Streetcars "MUST GO" Says Baker

Streetcars must eventually disappear from the streets, Lt-Col. Howard Baker, director of safety for the Montreal Transportation Commission, said Wednesday.

Addressing the weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club, he said "one can hardly reasonably envision the existence of tramway tracks in the center of streets where the vehicles will not have the flexibility for free movement."

He said that the changeover from streetcars to autobuses in a system as extensive as is in Montreal must "Necessarily be spread over a term of years.

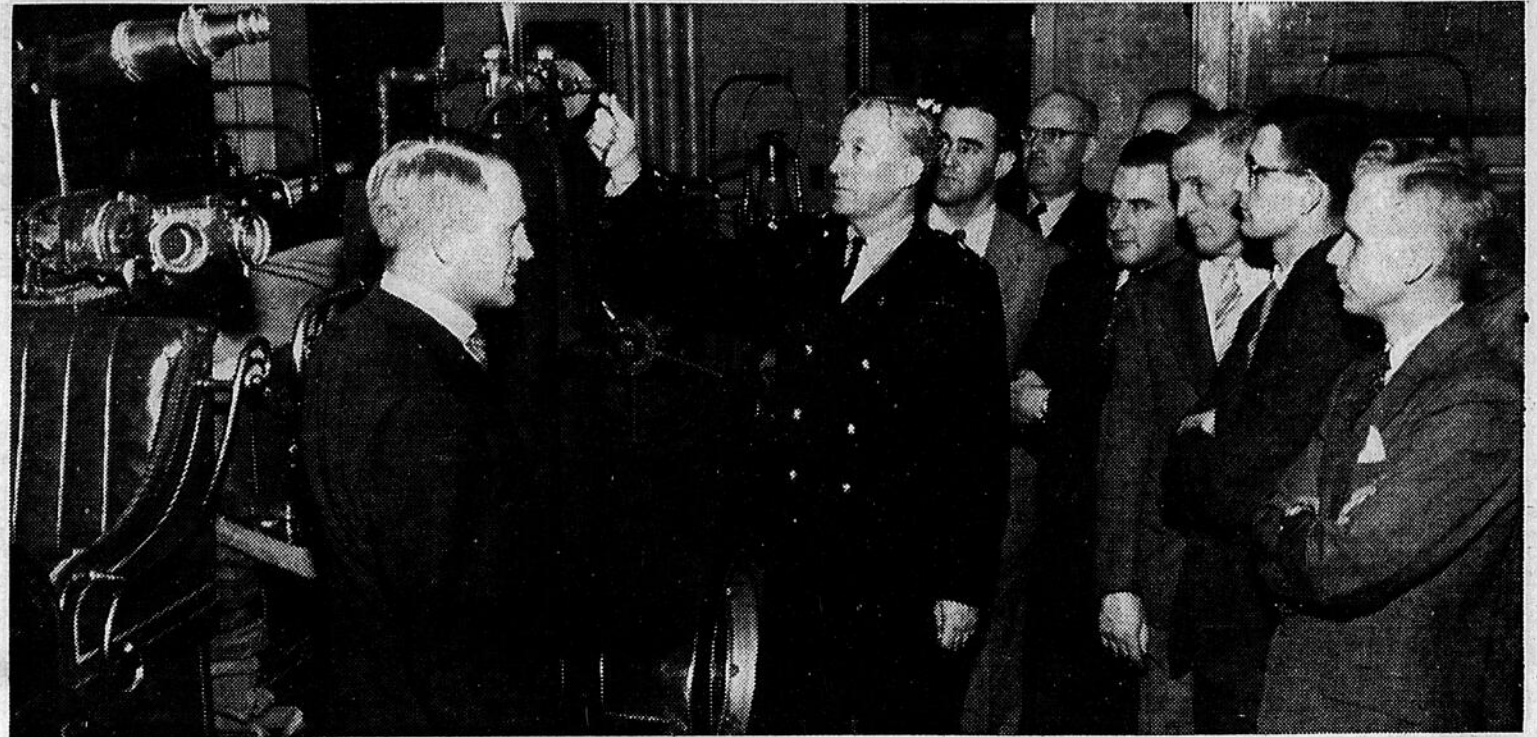

"To replace 868 streetcars now in service, it would be necessary to purchase nearly 1,200 autobuses, construct garages, redesign the buildings that were used to house streetcars, remove nearly 240 miles of single track, etc.

"The construction of a subway would reduce, however, the expenses of autobus substitution, due to the fact that the transportation of passengers made by the subway trains would diminish equivalent surface transportation requirements," he said.

He said that it was the Commission's intention, subject to the securing of the necessary funds, to gradually continue the removal of streetcars in Montreal and the metropolitan area.

Col. Baker emphasized the importance of public transportation in Montreal, and said that no matter "how many private automobiles are ever owned in the City of Montreal, they will never be able to take the place of public transportation."

He said that it would be both economically and physically impractical to attempt to build the number of additional streets and the amount of off-street parking facilities that would be required

Youth Library Busy Place Catherine Fraser Reveals

By AVERIL BROOKFIELD

The only time you can chat with Catherine Fraser, the new children's and teenagers' librarian at the Westmount Public Library, is in the morning — most of the children are at school then.

"I manage to keep busy," she said.

This entails, besides her regular duties, lecturing to the students in Westmount Junior High School on books, "catching them early," as she put it. Miss Fraser also lectures at McGill University on the same subject.

Previously on the library's staff, she succeeded the late Miss G. McEwan as children's librarian.

Mrs. Helen Clayton is now assistant to Miss Fraser.

Some of the four-year-olds are around in the morning of course, in the children's section. When asked "how do you keep them quiet?" She smiled, and said — "They aren't in for a long enough time for that to matter. The small children like to discuss the books they've read when they're picking them out. For instance: 'Have you read Chicken Little?' and 'read Snow White and The Seven

Derek Ramsay Condition Is 'Satisfactory'

Derek Ramsay, 27, of 432 Lansdowne avenue, was described as being in "satisfactory" condition yesterday after surviving a plane crash Sunday which took the life of his friend.

Leo Michaud, 22, 1659 St. Luke street died of injuries suffered in the crash against the side of a hill during snowy overcast weather on a return flight from Montreal to Ottawa.

Ramsay said that Michaud was not killed instantly, but that following a night of delirious, semi-conscious sleep, he woke up Monday morning and found his companion dead.

Ramsay wandered through dense bush for two days before he met three bush workers who brought him to the village of Chenneville.

His rescue ended a two day search by RCAF and private planes that had ranged over more than 3,500 square miles of hilly, wooded country in the Lake Simons area north of Ottawa, trying to find the light two seater plane.

Department of Transport officials in Montreal said that an investigation into the crash would be started immediately.

Tuesday a Laurentide Aviation pilot sighted the actual wreckage. Earlier in the day, another Laurentide plane had sighted the letters S-O-S and F-O-O which Ramsay had spelt out in the snow. Ramsay said later he had not enough strength left to finish out the word "Food."

Ramsay and Michaud both ama-

Asks Canadians Write U.N. News

News reports on the activities of Canada's representatives at the United Nations should be written for Canadians by Canadians, Alan Macnaughton, MP (Montreal-Mount Royal) said this week in the House of Commons.

