Election Day Draws Near Many Meetings Scheduled

Premier Duplessis to Speak at Ormstown on Saturday

There are only a few more days to go in the race for the political parties to put forth their best arguments in support of their various candidates. Next Wednesday, the polls will be open for the electors to mark their ballots in favour of the candidate of their choice - - - - either Liberal or National Union. The tense time will come during the evening of that day when the returns begin to trickle in from the various polls and constituencies throughout the province. It is then that we shall know who the party will be that will represent the people at the government for the next term of office.

Meanwhile, there are still several important meetings to be held in this constituency and it will be well for the people to attend them all if possible and to hear all sides give their views. In this way a fair appraisal of which party will be the best for the province, can be gained.

Premier Duplessis is to speak at a Mass Meeting in the Ormstown Arena on Saturday, July 12th, at 3 p.m. He will speak in support of the three National Union candidates for the Beauharnois District, Messrs. Hebert, Somerville and Laberge.

At a Liberal meeting on Monday, July 14th, George C. Marler will be one of the speakers who will address the meeting in behalf of Myles Tillotson, the Liberal candidate for Huntingdon County.

These meetings should be especially worthwhile attending, as these men are outstanding in their respective parties and are competent to give the facts.

There is no doubt that more punch will be put into the speeches from now until election day and it will be needed for there is very little time left now.

Action to Be Taken to Curb Speeding of Cars in Town

Discussion on Store Closing Ends With No One Willing to Make a Motion

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the County Building, on Monday evening, with all members present. The minutes of previous meetings and a number of bills were passed and approved.

Mr. Gilbert MacMillan and Mr. Charlie Kyle appeared before the council to register complaint against the speeding of cars on No. 4 Highway near the County Hospital. Mr. MacMillan asked that something be done to check the speed of cars as he said there is a speed limit of 20 miles per hour and this is being totally ignored. Furthermore there is the danger of an accident at the bend in the highway at this point and he had noticed several near ones in the past few days. Undue noise was also a matter for attention as several drivers had the habit of shutting off the motors and causing them to backfire. There was also the matter of people returning from Log Lodge and causing undue noise late at night and in the early hours of the morning. It is time that a stop was put to this and it is hoped the council will take appropriate action.

The council decided that something will be done and the help of the Provincial Police will be sought in co-operation with the Town Police.

Mr. Legault complained of a drain in front of his store not taking away the surface water. This matter will also receive attention at an early date.

The By-law regarding the annexation of Garden City was read a second time and passed. It will now await the approval of Quebec officials before actually becoming law.

Permits were issued to J. Lefebvre, D. Moore, E. Leblanc, N. White and D. Brunet in connection with buildings and alterations. The permit to E. Leblanc, Kelly Street, for a house, was subject to there being no sewer at present.

A letter from the Post Office Department, Ottawa, stated that the letterbox at the Huntingdon railroad station will be replaced, but that the request for two additional boxes was refused.

An objection was made to an increase in tax by The Tully Lumber Co. A complaint was read regarding the condition of the sidewalk in front of Pringle, Stark and Co.'s store on Chateauguay Street. A resolution accepting land from lots to permit an extension of Somerville Street to Bouchette Street, was passed by the council and the secretary authorized to sign the deed.

A resolution was passed to petition Quebec Health Department with regard to proceeding with work on the York Street ditch and other allied projects. This will be sent together with plans, etc., in the near future.

Alderman McGerrigle asked if it would be possible to have Lake Street widened. He said it is fast becoming a speed-way and it is far too narrow for the traffic it has to carry today. The council will study the matter to see what can be done.

The council gave authority to have Gerald Craik sworn in as a special constable for the Town of Huntingdon. He will be called only when extra help is needed.

The Fire Committee was authorized to meet with representatives of surrounding municipalities with regard to organizing to combat rural fires. It is possible that a second truck may be purchased with this in mind and perhaps housed in Huntingdon and some of the trained volunteer brigade loaned when needed.

Considerable discussion ensued on the matter of closing stores in Huntingdon. There are still some stores who persist in selling goods after hours allowed for the sale of such goods. The discussion got around to changing the open nights from Wednesday and Saturday to Friday and Saturday. Some present were in favour of stores staying open on Friday and Saturday nights as is being done in many towns today. Others were not in favour, stating it made two long hard days together for the merchants and business men. It was felt by some that the merchants were actually losing business by not being open on Friday nights as that is when a number of people today do their shopping. If stores are closed here and open in Valleyfield or some other town, the people will go where the stores are open. Quite a number leave on Saturday for trips over the week-end. Mayor Cappiello asked for a Notice of Motion on the matter, but no one the matter is still as it was. The would make the motion and thus business men are complaining of other stores being open on Friday nights and other nights and they think that something should be done to stop this. It was felt by some that everyone interested in the matter should meet with the council and try to arrive at a decision on this matter. There are more than just the business men interested in this subject and all who are should be able to voice an opinion. If action is wanted on this matter it would seem that something along this line will have to be done. The council would then be able to act in accordance with the majority of opinion.

