THE NEW FIRE TRUCK AND EQUIPMENT HAS ARRIVED

Here is the beautiful new Fire Truck that is now standard equipment of the Huntingdon Fire Dept. and ready to cope with any or all fires that may occur. On the side seen above will be noticed the controls for regulating the amount of water and force going through the hose. On this side two lines of hose can be run. On the rack at the side can be seen the two lengths of suction hose used to draw water from a river or other accessible water supply. Water can also be taken from the hydrants and the pump used to give more pressure. On the rack above the truck is the metal extension ladder.

Dr. M. R. Stalker Addresses Huntingdon Rotary Club

Outlines Rural Medicine and Life of the General Practitioner

The members of the Huntingdon Rotary Club were favored by a very interesting address given by Dr. M. R. Stalker, of Ormstown, at their luncheon meeting on Monday. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Gilbert McMillan and thanked by Mr. L. Levine. Dr. Stalker's address follows and it will be found that it carries much of interest to the professional and the layman alike.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: When I received the invitation to speak to you I felt that if you so wished, that it was my duty to endeavor to respond, chiefly because of the great interest that the local Rotary Club has shown in the General Medical service of our citizens.

In choosing the subject of Rural Medicine and the General Practitioner, I would like you to know that it is altogether in the general Canadian sense that I wish to speak, and not in respect to the District of Beauharnois except as we are part of the whole Canadian picture.

I would like to say however, that it has been my privilege to visit various parts of Canada from Coast to Coast and also to have visited parts of the United States and Britain and always my chief interest has been to examine with a critical eye the type of rural medical service in these localities.

I wonder if you, and the lay population are really aware of how serious the problem of rural medical care has become. Are you aware of the fact that we as rural citizens are being rapidly depleted in quantity and in quality. I wish that you might endeavour to visualize the situation if all of our rural areas were without medical service and had to depend entirely upon the cities for medical attention.

Huntingdon's New Fire Truck Arrived the Past Week

Demonstrations Have Been Held—Government Inspector Made Test on Tuesday

A number of people were aroused on Thursday night when the siren sounded at the Fire Hall and the fire truck was heard and seen going around town. However, there was no fire, it was the arrival of the handsome new fire truck which had just been delivered and the officials were anxious to announce its arrival.

On Friday afternoon a demonstration was given as an aid to the fire fighters to become acquainted with the new equipment while the engineers from the Thibault Company were here. Fire Chief Vallee and all the firemen were out and the truck was taken to several different spots to enable all to become familiar with the workings of the machine. A demonstration took place along the Atholston Road opposite the home of Mr. C. Boyce.

one that has been in use. Before the actual water is pumped through the hose, the air in the pump is forced out and then the water is turned on to the hose. The actual amount of pressure or force is regulated by handles on the pump and a great pressure can be obtained. All the fittings are of chrome and the body of the truck is finished in the traditional red of the fire dept. with gold lettering and trim. The body is mounted on an International truck chassis of about the three or five ton type and carries all the equipment necessary for any fire. Two lengths of suction hose are attached to one side, while on the other side are two roof ladders made of wood. On the racks over the truck are two metal ladders of the extension type, one a 35 foot and the other a fifty foot. Space through the centre and on the sides and back provide a place for the firemen to ride. At the back of the seat is a tank which carries 80 gallons of water. It is regulated by handles and not much water is needed, thus

Fire Equipment Not To Be Sent Beyond Town Limits

No More Water or Sewer Connections For Property Owners Outside of Town

A long and lively session of the Huntingdon Town Council was held at the County Building, on Monday evening when the regular monthly meeting of that body was held. All members were present and Mayor A. C. H. Picard presided. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Mr. O. Bonville appeared before the Council to ask for a street light on Cemetery St., and two requests were made for sidewalks and improvement of West Street.

A complaint was read from Mr. Levine to the effect that cars were being parked down the centre of Chateauguay Street by the Bank of Commerce and preventing trucks from entering the driveway to Mr. Levine's Feed Store. The Council promised to check on the matter and have a passage left.

John Riel and Son Reg'd. were given the contract to pick up the garbage in town, to be in force for one year. Huntingdon Realties asked the Town for fire protection of their property on the Barracks site, through Mr. F. Langevin. The council promised that the water would be turned on subject to a resolution passed a few months ago.

Two milk routes were read as follows: March 2nd—Elmhurst Dairies, 56.00 cc; Pringle Bros., 490.00 cc. R. Goodfellow, 4.900 cc. March 16th—Elmhurst Dairies, 30.000 cc; J. Galipeau, 30.000 cc; Pringle Bros., 220.000 cc; R. Goodfellow, 8.000. In view of the high bacteria of some of the milk Alderman Collum asked what was done to have this checked as it seemed that a check should be made. It was decided that the health Dept. should be notified to have a check made.

The Huntingdon Branch Canadian Legion made a request to hold a street dance as usual on July 1st. The request was granted.

The contract for taking over the water mains, water meters and sewers at the barracks by the town was read and approved and signed

Purse Snatching Incident

Much has been said about the purse snatching incident that took place in town recently. For the benefit of the general public it can be said that the incident is being thoroughly investigated and good leads as to the culprit or culprits are in the hands of Chief Vallee and are being followed up by him. While no arrests have been made as yet, it is hoped that this will be the case very soon.

