

Reddy Hospital Seeks Provincial Aid

Deficit Is $172,000

With a deficit of $172,000 for the year, a drop in total admissions and an increase in charity cases — Reddy Memorial Hospital at its annual meeting has turned its eyes to the province as a means out of its financial difficulties.

William Bentley, vice-president and treasurer, who has been functioning as head of the institution since the death of President S. L. de Carteret and Col. Wilfrid Bovey, who was president emeritus, had this to say of the situation:

"We are happy to hear the provincial government is proposing to increase permits under the Public Charities Act — we hope this will meet the cost for indigent patients. This is a step in the right direction. It will help alleviate our desperate plight."

Dr. J. L. Barry, executive director of the hospital, reported total admissions — 6,216 — were slightly below last year. But, he said the reduction was entirely due to a drop in maternity cases brought about by "the considerable extension in maternity services which has taken place in Montreal over the past two years."

He said, on the other hand, the demand for beds in the other department of the hospital was decreasingly heavy and suggested some reduction in the maternity service to provide additional beds for other patients.

He said 30 per cent of all bed patients were admitted under the Quebec Public Charities Act at

Hi-Y Boys Man Pumps At Local Gas Station

The Alpha Sr. Boys' Hi-Y Club has come up with a new fund-raising idea.

Saturday is the big day, and these boys will be working from 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on the gas pumps of Art Janelle's B.A. Gas Station, at the corner of Victoria and Western.

In return for their services, the boys will be making five cents profit per gallon sold. The money raised will be used toward sending the club's delegates to the regional Hi-Y conference and to start a scholarship at Westmount Senior High School.

This year's Hi-Y Club is under the presidency of Dave Annesley and their service work to date has included donations to fund raising campaigns, Christmas hampers to a needy family, donations to Y.M.C.A. World Service and partial subsidization of the Westmount "Y" Senior "B" Basketball team.

The boys of the Hi-Y Club feel that this endeavour is worthy of your support. They don't want your tank empty, but at least let it run low before running into Art Janelle's Service station for a refill on Saturday, April 27th.

Next Week's Weather

By ERIC NEAL

April 27 to May 4

In normal years this is a week of sudden temperature changes, with samples of every kind of weather from snow flakes to thunderstorms.

As this is a dry year we are likely to have more sunshine than trouble, although it may be quite windy mid-week.

Bright and generally pleasant for the end of the week with occasional wet mists or morning fog. Forsythia in flower. It always opens the spring. Fishing good all day.

Rotary Marks 'Family Day'

It was 'Family Day' this week at Westmount Rotary and, judging by its enthusiastic reception, the event promises to become an annual affair, a time when mothers and kiddies get an insight into daddy's weekly club meeting.

Wednesday's dinner-meeting was largely attended and, for the most part, was gauged to entertain the youngsters. Main source of entertainment came from "Magic Tom" Auburn whose mastery of sleight-of-hand kept everyone guessing. Oddly enough, it took a good deal of convincing before the tiny tots realized that the hand is quicker than the eye. And even then they entertained doubts.

Prizes galore and a splendid meal were high on the agenda. Chairman at the session was club president William G. Moxley and visiting Rotarians were welcomed by Dr. F. M. McNaughton. A warm welcome to children and mothers was extended by Frank Sharpe.

During the meeting, the club bid farewell to Dr. J. R. Lockheed who will leave Tuesday to represent Westmount Rotary at the Rotary International Convention in Lucerne, Switzerland.

Daylight Saving Time

Saturday at midnight is the moment for putting clocks ahead one hour to Daylight Saving Time.

Despite the fact that this time and date is widely publicized every year, there are always a number of people who forget to remember — and turn up an hour late Sunday at some appointment, such as church.

So — Saturday at midnight — remember to remember that clocks go ahead, one full hour, to Daylight Saving Time.

Final Tribute Paid F. E. Fraser

Funeral of Frederic Earle Fraser, 4320 Montrose avenue, was held Monday from Tees and Company Chapel with interment in Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa.

A long-time resident of Westmount, Mr. Fraser died on Good Friday following a lengthy illness. He was 67 years of age.

Born in Regina, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fraser and great-grandson of Col. James Fraser, Perth, Ont., he was educated in Western Canada and later at the Ottawa Collegiate Institute. During the First World War, Mr. Fraser was awarded the DSC for sinking one of the few submarines by bombing from an aircraft. He was commissioned in the Royal Naval Air Service in England and served in France, Italy and other theatres of operations.

On his return, he opened his own business in Montreal under the name of Fraser Company. During the Second World War, Mr. Fraser joined the RCAF and served for two years until he retired. He was a well-known sportsman in the fishing tackle business and a crack rifle shot.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Dorothy Martha Lolley, are three sons, A. Hugh Fraser, Montreal, I. E. Fraser, Toronto, and Dr. F. E. Fraser, Esher, England; two brothers, Col. E. A. S. Fraser, Montreal, Hugh E. Fraser, Knowlton; one sister, Mrs. Larry Howard, Vancouver.

Mrs. F. W. Brookes Burial Saturday

The funeral of Mrs. Frank W. Brookes, widow of Frank W. Brookes, 2239 Belgrave avenue, will be held Saturday morning from St. Augustine of Canterbury Church with interment in Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

Active in church work and a resident of NDG for about 25 years, Mrs. Brookes died suddenly last night. Born in Cobden, Ont., she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Durack. Her husband, a long-time employee of Canadian Pacific Railways, predeceased her in 1950.

Mrs. Brookes was past president of St. Augustine Women's Club, a member of the Community Council, Xavier Apostolate, Legion of Mary and others.

Surviving are six sons, Allan, at home; Francis and Tom, Montreal; Terry, Ottawa; Murray, Preston, Ont., and Jack, with the RCAF overseas; two daughters, Mrs. S. J. Holland, at home, Mrs. T. R. Tessier, Toronto; one sister, Mrs. Ralph Robertson, Geraldton, Ont.; five grandchildren.

Lindsay Morris Buried Monday

Final tribute was paid Monday, at the chapel of D. A. Collins, Sherbrooke street west, to Lindsay G. Morris, a former resident of Notre Dame de Grace and a graduate of West Hill High School.

Lindsay Morris, who died suddenly at the age of 46, was a vice-president and secretary-treasurer of Brown, Bovari (Canada) Ltd., and a graduate of the faculty of Commerce at McGill University.

Son of Lincoln G. Morris, the artist, Lindsay had been prominent in the Montreal Amateur Radio Club in his school and college days and was for many years an active official of the American Radio Relay League. He was also a member of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, the Naval Officers' Association, the Association of Industrial Advertisers and the Monkland Tennis Club.

During the Second World War he served as an intelligence officer with the RCNVR.

He is survived by his wife, the former Audrey Allo; his father, Lincoln G. Morris; and a sister, Mr. H. Byain (Rosemary) of Toronto.

Home, School Federation Will Hear John P. Rowat

Workshop sessions will be opened to all interested parents and teachers, when the 13th annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations meets at McGill University Physical Science Centre in Montreal, May 3 and 4.

This year, two sessions will be devoted to parent education, a topic that proved widely appealing last year. Other workshops will include discussions on the educational facilities available to the retarded child, the use of audio-visual aids and a discussion and exhibition of children's art. Guest of honor at the closing dinner in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel will be John Rowat, chairman of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education in the province of Quebec. At that dinner, also, the Buzzell Award for outstanding service in home and school work in the province will be presented.

★ Children's Theatre Play Big Hit

'Robin Hood' Well Received

To Play Two More Saturdays

Fortunately for the youngsters who were unable to see the Children's Theatre performance of Robin Hood last Saturday, repeat performances will be given this Saturday April 27th, and the final show will be Saturday afternoon May 4th.

