(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, Oct. 31.—The Fascisti high command today ordered the demobilization of the Fascisti and the numerous members of that organization in Rome will leave for home after their patriotic procession, which it has been decided to hold this evening. The situation in Italy, according to a semi-official expression today is regarded as normal again. The settlement of the crisis, it is added, is hailed with great satisfaction by public opinion.

CLASHES BETWEEN FASCISTI AND COMMUNISTS REPORTED

ROME, Oct. 31.—Clashes between Fascisti and Communists are reported from various towns throughout Italy. From most of the cities throughout the country come stories of enthusiastic demonstrations upon the occupation of the Government offices by the "Black Shirts."

NEW FASCISTI GOVERNMENT PREPARED TO ASSUME FULL CONTROL—BIG CELEBRATION IS PLANNED FOR TONIGHT
(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, Oct. 31.—Rome awaited with eager expectation today the formal entry into the city of thousands of the Fascisti who were called from all parts of the country over the week end in support of the Fascisti demand for control of the country.

This demand, now satisfied, with the call to power of their leader Benito Mussolini, who yesterday formed a cabinet in which the Fascisti influence strongly predominates, the new government was prepared to take full control, and its Fascisti supporters from all Italy made ready to celebrate their triumph by a procession through the city.

It was decided last night, however, that not all the throngs of Fascisti who had made their way to the vicinity of Rome at their leader's call should participate in the triumphal march, the ideal being to limit their number to fifteen thousand, with the route of the parade passing by the Quirinal for a tribute to King Victor Emmanuel, a march through the main streets of the city to the unknown soldier's tomb, and then a demobilization and the return in various parts of Italy.

Meanwhile the Fascisti already in Rome, including some from outside who had previously entered the city, celebrated their triumph informally by night parades through the town, undaunted by frequent heavy showers, singing patriotic Fascisti songs interspersed with Fascisti war cries. Notwithstanding the rain they managed to light bonfires in the various squares in which they burned socialist and communist literature, including forms for subscribing to the funds of the parties with communist tendencies taken in raids on the offices of the Avanti, and the communist chamber of Labor.

DISORDERS REPORTED IN ROME
These demonstrations and others which had occurred through the day yesterday led to sporadic disorders in some quarters during which there was considerable shooting and a number of fatalities, a total of twelve deaths being reported.

The composition of the Mussolini cabinet and the chances it will have for commanding a majority in Parliament continue to be discussed animatedly.

Premier Mussolini apparently counts stronger on the fact that his Government is a coalition one, and that it thus may obtain carrying.

REV. VAUGHAN IS DEAD -- VISITED THIS COUNTRY

Well Known Jesuit Priest Died in London Today After a Short Illness.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—Father Bernard Vaughan, one of the most prominent Jesuit priests in the world, and a brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, died here today. Several years ago he toured through parts of Canada, Alaska and the United States and later lectured in Japan, where he addressed the House of Peers.

Change Made in Plans.
It appears that the original plan attributed to Premier Mussolini to have two moderate Socialists in the cabinet was strongly opposed by other Fascisti leaders, that the names of Gino Beldesi and Bruno Buozzi, two of the leading figures in the co-operative movement, in Italy, were not included in the new Government.

With Signor Mussolini, the new ministry, according to the latest classification, comprises five Fascisti, two Catholics, three Democrats, one Nationalist and one Liberal, with the addition of General Diaz and Vice-Admiral Di Revel, who, being Senators, and also belonging to the army and navy, respectively, are not assigned to any special party.

Twelve Dead as Result of Fighting at Rome
(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, Oct. 31.—Twelve persons were reported dead today as the result of attacks yesterday in which Fascisti were involved. Reinforcements were sought and the police soon occupied the whole zone, which is the same one in which the Fascisti were attacked last May 24, during a celebration of the anniversary of Italy's entrance in the war.

General Smart Lodges Charges Against Quebec Government—Motion To Adopt The Reply To Speech From Throne Is Carried Westmount Member Claimed that Board of Examiners for Admission of Practice of Law Showed Discrimination Against Returned Soldiers—Charges Were Strenuously Denied by Hon. Perrault, Minister of Colonization, and also by Premier Taschereau.

(Associated Press Despatch)
QUEBEC, Oct. 31.—That the Board of Examiners for the admission to the practice of law showed discrimination against returned soldiers and that such discrimination was not accidental but the result of a well planned system, was the charge made by General Smart, member for Westmount, at the meeting of the Legislative Assembly yesterday afternoon when the debate on the amendment submitted by the member for Joliette, P. J. Dufresne, to amend the address in reply to the speech from the throne, was resumed.

The charges were most strenuously denied by Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Colonization, who claimed the Board was composed of some of the most highly respected citizens of the Quebec bar. The Minister claimed the charges made by General Smart were an insult to the entire bar of the Province.

General Smart, in the course of his address, also made the claim that bootlegging was being carried on a large scale in the Province, and that in some cases it was hard to believe the Liquor Commission was ignorant of the illicit trade which was being conducted. In fact, the member for Westmount stated that a second liquor store had been opened in Valleyfield simply because the bootlegging business in that city where illicit dealers purchased their supplies for their trade across the United States border required more than one store.

In reply to the charges of discrimination against returned soldiers, made by General Smart, Premier Taschereau said that he, the Premier, could give the member for Westmount certain information which would most probably make him sorry he had ever mentioned the matter in the House. He invited the member for Westmount to produce sworn proofs of his declarations.

"I will only be too glad to see the whole matter cleared up," replied General Smart.

Ireneau Vautrin, member for St. James, Montreal, in a long address, reviewed the past policies of the Government and the new legislation which would be submitted to the Legislature.

Dealing with the Government's proposal to give the fuel controller more authority, the member for St. James said that although there was very little fear the Montreal coal dealers might attempt to take advantage of the situation to unduly raise prices, it was wise, however, to be prepared for any emergency.

Mr. Vautrin defended the amusement tax as, he believed those who wished to secure amusements should be made to remember those who could not afford such amusements.

MATHIEU'S BODY RECOVERED AT ASBESTOS MINE

Two Bodies Still Remain Buried Beneath Avalanche of Rock.

Continued efforts are being made to recover the bodies of Odilon Grosjean and Edmond Breton, the other miners still buried beneath the enormous mass of rock. The derick is being used constantly, and it is expected that the stean shovel, secured from a neighboring property, will be working today or tomorrow.

LOYD GEORGE INDIGNANT OVER ACTION OF BONAR LAW'S PARTY; LIKELY TO CARRY OUT THREAT

Pact Between Governmental Conservatives and Lloyd George National Liberals Today Seemed Near a Smash-up that May Force Former Premier to Really Carry Out His Threat to "Spread the War" and Wage a Bitter Fight to the Finish with the Men Who Brought About His Downfall—It Is Said Lloyd George Intends to Let Loose His Reserves Against Conservatives Unless His Demands Are Met.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—The so-called co-operative pact between Governmental Conservatives and the Lloyd Georgian National Liberals, which yesterday appeared to be gaining strength, today seemed near a smash-up that may force Lloyd George to really carry out his threat to "spread the war" and wage a bitter fight to the finish with the men who brought about his downfall.

One trouble seems to be that Conservative candidates have bobbed up against those running under the Lloyd George banner in certain constituencies where the latter had regarded themselves as safe from Tory attacks. Lloyd George is represented as being indignant, and as contemplating the carrying out of his threat. If the Conservative party does not withdraw some of the candidates already entered against his followers. Others feel sure that he will really "spread the war" with vigor should the die-hards put up any more candidates against the National Liberals.

At this time the Lloyd Georgians have about 160 candidates in the field, and they are reported to have 250 others in reserve.

WILL LET LOOSE RESERVES.
It is said to be Lloyd George's intention to let loose these reserves against the Conservatives unless his demands are met.

The co-operative pact—a sort of "you leave us alone in this district and we won't both you in that district," understanding—first attracted attention through the anger of the die-hards at the prospect of a return to Coalition rule under the aegis of a new government.

To combat this dissatisfaction the Central Conservative Association announced that in reality no pact had been reached, but that each constituency was at liberty to adopt whatever candidate it chose. Since that announcement National Liberals and Conservatives have been opposing one another in districts where they were believed to have reached a non-interference understanding.

TRYING TO COME TO AGREEMENT.
The Times says that Lloyd George is still trying to come to an understanding with Unionist headquarters, but that paper thinks the Unionists will find it impossible to make the arrangements Lloyd George desires, even if they wished to do so, because the constituencies from which Lloyd George wants Conservative candidates withdrawn are precisely those which are least likely to respond to an appeal from Unionist chiefs.

The newspaper thinks that a wide break between the two would affect party relationships on every front and would produce chaos in Scotland, wherein many large areas are the Unionists and National Liberals are closely co-operating.

Still, the Times contends, the Lloyd Georgian party, if it is to continue to live at all, has no alternative but to "spread the war."

SITUATION GROWING MORE COMPLICATED.
A clash between the Conservatives and the Lloyd Georgians would likely result in an alliance between the National Liberals and the Asquithian Free Liberals in several districts. The two groups of Liberals are far from being in alliance now in many constituencies. Free Liberals are attacking National Liberals here and there, and the cry "it isn't fair" is not infrequently heard. Day by day in every way the situation grows more complicated and more complicated. Out of all the squabbles the Laborites hope to have their cause benefited. Presenting a solidly united front themselves, they are enjoying the troubles of the parties whose aim embrace hostility to the Labor programme.