Publishers Guests of Molson's

Historic Brewery Viewed Following Publishers "Pow-wow"

With no ultimate significance in evidence, a group of weekly newspaper publishers of Quebec Province met in Montreal, and were guests of Molson's Brewery for lunch given in the Brewery on Monday. Col. Stewart Molson and Mr. C. L. Smart were hosts. The newspaper men talked of matters concerning their respective publications and ideas for the improvement of same to the mutual welfare of the readers, advertisers and publishers.

Colonel Molson informed the publishers that if they wished to visit the brewery he would have a guide accompany them, but if they did not so desire to make such a trip well and good.

In this old Brewery whose founding dates back to 1786 are a great many interesting things. For instance in the reception room where the publishers met, a beautiful room quite becoming to such a venerable institution. About the historic walls of the room were to be found a great number of maps of Montreal, showing what Montreal consisted of at various times in its history. Paintings appropriate to such a historic room adorned the walls and also a circular that advertised the boat freight rates in the early days of the corporation; and such was set out in pounds, shillings and pence.

It was my first visit to a brewery so I accepted the opportunity to view it. It is difficult to write very much about such a large institution after seeing it for less than an hour, but one could not help but be impressed with the cleanliness that prevailed in every nook and corner of the rambling plant. The kettles, or tanks, as they referred to them were all mammoth copper or wood reservoirs, all connected together by pipes in which the brew in its various stages, is pumped from one reservoir to another. Never did one see the amber liquid from start to finish except when being automatically poured into bottles and capped.

The tremendous amount of brass was glittering wherever one looked. After viewing the process of beer brewing we were shown the machine shop and power plant, and like the rest of the Brewery these rooms were large and every machine given the utmost care.

In the bottling division the bottles were only handled twice, once when being deposited in the mammoth washing machines where they were scrubbed and pasteurized and then automatically filled with beer and finally handled once again when being deposited in the cases. The damaged bottles were of course destroyed. The labeling of the bottles was mechanically done and this was the last thing done before being shipped.

It was rather interesting to learn that a keg of beer that sells for $22.25, 70.4% is eaten up in taxes and the brewer receives $6.32.

At the present time the Molson Brewery is building a new plant for the bottling of beer and when such is completed we were informed it would be the very latest thing for such a purpose.

History of Ness Family Broadcast Over Radio

The usual Farm Forum hour on the Radio on Monday evening was given over to the dramatizing of the Ness Family of "Burnside Farm", Howick, Que., and such was a much more appreciated radio programme than is often heard.

HON. R. R. NESS, M.L.C., M.B.E.

The Ness Family means a great deal more to Canada than perhaps many people ever give such a thought consideration, and like many others we are indeed very pleased to offer our congratulations to the Hon. R. R. Ness, M.L.C., M.B.E., Mrs. Ness, and their distinguished, hard-working sons, J. E. Ness, Terrace Bank Farm, R. Bruce Ness, "Burnside Farm", Douglas A. Ness and Mitchell Ness who operate "Woodside Farm" and the renowned "Burnside Farm".

The Hon. Mr. Ness, now 70 years of age has been much more than a Chateauguay Valley farmer specializing in Ayrshire cattle, Clydesdale horses, etc. He has been a leader in everything that has been for the betterment of Canada and for the farmer in particular. His advice on a great many subjects of importance to Canadian matters as they might affect the farmer has repeatedly been requested by officials in high office.

In the broadcast it is quite evident the Hon. Mr. Ness supplied much of the data necessary and typical of the man he gave most of the credit for success of "Burnside" to his esteemed wife and sons, all of whom undoubtedly richly deserve much credit, but we still feel Robert Ness was the man with the great foresight and this we also believe is the expression that would be proclaimed by Mrs. Ness and the sons.

Naturally the half hour broadcast could not say all that might be said about "Burnside" or the Ness family, but in part it made the following comments:

Robert Ness, Sr., father of the Hon. R. R. Ness, came to Howick, Que., in 1876. When R. R. Ness was 16 years of age his father took him to Scotland to see his birthplace and the livestock that was to play such an important part in the life role of the son. When seeing the Ayrshires in Scotland he proclaimed the Ayrshire as the cow for him and in 1891 when a fair was held in Ormstown, first exhibited Ayrshires.

Robert Robertson then owned "Burnside Farm" and the Ness family lived on the adjacent farm known as "Woodside". Robert Jr. was employed by Mr. Robertson as his farm hand at $200 a year with the understanding that he would receive a portion of the Burnside profits. Mr. Robertson was then able to give more time to experimental farm work. In three years' time R. R. Ness had saved $600 and with this money and some financial support from a cousin and a $4,000 mortgage he purchased Burnside Farm and at the same time arranged to get married to his esteemed wife.

1893 saw Ness exhibit cattle at Chicago Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness had many obstacles in life to overcome. They met the adversities and have won the fight and scored the enviable reputation "Burnside" maintains to this day. Disease hit the horses and at a later date his cattle. He exhibited at the Pan-American Exhibition in 1901 and by 1907 he could see he was on his way to success as a showman and breeder of superior Ayrshire cattle. Four silver cups were offered at the Seattle Exhibition and Ness entries won all four trophies. The entry fees represented $1,400, all of which was more than made up in prize money and more, for here it was the name Ness stood out so highly in the realm of Ayrshires.

Shortly after this great showing at Seattle, three men appeared at Burnside dressed in truck clothes and Mrs. Ness called her husband, stating she felt the men were either Japs or Chinese. Mr. Ness met the men and they informed him they represented the Japanese Government and that they had followed him exhibiting the cattle at Seattle and were interested in buying some of his cattle for export to Japan. They stated that they were prepared to pay good prices for Ayrshires and that if a cow was worth $400 they would want him to bill the animal at $200, retaining $200 for himself and they in turn would get $75 for each animal so purchased. Mr. Ness promptly told them he did not do business that way for such was dishonest. The men then went to the barn and as a result purchased Ayrshires to the extent of the cattle being duly shipped to Japan. Burnside has shipped cattle to New Zealand, South America and to a great many states in the U.S.A.

