Caracas, Venezuela, Jan. 13.—(P)—Police with drawn pistols patrolled the streets of Caracas after the first anti-government political demonstration since the present military regime seized control Nov. 24. The demonstration, organized by university students yesterday, set off a street riot which was dispersed by police using tear gas.

Shanghai, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—Some 3,000 people lost their homes in a fire yesterday which gutted a northern district of the city.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—(P)—Republican leaders called on minority Democrats in the New York State legislature today to back Governor Dewey's drive for a $400,000,000 St. Lawrence River power project. They said if the Democratic party was "sincere in supporting its publicly announced program," it would "join with the Republican majority in memorializing the President of the United States to withdraw his opposition to the project."

Fredericton, Jan. 13.—(P)—Police today were holding three men, all negroes, for questioning in the slaying of 34-year-old cabbie Norman P. Burgoine whose blood-spattered body was found Monday jammed into the trunk of his taxi. His head had been beaten in.

Reds Lay Down China Peace Terms; Mediation Studied

By SPENCER MOOSA

Peiping, Jan. 13.—(P)—Chinese Communists have laid down peace conditions for the beginning of national peace talks, a source here said today.

He listed them as:
1. Removal of Chiang Kai-Shek and vice-president Li Tsung-Jen from office.

2. Scrapping of the Chinese constitution.

3. A mutual cease-fire order with both sides holding their present positions.

4. Examination and punishment of "war criminals." Chiang heads the Communist's list.

5. Establishment of a coalition government with a five-three-four ratio—five Communist members, three Kuomintang and four representing all other Chinese political parties.

The Communists, according to this source, apparently did not specify whether the Kuomintang referred to was the present party or the "Kuomintang revolutionaries" as the Reds classify Marshal Li Sen and other Kuomintang dissidents. This naturally would be an important point for Nanking.

This same source predicted Chiang would issue another statement in which he would resign the presidency and go to Formosa. He said this statement might be issued tomorrow.

N.Y. Harbor Strike Talks Broken Off

New York, Jan. 13.—(P)—Negotiations seeking to avert a crippling harbor strike were broken off today by an A.F.L. union after it had extended its walkout deadline until midnight tonight.

Joseph E. O'Grady, director of the city's labor relations division, said the union, representing 3,500 harbor-craft crew members, declared "negotiations terminated" in order to comply with a Taft-Hartley law provision that no strike can start during negotiations.

Postponement of the deadline came within half an hour after Mayor William O'Dwyer told employer representatives that the city would go into the fuel business to avert a crisis if a strike was called because of their refusal to meet overtime pay demands.

O'Dwyer, who had led all-night negotiations at city hall, said when the sessions ended that he hoped his special conciliation committee would be able to get both sides together again later today.

Postponement of the strike deadline, which had been set for last midnight, was announced at 5:45 a.m. Negotiations by representatives of the tugboat and oil-barge crew members and the marine towing and transportation employers association continued for a time.

After 13 hours of negotiation sessions, the employers committee requested the union to extend the strike deadline to midnight tomorrow. The employers said they wanted the additional time to consider demands for a basic overtime clause in a new contract.

O'Grady said the union rejected the request for more time.

At the time the deadline postponement was announced, overtime pay was the only issue reported in dispute. Operators of the larger harbor fleets were reported leading opposition to meeting union demands on this issue.

The mayor did not specify how the city would enter the fuel business.

A strike by the harbor craft workers could cripple ocean and coastal shipping in the world's greatest port, and choke off many of the metropolitan area's vital food and fuel supplies.

A tugboat strike in 1946 hit the area with as smashing an impact as any walkout in its history.

The harbor workers, members of Local 333 of the United Marine Division of the International Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.), have been seeking a 25-per-cent pay increase and other benefits. Present basic pay ranges from 96 cents to $1.49 an hour.

The employers were reported early today to have made an offer substantially above the last one they had termed their final offer.

Conservative Spokesman Terms Bevin's Handling of Middle Eastern Affairs Confused—Says There Should Be Firm Policy.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

London, Jan. 13.—(P)—Conservative spokesman Anthony Eden expressing fear of a British-American break over Palestine, terms Foreign Secretary Bevin's handling of Middle Eastern affairs confused.

Eden declared in a political talk at Warwick last night that the Labor Government and the United States State Department must share the blame "for failure either to declare a firm policy or take a firm line."

Eden said the destruction of five British planes by Israeli forces during a battle between Jews and Arabs on the Palestine-Egyptian border last Friday was "an unwarranted and aggressive act."

But he added: "Why were our aircraft sent to carry out a reconnaissance over battle areas in such conditions?"

"What useful British purpose could the flight be held to serve?" Those were a sample of the questions expected to be asked Bevin by both Conservative and Labor critics when Parliament resumes sessions Tuesday.

A Labor M.P., W. N. Warbey, told a Jewish Socialist party gathering in London last night that the British-Israel tension grew out of "the great irresponsibility of British authorities in sending military aircraft into the battle area."

Another view was emphasized in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, an independent Imperialist newspaper. It said Britain must give "everybody notice she is not a lodger, but one of the landlords" in the Middle East.

Aside from defence, a primary British interest is access to Middle Eastern oil. This asset was emphasized in the prediction of Egyptian government officials in Cairo yesterday that the Sinai desert area east of the Suez Canal will become one of the richest oil-producing regions in the world.

The Negev desert of Palestine, focal point of recent Israeli-Egyptian fighting, juts down like an arrowhead toward the Red Sea between Egypt's Sinai desert and Trans-Jordan, where the United Nations partition plan assigned to the Jews, is believed to have oil possibilities.

Just off the tip of the Negev arrowhead, British troops are re-furbishing old camps, digging trenches and consolidating their positions in the Trans-Jordan port of Amman. Trans-Jordan, like Egypt an Arab foe of Israel, called for the troops under terms of her mutual aid treaty with Britain.

Israel protested to the United Nations against this and other British activity. The U.N. Security Council has side-stepped a direct showdown.

"I do not think we will initiate any incursions or start hostilities," a senior British official said, "but we will not allow anybody to approach Agaba or attack our forces."

Armistice talks between Israel and Egypt, meanwhile, are under way at Rhodes under the direction of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U.N. mediator for Palestine.

Amman, Trans-Jordan, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—A defence ministry official denied today a Cairo report that British forces had taken over Trans-Jordan Arab Legion and full control of Trans-Jordan communications.

He also denied that Amman streets were full of British soldiers.

Cairo, Jan. 13.—(P)—One or two persons were killed and at least 15 were injured by the explosion of a bomb in a Cairo square today.

A cigarette seller was killed in the blast. A report circulated that a policeman also was fatally injured, but the report lacked confirmation.

Fifteen persons were treated in hospital in the Kasr el Aini district. Hospital attendants said five of these were wounded seriously.

Police announced at least 10 of the injured were policemen.

Nicolet Candidate Named By P.C.'s

Nicolet, Que., Jan. 13.—(P)—Renaud Chapdelaine, 37-year-old Nicolet lawyer, yesterday was chosen by a party convention as Progressive Conservative candidate in the February 7th Nicolet-Yamaska by-election.

Mr. Chapdelaine's nomination indicates a three-cornered fight in the by-election which is being held to fill the seat left vacant last year by the death of Lucien Dubois, Liberal.

The official Liberal candidate, nominated last month, is Paul A. Trahan, 40, also a Nicolet lawyer. Romulus Manseau, Nicolet county warmer, announced a week ago that he would run as Independent Liberal.

Co-Operation Is Urged By George Drew

Winnipeg, Jan. 13.—(P)—A system of co-operation between Federal and Provincial governments was urged by George Drew in opening his first tour of western Canada, since assuming the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

He told a public meeting here last night, attended by a capacity audience of 5,000, that the "strength of this country depends on the extent to which we pool our resources for the welfare of all the people."

