JAPAN RENEWS EVACUATION DEMAND

Threatens To Force Soldiers Removal If Ultimatum Ignored

Refusal of China to Withdraw All Troops from Peiping Area by Noon Wednesday "Will Compel the Japanese Army to Take All Steps Necessary" to Force Their Removal, Latest Ultimatum Delivered to Chinese Authorities States.

Tientsin, China, July 26.—Lieut.-General Kiyoshi Katsuki, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese forces in North China, was declared today to have served an ultimatum on the Twenty-Ninth Chinese Army demanding all troops be withdrawn from Peiping and the surrounding area by noon Wednesday.

"Non-compliance with this demand," the Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported Katsuki wrote General Sung Chehyuan, commander of the Twenty-Ninth Army, "will compel the Japanese army to take all steps necessary" to force their removal.

Unconfirmed reports declared Sung, who is also head of the semi-autonomous Hopeh-Chahar Political Council, had refused the ultimatum and ordered the Twenty-Ninth "not to withdraw but to resist."

Kiyoshi's headquarters announced all available Japanese strength—including bombing planes—had been assembled for punitive action against troops of the Japanese charged with attacking a signal corps detachment at Langfang Barracks last night.

Japanese army headquarters here said the Chinese had been defeated in force at Langfang and were in "full rout" to the northwest. Japanese aviation units were forcing the pursuit, strafing the Chinese with machine guns and bombing their concentrations.

Domei reported the terms of the Japanese ultimatum were:

"The Thirty-Seventh Division stationed at Wapinghsien, Paphoshan and thereabouts is given until noon Tuesday to withdraw to the south. Soldiers of the same division stationed at Peiping and other points in the zone of hostilities must have departed by noon Wednesday. The entire Thirty-Seventh Division must thereafter be withdrawn to Pacingfa (ninety miles south of the Peiping zone)."

Compliance, the note was reported to have continued, "would signify the Chinese intention to prevent aggravation of the North China crisis."

JAPANESE CABINET IS CALLED INTO SESSION

Tokyo, July 26.—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye summoned his cabinet to an emergency session today on the eve of a joint session of both Houses of Parliament where he has to make a significant statement on the North China situation.

The Government viewed the new outbreak of hostilities between Chinese and Japanese troops with extreme gravity and ordered "all measures" be taken against further Chinese attacks.

Vice-Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander in chief of the third fleet in Chinese waters, was ordered by the Navy Department to carry out "emergency measures" in the crisis.

Some observers here looked for the Japanese army to launch an attack on the ancient walls of Peiping in the struggle to establish Japanese claims of special economic privileges in North China.

Breaking of the week-old truce between Chinese and Japanese military authorities in the area was considered to have caused a more serious phase.

The clash at Langfang today was the first since a local truce was reached last Monday calling for withdrawal of the troops that have battled sporadically west of Peiping since July 7.

Japanese brought bombing planes into the fight for the first time and virtually destroyed the Chinese army barracks at Lang Fang, midway between Tientsin and Peiping on the Peiping Turn to Page 2, Col. 2.

LONDON PRESS PRAISES KING LEOPOLD

London, July 26.—British newspapers today joined in praising King Leopold of the Belgians for the motives which inspired his letter of last week to Premier Paul Van Zeeland, proposing a permanent world economic committee.

At the same time they were doubtful of the probable results of the setting up of such a committee.

Renewal Of Dewey Anti-Racket Drive Causes Gangland Panic

Success of Noted Prosecutor in Previous Drives Against Racketeers Recalled as New Campaign Opens to Curb Racketeers Who Are Taking Untold Millions in Toll from Legitimate New York City Business Concerns.

New York, July 26.—"Guilty! . . . Guilty! . . . Guilty! . . ." One hundred and eighty-two times the voice of Jury Foreman John M. Heaton called out the verdict on the seven men at the bar—defendants in New York's $2,000,000 a year restaurant shakedown racket, writes Roger D. Greene, Associated Press correspondent, in the first of a series of four articles telling how America's No. 1 "racket buster" Thomas E. Dewey, is carrying on a remarkable drive against racketeers which reaped untold millions of dollars and were paced with sensational crimes.

Slowly, their cynical smiles faded. At the end, they sobbed. They shouted hysterically: "I'm not a racketeer. I'm a respectable business man. I've got a wife and family!" They swore and struggled as bailiffs bore them off to prison.

That was last March 26. The city applauded another climatic triumph in thirty-five year old Thomas E. Dewey's meteoric career as special racket prosecutor in the City of New York.

It was a climax, but not the finish. Quietly as Dewey went back to work in his closely guarded headquarters in the Woolworth building directing his staff of forty aides in gathering new evidence.

Then, when ready, he "cracked down" again and again, without warning, striking fresh terror into the "invisible empire" of organized crime—aimed not alone at the flashy gangster criminal, but also at the mild-appearing racketeers who like to think of themselves as "respectable" and not as blood-sucking leeches preying on legitimate business to the tune of more than $100,000,000 a year in New York City alone.

A one-time "printer's devil" in his father's country newspaper shop in Owosso, Mich., then a graduate of the University of Michigan, Tom Dewey came to New York undecided whether to be a singer or a lawyer. He had a rich baritone voice and for a time he sang as a paid soloist at St. Timothy's Church on West 84th street.

Finally he entered Columbia University and two years later emerged with a Bachelor of Law degree. In 1931 he was appointed assistant United States attorney, and that same year saw him plunge into the investigation of a ring of realty racketeers who bilked victims from coast to coast.

He was taking an interest, too, in the financial affairs of a surly-tempered, plug-nugly known as Arthur "Dutch Schultz" Flannery. Investigating the Dutchman's income and tax payments, Dewey found the beer baron had deposited $856,000 in the last six months of 1930—at the rate of about $5,500 a "working" day—without paying the United States Government a cent.

Dewey was also appearing in court against a pale, cold-eyed little figure known as Jack "Lars" Diamond, who at that time had already survived three gun-fire attacks and had gained the sobriquet of "The Clay Pigeon of the Underworld."

The furtive little gangster who began his career as a bundle-snatcher and became bodyguard for "Little Augie" Oregon and Arnold Roth-

TRIBUTE TO GREAT MEN OF THE PAST

CHARLES B. HOWARD, M.P.

Charles B. Howard, M.P., issued this statement to the citizens of Sherbrooke on the eve of the Centenary Celebration:

"I am exceedingly pleased with the idea of the celebration because I believe in keeping record of the milestones of progress, at least once in every one hundred years. It is a tribute to the great men of the past and an inspiration to the men of the future."

"Sherbrooke has long been called the 'Electric City,' and from my observations last night it now, for the first time, really merits the title," said Mr. Howard, commenting on the decorations which adorn the streets of our city.

"I would suggest," continued Mr. Howard, "that after the Centenary Celebration and the Exhibition are over the proprietors and all other interested parties retain these decorations to be used annually during the preceding and Fair week, for Canada's Great Eastern Exhibition, which has done so much for agriculture and for Sherbrooke, should be honored with similar decorations each year."

"I look forward," said Mr. Howard, "to the Centenary Celebration as a time when the citizens of Sherbrooke will get together in a spirit of co-operation to receive guests, relatives and friends, some of whom possibly have not been with us for years."

"Let us all enter into the spirit of the Centenary and make it a real event in the history of Sherbrooke."

DOCTOR WHO NEVER KEPT BOOKS DIES
San Diego, Calif., July 26.—Dr. Ambrose Stewart, San Diego physician who, fellow doctors said, never kept books on the money owed him and never sent a bill, died here Saturday after a brief illness.

Dr. Stewart was graduated by Haneman College of Medicine in 1887. On completion of fifty years of practice he received a certificate from the school last week.

AGE WHETS SHAW'S SHARP TONGUE AS HE PASSES EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY

George Bernard Shaw, for forty years the verbal gadfly plaguing every exposed flank of things as they are, has lost none of his tartness in passing his eighty-first birthday today. He is shown right in a recent photo. In a new chapter of a revised edition of his "Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism," just issued in London, Shaw discusses freedom of speech and press in Russia, Germany and Italy with the stinger that "there is nothing questionable in the statement that government control of the press is less corrupt than control by private financial interests." This will surprise only the innocents who believe that the press is free in non-Fascist countries. They are mostly the same people who believe that in Germany or Italy or Russia I should be immediately shot."

DEATH CLAIMS PROMINENT MAN AT STANSTEAD

George A. Channell, General Merchant and Feed Mill Operator, Succumbs After Brief Illness at Age of Sixty-Six.

Stanstead, July 26.—Stanstead today mourns the death of one of its leading business men, George A. Channell, who passed away last evening at the age of sixty-six years after an illness of only twelve days' duration. Mr. Channell ran the leading general store in Stanstead Plain as well as a wholesale flour and feed store and a grist mill, serving the needs of the great majority of the farmers in the surrounding district.