Hitting out against "American news prepared by American reporters for Americans," he said that it is simply because "press services are geared that way" that Canadians hear more about Cabot Lodge and John Foster Dulles than Lester Pearsons and other Canadians.

"I am afraid that Canadians as a whole are unaware of the United Nations," he said, "though it is very important to them. This is because no one takes the trouble

Westmount's City Council members took a good long look at the judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Wilson which took a new view of some of their building bylaws . . . and it is believed the city fathers will have something to say about the case in the near future . . . in any event, the decision deals only with the one case . . . it is believed.

There is nothing new, according to report, on the tussle building up over the property at Atwater and St. Catherine streets where a new owner is reported to be considering the construction of a hotel, and which the city of Montreal is eyeing as a possible site for a bus terminal and subway terminus combined.

Nor is there action . . . as yet . . . on the question of how the city should handle the 'hot potato' of the old M.A.A.A. grounds . . . whether to use the grounds as a park, to build an indoor artificial skating rink on the site . . . or to sell them altogether . . . is still being debated.

Dwarfs. It sure was good, boy! It amuses them, and they don't make much noise."

The teen age section is closely connected with the children's part of the library. They remain in the children's section until they are 14 and they move up then. Miss Fraser doesn't mind the teenagers taking book out from the adults part of the library "If it's for something specially. Some of the adult books are in with the teenagers," she added, "but some of the books in the adult section aren't the right kind for the teenage crowd to absorb."

Mystery books are also kept out of the teenagers' room. Miss Fraser believes that once people start reading crime books, they are liable to keep to them, and forget other interesting literature. "After all," she said smilingly, "not all of them are going to grow up to be detectives. There are other good career books they can read." The biography of Florence Nightingale is well used, for example. That could mean that many are planning on nursing as a career.

"Books on current topics of news are popular too, for many teenagers follow the news," said Miss Fraser. "We have all types of books in their section, except the mysteries. But I don't mind if they take one from the adult library once in a while."

Children use the library for other purposes too. At exam time they bring their books to study, because of the quiet. "I don't mind if they stop reading for a minute, and say a few word to a friend. After all, the library is not a club, but should be a place to relax in," she said.

On the question of television, Miss Fraser added, "I thought that T.V. might have it's effect on the library visitors, but thank goodness the children still like to read."

Westmount Is Rallying For Blind Appeal Drive

Westmount friends of the sightless rallied this week in preparation for the forthcoming Combined Appeal for the Blind.

Seven leading women members of the community will head up the organization for the drive, which gets under way next month.

The leaders in the Westmount division were named by the campaign executive as: Mrs. D. W. Ferrier, Mrs. Lionel Cote, Mrs. B. M. Tate, Mrs. William Carter, Mrs. R. V. V. Nicholls, Mrs. Norman Clelland and Mrs. P. G. Sise.

The advantages of a single appeal for funds were stressed this week in a joint statement by members of the Westmount committee.

Uniting in the appeal this year are the Montreal Association for the Blind, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and l'Association Canadienne-Francaises des Aveugles.

The Combined Appeal, with an objective of $250,000, is being held this year beginning April 26.

On behalf of the three federating organizations it was pointed out that the public will be asked to contribute only once to this worthy field, instead of three times as in the past.

Too, the Westmount group pointed out that there is considerable financial saving in conducting one campaign instead of three. Also, the friends of the blind are asked to work only once a year on a financial drive, and can therefore devote all their efforts to making it an outstanding success.

The campaign is being headed by Maj-Gen. R. O. G. Morton and Jean Joubert, with Miss E. Meredith Hodgson and Mme E. de B. Panet as vice chairmen.

Honorary campaign chairmen are Sydney G. Dobson, Aristide Cousineau and Senator Marianna B. Jodoin.

Robert Cameron Named President Protection Body

Robert E. Cameron, 76 Somerville avenue, for 11 years a member of the board of directors, was elected president of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children, and its affiliate, the Montreal Legal Aid Bureau, at the annual meeting held recently. He succeeds H. Walton Blunt as the head of the two Red Feather services.

Hunting missing husbands, moderating instalment purchasing and helping old folks to overcome their lack of legal proof for old age pensions, continue to be important departments of effort for the society, it was pointed out.

Reports showed that by its efforts 26 missing husbands were located and a total of 82 men who were not provided for their dependants were "brought into line." It represented about $23,000 saved for relief-giving agencies such as the Family Welfare Association.

Mr. Blunt's report showed that results for the year were statistically about the same as last year. He paid tribute to the Province of Quebec for legislation against missing husbands but said that, because of costly implementation of such legislation, "candour compels the observation that substantially we are in the very same position in this respect as before the bill (of January 1952) was enacted."

Other officers elected include: J. H. Kimlin and Walter B. Potter, vice-presidents; W. H. Campbell, C.A., honorary-treasurer; and Mrs. J. E. Openshaw, honorary-secretary.

Directors include: Mrs. D. Forbes Angus, Mrs. G. S. Cowie, Mrs. J. H. Dougherty, Miss Joan Gilchrist, Mrs. H. Warren, K. Hale, Mrs. W. M. Holmes, Mrs. A. Lovell Phillips, Mrs. F. H. Williams, H. Walton Blunt, C.A., James W. Brown, Geo. N. Broderick, John Cerini, Q.C., Rev. C. W. Coleman, Geo. H. Corbett, Ludlam Hawkins, J. S. Howard, Rev. Eric A. McIlwain, J. K. Mergler, Allison A. M. He suggested that a top level information officer be appointed to the UN permanent delegation by the government, to aid the press, and added "if we make an effort to help the free press of Canada, it can be relied on to do the rest."

Mrs. Arthur Randles Buried On Tuesday

Funeral service was held Tuesday for Mrs. Arthur Randles, 1575 Summerhill avenue, the former Katherine Pimenoff, wife of the general passenger traffic manager in Canada of the Cunard Line. She died Saturday at her residence after a lengthy illness.

A daughter of the late J. C. Pimenoff, former general manager of the Russian Asiatic Bank and at one time chairman of the board of the Chinese Eastern Railway, Mrs. Randles was born in Barnaul, Siberia. She left there at an early age with her parents and lived in Hankow and Peking, China.

Mrs. Randles was educated in Hankow, in Eastbourne, England, and later in the Russian Division of the Sorbonne in Paris. In recent years, she resumed her studies and was graduated as Bachelor of Science at Sir George Williams College in Montreal. She studied later at McGill University.

Mrs. Randles was a member of the I.O.D.E., and was treasurer of the St. Catherine Society of the Russian Orthodox Cathedral of Saint Peter and Saint Paul in Montreal. For the services to seamen during the last war, Mrs. Randles was made an honorary life member of the National Union of Seamen in Great Britain.

She is survived by her husband, Arthur Randles, C.B.E.; her mother, Mrs. J. C. Pimenoff, of Montreal; two brothers, C. J. Pimenoff, of Dixie, Que.; and V. J. Pimenoff, of Digby, N.S.; and a sister, Mrs. Brian Burton, of Montreal.

Service was from the Russian Orthodox Cathedral of Saint Peter and Saint Paul with burial in Mount Royal Cemetery.

However, Michaud and Ramsay filed a flight plan to Montreal.

One hour after take off, the plane was picked up on the radar screen in the Lake Simon area. This was the exact spot where the plane crashed.

