News in brief

Fatal stabbing

COWANSVILLE — A coroner's inquest into the fatal stabbing of a 13-year-old boy at the Flambeau Home Inc. in Bondsville was adjourned Friday night to Monday at 1 p.m. According to officials at the home, Daniel Lortie was killed during a scuffle that broke out between him and his twin brother at the dinner table over the possession of a knife. The youth was pronounced dead at 2 p.m. at the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital in Swetsburg. Daniel's twin brother was taken into police custody in Montreal.

May be freed

HAVANA (AP) — A Christmas gift of freedom today awaited 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners after 20 months of captivity. The Castro government agreed Friday to release them in exchange for medicine and food. The men will be freed "on or before Christmas," lawyer James B. Donovan of New York, chief negotiator for the prisoners' families, announced. Donovan broke the news himself to some prisoners held in Havana's Principe Castle, and word of their long-awaited freedom also was relayed to other captives held on the Isle of Pines off southwest Cuba. In Washington, American Red Cross officials reported the first prisoners are expected to arrive in Miami Sunday. But Havana radio said they would not be freed until Monday. Red Cross officials said they are highly optimistic that the entire prisoner group will be back among their friends and relatives of the captives live in Miami.

Fires put out

Municipal firemen from Sherbrooke's number five fire station were called to a Windsor Street home twice Friday to put out a chimney fire and a fire started by an overheated furnace pipe. Damage to the home of J. A. Leclerc was reported as small. The chimney fire started at 11:28 a.m. The fire in the furnace pipe started early Friday morning. Both fires were extinguished in a matter of minutes. Fire early Friday night caused slight damage to the first floor of the home of Edgar Chartier, 740 Westmount Street, Sherbrooke. Firemen said the fire started by a short in a wire of an automatic clothes dryer in the basement.

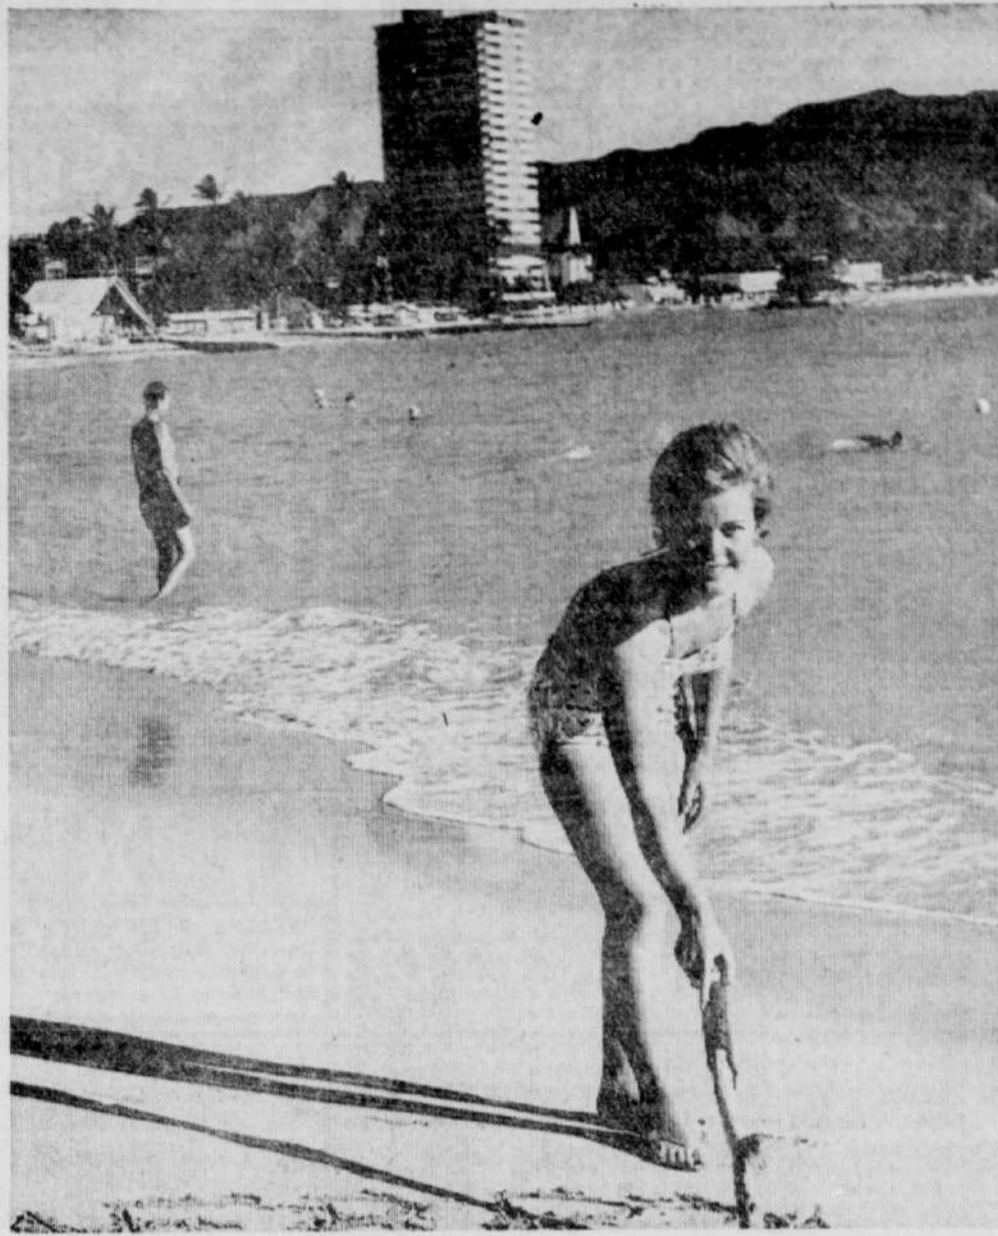

Held hostage

MONTREAL (CP) — Eugene Gibeau, elderly chairman of the board of the Slater Shoe Company, was released unharmed Friday night after almost three hours as the hostage of a hold-upman wielding an army sub-machinegun. But an external auditor for the company was severely wounded earlier when hit by a stray bullet in an exchange of gunfire between police and three bandits who invaded the firm in the northeast-end. Roger Poupart, about 40, underwent surgery in Bellechasse General Hospital Friday night for removal of a slug lodged near his heart.

More licenses?

OTTAWA (CP) — The Board of Broadcast Governors says it is willing to consider applications by the CBC for reserving channels for second television stations in certain areas. However, the board is not prepared to outline a long-run policy with respect to the licensing of additional stations to the CBC. This was stated Friday in policy statement on the extension of alternative television service in Canada. The statement also declared that because of limitations on the national advertising revenues available, conditions in the smaller markets do not, with one or two possible exceptions, offer the prospect of further "second" local stations at this time.

May attempt Communist Party coup in India

Mao attempts to supplant K

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The next step in the China-India struggle may be an attempt by Peking to wrest leadership of the Communist party in India from Moscow. Key Defense and State Department analysts expect this move because they see Mao Tsetung's quickie invasion of India as part of his drive to supplant Nikita Khrushchev as leader of world communism.

These men believe Mao achieved his first-round aims in the mountain fighting. They think the quick push and the proposed pullback and truce were planned from the beginning. If the Chinese Reds were successful in ousting Moscow oriented men from Indian party leadership, they would begin a slow rebuilding of that party according to Chinese doctrine of implacable hostility to the non-Communist world instead of Russian co-existence. This Indian move would be followed by an aggressive attempt to gain more influence in the Communist parties of other underdeveloped countries. At one time, Chinese leaders saw the building of a Red underground in Africa, Asia and Latin America as a joint Russo-Chinese cooperative effort. Now there appears to be growing Chinese belief that the leadership of Red undergrounds should be in Chinese hands. There is increasing evidence that Mao's men believe Chinese techniques are better and that the Russians don't have "guts" in a showdown. The Washington analysts point out that the Red Chinese already have achieved these results. They "exposed" Khrushchev as a man who wouldn't back India in a showdown. This created a strain between India and Russia. It served notice to other neutrals that Russia was not dependable in the clinches. It put Red China in a position to challenge Russia's leadership in the Communist parties of underdeveloped countries.

Success in Saskatchewan

Health plan grows rapidly

REGINA — (TNS) — T. C. Douglas' baby is six months old and looks as though it might live. Saskatchewan's compulsory, government-operated medical care plan, conceived by the New Democratic Party's leader and delivered by Premier Woodrow Lloyd, had an unbirth and tried to kill its father politically. Now Premier Woodrow Lloyd and his party of agrarian socialists (still called the CCF) have a fairly healthy, if somewhat scarred, infant who is growing rapidly.

the scheme for government subsidization of private plans envisaged since late 1959 by the doctors. It is certainly not the plan the government had on the statute books when Mr. Douglas was waffled away to national politics. That plan called for state medicine with a direct-billing arrangement between the doctors and the Medical Care Insurance Commission, administrators of the scheme. The already shorthanded medical profession, by conservative estimates, has lost 85 men due to medicare. Many of these are top specialists.

Mushrooming community clinics have cut into the private practitioners' business — by DBS figures $18,500 average yearly income before medicare. The clinics were set up mainly by UK doctors and operated by citizens favoring the plan. They work directly with the government. More than 10,000

A legend is dying

Hornblowers are flabbergasted; Britain's seapower on the wane

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON—(NEA)—Inside every Englishman, a Captain Horatio Hornblower is said to be struggling to get out. If this is true the Hornblowers of England must be reeling from the rude blows dealt to them by the latest 1962-63, edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships."

Time was when the mere sight of a British gunboat riding at anchor was enough to make lesser nations capitulate. A Spithead review, with ships of the Grand Fleet stretched as far as the eye could see, was once reckoned to put the fear of God into the great powers.