In addition to his business activities, Mr. Channell was for many years a member of the Municipal Council. Active in fraternal circles, he was a member of Golden Rule Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Lively Stone Chapter, R.A.M., and Tomforbia Lodge, I.O.O.F.

Mr. Channell was born in Stanstead on May 29th, 1871, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Channell, and on June 20th, 1894, married Minnie Josephine Randall, of East Bolton, who predeceased him on May 22nd, 1932.

On the death of his father in 1915 he stepped into the management of the business which he carried on despite the disastrous fire which swept Stanstead on October 12th, 1915, and burned his store, warehouse and grist mills to the ground. These were later replaced by modern establishments.

Mr. Channell is survived by two children, Sussie Florence, who lived with her father, and Harold A., manager of the Royal Bank at Hamilton.

He also leaves to mourn his passing one brother, Ernest Channell, and one sister, Lena, Mrs. Harry Perkins, both of Stanstead, five nieces, three nephews and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held from his late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. with a Masonic service at the grave.

SEEKING GIRL FOR MURDER OF AGED LANDLORD

Letter Signed by "Jeanne d'Arc" One of Few Clues Available as to Identity of Slayers of Montreal House Owner.

St. Laurent, Que., July 26.—A girl named "Jeanne d'Arc" was sought today by police hoping she might possess some clue to the murder of Hyacinthe Cote, well-to-do Montreal landlord whose body was found near here Saturday.

A letter found on the body, concealed under a pile of rocks in a field 250 feet from a road seldom visited, prompted authorities to hunt for the girl who was known to have been an acquaintance of the sixty-seven year old widower.

The body was discovered by Edwin James, a Sunday berry picker. In the field with his family looking for blueberries, James saw a human hand sticking out from a pile of rocks in the ditch. He summoned police who pulled the rocks away to find the body of Cote lying face down. The hands were bound behind the back and around the neck a handkerchief was tightly knotted.

Cote's trouser pockets were turned inside out and papers were strewn over the ground. One foot was bare and the missing shoe was found several yards away, with a man's cap and tie, and a gold watch stopped at 8:45 o'clock.

Police had little idea when the killing was committed. They thought he perhaps had been strangled Thursday night. Decomposition had started in the body and an acquaintance had seen the landlord as late as Thursday, they learned.

Police theorized more than one person was involved in the apparent strangling of Cote, because he weighed about 210 pounds and was burly of build. One person scarcely would have been able to lift his body, they said.

An autopsy was to be performed on the body today after it was formally identified, and an inquest was to open and adjourn immediately until investigation of the death progressed.

DEATH CLAIMS DEVELOPER OF PRAIRIE WHEAT

Sir Charles Saunders, Who Won Knighthood for Contributions to Agriculture, Had Been Ill for Past Year.

Toronto, July 26.—A year to the day after his wife's death, Charles Edward Saunders, who won a knighthood by his contributions to Canadian agriculture, died at his home here yesterday. To North American wheat growers in particular and to all agriculturalists he will be best remembered for his development of Marquis wheat.

Sir Charles became the first Dominion cerealist when the Canadian Government created the post in 1903. This was, in part, in recognition of his achievement in giving the Canadian and United States wheat an early-ripening wheat that established the prairies as the granary of the world.

King George V recognized the scientist's great contribution to Dominion and Empire in 1934 when he made him a Knight Bachelor. Sir Charles honored the title, remaining the same kindly, modest man that had endeared him to all who knew him.

After twenty-two years' service, Sir Charles retired, coming to Toronto on Page 2, Col. 3.

Liberals Charge Quebec Premier Has Established A Virtual Dictatorship

Premier Duplessis Termed a "National Cossack" and "Canadian Hitler" During Liberal Rally at St. Francois du Lac—Radical Nationalist Meeting in Kamouraska County Broken Up by Group of Hecklers.

St. Francois du Lac, July 26.—Leaders of the Quebec Provincial Liberal party, spending the first summer on the Opposition side of the fence for over forty years, enjoyed themselves in a typically favorite Sunday afternoon sport in French Canada—an open-air political rally.

Premier Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale leader responsible for the Liberal debacle of last year, was not present in person but was decidedly so in the minds of the speakers. In fact the various speakers, ranging from former Premier Adolphe Godbout and House Leader Damien Bouchard down to the local stalwarts of the party, were decidedly of the opinion that something must be done about Premier Duplessis.

No feelings were spared and the Liberals left no doubt in the minds of their hearers that they are after the Three Rivers member's scalp. He was denounced as a Premier and personally. The speakers agreed that a reign of terror existed through the Province, that the Premier had an insolent and autocratic manner. Mr. Bouchard went even further and described him as a "National Cossack," "despot," "the Canadian Hitler," and a tyrant. To Cleophas Bastien, a former cabinet minister, he was the leader of a boxing ring and "head of the circus into which he had turned the Legislative Assembly." Furthermore, Mr. Bastien believed that the Premier was responsible for inciting the troubles and disorders for which the last session had been noted.

On the legislative side, it was claimed that laws had been passed during the past two sessions which had been in many instances "ridiculous, vexatious and ruinous," while the Premier was inspired by a fanatical desire to muzzle the Opposition.

The manner in which the Premier rushed through bills was also condemned and the last Provincial budget came in for great criticism. Mr. Godbout predicting that two more years of the present regime would bring financial disaster on the country. The reorganized Provincial Police appeared to be no more popular with the Liberals in the Opposition than the old force had been to the Union Nationale.

OSCAR DROUIN GIVES ACCOUNT OF TROUBLE

Quebec, July 26.—Oscar Drouin, one of the leaders of Quebec's new National party, issued the following statement last night on his return from St. Pascal where the Nationalists' first public meeting was broken up.

"We have reason to doubt that liberty of speech and liberty of meeting still exist in our province after the events of this afternoon at St. Pascal.

"We arrived Mr. Hamel, Mr. Gregoire, Mr. Drouin, Mr. Maroux, Mr. Chalouit and Mrs. Emilien Rochette, at about two hours after noon. Before us were about six thousand peaceful people.

"On the motion of Mr. Rene Chalouit, Mr. Bossec, St. Pascal farmer, and Mr. Savoie, Mont Carmel industrialist, received the chairmanship of the meeting.

"Hardly had the chairman opened his mouth to announce the order in which the speakers would appear when the tumult started, and it grew more and more loud to the point that no other man on the platform was able to address the meeting.

"From the start, it was evident that a large organization, prepared beforehand was present to trouble the meeting. Undoubtedly from the movement of certain groups it was plain that a chief and deputies directed the manoeuvres.

"Fortunately we were in open air, otherwise, the scenes at Ange Gardien would have been renewed only more violently and more bloody. In the middle of the crowd, there was a square of about one hundred men surrounded by others in shirtsleeves.

"To the left of the platform, there was a group of men standing in a truck. They howled in chorus making the noise of wild beasts. To the right, another group, in an automobile surrounded by colleagues raised a din.

"At a given moment, the square of men directly in the front of the platform moved forward toward the speakers. Stones were thrown at the persons on the platform from right and left. Other members of the heckling party started to destroy the platform.

"Others scaled the platform and menaced the speakers. Mr. Gregoire, who is mayor of Quebec, was jostled and struck. One of the assailants struck an old man in the face. Many occupants of the platform were jostled without being able to defend themselves. The hecklers, about one hundred in number other half gallon.

Great Britain Presses Final Effort To Isolate Civil War

Although Germany Is Believed to Have Given Tentative Approval to British Compromise Plan Calling for Withdrawal of Volunteers Before Granting Neutrality, Italy Continues to Register Opposition to Plan.

London, July 26.—Great Britain today pressed another effort—perhaps her last—to preserve Europe's non-intervention programme for isolating the Spanish Civil War.

The Italian stand has blocked the work of the Committee for nearly a week.

Seven members of the twenty-seven-nation committee, in a two-month stalemate since Germany and Italy withdrew from the naval patrol, drew up a list of questions to be submitted to the guiding sub-committee at its meeting this afternoon. These questions were designed to determine whether the British compromise proposals have been accepted or rejected by the other twenty-six nations.

The compromise plan, outlined by Foreign Secretary Eden, envisioned withdrawal of all foreign volunteers from Spain before consideration of the ticklish problem of granting belligerent rights to the warring factions.

RENEWS ATTACK ON ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

Rev. J. Anderson Jardine Declares Church of England Dignitaries Engaged "In Selling Out Church Through Insidious Propaganda."

Rochester, N.Y., July 26.—Rev. A. Anderson Jardine was ready today, he said, to meet the Bishop of Bradford in debate on the subject of pro-Catholic sympathies in Church of England officialdom.