Regular Dominion - Provincial meetings were advocated, as were adequate taxing powers for provinces. At the same time Mr. Drew denied that he had been instrumental in "scuttling" the 1945 "Dominion - Provincial conference on health and public welfare, saying that on the contrary Ontario had been a strong supporter of the conference."

Mr. Drew said that on his current tour, which is taking him to Regina, Calgary and Vancouver, he did not propose to discuss policy matters. They would come up in Parliament after its opening later this month.

He criticized the Liberal administration, however, for the one hand expressing concern over high prices and on the other hand levying $600,000,000 or more in "unnecessary taxes" this year.

Toronto, Jan. 13.—(P)—Western Europe is recovering although the degree of economic and political recovery varies greatly among different countries, says Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto-Eglinton, just back from a two-months visit to Europe.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Empire Club today Mr. Fleming said that British, American and French officials whom he questioned in Berlin had no firm opinion on the question whether the "cold war" in Berlin would develop into a shooting war.

"My own conclusion is that there will be no war at present. The Russian people certainly would not want war. For the present, the Communists in keeping with their scheme of world revolution plan to do everything in their power to weaken the western nations."

"In no way can we do so much to prevent war as by strengthening, ourselves militarily and economically."

"The Berlin airlift is probably more responsible than anything else for the stiffening of the morale of the German people in their resistance to Communism."

Vancouver, Jan. 13.—(P)—A doctor's order today barred the way for reporters attempting to reach Ernest Conduit for a first-hand account of how he found himself caught in a plot involving counterfeit-felting and kidnapping.

Dr. F. A. Olacke said last night that the 66-year-old engraver, who told police a story of how he was chained in a house for five days at the mercy of hooded counterfeiters, is a "mental wreck." He said that newspaper men would not be permitted to question Conduit.

The physician said Conduit had suffered intense shock, that it was an experience that might drive from his mind many of the things that had happened. He said it was possible Conduit might even be unable to identify the one unmasked man he had seen.

The physician said an additional strain had been imposed on Conduit by the three interrogations he

Shortage Of Steel Raises Big Problem

By DOUGLAS HOW

Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, Jan. 13.—(P)—In one important and possibly prophetic sentence, the Cabinet underlined this week one of the central problems of a period which will shortly bind Canada to a North Atlantic security pact.

At Saint Ste. Marie, Ont., Tuesday, Defence Minister Claxton termed the St. Lawrence sawway an immediate necessity for purposes of defence. In another sentence, he said that far less attention, he said too:

"At a time of very high production and employment, such as we have today, any considerable production of war materials can only be made by diversion of steel from civilian to military uses."

He called steel "the most important single factor controlling industrial output for war or peace."

His words came at a time when Canada has been after something like a marriage of Canadian and U.S. war production and when the problem of arming western Europe raises the possibility that Canadian arms factories will help do the job. They also hit at a time when there already is a serious shortage of steel, when civilian industry is clamoring for more despite record production.

The government has already made it clear it plans production of combat aircraft and ships, with a start this year.

Informed opinion here sees three courses, all of which might be taken if an arms program of any large size develops in the next two years:

1. Diversion of steel from civilian requirements, hitting a wide range of things from washing machines to capital equipment.

2. To ask the U.S. for more steel on the theory that Canada's arms production would be in the American interest.

3. Enlarged domestic production with federal help for private firms. It would take an estimated two years to bring new furnaces up to production stage.

Within a month, the industry is expected to lay its proposals for more output before the government. It will then remain to be decided what the next step should be.

Hermit Says He Likes To "Hibernate"

Kirkland Lake, Ont., Jan. 13.—(P)—His home may be a rude lean-to tent, and his diet restricted to oatmeal and potatoes, but the hermit of Savard Township likes it.

Percy Leggett, 57, and white-bearded, suddenly became centre of attention yesterday after the Montreal police department said they had word of his spartan existence and had communicated with relatives in Montreal.

Leggett, interviewed while trotting along the highway pulling a little sleigh, said he has no intention of going back to civilization. He's going to stay on his 80-acre lot near Charlton because there is no one else close to the soil.

"I don't want to go back to civilization because the world is going to be destroyed on account of the way people are living," he said. He said he has written to his mother and sister in Montreal at various times, and they are not particularly concerned about his mode of life. He also has a brother in Lachute, Que.

His "own place" just now is a tiny lean-to, with a small stove, but he's building a log cabin. His main ambition is to get it finished.

"I don't mind living in this lean-to and my health is good, but I want to be independent in a house of my own. I'm building it single-handed."

Leggett is a familiar figure along the highway, where he has refused offers of a lift by hundreds of motorists. He also refuses offers of meat from neighboring farmers.

Spotted in the cold last evening, he was clad only in overalls, cap and rubbers. "I don't believe in

What has not been made known, Mrs. Elliott's physician said last night, was that her persistence to "do her duty" by attending spy trials and giving evidence whenever she was called upon had a detrimental effect on her worsening health condition.

Gouzenko himself acknowledged the part Mrs. Elliott played by devoting three pages of his book "This Was My Choice" to the episode in which he and his family were given shelter in the Elliott apartment across from his own.

$100,000 Loss In Halifax Fire

Halifax, Jan. 13.—(P)—Guard ropes today enclosed the fire-scared front of the Canada Permanent Trust and Mortgage Corporation building, gutted by an early-morning $100,000 blaze that raged out of control for two hours. The building stands at Halifax's main intersection, Barrington and Sackville streets.

How the fire started was not immediately known but it was believed to have had its origin in the basement of the building.

Although no one was injured, fire chief Fred MacGillivray said: "We dragged several firemen out by the feet." They had been temporarily overcome by dense clouds of black smoke that periodically obscured the three-storey brick structure from view.

Crews today were clearing ice and slush from Barrington street tram tracks. Stores on either side of the ruined building were open for business although they suffered light smoke damage.

An official of the Cleland-Kent engraving plant for which Conduit worked said that Conduit actually had served as a "plant" in an investigation of a newspaper ad seeking the services of an engraver. Since the Engravers' Union was in the habit of handling employment matters, it was decided to look into the ad.

Poison Rain And Dust Are A-Bomb Threat

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of three stories on the effects of atomic bombing.)

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
New York, Jan. 13.—(P)—Poison rain and dust: Both are added risks where an atomic bomb explodes.

You may live in a city town or countryside untouched by the concussion, fire or deadly radioactive rays in the explosion.

But if the wind is blowing in your direction, rain, dust, or both may drive you from your home or section. This evacuation probably will be temporary. It may last a few days or weeks.

How long depends on methods of cleaning which have not been perfected.

Atomic bombs do not cause rain. But where they explode in stormy weather, rain brings down the dangerous atoms. Where they explode close to earth, they such a pillar of dust high into the air. Much of this dust is radioactive.

Most of the dust and atomic smoke of the first atomic bomb exploded at New Mexico floated safely away miles in the air. Months later some grain straw, growing in two different watersheds near the mid-west United States border, became radioactive. This straw was used to make packing board for Eastman Kodak films. The radioactivity in the straw fogged the film.

The incident raised a question about domestic plants where the poison rains and dusts may be heavier. This question is unanswered.

Where a bomb explodes on the earth, or close to it, the immediate vicinity is likely to remain uninhabitable for years.

The New Mexico bomb exploded about 100 feet above the desert. It pushed the earth down in a shallow saucer, about a quarter of a mile wide. This saucer is still uninhabitable, because the earth there is radioactive.

There still are risks from buried atoms seeping up, or growing up in grass, or coming out with the earth worms. These are considered by some atomic warriers as more serious than the damage done by atomic explosions.

There are now no answers to these fears. They can be true. There undoubtedly will be means of protection. But getting away from there will be one of the best.

Britain's Gold Reserves Mount

London, Jan. 13.—(Reuters)—Britain's gold and dollar reserves increased by $20,000,000 ($80,000,000) during the last quarter of 1948, after having fallen from $552,000,000 at the end of March to $437,000,000 at the end of last month.

