HIT-RUN SENTENCE TODAY

Mayor Opens Boys' Mock Parliament

Deft handling of a ticklish political situation, a reduction of noise due to a baptism, and an over-all aura of big time parliamentary procedure highlighted the fourth session of the Boys' Parliament of the Province of Quebec held over the weekend.

Four sittings were held in St. Andrew's United Church Hall, while other activities of the over 80 representatives of churches throughout the province included a tour of Dorval airport, attendance at the morning service of St. James the Apostle Church, and lunches and suppers at the Westmount Y, provided by church women's groups.

With attendance at the parliament down to 46 at the last sitting, the government's slim majority was cut even more. Many of its backbenchers had taken an early train home. The opposition, under Warren Brown, suddenly proposed a want of confidence motion, hoping for a quick advantage.

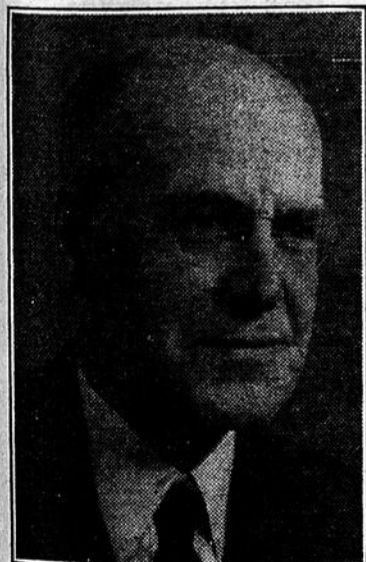

The premier, Rodney Booth, tried delaying tactics. When these failed, he thrust in an adjournment motion which was defeated.

In an attempt to stave off sure defeat, he reminded the House that as none of the legislation passed during the weekend had had its third reading, the opposition as a new government would have to start again from scratch, and do three days' work in the half hour remaining in the session.

The government was upheld by a slim one vote margin. The deciding ballot was cast by the speaker, Paul Webb, following a tie vote in the House.

During the last session, members lost some of their exuberance when the speaker requested members of the House to "please refrain from pounding the tables because baptism is taking place in the church."

Sentence will be imposed here today on Albert George Allan, 33, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of hit-and-run driving in this city on November 2.

He has been held without bail since his appearance before Judge A. E. Laverty Tuesday.

He was the driver who, after hitting Berry Shine, 2045 Grey avenue, drove off, later abandoning his car near Ottawa. For five weeks provincial police searched through northern Ontario and Quebec for the suspect, identified through his license plates.

Allan revealed that after leaving the car, he hitchhiked to Winnipeg. Relatives there, hearing of the case, advised him to turn himself in.

Charged with failing to stop after an accident and causing grievous bodily harm, he pleaded Court to the first charge and not guilty to the second. Judge A. E. Laverty remanded him for sentence and trial until today.

Miss Shine, critically injured in the accident, which occurred as she alighted from a street car at the corners of Sherbrooke street and Metcalfe avenue, is still in Montreal Neurological Institute.

More Good News In The Weeklies Editor Declares

Freedom of the press is one of the vital heritages of democracy, and should be safeguarded as carefully as the tenets of the Sermon on the Mount, the law of Moses or the Magna Carta. Tracy S. Ludington, news editor of the Monitor Publications, told Westmount Rotarians here Wednesday noon.

"One gave us our moral law," he said, "the other our ethical standards and the third our civil liberty and political equality. These have been fostered, guided and stimulated by the free press of the world".

Weekly newspapers, such as the Westmount Examiner, the speaker said, print more "good news" than dailies can find space for and are a medium for the spread of worth while constructive information in any municipality. The Examiner, he reminded his listeners, has been "on the job" in the city of Westmount for 18 years, carrying the local news of the community in an unbiased fashion.

Commercial Policy Of The U.S. Affects Canadian Development

There is no doubt that the character of future Canadian development and the rate at which it proceeds will be profoundly affected by U.S. commercial policy, says the current monthly review of The Bank of Nova Scotia.

As the Paley Report suggested, the prospect is for increased U.S. dependence on Canada as a source of supply for minerals and forest products. The question is, however, whether these will be taken, as heretofore, mainly in raw and simply processed form, or whether a larger proportion will be taken in manufactured form.

If manufactured goods are accorded improved access to the U.S. market, and if the present uncertainties about tariff rates and the threat of additional protective measures are removed, the healthy growth of the Canadian economy on the basis of its strong natural advantages will be able to proceed unhindered. If, however, access to the U.S. market is no easier nor more assured than at present, development will certainly be slowed down and will also probably be directed along less efficient and less economic lines.

In 1952, the Review points out, Canada exported more than $2.3 billion worth of goods to the United States, exclusive of gold. It is perhaps not surprising that close to $2 billion consisted of products derived from her farms and fisheries, her forests and mines. But this is somewhat disturbing, in view of the recent rapid industrial growth in Canada that, with the notable exception of newsprint, the bulk of the exports in most cases is in raw or simply processed form and comparatively little in a highly manufactured state.

This pattern reflects the structure of the U.S. tariff which in general permits free entry to many raw materials and imposes low rates of duty on others, while rates on goods at more advanced stages of manufacture rise progressively, in some cases to quite prohibitive levels. This structure, of course, strongly influences not only the character of Canadian exports but also the industrial development behind those exports. Indeed, the Canadian quarrel with the U.S. tariff is not so much that it keeps out the goods Canada has for sale as that it limits development along natural and economic lines.

Lumber, Pulp

For instance, says the Review, side by side with Canada's great specialized lumber, woodpulp and newsprint industries, and using the same raw materials, exist the fine-paper industry, making hundreds of grades of paper for the domestic market, and a host of small wood-product industries. Because they are confined to the home market by the U.S. tariff, the expansion of such smaller industries as these, now that Commonwealth markets have been almost entirely cut off, is virtually limited by the growth of Canadian demand. And, being geared to the needs of a comparatively small market, many of them labour under the disadvantages of small-scale production.

Better access to the U.S. market would reduce these handicaps, permitting longer runs and the lower-cost and more efficient production necessary to compete in that market. In time it might lead to increased specialization and the development of other industries as highly economic and fully competitive as Canadian newsprint and woodpulp. But until the broad range of manufactures based on Canadian raw materials attains reasonable and assured access to the U.S. market, progress in this direction is severely handicapped.

It is true, states the Review, that the U.S. tariff has been considerably reduced under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program. But rates that have been cut in half may still be substantial. Furthermore, even rates that in themselves appear moderate may

John H. Walker Buried Tuesday

Final tribute was paid Tuesday to John Henry Walker, former member of The Monitor's circulation department, who died Sunday at the age of 85.

A long time local resident, Mr. Walker was well-known for his interest in church affairs, and his funeral was attended by over 150 persons. Rev. R. Beall and Norman McMurray officiated.

Tribute was paid to him by Rev. Beall, who said, "The world was better, his having lived in it." Born in Nottingham, England, Mr. Walker received his early education there and attended Harley College in London. He trained for the church, and came to Canada in 1890.

In 1894 he was married to the former Louise Helena Yaxley, at Ville St. Pierre. They went west, and lived in a homestead at Semans, Sask. In 1923 he returned to Montreal, and settled in the west end.

Mr. Walker was a salesman for the circulation department of Monitor Publications, and retired six years ago after suffering a heart attack.

A member of Wesley United Church, he was the founder of a mission outside of Kingston, Ont., and here was active in the Salvation Army, the Presbyterian Chinese Mission and other church services.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, William, Kenneth and Earl; four daughters, Mrs. N. C. Menzie (Irene), Mrs. A. Nice (Gladys), Mrs. B. Sands (Pearl), and Mrs. S. McKercher (Doris); 10 grandchildren, and 20 great-grandchildren.

Interment was in Lakeview Cemetery.

Canada's first electric street railway was put into operation in St. Catharines in 1887, the second was in Vancouver in 1890.

INJURED IN CRASH

R. Corkran, 4516 Marcell, was injured Wednesday when his car collided with another driven by J. Mills of 196 Cote St. Antoine road, Westmount, at the intersection of Montclair and Terrebonne. The mishap occurred at midnight and both cars were heavily damaged. He was taken to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

DARING YOUNG MAN

Canada's winter blanket of white always brings its crop of broken bones as the skiers start out to take those hills and jumps. Many of these accidents are avoidable since they are often caused by recklessness. The novice who just has to show everybody how he takes the steep hills is asking for trouble. To attain the ranks of the experts, the beginner in skis should take instruction and try the stunts only with his ski instructor's approval. It isn't smart to whiz down that hill and have someone else carry you back up

Emeric Sala Speaks To Bahai Wednesday

"THE WORLD AND THE WEST" will be the title of a public lecture at the Westmount Y.M.C.A., 4585 Sherbrooke St. W., Assembly Hall, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.—This meeting is arranged under the auspices of the local spiritual assembly of the Baha'is of Westmount.