To visit Burnside one cannot help but be impressed with the scores of silver trophies, ribbons, medals and what not else that have been awarded Burnside for the exhibiting of Ayrshire cattle and Clydesdale horses at exhibitions throughout Canada and at premier shows of the United States.

DOUGLAS NESS

MITCHELL NESS

Douglas Ness, the present manager of Burnside, when 14 years of age exhibited for the first time at Ormstown show, and that was in 1918. In 1919 he was entrusted with the Burnside entry to be exhibited at Columbus, Ohio, exhibition and at that time the 'flu epidemic was at its height.

Mrs. Ness was naturally greatly worried over the young son during this trying time but in due time he returned home in high glee for their herd had again distinguished itself.

1920 was a year of great worry to the Ness Family. Their Ayrshire herd, which included many important animals from Scotland, was undergoing a T.B. test and of the 175 animals in the herd 67 went down as being positive and this Mr. Ness and his son Douglas valued at $65,000, and twenty years of hard work developing the herd. Mrs. Ness gave the moral support necessary in that they had four sons and you, Robert have a good reputation. "Blossom" saved the day, said Mr. Ness. Blossom was bred to Burnside Sir Andrew and from her came the famous Ayrshire "Burnside Blossom Andrietta". As a calf she won the honors at Ormstown Exhibition in 1920 and so on whenever exhibited, winning in her lifetime 42 grand championships, a record never equalled.

Burnside Farm has always been well farmed and whilst the early years of Mr. Ness tended it in that direction and warranted it winning the silver and gold medals for its excellence, it is being maintained as a great farm under the supervision of the youngest son, Mitchell Ness. To many people it is not so much seen but his brother Douglas proclaims him to be the farmer who knows land and how to get production and administer the farm in a highly commendable way. Mr. and Mrs. Ness and their four sons and their wives have untiringly accomplished much for the welfare of Canada and richly deserve any honors that have come their way.

Mr. Ness offered a bit of sage advice, according to the broadcast that he urged young farmers "to work hard and marry young."

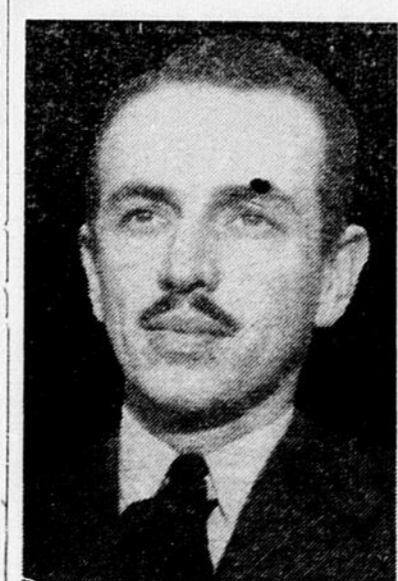

School Honor Roll Unveiling May 23rd

The Honor Roll Plaque at Huntingdon High School has been installed and will be unveiled on Sunday, May 23rd, according to announcement made by the committee in charge of the arrangements. The committee is now working on a suitable programme and when details of this have been worked out, the particulars will be published in these columns.

It is felt that this date is the most suitable to the general public as it will enable those from the distance to attend and it is expected that there will be many former students and interested out-of-town parties who will want to be present. The Plaque is a beautiful piece of work in solid bronze and is a very fitting tribute to those from Huntingdon High School who went forth to serve their country.

Dr. Geo. C. Fisher Appointed District Scoutmaster

Greater Interest Being Shown in Scouting Movement Throughout Area

Scouting is due for a bit of forward advancement throughout the District of Beauharnois. In recent years Scouting has actually been at a low ebb, due largely to the lack of leadership. Mr. Richard Corkran, Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Ormstown, was made District Commissioner last year and now we are pleased to announce that Dr. George C. Fisher, Ormstown, has been appointed the District Scout Master.

Dr. Fisher is a native of Sackville, N.B., and son of F. A. Fisher, President of Enterprise Stove Foundry Co. Ltd. He attended Mount Allison University before entering Ontario Veterinary College, graduating from the University of Toronto in 1943 with the degree D.V.M., V.S.

He spent three years in the R.C.N.V.R. with the rank of Lieutenant. Spent a year with UNRRA transporting horses from U.S.A. to Greece, Poland and Czechoslovakia. He is the course of this of his life he assisted in the transporting of over 5,000 across the Atlantic.

Dr. Fisher is no novice in Scouting for in 1928 he joined the Scouts in Sackville, N.B., working his way up to become a King Scout, then Bushman's Thong, being one of the first to obtain this honor in the history of Scouting in New Brunswick. He was also one of the 16 Canadian Scouts attending the 5th International Boy Scout Jamboree in Holland in 1937.

Dr. Fisher also managed a Scout troop in Sackville for three years and was active in Scouting in Howick and Guelph before locating in Ormstown. With Dr. Fisher now being named District Scout Master for this area, we quite believe the choice has been wisely made and that with his Scouting background, such will go a long way toward stimulating Boy Scout work in this community.