LOYD GEORGE'S PARTY THREATENS TO RETALIATE
(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—Lloyd George headquarters announced last night that if Conservatives continue to nominate candidates as they have since Saturday in the constituencies considered safely Lloyd Georgian, the National Liberals will retaliate.

MR. BONAR LAW'S ELECTION STOCK IS ON THE DECLINE
(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—In the general estimation of the press, Mr. Bonar Law's election stock seems to be in a falling market, while the PRINCE VON BUELOW, former German Chancellor, who declares that his country is permanently republican.

Lloyd George stock, the newspapers assert, is rising. A provisional list of candidates already in the field in Great Britain show 435 Unionists, 160 National Liberals, 300 Independent Liberals and over 400 Laborites. These will contest 615 constituencies to be represented in the new Parliament.

HAVE DECIDED NOT TO OPPOSE FORMER PREMIER

(Associated Press Despatch)
CARNARVON, WALES, Oct. 31.—The announcement yesterday that the Carnarvon Conservatives had decided not to oppose Lloyd George in the elections, "upon receiving assurance that he will loyally serve under Mr. Bonar Law in resisting the communist attack," was slightly qualified today. One of the Conservative leaders said that Mr. Lloyd George had not given them the specific assurance, but that they had interpreted one of his speeches in that manner.

CLAIMS MANY WOMEN WANTED TO MARRY 'BILL'

Princess Hermine of Reuss Thinks Ex-Emperor Most Kind-Hearted and Generous Man.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Oct. 31.—Princess Hermine, of Reuss, thinks her fiancée, the former German Kaiser, is one of the most generous, kind-hearted men that ever lived, and she is sure that she is going to be the happiest woman in the world after their marriage next Sunday.

That, at least, is what she told the correspondent of the Daily Express today.

"I know I love the Kaiser," she said. "Surely he is not so rich that it can be said I am marrying him for his money."

The Princess said that a lot of other women were anxious for the heart of the former German Emperor and described how mad some of them were with envy and jealousy when her engagement to William got noised around the world by telegraph and cable.

"They did their best to hinder our engagement by intrigue," she said. "I had a hard fight. All my friends and so-called friends had their own plans. You know, several prominent women including the widow of Von Reichenow thought of marrying the Kaiser."

Miss Gendron was an employee at Shapiro's departmental store, and she together with her fellow employees, were entertained at the home of Miss Fabiola Giroux and Miss Aline Moreau. Singing, music and speaking enlivened the evenings, and at the home of Miss Morin she was presented with a remembrance from her friends in Bedford, who wished her a safe journey to her new home.

Mrs. Jennie Kneeland, of Stanbridge, was in town for a day last week.

Prayers were offered at St. James' Church on Sunday morning for Mr. William Wilson, who is seriously ill at his home here. Dr. G. Gendron, of St. Sebastian, is attending Mr. Wilson.

What is the matter with your hair?

All largely due to a single cause
Obtain this free test from your dealer—today

This is to men and women who wish to care for hair in a more scientific way. To keep or restore its beauty, its health, by methods right and modern. There is now an ideal method. It deals effectively with the cause of hair troubles, present or impending. It embodies the best men know.

The hair's great friend and foe

THERE is an oil called Sebum, secreted by the glands of the hair. It lubricates the hair—gives it luster and softness. It keeps the scalp flexible—or should. It is the hair's chief friend.

But, like all skin secretions, there is often an excess. Then the hair becomes too oily. The surplus Sebum decomposes on the scalp. It forms a fatty acid which inflames.

Scales and dandruff often follow. The oil is suppressed. The condition may kill the hair roots, so the hair falls out. Then Sebum becomes the hair's great foe—the cause of most hair troubles.

Cleanliness the first essential

The first rule is the same as with any skin surface. Remove the excess—cleanse the pores. Think what would happen to any skin if you failed for a time to do that. But you must aim at Sebum—that particular scalp oil. Dissolve it, remove it, then get into the pores. Not with ordinary soaps or shampoos, but with studied, tested, scientific methods.

Our experts have embodied in Palmolive Shampoo the best ways known to do that. It combats the Sebum—Sebum only—correctly and efficiently. That is the first essential. Don't rely on guesswork, on ignorance, on non-scientific means. Your hair is too important.

Beauty—softness—luster—health

The next thing is to treat your scalp as you would your cheeks. Apply a soap based on palm and olive oils. Do what millions do with Palmolive Soap to foster fine complexions.

Palmolive Shampoo does that. It is based on the oil blend which for ages has held supreme place for the skin. The purpose is to give to the hair luster, softness, beauty. And to fit the scalp to maintain healthy hair roots. The other helps are told in our book.

A home demonstration—free

To show these effects we will give you a treatment to try. We will give you the oil blend and the Sebum combatant combined in Palmolive Shampoo. It will show you the ideal way to give the hair care, beauty and protection. You will know that in an hour.

With it we give a book, "How to Care for the Hair." That will tell you just what to do for any wrong condition. For dry hair, for dull hair, for falling hair, for dandruff. The advice is up-to-date and authoritative. It will tell you how to deal with damage already done.

Think what your hair means to you. Let us show you how to beautify it, how to preserve or restore it. Take this coupon to your dealer today. He will give you the free trial treatment and the book, which together hold the secret of healthy, beautiful, alluring hair.

DR. TAIT TO LECTURE AT HIGH SCHOOL

For two years or more McGill University has been giving various extension courses to teachers and to the public generally in Montreal. This year Dr. Cyrus MacMillan is giving a course in English literature in Quebec, and Dr. Tait is to give a course in educational psychology in Sherbrooke. Each course is a synopsis of work which is covered in six lectures at McGill. A travelling library of the books required will be sent to Sherbrooke High School for the use of those who enroll for the course. A fee of ten dollars each will be required of students to help defray the travelling expenses of the lectures.

These lectures are the result of action taken by the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers in convention at Montreal a few years ago. A strong committee was appointed, to be known as the Status of Teachers' Committee, to study ways and means of improving the professional standing of teachers. The need of the moment was increased salaries. With that practically accomplished, the committee turned their attention to better standards of professional training. The Protestant Committee of Public Instruction was induced to pass Regulation 31g, stating the work required of elementary teachers in order to obtain an intermediate diploma, and that demanded of teachers holding intermediate diplomas who desired a second class.

This course in educational psychology will be given by Dr. Tait counts as "one unit."

The first of these lectures will be given in the High School on November 3rd from 4.30 p. m. to 6 p. m., and every second Friday throughout the winter. The course is primarily for teachers, but every person interested in children will find it of interest. Teachers outside of the city of Sherbrooke are urged to attend. Applications can be sent in to Miss E. G. Mallory, treasurer, or to Miss B. Fraser, secretary of the Sherbrooke Teachers' Association (address Sherbrooke High School), or application for enrolment can be made before 4.30 p. m. on Friday, November 3rd, 1922. Fees are payable any time before the third lecture, December 1st.

McGill extension courses in Quebec and in Sherbrooke are in the experimental stage. On success or failure this year will depend the development of the work in future years. The Committee on Status of Teachers has worked hard; the lecturers are making a heavy sacrifice in taking on so much extra work; will the teachers seize the opportunity? No course could have been offered of more value professionally. Psychology is a "science in the making." Greater advances are being made every day in this science than in any other. "Intelligence tests" and I. Q.'s are the interest of the day, magazines are full of it. One series of lectures will not produce experts, but will give an intelligent understanding of this important modern science.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S. ENTER-TAINED THE BROMPTON

The St. Andrew's Young People's Society entertained the Young People's Society of the Brompton Road last evening. About one hundred and thirty young people were present. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mr. Robert Robertson, and the usual devotional exercises were held. The Rev. Alfred Wright extended a hearty welcome to the visiting society, after which the president, Mr. Edward Thorne, took the chair.

A very interesting programme had arranged. Piano solos were given by Miss Annie McElroy and Miss F. Smith; vocal solos were rendered by Messrs. Edward Thorne and William Seaward, and recitations were heard by Miss E. MacLeod, Miss Vera Hatch, Mr. William Seaward and Mr. Edward Thorne. Mr. Frank Allen gave a humorous address.

Upon the conclusion of the programme, an hour was spent pleasantly playing house games, after which refreshments were served by the young ladies. The pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

FUNERAL OF LATE RICHARD WINGET

The funeral of the late Richard P. Winget took place from his late residence on Moulton Hill on Tuesday last. Prayers were said at the house and the long cortege wended its way to the Methodist Church in Lennoxville, where the rector, the Rev. Mr. Pergau, preached an eloquent sermon and spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family. The choir sang the hymns "Rock of Ages," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and "A Few More Years Shall Roll." At the close of the service the funeral wended its way to the Malvern Cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest in the family lot, the commitment prayers being said by the Rev. Mr. Pergau.