Emeric Sala of St. Lambert, a businessman, author, lecturer, world traveler and a member of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canada, will be the speaker.

It will be a rare occasion to hear Mr. Sala, since he has decided to take up his residence on the Comoro Islands in the Indian Ocean and will be on his way to his new domicile in February.

The Baha'i World Faith believes in the unity of all religions. A hundred years ago, Baha'u'llah, the founder of the Baha'i World Faith, announced "This world is but one country and mankind its citizen."

BYLAW APPROVED

The Montreal Metropolitan Commission approved bylaws of four municipalities, including Westmount, authorizing debenture issues aggregating $1,465,000 to finance local improvements.

The respective issues are: Westmount $925,000; Montreal East, $435,000; Town of Mount Royal, $70,000; and Ville LaSalle, $35,000. The Quebec Municipal Commission already had approved the by-laws.

constitute an effective bar to the products of small-scale relatively high-cost manufacturing industries, particularly when the processed material can be imported from Canada at a lower rate of duty and made up into finished goods in the United States. Thus the substantial Douglas fir plywood industry of British Columbia can export almost no plywood to the United States over the 20% tariff, though the intermediate material, veneer, with a 10% tariff, moves across the border in some volume.

Access Lack Lack of access to the U.S. market works special hardship on certain products which face duty-free competition from imports in their home market. Magazine paper, which is duty-free into Canada but pays a compound rate equal to about 15% entering the United States, is a case in point. The Canadian chemical industry also faces this unequal tariff situation, for agricultural chemicals such as DDT and 2,4-D enter Canada duty free in bulk as do numerous chemicals imported for use by manufacturers, while tariffs on chemical products entering the United States are generally substantial and in some cases quite prohibitive.

The Review goes on to say that Canadian exporters were deeply disappointed at the deletion from the recently enacted Customs Simplification Bill of the provision revising the basis for valuation — the provision which was most important from the standpoint of Canadian exports. Nor did the new bill do anything to dispel the uncertainty about classification which plagues foreign exporters to the U.S. market.

The Review also notes that even after a manufacturer or other exporter has gained a foothold in this highly competitive market, he has no certainty of continued access on assured terms. Canadian agriculture has long been up against the recurrent danger of restrictions in the U.S. market whenever surpluses appear and prices weaken. More recently the try, which was largely built up in Canadian frozen fish fillet industry to a growing demand in the United States that the U.S. fishing industry was unable to meet, has had to face the same danger. And now attempts are

Maj. A. M. Dewar Buried Tuesday

Final rites were held Tuesday for Maj. Alexander M. Dewar M.C., head of Eaton's retirement office, who died at the Private Patients' Pavilion of the Montreal General Hospital Nov. 29. He had been ill health for many months. Maj. Dewar was 61 years of age. Born in Montreal, Maj. Dewar was with the Canadian National Railways for seven years before joining Goodwin's in 1920. When Eaton's took over Goodwin's in 1925, he was put in charge of the employment office. He held the position until the Eaton retirement annuity plan was established in 1948, and he was transferred that office as manager. He was well known throughout the store being active on many recreation and welfare committees.

Major Dewar served overseas with the Victoria Rifles throughout World War I. He enlisted as private and was discharged with the rank of major. He received the Military Cross, and was mentioned in dispatches. For service in the Reserve Army, he was awarded the Jubilee Medal (George V), the Coronation Medal (George VI) and the Long Service Medal, and the Veterans' Decoration. He was commanding officer of the Highland Cadet Battalion, from which he retired in 1948.

Surviving Major Dewar are his widow, the former Elizabeth A. Inverarity; a son, James Dewar, two daughters, Margaret (Mrs. D. O. Tirrell), and Elizabeth (Mrs. T. C. Millar); and two grandchildren.

At the time of his death, he was an elder at Knox Crescent and Kensington Presbyterian Churches from where the funeral was held. Interment was in Montreal Park.

being made to raise additional barriers against Canadian lead and zinc.

As the Canadian Prime Minister said recently, "We as an export nation do not relish being regarded as a marginal supplier to be off whenever the going is tough for those with whom we happen to be competing". Indeed, according to the Review, if Canada is so regarded by the United States, a rational long-range planning of Canadian production and development becomes extremely difficult.

The number of Canadians employed in manufacturing reached the record high of 1,273,187 in 1952; in 1939, manufacturing employed 658,114 Canadians and wartime peak, 1943, employment reached 1,241,068.

Motor vehicle registrations in Canada increased from 2.8 million in 1951 to 3.1 million in 1952.

Leslie G. Barnard Literary Speaker

Canada's story has begun to be told by writers "with a craftsmanship that enables the work to stand up in international company," Leslie Gordon Barnard, well-known Canadian author, said in an address to the St. James Literary Society and the Montreal branch of the Canadian Authors' Association.

"But we have only scratched the surface, yet," he added.

"The place that Canada holds in world affairs, the great events in which she is called to share, and has shared, makes the telling of this story important not only to ourselves, but to others who may discover in it some useful blueprint for the future," he said.

Mr. Barnard said that "with all due deference to the historical novel," what Canada needs is "more fiction that adequately mirrors and interprets the contemporary scene."

Louis Armstrong fronts the jazz rhythm of The Commanders a jumpy greeting to St. Nick. You Santa Claus? and a tempoed description of Christmas Eve by Steve Allen, labelled Yule. You have to like Louis like this one.

More easier on the ears is Peggy's sweet warbling of Ring the Christmas Bells a gay little sparkling with jingling bells. Jud Conlon's Rhythmaires. Peg is tops on the flipside in sincere unblemished reading of Christmas Time Again.

Here's a pop label with a real Christmas message. Red Foley's Put Christ Back Into Christmas and advises against the use of Xmas' in our thoughts and settings. The reverse side is a beautiful tribute to The Gentle Carpenter Of Bethlehem again by Red with the Anita Kerr singers.

Victor:—Latest waxing of the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra a followup on their original Doodletown Races. This one contains much of the same musical ingenuity and is a slightly splashy variation of Stephen Foster's 'Camptown Races' with a bit of 'Shortnin' Bread'. Flip contains some unique, sounds and features a harmonica. It's a jangling item called Joey's from the flick 'Little Fugate'.

chestra conducted by Fritz Reiner is the gifted 31 year old pianist William Kapell, who met tragic death recently in an air crash returning to the U.S. from an Australian concert tour.

Christmas Music

Coral:—An excellent recording of traditional Christmas Carols is presented by Ray Bloch, his choir and orchestra. Ray is a popular radio and TV orchestra leader and has had considerable experience in arranging for and directing vocal groups. This attribute is well demonstrated in the polished performance by his 16 voice mixed choir. The arrangements are in good taste sung in traditional form and consist of three featured single items, 'Adeste Fideles', 'O Holy Night' and 'Silent Night', also three groups of carol medleys.

Christmas Suggestions

Under this heading we intend to comment on those records which we feel have a special listening and giving interest at this time of year.

London: We've always had a deep regard for the music of Eric Coates. His music is rich in gay, stimulating tunes and there's a distinct flavour of the Old Country in his style which is pleasant and unmistakable. In this historic Coronation year his The Three Elizabeths Suite is a delightful tribute to three great queens. The first movement 'Elizabeth Tudor' contains a stirring theme in allegro form, while 'Elizabeth The Queen Mother' is a beautiful quiet melody, one of the finest things Eric Coates has written. The 'Third Elizabeth' is a gay, vigorous march similar to the composer's famous 'Knightsbridge'. The second side of the disc also contains some richly descriptive music under the title of The Four Centuries Suite. Here is music in its traditional period form:—Seventeenth Century—Prelude and Hornpipe, Eighteenth Century—Pavane and Tambourin, Nineteenth Century—Valse and Twentieth Century—Rhythm.

JOHN SHEPHERD

Skill And Patience Are Mixed By Resident In Chess-By-Mail

Prize for patience in the pursuit of a hobby should go to John Shepherd, local resident and assistant advertising manager of Dow Breweries.

Time, John says, is of no importance when one is playing chess by correspondence. For example — he is still playing three games that started in August of 1952.

Chess is an international game played in exactly the same way virtually all around the world, and since nothing is concealed from an opponent and every piece and every square on the board has a name, it is possible to play chess by correspondence.

John himself has played correspondence chess with opponents from all over the continent. The procedure is to mail a postcard to an opponent citing your move and waiting for the reply with the other's move.

Time, of course, is indefinite. And, apparently, so are the number of games. Though he never plays more than six or seven games at a time, and frequently less, John says he knows of some people who keep more than 100 games going at the same time.

All Types

Players can be of all types and often are. John says that he once played simultaneously against an invalid doctor, a prison chaplain and a wealthy businessman. It often happens that friendships develop as a result of correspondence between players.

John's acute analysis of the game is that chess, like poker, can frequently reveal a person's character. "Your chance of getting to know a player," he declares, "is much greater the more you play with him, and at the conclusion of a game, I always feel I know my opponent at least as well as if I had played him face to face." To John that is the most interesting part of the game.

