

Bishop's students demonstrate, camp on quad to protest increases in fees

Students set up tents in university quadrangle for protest camp-out

Students at Bishop's University last night staged a torch-light parade to protest a recent increase in tuition and living expenses.

Following the demonstration, 25 students retired for the night in tents, pitched in the centre of the campus. A poster in front of one tent proclaimed, "It may be colder, but it's cheaper."

Despite rain and low temperatures, 300 students turned out to support the meeting. Accompanied by a bugler and sheltered by a sea of umbrellas, they wended their way around the University grounds.

Tuition has been raised by $50 and room and board by $80, bringing the total for one year's education to $1270 for a science student living in a single room. Arts students pay $40 less because they do not use laboratory facilities, while a student may save an additional $100 by living in a double room. The climax of the parade took place at Principal Ogden Glass' on-campus residence, where students presented the University head with a letter, asking him to reconsider the increase.

The letter also contained the results of a questionnaire circulated among 20 per cent of the student body. Of those consulted, 11 per cent felt they would be unable to return to the University, should the increase remain in force, while 41 per cent stated they would have to move out of residence and board in Lennoxville.

Dr. Glass felt the visit was "not a surprise," as he stodd, hands-in-pocket, in the rain, on his front balcony. "Your request will receive every consideration," he stated. "However, this should not lead you to infer that your wishes will be granted."

Students also visited the homes of faculty members in an attempt to enlist support for their cause. Dr. D. C. Masters, head of Bishop's history department, said he would give the matter some thought. Response was generally good in these quarters.

A notice posted informing students of the proposed protest called for "a measure of support to those of your fellows who are interested enough to attempt some concrete action."

Informed sources say that costs of running the University have risen to an extent where a raise in fees was unavoidable. It is felt that the student protest can have little effect on the corporation's decision in this light.

BANDITS STEAL $2,000

MAGOG — Three armed masked bandits Tuesday night smashed their way into the residence of car dealer James Belanger, beat him and stole cash and jewellery amounting to about $2,000.

The theft occurred at 10:10 p.m., according to Mr. Belanger, when the three bandits sledge-hammered his door down and kicked and punched Mr. Belanger before binding him and throwing him into a closet the door to which they nailed shut.

The thieves then rifled through Mr. Belanger's downstairs safe and the rest of the house stealing about $1,600 in cash and rings and wrist watches.

Mr. Belanger was later able to free himself from his bonds, and break through the closet door.

In glittering ceremony

Princess marries financier

LONDON (AP) — Princess Alexandra married Angus Ogilvy, an aristocratic Scottish financier today, in what probably was the last wedding of a British princess for a decade.

The only unmarried princess left is Anne, who is 12. Alexandra, 26, in trailing magnolia lace embroidered with acorns and oak leaves, swept up the blue-carpeted aisle of Westminster Abbey on the arm of her brother, the Duke of Kent, who flew from Hong Kong to give her away.

The tall green-eyed princess, daughter of the late duke of Kent and Princess Marina, rode to her wedding in a limousine with a transparent plastic top, lent by her first cousin, the Queen.

A jostling holiday-mood crowd cheered her progress down the flag-hung Mall. The hardest of the crowd picked places 19 hours before the ceremony, and hundreds camped through the night with sleeping bags, oil heaters, vacuum bottles, sandwiches and transistor radios. Ice cream vendors did a roaring trade.

HUGE ROYAL CROWD
More than 2,000 guests, including the largest assembly of European royalty in office and out—that Britain has seen since Princess Margaret married Anthony Armstrong-Jones, were in the 900-year-old Abbey for the ceremony.

Italian campaign in climax

ROME (AP)—A political campaign, complete with sound trucks, neon signs, helicopters and pretty girls clamoring for votes, went into its last stages today.

Election officials say 24,198,716 are eligible to vote Sunday and Monday for the new parliament. Campaigning in Italy's fourth postwar election ends Friday night.

Since the dissolution of parliament and the opening of the campaign in February, cities and hamlets of Italy have been decked with streamers and lights.

For the first time parties have been given time on the state television network.

The "stile americano" (American style) campaign is new to Italy, where in the past posters and parleys in the piazzas were the style. Not everyone likes the change.

The Turin newspaper La Stampa complained that the new "Madison Avenue techniques" are an "ugly sign of the decline of the small political meetings."

Air, ground forces reinforced for massive search

Missing plane probe stepped up

By LEONARD RYAN (Record staff reporter)

The search for a Montreal businessman and his wife, lost in their plane while on a flight from Montreal to Sherbrooke Sunday, assumed massive proportions today as the civilian and government land and air probe was intensified.

The air search, co-ordinated from an advance search headquarters set up at the RCAF station in St. Hubert, includes at least 10 RCAF craft, five or more civilian planes and one or two helicopters.

Up until noon, however, the whereabouts of H. Y. Ginsberg and his wife Adele was still a mystery.

Flight Lieutenant Roger Wilkinson of 401 Auxiliary Squadron said the planes were expected to take off about noon today when the weather was expected to improve. A helicopter was expected to arrive from Trenton at the same time.

The United States Civil Air Patrol is conducting an air search in bordering states, he said, but the total number of craft available was not known.

He said the Ginsbergs had not filed a flight plan. The usual route to take from Montreal to Sherbrooke would be a straight line, he said, although some pilots preferred to follow the highway.

Yesterday, he said, eight or nine RCAF planes were flying, along with four civilian craft.

Provincial Police detachments throughout the Townships have been instructed to organize ground searches in their areas, Inspector J. L. Melanson of the Montreal QPP headquarters said this morning.

He said the police tracking dog, Rebel, and dog master would be available wherever it was thought they would be needed.

Yesterday, the dog and master, along with six QPP constables of the Cowansville detachment, combed three miles of bush to the west of Silver Lake, near Eastman, investigating a report that a half-dressed man had been seen wandering in the woods in the area.

Cowansville QPP said this morning that the description of the man fitted that of Mr. Ginsberg. Tracks seen in the snow before it melted yesterday confirmed the report that the man had been seen. They also indicated that he was accompanied by a woman.

Although the ground search was abandoned, an air force helicopter was expected to continue the search.

Michaud search put off

ST. HUBERT — (Staff) — The search by Royal Canadian Air Force and civilian aircraft for the Ginsbergs has caused the postponement of a search in the North Bay area for another downed plane which had carried a Drummondville doctor and his son.

Flight Lieutenant Roger Wilkinson of 401 Auxiliary Squadron said this morning that aircraft had been diverted from the search for Dr. J. B. Michaud and his 12-year-old son Yves, to join in the search for Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Ginsberg.

The Michaud search, organized by the RCAF's Air Sea Rescue unit in Trenton had been resumed last weekend, F.L.L. Wilkinson said. It had been called off until the snow was off the ground.

Dr. Michaud, a former Drummondville Mayor, and his son left North Bay, Ont., Feb. 17, bound for Montreal.

They lost radio contact with North Bay when they were ten miles from the airport, flying a Cessna 150, an aircraft identical to that in which the Ginsbergs were flying.

Boycott of U.S. vessels threat looms on Seaway

OTTAWA (CP)—The threat of a boycott of American ships in the St. Lawrence Seaway looms in the international battle of trade unions for labor supremacy of the Great Lakes.

TWO BOMB THREATS PROBED IN LENNOXVILLE

Telephoned warnings that bombs had been planted in the Lennoxville post office and at Bishop's University were investigated by three police forces Tuesday, but the threats were found to be fakes.

Lennoxville police chief Grant Smith said he received a call at 4:20 p.m. warning that a bomb, set to go off at a specified time, was in a briefcase which had been hidden in the post office building.

Another call came later in the evening warning of a bomb at Bishop's, Chief Smith said.

Four Provincial Police from the Sherbrooke detachment, and two men of the municipal force began a thorough search of the buildings.

Chief Smith said the buildings were evacuated, "as well as we could do it. There was a demonstration going on, and the students were in and out all the time."

No sign of a bomb turned up, Chief Smith said.

Dr. Ogden Glass, principal of the university, was summoned from his home and accompanied the officers.

He said the call was probably a prankster, but added, "You can never be sure."

Isolation of Quebec said only 'illusion'

QUEBEC — (Special) — necessary action to assure to Quebec legislators were told Tuesday that it would be a great illusion to attempt to set up impassable frontiers and isolate Quebec from the other provinces and even the United States.

Rather, declared Glen Brown, Liberal MLA for Brome in the opening stages of the budget debate, it would be better to work for friendship and cooperation with immediate neighbors.

In the field of economic expansion, said Mr. Brown, it was due to the inflow of American capital that the great northern areas of Quebec were experiencing expansion. Montreal and many other cities in the province also had recourse to American finance, borrowing more than one billion dollars on the New York market.

"But while preserving this friendship with our neighbors of the South we must take the time to speak the day after assumption of office and he took particular note of the Liberals' lack of a Commons majority. They have 130 seats to the 94 Progressive Conservatives, 24 Social Credit members and 17 New Democrats—or three shy of a majority.

He said he had no complaint and was resolved not to allow it to influence the government "in any way that will weaken its action for you."

The government would not be seeking to evade issues or avoid Royal since 1949, will be nominated as Speaker of the Commons for the 26th Parliament, May 16.

The prime minister, who celebrated his 66th birthday with a full day of activity and two birthday cakes bought by his staff, announced earlier that a royal commission on biculturalism will be set up "with the least possible delay."

Mr. Pearson mentioned his planned flight to London next week to confer with Prime Minister Macmillan and a subsequent visit with President Kennedy. He said he wants to discuss with Mr. Macmillan ways in which Canada and Britain "can work together to improve the trading relations and the political relations of the free countries of the world."