Rising comparatively slowly

Canada's prices in a competitive position

The myth that Canada is pricing itself out of world markets doesn't stand up under a new analysis of North America and European conditions produced by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development. Evidence from the 20 member countries shows that Canada's price and wage record compares favorably with the others. NOT AS FAST The conclusion is that Canadian prices aren't rising as fast as those of most of our trading partners and competitors. Wages, regarded as one of the chief causes of price increases, have been held as close to productivity as in the U.S. and closer than in major European industrialized nations. In the 1953-61 period, a time that includes boom and recession stages, Canada's consumer prices rose by an annual average percentage of 1.3, a fraction lower than the U.S. record. In the same period, Britain's prices rose 2.9 per cent, France's 4.1, Sweden's 3.1 and Germany's 1.8.

confirms that the price Canadians have to get for their products, in home and world markets, is indeed rising constantly. But because prices in other countries are rising even faster, Canada's relative position is improving. In other words, this country's products are becoming, or should be, more competitive in world markets. RENTS CLIMB The figures have to be taken with some reservations, because part of the most startling European increases is attributable to sharp increases in rents over the period (19.6 per cent in France last year, for example.) However, prices are up generally for food, other goods and services to a far greater degree than in Canada.

This means that the Canadian record in keeping wage increases in line with growing productivity is better than that of the other countries in the AECED, an organization which is growing into a sort of economic NATO. HIGHER BASE What the new OECD statistics don't show is the fact that Canada and the U.S. keep growing from a higher base than their European partners. In spite of this, the gap in prices is closing and the relative position improv-

Tobacco theft Police continue search

GRANBY — (STAFF) — Quebec Provincial Police and municipal police here are continuing their search in the hope of finding $39,000 worth of tobacco stolen from a van Tuesday night.

Granby police said a van containing the tobacco was stolen from the Smith Transport depot Tuesday night, hauled to La Prairie, 48-miles west of here, where it was found empty about 11 p.m.

Police said the van was pulled away with a tractor-truck stolen from another company.

Gerard Davignon, manager of the Smith Transport depot here, said the van was parked at the depot parking lot where it was waiting for a truck to haul it to Quebec City when it was stolen.

"I left the depot about 6:30 p.m. and it was still there," Mr. Davignon said.

The theft was discovered about 10 p.m. when two employees arrived at the depot with the truck to pull the van.

The van and truck were taken to the Smith Transport Company depot on Cote de Liesse road, Montreal, where police checked it over for possible fingerprints.

To enforce liquor laws

Cpl. Robert Roy, officer in charge of the Sherbrooke detachment of Quebec Provincial Police and in charge of the liquor squad for the Sherbrooke area, said Friday he received orders from Quebec that closing hours for all licensed liquor outlets will be 10 p.m. Christmas Eve and 12 p.m. New Year's Eve.

He said Christmas Day and New Year's Day, hotels and licensed liquor restaurants will be permitted to sell beverages only with meals from 1 p.m. until 11 p.m.

"All provincial police officers in the area have been notified of the closing hours and told to enforce them closely," Cpl. Roy said.

He added that police officers have also been ordered to pay special attention to drunken drivers over the long Christmas holiday weekend.

"Our officers will arrest any motorist for reckless driving or driving under the influence of alcohol," Cpl. Roy said.

High Times

By SANDRA PICKFORD

"Resolved that Santa Claus occupies a proper place in our society" was the topic for discussion at Sherbrooke High School's debate this week.

The negative side, made up of John Mawhood and David Willis, lost to the affirmative side, made up of Cheryl Nugent and David Hogg. This is the second debate to be held this school year at SHS, says correspondent Janet Baker, and a committee has been formed to look after future debates. President is Gordon Bennett. Chairmen of arrangements are Gordon Bennett, David Willis and John Mawhood.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST — A public speaking contest was held among the boy and girl class winners at St. Francis High School December 18, says new correspondent Dawn Goodfellow who is taking over for Eleanor Duffy.

Those participating were: Grade eight, Barbara Badger, Ann Robinson, Carol Robinson and Ryan Quinn. Grade nine: Barbara Aulis, Willo Denison, Susan Gregory, Brian Woods, Bruce Lowry and Gene Planidin. Grade 10, Monique LaPerle, Dawn Goodfellow, Sydney Barrie and Bruce Tibbits. Grade 11: Eleanor Duffy and James Mason.

Medals were given to Gene Planidin and Barbara Aulis for winning in grades eight and nine. Cups were given to Gene Planidin and Dawn Goodfellow for winning in grades eight to eleven. Gene Planidin and Dawn Goodfellow will have their names engraved on a public speaking plaque.

CHESS CHAMPION — Earl Robson has won the title of Chess King at Sherbrooke High School. A chess tournament was held December 7 at Sherbrooke High School and Earl proved himself master of the game after winning over 24 other contestants. After defeating Keith Fern, John Mawhood went on to the final match with Earl Robson. The tournament lasted five hours and several students from St. Patrick High School were on hand for the big event. Earl was awarded the champion's trophy by the club's sponsor, Ronald Holden. The consolation prize was won by Dave Sinclair.

ANNUAL DANCE HELD — Sunnyside High School students held their annual Christmas dance December 14. The school gymnasium was decorated with festive red and white garlands, evergreens and tinsel and in the center of the floor was a huge decorated and lighted Christmas tree.

Music for dancing was played by Les Beaulieu's orchestra. The receiving line was comprised of Peter Burpee and Miss Lillian Rider, staff; Mary Osborne and Richard Reynolds, grade 11 students and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Majury, representing the home and school association. Roland Beasee was master of ceremonies. A midnight lunch was served under the supervision of Dr. K. Harper and Mrs. Ellen Smith, assisted by others of the staff and students.

NHS CHRISTMAS DANCE — The Students' Council of North Hatley High School will hold its Christmas Dance tonight. Les Beaulieu's Orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 to 1 a.m.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE — See the old year out and the New Year in at Rook Island January 1 where the students of Sunnyside High School are holding a New Year's Eve dance. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 a.m.

SPORTS WEEKEND — The first sports weekend of the Sunnyside High School Alumni will be held December 28 when the old boys hockey game and the old girls basketball games will take place. A supper will be held after in the cafeteria to be followed by a record hop.

EDUCATIONAL DEBATE — On December 14 a debate was held between girls of second and third high at Notre Dame High School at Richmond. The subject was "Resolved that girls should take the same academic subjects as boys." This debate was won by the affirmative team composed of Barbara Fowler and Lora Hodsman of third high. The second high team was made up of Beverly Sears and Michelle Bourbeau.

SKI TEAM CHOSEN — The members of the St. Patrick High School ski team have been chosen, reports correspondent Richard Wilson. They are Robert McMahon, David Simms, Jack Thounin, George Thounin and John Meissner. The boys, together with their coach, Reverend Father Jeffcoat are looking forward to their first competition.

COOKSHIRE PLANS DANCE — The Red Cross council at Cookshire High School is making plans to hold a dance in January. The date has not been set as yet, says correspondent Deborah Todd.

LAUNCH ROCKET — The St. Patrick High School Rocket club has made a successful launching attempt. The rocket was launched in the laboratory but was weighted down with anchors. This test, says Richard Wilson, was to see if the fuel would ignite. Father Morin, moderator of the club says that he expects there will be another attempt to blast-off sometime during the Christmas holidays so that the boys can devote more time to this project.

Before closing for the 1962 year, Merry Christmas to High Times readers and correspondents and best wishes for a happy, prosperous New Year.

Special services are planned for Christmas

Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships churches have planned a wide variety of special services for Christmas.

The Salvation Army Chapel on Wellington South will offer two services Sunday, one at 11 a.m. on Holiness, the second at 7 p.m. on Salvation. Capt. Richard Park will conduct both.

Plymouth United Church on Dufferin Avenue will hold a family service with special music Sunday at 11 a.m. on The Heart of Christmas.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian on Frontenac, guest preacher Ronald Rowat will deal with Mary's Christmas, Sunday at 11 a.m.

At Trinity United on Court Street the 11 a.m. service will be a family one on The Way to Christmas, and a candlelight carol service will be offered by the junior and senior choirs at 7 p.m. Let Us Keep the Feast will be the theme of a Christmas Eve candlelight Communion service on Monday at 11 p.m.

At Sangster Memorial United Church the theme of the Christmas Sunday service at 11 a.m. will be If Christ Be Born Anew. At 4 p.m. Christmas cantata will be performed.

At Lennoxville United identical morning services will be held at 9:30 and 11, with the Rev. A. B. Lovelace preaching on Is God in Your Christmas? There will be a carol vesper at 4:30 p.m. and a Christmas eve service Monday at 7:30 p.m.

St. Peter's Anglican Church will have three services, at 8 a.m., 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 23, fourth Sunday of Advent, and three on Christmas Day — 9 a.m., 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

At the Church of the Advent, also Anglican, Sunday service will be at 10 a.m. Its sister church, St. Paul the Apostle, will offer Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and Sunday school at 11:15. There will be midnight Eucharist at the Church of the Advent on Christmas eve, and both churches will have Christmas morning services at 10:30 a.m.

At St. George's Anglican in Lennoxville, there will be three Sunday services: Holy Communion at 8 a.m., Rev. Owen Merriman preaching at 9:30 a.m., and Peter Meggs preaching at 11 a.m. There will be a candlelight carol service of the Nine Lessons for the whole family at 5 p.m.

While most services will be on Sunday, Dec. 23, two days before the holiday, St. John's Anglican Church in West Shefford is announcing Holy Communion for Christmas day itself. It will be celebrated by the Venerable Archdeacon I. M. Lidstone at 9:30 a.m.

A Christmas cantata entitled Infant Holy will be the special event at Wesley United Church in Beebe, at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Don't miss that Christmas photo Last minute check of equipment vital

Well, the big day is just around the next Christmas tree and if you can find time to read all your Sherbrooke Daily Record you will have lots of helpful hints on everything from soup to cameras.

So in keeping with this trend here are a few friendly reminders about your photo equipment.

Make sure that you have the proper film on hand and perhaps a bushel of flash-bulbs. Movie fans should check over the light bar so as to make sure that half of the bulbs do not burn out during your Christmas movie scenes. Have a couple of extra bulbs just in case.