NEW FIRE TRUCK GIVEN THOROUGH TESTING BY GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR

On Tuesday afternoon the new fire truck of the Huntingdon Fire Dept. was given a thorough going over by the Government Inspector, Mr. Ed. Goudette from the Provincial Fire Commissioner's Office. The Quebec Government has a fifty per cent interest in the equipment and thus must be satisfied that the equipment will meet the standards set for such. The truck was taken to the dam in town and in the above picture it is shown being given the test. The suction hose is attached and drawing water from the river while in front of the truck will be seen two hose tied together and spraying the water far across the river. These are seen Mr. Ed. Goudette, Fire Chief Vallee and Mr. Joe Fougard, agent for the Pierre Thibault Company, in that order. The two hose are tied to the post and the water is being pumped through. The test lasted for three continuous hours and all the different operations were gone through and studied. Mr. Goudette expressed his satisfaction at the performance and was well pleased. Several of the Aldermen were present at various times to witness the test.

Church Marks 100th Year of Service

ONE hundred years is a long time, but in church or religious life this is not so long, for religion is nearly 2,000 years old, as we know today.

But 100 years in the life of man is a long time, only a few live that long. But material things do last that length of time and longer.

It is particularly fitting at this time that congregations wherever they be, consider the lifetime of their church and how it first began.

Modern Machinery Best

BRITISH industrialist, Lord Barnby, who recently inspected textile plants in this country remarked that wool knitting machinery in England, now idle because of a shortage of labour, could be brought to Canada and put into operation.

Much of Britain's textile machinery is old, so old in fact that it is causing considerable concern among those who are planning that country's industrial recovery.

Installation is another stumbling block in the way of the Barnby plan. Machinery must have floor space, and in many mills this would require additional construction.

Canadian textile workers are among the highest paid workers in the world in this industry. To offset this cost factor Canadian mills tend to buy the most modern machines available.

For these reasons it is probably better that the Canadian industry continue to build and modernize along lines well adapted to the character of the country, rather than embark on a policy of expediency in order to relieve some transitory shortages.

Exploiting a Scarce Commodity

MUCH these days is being said on the question of Butter and Margarine and housewives are searching daily each of the stores in a quest for the scarce commodity, butter.

It was no wonder then when announcement was made last week that jewelry stores and drug stores in Montreal were offering butter as a premium on the purchase of so much worth of goods, that housewives were up in arms.

The Dairy interests should be vitally interested in this premium offer as it works against their demand that butter should be protected to safeguard their welfare.

bait to make other purchases, then the dairy farmer, the wholesaler and the retailer should be in possession of the facts as to how this is being done. It is their duty to seek inquiry into the matter to further safeguard their interests and to further arguments as to the ban on margarine.

The time is now that the big debate on the margarine question is coming before the Members of Parliament, the public is already incensed at the shortage of butter and now the announcement that jewellers and druggists are giving butter away as a premium.

In speaking with a city dweller, who was acquainted with the premium offer that was made, he was up in arms against the ban on margarine. He believed that it should be allowed to be made or imported into the country so that people could at least obtain something in the way of a spread.

There are hundreds of opinions on the subject and many have appeared in the press of late. Had the supply kept up and people could have obtained butter steadily as they wanted it, it is likely that the outcry for margarine would never have been raised.

How Much Social Security?

TWO years ago the Dominion Government was engaged in selling the nation a great programme of social security, to include universal health insurance and a lot of other very attractive ideas.

In the end, the Dominion Government's proposals were accepted by the other seven Provinces, but the great social security programme was dropped—at least for the time being.

Now, Hon. Brooke Claxton says that the greatest support of Communist ideas comes from those who promise an impossible degree of social security, since this leads to failure to deliver and that to discontent.

Does this mean that the Dominion Government now feels that its great promises were a mistake, and that social security expenditures, including the Baby Bonus, are already large enough, or too large?

The Socialist Government in Saskatchewan seems to have undergone a similar attack of caution. They promised universal free hospital care, in return for a tax of $5 per head per annum.

Does it all mean that the bright promises of two years ago were just a mirage? How much social security are the politicians now promising? Will they be able to keep their promises? What about coming clean, and telling the public frankly whether the great promises still stand? And, if so, why the present hedging?

Can it be that the promises were too big? It seems likely.

Marshall Plan Ready For Action

SINCE it became so obvious that Russia was determined to force her Communism upon all nations who would accept it and offer no resistance, speed has become a factor in rushing aid to those countries who are still outside the realm of Russian control.

France, Italy and Austria seem to be the key countries and the most in need at the moment, because they are potential to the influx of Communist ideas. If the Communists succeed in gaining control in Italy, then it is considered they will turn to assuming control in France and Austria.

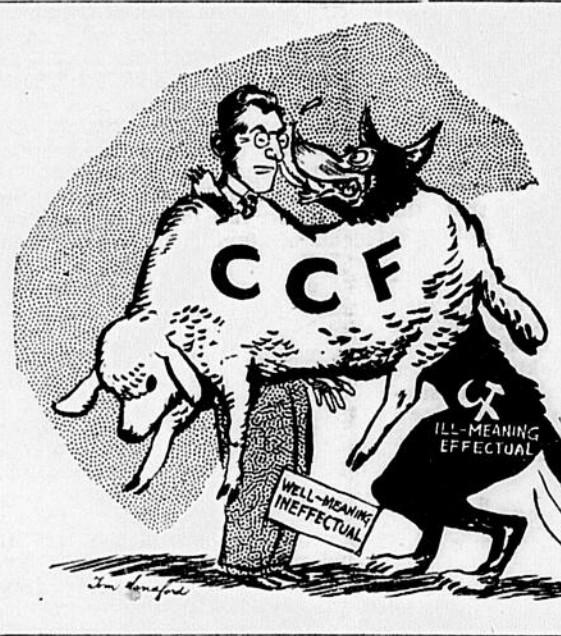

Meanwhile the announcement that the plan is now in action has caused much speculation in Canada as to a greater volume of business for manufacturers here and more States dollars to alleviate the present shortage.

and that also needed goods for Europe may mean less for the people here. The time is so short that supplies will be snapped up from available stocks without waiting for 'new goods to be manufactured and this may cause shortages to appear as they did in wartime.

