$70,243.75 Is Amount Subscribed To Date For Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign

The Barrie Memorial Hospital Campaign has done exceedingly well in the fact that all of the amount raised to date has been accomplished without assistance from governmental grants. A grant has been promised from the Provincial Government through Mr. Maurice Laberge, the newly elected member for Chateauguay County, but so far has not been received. The feeling is that may be quite substantial and will put the campaign well over the top.

Meantime the total from public subscriptions to date has reached the sum $70,243.75 out of the minimum objective of $80,000. This is truly a splendid response on the part of the public and the officials are very grateful for it.

Below are the names and amounts of subscriptions received since the last report in this newspaper.

Barrie Memorial Hospital Nurses Hold Annual Party

The nurses of the Barrie Memorial Hospital of Ormstown held their annual St-Andrew's Day dance at the Huntingdon Chateau on Friday, Nov. 29th.

The dance was a complete success in every respect, and was enjoyed immensely by all present. It was obvious from the fine spirit and good fellowship which prevailed that the nurses themselves had had a great deal of pleasure in preparing for the event, and it is easy to see that an excellent "esprit de corps" prevails amongst them at play as well as in the performance of their duties.

As usual the net proceeds of the party are to be used in the purchase of hospital equipment, so that while the nurses, their escorts and many other friends who were there enjoyed themselves to the full, hey were at the same time making a contribution towards the well-being of others.

Ormstown Exhibition 1957 Showed Profit $3,715.65 — First For Several Years

Ormstown Exhibition 1957

The annual meeting of The Livestock Breeder's Association of the District of Beauharnois, Inc. — Ormstown Exhibition, was held on Wednesday of the past week, at the Town Hall, Ormstown. Only a small number of shareholders were present, but all there showed interest in the proceedings.

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous annual meeting, the President, Mr. D. Ness, addressed the meeting.

"I am pleased to welcome you to our annual meeting, I only wish there were more of you interested people present, I hope that those of you who are here will enter into the discussion on the affairs of this organization without reservation and by so doing give your incoming board of directors the necessary guidance to manage the affairs of your association to your entire satisfaction.

"This organization is a most necessary one for the advancement of agriculture in this district, perhaps more so than ever before and I believe that if the agricultural industry of this country is to maintain its important place in the economy of this country all of us will have to contribute a lot more of our time and effort to the cause of agriculture.

"I trust that all of you have received the financial statement for the year just ended. This is the first time for many years we have presented you with a financial statement that shows a satisfactory operating profit. I can assure you that I speak for the entire board and especially for the Secretary-Manager when I tell you that we are happy to find ourselves in this situation. I should perhaps, on behalf of the board thank you, the shareholders for your patience with us in recent years, for you have been patient. As long as I have been on this board, any criticism that has come from the shareholders has been constructive and because it has been constructive, it has been very helpful to us. At the same time we have continuously received criticism from other sources that was not entirely constructive. We have on many occasions been somewhat reluctant to experiment with some of the suggestions directed to us because we were at all times conscious of the fact that this organization was not in a position to gamble on uncertain things.

"We have continued to try to improve on the parts of this show that interested the greatest number of the paying public. We have within this organization, with the help of many fine people, developed a Horse Show that is regarded as second only to the Royal Winter Fair in the Dominion of Canada. A careful study of the financial statement reveals the fact that our operating profit on the horse show is a comparative figure to the operating profit on the entire show.

"If I were to try to tell you what brought about the satisfactory operating profit on our last year's operation I would first point out that our operating costs were reduced considerably by featuring a square dance competition and horse races of a local character instead of engaging costly professional vaudeville acts. It has become very evident to the members of this board that local talent brings a lot of followers through the gate.

"If we were to look into the possibilities of further expanding our operations at our show I think we should at all times bear in mind that we are situated just on the outskirts of the largest city in the Dominion of Canada and I believe I am correct in making the statement that it is about the only large city in Canada that does not have an annual agricultural exhibition. I believe it is possible to attract more of the people of Montreal to our show. To accomplish this, perhaps we have to contact a few influential people and endeavour to make them a part of our organization.

"As I attended the recent Royal Winter Fair, I was not only impressed by the attractive agricultural exhibits, but by the interest taken in these exhibits by the people of the city of Toronto. If we would stop to consider why so many thousand people pay their way through the gates for ten days straight and buy every seat available in the Horse show night after night at a minimum price of two dollars and fifty cents a seat, I cannot help but think that our city people are becoming more interested in agriculture than ever before. I am certain that it is through shows like ours that we can create a better understanding of the problems between those of us who choose to till the soil and the millions of people who buy our produce.

"In conclusion I wish to thank my board of directors and our Secretary-Manager for the splendid cooperation I have received from them this past year. On behalf of the board I wish to thank all the committee members and all of the many people who individually, or collectively, contributed to the success of the 1957 exhibition."

As has been the practice in the past few years, the Financial

A Trip To The Valley Of The Sun — Phoenix, Arizona

Mr. F. C. Moore, J. I. Case Dealer for Huntingdon district, has just returned from a trip to Phoenix, Arizona, sponsored by the J. I. Case Company for all its dealers in Quebec. The idea of the trip was to give the dealers a look at all the farm machinery the Company manufactures in order that they may be better acquainted with all the products. Not only was Mr. Moore deeply interested in the giant display, but he was also taken with the system of irrigation used in the parched area. Many wells have been dug and small cement canals run in all directions to carry the water to the areas of cultivation. Those parts requiring water for crops are flooded every so often for several days. Mr. Moore says you can almost see the crops grow. But where this is not done, it is desert. All around this desert are tall mountains and at one time it was a huge sea or lake. The land is very flat and level and the soil is a sort of brown dust, but very fertile when water is fed to it as by the irrigation method.

The following is Mr. Moore's account of his trip along with other dealers of the party.

On Sunday morning, November 24th, sixty-two J. I. Case Company dealers boarded a United Airline Plane at Dorval Airport, at ten o'clock, weather rainy when taking off. In about fifteen minutes we were above the clouds and the sunshine. We did not see anything but clouds until we arrived in Chicago at one p.m., stopping there to refuel. At two p.m. we were air borne again headed straight across the continent, flying at 18,000 feet at 325 miles per hour, visibility perfect and we could see the farm lands squared off like a checker board. Our route took us over Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Utah and down into Phoenix, Arizona. Arriving at Phoenix Airport at seven p.m., we were greeted by the Chamber of Commerce, paired off into groups and pictures taken, then handed trays of Orange Juice. We were then taken by bus to the Westward-Ho Hotel, which is one of the outstanding Hotels in Phoenix. The Phoenix area surrounding the City is a desert, nothing will grow unless irrigated and when water is applied cabbage, lettuce, and other green crops flourish in the hot Arizona sun. There are seven crops of alfalfa grown each year. The cattle which are not too many, are mostly Holstein and Shorthorn and are housed in corrals from which they are never allowed out. The corrals have roofs supported by posts to protect the animals from the sun, the food that the cattle eat is brought into them.

On Monday morning, we were taken by bus fifteen miles out in the desert, where the J. I. Case Co. exhibited one of the most fascinating arrays of new machines to be manufactured the coming year and it will not be for the lack of foresight, or engineering, that the farmers of America will be using out of date machinery. The new tractors have no clutches and are hydromatic driven, one of the biggest advancements in tractor design in years. When the Case show was over, we were taken around Phoenix and shown the most beautiful homes, where palm trees lined the streets and underneath these a row of orange trees loaded with ripe oranges. Anywhere on the street you could reach up and take an orange if you wished one.

On Wednesday the program came to an end and the return trip home. Wednesday night we boarded our plane at 12.30 a.m. arriving in Chicago at six a.m., leaving Chicago at seven, arriving Dorval Airport, Montreal, at ten a.m. Everyone arriving home happy, tired, with fond memories of a beautiful trip, with all expenses paid by the J. I. Case Co.

Rink Association Gives Balance Of Assets To County War Memorial

Thursday evening the meeting called by the Huntingdon Skating Rink Association was held in the County Building. Tenders were to be received at this meeting for the now vacant lot which was the site of the old arena. Only one tender was received and as the consensus of the meeting was that the tender was too low, that such be not entertained. The Skating Rink Association had already turned over $1,500 of its cash to the County War Memorial Fund and it was decided that the remaining cash balance and the vacant lot also be turned over for the benefit of the Huntingdon County War Memorial. The deed will be passed thereby making it possible for the Huntingdon County War Memorial Limited to dispose of the vacant lot and use the funds toward the building of the Huntingdon County War Memorial arena.

New Appeal Court For Quebec

OTTAWA — Quebec province is to have a new court of appeals—called Court of Review—presided over by judges appointed by the Federal Government.

The new court will hear appeals from judgments of the district court and the Quebec Superior Court. Its jurisdiction is to be restricted to civil matters and to cases involving less than $2,000.

The Quebec Government has put the finishing touches to a bill to be introduced in the Provincial Legislative Assembly this week following an adjournment for the Federal-provincial conference the past week.

Concurrent Federal legislation, in he form of an amendment to the Federal Judges Act, is to be brought down in Parliament during the current session.

Seven judges are to be appointed by the Federal Cabinet to preside over the new court of review.

The jurisdiction of the new court will extend throughout the province. Four of the judges will sit in Montreal, three in Quebec City.

Memorial Room In New Memorial Arena Is Planned

Following the Huntingdon Skating Rink Association meeting on Thursday evening, the Huntingdon County War Memorial Limited held its meeting. All accounts to date were passed for payment. The expenditures yet to be incurred were estimated and it was generally believed another $20,000 will be required to complete the Memorial arena. It was decided that an effort be made to borrow such a sum of money now and to pay it off after a canvass is made in 1958 for the benefit of the Huntingdon County War Memorial arena.

It was unanimously agreed at this meeting that a becoming "War Memorial Room" be set apart in the arena. The space for this room will be one of the corner rooms at the front of the building. In this room it is hoped to have a record of all who have enlisted from Huntingdon County in World War I, II and Korea. If records can be obtained of those who may have served in the Boar War and Fenian Raids etc. such will be recorded. It was also decided that when the arena is open at the hour of 11 p.m., the lights of the Arena be dimmed and that a spot light be focused on some fitting memorable words such as "Lest We Forget" or perhaps on a fitting verse or two; failing that, it might be a recording that would be played during the dimmed light period. It was felt that with such a memorial room and light dimming each night at 11 p.m., irrespective of what may be going on in the arena at that hour, it would impress upon the occupants at that moment that the building was erected as a Huntingdon County War Memorial in honor of all who may have sacrificed their lives and to all other veterans who may have since passed away.