Wild cheers greeted this famous Robin Hood when he appeared at Victoria Hall for the first performance, and George Carron made a striking figure as the stalwart outlaw, while Eleanor Kalmanasch played Maid Marion in a most appealing manner, and this young thespian shows great ability.

Marcel deGagne portrayed the High Sheriff of Nottingham to the great amusement of the children, and this promising young actor knows how to appeal to the small fry. Alexis Kanner gave an outstanding performance as Guy of Gisborne, while Walter Walkefield so beloved by Children's Theatre audiences was hilarious as Friar Tuck.

Mary Lekas played the role of Lady Dorothy with ease and distinction and Rosalind Warhaft gave a fine characterization of Lady Jane. Teddy Lazarus, five year old thespian of the Children's Theatre, delighted the audience when he appeared as Robin Hood Junior in the curtain speech.

The supporting cast, too numerous to mention, deserve great credit for their fine performances and the entire show reflects great credit on directors Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters. For the repeat show this Saturday, Gloria Shacket will be seen as Maid Marion, Aviva Benjamin as Lady Dorothy and Helene Oppenheimer as Lady Jane.

Dr. Harry J. Stern Draws Parallels In Easter, Passover

The Christian festival that is almost identical with Passover observance is that of Easter. This year Passover and Easter are observed simultaneously and it is in keeping that we reflect upon both of these festivals, and the concurrence of these eventful days should stimulate the imagination of Jews and Christians to remove misunderstanding regarding each other and to live and labor for the preservation of the Judaeo-Christian heritage without which civilization is impossible. The fundamentals of that heritage are the love of God and the love for fellow-man, Dr. Stern told Temple Emanuel Congregation at Passover.

Both Passover and Easter derive their origin from the festival of nature, the spring season, when all of nature cast aside the death of winter and undergoes a renewal of life, a resurrection, and the wonderful transformation of nature in the spring is most conducive to the strengthening of our belief in the renewal of life after death. The marvelous spectacle of nature's renewal has ever made man susceptible even of the belief of bodily resurrection, let alone to the belief in life eternal. Man thus reasons if the world of nature, held fast by the grip of winter's death, can thus be metamorphosed why not man who occupies the highest pinnacle in the drama of nature? he added.

It can easily be understood why the Christian Church, moved deeply by the inspiring phenomenon of the spring resurrection, has come to speak and affirm its fundamental doctrine of the resurrection of the Nazarene, the humble Rabbi of Galilee, who is the very inspiration of the Christian faith, its very foundation!

Judaism, however, has instituted the Passover with the advent of spring to commemorate not the resurrection of any one individual but that of the entire Jewish people. Who can deny that Passover in Jewish tradition is bound up with Israel redeemed not only from the grave of Egyptian slavery but from the graves in which its enemies sought to bury the Jew again and again throughout history. Turn the pages of history and behold how the hostile peoples often declared the Jew a corpse, dead, petrified, fossilized, never to rise again. But the Jew, the progenitor of a great religious truth, the pioneer in the worship of The One God, the champion of the belief in life eternal cried out: "I shall not die, but live and declare the works of God," he continued.

Israel, indeed, has been resurrected from a thousand graves and lives with the one great purpose of witnessing to the Oneness of God and the Oneness of humanity. As long as Israel continues to sacrifice and suffer for spiritual truth Israel will survive all who meditate its destruction. In this month of Nisan, when nature joyfully sings of new life, well may we sing for the joy that Israel lives. It lives as Israel universal as citizens of many lands; it also lives anew as a nation reborn in the ancient and holy land where first the cradle of Jewish civilization stood.

In these complex times of dislocation and fears of death because of nuclear weapons, the Passover-Easter season invites Jew and Christian to an affirmation of life and hope that mankind is on the march, that man is not a puppet and that he has God-given spiritual capabilities within himself to make possible the international control of atomic energy, that it may be utilized to increase life and light and freedom for all the dwellers on earth.

Then, indeed, will come the universal Passover when all mankind will have learned to live in freedom, security, and peace. Providence grant that so it be and may all of us, Jew and Christian in this glorious holy season of the Passover-Easter, in brotherhood exclaim "My Redeemer still liveth," Rabbi Stern concluded.

 a loss to the hospital of $10 per patient per day. The out-patient department, which provided free care for more than 30 per cent of its patients also, lost $12,000 during the year.

These losses, added to heavy expenditure for repairs and maintenance of the old building, were responsible for a net operating deficit of $172,000 during the year.

William Bentley, vice-president and treasurer, presided at the meeting. The president, the late S. L. de Carteret, died in office. Mr. Bentley, who has acted as administrative head of the hospital since Mr. de Carteret's death, was elected chairman of the board of directors. He paid tribute to Mr. de Carteret and to the late Col William Bovey, president emeritus of the hospital, who died last October.

N.Y. State Insurance Law Seen Needing Quebec Parallel

If you motor into New York state occasionally, you'll be interested in this:

A New York State official has done some plain talking about the question of automobile insurance and it is to be hoped that he talked loud enough for his words to carry to Quebec City.

Joseph P. Kelly, motor vehicle commissioner of the state, issued a report on the state's insurance law to correct "certain wrong interpretations," held by visiting drivers from Canada.

These are the points which Mr. Kelly made:

1. Uninsured vehicles are not impounded in New York State, but, in case of an accident, owner and driver will lose the right to drive in the state.

2. It is not a criminal offence for a non-resident to operate an uninsured vehicle in New York, but it is a misdemeanor for anyone to operate a New York-registered vehicle knowing it is not covered by liability insurance.

"Like residents of New York," he said, "visitors to our state can use the streets and highways with the satisfying assurance that evidence of financial security has been given for every New York vehicle on the road."

Unfortunately, no such assurance is given in the Province of Quebec. This is a matter long overdue for urgent consideration by the Provincial Government, and a matter of urgent importance for every automobile owner and driver in the province, and for our visiting motorists.

The perfect status would be financial security for every automobile on the road, and financial responsibility for every driver.

These are things that are in everyone's interest. Why the delay?

Enumeration, Then Revision

Citizens Have Double Opportunity To Qualify As Voters

Several hundred residents of this Community will conclude a house-to-house canvass this week-end to register all those qualified to vote in the coming federal election.

Every effort will be made by them, and by the other election officials, to get every voter on the lists before the end of these visits. There will inevitably be some omissions: some citizens are out of town, others were away from home when the enumerators made their calls. These will have ample opportunity later to have their names added to the lists. Places and dates for such revision will be well publicized.

Election officials report a considerable interest in the election on the part of the citizens at large, and more than the usual co-operation with the enumerators in their visits. This is an excellent omen, and it is to be hoped that such interest will be reflected in a high percentage of local electors doing their duty as responsible citizens when voting day comes around. The early signs point to a heavy vote.

Within the next fortnight or so, copies of the lists compiled by the enumerators will be mailed to every household in the district. Each printed list will contain a notice of the dates and places where those omitted in the preliminary canvass may have their names entered. If you have been missed by the enumerators, make a point of visiting one of these revising officers. There will be one in your neighbourhood. Keep in mind that after the sittings for revision are concluded, no more names can be added to the lists.

Press Freedom at Home

Le Progres de Chambly Case Scotched Bad Precedent

The importance of a free press as a watchdog over the public interest is emphasized in the careers of latter-day dictators who, without exception, have started their march to power with seizure of the media of communications — newspapers and radio.

Not content with this, many have gone further. Cuba's President Batista, for example, has ordered censorship of all American newspapers sent or brought to the island dictatorship. Stories which the dictator does not want the people to read are either clipped from each individual paper, or are blacked out.

But campaigns against freedom of the press are not confined to dictatorship. In India, a republic, the Government recently passed a Press Bill which, in effect, gives it control over what all Indian newspapers may print.

In view of these and other encroachments on the principle of freedom of the press, it is gratifying to note that an attempt to infringe this freedom right here at home has been quashed in Superior Court in Montreal by Mr. Justice Harry Batshaw.