Movie camera operators should see that the film and it's A.S.A. rating are synchronized with the light meter on the automatic cameras.

The new Kodachrome film has an A.S.A. rating of 25, it formerly was ten. You must remember to adjust the meter accordingly or overexposure will result.

For those using movie cameras always remember to hold the camera steady while filming a scene.

The length of scene should be from five to eight seconds. If you feel that the scene requires more filming, it is best to change your camera position so as to have a different view for another eight seconds.

For the still camera fan, the scenes must emphasize expression, and the unposed look which must create action as with the movie camera fan he is getting the necessary action by storing up a series of pictures which in turn gives the illusion of action.

No matter how you handle the picture-taking fun is going to be confusing in some way or another as the last thing the family has patience for will be pictures on Christmas morning. However, they will be the first to complain if you overlook this eventful hour.

So just take the pictures with the least amount of fuss and hope for the best.

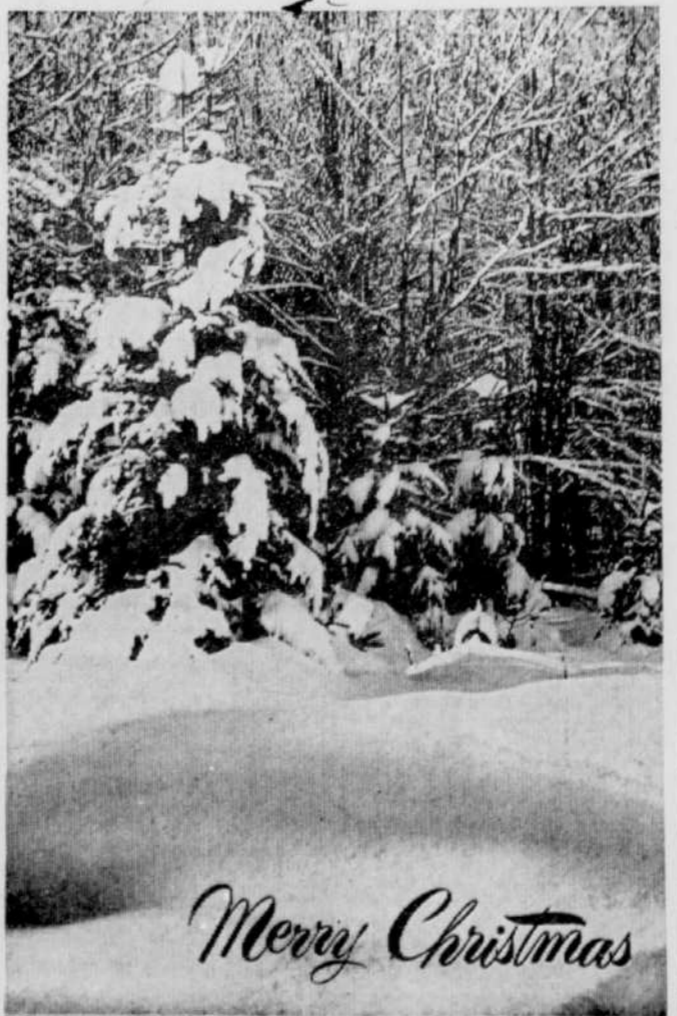

One final tip for those using photographic lighting equipment is to remember to have a few fuses on hand, and if it is possible at all, run your lighting from an extension to an outlet in an electric stove, if there's one handy, of course.

Electric stoves have their own fusing equipment and are run from a separate line from the main box.

Scouting and Cubbing

Fifth Sherbrooke Pack last week enjoyed a Christmas party with games, songs, and ice cream. Assistant Colin Jennisson entertained the boys with a few numbers on his guitar while the treats were being served. The Red Six, led by Sixer Grant Blackmore, received an additional reward for winning the monthly competition.

Kenneth Dick of the Red Six was presented with his First Star by Akela Ken Bartlett, thus earning the winning ten bits for his Six. Gary Maxwell made his Cub Promise to Akela as he was presented with his red neckerchief and was able to take part in the Grand Howl for the first time.

Scouters Owen Phelan, Bert Duval, and Roger Duval were invested by District Commissioner Percy Gray at a special ceremony at 10th Sherbrooke last week. Also present for the occasion were District Cubmaster Richard Tracey and District President Stan Lothrop.

Also at 10th Sherbrooke, Richard Stock and Danny Stock were awarded their Leaping Wolf badge. The presentation was made by District Cubmaster Richard Tracey who was their Akela when Richard and Danny were members of the 5th Sherbrooke Pack. As a Cub, Danny earned the full number of badges available at that time.

An Investiture Ceremony was held at Second Lennoxville meeting last week as Ian Hunt, Jim Sawyer, Ed Deacon, and Scott Parker promised to do their best and were presented with their neckerchiefs by Akela, Harold Phillips. Present for the ceremony was group committee president Alex Savage, and the fathers of the four boys. District Cubmaster R. Tracey was also at the meeting and introduced a new game to the Pack.

Senior Sixer David Loach was presented with the Swimmer's Badge and Athlete's Badge which he earned at District Cub Camp last summer.

A Christmas Toy Shop is being operated in Lennoxville by the Boy Scouts and the toys will be distributed on Christmas Eve to needy families in the area.

A uniform exchange program is being operated by Mrs. L. Peasley, 616 Galt E. Anyone with uniforms to sell or donate, and anyone who desires a second-hand uniform is asked to contact Mrs. Peasley at LO. 2-7950.

Hope sees beyond limitations; gives men ability to carry on

Hope is the sustaining element that puts elastic in one's step and peace in the soul. Life can be endured as long as hope stimulates the mind and glands and spirits of weak mortals.

TAKE IT FROM KATHY

SUCCESS

Dear Kathy: This is quite long, and to me, a humiliating story. To make it easy for both of us, I'm going to do it as a story.

One day J (that's me), was talking to two girls, Snoopy and Loudmouth. (They're the villains Snoopy and Loudmouth asked J who she liked and she said, "I'll never tell." This aroused their curiosity and, after questioning J, they figured out who the boy was. They were right and now J wonders what next! J is sick for fear Snoopy and Loudmouth will tell, although they promised they wouldn't. If this certain boy finds out, it will end all hopes for J to keep this boy as a friend.

What would you say J should do if this boy finds out? — J. Dear J: You are probably not quite old enough to date so, like many other girls, settle for the fun of talking about boys. Haven't you often played the parts of Loudmouth and Snoopy? If all the details of the story were included, wouldn't we discover that you enjoyed sharing your secret with the girls?

Boys and girls at the pre-dating stage are used to hearing rumors about who likes whom. If you just keep being natural and friendly, there shouldn't be any earth-shaking crisis. However, in the future skip the thrill of sharing secrets!

New York to settle a strike which began 14 days ago and resulted in the suspension of publication of nine daily newspapers. The strike was called by the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union No. 6 when the union and newspapers could not agree on a new contract.

The strike resulted in the closing down for a week of Bowater's Mersey Paper Company's paper mill in Liverpool, N.S. The company said Thursday operations would be halted during Christmas week. They will resume Jan. 2.

SELLS WHEAT

Agriculture Minister Hamilton announced in Ottawa Tuesday a new contract under which Canada will sell to Communist China about 34,000,000 bushels of wheat, valued at $65,000,000. The wheat will be shipped from west coast ports during the first half of 1963.

PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS

Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputy governor-general, gave royal assent to 13 bills in Ottawa Thursday night, minutes before Parliament adjourned until Jan. 21.

Saskatchewan families have signed up.

The government has lost support. After Douglas' defeat, the right-wing Liberals trounced the CCF in a by-election since medicare. Most observers feel Ross Thatcher's rebellious Liberals, who dislike Lester Pearson's left-wing policy, will sweep into office in 1964 or '65.

What about the person who suffered most — the patient and taxpayer? To him, medicare is working.

Each day the mailman delivers an average of 5,800 doctor bills to the commission's office. A monstrous computer chews them up and spits out data to process $58,000 worth of cheques. Then the postman delivers the cheques to the 700-odd practising doctors.

Since July 23, the province's people have made us of their medicare. On Nov. 30, all paid their compulsory premiums.

And all doctors are working within the framework of the Act.

The fiction that the bulk of the doctors are working outside the Act is maintained by having a middleman collect the state money. The middlemen are government-approved private agencies such as Group Medical Services and Medical Services Incorporated — both doctor-owned and -operated.

Even medicare's arch-enemy, Dr. Dalgleish, grudgingly said last week: "It's beginning to function."

Health Minister A. E. Blakely thinks private plans, which act as a buffer between the commission and the medical men, might be used as the "Trojan Horse" if the doctors take political action to upset the plan.

So, while the battle is over, the cold war continues. The truce is a uneasy one.

But two things are clear: there has been no avalanche of freeloaders on the hospitals; no more than 10 per cent of the profession has left the province.

Labor economist wants 10-province 'common market' not 'regionalism'

By FRANK DREA

In a speech that has gone virtually unnoticed, Harry J. Waisglass, the nation's foremost labor economist, has warned that Canada must form a common market of its 10 provinces before it can hope to take advantage of the emerging trade blocs.

The Waisglass thesis brands Confederation as a colossal economic failure, since it favors economic regionalism instead of a unified national economy. "We speak of the Canadian economy as though it were an integrated entity when actually it consists of little more than several regional economies with strongly conflicting interests.

"These are held together rather tenuously by a structure of taxation and subsidization which seeks to redistribute income from the more prosperous to the less prosperous regions," he said.

However, the core of his argument that Canada must develop a national market is that each region has stronger bonds with foreign economies than with other Canadian regions. "Our so-called national economic policies are hardly national in the sense that they serve to integrate our regional economies," contended Mr. Waisglass.

"Their chief functions are compensatory rather than unifying, since they serve to compensate for regional economic disadvantages, the costs of interregional rivalry and political compromises," he said.

The impact of his speech Dec. 1 was lost in the Grey Cup fog, even when he warned that the growth of Canadian industry

Chamberlain umbrella favored prop in independent - but British - India

By PETER WORTHINGTON

DELHI, INDIA — (TNS) — Somehow, by accident rather than design, the dignified British umbrella has become one of the de facto symbols of Indian independence.