Descendents, veterans and their friends will undoubtedly be pleased to learn that the Huntingdon County War Memorial committee have deemed it fit and proper that such a fitting acknowledgement is planned to be carried out in the arena.

Former Dundee Muskie Angler Likely To Cop Grand Prize In Fish Contest

Mr. Arthur Lawton of Delmar, near Albany, N.Y., who used to do some "Muskie" fishing around Fraser's Point, appears headed for the Grand Prize in the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest for 1957. On September 22 this year, he caught what is considered to be the largest Muskalonge ever seen in the U.S.A. and no doubt would outdistance anything caught in Canadian areas also.

This "Muskie" giant, which weighed 69 lbs. 15 ozs., was 64½ inches long with a girth of 31¾ inches. It was taken in the St. Lawrence River near Clayton, N.Y.

Lawton used a Creek Chub plug, a True Temper rod with a Shakespeare reel and a 30-lb. test Ashaway line. It took him a little more than an hour to bring the big boy to gaff.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lawton have been consistent Muskie fishermen for over 20 years. When asked he said he preferred not to tell the exact spot where he landed the champion. He has already taken several large "Muskies" out of the same general area and wants to keep the spot as private as possible so he can have some more years of good fishing.

In the same contest in 1956, Mrs. Lawton won 1st prize with a 60 lb. 8 oz. Muskie and her husband finished second with a 52 lb. 5 oz. specimen.

In 1944 in the Field and Stream Fish Contest he took first place with a 53 pounder and in 1955 he took the same prize with one that weighed 58 lbs. Mr. Lawton is a refrigeration engineer in Albany.

Canada's Red Plague

The Canadian Forestry Association estimates that some 300 million young trees are destroyed annually by forest fires set by public carelessness. This 'kindergarten' class, springing from the seed of parent trees, was designed by Mother Nature to build up new forests in a steady succession. Fires set by human recklessness often create a desolate barrens requiring a half-century or more for the first sign of recovery.

Chateauguay River Claims The Lives Of Two Small Children at Chateauguay, Quebec on Thursday

The Chateauguay River claimed another two more small children on Thursday afternoon, November 28. The children were the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Janus Lakats of 208 Salaberry Blvd. South, Chateauguay Village. The family had just recently moved to Chateauguay from Montreal.

The children, Inara (Julia) aged 5½ years and Janus (Jackie) aged 3½ years usually met the children coming home from school about 3.50 o'clock in the afternoon. The two youngsters were permitted to go outside at about 3.45 p.m. and usually waited for the school children at the foot of the laneway of their home. Jackie returned home at 4.15 p.m. to get his mitts and the daughter was seen sitting on the steps of the home.

On this particular afternoon, the school children did not return home until nearly five o'clock.

At approximately 4.30 p.m., a woman saw the girl standing at the riverbank and the boy was seen walking along the laneway of the home. Five or ten minutes later, the Roman Catholic school children passing by saw the children. As it was getting dark, the mother suddenly did not see her children. She ran immediately to the river accompanied by a neighbour. Mrs. Lakats discovered a round hole in the ice, but as it was duck, the neighbor thought it only a large stone, The water at this point is very shallow.

Immediately a search was begun and with the help of a passing farmer, Mrs. Lakats went to the village but could not locate the children there. Returning to the scene, neighbours gathered and began a systematic search. The police were notified and responded with three men, who began to search the river.

Descriptions of the missing children were phoned to one of the Montreal radio stations about 6 o'clock and broadcasted.

A woman reported that she had seen a five-year-old girl leading a small boy by the hand walking along the Beauharnois Road. However they were not the missing children.

With some difficulty a boat was brought up the river through the ice and the water search begun. At approximately 6.30 p.m., the two missing children were found in the river. Artificial respiration was started but to no avail.

It is thought that the girl fell into the river and pulled the young boy in after her. Both died of shock of the cold water rather than from drowning.

Funeral services and interment were held in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Janus Lakats have one other child, an 11-months-old daughter. Mr. Lakats is an employee of Dow Brewery in Montreal.

It was only through the help of many neighbours and strangers that the children were found as soon as they were. The Lakats family sincerely appreciate the generosity and the kindness of these people.

J. I. Case Dealers Off For A Trip To Arizona

The above photograph shows Quebec Dealers for J. I. Case Farm Machinery, just before they left Dorval Airport for a trip to Phoenix, Arizona. If readers will look just behind the sign, they will notice Mr. F. C. Moore, Huntingdon Dealer, who took the trip. Again behind the sign and standing up under the wing of the plane, may be seen Arthur Legault of Huntingdon, who was a member of the Legault Meat Market and well known to many in Huntingdon. He is now on the staff of J. I. Case.

Julius Richardson School Addition Opened By Insp. W. H. Brady And Maurice Laberge

Inspector W. H. Brady and Maurice Laberge, M.P.P., officially opened the new addition of the Julius Richardson Protestant School, Chateauguay, on Friday evening. A good representation of the Home and School, I.O.D.E., the staff of the school and a few ratepayers attended the ceremonies held in the auditorium of the school.

Mr. Clarry Jobber, Chairman of the Protestant School Commission welcomed everyone and read a history of the school written by Miss Rhoda Macfarlane, one of the elder residents of the municipality.

Seated in the stage for the ceremonies were Mrs. W. Barkly, Mr. Tiberor Miletics, Mr. John Adams, Mr. Clarry Jobber, Chairman and Mr. Wm. Yarnell of the school Commission; Mr. de Belle of the Architectural firm, de Belle and White; Mr. Rod L'Ecuyer, Contractor; Inspector W. H. Brady; Mr. E. R. Richardson, on behalf of the Richardson family; Mr. Dave Currie, Mayor of Chateauguay Heights; Mr. Georges Soyez, Mayor of the Town of Chateauguay; Rev. John Buck; Rev. D. Brooker; Mr. Maurice Laberge, M.P.P.; Mr. Rene Dupont, Roman Catholic School Commission of Chateauguay; Mr. Wm. Mitchell, a member of the former School Board; Mr. Edgar Atkinson, former secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Norman Rodgers, present Secretary-Treasurer.

Messrs E .R. Richardson and Dave Currie offered their congratulations to the school commission and the ratepayers.

In his remarks Inspector W. H. Brady said that he was very pleased to be attending the third addition opening at the Julius Richardson School. He added that "This addition will have to be the last in this location because of the lack of playground space. Probably some of us will be at the opening of an entirely new building, when it is built. Nearly every school in my inspectorate is having the same growing pains as is the Julius Richardson School, and it is happening all over Canada and the United States."

Inspector Brady said that in 1946, The Protestant School enrolment was at its lowest of 63,000. By 1956, it had increased to 96,000 students or an increase of slightly over 50% in ten years. The figures for this year will probably be over 100,000.

Inspector Brady congratulated the contractor, architect and the previous school boards and concluded his remarks by "We are going to have to look ahead to a provision for a High School because the time is coming when the Montreal Board will be unable to take outside pupils".

Mr. Maurice Leberge, M.P.P., officially opened the addition by cutting a ribbon. He said that Educa-

At the fall business meeting plans were made for the season. A new trophy, in memory of Mrs. R. R. Ness, will be played for during the last week in January. This will be an open bonspiel.

Three rinks entered the McGerrigle Bonspiel at Ormstown and one skipped by Mrs. R. Stewart won the Consolation. Mrs. Donald Ness and Mrs. Glasgow have skipped friendly games at Montreal West and Ste. Anne's.

Plans are being made for the Rich Trophy, which may be played next week; so all you curling-minded folk from Riverfield, Aubrey and Howick get the old skirt or slacks out of moth balls and prepare for fun at this friendly bonspiel.

CARS ARE MY Line

by Noel A. Foisy

It does no good to comment, as so many do at this time of year, on how much our Christmas has changed.

The candles on our trees are now electrical (and thereby much safer) and the carols are more likely to come from a three-speed phonograph (and will, therefore, be more musical, if not more dedicated, than our own efforts).

I do not regret, really, that our Christmas has changed. For whatever havoc progress has wrecked on this day of Christ, it remains still a day that stands out in each year as bright as the star that shone over Bethlehem.

We mark our mileposts by our Christmases. We remember the new flivver the family got because it was used for the happy occasion of Christmas, or we remember how good a cook our mother was because she excelled at Christmas.

And all the uncles and aunts and cousins and nephews (some of them fun and some of them pretty unbearable) fit into our memories because we remember them from Christmases.

Memory is among our great treasures and no mechanical contrivance can ever take its place as a source of pleasure. Christmas, as the focal point of memory, can never be changed fundamentally despite the gnawing away at its spirit by the growing commercialism.

Memory, made of Christmases, is brighter than any string of lights, sweeter than any wine and more beautiful than any phonograph. In wishing all our friends a Merry Christmas, therefore, we are wishing you all another day that will soon become a pleasant and mellow memory!

Ormstown Exhibition Board Congratulations

THERE is no one who is not thrilled by success, especially if that success concerns oneself or what he or she has had to do with it. Continual disappointments are discouraging to most people, but most of us place much reliance on hope of improvement or better things. It is oftentimes hope that gives us the impetus to carry on a little longer.

For several years, Ormstown Exhibition, together with many others, has suffered from going into the red. The officials have tried many ways to overcome this, but the results continued the same. There were times when some exhibitions almost threw up their hands in despair and seriously thought that it would be the last time unless things improved. Come another year and the directors decided to try it again. Criticism piles up against a board when things do not go just right, some of it constructive and some of it in condemnation. There is no help for it, when dealing with the public it is like that.

In these days of high speed travel, fast news services, television and many other reasons, the public is well entertained and attractions of the nature of sports and fairs are not well attended. Promoters of all such attractions try their very best to put on something that will bring the people through the gates, but it takes almost the colossal to do it.

The Horse Show at Ormstown Exhibition has maintained a very good attendance, but it was not enough to take the show out of the red. Everything was tried and big money was paid to bring in attractions considered to be that which would have the pulling power, but still no success.

The 1957 show took a turn for the better and turned out to be one of the best financially that has been held for many years. The Board at the annual meeting held the past week, tried to put the finger on what might have been the real reason. The idea being that if it could be found, the right course to pursue in the future might lead to a repeat performance of the success achieved. However, no one could pin it down. It was concluded however, that the local contests had something to do with it, while general conditions could have had an effect. The Ormstown Exhibition operated with a profit of over $3,000 for the 1957 exhibition.