The bearers were all old friends and neighbors, Messrs. C. Crawford, W. Reed, C. Eccles, F. Hatcher, W. Manley, J. Gairney, and the principal mourners were the widow and two sons, Messrs. Henry, of Moulton Hill, and Sidney, who resides at home; one daughter, Mrs. Rose Trussler, of Sherbrooke; three stepsons, Messrs. James and Joseph Hand, of Sherbrooke, and Herbert, of Berlin, N.H.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Wm. Dredge, of Edmonton, Alta., and Mrs. R. Price, of Indian Head, Sask.; five brothers, William and Nathan, of Irburgh, Vt., and John, of New Orleans, Vt.; and Arthur, of Ontario, and Angus, of Lennoxville, all of whom were present at the funeral except Arthur, who was unable to attend; two sisters, Mrs. W. Waite, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Macell, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; several grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews. The floral offerings were beautiful, testifying to the sympathy felt in the family.

The late Mr. Winget was twice married, his first wife being Miss Caroline Sears, who died in 1895, leaving him with five children, three of whom predeceased their father. His second wife was Mrs. Elizabeth Hand, of Liverpool, Eng., who survives him with the family mentioned above. The deceased had lived practically all his life on Moulton Hill and was a man of great principles, a good husband and father and a good neighbor, highly respected by all who knew him. His passing will leave a vacancy that will long be felt in that neighborhood, and the sympathy of all is extended to the widow and family.

EXPLOSIONS TO THE EAST OF CITY

The citizens of Sherbrooke have been wondering, during the past few days, as to the cause of the repeated reverberations and explosions which have been heard from a north easterly direction. Many conjectures have been heard with regard to them and numerous explanations have been offered.

The true cause has come to light, however, and is a very simple one. The discoverer of the explanation, however, is still somewhat dazed by his experience in the field of research. He was driving peacefully in his automobile along the road through Victoria Park, when he saw a number of men leap out of the woods to the road in front of him

TWO CHILDREN LOST LIVES IN SERIOUS FIRE

House on Sixth Range Totally Destroyed by Flames.

A terrible fatality occurred early yesterday morning, when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rivet was destroyed by fire and two of their children, little girls, aged four and eighteen months respectively, were burned to death.

Mr. Joseph Rivet, who is employed at the Elmwood Cemetery left for his work around six o'clock and accompanied by Mrs. Rivet, who was by her to milk the cow.

On coming out of the barn she noticed the house in flames and, in spite of her efforts, it was impossible to save her children, one of whom was sleeping. The house was a two roomed one, with the bedroom above the living room. It was a frame house and was totally destroyed, in about fifteen minutes, before any outside help could be obtained.

The family had just taken in a full supply of winter provisions and a sum of money, which Mr. Rivet had kept in the house with a view to applying to the purchase price of same, was lost in the flames.

The family lived out on the sixth range, about seven miles from Sherbrooke, on the Magog Road. Arrangements have been made to inter the bodies of the two children in the cemetery near the sixth range. It is expected that an endeavor will be made to supply the unfortunate family with the requirements to tide them over the coming winter, inasmuch as everything they owned was destroyed in the fire.

Individuals or societies wishing to assist in enabling the family to tide over the winter can be of valuable assistance and are asked to communicate with Mr. L. Stevenson, 275 Melbourne Street, telephone 528-J.

barring his progress. These men seemed bent on intercepting him, and he, perhaps under the impression that they were highwaymen, refused to stop and drove straight ahead without slackening speed. Much to his surprise, as he reached the dense part of the woods, where the trees closely overshadowed the road, he heard a terrific explosion just beside him, and earth and rocks and other debris flew into the air and sprinkled the road. It seemed improbable that even the most desperate of highwaymen should be using modern artillery and high explosives to bombard their prey, so the motorist, with a remarkable display of courage, stopped to investigate the crater. What was his surprise to find that the shell crater had contained the stump of a tree.

The explanation, therefore, of these explosions is that the Parks and Real Estate Committee, of the City of Sherbrooke, is doing a good work in removing the stumps from Victoria Park. This should greatly improve the appearance of the park, and make it much more attractive during the summer months.

WOMEN'S REALM

(By Sylvie West)

Many readers of the Record will read with interest, mixed with regret, of the passing away of Mrs. Margaret Clark Church, the aged lady whose birthday was the same as that of the beloved Queen of Great Britain and Empress of India, "Victoria the Good." Mrs. Church lived for nearly a century in this province, and for many years in Johnville, previous to her going to Quebec City, where she passed away on October 27 at the extreme old age of 103 years. By many residents in the Townships she will be remembered as a remarkable woman, both in mind and body.

Sherbrooke housewives, in accordance with the Governmental decree, are using fish on today's menu. Local fish dealers have done their part in providing a fine assortment to choose from, a fresh supply being on hand, both yesterday and today.

Mrs. Adams, the Ladies' Library Committee and their assistants did themselves proud in making Saturday's benefit bridge and tea the huge success it proved to be. One hundred and seventy dollars is a record-breaker in proceeds from an event of its kind.

At a special meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.O.F., held recently, the regent and members considered very earnestly the problem of keeping the Sanitarium open. Getting down to hard facts, it was decided that this will be impossible unless the Government gives assistance. The women who have worked so diligently for the past two years feel that, no matter what comes, they have done their best, but it is only human nature to feel utterly discouraged when other organizations have received grants, financial aid, etc., while they have plodded against almost insurmountable difficulties without such aid. They have the assurance, however, that their work in connection with the Sanitarium has opened other people's eyes to the need of prevention, while the honor of having been the first body in Sherbrooke to take up the work rightfully belongs to them.

The Reverend Sisters of the Presentation of Mary, it is understood, have purchased the fine property belonging to the late Mrs. Lewis Parsons at Swetsburg, and that it will be made into a girls' boarding school. The property is among the finest in that place, and was erected by the late Senator Baker some forty years ago. It covers nine acres of land, and is one of the fine old places for which this section of country is noted.

The ladies of Scotstown are anticipating a visit from Miss Mary Matheson, the famous Scotch and English singer, who has expressed a wish to visit the Scotch people of the Eastern Townships. If the singer comes to Scotstown, the musical event will probably be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

REDUCTION IN ROYALTY DUE TO CONDITIONS

Depression in the Asbestos Indus- try Influenced Government.

The order-in-council authorizing a reduction in the royalty rate to be collected on asbestos has been published in the Quebec Official Gazette, and states that it was found to be temporarily expedient to reduce the royalty of five per cent on the gross value of the asbestos produced and sold, owing chiefly to the depression prevailing in the asbestos industry and the weaker demand for this substance on the part of the manufacturers.

It is clearly pointed out however, that this new rate applies only to operators who will have paid all arrears on or before December 15th, and that the five per cent gross rate shall apply until settlement of arrears. The clause reads as follows:

"Of all asbestos produced by the mines in the Province of Quebec, between the first day of January,
1922, and the first day of January,
1924, a royalty shall be imposed and collected of two and a half per cent. (2½ per cent.) on the gross value of all asbestos produced by the mines and mills of the Province. The Department of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries shall have charge of the collection of this royalty."

It all depends upon the Breakfast

BREAKFAST is the most important meal of the day.
Many hours have elapsed since your last meal, and the nourishment it provided has been utilized by your system.

Your digestive organs have rested—Nature now demands that they resume their function of extracting new energy for mind and body from the nourishment you take.

Many things depend upon breakfast. It makes or mars your day and it affects your very future—no matter what your walk of life.

Eat the right morning meal and you will go to work with a will, clear-eyed, alert, vigorous of mind and body, self-confident, anxious to grapple with the day's problems, equipped to accept its opportunities.

Health commands success in business, sport and society; it makes life worth living—and health depends upon breakfast more than upon any other meal.

Eat the right breakfast and be healthy. Eat a good breakfast of Quaker Oats porridge—the finest of all foods and the most nourishing.
The oat is almost the ideal food in balance and completeness. It is a body builder and a vim-food. And of all Oats, none can compare with Quaker. The cream of the crop goes into the Quaker carton. We secure the pick of Canada's best oats and about 55% of them mill up to the Quaker standard—just the large, perfect, flavoury grains. The puny or imperfect grains are discarded.

Milled into very thin flakes, Quaker Oats cook quickly all through and make the most delicious and the most easily digested porridge.
They are full of nourishment—and the family that eats plenty of Quaker Oats is sure to be a healthy, sturdy family.

Remember, Quaker quality is only to be found in the Quaker carton. Tell your grocer none other will do.

A MAN WITH A BIG JOB.

The country which has been staggered by the heavy deficits of the National Railways now bases its hopes upon the new president, Sir Henry Worth Thornton, K. B. E.

The following condensed sketch of his career is taken from the C. N. R. Magazine:

"Born at Logansport, Indiana, United States, November 6th, 1871. Educated at St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, and University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad—Engineering Department, lines west of Pittsburgh—1894. Held various positions in the office of Chief Engineer became Division Engineer in 1899; and was Division Superintendent of various divisions between 1901 and 1911. Became President Canadian National Railways, and subsidiary services, October 4, 1922."

LATE GEORGE H. ST. PIERRE, K.C.

Many people throughout this district will regret exceedingly the passing away of Mr. George H. St. Pierre, K.C., the end coming with a suddenness to shock the whole community.

Born at Stanstead, he spent the greater part of his life there and at Coaticook, coming to Sherbrooke a few years ago. Mr. St. Pierre was prominent in the public life of his native county and contested the county for parliamentary honors.