Valley Bands Guests at Festival

Huntingdon Band To Play For Political Meetings

The Huntingdon Citizens' Band was invited to take part in the Amateur Band Festival held at Valleyfield, on Sunday. This festival is held for bands belonging to the Quebec Amateur Bands Association and Huntingdon, Ormstown and Beauharnois Bands were invited guests. All took part in a parade of bands and altogether there were 37 bands in the parade.

Each band played a march past and a number of concert numbers. All the bands, 1,800 musicians strong, played four separate marches in a massed bands spectacle. The guest bands did very well and Ormstown took the eye of the crowd with their majorettes, who were quite striking.

On Saturday night, the Arvida Band played for a small parade in Huntingdon and also a one hour and a half concert in the park, under Bandmaster Jean-Bac. Needless to say this was greatly enjoyed.

Huntingdon Citizens' Band is to be quite busy at the end of the week and the beginning of next week. They are to play for five nights for each of the political party meetings that are to be held at Hemmingford, St. Anicet and Huntingdon.

Franklin Apple Growers Build Co-operative Plant

Will Be Great Aid in Keeping Fruit Until Ready For Market

The construction of the Franklin Apple Growers Co-operative plant has now commenced the erection of the building proper. The cement foundation is completed, although being help up last week on account of rain.

A. N. Bail of Bedford, Que., is the contractor, who is building this plant, which is 255 ft. long, 175 ft. wide and 21 ft. high. It is to contain one large cold storage room 255 ft. long and 110 wide and 21 ft. high with a capacity of 170,000, (One hundred and seventy-thousand) bushel of apples.

There are 14 carpenters and 10 labourers employed at present. Local help is employed as much as possible.

This plant is erected on a piece of land, approximately 9 acres, with a frontage on each road, (Franklin and St. Antoine) of 423 ft. This was purchased from Mr. Dan Leahy, off of the farm formerly owned by Mr. Ben Johnston.

Work was commenced by a bull dozer levelling the land and burying the stone walls surrounding it. (Incidentally Franklin used to be noted for its stone walls in the by-gone days, but now they are fast disappearing, either being buried or used for crushed stone for road work).

There are 46 shareholders in this company. The five Directors and three Councillors are as follows: Messrs. Roddy Arthur, Charles Waller, Floyd Stevenson, Fernand Dufour and Gerald Beaudin. Messrs. Frank McCormick, Joe Dumas and Lawrence Towns. The shareholders are from Franklin, Rockburn, Havelock and Hemmingford.

Rotary Club to Aid Blind By Sale of Brooms

Two Representatives of C.N.I.B. Visit Huntingdon, Address Membership of Club

At the Rotary Club meeting on Monday, Mr. L. A. McClintock, Supervisor of Field Services for the Canadian National Institute of the Blind was the guest speaker. Mr. McClintock was accompanied by Mr. A. Zaplaski. The two men, though blind, had a bright and most cheerful outlook on life. In the course of Mr. McClintock's talk he impressed upon the Rotarians that though a person might be blind they did not want pity. They quite well realize that they miss much through blindness but reconcile themselves to life without sight.

In Canada there are nearly 19,000 sightless people and in Quebec Province we know there are 5,585 and of this number 800 are of the English speaking tongue. Five Canadians go blind daily in Canada. 40 per cent of the blind today has been due to carelessness and lack of medical attention. This lack of medical attention we believe can be chalked up against the unfortunate person being short of funds. Blindness is costing Canada a lot of money, and much of this expense could be eliminated if people who have symptoms of blindness coming upon them would seek medical aid. Blind people receive a pension of $40. a month. 40 per cent of the 19,000 blind in Canada might well have still had sight had they received medical attention when needed.

Mr. McClintock had a film screened demonstrating how "Glaucoma" takes its toll of sight from so many people. Some of the symptoms of "Glaucoma" are the difficulty to see at a distance, headaches in the morning for an hour or so, mistiness or foggy sight, awkwardness in that the person appears to be more or less continually upsetting things, and lastly the desire to have spectacles changed frequently when actually it is a doctor that should be interviewed rather than just an optician. People who may have some or all of these symptoms should see an eye specialist without delay and eliminate the era of sightlessness that may possibly be before them in the not too distant future. Glaucoma is an eye disease that may creep on one comparatively slowly, then again there are times when sight will be lost in a period of three days.