Mr. Justice Batshaw ordered the Town of Chambly to pay a local newspaper, Le Progrès de Chambly, the sum of $400 for defamatory libel. The town council, after a series of articles which criticized the then-mayor of Chambly in 1953, passed a resolution ordering the newspaper "to explain itself" and said that if such an explanation was not given, council would order "all groups and individuals with which it was associated" to stop advertising in the paper.

The paper sued for damages, and Mr. Justice Batshaw held that although the threat implied in the resolution hadn't been carried out, the mere passing of it by council constituted a libel.

This attempt by a town council to suppress freedom of comment on public affairs would, if successful, have established a dangerous precedent.

Mr. Justice Batshaw's decision was not only another affirmation of the principle of freedom of the press, but will help strengthen the bulwarks of that freedom.

A symphonic orchestra composed of non-professional musicians is being organized here, and Albert Chamberland, 12 Burton place, will be directing the organization. Mr. Chamberland has been a teacher, producer, and orchestra leader for many years at Radio-Canada and assistant director and violin soloist of the Les Concerts Symphoniques of Montreal.

Persons interested in joining the orchestra should register with the organization before the end of May. Rehearsals will start in the fall. For information call RA. 1-3213 or RE. 8-7332 or write to the secretary, L. Lu Duchesne, 2485 St. Zotique east, apt. 2, Montreal.

Letters To The Editor

Pedestrian Contempt Laid To Car Drivers

Sir: The toll of deaths and serious injuries due to motor car accidents continues to mount. The warnings of safety societies and other agencies have had little effect. The speed at which cars go in strictly populated districts, such as along Sherbrooke Street West and Cote St. Antoine Road evidences a contempt for the pedestrian. The driver of a motor car develops a psychology that apparently inclines him to look upon the pedestrian as a nuisance.

Where an accident happens that may cause fatal injuries, the party responsible regards it as of minor importance. He thinks that he should not be treated too harshly.

In our own province, the traffic division under the control of Capt. Alexandre Poirier is quite alert and constantly warning automobilists to exercise the utmost care. The negligent driver is a menace to all who use our streets and should not lightly be dealt with. Only a few weeks ago a prominent citizen who at one time was a leading member of the City Council was knocked down by a bus and suffered injuries that necessitated hospitalization and further home treatment.

POLICE ACTIVE

In certain municipalities, the police do their utmost to curb irresponsible drivers with the result that the number of offences due to speeding has been reduced. In Montreal, unfortunately, we have not the required number of patrol or motorcycle police to run down and halt speed maniacs. Those who drive cars forget that they have in their keeping the lives of those on the road as well as the defenceless pedestrian.

The courts are beginning to appreciate that stronger measures and heavier sentences may result in more care being exercised by occupational and personal drivers of cars. The number of children that have been killed and injured is appalling. The offending motorist who speeds, or is intoxicated, is every bit as much a lawbreaker as the criminal who assaults a citizen with a deadly weapon. The convicted motorist who is sent to jail may regard himself as one entitled to consideration; but where he causes the death of a fellow citizen, or the victim is permanently injured, he should ask himself how he would feel if the position was reversed. Quite a number will be inclined to agree with Mr. Justice P. J. Montague of the Manitoba Court of Appeal, who, in rejecting an appeal of a convicted motorist, suggested that a life sentence may be the only penalty severe enough to stop drunken drivers from killing people on the highways.

POTENTIAL KILLER

The drunken driver is every bit a potential killer as the criminal in possession of a lethal weapon. Director Hilaire Beauregard of our Provincial Police force has on more than one occasion emphasized what a dangerous weapon the motor car becomes when driven by an irresponsible or impaired driver. If the suggestion made by the eminent member of the higher judiciary was carried out, it would undoubtedly have the effect of deterring motorists from the use of intoxicants before or while driving, and also exercise a higher degree of prudence.

The problem is now concerning governments on all levels and associations interested in safety regulations.

The petition to be presented to

"Will you try further down the counter please, I'm closing for lunch!"

Premier Duplessis and due to the public spirit of Mr. and Mrs. Cousineau will, no doubt, be given the serious consideration it merits. The tremendous increase in the number of cars and trucks with a consequent increase in the likelihood of accidents, makes it imperative to adopt sterner measures to prevent the killing to which Mr. Justice Montague referred.

We may be living in an age of speed but that is no reason or justification for speeding that causes death or maiming for life.

Bernard Rose.

By the Way...

THE hushing-up of the whole affair of the hen which repeatedly laid banana-shaped eggs was hotly criticized yesterday.

"People have a right to know what is going on," said Stanley McLoathsome, an egg-marker. An attempt to even things by growing egg-shaped bananas was described by Mrs. Kortright as "an imbecile gesture." Psychiatrists have denied that bomb-tests are responsible for oddly shaped eggs. Tests made with a hen imported from Jamaica proved that a youth spent amid bananas is not sufficient, in itself, to cause ovine deviation in fowls. The progeny, when hatched, were not banana-shaped, but did in fact, taste of fish.

DID BETTER

The 1956-57 version of the Black Hawks did little more than last season's team, National Hockey League records show coldly. After 70 games a year ago, Chicago's accomplishments came to only 19 wins and 12 ties for 50 league points. A total of 155 goals were scored, but 216 got by. This season's totals came to 16 victories and 15 deadlocks for 47 points. Goals for and against rose slightly to 169 and 225 respectively.

West End Sports Car Drivers Open Season On May 5

The West End sports car enthusiast has two things to think about these days. First of all, the car must be put into top running order. And secondly, a check must be made to insure that his membership has not expired into the Sports Motor Car Club Incorporated.

Patterned after clubs in Europe, the SMCC was founded in 1935 around a nucleus of light-car owners who joined together to organize trials, tours, picnics, safe driving and reliability trials and to provide an opportunity for enthusiasts to "talk shop." By 1939, the club had grown to such an extent that a constitution was drawn up and the present name adopted. The club is neither sponsored by nor connected with any commercial organization and relies on membership dues for its support.

Continuously growing, the club today provides many opportunities for its 50-plus members to participate in competitive and social events. Affiliated with the Canadian Automobile Sports Committee, governing body of automobile sport in Canada, the SMCC is administered by a board of directors members of which are: President, John Berrys; vice-president, Charlie Taylor; social director, Vera Taylor; secretary, Harry Bull; treasurer, John Soulsby; editor of 'The Exhaust' (official club publication), Don Baird; competitions chairman, Mike Field; membership, Pat Mullen; member-at-large, Austin Donn.

Films and talks pertaining to automobiles are presented when the club meets every fourth Tuesday of the month in Flanders Hall, Park Extension. For many years the club met in NDG Community Hall and only recently did it change its site of assemblage.

At this week's meeting, plans for future events were mapped out, members were introduced to the new board of directors, films were shown and talks heard. Plans for 1957 call for an 'economy run' on May 5, first evening trial on May 14, 'day of dicing' on May 25, second evening trial June 21, surprise trial July 28, map run Sept. 8, night rally Oct. 19-20, hill climb Nov. 3 and winter trial on Jan. 26 of next year. In addition there are sprints, safe-driving tests, navigators' trials, tours, weekend trips, picnics and annual parties. Prizes and handsome trophies are awarded all along the way.