Canadians sell to themselves about three times as much of the goods produced in Canada as is sold abroad.

Highway Safety Campaign Planned

Public groups, social clubs, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, police chiefs, mayors of cities and towns and private individuals have been asked to give full support to the highway safety campaign which will be launched in the province in June.

Roger Lacoste, Q.C., president of the committee in charge of the campaign for the western section of the province, has appealed for suggestions from these groups to make the safety campaign a successful one.

Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon, Q.C. is honorary president of the campaign and Solicitor-General Antoine Rivard, Q.C. is honorary vice-president. Active president of the Provincial Committee is Paul DesRochers. A Committee, formed in Quebec is in charge of organization for that section. Mr. Lacoste, president general of the Province of Quebec Safety League, is in charge of organization for western Quebec.

The number of highway accidents in the Province of Quebec must be lowered to protect the province's good name, said Mr. Lacoste. "And as highway accidents affect every one, the campaign becomes everybody's business."

A committee is being organized, said Mr. Lacoste. A general program has been drawn up for the Quebec section but public opinion is being sought before the program for the western sector is finalized.

The territory included in the western zone is a vast one and that is why the committee is soliciting views and opinions from different groups and individuals.

"All suggestions will be considered," explained Mr. Lacoste. "The program we are studying is flexible and will be adapted to the needs of the different regions concerned."

Headquarters for the safety campaign for the western division is located in the offices of the Province of Quebec Safety League, situated in the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal.

Editor Of Punch Will Be Speaker At Canadian Club

Malcolm Muggeridge will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Canadian Club of Montreal Monday, April 5 at 12:50 p.m. in the Mount Royal Hotel. He will speak on First Acquaintance With Humor.

A graduate of Selwyn College, Cambridge, Mr. Muggeridge was a lecturer at the Egyptian University, Cairo (1927-30), "Manchester Guardian's" Moscow correspondent (1932-33), assistant editor of the "Calcutta Statesman" (1934-36), "Daily Telegraph" Washington correspondent (1946-47), and deputy editor of the "Daily Telegraph" (1949). In the recent war he served with distinction with the Intelligence Corps in Africa and France.

Unemployment Up, Social Agencies Magazine Warns

A highly-rated Canadian periodical publication in the world of welfare thinking — the "Commentator", official organ of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies — will say in its March issue, now on the press, that "it is not too early to prepare for next winter, right now", in an effort to face up to serious national problems created by "unemployment that is substantially greater than it was at the same time last year".

Speaking for its 75 member organizations including the 26 Montreal Red Feather agencies — the Council's publication says it is too early to decide whether unemployment figures in the "hundreds of thousands for Canada as a whole" represent "adjustment" or "levelling off" or something that should be "viewed with alarm". Certainly, points out the "Commentator", the figures represent "severe hardships for many people" and they spell increased need for response to the requests for action that have "repeatedly in recent years" been made to Government by welfare bodies.

An outstanding welfare authority, Julian Freeman, president of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds of the United States of America, will visit Montreal soon, announces the "Commentator", to be guest speaker at the 34th annual meeting of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, scheduled for noon, Monday, May 3.

This Is No April Food Gag, Postal Rates Increased

Here's what Canada's new postal rates mean to the man in the street: after April 1 he will pay four cents for local drop letters instead of three.

New postal rates as released by the Post Office Department show an increase of one cent an ounce for the first ounce on first class mail, as well as an increase of one cent an ounce for each additional ounce or fraction thereof. The new rates for the local delivery area are four cents for the first ounce, and two cents for each additional ounce.

Local delivery area is defined by the Post Office as being the city of Montreal, including the area within the confines of Laval de Montreal on the east to Beaconsfield on the west (but not including Beaconsfield West) - and - from 8000 Gouin boulevard west (Cartierville) to 7000 Gouin boulevard East (Montreal North).

It also includes the south shore area of Longueuil, Montreal South, Ville Jacques-Cartier, Ville-de-Lemoyne, St. Lambert, Greenfield Park and Mackayville, and Back River including L'Abord-à-Plouffe, Laval-des-Rapides, Pont-Viau, and St-Vincent-de-Paul.

First class letters for beyond the local delivery area will cost five cents for the first ounce or fraction, plus three cents each additional ounce or fraction thereof. This was previously four and two cents.

The foregoing rate also applies for first class mail to points in British Commonwealth, the United States, Mexico, and other countries of North and South America, as well as to France and Spain.

To all other countries the rate is six cents for the first ounce, and four cents for each additional ounce. This was previously five cents and three cents.

Postcards may be mailed to any point in Canada or abroad for four cents, as against the old rate of three cents.

Business reply cards will now cost five cents, which is a one cent increase also, while business reply envelopes will be six cents for the first ounce or fraction, plus three cents for each additional ounce. Rates were previously five and two cents.

Commercial papers to foreign countries will be six cents for the first ten ounces or less, and one cent for each additional two ounces.

The post office also announces that after April 1 all first class mail to distant points in Canada, weighing up to and including eight ounces will be carried by air-mail if possible providing if prepaid at the surface rates of five cents for the first ounce plus three cents for each additional ounce.

First class items exceeding eight ounces to points in Canada will be carried by air only when prepaid at the air mail rate of seven cents for the first ounce, plus five cents for each additional ounce or fraction.

There is no change announced for second of third class mail rates.

SILENT VANGUARD

With almost no warning, glaucoma, an eye disease that frequently causes blindness, can become firmly established without the victim being aware of the onset. In one form of this disease, the field of vision becomes narrowed, so that there is less and less ability to see from the sides of the eyes when looking straight ahead. The symptoms of the various types of glaucoma, to which people over forty are most susceptible, can be discovered by regular eye examinations and treatment can then be started in good time.

Commerce Chamber Secretary Course Dates Announced

The 8th annual session of the Canadian Institute for Board and Chamber Secretaries will be held at the University of Western Ontario, London, from June 6-12 next, general manager D. L. Morrell of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Delegates from all across Canada will participate in an intensive week's program sponsored by the Canadian Chamber and covering the theory and practice of Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce management. A panel of speakers, drawn from Chambers of Commerce and from education, business and government circles, will touch on most of the subjects Board and Chamber secretaries are concerned with from day to day, and which are going to prove of direct value to their communities.

There are close to 100 graduates of the Institute, forming a hard-hitting corps of trained secretaries and community leaders dedicated to the job of maintaining and developing our Canadian way of life.

A national secretarial conference will be held at the University of Western Ontario on June 8-9, concurrently with the Canadian Institute. This meeting is being staged under the joint auspices of the Canadian Chamber and the Chamber of Commerce Executives of Canada. The President of the latter group is Eric McGreer, Secretary of the Calgary Chamber of Commerce. At this conference, secretaries will discuss the problems of their organizations, exchange experiences and reach solutions that will benefit all those in attendance.

DRIVE COURTEOUSLY

The way to be happy, so they say, is to please others while pleasing yourself. Impossible? Not at all says the Province of Quebec Safety League. One way of putting this into practice, says the League, is to be courteous at the wheel. In this way, you won't do to the other driver what you wouldn't like done to you. You will give the road to those who are trying to pass. You will keep to your side of the road when you see another car approaching. You won't threaten the lives of others by speeding. If you are courteous at the wheel of your car, you'll do a dozen things which are a guarantee against accidents.