In the last quarter of 1948 the net gold and dollar deficit of the sterling area, before allowing for receipts of United States European aid, was $93,000,000 against $76,000,000 in the third, $107,000,000 in the second and $147,000,000 in the first quarter.

Of the deficit, $5,000,000 was covered by India's drawings on the International Monetary Fund—paid into control reserves held in London—leaving $87,000,000 to be met from the reserves or

French Speaking Teachers In Montreal Vote To Strike

Montreal, Jan. 13.—(P)—The long-drawn wage dispute between Montreal's Catholic School Commission and its French-speaking teachers is at the show-down stage today after a strike-move taken by the teachers last night affecting 100,000 students.

In a secret ballot, members of L'Alliance des Professeurs Catholiques voted not to report for work next Monday in a last-ditch effort to enforce demands for pay raises of $5,500 a year for men and $2,500 for women. Minimum salaries asked are $1,700 for men and $1,500 for women.

The move followed approval of strike action taken at a meeting Dec. 22, result of which was not made public until last night. Premier Duplessis of Quebec on Dec. 23 termed the strike vote "illegal, irresponsible," and "exceedingly unfortunate and regrettable."

Last night's secret ballot was cast on three proposals: (1) not to report for work next Monday; (2) not to go on strike at all; and (3) to wait until a draft bill prepared by the commission for the Quebec Legislature was examined by the union executive.

The vote result showed 314 in favor of striking Monday; 19 not in favor of strike action and 237 willing to wait until the commission's bill has been studied.

The English-speaking counterpart of L'Alliance, the Federation of English-Speaking Teachers Inc., has deferred decision on strike action until next month. However, 235 of its members also are members of the French-speaking union and presumably will be affected by the strike.

An earlier mention of a possible strike vote last November brought President Leo Guindon of L'Alliance a stern rebuke from Premier Duplessis. He said then that talk of dissension by the teachers might imperil their pension plan which is partly subsidized by the provincial government.

At that time L'Alliance had set Nov. 15 as the deadline for a strike vote if their salary demands were not met. They had refused an offer of top salaries of $3,100 for men and $2,000 for women after a Quebec Municipal Commission quashed an earlier arbitration board decision awarding them salaries of $3,200 and $2,100.

Guindon led a delegation of teachers to Quebec Nov. 19 when Premier Duplessis told them the government would "try to better the situation as soon as possible." He also mentioned the Montreal School Commission's proposed legislative bill relating to its finances.

It was after this meeting with Premier Duplessis that the teachers decided to take a vote on the principle of whether or not they should strike. Of 1,282 members who voted Dec. 22, 896, or 72 per cent, declared themselves in favor of striking.

L'Alliance, which has a membership of almost 2,000, is affiliated to

Responsibilities Of Committees Are Outlined At Meeting Of Kiwanis Club

Reports from the chairmen of various committees highlighted the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last evening.

"Everyone should go to church regularly," Rev. John Comfort, chairman of the church committee, told the members. He told of how some only attended church during the Yuletide season and at Easter. Mr. Comfort also pointed out that some church-goers are reluctant to give ten cents a week into the collection but think nothing of paying $8 or more for a bottle of liquor.

Charles McLaughlin gave a report on discipline while Charles Kench urged the members to get new recruits. Fred C. Clark discussed business matters.

Newman Hunter, president of the club, gave a report on the community auction and white elephant sale sponsored by the club and to be held at the Belvedere street armory on Feb. 25 and 26. Ray Demers, who was a guest last evening, will act as auctioneer.

All profits from the sale will be used for youth and welfare work. Anything of sale value, new or used, is needed.

Prior to the sale the club will stage a show which will be held at the New Sherbrooke and broadcast over the two local stations. Jack Lenaghan gave a brief outline of the program.

A question and answer period at the Legion Hall was held at the close of the regular meeting. Refreshments were served.

Y's Men's Club Lays Plans For Big Exhibition

Discussion on plans for a giant commercial exposition in Sherbrooke topped the evening's business at the regular weekly meeting of the Y's Men's Club last night.

The exposition as outlined by Larry Pergau, chairman of the activities committee, would include exhibits of Sherbrooke's industries and merchants, various games of skill and chance, floor shows, a mammoth dance and possibly a Miss Sherbrooke contest. If no serious difficulties are encountered, the proposal should be realized the first week in May.

Acknowledgment was also given last night to the Rotary Club's annual donation to the Y's Men's summer camp for boys at Little Lake Magog.

Seated at the head table with president Carl Griffith were Y's Men Ray Nelson, Ken Jackson and Gordon Ross.

Beebe Amateurs Gave Show At Ayer's Cliff

Ayer's Cliff, Jan. 13.—On Thursday evening, Jan. 6, the Beebe Amateurs sponsored by the Beebe Athletic Association, put on their variety show in the Ayer's Cliff Town Hall for the benefit of the Canadian Legion.

The talent was mostly from Beebe, with a few from outside who donated their services for a worthy cause. Much credit is due Jack Anderson, R. W. Smith and Arthur Langevin for their untiring efforts in keeping the young people active in this kind of amusement. A full house greeted the players upon their arrival in Ayer's Cliff, which was encouraging both to the participants as well as to the sponsors.

Following the performance Mr. and Mrs. Claude Whitcombe opened their spacious house and served a delicious lunch to the players, for which they received a most hearty vote of thanks.

The following took part in the show: Miss Della Rediker; Miss Vivian Reed, Phil Probert and Raymond Bronson, Roger Boisclair, Miss Betty Bronson and Miss Elsie Margaret Givens, David Givens, Sr. and Miss Frances Givens, Paul Morrill, Murray Smith and George Rediker, Mrs. Taplin, Mac Mac-

HAS BIRTHDAY

P. C. BIRON, who is receiving congratulations today on the occasion of his birthday.

Man Threatens Wife, Ordered To Pay Fine

Judge Edouard Boisvert did not believe that rabbit hunting in the city could be very profitable as a means of livelihood, and so Athanasie Rodrigue, 29 year old local man, in spite of his declaration that he carried a rifle for this purpose, was sentenced yesterday to a charge of threatening the lives of his wife and an elderly woman.

The accused, who had also previously been charged with non-support, was condemned to pay a fine of $200 in cash, or $500 on property and in default of this, was ordered to spend six months in jail.

Mrs. Rodrigue, who is employed at the Sacred Heart Hospital, took the stand and stated that her husband had threatened on several occasions to kill her, if she did not drop her charge against him. This testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Juliette Bolduc, 54, who also was threatened with death because the accused charged that she was hiding his wife.

Crown witnesses included several members of the Provincial Police, among them Sgt. Desrochers, Ansel Gosselin, who identified the rifle, produced as an exhibit, as that which was in the possession of the accused at the time of his arrest.

The accused persisted in saying, despite testimony of witnesses to the contrary, that he had never threatened his wife but had simply attempted to make some arrangement with her. He admitted that he had been carrying the gun but said he had decided to take up hunting as a means of earning a living.

Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre, K.C., intimated that the hunting could not be very good within the city limits, and that the calibre of the rifle was such that even if accused had shot any rabbits, there would be nothing left of them.

It was established that the accused had a previous record, having been convicted on a charge of non-support and also on a charge of assaulting an officer.

Francois Poulin handled the defense.

Nominations In Eastern Townships Villages, Townships And Parishes Were Marked By Many Acclamations

Spread across the Province of Quebec are some 317 villages and 1,084 parishes and townships whose civic activities are governed by the provisions of the Municipal Code, an enactment of the Provincial Legislature which seeks to assure that these groups follow along tried and true lines in matters of civic administration. In most of these municipalities yesterday was nomination day, when the duly qualified voters of the municipality were called by the municipal secretary-treasurer to meet at some central place within the municipality to name three members for the council and in most cases a mayor.

The municipal councils consist of a mayor and six councillors, elected for two-year terms. The councillors retire in rotation, three each year.

In many centres, the retiring mayor and councillors were returned by acclamation, but to prove that the old Quebec spirit of politics is still a favorite of the people, contests are also frequent although in very few districts are all the retiring members meeting opposition. In cases where opposition is provided, elections will be held on Monday.