A game can end in a dozen moves and some have gone well over one hundred. The average could be 25 or 30, according to John, who says that his own average for duration of a game is six or seven months — with a number of exceptions, however, as cited above.

During the war years, correspondence chess was banned because censors couldn't check the possibility of code messages being sent. It runs today on quite a large scale with at least 15,000 habitués in Canada and the United States.

John had the distinction of playing in the first Canadian intercollegiate chess match conducted by teletype. He says that he first started playing chess when in college, and first became interested in correspondence chess in 1946. He also does woodworking as a hobby and occasionally tries his hand at furniture making with results that John is not too fully satisfied with as yet.

are Lionel Bertrand, of St. Thérèse, federal M.P. for Terrebonne, business man and editor, who will speak on "Rural Quebec in 1954"; Pierre Ranger, journalist, editor of Sélection du Reader's Digest, who will give an illustrated talk on "How to make French and influence people"; Estelle LeBlanc, home economist, radio commentator, and educator who will deal with "How to sell to the Quebec housewife"; and Roger De Serres, president of Omer De Serres Limitée, whose subject will be: "Selling Jean-Baptiste, the wholesaler and retailer." Nolin Trudeau, will chair the afternoon session which will be followed by a cocktail party offered by the French Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

This conference on the French market is not restricted to members of the Club. All those interested in selling in French Canada may attend. Inquiries are invited by the Advertising and Sales Executives Club of Montreal, Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal.

St. George Kiwanis Sponsoring Visit Of Santa Claus

Over 100 Montreal orphans, both boys and girls, will go out to the airport at Dorval, Tuesday afternoon, to greet the most popular "Father" children have ever had—Father Christmas.

The genial old gent this time is flying into Montreal in a big DC 4. He has bagfuls of toys for the local youngsters, 100 of whom will be taken out in buses from the orphanage of St. Arsene on Christophe Colomb Street, and 19 from the Orange Home at Rosemere.

It will be only one of scores of similar operations to be carried out by the white-bearded, red-flannelled old gentleman who is flying up from Whiteface Mountain, N.Y., but he will be his beaming old self as he disembarks from his aircraft with his bags of presents for all the children gathered to greet him.

The Kiwanis Club of St. George have made all the arrangements for this visit of Santa Claus because of their special interest in under-privileged children. There should be quite a cavalcade show up on Tuesday—Santa's plane arrives at 1.45 p.m.—because in addition to the two buses taking the children out from the Montreal orphanage there will be several private cars conveying the Rosemere children, in addition to the autos bearing Kiwanians themselves and their wives and families. The club will also gladly welcome any members of the general public who would like to see Santa arrive in aircraft—the modern adaptation of the journey by sleigh and reindeer.

David McGruer, the club president, will be in the welcoming committee; along with Charles Ritchie, chairman of the special committee for underprivileged children. Described as "Operation Toy Lift", the event will probably set a new standard for children's Christmas parties.

The motto of the Boy Scouts is a good one for everyone to adopt, especially with regard to knowledge of what is best to do in case of accident. The ability to give first aid to an injured person may save a life or prevent a minor injury from becoming more serious.

Parents Best Teachers For Retarded Children Says Robert W. Sparks

Parents who educate themselves to perform their task as efficiently as possible are the best teachers for their children, Robert W. Sparks, speech pathologist at the Montreal Neurological Institute and director of the speech clinic at the Royal Victoria Hospital said recently.

Speaking at a public meeting sponsored by the Association for the Help of Retarded Children, (Que.) Inc., he said that in helping the mentally retarded child realize his maximum language development other considerations other than the usual must be kept in mind at all times.

It is necessary to remember the systematic assembly of language skills already discussed, and no attempt should be made to develop his speech beyond immediate needs, for this will only lead to frustration for all concerned, he stated.

There will be increased language usage in each new stage of growth, if and when that occurs. This is in no way a deviation from the normal development of language in any child.

U.S. Customs 'Gimmicks' Hamper Canadian Imports

Canadian trade commissioners and others who waste time telling businessmen in this country that more aggressive selling is all that is needed to sell more Canadian goods in the U.S. market would be well advised to consider what D. W. Ambridge said a few days ago to a distributor's conference in Boston.

The barrier to Canadians wishing to sell in the U.S. market, according to Mr. Ambridge, is not a lack of aggressive salesmanship, but rather deliberate and ingenious methods used by Americans to keep out Canadian goods through administrative techniques in the tariff.

Citing the use by U.S. Customs of an instrument called a 'glarimeter' to test smoothness of paper, which enters the U.S. duty-free only when classed as not too smooth, Mr. Ambridge states: "I doubt if there is such an instrument in any paper testing laboratory on the whole continent."

A number of other 'gimmicks' described by Mr. Ambridge show how the U.S. is using all sorts of subterfuges to hamper Canadian imports and to provide hidden protection far in excess of that provided by actual tariff rates.

The Bible

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
 (Rector of Trinity Memorial Church)

Next Sunday—the Second Sunday in Advent—is often called Bible Sunday, because the traditional prayer and readings for that Sunday refer to the Word of God. We can well afford to emphasize Bible Sunday, for anything which gives more emphasis to the Word of God is welcome in these days.

Perhaps there has never been a century which has spent more study on the Bible; or one in which more Bibles have been sold; or one which has seen more translations of the Bible. Yet there is a feeling that the Bible is not read as it used to be; and there is a good deal of talk of Bible illiteracy. You cannot be sure of a reader or a hearer catching the drift of a reference to a Bible situation, such as a reference to Jacob and Esau or David and Jonathan.

There are a good many reasons for the decline in Bible-reading. A good many people think that modern science has discredited the Bible; or that science has even taken its place. Others are horrified at the morals exemplified in the Old Testament, and apparently approved. They think the Word of God should be about the saints, while obviously it lays more emphasis on the sinners. They would like the Bible to be idealist, while actually it is painfully realist. Others feel quite unconsciously that a book which is from 2000 to 3000 years old cannot have much to say 'to our condition.' And still others think that if they read modern books about the Bible that will take the place of the Bible itself.

The last is particularly the sin of the clergy. They know a great deal about the Bible, but they do not know the Bible itself nearly so well. I can speak with some freedom of this, for like all other students I am prone to this sin. For example, I have been reading Maurice Goguel's "The Birth of Christianity" and find it very interesting reading; but I also find in it one of the reasons why the fundamentalist Pentecostal groups make more headway than the older Churches.

Goguel, being a very great scholar, questions every statement in the New Testament and brings to light every possible inconsistency, and every possible doubt. He seems to believe in the Resurrection, but his way of stating his belief is so hesitant that his reader is doubtful whether he should believe. From time to time he rejects a verse as being obviously editorial; and he puts in a new point, because it must be so. In the end the careful, scholarly New Testament student is left saying—"This is so because Maurice Goguel allows me to believe that it is so." Now the scholarly preacher does not allow that to creep into his sermons, but it does find its way into his soul, and he fails to say "Thus saith the Lord, and I know that He saith thus because I find it written in His Word."

In other words, the Pentecostal preacher—Gold bless him!—preaches directly from the Word, and very often he preaches with power, and he preaches to the condition of simple-minded people. But the graduate of the most scholarly of our colleges tends to speak with hesitation because he is not too sure which of his authorities to follow.

I can imagine a fundamentalist preaching a very powerful sermon from the text "Without shedding of blood is no remission" (of sins); and I could imagine him producing a conviction of sin in the hearer. But I cannot believe that the scholarly preacher produced conviction of sin or anything else, who began his Lenten sermon by announcing such and such a verse of the Epistle of St. Paul to the Hebrews—"only it is not an epistle, and it was not written by St. Paul, and it was not addressed to the Hebrews." If there is any humility left in us let us learn from the fundamentalist, and use our Bible as it is, and as the people know it, and not as the latest German or French or American critic tells us it is. The critics have their place, but it is not in the pulpit from which sinners are to be reached.

Canadian railway rates are comparable with those of any other country in the world despite the fact that there are so few people to support the vast systems.

BREAKFAST FORUM

At the weekly Breakfast Forum held Sunday morning, November 22nd, Mr. David Rome, Executive Director of the Jewish Public Library spoke on the subject "Books and Ourselves". A lively discussion period followed. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Ralph L. Bercovitch who presided and was thanked by Mr. Barney Aaron. Dr. S. H. Feldman led in the grace after the meal and Mr. I. I. Selig was the host.

The breakfast Forum will not meet on Sunday morning, December 6th due to the Chanukah assemblies of the school taking place in our Community Hall. The Breakfast Forum will reconvene on Sunday morning, December 13th for a symposium on "Religion in Business."