The clergyman who married the Duke and Duchess of Windsor against the wishes of his ecclesiastical superiors, issued his challenge in a lecture last night as he replied to personal criticism. He declared the Bishop of Bradford "fired the first bullet" leading to the abdication of King Edward VIII.

The Bishop is scheduled to speak in Toronto about September 1 where theatres have cancelled Rev. Jardine's Thursday lecture. Rev. Jardine said he understood his Canadian sponsors would stand by him in spite of moves to make it impossible for him to leave auditoriums.

Explaining his challenge, the minister said: "You see, we have these fellows drawing Protestant money, holding Protestant propaganda, but engaged in selling out the church through insidious propaganda."

"Any person who kicks a man when he's down or strikes him in the back is a cad," Rev. Jardine told his audience, reiterating his description of the Archbishop of Canterbury as a "cad."

Criticism of this description by the official Vatican publication Osservatore Romano did not surprise him, Rev. Jardine said. He first made the statement in Baltimore some days ago.

"After due reflection I am still at a loss to think of a description which fits Canterbury and his action more perfectly," said the clergyman, adding he welcomed the Vatican's censure of Canterbury because "it proves that the Archbishop was and is too friendly with the Vatican and is doing more to destroy the work of reformation through his high position than any one else in the Church of England."

PINK SKUNKS IN DEMAND
East Jaffrey, N.H., July 26.—Pink skunks, not pink elephants were hunted today by vacationists at Contoocook Park.

The hunt got underway after John Patterson reported his dog killed a pink skunk. It had the usual black marking, Patterson said, but what should have been the white portion was shaded a delicate pink.

PARACHUTE-JUMPING AIRMEN ARE SOUGHT

No Trace Found by Police and Volunteer Searchers of Two Fliers Reported to Have Descended by Parachutes from Plane.

Williams Lake, B.C., July 26.—Police and volunteer searchers reported today they could find no trace of two airmen believed to have descended by parachutes near this Fraser River town yesterday.

Provincial Police led a search party into the region between here and Dog Creek, about fifteen miles south, after Joe Place, a rancher at Dog Creek, reported he and his two daughters had seen the airmen dropping from the skies near here.

Place's report followed others from Canoe Creek that a plane had been seen flying slowly over that point. One report said the plane apparently was on fire showing "red under the tail and wings."

MATERIAL WITNESS IS HELD IN DEATH

Valleyfield Police Hold Youth as Material Witness in Strange Death of Brother-in-Law Said to Have Been Preceded by a Quarrel.

Valleyfield, July 26.—Police last night held Henri Lecuyer as a material witness in the death of Valerian Langevin, twenty-three years old, his brother-in-law, who died yesterday on the sidewalk in front of his home.

Pending an inquest, police said they did not know the cause of Langevin's death, but they said it had been preceded by a quarrel and that eye-witnesses told them Langevin had been struck on the jaw and in the stomach. He fell to the sidewalk and died almost instantly.

Laurinburg, N.C., July 26.—An lumber here ordered a gallon of corn form his favorite bottlegger. The bootlegger delivered the gallon order but was arrested while returning with the balance.

Six months later, after serving a jail sentence, he duly appeared at the customer's house—with the other half gallon.

LA FOLLETTE IS FAVORITE FOR COURT VACANCY

Name of Wisconsin Senator Mentioned as Possible Choice for U.S. Supreme Court Vacancy Expected to Be Filled by Roosevelt Before Congress Adjourns.

Washington, July 26.—General expectation that President Roosevelt will fill the Supreme Court vacancy before adjournment of the United States Congress renewed speculation today over his possible choice.

The latest name mentioned was that of Senator La Follette (Progressive, Wisconsin). The Senator and his brother, Gov. Phil La Follette of Wisconsin, accompanied Roosevelt on a week-end cruise.

Nothing was said on their return last night to indicate whether a successor to Justice Van Devanter, who retired in June, had been discussed.

Some suggested Governor La Follette, as well as his brother, might be receiving consideration. Senator Norris (Independent, Nebraska) commented at his summer home at Waupaca, Wis., that Robert La Follette was too valuable a member of the Senate to be spared for another position.

The Senate must confirm the President's selection. There were unofficial predictions that he soon might have to send up one or two additional names.

Repeated hints were given during the court bill battle that some of the older justices—Sutherland and Brandeis in particular—might leave the bench as soon as that issue was settled.

The Senate sidetracked the bill last Thursday, and a judiciary committee is drafting a non-controversial measure to speed up lower federal courts.

Committee members expect to send the legislation to the Senate late this week. Little opposition is expected.

The bill provides for direct appeal on constitutional questions from lower federal courts to the Supreme Court; intervention of the Attorney General in such cases, and for three judges to pass on injunction cases involving validity of a federal law.

Neither will they permit that it be said that French-Canadian people cannot listen to political discussion or doctrine without giving themselves over to Apache-like conduct."

NATIONALISTS HOWLED DOWN IN KAMOURASKA

St. Pascal, Que., July 26.—The huge rally planned by the new National party, was broken up yesterday in this Kamouraska County town by nearly two hundred hecklers who drowned out the speakers with their yells and finally forced them to quit the meeting.

On the platform, facing a throng of around two thousand, sat Mayor J. E. Gogroire, of Quebec; Dr. Philippe Hamel, of Quebec; Oscar

BRITISH ARMY STRENGTH SEEN AS TOO LIGHT

Central Reserve of Two British Army Divisions that Would Be Ready to Go to Any Threatened Point in Empire at a Moment's Notice Urged.

London, July 26.—Establishment of a central reserve of two British army divisions ready at a moment's notice to go to any threatened point in the Empire was suggested today by the Army League Committee as it launched a campaign for 47,000 recruits and 1,000 officers to build the army to "the minimum margin of safety."

A voluntary body of men prominent in public and military life, the League released its survey of the military situation with strong recommendations to "His Majesty's Government and public opinion."

Leopold S. Amery, former Cabinet minister, is chairman. The Committee was not sponsored by the government but its charges of an unhealthy condition in the army are expected to receive close attention of the government.

"We know the horrors of war first hand—two members fought at the age of nineteen," the report said in stressing it was not drawn up in a militaristic spirit.

The report said shortage of recruits had been manifest for many years and the army faced an "alarming" deficiency of reserves. There were 135,748 reserves now against 210,000 in 1913. As an incentive to recruiting, it recommended higher pay and that the government give preference in employing veterans or former recruits.

"Great Britain's military preparedness is far less than before the war," the report declared. "Her commitments are greater! We have allowed the strength of the army to fall below the minimum margin of safety."

Immediately after his victory, Whalen backers commenced a drive to take his leadership away from him. Dooling, although dying, responded by advising in the setting up of pro-Copeland organizations in the four counties in the city not controlled by Tammany.

Dooling also managed to bring about, indirectly, a split in the City Fusion party ranks by getting organization Republican favor for his favorite as against Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia. Two of La Guardia's chief allies only a few days ago consented to the Republican plan.

As the crisis took its sudden turn the Japanese air corps began a five day test of the defenses of the metropolitan area from air attack.

Japanese officials previously had expressed fear that China's modernized air corps might attack the island empire. In this case, however, the hypothetical enemy was considered to be Soviet Russia.

DEATH CLAIMS YOUNG TAMMANY WIGWAM SACHEM

James J. Dooley Passed Away from Stroke After Nominating Senator Royal Copeland as Tammany Candidate for New York Mayoralty.

New York, July 26.—James J. Dooley, Tammany Hall chieftain, died of a stroke today at his home in Belle Harbor, Queens.

Dooling forty-four years old, had been in ill health for months. He was one of the youngest men ever to rise to leadership of Tammany.

He had a stroke last winter and had had numerous lesser ones in recent months. His family was with him when he died. The funeral will be held Thursday.

Dooling's death came in the midst of the bitterest struggle in Tammany's long history. An anti-New Dealer, Dooling backed as a candidate for New York's mayoralty next fall United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, "New Deal" foe, although leaders of the other four county Democratic organizations, "New Deal" sympathizers, agreed on Grover A. Whalen as candidate.

In a bitter fight Dooling, although ailing and hardly able at times to stay in his office, managed to put through Copeland as Tammany candidate for the mayoralty primaries against a revolt of Whalen sympathizers.

Immediately after his victory, Whalen backers commenced a drive to take his leadership away from him. Dooling, although dying, responded by advising in the setting up of pro-Copeland organizations in the four counties in the city not controlled by Tammany.

Diamond had "beaten the rap" in twenty-four out of twenty-five cases before Dewey got to work on him.

In 1933, still laying the background for his brilliant performance as racket-smasher, Dewey turned the heat of income tax investigation on Dutch Schultz, the notorious Waxey Gordon, Ciro Terranova, the "Artichoke King," and Terranova's successor, Joe "Muskie" Castaldo, who harvested more than $9,000,000 in three years by cornering the artichoke market.