Especially in the country areas is the Neville Chamberlain type umbrella popular. And if you can think of a more ludicrous sight than a hindu holy man clad only in loincloth and sun tan, and carrying a proper black umbrella, then you should be writing television plots.

In some respects India is more British than the British, now that it has had independence for 15 years. The umbrellas, used for protection from the sun rather than rain, are flooding into the northern plains. And they're being made not on London's Bond St., but by Hong Kong imitation artists.

UNITY In these days of crisis India is especially worth seeing. Never, since the first heady days of independence in 1947, has there been such unity and brotherhood.

As a tourist attraction India has many publicized charms — not the least of which are the multi-colored saris that dazzle the eye and tickle the imagination. The capital is divided into New Delhi and Old Delhi. New Delhi — comparatively — is antiseptic, modern, spacious and quiet without character.

Old Delhi is a beehive of bazaars and activity and throbs with good natured life. The new part of town is filled with foreigners — civil servants, diplomats, tourists and transients.

It's not much fun, but it's pretty to look at. Along Janpath St., where there are several good, reasonably priced hotels, are also eventually dies on the sidewalk.

There are plenty of traditional tourist attractions, if that is what you primarily want: The Red Fort in Delhi, the old Mogul fort, various museums and palaces, the third largest mosque in the world, the Taj Mahal at Agra, and so on.

But to my mind it is the people and daily life of exotic places that seems more rewarding to investigate.

Indians are friendly and mostly speak some form of English. They are intelligent and treat you as an equal. And India is perhaps the only place in the world where downtown traffic will be halted for the benefit of a cow that decides to have a siesta at a main intersection.

MAY ATTEMPT

cruits and to bolster the morale of neighboring Communists proved useful in the past on the borders of North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam and Laos.

By their lightning-quick military drives, Red Chinese troops restored some of the Asian image of Chinese strength which had been dimmed in the post-Korea years by Chinese defeats in battles for Quemoy and Matsu near Formosa, by fumbling military control in Tibet and by farm and industrial failures.

U.S. military men see little chance of the Indian army driving the Chinese out of Indian territory in the near future, even with U.S. and British arms aid. Though Indians make excellent fighters, their equipment is poor, their leadership untested in battle strategy, their military production facilities small.

Even if India begins to enlarge her military forces, expand military production and improve the weapons, supply and leadership of her forces, it would take years before she could acquire the ability to drive Chinese troops from key positions.

The Chinese have for years been training a minimum of 7 to 10 divisions to fight in those high altitudes. They have built up lines of supply and established stockpiles of equipment and ammunition. They are now conditioned to fight in these cold and low-oxygen heights.

When you make up problems in play you can't always create good bidding at the same time. Says Eddie Kantar, "If you don't like South's bidding, it's my fault. I had to figure some way of getting South to five hearts. Four hearts is too easy."

If South were in six hearts he would win the opening lead; play one trump, cash two high clubs, and try to ruff a club in dummy in order to discard losers on the ace and king of diamonds. Playing at five, South has a far better, but very complicated, play. He starts by letting West hold that first spade trick. Remember South is trying for five hearts—not six.

South wins the second spade, cashes one trump as he would have done at six and goes after the clubs. West ruffs the third club and South throws the last spade from dummy. West has to lead a spade or a diamond. In either instance South wins in dummy and gets rid of his last losing club.

We also see why South ducked that first spade. Had he not done so West could put East in with a spade. East would lead the queen of trumps and dummy would be dead.

Stocks disappear from shelves

Magog merchants claiming record year

MAGOG — (Special) — The Christmas shopping season has almost ended for another Yuletide Season in this city of plenty, and to sum up, merchants are proudly claiming a record year.

Despite the slow start, the buying weeks of December far outbalanced the fall months, and stocks literally disappeared from shelves, showcases and counters.

"Give shoppers what they want and they'll buy," one merchant noted, and his neighbor reported, "Yes, but there's no doubt about the fact that they want more than ever for their money!"

Buyers are becoming more discreet in their purchasing habits, but this is all to the good. The shoppers are buying more carefully, and looking merchandise over better. "They've become quality conscious", one storekeeper said.

This being the case, with Magog's record shopping-selling year, and shoppers demanding more for their money, all indications are that Magog stores are raising their standards, with better stocks, better values and better displays.

"Use this as evidence," Mr. Magog Merchant is bragging, referring to the facts. He is a proud man right now, and the people of Magog are equally interested in the gains their shopkeepers have made.

Butters Hospital

Magog has donated $13,288 to campaign

MAGOG — (Special) — Alvin E. Swoger and Rouville Beaudry, co-chairmen of the Magog committee organized to canvass donations for the Cecil Butters Memorial building campaign to raise $752,500, have announced that to date $13,288 in donations have been received from Magog citizens. They note that still more donations are expected, as some of the canvassers have not yet completed their solicitations, and that a considerable number of people have not been approached within Magog and the surrounding district.

The Butters Hospital Building Fund, launched last September, is a province-wide appeal, and has specially organized committees in most communities, who like Magog's group, are striving to raise funds to assist in meeting the overall $752,500 objective.

The Magog co-chairmen elaborated on the tremendous enthusiasm for the drive shown by the people of Magog, who, they note, apparently appreciate the urgency of the hospital's need for assistance.

Mr. Swoger and Mr. Beaudry concluded by expressing their hopes that those of Magog who have not yet made their contributions to this worthy cause would do so as soon as possible. They also expressed hopes that canvassers who have not fulfilled their assignments would take immediate measures to complete solicitations before the New Year, or as soon thereafter as possible.

Plan flowers for holiday festivities

Your Holiday parties will bloom if a bit of time is taken to plan an over-all floral scheme for the festivities.

It needn't be elaborate. In fact, florists this year recommend several small bouquets using the same flowers, throughout the house.

Red carnations, set off by a touch of greens, can stand in small bowls on the buffet table, in the front hall and even on a coffee table.

When Christmas dinner makes its appearance, and there's little room for large decorations on the table, attach a single carnation for each guest to a ribbon running to your centerpiece. The guests are free to admire or to wear their flowers.

If Christmas' traditional reds and greens clash with your holiday-best china, adjust your flowers to your dinnerware pattern. You may prefer yellow tea roses or fluffy white chrysanthemums as more effective.

Your brightly polished silver candlesticks can be twined with one or two blossoms to add gaiety and grace to the holiday setting.

Whatever kind of flower arrangement you create, be sure to keep it low enough so your guests can talk to each other without an annoying obstruction. Some hostesses float flowers in a low bowl, or use a few blossoms in each of two or three glass fruit dishes, standing them on a tray or mirror.

And since the holiday time often includes overnight guests, the feted ones can later express their pleasure by wiring flowers to their hostess, having first noted her special taste in decorations.

Stuffed Animals:

See that the children look through some coloring and reading books for pictures of animals and select the ones they want to use. Make an outline of the animals with tracing paper and pencil. Cut out and paste on oil cloth and cut two identical shapes. Sew edges together with yarn, using an overcasting stitch. Leave enough room open at top to fill animal with cotton. After cotton is inserted, sew rest of edges together.

DASHER, DANCER . . .

A small roll of candy covered in white paper makes the body of a reindeer. Long pipe cleaner can be pasted together under the package and bent to form the legs and feet. Two cleaners joined together with spool wire and wound around a pencil are then stretched and bent into the shape of a reindeer's head, antlers and neck.

Outlook on widowhood some women look forward to

Is widowhood a period in life some women look forward to instead of dreading? What prompts the question is a recent study made in Britain that reveals that while 94 per cent of the girls who wrote essays on how they saw themselves in the future saw a husband and children in the picture, 37 per cent of the girls also foresaw the deaths of their husbands. "The interesting thing," said the psychologist who conducted the survey, "was that they not infrequently killed off their husbands at quite an early age. One is tempted to think that for these girls the wedding is what matters. The husband is allowed to fulfill his main biological and economic function before his premature demise, but apparently is not wanted as a partner in old age."

How often in this country we hear married women talking as though they not only expected to outlive their husbands but as though they already had their plans made for their years of widowhood. "If I outlive John" a wife begins calmly, and then goes on to say how she plans to live her life as a widow. If men also think about the possibility of outliving their wives, at least they rarely mention it, so apparently they

Sunday Sermon Subject for December 23, 1962

The great significance of the birth and life of the Master, Christ Jesus, will be emphasized at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon which brings out the spiritual meaning of Christmas. The Bible selections will include Matthew's account of the wise men who followed the star to Bethlehem. Amongst the correlative passages from "Science and Health with a Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following will be read, the spiritual origin and "Jesus" spirit enabled him to demonstrate the facts of being—to prove irrefutably how spiritual Truth destroys material error, heals sickness, and overcomes death. The divine conception of Jesus pointed to this truth and presented an illustration of creation."

The sum of $300 was voted to the United Church Women's general treasury.

It was decided to sponsor the annual supper for the senior Sunday School pupils and their teachers on January 11. This concluded the business and the Christmas program was opened with singing of Carols by Mrs. William J. Fuller, Mrs. H. I. McLeod and Mrs. R. Hughes-Games, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Fred Fox, who were joined by the members later in group singing.

The highlight of the evening was a visit by jovial old Santa Claus, loaded with gifts for all.

A buffet luncheon was served by the hostesses Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Herman R. Edgecombe, Mrs. Eunice Smith, Mrs. C. H. Phillips, Mrs. Herbert Wark, Mrs. D'Arcy Bennett and Mrs. M. W. Mitchell.

Mrs. Cameron retiring leader and Mrs. Bartlett newly elected leader poured at the lace covered tea table, centered with a floral arrangement of red carnations and white shasta daisies and pine, flanked by red tapers in silver candelabras.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Fuller for her kind hospitality.

Beauty Tips

GOGGLE EYE
Behind your skin goggles, let there be eye cream on your lids. Keeps those tiny squint lines in check; gives your lids a pretty, dewy look all the while it's doing good. Don't rub it in . . . press it on!