The Officials are naturally very pleased with the result and are encouraged beyond everything to continue with the show and to try and give the people something they will be pleased with. By not having high priced professional entertainment, expenses were curtailed. By having local people participate in the horse racing events much more interest was secured and the cost here was less. The Horse Show on Saturday afternoon and evening seemed to draw big attendances and the dance contest was also a success. The weekend gate was the best it has ever been in a long time and may even have established a record. These things might indicate why the show turned out well financially. We feel the officials are entitled to congratulations on this success for there was good management and much planning as well as a gamble.

Now the officials are concentrating on what type of program to provide for the 1958 Show. We feel that once again, they will merit your full support when the time comes for presentation and it is hoped that having once gained this success, it will so continue.

Education is Everybod y's Business

THE above heading is the slogan used for "Education Week" each year and we believe it applies more now than ever. It is the topic for discussion on many public forums and among people who see the greater need today for it. It has been well known for some time that education has been lacking many of its requirements. First and foremost is the need for an adequate supply of teachers, this is a worry to all schoolboards when the contracts expire at the end of each school year. Will the present staff continue and if not will there be the right type of applications to fill the vacancies?

At the graduation level, both from the high schools and the universities, there is apprehension as to how many students will be available for continuation in the universities and for employment in industry and other works. There is a serious shortage of engineers, chemists and all to do with the sciences. At the high school level there are too few available for continuation in universities and for courses in science.

In some public discussions, it is brought out that there is a great need to change the present curriculum of the elementary and high schools. In one such discussion, it was told that in Russia, they start the children at a much earlier age into the learning of mathematical subjects, so necessary to science courses. A Russian visitor high up in the educational authority of Russia was visiting in B.C. and was shown a very fine school building with the latest in equipment. He was not interested in the building at all, but asked to see the text books and the courses of study. He was surprised that such subjects as algebra and mathematics, were not taken in the lower grade levels.

In view of the now known advance in Russia in the scientific field, it would seem that we could take a page out of their book in an effort to improve education in this country. No doubt Russia took their first page from our system and learned much from secrets picked up through their spy system. Nevertheless, they have had to have learned people to decipher the knowledge gained to make use of it to such good advantage.

Methods of education have been changed from time to time, but apparently there has not been enough change. More emphasis must be placed on the individual, which in this case is the student. He and she must be instilled in the early days with the desirability of learning and the importance of the best possible education. They must be encouraged to believe that it is a duty to themselves as well as the country for them to study well and maybe long. Once this has become imbedded in the mind, they will carry the idea along and work toward greater achievement for themselves. The student is the product of education, the commodity which is being manufactured for the good of the world, the quality of the product should therefore be the best possible to obtain. As much care must be taken while it is in the rough as is taken when the finishing process is reached. In these days, it is a precious product and demands all the care and handling to bring it to perfection. The number of rejects, or seconds, under our present system are far too many. They much be cut down in order that the larger percentage is of the finished product which will result in greater profit to the progress of humanity.

The sooner we realize this, and pay more attention to it using action, instead of words, the sooner will we regain the ground lost.

Safe Driving Week

THIS week, from December 1st to the 7th is designated Canada's National Safe-Driving Week. It began at midnight, November 30th and will end at midnight on Saturday, December 7th.

Fortunately, for some time in this immediate area, we have been without very serious accidents. We have not been without accidents, but they have been of a minor nature. Safe-Driving Week is aimed at there being no accidents whatever for the whole week. With this in mind, it is possible to cut down the number of accidents, but we do not think there will be a complete no accident record. Such may happen in isolated cases, but the "week" is national in its scope.

Drivers of cars should strive at all times to prevent accidents as the large number taking place every day, is sending the cost of premiums for automobile insurance up and up each year. Cars are being more expensively built and therefore cost more to repair. This makes for increase in the costs of claims to be settled when accidents occur. Therefore drivers of cars can save themselves much in the cost of upkeep for their cars by being more careful. If the number of accidents can be cut down, instead of high insurance rates, more than likely the rates will be lowered.

There is only one way to place the blame for accidents and that is on the driver. At all times the driver must be in control of his vehicle and he must make the decisions as to what his car will do. When driving is hazardous, he must drive according to the hazard and be more alert than ever. He must check his car from time to time for mechanical defects and defects which come to his attention while driving. The car cannot adjust its own defects. If defects occur while driving, the driver should adjust the driving to the trouble and seek advice or help as quickly as possible. He should never put off having his car put into condition, for his own safety as well as for others. It will also be less costly upon the pocketbook if small matters are attended to at once and not left to develop into real trouble. Brakes, lights, steering, tires, are perhaps the most important items for everyday checking.

Cars of today are speedy, but we do not believe that they should be driven at the ratings given. Most highway speeds are posted along the highways and even these at times can be too dangerous. They are only posted to warn that such speed should not be exceeded. It takes discretion on the part of the driver as to what is a safe speed and what is not. At this time of the year when highways are slippery and icy, the driver must again regulate his driving according to the hazards. It is partly through this reason that Safe-Driving Week is set for this particular season.

We urge that all drivers take full precautions for safety, not only during this week, but every day, every week. Eventually it will pay dividends not only to the driver, but to everyone.

SPORT IN THE YESTERYEARS

Interesting Items from Huntingdon

Huntingdon, February 22—Hockey is all the rage here this winter, and with three good rinks with an accompanying hockey team, there has been no end of sport. On Saturday last the village team met Academy boys, played their regular series match, and embryo the collegians won by a score of 2 to 1. The result of this match makes the whole three teams equal with two matches for each to play.

Lately two hockey teams from Huntingdon, The Y.M.S.C. and the Village, went to Malone, N.Y. to play a match. The object of the visit was to show the beauties of the Canadian pastime, and, perhaps, be the means of forming a club in that town.

The masquerade in Hasson's rink was a success, there being about 250 present. The manager offered prizes for the best fancy dress. The ladies, as might be expected, went in for elegance, and caused the judges any amonut of trouble to arrive at a decision. Miss Tena McDiarmid, representing night, was given the prize. The gentlemen went in for the grotesque, and Mr. Chas. Lamb of the Gleaner, got the prize. The prizes offered were well worth striving after —Gazette, Feb. 23.

At Ormstown

A masked hockey match was played by the Ormstown hockey club on the skating rink on Wednesday of last week, and there was also a 3-mile race on skates. 1st prize, Jas. McGerrigle, a silver cup; 2nd. Duffy McLaren, a silver cup; 3rd. Burres McGerrigle. A half mile race for juniors resulted in 1st. prize, Robt. Smith and 2nd. Ochell Doutre. The prizes were given by the villagers. —Gleaner March 4, 1897.

Curling

There was some surprise among the admirers of the 'roarin' game in Huntingdon when it became known that their favorites had only been beaten by four shots in the medal competition at Ormstown on Friday afternoon. The Branch had given a district medal to be played for by English River and Huntingdon. As there has been no curling rink in this village this winter, it was considered a foregone conclusion that the Huntingdon curlers would not have a ghost of a chance, but, rather than show the white feather, they decided to play at all odds. Some of the members had not a block in their hands since last year until they went on the ice to play the match, and, consequently, were a little rusty with the turns. A protest was fyled by English River against four Huntingdon players. It might be stated that the protested players were among those who inaugurated the game here, and have had their fingers in the pie ever since. The players were as follows:

Rink No. 1.
English River	Huntingdon
J. Carmichael	P. Mcfarlane
J. Currie	J. W. Stark
J. Currie	Findlay Bell
J. McGregor	Jas. R. Oney
Skip 15	Skip 10
H. Benny	R. Hastie
A. Roy	Dr. R. N. Walsh
M. Morris	R. E. Kelly
J. Angel	C. Cunningham
Skip 13	Skip 14
Total 28	Total 24

Majority for English River 4 shots. —Gleaner, March 11th, 1897.

Huntingdon

Those interested in lacrosse met on Monday evening to see what could be done during the coming summer. The promoters were the young men who played last season, and who made such a good showing. Instead of waiting to the end of summer to commence playing, as they did in 1896, they intend starting at its opening. The old lacrosse grounds have been leased and arrangements are on foot to have a match on the Queen's birthday. A subscription list is out, and has met with good encouragement. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Dr. Cameron.
President—Chas. H. Lamb.
1st. Vice President—Arthur Lunan.
2nd Vice President—S. Davis
Secretary—Allister McNaughton.
Executive Committee—Jas. Darrah, Fred McGinnis, Wm. Marshall, Eddie Ewart and Arthur Hunter.

Practice will commence as soon as weather and field will permit.

The Valleyfield lacrosse club have organized for the season with the following officers: Committee: Andrew Lowe, chairman; Wm. P. Metcalfe, Walter Rice and Robert Bothwell; captain Joe Finnegan. The club's grounds will be ready for practice as soon as dry, and a brisk season is expected. The football and baseball clubs are also getting into shape, and altogether the V.A.A.A. hope to offer an interesting program for the coming summer. The secretary's address is A. E. Fellow, Valleyfield.—Gleaner, April 29th, 1897.

A largely attended meeting having for its object the re-organization of the Huntingdon Lacrosse Club was held on Monday evening. Judging from the enthusiasm displayed by those who were present it seems likely that the national game will again be played in the village. The old lacrosse grounds where in the past so many hard fought games have been lost and won, are practically secured. The first match will most likely be played on May 24th. After several minor details had been discussed, the club was organized with the following officers: Dr. Cameron, Hon. President; Chas. H. Lamb, President; A. Lunan, 1st Vice-President; Sam Davis 2nd Vice President; Allister McNaughton, Secretary. Executive Committee: James Darragh, Fred McGinnis, W. Marshall and Edw. Ewart.

A meeting was held on Monday evening for the purpose of forming an athletic association for the village. The idea originated with the wheelmen of the village, their idea being to lease the old Huntingdon Driving Park and affiliate with the proposed association. It is intended to put the tract in first class condition and sporting events such as bicycle races, foot races and other manly sports, would be on the programme and everyone would find ample amusement. A committee was drafted and a brisk canvass for members will be made.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them"

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Coming down town this morning on the bus I sat beside a young mother and her little child, a girl of about three years who chattered to me delightedly about the prospect of a visit to Santa Claus at one of the big stores in the city. Most of what she said or was trying to say was incoherent, for she spoke so fast in her eagerness to give expression to the wonder of the occasion.