He also may spend a day with Canadian forces in Europe while overseas.

telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, asking him to intervene immediately with President Kennedy to halt the harassment of Canadian ships by the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) and its allies.

Findings of a federal inquiry into the dispute are still being written.

The SIU is trying to break the fledgling CLC - supported Canadian Maritime Union by picketing and boycotting ships of the Upper Lakes Shipping Company of Toronto, manned by CMU crews.

U.S. IS BATTLEGROUND
Although the SIU-CMU conflict is purely Canadian, the battleground is in American lakeports where the SIU and its allies, chiefly the International Longshoremen's Association, are trying to stall Upper Lakes freighters by picket lines or secondary boycotts.

CLC President Claude Jodoin informed the new Liberal prime minister that CMU - manned ships were picketed in Toledo and Milwaukee last week and the freighter Howard L. Shaw was locked in Chicago by an "SIU-inspired boycott."

His telegram said the Continental Grain Company, where the Shaw is moored awaiting a grain cargo, has served an ultimatum on the ship's owners—either solve the boycott and load grain by Thursday or face cancellation of its contract in favor of an SIU-manned ship.

"This same vessel was mobile in Chicago for more than 30 days last summer, forcing the Canadian Labor Congress to organize an anti-SIU boycott in the seaway to free her," he said.

He urged Prime Minister Pearson to insist that President Kennedy act immediately to force cessation of the boycotting of Canadian ships manned by Canadians in U.S. ports.

OTTAWA (CP)—The revenue department admits to confusing thousands of the country's 6,000,000 taxpayers.

It appears that the 1962 income tax returns forms, though they appear simple, were just too much for many kitchen-table mathematicians who for the first time had to calculate the first going to both the federal and provincial governments.

The T-1 short form used by wage-earners had a note referring to an attached guide. It said that if taxable income was $3,000 or less a printed table could be used, bypassing the slightly complicated chore of working in percentages to calculate the divided tax under the new system.

Returning officer J. B. Cronin's completed unofficial count must stand until ballot boxes are opened and returns counted next Monday.

As a result of the present count House standings remain the same as in the last legislature with Liberals holding 31 seats, the PCs 21. Unofficial standing Monday night showed 24 Liberals and 18 Conservatives.

New unofficial totals — all lower than Monday night's compilation from the individual polling stations—and with the election night total in brackets:

Defeated — Liberal John D. MacCallum 9556 (9988); Liberal A. Y. Goss 9503 (9905); Conservative George L. Keith 9472 (9789); Liberal George T. Urquhart 9471 (9896).

Mr. Cronin issued a statement late Tuesday night which said his office did not make any total of the various polls Monday night.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—day April 29 when official figures are to be released. A returning officer's unofficial count completed Tuesday returned three of four Saint John City seats to the Progressive Conservative opposition with narrow margins. However, at least one win for the Liberal government was indicated in the traditional Conservative riding.

Tax forms too complex?

Launches administration on note of determination

Pearson promises new action to heal tensions

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson, launched his new administration on a note of determination to meet future challenges, has pledged Canadians "a time to excite the daring, to test the strong and to give new promise to the timid."

In a national CBC radio and television broadcast Tuesday night he said the paramount challenge "will be taking action to heal the strains and tensions within our country."

Describing the partnership of English- and French-Canadians as "the axis of our nation," Mr. Pearson said:

"I am determined to do everything that a government can do to ensure that this partnership will become richer and be truly equal."

He said he had no complaint and was resolved not to allow it to influence the government "in any way that will weaken its action for you."

The government would not be seeking to evade issues or avoid Royal since 1949, will be nominated as Speaker of the Commons for the 26th Parliament, May 16.

The prime minister, who celebrated his 66th birthday with a full day of activity and two birthday cakes bought by his staff, announced earlier that a royal commission on biculturalism will be set up "with the least possible delay."

He said he wants to discuss with Mr. Macmillan ways in which Canada and Britain "can work together to improve the trading relations and the political relations of the free countries of the world."

He also may spend a day with Canadian forces in Europe while overseas.

The Kennedy-Pearson meeting may take place at some border point or possibly Mr. Kennedy's Hyannis Port, Mass., home.

Following the second meeting of the Liberal cabinet, Mr. Pearson announced formation of a special cabinet committee to deal with trade, economics and employment matters with the prime minister as its chairman.

To Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who vacated the prime ministership Monday, Mr. Pearson offered congratulations for the dignified manner in which the change of government was carried out and wished him well in his new role.

RR presidents expected to urge action on commission proposals

OTTAWA (CP) — The presidents of Canada's two major railways will call on Transport Minister George McNeil separately in the next few weeks.

Both CNR President Donald Gordon and CPR President N. R. Crunp likely will fill in the new Liberal minister on railway problems as they see them.

At the same time, they are expected to urge early consideration by the new cabinet of the essential recommendations of the MacPherson royal commission on transportation, which reported on railway troubles to the Conservative government.

The Diefenbaker government promised legislation at the last session of Parliament, but the election came before action was taken.

In essence, the commission proposed a series of related measures—including a fundamental overhaul of the freight rate structure—designed to free the railways for a sink-or-swim competitive battle against other forms of transport.

The measures included four specific subsidies totalling about $100,000,000 in the first year, dwindling to about $25,000,000 by the 13th year. The subsidies would offset railway losses on passenger services, branch lines, export grain traffic and statutory free transportation.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has developed a new status symbol which, before it has run its course, may push social climbers and ambitious career men toward nervous breakdowns and their press agents to ulcers. Its special hour television tour program, with a famous lady acting as guide. First, of course, there was Jacqueline Kennedy's White House tour. Then there was Princess Grace's Monaco. Next season, there will be Queen Frederika's Greece and Elizabeth Taylor's London. CBS, apparently, has a corner on this new-fangled status symbol. NBC tried to get into the act by inviting Nina Khrushchev to conduct its camera tour of the Kremlin. The invitation was refused.

ABC's Close-Up will concern itself April 30 with air pollution—smog—and the focus of the show will be London's problems.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) Kathryn Grayson has come back to town as star of her first Broadway show, Camelot, and film industry signalled the event with one of the most brilliant parties of the season.

The hostess: Kathryn's long-time chum, Ann Miller. The place: The Beverly Hilton's L'Escoffier Room. The menu: Fruit served on half coconut in husk, filet of beef, spumoni molds decorated with likenesses of Miss Grayson in spun sugar.

The guests: Glenn Ford with Rhonda Fleming, Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, Donna Reed, Anne Jeffreys, Robert Sterling, Rita Hayworth, Dorothy Malone, Jacques Bergerac, Cesar Romero, Efram Zimbalist Jr., Peggy Lee, John Vivyan, etc., etc. Also three lovely widows, June Allyson, Kay Gable, Edie Adams.

The entertainment was impromptu. Such songbirds as Anna Maria Alberghetti, Kay Starr, Jane Powell, Edie Adams and Rhonda Fleming trilled a number or two. The guest of honor responded with a Puccini aria.

CHOICE SIGNIFICANT
Kathryn's choice of selection was significant. Having proven herself in films and on the musical stage, she now is eyeing the world of opera. She has a commitment with the San Francisco Opera to make her operatic debut after she concludes her year's run in Camelot.

Kathryn argues that there is no reason why opera couldn't be a paying operation instead of being shackled to perennial deficits. The answer, she feels, is more sensible operation and more popular appeal.

"For one thing, why should the opera bill change every night?" she asked. "It's terribly expensive to carry so many sets and change them after each performance. Why couldn't you run one popular opera for a week or longer? If it is good enough, it will draw."

"I'm convinced that opera can reach a wider audience with the addition of some showmanship. There is too much tradition in opera. Tradition is just another word for laziness."

Scientific experiments by a 15 year-old Sutton High School student interested in electronics and a 16 year-old Ecole L'Heureux student at Coaticook are to be entered in the National Science Fair competition at Toronto May 3 and 4, it was announced Tuesday evening.

Representing the Eastern Townships at Toronto will be grade nine student James Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dyer of Sutton and 10th grade student Jean Turcotte of Coaticook.

James's experiment on measuring the velocity of sound was chosen by three judges from Bishop's University and the University of Sherbrooke as the best exhibit in the first annual science fair for high school and secondary school students in the Eastern Townships.

The fair was sponsored by the youth committee of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club.

Second place was awarded to Jean Turcotte for an experiment on electrolysis.

Both boys, besides winning the all-expenses paid trip to Toronto for the national competition, were awarded cash prizes by the Rotary Club and science fair medals. James received $20 and Jean $15.

A cash prize of $10 and a medal was also awarded to third place winner Gerard Bleser, 15, grade 10, student, Sutton High School, for an exhibit on fuel cell, an application of the theory of ionization and $5 and a medal to fourth place winner, Reginald Jones, 19, grade 11 student at St. Patrick High School for an exhibit on the uses of blood in the circulatory system.

Consolation prizes were awarded to: Keith Doherty, 17, grade 11 student at Ayer's Cliff High School for an exhibit of factors affecting electrical resistance; Robert Thompson, 17, grade 11 student at Ayer's Cliff

High School for an experiment on Boyle's Law; Gilles Mongeau, 15, grade ten student Ecole Albert L'Heureux, Coaticook for an exhibit on the origin of sulphuric acid, hydrochloric acid and nitric acid; Paul Lacharite, 16, grade 11 student, St. Patrick High School for an exhibit entitled Project 2,000F—producing heat in a flower pot; Stephen Hicks, 15, grade 11 student, St. Patrick High School for an exhibit on simulating the earth's geological processes — a study of erosion; Ronald Leblanc, 16, grade ten student, St. Patrick High School, for an exhibit of the effects of high altitudes on a frog; Richard Stock, 13, grade eight student, St. Patrick High School, who showed an exhibit on how to assemble a basic model rocket. The judges were Dr. A. N. Langford, biology at Bishop's University; Professor H. M. Dutton, professor of physics, Bishop's University and Dr. J. E. Desnoyers, professor of chemistry, University of Sherbrooke. Winners of the national competition at Toronto in May will be flown to England this summer where they will be entered in British Commonwealth and European competitions.