BOOK Review
by R. M. Young

One of the joys (and responsibilities) of collecting good books is sharing the knowledge of their existence with your friends. This is particularly true when they deal with a specific hobby or occupation. For many years books devoted exclusively to recordings were confined to admirably written but out-dated volumes. This situation has been changed by the efforts of two erudite English music and record critics — Edward Sackville-West and Desmond Shawe-Taylor. Volume three, consisting of some 400 pages, is now available. Collins of Toronto is the Canadian publisher.

The successful sale of The Record Guide and The Record Year has encouraged the authors to bring out this further supplement — The Record Year 2. It covers the bulk of the recordings issued in England from mid-1952 to mid-1953, with special emphasis on long-playing issues. Critical comments are included regarding each new record and they are rated. L.P.'s mentioned in the two preceding books are listed but only rated. While this new book stands on its own as a separate source of reference, it is full of little teasers of information from their previous works. To the authors goes a special bow for their ingenuity in persuading the readers of The Record Year 2 that they should invest in the other two volumes.

Many of the comments are gems of information and quiet wit. There are passages when it is apparent that the authors are somewhat frustrated in their search for the perfect rendition or interpretation. However, it is to their credit that they continue to keep their goals high and their appetite for new material alive. Their criticisms will no doubt be challenged here and there by other reviewers, but on the average they are as objective as can be expected from a dual standpoint.

The book uses the record numbers given to L.P.'s by their various English pressing companies.

Teen-Agers Night Life Is Revealed

A probe by a Red Feather agency into the "night-life" of junior Montrealers has revealed that:

Fifty per cent of teen-age boys are not at home even one night a week.

Eighty-five per cent of male teen-agers stay home only one or no nights each week.

Girls in their teens stay home "slightly more" than boys of the same age.

The figures are from a talk Friday by Miss Patricia Morrison, programme director of University Settlement, named for the role McGill students have played in its formation. She was addressing a come-and-see visit of the board of directors of Welfare Federation of Montreal. The Settlement is one of the Federation's 26 Red Feather agencies.

Miss Morrison said the survey covered a cross-section of a geographical segment representing middle and lower-class homes, including a percentage of homes of professional, especially teaching people. Other facts she presented: The Settlement's children's, boys', girls' and adults' clubs keep it humming from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day except Sunday. Its lending library of more than 1,000 books has only lost 20 books through non-return in three years of operation. Most of the teen-agers go in gangs (which the Settlement tries to form into guided clubs). The gangs form on friendship and interest lines, rather than on racial, religious or nationality lines.

Theodore Meighen Re-elected Head Of Family Welfare

Theodore Meighen, Q.C., was re-elected president Thursday of the Montreal Family Welfare Association, oldest organization of its kind in Canada.

The president's report, under the heading "unsolved problems", sympathized with the frustration of the staff when they meet the "day by day problems created by unemployment, lack of low rental housing and lack of care of the chronically ill." Mr. Meighen's report thanked the Province of Quebec Public Charities Act and for its annual grant of $10,000, "without which a drastic curtailment of our work would have been necessary".

But, reported the president, "it is the hope of your directors that our public-spirited citizens will urge the various levels of government the urgent necessity for remedial measures".

He paid tribute to the work of Mrs. J. G. Shannon, retiring after five years of service to the Association, much of it as a busy volunteer keeping regular work hours; also to Mrs. R. N. McLeod, Mrs. Chipman H. Drury, Miss Ester Kerry, and Mrs. M. R. Elder, as well as to other volunteers "too numerous to mention who so faithfully contributed to the work of the Christmas Gifts

By consulting the monthly Schwann L.P. catalogue it is a simple matter to determine the corresponding Canadian numbers. Their penetrating comments will steer the collector down the confusing path of recorded abundance. The price of the book is less than that of a poorly chosen first run L.P. Your reviewer hopes that the response to The Record Year 2 will persuade both the authors and Collins to continue their yearly explorations. — R. M. Young.

and the Clothing Committees, or who helped with clerical work."

In a reference of praise to the McGill University School of Social Work, Mr. Meighen said that Family Welfare Association was "the first social agency in Montreal to give field work training opportunities to the School" and he expressed the hope that "increased grants to the universities will make possible the re-opening of a family student unit in the year 1954". Only trained personnel can render the quality of service that welfare "clients" should receive, the president pointed out.

Other officers and members of the board for 1954 include: H. Larratt Smith, Q.C., honorary solicitor; Miss Ester W. Kerry; Herbert A. Cresswell; Lt. Col. W. W. Ogilvie; vice-presidents; and Rev. E. F. M. Dann; Mrs. J. Campbell

Dickkison; Mrs. M. R. Elder; Mrs. R. N. McLeod; Mrs. R. H. Robinson; Mrs. G. A. Wootton; Mrs. W. H. S. Dunn; W. Pierce Gould, Jr.; Andrew Pitcairn; F. G. Rutley; Eric Tutching; Mrs. A. Stuart Cockfield; Mrs. J. A. Fuller; F. W. Gross; Mrs. Louis Drummond and Lt. Col. Eric Motzfeldt.

FLIGHT TESTS

Flight tests are about to begin with one of Britain's latest turboprop engines, the Armstrong Siddeley Mamba 6. Two of these units are being installed in the company's famous Mamba Dakota. The "monkey gland" treatment of the compact gas-turbines steps up the old DC-3's performance at all operating ranges, and with a far more economical performance than was possible with the normal piston-engine.

Squeeze On Montreal

Island Residents to Pay Most of
New Quebec Income Tax

Federal cabinet ministers derive a certain satisfaction, not devoid of malice, from Premier Maurice Duplessis' new Quebec income tax which runs as high as 12 percent of federal income tax. They are particularly amused at the hopefully indignant editorials, in newspapers friendly to Duplessis, saying it's up to Ottawa to make the whole 12 percent deductible from the federal levy.

Far from planning any such change Ottawa politicians are rather enjoying the discomfiture of those Montreal millionaires who have been Duplessis' financial backers. This Quebec tax is just what Ottawa has been predicting for years and Liberals are not stinting themselves in the luxury of saying "I told you so."

By staying out of the dominion provincial tax agreements which all other provinces have signed, Premier Duplessis in the name of "autonomy" has been denying Quebec an amount which now runs around twenty millions a year. That's not counting the two millions which, in the name of "autonomy", he refuses to let Quebec universities accept from Ottawa. These two figures roughly equal what Duplessis hopes to get from his new provincial income tax.

Ottawa's amusement is hardly diminished by the political skill Duplessis showed in devising the tax. Very few Duplessis voters will have to pay it. Duplessis' electoral strength is in the rural ridings and only about 400 Quebec farmers pay federal income tax. By raising the exemption to $3,000 for married men, fifty percent higher than the federal level, Duplessis has probably contrived to exempt most of that 400.

Of the 300,000 Quebecers who will pay two income taxes henceforth, the vast majority live in Montreal — where Duplessis captured only three out of 14 seats at the last election, and those by narrow margins. — Blair Frazer in MacLean's.