AFTER SKI DREAM
Cold and wind makes tender skins more sensitive. Be sure you protect your skin with light, fragrant foundation lotion; then before you go to bed, more of the same, all over! Makes the sheets feel silken; your skin the same way.

Fashion Tips

Reminder
Little ladies will remember their handkerchiefs when they have a supply of dainty hankies for special occasions and brightly printed or embroidered cotton squares for everyday wear.

Squeakless
Purchase of a lubricating stick soves squeaking door, window and hinge problems for years to come.

Women's Groups

UNIT III
LENNOXVILLE U.C.W.

Unit III of the Lennoxville United Church Women held the annual meeting and election of officers in the form of a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. William J. Fuller, Park Street.

Mrs. Taft Cameron retiring leader presided, with 36 members and two guests present.

Mrs. Noble Smith presented the slate of officers as compiled by the committee, which was unanimously accepted for 1963 as follows:

Leader, Mrs. Albert E. Bartlett; assisting leaders, Mrs. Douglas Baldwin and Mrs. James Green; recording secretary, Mrs. Kenneth J. McLeod; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna Bird; and treasurer, Mrs. Fred Hicks.

Mrs. Arthur B. Lovelace, president of the Lennoxville United Church Women presided for the election and extended congratulations to Mrs. Taft Cameron, retiring president, for her untiring efforts as a leader. Mrs. Noble Smith added thanks to Mrs. Cameron and the executive of the past year for their cooperation and work.

Mrs. Richard Tolhurst was in charge of devotions with Mrs. Philip Walton at the piano.

Mrs. James Green read several items of correspondence and Mrs. Alex Rowat reported on cards sent to sick and bereaved members. Mrs. Fred Hicks gave the financial report and Mrs. Douglas Baldwin reported on the success of the recently held Bazaar.

COMMITTEES NAMED
Mrs. Albert E. Bartlett was welcomed to the chair and took over the business, by first presenting the names of new working committees as follows:

Devotional secretary, Mrs. Richard Tolhurst.
Sunshine convener, Mrs. Alex Rowat.
Visiting convener, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton.
Press and publicity, Mrs. Stewart Aird.

Give your table a gala touch with a Christmas wreath mold

Give your table a gala touch with a pretty Christmas Wreath Mold. Traditional colors of red, white and green are combined to give a tangy fruit salad.

CHRISTMAS WREATH MOLD
13 oz. pkg. raspberry, jelly dessert, 13 oz. pkg. pineapple jelly dessert, 1 cup boiling water, 1.8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, ¼ cup milk, ½ cup crushed pineapple, drained, 1.3 oz. pkg. lime jelly dessert, 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup pineapple juice, drained from crushed pineapple.

Dissolve raspberry jelly dessert according to package directions and pour 1½ cups into a 5 cup ring mold. Chill until almost firm. While raspberry layer is setting, dissolve pineapple jelly dessert in 1 cup boiling water; beat cream cheese with milk until soft, gradually add dissolved pineapple jelly. Allow to partially set; fold in crushed pineapple; pour on top of raspberry layer; chill until almost firm. Dissolve lime jelly dessert in 1 cup boiling water; add 1 cup cold water and ½ cup pineapple juice. Allow to partially set; pour over cheese layer, filling the ring mold. Chill four hours or overnight. Unmold. Garnish with pine cone and holly on one side of plate if desired.

CHRISTMAS DELIGHTS
1 ¾ cups flour, ½ tsp. salt, ½ tsp. baked soda, ¾ cup chopped candied cherries, ½ cup chopped walnuts, 1/3 cup butter, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 1½ tps. pure peppermint extract, ½ tsp. pure vanilla extract, 1 egg, ¼ cup sour cream.
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. sift flour, salt and soda together; add cherries and walnuts. Cream butter and sugar; blend in extracts, egg and sour cream; stir in flour mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes.
Yield: 4 dozen.
The festive season brings friends from far and near—so what could be better for your Open House than Holiday Egg Nog. This particular recipe is economical to make, yet creamy and delicious.

HOLIDAY EGG NOG
1 pkg. vanilla instant pudding, ½ cup granulated sugar, 7 cups milk, 3 eggs, slightly beaten, 2 tps. pure vanilla extract, ¾ cup apricot nectar, ½ cup brandy or 3 tps. imitation brandy extract, ½ tsp. nutmeg.
Combine pudding and sugar with ¼ cup of milk. Blend in beaten eggs and remainder of milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil. Cover surface of mixture closely with aluminum foil.

Wine contains B vitamins
Q—What vitamins are there in wine?
A—Dr. Agnes Fay Morga, professor emerita, University of California, is the person most responsible for the vitamin analysis of wine. According to Dr. Morgan and her associates, wine contains the B vitamins, including thiamin, riboflavin, pantothenic acid, pyridoxin, nicotinic acid and folic acid "in quantities sufficient to add significantly to the daily vitamin intake."

Q—Is there really iron in wine or is this an old wives' tale?
A—Yes, there is iron in wine and it is in the reduced form considered by doctors so useful in the treatment of mild anemia. Dr. Maynard Amerine of the University of California recently noted that each year the I.O.D.E. members send out Christmas Cheer to the needy of the vicinity, here they are photographed at the I.O.D.E. House, on Thursday, December 20, preparing the many boxes, which will be delivered in time for Christmas. From left to right are: Mrs. James Strickland, Mrs. R. Bride elect entertained

Mrs. N. S. Lothrop and Mrs. N. R. Lothrop entertained at the St. George's Club recently in honor of Miss Andrea Gustafson, a December bride.

Prior to this the members of the Basketball Club held a special party for the bride-to-be, and the women members of the Sherbrooke High School staff held a tea for Miss Gustafson and presented her with gifts.

Another pleasant function occurred when the Bridge Club honored the bride-elect, with a presentation.

Miss Anne Onley and Mrs. W. Lyon also gave a miscellaneous shower followed by an entertaining program.

Rev. Nettie I. J. Hoffman and Miss Pauline Littlejohn, Baie Comeau, has arrived, to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Littlejohn, Queen Street, Lennoxville.

Miss Susan Wark, Montreal, is spending the Yule season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wark, Warren Street, Lennoxville.

Ivor Whitehouse Collecting in the Townships

The last meeting of the Eastern Townships Stamp Club was well attended by many collectors from the area. This was the first meeting that the writer has been able to attend and it was indeed a pleasure to meet the many friends there. The meeting was highlighted by short talks from five members about their collecting preferences and philatelic experiences. Mrs. L. Caron, the hard working secretary, spoke about the pleasures of topical collecting and her discovery of a block of Vatican Stamps with a printing error. Prof. J. Gray, of Bishop's University, spoke about the Ethiopian Airmails he had acquired and the Chinese stamps issued for an expedition. Mr. Testulat, of Sherbrooke, gave a brief resume of the task of obtaining early Canadian penny issues. R. B. Mies, of Lennoxville, explained the collecting of the Australian red or carmine George V penny issue, a fascinating field but one where patience is most certainly needed. Father H. Lafrance, the president for 1961, showed illustrations of the error in the stamp from Panama as well as the correctly printed copies. The president of Club is to be congratulated for his excellent job and the interest he has managed to maintain in the activities of the Club.

The set of sports stamps from Cuba is quite a production. There are a total of thirty different designs, printed in five sections of six stamps. The set lacks color but is attractive and well designed. The sale of Cuban stamps is prohibited in the United States so many collectors in Canada will not find them readily available. However, they can be obtained from Europe and from certain dealers in this country. While not too expensive they are high enough in value to curtail sales to many collectors and it may very well be that they will be good property one of these fine days, if and when Cuba, once again is back in the free world.

POT POURRI: The publication of information about the stamp issues featuring the Christmas motif in one of Canada's larger weeklies has caused many collectors to become interested in them, and by the way, some are difficult to find. White Ace publishes album pages for these issues. Collectors are reminded that first day covers are better collected without a name and address on them. The resale value is low when they are addressed.

The new issue of Great Britain to commemorate National Productivity Year should become quite common if the stamps are used for a year and instructions to postal personnel would indicate that sales are to be pushed so to speak. In passing — I wonder how one will obtain a First Day Cover of the new Canadian 1-cent stamp with a single value? The lowest postal rate is 2-cents. Should a collector ask for service on the 1-cent value and pay postage due? This time of year brings attention to the many shut-ins and hospitalized persons who collect stamps. Why not share your good fortune with them and send your surplus, stamps, albums and accessories to one of the sanatoriums or the Children's Memorial Hospital, or to some unfortunate who must be confined to his bed. The merriest of Christmas' to all of you.

Goes to shoot a lion to refurbish his soul

THE MAN WITH NO SHADOW, by Desmond Meiring, 192 pgs., Hodder & Stoughton, London, $3.95.

THE MAN WITH NO SHADOW tells the story of Peter Ghent whose marriage to Ann disintegrates for many reasons, among which is her inability to be either socially or sexually faithful. Ann, even before the divorce which legally separates her and Peter, becomes intensely interested in business and has no need for Peter or any other man except as occasional lovers; but Peter, in spite of affairs with other women, is conscious of an irremedial sense of loss every time he sees Ann, even after their legal separation.

Whether this sense of loss undermines his confidence in himself as a man, or whether he is emotionally disturbed by guilt carried over from a childhood escapade, or whether he feels an overwhelming general inadequacy, Ghent does not know, but he begins to feel like a man without substance: a man with no shadow.

Deeply concerned, Peter consults a psychiatrist who suggests he "go shoot a lion." So Peter Ghent goes to Kenya to shoot a lion, to refurbish his soul away from the familiar city, to try to recover, in the wild jungle, what he has lost of himself.

Desmond Meiring, author of THE MAN WITH NO SHADOW, was born in Kenya in 1924. Africa seems to lend its authors' pens the power and color and depth of its vast forests: in THE MAN WITH NO SHADOW, Mr. Meiring's first novel, the author gives vivid evidence that his pen is true African. B. P.