Of pleasing, friendly personality he was always popular with his fellow men and the sincerest sympathy of all will be with his widow and large family of children in their sudden and irreparable loss.

WAS ONE OF THE TOWNSHIPS OLDEST CITIZENS.

One of Missisquoi's oldest citizens has just passed to his reward in the person of William A. Davies, of Stanbridge Ridge, who had attained the age of ninety-four years, as noted in yesterday's Record.

Mr. Davies was one of the fine type so often marked in his generation. Sincere, friendly, he was long in his community one of the few remaining links between the pioneer days and the present.

The late Mr. Davies was one of the first subscribers of the Record in Bedford district and on many occasions showed his friendly interest in this publication.

His memory for the greater part of his later years was exceedingly clear and he could relate many incidents of much interest concerning the early days.

A GOOD WORD FOR GOSSIP.

So much has been said about the disastrous effects of gossip that an incident illustrating its beneficial effects is refreshing. Also it suggests that gossip may be turned to useful as well as harmful ends.

At Akron, Ohio, the other day, a great $2,000,000 viaduct bridging the valley between two parts of the city was dedicated with elaborate exercises. The valley has hitherto made the way difficult, and the new viaduct adds a great improvement to the city. It is reported that most of the county gathered to celebrate the dedication. Not only did this promote the community spirit in Akron, but it advertised the city, and impressed the importance of the new enterprise on its citizens. It was largely due to the power of gossip. It happened this way:

As the time approached when the viaduct was to be completed, a few of the prominent citizens got together to plan for the dedication exercises. They decided that a parade would help, with a little band music and some speeches. The plans were not advertised, but someone found out about them and told someone else. The story spread and each one added a little more until the city anticipated a big celebration. The original group were quick to grasp the opportunity and enlarged their plans. Consequently, the whole city gave itself up to the dedication.

Great is the power of gossip. It has grown to have a sinister meaning, perhaps with good reason. But used with understanding it may prove a good thing. Like its near relative, propaganda, its meaning, formerly of bad reputation, may be changed to a recognized method of accomplishing useful measures.

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

October 31, 1922.

Hallowe'en.

Certainly you need tell no person under the age of sixteen that:

This is the night of Hallowe'en
When a' the wicketie might be seen,
Some o' them black, some o' them green,
Some o' them like a turkey bean.

Parts of every city are taking on a most rustic appearance. There are always those who "rush the season," by displaying their pumpkin lanterns—and, it must be added, using their tick-tacks and their peashooters—in advance of the true All Hallow's Eve.

It is a holiday of the fireside primarily. Those grotesque visitors who ring your bell, and then come in, delightfully disguised, know not that they follow a custom immemorial. The treat of doughnuts and cider which you hand them is the oblation of druidic times. These fairy folk are witches and hobgoblins, nothing less, and if you seem to see the pink ear or the sparkling eye of a juvenile acquaintance down the street, 'twould break the charm should you let on.

Autumn, the generosity of field and orchard, the high cheer of youthful hearts—they combine well, unless, as too often occurs, there is a tinge of rowdiness in the celebration. Even so, the misplaced gate, the soaped window, are taken in good part by most folk who once were young themselves.

Nothing else is so conducive to contentment as a contemplation of the other fellow's troubles.

PRESS COMMENT

AND SOME NEVER CAN.

(Fitchburg Sentinel.)

The quickest thing some people can do is sit down.

THE ETERNAL PROBLEM.

(London Express.)

'Let us end this perpetual gibbering and bleating about sex. The more we talk about it, the more we play into the hands of those who make capital out of it. The more capital that can be made from it, the more plays and novels will be produced concerning it. To the detriment of the morals of the flapper.'

BRITISH LABOR'S CHANCE.

(Brandon Sun.)

British labor will not, of course, relinquish the struggle to obtain political power in Parliament, but it will only attain effective strength in the Commons by constitutional methods. It cannot do that until it is purged of the elements of disruption and the Bolshevik advocates who are disintegrating the Labor party in Britain.

WHAT'S BEST FOR CHILDREN?

(Concord Monitor.)

Planning deliberately to make one's grandchildren rich is bad business, in any case. It may even be questioned whether planning to make one's children rich is wise family policy or sound social policy.

Far better is a heritage of high ideals, good manners, liberal education and training for the battle of life. Given those, a child will have something better than money to pass on to the grandchildren. Given these, the succeeding generations will not need wealth, but they will know how to use it if they have it.

"POVERTY-STRICKEN" GERMANY.

(London Free Press.)

While other nations patiently and laboriously are doing their utmost to pay their debts with promptness and exactitude, Germany hesitates, delays, procrastinates, and in the end affirms she cannot meet her obligations by less than a third the amount due, and only after a time extension. In the meanwhile, there are evidences everywhere in "Uber alles land" of a getting-ready spirit of activity. Naturally the question arises: Getting ready for what?

STAGING ANOTHER STRIKE.

(Hamilton Herald.)

The chief reason why we are obliged to pay so high a price for coal is that the production of coal is artificially restricted, mainly by long strikes in the unionized districts. It is suspected that the mine operators are not nearly so averse to these strikes as might be supposed, for a suspension of production enables them to exact a higher price than would be possible if production were continuous. There is a prospect of another general strike of the coal miners next spring. Should it take place of course there will be the best reason in the world why coal prices cannot be lowered next year.

LABOR SAVING FOR WOMEN.

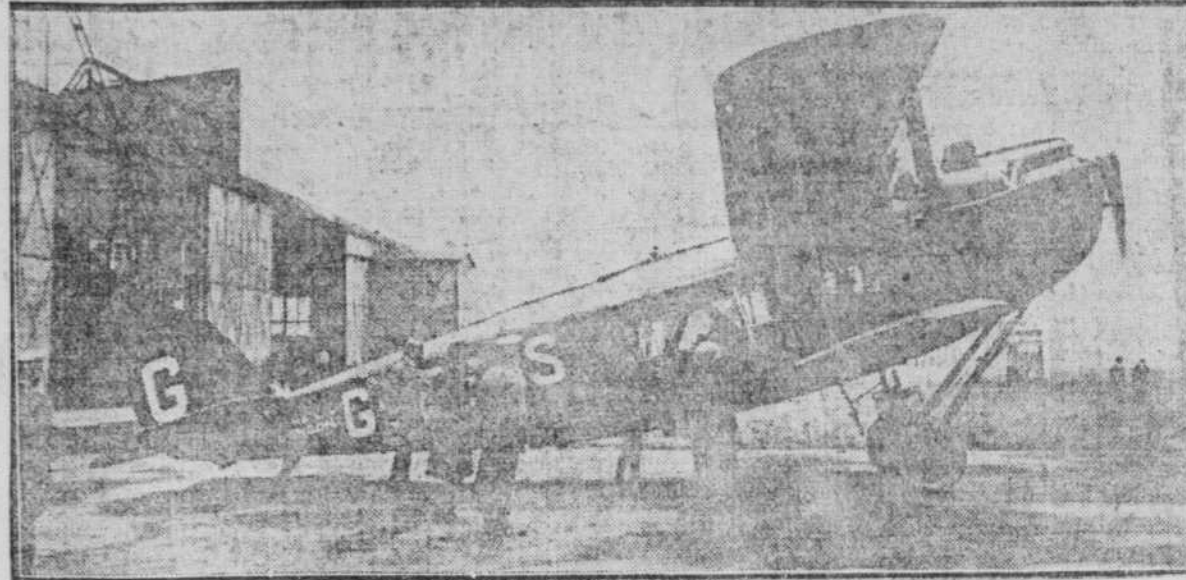

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)

What we would like to see is abolishment of the truism "woman's work is never done."

There are, to be sure, a limited number of machines offered to lighten the drudgery of housekeepers. But they do not reduce the volume of duties devolving on the human domestic machine. At best they make it possible for wife and mother to perform necessary services that otherwise would have to be done. Husband and father may idle away half his waking hours and exert himself very little while discharging his paid duties. If the dream of power distributed by wireless is realized there may be still less for man to do. But household labors will not be affected. We are not insensible to the great benefits conferred on mankind by labor-saving machinery applicable to productive industry, but is it not a lop-sided progress that fails to take heed of the greater need for lightening the toll of womankind.

UP TO YOU.

The world owes you a living, but it demands that you acquire some ability as a collector.

There is now a regular passenger air service between London and Berlin. This shows the first machine of the line just after it reached Berlin. Ten passengers can be carried.

FRELIGHSBURG SERVICE GOES ON TOMORROW

Much Satisfaction in District at Success of Efforts for Daily Train Service.

STANBRIDGE EAST, Oct. 31.—The daily train service is to be restored on the Frelighsburg division of the Central Vermont Railway. Commencing tomorrow, Wednesday, November 1st, according to a telegram received by C. H. Hibbard, secretary-treasurer of this municipality, on Thursday from the secretary of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, as already reported in the Record. The news created much satisfaction throughout the community as the service during the past few months on this line has been of little benefit to its patrons and the public generally in consequence of there being only three trains weekly to and from Montreal.