Wonder is the first reaction of the infant mind to the new world in which it finds itself. It is the dawn of consciousness and individuality. Plato claimed that all acquired knowledge was a form of memory, reminiscence of a pre-existence, and Wordsworth expressed the same idea in the lines:

"Not in entire forgetfulness ....
But trailing clouds of glory do we come
From God, who is our home."

and he added, "Heaven lies about us in our infancy!"

To those very learned psychologists, who would disillusion the child mind of the reality of Santa Claus and his fairy train, that little child on the bus had been cruelly deceived by its parents. They would inform it that Christmas Day is just another 25th day of December, that all the display of mechanical toys in shop windows and the general decorative household preparations for the Festive Season are so much fantastic makebelieve.

But what would be more cruel than to rob that child of the delight at finding itself actually in fairyland? You don't have to make a child believe in fairies. Christmas merely confirms its natal assumption that we are all fairies. That little girl took it for granted that I was as much interested in Santa Claus as she was. She was unaware that my mind was full of what I had just been reading in the newspaper. About crimes and fatalities, local, national and international politics, the latest scientific developments of atomic energy, war-headed guided missiles and rockets that can defy the law of gravitation and climb to the moon.

As I listened to that child telling me about the fanciful world in which she lived, it occured to me that it was not as fantastic as the real world in which I was living. I nestled closer to the little one in the hope that I might catch some of the infection of the Christmas spirit that can transform this real world—if only for a brief season—into the fairyland of Santa Claus.

The Week At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The premiers of Canada's 10 provinces, although they got no federal commitment on immediate changes in tax-sharing arrangements, left last week's federal-provincial fiscal conference with assurances of federal aid in some directions.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced plans for a $11,500,000-a-year expansion in the federal share of provincial costs of unemployment relief. This would be done by removing the so-called "threshold" at which the federal treasury steps in to help provinces care for their unemployed. This threshold now is set at .45 per cent of a province's population.

He also announced a start some time in the New York on federal payments towards provincial hospital insurance plans, without waiting—as the predecessor Liberal government intended—until a majority of the provinces with a majority of the country's population were committed.

Grants-In-Aid

Another prospect is federal grants-in-aid to the four Maritime provinces to counterbalance their present relatively unfavorable economic position compared to the general level of income in Canada.

While the Prime Minister said nothing publicly about this, informants at the meeting said the grants might run to between $20,000,000 and $35,000,000 a year. They would be in addition to any tax-sharing arrangement.

The premiers also were told a new conference will be convened as early as possible in the New Year to receive the federal government's decisions on the multitude of treasury-dipping propositions advanced by the provinces during the meeting.

Finance Minister Fleming had told the meeting all the provinces' demands could add up to more than $1,500,000,000 a year, compared to the $6,000,000,000 the central government now is paying out in various forms of grants and tax-rental agreements. His statement appeared to throw cold water on some of the provincial demands.

Nuclear Warheads

Stockpiling of United States nulear warheads is to be discussed at the NATO summit meeting, but Canadian chiefs of staff are more interested in guided missiles.

So say federal officials who last week disclosed that warhead stockpiling was a topic for the Paris meeting. They added it was unlikely the government would reach an immediate decision on the matter.

The Canadian staff chiefs are more interested in Canada first getting the guided missiles needed to deliver the nuclear warheads.

Canadian military leaders also are interested in anti-aircraft ground-to-air missiles for the air defence systems, an artillery rocket for the army and atomic depth charges for the navy.

It now appears Canada's armed forces won't get guided missiles for two to three years, waiting until the U.S. has perfected various types before buying. It would cost an estimated $1,000,000,000—more than half the country's annual defence budget—to re-equip the 12-squadron air division in Europe with missiles or supersonic fighters.

To be effective, missiles would required the nuclear warheads. The defence department would prefer that the warheads be stored in Canada under U.S. command. In this way, Canada wouldn't have to pay for them.

Storing of U.S. atomic weapons in Canada would call for no change in Canadian or U.S. law if they are held under American command. The only requisite would be a permit from the Canadian atomic energy control board—a crown agency.

If the government were unwilling to have the warheads stockpiled in Canada they could be held near border points in the U.S. for quick transfer in emergency.

Still Need Fighters

Military authorities say the RCAF will need a manned interceptor for home defence for seven to 10 years longer. There is no solid evidence that Russia has cut bomber production. But anti-aircraft missiles, like the American supersonic Bomarc, will have to augment the interceptors.

Meantime, Defence Minister Pearkes was quoted in newspaper reports as saying in an interview at Sydney, N.S., that U.S. aircraft now can fly over Canadian territory bearing nuclear weapons after first getting Canada's permission.

This raised the question whether U.S. planes do fly over Canadian territory with such weapons, and whether Canadians are greatly endangered if they do. The answer to the first question wasn't definitely known at Ottawa. The answer to the second—in the opinion of experts—is in the negative.

The former Liberal defence minister, Ralph Campney, told parliament last February that Canadian authorities had satisfied themselves that no great safety hazards would be involved in flights of nuclear-weapon-carrying aircraft over Canadian territory. Safety devices to prevent premature or accidental discharge of such weapons were entirely adequate.

Wool Tariffs

The tariff board last week wound up hearings on tariffs for Canada's wool cloth industry, and board chairman Hector McKinnon said he hopes to have a report ready by the end of January.

The Canadian industry argued for sharply-increased protection from British and Italian imports to preserve the position of domestic mills. Allied industries and unions representing the textile workers supported the bid.

British and Italian competitors presented briefs which said any tariff boosts would increase consumer prices and accelerate the shift from wool to synthetic fibres.

Canadian farm groups and organizations representing British Columbia forest products industries opposed any tariff boost which might curtail buying of Canadian goods by other countries.

Finance Minister Fleming had ordered the board earlier this year to make a complete study of the textiles tariff structure and to recommend changes if found necessary.

The belief that spontaneous combustion starts forest conflagrations is without foundation. Four-fifths of the fires in most provinces are set by public carelessness, although lightning plays a major part in northern Ontario and British Columbia. Campfires and lighted tobacco account for a third of the outbreaks in all Canada.

Oat Improvement In Eastern Canada

OTTAWA — Since 1953 nine new varieties of oats have been licensed for sale in Canada and all but two have found a place on "Lists of Recommended Varieties" in one or more of the Eastern Canadian Provinces, All except one have been developed by plant breeders in Canada; reports R. A. Derick, C.E.F., Ottawa.

The soil and climatic variation in Eastern Canada is such that no one variety could be expected to perform well under so many different environmental conditions and it is for this reason that varieties have been developed for different climatic regions. Some varieties, however, have shown wider adaptability than others and are recommended for many different climatic areas.

Throughout Eastern Canada losses to the oat crop occur mostly from diseases and lodging. All of the more recently introduced varieties have resistance to the rusts and smuts in varying degrees and some have improved lodging resistance. The kernel quality of many new varieties has also been improved both from the standpoint of kernel size and hull percentage.

Among the newer varieties, Rodney and Garry have created considerable interest in Eastern Canada. Rodney, a medium late maturing variety, is recommended quite generally in Ontario, except in the southwestern and northern areas, or when late seeding is necessary. In other parts of the East, Rodney has not yet proved sufficiently well adapted to warrant recommendation.

Garry appears to be more widely adapted than Rodney and is recommended throughout Ontario and in Quebec except in the Gaspe and Lake St. John districts. In the Atlantic Provinces Garry does not seem to have the same general adaptation, but in recent years has shown up quite well in Prince Edward Island and in parts of New Brunswick.

Limited quantities of seed of two new early maturing varieties Fundy and Shield were released in 1957 for the first time. Fundy was distributed mostly to growers in New Brunswick where it has shown adaptability in a large part of the Province. Shield, an exceptionally early maturing variety was released to growers in northern and eastern Ontario and in western and northwestern Quebec. This variety may find a useful place in areas where extreme earliness is needed and as a nurse crop for seeding down grasses and clovers.

Scotian, a medium early maturing, good yielding variety has proved to be well adapted in Nova Scotia where is was released in 1954.

Shefford, developed at Macdonald College in Quebec is an early maturing, thin hulled variety recommended in all regions of Quebec.

Three other oat varieties released since 1953 are Simcoe, Clintland and Vicar. Simcoe developed at the Ontario Agricultural College is early maturing and high yielding but is recommended only in southwestern Ontario. Clintland a very early maturing, short strawed variety with yellow grain colour was introduced from the United States. It does not appear on the recommended lists of varieties in Eastern Canada, but may have limited use in areas where very early maturity is required and on land that normally produces a lodged crop. Vicar, a hulless variety was introduced from the Cereal Breeding Laboratory, Winnipeg. It is medium late maturing and has the Garry resistance to the rusts and smuts.

Other older varieties such as Beaver, Ajax, Abegweit, Roxton and Erban are still grown in some areas. While these older varieties have all served as "stepping stones" in the normal process of variety improvement, and in some cases may still be satisfactory, growers would be well advised to give the newer varieties a trial.

Public To Get 'Inside' Look At Liberal Party

Ottawa — Plans are being made to give Canadians from coast to coast the unique experience of seeing for themselves how a political party condenses cross-country opinion into a practical philosophy of government.

Discussions now under way with the C.B.C. are aimed at televising the actual deliberations of the Resolutions Committee during the Liberal Party's National Convention here January 14-16.

"The Convention belongs entirely to the delegates from the various provinces and federal constituencies," Duncan MacTavish, Q.C., National Liberal Federation Chairman, said today. "They are the ones will choose the new party leader, and they are also the ones who will present the resolutions which will determine the Liberal Party's approach to national and local problems."

Another feature of the Convention will be making time available for delegates to put forward resolutions from the Convention floor itself.

"One quarter of the total time during which the three-day Convention will sit," Mr. MacTavish said, "has been set aside for resolutions from the floor. We believe that no party can truly represent all sections of the country unless representatives of each section are allowed to make their opinions known."

Immediate Action Asked For Protection For Textile Industry

OTTAWA — A need for immediate action to correct conditions causing serious harm to the Canadian primary textile industry was presented to the Tariff Board at Ottawa the past week by H. Roy Crabtree, President, Primary Textiles Institute.

The appeal was made on behalf of "150,000 workers, their families, and the service and trades people who depend on them for a living" at the opening of an inquiry into Canadian tariffs affecting textiles and clothing.

Mr. Crabtree said: "We are heartened by the fact that the Minister of Finance has seen fit to direct this study.... this is an indication to us that we are not alone in our concern of the future".