All in all it's a fine club with a progressive past and a bright future. A club which is fast realizing its aim to bring about and foster a spirit of unity, comradeship and clean sportsmanship among its members; to educate its members in the observance of the motor vehicle laws of Quebec and inform of vehicle laws in other countries; to educate its members in the respect of pedestrians and other users of streets, roads and highways; to promote legitimate sporting events, trials, runs and other activities; to encourage the enjoyment of light car ownership; to secure group insurance, reduced rates on fuel, car accessories, parts, service and repairs; to encourage members to assist others who have met with accidents or experienced trouble with their vehicles on highways, and finally, to further the interests of the community in general.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

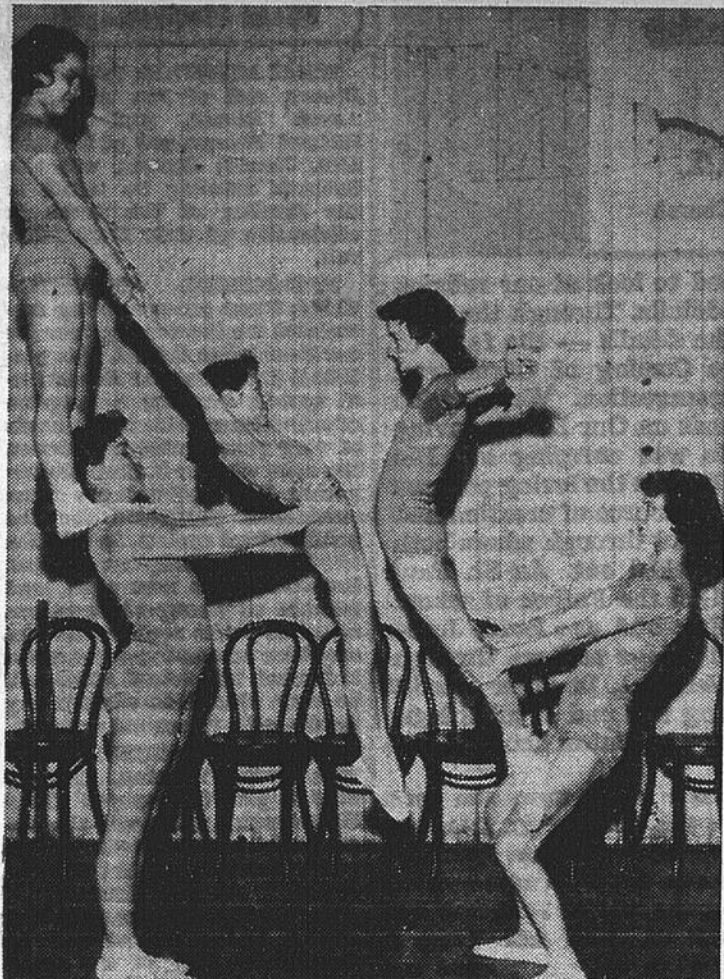

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

Ornithology is keeping step with the other sciences. We used to wonder why birds could perform feats of which man is incapable; now there are answers to most of our questions. The fact is that birds are properly equipped for the life they have to live. And so, water birds are especially constructed.

Actually, those that are found under the heading "Diving Birds" belong to the lowest form of bird life, closely resembling reptiles, from which they developed. Their legs are set far back on their bodies, so that when at rest on land their position is almost upright, and they walk with the greatest difficulty. Both their necks and their bodies are elongated, yet their wings and tails are short. Grebes, Loons, Auks, Murres, and Puffins belong to this group. But when considering divers in general, Cormorants, Gannets, and the Sea Ducks should be remembered, because on account of their diving ability they have much in common with the others.

For one thing, all these birds, though nearly their whole time is spent in water, are able to keep dry. There are several reasons for this. Birds are supplied with an oil gland under their tails, from which they are able to get oil with their bills and apply to their feathers. For water birds this is absolutely necessary, but they must also be specially clothed. Their plumage is particularly dense. It is said that Ducks rest on a raft of feathers an inch thick. A Grebe's plumage is so compact, smooth, and hairlike that it is absolutely waterproof when properly oiled. Also air sacs on the breasts of

STAMPS by Margaret Ward

Up to this time we have been discussing only the regular issues of postage stamps, but there are many other varieties of interest to stamp collectors.

Perhaps the most popular of these are charity stamps, or semi-postals, as they are often called. These are issued to raise money for a charitable organization such as the Red Cross. Part of the face value pays postage and part is a contribution to the charity. Although Canada doesn't issue them, many foreign countries do, and they are quite easy for collectors to obtain.

Then there are postage due stamps, which the post office places on mail when the sender underpays the postage. The money owed to collected from the addressee, otherwise the mail is returned to the sender. Postage due stamps are issued by virtually every country.

Special stamps are also issued to speed delivery. Airmail stamps send the mail by air, special delivery stamps send it water birds cause them to sit high in the water.

The Loon is able to dive down and stay under for sometimes as long as 15 minutes. Recently, it has been discovered that heart rate and blood composition have something to do with this. Whereas the temperature of some birds may go as high as 115°, all these divers are cold blooded, and the Loon's temperature, which is lowest, is but 102°. The bodies of divers are almost entirely encased in a layer of fat, which keeps them warm and also buoyant.

Gannets rise to a great height, occasionally 400 feet, before diving for fish, and may go to a depth of 50 feet or more. They have supplementary lenses on their eyes, and air sacs under their wings as added protection. Sea Ducks dive only from the surface, yet may go down 90 feet. A Cormorant, also diving from the surface, has been known to reach a depth of 120 feet.

Does weather affect birds?

Present Ballet At Moyse Hall May 2nd To 11th

Prominent Canadian choreographers, composers, dancers, costume and set designers have contributed to the building of the repertory the Montreal Theatre Ballet will present at Moyse Hall of McGill University from May 2 through May 11. The company will give performances every night at 8.30 with matinee on Saturdays May 4 and 11. The company's repertory will include eleven ballets, of which seven will be presented for the first time. The remaining four will be revivals from last season's repertory.

As choreographers, the company is proud to boost such names as Brian Macdonald, whose ballet Postscript is one of the repertory of the National Ballet of Canada after being premiered here last season, Joey Harris, Elizabeth Leese, Michel Conte, Elsie Salomons and Seda Zare.

For the company, Alfred Pellan, world-famous Canadian painter, has designed an opening curtain which will be shown at every performance.

The Unity Of Salvation
 By
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
 Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

From time to time we need to look at our religion as a whole rather than in its details. Through the first half of the year we look at the details — the facts of creation, sin, redemption; the Coming of Christ and His work, His Death and Resurrection. We may be tempted to lay so much emphasis on Our Lord's saving work that we forget that He was carrying out His Father's will, and that behind Him is the loving purpose of the Father. God as God is the source of creation and redemption; God's Son is the Agent through whom both creation and redemption are worked out. As St. Paul puts it: "For us there is one God the Father of whom are all things and we unto Him; and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and we through Him." (1 Cor. 8:6, Revised Version). In other words, God the Father is the beginning and end of all things, and the Lord Jesus Christ is the Mediator between His Father and His creation.

So the great events of which we have been thinking in the past weeks are not only the works of Jesus; rather "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." We need to keep that fact in mind in order to avoid the idea that God is the stern Judge who is ready to bring judgment to bear upon us, and is only restrained by the loving care of His Son for us. Actually Our Lord Himself guards us against that kind of thinking, for He says: "The Son can do nothing of Himself, but what He seeth the Father do: for what things soever the Father doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise." St. John 5:19. And again: "I came down from Heaven not to do mine own will but the will of Him that sent Me." St. John 6:38. There is complete unity of purpose and will between the Father and the Son, and that will is simply the salvation of man. Our Lord says: "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost," and in Second Peter we read: "The Lord is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

Pilgrimages To The Shrine On Increase

With spring fast getting a foothold, pilgrimages to St. Joseph's Shrine are on the increase. It is hoped that the number of visitors and pilgrims this year may be even greater than last year's total. This was revealed today by Rev. Roland Gauthier, Superior of the Shrine.

During 1956, about 3,000,000 persons, including two cardinals, four archbishops and 39 bishops, visited St. Joseph's Oratory, founded by Brother Andre and now one of the most attractive centres on the continent.