Two methods of selecting members of the council are in force. Some municipalities elect their councillors at large, all candidates nominated running for the three vacant seats. At the close of the voting, the three names with the largest vote are declared elected. In other cases, the district is divided into districts, with the candidate for a certain seat having a definite opponent.

To provide justice to the summer residents of resort municipalities, provision is made in the Municipal Code for deferring elections until July in such places as Austin, Bolton, Knowlton and Stanstead Plain. In other districts where roads are assumed to be in bad shape normally during January, a by-law may be passed holding the elections in May.

In addition to the 1,401 municipalities operating under the Municipal Code, there are 124 towns and cities which are governed by the Cities and Towns Act. In these places the nomination for mayor and councillors is held on February 1 with voting taking place one week later.

Thirty larger centres of the Province conduct their activities under special charters granted by the Legislature and in these places elections vary in individual cities, generally ranging from late in February to the middle of April.

The results in the various Eastern Townships municipalities reporting were:

Sawyerville Village: Mayor, Lloyd Hunt re-elected by acclamation; Councillors: J. A. McKee, re-elected; J. C. Martin, re-elected; Joseph Evans, re-elected; Joseph Evans, re-elected; George Belhomme replaces Ernest Painter.

Emberton Township: Mayor, J. A. Blanchette returned by acclamation; Councillors: J. A. Blanchette, re-elected; J. A. Blanchette, re-elected; J. A. Blanchette, re-elected; J. A. Blanchette, re-elected; J. A. Blanchette, re-elected; J. A. Blanchette, re-elected.

Brompton Township: Mayor, J. H. Giroux, re-elected by acclamation; Councillors: Georges Auger, J. B. Roberge and Albert Bilodeau all re-elected.

Uxville: Mayor, A. B. Lyster replaces Gordon Smith; Andrew Dunn and Kenneth Armstrong, re-elected; Henry Smith replaces A. J. Lyster.

Melbourne Village: Mayor, J. O. L. Michaud, re-elected by acclamation; Councillors: W. Ewing, R. A. McKee and J. C. Martin all re-elected.

Lloyd MacPherson Is Speaker At Boundary Rotary

Derby Line, Jan. 13.—A talk on the geological formations around the Boundary by Lloyd MacPherson of the Stanstead College staff, featured the Jan. 10 meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary. On Jan. 3, the feature was movies of the activities of the Beebe Athletic Association and a short talk by J. M. Thompson. Both meetings were held at the Del Monty Hotel.

Tracing the history of rock formations, with special reference to the Tomfobia River, Mr. MacPherson gave an unusually interesting talk. The speaker was introduced by C. R. MacLean and thanked by Vincent A. Davis. Three young students from Ayer's Cliff High School were present as the guests of Elwin Chadsey, Vincent Davis and Arch Graham. The three were Archie Christianson, Guy Hunter and Harley Standish.

Vice-President Maurice L. Moore was in charge of the meeting, and seated at the head table with him were the speaker, Mr. MacPherson, C. R. MacLean, Claude Willard and G. Earl Heath.

January 3 Meeting

The work of the Beebe Athletic Association was graphically described by J. M. Thompson, of Beebe, and some very fine movies taken by Earl V. N. Kennedy were shown at the Jan. 3 meeting.

Stating that the emphasis of the Beebe A. A. was to be placed more and more on guiding the young people of Beebe toward healthful outdoor recreation, the speaker told of the work of the past year in developing sports in Beebe. The movies were all in full color, and featured scenes around Beebe, the dedication of the Beebe Memorial park, and an example of the "Take a Boy Fishing" campaign that was done last summer. The speaker was introduced by Maurice Moore and thanked for his talk and the films by Dave Goodell.

Rotary Fair Net Announced

Final figures on the proceeds of the Fourth Annual Rotary Fair were announced by the treasurer of the Fair, Gordon Perle. The gross receipts were $5,202.44, and the payments were $2,976.43, leaving a net of $2,226.01. The payments were larger than usual this past year, due to the increased quality and variety of the prizes, but the net results were more than satisfactory to the club. Congratulations were offered to Past President Claude Willard, who has been chairman of the Fair for the past four years.

Sam Abbott, athletic coach of Stanstead College, will be the speaker Monday, Jan. 17, and will tell of some of the recent work in sports in an effort to make it possible for more of the local non-resident students at the college to participate.

Sherbrooke Ministerial Association Members Entertain At Snow Shoe Club

Members of the Sherbrooke Ministerial Association entertained members of the Sherbrooke Snow Shoe Club at their Prospect Road clubhouse last evening.

Rev. Otis Davidson acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion. Rev. John Comfort gave a vocal selection for the opening number and was followed by Ed. Shortt who sang Vincent Youmans' "Without a Song."

Between acts each member of the clergy told a joke and members of the audience were asked "Can You Top This?"

Canon Russell Brown gave his interpretation of a German song followed by Rev. John Comfort with a vocal selection "Old Party." Rev. Clarence Jensen did a skit entitled "Nursery Rhymes." The main event of the show was a humorous monologue "Rastus" by Ed. Shortt which he topped with his versions of "Dapper Dan" and "Shortin' Bread."

Rev. John Comfort said Grace at the supper table and following the meal Tom Kesley led the group in a sing song with Giza Gagnon at the piano.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Bert Noble. A letter of interest was also tabled from Who's Who in London, England, regarding the death of Col. Worthington.

Second Vice-President Norton Baldwin thanked the members of the Ministerial Association for the fine program to bring the meeting to a close.

J. L. Emile Blais Re-Elected As Association Head

Montreal, Jan. 13.—J. L. Emile Blais of Sherbrooke was re-elected president of the Quebec Wholesale Fruit and Vegetable Association at the annual meeting last night.

New officers elected included vice-presidents Harris Botner, Montreal, and Antonio Cayer, Quebec.

Among directors chosen were Andre Julien, Three Rivers, Antonio Lachance and Alan Leblanc, Quebec, and Lucien Larocque, Drummondville.

Winter Roads Grants Cut Off By City

The Sherbrooke municipal administration is finding the lack of snow experienced so far this winter as rather an advantage from the financial viewpoint. Not only has the item of snow removal costs been entirely absent from the municipal accounts this winter but the city is benefiting indirectly from the open condition of the roads outside the city.

In previous years, the city has paid out several thousand dollars in grants to various winter roads associations operating in the district and this fall provision was made for similar expenditures this winter. However, in view of the lack of snow, the City Council, meeting as a committee of the whole, last evening decided to suspend all these grants. The view adopted by the Aldermen is that the provincial government grants and the private subscriptions received by these organizations should be sufficient to meet such road clearing costs as may arise between now and spring.

Magog Lions Are Entertained By Radio Artists

Magog, Jan. 13.—Featuring talent from Sherbrooke radio stations in a 45-minute program of songs and music, members of the Magog Lions Club held their first Ladies' Night of the New Year at Chateau du Lac last evening.

Presided over by President George Abbot, the program opened with the singing of O Canada, followed by a toast to His Majesty the King. The Lions and their ladies then enjoyed a delicious turkey banquet.

Introduced by Gordon Beer, director of programs for CKTS, who presided as master of ceremonies, the entertainment opened with two comic songs in French, with appropriate gestures and costumes, by Rene Caron, who sang "Un Monsieur Attendant" and "La Chapeau a Plume."

Miss Gloria Aube then appeared, singing the favorite old Irish song, "Danny Boy," followed by "I Don't Know Enough About You."

Paul Marcel Robidoux, blind pianist, delighted everyone with his piano solo, followed by Rene Caron again, in the French number "La Jeune Veuve."

Miss Claudette Lamoureux was next introduced, singing "Al Mamam," and "Je Veux Un Petit Homme." Rene Caron made his final appearance, singing the delightful story in song of an American G. I. in France, entitled "Oo, La La!" and the program was closed with Gloria Aube's thrilling rendition of "Stormy Weather."