President George Dixon announced at the Monday meeting that at an early date the Rotarians would each be asked to dispose of a quantity of brooms. The brooms are being made by the Montreal Association of the Blind. As the shipment of brooms is to represent 40 dozen brooms it will mean each Rotarian will have over a dozen brooms to dispose of. The sale of the brooms will aid the blind workers' Montreal Association of the Blind and to a lesser degree the finances of the Rotary Club.

1952 Graduating Class Feted By Grade 10 of High School

The students of Grade 10 of Huntingdon High School sponsored a Graduation Banquet at the St. Francis Rod and Gun Club recently, in honour of the Graduating Class. Those attending were Grade 10 and Grade 11, the graduating class, their guests, the parents of the graduating class, the School Board and the teaching staff, numbering approximately 70 in all. Miss Margaret Campbell, who is a member of the graduating class, was unable to be present at the banquet.

A lelicious dinner was served by the Club before which Miss Janet Paul said grace. Mr. David Rankin of Grade 10 acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and introduced the speakers. Mr. Ronald Fleming gave the toast to the Queen and Mr. David Spencer gave the toast to the principal, Mr. Keith Farquharson, to which Mr. Farquharson responded most fittingly. Mr. Ainsley Helm gave the class history and Miss Marilyn Martin gave the valedictory address. Miss Betty Boyce responded to a toast made to Grade 11, the graduating class, by Mr. John Campbell of Grade 10 and Miss Shirley Elder gave a short address thanking the students of Grade 10 for their hospitality.

It is the general opinion of all attending that the students of both classes did extreme justice to their training in previous years when presenting themselves and addressing the gathering. The evening was most successful and thoroughly enjoyed by all attending. Music for dancing was provided by Larry Edward's three-piece orchestra and Mr. Edward's fine choice of games and entertainments kept his audience in good spirits.

This banquet was made possible through the hard work of Grade 10 during the school year. They worked in many different ways to make enough money to be financially able to pay tribute and bid farewell to the 1952 graduating class.

On July 1st the School Board of the High School honoured the graduating class with a dance in their honour. This dance was held in the auditorium of the High School

Election For School Board

Four Running For Office of Two Vacancies

For the first time in many years an election will be held for commissioners for the Huntingdon Protestant School Municipality. On Monday, July 7th, at a nomination meeting, the retiring commissioners Messrs. Alex. Robb and Lyle Graham decided to stand for re-election and two other persons were nominated. They were Mrs. Jennie Helm and Mr. C. E. Dahms. Thus an election will be held on Monday, July 14th, at the Huntingdon High School, to decide who will be the elected commissioners.

For the first time also, a lady has been nominated to run for the office of commissioner and many people are of the opinion that this will be good for the school. It is thought that more women should be represented on local boards and this is a good move.

The roadside sprayer was through this district during the past week. Let us hope the spraying will have the desired effect. What an improved appearance the countryside would have, if each individual farmer showed enough pride and interest in his property to keep the brush and weeds cut down on his own roadside and fences.

Rockburn

ROCKBURN — Mrs. J. R. Ryser and Mrs. N. McCaig accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frier to Springfield, Mass., last Tuesday, to attend the funeral of Mr. W. M. Reeves, returning Thursday.

Among visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan on Dominion Day were Mrs. Percy, Mr. George Percy and Mr. and Mrs. Bates and children of Montreal.

It is with regret we report the death in Springfield, Mass., of Mr. Walter M. Reeves, after a comparatively short illness. Mr. Reeves left his home here when a young man and entered into a business of his own in Springfield in which he became quite successful. He was the eldest son of Mr. Jas. Reeves and his wife, Euphemia Cain, of Rockburn and was married to Miss Anne McIver, who survives him, as do a son, Robert, who succeeds his father in business, and a daughter and two grandchildren. Also he is survived by his sisters, Mrs. Meeks of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Ryser of Nyack, N.Y., and Rockburn, Mrs. N. McCaig of Montreal and Rockburn, and two brothers, Horace of Penticton, B.C. and Roscoe of Philadelphia, all of whom, except Horace, were able to be present at the funeral. His death occurred June 28th and the funeral was July 2nd, 1952. This family has the sympathy of the few remaining here of those who were his old friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jamieson of Toronto are spending some days with Miss M. Jamieson.

Problems of the Dairy Industry

THOSE who attended the Farmers' Picnic at Cairnside, on July 1st, and heard the speeches would probably be impressed by two of these on the subject of Dairy Farming. We were quite impressed because we thought that at least one of these speeches hit the nail on the head. In the first case, Mr. P. D. McArthur of Howick brought to light the many substitutes that can and are endangering the dairy business. Most of substitutes are at present being sold or used in the United States, but as the speaker pointed out it may not be long before they will be in Canada. The second speaker spoke along similar lines, but tried to find a possible solution. This was Mr. Carr of Macdonald College.