A Study In Isaiah — IV

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor

(Rector of Trinity Memorial Church)

Isaiah went up to the Temple in a state of expectancy — he waited upon the Lord. And the event, as happens with God, was far beyond his expectation — he "saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple." Isaiah emphasizes the indescribable majesty in that last phrase, "the skirts of his robe filled the temple," just as St. John the Divine emphasizes spiritual majesty in material terms in the Book of Revelation. Yet in a sense the language in both cases is of a supreme simplicity. It can be understood by a ten year old child as well as by a philosopher. What Isaiah saw was the fundamental Reality of the Godhead. But because "no man hath seen God at any time; the only-begotten Son which is in the bosom of the Father, He hath declared Him." John 1-18) St. John tells us that "these things said Isaiah when he saw His glory and spoke of Him." (John 12-41). We need to take that reminder from the Beloved Disciple who possibly came nearer than any one else to the mind of our Lord.

Isaiah then saw into Reality, the fundamental fact that back of all our expectancy, there is the Person to whom all our worship is directed. God actually is. Isaiah is not the only person who has had such an experience of Reality. Any one may have a glimpse of it, and some have had more than a glimpse. It may come in worship, say, when one is completely absorbed in the service of the Holy Communion, or in a quiet service of Morning Prayer in the Church of St. John the Baptist in the Wilderness. Peter had an awareness of his closeness to Reality when he experienced the miraculous draught of fishes on the Sea of Galilee, and his reaction was very similar to Isaiah's first response. Saul of Tarsus had a different experience and a more drastic one. Saul was the persecutor; he had rejected the Christ; there may have been a sub-conscious working in him, but there had been no conscious acceptance of the truth and Reality dealt hardly with him; he was struck blind and remained so for three days until the Christ accepted his penitence and sent relief and acceptance to him.

Perhaps it was something similar that happened to Abraham, when he was told to make that strange sacrifice of his; and "an horror of great darkness fell upon him." (Gen. 15-12); and Abraham learned that God is not to be approached lightly but in that sense of deep awe which is the very beginning of true religion.

Most of us will never have such glimpses, but we can still accept the word of the prophet or the mystic for it. We can accept it because we have the evidence of the transformation which it has wrought in the lives of men. And if we have not that direct vision or even the glimpse, we have something else in which all can share, the revelation of God made known to us in His Holy Word. There is reality; there is the very Word of God Himself. There we hear Him speaking through priest and prophet, psalmist and wise men; there RCA Victor: With the long-awaited movie of 'The Glenn Miller Story' finally here at Loew's Theatre, interest centres around the revival of Glenn's music on discs. Of the many good records available, one of the most sought-after will be the RCA release Glenn Miller Plays Selections From The Film 'The Glenn Miller Story'. Here are original Miller transcriptions accumulated on one LP disc, all nostalgic tunes we immediately associate with the great band leader. Play "Moonlight Serenade", 'In The Mood' or 'String Of Pearls', and if you were ever a Miller fan, you'll feel a lump around the old vocal chords. There's also the familiar G.M. sound in 'Tuxedo Junction', 'Little Brown Jug', 'American Patrol', 'St. Louis Blues' and 'Pennsylvania Six-five Thousand'. Recommended. Versatile Eartha Kitt tries her sultry pipes successfully on a breezy calypso lamenting soulfully that Somebody Bad Stole De Wedding Bell (Who's Got The Ding Dong). Good rhythm to this one. Lovin' Spree on the reverse is average material for Miss Kitt, the chief interest being Henri Rene's bright orchestral backing.

Decca: Some good wax from this label this week... Acquaviva's orchestra gives a concert vignette of New York In A Nutshell covering both the raucous and languid moods of the big town. Flip is a dreamy string-filled Am I In Love... Also featuring strings is Van Linn's orchestra, a European band in the repetitive Fiddles And Bows sort of a streamlined 'Fiddle Fiddle', backed by Polka For Strings which is more of the same... Norman Brooks brings romance up to date describing his 3-D Sweetie and a brief bit of sweetness about a Candy Moon. Run-of-the-mill tunes but the Montreal boy injects enough vim into both to make them listenable... One of the better thrushes in the wax biz is Jeri

Southern who scores in a dash of blues That Ole Devil Called Love flipped by a dreamy Autumn In My Heart. Camarata features some excellent saxwork with Jeri.

Classical
Brahms. Concerto No. 2 in B Flat Major for Piano and Orchestra, Op. 83. Wilhelm Backhaus (piano) with The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Carl Schuricht. (London). Johannes Brahms larger works have always been compared with those of the great Beethoven, and certainly there is much in this concerto to warrant the comparison. It is music in the grand manner, full and sweeping in the impressive classic style of the great master. In four movements instead of the customary three, there is a balance between soloist and orchestra beautifully maintained throughout the complete work. The third movement, andante, is more in the romantic style and presents a lovely counterplay between solo cello and the piano. The fourth movement is gay in character, an appropriate finale to the composition. The two veterans, the conductor aged 73 and the soloist who has just reached his 70th milestone, collaborate to produce one of the finest performances of this exhausting concerto, certainly deserving of a place in all collections of this musical form.

Storybook Romance Of Mamie Eisenhower
Second Lieutenant Ike Eisenhower badly underestimated the popularity of Mamie when he tried to make his first date with her on two hours' notice. Mamie gently but firmly put the eager young shavetail—the future President of the United States—in his place. Alden Hatch, a friend of the Eisenhowers, reports the launching of Ike's first important campaign—the courtship—in the first full-length biography of Mamie Eisenhower ever to be published. Entitled "RED CARPET FOR MAMIE", the first of four installments appears today in the April Ladies' Home Journal. Though Mamie won the first encounter, she capitulated in her victory. One of the most popular girls in the army post town of San Antonio, where she was wintering with her well-to-do family, Mamie's reaction, was, "Does he really think he can date me on two hours' notice? "Latin Lovers" At The Monkland

With Lovely Lana Turner
Commencing This Saturday

Lana Turner opens this weekend at the Monkland United Theatre in "Latin Lovers" in Color by Technicolor, which unfolds a torrid romance, studded with delightful music and dances in thrilling Latin rhythm.

The story which abounds in laughs and a romance that it is a delight, is of a beautiful American girl who has more money than she knows what to do with, causing her considerable concern, as she is never sure whether the male intent is directed toward her personal charm or bank balance.

Metro's top designer, Helen Rose, has Lana as the beautiful millionaires dressed in a manner that will be a pleasure to the Park's feminine patrons.

Handsome Ricardo Montalban and John Lund are seen in support of Miss Turner.

The second half of this splendid double feature program is occupied by the action-filled story, "Island In The Sky" featuring John Wayne and a great supporting cast. This is the particular story of the pilots who fly the uncharted skies of the North.

★ Lowell Thomas Films
Forbidden Tibet

Forbidden Tibet has been photographed by Lowell Thomas, Sr., and Jr., and is to be presented at the Guild Theatre in New York some time at the end of this month. The picture is titled "Out Of This World," photographed in Color and presents scenes of the Dalai Lama, the Potala, the sacred Tibetan building which towers higher than the Woolworth building, and other views of the Himalyan country.

The Thomases, were only the seventh and eighth Americans ever allowed in the sacred city of the Lhasa, — they share the narration for the film.

The film is listed as the last record of the country, as the Thomas expedition brought the picture out of Tibet shortly before the Chinese Communists moved in.

★ No CinemaScope For
"Joan At The Stake"

Announcement comes from Rome that Roberto Rossellini, Italian director who had stated that he would shoot the Arthur Honegger opera "Joan At The Stake" in CinemaScope, has discarded the idea. CinemaScope labs were unable to give Rossellini a definite date to handle the picture.