The injustice of this arrangement was immediately brought to the attention of the Board of Railway Commissioners by the municipalities interested, supported by the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and W. F. Kay, M.P. The Railway Board replied that it would hold a hearing of the matter on October 27th, at Montreal, which however, was not necessary owing to the railway authorities undertaking to resume the former service of a daily train between Farnham and Frelighsburg.

Credit is due to the members of the delegation appointed to meet the Railway Commission on behalf of the municipalities, which consisted of Messrs. M. S. Cornell, M. Larose, E. H. Hunter, M. Poutre, E. N. Bonneau, C. H. Hibbard for their efforts and success in securing the desired change. Mr. Harvey Beatty was the delegate from the E. T. Associated Boards of Trade.

LITTLE OF VALUE WAS LEFT FOR SOVIET TROOPS

White Troops in Retreat from Vladivostok Carried off Everything that Could Be Moved.

(Associated Press Despatch)

VLADIVOSTOK, Oct. 31.—Except for the arms which the Japanese were unable to remove when they evacuated Vladivostok, little of value was left here for the incoming Chita troops. The retreating White troops requisitioned all the water transports and carried off everything that could be moved, even to office curtains and articles, to find a purchaser abroad.

The White troops even took a shipload of ammunition which it was reported was going to Chin Tso-Lin, the uncrowned King of Manchuria. It is estimated that fifteen thousand people left this city prior to the entry of the Red forces. During the panic they sold their possessions greatly below their real value. Sable coats were sold for a few yen and a French motor car went for sixty rubles.

The panic was unaccounted for, as thus far the Reds have not molested anybody.

The Chita troops, although they have been here but a few days, have established in conjunction with the Soviet Government a railway service between Olgolania and Moscow. They promise to have a fortnightly express running from Vladivostok to Moscow within a month. Advances from the Reds contain admissions that their forces suffered heavily in the fighting with the Whites at Spassk. The fighting began on October 8th and continued for two weeks, ending in a Red victory as a result of which the Whites were forced to cross the Manchurian frontier.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. A. MILNE

"Was it the collar you were looking for in the cupboard?" said Bill eagerly.

"Of course. Why no collar?" I said. For some reason Cayley considered it necessary to hide all Mark's clothes, not just the suit, but everything which he was wearing, or supposed to be wearing, at the time of the murder. But he hadn't hidden the collar. Why? Had he left it out by mistake? So I looked in the cupboard. It wasn't there. Had he left it out on purpose? If so, why?—and where was it? Naturally I began to say to myself, "Where have I seen a collar lately? A collar all by itself? And I remembered—what, Bill?"

Bill frowned heavily to himself, and shook his head.

"Don't ask me, Tony. I can't—By Jove!" He threw up his head. "In the basket in the office bedroom!"

"Exactly."

"But is that the one?"

"The one that goes with the rest of the clothes? I don't know. Where else can it be? But if it was the collar quite casually to the wash in the ordinary way, and take immense trouble to hide everything else? Why, why, why?"

Bill hit hard at his pipe, but could think of nothing to say.

"Anyhow," said Antony, getting up restlessly, "I'm certain of one thing. Mark knew on the Monday that Robert was coming here."

CHAPTER XVIII

THE corner, having made a few commonplace comments as to the terrible nature of the tragedy which they had come to investigate that afternoon, proceeded to outline the case to the jury.

Antony did not expect to learn much from the evidence—he knew the facts of the case as well by now—but he wondered if Inspector Birch had developed any new theories. If so, they would appear in the coroner's examination, for the coroner would certainly have been coached by the police as to the important facts to be extracted from each witness. Bill was the first to be put through it.

"Now, about this letter, Mr. Beverley," he was asked when his chief evidence was over. "Did you see it at all?"

"I didn't see the actual writing. I saw the back of it. Mark was holding it up when he told us about his brother."

"You don't know what was in it, then?"

"Bill had a sudden shock. He had read the letter only that morning. He knew quite well what was in it. But it wouldn't do to admit this. And then, just as he was about to perjure himself, he remembered that Antony had heard Cayley, telling the Inspector."

"I knew afterwards. I was told. But Mark didn't read it out at breakfast."

"You gathered, however, that it was an unpleasant letter?"

"Oh, yes!"

"Would you say that Mark was frightened by it?"

"Not frightened. Sort of bitter—and resigned. Sort of 'Oh, Lord, here we are again!'"

"There was a bit here and there. The coroner smiled, and tried to pretend that he hadn't."

"Thank you, Mr. Beverley."

The next witness was summoned by the name of Andrew Amos, and Antony looked up with interest, wondering who he was.

"He lives at the inner lodge," whispered Bill to him.

All that Amos had to say was that a stranger had passed by his lodge at a little before three that afternoon, and had spoken to him. He had seen the body and recognized it as the man.

"What did he say?"

"Is this right for the Red House?" or something like that, sir."

"What did you say?"

"I said, 'This is the Red House. Who do you want to see?' He was a bit rough-looking, you know, sir, and I didn't know what he was doing there."

"Well?"

"Well, sir, he said, 'Is Mister Mark Ablett at home?' It doesn't sound much put like that, sir, but I didn't care about the way he said it. So I got in front of him like, and said, 'do you want, eh?' and he gave a sort of chuckle and said, 'I want to see my dear brother Mark.'"

"Well, then I took a closer look at him, and I see that praps he might be his brother, so I said, 'If you'll follow the drive, sir, you'll come to the house. Of course I can't say if Mr. Ablett's at home.' And he gave

"In what terms?"

"Well, he hesitated, and then went, 'I can't think of a better word than "peevishly."'

"You didn't hear any conversation between the brothers when they were in the office together?"

"No. I happened to go into the library just after Mark had gone in, and I was there all the time."

"Was the library door open?"

"Oh, yes."

"Did you see or hear the last witness at all?"

"No."

"Would you call Mark a hasty-tempered man?"

Cayley considered this carefully before answering.

"Hasty-tempered, yes," he said. "But not violent-tempered."

"Was he fairly athletic? Active and quick?"

"Active and quick, yes. Not particularly strong."

"Yes, . . . One question more. Was Mark in the habit of carrying any considerable sum of money about with him?"

"Yes. He always had one f100 note on him, and perhaps ten or twenty pounds as well."

"Thank you, Mr. Cayley."

Cayley went back heavily to his seat. "Damn it," said Antony to himself, "why do I like the fellow?"

"Antony Gillingham!"

Again the eager interest of the room could be felt. Who was this stranger, who had got mixed up in the business so mysteriously?

Antony smiled at Bill and stepped up to give his evidence.

He explained how he came to be staying at the "George" at Woodham, how he had heard that the Red House was in the neighborhood, how he had walked over to see his friend Beverley, and had arrived just after the tragedy. Thinking it over afterward he was fairly certain that he had heard the shot, but it had not made any impression on him at the time.

"You and the last witness reached the french windows together and found them shut?"

"Yes."

"You pushed them in and came to the body. Of course you had no idea whose body it was?"

"No."

"Did Mr. Cayley say anything?"

"He turned the body over, just so as to see the face, and when he saw it, he said, 'Thank God.'"

Again the reporters wrote "Sensation."

Did you understand what he meant by that, you know, and he said that it was Robert Ablett. Then he explained that he was afraid at first it was the cousin with whom he lived—Mark."

"Yes. Did he seem upset?"

"Very much so at first. Less when he found that it wasn't Mark."

Mrs. Stevens' room. The house-keeper, sir."

"You didn't think of going back to the hall to see what had happened?"

"Oh, no, sir. I just went in to Mrs. Stevens, and she said, 'Oh, what was that?' frightened-like. And I said, 'That was in the house, Mrs. Stevens, that was.' Just like something going off, it was."

"Thank you," said the coroner.

There was another emotional disturbance in the room as Cayley went into the witness-box; not "Sensation" this time, but an eager and, as it seemed to Antony, sympathetic interest. Now they were getting to grips with the drama.

He gave his evidence carefully, unemotionally—the lies with the same slow deliberation as the truth. Antony watched him intently, wondering what it was about him which had this odd sort of attractiveness. For Antony, who knew that he was lying and lying (as he believed) not for Mark's sake but his own, yet could not help sharing some of that general sympathy with him.

"Was Mark ever in possession of a revolver?" asked the coroner.

"Not to my knowledge. I think I should have known if he had been."

"You were alone with him all that visit of Robert's at all?"

"I didn't see very much of him in the morning. I was at work in my room, and outside, and so on. We lunched together and he talked of it then a little."

"In what terms?"

"Well, he hesitated, and then went, 'I can't think of a better word than "peevishly."'

HATLEY

The Townsman, of Wellesley, Mass., of Friday, October 13, contains the following notice, which may be of interest to residents in this town: William W. McLeod passed away at his home in Wellesley Hills early Monday morning, October 9, after an illness which had confined him to the house for more than a year. Born in Framingham sixty-three years ago, he came in early life to Wellesley Hills, where for thirty-eight years he was engaged in the grocery business in Wellesley Hills Square, retiring two years ago on account of failing health. He was a successful business man, and too close application undoubtedly undermined his health. Although frequently solicited to accept public office, Mr. McLeod refused, though his interest in political affairs in connection with the Republican party was continuous. When the Wellesley Co-operative Bank was organized in 1911, Mr. McLeod was elected the first president, and held the office until his death. Under his administration the bank grew in less than twelve years to an institution with assets of practically one million dollars. In 1896 Mr. McLeod was married to Miss Sarah Impey, a daughter of the late Stephen Impey, of Hatley, who, with one sister, Miss Mary McLeod, of Wellesley Hills, survives.