On the other hand there is stiff opposition to the Marshall Plan on the part of Russia and we have not noticed any steady or stopping of plans decided upon by Russia. In fact in the past week incidents have taken place, have tended to make conditions more uncomfortable, although at the moment they seem to have ended satisfactorily and to have given the United States and Britain a victory over Russia.

Such a course of action may have been improvised on the part of the Russians to check on any Marshall Plan supplies that would be moving into Germany and other parts named to receive such aid.

Pressure is being brought to bear in the States to have young men drafted and trained and to bring all equipment up to date in readiness for any emergency.

Take Interest in Hospital Meetings

ON April 12th, the annual meeting of the Huntingdon County Hospital will take place, and on April 14th, the annual meeting of the Barrie Memorial Hospital will take place.

Unfortunately, these meetings are usually ignored by a greater part of the membership and only a handful of people are present or interested in attending. This is wrong and not at all what the Boards of Governors of these hospitals desire.

There is not much satisfaction in presenting facts to themselves, they are acquainted with them at all times. They are interested in knowing if the general membership approves of the actions that the Board has taken and the way it has handled the money entrusted to its care.

general practitioner has given service supplied equipment and drugs and has charged often less than a taxi service. He has in addition done something far more important. He has supplied this service to all citizens regardless of their ability to pay. Why should we spend our nights waiting for the next generation in very uncomfortable surroundings. Look in your local press and see if you ever see such an account presented to the Municipal Councils. However you say rightly that we prosper and how? Surely we deserve to prosper economically when we give a 24 hour service. Every day, every evening, every Saturday afternoon, every Sunday. But that is not all because of the shortage of personnel, for the great need for our service develops a spontaneity an intensity of action that results in a large volume of work.

I wish to make this very important statement which is backed up by lots of experience. That if we worked the same number of hours with the same intensity as the average business men as industrial executive or worker we could not pay our expenses. The only citizen whose hours of work compare with those to the rural physician is the farmer, but his does not equal ours, and the intensity of service is incomparable.

Why then do we continue as we do. Those of us who are in the work do so because of the human service we render and the love for our profession and its traditions. We can create for ourselves and families a decent standard of living. However fewer and fewer are taking on the work and unless a change takes place rural areas will be without medical service as many such areas are at present.

What then can we do about it? Can the general practitioner cope individually with this problem? I believe the answer to be definitely No. Must we then consider the solution to be that in the not too distant future you will only have physicians in urban centres. I similarly do not believe so.

Democracy is known for its ability to muddle through. We wait until we are nearly lost and then some one finds a way out. This problem has been struggled with in all parts of the world and it is my opinion that in the U.S.A. and in Canada we are most fortunate since we have the advantage of their mistakes of trial and error plus our great wealth.

The principles which I will give you as the basis by which this problem may be improved and ultimately cured are not new. They are slowly taking shape throughout this continent. These general principles are: 1. Union of the rural general practitioners into groups. In short we must compromise between the individual specialist of the city and the individual practitioner of the country. This will create conditions by which men may at least partially divide the whole field of medicine. It will raise the standard of medical service. It will improve many of the conditions of the fireman's and taxi life that we now lead. Whether these groups unite together as private groups, or clinics or whether they group around the small rural hospitals will gradually evolve and depend on the 2nd. principal. 2. The Provision of Small Community hospitals with adequate diagnostic and treatment equipment in relation to the population to be served. This development will come about only as rapidly as we as democratic citizens demand it. We have demanded good roads and ultimately we get good roads. When the citizens of Canada demand that efficient modern medical equipment be placed in rural areas, it will come about. It undoubtedly will mean that the efficient doctor will not be as close to the doorstep of all citizens as has been true in the past but with modern methods of transportation that is a small matter. Hospitalization in case of need must be the privilege of every democratic citizen if democracy is to survive. 3. Thirdly Post Graduate—The post-graduate training of the young rural physician of the future must be largely the duty of the rural physician. He will receive his training within these groups that will develop.

Finally I wish to impress on you the seriousness of this shortage of rural medical personnel with one further thought. Democracy is on trial; the way of life that we hold precious is being threatened. Medical Service reaches every home and every individual of our nation very frequently. It is the human right of every citizen to be able to obtain efficient medical care. We are not at present supplying that efficient medical service. We as democratic citizens and as leaders in our various communities and various walks of life should examine our own structure for evidence of decay. Not only is our present rural medical service showing evidence of decay but the general practitioner is one of the most important ambassadors of democracy. The medical profession cannot correct this situation alone. They need the combined help of all citizens.

The Canadian Potato Industry

Quebec Figures Well In Production

(Experimental Farms News) The potato industry of Canada is one with which the average Canadian is not too familiar. Few are aware of the real importance of potatoes in our agricultural economy or in the adequate nutrition of Canadians, says Mr. N. M. Parks, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The potato has a wide adaptation and succeeds well in most areas in Canada. Potatoes are cultivated in practically every settlement even up to, and within, the Arctic Circle. Interest in the crop ranges from specialist growers to market gardeners, and anyone who has a few square yards of land to cultivate in his spare time.