The Tariff Board has commenced hearings into the situation of the wool cloth section of the textile industry which is asking a revision affecting duties covering imports. There will be further hearings into the cases of other sections of the industry.

In discussing the difficulties of the Canadian textile industry, Mr. Crabtree said that one of the causes was the fact that "more and more Canadian requirements for textiles are being filled by foreign producers."

He added that government action was needed, in the form of "tariffs and trade policies that are adapted to today's conditions, and to what we can see of the future".

Mr. Crabtree said that there had been lay-offs, short work weeks, closings of plants and financial losses within the textile industry in recent years, and asked if this was to continue.

"This is something which will largely be determined by the Government's trade policies, and these policies are naturally dependent on the advice of such bodies as this Tariff Board".

Winter Weather Ahead Watch For Hazards

Each year, "little" accidents which seldom make the headlines, cause injury and distress to hundreds of Canadians, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Many of these accidents occur during the winter, and most could be avoided through care and attention. The Federation, which represents more than 200 Canadian fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies, makes these recommendations for winter safety around the home:

1) Keep sidewalks shovelled and clear of ice and snow at all times.

2) Check exterior stairways and entrances for loose boards, nails and other dis-repair which might cause injury.

3) Clear large icicles from the eaves. They can cause serious injury when they fall.

4) Make sure that snow shovels, garden rakes, children's toys and similar items are kept clear of walks and not hidden under a deceptive layer of snow.

5) Cover accessible steam and hot water pipes which might cause burns to the unwary.

6) Keep children away from portable heaters, stoves and fireplaces.

7) Keep hot ashes in a metal container—never in cardboard or wooden boxes.

GOKEY-LINDSAY

ROCKBURN — A very pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon, November 30, 1957, in the Rockburn Presbyterian Church, when Helen Margaret Lindsay, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Lindsay was united in marriage with Richard Gokey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gokey of Malone, N.Y. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. Grant of Huntingdon, assisted by Mr. J. Anderson. The bride looked lovely in a gown of white imported chantilly lace over taffeta of ballerina length and carried a white Bible with a small bouquet of pink roses with white satin streamers. The maid of honour, Miss Patricia Lindsay, was gowned in a dress similar to the bride's but pastel blue in color and carried a nosegay of yellow baby chrysanthemums.

The best man was Mr. Francis Gokey and the ushers were Messrs. Roy Gokey and Norris Lindsay.

During the service Mrs. Trainer and Miss Cain sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Because" and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Gibson.

Following the ceremony the wedding party and guests adjourned to the church hall where lunch was served to all by the Young Women's Evening Club of the W.M.S. of Rockburn Church. Rev. J. M. Grant proposed a toast to the bride and Mr. J. Anderson a toast to the maid-of-honour and she and Dr. A. S. Reid each spoke briefly, tendering all best wishes to the young couple, and all were responded to very appreciatively by the group. The happy couple left for a short honeymoon in New York State, and their home will be in Malone, N.Y. The bride's travelling costume was blue wool with leopard trimmings and brown accessories. The church was very nicely decorated with ribbon and small evergreen sprays and bouquets of beautiful chrysanthemums.

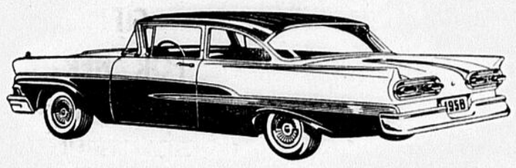

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gokey of Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Mair of Howick, Mr. Blachford, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Laberge all of Huntingdon and Miss Isabel Ferns of Dewittville.

December 26 And January 2nd, Declared Civic Holidays

Huntingdon Town Council met on Monday evening at the County Building with all members present except Alderman McWhinnie. Following the reading of the minutes and passing a number of accounts, some charity cards were approved.

A letter was read from Mr. A. C. H. Picard, in which he asked that Poirier Street be opened through to Bouchette St. He informed the council that if it is not opened up, he will take action to have it opened. Council discussed this matter for some time, but no action was taken on it at this meeting.

Mayor Cappiello informed the council that a meeting will be held on Saturday, with regard to the Mercier Bridge and some extra width or another bridge being made. Councils from the surrounding area will form a committee for presentation of the case for the bridge. He asked council for a sum of money to be voted for expenses in the event that such may be required. The approaches are all in readiness, but the bridge is still the same size and it is important that something be done now, he said.

It was decided that the day following Christmas Day and that following New Year's Day, be declared Civic Holidays in Huntingdon.

Mr. Roskies, owner of the Popular Rugs Building, asked that he be given a reduction in the taxes on this property for the year 1957. After some discussion, the council decided to take no action.

The contract for Mr. Rene Rouselle is about to expire and came up for renewal. After discussing the matter, council decided to let it continue for the time being.

Alderman White was named Pro-Mayor for the next three months.

Mr. F. O'Connor asked council for a reduction of his business tax for 1957, due to his having only operated it for a few months during the year. He also asked for a reduction in water taxes. Council decided to allow a 50% reduction in the business tax, but no reduction was allowed for water tax.

Five water meters are to be installed on the lines of different premises in town, to check on the amount of water being used in these establishments. It is likely that these premises will be put on a special rate according to the amount of water used.

tion is necessary in the future of this country. Each and every student should receive a sound primary and high school education before he goes to college.

He concluded his address by asking everyone to support the School Commission and Staff and that he would try to secure future grants when needed.

Following the official opening, Rev. D. Brooker than gave the dedication.

Mr. Clarry Jobber spoke briefly at the end of the ceremony and said that the credit for the realization of the new addition should go to the preceding School Board, composed of Mr. Stan Best, Chairman, Mr. Wm. Mitchell and Mrs. Wm. Barkley.

Mrs. Robert Pritchard sang two solos and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Louis C. Smith.

Are these merely co-incidences or do they show evidence of Timing in a Great Plan? This year will witness the 40th anniversary of the Deliverance of Jerusalem and in view of the prominence given in Scripture to 40 day and 40 year periods many students of the chronological aspects of the Bible are looking forward with interest to December 9, 10, 11 of 1957.

In Memoriam

GREIG — In loving memory of "Mason," who left us December 7th, 1951 —

"There is an open gate at the end of the road
Through which each must go alone.
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Beyond the gate our loved one finds happiness and rest
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best".
Lovingly remembered by,

His Wife and Family.

GUILLEMETTE — In loving memory of our dear son, Leo, who was killed in action December 7th, 1944 —

"Just as you were, you will always be Treasured forever in our memory."
From your parents,

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hartley.

SUTTON — In fond and loving memory of dear little Eric, who died on December 8, 1956 —

"By and by, for those who love Him
He will come some happy day
Lead them to the pleasant pastures
Of the land not far away
O the safe and happy children
In the land not far away."

Grandmother Sutton.

These groups were each marked by a keen interest and lively discussion. The evening was brought to a close with refreshments being served by the members of the Refreshment Committee. Basketball Report

On Friday evening at 7.15 the Huntingdon High School Girls' Basketball team was host to the Valleyfield girls' team. As this was a deciding game for our team, the score of 25-18 in favour of Huntingdon was certainly a victory. The following people scored points: Hope Stewart, 12, Dorothy Taylor, 5, Sandra Stark, 4 and both Susan Faille and Dawn Graham made 2 points each.

Boys' Basketball Game

After the girls' game, the Huntingdon boys played the Valleyfield boys. This game was very close. At the end of the half, however, the score was twenty-one to fifteen for Valleyfield. The next half saw Valleyfield boys chalk up more points to bring the closing score of the game forty-three to thirty-four in their favour. The scorers for Huntingdon were: Kerry Johnson, 16 pts., Roger Saumier, 10 pts., Billy Middlemiss 4 pts., Merrill Murray 3 pts., and Yvon Riel, 1 pt.

School Party

A most successful school party was held after the basketball games on Friday night. Many thanks are extended to French's orchestra, who so kindly supplied music for Square dances and also to the chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Montgomery.

Obituary

THE LATE MISS MARY GRANT

The many friends and relatives in the Huntingdon, Dundee and Ormstown districts of the late Miss Mary Grant are keenly aware of a deep loss in her passing, which occurred on Thursday, November 28th, at her late residence, 5530 Queen Mary Road, Montreal. The deceased had enjoyed her usual health until a few hours previous to her death, when she complained of not feeling too well.

Miss Grant was a daughter of the late Thomas Grant and his wife, Mary Fraser. She was a graduate of Huntingdon Academy and of McGill University. A well known artist, Miss Grant was an Instructor in Art in the Westmount High School for many years; her paintings included many scenes of Canadian landscapes and a number of her canvases are hanging in the National Art Gallery, Ottawa.

Miss Grant was a sister of the late Reverend Doctor A. S. Grant (D.D., M.D.). She leaves to mourn her loss several nieces, nephews, cousins and a host of friends and admirers.

The funeral was held from the Chapel of Jos. C. Wray and Bro. on Saturday, November 30. Interment was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express to our kind friends and neighbours our heartfelt thanks for the many kind acts of sympathy shown to us in our sad bereavement. We are deeply grateful for the memorial offerings to the Cancer Fund. Especially we wish to thank the doctors and nurses of the Barrie Memorial Hospital.

Andrew MacFarlane And Family.

LOCAL PEOPLE ENJOY FLORIDA SUNSHINE

The accompanying photograph is one of the first received by The Gleaner this season of residents from the district holidaying in the sunny south. Taken on the patio in front of the Mayfair Apartment Hotel in St. Petersburg, Florida, it depicts residents of the Rockburn, Hemmingford and Huntingdon areas. Back row, standing: Mr. S. Gillard, Mrs. E. W. Steele, E. W. Steele, C. V. Vidler and S. Brown. Sitting: Mrs. C. Vidler, Mrs. S. Brown, Mrs. J. Bruce and Mrs. S. Gillard.

The group spent a three-week sojourn in and around St. Peterburg, from where they took in several motor and boat excursions. The weather was ideal for vacationing and each was impressed by the friendliness and hospitality accorded them.

With the exception of Mrs. J. Bruce, the group travelled by train. Mrs. Bruce, who for a long time has had a yen to take a plane ride, travelled both ways by air.

Penalties Face Three MPs — No Account Of Expenses

OTTAWA, — Three Quebec members of Parliament have not given an account of their 1957 election campaign expenses to the Commons and may be subject to heavy penalties, it was learned last week.