Sherbrooke Hospital

Ever-growing need for expansion

The increasing number of patients treated at the Sherbrooke Hospital "points up the ever-growing need for expansion in the near future... not only for the accommodation of additional patients, but to provide much-needed space for new and vital equipment," it is noted in a report of the annual meeting of the hospital's board of governors held Tuesday evening.

Board president, C. Evans Joslin, who was re-elected to the post, remarked that there was a "phenomenal increase in the number of patients treated in the out-patient department over the years — almost three times the number since the first full year of its operation in the new building in 1952," the report stated.

"The over-all occupancy rate based upon the number of beds set up was 80.3 per cent for 1962, while some departments averaged as high as 92.1 per cent. It was noted," the report reads, "that an occupancy rate in excess of 80 per cent was most undesirable and the continuing high occupancy rate points up the ever-growing need for expansion in the near future... not only for the accommodation of additional patients, but to provide much-needed space for new and vital equipment."

"In this connection the addition of a pulmonary function laboratory was acknowledged with sincere thanks — the gift of a donor who wishes to remain anonymous."

Mr. Joslin noted that the 1962 financial campaign objective of $50,000 had been exceeded by $3,000.

Thanks were expressed to Eric T. Webster, retiring campaign chairman. Mr. Joslin announced that the co-chairman of the 1963 drive are Dean R. Bishop and Thomas P. Hanson. He said preliminary work on the campaign was well advanced and that the drive would open May 13 with the same $50,000 goal as in 1962.

The meeting expressed thanks and sincere appreciation to Colin Campbell and Halton A. Clark on their retirement from the board of trustees.

Mr. Joslin noted with deep regret the recent death of Mr. J. Gordon Armitage, an invaluable supporter of the hospital, a former governor and life member of the board, and an ardent and tireless worker on former hospital campaigns, the outside districts being his special concern. At the time of his death last week, Mr. Armitage was an honorary vice-president of the hospital. The entire meeting rose and paid tribute to Mr. Armitage by observing a minute of silence.

Other officers re-elected for another term were P. M. Robins and Lorne C. Campbell as vice-presidents. Also elected to the board of trustees was Gerald T. Miltimore. Mr. Miltimore is the present mayor of Waterville and district manager of the Waterville and North Hatley branch of Southern Canada Power Company. He has been associated with the hospital's annual financial campaign in the Waterville area for a number of years.

The following appointments were made to the medical and dental staffs: Dr. Jules Bureau as a member of the courtesy staff group in the department of surgery; Dr. Herbert Haberman as a member of the department of medicine (dermatology); Dr. F. C. Mills as a member of the associate staff group in the department of medicine; Dr. Robert Paulette as a member of the active staff group in the department of surgery.

BEST EXHIBIT — Fifteen year-old grade nine Sutton High School student James Dyer explains his exhibit, how to measure the velocity of sound, to president of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, Gene Gingras, left, Sutton High School science teacher Ken Tannahill, centre, and Rene Monty, chairman of the youth committee. His experiment won first place in the first annual science fair for high school and secondary school students held in the area Tuesday sponsored by the youth committee of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club. James' entry and that of second place winner, Jean Turcotte of Ecole Albert L'Heureux, Coaticook, will be entered in national competition at Toronto May 3 and 4.

By SANDRA PICKFORD (Record staff Reporter)

The fair was open to both girls and boys.

It was interesting to note, however, that while there were no entries by girls the majority of the visiting students were girls who turned out in large groups accompanied by their class teachers.

"I'm simply amazed that it was as successful as it was," said the chairman of the youth committee, Rene Monty Tuesday night.

The fair was held in a partitioned part of the Mayfair Room and at intervals during the afternoon it was almost impossible for more students to pack into the small room.

"I think we have found something that the students are really interested in and really want," said Mr. Monty.

This is the first year that the Rotary Club here has sponsored a science fair. In cooperation with the Canadian Science Fairs Council, the youth committee began organizing the event last October.

Invitations were sent to 108 schools, said Mr. Monty, who got the idea of a science fair for high school students here after seeing a science fair of biology exhibits at Bishop's a few years ago.

It had been hoped, he said that each school would hold its own science fair and send its top winner to Sherbrooke but because of lack of either time, qualified teachers or not enough proper equipment no school could hold its own science fair.

The 11 exhibitors here are the ones who entered the contest, said Mr. Monty. Students from Ayer's Cliff, Sutton, Ecole Albert L'Heureux, Coaticook and St. Patrick High School in Sherbrooke entered the competition. St. Patrick High School had the largest number of entries with five students.

Club officials and local University judges both expressed a wish that the science fair would be held again next year.

Said one of the three judges, Dr. A. N. Langford, head of biology at Bishop's. "You (the Rotary Club) have a hold of something that is potentially very valuable."

Dr. Langford said he would like to see the fair here develop and expressed a desire that a fair be held at Bishop's or the University of Sherbrooke.

Honorary degree given

Sherbrooke University to extend notary course

ALPHONSE L'HEUREUX of Sorel, president of the Quebec Board of Notaries, received an honorary doctorate in law Tuesday from the University of Sherbrooke.

Fined $50, court costs

SWEETSBURG — (Staff) — Andre Burke, of Sherbrooke was fined $50 and court costs after he was found guilty of a charge of criminally negligent driving.

Burke was arrested at the South Stukely underpass, for travelling through the underpass with his truck at a speed of 75 miles per hour.

The University of Sherbrooke Tuesday honored an eminent Quebec notary and announced it will itself be graduating notaries next year.

Archbishop Georges Cabana, University chancellor, made the announcement Tuesday morning as he presented an honorary doctorate in law to Alphonse L'Heureux of Sorel, president of the Quebec Board of Notaries.

"All that remains is to request recognition from the Board of Notaries and approval of the program at its 32nd triennial meeting next June," said the Archbishop at the law faculty ceremony, "and we count on its wise aid."

Previously, Sherbrooke students had to go to Montreal or Quebec for the fourth year that qualifies them as notaries.

Msgr. Cabana, in his praise of Mr. L'Heureux before presentation of the degree, noted that he was born at St. Jude, the son of a notary, and had always been active in his home county of Richelieu, where he has been county secretary-treasurer and Conservative candidate in federal elections, as well as in notaries' circles.

Thanking the Archbishop, a friend in student days, Mr. L'Heureux said he considered the role of counsellor to families the greatest glory of the profession of notary in Canada. The profession goes back to 1270 in France and 1663 in Canada.

Assault charge costs $25, court costs

SWEETSBURG — (Staff) — Antonio Lemelin, of Adamsville, who threatened to stab his girl friend when she wanted to stop going out with him, paid a $25 fine and court costs on a charge of simple assault, here Tuesday.

Nineteen year-old Lemelin threatened to stab Miss Jeanne Boucher, of Cowansville when she broke off with him.

Charged with capital murder

ARTHABASKA — A preliminary hearing here Tuesday decided that 32-year-old Victoria-laborer Julien Roux must stand trial for the murder March 16 of Henri Deneault of Arthabaska.

Judge Evender Veilleux set the trial for next fall's criminal assizes. The charge will be capital murder.

Roux himself did not testify at the hearing. He remained calm when Judge Veilleux ruled he must go to trial.

Principal evidence was supplied by residents of the 8th range, Arthabaska, who testified they saw Roux's car the day of Deneault's death in front of the victim's house.

Alderman Nicol says Sherbrooke should take over ETAA

North Ward Alderman Everett Nicol said this morning that he was erroneously quoted in yesterday's Record as saying the city should abandon its plans to purchase the property of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association.

"I'm of the opinion that the city should take over the property," he said. He said in view of the fact that the city has been unable to get the government grants it anticipated to develop the property, the original deal should be renegotiated.

The city had previously approved in principle the purchase of the ETAA property for about $200,000.

Domtar awaiting union letter

EAST ANGLUS — (Staff) — The Domtar Co. Ltd. says it is awaiting a letter from the East Anglus Pulp and Paper Employees Union (CNTU) setting out the grievances against a company foreman which led to a one-day work stoppage at the firm's paper mill here Sunday.

The president of the union, Oscar Fournier, says the 80 to 90 maintenance men who refused to work Sunday complain that J. E. Dumoulin was cutting down the regular staff and having men of one trade do the work of others.

Meanwhile Mr. Dumoulin is "out of town for a few days" at the company's request. Mr. Fournier says this was a condition of the men's return to work.

The maintenance and repair tradesmen threw up picket lines around the Domtar plant "without union organization," but Mr. Fournier denied it was a strike. The labor contract at Domtar has over a year yet to run.

Company industrial relations manager Walter Houghton says new meetings between company and union are possible after the union's letter is received.

Lack of interest in water problem

The forthcoming visit to Sherbrooke of an engineer of the Quebec department of natural resources to study the city's drinking water should stimulate action which has moved at a snail's pace in recent weeks.

Interest reached a peak earlier this year when there was a flurry of statements by city hall authorities on the question. There was also an elaborate campaign to inform the public on the merits of two proposed systems to improve the water supply, namely, the construction of a filtration unit and the building of a Sherbrooke-Lake Memphremagog pipeline.

At that time a provincial engineer noted that the pipeline would be the best project for the city's purposes.

However, about a month ago, council decided to take a second look at a third plan which apparently was rejected by civic officials last year. The system would use underground gravel deposits as a filtering agent and, according to a Montreal firm which has made studies of this type of system, it could mean a considerable saving for the city as compared to the other projects.

