy guarantee to get this team up here. Good weather is the main essential. The Giants carry along with them, as a special attraction, Dusty Rhodes, one of the world's greatest comedians, and fans should be assured of a splendid afternoon.