Buchwald's keen nose

IS IT SAFE TO DRINK THE WATER? by Art Buchwald; Nelson, Foster and Scott; 253 pp., $4.95.

Mr. Buchwald's knack of spoofing people at work and at play in an amusing manner makes this collection of articles extremely entertaining. There are unforgettable vignettes on Shooting in England, Dinner Guests for Rent along the Riviera, Justifying Expenses in Washington, the traffic and red tape in Paris and the problem of getting good Cuban cigars.

As he has already shown in Don't Forget to Write and How Much Is That In Dollars? Art Buchwald has a nose for news and a marvelous sense of humour. This is recommended for those who want something light and frequently rib-tickling.

HEAVY NOVEL Published in 1748, the novel "Clarissa Harlowe," by Samuel Richardson of England, is 984,870 words long, more than 200,000 words longer than the Bible.

MERRY CHRISTMAS PHILATELISTS

This blessed season must make all of us realize how fortunate we are to live in a land of plenty, where freedom is the right of every man and where Christmas is more than a holiday from work. It is with honest sincerity that all of us at Philmar wish you and yours a spiritually rewarding Christmas and a happy holiday season.

Jottings For season of 'faith renewed at a manger'

THE THREE LIVES OF HELEN KELLER, by Richard Harriott and Ralph C. Martin, 180 pp., DOUBLE-DAY, . . $5.95.

Surely no more appropriate book for reading at this season of love and "faith renewed at a manger," could be recommended than the story of Helen Keller.

Lavishly illustrated, written with sympathy but not sloppy sentimentality, this is one of the most fascinating books that has come the way of this reviewer for a long while.

Most people are familiar with the story of Helen Keller and her refusal to let her life be limited by the double cross of blindness and deafness. But from this book we learn that not only was her life not limited, it was fuller by far than the lives of most of those blessed with all their faculties. For this reason alone the book is a challenge to every reader who is not living his life to the fullest.

While reading this book the somewhat whimsical thought came to me that no one could give himself a better Christmas present than, first the reading of this book, and second, the pledging to himself that for one year at least he would live his life to the fullest of his abilities just as Helen Keller did. I suspect it would be impossible to estimate the full rewards of such an experiment.

Miss Keller in addition to her indomitable spirit bequeaths us in this book a message which could be of help at any time but never more so than at the facing of a new year. That message is help at any time but never "Faith is the strength by which a shattered world shall emerge into the light."

For those who missed the TV show

A TOUR OF THE WHITE HOUSE WITH MRS. JOHN F. KENNEDY, by Perry Wolf, 258 pp., DOUBLE-DAY, $8.95.

This book should serve a dual purpose; a pleasant and lasting reminder for those who saw Mrs. Kennedy's tour of the White House on T.V. or as a means of finding out just what they missed by those who did not see the telecast.

As might be expected this book is very handsomely produced and despite its fairly high price, it will undoubtedly find its way into a great many homes. It would certainly make an excellent Christmas gift for an American relative or friend.

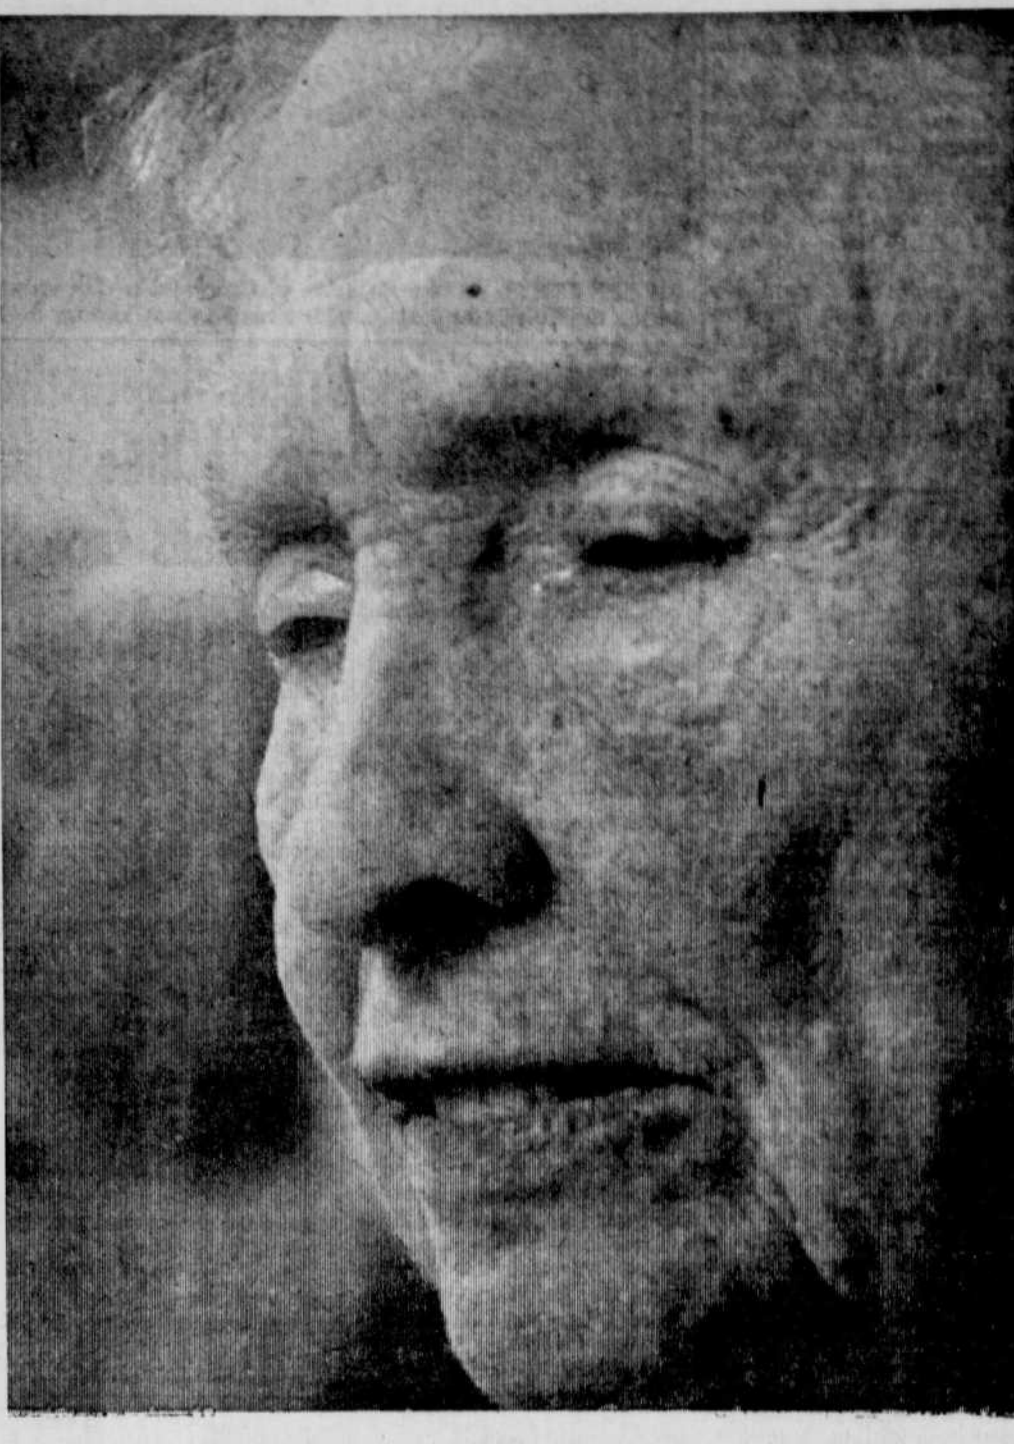

Though the book follows closely the format of the T.V. show it contains a great deal of additional and even more interesting pieces of information than those heard on the show.

For instance it included pictures and anecdotes of each of the First Ladies, a list with dates of all the presidents of the U.S.A. (a must for quiz show contestants) and one delightful child's letter, a sample of the many Mrs. Kennedy received after her show. Recommended.

To be read with reservations

MRS. SETON Foundress of the American Sisters of Charity by Joseph I. Dirvin, C. M. Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, N.Y. 498 pp., $8.50.

Mr. Dirvin set himself a momentous task when he undertook this biography in chronological order because there is such a huge volume of materials from journals, letters and papers belonging to Mrs. Seton.

He has gone back to Leghorn, Florence and other places in Italy that had much to do with the first thoughts of the need of the Roman Catholic Church by Mrs. Seton.

This biography is detailed and lengthy, even so I would like to have read more about her friends, especially Julia Scott who must have been a wonderful person because she helped Elizabeth Seton so much.

The writer gives a very long description of the conversion and death of Mrs. Seton, which prevented him from relating some other interesting sidelights of her remarkable life. However, she was a very intensely religious woman. Such expressions as Blessed Mary, Blessed Sacrament, Sacred Truth, etc. flowed from her lips with ease.

This cannot be called an objective appraisal. Often, Mr. Dirvin in interpreting events in the life of Mrs. Seton lets his bias show through his assumptions. For example he refers to those who differed from her on religious issues as "the enemy."

The story of MRS. SETON as it relates the contributions of this outstanding woman, who founded the first community of Catholic Women, established the first Day School and also the first Catholic orphanage, is very well documented. But this reviewer has the feeling that the writer is reading into some of his source material some ideas which were never intended to be there in the first place.

Ms. Seton's cause for beatification and canonization, even though she has been dead for 140 years, is now in progress in Rome.

In a special audience with Pope John XXIII, the writer had this biography blessed.

I would say that this is the kind of book that should be read with mental reservations.

A CHANGE OF JUNGLES, Miles Smeeton, Longmans, $5.50, 192 pp.

This autobiographical experiment in presenting marked contrasts might have been tried more suitably. A Change of Pace. Those who relished A Taste of the Hills by this same soldier-author will find equally appetizing this nourishing, if almost too-ripped serving of slices of military life, topped by retirement experience in the Gulf Islands area of British Columbia. The title also fails to cover the hectic first third of the brigade major's narrative, participation in North African desert warfare under Monty whose aggressive talk, soldiers "liked and understood." This author's gift for vivid phrasing is displayed in sentences such as "I missed the first battles of Alamein when Rommel was stopped at the height of his fame and confidence and was attacked in turn until he was dispirited and petulant, and his army exhausted."