PANEL DISCUSSION

"Moral Degeneration In The Twentieth Century?" will be the topic of the panel discussion to take place on Wednesday, December 16th at 8.30 p.m. in the Community Hall. The meeting sponsored by the Young People's Association of the Synagogue (The 20-40 Club), will be conducted by Mr. Leonard Ellison, the President. The panel discussants will include Dr. Norman Viner, prominent Montreal Psychiatrist; Dr. Joseph Portnuff, prominent Obstetrician; and Miss Jean Williams, M. A., a social worker. The Moderator will be Mr. Conrad Shatner. An informal social will follow.

JUNIOR CONGREGATION

At the Sabbath morning services held on November 21st, the Chazanim were: David Shapiro, Charles Schwartz, Stanley Hopenmeyer and David Portigal. Philip Greenberg read from the Torah and those called to the reading of the Torah included: Perry Cohen, Michael Taub, David Shapiro, David Portigal, Lawrence Kalman and Barry Shapiro. Michael Cape chanted the Haftorah. Beverley Levitt explained the Sedra and Susan Garkinkle gave the Benediction. The Ark was opened by Robert Cohen and Irwin Schnaiberg. A Junior Congregation Kiddush was held following the services.

"RATE YOUR MOTHER"

The Women's Auxiliary cordially invited all ladies of the Synagogue to bring their daughters (seven years of age and up) to a gala Mother-Daughter Tea to take place Saturday, December 5th at 3.30 p.m. in the Community Hall. All present will be guests of the Auxiliary and a novel "Rate Your Mother" programme has been arranged. Mrs. M. Eliasoph will act as Moderator. Esau exchanged a Birthright for a mess of pottage. Samson exchanged God's Freedom for a Philistine Jail. Judas exchanged his Master for a handful of silver. Sunday morning's sermon in Westmount Baptist Church will be: "The Best of all Exchanges - Smiles for Tears: Gladness for Gloom." In the evening Dr. Johnston's theme will be Detective's Assignment - the Man they Couldn't Arrest." Communion will be observed at Noon. Visitors are cordially welcomed to all services.

Christian Science

Human progress depends upon mankind's understanding of the wholly spiritual origin of man and the universe, according to the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only cause and Creator" which will be read in Christian Science churches on Sunday. Bible references to this theme will include the following from Isaiah: "Hast thou not know? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding."

Correlative passages from the denominational text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following: "Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered, for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress. The real jurisdiction of the world is in Mind, controlling every effect and recognizing all causation as vested in divine Mind." tics greatly improved, making for better audibility. This is the commencement of the Special Yuletide Services to be held throughout the month of December, come with your friends and celebrate the Birthday Of Christ!

WRAY - ANTONESCU

White and yellow chrysanthemums with candelabra decorated St. Matthias Church, Westmount, on Saturday for the marriage at four o'clock, of Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Antonescu, to Mr. Rodney Turner Wray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alexander Wray. Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver performed the ceremony and Mrs. Elsie M. Collins was organist, while Mr. Robert D. Booth sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Gordon F. Marriott, as matron of honor, with Miss Jacqueline Dael as bridesmaid and little Miss Margot Wray, sister of the bridegroom, as flower girl. Mr. John F. Wray was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mr. Morley R. Luke, Mr. Dane M. Wray, Mr. John Antonescu and Mr. Devereux Nicol-Carne.

The bride wore a model gown of white tulle and lace needlerun with silver thread, the long sleeved fitted lace bodice styled with a high neckline, while the bouffant skirt was trimmed with matching lace appliques. Her finger tip length veil of French tulle illusion was held in place by a cap of matching lace trimmed with beaded work, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and gardenias.

The senior attendants, in bouffant frocks of forest green velvet fashioned with round scoop necklines, and shirred sleeves, wore matching velvet caps applique with gold beading. The little flower girl was similarly dressed, her frock having a high round neckline. All carried bouquets of bronze and yellow baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Antonescu, mother of the bride, gowned in bronze Lyons velvet, wore a gold toned feather hat with an orchid shoulder spray. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wray, in a frock of navy blue braided nylon net studded with rhinestones, wore a matching hat and cluster of orchids at her shoulder.

Following the reception in the Prince of Wales Salon of the Windsor Hotel, the bridal couple left by motor on their wedding trip to New York and Washington, before taking up residence in Montreal. For travelling Mrs. Wray wore a brown worsted suit with a brown Italian velour hat having gun

Fashion Groups Say Women Neglect Gloves In Planning Wardrobe

Gloves are the most neglected item in the average woman's wardrobe, according to a recent survey by a national fashion group.

Eighty-eight percent of the women queried said that they owned only one pair of really good gloves, seven single gloves — the mates to which had been lost — and three pairs in varying states of disrepair.

The survey also elicited the fact that most women were confused as to the proper type of glove to wear with a particular costume.

As a result, glove manufacturers and fashion stylists were consulted for suggestions on the ideal glove wardrobe. This is what they recommend:

- 1) For casual wear, a pair of textured leathers like pig, ostrich or crocodile. They came in a wide range of colours for wearing as colour-contrast with new winter casuals.
- 2) For active sports, a sturdy pair of heavy capeskins lined with fur or alpaca.
- 3) For daytime wear, a pair of pastel-tinted kid lined with silk or cashmere in gay, contrasting tones. As second choice, a pair of white or natural chamois leathers, so laundable they can be whisked right into the washing machine.
- 4) For afternoon wear, a pair of 6-button lengths in gleaming kid or soft suede leather worn smartly crushed at the wrist-line.
- 5) For evening, a pair of long white kid

Two Interesting Films To Be Shown At Meeting Of Cerebral Palsy Assn.

The monthly meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Association of Quebec Inc. will be held today in the Conference Room of the Laurentien Hotel at 8:15 p.m.

At this meeting two films will be shown which are considered to be of quite outstanding interest in the field of rehabilitation of cerebral palsied children.

The first of these two films, "Ontario's First Step in the Residential Treatment of Cerebral Palsied Children", was photographed and edited by Mrs. Claribel Richards, Co-ordinator of the Cerebral Palsy Division of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Mrs. Richards, who came to the Ontario Society from the International Council for Nurses with headquarters in New York City and London, England, will be present at the meeting to comment on the film.

The second film that will be shown is entitled "Search" and this is an attitude film intended primarily as an educational aid to help increase understanding and appreciation on the part of the lay public of the problems faced by victims of cerebral palsy.

Tea was served by Mrs. H. Watland and her committee and members of the executives.

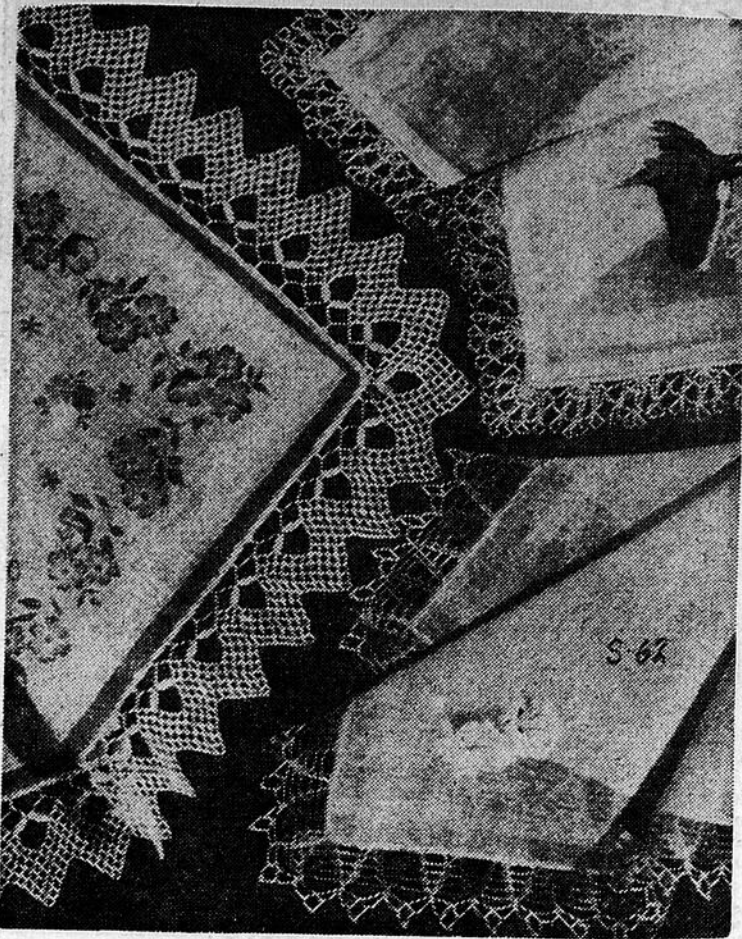

First-Trippers Abroad Advised To Travel Light

Seasoned travelers have learned the trick of taking the "lug" out of baggage from long experience. They have acquired the knack of doing do, replenishing a bit as they go, or doing without clothes they would consider absolutely necessary when at home—all in the name of convenience and effortlessness.