On Sunday morning the usual service at St. James' Church will be held at 10.30, with a celebration of the Holy Communion.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary in connection with St. James' Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Mousley on Thursday afternoon.

The funeral of the late Charles Smith was held at his home at North Barnston on Thursday afternoon, Rev. I. N. Kerr officiating. Interment was made in the family lot at Mo's River.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, of Ayer's Cliff, have been recently with their daughter, Mrs. H. B. Whitcomb.

Messrs. Haines, Sutton, Pope and Bowen have returned after a short stay at their camp at Emberton. During the absence of Mr. Haines, Mrs. Haines was the guest of her mother and sister, Mrs. Emery and Mrs. F. O. Webster.

On the evening of Thanksgiving Day, Monday, November 6, the members of St. James' Guild will serve an oyster supper in the Guild Hall from 6 to 8 o'clock. During the evening a sale of useful and fancy articles will be held.

would like to join the club. She is six years old and started school this term. She likes it very much and is proud to know that she has not been late or absent. I think it is much nicer to have the corner every day. I am much interested in it. I go to Magog High School and am in grade five. I am going to ask my teacher, Miss Patton, about the "Junior Red Cross," and hope she will be able to get a group. This is all for the present, so good-night, your niece,

VERA HOPPS, Magog.

Dear Uncle Jim—

We are two little girls, and as we are not able to write very well, our teacher is writing for us. Some day, soon, we will be able to write ourselves. We have two miles to come to school, but we come every day we possibly can. We love little birds and signing a "bird pledge." We have two sisters and one brother. Your little nieces,

DORIS ROBICHAUD, South Roxton.

Dear Uncle Jim—

Here comes another letter from South Roxton. This is the first time I have written to you, and I hope to see it in print. I am signing the pledge and will do my best to protect the birds. I am thirteen years old and go to school. My teacher's name is Miss McHarg. Wishing the club success, I am your nephew, ARCHIE SAVARIA, South Roxton.

Dear Uncle Jim—

I received my pin, and thank you very much. I will try and help the club to be a success. For pets I have five rabbits, three kittens and a calf. I got first prize on the calf at the Lennoxville school fair this year. I live on a farm of one hundred and fifty acres. I will close wishing the club every success. Your friend,

JACK O'LANTERN, South Roxton.

Boy Scout News

The usual meeting of the 2nd Sherbrooke Troop will be held on Thursday evening at 7.30 p.m., and a good attendance is requested.

The Scouts have been asked to participate in the Armistice Day activities on November 11th, and every Scout in the city is asked to "be prepared" for further orders and information with reference to this important occasion.

A good rally was held recently at Alexandra Palace, London, when a colossal gathering of sixty-five thousand Scouts and Wolf Cubs assembled to greet the Prince of Wales. An English newspaper quotes as follows:

"By this time the imperial impressions of the Prince must be many, but surely none will ever compete from a standpoint of fervor with the spectacle which he witnessed when tens of thousands of Scouts lunched towards him with one gigantic jump as the great gun gave the signal for them to crowd round his platform to listen to what he had to tell them. It was a sight too thrilling to be told in mere words. It had to be seen to be believed, and once seen its memory could never fade away."

"You are all doing a splendid work, scouts, and by doing it are doing your best to carry out the Scout motto, 'Be Prepared.' You could do nothing better. Stick to it. From my heart I wish you every possible success."

It was in these terms the Prince concluded his wonderful inspection of this tremendous rally of Scouts from all over the kingdom.

In speaking to the 20,000 "Cubs," the Prince said: "Cubs, I have seen Wolf Cubs in many parts of the world, but I have never seen so big a pack before. Nor have I ever heard such a howl. What a howl! It was quite splendid. I was glad to hear it because I know you will do your best, to carry out whatever the 'old wolf' tell you, stick to that. Always try to do your best, whether at work or play, and then don't forget your good turns to other people, and especially do your best in helping your mother in your homes. Never forget all you have, if you do your best you can't do better, so good luck to you all."

While all this was going on bands were playing, flags were flying, and contingents of boys were giving people an idea of their prowess. In some parts of the field boys were indulging in sword dances to the shrill skirl of the bagpipes, while in others they were sawing wood, rescuing each other from fires and surprising the spectators by showing them what a boy can do when he sets his mind to it. Amazing acrobatic feats drew round after round of applause from the spectators.

In addressing the combined gathering the Prince spoke through a special instrument and megaphone in his speech throughout the throng. It was as follows:

"Boy Scouts and Scouters, wherever you may be. In the course of my recent travels I have seen Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs growing up in every part of the Empire. I have been received at the Alexandra Palace today by some 45,000 Scouts and 20,000 Wolf Cubs in a great posse of welcome. I understand that this word posse means a representative group, and not the whole body of the movement. All I can say is that if the rest of you are like those I have seen, your standard of smartness and efficiency is a very high one. But, apart from such outward sign I admire more especially the inward spirit of goodwill and patriotism which makes the whole movement so like a brotherhood. You are all doing a splendid work. Scouters, by showing a self-sacrificing example to your younger brothers—Scouts and Cubs—by doing your best to be prepared for making good citizens for your country and empire. You could do nothing better. Stick to it."

Three cheers for the Prince then followed, after which a telegram of appreciation of the welcome given to his son was read from the King and Queen. More cheers for the King and Queen as he passed through the crowd to his car brought to a close a Boy Scout day that will never be forgotten.

Serious Fire Near Knoxville, Tenn.—Damage Is Estimated at $75,000.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Eating its way through valuable timber and within one mile of Knoxville's western limits, a forest fire Sunday night did damage estimated at $75,000, menaced five homes and six times leaped paths created by the labor of citizens in an effort to check its progress since it was discovered last Thursday night on the north end of Stoney Point Bluff, a high spur one-half mile east of Clinton Pike.

Sunday night the fire had burned over 500 acres of hardwood timber, and directly in its pathway eastward was a tract of more than one thousand acres of timber and the homes of some twelve or fifteen families.

Successful Mining Provides Additional Avenues For The Profitable Employment of Capital

Cheap Hydro-Electric Power a Prime Requisite For the Development of Canada's Rapidly Growing Production of Precious Metals.

An interesting statistical comparison of the positions of the world's largest and richest gold mines was recently published in a British periodical devoted to mining and engineering enterprise and it is worthy of mention that of the four great properties picked out for this purpose one is a Canadian—the Hollinger Consolidated.

The other three are the Robinson mine in the South African Rand, the Mysore mine, Kolar, India, and the St. John Del Rey, Brazil. The first named of the three has been producing for thirty-three years and is nearing exhaustion. The Indian mine has been in operation thirty-seven years and the Brazilian eighty-eight, and are respectively nearly a mile and over a mile deep. The Hollinger has only been nine years in operation and yet the total gold per 1,000 cubic yards of ore covered is 273, compared with 28 for the Robinson mine, and 46 for the Indian property; the figures for the Brazilian mine not being given.

The value of the gold produced by the four properties respectively is: Robinson $24,180,000, Mysore $21,644,000, St. John Del Rey $14,835,000, and Hollinger $11,000,000. Total gold produced and in ore reserves is respectively $24,245,000, $24,164,000, $17,835,000, and $19,000,000. Ore reserves in tons are given in the same order as $3,000, 837,000, 1,023,000, and 3,402,000.

These few figures out of the various comparisons made help to form an estimate of the relative value of the Canadian property. They are stimulating to the imagination with respect to the great riches of the Hollinger and other successful mines in the near neighborhood. If the Porcupine camp was the only one to think about, the future might not seem so wonderful, but there are at least a dozen camps developing at such a lively rate that it requires some additional scope of the imagination to measure the outlook in the years to come.

The Kirkland Lake region has at least half a dozen which are real producers today, with many excellent prospects. The Ontario Department of Mines has compiled reports on several others which give great promise and several other camps are proving up so well in the development stage through which the great mineral belt which extends across the northern part of Ontario and across into the Province of Quebec is passing that that section is becoming a veritable beehive of industry.

It is fairly obvious that hand in hand with the discovery of new mines and their successful operation there must be provided the necessary power for running the mills and the raising of ore to the surface. Unfortunately this has not kept pace with the requirements and the omission has proved a severe handicap. Steam power is necessarily expensive, owing to the long haul for coal and with an abundance of water powers fortunately provided by nature the power of the future must be derived from the construction of hydro-electric plants.

The cost of operating refineries and reduction plants as well as of working the other machinery incidental to mining bears an important relation to the results obtained. In fact, some properties, particularly low grade properties, would be incapable of development were it not for the fact that cheap power is being provided.

Here is clearly an opportunity where capital can serve a good turn by converting the resources of nature into real wealth producers. It is fortunate that already financiers are devoting their attention to that aspect of the new development. A few companies are already operating in the mining districts, but more are needed to keep up with the rapid pace of development of new properties. The latest available Government statistics show that the amount of power developed or used by mining companies in Ontario totals 106,115 horse power. Of this total it is shown that Cobalt district uses 24,340 horse power and Porcupine 22,340 horse power. It is probable that these figures have undergone some change for the better in the past year, but it is clear to those familiar with the situation that the amount must be greatly increased. The balance of the 106,000 odd horse power refers to widely scattered districts which have no relation to the Northern Ontario production of precious metals.