Each of the speakers spoke on the decline of the sale of dairy products and of the industry generally in the past few years. In an article — "The World is Growing Better," being a monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, we quote the following: "In 1920 agricultural production represented 41.3% of the net value of all production and manufacturing 32.7%. In 1948 agriculture declined to 21.5% against 53.1% for manufacturing.

This definitely shows that Canada is inclining toward an industrial trend as a nation and farming generally is declining. It may also account for the fact that agriculture is not supplying as much of the needs of the population as it would be thought it could. It also means that the industrial population is increasing and therefore there are more on this side who need the products of the farm.

Mr. Carr spoke on the feeling that exists between the farm producer and the consumer, especially those in cities and said that there should be something done to change this situation. He proposed that more education was needed for the consumer to show how the producer arrived at his costs and how they were not solely his. He felt that marketing or distributing costs could be lowered by using modern methods. For instance he felt that fluid milk could be put up in concentrated form so that a container contained three quarts of milk. To obtain the fluid state water could be added as required and the milk would still be of the same consistency as if delivered in three regular quart bottles. Such a means would enable fewer deliveries and also overcome the difficulty of storing a quantity of milk over a two or three day period. It would also aid in distribution to stores as the containers would take up less space than the bottles while having a larger content. He felt that the high cost was in the marketing and distribution and that those responsible for marketing the producers product were not paying enough attention to this vital matter. He urged that the producers themselves should have a voice in the marketing of their product so that they could watch all matters right through to the consumer. He also felt that while the present advertising campaign of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, was a good one and had done a great deal to increase sales, that it would be better if the campaign were directed toward better relations between the producer and the consumer. If the consumer felt more kindly toward the producer and knew that he was not making all the money out of the price they had to pay, he felt that this too would result in increased sales of dairy products. Those manufacturers of substitutes for dairy products were putting huge sums into the marketing of their products and they were able to sell at lower prices on account of this campaign. Attractive packages, extensive advertising and consumer education had all helped them to sell these substitutes. He said you cannot wait on the Government to bring in laws to protect your product, you must help yourselves.

This column has many times brought this fact to the attention of readers. It has pointed out that it felt that marketing and distribution costs were too high. But it has been told that there was nothing that could be done about it. Of course if this attitude is adopted, then there is nothing that can be done about it. On the other hand if the Dairy Farmers of Canada decide that through research something can be done, it would be better to go about doing it. We have been told on many occasions that milk in concentrated form and hermetically sealed in a container would be better than the pasteurized product insofar as germ content would be concerned. For it would pass through a form of pasteurization and nothing could harm the contents until the consumer handled it when required. Thus such a method as Mr. Carr described might be the answer to the fluid milk question which has bothered most distributors. It has always been a question of how could the average person store up enough fluid milk to carry them over two or three days at a time. Perhaps this is a matter that should receive closer attention. Mr. Carr mentioned that the concentrated milk to which he referred could be used in that state as cream in coffee or poured over fruit and such, while with the water added it would revert to the regular milk state as known by users of milk from the regular quart bottle. So long as the regular taste and flavour could be retained, we feel that the consumer would probably prefer it in this concentrated form. More especially if the price could be reduced thereby without affecting the producer and distributor.

Elections in Vogue

NEXT week will be a week of elections and the people of Huntiigdon will have lots of chance to exercise their franchise. The first poll will likely be held on Monday and this will be for school commissioners for the Huntingdon Protestant School. Nomination Day on Monday of this week brought out two candidates to oppose the retiring commissioners, who are standing for re-election and thus a poll will be held to decide the issue. This is the first time that a vote has been necessary for school commissioners in a number of years and there should be quite a little interest in this event. Incidentally it will provide a little practice in marking ballots in readiness for the poll for candidates in the Provincial Election to be held on Wednesday. The nominations for school commisisoners now stands as follows: Messrs Lyle Graham and Alex Robb are the retiring members of the present board and the new candidates are Mrs. Jennie Helm and Mr. C. E. Dahms. As long as there are no withdrawals, the poll will be held on Monday, July 14th.

Another feature of this election is the fact that for the first time a lady will stand as candidate for the school commission and she intends to represent the mothers on the Board if elected. This newspaper has often suggested that women should be representatives on the local boards and especially on school boards. Their judgement in many matters is often of great value and it has proven so in a number of cases.