The Lions and their ladies enjoyed a rousing sing-song with a special number led by Harry Johnson, by special request. Some 62 people were present for the evening.

During the business session, President Abbott read New Year's greetings to the club from numerous friends.

OTTO STRASSER NOT WANTED

The determination shown by the United States and British leaders in preventing any attempt on the part of Dr. Otto Strasser, a former Hitler aide, to return to his native Germany is easily understood when the general record and present objectives of the man are reviewed. Strasser, at present a stateless alien with a refugee in Canada, is seeking permission to return to Germany to establish a new political party which he claims will restore German economy.

It is significant, however, that despite his split with Hitler fifteen years ago, Strasser still retains much of his Nazi ideology and the general outline of the policies he enunciates for his new party are much similar to the original concepts of the National Socialists, being based upon a policy of totalitarianism, although Strasser seeks to temper these somewhat with the vague declaration that he favors the restoration of Christianity within Germany. His efforts to return to Germany are along the line predicted by many observers over a period of months. Men well acquainted with conditions within the Reich have consistently declared that within a short time the various political movements which have been driven underground would start to emerge and that most of them would be afflicted with the strong nationalism which made the Nazi party a world menace.

Admittedly Strasser was in the bad books of the Nazi party, but it must be clearly appreciated that these differences were largely over matters of party control rather than over the real policies of National Socialism. Strasser was one of those who sought to oust Adolf Hitler and run things himself. If he had succeeded in doing so, it is very likely that he would have followed the policies pursued by Der Fuehrer. And in the opinion of the senior British and United States officials, he would start to press these policies if he again got the chance.

The Canadian people are none too proud of Strasser as a resident of this country and doubtless under normal circumstances, the External Affairs Department would gladly issue him a certificate that would permit him to get out and stay out. But in view of the general conditions in Europe, the Department seems prepared to retain him here, confident that he can do less harm by mail order control of his party from a Nova Scotian town than he could do by a personal appearance in Europe.

Dr. Strasser apparently seeks to appeal to the sympathy of the Canadian people by his declaration that he has not seen his family for ten years, but this plea holds little weight when one considers the number of families that have been broken up for an equally as long period, with little chance of reunion in the future, through the workings of the policies laid down by Dr. Strasser when he was one of the inner Nazi hierarchy.

NO RELIEF FOR THE RAILWAYS

Any hopes the railways may have had for even partial relief of increased costs by a modest advance on freight rates were effectively crushed by the decision of the Board of Transport Commissioners denying the application for an emergency ten per cent boost pending the study of the request for a broad, permanent increase. Furthermore, in view of the decision of the Board to examine the request for the new increase along with its review of the earlier twenty-one per cent boost, as demanded by the Government, raises the possibility that political pressure may result in removing many of the benefits of the earlier relief.

Obviously the Board is seeking to temper its action in the light of the administration wishes, the chief indication of this being its virtual statement that the basis of the 1948 increase was not strong enough to support a retention of the boost. Under the ordinary course of legal procedure, the party which appeals from an earlier judgment is expected to produce its evidence as to why it considers the first ruling unjustified. It is generally assumed that the original court had what it felt were sufficient reasons to support its decision and the appeal court expects the appellant to break down this stand. The defendant in the appeal only produces his additional arguments when the appellant has produced an argument that might well overthrow the original verdict.

However, in this case, the Board of Transport Commissioners has ordered the railways to prove that they, the Transport Commissioners, were right in their earlier decision. In other words, the Commission virtually states: "Well you talked us into this once, but we got our knuckles rapped. Now see if you can do it again." With such an attitude on the part of the Commission, it can be expected that the railways will have to make out an even stronger case if they hope for relief.

For some months now it has been obvious that the freight rates issue will not be settled on the basis of the financial needs of the railways. There can be no questioning the need of additional revenues to meet the boosted costs of operation, in wages, materials and services. Rather, the whole issue will be fought out on the possible political repercussions from any general rates increase.

81ST CONGRESS MUST CONSIDER MOM, VETS, TUNG OIL, SCLEROSIS

Most of the 600 bills dropped into the hopper of the House on the opening day of Congress will probably die a-borning. For in addition to the deep-dish proposals deserving serious attention, there were a lot of shallow ones bordering on the bizarre, the trivial, the screwball. Many others cater to some special or local interest. That's the way Congress works. The unimportant and the unnecessary have to be considered, but finally get lost.

In the late lamented 80th Congress there were 12,000 bills and resolutions introduced by ambitious lawmakers. Only 2,200 measures were passed by the House, however, and only 1,900 by the Senate. The number of private bills enacted into law was 458 and the number of public bills enacted was 905, for a grand total of 1,363. In addition to which, President Truman vetoed 74 for the two years.

That's a fair batting average and it's a good line on what the new Congress will get done. About 10 per cent of the bills introduced will become law. Consequently, there's nothing in particular to get concerned about when you read that Congressman X may have introduced a bill to fly to the moon or erect a monument to somebody you never heard of before.

PRESIDENTIAL RETIREMENT PAY BILL FIRST

The honor of getting in the first two bills this year went to the Hon. Donald L. O'Toole (D., N. Y.). They were to pay $25,000 a year pensions to ex-presidents, and to build an official residence for the vice-president. Along the same line, the Hon. Gordon Canfield (R., N. J.) later introduced one to give ex-presidents a lifetime job as senators-at-large.

The third bill to be introduced—though hardly the third most important issue Congress will consider this year—was by the Hon. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to repeal the tax on oleomargarine. A dozen other lawmakers introduced similar measures, making this the most popular topic for proposed legislation. Runners-up were repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and civil rights bills, introduced by half a dozen or more solons.

Getting into the legislative bypaths, just to give you an idea of what some of these obscure and unpublishable bills are all about, you run into things like these:

Congressman William Colmer (D., Miss.) presented bills of special interest to his state, to establish a parity price on tung nuts and raise the tariff against imported tung oil. Congressman Robert Crosser (R., Ohio) proposes letting the Coast Guard radio stations handle commercial messages. Republican Glenn Davis of Wisconsin has a bill to install vote-counting and recording machinery in the House of Representatives.

Republican James G. Fulton of Pennsylvania, among a dozen other bills he offered, had one to set up government research on the causes of multiple sclerosis—hardening of the arteries. Congressman Joseph P. O'Hara (R., Minn.) eliminating daylight saving. Rep. Philip J. Philbin (D., Mass.) thinks there ought to be a law to pay survivors of veterans for any unused leave the deceased might have coming to him at the time of his demise.

AID FOR DRIFTING SHIPS PROPOSED

Otis Schuyler Bland (D., V.), who again is chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, has a bill authorizing the federal government to give assistance in repairing damaged ships drifting to the shores of the United States, caused by waves and ocean currents.

Democrat Frank Chelf of Kentucky wants the attorney-general to give medals for bravery to courageous young Americans. Democrat Eugene J. Keogh of New York wants a law allowing study periods for postoffice clerks. Rep. John Phillips (R., Calif.) wants the federal government to set up demonstration plants for making drinking water out of "sea water, or other liquids, elements or substances."

Rep. George A. Dondero (R., Mich.) put in a bill to incorporate "Moms of America." Emanuel Celler (D., N. Y.) took the prize for introducing the most bills on opening day—35. Included was one authorizing the Supreme Court to promulgate a code of ethics for lawyers.

If many of these projects seem futile, the congressman should not be blamed in every case. Usually such bills are introduced to pay off campaign promises to constituents. That's politics.

RESIGNS AS UNITED STATES
SECRETARY OF STATE

The Evening Telegram.
To future generations of Americans and Europeans alike the name of George C. Marshall will be known in connection with the Marshall Plan of assistance to all European nations willing to cooperate for general recovery. The suggestion of assistance was made by the retiring Secretary of State in a speech at Harvard on June 5, 1947, and was at once welcomed by the United Kingdom and other states on this side of the Iron Curtain. Poland and Czechoslovakia wished to share the benefits and the latter decided to participate but Stalin intervened in a manner that marked the final end of the little republic's independence.