The potato is the fifth most important Canadian field crop in gross farm value, and is the most important vegetable grown in Canada for human consumption. In 1947 the per capita consumption of potatoes in Canada was 217 pounds, while the total of all other vegetables consumed, both fresh and canned, was 138 pounds per capita. Potatoes are high in ascorbic acid (Vitamin C), the B Vitamins and also in iron. The relative importance of the potato crop in Canada varies with the different provinces. To the three Maritime Provinces the potato crop is of greater importance than to other Provinces in Canada. In these three Provinces, potatoes make up a large part of their total agricultural revenue. Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, grow approximately 26 per cent of the total acreage of potatoes grown in Canada and produce 38 per cent of the total production. Ontario and Quebec grow 53 per cent of the total acreage and produce around 44 per cent of the total production. Under average conditions, these two Provinces have to import several millions of bushels of potatoes each year to meet their need for table consumption and for seed purposes. They are imported chiefly from New Brunswick and P. E. I. The three Prairie Provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, grow 17 per cent of the Canadian acreage of potatoes and produce just around 14 per cent of total production. British Columbia grows the remaining 4 per cent of the acreage and produces 4 per cent of the total Canadian production. An important phase of the potato industry in Canada is the production of high quality certified seed. Several million bushels of certified seed potatoes are exported each year from Canada to many foreign countries. From the 1947 crop certified seed went to United States, Bermuda, Cuba, Mexico, Panama, Dominican Republic, British West Indies, Argentina, South Africa and Palestine. Canadian Certified seed potatoes are held in very high regard by importing countries. There is an increasing demand from other countries for high Can-

(Continued from page 1) Specialist attitude, and the effect it has had upon the numerical supply for our rural areas. However there is yet a more vital problem affecting the rural medical service and that is quality in light of the advance in medical knowledge in this century. I have mentioned that it has become the custom for specialists who are to settle in urban areas to have 3 to 10 years of post graduate training. As a matter of fact the traditions of specialized medicine have made this fact compulsory. In addition it is often the best students who receive the best appointments for the purpose of post graduate training. It is easy then to understand that the urban areas are not only drawing the numbers, but also the most proficient and highly trained minds in our profession. How do the rural areas measure up in this scheme? It likewise has been the custom and tradition that as soon as a man receives his license after graduation that he may enter general practice. In addition there is no scheme for the post-graduate training of general practice. The rural general practitioner is truly a self trained man and in spite of his many handicaps there are a large number of extremely competent men in this field. I wish to emphasize this very important question of the quality of our rural medical service. Briefly the best trained men are trained in a field which only can be practiced in a large centre, and in addition there is no equipment for him in the rural areas. The untrained man arrives in the rural areas chiefly because of economic reasons and because there is work to be done, yet he must do it largely as our ancestors of the 19th century performed their practice.

I now want to give you very very briefly another side of the picture. I wish to tell you something of the life of the rural general practitioner. May I ask you if the men in the fire department of a large city are asked to be on 24 hour duty, seven days, each week, 52 weeks per year? Do you expect they could find men to serve? Yet that is exactly what is expected and has been given by the country doctor. History is interesting in this connection. In days gone by before the advent of good roads, telephone etc. the citizens or rural areas had to go to considerable trouble to summon medical aid. The result was that it was needed badly before the call was made, the doctor if present always responded. It has grown into a tradition that the doctor is available the moment he is reached. Today with the ease of making that summons by telephone, it is the most remarkable thing how many false alarms come in and at all hours. The fireman has penalties for false alarms, not so the doctor. We have grown up in the tradition of service and are anxious to respond in cases of emergency regardless of other commitments, and at any hour. However the lack of common decent consideration on the part of the public is most remarkable. Just as you have settled into bed possibly after 24 hours of continuous work—a phone call, you question how long have they been ill, usually the answer 12 hours or more. Then may I remark upon the taxi service that we supply. We are invited to attend a patient at some distance and on enquiry we find that they could come to our office but they complain they have no car. And now I would speak of the economic return of the rural physician. Throughout the years the rural

In Lumbering Business
Mr. Allan Goodfellow, who for several years has made his home in the northwestern part of New Brunswick, spent the week-end visiting his mother, Mrs. Wm. Goodfellow. During the past winter Mr. Goodfellow had 500 men employed in the lumbering business. He states that today they use tractors and trucks in their lumbering and pulpwood operations in place of horses. Managing business operations and the feeding and housing of 500 men is a considerable task but from all appearances Mr. Goodfellow is equal to the chore. "Plenty of snow in the bush during the winter and the log running is expected to start around April 19", said Mr. Goodfellow.

Garden Thieves to be Killed, Talk at Chateauguy

CHATEAUGUY — $150,000,000 damage a year in the Province of Quebec is the toll of pests, according to Mr. W. Tawse, general sales manager of Green Cross Insecticides, who addressed a meeting sponsored by the Chateauguy and District Horticultural Society, in St. Andrew's United Church hall, Tuesday evening, March 30.

Mr. Arthur Laberge who has the patronage for the County of Chateauguy, was also called upon to give any assistance he could toward attaining the end sought by the Boards of Trade and various municipal councils along Route No. 4.

An audience, representative of farmers and amateur gardeners, attended to see the films and hear the advice Mr. Tawse had to offer on insect control.