The three are Jean Boucher, Liberal member for Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie, Hector Dupuis, Liberal member for Montreal Ste. Marie, and John Pratt, Progressive Conservative member for Montreal Ste. Marie, and John Pratt, Progressive Conservative member for Montreal Jacques-Cartier-LaSalle.

By law, successful candidates must file an account of their campaign expenses within two months of the date they were declared elected.

State Secretary Ellen Fairclough today tabled in the Commons an account of election expenses. The names of the three Quebec members were not included. Neither were those of 118 unsuccessful candidates across Canada, 60 from Quebec.

The return by Mrs. Fairclough showed that $58,022—a record for the 1957 campaign—was spent by or on behalf of Ludger Dionne, Liberal candidate in Beauce. He was defeated by Dr. Raoul Poulin, independent, whose election expenses were $16,010.

Election expenses of Postmaster-General William Hamilton—$22,249—were the highest for any cabinet minister and fourth highest of the entire campaign.

CCF Leader Coldwell had fewer expenses than any party leader—$2,260. Prime Minister Diefenbaker's were $8,794, Liberal Leader St. Laurent's $4,554 and Social Credit Leader Low's $4,155.

After Mr. Dionne, the candidate to record the biggest expenses was A. Ross Webster, Conservative candidate in Montreal St. Antoine-Wesmount. His expenses were 23,394 and he was beaten by Liberal George Marler, former transport minister, whose expenses were $19,146.

Band Notes

Band Funds Low

A general meeting of the band was held on Wednesday evening of the past week. Discussion centred on re-organization which is necessary because the funds of the organization are very low. There is some doubt if the band will continue to function. Unlike most civic bands, the Huntingdon organization has been carrying on without a regular grant from the town. Outside funds which have been a regular source of income for a few years seem to be jeopardized and if this fear materializes, the Band will probably become a thing of the past. The regular annual meeting is to be held in January when it will be decided just what will be done about another year.

For Lacordaire

The Band was happy to be of service to the Huntingdon branch of Lacordaire on Sunday evening. This temperance group of St. Joseph's Church held a supper and entertainment at the Parish Hall and the band was invited to take part in the entertainment. The Hall was filled to capacity and the applause following each number certainly signified the appreciation of Les Lacordaires.

Herve Tessier who made arrangements for the band to be present, acted as chairman for the band. In the course of his remarks, he stated that Mr. Don Moore has intentions of starting a new band and anyone interested was advised to contact him.

Richly Bred Bull For Oakstream

When he was in attendance at the recent Royal Winter Fair, in Toronto, J. A. ("Jack") Brown of J. A. Brown & Son, Oakstream Farm, Glenelm, took time off to visit the well known Holstein herd of Orvan Chambers, Wilfred, Ont. Likewise to inspect and purchase a likely young bull as a junior herd sire, which bull is now at Oakstream Farm, having been brought from Toronto with the R. R. Ness & Sons, Burnside Show Herd.

This bull, Way Brook Reflection Lad, is a grand-son, on his sire's side, of A. B. C. Reflection Sovereign, classified "Excellent" and "Extra", and the sire of this year's Royal Winter Fair grand champion male. Also the sire of several other noted animals including Rosafe Magic, highest selling male, at $18,500, at the 1957 Holstein Sale of Stars. "Sovereign" has also sired the first prize Gets of Sire at the International Dairy Show, Chicago, and the Royal Winter Fair, respectively, for the past four years.

Way Brook Perfection's paternal grand-dam, Maple Lea L. G. In addition she has just completed a 305-day R.O.P. record that makes her the Champion Producer at eleven years of age and over, regardless of times milked.

Way Brook Perfection will be used in continuation of a line-breeding plan at Oakstream. That is he will be bred to the grand-daughters of Maple Lea Sunset Sally, "Excellent" which was given a "Mention" in both the "All Canadian" and the "All American" ratings of 1953, and which has records up to 804 lbs. fat, on 2X milkings. He will also be used on daughters of Maple Lea Designer Jacob, a double grandson of Keendale Lochinvar, classified "Extra" and the sire of the above mentioned great cows.

Teatime Topics

Canada's foremost designers are agreed that this country's climate, falling between temperate and Arctic zones, demands clothes that are warm and comfortable as well as stylish.

Something new in a car coat has been styled by a Montreal designer, a coat for town and country wear that is simple in design and in construction.

Wind and water-resistant, the coat has an outer covering of nylon which encloses a lining of featherweight batting, combining lightness with warmth.

These carcoats come in a range of eight shades — including midnight, Persian and royal blue, sage and bottle green, carnation red, havane (beige) and chocolate brown.

Deep slash pockets and a small collar may be quickly converted into a hood of matching corduroy. Double protection against wintry blasts is provided by zipper closing, neatly concealed inside the coat, and by three silver frog clasps on the outside. Wind, cold and dampness are also detoured from the sleeve openings by snugfitting knitted stormcuffs.

The new car coat is useful for trips in the car, and may be worn to save your fur or fur-trimmed coat. It can be pulled over a skirt or ski slacks.

Ready Meals

It's been said that the average housewife of 35 years ago spent between five to six hours a day preparing meals. Today the homemaker spends a lot less time in her kitchen.

Experts say that it requires 5.5 hours to prepare a certain family dinner "from scratch" by traditional methods whereas the same dinner made from ready-to-cook foods requires only 1.6 hours.

A new Canadian development, which is expected to speed-up the homemaker's emancipation from kitchen chores still more, is a boilable package in which the contents may be cooked without removal before serving.

Just introduced on the Canadian market, this boilable package now is being applied to the individual wrapping of sandwich portions of corned beef and pastrami. At present they are distributed only to institutions and restaurants.

The effects of the boilable package in the field of domestic science are several.

First, it eliminates the preparation by the homemaker of foods for cooking. And because foods cooked in the boilable package do not come in contact with either air or water, loss of flavor, color, weight and nutritive components are reduced to a minimum.

All the housewife has to do is place the package in boiling water, wait for the required time for the contents to unfreeze or cook, and then serve them to her family.

No Drippings

Candles are a traditional part of the Christmas season but if dripping wax is a problem here's an easy way to get aronud the difficulty. Just give the candles a coat of clear nail polish. They'll burn beautifully, without any mess.

H. H. Club Banquet

While there have been larger attendances at the annual banquet of the Howick - Huntingdon Aryshire Breeders' Club, there was nevertheless a really good attendance at the 1957 event which was held at the Chateau Huntingdon, Wednesday evening, November 27th.

Each of the districts comprising the club area was worthily represented, especially so insofar as Howick was concerned. There was also a considerable number of guests from other parts including W. H. and Mrs. Savage of Ladner, B. C. (who are presently guests of Allister and Mrs. McArthur); J. Douglas MacKechnie, Secretary-Manager, Ayrshire Breeders' Association of Canada; Donald A. McIntyre Finch, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis, Nether Brae, Fulford, Que., were also in attendance. In the case of Mrs. Davis as President of the Quebec Ayrshire Society.

The Chairman of the after-dinner proceedings was J. Bruce Cairncross, President of the Club, with Archie Roy, Secretary of the Club in active assistance insofar as the arrangements in general were concerned.

A brief, interesting resume of the affairs of the Club, by the President, was following by a most enjoyable, interesting and enjoyable programme.. One of the highlights of that programme was a series of songs by the Rev. W. M. Brown, Minister of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, Howick, who was ably accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Logan.

An address of welcome was given by Adam L. Sellar. Greetings from the parent Ayrshire Association were conveyed by J. Douglas MacKechnie, while Douglas Glover conveyed the greetings of the Huntingdon-Ormstown Holstein Breeders' Club.

The guest speaker was Gilbert Macmillan, O.B.E. He was ably and wittingly introduced by Douglas A. Ness who recalled that both he and Mr. Macmillan arrived at Burnside Farm, Howick, about the same time, although by different routes. In that respect they were always able to "date" each other—Douglas Ness as to when Gib Macmillan first came to Canada and the latter as to the correct age of Douglas Ness.

Gilbert Macmillan gave what might be called notes from his Diary in connection with his recent Caribbean cruise, on the S.S. "Sunadele". Included in his comments were his observations on his some 200 to 300 mile motor trip into the interior of Venezuela, including a gigantic irrigation project. He also gave some of the highlights of his stay-over in Georgetown and Mackenzie, in British Guiana. The latter being the great Bauxite mining centre of the Aluminium Company of Canada. Bauxite being the material from which Aluminium is obtained. The "Sunadele" is one of the Saguenay Shipping Company's (an Aluminium Company subsidiary) fleet of vessels which carry the partially processed Bauxite from Mackenzie to Port Alfred (for Arvida), Que. He therefore travelled back with a load of what would eventually emerge as Aluminium.

J. Grant Whyte, Vice President of the Club, moved an appropriate vote of thanks to Mr. Macmillan, the Rev. Mr. Brown and the others who had taken part in the programme.

Holstein Sale of Stars

The Holstein breed staged another of its spectacular Sales of Stars at the time of the 1957 Royal Winter Fair.

The 25 head sold for a total of $47,250, or a general average of $1,888.

A breakdown of the above indicates that 2 bulls averaged $10,400 each, while 9 milking females averaged $1,358; 11 bred heifers $1,041 and 3 open yearlings $783.

The top price of $18,500 was paid by three Argentine (South America) breeders for Rosafe Magic, a 6 months old bull calf consigned by Dr. Hector I. Astengo, Brampton, Ont. A bull calf consigned by J. J. E. McCague Alliston, Ont., sold at $2,300 to go to Lima, Peru. Althogether 16 head brought at least $1,000 each, while 10 of the 25 head went to the Argentine and Peru, both South America, and the United States.

The major theme of Canada's big trade mission to Britain is to emphasize to United Kingdom manufacturers that this is an opportune time to make a bold, frontal assault on the Canadian market.

The mission, made up mostly of leading Canadian industrialists, was warmly greeted by the British government when it arrived by air.

In private talks among themselves the 50 Canadian visitors indicated they would keep criticism of United Kingdom production to a minimum. Main emphasis during the mission's month-long tour of British industrial centres will be to stress the bright side of the picture.

It will encourage exporters to look to the tremendous possibilities of sales in Canada and urge them to set up warehouses all across Canada to ensure quick and ample supply of spare parts and facilities for servicing British goods.

Normal Channels

Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, leading the delegation, told a big press conference at London that the mission may place "substantial orders" for British goods, but that this would not be done through any special Canadian tariff concessions. Tariffs were a matter of government policy, he stressed. The 50-man Canadian mission would have to deal through "normal commercial channels."