The plan of assistance provoked as much anger in Moscow as the Truman Doctrine of support against aggression, to which it was complementary, and orders went out to Communists in all countries that it was to be sabotaged. Behind the curtain the Soviet organized the Cominform, a body designed to furnish Communists with assistance and advice, and the division between east and west became an open gulf. At one time both the Secretary of State and President Truman were charged by many in the democracies with having created the gulf, but the Soviet's continued opposition to plans for recovery and its conduct in Berlin opened the eyes of all who were willing to see, as was proved in the United States by Henry Wallace's pitiful showing in the presidential election.

It was two years ago, this month that General of the Army George C. Marshall was appointed Secretary of State, succeeding James F. Byrnes. During the war he had been Chief of Staff of the American Army, a position in which he had played a greater part in planning global strategy than any other commander. After the war he was sent as special envoy to China, where he tried in vain to reconcile the government and the Communists. The least truculent of men, he refuted by his conduct in the State Department the charge that military men were inclined to warlike policies. His own policy was in all essential respects similar to that of his civilian predecessor, and to that of Britain's civilian Foreign Minister, Ernest Bevin.

His resignation follows on ill health but he has often expressed a wish to retire and he remained in office till now only at the desire of the President. His successor, Dean Acheson, has had much experience in the State Department, first as Assistant Secretary and then as Under Secretary of State.

In keeping with the policies upon which he was re-elected, President Harry S. Truman "swung to the left" in his State of the Union speech to Congress. This is noted in his statements on labor, on social security and medical health insurance, housing and civil rights. Also, on the extension of rent controls and authority for other price, trade or economic controls, support of farm prices, encouragement of small businesses and strengthening of the anti-trust laws.

Mr. Truman has a mandate for such a progressive program; not only a mandate but a duty. He believes a majority of the people of the United States want such policies. In a democracy, a government has a responsibility to give the people the type of legislation they want.

What Congress does with this program is of more than academic interest to Canadians. The influence of geography and of 150,000,000 neighbors means that Canadians will expect their government to keep within reasonable pace with reforms enacted in the United States.

States. Any Canadian government, or political party, which ignores such influence will do at its own risk.

There are four segments of Mr. Truman's address which have a direct and immediate interest to Canadians. These have to do with the St. Lawrence Seaway, reciprocal trade agreements, taxation and universal military training. In the two former respects, United States policies can be advantageous to Canada. The latter two, however, tend to place the Canadian Government on the spot.

In the latter category is the President's plan to increase taxation in the United States by $1,000,000,000. This is due to heavy expenditures on the European Recovery Program, defence measures and a desire to reduce the $252,000,000,000 national debt.

This comes at a time when Canadians, who are not now spending anything on European recovery, are clamoring for tax reductions. To drastically cut taxes in Canada, when they are being increased in the United States, could leave this country open to criticism. Yet failure to make such reductions would have a damaging political effect on the Canadian Government.

Mr. Truman is not very specific as to the exact meaning of his universal military training policy. But, to be universal it must be compulsory, and any form of compulsory military training in Canada would be a bug-bear issue for any Canadian government. As anticipated, Mr. Truman is asking Congress to approve the St. Lawrence Waterways project. Canada is committed to this proposal, and has been held up by failure of the United States Senate to ratify it. Canada needs the St. Lawrence Seaway, both for navigation and power purposes, and will hope Congress passes his legislation.

Probably the most important part of the President's speech, to Canada, is that which asks Congress to restore the full effect of the United States reciprocal Trade Agreement Act, with a three-year extension. This was chiselled down to one year by the Republican-dominated Congress, the Republican Party containing the old die-hard, high-tariff group. Canada is under necessity of diverting exports from Europe to the United States, and wants lower United States tariffs. This is very important to the Canadian economy.

Mr. Truman's policies are directed toward the middle and lower income groups of the United States, to the labor and farm groups. None can blame him. These were the voters who elected him. He is merely keeping faith with the majority of the people, who will watch closely how his practices conform to his spoken policies.

NORTH ATLANTIC PACT

St. Catharines Standard.
There is good prospect that before many months have passed, Canada will find itself bound to a number of western European countries by a formal alliance. For several months the representatives of Canada, Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg have been meeting in Washington with the American representative, and the outcome of their discussions will be the proposed North Atlantic Security Pact. The pact will be democracy's answer to Russia—a collective union of seven nations, on both sides of the Atlantic, pledged to mutual support on economic and defence matters. Later, other countries may be admitted, and Italy has already signified a desire to be included.

If this pact is concluded, it will be one of the most historic in the history of free nations. It is a grouping of nations, not to make war, but to keep peace and prevent aggression. Although it may not do so in actual black-and-white it implies a commitment in advance to defend any of the signatories should they be attacked. And the fact that the United States, strongest force for peace in the world simply because it is strong, is taking a leading part in formation of the new alliance, augurs well for its success. There are many who believe, and probably rightly, own leaders. Both Mr. King and Mr. St. Laurent, at various times in the past year, have stated that Canada must give effective support to such a collective security agreement.

The pact itself, or the idea behind it, springs from the gradual disillusionment of the past few years when it was realized that perhaps the United Nations could not prevent war, after all. The pact allows regional groups of nations to band together for common security. Russian actions gave little grounds for optimism, and led various nations to consider further steps to ensure security. So last year Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg signed a 50-year pact against aggression. That Brussels pact also included terms for mutual self-aid, and economic and social collaboration for good.

Naturally the signers of the Brussels agreement were looking to the United States and Canada, as two powerful nations, for some indications of support. They would have liked out-and-out military pledges, but this was scarcely feasible. However, the idea of extending the pact to include North America caught on with Senator Vandenberg, for one, and with our type of peace-making machinery.

Most Rev. P. Carrington Dedicated New Anglican Church At Asbestos

Asbestos, Jan. 13.—The Anglican congregation at Asbestos was privileged for the first time to worship in a church of its own, on Sunday, January 2.

For fifty years under successive rectors of Danville, and for a short interval under an incumbent of Lorne and Asbestos, services and ministrations were conducted, first in the Presbyterian Church, then in the school house, and up to June 1948, in a Mission Hall, on St.
George Street.

This hall was then sold as being inconvenient, and during the intervening months services were held through the kindness of the local Presbyterian Church authorities in their church. Meantime a suitable site was purchased on Gaspé Street, and building began in September, and was sufficiently advanced for its opening for worship Jan. 2.

The building is of traditional style, with chancel and nave of beamed construction. The exterior, when completed, in the spring, will be of brick veneer. The basement remains to be completed during the winter. It contains a sacristy, a large parish hall, a kitchen, and washrooms.

The altar is of carved oak, and was brought from the old Mission Hall. The font, pews, Bishop's chair, and an organ were obtained from the Church of the Epiphany,
Lorne, altar rails, lectern, reading desk, credence table, and seats for the clergy and choir were brought from St. Paul's Church, Trout-brook. The bell was secured through the Rev. George Robins from the Acot Corner Church; St.
George's Church, Lennoxville, provided stained glass for the windows in the chancel and two in the nave. The dorsal curtains covering the east wall are of burgundy damask, with the sanctuary and chancel carpeting of the same shade.

The two congregations of St. Augustine's,
Danville, and All Saints',
Asbestos, form the Parish of Danville and Asbestos, with the Rev.
W. W. Smith, M.A., the rector. On Sunday the choir of the two churches joined for the occasion.

The Doctor Says

LACK OF PROPER NOURISHMENT AFFECTS MANY BODILY FUNCTIONS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
In the United States and Canada, the amount of food available has been so great that there has been a tendency to forget that in many parts of the world people live under conditions of near starvation.

The most striking change which comes to a person who is not getting enough food is, of course, loss of weight. The rate at which a person loses weight is of course, under conditions of insufficient diet varies.