Rossellini has filmed the story in 2-D, and has used Gevaert color process.

The lovely Ingrid Bergman is starred in the feature and Tullio Carminati plays opposite Miss Bergman.

★ New Dramatic Club

Mr. Bray has had wide experience in dramatics and has directed plays at the Church of the Ascension, Park Avenue for many years.

The first production to be presented early in May will be "One Foot In Heaven" by Hertzell Spence.

DONNA REED WHO WON AN "OSCAR" as the best supporting actress of 1953 last Thursday night, appears in this scene with Montgomery Clift in "From Here To Eternity" declared at the same time as "The Best Picture of 1953", and which is being held a second week at the Snowdon, Outremont and Strand Theatres. Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr handle the star roles.

★ Crosby At His Best

In "Little Boy Lost" At Westmount

Heart-Warming Story Playing Till Tuesday with Claude Dauphin co-starred

A warm compelling human drama is enacted in "Little Boy Lost" latest Bing Crosby starrer now at the Westmount United Theatre until Tuesday.

It is the kind of film that audiences will lose their hearts to. "Little Boy Lost" is the story of a newspaperman, Bing Crosby, and his long search for the son he has never known... the little boy who had vanished amidst the chaos of war-torn France.

While working as an American correspondent on assignment in Paris before the war, Crosby had married a beautiful French girl. At the birth of their child Bing was sent to England and they were separated. His wife remained in France and joined the underground. Not long later she was discovered and executed by the Gestapo.

As soon as world conditions permitted, Bing launched a search for his lost son, but to no avail. Years later, a friend, Claude Dauphin, gives him hope by tracking down a small clue to the boy's whereabouts.

Bing is naturally apprehensive and when he actually does come face-to-face with the boy, there is vast doubt in his mind as to the child's true identity. In proving that the youngster is really his lies the great drama and heart appeal of "Little Boy Lost."

"In Little Boy Lost", Bing Crosby reportedly takes a complete change of pace, the film gives him a warm, wonderful story to work with and surrounds him with some of the most exciting new film faces the screen has offered in a long time. Producers Periberg and Seaton went to Europe to make the greater part of the picture because the story is set in France and they wanted to get the true atmosphere and color of the locale.

Claude Dauphin, who has appeared on the Broadway stage, plays an important role in the film and the little French boy, Christian Fourcade, who portrays the title role of "Little Boy Lost", reportedly will become America's newest film sensation.

Half of this powerfully entertaining double program is occupied by "All The Brothers Were Valiant," starring Robert Taylor, Stewart Granger and Ann Blyth. This, in itself is great entertainment, it's action-filled romance of the sea from start to finish.

★ 'Oscar' Winning Donna Reed

In Year's Top Film Holds Over

"From Here To Eternity" 2nd
Week At 3 Westend Theatres

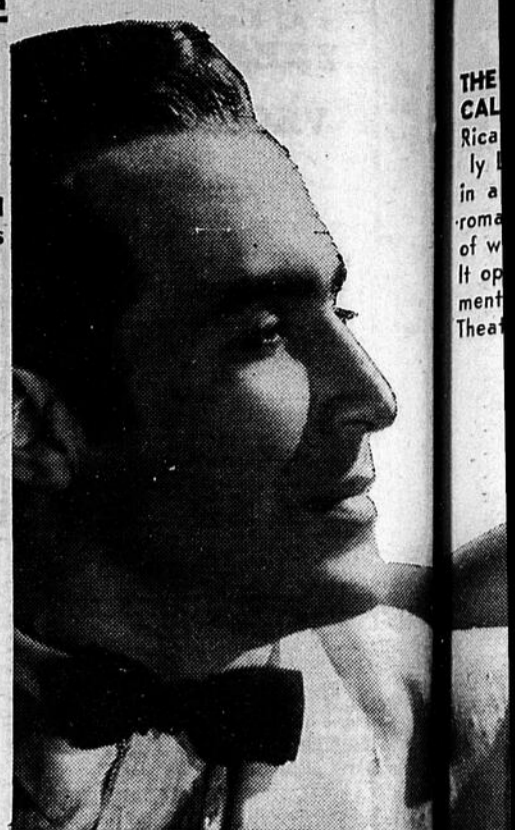

Unlike those prophets who are without honor in their own country, movie star Donna Reed is held in high regard by Columbia Pictures, her home studio. Miss Reed was given the nod by Columbia Executives for the most coveted feminine role in many years, that of Lorene... the girl who is nice to all the boys, in "From Here To Eternity", exciting filmization of James Jones' powerful best-selling novel which is being held over a Second Week at the Snowdon, Outremont and Strand Theatres.

Nothing was further from Donna's thoughts when she left the small Iowa home town of Denison than becoming a movie star. When she reached high school, she was elected Campus Queen and she got her first taste of the theatre by starring in the school presentation of "The Night Of January 16". When a year later, she left Denison and went to live with an aunt in Los Angeles, she trained for a business career in that city's municipal college and also appeared in two school plays. At this point her penchant for being elected Campus Queen was duplicated at the college. Within 24 hours, she received offers for screen tests from three different studios.

Donna Reed, upon graduating as a qualified stenographer, made a screen test with Van Heflin, himself a newcomer from Broadway stage, and was signed to a contract. She won the coveted 'Oscar' as the Year's Best supporting actress for her brilliant performance in "From Here To Eternity" which won no less than Eight (8) Academy Awards including that as "The Best Picture", Frank Sinatra, winner of an award as the year's best supporting actor, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr and Burt Lancaster are also in the cast.

"Sailor of the King" was with the co-operation of the Royal Navy... against the background of actual battles. Based on the novel "Sailor of the King" by C. S. Lewis, the modern master of sea adventures, "Sailor of the King" is a powerful story of heroism and passion. All the way to duty, the valour and tradition that has been the mainstay of the British Empire is symbolized in one youth's dedication. Jeffrey Hunter stars in the title role as the sailor who escapes his German captors to wage a cliff-top sniper's war on the enemy's ship anchored for repairs in an island lagoon. Michael Rennie and Wendy Hiller are seen as a young couple who meet in the troubled days of the First World War to share a brief romance before Rennie's call to service with the Royal Navy. Rennie is the commander of the Pacific convoy in which Hunter, his unknown son, serves during World War II.

Certificates, Pins Presented To Graduates Montreal School For Nursing Attendants

Thirty-two graduates of the Montreal School for Nursing Assistants (formerly the Montreal School for Nursing Aides) received their certificates and pins at exercises which were held through the courtesy of the Administrator Mr. Samuel Cohen and the Director of Nurses Miss Evelyn Kessler in the auditorium of the Nurses' Home of the Jewish General Hospital, on Friday, March 26, at 3 p.m.

It was a colourful ceremony as the Nursing Assistants in their attractive blue uniforms with starched veils marched to the accompaniment of music into the auditorium already filled with friends, and took their places upon the stage, and later, when called upon, went forward to receive the official recognition of the completion of their training.

The exercises, at which Mr. Samuel Cohen, President of the Board of Trustees of the School, presided, were opened with a short invocation by Rev. John L. O'Rourke, Pastor of St. Raphael's Parish, who also pronounced the benediction at the end of the exercises. The special guest speaker on this occasion was Miss Grace Gardner, Education Officer in the Protestant Central School Board of Greater Montreal, who took for the title of her address "Time on Your Hands".