Occasionally, Smeeton achieves Churchillian eloquence as witness his reference to New Zealand troops, men "who wear the beauty and freedom of their country like a badge." Desert warfare followed by savage fighting in Burma and then well-earned post-war relaxation at Salt Spring Island, B.C., are recounted with such a leavening of tongue-in-cheek humor that even the most trying frustrations are made to appear more comical than depressing. The story reveals a gallant foe and for the dynamic forest growth that is British Columbia's peculiar type of jungle.

MUSIC ON RECORDS

By HUGH DOHERTY

MEDELSSOHN: Violin concerto, George Snel, the Columbia Symphony Orchestra; BRUCH: Violin Concerto No. 1. Thomas Schippers conducting the New York Philharmonic; Zino Francescatti, violinist (COLUMBIA stereo MS 6331) — Both of these well-known violin concertos are taken at an unusually rapid pace by soloist and orchestra, perhaps necessary to get them both on a single long playing disc. The Bruch work bears the speed-up well; the Mendelssohn concerto suffers somewhat. Mr. Francescatti's approach to the Bruch concerto is one of fiery brilliance. In a tremendous display of power and agility, he takes possession of the music as if it were his own. The ferocity of his attack, however, may grate a bit on some tastes in the second adagio movement. Mr. Francescatti's energetic interpretation of the Mendelssohn concerto does the work less than justice. While a glittering performance, it lacks the honeyed warmth other famous soloists have extracted from the music.

SERGIO FRANCHI sings romantic Italian songs, with orchestra and chorus conducted by W. Scott, (RCA VICTOR stereo LSC 2640) — Mr. Franchi's singing of such favorites as Funiculi-Funicula and Torna Soriento is full-throated joy in action. He has a big, soaring, completely rapturous voice. He is a tenor, on this recording, with enough sunny gold in his style to warm all of Siberia.

The season of Chanukah, or Feast of Lights, which is celebrated by the Jewish community, began at sundown, Dec. 21. The first Chanukah was celebrated over 2,000 years ago, at the successful conclusion of the revolt of the Jews against their Greek overlords.

Although the Jews were outnumbered by the Greeks, the mercenaries in the Greek army couldn't match the zeal of the Jews and purification of the Holy City and the Temple was undertaken.

When purification of the Temple was completed and the menorah (the seven-branched candelstick which has become the Chanukah symbol) was about to be lighted it was found that there was only one day's supply of oil which remained for eight days. Since that time Chanukah has been celebrated as a time of rejoicing and is regarded as a national, as well as a religious holiday.

COIN SETS FOR GIFT The traditional gift for children at this season has been a silver coin. What more appropriate gift than a set of modern Israeli coins? Sets of small denomination coins are available packaged in blue and white cards, the national colors of Israel.

The modern Israeli coins are rich in symbolism, with the emblems taken from ancient Jewish coins. Leo Kadman, a member of the Israel Numismatic Society and designer of some of Israel's medals, says it is the aim of the State "to revive the ancient Jewish coins and symbols, and to underline, in this way, the living connection between the new State of Israel and the past of the Jewish People."

The wreath of leaves which appears on the reverse of all coins except the commemoratives is copied from coins of the Bar-Korbha War of 132-135 AD.

The Israel pound (equal to 55c U.S.) is a commemorative coin issued in 1958. The 10th anniversary of the State of Israel. It has a representation of the menorah which appears to be very modern but is actually a design copied from a Jewish coin of the last Hasmonean ruler, Mattathias Antigonus (40-37 B.C.).

An Israel 5-pound silver commemorative coin issued the same year has a stylized menorah and each coin is encased in a velvet-lined olive-wood box.

GOLD COINS AVAILABLE TOO If one's preference is for gold, there is a gold commemorative depicting on the reverse the captivity of the Jews and on the obverse their liberation.

On the reverse of the medal there is a copy of a Roman "Judaea Capta" coin which commemorated the Roman victory in the Jewish-Roman War of 66-70 AD. In the centre of the coin is a seven-branched palm tree and two bunches of dates. To the right of the tree is a seated Jewish woman in an attitude of dejection and to the left a Jewish captive standing with his hands bound behind his back. There is a Latin inscription "IUDAEA CAPTA" and surrounding the design is a Hebrew inscription "Exile of Judea" linked to the date 3839-70 C.E. by chains.

The obverse is a modern adaptation of the ancient coin shown on the reverse. The palm tree appears again with an Israeli woman holding a sheaf of corn facing an Israel worker and a Latin inscription "Israel Libera." Surrounding this design is a Hebrew inscription "Ten Years Freedom of Israel" and the date "Tashyah—5718."

On each side, between the inscription and the date, are five six-pointed stars.

BEAVERS PULL SURPRISE KNOCKING VICS
Sherbrooke Beavers, the hottest club in the Provincial Hockey League, walked into Granby Tuesday evening and pulled the biggest upset of the current season by blanking the Vics 5-0 before 1,000 of their home town fans.

This was only the second win of the season on the road for the Beavers but it came at the right time. On their home ice Coach Dube's rejuvenated crew have a string of seven consecutive wins on the line. It is the most any team has compiled at any time this year.

Tomorrow afternoon the Beavers journey to Drummondville for a battle with the Rockets which should be a real tough test for the high-flying Beavers. Lou Poliquin's crew is in second place in the standing and a win for Sherbrooke would allow them to tie the Rockets for second.

Tomorrow will be Sherbrooke's fourth visit of the season and they have yet to post a victory. In the first three they went down to 7-1, 4-1 and 6-0 defeats but since then the Beavers have added a few new players but the Rockets have done likewise. It should be a real hard battle.

The Vics, who are having a little internal trouble, head into the metropolis for a tiff with the Olympics and you can rest assured that Granby will be out to make amends for the shutout posted on them by the Beavers.

Thursday evening was the first time for weeks Coach Dube had a complete lineup on hand with all his injured players back in action. The Rockets will be tough tomorrow. They have dropped four at home to the Vics and Olympics but will be gunning for their fourth straight win over the Beavers.

There are 13 players in the National Hockey League right now who are eligible for the Calder Memorial Trophy which is awarded the "Rookie of the Year" in the circuit. It is the same number as last year.

The Bruins top the list with four, two goalkeepers, while Detroit has three, Chicago two and Leafs and Canadiens each with one apiece. Bob Perreault and Eddie Johnston, who share the goal tending duties with Boston are seeking the honors. This is unusual but they should be right up with the front runners.

Kent Douglas is the Leafs' sole candidate while Jean Gauthier is Montreal's entry. Both are defencemen which makes a total of five rearguards. Perreault looks good to us if he can manage to stay in the game between his injuries.

There seems to be quite a little confusion in the St. Francis Valley Intermediate Hockey League regarding a game misconduct handed M. Audet of Windsor this week. Dr. Roland Bernier, president let it be known in no uncertain terms, at the time of the incident, that Audet would be suspended. In fact it seems he said it loud enough that everyone in the rink heard it.

Not satisfied with this he entered the Windsor room to tell them about it. Manager Robert Mercier, who is new in the game, told him to leave.

If Dr. Bernier had proceeded in the proper way by calling Manager Mercier aside and telling him that according to the league ruling Audet was suspended for a game there would not have been any of this confusion.

New attendance and handle records of 459,706 and $21,444,610 were established at the Saratoga Raceway during the past season which is quite a boost over previous years. The high single day handle was $333,575 and a single race $41,802 while the top doubling was $41,344. A lot of money to shell out for one evening.

Anne Heggteit's Training Camp at Hillcrest will open Wednesday, Dec. 26, and all applicants are asked to be on time as things will get underway promptly at 2.00 p.m. Prior to this they must register, receive a number and take a skiing proficiency test on the hill. The test will enable the pupil to be rated and placed in a class of pupils with similar abilities.

A reception for parents and pupils will be held at the Pleasant View commencing at 5 p.m. and later in the evening Anne Heggteit will give a short talk on the purpose of the camp and show films of her championship runs. The school will end Sunday afternoon when awards will be handed out. So students don't forget to be on time as Director Erich Schiller states it will commence as announced.

To all our readers we would like to wish one and all a VERY, VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS.

First place at stake tomorrow in junior loop

21 pass Red Cross swimming tests at YWCA

Twenty-two contestants successfully passed their examination in a series of special Red Cross swimming classes.

The classes were held at the YWCA on Montreal St., under the supervision of Mrs. D. Le-Poidevin and Lorne Harding. Four received badges in the juvenile class, two juniors, one intermediate and 11 in the senior class.

Marguerite Laundry, Helen Castonguay, Linda Cochrane and Angela LeDrew were the successful students in juvenile. In the junior class Sandra Lockwood and Helen Owens passed while Marie Laberge was the lone intermediate.

The seniors were, Jean McAlpine, Dawn Jack, Francine Rogers, Kathy Barnard, Lorna McNiff, Marlene Bowes, Shari Edwards, Susan Choquette, Claude Saint Jacques, Russell Kezar and Michel Dusault.

15 qualify as referees in cage clinic

Fifteen emerged from the Basketball Referees' Clinic held here recently and are duly qualified to handle games in senior men's, senior high school and junior high school leagues.

Ian Hume, who was in charge of the clinic, made several recommendations following the event. Jim MacKinnon of Sherbrooke High School was named referee-in-chief and will name all referees in senior high school boys league. All schools are asked to forward their schedules to him in order that he may assign referees to handle the games.

In class "A" six passed, Jim MacKinnon, Roland Dewar, Jeff Mills, John Evans, Mel MacKenzie and Lyall Cruickshank. The Class "B" five were successful, Father Morin, Mike Bryson, John Parker, Lynn Maysen-hoelder and Jim Wray, Alan Sutherland, Jim Barter, Art Mandigo and Carolyn Blois passed the tests for class "C" junior high school.