Naturally, a person who is not eating enough and is forced to do heavy work will lose weight more rapidly than one who sits at a desk all day.

Many things happen to the person who is not getting enough to eat. Because proteins—meat, fowl, and eggs, for example—are expensive foods, the loss of protein in the diet is likely to be greater than that of other foods.

Lack of Nitrogen
This brings about an insufficiency of an important element in the body, namely nitrogen. When long continued, nitrogen lack produces severe symptoms, of which the so-called hunger edema, or deposit of water in the tissue, is the best known example. In those who are partially starved, therefore, the first problem is usually to give the protein for which the body is in such great need.

The teeth and bones are affected by undernutrition. The muscular tissues and the brain, nervous system, skin, hair, and eyes also feel the lack of nourishment. Indeed, all of the functions, including the heart and blood vessels, the personality and emotion, are harmfully influenced by simple lack of food.

Undernutrition is a problem in other ways. The person who, for a long time, has not had enough to eat becomes more susceptible to infection than the well-nourished individual.

A—The answer to this depends on the state of the heart. If the heart has escaped serious injury from the rheumatic fever, child-bearing may be entirely safe. But if the heart has been seriously damaged, there will be considerable risk.

Q—Can a woman, who has had rheumatic fever in childhood, bear children?

A—The answer to this depends on the state of the heart. If the heart has escaped serious injury from the rheumatic fever, child-bearing may be entirely safe. But if the heart has been seriously damaged, there will be considerable risk.

St. John's S. S. In Waterville

Gave Christmas Tree Entertainment

Waterville, Jan. 12.—St. John's Anglican Sunday School held its annual Christmas tree entertainment in the Jubilee Hall with a large attendance of children, parents and friends.

A splendid program was given by the pupils of the Sunday School, which consisted of songs, dialogues and recitations. Mrs. F. Schroeder was the piano accompanist and with the help of the Sunday School teachers, Miss MacMaster, Mrs. Pessig, Marcella Flanders and James Brown, trained the children.

Rev. Mr. Wark Beaufof gave a very interesting and humorous address, on "Christmas in England when I was a boy."

Santa Claus arrived to the tune of "Jingle Bells" and distributed gifts and candy from the well-filled sack which he carried on his back. Gifts were also taken from the beautifully decorated and lighted tree.

Santa delighted the children by his jovial and friendly manner, and on his departure they heartily sang "For He Is A Jolly Good Fellow."

St. John's Mid-Night Service, a most impressive mid-night service was held in St. John's Anglican Church on Christmas Eve, with the incumbent, Rev. Mr. Wark Beaufof, officiating.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with evergreen boughs, cut flowers and many lighted candles. The singing of carols by the choir and congregation preceded the communion service.

A solo, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," was sung by James Brown. Mrs. Fred Ayer presided at the organ.

During the communion service the "Gloria Tibi, Sanctus" and "Gloria in Excelsis" were sung by the choir. Rev. Mr. Beaufof, in his address gave a most inspiring Christmas message.

General Notes
The beautiful flowers on the altar and placed about St. John's Church, at the Christmas services, were in loving memory of the Rowe and Wells families, and Mrs. Mathilda Reed, and were given by Mrs. Frank Rowe, and by members of Mrs. Reed's family, and St. John's Ladies' Guild.

Surprise Party Marks 30th Wedding Anniversary Of Rock Island Couple

Rock Island, Que., Jan. 13.—A surprise party was held in the 74th Armoury on Saturday evening when the Battery members and their ladies entertained in honor of the 30th wedding anniversary of Sergeant and Mrs. Henry Crawford.

A social evening of dancing and games was enjoyed. Mitchell Thompson, O.C., presented to Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, on behalf of their friends, a very beautiful coffee table and to the bride of 30 years from the groom of 30 years, a magazine end table. The happy couple thanked their friends for the gift, for the thoughtfulness of those who remembered their anniversary date and for the pleasant evening which would be memories to cherish in the years to come.

Following this a buffet lunch was served from the Gunners Mess, where the table was covered with a pale blue cloth centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated in white with silver leaves, and topped with a bride and groom under an arch. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Rudy Miller.

Mrs. Crawford was a bride of World War I and was married in Bracknell, Berkshire, England, on January 8, 1919. At the time of the marriage there was not any wedding cake due to the very strict rationing. At the time it was impossible to purchase the ingredients and after thirty years of marriage, to be presented with their first wedding cake was so much appreciated by the bride and groom that they insisted a picture be taken of it before it was cut and passed around. Mrs. Crawford also stated the relatives overseas would also be sent a piece of the cake.

The guests then departed for their respective homes, wishing Henry and Mabel many more happy years together.

Mrs. Crawford also received a pink sapphire brooch and earrings from their only child, Mr. Cyril Crawford, and Mrs. Crawford, and three children, also an amethyst and pearl pendant, silver flatware, stockings and handkerchiefs from neighbors. Mr. Crawford received gifts of money and handkerchiefs from neighbors, and both received a large number of cards and telephone calls of congratulations.

RAMBLING ROUND THE BORDER

Recent donations by the Butterfield Division of the Union Trust Drill Company will give considerable impetus to various local enterprises. All groups receiving the money will be better able to carry on their work and in that way better able to serve the people.

The Derby Line Fire Department plans to use the money to purchase additional hose to enable them to do better work outside the village limits. The donation to the swimming project wipes out a deficit and assures the continuance in 1949 of this project. The Haskell Library needs much rewiring, especially in the opera house, and their donation will get this work started very soon.

The thanks of the entire public is due the Butterfield Division for their generosity. It is to be hoped that other local groups and people will respond as generously to local efforts.

Rumor has it that there is every likelihood of the Canadian Art Theatre returning to the Boundary next summer. This group added a great deal to the pleasures of last summer with their fine production of good plays, and all who attended last year certainly will be looking forward to their re-appearance in June.

The McGill Summer School in Geography will be back next summer, and it is to be hoped that they will continue their very popular public lectures in the Haskell Opera House.

Few of us who live at the Boundary realize how some other communities actually envy us for the variety and quality of features of our living that we almost take for granted.

With the Canadian Art Theatre and the Geography school in the summer, the Community School in the fall, concerts in the vicinity in the winter, and many special events the year around, there are places many times this size that do not begin to have the variety and quality of entertainment available locally.

On January 17th there will be a meeting at the Derby Line Village Hall of those interested in starting up the Boy Scouts once again. Doctor William M.ulton, Government Veterinarian, had consented to be Scout Master, and it is hoped that everyone interested in seeing Boy Scouts a going concern once again will be present at this meeting.

The coming municipal election at Rock Island has aroused much attention and should bring out a good vote on the 17th. For the first time in many years there is

New Books Mean Increase In Library Patrons

Derby Line, Jan. 13.—New books for both adults and children have been added to the Haskell Library in recent months, and the patronage has shown a definite increase, according to Mrs. Elsie Poopst, the librarian.

With such popular titles as "The Precipice" by Hugh MacLennan; "The Running of the Tide" by Big Fisherman; "Tomorrow Will be Better" by Betty Smith; "Catalina" by Somerset Maugham; and "I Capture the Castle" by Dodie Smith, as well as a number of new non-fiction titles of value and interest, plus new mysteries and westerns, on the shelves, there is every reason why more and more local people visit the library.

Besides the books, there are always copies of the latest periodicals in the reading room, and these are carefully selected to give variety in reading. Such publications as "United Nations World," "The Atlantic Monthly," "Ladies' Home Journal," "Red Book," "Popular Mechanics," and "Outdoor Life," are among the many to be found in this light and cheerful room.

New Children's Books. The January Junior Library Guild books are on hand now, and will be placed in the Rotary Children's Room within the next few days. As always, they are varied, entertaining and worth reading.

For the older boys, the book is a hockey story, full of exciting games, intense rivalries, and told in a fast-moving manner by Richard T. Flood. The title is "Pass That Puck," and the pictures are by C. L. Hartman.