In this, you first-trippers need, have been told about and about; the struggle with portmanteaus that are too small. Yet here are with your list or at the point of actually packing what you think are the most essential essentials and still have more than will go into one bag. You can't imagine how you can manage with less than two or three pieces of luggage—or more. It is practical: One "perfect" outfit for travel, one semi-casual night-seeing and shopping, one after five—and slick groom—will all the time—will do all for that a hundred outfits would. Remember that you don't see any of the same people twice. The less luggage you have to carry about and the attendant un-

How Are Good Teachers Identified?

Teachers in service who are interested in upholding and increasing the dignity and usefulness of their profession are naturally concerned with the selection of those who are to be given the special knowledge and education required for admission to it. This concern takes on fresh urgency in times like the present when the rise in the birth rate has resulted in a great increase in the school-child population without a comparable increase in the teacher population. Shortages proverbially imply scraping the bottom of the barrel, and all those who are concerned with the welfare of children want no barrel-scraping in the selection of the young people who are to be educated for the teaching profession.

Unfortunately there is no such easy method as wearing a carnation in the button-hole for identifying high school students who are capable of becoming outstanding teachers. But in any list of qualifications for teaching, experienced teachers would undoubtedly place physical, mental and emopacking and repacking and fusing to get mussed things pressed, the more time you'll have to see what you set out to see—the more time to spend with the nice people you'll meet.

This admonition applies to women particularly, whether married or single. Not a man you know—or hope to know—enjoys waiting while a woman debates about wearing this or wearing that article, whether he's traveling or at home. He'd rather you'd be on time than to know that you're decked out in the fourth change that day.

tional health at or near the top. Emerson wrote, "Give me health and a day, and I will make the pomp of emperors ridiculous."

The teacher prays, "Give me health every day, and I will make all the gold in Fort Knox unobtainable." For the rewards of teaching are without price for those who love and understand children. And the richest of these rewards go to the physically fit, emotionally stable, and mentally healthy teachers who have, within themselves, a well-filled reservoir of physical energy and a well-stocked storehouse of intellectual and spiritual enthusiasms.

The Ideal Teacher

The final question of a survey which has been conducted, "What do you think are the desirable characteristics of a student teacher?", elicited a wide variety of responses. If the characteristics receiving the most votes were found in a single individual, that paragon would have all the earmarks of a wholesome, happy personality including integrity of character, good physical and mental health, emotional stability, and attractiveness of manner and appearance. In addition she (or he) would have all the qualifications for success in teaching. The qualifications in this category which received the largest number of votes were sound academic accomplishment, proficiency in teaching skills, and ability to think and act professionally in professional relationships. Other qualifications considered to be important were interest in teaching; love of children; intelligence above the average, combined with intellectual alertness; ability to get along well with others; a sense of humor; fluency of speech; enthusiasm; resourcefulness; and conscientiousness.

SHE CAN REALLY SEW, SO CAN HER TINY MACHINE: Just the gift for a little girl who is not too big for a toy but big enough to sew. This miniature Sewhandy, that sews real stitches, can be had this year in sewing centers in a carrying case just like mummy's portable.

"Sewhandy" The Genuine Toy Sewing Machine Ideal Christmas Gift For Any Little Girl

The ideal gift for a child, especially at Christmas is one with the thrill and excitement of a toy, but one which bestows the satisfaction which comes from having something useful.

If you can find a gift which teaches a new skill, you present the child with the most precious gift of all. You open up a whole new, magic world of "making things".

For a little girl, home-making is the most enchanting world she knows, and two of the most interesting things in it are her dolly's clothes and her own. Why not give her a child's sewing machine that sews a real chain stitch. She can make real clothes for her dolly and herself with it.

There is a genuine child's sewing machine, called a Sewhandy, and it is available in sewing centers this year, with a new little red, green or gray plaid carrying case. The machine without the case is only a little over ten dollars, with the case it is a little over fifteen.

It can be clamped on a child's table so that daughter may stitch away happily while mother is sewing. It is possible to do shirring and ruffles on it. What dolly's dress is complete without a shirred skirt and rows and rows of dainty frills?

Another new thrill that comes with this Sewhandy machine is a new child's sewing book, prepared by the educational department of the Singer firm who make the child's machine. This little book explains, with simple drawings, and in terms a child can understand, how to sew a plain seam, how to make ruffles and do shirring and pleats, and even shows how to make a little skirt or apron. It shows how to do simple quilting without any attachment. This kind of quilting is just the thing for doll or baby blankets or pot holders.

Although the little Sewhandy is miniature in size, this tiny machine is not just a toy. Mothers will be surprised to find they can use it for quick mending and repair work. It is an easy item to pop into the luggage when the family goes on holidays for stitching up tears in the children's play-clothes.

You may start your daughter on her first home making adventure with a gift a of child's sewing machine. She will be trying her hand for the first time at the priceless feminine art of dressmaking.

Try Three-In-One Recipe For Beets

I call these "three-way beets", since they make three variations from one can of beets. Buy whole beets (in a glass container if possible.) Use one-half, whole, as a regular vegetable. Slice the remaining half and add to liquid to which has been added portions of

Fashion Hints

Practical and ever so pretty is this dress-length peignoir, in an imported fabric washable albatross. Its white background is all over embroidered with little pink rosebuds and green leaves. There are embroidered scalloped edges on the little collar, cape and sleeve ruffles. A satin ribbon sash is pulled through and tied butcher-boy fashion. This boudoir beauty also can be worn loose, duster-style the following to suit taste: Sugar, celery salt, garlic salt, salt, pepper, and vinegar. Heat and boil a few minutes. Store in the glass container for a few days. When half the sliced, pickled beets have been used, slice a good sized onion into the liquid on top of remaining beets. These onions after a few days will have a nice sweet and "pickely" taste and can be eaten as such or as a garnish, since they are now the color of the beets. The onion also adds a slightly different flavor to the balance of beets. This tri-fuse is good for a person living alone, for the variation breaks the monotony of eating "just" a can of beets.

Tips
on Touring

By CAROL LANE
Women's Travel Authority

The next time you get stuck in a snow bank, take it easy — remember that pair of old rags in the car trunk.

In nine out of ten cases, your car is stuck, not because of the amount of snow, but because the tires lack traction. The moment becomes apparent that you are in trouble in snow, stop and investigate. The worst thing you can possibly do is attempt to plow your way through by gunning the car and spinning the wheels.

Get out and look at the rear wheels. If you think you can get out without trouble, put the car in low gear and start forward slowly, letting the clutch pedal go gradually. If the wheels spin without moving the car, stop before you dig yourself in deeper.

You need traction — and that's where those throw rugs come in. Stuff them under the two rear tires, along with any sand, gravel, broken sticks or weeds that are handy.

In low gear let the clutch pedal up slowly and if you go forward only a few inches, shift immediately into reverse, then into low again, by repeating this rocking movement — without spinning the wheels — you should develop enough traction and momentum to work yourself free.

One woman I know swears by a pair of faded bath mats. They take up little space in the luggage compartment — and they have failed her yet!

Cranberry Muffins

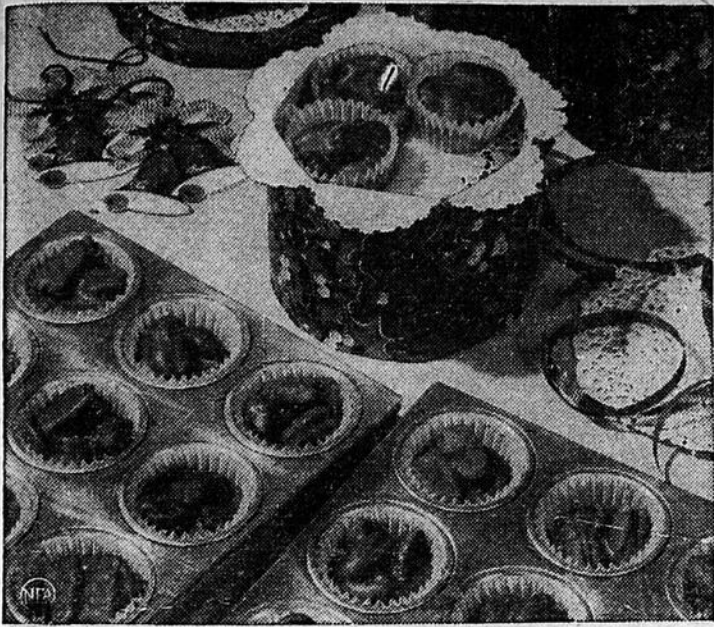

If you want to make hot fruit muffins quickly, try this recipe for cranberry muffins. Chop 1 cup fresh cranberries; and add 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar and allow to stand while you prepare the batter. For this, use 2 cups of your favorite biscuit mix to which you add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg and 1 cup milk. Mix in the usual way and then stir in the sugar cranberries. Fill greased muffin pans not more than two-thirds full and bake 20 minutes at 400 degrees F. Use plenty of butter and serve hot.