Facing British reporters calmly, Churchill denied that the mission had any intention other than to increase sources of supply in Britain, to buy more from Britain by diverting imports from the United States.

Asked if this would not lead to American trade retaliations, the minister said he doubted this "very much." A diversion of 15 per cent of those imports from the U.S. — the figure suggested by Prime Minister Diefenbaker — would not "seriously inconvenience" the Americans.

Canada had a record deficit of some $1,300,000,000 in American trade. If the U.S. was interested in preserving the Canadian market, the Canadian government would be just as willing to talk "business" with that country as with Britain. The U.S. would have to buy more from Canada.

MIDDLE EAST

With gunfire and angry words flaring up again between Israel and Jordan, the United Nations has been asked to step in and quiet the border disputes.

Jordan said that Israel is violating the 1949 armistice agreement by keeping military installations in a Jerusalem neutral zone. The Arab nation asked the UN security council to condemn Israel for this and to order the installation destroyed.

Jordan also asked that the mixed armistice commission prevent Israel using Arab property in the zone. If Israel persists, said delegate Yusuf Haikal, Jordan will have to "take the necessary steps" to stop it.

Israel asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to use UN influence to see that Jordan lets Israel convoys through to Mount Scopus, an Israeli-held enclave in a demilitarized zone near Jerusalem. For three days last week Jordan blocked convoys which have been supplying police and civilians at Mount Scopus regularly for years.

ROCKET VANISHES

The carrier rocket of the first Russian satellite disappeared last Saturday and presumably had disintegrated somewhere up in the atmosphere. Prof. A. C. Lovell, director of the world's largest radio telescope in Cheshire, England, said the half-ton rocket casting could not be located anywhere in the skies, the first time it was not tracked in cheshire since the Russians launched Sputnik I on Oct. 4.

FATAL LANDSLIDE

Eight persons, including two children, were killed when a 300-foot landslide swept three homes into a creek on the edge of Prince Rupert, B.C., last Friday.

At about the same time as the landslide, high winds and heavy rain brought down telegraph and telephone lines, cut the CNR railway line and washed out the highway link. Air services had been cancelled two days earlier. Then a snowfall was followed by the rain.

The slide came after 24 hours of heavy rainfall, tearing a 1,000-foot-long swath out of Mount Hays, burying the homes in the rainswollen creek beneath hundreds of tons of mud, rock and trees.

OUT ON BAIL

Robert E. Sommers, 46-year-old member of the British Columbia legislature, was released on $7,500 bail at Vancouver last week after spending more than 12 hours in custody on a charge of conspiring to accept bribes while he was the provincial minister of lands and forests until his resignation in February, 1956.

Hugh W. Gray, 45, and Charles D. Schultz, 53, charged as coconspirators in a plan to give Sommers "loans, rewards, advantages and benefits" in return for consideration in the granting of forest management licenses, were remanded on bail of $5,000 to appear with Sommers Nov. 28 to answer the charge.

The arrests resulted in indefinite postponement of a royal commission hearing into the allegations, and in a demand by the CCF opposition that the province's Social Credit government resign.

CECILE IS MARRIED

Cecile Dionne became the second of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets to wed. Cecile at 23 became the bride of Philippe Langlois, 26-year-old Montreal television technician, in a quiet ceremony at the church at Corbeil, Ont., where she and her sisters grew up.

Photographers kept a discreet distance, in contrast to the gate-crashing that accompanied her sister Annette's wedding to Germain Allard in Montreal last month. The Corbeil ceremony however was filmed for television.

Mr. Langlois and his bride will live at Lachine, Que., near Montreal, after they return from their honeymoon.

Annette and Marie were at the wedding but Yvonne, recently recovered from a bout of influenza, was unable to attend. It was the same church which Emilie, who died in 1954, was buried from.

Huntingdon Legion Activities

Children's Tree

The annual Xmas Tree, replete with Santa Claus and other appurtenances will be staged at the Legion Hall, Fairview Road, Saturday, December 14, commencing at 2 p.m. Children of all Veterans, (irrespective of whether they are Legionaires) up to 15 years of age, are cordially invited to attend. Reg. Daniel, Convenor of the Committee in charge of that event has arranged an interesting programme leading up to the arrival of Santa Claus.

Veteran's Tree

As usual, thanks to the courtesy of Heath's Reg'd, there will be a box inside the front entrance of Heath's Store for the reception of Christmas gifts for sick and disabled Veterans in hospital. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary are cooperating with Huntingdon Branch No. 81, Canadian Legion in this laudable effort. Donations are therefore sollicited and should be deposited in the box at Heath's Store as early as possible.

District Command

One of the regular monthly meetings of the District Command (Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Howick, Huntingdon, Ormstown, Valleyfield) of the Quebec Command, Canadian Legion will be held at the Legion Hall, Fairview Road, Huntingdon, Sunday afternoon, December 15.

Addition Julius Richardson School, Chateauguay, Provides Increased Accommodation on Modern Lines

The first photograph shows one of the new classrooms at the Julius Richardson School, Chateauguay, Que. Each room will seat 35 pupils and is equipped with a sink with hot and cold water and a spray hose, as well as drinking fountain for the use of the pupils. Cupboards for clothes, rubbers, etc., are also included in the room. They are well lighted by windows in the daytime and with fluorescent lighting for the evening hours. The second photograph is a view of the staff room which offers the staff facilities for cooking for meals, rest during off hours, etc. The third photograph shows the basement in the new section of the school. This also is well lighted with a row of windows down one complete side. It is expected that this will be used for the cafeteria as more accommodation is needed for this. The pillars seen have been bound in sponge rubber to prevent injury to anyone who may accidentally bump into them. It may also be used for a recreation room if required.

Athelstan

ATHELSTAN — On Thursday, Nov. 28th, a well attended meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was entertained by Mrs. Geo. McIntyre at the home of her mother, Mrs. Walter Arthur.

Three birthdays were reported and Glad Tidings subscriptions were paid. Mrs. Grant reported having sent fourteen pounds of used Christmas cards to a mission field where they have proved to be valuable in their work.

For the lesson Mrs. Tully read three newsletters from Rev. Geo. and Mrs. Malcolm of Formosa. These letters are always interesting.

Ormstown Exhibition

Statement was mailed to members together with the official notice of the meeting. Thus it was that the members were able to study the statement in advance of the meeting.

It was shown by this statement, that for the first time in several years, the Exhibition ended with an operating profit of $3,715.65. Not too much praise was forthcoming of this achievement, but it was evident that it gave pleasure to the members.

Secretary-Manager Carlyle Dickson, explained that perhaps the main reasons for this betterment could be laid to three items viz: a decrease in the cost of entertainment; increase in Receipts; difference in the amount of Insurance Premiums. It happened that this year the Insurance Premiums were only $112.00. In a previous year this had amounted to a much larger sum, and a larger sum would have to be met in the coming year.

One of the members suggested that the insurance premiums should be so arranged that they would fall into even amounts each year and thus help to present a better statement.

It was brought out that the best attendance at the 1957 exhibition came about on Friday and Saturday. This was considered due to several factors. The Square Dance Competition was of local talent and the horse racing was also of a local nature. Further, it was felt that industrial workers having the week-end free, attended in greater number on Saturday. This is something which the officials have been working for over a number of years. Other comments on what may have brought about a better attendance were given as: Seeding being well advanced at the time of exhibition; better conditions prevailing; local attractions in entertainment.

The statement was adopted and passed.

Nominations for new directors resulted as follows: D. Ness, A. McCormick, M. McEwen, J. Dickson and G. P. Hooker, being named and elected for the ensuing year.

Discussion of new business centered around entertainment and trying to maintain the success of 1957 exhibition. Local talent competitions of various kinds seemed the favorite for entertainment features for the 1958 exhibition. Various suggestions were put forth and it was also suggested that there should be something in the way of such attractions during the daytime. Horse pulling contests, milking contests and so forth were mentioned as possibilities. It was also suggested that there be a tractor contest in the form of a test of skill and some stunts. It was further suggested that if such contests are used, that they be played up in the advertising on the Exhibition.

It was felt that there should be greater support from local citizens and business concerns in the way of donations and more advertising in the Fair Program. The feeling here was that the Exhibition helped to increase local business and therefore the Exhibition should receive more encouragement from those who derived the business. A special drive made in 1957 in this direction did bring some results, but members felt that this could be even better if more thought was given the matter.

Show dates for 1958 were set as June 4, 5, 6, 7.

Following the annual meeting, the directors met and Douglas Ness was again elected President; A. A. McCormick, 1st Vice-President; John K. Dickson, 2nd Vice-President; G. P. Hooker and Murray McEwen, directors.

DUNDEE — The annual meeting of the W.A. of Zion Church was held November 27, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Platt. Mrs. Grace Fleming conducted the devotional portion, which included two hymns, scripture reading, commentary on the passage read and prayer. The roll call answered the question "How do you relax". Also five dozen stainless steel knives had been bought and were used at the anniversary supper. At this meeting it was decided to purchase more knives, forks and spoons for one setting of the tables, that is five dozen of each.

Mrs. D. F. Smellie, Mrs. James Grant, Mrs. Ken Fraser, Mrs. Nettie Cameron and Mr. Dunlop are to be remembered at Christmas. Total returns from bazaar work amounted to $95.30. $10 was voted to go to each of the local hospitals.

Heliport At St. Justine's Hospital

St. Justine's Hospital for Children is the only hospital in this country with an actual heliport where helicopters can land with patients right on the roof of the new buildings on Cote St. Catherine Road in Montreal. Emergency cases may be flown directly to the hospital from any place in Quebec, an important consideration because in 1956, for instance, more than a third of St. Justine's patient days were given to children who lived outside the Montreal metropolitan region.

Quebec Firm Tells Plans for North Plant

Albany (AP) — Another new industrial plant is to be constructed in New York's north country as a result of the St. Lawrence power development.

The Quebec Lithium Corp. and the State Commerce Department announced recently that the company would build a three-million-dollar refinery to employ 300 to 400 persons at Rouses Point, on the Canadian border north of Plattsburg.

The plant, which will have a two-million-dollar annual payroll, is to open in 1959.

The company signed an agreement in Montreal with William Costline of Champlain for the purchase of a 450-acre site on Lake Champlain at Rouses Point. The price was not disclosed.

The State Power Authority recently granted an extra allocation of St. Lawrence power to the village of Rouses Point to supply the new plant. The village operates a municipal power system.