He secured an indictment charging Gordon with defrauding the Government on taxes on $1,326,890 for the two-year period 1930-1931.

Waxy fled into hiding. Dewey got him, a ludicrous figure, snoring open-mouthed, with a revolver under his pillow.

Dewey had all the facts. He had amassed 6,000 documents—checks, ledgers and bank accounts—and the jury convicted Gordon in forty minutes on four counts of conspiracy and evasion of income taxes. He was sentenced to ten years in prison.

The underworld began to get jittery at this smiling young prosecutor. Dutch threatened him. His associates begged him to have a bodyguard. Dewey refused. "I wouldn't give the rats that much satisfaction," he said.

The underworld breathed easier when he retired to build up a $50,000 a year private law practice in the next two years.

In 1935 stirring events called him back into public service.

REBELS SWEEP INTO SALIENT SPEARHEAD

Madrid, July 26.—Crack Spanish Government troops massed before Villanueva de la Canada today to drive the rebel spearhead of the Government's western salient.

Locked in battle for command of the siege lined west of Madrid, insurgent and government commanders threw into combat the greatest war machines yet assembled in the year-old civil war.

Military observers believed the fate of the Government's attempt to lift the Madrid siege might hinge on the Villanueva battle. The town, eighteen miles west of the capital, is the key to communication lines in the one hundred-square-mile wedge driven by General Jose Miaja into the insurgent lines.

The Government announced Brunete fell before a withering insurgent attack yesterday. "The enemy displayed formidable resistance and with the aid of its aviation and artillery succeeded in foiling our advance, and captured Brunete," said a Government communique.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's reinforced army east of Brunete drove deep into territory won by the Government's two-week offensive and forced General Miaja's troops back with heavy casualties.

Hogs were ten cents higher. Bacon was $10.35, fed and watered, with truck hogs up to $10.50. Selects drew one dollar per hog premium, with the usual cuts on off grades. Sows were from $6.75 to $8.

TO ESTABLISH FILM LIBRARY FOR DOMINION

London, July 26.—Toronto has been tentatively selected as the central clearing and distributing depot for the Empire Film Library of the Overseas League, which is extending its activities throughout Canada.

John G. Bridges, development secretary of the League will arrive in Quebec on July 31 with a party of nearly two hundred members, who will make a brief tour of Quebec and Ontario.

He will take charge of reorganization work in the Dominion and has brought with him hundreds of films which will form the nucleus of the League's library.

According to present plans the Toronto clearing depot will be in operation early in September. Sub-depots and libraries will be set up in other centres such as Saint John, Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver.

The films, depicting many phases of life in the Old Country and other parts of the Empire, will be made available free of charge to public schools, universities, service clubs, community organizations and educational bodies. Sets of lantern slides with descriptive lectures are also to be released.

The Overseas League is an Empire service organization with membership of around fifty thousand and headquarters in London. Branches are in operation in almost every unit of the Empire.

OTTAWA RIVER CLAIMS BRYSON MAN.

Bryson, Que., July 26.—Ernest Jolicoeur, seventeen years old, was drowned in the Ottawa River here yesterday.

Unable to swim he apparently went beyond his depth as he waded with others near the shore. The body was recovered two hours later.

Bryson is fifty miles northwest of Ottawa. The man of France there is only one answer: "Nothing doing."

FASCISM GIVEN NO SUPPORT BY ROMAN CHURCH

Archbishop of Westminster Outlines Church Stand Towards Civil War by Denying It Is "Secret Ally of Fascism."

London, July 26.—Most Rev. Arthur Hinsley, Archbishop of Westminster, today defended the stand of the Roman Catholic Church in regard to Spain and emphatically denied the Vatican was "a secret ally of Fascism."

In a letter of The Times, the head of the Catholic Church in England declared "The Church in Spain has not only been persecuted but has been the target of a campaign of abuse."

The Church "has been a victim since 1919 of a series of partial and complete confiscations," Dr. Hinsley declared. "In scanty compensation the state undertook to pay stipends."

Denying charges of pro-Fascist policy by the Vatican, the prelate said: "May I take this occasion to reply to ill-informed critics representing the Church as a secret ally to Fascism? Such persons cannot know the pronouncements of the Popes during the past fifty years."

"The Pope, who was represented at the Coronation of King George VI, speaks frequently with the deepest affection and respect for Great Britain."

"Those who deduce from the fact that his relations are no less amicable with the Italian state, that the Vatican has any special preference for Fascism, should reflect that the Vatican has not broken off its relations with Valencia, that relations with Nazi Germany are very strained and that the influence of the Catholic hierarchy in Belgium has been exercised against the Belgian form of Fascism—the Rexists."

COWANSVILLE CITIZEN DIED THIS MORNING

Miss Rachel Levesque, Daughter of the Late Auguste Levesque and Mrs. Levesque, Succumbed to Head Infection.

Cowansville, July 26.—Cowansville grieved over the passing of a young and highly esteemed citizen today in the person of nineteen year old Rachel Levesque, daughter of the late Auguste Levesque and Mrs. Levesque.

Miss Levesque passed away at her home here at nine o'clock this morning. She had been suffering from a head infection. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Her father, Auguste Levesque, was killed a few years ago in an accidental explosion of dynamite while working for the corporation.

"ENDEAVOUR II" AND "RAINBOW" MEET SATURDAY

Will Be T. O. M. Sopwith's Second Attempt to Carry Coveted America's Cup Home to England—Sixteenth Contest for Trophy.

Newport, R.I., July 26.—Off the rugged coast of Newport the sixteenth match for the America's Cup, coveted yachting trophy, gets underway Saturday with the first race of a series between T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger, Endeavour II, and Harold S. Vanderbilt's defender, Ranger.

The series, in which four races out of seven are necessary to win, brings the competition to its peak. Since 1851 Canadians, Englishmen, Scots and Irishmen have striven to take away the silver prize captured by the schooner America in a race around the Isle of Wight, off the south of England.

This time the battle is between two of the swiftest racing sloops ever built in the America's Cup class. Sopwith's blue-hulled challenger was launched in England last summer. The giant white-hulled defender Ranger, has not been defeated since she took the water last May.

The courses of thirty miles each, will have their starting and finishing lines at a special buoy nine miles southeast of Brenton Lightship, the old red guarding beacon to Newport Harbor, and the easterly entrance of Narragansett Bay.

The contests will be sailed on weekdays, weather permitting. The first will be fifteen miles to windward and return, and the second triangular with ten miles to the leg, or side. The start each day will be 1:40 p.m. E.D.T.

It is Sopwith's second try for the cup. In 1934 the British airplane manufacturer won the first two races of the series with Endeavour I, but Vanderbilt, then defending for the second time, handled Rainbow with mastery strategy to take the next four straight.

RACING ENTHUSIASTS TAKE OVER SARATOGA.

Saratoga Springs, N.Y., July 26.—Bag and baggage residents of this elm-studded town moved out today and turned their homes over to their racing visitors as thousands converged on summertime racing capital for the opening of the thirty-day season. By nightfall, one real estate man estimated, nearly forty per cent of the population will have moved to other quarters and rented their homes, cleaned, furnished and with a telephone thrown in, for prices ranging between $200 and $5,000.

The practice of renting to the August visitor, he explained as the crowds began the mile jaunt out Union Avenue to the staid old race course where the horses were ready to run again, is a custom peculiar to Saratoga.

The season's opening card at the rebuilt track, where $181,000 has been spent to add to the comfort of its patrons, included the $4,000 Flash Stakes for two-year-olds and the $2,000 American Legion Handicap for older horses.

The two features are the first of thirty-seven rich and coveted stakes which will be run before the season's close.

The Situation In The Orient.

The conflict between China and Japan gives every indication of being China's last stand against Japanese aggression.

The attitude of Japan to China is one of unmitigated gall. A few years ago she grabbed Manchuria, which covers an area of 460,000 square miles, many times the size of Japan, and more recently she occupied North China, pushed the Chinese troops south of the Great Wall and dared them to come north again. There has been no formal annexation and the Nanking Government does not officially recognize Japanese occupation. A showdown of some kind seems inevitable in the matter of North China.

Whether Nippon attains her present objective by diplomatic pressure or actual force of arms, it is evident that the military clashes are another move toward the ultimate Japanese ambition of domination in Eastern Asia. A Tokyo spokesman said recently that Japan's desire is Japan, Manchoukuo and China in one orbit, co-operating economically and strategically and forming an East Asiatic bloc shielded by Japanese military power. This is not acceptable to China. It might be good for Japan, but Chinese experience of its neighbor has been exceedingly unfavorable. China has received more injustice at the hands of Japan than from any Western nation. Japan has been able to impose harsh decrees on China because hitherto that country has been backward politically, economically and militarily. Japan has employed bludgeon methods against her kindred Orientals, but these very methods have developed a new China which will not be the easy nut to crack that it would have been a few years ago. It is possible Japan has delayed her grand campaign against China too long. Her methods have done for China what China has been unable to do for herself. A spirit of national patriotism, which was previously entirely alien to Chinese character, has been created, the Canton regime is even more aggressive in this matter than Nanking, and the independent war lords, including those in charge of the large Communist armies, are ready to make common cause with the central authority against the invader.