Cream Pralines Make Tasty Christmas Gifts

CREAM PRALINES, tender, rich and tempting, are ideal for Christmas giving to friends who love homemade treats.

A friend sent us a large box of cream pralines she had made with evaporated milk. We were surprised at their unusually fine flavor. So, with Christmas not far off, we think you may want to make some to send to friends or boys in the service.

Cream Pralines

(Makes 20 to 24 patties)

One pound lightbrown sugar, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup evaporated milk, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups pecan halves.

Mix ingredients together in heavy saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking over medium heat to soft-ball stage (236 degrees F.), stirring constantly.

Let candy cool slightly, about 5 minutes, then beat until mixture begins to thicken. Drop candy rapidly from a tablespoon into paper baking cups set into muffin pans, or onto a sheet of aluminum foil or onto a well-buttered baking sheet.

If candy becomes too stiff at the last to drop into smooth patties, stir in a little hot water.

Note

These pralines have a more delicate flavor when prepared with light-brown sugar.

If only dark-brown sugar is available, substitute $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups white granulated sugar and 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar for the 1-pound light-brown sugar.

Variations

Coffee-Cream Pralines: Add $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons instant coffee to the sugar, evaporated milk and pecan mixture and cook as above.

Sherry-Cream Pralines: After the candy is cooked and cooled slightly, stir in 1 tablespoon dry sherry or sherry flavoring and proceed as above.

Ginger-Cream Pralines: Add 2 tablespoons finely cut candied ginger to the sugar, evaporated milk and pecan mixture and cook as above.

Sauces Cheese, Enhance Flavour Of These One-Family Vegetables

Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and Brussels sprouts, all belong to the same family and are always much better in their final stage, cooked for eating, if they have been bought fresh. Broccoli, for instance, should never be overmature when purchased for cooking.

Having bought good quality fresh or frozen vegetables, there are many different ways to prepare them for the dinner table and almost everybody's taste may be satisfied. Cheese sauce enhances the taste of this entire cabbage family; butter sauce to which a little lemon juice has been added is good, too, when served over these vegetables.

Cauliflower served with a sour cream-mustard sauce may appeal to members of your family who like a new taste in vegetables. This is the way to fix it:

- Cauliflower Piquant
- 1 small head cauliflower
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sour cream
 - paprika.

Soak cauliflower, head down, about 30 minutes in salted water. Steam in small amount of water in tightly covered saucepan until just tender, about 20-30 minutes (or you may break into flowerets and cook more quickly).

Blend sour cream and mustard and heat in top of double boiler over hot water. Pour over cauliflower, just before serving. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Serves 2-4.

Mock Hollandaise sauce adds to the taste of either broccoli or cauliflower and is very easy to make and serve.

- Mock Hollandaise for Broccoli
- 1 package cream cheese (8-ounce)
 - 2 egg yolks
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - dash salt

Soften cream cheese and add egg yolks, one at a time, blending thoroughly after each addition. Add lemon juice and salt. Place over hot water just until sauce is heated through. Serve over hot, cooked broccoli.

Perhaps you'd like to try deep-frying your Brussels sprouts for a new and different dinner vegetable. Here is a special way of fixing them.

- Breaded Brussels Sprouts
- 4 cups Brussels sprouts
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - $\frac{3}{4}$ cup dry bread crumbs
 - $\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated cheese
 - fat for frying

Dip the washed and drained Brussels sprouts into the beaten egg and roll in bread crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat (380° F.) until brown. Sprinkle with cheese. Serves 8.

Serve Tuna Pompons, Spaghetti For Economy

This is a new dish you're going to like.
Tuna Pompons with Spaghetti
(Makes 4 servings)
Two 6½-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 6-ounce can tomato paste, 1 teaspoon oregano, 1 teaspoon salt, freshly ground pepper, 2 eggs, ¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs, ¼ teaspoon marjoram, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti.

A NEW IDEA for meatless meals, tuna pompons with spaghetti, combines nutrition and economy with appetizing goodness.

Drain tuna and reserve oil. In a saucepan combine 2 tablespoons tuna oil and onion; cook over low heat until onion is golden color. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, oregano, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

In a bowl, combine tuna, un-beaten eggs, ½ cup crumbs and marjoram; mix thoroughly. Shape tuna mixture into 8 pompons. Roll in remaining crumbs. Melt butter in skillet and cook pompons over medium heat until lightly browned. If desired, add browned pompons to tomato sauce and cook 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve tuna pompons with cooked spaghetti and sauce.

Spaghetti with Pickle Tuna Sauce
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup all-purpose flour, 2 cups milk, ¼ cup drained prepared horseradish, 2 tablespoons finely chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles, 1 6½ ounce can chunk-style tuna (drained), salt and pepper to taste, paprika.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Meanwhile, in a saucepan, melt butter over low heat; add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add horseradish, pickles and tuna. Heat to serving temperature. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Serve sauce over cooked spaghetti; dust with paprika.

"Pellon" Interlining To Eliminate Wilted Appearance In Clothes

There may be nothing new under the sun—but there is something new under fashion! It's the new "Wonder under" — the world's only non-woven interlining, made by the Pellon Corporation and distributed in Canada by Canada Hair Cloth Co. Ltd., St. Catherines. It's going to mean a significant change in the "look" of spring and summer clothes, 1954. Lines and effects will gain in emphasis and definition — wilted crinolines will disappear—suits and lined dresses will gain body and lose weight—upstanding, flared or wide necklines will stay that way. In the lingerie field, it's producing truly non-wilt bras. Bathing suits are feeling the effect of this revolutionary "wonder under." Pellon is non-prickly and dries quickly, making possible more comfortable swim suits.

What is Pellon? It's the world's first non-woven fabric, Spinning and weaving are eliminated. Long staple natural fibres, like wool, camel hair or cotton, or synthetic fibres like nylon and others, are randomly distributed and built up into a fibre fleece of desired weight. It is important that the position of the fibres is such that they overlap and cross each other at as many points as possible.

How Pellon Acts Under pressure. More supple and much lighter than other stiffenings, Pellon is also non-crushable, non-wiltable and can be folded and packed tightly without damage to its shape or stiffness. Completely washable, it dries in half the

Use Tenderloin, Sirloin, T-Bone Best Grades Of Beef For Broiling

Suited to broiling are the better grades of tenderloin, sirloin, T-bone, rib or club steaks — all cuts from the more tender muscles of the side of beef. When buying steak for tenderness, look for fine-textured lean, well-marbled with fat, and for red, porous bones, all signs that the steak has come from young, well-fed beef animals.

For home-broiling, a steak 1 to 2 inches thick is suggested. Slash fat at the edges of the meat to prevent its curling as it cooks. Preheat the broiler and grease the broiler rack lightly to keep meat from sticking to it.

Place the steak at the right distance from the heat. This calls for judgment. Generally the rule is to have the top of the meat 2 inches from the heat if you want the steak rare, or at 3 inches if it is to be well-done. Thick steaks should be placed farther from the heat than thin steaks because they need slower cooking.

Generally the oven door should be left open or ajar during broiling, not only to allow the cook to keep watch of the browning but also to see that spattering fat doesn't catch fire.

Broil steak until the top side is browned to your liking, season, then turn on the other side. Browning the other side may take less time because the meat is hot by the time it is turned.

If a fork is used to turn the steak, stick it into the fat, not the lean, to keep juices from running out. Turning with tongs may be easier. Here is an approximate timetable as a guide:

For steak 1-inch thick, rare—total time about 10 minutes, or 5 minutes for each side; medium—about 15 minutes; well done—about 20 to 25 minutes.

For steak 1½ inches thick, rare—about 15 minutes; medium—about 20 minutes; well done—25 to 30 minutes.

For steak 2 inches thick, rare—about 25 minutes; medium—about 35 minutes; well done—about 45 to 50 minutes.

CHOOSING YOUR NYLONS
Women who find their nylons running after one or two wearings should ask themselves: "Am I wearing the right kind of stockings for the occasion?"

As it is folly to wear an evening gown to go marketing, so is it impractical to wear evening-sheer nylons for general work around the farm. A good heavy-weight stocking which will give weeks or months of wear is one made in 60 denier 46 gauge. More sheer and yet quite strong are 15 denier 66 gauge. For very important social events, a woman may wish to give the sheerest effect to her legs by wearing 12 denier 60 gauge.

time necessary for the old interlinings.

Scandal At Scourie Outstanding Comedy

Moviegoers will take Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon to their hearts in "Scandal at Scourie," their eighth co-starring vehicle, now being shown at Westmount Theatre until Tuesday. A tender, warm-hearted drama permeated with a quiet humor and at its high points unashamedly tugging at your heartstrings, it tells the story of a devoted but childless couple who adopt a little orphaned girl, and, as a result, find themselves the victims of social and political animosity in a small Canadian community.