On Wednesday, the whole province goes to the polls to elect the candidates of their choice in the various constituencies in the province. This newspaper is particularly interested in the results for three constituencies, these being: Beauharnois, Chateauguay and Huntingdon. In each case there are so far only two candidates for each. The candidates are for the Liberal Party and for the National Union Party, so it ought to be a straight contest in each of them. The candidates are as follows: Union Nationale — Hebert, Beauharnois; Laberge, Chateauguay and Somerville, Huntingdon; Liberal — Lessard, Beauharnois; Mercier, Chateauguay and Tillotson, Huntingdon. The first two are standing for re-election while the other four are all new men. Mr. Mercier has had a term in office, but was defeated at last provincial election by Mr. Laberge.

The campaign has been carried on during the past few weeks by both parties in an effort to secure the support of the people for their respective candidates. On Wednesday, the people will express their choice through the ballot paper which each person eligible will receive at the polls. We are not going to tell the people who to vote for, but we are going to ask them to get out and vote, and vote early. It is a duty of every person able to vote, to do so. Furthermore, it is right that you study your ballot and make sure you mark it properly. Any wrong marking spoils the ballot and it has to be rejected. As there will only be two names on the ballot and you will have made up your mind who you are going to vote for, see that the "X" goes in the right place in the space beside the name of the candidate.

Textile Strike Ends

WE feel certain that it will be a great relief to the citizens and storekeepers of Valleyfield as well as to those who were recently on strike, that the order to return to work has come at last.

While in some measure the strikers have realized an increase in pay, it is still not what they originally went out on strike for. They could have obtained the settlement reached without such action. It will be some time before the workers will catch up on the amount of money they have lost in wages over the past weeks, thus it will be some months before the pay increase will show them any real benefit. The textile business is in a depressed condition at this time, although there are signs that an improvement is coming. There was no doubt that the workers were ill-advised in the first instance and it is good that the former officials have been removed. Probably under the new leadership, the union will function more smoothly and with less need for the agitation that has caused more or less of the trouble over the past several years.

We hope that the workers will now stick to their work and if disputes do arise again, that they will take more time to consider the matters for themselves. It is their right to study their own situation as it is they whom it will affect and who will suffer from the consequences.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken From Gleaner Files

February 27

The following from John Ford, formerly of Trout River and now of Montreal: "I was interested in the report of the dairymen's convention in last week's Gleaner. We can show a far better record of milking than any mentioned. We have a cow in our stables that came from David Pringle's herd, which to all appearances at the end of the year, will go over 14,000 lbs., and will nearly reach 15,000 lbs.

March 5

The contracts for building a steel bridge at Holbrook's have been agreed on. Joseph Tallon is to build the abutments for $1090 and the Imperial Bridge Co., (Mr. Rousseau) is to supply the superstructure for something less than $900. The bridge is to be ready for traffic for the 1st of September.

March 26

William Fortune has bought the dwelling house facing the square, owned by W. B. Saunders for $900.

The policeman is having a big time keeping the loafing resorts clear of boys. His "move on" is a sure sign of scattering.

The new railway water tank at the St. L. & A. Station is nearing completion and is a monster. It will hold four times as much as the old one.

There are three new engines for the passenger service on the St. L. & A. R.R. They are named Huntingdon, Valleyfield and Beauharnois, and are from the Schenectady locomotive works.

April 16

Syrup is selling here at 60c a tin. The imperial gallon is in universal use in this section this season, and few storekeepers will buy any that weigh less than 13½ lbs. Last Tuesday gave one of the best runs on record. Every day there was the average in richness.

May 7

Visitors to the village stand awe-struck as they view the Philps block opposite the post office, not because of its imposing proportions but of the rapidity with which it sprang into existence. Ten days from the driving of the first nail, its substantial owner was in possession and ready to write policies.

May 28

A fire which broke out in Malone Tuesday morning destroyed Thompson's hardware store, Murphy's dry goods store and other business places. Loss will reach $100,000.

June 4

A cow belonging to R. B. Cunningham died after a brief illness. Doctor Walsh who had diagnosed the cause of illness as some foreign body in the stomach, on opening the carcass found several pounds of the scrapings of paint pots in the stomach, which she had found, probably, on the race course, where she had been grazing.

June 11

There are buyers of hay if at good quality at $10.50 to $11.50 in the barn. The prospects of the new crop are so poor that few farmers in this neighborhood are disposed to sell even at those tempting figures.

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday forenoon, the minister announced that the congregation had elected John Law and James McGregor additional elders for the village, and Geo. L. MacFarlane as elder for Elgin. They are to be ordained on the 21st.

The demand for horses continues active and pricees have stiffened considerably especially for heavy draft horses which easily bring from 10 to 20 per cent over the price of three months ago. Mr. Mallette ships 10 from here today making nearly 150 bought by him from Howick west in the course of the past six weeks. Nearly all the horses bought of late have been for English market.

What is Happening in the Dairy Industry

The following two articles, one an editorial from The Ottawa Farm Journal and the other a news item on a matter brought to the attention of a group of dairy union leaders, tie in very closely with an editorial on this, page. Farmers should read these items and think them over carefully.