Japan is far stronger in military personnel and equipment than China and despite the tremendous numbers that the Chinese may be able to muster together to supplement their half-million well-trained men, the odds are greatly in favor of the Nipponese.

There is, however, the uncertain factor of Russia which may seize the opportunity provided by an intense struggle between China and Japan to overrun the Japanese puppet-state of Manchoukuo. Whether the Japanese would be able to resist a military alliance between Russia and China is open to question.

The immediate future of the Far East may depend chiefly upon the extent to which the recent purging of the Red army may have resulted in the weakening or strengthening of the Soviet military machine.

A Challenge To Golfers.

He is a real golf fan if he plays two eighteen-hole rounds in one day and there are many who do that. But J. H. Perkin, of Bognor Regis, England, thought he could play eight eighteen-hole rounds in one day with an average score of under 100. So sure was he of it that he bet a friend, A. Asbury, $250 to $5 that he would play the eight games and another $250 to $5 that he would "break 100," or in other words that his aggregate would be below 800 shots. He lost both bets, for his arms gave out during the last eighteen and his companion was staggering from exhaustion. The distance they had to cover was well over thirty miles.

It was 3.55 a.m., when the light was sufficient for them to start the first game. Perkin opened with a comfortable 98 for the round, but he was over the 100 the next three, then 98. Then the strain began to tell, and after doing 104 and ninety-eight Perkin's arms weakened and he was hardly able to hit a decent lick. After nearly eighteen hours play except two stops for lunch and tea, only half an hour altogether, they quit at about 10 p.m.

Mr. Austin probably thinks that $500 was the hardest he ever earned in his life. Presumably his friend could afford the bets, but it will be a long time before he can look on a golf club again without wincing at the recollection of his sore arms.

time before he can look on a golf club again without wincing at the recollection of his sore arms.

Holiday Reading.

Summer is a time of light reading but it may well be asked, surveying the news stands, if the demand for holiday literature could not be more healthfully supplied than it appears to be at present.

The magazine trade is now almost monopolized by certain American publications in which the sex motif would seem to predominate. Prolonged consumption of this class of literature cannot be good for people who read it, particularly the younger people who probably absorb most of it, and it is a great pity that public taste cannot be encouraged to read material that has the merit of being clean and wholesome as well as light and entertaining.

It is undisputable that much of the reading matter now displayed so profusely and bought in great quantity is injurious to morals. To prohibit the worst of such literature would have the effect of making it more eagerly sought after, but there is real need for a campaign directed towards improving public taste in reading.

The big old style dollar bills no longer circulate, but there must still be many in existence of one kind or other. Dominion or bank bills. The United States abandoned the old style several years before Canada did. At that time, July, 1929, about $3,100,000,000 was outstanding, and a total of $222,649,000 has not yet been turned in.

Canada's exports continue to grow. The Department of National Revenue reports that in the period of April-June, inclusive, the first quarter of the present fiscal year, exports totalled $272,491,818, as compared with $220,424,781, an increase for the three months of $52,067,037.

TWILIGHT REVERIES.

An old man sat by his kitchen fire
Dreaming of long ago,
Smoking his pipe of ancient briar
While the ruddy embers glow.

The smoke rings circle o'er his head
And call back scenes so fair,
Of cherished thoughts for one now dead
—He breathes a silent prayer.

His snowy hair, and sunken cheeks
The cares of life unfold,
That furrowed brow a message speaks
Proclaiming: "I am old."

He conjures up the happy days
(Now those blissful days of yore),
When children's chatter like sun-rays
Oft lingered 'round his door.

As shadows gather through the room
Sweet memories come and go;
The twilight merges into gloom
Then night falls sure, though slow.

The fire-light flickers, wanes and dies
—The old man sits serene;
Outside a restless owl cries
To pierce night's silvery sheen.

That twilight scene is dear to me
As any I've e'er had;
And why? Because my friends, you see,
That dear old man is "Dad."

PRESS COMMENTS

ELEMENT OF SUSPENSE.

Uncertainty as to the fate of a human being, especially if prolonged for days, is one of the most potent appeals to the interest and imagination of man. Many Ontario people still remember the case of Joshua Sandford who in 1902 was buried sixty feet below the surface of the earth near Paris, Ontario, when a well caved in. The case attracted continent-wide attention. Sandford was rescued alive after being under the ground for ninety-nine and one-half hours, and factory whistles blew in Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Paris, Galt and other places. The near-victim lived to fight in the Great War and died in a military hospital.

Then there was the case of Floyd Collins who was imprisoned by a falling boulder in Sand Cave near Cave City, Kentucky, in 1925. He had been dead about three days when his body was reached after sixteen days' effort, during which his imprisonment became a continent-wide sensation.

In April of 1936—although it seems yesterday—Canada witnessed a somewhat similar case when Dr. Robertson and his two associates were imprisoned in the Moose River mine. Two were rescued alive after ten days of extreme anxiety. These are three instances of the effect of suspense, but not certain tragedy upon the public mind. People become more wrought up over happenings such as these than they do when a whole city is destroyed in Spain. To this there are two contributing elements: the element of suspense, and the element of personal interest. The public is far more interested by uncertainty with respect to a couple of named individuals (especially if the names are familiar) than it is by the known fate of a mass of people. Suspense, as soldiers learned in the Great War, is sometimes more terrifying than the zero hour itself.

That is why so much interest has been aroused by the Earhart case. Both the elements have been present in it: uncertainty, and the possible death of a much-publicized flier and her companion. It is a curious fact that the tragedy of Spain means less to many people than the fate of these two individuals has meant.—Toronto Star.

BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPPING.

A good deal of disquieting information on the inadequacy of British shipping in relation to defence is included in the annual report of the Chamber of Shipping, which recalls that at the outbreak of the war in 1914 the shipping owned in the United Kingdom exceeded by nearly 2,000,444 tons gross the corresponding volume owned today. Yet Britain was brought close to starvation in 1917, at one time stocks of food were reduced to three weeks' normal consumption, and 7,000,000 tons of British shipping alone were sunk, apart from allied and neutral losses. Attention has been called to certain threats to British communications in the address of the new president of the Chamber, Sir Richard Holt. The shrinkage of the total volume of world trade, he remarked, could not account for the reduction in the shipping of the United Kingdom, since during the war the foreign-owned tonnage had increased from 28,000,000 to 44,700,000 tons. The position, in his views calls for the most thorough consideration by all the British nations, since not only does the United Kingdom depend on shipping for its life in peace and in war, but the maintenance of a mercantile marine of the highest order is also vital to the continuance of the whole Commonwealth. "Destroy Imperial sea communications," he said, "and the Empire is immediately reduced to a number of scattered and vulnerable units."—Weekly News, Auckland.

NO MINISTERS' UNION.

It is not open to ministers who serve a high ideal to employ weapons used by others to exact a living wage. Since they have to live, require opportunity for study and the means to provide for their families and to enjoy the modest pleasures of life, the responsibility for their welfare lies upon the churches in which they work. If the church fails to give its ministers the security and social justice to which they are entitled it means that the salt has lost its savor. And it cannot be salted by the organization of a ministers' union.—Toronto Telegram.

WHEN A MAN GOLFS.

They say the best indication of a man's character is what he does or says when he dubs his shot or misses altogether on the golf course. The things men say and do under such conditions are well known but what they say when they are not clear. It is the fellow a tough, ungentlemanly character because of an explosive or pantomime, or is he a weeding, no account, non-aggressive, subdued individual who merely says nothing and does it again?—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

RUSSIAN FLIGHTS

The flight of the three Russian aviators who recently landed in California duplicates that of their three compatriots who a week before had flown from Moscow to the northern United States, also passing over the North Pole. It is all to the credit of Soviet aviation that it accomplished two such feats one after the other. This will be used in the U.S.S.R., as the previous flight was used; to prove the superiority of Russian political institutions over those of other countries. They pass over in silence the fact that the airplane is not exactly a Russian invention and that collectivist Russia would not have today the equipment of which it is so proud had she not solicited the assistance of British, American, French and German engineers. They forgot that some four years ago two aviators from France, a country which has no resemblance to the existing Russian constitution, flew nonstop from America to Asia, covering the same distance as the Soviet aviators.