Last year, 635 organized groups, 100 of which were from the United States, visited the Shrine. The largest single group was from the Lacordaire and Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Society which assembled 20,000 of its members for the anti-alcoholic rally. This year the annual rally will be held Sunday, July 14.

During 1956, 11,600 Masses were celebrated at the Shrine and 397,000 Communion distributed.

Mrs. Meherangiz Munsiff In Series Of Lectures

The local Spiritual assembly of the Bahai of Westmount is helping to sponsor the visit of a prominent Bahai from India, who will give a series of addresses in Montreal.

Mme. Meherangiz Munsiff, a member of the Baha'i World Faith, born in India, and presently residing in Washington, D.C., where her husband is posted as Second Secretary in the Embassy of India, will be in Montreal from Monday, April 29th to Thursday, May 2nd.

Mrs. Munsiff has travelled extensively and given lecture tours in Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Italy, British East Africa, French West Africa, North Africa, Madagascar and India. Last summer she undertook a tour of the southern, western, and mid-western parts of the United States, covering 8,000 miles by road and addressed public meetings in over 55 cities. During her trip she visited many Indian reservations, and actually lived on an American Indian reservation studying their customs, culture and ways of life, the object being to understand the peoples of the United States and to promote international good will.

During her travels interviews on both radio and television, coupled with very favourable press reports in all areas visited, has resulted in a number of requests from the public to address different types of clubs and organizations. Mme. Munsiff has been invited to deliver public lectures to a large number of church groups, schools, universities, Rotary and Lion's clubs, women's clubs, cultural organizations and scientific societies in Washington, and other parts of the United States. Mme. Munsiff is fluent in a number of languages and lectures in English, French, Persian, and Hindustani. She believes in reaching her audience through their own language and does not confine herself to a prepared speech.

Mme. Munsiff organized the highly successful South East Asian Fashion Show, which presented the costumes of nine Asian countries for the first time in Washington, D.C. She also gave the running commentary for the show. She is Honorary Secretary of "Chetana" an organization of Indian women in Washington.

While in Montreal, Mme. Munsiff will be present at a reception in her honour on Monday, April 29th, 1548 Pine Ave. W., Montreal, and will be giving a public lecture on Wednesday, May 1st, 8:30 p.m. at Victoria Hall Westmount, this meeting being co-sponsored by the members of the Baha'i Faith in Verdun. Her topic will be "The Spiritual Atom".

Mme. Munsiff has also many engagements on both radio and television in Montreal.

South Sea Islands Fine But Pastor Likes It Here

By NOEL MOORE

People who have read the stories of Somerset Maugham, will have difficulty in recognizing James Davidson as a missionary just returned from a south sea island.

According to Maugham, all missionaries in that part of the world are tall, forbidding, severe fanatics with no sense of humour, who go around making life impossible for people like Ginger Dick and Sadie Thompson. We went along expecting to meet somebody like that last Monday, and when we arrived at 1211 Clemenceau st., Crawford Park, where James Davidson lives with his parents, we were surprised to find a pleasant, cheerful young man in a brilliant Aloha shirt, who looked like one of Maugham's more colourful characters.

James has just returned from a couple of years as a missionary of the Church of Jesus Christ and the Latter Day Saints, or as they are more commonly known, Mormons. He was sent to Tahiti over two years ago, by the Elders of his Church in Salt Lake City.

After a few days in Tahiti, where the headquarters of the Pacific mission is located, he was sent to a small remote island named Tahaa, and to get there he travelled on an inter-island trading schooner to Utoroa and thence in an outrigger canoe to Tahaa.

When he first arrived he was the only white man on the island, but he was joined later by another young missionary. He boarded with a local farmer who had a family of ten children.

PIGS AND FISH

"They are a happy easy-going people" said Mr. Davidson, "Life is easy there, they grow breadfruit and sweet potatoes, they keep plenty of pigs and chickens, and the sea around them abounds with fish".

Talking to Mr. Davidson it was easy to picture the idyllic existence on that South seas paradise, the friendly smiling people, the glorious tropical sunsets, the lovely lagoon and all the other scenes made familiar by cinema and story book. But we were soon disillusioned as Mr. Davidson went on to explain, "of course you had all those things, but you also had other things you never hear about in those glowing reports. Centipedes six inches long, poisonous scorpions and spiders, and the people have very elementary ideas about hygiene".

During his stay on Tahaa there was an outbreak of typhoid and Mr. Davidson and his companion ferried the sick people across the lagoon to Utoroa. South sea islands can be very lonely places also, and until he learned the language and got to know the people it was very dull once the novelty had worn off.

Using powdered coral for cement, he and his companion soon had a Church under construction, and to aid them the Mission sent a pick-up truck. The truck caused a great sensation, as it was the first ever seen by the islanders, and crowds of people used to climb aboard every time it moved. When the church was finished they set about developing their congregation which today numbers more than seventy people.

HULA DANCERS

The church had its own Hula-Hula dancing troupe, and a picture of the star performer is shown in an accompanying photograph. To be a missionary on a remote island like Tahaa one has to be a jack of all trades, and along with organizing his congregation, Mr. Davidson had to journey to many small atolls with his medicine chest to tend the sick. He was also expected to be an expert on outboard motors, and to sit in judgment on family disputes. Another of his duties was to explain the basic principles of economics to the carefree islanders and to help market copra, pearl shell and vanilla.

With his church on Tahaa well established, Mr. Davidson bade farewell to his friends there, and for the rest of his tour, journeyed to many other islands, assisting in missionary activity, until the time came for his return home. He is shortly going down to the U.S. to continue his studies in engineering.

EXTRA PAY FOR EXTRA QUALIFICATIONS?

By Kenneth Hill, M.Ed.
Westmount Junior High School

The present Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal salary scales recognize the value of a B.A. or B.Sc. degree as a reasonably reliable indication that a teacher is of superior ability and intelligence, and likely to be a more effective teacher or administrator than the teacher not so qualified. Thus far, and no further, is, however, the principle of our salary scales. Higher degrees pass unrecognized by the Protestant Board.

Every year school systems grow larger and more complex, requiring more and more men and women of superior ability and training to administer them. While there will always be exceptions, in general the men or women most likely to succeed in these positions are those who enter the teaching profession with a higher degree, or who acquire a higher degree while in the profession.

To secure the entry into the teaching profession of graduates with higher degrees, financial inducement must be offered. Studies based on present-day Montreal Protestant scales show that there is a serious financial penalty in spending five years in college before entering the teaching profession: delay in starting earning, delay in reaching pension age, and a reduction in the sick leave "bank of days" and retirement gratuity.

It can, of course, be argued first that promotion from the ranks to the administrative posts comes usually so long after graduation that training in administration and finance, educational philosophy, and so on is forgotten or out of date; and, second, that the average newly graduated B.A. or B.Sc., without professional experience, is in no position to profit by advanced educational training.

An alternative is "in-service" training, especially at summer school, after the teacher has acquired several years of professional experience. The average male teacher, however, usually acquires a wife and family along with the professional experience, and soon the prospect of attending summer school for four or more years becomes financially impossible without a generous grant, and financially unattractive if it leads to no guarantee of an increase in salary on completing the course.

It is sometimes argued that if an increased salary goes with a higher degree, teachers will flock to undertake post-graduate study. When, however, we consider the marital and financial situation of the average teacher, and the native ability and hard work required to qualify, it is difficult to take this prediction seriously.

Similar is the claim that, if an extra degree is rewarded, the extra salary will be claimed by many teachers with a higher degree remotely or not at all connected with their teaching job or with educational administration. In the first place, the number of such teachers must be quite small. Secondly, while it is possible to win a master's degree or a doctorate in fields unrelated to primary or secondary education, it is still impossible to obtain these qualifications without intelligence, initiative, persistence, and expenditure of time, energy and money. These qualities make superior men and women, whatever their line of interest; these expenses are an investment and should pay dividends.