Ald J. M. Jeanson, chairman of the waterworks committee who has been the chief instigator of work so far on the problem, has repeatedly brought the matter before council but judging from the response he has received his colleagues are not very interested.

At Monday's council session, Mr. Jeanson was more insistent than usual when he once again decided to talk about the water problem. He asked council to set a date—which it did—for a visit to Chateauguay where a gravel deposit system is used.

It is hoped that the trip to Chateauguay will have the desired effect, that is, re-focus council's attention on the water problem at home.

High feelings must be kept in check

The death of a watchman in Montreal last weekend, caused by the explosion of a bomb apparently planted by the Quebec Liberation Front has outraged the sensibilities of all thinking people in the province and across the country.

As the chief of Montreal's police force, has said, the issue is no longer one of politics or of racial controversy, but one plain and simply of public order.

Yet, this feeling of outrage should not cause people to reply in kind. There are indications that a dangerous trend in this direction might be developing among some English-speaking residents of Quebec.

In Montreal Sunday, a group of English-speaking people travelled around Montreal in cars, looking for Quebec provincial flags to tear down. They found two, causing a disturbance in both instances, and later burned one of them.

This kind of thing cannot be condoned. There is no place for terrorism of any kind in the solving of the problems that

People who can't take it are either self-important, self-righteous, or have a guilty conscience.

New Brunswick votes for progress

In returning the Liberal Government of Premier Louis J. Robichaud the New Brunswick electors have voted for the continuation of the drive for the economic and industrial expansion of the province.

During a campaign notable for its lack of major issues the chief point of difference between the Liberals and the Conservative Opposition appeared to revolve around the terms of a contract providing for the establishment of a new pulp and paper mill in the province. Opposition speakers declared the agreement was a "sell-out" to the Italian-financial company while the Government supporters maintained the expansion of the provincial economy likely to result from the new industry justified any concessions that may have been granted. The voters, who are the final judges, accepted the Liberal arguments, thus clearing the way for the development.

Probably the Liberal victory in the recent federal general elections may have played a limited part in the Liberal success in the provincial field.

In its efforts to speed up the industrial life of the province, the New Brunswick Government may require active co-operation from the federal administration. Realizing this, many of the voters may have decided that the best means of assuring this co-operation would be by the return of a provincial government that is politically sympathetic to Ottawa.

Fewer trials in learning Russian

One of the most interesting by-products of the present day confrontation between the Soviet Union and the West is the suddenly accelerated emphasis on the study of the Russian language.

This may be, in part, a reflection of the general renaissance of language studies which has recently affected North American education, and which has resulted in a new interest in Latin in schools and undergraduate university courses, or in Hebrew in theological colleges.

As such, it is a welcome return to the well-springs of true knowledge, after a long period in the arid wilderness of "survey courses." For a thorough understanding of any people, its literature and its culture, can come only through a knowledge of language.

But even beyond this, special arguments might be advanced for the desirability of Russian studies, not only as the key to the Russian character, but as an adjunct to technical and professional studies in many fields. For this reason, many universities on this continent, Dalhousie among them, and even many schools in the United States, are greatly increasing the scope of their Russian training.

In literature, for example, the contribution of such writers as Chekhov, Tolstoy and Dostoevsky, not only to Russian writing, but to the general form of the novel, is indisputable.

Similarly, in science of every branch, recent Russian achievements are of such a compass as to make the language an obvious choice for all students who do not wish to be reliant on the none too plentiful supply of existing translations.

Comparable arguments can be adduced for other professional fields, such as business, journalism or diplomacy. Russian, for instance, is the fourth language of the United Nations, along with English, Chinese and Spanish; nor is it less important for being the spoken tongue of more than two hundred million people in the Soviet Union.

Lie detectors at the Pentagon

Kennedy administration hounds officials too free with news

WASHINGTON — (TNS) — The scene belongs in any B movie about skulduggery in the Kremlin: —

We are deep in the heart of a colossal building, grim with secrets and pulsating with intrigue. The marble-eyed interrogator faces the high official across his huge desk.

"Mr. Secretary, you have failed to convince me that you did not give out this information, although you have signed an affidavit to this effect. It will be necessary for you to sign another, agreeing to take a lie detector test."

Meehly, the high official signs. The room is cool but there are beads of sweat on his forehead...

Something like this happened to 120 real-life suspects in the Pentagon recently. Investigators grilled typists, clerks, generals, admirals, even the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Air Force and the Deputy Defense Secretary of the United States, Mr. Roswell Gilpatrick.

WHY? BECAUSE somebody told a reporter that Air Force witnesses had been abused during an investigation by Senator John McClellan's committee. There was nothing secret about the information, contained in an unclassified memo, though one witness suffered a nervous collapse and two others extreme fatigue. But it enraged the Senators.

So Defense Secretary Robert McNamara promised them he'd find who leaked it. A three-star Air Force general set his interrogators loose in the Pentagon corridors. So began a sinister whodunit, more suitable to a police state.

Investigations are the breath of life to Washington. Officials there are grilled constantly by congressional committees and subcommittees. The McClellan probe of the 6.5 billion dollar TFX fighter contract — why did it go to General Dynamics instead of Boeing, the lower bidder? — has been the roughest in a long time.

Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense, said the tactics of the investigators went beyond anything he'd seen in his 17 years in Washington.

But the Pentagon's own probe was much worse. Asked the Washington Star: "Is the Deputy Secretary of Defense, or the Secretaries of the Navy and Air Force, to be put in the same class with pickpockets and second - storey men?"

PRESIDENT KENNEDY called the lie-detector tests "a mistake," and the inquiry came to a sudden end without having uncovered the guilty party.

The hero of the whole embarrassing affair was Arthur Sylvester, who stood up to the Pentagon bloodhounds and refused to take a lie test on principle.

Sylvester, the Pentagon spokesman, is the man who shocked everybody by saying that Washington can tell a lie and defending the government's right to do so in times of crisis.

This started a House investigation into "managed news," which will gain impetus from the lie-detector affair. For the Pentagon does use lie-detectors regularly on officials suspected of passing on too much news to reporters.

To offset rising costs

Regional universities in offing?

SASKATOON (CP) — Spiraling costs of university facilities probably will push Canadian universities into acceptance of the concept of regional schools to provide special professional needs, says Professor A. C. McEown, vice-president (administration) of the University of Saskatchewan.

Prof. McEown said an example is the proposed college of veterinary medicine for Western Canada.

"It's not economic for two western universities to think of undertaking duplicate plans to provide the facilities," he said. "The costs are much too great."

"But by working together, the four Western provinces can decide where the school should be built, work out the cost-sharing factors and consider the facilities as a regional school benefiting all four provinces."

Prof. McEown said in an interview this now is being done. The veterinary school will be built in either Saskatchewan or Alberta. Cost-sharing arrangements and the site are the only things to be resolved.

"There's no reason why such regional planning cannot be followed to provide other expensive, but small, professional schools in Western Canada."

"It's impractical to suggest such costs be borne entirely by the province where the school is built, because in effect the university would be subsidizing students from other provinces. To build similar facilities at two or more universities would be wasteful duplication," says Prof. McEown. University administrators realize that out-of-province students "stay within the province until they obtain their education and then look elsewhere for career opportunities."

EXPANSION PLANS

The Saskatoon campus of the University of Saskatchewan now has an enrolment of 6,200. It covers about 3,000 acres on the west shore of the South Saskatchewan River. Of this, about 300 acres are designated as the buildings area, and the remainder is used for field work by various departments.

Under construction on the campus are a food services building, an addition to the men's residence and an addition to the gymnasium.

By summer construction will begin on a building to house a new linear accelerator, an addition to the women's residence, a poultry science building, a science building to house the departments of chemistry, pharmacy and home economics and an addition to the physics building.

Next fall a start will be made on an addition to the arts building to house the colleges of law and commerce and 1964 will see construction commence on a college of education building and an addition to the medical building.

Two years away are further additions to the poultry science building to accommodate the department of horticulture and an addition to the soils and dairy building.

If money is available, additions to both residences to handle a further 600 students each will be started by 1966. "About 20 per cent of the students on the campus are residents of Saskatoon," said Prof. McEown. "This, together with the fact that we feel teaching buildings are more essential than residences, governs the priority pattern of our buildings program."

Quebec traffic signs Symbols better than words

QUEBEC (CP) — The traffic signs themselves may be among the problems of driving in Quebec province for the visitor who does not understand French.

Tourists from other provinces and the United States for instance may drive through a dozen of the red "Arretez" signs before realizing they command "stop."

And separatists in the last two years apparently have been conducting a campaign to paint over every English-language sign in this city.

The confusion and resentment caused by traffic signs throughout the province has gradually convinced authorities that symbols are the solution.

Raoul Siros, director of the traffic education committee of the Quebec transport and communications department, says the new signs will be installed by 1967.

Quebec expects a flood of visitors from the United States and Europe for the World's Fair at Montreal in third year, the centennial of Confederation, and the symbols should be easier for motorists, especially the Europeans who are already accustomed to them.

Mr. Siros estimates the system will have 168 symbols. Various groups such as the Junior Board of Trade already have started their own education campaigns to make drivers familiar with them.

Mr. Siros says the trend towards symbols began after hoodlums painted over the English wording on a number of signs.

"In order to please everyone, the government decided symbols were the best system," he added, was "not only stupid, but dangerous."

"The majority of the tourists coming into this province do not understand French and when the English signs are painted out, it can result in fatal accidents."

He stresses that it is important for young prospective motorists especially to become familiar with the signs.

He told a youthful audience here 83 per cent of accidents are caused by violation of highway traffic rules, excessive speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road, failing to yield the right of way, and reckless driving.