Husbands will welcome the suggestions for lawn development, let the grass grow between May 20 and June 20, to a length of 3 inches in order to strengthen the grass roots and choke out the annual crab grass.

Beauharnois Intermediate School

On the last day before Easter vacation the pupils enjoyed a movie on the life of Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth. Best wishes from the school are extended to Jane and Charles Hugh and Michael Dickson, who have moved away.

The colored films shown dealt realistically with types of insects and their manner of attacking plants; various types of spray equipment and their specific use; and the easy way of controlling weeds with modern spray treatment.

Mr. Ralph King, of Toronto, Mr. Frank Moore, of Newfoundland, Mr. Barry Power, of St. Anne's, all students at St. Andrew's College, Aurora, Ont., are guests of Mrs. Bob Turnbull.

Each member of the audience received a booklet on Modern Pest Control and 12 door prizes, tomato plant spray and applicator, were drawn.

It is hoped the public will take an increasingly active part in weed and pest control for the improvement of the district and the cutting down of the frightful loss suffered annually by farmers and gardeners.

Following the conclusion of the meeting, the gathering was served refreshments catered for by The Grill.

Mr. C. A. Smith showed his excellent colored movies of local gardens, the Chateauguy winter horse parade and the spring flood.

Volunteer fireman Risks Life to Avert Disaster WINS DOW AWARD

ZOTIQUE PERRAULT of Ste. Agathe des Monts, Que., is hero in gasoline tank blaze

A truck had been taking on a load of gasoline from one of the huge tanks in the oil company's storage yard. Suddenly there was a small explosion and a spur of flame licked hungrily around the mouth of the tank.

As no chemicals were available, the Fire Brigade could only pour water from three hoses on the burning tank... and onto the two adjoining ones, as yet untouched.

CITIZENS WARNED - Several hours later the tank was still blazing... and as a disastrous explosion was possible at any moment, Ste. Agathe citizens were warned by loud-speaker to stay clear.

Young Zotique Perrault decided that there was only one thing to do. If the valve on the tank were closed, the gasoline could no longer continue to feed the flames.

We are proud to pay tribute to the bravery and unselfishness of Zotique Perrault of Ste. Agathe des Monts, Que., through the presentation of the Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers.

AUBREY'S CORNERS GROUP
The last meeting of the Aubrey's Corners Farm Forum in the 1947-48 series was held at the home of Mr. Wm. Fleming, on Monday, March 22nd. There were 25 members present. After the broadcast cards were played. The prizes for the highest scores were won by Miss Marjorie MacPherson and Mr. Garth MacPherson; the travelling prize was won by Mr. Jos Platt. Later, everyone enjoyed taffy on snow and other delicious refreshments.

The first religious services on the English River were held in the homes of the settlers probably as early as 1825, and later in the school that was erected on the site of the present cemetery in 1828.

About 1843 the Rev. James Law, an ordained missionary from the U.S.A., and a seceder, began work among the settlers on the English River, and in 1845 a small frame church was erected on a piece of ground donated by James Houston on Lot 94.

In November, 1846, the Rev. James Pettes arrived from Scotland in the interests of the Free Church, and it was under his ministry that the congregation was regularly organized.

On March 16th, 1848, two petitions were presented to the Presbytery of Montreal of the Presbyterian Church of Canada from North Georgetown and English River asking that they be regularly organized into congregations. With sanction of Presbytery Mr. Pettes proceeded to carry out the work of organization and on May 4th, 1848, presented the Communion Roll of North Georgetown with 87 names thereon, and a similar roll with 30 names for English River. These were received and approved by the assessors of Presbytery who instructed the congregation to proceed with the election of office bearers. Accordingly on August 24th, 1848, at English River, Messrs. Daniel McGregor, John Muir and Moses Douglas were ordained as elders, and Messrs. James Carmichael, James Houston, Thomas Gebbie and John Millar were ordained as Deacons.

In the succeeding years the English River congregation grew in strength, and it was under the ministry of the Rev. C. M. MacKeracher in 1869 that the foundation stone of the present church building was laid. The Church Hall was added in 1922 when the Rev. R. L. Ballantyne, B.A., was minister for the second time.

The present Manse was built in 1897 and during 1946 it was extensively renovated and redecorated.

On May 25th, 1947, a new electric organ was dedicated as a Memorial to those who died in the Second World War.

Two new elders, Messrs. R. Wallace Craig and Aylmer Brown were ordained in November, 1947. The other members of the Session are Messrs. Chester W. Orr, clerk, John Carmichael, William Robinson, Matthew Orr, and Archie Craig our senior elder, who can recollect a few things that happened in the 1850's.

The present minister, the Rev. William C. McBride, B.A., was called from the Canadian Chaplain Service and inducted in August, 1946.

Electricity—easy living

Electricity is the housewife's best friend—especially in the kitchen.

Stop for a moment to count the electrical appliances designed to serve the modern housewife and you'll easily see why: Electric Refrigerators, to keep food fresh and lasting; Electric Ranges that are fully automatic—you set a switch and forget them; swiftly operating Electric Food Mixers that save time, money and bother; automatic Electric Toasters and Coffee makers; Hot Water Heaters and Washing Machines, and what a relief they are! These are only a few of the many electrical aids designed to give longer, more pleasant hours to your day, and to give more power to your pocket-book.

Electricity is modern—economical—dependable—always available and, most important, pleasant to live with.

Council Meeting

A regular session of the Godmanchester Council was held at the usual place and hour of sessions on Monday, the 5th day of April. Members all present except Councilors Biggar and Pringle. Mayor John A. Caldwell, presiding. Councillor St. Onge was appointed Pro Mayor for the next three months.