It is recommended that a teacher holding a master's degree from a recognized university should receive $300 annually in addition to his basic salary and that a teacher holding a doctor's degree from a recognized university should receive $600 annually in addition to his basic salary.

The bride was in a gown of silk and lace, fashioned with a fitted lace bodice, having a small lace collar, and long sleeves, and a very full skirt ending in a cathedral train. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching headdress and she carried a bouquet of orchids.

Miss Lillian Ljungberg, as maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Paule Panet-Raymond, Miss Pat Hull, and Miss Prudence Reilly, as bridesmaids, were in bouffant frocks of blue silk shantung. They wore small matching hats and carried bouquets of multi-color sweetpeas.

Cotton Fashion Shows Enjoyed By Residents Of The West End

In April, the Canadian Association of Consumers (Quebec English Branch) arranged two very successful Cotton Fashion Shows, which were presented in Montreal by the Dominion Textile Company, to C.A.C. members and their friends. The first one was held in St. Laurent and the second in Westmount. Each of these colourful Cotton Shows featuring fashions for families and their homes, was most enthusiastically received by a capacity audience.

Miss Joan Blanchard, Home and Fashion Consultant of Dominion Textile Company, discussed the new Spring Fashions in cotton as they were modelled. These beautiful cottons featured subtly blended colours and surface finishes that belied their cotton fibres. All were washable and fashioned into beach sports-wear, suits, summer frocks, the sleep-wear and children's wear. There were romantic ball gowns and coat and dress costumes using yards and yards of fine fabric, but designed into fashions which retained a slender look. One outstanding costume was a street length Black Cotton coat with back fullness belted at the waistline. It was completely lined with a lipstick red printed cotton matching a cool, tailored dress underneath. It was the type of costume which would be a joy to add to almost any wardrobe.

Interspersed among these exciting fashions, Miss Blanchard demonstrated fashion in sheets of lovely new petal tones and candy stripes. Their use as coordinated spreads, dust ruffles and draperies was also illustrated. Think of the thrill of having your bedroom decor as washable as your bed linen!

Valuable information gleaned at these shows included the three counts of various qualities of "Tex-Made" sheets. The "Select" quality has 132 threads per square inch, giving maximum wear at minimum cost — a fine sturdy sheet, but slightly coarse in texture. The "Colonial" has 142 threads per square inch and the beautifully fine "combed Percale" has 184. This is information to watch for on labels. Another fact to remember is to launder flannelette sheets in lukewarm water for maximum softness.

Each of these Cotton Carnivals was closed with the fun of lucky number draws for several donations of sheets and pillow slips by the Dominion Textile Company.

Local Couples Slow Adoptions By Seeking 'Perfect' Child

Local couples who want to adopt children could shorten the agonizing waiting period by being less rigid in their notions of what constitutes the perfect child, according to Mrs. Muriel McCrea, director of the Children's Service Centre. The Centre, a Red Feather service, supervises adoptions for local Protestant families.

Right now, there is a six to eight months wait for a boy baby and longer for a girl — girls are still first choice with most couples. Older children and those with slight disabilities who are still deemed adoptable are available on shorter notice, again because many adopting families have a mental picture of a blue-eyed curly-haired infant prodigy.

"Adoption proceedings really begin when a couple comes in to apply for a child," Mrs. McCrea said. "We require that it be a joint application made in person." Other requirements stipulate that the mother be less than 43 and that the father have a good employment history with at least 20 years to go before retirement. These rules are interpreted more liberally if a couple is interested in an older child or willing to accept one with a slight handicap. Both parents must have investigated the medical reasons for their own sterility and the family cannot live more than a day's journey from the Children's Service Centre.

"The first interview is a group meeting with perhaps four or five couples," Mrs. McCrea said. "We try to explain fully just what is involved in adoption, legal angles and all the rest of it. The couples can ask questions and find out the whole procedure before deciding whether to go on with the plan."

Most decide to continue. In fact, the first question is usually "How long will we have to wait?", she said. Sometimes, however, the group interview brings hidden fears and reservations out into the open — excessive worry about heredity, for instance, or the fact that only one would-be parent is wholeheartedly in favor of adoption.

Private interviews follow between the Centre and the adopting parents. Five references must be produced, one from a clergyman, and, before children are released, the parents must agree to tell the child that he is adopted as soon as practical, certainly before his fifth birthday. The day when adoption was considered a shameful secret is long past and this rule, common among adoption agencies, has done much to bring about the change.

Despite the fact that adoption is a fairly long and complicated business, few families are daunted and many come back for more children, Mrs. McCrea said. One family with five adopted children is now waiting for a sixth. Four children are by no means uncommon. Asked about the phenomenon of pregnancy following hard upon adoption, Mrs. McCrea said that it happens often enough to be significant — probably somewhere between 10 and 25 per cent of the time in her experience. Nobody knows exactly why some women who have been unable to conceive become pregnant as soon as they adopt a baby and Mrs. McCrea suggests it would be an interesting field for medical research.

Story Of Leo Heaps Reads Like Fiction

By BLUMA APPEL

Adventurer — soldier of fortune — citizen of the world and the West End.

The dashing knight of yore is the very rare exception of today. Leo Heaps, one of these few, helps perpetuate the tales of brave deeds by men of great courage. A modest, deceptively gentle young man, Mr. Heaps is more likely to discuss art and theatre than bold feats of adventure.

Leo Heaps was born in Winnipeg. His father, A. A. Heaps, C.C.F. member of parliament, very early in life established a reputation for fearlessness and integrity. His son Leo has inherited much of his father's character. Also acquired from his father was a high standard of idealism — but an idealism tempered and conditioned by a strong sense of practicality.

At the outbreak of hostilities in 1939 Leo Heaps was still an undergraduate at Queen's University. Immediately after graduation he joined the Armored Corps and was sent overseas where he was wounded. After his recovery he volunteered for the Airborne Troops and was amongst the defenders of Arnheim. Here he was captured by the Germans — but not for long. He escaped, made his way back to British lines and joined the British Intelligence working with the Netherlands Underground. At the end of the war he received the Military Cross. And in 1947 he won the Governor General's Non-Fiction award for the remarkably vivid book he wrote "Escape from Arnheim."

And so for a time Leo Heaps' interests turned to a world settling itself into peacetime living. He entered the University of California and graduated from the School of Cinematography. He then returned to Ottawa with an idea. His father, who had contributed to the Winnipeg Art Gallery one of the largest and best collections of Canadian artists, had helped develop an artistic sense of taste and discrimination in the son. So with this background of knowledge and an instinct for recognizing good painting his idea became a reality. He established "The Gallery", the only all-Canadian art gallery in Ottawa. His hope was to promote Canadian art. With the co-operation of the artists and the National Art Gallery, he was able to line the walls of the little gallery with the finest examples of Canadian art.

A year passed — a youthful restlessness set in. He longed to see Europe again.

"I feel it is a mistake to settle down while still very young. This is a vital changing world we live in today and if we hope to contribute anything we must know and understand it better," says Leo Heaps.

"The Gallery" was handed over to a group of friends and off he went to England. Mr.

Heaps was taking courses at the London School of Economics when the Israeli War of Independence started. After listening to a very moving speech in Hyde Park he volunteered — and suddenly found himself boarding an illegal plane for Haifa. His exploits, which were recounted in the newspapers, were spectacular and legion.

At this point a stabilizing influence enters the life of young Leo Heaps. He met Tamar — a lovely young quartermaster-sergeant — and within two weeks he married her. After being honorably discharged he brought his bride back to Canada. Vancouver was their destination — but funds ran out in Montreal. So here they stayed. Mr. Heaps settled down to earn his living and raise a family of three children.

His concern in world developments never lagged. Nor did his interest in the arts diminish. He is chairman of the board of trustee of Mountain Playhouse. He has written several plays, some of which have been produced by the CBC and one is to be presented at the Mountain Playhouse.