The symbolic signs are a big part of five lectures being given at the two English-language high schools here this month. A test will follow.

Negroes find living hard in the North

Tough time for one-way riders

NEW YORK (AP)—Nearly a year has passed since the first Negro left the south for the north on a one-way bus ticket supplied by southern segregationists. He was followed by more than 100 others, many of them children accompanying their parents.

What has become of them? To all, one truism has emerged: The living isn't easy, north or south.

A dreary picture emerges, for the most part, from surveys in the cities to which the voluntary exiles went in search of a better life—Hyannis, Mass., near the summer home of President Kennedy; New York, Detroit, Philadelphia, Dayton, Ohio, and Chicago.

Any other result would have been astonishing, for the "reverse freedom riders" — the south's answer to the freedom riders — were ill prepared to cope with a high-cost area alien to them.

Not all can be traced, but it was ascertained that many had returned home, disillusioned and homesick. Some went on relief and are still receiving assistance. But some found jobs and are working out new lives for themselves and their families.

One of the first to come north was Louis Boyd, 41-year-old unemployed New Orleans longshoreman. With him on his arrival in New York on April 21, 1962, were his wife and eight children, ranging in age from three to 12 years.

"My wife and children were needing," Boyd said in explaining why he had accepted an offer by the citizens council of New Orleans to send north any Negro who thought he might fare better there than in the south.

Things looked good at first for the Boyd family. The Travellers Aid Society placed them in a three-room, $25-a-day suite in the Wolcott Hotel in mid-Manhattan for a weekend, and he promptly got a job.

But the firm which had employed him as a $100-a-week handyman was out of business within a month.

Boyd finally got another job at a small steel mill in Jersey City. He and his family live in a federal housing project.

Of six others who followed Boyd to New York City, at least two—Junius Eli, 21, and Morris Price, 20, returned to New Orleans less than two weeks after their arrival.

Another, Shelva Williams, 36, found a job in a grocery. There is no record of what happened to the others.

Ninety-six went to Cape Cod. Of these, a mother and her family of 11 remain on public relief in Hyannis. She occasionally earns a little money when older children relieve her of family tasks on non-school days. One boy has a newspaper route.

Two young women and four children remain in Newburyport, Mass., to which they were sent from the cape for housing and public care. The women are working and virtually self-sustaining.

Of the remainder sent to Cap Cod, the majority have wound up in Boston jobs.

It is known that at least four others have returned south and that five left seeking jobs outside New England.

One New Orleans Negro chose to try his luck in Philadelphia. He remained less than a week, then boarded a return bus.

Archie Campbell of Macon, Ga., arrived in Detroit May 18 but returned to Georgia two days later on a bus ticket supplied by Ronnie Thompson, a jeweler in his hometown.

Three Louisiana Negroes chose Chicago, but one, Rezzie Moffett, 45, of New Orleans, returned there after nine days because he failed to find a job.

Another, Clifford Taylor, 25, a handyman who arrived with Moffett, stayed a while longer but dropped out of sight and didn't leave an address.

The third, Frank Hill, 43, of Shreveport, La., fared better and got a job as laborer with a contractor. When last heard from he was still working.

PANTHER ATTACKED

BUDAPEST (AP) — A circus panther attacked its girl trainer during a performance here and mauled her arm, the newspaper Esti Hirlap reported. It said attendants subdued the animal with sprays of water and the trainer, Eva Szoeké, completed her performance with a bandage on her arm and the panther in the act.

New association formed by 24 of Magog's grocers

MAGOG — (Special) — Twenty-four of Magog's twenty-seven grocers met Monday evening to form a new association, separate from the Magog Retail and Service Association. At their inaugural gathering, the grocers decided that they will close Monday commencing May 20, and discontinue the practice of closing Wednesday afternoons.

Offering a reason for their decision to close Monday, the group said that the added holiday would help them hold their staffs, and also enable them to attract better employees to the grocery trade. By closing Monday, they will also have better control over closing hours.

How the Green Bag protects fruits and vegetables

Use GREEN BAGS when selecting damageable produce. Delicate fresh fruits and vegetables require careful handling to maintain that just-picked appearance and flavour. For this reason the cashier (or wrapper) places the GREEN BAG on the TOP OF YOUR ORDER!

With a GREEN BAG, tender edibles are protected even after you get them home. For example, while arranging your order in the refrigerator — the GREEN BAG reminds you that the contents are fragile—handle with care.

Two mistakes cost Winnipeg game as Windsor Bulldogs post 2-0 win to lead Allan Cup finals 3-0

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs will attempt tonight to achieve what no other Windsor team has ever accomplished—win a Canadian hockey title.

Coach Harry Watson's Ontario Hockey Association senior champions pulled to within one victory of the Allan Cup championship Tuesday night when they shut out Winnipeg Maroons 2-0.

It was Windsor's third consecutive victory in the best-of-seven series. The fourth game is tonight. Should the hard-luck Maroons prolong the series, the fifth game will be played Friday night.

A crowd of 4,480 saw Jerry Serviss and captain Lou Bendo score the Bulldog goals in a tough-close-checking game.

Watson couldn't hide his feelings after it was over. "Boy, I feel great after winning that one. I don't think they can win four straight from us now. These guys want to win this thing too badly."

Winnipeg playing-coach Bill Juzda was obviously disappointed.

TWO MISTAKES FATAL
"We made two mistakes and they scored on both of them. That was the ball game. We're still not out. We'll show up Wednesday night."

Rookie goalie Wayne Rutledge kicked out 28 shots to record his fourth playoff shut-out in 22 games.

Both goalies stood out. Winnipeg's Don Collins, playing his first game as a replacement for Julian Klymiw, also stopped 28. Serviss scored at 10:01 of the second period after Jim Josephson flipped a pass out front.

Bendo notched the clincher near the five-minute mark of the final period after Real Chevrefils broke up a Winnipeg rush.

Referee Dutch Van Deelen of Edmonton once more ruled with a lenient whistle. He called 16 minor penalties.

AROUND THE GOLF WORLD

with Gene Sarazen

No. 11 Putting Roundup

Putting, the most delicate of golf operations, is a matter of control, not strength. The longer the putt, the harder.

With practice, you'll find that you size up a green without thinking about it. You'll realize, and adapt to the fact that a fresh cut green is faster than one with longer grass and that the ball will roll easier on grass cut away from you than toward you.

You'll adapt instinctively to the fact that a dull surface indicates you're putting against the grain and need a longer stroke than when the surface between you and the cup is shiny. You'll learn how to judge the roll of a green.

Musial's next hit will tie Ruth's record

NEW YORK (AP)—The next extra base hit will be a momentous one for Stanley Frank Musial.

The veteran St. Louis outfielder needs one more to tie Babe Ruth's record for most long hits in a career. Ruth poked 1,356 doubles, triples and home runs in his 22-year career in the major leagues. Through Tuesday's games, the Cardinal star has hit 716 doubles, 175 triples and 464 home runs. That makes a total of 1,355 extra base hits.

New York—Grey Gavin, 147½, Brooklyn, outpointed Danny Garcia, 151, Dominican Republic, 8.
Sacramento, Calif.—Ray Asis, 121½, Philippines, and Rudy Corona, 120½, Mexico, drew, 6.

CANADA'S eight-time professional golf champion Stan Leonard sizes up a Royal Quebec green at a glance.

stroke than when the surface between you and the cup is shiny. You'll learn how to judge the roll of a green. When your timing is off, it usually means you're picking up the clubhead on the backswing instead of taking it directly back.

On a green that slants, aim at the high side. This gives the ball a fighting chance of dropping in even if it is a bit off.

You'll develop your own individual pointers as you practice to perfect the all-important 50 per cent of the game that takes place on the green.

Sugar Ray to fight in Sherbrooke

To take on Maurice Rolbnet here Saturday, May 4, Burke Emery on card, Joe Louis to arrive Monday

Sugar Ray Robinson will fight in Sherbrooke Saturday, May 4, and Joe Louis will be here to act as referee for the main bout at the Arena, stated Promoter Dick Fine and Jimmy Voccola at a press meeting last night at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

The card will be sponsored by the Joe Louis-Dick Fine Boxing Enterprises and Mr. Fine stated that it was through Joe Louis, former heavyweight champion of the world, that Sugar Ray agreed to come to Sherbrooke for a fight.

The Joe Louis-Dick Fine Boxing Enterprises promote fights all over the world and for the past few years concentrated mainly around Los Angeles. They have staged fights in South America.

Dodgers edge Braves on two hits — Cards win

The latest episode in the troubled life of Walt Alton and his embattled Los Angeles Dodgers might be entitled How to Succeed in Baseball Without Really Hitting.

The Dodgers, with a collective batting average of .220, defeated Milwaukee Braves 2-1 Tuesday night with a truly heroic blow by Frank Howard—a home run with two out in the ninth inning that brought the Dodger output of base hits for the evening to a grand total of two.

Dodger pride in the thunderous assault was dampened by the premature retirement of Sandy Koufax in the seventh inning when the fireballing left hander complained of a pulled muscle in his shoulder.

But a report from the clubhouse indicated the injury suffered by Koufax, who was sidelined most of last season with a circulatory ailment in his finger, was not serious.

St. Louis and San Francisco, meanwhile, moved into a tie for first place. The Cardinals pounded 17 hits and crushed Houston Reds 4-2 behind Juan Marchal's six-hitter.

CUBS SHOW FANGS
Pittsburgh dropped to third as Chicago Cubs scored six runs in the fourth inning—more than they had scored in any previous game—and rolled to a 7-2 victory over the Pirates. New York Mets and Philadelphia Phillies were not scheduled.