BUT IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

It has been suggested to us in the past that we have been paying too much attention to the effect of vegetable oils on the dairy industry and that, in this column a week ago, we were somewhat less than fair to farm organizations. The suggestion was the farm organizations were fully alive to what was likely to take place and would take effective action when the time arrived.

Our reply was, and still is, there is little evidence that dairy farmers are sufficiently aroused to what the future holds for them and that farm organizations, even those directly connected with dairying, have shown little evidence of a willingness to face issues. Certainly the brief presented to the Government last week by the Canadian Federation showed no evidence of grave concern. The same is true of recent actions by other organizations, and the dairy groups in Ontario.

The evidence is now piling up that, unless farm and dairy organizations are prepared to put up a vigorous fight, they may well find themselves, and that within a few months, facing competition in every dairy branch and from sources outside what is now known as the dairy industry.

This has already taken place in the United States. The competition of margarine is an old issue and now more or less accepted but now there is ice cream in which oils have replaced butterfat and canned milk in which the natural cream has been replaced. In commercial making synthetic creams have already replaced butterfat. It is known that oils are going into processed cheese. In some few places oils are being used in place of the cream in the milk bottle.

And this is not on a small scale. Our information is that in one large U.S. city synthetic canned milk, selling at less than that with butterfat, is actually outselling old named brands.

The argument will likely be "but this can't happen here", or not in Ontario where we have a new act aimed at control of such synthetic products. Well our guess is that it can, and will, unless very vigorous action is started soon.

We already know that the Ontario law on use of margarine, and its content, is already honored more in the breach than in its observance. There is no evidence that the province is willing to effectively control dairy synthetics—already several, such as oil-filled cream substitutes, are allowed.

The danger, for the present at least, does not come from the old established dairy trade. It will be someone outside the present trade, likely one of the big soap firms or somebody allied with them, who will start the ball rolling by putting a cheap synthetic ice cream, or canned milk, on the market. Then, in self-defence, everybody will get into the act. Once established on the market any sort of effective control will be ten times harder than if effective action is started now. The thin end of the wedge is already in—synthetic cream has replaced the farm product by the thousands of gallons.

This is not an attempt to scare anybody—simply trying to place the facts before those directly concerned. Unless the producing end of the dairy industry wakes up soon they may find their prices geared to the cost of cheap imported oils, with no relation to domestic costs.—Editorial, June 27th—Ottawa Farm Journal.

FILLED MILK IS REAL THREAT IN U.S. MARKET

TORONTO, June 28.—(Special)—A new threat to the dairy industry is a substitute for whole milk that replaces the butterfat content of milk with a cheaper vegetable fat, it was claimed here this week.

The new product, called "filled milk" was brought to the attention of a group of dairy union leaders by Norman Myrick, editor of the American Milk Review.

Mr. Myrick spoke to the Mid-States-East Coast Dairy Conference of the Teamsters Union (AFL-TLC) at the Royal York Hotel.

(The Ontario Milk Board recently banned the sale of milk fortified with vitamins on the ground that it opposed the addition of any outside factor to milk. The vitamin milk was a low-butterfat milk fortified with vitamins and milk solids.)

Now in Use

Filled milk has been introduced on the market in the United States and although it has achieved no mass volume it might have the same impact on whole milk sales as margarine had on butter, he said.

Butter consumption in the U.S., he said, has dropped from 17.6 pounds per capita in 1949 to about 9.8 pounds in 1950.

The new milk product imposes the most serious threat of all, he emphasized. Butterfat, Mr. Myrick said, represents a large percentage of the cost of milk.

Filled milk would eliminate it, substituting cheaper vegetable fats and reducing the price of milk.

Every time the price of milk went up to the consumer, the incentive to buy filled milk would increase, he said.

Mr. Myrick urged that labor, the dairies and the farmer co-operate to maintain volume of milk sales and keep the price down. Efficiency was the greatest factor in reducing costs, he said.

He suggested that the three groups raise a fund for promotion and advertising aimed at boosting milk sales.

In one county of Ohio, $30,000 was raised for promotion, with the labor group in the industry contributing $10,000, he said.

Milk production in the United States had dropped sharply, despite the fact the population was increased, he said.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP) — Parliament finished its session's work last week and adjourned until November after one of the longest — and at times the most bitter — debates of the session.

Progressive Conservative members fought for 4½ days against the redistribution bill, charging the government with "bare-faced gerrymandering." The bill went through, however, increasing the number of Commons seats from 262 to 265 and altering the boundaries of 125 constituencies. It will take effect with the next general election.

The Progressive Conservatives charged that a committee, composed of a majority of Liberals, had redrawn the boundaries of ridings in such a way as to make it difficult for some opposition members to be re-elected.