Last November the Hungarian Revolution was announced to a shocked world. For Leo Heaps this was the signal to move. He left for Austria immediately. There as a member of the International Rescue Committee which worked in co-operation with the Knights of Malta he helped establish a vehicle rescue service. This helped bring Hungarians from across the border to receiving centres in Austria. While there he also arranged broadcasts for the CBC and wrote articles for a local daily.

Hon. G. C. Marler Guest Speaker

The Honourable George C. Marler, Federal Minister of Transport, will be the guest speaker at the opening event of the Combined Appeal for the Blind next week.

The Member of Parliament for St. Antoine-Westmount will talk in French and English at a reception to be held Tuesday afternoon, April 30th, at the Ritz Carlton Hotel.

The reception will launch the 1957 campaign for $210,000 and this year six associations have joined in one appeal to aid and rehabilitate the blind of Montreal. The drive will continue until May 11th.

James C. Bonar, general campaign chairman, will preside at the meeting and will speak on the work being done by the six organizations in aiding the blind of Montreal. In addition, Mrs. E. G. Patterson, general chairman of the women's division, will address the gathering.

This year the six organizations that have joined in the Combined Appeal for the Blind are: The Canadian National Institute for the Blind; The Montreal Association for the Blind; L'Association Canadienne-Française des Aveugles, Inc.; The Canadian Federation of the Blind; The St. Lawrence Club of the Blind; and Le Conseil Local de l'Association Canadienne-Française des Aveugles.

Household Brigade Is Seeking Members

The Household Brigade Association of North America is seeking new members.

The Association was formed several years ago by a group of ex-guardsmen who happened to meet in New York, and decided to form a branch of the parent body to include members from the United States and Canada.

It offers an opportunity for men who have served in any of the five regiments of foot guards, or the two regiments of horse guards, to meet old comrades, and to keep in touch.

The Association is also an organization to which men can turn, when they require advice or help of any kind.

Her Majesty The Queen, is the nominal head of the Association, as she is the Colonel in Chief of all the Guards regiments.

Last year the Montreal branch had their first inaugural dinner in the sergeants mess of the Canadian Grenadier Guards.

Lt. Colonel Phelan, Commanding Officer of the Canadian Grenadiers attended, and the G.O.C. Quebec Command was represented.

When the Toronto branch of the Association was established over 90 ex Guardsmen attended, and a spokesman of the Montreal branch feels that this City could produce as many.

Any ex-Guardsmen who are interested in joining the association can get in touch by phoning Mr. Anthony Hay, GL. 4693.

Club evenings are held once a month, in the Canadian Grenadiers sergeants mess, and by all reports they are enjoyed by the many who have already joined.

Rev. J. Christie On Catholic Hour

Reverend Joseph Christie, S. J. of London, England, will be the guest speaker on The Catholic Hour this Sunday over Station CJAD at 2.05 o'clock. Father Christie is a well-known radio speaker and journalist and, at the present time, is guest lecturer at Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. His subject will be "The Mystical Body".

Westenders Sought Snow For Skiing Last Weekend At Mount Washington

By SHIRLEY AYER

As spring traveled to the West End for Easter, many Montrealers were seeking sunshine in clouds over Mt. Washington, New Hampshire. The three-day weekend gave West End residents time to travel to the States for hiking and a few ski runs down Tuckerman Ravine.

"Just like a practise slope at Saint Sauveur," remarked one west end Montrealer as he attempted to climb through hundreds of people near the lunch rocks on the ravine bowl. Out of thousands of skiers and sightseers on Mt. Washington, at least half were from Quebec. Canadians who made the 200 mile journey were rewarded by a warm, sunny weekend except for clouds over the mountain Easter Sunday. Many people wore shorts. A canoe was perched on top one car parked at the foot of Mt. Washington where most car tops carried ski racks.

"I climbed Mt. Gabriel the last few times I skied in March in preparation for my week at Tuckerman Ravine," another west end resident said. He was discussing the two-mile climb up Mt. Washington skiers make before reaching the bottom of their ski area. Enthusiastic photographers and skiers have another long climb up to the ravine headwall before they snap thrilling sights or take their first run down. Although there is an auto road running to the top of the mountain, it usually is not open during the ski season, which can be as late as July.

REFRESHING

Skiers start their daily hike, daily if they haven't camped out on the mountain overnight, at 8 or 9 a.m. They arrive anywhere from an hour or two later at a shelter area fondly known as "Howard Johnson's" where they drink gallons of fruit juice and spring water. The refreshment stand stock in over $600 Saturday on juice and hot dogs.

Many Canadians spent Friday and Saturday on the sun deck of the shelter acquiring a good tan. Other hoisted their skis on their backs and climbed the steep and narrow Hillman's Highway trail or the wide and in some parts vertical Tuckerman Ravine headwall. The head-wall is so steep that skiers sometimes have their knees touching the snow, and usually find it less frightening to look down than up where the "lip" of the ravine seems to reach out over climbers. Snow depth in the bowl-like floor of the ravine reaches 20 to 30 feet natives say.

In addition to the thrill of skiing Mt. Washington, Montrealers found excitement in other forms at Tuckerman Ravine. On Saturday an American jet saluted tourists by flying a few hundred feet above the peak between Hillman's and the ravine headwall and then somersaulting over the summit. On Easter tourists watched Mt. Washington make its own weather as it remained covered with clouds all day while the valleys below were sunny and clear. A driving rain storm developed on the mountain late in the afternoon.

PET CORNER

PULMONARY PROBLEMS OF PETS

A reader in Ville LaSalle has written to enquire about the incidence of pulmonary ailments in canaries. She says that her canary makes a peculiar wheezing sound and from her description there appears to be no doubt that her pet is suffering from asthma. This is usually caused by a chill and is aggravated by bad digestion.

As in man, it attacks the bird periodically, and must be taken in hand at once or it may prove fatal. Keep your canary in a warm dry place and cover the cage on damp chilly days. Feed him pure canary seed and about a teaspoon of egg paste every day.

Mix in about as much red pepper as will fit on a dime. A dose of liquid tonic should also be given. This should be mixed in the drinking water which should be warm. If the wheezing is severe make an infusion of flaxseed by soaking a teaspoonful of unground flaxseed in a cup full of boiling water. Allow it to stand for several hours, then pour the water into the drinking vessel.

Bronchitis is another affliction to which the canaries are allergic. It is usually the result of a neglected cold, and is attended by feverishness and a sort of dry cough. To treat this disease give the bird flax seed tea as afore mentioned and keep the bird warm and free from draughts.

Wendy, Rielle Ave: The claws should be given attention because if not they will grow to abnormal length and prevent Dick from perching comfortably. Trim with a small finger nail clipper, but take care to hold the claw up to the light so you can see where the little red vein stops. Cut beyond the end to ensure it doesn't bleed, if it does put a bit of dettol on the wound.

See Sprinkle Of Rookies But Mainstays Are Vets

By GEO. E. JONES
(Sports Editor)

NINE days before the Snowdon Major Fastball League goes into action, which has been set for Sunday, May 5 at Trenholme with F.B.I. and Steinberg's, the two league finalists of last fall teeing off the long schedule.

Of course Old Man Weather will have the last say on these games, but for the opening week, fastball fans will get their money's work. After that they will be able to go out on the limb and pick the final standing.

All clubs have been working out, four of them working out indoors for several weeks, while the Combines and Verdun started last week-end outdoors.

For the early part of the schedule, two games are slated for Trenholme Park on Sunday afternoon and evening.

A night game on Monday, with a game in Verdun on Tuesday. Wednesday the picture changes to Westbury Park with one game and on Thursday one game will be played at Verdun and one at Trenholme Park. No games will be staged on Fridays or Saturdays.

As the days get longer, the starting times will change for night games, with Sunday afternoon games being washed out and only night games will be staged.