Howard's homer off reliever Claude Raymond of St. Jean, Que., raised his average to .392. He is third in the league in batting and has hit two of the Dodgers' four homers this season, his other providing Koufax with a 2-0 victory over Houston last Friday.

Ron Perranoski, working in relief of Koufax, wound up Tuesday's victory. Shaw left for a pinch hitter in the eighth. He allowed an unearned run in the second inning when Moose Skowron was hit by a pitch, McMullen singled and Dennis Menke booted Nate Oliver's grounder.

Broglio, winning his second without a loss by hurling his second two-hitter, lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 0.82. He has been touched for only 16 hits in 33 innings. The Colts attack consisted of Al Spangler's bunt single in the third inning and a double by Bob Lillis in the seventh.

WHITE, BOYER SHINE
Bill White and Ken Boyer led the Cardinals attack against loser Jim Golen and three successors. White collected three runs-batted-in with four singles and scored three runs while Boyer drove in four runs with two singles, an infield out and a bases-loaded walk.

There were fire-works at San Francisco, where Marty Keough hit a disputed foul out of the park in the ninth inning with a man on base before going down swinging for the final out. The Reds claimed Keough's blow was a homer. They lost the argument and Marichal won his second victory against one defeat.

Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each drove in one run and scored one as the Giants tagged Joe Nuxhall with the loss. Jesse Gonder homered for Cincinnati in the eighth.

Jim Schaffer's three-run homer was the key hit for the Cubs in the fourth inning uprising that beat the Pirates. Lou Brock hit an inside - l - park homer in the sixth. Larry Jackson went the distance for Chicago, allowing eight hits, and evened his record at 2-2.

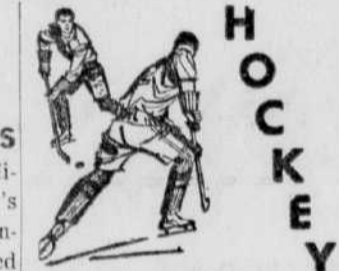

Flyers return home following win over Eagles

ESPAÑOLA, Ont. (CP)—Niagara Falls Flyers, everybody's sure thing for the Eastern Canada junior hockey title, pulled out of this Northern Ontario pulpwood centre today looking forward to the friendlier surroundings of their home rink.

They led Espanola Eagles 2-0 in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-final series, according to schedule. But the Eagles, a brand new team from a brand new league, pushed the power-packed southerners to the limit Tuesday night before losing 9-7 in overtime.

The Flyers, who won the opener 6-2 Sunday without noticeable difficulty, built up a 1-1 lead in the second period this time before the Eagles caught fire to the delight of a capacity crowd of 1,850 fans.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association champions eventually tied it at 5-5 midway through the third frame, fell behind again and tied it a second time with 15 seconds left to play.

Milt Pappas blanks Twins 1-0 for second straight win, Kansas City dump Tigers, Angels edge Senators

From the day they signed him at 18, Baltimore Orioles were convinced pitcher Milt Pappas was something special.

He's lost a few things along the way, like a fistful of vowels and consonants, plus his appendix. The letters went when he shortened his name to Milt Pappas. The appendix was removed last season.

The operation spoiled the 1962 American League campaign and delayed the young right-hander's anticipated leap into the 20-game winners' circle.

Now, at 23, he seems ready to make the jump.

Pappas won his second game of the young season Tuesday night with a five-hit, 1-0 shutout over Minnesota Twins. It also was his second complete game and dropped his earned run average to 1.57.

The victory protected Baltimore's one-half game league lead. Kansas City Athletics took a 3-0 decision over Detroit Tigers, losers of five of their last six, and Los Angeles Angels edged Washington Senators 5-4 in 10 innings.

The Boston Red Sox - New York Yankees game was postponed because of cold weather.

FANS 'EM EARLY
Pappas, who pitched only 11 innings in the minors and has been a Baltimore starter since the age of 19, has won 10, 15, 15, 13 and 12 games in the last five seasons. He furthered his drive for a big year this season by striking out six of the first 10 Minnesota batters. Only one Minnesota runner advanced to third and he got there on an error.

Dick Stigman took the loss and became the sixth consecutive left-hander to lose to the Orioles this season. It also was the second straight game in which the twins were unable to score a run.

The Baltimore run was driven across in the second inning by Jerry Adair with a sacrifice fly, following singles by Brooks Robinson and Joe Gaines.

Kansas City's Ed Rakow, a prime reason for the fine start of the Athletics, threw another masterpiece at the Tigers. He struck out six of the first nine men he faced, allowing only five hits. Norm Cash's homer was the only damaging blow.

ALL RUNS UNEARNED
Phil Regan, the Detroit starter, was the victim of sloppy support. All three of the Athletics' runs were unearned.

The first run scored on an error, and Ed Charles singled home the winning run in the fourth.

Angel shortstop Jim Fregosi crashed three hits, including a game-winning home run with two out in the 10th, against the Senators. Don Rudolph, Washington starter, retired the first 15 men but the Angels got to him in the sixth and seventh.

Fregosi hit the winning homer off Jim Coates, former Yankee right-hander appearing for the first time in a Senator uniform. Bo Belinsky started for the Angels but did not survive the sixth. He has yet to win this season.

Al Bachman and Bob Cleroux have squabble

MONTREAL (CP)—Heavyweight Bob Cleroux and his manager Al Bachman of New York split up Tuesday in a squabble over money, their contract, and promotional commitments.

Their four-year contract actually runs to May 18 but said Bachman: "So far as I'm concerned it's over now."

Cleroux scored a sixth-round knockout Monday night over Tony Hughes of Cleveland in a ragged bout that drew a gross gate of $10,700. Bachman said that since he took over Cleroux, the French-speaking Montrealer has grossed more than $45,000 in purses while his own end came to less than $5,000.

Their contract gave Cleroux 50 per cent of each purse with the remainder split between Bachman and Cleroux's father Martin.

Bachman and Martin paid for training camp costs and other expenses.

Sugar Ray

Mr. Fine was asked what was the reason that such an outstanding fighter as Sugar Ray was agreeing to fight in Sherbrooke. Mr. Fine outlined the reason in a few words.

"I know Sherbrooke very well, in fact I consider it as my second home. My wife is a French-Canadian girl, Gilberte Perron, who comes from Coaticook and we now live in Stamford, Conn. We are only a few miles from Sugar Ray Robinson's residence."

"I have been in the boxing game for the past three years with Joe Louis and we have staged fights all over United States and South America. Sugar Ray was going to fight Terry Downes in London but when Downes cancelled the fight he was left without a bout for quite some time I had the intention of staging a program in Sherbrooke and decided this would be the right time."

"As for my associate, Joe Louis, I had no difficulty in convincing him to come to Sherbrooke. That sums up the situation in a few words. We at the regret that the story on the fight broke in Montreal and not in Sherbrooke but this error was made in Montreal as we were waiting to break the news in Sherbrooke, the proper place for such a thing."

Jimmy Voccola, who has been in the fight game for over 35 years, secured the services of Robinson's opponent, Maurice Rolbnet. Rolbnet hails from Algeria and came to the States as a sparring partner for Dick Tiger. He has fought in Europe and is considered as a top performer and should give Robinson plenty of trouble.

The other fights on the card will be released this week after the contracts have been accepted and approved by the Sherbrooke Athletic Commission. Joe Louis will arrive in Montreal on Monday and will journey to Sherbrooke where he will remain for the rest of the week.

Sugar Ray Robinson will arrive in Sherbrooke Wednesday along with Burke Emery and both these fighters will work-out at the YMCA while waiting for their Saturday evening fight at the Arena. Tickets for the fight will go on sale at Codere's fight broke in Montreal and not in Sherbrooke but this error was made in Montreal as we were waiting to break the news in Sherbrooke, the proper place for such a thing."

Mary Stewart turns in fine race but fails to win gold medal as Americans sweep swimming events

SAO PAULO, Brazil (CP)AP)—Mary Stewart of Vancouver swam one of the fastest butterfly races of her career at the Pan-American Games Tuesday night, but she couldn't win a gold medal.

The 17-year-old Canadian veteran - she's been swimming since she was four - came within 1.6 seconds of her world record of one minute, 7.3 seconds in the women's 100-metre butterfly event to take the second-place silver medal.

Kathy Ellis, a 16-year-old Indianapolis schoolgirl, whipped Canada's female athlete of the year by five feet after Miss Stewart had led by the same margin at the 50-metre turn.

Illness forced a seventh Canadian, Ed Cazalet of Vancouver, to withdraw from the final of the men's 100-metre backstroke. Cazalet stayed in bed at the games village, nursing an infected throat and 102 - degree fever.

To wrestle here Saturday

Tommy O'Toole

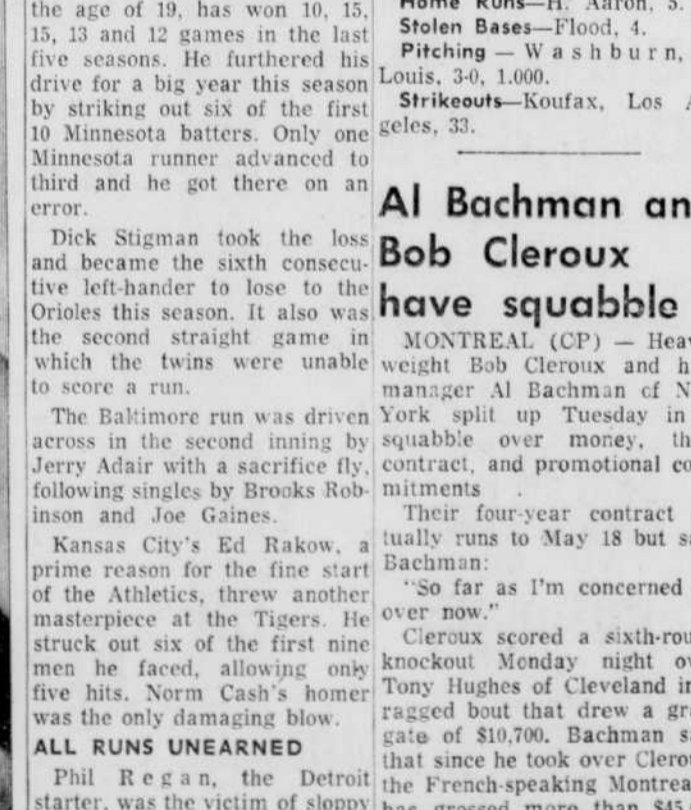

Edouard Carpentier of Paris, France, will tangle with Tommy O'Toole of New York City in the main bout on the opening wrestling card which will be presented at the Sherbrooke Arena Saturday evening.