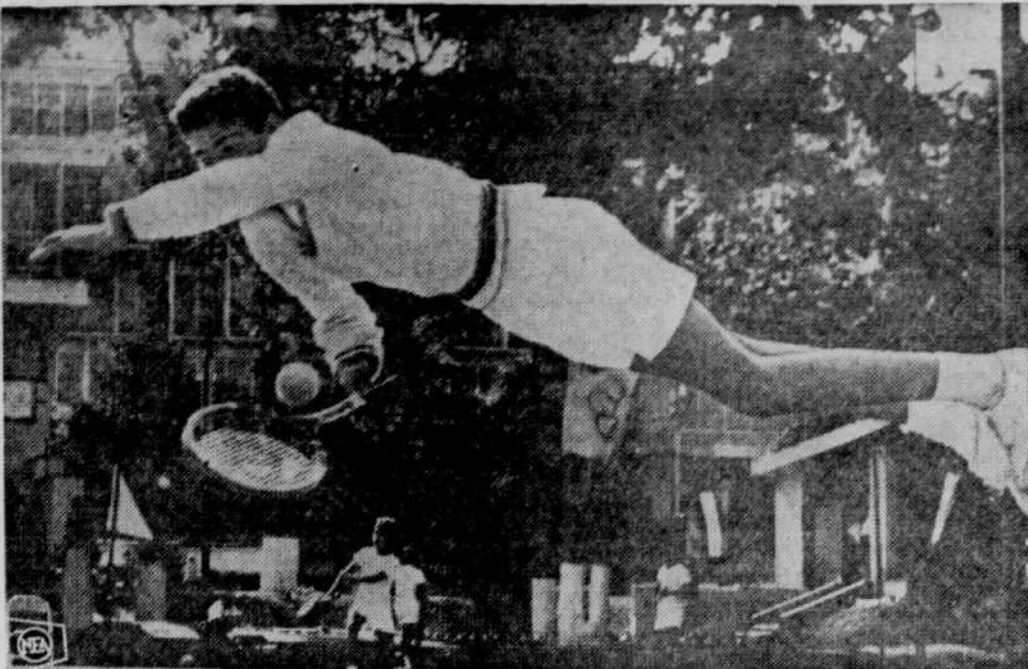

Mr. Hume stated another examination will be held after the first of the year. It will be a written one and will afford everyone an opportunity of raising their rating. With the test it is hoped to have more floor testing when the junior boys tournament will be held.

Bert Olmstead won't play for Smoke Eaters

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Olmstead, former National Hockey League star, will not play for Trail Smoke Eaters in the world hockey championships in Europe next spring, it was reported here Friday.

Olmstead received a letter in Calgary Friday from William M. Jennings, president of New York Rangers of the NHL, saying it would not be possible to arrange Olmstead's reinstatement as an amateur by the Dec. 31 deadline, the report said.

Rangers drafted Olmstead from Toronto Maple Leafs for $20,000 in June. The veteran left winger refused to report to the Rangers and recently sought reinstatement as an amateur so he could join Trail of the Western International Hockey League.

Texans and Oilers ready for tilt Sunday

HOUSTON (AP)—Dallas Texans and Houston Oilers will be in near perfect physical condition for Sunday's American Football League championship game.

The Texans, however, still will be without Chris Burford, the all-AFL end who caught 12 touchdown passes before being sidelined Nov. 25 with a torn knee cartilage.

Both teams kept injured players out of final regular season games last weekend but all are expected to be ready Sunday. Coach Hank Stram of Dallas kept halfback Frank Jackson, linebacker Smoke Stover, Guard Curt Merz, and defensive end Bill Hull out of the San Diego game.

ALL SEEM READY

All appeared ready Friday, although Merz may see no more than limited action. Frank (Pop) Ivy, ex-coach of Edmonton Eskimos, and the third head coach to lead Houston into an AFL title game, said Hogan Wharton, an offensive guard will be at top speed.

The Oilers have been made 6½ point favorites to win their third straight championship.

Bruins' impressive win over Wings causing little worry to other clubs, Canadiens face Hawks and Wings

Have the last place Boston Bruins finally begun a move to leave the National Hockey League cellar?

There are signs, although not all of them are as obvious as the team's fine 5-3 win over Detroit Red Wings in Detroit Thursday night.

In their first 24 games this season, the Bruins managed just two wins while playing to seven ties.

In their last six games they have won two and tied one—that in itself is a big change. But when you consider that they lost by just one goal, 3-2, to the first place Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday in the wild and woolly Chicago Stadium and then went to Detroit and dumped the Wings the following night, the form begins to take a little shape.

One of the recent trades which seems to have worked well for the Bruins was the one in which they switched forwards with Detroit, sending away Andre Pronovost to gain Forbes Kennedy, the Charlottetown, P.E.I. native.

Kennedy has played nine games for the Bruins. His point production with the Boston club is now three goals and three assists.

Pronovost had only two assists in 21 games he played with the Bruins up until the deal. With Detroit, he has perked up and in eight games has scored three times, but has failed to pick up an assist.

Boston has a Sunday night game at home against the third place Toronto Maple Leafs. It could be a tough one for the Maples, who despite a 4-4 tie in Montreal Thursday, have lost just one and tied three in their last nine games.

Montreal Canadiens have the rough schedule this weekend. Tonight they play host to first place Chicago, then Sunday they move to Detroit for a game with the Wings.

New York Rangers have a tough row to hoe too. They play at Toronto tonight and then return home for a Sunday night game against Chicago.

Giants hold tough workout, set for battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas cheer came early to New York Giants Friday.

Ace quarterback Y. A. Tittle and glue-fingered end Del Shofner not only staged a dazzling aerial show in a brisk two-hour workout but reported no ill effects afterwards and announced they were ready for Green Bay Packers.

The Giants and defending champion Packers meet for the National Football League title at Yankee Stadium, Sunday, Dec. 30. The game will be carried by the CBC television network.

The Packers, who defeated the Giants in last year's playoff game, 37-0 at Green Bay, rule a touchdown favorite.

Tittle and Shofner were the star attraction as the Giants toiled in 14-degree weather. Tittle's passing was sharp and he showed no traces of the back injury he suffered in the final moments of last Sunday's game against Dallas.

Shofner was equally impressive. Engaging in his first full workout since his four-day hospital siege because of a stomach disorder, Shofner said he never felt stronger.

Three Giants did not participate in the workout. Fullback Alex Webster, former Montreal Alouette, is still feeling the effects of a virus that has kept him out of action all week. Rookie halfback Paul Dudley, who re-injured his knee in last week's game, did not venture out of the locker room.

Georgia Tech is favored to win fourth Bluebonnet Bowl game by a touchdown against Missouri

Georgia Tech and Missouri, a couple of stingy teams when it comes to giving up points, meet Saturday in the fourth Bluebonnet Bowl football game at Houston, Tex.

Both coaches have indicated they will place added emphasis on passes in hopes of overcoming the sparkling defensive records.

A crowd of 50,000 to 60,000 is indicated for the Bluebonnet's first venture without a Southwest Conference team as the host.

Tech is favored by a touchdown.

In Miami Saturday the North-South college all-star football game may be an artistic success but, financially, it has all-time as many things going against it as the recent Gotham Bowl.

To accommodate television, the game will be played in the Orange Bowl starting at the odd hour of 4 p.m. It will end during the dinner hour and will buck the horse races at Tropical Park and the late Christmas shopping rush.

The North is favored by a touchdown this time because of a stronger running game and a bigger and seemingly superior defensive line-up. It has powerful running backs in Jim Perkins of Iowa and Bill Munsey of Minnesota and a formidable array of linemen topped by all-

Indians and Beavers clash in first half of twin bill at 1:45, Maroons tangle with St. Francis in second

Sole possession of first place in the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League will be at stake tomorrow afternoon when the Maroons and St. Francis clash in the second half of a twin-bill at the Arena. In the first tilt Indians and Jr. Beavers will clash commencing at 1:45 p.m. sharp.

The Maroons are in first place with 10 points while Tech School and St. Francis are deadlocked in second each with eight. A win for the Saints would move them into a tie for first with the Maroons but the Morehouse clan holds two games in hand over their closest rivals.

The Indians will be seeking their second win of the season. In their last outing they dumped the Saints to the tune of 5-1. The Beavers have three wins in their seven games. Last week they upset the Maroons by taking them to the tune of 7-2. It was the Maroons' only defeat this year.

The Maroons will still be missing several players tomorrow. January 7 as the students have row as some are away for the Christmas holidays and others are working. Last week they were missing four and tomorrow Jeff Mills will be sitting out his three-game suspension and has one more to go before returning to action.

Two of Coach Morehouse's regular defencemen, Butch Doyon and Yvon Fortier, will be missing tomorrow along with a couple of forwards, St. Pat's Juveniles, the Maroons farm club, have a game immediately after and under the rule the Maroons won't be able to use any juveniles.

Tech School has a bye until January 7 as the students have all departed for home for the holidays. A win for Mutt Dusaull's Saints over the Maroons would vault them past the Tech and on the other hand a win for the Beavers would allow them to deadlock Tech for second spot in the Dugre circuit.

Would trade Tom Johnson if good spot could be found, says Selke, abuse by fans is reason for move

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens, said Friday that if a good berth could be found for defenceman Tom Johnson then Selke "would be happy to let him go" because of abuse the veteran player has taken from fans.

Selke was particularly upset over the boobying directed at Johnson in Thursday night's 4-4 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs in a National Hockey League game.

"He was booed all night," said Selke. "On one goal by the Leafs two other Montreal players were directly responsible for it, not Johnson, and that was one that caused most of the fuss."

"Certainly he shouldn't have to take that sort of thing. Here he has been playing with an injured wrist and that's the sort of reception he gets."

"In appreciation for what Johnson has done for us in the long time he has been with the Canadiens, and with the approval of Senator Molson, (president of the club) I would be glad to make a trade."

Johnson, a native of Baldur, Man., will be 35 years old next Feb. 18.