The Lieutenant Governor's medal which is awarded for general proficiency was presented to Miss Yvonne Blais of the Spring Group and to Mrs. Gladys May Brace of the Fall Class by Mr. G. J. Bartel, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the school.

Music was provided by Mrs. G. W. F. Johnston.

A reception for the relatives and friends of the members of the graduating classes and for the many friends of the school from hospitals and interested organizations was held in the living room of the Nurses' Home.

Those who received pins and certificates were as follows:

Gift Shop - Snack Bar Of M. G. H. Aux. Takes On Pre-Easter Glamor In Gift Ideas

Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal General Hospital have achieved a gay spring-like look in the Gift Shop-Snack Bar on the Third Floor of the Western Division, with a wide selection of Easter items.

There are masses of artificial flowers with which to dress up your suit or coat - lilacs, lily-of-the-valley, the ever popular white carnations and little bouquets of mixed flowers - all very much the mode this spring. The handbags which have proved so successful are there in beige, tan, navy and red and there are also some in the new shopping-bag style in patent leather and in navy blue linen. You will find all the colours of the rainbow in the silk scarves - and if you get one or two be sure and buy a silver or gold scarf clip to hold them in place. And if you anticipate raindrops on Easter Sunday morning why not a new umbrella in red or green or navy?

Also new are the gaily painted television trays in a variety of colors. These clamp to a chair arm enabling you to nibble a sandwich and sip your coffee in comfort while watching your favourite programme!

The pastel painted watering cans which have proved so popular are once again in good supply. These are medium size and gardeners tell us that they do not drip as most watering cans do! Have you seen the wastepaper baskets that look like hat-boxes? Hand painted, they are quite large and could also be used to hold magazines. In the hand painted department too, are the step-ups and luggage racks, the latter doubling as emergency tea tray stands.

If your men folk like handmade socks and you haven't the time or the skill to make them, the Shop can supply your needs in either plain colours or intricate diamond patterns. And if you would like the very youngest male in your household to emulate Prince Charles, orders are taken for a small boy's suit of flannel shorts and matching shirt which are made up by a member of the former Women's Exchange. Though it may seem like rushing the season a bit, there are tiny sun-dresses for young ladies of two and three - and these can be ordered in larger sizes if you desire. In addition to the famous terry cloth bath aprons there is a wonderful assortment of kitchen aprons in gay spring prints, each with its matching pot holder!

Any mother with small children would welcome one of the crayon aprons. Each has a pocket for the crayons and a little colouring book. Another practical item is the thermos bag. Made of plastic in a woven effect, the bag holds a matching pint size thermos with room enough for sandwiches - a perfect gift for the child who has to take his lunch to school. For the children's play time there is a wide assortment of what are described as educational packages -

They're All Dressed Up In Denim Slipcovers

Most homemakers are familiar with the wonders that can be done with slipcovers but do-it yourself or have it done are two completely different matters.

The April issue of American Home has come up with four pages of ideas on making your own. One deals in the new bright-color printed denims. Have you seen them? They're no longer just blue! The other is strictly a how-to-do-it piece. Eleven step-by-step illustrated instructions from measuring to the actual cutting and sewing of the slipcover are included.

Women of India Discuss Politics Intelligently

"Women in the middle class and upper income brackets are far more politically conscious than Canadian women", says Kate Aitken who returned recently from a 27,000 mile trip around the world. "In the Government at New Delhi, for instance, there are three women cabinet ministers and twenty women members. In spite of the fact, too, that eighty per cent of Indian women are illiterate, even village women understand the political situation and many are able to discuss politics intelligently."

In fact in the past three years all over India, world-traveller Kate Aitken found a great development in women's influence in social and artistic fields as well as on the political scene. Women of the privileged classes have used their influence to build clinics for children, which they administer themselves. In the huge jute and steel factories of both India and Pakistan there are cafeterias where the noon-day meal costs 6 cents and nurseries where working mothers leave their babies in the care of native-trained nurses.

Mrs. Aitken also stated that women are responsible, to a great extent, for the tremendous resurgence taking place in ancient Indian arts such as sculpture, painting, pottery, weaving and metal

Strategic Hockey Move Has Astounding Result For Royal Pharmacy

By CLIFF FARNWORTH

Dick Irvin of the Montreal Canadiens tried it twice recently and failed. King Clancy of the Toronto Maple Leafs gambled with it Saturday against Detroit and it backfired. Chances of success are not great, but there is always the possibility of success.

With this in mind, Pat Patterson of Royal Pharmacy yanked his goal-tender in favor of six attackers, with MacRae Electric leading the game 2-1 and the final series 1-0. One game in the best of three final was tied.

The results were astounding. These were the facts: Westmount MacRae Electric were leading the best of three final series for the Dr. Rondeau Trophy 1-0 with the first game tied. This meant that even if the game was tied Westmount would win the series.

Down One Goal

With his team down 2-1 and only a minute left in the game, coach Pat Patterson of N.D.G.'s Royal Pharmacy had to gamble and win the game—a tie just would not do.

So out came Val Chartier from the druggists goal with the face-off in Westmount territory and just over a minute left in the game. With 51 seconds left, big Dick Goulet found the range on a solo effort to tie the count at 2-2. With the Druggists still behind the eight-ball Don Bussiere blinked the light again and moved the Pharmacist out in front with only 22 seconds left in the game.

Now the final series of the St. Laurent Intermediate hockey league takes on a sudden-death affair with both teams having won a game. The St. Laurent Arena will once more be the scene this Saturday afternoon and at the rate this series is going anything can and possibly will happen. The starting time is set for 2 p.m.

Bonnier Counts

Guy Bonnier gave MacRae Electric a one goal edge in the opening period of last week's game but Costigan combined with Bussiere to knot the count early in the second canto. However Al Turner put the Electricians back into the lead on passes from Simmons and Selby. The score remained at 2-1 for the rest of play except for the last minute of the game when the Druggists caught fire.

The glory of the Pharmacists' win was packed into the final minute of the game to postpone any victory celebrations that the Westmount team might have planned. This week will produce the climax.

Regents Beat Laurels

Once again the N.D.G. Regents meet the St. Laurent Laurels after the play-off fixture. Last week the Regents paced by Johnny Foy with two goals downed the Laurels 4-2.

Town Of Mount Royal Jolts Queen's Aces In Mosquito Final

Queen's Aces, Westmount mosquito champions, met Town of Mount Royal at the Forum Monday. The Aces were no match for the Townies and were swamped 8-2. The only shining lights for the Westmount squad were Keith Wright, whose numerous saves brought repeated applause from the fans, Keith Kenemy, who never stopped trying, and Morgan Turner, who notched both Aces' goals.

Local Swimmers Second

Unity Inters Squad Sketches

Just for posterity, here's a thumbnail sketch of each member of Unity Boy Club's city championship intermediate basketball aggregation:

Jack McKissock: Captain of the club and oldest member of the team, McKissock is a convert from the hockey wars. In his high school days he was a standout number of Westmount High sextets and also played Junior hockey for the Verdun Maple Leafs. McCooze is also well known for his prowess on the fastball diamond, being a perennial choice on Snowdon Major Fastball League all star teams. He started playing senior ball when only 15. Jack's a forward, is one of the club's most consistent point-getting and keenest competitors.