Four bouts are on the card including a special event between Little Darling Dagmar and Baby Cheryl, lady dwarf wrestlers. This is a two-out-of-three event and Dolly Darcel of Montreal will be the referee.

The Carpentier-O'Toole affair is another two-of-three bout which should be a real battle as both grapplers are considered as the best in the game. O'Toole will be out to try and earn the decision over Carpentier, who is rated the favorite, in an effort to build up his ring reputation.

In the first bout on the program Pedro Morales of Mexico will clash with Gerard Dugas of Montreal in a one-fall, twenty minute limit. This is the first time these two have met and a good battle is expected before a winner is declared.

15th anniversary April 29

Israel proud of achievements

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — When Israelis celebrate their country's 15th anniversary April 29, they will be looking with pride at past achievements and with confidence to the future.

On May 14, 1948, powerful enemies invaded the infant country, besieged its cities and villages and swore to wipe it off the map.

Now, 15 years later, a dynamic nation protected by a well-tested and well-trained military machine is going ahead with plans for development and welfare.

True, its Arab neighbors have not yet reconciled themselves to Israel's existence, nor are they prepared to make peace with it. But beyond this immediate ring of hostility Israel has been gaining friends and respect.

One of the most striking features of Israel's activities in the last few years has been the successful program of co-operation with the young emergent countries of Africa.

Thousands of Israeli experts and technicians have been loaned to Afro-Asian countries to help carry out development projects while thousands of Afro-Asian trainees have come to Israel to learn from Israel's successful experience.

BORDER RAIDS RARE

Within a relatively brief period, a hard-working nation has managed to solve formidable problems. The young state has managed to settle more than a million Jewish refugees and now is on the way to expansion and prosperity.

Those who worked and fought for Israel's establishment had one cherished dream—that the Jewish people should have once again a homeland of its own where Jewish pioneers, settlers as well as refugees from disaster, could live as free men.

By now some 1,100,000 Jews to Israel to learn from Israel's ants). During these 15 years some Jewish communities abroad have disappeared almost completely as a result of emigration to Israel — in Yemen, Iraq, Bulgaria, to cite only a few examples.

In 1963 the great hardships of the Israelis seem to be a matter of the past, of memories. Just as the murder raids from across the borders, with their toll in life and property, have become just memories, so have the grim austerity of a decade ago and suffering of scores of thousands who lived under canvas in temporary immigrant camps.

DIVERT GALILEE WATER

Today housing has caught up with the demand, food supplies are ample and the economy is booming.

In terms of statistics this has meant in the last few years a steady annual growth of about 10 per cent in the gross national product, a growth of 20 per cent in the national income, a 10-per-cent increase in investment and last year an outstanding increase in the foreign currency reserves which reached about $114,000,000. A substantial rise in exports was reported in the last year.

Up and down the country giant development projects are in evidence. In Galilee the final touches are being put to the $120,000,000 Jordan diversion project designed to carry water from the Sea of Galilee to parched lands in the south. The system of canals, pipelines and tunnels has been a major engineering feat. Within a year Galilean water will begin to flow southwards.

In the Dead Sea hundreds of laborers aided by $12,000,000 worth of modern machinery and equipment are building dams to seal off a large section of the salty lake and turn it into potash evaporation pans.

SEEK ECM TREATY

When complete, the Israeli potash works at biblical Sodom, lowest point on the surface of the earth, will become one of the largest in the world with an annual potash production of nearly a million tons.

Perhaps the greatest problem facing the Israeli economy today is the country's relations with the European Common Market. Israel has been seeking a treaty with the Six to put it inside the customs union on terms similar to those of Greece. It encountered some resistance but negotiations are under way to obtain some arrangement with the European Market that will enable Israel to continue and expand its trade with Europe.

Alongside economic consolidation, the country has experienced relative political stability on the home front—in striking contrast with the upheavals in neighboring Arab countries.

BUILD NUCLEAR REACTORS

Despite its electoral system of proportional representation which preserved nearly a dozen political parties and groupings in the Knesset (Parliament), the man who acted as architect of the new state, David Ben Gurion, has been at the helm of government almost without interruption.

The 76-year-old premier has had to ride several political storms, to manoeuvre and to intrigue in order to maintain his majority, but so far he has succeeded.

ceeded.

The most striking projects undertaken by Israeli scientists and technologists are those connected with water desalination and the harnessing of solar energy.

Even in the field of nuclear science Israelis have been trained. A small atomic reactor has been in operation for several years, a larger reactor is being built at Dimona in the Negev, and plans are being studied for the erection of nuclear power stations.

Theftford Mines

Town moves as asbestos pit is enlarged

THEFTFORD MINES, Que. (CP)—St. Maurice Church, a massive landmark in this community 50 miles south of Quebec City, may not survive more than another 10 years.

Like the rest of the town it rests on top of a vast body of asbestos, scheduled to be mined by 1970.

"In the early days," explained W. J. Johnson, general manager of an asbestos mining company here, "they didn't know how extensive the ore body was. Our whole mining property is within the town limit."

FOUR STAGES

The mine has submitted a four-stage program for the next

The Theftford Mines' railway system and some houses were moved several years ago to allow mining companies to get at the ore, a valuable export commodity.

Birthdays party at East Angus

EAST ANGUS — On April 11, about 20 guests gathered to honor E. Knapp on her 10th birthday, and enjoy an evening of games and dancing in a room attractively decorated with balloons and streamers of many colours.

Later in the evening the guest of honor was presented with a shower of gifts.

At the close of the evening lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. Knapp and Mrs. Maguire. The birthday cake was in the shape of a doll, which was made and decorated by her sister, Mrs. Ray Maguire.

10 years to municipal authorities, under which another chunk of the community will be eaten away.

Next year, the open pits will be extended to Johnson Street, and as they are expanded, the street will just disappear.

Between 1968 and 1972 this operation will be extended almost to the doorsteps of the St. Maurice Glebe, a fine gabled, Victorian edifice.

The next step would necessitate demolition of the church, built in 1907, and neighboring houses, overlooking the Becancour River.

"This is nothing startling," says Mr. Johnson, recalling the inroads of several years ago.

The church may not have to be destroyed after all, but this is a decision that won't be made for 10 years, he said.

KINNEAR'S MILLS

Miss Sharon Robichaud, of Huntingville spent a week here with her cousin, Miss Diane Rothney.

WEST BROME

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Emerson, of Montreal West, spent the Easter holiday with the latter's mother and sister, Mrs. M. E. Darbe, and Miss Cecile Darbe.

Nevertheless a new St. Maurice Church is already being planned for a site in Johnson Park—an area where there is no asbestos.

St. James Guild to hold supper at South Durham

SOUTH DURHAM—On April 17, St. James Guild held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Ernest Johnston.

It was decided to hold a bean and ham supper on May 29. The following committee, was named to plan the event: Mrs. Louis Stanhope, Mrs. Grover Montgomery, Mrs. Quince Richmond, Mrs. Robert Johnston, and Mrs. Ernest Johnston, plans for the spring tea were finalized.

Donations of $10 is to be made to the Sunday School and $2 to the Indian school. The Back Home service will be held on June 30th.

Mrs. Richard Black offered to make tickets for the drawing of an Afghan. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rodney Duffy, on May 15.

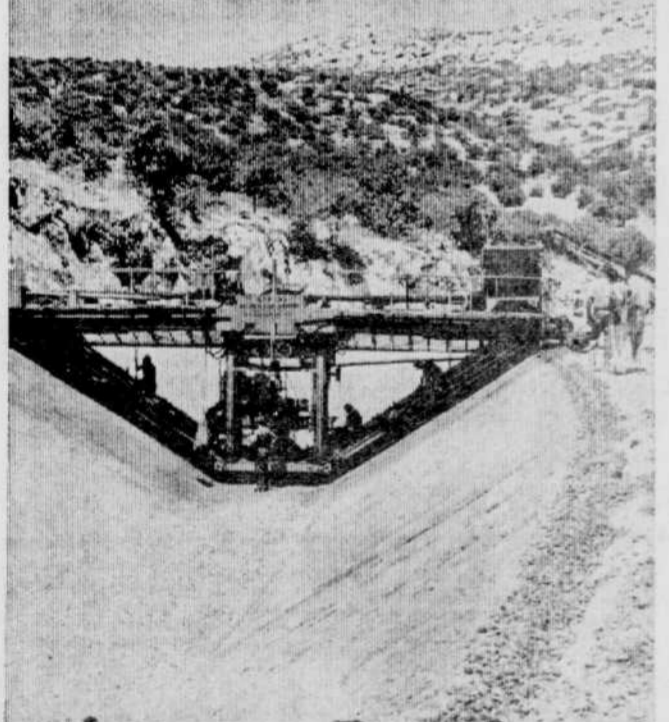

Presentation is made to W.I. member at Austin

AUSTIN — Tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Patterson and Mrs. Justin Sharman on 17 were, Mrs. Jacklin, Mrs. Tom Chapman, Miss Gloria Chapman and Miss Laura Goodin who are members of the Canterbury W.I., which was organized in 1914, and of which Mrs. Sharman is a Charter Life Member.