RELIEF WORKER MURDERED BY BANDIT GANG

Was in Charge of a Thousand Orphans When Attacked Near Aleppo, Syria.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The murder by bandits near Aleppo, Syria, of James Lester Wright, of Waukesha, Wis., a Near East relief worker, was reported today in a cable message to Near East Relief Headquarters by Stanley Kerr, one of its workers in the Beirut Aleppo district. The message said Wright was in charge of a group of one thousand Armenian orphans being taken from Harput, Turkey, to Aleppo. The message did not state the exact location of the attack or whether or not the children escaped. It is thought that Wright was murdered by one of the numerous forces of brigands that prey on travelers over the roads leading into and through Asia Minor. Wright, he added, was the first Near East worker to meet a violent death during the seven years of the organization's service.

DOUBLE MURDER IS DISCOVERED; YOUNG LAD HELD

Claims that Unknown Man Committed Murders and Then Ran Away.

VIRGINIA, Minn., Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wirtanen are dead today, victims of a double murder which occurred last night, and Toibo Aho, 22 years old, son of Mrs. Wirtanen by a former marriage, is held by the police without a charge.

Answering a call, police entered the house and stumbled over the dead bodies of the couple, who were married on September 16 last. The body of Wirtanen was lying across that of his wife.

When questioned by the police, Aho stated that a man who ran away immediately after firing the fatal shots committed the double shooting. Police refused this explanation, and Aho was taken to police headquarters. Further questioning failed to shake Aho from his first story.

Mrs. Wirtanen, when found, was grasping a 32-calibre automatic. Police scout the theory that Mrs. Wirtanen killed herself, as the body of her husband was lying across her. Both were shot through the heart. Enmity against his mother and her husband is advanced by the police as the reason for the holding of Aho. He is the oldest in a family of six children, and disapproved the marriage to Wirtanen. He made several threats against the couple, with the result that one of his sisters several days ago complained to the police authorities said.

NE YORK, Oct. 31.—One man was killed and over a dozen persons injured last night when a five story building on South Thirteenth Street was destroyed by fire.

GENERAL SMART LODGES CHARGE

Quebec city detectives, the Provincial police and private detectives, whose services had been secured by the Provincial Government, two men were finally arrested and charged with the crime. They were tried but were acquitted.

Every detail of the crime, every action of the police, the trial of the two accused, were closely followed by the public all through the province and in other parts of the country, and many rumors were spread about even before the trial. The case was even discussed in the Legislative Assembly, the Prime Minister and the leader of the opposition, Mr. Arthur Sauve, going over all the facts in every detail.

The arrest of Mr. Roberts on an order of the Speaker of the Assembly and his appearance before the Bar of the House is sure to create a great amount of interest, as similar action has been very seldom taken by the Quebec Legislature. The last time any one was brought before the Bar of the House was during the famous Rousseau case, when several well-known Montreal newspapermen were placed on trial before the Legislative Assembly.

CREDIBILITY OF STATEMENT IS DISCUSSED

Mrs. Gibson Insists that She Was a Witness of the Double Murder.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 31.—The credibility of Mrs. Jane Gibson, who says she was an eye witness of the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor E. Mills, was subjected to criticism again today. Authorities continued their investigation into her past, following reports that instead of being the widow of a clergyman, she is the wife of William H. Easton, who works in New Brunswick, and drives to and from her farm in a small automobile.

Mrs. Gibson insisted that the reports were untrue. She denied she has a husband or that she is Mrs. Gibson whose husband, John, a railroad worker, died some years ago in Kentucky. Easton said he had "nothing to say" when asked if she was his wife.

"It's an amazing story," he said, commenting on her eye witness statement. "She has a brilliant mind."

"You tell me the officials are investigating the story of my life," Mrs. Gibson said. "Well, I don't care. I know I am here in New Brunswick and I witnessed the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. What difference does it make whether I have a past or not?"

Special Attorney General Mott has made no move to present Mrs. Gibson's story to the grand jury. He said, however, that he had found nothing which would stand to discredit her account of the murders.

THE MONTREAL CATTLE MARKET QUOTATIONS

Prices Paid for Cattle at the Montreal Stockyards—Other Details.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Dominion Live Stock Branch report.—With 90 cattle, 95 sheep and lambs, 570 hogs and 30 calves on the two markets this morning, and about 25 cars of mixed stock to be unloaded at 10 o'clock, trading was steady. A few common, rough steers and heifers were sold at from $3.50 to $4, and cows of canner and cutter quality at from $1.25 to $2.75. Bulls were strong at from $2.50 to $3 for the heavier ones.

Calves steady. Good veals ranged from $9 to $10 and medium calves from $6 to $8. Grassers $3 to $3.50. Lambs were scarce at the opening of the market and a few choice ones reached $12.50, with good ones strong at $12. Sheep steady at from $3 to $6, depending upon weight and fleshing.

Hogs were a shade stronger at $10.75 to $11 for selects. A few lots of medium hogs sold for $10.50. Sows firm and in good demand.

PLAN FOR THE TREATMENT OF DRUG ADDICTS

Dr. McConnell's Plan Involves the Expenditure of Approximately $100,000.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—Sympathy with any movement looking toward the suppression of the illegal drug traffic and competent treatment for drug addicts, was expressed yesterday by Hon. H. S. Bland, Federal Minister of Health, in commenting on the proposal of Dr. B. J. McConnell, administrator of the Narcotic Drugs Act in Manitoba, to establish a farm where addicts in that province could be taken and treated. Dr. McConnell's plan involves the expenditure of approximately one hundred thousand dollars in raising which it is hoped to secure the co-operation of the Provincial and Federal Governments. Whether or not the Federal Government will take up a share of this amount if the scheme is adopted, will probably be left over until the return of Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance.

ABDICATION OF SULTAN HELD IN ABEYANCE

Status of Sultan Held in Abeyance Until After Conclusion of Peace in Near East.

(Associated Press Despatch) CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—Abdication of the Sultan is temporarily out of the question. A truce has been arranged with the Nationalists whereby his status will be held in abeyance until after the conclusion of peace in the Near East. This information was given to the Associated Press by the chief of staff representing Rasaf Pasha, Turkish Nationalist military governor of Thrace, who for four hours yesterday was closeted with the Sultan in his palace.

LOWER PRICES RECORDED ON CHICAGO WHEAT BOARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Scattered commission house selling, together with lack of demand, proved sufficient to hold down values in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Initial prices here, which ranged from a quarter to 15¢ lower, with December at $1.14 to $1.14 1/2 and May at $1.12 to $1.13, were followed by a slight rally and then a further decline.

Expectation of enlarged receipts of corn acted as a weight both on corn and oat prices. After opening 1/2 to 1¢ off, with December at 66¢ to 66 1/2¢, the corn market continued to sag. Oats started unchanged to 1/2 cent lower, with December at 41¢ to 41 1/2¢ and later descended a little all around.

Provisions had a downward drift in response to lower hog values.

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—Lanark Liberals will contest riding in the forthcoming Federal bye-election, it was decided at a meeting of the party at Perth yesterday. A candidate will be chosen later.

EX-GERMAN EMPEROR'S WEDDING GIFT

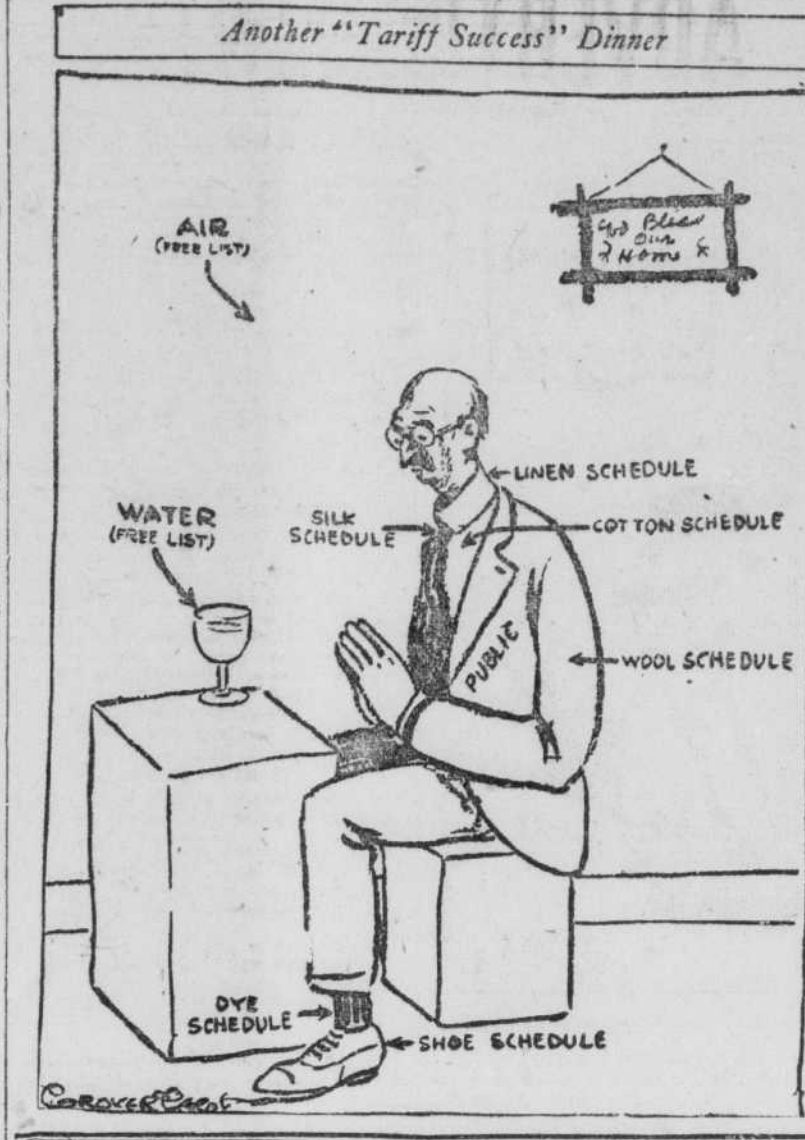

(Associated Press Despatch) BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The former German Emperor's wedding present to his bride of next Sunday, the Princess Hermine of Reuss, will be a diamond, set with 700 brilliants and a pair of ear rings, the two gifts costing 800,000,000 marks, according to the newspaper Vorwarts.