Dave Barnard: A Southpaw forward, Dave has done more than his share of point-getting this season. He's a Westmount High product and, like McKissock, gets his summer exercise by chasing files in the Snowdon Fastball League, in which august society he has performed for Robitaille Motors, Steinberg's and Columbus.

George Cochrane: A centreman who soars six feet three into the ozone, Cochrane lends a touch of the academic to the club. He's assistant principal of Van Horne School and also lectures at Sir George Williams College. A four-time captain of Westmount High basketball club, George went on from there to play for Macdonald College.

Hugh Sutherland: A full-fledged basketball referee, Hughie is able to settle all disputes over rule interpretations for the Unity ladies. He's a forward, fast and shifty on his feet and possessor of a wide assortment of unorthodox shoots. Hugh catches for Steinberg's Snowdon Fastball League club in the summer.

Johnny Reddon: First string guard for Unity and one of the best in Montreal intermediate ranks this season, Reddon goes well both ways. A good rebound grabber and ballhandler, handsome John is the possessor of a deadly accurate one-hand set shot which has been the scourge of the opposition all season. He plays ball for Dow intermediates in the summer.

Teddy Rice: A standout guard, Teddy earned all star rating at the provincial tournament reeled off at Shawinigan Falls. A product of West Hill High School, Teddy played for Joey Richman's Rosemount Juveniles of a few seasons ago. He played some scintillating football for Solly Mastro's NDG Junior Maple Leafs.

Grant Paterson: Known as "Oscar" to his mates, Grant added a lot of scoring punch to the club this season. A centre, he is also a product of West Hill and Rosemount Juveniles and like his bosom pal, Mr. Rice, is a member of the NDG Maple Leaf football club.

Mike Barnard: A tall guard who's mighty adept at plucking rebounds off of backboards, Michel has proved to be a useful member of the Unity cast all season. He plays softball in the summer in the NDG intermediate league.

Dick Hubbard: Used in a utility role, Dick always gave his best and his easily audible vocal encouragement and constant stream of witticism proved a valuable tonic to the squad.

Unity Midgets Beaten 40-37

Rosemount's powerful midget basketball team carry a one game lead into battle Tuesday against Unity Boys Club, in the best of three series for the Montreal Boys Basketball League title.

The UBC squad were edged 40-37 Friday on their home court by the eastern section champions. John McDonough turned in a fine game for Unity, scoring 16 points.

The juvenile cagers play host to Point St. Charles tonight in the first game of a total point series. This is the semi-final series and the winner will meet Neighborhood House for the MBBL championship.

Second game is slated for Point St. Charles Tuesday.

Square Dance Saturday

The Westmount 'Y' Hoed-owners will present another of their Saturday special square dances this week. This will be the last Saturday dance until after Easter.

Unity Boys Club Play Three Tilts

Unity Boys Club basketballers, apparently most reluctant to hang up their natty (there's a giggle) hoopla suits for the year, are keeping themselves in some semblance of shape by playing three exhibition frays this week.

On Saturday the UBC contingent will play a return game her with the National Guard outfit from Malone, N.Y. Malone won the first game of the two game series by a slim 67-66 margin, coming from behind to cop the duke in the dying moments of the game.

The Saturday set to, billed for 5 p.m., will be followed by a banquet for members of both clubs at which Mayor Roy L. Campbell of Westmount will be the guest of honor.

Play Wheelchair Wonders

Wednesday night they played host to the fabulous Wheelchair Wonders, the doughty paraplegic quintet whose ability on the cage court is little less than phenomenal.

Thursday the boys had a go against the Montreal Alouettes. This was a bruising encounter with uncle Chester McCance, the old placement kicking artist from the west, coaching the pigskin artists.

Large Douglas McNichol, the sturdy center man who led MAAA to the provincial intermediate crown, was the mainstay of the Larks' offensive thrusts.

Navy Players Aid

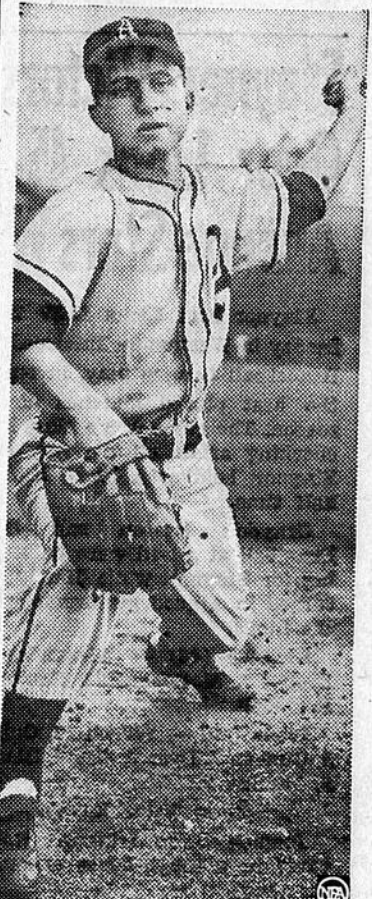

Bruce Coulter, Herb Capozzi, and Millar Galloy, of the strong Navy aggregation that gave Unity quite a battle for the city intermediate honors, were also on hand to supplement the efforts of the scintillating Mr. McNichol.

Other Alouettes who donned basketball togs for the occasion include Joey Pal, the mercury-footed backfielder; Baldy Tomlinson, the burly man from McGill and Calgary Stampeders; Juan Sheridan, the lineman; Glenn Douglass, the West Hill grad; Johnny Taylor, another of the "eager beaver" ends; and Keith English, the Loyola product.

Unity had their full roster on hand for the contest including such stalwarts as captain Jack McKissock, George Cochrane, Hugh Sutherland, Dick McGrail, Dave Barnard, Ted Rice, Grant Peterson, Johnny Reddon, Dick Hubbard and Mike Barnard. Coach George Preshe gave out with the strategy.

The three games are part of a number of special events being scheduled by the Unity Club director Maurice Mariasine this week to commemorate National Boys Club week.

throughout the contest, and took full advantage of the numerous fouls called against Royals by potting 12 free throws.

Time Runs Out Too Early — Bantams Lose

St. Leo's Westmount Municipal League Bantams went down to defeat at the hands of Town of Mount Royal under rather extenuating circumstances, in city playoff hockey.

In a game played Sunday at Lachine Arena, the Royal were ahead 3-2 going into the third period. St. Leo's had come from behind a 3-0 deficit on two unassisted goals by Johnny Farrell.

With 4½ minutes remaining in the third canto the Saints had the pressure on for the trying goal. The siren then sound signifying the end of the game. The explanation given was that Q.M.H.A. allotted time had run out.

MEET IN PROTEST

Rocky Rothwell, accompanied by Andy McGillis, met with Bill Liddell and George Marsh, Q.M.H.A. officials, who stated that 35 minutes constituted a game; this however is contrary to the Q.M.H.A. Constitution, i.e., Regulation 13, paragraph (L). — In all city playoff games, regular periods shall be of 15 minutes duration. First and second period with no time out. Third period, time out shall be taken in the last 5 minutes.

The officials remained adamant. St. Leo's lost the game and Town of Mount Royal carried on in the playdowns.