Mrs. Sharman, who hopes to visit her ancestral home in Port of Ness, Lewis, Scotland, shortly, after an absence of 40 years, was presented with a Bon Voyage gift by Mrs. Chapman, on behalf of the members of the Canterbury W.I. branch.

SKILLED IN FARMING, FIGHTING — Israeli youths skilled in both farming and fighting man settlements along Israel's frontier. This youth, working on a construction project at the Nahal settlement of Almaor on Mount Gilboa, is ready to put down his shovel and take up a rifle in the event of raids. (CP Photo)

EASING WATER SHORTAGE — A grading machine edges along a canal forming part of Israel's Jordan-Negev irrigation project. When it is finished in 1966, the system will pump surplus water from the Sea of Galilee to farmland in the arid Negev district. (CP Photo)

The clothes poll

by Helen Hennessy

After a long, hard winter, we'd prefer to skip the April showers and get on to May flowers.

But into each life some rain must fall. So makers of "amusing" rain togs are out to show us how rainwear can dispel the bad weather doldrums.

When you awaken to the sound of rain, don't be irritable. You can still wear your new silk dress. Put it on and then hop into a bright red vinyl rain suit. The jacket and skirt will fit right over your regular clothes.

Bright red vinyl a bit too "amusing" for you? If you're not convinced that the rain is that funny, try a simulated alligator rain cape—neat, not gaudy. You can smile at the weather even if you'd rather not laugh out loud.

Umbrellas are as serviceable as ever, but they now come trimmed with pompoms and fringe that gaily flirt with the raindrops.

And you can carry in your purse final proof that you've developed a sense of humor about showers. At the first sign of wet pavements, open your bag and whip out the small case that holds folding polka dot rubbers to protect your light-hearted feet.

Chic Chat
Q—"I need your help as to what to wear for an all-important occasion. Our son will be married at a nuptial church (informal) ceremony in late April."

"Because of circumstances there will not be a reception. I wear a junior petite size five and have a gold coat to wear in case it's needed. I have a new lightweight suit, but have worn it once among some people who will be at the wedding. Can you give me any suggestions?" Mrs. C. G.

Dear Mrs. C. G.: If the weather in your area is as uncertain as it is here in New York, I would count on the possibility of needing the coat even in late April.

For an informal wedding a dressy suit in silk or one of the synthetics is a good choice. If you'd rather not wear the suit you already have, why not try one in a pale bone shade? The light color would be festive for the occasion and you could wear matching accessories. This would look fine with your gold coat, and you would have a smart costume to wear for the rest of spring and early summer.

Another choice would be a simple jacket dress in a silk print. You could pick up one shade from the print for your hat and shoes. Your coat won't be a problem, for gold is a neutral shade and can be worn with many colors.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY — To make your own "throw away" dust cloths, place a few drops of furniture polish on a paper napkin. This does an excellent job.—MRS. A. C. Y.

GIRLS — I always pour my oil furniture polish into a spray bottle and it saves mess and waste. Spraying it on the paper napkin would make a more even job and prevent the napkin from becoming so soggy and messy to handle.—DEAR POLLY— When sewing up knitted garments or working with yarn, I take a small wire hairpin, place the yarn over the curved end of the hairpin and thread hairpin and yarn through the big eye of the yarn needle. It works fine and save time.—V. K.

GIRLS — I am sorry space does not permit us to repeat hints that have been previously published in the column. If all such requests were answered, there would be nothing new to read.—POLLY.

Needed years, happy years

A young wife, married less than a year, wants to know how often she should expect her husband to drive her to her recently widowed mother's home for a weekend visit. They live nearly 200 miles apart.

The young wife wants desperately to be both a good daughter and a good wife. She doesn't want to neglect her mother, who is lonely, and yet she doesn't want to demand too much of her husband. And so she asks for a simple answer to a not-so-simple question. "How often would it be reasonable and right for me to suggest going to my mother's for a visit?"

With two conflicting demands on her love and loyalty, this young wife is just beginning the process of dividing herself up to meet life's demands and obligations.

When she has children there will be need of more and more dividing, as she tries to give each person who loves and needs and depends on her as much of herself as possible, and still have some time to give to friends, to community affairs, and, perhaps, a little time for herself.

For a good many years a woman's life consists in dividing herself into smaller and smaller slices, so that each person who needs her has a share of her time and attention.

Only the woman, herself, can decide where the need is greatest at the moment — and she makes these daily decisions as much with the heart as with the head.

Though it may seem at times as though there just isn't enough of her to go around, the needed years are for a woman the happy years.

The young wife who doesn't believe that has only to look around her at the women who are no longer needed, to see that it is far better not to have enough time for all the demands life puts on her than to have time hanging heavy on her hands.

Make a chic suit

Fashion shows so many lovely suits of sheer wool, silk linen, linen and the nubby silk-like shantung and heavier cottons that look so much like silk and linen.

A set-in sleeve is good for any of the natural fibers. The firmer fabrics especially require good tailoring.

Sleeves of this jacket can be shorter than shown. However, if you make them to below the elbow, be sure the darts are placed properly to allow elbow-ease. See (A).

Darts at the back of the neck will make the collar lie flat. See (B). While the garment is being fitted, pin in any extra fullness, divide this into two or more darts for proper fit.

Darts at the waistline should be stitched as in (C). The dart cut open and raw edge overcast as in (D). A few short stitches around the point of the dart will eliminate the possibility of the narrow seam pulling out. Or, clip the dart to within one inch of the top and press the point flat, as in (E).

Custom dresses and jackets are lined throughout with China silk. An easy way to line the sleeve is shown in (F). Stitch the lining to the sleeve. Then bring the underarm seams together. Stitch the seam from armhole to armhole and turn right side out. Raw seams will be concealed. Bring lining and top of sleeve together and machine baste around to hold the top and lining together, ready for insertion in the arm-hole.

Use plenty of pins and do not skimp on basting when putting a China silk lining to place. China silk needs careful handling, but it is worth the effort because it gives a finished look to the garment.

F-35 is in sizes 12 1/2, 14 1/2, 16 1/2, 18 1/2, 20 1/2, 22 1/2. Bust 33 to 45. Size 14 1/2, 35 bust, dress, 4 yards of 35-inch; jacket, three quarter sleeve, 2 3/4 yards.

Before You Shampoo

A hot oil treatment before the shampoo is in order if your hair has become dry and wispy. Each week before your shampoo, use a medicated oil or olive oil which you have warmed. Make several parts in your hair and apply the oil with absorbent cotton. Leave the oil on for 20 minutes, then shampoo. Lather three times and rinse well.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

BEST DEFENSE IS PROBLEM
Here is another really tough hand from the intercollegiate tournament. North has a sound opening club bid and South is supposed to try for a slam via Blackwood. When North shows no aces South now gets a bidding par by either passing five clubs or going to five spades.

NORTH (D) 24

3	Pass	4	N.T. Pass
5	Pass	5	Pass
Pass	Pass	5	Pass
Opening lead—4

Declarer wins the club and leads a spade and now West must hold up his ace if he wants to get his par. Then on the second spade lead East should play the nine of hearts as a signal that he holds the ace of that suit. West wins the trick and leads a heart to East, whereupon East returns the club and the hand is set.

If it looks silly to credit North and South for getting set when they could have made four spades had they stopped there, I want to remind you that people who sit on a bench never fall down, but they also never get anywhere.

Order a copy of "Win at Bridge with Oswald Jacoby." Send name, address, and 50 cents in coins to: Newspaper Enterprise Association, 1200 West Third Street, Cleveland 13, Ohio, U.S.A.

CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been: South West North East
1 Club 1 Dmd. 2 Clubs Pass

You, South, hold:
Spades A-Q-6-5, Hearts K-J-3, Diamonds Q-9-8, Clubs A-K-6. What do you do?
A—Bid two no-trump. If you want to jump to three no-trump you are not overbidding much.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of overcalling with one diamond, West overcalls with one heart and your partner bids two diamonds. What is to believe that his partner has your bid?

TERRORISTS' WORK—This boxcar at Chicoutimi was splattered with paint after vandals claiming to be members of the Front de Liberation Quebecois declared Canadian National Railways to be "an enemy of the state." "Vive de Quebec libre" and "FLQ" were painted on some boxcars. (CP Wirephoto).

Many memorial flowers decorate border churches

BOUNDARY — In all churches of the Boundary Villages Easter Sunday services took place throughout the day, with special music by the church choirs and by the congregation and choirs.

The churches were beautifully decorated with Easter flowers and plants. Sermon topics were on the Easter theme.

Among memorial flowers in Stanstead South Church, Rock Island, were those in memory of the late Hugh Bell, Derby Line, from Mrs. Bell and family, and in memory of the late Cyril R. Darby, from Mrs. Darby and the family.

In Derby Line Universalist Church they were in memory of the late Donald Nason from the family and in memory of Frank and Peggy Washington.

In Centenary United Church, Stanstead, the United Church Women placed a large bouquet in the church in the memory of all deceased members of the congregation. There was also a bouquet in memory of the late Alfred E. Greenwood from his family.

He is one of the experienced circulation auditors on the staff of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.* Just as a bank examiner makes a periodic check of the records of your bank—so does Mr. A.B.C. visit our office at regular intervals to make an exacting inspection and audit of our circulation records. The circulation facts thus obtained are condensed in easy-to-read audit reports which tell our advertisers: How much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they advertise in this newspaper.

Advertisers are invited to ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative, nonprofit association of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation; rules and standards for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.