They argued that the details of changes in constituencies should be handed over to a special commission. The Liberal majority defeated that suggestion, together with eight specific Progressive Conservative motions covering detailed changes.

Parliament now stands adjourned until Nov. 20, although Prime Minister St. Laurent said members could be recalled at any time to deal with any "momentous decision" which might arise. On Nov. 20, the session will be immediately prorogued and a new session started—the regular 1953 session.

Farm Topics

Two important developments affecting agriculture were seen during the closing days.

The Supreme Court of Canada handed down a decision that clears the way for the resumption of farm marketing schemes by several provinces. In effect, the court held that the federal government can constitutionally give the provinces power to regulate the marketing of their farm products outside their borders.

The court's ruling reversed the findings of the Prince Edward Island Supreme Court which earlier this year said the P.E.I. potato marketing board had no power to deal with potato-selling outside the island's borders.

The Ottawa judgment was welcomed by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, representing some 400,000 farmers. President H. H. Hannam said it "establishes once and for all the right of producers to regulate the marketing of their own products, under suitable legislation passed by parliament."

Farm irrigation was discussed in the Commons, where Agriculture Minister Gardiner suggested that all Canadian farmers should receive the benefit of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

At present the P.F.R.A. applies only in the "Palliser triangle" covering about one-third of the old southern drought areas of the prairie provinces.

Mr. Gardiner said he felt similar aid should be given in developing irrigation projects in drought areas across Canada.

South Saskatchewan Plan

Opposition members urged a speed-up in the start of one major irrigation proposal, the South Saskatchewan River project.

Mr. St. Laurent said the government will proceed with the project if it's shown to be a sound investment. A three-man commission investigating its worth has not reported yet. Mr. Gardiner said the government felt all doubts should first be removed before going ahead.

Progressive Conservative leader George Drew urged the government to go ahead with the Saskatchewan plan without bothering about details. C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell said the South Saskatchewan River plan would bring water to between 450,000 and 500,000 acres of land which is potentially far above average productivity.

Bitter Debate

The argument over redistribution grew bitterest as Progressive Conservatives fought unsuccessfully against changes in the ridings of two prominent members of the party. They are John Diefenbaker of Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, and George Nowland of Annapolis-Kings, Nova Scotia. Mr. Diefenbaker is a veteran member of the party and Mr. Nowland is president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

Because Saskatchewan is losing three seats, Mr. Diefenbaker's riding was extended to take in Moose Jaw riding, held by the C.C.F., together with some Liberal territory from other ridings.

Said Mr. Diefenbaker: "There has been a monstrous manipulation of constituencies for political purposes."

Speaking for the C.C.F., Mr. Coldwell said Saskatchewan redistribution was an "abomination."

As a result of the 1951 census, this is how membership in the Commons will be divided in the next Parliament, with the existing division in brackets:

Newfoundland seven (seven); Prince Edward Island four (four); Nova Scotia 12 (13); New Brunswick 10 (10); Quebec 75 (73); Ontario 85 (83); Manitoba 14 (16); Saskatchewan 17 (20); Alberta 17 (17); British Columbia 22 (18); Yukon-Mackenzie River two (one); total 265 (262).

Divorce Data

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) has for years opposed the system whereby residents of Quebec and Newfoundland must apply to Parliament if they want a divorce. Last week, as the house passed a batch of 70 divorce bills, Mr. Knowles dazzled the members with statistics on divorce.

The Commons has been handing out divorces at the rate of one every 62 seconds, he said. This year 312 divorce bills were granted—the second highest number on record. Commons' time spent on them was three hours and 45 minutes.

Printed divorce evidence formed a pile 15 inches high. However, since the 364 members of the House and Senate each received a stack of evidence, the total divorce evidence would reach 455 feet—155 feet higher than Parliament's Peace Tower.

Covey Hill

COVEY HILL—The Covey Hill Customs service is now operating on a 16-hour schedule with Mr. Ralph E. O'Connor of Huntingdon on night duty.

A number of trees were blown down in last week's storm and some gardens were damaged by the floods of rain that fell.

Mr. Perry Stewart of San Franciso, travelling via New York and Montreal, arrived here Thursday and is visiting relatives and friends at the Hill and Hemmingford.

Mrs. Albert Labelle, of Ormstown, spent a few days the past week with her family here.

Mr. C. B. Edwards and Keith and Mrs. Charles Edwards motored to Quebec recently and Mac returned with them, having completed the school year at St. John's College.

Miss Lois McComb, of Montreal, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Mannagh.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. D. Douglas visited their respective relatives in Champlain.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barr and Miss Ella MacDiarmid of Montreal have been holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Edwards.