The ore to be refined will come from the Quebec lithium mine in northwest Quebec. Lithium is a very light metal used in jet fuel and for atomic power.

Trees of Ancient Lineage

The oldest trees in the world are the sequoias of California. Some of them date back to the times of David and Goliath and are still in thriving condition.

Meaning of Reforestation

One of the most commonly misspelled words is 'reforestation', often given an extra 'r' in its last syllable. 'Reforestation' refers to planting trees on land once forested. 'Afforestation' refers to planting on land barren or used for purposes other than tree production.

Great Holocausts of History

The most devastating forest fire in Canada's history was the Miramichi holocaust of 1825 which swept throught three million acres in New Brunswick and Maine, taking 160 lives. In 1871, the Peshtigo fire in Wisconsin raged through 1,280,000 acres, with a casualty list of more than 1500 persons.

Huntingdon County Hospital Ladies Auxiliary Fund Exhausted

A general meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Huntingdon County Hospital was held in the Masonic Temple on Monday, December 2nd, at 8 p.m.

The Matron, Mrs. Leo Curran, submitted pamphlets received from The Hobart Mfg. Co. showing the type of dishwasher most suitable for use in this hospital. It was unanimously decided that this dishwasher should be ordered at once, and the treasurer, Mrs. Olivette Kelly, stated that payment of same would completely delete the bank balance. Due to this fact the members present felt that all women interested in the hospital would gladly give it another boost by putting on a Christmas Tea and Food Sale. This will take place on Friday, December 13th.

Great hopes are entertained for the success of this undertaking so that the Ladies' Auxiliary will again be financially able to decorate the hospital and remember the nurses and patients by having a small gift for them on Christmas morning.

Reports were given by the various committees and after a general discussion the meeting was adjourned.

The evening was brought to a pleasant close by the serving of delicious refreshments by Mrs. Rupert Hawley, Mrs. George Lefebvre and Miss Norma Lunan.

International Peace Garden

"From January to July, 60,450 persons visited the International Peace Garden", reports Mrs. G. Catley, representative for the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada on the International Peace Garden Committee.

This garden, in the centre of the continent, lies across the border in Manitoba and North Dakota and, to quote from an address by Mayor Alan Campbell, Dunseigh, N.D., at a recent meeting of this Committee, "is the world's one and only such area dedicated to peace. This living garden of flowers, shrubs and trees symbolizes the more than 145 years of peace and friendship between two great nations".

Various organizations maintain plots in the Garden. The FWIC is one, with each Provincial Institute making an annual contribution towards its upkeep. The picnic nook, to the memory of Mrs. Alfred Watt, stands in this plot and the superintendent, Mr. M. J. Tinline, says the plot was a wonderful sight throughout the summer, the shrubbery and flowers were very beautiful.

Three main events were reported at the Garden this year; the International High School Music Camp, the 25th anniversary of the dedication of the Cairn, which stands at the entrance, and the Eastern Star pilgrimage when 1300 members gathered there from many countries.

Covering The Sports

Sports Camera

In most circles wrestling is considered conscientious fakery; an exhibition designed to give customers the big thrill all the time. That the heroes will clobber the despicable villains is expected.

But what happens when the combatants play for real, deliberately trying to hurt each other? Riot, that's what.

It's almost unbelievable, but bedlam broke out among fans in New York's Madison Square Garden a couple of weeks ago when the wrestlers turned on each other. Sixty-seven cops and scores of ushers finally got things calmed down.

Here's how it happened:

Antonino Rocca and Edouard Carpentier met Jerry (Doctor) Graham and Dick (The Bruiser) Afflis in a tag team match. In such an event only one member of each team is allowed in the ring at a time. When the man in the ring wants a breather he tags, or touches, his partner, who takes over.

Villain Enters

Rocca and Carpentier, cast as the heroes, won the first of the two-fall match. They were working on their second fall when Rocca got Afflis in a "backbreaker" hold. Villain Graham broke the rules by jumping into the ring and pummelling Rocca.

The referee called foul, the second of the night, and awarded the match to the heroes. As so often happens, the villains refused to leave the ring, insisting on battling it out.

Rocca, raising his hand to his face, felt blood—his own. He lost his temper. Seizing Graham, he bashed the Doctor's head against a ring post. More blood spurted. Police rushed in. They couldn't do much against the big bruisers.

The 13,000 fans got the smell of blood and some climbed into the ring.

Afflis, who had drawn the crowd's ire, began throwing customers out of the ring. Rocca tired of playing a tune on the post with Graham's head. He and Graham then helped Afflis toss fans from the ring.

The damage: Two cops hurt and 300 chairs smashed. An unknown number of fans probably were bruised. The wrestlers were ordered to appear before Julius Helfand, New York state athletic commissioner, and were fined a total of $2,600. Rocca and Graham were fined $1,000 each.

Graham also lost his sequin-studded robe, a $500 piece of goods. Somebody stole it during the riot.

It's Only Money

Speaking of money, baseball men talk loosely about it.

President Horace Stoneham of San Francisco Giants, formerly the New York Giants, says he turned down a $1,000,000 offer from St. Louis Cardinals for sensational outfielder Willie Mays. The bid was made last June and rejected for two reasons—the Giants didn't want to go west without their biggest star and the Card offer didn't quite measure up.

Lacordaire And Joan Of Arc Association Tenth Anniversary

On Sunday, December 1st, the Lacordaire Association celebrated its tenth anniversary and at the same time honored the founders of this wonderful movement in the parish.

After a religious service at the church a delicious turkey supper was served to some 250 people in the parochial hall.

Mr. Laurent Nadeau, president, being one of the guests, was replaced by Mrs. Rodolphe Billette, president of the St. Jeanne D'Arc section as chairman of the supper.

The president welcomed one and all. The special guests from Valleyfield, etc., congratulated the fifteen honored members, having a word of praise for each one in particular.

In her concluding remarks "We must recall to our memory the wonderful help we had from Father Quenneville who cannot be here with us tonight, and the beloved deceased pastor, Canon A. Pigeon of happy memory, who guided our first steps in the movement".

Afterwards the gathering was convened in the hall for a social evening.

The president acted as master of ceremonies, assisted by his brother.

The first item on the program was the local band which favored the gathering with several well chosen numbers. The hearty applause well expressed the appreciation of the audience. Mr. Tessier, their president, made an appeal for new members and the first recruit was none other than the president of Lacordaire, Laurent Nadeau.

Following the initiation of new members a piano solo well rendered by Miss Gilberte Bougie, a promising talent was given.

The solemn moment of the evening, the presentation to the 15 recipients of the 10th year or 4th degree badges, for which Mgr. A. David, parish priest, presided — Here are the names — Mr. and Mrs. Treffle Leduc, Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Daigle, Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Parent, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nadeau, Mr. Laurent Nadeau (Pres.), Mr. Jean Marie Daigle, Mr. Marc Daigle, treasurer, Miss Gisele Myre, Miss Therese Saumier (treasurer), Miss Gilberte Demers (Vice-Pres.).

They received a great ovation from the assembly and personal congratulations from the parish priest, the Diocesan Chaplain, the local Chaplain, Father Bailey, the board of the Diocese.

The troop of the Seminar favored with songs and folk dances.

Three local members of the Lacordaire had the audience in laughter with a hilarious sketch. Congratulations are given to them for composing their little plays.

Mr. André Billette gave two comical songs. Followed "Galway Bay" and the 10th anniversary song specially composed for the occasion given by the Irish Trio, Shirley McGowan, Louise Bayard, Mary Dineen.

The 10th anniversary song in French by Mr. Laurent Nadeau, Miss Demers accompanied the two last items and Mr. Bougie for Mr. Billette, Mr. Bougie is always available for these occasions.

The Diocesan Chaplain, Father Gilles Daoust, curate at St. Timothee, Mr. Cadeux, diocesan from Rigaud, Msgr. David in turn addressed the audience, congratulated the guests, gave their appreciation of the celebration encouraging each and everyone to persevere in their splendid work against alcoholism and for the young in the parish and the diocese.

Delegations from Rigaud, Ormstown, St. Stanislas, St. Anicet, Ste. Barbe, Valleyfield, Bellerive and The Seminar joined in helping to celebrate in a special way this 10th anniversary. The supper was catered for by The Diner (Pat Feeny) and his staff.

A thank you to all and everyone who gave their help toward making this affair a perfect success.

A fruit cake graciously offered and made by Mrs. Billette was raffled and won by Mr. Beaulieu from Ormstown.

Barrie Memorial Hospital To Be Featured In Film

At the present time National Film Board of Canada is making a film for the Canadian Association of Nurses for showing in European countries. This film will mainly be used to encourage more nurses to come to Canada and deals largely with the showing of the type of hospitals, living accommodation and social life being experienced by nurses who have already migrated to this country.

The Barrie Memorial was chosen as a modernly equipped smaller hospital in which European nurses are employed. On November 20th a camera crew, under the directorship of Mr. Gordon Sparling, spent the day at the "Barrie" taking a number of shots in which Miss J. Jackson and Miss McPhillmy, who arrived from England last December, were especially featured.

One of the interesting pictures taken was one of these nurses caring for the triplet babies to which Mrs. Ken Storey recently gave birth. Other pictures showed the operating room with an operation supposedly in progress so that the modern equipment could be shown. Exterior pictures were taken of the hospital building, nurses' residences and also the Main Street of Ormstown.

Later on the same day shots were taken in the residence occupied by the two English nurses, supposedly showing them getting ready for the St. Andrew's dance on the evening on which it took place. This annual event sponsored by the nursing staff to raise funds for some pieces of hospital equipment is being used as an indication of the social life which these nurses are enjoying.

The final shots were taken at the St. Andrew's dance last Friday evening, when distant pictures were taken of a dance in progress and then close-ups of the same two staff members.

Something that was remarked on during the camera crew's visit to the hospital and residence was the tremendous amount of work of setting up equipment and arranging lights preparatory to a few seconds of filming and doubtless patrons of the dance were impressed by the great number of strong lights which were arranged around the outer edge of the main dining room where the dance was held.

Various other hospitals and nursing stations in Canada are also being used in this film showing how nurses from other European countries are faring.

Perhaps this community may have a chance to see the completed film at some future date.

Scientists are studying the use of radar to detect thunderstorms from which lightning may strike to cause forest fires. By tracking these storms with radar instruments, rangers can be informed in advance of the locatities where lightning may set the woods ablaze, thereby enabling them to despatch crews to the scene of danger.