The rough draft of the schedule was released to the teams to be accepted with changes or as is.

SOME ROOKIES

Camps show that there will be a sprinkle of rookies but on the most part it will be veterans that will supply most of the power.

It is not going out on a limb to say that FBI and Steinberg's will be one of the top teams while the other four clubs will battle for the remaining two playoff positions.

Combines, Verdun, Pepsi and Dow seem to be going along with local talent, but in most cases, you can't call some of the players with FBI or Steinberg's newcomers or imports. They have been with the league for many years and are considered locals.

FBI pitching remains strong at this point with Gibby Wesolowski and Ace Holden. Steinberg's are loaded with pitching talent. They have dependable Perc McCracken and he is joined by his brother Homer and of course fans can't forget Booker Thomas. This threesome will be hard to beat.

Dow have Gil Legare who has done a good job for the Brewery in past years. They have a newcomer, Andy Anderson, who is a member of the RCMP. He hails from Windsor.

Pat Patterson says he is seeking a couple of hustling outfielders. Huey Hall will not be back but Larry Grant is a

Opening Games For 1st Week

HERE are the opening week of games in the Snowdon Fastball League following a meeting on Tuesday night when the schedule was given his final okay.

Sunday, May 5, FBI at Steinberg's, 2:00; Pepsi Cola at Snowdon Combines, 7.45 Trenholme Park.

Monday, May 6, Verdun Sportsmen at Dow Brewery, Trenholme Park, 7.45.

Tuesday, May 7, Combines at Verdun, Willibrord Park, Verdun, 7.45.

Wednesday, May 8, Dow at Pepsi, Trenholme Park, 7.45.

Thursday, May 9, Combines at FBI, Trenholme Park 7.45; Steinberg's at Dow, Verdun Willibrord Park, 7.45.

probable starter. Otherwise Master Patterson will be seeking a pitcher as well. He may be reached at RE 3-3053.

TALKING TRADES

Moving down to Verdun with the Sportsmen, they have Paul Saindon and of course there's Gil Dupuis who is doubtful due to that agreement he signed with a Montreal East End club. But Verdun have tall and lanky Albert Ryan and Billy Russell.

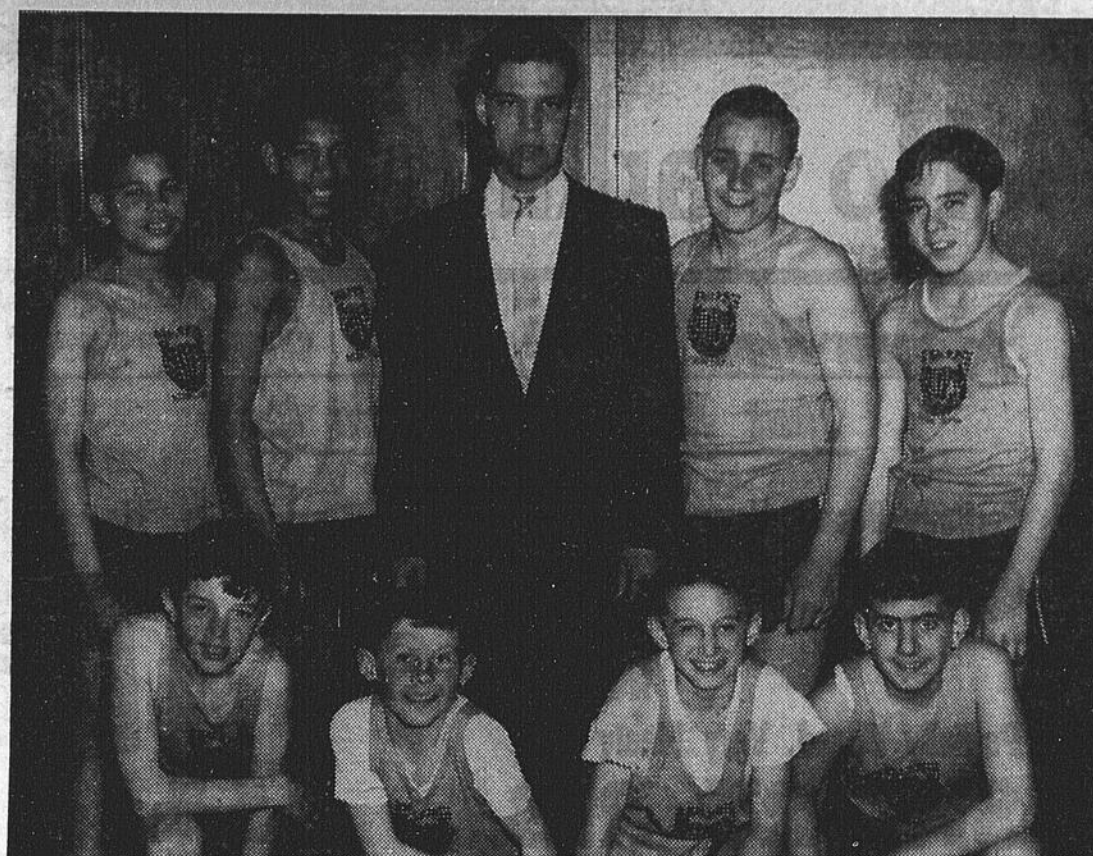

Then there's Pepsi Cola who have Willie Graham but are interested in Dupuis and are willing, if they can work him away from the Montreal team, to talk a deal with Verdun.

The find of the year is Andy Pratt, who played a lot of baseball and will be seen with Pepsi at short stop.

There are trade talks and before May 5th opener the fan may need a program. From all points it seems like Snowdon will have a good year.

Six teams, expansion into Verdun, a good fastball city but they also need good weather, at least a little better than last season.

Jack Adams of Detroit has managed all seven Detroit Stanley Cup champions. He also coached the 1936 and 1937 winners.

Chas. Paul Big GTBC Winner

Chas Paul captured the 53rd running of the Provincial Trap-shooting Championships at Grand Trunk Riverside Gun Club, when he won the single with a 49 out of 50 targets then teamed up with L. O. Gagnon to win the doubles, 46 out of 50.

To top this Paul was the big winner taking the high gun of 100 targets with 89 and the long run with 34.

Paul was one of the five man team from Montreal Anglers and Hunters Association who captured this event with 105 out of 125 targets. Paul had the team's highest, 23 out of 25.

The Montreal Anglers team of five men also won the Lord Lansdowne Cup with a 110 total out of 125 targets.

Paul added to his day's winnings the Strapeat title with a score of 20. His partner L. O. Gagnon shot 18.

L. H. T. Cleeg with 23 won the first event; R. Laughlin, second event with 24; P. Lemlin, third event with 24 and H. Garland fourth event with a perfect target of 25.

Skeet Shoot Here May 3-5

Between 500 and 600 competitors from Canada and United States are expected to participate in the second Canadian and eighth Quebec skeet shooting championships here May 3-5.

The combined events will be held on the grounds of the Montreal Skeet Club, Ville St. Laurent, for the second year in a row.

One of the most famous entrants is world skeet champion Chet Crites of Detroit. The Michigan shooter captured the world title at Caracas, Venezuela in 1954 and is one of the prime favorites to cop open honors on this year's agenda.

Other US sharpshooters vying for the open crown are Jim Coyne of Glenview, Ill., and George and Ed Docherty of Holyoke, Mass.

Top Canadian threat in the open is Ottawa's Barney Hartman, who bowed to Ben Di Iorio of Utica, N.Y., last year after a shoot-off. Hartman is also favored to retain the Canadian closed championship.

Montrealers dominate the list of title holders, with Nort honors. Women titlists include Francis, Hugh Garland, Les Mrs. Lois O'Brien, Mrs. Josette Clegg, Reid Johnston, and Bill Johnston, and Mrs. Mary Francis. White owning various division cis.