But Bolshevik propaganda loses no opportunity to declare that Communism explains all Russian successes, even when this explanation is completely vain, as in the present case. That is the great trouble with the nation and with all those who have undertaken to blindly admire everything that is done in the U.S.S.R.—La Presse, Montreal.

YOUNG PEOPLE SHOULD TRAVEL.

The Youth Hostels Association has just published a guide to the circuit of hostels between Saint Jerome and Lake Tremblant.

This guide is very ingeniously illustrated, giving to the young travellers all the technical details that will be useful on their tours: distances, routes, locations of the hostels, churches, beaches, etc.

It also gives the rules that must be observed and valuable information for those who make their tours on foot or on bicycles.

This work of the Association is designed to facilitate touring for young men who, although having little money wish to spend part of their holidays seeing the country, and at the same time obtain good physical exercise.—L'illustration.

Letters To The Editor

LIFE SAVING

To the Editor,
Daily Record.

Dear Sir—In your issue of the 21st instant you mention on page five the very unfortunate drowning of Roland Bolduc, aged ten. In the last paragraph I noticed that artificial respiration was practiced for only over half an hour. As the boy's body was recovered in fifteen minutes, it is rather remarkable that hope was given up so soon, as it is absolutely necessary to use great patience and much perseverance in practicing artificial respiration in drowning accidents for at least several hours.

On a recent vacation at Atlantic City, N.J., I had my first opportunity of seeing the beach lifeguard captain and his crew give practical demonstration to a large crowd of just what to do in the event that a body is brought ashore supposedly drowned. The weather was ideal for the demonstration, cold wind, dull grey skies, high surf and very rough water. A lifeguard swam out about a hundred yards, when he gave several cries for help and was supposed to be drowning. In fact, the surf was so high he disappeared many times from view. Immediately a life-boat manned by two guards, with a life preserver, was sent out and throwing out a life preserver the "drowned" man was brought into the boat and rowed ashore. He was immediately laid flat on his chest with his head a little lower than his feet, one arm stretched forward, the other under his head which was placed sideways, i.e., his chest and his arm so that he could breathe. His mouth was opened and tongue pulled forward so that air would have easy access to his lungs. A lifeguard on his knees straddled the body just behind the buttocks facing the same direction as the body. He placed his hands on the small of the back with the fingers pointing down over the two lower ribs. The demonstrator's arms were kept straight and as he bent forward his entire weight was brought to bear on the body. Then he swung himself back smartly, re-moving all weight from the patient's ribs quickly, while the thorax expands, and draws fresh air into the lungs. The best method is to practice restoration by counting one-two-three. One, for placing your hands in position, two, to let the weight come forward on your stiffened arms, three, remove all weight and return to first position. Keep practicing artificial respiration for a minimum of at least two hours to a maximum of four hours. Remember you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Speaking to the captain afterwards, he said that doctors and others gave up too soon. No doubt at all, that men do get tired during this rescue work, but as the method is very simple, whenever possible they should be relieved by friends or spectators. I must say this "course" netted his part very well, as during the whole operation he never seemed to move a muscle.

I would suggest that our Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., MacKinnon Memorial and all schools, give frequent demonstrations to illustrate just what should be done in these extremely sad cases. Dr. R. A. Fraser, chief medical director of the New York Life Insurance Company, mentions amongst other things three simple rules, which if observed, will save many lives. First, never go swimming alone, second, keep out of the water for at least one hour after a meal, third, never dive into water until you are sure of its depth.

In conclusion, I appeal to all boys and girls, men and women, to seek a demonstration on life saving, and learn just what to do, for there are few things more heart-breaking than to see a body of a brother or sister, or friend, brought ashore and not a soul know what to do.

Yours truly,
A. E. MUIR
Sherbrooke.

NEWSPAPER VETERAN MET SUDDEN DEMISE

Vivian Burnett, the Original "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Died Aboard Yacht After Rescuing Party of Four.

Manhasset, N.Y., July 26.—Vivian Burnett, the original "Lord Fauntleroy," who did so much to glorify the so-called "sissy type" of fiction hero collapsed at the helm of his yawl "Delight III" and died suddenly yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnett were entertaining a party of friends aboard their yawl when they noticed a small sailboat capsizing.

Mr. Burnett immediately manoeuvred his boat into position to effect a rescue and despatched the yawl's dinghy. Two men and two women were pulled into the dinghy and then hauled aboard the "Delight III."

As the yawl was heading back to the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club so the rescued party could arrange for the recovery of their boat, Mr. Burnett collapsed at the helm. He died before the club was reached.

It is supposed that Burnett, who was in his sixty-second year, succumbed to heart disease.

Centenary organizers today inaugurated their final week of preparation for the five-week celebration of Sherbrooke's hundredth anniversary as an industrial center...

Last night Mayor Emile Rioux, Organizer Leon Trepanier and the Sherbrooke Harmony Band were entertained by the Town of Magog. Best wishes for the success of the approaching event were extended by Mayor Beggs, Rouville Beaudry, D.L.A., and O. Domingue, president of the Magog Board of Trade.

The celebration will open on Saturday, when tribute will be paid to the memory of Gilbert Hyatt, president of Sherbrooke, who on Sunday an open air mass, at which His Eminence Cardinal Rodrigue Villeneuve, primate of the Catholic Church in Canada, will be in attendance, will be celebrated at the Exhibition Grounds for the Centenary celebration.

The local Council of the Knights of Columbus, their ranks strengthened by delegates from various Eastern Townships Councils, plan to have a strong representation at this special mass.

It is expected that Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., Francis Gauthier, of Montreal, Supreme Director for the Province of Quebec, State and Lodge officers, E. Dowling, of Montreal, Supreme Master for Canada and New Foundland; Albert Chevalier, of Montreal, and Adelair Provencier, of Three Rivers, Supreme Masters of Champlain District Nos. 1 and 2, respectively, as well as members from various lodges in Quebec, the bordering states and Ontario, will attend this impressive ceremony.

The K. of C. will attend the mass in a body, and later the Council will hold a luncheon in honor of the Knights, following which the Knights will attend the reception at St. Charles Seminary.

VOTE FAVORED STRIKE IF NO PACT ACCORDED

Province-Wide Walk-Out Will Be Declared in Quebec Province Mills of Dominion Textile Company by August 2 if Negotiations for Collective Labor Agreement Fail.

If a satisfactory agreement cannot be reached with G. Blair Gordon, managing director of the Dominion Textile Company, over the question of a provincial collective labor agreement, employees belonging to the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers will declare a province-wide strike by August 2 at the latest, Eugene Caron, general organizer of the National Catholic Syndicate, local of the Federation, declared last night at a mass meeting of textile employees held in the Larocque School.

A delegation from the Montmorency Syndicate, Mr. Caron said, offered five hundred men to help picket the local plant should difficulties arise in Sherbrooke in the event a strike is declared.

Results of the secret strike ballot made in company mills throughout the province were made known over the week-end at a meeting held in Montreal. Albert Cote, president of the Federation, informed a rally of textile workers in Montreal last night that the vote, taken during the last ten days, was ninety-five per cent. in favor of a strike if necessary to force a provincial collective agreement. He and his executive, however, would not take action until another conference with the company. Mr. Gordon is expected home from Europe this week.

Last night's meeting in the Larocque School was attended by between three and four hundred people. Speakers included Mr. Caron, Edmond Leveille, assistant organizer, and Leopold Gregoire, president of the Syndicate.

Eugene St. Pierre, legal adviser for L'Union Ouvriere de L'Industrie Textile, Dominion Textile Company union that has expressed itself as opposed to the projected provincial labor pact and in favor of a local agreement, stated this morning that the union's membership for July numbered 306 employees who have paid their dues, approximately the same number that signed a petition opposing the suggested agreement.

READY TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS Montreal, July 26.—Empowered to call a strike if balked in their objective, officers of the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers today were ready to seek again from the Dominion Textile Company a collective contract for the union's six thousand members in Quebec Province.

To strengthen its hand in pressing for the contract, the union executive had authority of a membership majority to declare a strike in the company's eight Quebec mills at the most opportune and earliest hour. The mills employ 7,000 men and women.

Previous attempts of the union to open negotiations on an agreement had been met by the company with the answer that it would take no steps in that direction until G. Blair Gordon got home from a trip to Europe.

The refusal to open negotiations before a July 19 deadline set by the union brought on the strike referendum. It was conducted among union members at Montreal, St. Henri, Cote St. Paul, Sherbrooke, Magog, Drummondville, St. Germaine de Montmorency and Valleyfield.

Cote claimed, in a statement issued after last night's mass meeting, that the union embraces a "vast majority" of the Dominion Textile workers. The company, on the other hand, asserted last week the Federation had "only a very small minority" of the workers.