Pidgeon is cast as Patrick McChesney, forthright, honest, upstanding leader in the small town of Scourie, Ontario. He is a store owner, chief of the Fire Department, a respected member of his Protestant church and a candidate for the provincial legislature. When his wife, Vicki, (Miss Garson), discovers the little orphan waif, Patsy, who has become homeless because of the accidental burning of a Catholic orphanage, she determines that she and her husband will raise the little girl as their own. This starts off an unexpected holocaust when McChesney's political opponent accuses him of having adopted Patsy in order to win over the Catholic vote, an attack which is brought to an even more fervid point when the schoolhouse is set afire, with Patsy accused of arson. It would rob the story of suspense to reveal its outcome here.

'Paintings of Paris' Exhibit Is Opened by Jean Mouton

Opened by Jean Mouton, cultural representative of the French Embassy at Ottawa, an exhibition of "Paintings of Paris" by Jean Paul Brusset, distinguished French artist, is now on display at the Waldorf Galleries on Sherbrooke Street West. The exhibition was arranged by Henry Abramson, director of the Waldorf Galleries, well-known in the west-end and a resident of 417 Metcalfe Avenue in Westmount.

While this exhibition is primarily of Paris, Jean Paul Brusset has included several of the religious canvasses for which he is famous. Among them are "The Way of the Cross," "Christ on the Cross" and "The Virgin Mary."

Jean Paul Brusset studied fresco with Baudoin, sculpture with Wierick and painting with Wierosky. At the age of 18 he exhibited his work at the Salon d'Automne, the Salon des Artistes Français and at the Salon des Tuileries. At the age

Niser Club Girls To Do 'Butterfly'

Twelve dancing girls of the Nisei Club will enact the story of Madame Butterfly, Puccini's opera in the "Flying Carpet" McGill's international variety show which will be presented to the public tonight at Moyses Hall at eight thirty and will continue through to Tuesday, December 8, except Sunday.

Elaine Newman, 3841 Melrose Avenue, director of the French production announces that the scene will be laid in a Paris street cafe. A group of young cosmopolites will sing and chat in the atmosphere of the Left Bank. Tango dancers Helene Caille also of N.D.G. and Errol Wright of the West Indies will appear as a high society couple visiting the cafe. One of this production's highlights is the torch song "Sensationnelle" by the paper boy.

The continuity has been written by Bunny Miller, a Ph.D. student in chemistry. It deals with the search by Mrs. Samuel Blossom and her adolescent daughter for her husband who disappeared 7 years ago. She knows he was addicted to a drink called a "Brain-washer" and that only the countries that have the ingredients will serve this concoction. Each of the seven countries she visits has one vital ingredient. Japan had saki; France had cognac; Germany where they see a little zither player and two slap dancers the ingredient is of course beer. So on through Israel where haunting Biblical dances from the Song of Songs are held; Poland where a legend is being enacted; the Ukraine where there are lively dances; Jamaica and its calypso singers "where the rum comes from". The audience will find out at the end whether Mrs. Blossom and her daughter get their respective men.

Tickets are seventy five cents each and are on sale at the door tonight and every night. They may also be obtained at the Students Union, 690 Sherbrooke Street West.

Canada's earliest manufacturing concerns were breweries and foundries, by the end of the 19th century the production of textiles, iron and steel, pulp and paper, and cheese and butter were thriving manufacturing industries.

KARL STEINER

Karl Steiner, well-known local pianist, will feature the first American performance of Apostel's sonatina-ritmica, op. 5 on a radio recital Sunday, Dec. 6 over CBM at 10:30 a.m.

Sonata G major by Kirnberger and Bagatelles Op. 126 by Beethoven will also be featured on the program.

In describing his program, Steiner calls Apostel one of the outstanding contemporary Austrian composers, a pupil of the great radical modern composers A. Schoenberg and A. Berg.

These men, along with Anton von Webern, developed a very progressed and complicated style of musical composition known as 12-tone music. It slowly gained the recognition of the musical world, but performances of this style are still rare because of the problems of performing and understanding, according to Steiner.

of 24 he had his first one-man show, under the patronage of the President of France and the Minister of the Beaux Arts. Tistan Bernard wrote the preface for his catalogue and Brusset was awarded the famous Paul Guillame prize for contemporary painting.

In 1937 Brusset's paintings were shown at the International Exposition in Paris where he participated in the decoration of the "La Femme" and the "Wines of France" pavilions. He designed the decor for the galas of the International Film Festival at Cannes and for the "Ball des Petits Lits Blancs."

During the war the Ministry of Information of the Paul Reynaud government commissioned him as a war artist. In 1941 he left France to join the French Corps in North Africa and in 1942 decorated the Voice of America studios in Algiers, later painting posters for the Free French government in Tunisia. After the war Jean Paul Brusset returned to Paris and dedicated himself to painting scenes of the city he had cherished during his long years of exile — scenes now included in the exhibition at the Waldorf Galleries.

Exams Cut Sports At Senior High; St. Leo's In

Though exam time cut down activities at Westmount High School, the sporting scene hummed as coaches began to develop their strategy for the coming campaigns. Ron Sharp, directing the senior Basketball entry, looked forward to hard practices and a fast start in the school league.

Hockey mentor Ross Firth selected three of his stalwarts to represent the western dream team at the High School Hockey Carnival, in addition to a five man relay team. His boys will work out twice a week at The Forum, with Rocky Rothwell, head of the city's recreation set-up aiding him at a couple of practices.

St. Leo's Get Ice

St. Leo's pulled an about face and accepted 18 dates for ice time during the coming year, and have entered a senior B entry in the inter-school league. Their times come at different rinks, and they have decided to put five teams in the city hockey leagues. Rothwell will direct.

Westmount Junior High School, the other Westmount institute affected, has already entered eight squads in the city loop.

No Junior Team

The Senior High also decided against a junior hockey team, main reason being the lack of a coach from the school. In addition, they too would have faced the ice problem so prevalent now. Rothwell expects 35 teams in his City loops, ranging from mosquito to juvenile. This will be a bumper year for him with more school boys playing than ever before.

The basketballers will work out at least once a week at the new Roslyn gym, and any other time they can get it. A palace in comparison to the Senior High's gym.

Westmount, St. Leo's Contribute To Carnival Dream Team Line-ups

The names of the lads who'll be giving their all in the feature attraction of Monday night's high school hockey carnival, the West versus East All-star tilt at The Forum, were released this week by Vince Patton, the NDGER who has been beating the publicity tom-toms for the high schoolers' biggest event of the winter season.

Included on the west squad are three members of Coach Ross Firth's senior B pucksters at Westmount High. They are Bob Baker, a defenceman, Harry Seifert, centre, and Bob Smith, right wing. Due to the smaller number of teams entered in hockey this year, it is necessary to combine the senior A and B-categories for the Carnival.

Seifert and Smith repeat on the Westmount relay entry, along with Bruce Wilson and Chris Carr. Don Ferrier is fifth man. St. Leo's placed two men on the senior squad.

There'll be some names on the missing list. West Hill and Montreal West have found the chore of securing practice ice a little more than they can cope with this season and, as a result, have decided to pull out of the interscholastic set-up. Consequently these two hotbeds of the winter sport won't be represented Monday.

The west's senior A dream team is made up of Brian Dunnigan, St. Leo's; Tommy St. James, St. Leo's; Des Senior, Verdun; A. Costigan, Verdun; J. Bowman, Verdun; Tommy Holmes, Verdun; J. Brisebois, Loyola; D. Pringle, Loyola.

The Easts roster of luminaries includes Ted Sydlowski, D'Arcy McGee; J. Gilmour, McGee; A. Queeneville, McGee; J. Guilbault, McGee; C. Carroll, McGee; D. MacLean, Chambly County; S. Pickett, Chambly County; D. Gowing, Montreal High; B. Goodwin, Catholic High; R. Marquis, Catholic High; R. Bouchard, Catholic High; R. Ahern, Catholic High; C. James, Rosemount; S. Rodeck, Rosemount; Mike Yurchuk, Montreal High; P. Milo, Montreal High.

Rival coaches will be Brother Paul of Catholic High, who will handle the East, and Andy Watson of Verdun High who will be giving out with the strategy for the West.

The Program

The lengthy program also features Junior and Bantam contests which will pit the cream of the East against the best that the West can muster.

There'll also be a broomball game, a girl's game, a duds' game, and the traditional relay races.

The whole shebang is slated for a 7.30 start.

The Committee

The teacher committee in charge of all arrangements for the event is headed by D'Arcy McGee's Brother Paul. Working with him are Dave

MacRae Back In Top Spot

MacRae Electric, under coach Don Tinning, tomorrow hope to strengthen their grip on first place in the St. Laurent Hockey League when they meet St. Laurent Laurels in the opener at 2 p.m. The Laurels are looking for their second win.