The older girls have the story of a puppy's brave struggle to survive in the book "Snow Dog" by Jim Kjelgaard. This is a book that will appeal to the boys as well as to the girls, and they will be both anxious to read the exciting story of Queen and her three puppies. The very fine illustrations are done by Jacob Landau.

Some authors and artists always seem to be able to produce books with genuine appeal. Such is the case with Ingrid and Edgar Parin d'Aulaire, whose newest book, "Niles," is the selection for the 6, 7 and 8 year-olds. Niles wanted to be a cowboy, but could not be with those long white stockings all embroidered with stars and roses? You will have to read the book to find out.

"Gold for the Grahams" tells the story of a perilous journey to a new home by the Graham family, and will hold the attention of the 9, 10 and 11 year old boys and girls from the first page to the last. The book is written by Alice Cook Fuller and illustrated by Dorothy Bayley Morse.

Other books besides the Junior Guild selections are constantly being added to the shelves, including new editions of old favorites. One book that is due to be very popular is the "St. Nicholas Anthology," more than 500 pages of the best material from this most popular of children's magazines.

The Haskell Library open hours are as follows: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 7 to 9 p.m. The Library is yours to use, and is always worth a visit.

a contest for the job of Mayor, and this gives all the voters the opportunity of expressing their wishes.

Everyone who can possibly do so should vote. No matter who you favor, no matter if you are certain your favorite will win anyway; unless it is an impossibility, be there and cast your ballot. Democracy is for everyone, and everyone has the duty as well as the privilege of voting.

Canadiens Dump Bruins To Take Over Fourth Place As Red Wings Extend NHL Lead With Win Over Rangers

The Motor City's Red Wings continued their free-wheeling ways last night as they stretched their lead in the National Hockey League to five points, humbling New York Rangers 4-1. In last night's other encounter, the injury-riddled Montreal Canadiens pounded out a 5-3 victory over Boston Bruins to take over undisputed possession of fourth place.

The game in Boston featured two "firsts." Veteran Bruin defenseman Jack Crawford was thumped to the "penalty box" for the first time this season and fiery Kenny Reardon, Canadian rearward, bagged his first goal of the present campaign—on a penalty shot with two seconds remaining in the game.

Lanky Max McNab, rookie Red Wing forward, scored the most promising newcomer of the year in pre-season predictions was the star of the night. The six-foot-two-inch native of Watson, Saskatchewan, fired two goals to help with the rout of the cellar-dwelling Rangers.

McNab opened the scoring for Detroit at the midway mark in the first period on a pass from Gerry Couture and Marty Pavelich. Red Wings kept control of the play and early in the second stanza McNab punched home the second of his tallies. Red Kelly and Leo Reize fired home two more to give Detroit a 4-0 lead.

Frankie Edolli, out for the earlier part of the season with injuries received in a pre-season auto crash, along with Ranger star Buddy O'Connor, robbed Harry Lumley, partly Red Wing goaltender of what would have been his third shutout of the year. With only 54 seconds remaining, Edolli took a pass from Nick Mickolli to rap home Ranger's sole tally. It was Edolli's first goal of the season.

At Boston, after spotting Bruins a three-goal lead, Canadiens roared back with a convincing 5-3 triumph for a squad that's minus Elmer Lach, Butcher Bouchard, Rip Rispelle and Doug Harvey, all out with injuries. A new arrival, Roger Legre, called up from Buffalo Bruins in the American Hockey League shared in the scoring for Canadiens.

Bruins scored with the first two shots of the game on goalie Bill Durnan. Little Kenny Smith and Paul Ronty were the Boston snipers. After Legre's tally, Ronty fired a pass from Nick Mickolli to tip in a goal. Legre called up from Buffalo Bruins in the American Hockey League shared in the scoring for Canadiens.

Al Derrett's Winnipeg Foursome Stands As Rink "To Beat" At Nipawin, Sask.

Nipawin, Sask., Jan. 13. — Al Derrett's Winnipeg foursome today stands as the "rink to beat" in the round-robin series leading to the best-of-three final for four new automobiles, major prize at Nipawin's Third Annual Bonspiel.

The heavy-set skip captured his second straight victory in group "A" last night by defeating Walter Hobbs of Lenox, Sask., 11-6, after knocking off Ab Gowanlock of Dauphin, Man., former Dominion champion, 13-7 in the first round.

In group "B," Dr. C. E. McKellar of Carlyle, Sask., also was a double winner, defeating Billy Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., 8-7 in his second match, following his 10-9 opening triumph over Walter Power of Aylsham, Sask.

However, all games in the second round were not played last night and both Derrett, a two-time winner of car trophies, and McKellar could be tied for their group leaderships.

Hobbs won his opening match 12-6 against Dave Carr in group "A" and now stands with a 1-1 record. Willard Cleveland of Fairlight, Sask., also captured his first game, defeating T. E. Wright of Aylsham 12-10 to match Derrett's opening victory.

After dropping his opening game, Palmer roared back in his second to defeat Burt Robertson of Edmonton 12-10. Robertson also dropped his first game to Dave Moir of Nipawin by a similar score. A pre-series favorite, Billy Rose, undefeated in regular play and winner of the No. 1 event final, went down to a surprise defeat in the opening round of the "B" competition. He lost 8-7 to Pete Hume of Flin Flon, Man.

In one of the late matches last night, all games in the second round were not played last night and both Derrett, a two-time winner of car trophies, and McKellar could be tied for their group leaderships.

Hobbs won his opening match 12-6 against Dave Carr in group "A" and now stands with a 1-1 record. Willard Cleveland of Fairlight, Sask., also captured his first game, defeating T. E. Wright of Aylsham 12-10 to match Derrett's opening victory.

Asbestos Tops Windsor 7-4 In Junior Tilt

Windsor, Jan. 13. — George Guillemin, junior, dropped a 7-4 decision here last night to Asbestos in a regular fixture of the E. T. Junior Hockey League.

The home town team was shaded by the speedy Asbestos attack and although they had plenty of chances at scoring, young Dion turned them aside each time. At times three and four Windsor players were parked in front of the youngster but he always succeeded in turning them aside. The Asbestos boys took an early lead in the game when Lussier added two in the initial frame and two more in the opening seconds of the middle session before the home team answered with two. Champagne accounted for his second marker to finish the scoring in the period.

In the final stanza Champagne completed his hat trick for the venture, Theriault) 4:18

Changed Conditions

Many of the more than 101,000 immigrants who have come to Canada this year find conditions far different from those in their homelands. Some of these now working on farms held positions far removed from agriculture, while many who were farmers find Canadian crops strange to them. Herman Ruemana, left, who had farmed for years in the Netherlands found a new crop in corn. Justus Vicius, right, shown in this Department of Mines and Resources photo handling the reins of a team of horses, was an opera singer in his native Lithuania.

ABBOTSFORD

The Christmas services at St. Paul's Church were well attended. A large congregation gathered on Christmas Eve for the traditional carol service. Besides leading in the singing of a number of carols, both new and old, the choir sang the carol, "Lo, How a Rose," under the direction of Mr. G. H. Buzzell.

On Christmas Day a congregation slightly larger than that of last year joined in solemn sacrament of holy communion. On that occasion the recently dedicated articles were used for the first time. The choir sang the communion by Maundier and as an anthem the carol, "Good Christian Men Rejoice." On the following Sunday the rector preached on the Christmas message from St. John's Gospel.

The community Christmas Tree was held in the Parish Hall with a good attendance of happy expectant little people their parents and friends. Rev. K. N. Brunton conducted a short carol service. Mr. Kenneth Meeks, organist of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Church, Montreal, played for the carols, and also played a medley of Christmas music. Mr. H. Buzzell sang "The Holy City." Then to the strains of "Jingle Bells," Santa Claus made his welcome appearance.

Crossfield has been Santa Claus for forty years and with his usual jovial, kindly manner he greeted all the excited children then proceeded to distribute the many gifts from the prettily decorated Christmas Tree, assisted by several young people.