Another claim of the textile firm is that wage increases which the Federation has asked be included in the proposed new agreement amount to forty per cent. of the present salaries. Further, the company asserts, wages are now at 1929 levels.

COMPOSITION OF COMMITTEE DELAYS TALKS Cornwall, Ont., July 26.—Deadlock between Canadian Cottons and its 1,700 striking employees on the pact with the Arthur Lavery, president of the Cornwall local of the United Textile Workers of America, would be on the negotiating committee still existed today and the next move was not indicated.

Company officials have asserted they will not deal with Lavery but they would be willing to allow the strikers' committee to consult him on any point that may come up during negotiations. The strikers, however, insist on Lavery being a member of their committee.

REFERRED TO CENTENARY IN SERMON Bringing to a close his ministry in Sherbrooke as pastor of Trinity Church, Rev. W. S. Lemon preached inspiring sermons at both services in Trinity Church to the united congregations of Plymouth and Trinity churches yesterday.

In the morning, Dr. Dennon referred to the Centennial Celebration that opens in this city next week-end. His sermon was based upon the story of Jacob's return and his boat in Gen. 32-10. "With my staff I passed over this Jordan, and now I am become two bands."

In the evening his sermon was based on Gal. 6-1, "Brethren if a man be overtaken in a fault restore such a one in the spirit of meekness lest thou also be tempted." The message was a plea for the church's kindness of judgment and action in dealing with its "weak" members.

Ayton D. Lennon rendered solos at both services, singing McDougal's "Jesus Lover of My Soul" in the morning, and James' "Hear My Prayer" in the evening.

Dr. Lennon was assisted by A. W. Bishop at the morning service and by George Phelps in the evening. Rev. Mr. Matthews was also in the pulpit at the evening hour of worship and led in prayer.

QUICK-WITTED HOTEL CLERK TRAPS PROWLER

Police Claim Local Youth Confessed to Series of Thefts in Hotel, Churches and Le Parthenon.

Henri Latulippe, twenty years old, languished behind bars today as a result of what police describe as a career of petty thefts which was abruptly ended because he could not match wits with quick-thinking J. N. Janelle, clerk of the Grand Central Hotel.

Latulippe was arrested by municipal police early last evening when he slipped into a Grand Central hotel room and was locked within by Janelle, who immediately summoned assistance.

The young man, according to police, was prowling about the hotel corridor, Janelle, on the look-out for burglars because of recent petty robberies committed at the hotel, spied the marauder, trailed him along the corridor and when he slipped into the room quickly inserted a key in the lock, twisted it and imprisoned Latulippe within.

Several police officers happened to be stationed in front of the City Hall for a special function, and Janelle's call for aid was quickly answered. Latulippe, Police Chief Chambrand stated today, confessed to thefts at the Grand Central Hotel, stealing handbags in St. Patrick's Church and St. Jean Baptiste Church and petty robberies at Le Parthenon.

He will be arraigned in the local Court. HEAVY DEATH TOLL The week-end fatality list for all Canada stood at twenty-nine today, and in addition search was being made around Williams Lake, B.C., for two airmen reported to have descended by parachute there yesterday.

Ontario, as usual, had the longest list, thirteen highway deaths being among the nineteen fatalities recorded during the week-end in the province. Two children were killed in high-way accidents in Nova Scotia and the death of a man in Halifax was attributed to the heat. Borden Underhill, nineteen, was drowned in the Miramichi at Blackville, N. E. A man was killed in a car collision at Montreal and at Piedmont, Que., two sisters and their brother from Outremont, Que., were drowned.

At Portage La Prairie, Man., a man was fatally hurt in a motor-car accident and two-year-old Thomas Asker died in Winnipeg after being hit by a train. Douglas Sadler, of St. Eustache, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyers and their friends journeyed with Mr. L. F. Bennett, Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. L. F. Bennett to Waterloo, and were tea guests of Rev. E. M. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson.

More than six months ago, anticipating that many people would want a quality souvenir of Sherbrooke's Centenary, the firm of A. C. Skinner, Limited, ordered from the Spode factory in England 300 specially made cake plates decorated with the City of Sherbrooke crest.

It was the intention to not offer these for sale until the opening of the civic celebrations next Saturday but it has been suggested to us by His Worship Mayor Rioux, who, incidentally, has ordered the first two, that in view of the small number of these special plates available, Sherbrooke citizens, and those living in the Eastern Townships should be given a prior opportunity of purchase.

Consequently, starting today these plates will be on sale at $2.00 each. Phone orders cannot be accepted, and mail orders only if accompanied with .25 cents extra to cover postage and packing.

These are the only Spode Sherbrooke Centenary plates that will ever be made, and it is confidently expected that they will become quite valuable as their rarity increases through the years.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

SIMPLE CODE BIDS SAFEST

Contract Saved by Inferential Responses After Opponents Tried Hopeful Jump Bid for Shutout

By Wm. E. McKenney, Secretary, American Bridge League.

This is the seventh of a series of 12 articles explaining the "Standardized Code of Contract Bridge Bidding," a new textbook endorsed by hundreds of the nation's bridge writers and players.

Simple, natural inferential bidding is the key to success at the bridge table. The modern bridge expert does not indulge in complicated artificial acrobatics. On the contrary he regards them as unnecessary, and knows that they impede sound bidding tactics.

Today's hand, taken from the many illustrations given in this book, which seeks to standardize bidding practices, is a fine example of inferential bidding.

GRANBY JUNIOR STAR DEFENDED GOLFING CROWN

Bruce Doe, of Granby, Was Carried to Extra Nine Holes by James Fowls, of Lennoxville—Donald Doe Third and Sherm Peabody Fourth.

Bruce Doe, promising junior member of the Granby Golf Club, successfully defended his Eastern Townships junior golf championship title when he turned back the valiant bid of James Fowls, of the Lennoxville Club, and nineteen other boys, members of clubs in the E. T. Golf Association, in their annual tournament over the Lennoxville golf course on Saturday.

Sherm Peabody, of the Sherbrooke Club, and Donald Doe, of the Granby Club, were leading at the end of the first eighteen holes with scores of 78, closely followed by Bruce Doe with a 79 and James Fowls with an 80. It was evident from the morning round that the championship rested between these four competitors.

Since its inception in 1930 the Granby players have more or less dominated the junior event. In the eight years two of their juniors, Lewis Stockard and Bruce Doe, have won the championship four times between them and their team has carried off the J. S. McChesney trophy four years in succession.

Most of the boys played good golf throughout the day, the change from the excessive heat of the morning to the rain of the afternoon apparently not affecting the young players as it does their elders. Bruce Doe's four rounds of 39-40-38-39 and Fowls' cards of 41-39-40-36 for totals of 156 are scores that few senior players can accomplish.

To Bruce Doe went the P.Q.C.A. championship Cup and first prize of a movie camera; to Fowls the second prize and to Donald Doe third prize. Two net prizes donated by the directors of the Lennoxville Club were won by Dave Robins and Sherm Peabody, of the Sherbrooke Country Club, with nets of 135 and 137, respectively.

Table with columns: Players, A.M., P.M., T.I. Lists scores for various players like Bruce Doe, James Fowls, Donald Doe, etc.

WILLINGDON CUP MATCH BEING PLAYED TODAY Ottawa, July 26.—A tough layout of 6,678 yards today awaited the par-challenging attack of twenty-eight amateur golfing stars who started thirty-six holes of medal play to decide the provincial team championship of Canada.

GENE SARAZEN IN THE MONEY AGAIN.

Chicago, July 25.—The boys who golf for a living can start fearing Gene Sarazen all over again. He is back in the dough—the $3,000 victor's award for the Chicago tournament—for his first major conquest since his "double eagle" triumph in Bobby Jones' 1935 Masters' Open at Augusta, Ga.

Before that Augusta victory, his colleagues had decided he was washed up, but found out he wasn't when his stirring finish brought him a tie over the regulation route and a decision over Craig Wood in the playoff.

Sarazen, whose only tournament victory this year was in the West Coast open at Belle-Air, Fla., fought off a great field to win the rich Chicago tournament with a 72-hole total of 250 at the Medinah Country Club.

Hunt and Golf Club course spaces out five holes where par is five. The longest is the twelfth—569 yards. The shortest is the seventeenth—only 152 yards—a par three.

LOCALS CHALKED UP THREE WINS OVER WEEK-END

Timely Hitting and Sparkling Field Play, Including a Triple Outout, Gave Sherbrooke Both Games of a Twin Bill with Drummondville Yesterday.

Riding high on the crest of a four-game winning wave, Sherbrooke's crew of ball-losers sailed to three Provincial Baseball League victories over the weekend, storming Sorel's forts for a five to four triumph on Saturday afternoon and repulsing the Drummondville fleet in two engagements at the local ball port yesterday afternoon by scores of five to one and five to two.