WORSE YET

"Doctor," said the thin, pallid young fellow, "I've heard there is such a thing as tobacco heart. I wish you'd tell me if you think that's what I've got."

The physician listened to a statement of his symptoms in detail, noted the yellow stain on his fingers and replied:

"No, young man, it isn't tobacco heart that ails you. It is worse than that—it is cigarette brain."

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh

Wall Street Journal—It would be futile to attribute the selling to new influences. Stocks have been passing through a period of correction following the speculative excess attending upon the stock dividend earlier in the month.

Journal of Commerce—Business prospects, however, have apparently undergone a slight chill and forecasts are less confident than they were of continuous advance in activity, although they see no warrant for a pessimistic viewpoint.

Wall Street Journal will say today:—Europe continues to buy zinc in American market. Copper buying moderate. Mex. Pete. drilling in Juan Felipe important.

JACK BENTLEY PURCHASED BY NEW YORK CLUB

Reported that Giants Paid $50,000 and Gave Four Players to Baltimore Club in Exchange for Bentley.

(Associated Press Despatch.) NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Baseball circles were agog today over the acquisition by the world's champions, the New York Yankees, of Jack Bentley, star batsman and pitcher of the Baltimore International League Club, for a reported consideration of fifty thousand dollars in cash and four players. Club officials declined to confirm reports of the purchase price, but baseball men ranked the deal in importance with the sale of Jimmy O'Connell to the Giants for seventy-five thousand dollars and Willie Kamm to the White Sox, for one hundred thousand dollars, both from the San Francisco Club of the Pacific Coast League.

Bentley is a veteran, having performed with Washington, in the American League from 1913 to 1916, but his reputation as a home run slugger, pitcher and all round star has gained in the past few seasons as an important cog in the machine Jack Dunn has piloted to several International League flags. He is twenty-eight years old. Bentley has done most of his playing at first base for Baltimore during the past few seasons, although he has occasionally taken a turn in the box, winning 25 out of 27 games he twirled in the last two seasons. He is a southpaw and it is probable that McGraw will groom him to bolster up the Giants pitching staff.

Last year Bentley finished with a batting average of .349, rapping out 216 hits, including twenty-two homers and scoring 109 runs. He was third on the League batting list. The year before he led the League with a mark of .412, collecting 246 hits and scoring 122 runs.

The sale of Bentley, in International League circles, was regarded as the first step toward the reorganization of the Baltimore team, which has made a runaway race of the circuit for several years.

The Eastern group comprises Boston A. A., Boston Hockey Club, Victorias, all of Boston; Quaker City, of Philadelphia; St. Nicholas, Royal Bank and Canadian Hockey Club, all of New York, and Westminster, of New Haven.

An amendment to the rules, adopted today, makes it necessary to play all games to a finish. The free style of play for the goal tender was recommended. He may stop the puck in manner with the exception of lying on the ice.

MYSTERY AND REVELRY WILL REIGN TONIGHT

Weird Customs of Hallow'en Date Back Centuries—October Passes by on Night of Witchery.

Tonight's the night when the door bells seem to have acquired the habit of ringing themselves, and a general air of "spookiness" prevails. The heads of the family wonder if the front doorsteps will be in their accustomed place in the morning, and the housekeeper has the same uneasy feeling about her clothes line. The younger generation is applying every spare moment, today, in preparation for tonight's pranks, which every one hopes will be of modern sedateness.

Father is wont to say—and mother, too sometimes—"those things were never done in my day," but if we go back one or more generations there are to be found pranks and revelry that would compare favorably from the point of ingenuity, if not in destructiveness. Burns has said: "The passion of prying into futurity makes a striking part of the history of human nature in its rude state, in all ages and nations." The human tendency to delve into witchcraft lies dormant in many people, and on Hallow'en it often asserts itself, with the result that fortune telling, witchery and mischief forms the basis of the night of revelry. Some old customs are unique, and could well be added to the already long programme of Hallow'en "stunts."

Goldsmith, in the "Vicar of Wakefield," describing rural customs, says: "They religiously cracked nuts on Allhallow Eve," and Burns speaks of a custom, the burning of nuts, as a favorite charm. He says: "They name the lad and lass to each particular nut, so they lay them in the fire. As they burn quietly together, or start from beside one another, the course and issue of the courtship will be." In this age of hurry and flurry, that simple device could well be utilized in cases of doubt, and perchance it might save a goodly amount of time.

Bobbing for apples dates back two or three centuries, also the spookey custom of eating an apple before a mirror, when, "you should take a candle and go alone, eat your apple, while you are combing your hair," then if things go as they should Prince Charming will look over your shoulder, whether to get a view of himself in the glass, or a bite of the apple, history does not say.

In Sinclair's Statistical Account of Scotland, (1793) is to be found the following custom: "On the 31st of October one remarkable ceremony is observed. Light, broom and dressing of flax are tied to a pole. The fagots are then kindled. One takes it upon his shoulders and, running bears it round the village. A crowd attends. A number of these blazing fagots are often carried around together, and when the night is dark they form a splendid illumination. It is a night of great festivity."

The bridge between the "Then and Now" is narrow, for the people of today love a torchlight procession, but with modern practicability, the blazing fagots would not be considered a sensible form of celebrating the evening of witchery and charm. Youth is allowed to assert its desire for playing pranks, and small infringements upon good nature will be overlooked, so long as the revelers do not remove, or paint, the front door steps red or green, or "pinch" the clothes lines holding the week's wash. Modern merry-makers like to dance in masquerade, have pop-corn parties, revel in decorations of unique designs, and tell fortunes, all, or part of which will provide a happy evening.

The gaiety of the last night of October is like a saucy maid flaunting her gay cloak in the face of her gloomy sister, November, then passing on, leaving a month of the year which no one likes, but must endure. This year, however, October seems to have borrowed some of her sister's gloom for the latter part of the month has been "November weather." But Canadians feel assured that the debt will be paid in having their beloved "Indian summer" in the month which makes its debut tomorrow, All Saints' Day.

the following night eleven members were taken to Cookshire where they helped organize a Tuxis Square initiative two boys who have chosen as their Mentor, Mr. Pratt. The meetings will be held in the Methodist Church in Cookshire every week.

TUXIS COUNCIL

A special meeting of the Tuxis Council will be held at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow (Wednesday), November 1st, at 7.30 p.m., when arrangements will be made for the first monthly convocation.

TUXIS "FATHER AND SON" WEEK

The Provincial Committee for Boys' Work have suggested that the week of November 12th to 19th be observed as "Father and Son" week throughout the Province, which it is hoped the different Squares will observe.

SIR FRANCOIS LEMIEUX WAS GUEST OF HONOR

Mayor Morris Attended Jubilee Banquet.

The jubilee banquet tendered to Sir Francois Lemieux, Chief Justice of the Superior Court, by the members of the bench and bar of Quebec, was an expression of esteem on the part of his fellow members of the bench and was attended by over one hundred guests, including His Worship Mayor Morris, K.C., of Sherbrooke.

The jubilee banquet was in honor of Sir Francois Lemieux' fiftieth anniversary of his admission to the bar and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the bench of the Superior Court.

The health of the jubilarian was proposed by the Hon. Antonin Gailpeault, who spoke in glowing terms of the career of Chief Justice Lemieux, and it was seconded by Mr. Justice Mulouin.

When Sir Francois arose he was cheered to the echo by the guests and was deeply moved by the demonstration. He acknowledged the demonstration in feeling terms and in reminiscence vein he recounted many interesting anecdotes, extending from his college days, through his career as lawyer and judge, up to the present time. In concluding his speech he assured his hearers that the demonstration would revive his courage and sharpen his energy for labor during the remaining years of his career.

The health of the bench was proposed by Mr. Eusebe Belleau, and Premier Taschereau responded on behalf of the bar. Brief speeches were also made by Mr. Justice Martin, of Montreal, and Wm. Morris, K.C., Mayor of Sherbrooke.