Daylight Saving Time was adopted in this Municipality, effective Sunday, April 25th, 1948 at one minute past midnight, and a copy of this resolution to be forwarded to the Minister of Municipal Affairs at Quebec, for approval.

The Secretary-Treasurer was authorized to purchase a flare to replace the one borrowed from the Town of Huntingdon, and broken on the Headline Road near Cemetery St.

The Quebec Roads Department, through Mr. J. G. Rennie, M.L.A. is asked to repair the Flooding over the Walker Bridge on the Arnold Sideroad and the flooring on the bridge over the Cummingham and Biggar Brook, north of the Town of Huntingdon, and to surface two miles of road on the Connaught Road.

The Council will furnish the wire and staples to repair the fence on the Arnold Sideroad, along the property of Leo Leblance, on condition that he furnishes the fence posts and labour free.

The petition presented by L. Ballargeon and others was left on the table in order to allow this council to get legal advice in the matter.

Mayor Picard was instructed that the Godmanchester Council would sign the papers presented, as the person in question was not a resident of Godmanchester.

Mayor Picard and Alderman McWhinnie came before the Board to see if there could be any arrangements made with the residents of the Township of Godmanchester, in regards to fire fighting equipment. After some discussion the Godmanchester Council decided this matter would be left in the hands of the individual to make whatever arrangements they can with the Town of Huntingdon, for fire protection on their property.

The Quebec Roads Department was requested to build one mile on the Carr head line Road, and this request through Mr. J. G. Rennie, M.L.A.

Letters of acknowledgment from J. G. Rennie, were read and filed also a letter from the Minister of Roads dated March 23, concerning the opening of roads to summer traffic.

The Bills were ordered paid: Dundee Council $185.00—George Quenneville $2.00—Allan Hunter $208.50—Lisle Watterson $179.50—John Quenneville $196.00—The S. W. and P. $3.81—Honor Legros $24.20—Terry Robidoux $5.00—John McCallum $37.00—Leland Thornton $17.10—Fred Monique $32.00—John T. Smythe $56.00—Peter McRorie $4.40—Edward Dineen $4.40—Raymond Rennie $1.20—P. J. Dineen $4.40.

Fire Equipment...

had tried to obtain a promise from the Council of Godmanchester to guarantee payment for that fire and also the one on Chateauguay Street and also to make arrangement for future fires, but obtained no satisfaction. He thus felt that the future no fires outside the town limits would be attended unless payment was guaranteed. Alderman Galleau was of the opinion that the new equipment should not leave the town at all and Alderman McWhinnie was of the same opinion. The suggestion was made that in case of fires outside the town limits a form of guarantee should be drawn up stating that the owner of the property or the person calling the equipment, should sign to guarantee all expenses before any of the equipment is used or the fire would be put out. Other suggestions were made that the individual be responsible to make payment for fire protection and that persons living on the outskirts of town and desiring protection should pay an initial fee of $25.00 and an annual fee thereafter of $5.00 and also sign an agreement to pay all other expenses that may be incurred if a fire is fought in the district.

After much discussion it was decided that the fire equipment would not be sent beyond the town limits. In the case of the Hughes Farm fire a charge of $25.00 is to be made and to be collected from the person on that property. A question was asked as to what would happen if some property near to town, but outside the limit was to catch fire, would the equipment be sent. The answer was no, it would have to burn down as far as the Town equipment is concerned as the Council cannot spend the ratepayers money fighting fires for which no taxes have been paid to the Town. The Mayor said if these people want to have the protection that the town can give and the water that it can supply, then

(Continued from page 1) saving time in hooking up to hydrants or drawing from the river, or it can be used while this hook-up is taking place so that time is saved. Two hoses can be hooked on to one side of the pump and one on the other side, so that three lines of hose can be brought into play if needed. This pump will pump up to 600 gallons per minute. Also as part of the equipment is a small hose that is used in conjunction with the tank on the truck and attached to a reel at the rear of the truck. There are several types of extinguishers included and these have their special positions in the truck. There are wall hooks, axes, crowbars, etc. On both sides are spaces to carry the required amount of hose. About another three thousand feet of hose is on order and should arrive in a very short time. This will leave the large truck fully loaded at all times and there will be about 700 feet of hose left on the old truck.

On Tuesday afternoon the apparatus was put through its paces in a test for the Government inspector from the Fire Commissioner's Office of the Provincial Government. The equipment was run for three hours steadily doing steady pump work and other change-overs. This took place at the Dam in town. The Provincial Government grants the Town 50% of the cost of new equipment such as this. The inspector was Mr. Ed. Goulette and Mr. Joe Forget of the Pierre Thibault Co. was also on hand. The truck was purchased from the Thibault Co. Mr. Goulette was very pleased with the performance of the machine.

From what has been seen of the action of the equipment, it would seem that Huntingdon is now well equipped in respect to fire fighting and that this equipment should do much to keep insurance rates at a low level. Those who have not yet seen the new equipment, should drop around to the Fire Hall and see it.

let them annex their properties to the Town of Huntingdon and enjoy the privileges as ratepayers of Huntingdon. This would give them sidewalks, lighting, police protection and all that the town ratepayers enjoy and for which they pay taxes to the town. Therefore under present ruling the fire equipment will not leave town.

Alderman Galleau was named pro-Mayor for the next three months. Messrs. Neil O'Hare, J. Brisbols and C. Brown were named valuers for the present year. The meeting was adjourned until April 12th.