With Ted Maillet, Paul Ryan and Captain Tom Hammond at the helm, the local ship's sailors combined sparkling field play with timely hitting in turning back the Drummondville invaders yesterday, uncorking two double plays and a triple killing in the first battle and another double in the second contest.

After holding the attackers to five hits, including singles by Duffour and Demers which produced one run in the fourth frame, Ted Maillet, seventeen year old southpaw who started on the hill for the locals in the opening battle with Drummondville took one of Cy Slaalien's sizzling shots on the back of the head when at bat in the fifth and was forced to leave the game.

Frankie Kitch's free ticket to first base in the fifth, and the homesters crashed through to two more in the eighth when "Doc" Chew laced a two-bagger and dented the rubber on DeVenuti's miscue of Moge's drive, the third baseman later tallying on Kitch's safety.

With more out and the bases loaded in the fifth, the visitors were cut off from what looked like a promising rally when Sherbrooke snuffed three men with a scintillating triple play. Parisee, the first man up, doubled, Slaalien walked and De Venuti filled the sacks when Kitch fumbled his grounder.

Two big innings, the fourth and the fifth, in which they scored five runs, gave Sherbrooke their victory in the seven inning nightcap yesterday. Thompson started the scoring when he reached second on an error by Blais and crossed the plate on Cohen's single. Cohen followed him home on Moge's blow. Crowley led off in the fifth with a two-bagger and completed the circuit on Ploski's single. Cohen landed on first through Bergeron's miscue and two runs came in when Moge poled out a two-bagger.

Third baseman Blais was responsible for Drummondville's two runs when he connected for a triple with Smith and Demers on base in the sixth. The latter started at the plate for the visitors, getting three singles in three trips to the plate.

Manager Hammond kept the six Drummondville blows well scattered while his mates found the portside offerings of Connie Girouard for seven safeties. Judge Amedeo Montet, president of the league, threw the first ball in the double-header.

Trailing by two runs when they came to bat in the ninth inning of Saturday's game with Sorel, Sherbrooke pushed three runs and the bases for a five to four decision.

After allowing but three hits, Ryan was replaced on the mound for Sherbrooke in the ninth by Hammond, who gave one more safety. Sherbrooke collected five hits from Ebnet and Gibo.

U. S. TAKE LEAD IN DAVIS CUP MATCH

Wimbledon, July 26.—Don Budge and Gene Mako, of the United States, today won the tennis doubles match in the challenge round of the Davis cup, defeating C. R. D. Tuckey and F. H. D. Wilde, of England, 6-3, 7-5, 7-9, 12-10.

BATTLE FOR DOMINION TITLES UNDERWAY

Toronto, July 26.—Canada's best netmen and women began a week-long battle today to repel a powerful invasion from the United States and England in quest of the Dominion's lawn tennis titles.

On the courts of the Toronto Cricket Club, play began in men's singles and doubles, and women's singles and doubles. Mixed doubles, junior and veteran competitions will not start until the middle of the week.

Members of the British Wightman Cup team, featuring Kay Stammers, the pulchritudinous portlander, descend on the city tonight and will step into second-round singles doubles matches tomorrow.

While no announcement has been made of the order of seeding the men, local experts figure United States players will be at the top in three of the four quarters.

Bobby Murray, of Montreal, or Doux, Cameron, of Vancouver, are the two figured as likely choices for seeding among the first four, along with the three Americans. Murray and Cameron also represent Canada's staunchest hopes for keeping the men's singles championship on this side of the border.

enabled Three Rivers to reverse the decision yesterday. Johnny Quinn, Three Rivers third-sacker, had three hits in five times at bat.

After downing the Montreal Black Panthers by two to nothing yesterday, the league-leading Sorel aggregation took on the Sox and handed them a three to one setback. Jim Irvine hit the first of the champions' wins, his bat accounting for three runs in the two tilts. On Saturday Drummondville beat the Panthers by ten to three in the other scheduled game.

FOOTBALL

SHERBROOKE SOCCER SQUAD TROUNCED BEEBE

The Sherbrooke soccer squad downed Beebe on Saturday afternoon on the latter's field in an exhibition tilt in which wind and rain played tricks on both sides, showing no partiality to either home team.

Although the Sherbrooke aggregation had a margin of three goals to their credit, when the final whistle rounded, the issue was in doubt until near the end of the match.

Led by Anderson who tallied two goals, and Henderson with one, the stone-cutters took a three to nothing lead in the first five minutes. Beebe's lead was whittled when Cartwright banked two in for Sherbrooke, but Henderson scored again to put Beebe two up at the interval.

In the second half Sherbrooke really went to town with Goaling nothing four tallies and Parker one. Sherbrooke's defence, which had been wobbly in the early moments of the game, tightened up and held off the threatening last minute rally of the Beebe team and the game ended with Sherbrooke sitting pretty behind a three goal advantage. The game was handled by Mr. Larson, of Beebe.

CHICAGO OUT IN FRONT, BUT BEES HOLD SPOTLIGHT

Boston Burning Up National League in a Drive that Has Given Them Twenty-Two Victories in Thirty Starts.

They were still chasing after the Cubs on the National League merry-go-round today, but the brass ring appeared to be exclusively in possession of Boston's believe-it-or-not Bees.

With the National League's west and the American League's eastern divisions heading home again after an up-and-down swing through the rival sectors, the Bees were chucking up their collective sleeve over a pitching staff that came out of nowhere and is pure poison to the rest of the senior circuit.

And the payoff is that, although the Bees' big four fingers are worth their weight in pound sterling right now they didn't cost wily old Bob Quinn and cagy Bill McKenchie much more than enough to keep a Sunday crowd in hot dogs.

Danny MacFayden landed in Boston on waivers. Every other club gave up old Guy Bush, Lou Fette and Jim Turner, a couple of thirty year old rookies, couldn't have cost much to bring up from the minors this year, at an age when most others are on the way down.

Yes, this quartet, aided by a couple of other "cheap" assistants, such as Johnny Lanning and Gabby Gabler, and without the backing of any kind of batting punch, have burned up the loop in a drive that has skyrocketed the Bees from eighth place on June 27 to a spot where they're flirting with the first division. They have won twenty-two of thirty starts, have allowed but eighty-one runs in 270 innings, and have a fine collective earned-run average.

They climaxed their winning spree yesterday by topping the Pittsburgh Pirates in both ends of a double-header by five to two and seven to five, with Bush and Fette doing the work. The twin win stretched their victory streak to seven straight over the high and mighty Cardinals and Pirates.

The Giants salvaged the last game of their series from the Cubs by five to nothing behind Harry Gumbert's six-hit elbowing. The Yankees wound up their western whirl by splitting with the Chicago White Sox. They won the first game by twelve to eleven and were nipped in the nightcap by seven to six.

Washington's Senators "knocked the ears off seven St. Louis Browns' pitchers for a twin win, sixteen to ten and fifteen to five. "Lefty" Grove hurled a two-hitter as the Red Sox socked the Indians by four to one in a single game out to five innings, by rain, and the Detroit Tigers bawled out four homers to win the Athletics by twelve to nine as their lone tilt was washed out in six frames.

The Dodgers and Cardinals put on "twenty-three innings of dizzy baseball, with Brooklyn winning the opener by six to five in eleven innings, and tying the nightcap at seven-all in twelve.

The Reds split with the Phillies, dropping the second game by seven to three after taking the opener by thirteen to three.

JERSEY CITY FAILED TO GET HIT OFF MOORE

The Reds sent Lloyd Moore to Syracuse Chiefs but apparently Lloyd has other ideas—among them a yen to get back with the Cincinnati Club.

He demonstrated this last night by pitching the second no-hit game of the International League's 1937 season, a one to nothing victory over the Jersey City Giants. Moore fanned four, collected one of the six hits the Chiefs made off the veteran right-hander, Ben Cantwell, and scored the only run of the game.

The Chiefs, victims of the league's other no-hit, no-run game this year, are getting into the habit. Rip Poll, of the Montreal Royals, stopped them by six to nothing, on June 19. The Gains salvaged some glory from the night double bill by shading the Chiefs three to two.

Atley Donald, crack Newark ace, was beaten by the Montreal Royals in the first game of their double bill by nine to three. Donald's winning streak had reached fourteen straight before yesterday's defeat.

In the nightcap, Joe Beggs, of the bears, held the Royals to seven hits while his mates clouted Jim Pattison and Hod Lisenbee for thirteen safeties and an eleven to three triumph.

The Buffalo Bisons rallied with four runs in the eighth inning and beat Baltimore by eight to six. Rain prevented the clubs playing the second game of the double bill and washed out a single game at Rochester where the Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs were scheduled.

Washington's Senators "knocked the ears off seven St. Louis Browns' pitchers for a twin win, sixteen to ten and fifteen to five.