The Electricians moved into top spot by virtue of a 3-2 win over Royal Pharmacy, while NDG Regents lost by the same count to St. Laurent. With only 11 men on hand, the locals turned in a fine game, paced by the fine defensive displays of Ron Brambell and Stu McCowan.

The Druggists moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period when Bill Ransom converted passes from Read and David. Tom Quirk tied it up early in the second, with Ransom converted passes from (Continued on page 19)

Unbeaten Staynor Lead Municipal; Frosst Moves Up

Frosst defeated Royals 41-37 in the second game of the weekly basketball double-header. This win, a 4-pointer, coupled with their initial victory last week over Avenue Stars, moves them out of the cellar in the league standings. Frosst took the blankets off Johnny Bollen for their first win and he scored 28 points — an individual record to date.

Ian McIntosh played a stand-out game on Tuesday night — he had 11 baskets and connected on three free throws for 25 points. Staynor defeated Avenue Stars 52-37 and remain unbeaten. Doug Alexander had 14 points while Pete Seimer and Earle MacDonald played their usual good game. Al Turner's 18 points made him high man for the losers.

● ALL SCHOOLS FORCED to curtail their interschool hockey activities due to a lack of ice time have signified their intention of stepping up intramural programs to take up the slack. In addition, they will enter teams in the city hockey leagues, under the direction of Rocky Rothwell, recreation head.

Rothwell seems to be in for a bumper year with his hockey crew. Now in office long enough to get his ideas rolling, the Rock gave folks a sample of his organization with the Municipal Touch Rugby League, most successful both from the boys' and parents' points of view.

He expects over 35 teams to enter his hockey leagues, ranging from mosquito to juvenile, and many of these will bear school colors. St. Leo's, even though they decided to enter a senior B squad, have signified their intentions of putting in five teams, while Westmount Junior, completely bereft of interschool hockey, will enter eight.

Rothwell claims that the schools should band together and build an outdoor rink. Pointing to Westmount High School, one of the luckier ones with two hours a week of practice at The Forum, he guarantees more than that amount of time each week from an outdoor rink, properly cared for.

People who feel saddest at the schools withdrawal from their traditional leagues say that outdoor rinks do not provide enough good skating time to make their use profitable; in other words, nothing can be done about the situation without artificial ice.

Many others are inclined to agree with Rothwell's opinion, and at least say it is worth a try. Though Westmount rinks enjoyed but 35 days of good skating time last season, a similar number this year would still provide enough time to enjoy an interschool league on the same basis as past years.

It seems to be a good solution to the problem for the time being, certainly it is better than waiting around for someone to build an artificial rink. None will be ready before next year, and by that time it will be too late to make up the missing activity this season. Rocky feels this cessation of activities, while only affecting 15 boys, will turn more to his leagues. With any kind of skating luck, he will provide more and better hockey this winter than the 15 who would have been on the school team could possibly have enjoyed.

● CARNIVAL CAPERS: Westmount High School managed three boys on the west end dream team for the High School Hockey Carnival Monday. St. Leo's put two on the roster. Both schools will have relay teams entered, and officials hope everything will happen as smoothly as planned. The west end dream team also has representatives from Verdun and Loyola, which leaves it woefully weak from the standpoint of senior A material. All but Loyola are entered in the B league, but because West Hill, Montreal West and a few other schools are not functioning in the ice lanes this year, the carnival had to combine the A and B sections. Baker, Seifert, Smith are from Westmount, Dunnigan and St. James from St. Leo's.

● Today and tomorrow the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations hold their 1953 convention at the Mount Royal Hotel. Omer Bernier, Federation president, has stressed protection of the habitat of our wildlife through the prevention of forest fires in pre-convention planning, and this will be its theme. It is a good one to take, for without green forests we cannot hope to have game animals or birds. The forests are also necessary to provide clean waters for our fish and aquatic life. Delegates representing more than 35,000 Quebec fishermen and hunters will attend this eighth annual convention, and they have all agreed with the theme; if it's good enough for these experts, surely it's good enough for you.

● WESTMOUNT WANDERINGS: George Presho's Unity cagers take on a tough assignment in their opener tonight when they meet the Buddies, classy colored cage crew. . . Also in court circles, Dow lost in their debut when such noted point-getters as McIntosh, Field, Stryde, Rowntree et al somehow managed to miss 56 out of 67 shots. . . They get a chance to redeem themselves Saturday when they play Southwestern Y. . . coach Doug Alexander is sure his boys can, and what is more important, will do better. . . Staynor's mighty crew in the Municipal Intermediate League rolling along with seven wins and no losses. . . Frosst behind newcomer Johnny Bollen made their move and with two straight wins jumped out of the cellar.

MacRae Electric, after falling out of top spot in the St. Laurent League, went right back in again on a goal by Al Turner, who roared all the way down the ice to collect. . . NDG Regents, former leaders, gave the Laurels their first win by losing 3-2. . . The four team loop is extremely popular, and the brand of hockey much higher and better-organized than generally known.

Gordie and Andy Simpson will be the feature entertainers at the Westmount Y badminton exhibition and clinic tonight. Members of the Westmount Badminton Club will also take part in the show. Any aspiring players, and those who are veterans at the game too, will find it enjoyable and profitable. . . Former Westmount High players forming the backbone of the Bishop's College hoop team. . . Bill McGowan, famed American League arbiter, will hold forth at the Provincial Umpires School for both baseball and softball umpires. . . It starts March 8, runs through to April 9, with school on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, Sunday afternoons. . . A free course, it is open to all and applications should be sent to the secretary-treasurer, Provincial Umpires School, PO Box 97, 1145 Bernard street west, Outremont, Que.

The Westmount Millionaires Hockey Club will enter three teams in the Westmount Municipal League, midget, juvenile and junior C categories. Ritchie Bell manages the organization and is coach of the juveniles. Talbot Nelles is president, Ian MacRae secretary, and Grant Gill, assistant general manager, doubles as midget coach.

Unity, Buddies Hook Up In Initial League Clash

Coach George Presho's Unity Boys Club cagers open their 1953-54 season schedule Friday night when they play host to the Buddies, an all-colored club that plays a spirited brand of ball. Game time has been announced as 8:30.

These same two aggregations met recently in Golden Ball competition. The Unity laddies won that one by a score of 56-53, all but blowing a 10-point lead in the last three minutes of what was a very roughly played contest.

The UBC quintet expect to have all hands on deck for their schedule opener with the exception of Teddy Rice. The Rice man's gimpy knee gave out in him again last week in the UBC game with Sir George Williams College. He is not likely to be in the lineup tomorrow.

LOSE TO GEORGIANS

Unity lost out in their bid for the intermediate Golden Ball championship when they were defeated 72-66 in a well-played hoopla display reeled off in the collegians' own Central Y gym last Thursday. The win gave the Golden Ball crown to coach Mag Flynn's maroon and gold clad college boys.

This was a close, hard-fought game all the way. At the half the Georgians were nursing a 36-35 lead, a margin that the visiting Unity Boys erased in the third quarter. The Presho men went ahead in that third stanza and ran up an eight-point lead before the collegians were able to regain their scoring eyes.

Hal Stackhouse paced the SGWC quintet to the win by potting 20 points. Next in line for the Golden Ball champs were Jules Avrutick with 16 and Doug Reed, a Westmount High product, with 14.

Grant "Oscar" Peterson was the top point-getter among the Unity larrigans with 16 points. George Cochrane was next in line with 12. Last Friday night this same Georgian club defeated Bishop's in an intercollegiate game by a score of 109-35.

Stu McCowan, enjoying one of his best seasons, gave the home crew a 2-1 lead when he took a pass from Ron Brambell and streaked in to beat young Hughes easily. Frankie Read knotted the count on a relay from Pogue, and the teams battled evenly until Al Turner, after skating the length of the ice, blasted in the winner.

MacRae gave a superb defensive display when they were short two men, and didn't allow a shot on goal. Goalie Doug Brambell stopped three breakaways in the third period to also star. MacRae are now one point ahead of NDG.

Dow Lose Opener Face Southwestern

The Dow cage squad faces Southwestern Y tomorrow night, still looking for their initial win. They were dumped 48-35 by Giants in the MBL senior B opener Monday at the new Roslyn gym.

Poor shooting proved the downfall for coach Doug Alexander's boys. They only managed to hit on 11 of 67 shots from the floor, and added 13 free throws to account for all their markers. Mentor Doug feels his team is capable of better things, and they'll have to be if they want to get anywhere in the classy B Loop.

Giants Lead at Half

Play was even all the way through, and the winners won only because they missed less shots than their opponents. Half time score was 15-13 for the Giants, new entry to the league, and they went ahead by 17 in the third quarter. Dow fought back, but couldn't ever get completely back in contention.

Saturday at 8 p.m. the Dow quintet meets Southwestern at the latter's home floor.

Ian McIntosh led Dow with 12 points, followed by Jack Field with 11. Freedman, 12, and Kott, 10, paced the Giants.