U.N. Spurs Drive Against Desert Locust

Since Biblical times, the farmers of the Middle East have considered the desert locust a sort of "Public Enemy No. 1." This situation has not changed much, but now, for the first time in history a number of nations are joining forces with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), to combat the plague. Above, entomologists of the USA and Pakistan examine dead locusts on a desert of Pakistan. Through its expanded program of technical assistance FAO is offering material aid in combatting the plague.

How to Produce Decay

The Canton, Massachusetts, Journal, recently printed a long letter written by Cecil Palmer, a distinguished English publisher, author and journalist, dealing with the consequences of Britain's experiment in socialized medicine. Here, in part, is what he found after more than three years of study and observation:

"In its evolution from private practice to State control, the profession of medicine is losing its independence ,integrity and indispensable privacy in the relationship between physician and patient. A lay bureaucracy impinges itself on medicine. The profession is cluttered with orders, rules and regulations. It is overwhelmed in an avalanche of forms, questionnaires and certificates which reduce doctors to impotence and patients to despair.

"For some years the American public has been invited to accept politically-planned and controlled medicine because, among other things, it is claimed that such a system is imperative to overcome a potential shortage of doctors. But nationalized medicine has not solved the problem of too few doctors in Britain. On the contrary, some of the best men and women in the profession steadfastly refuse to associate themselves with the scheme. Others who gave it a fair trial are deserting it.

"One well-known doctor said on giving up practice, 'I cannot cope with the situation. To make an adequate living, you must have so many patients that you can't look after them properly".

Mr. Palmer then dealt with the problem of costs. When the "free" medical service scheme was started, the estimated cost was $500,000,000. As in most government undertakings, the estimates turned out to be hopeful fictions when the bills rolled in.

Can anyone doubt that politically-dominated medicine in this country would, sooner or later, run the same sorry course as in Britain? Can anyone doubt that ambition and ability would be stifled, and that the standards of scare would go down and down? When the bureaucrat takes over, progress stops and decay sets in.

SOFTBALL

The Huntingdon Merchants travelled to Ormstown on Monday, June 30th. to battle with Franklin, in the Ormstown District League, as a counter-attraction the same evening there was a political rally in the adjacent arena. By the way, the Ormstown diamond could stand a face lifting and some missionary work done on the lights.

Huntingdon's Walter "the Squirt" McCallum, the first man up, blasted a homer into deep left field for first blood, and his mates went on to add five more during the game for a 6-4 win over Franklin.

Johnny Brooks, the Humphrey Pennyworth of the Merchants, batting in the clean-up spot, was a mighty man at the plate in more ways than one, he had three hits for four tries and, by showing an exception burst the speed, managed to shrink a homer into a double.

None of the Franklin club connected safely more than once, with Ocenas, Breza and Lamb each getting a double.

"Monk" Moniqui proved his versatility by starting in centre field for Jon Proudfoot's boys, then moved into play third and finally went in to relieve Tom Kirnan on the mound, who had tossed a great game and gets credit for the win. "Monk" fanned the three men who faced him in the final inning to put the game on ice for the Merchants.

HUNTINGDON: McCallum, P. Derepentigny, Moniqui, Brooks, Brisebois, L. Derepentigny, Pringle, Kirnan, Labarge, Proudfoot and Senecal.

FRANKLIN: G. Waller, Blair, Ocenas, Breza, C. Waller, J. Leahy, Lusiser, D. Leahy and Lamb.

Franklin Flyers came to town Friday and avenged their defeat of the previous Monday, at the hands of the Huntingdon Merchants, by turning the tables on them for a 6-4 win in an extra inning contest at the Fair Grounds.

For the Flyers, Jimmy Leahy brought his control with him and had himself quite an evening. He fanned eleven Merchants, gave no bases on balls and allowed nine hits. Besides all this, he was beaned in the fourth by one of Tommy Kirnan's fast ones and had to retire briefly for repairs before he could continue with his time at bat. Just to make his evening complete, Jim won his own game with a triple in the eight frame, driving in brother Danny and Breza with the winning runs.

For the losers, Walt McCallum was back in business. The "Squirt" got two three-basers, a single and a base on an error in four trips to the plate.

It is an odd coincidence that every time the "Squirt" came up, he was the first man to bat in the inning, leading off in first, third, fifth and seventh frames and Louis Derepentigny led off in all the others, the second, fourth, sixth and eighth, that must be one for the book.

Rene Senecal saved the game temporarily twice in the seventh for the home club. Defensively, he made a nice running catch to rob Moneypenny of a sure base-hit and, at bat, his long fly to centre field drove in Roy, running for McCallum who had pulled up lame with a charley horse after his second triple, this knotted the count and forced the extra inning.

Tommy Kirnan struck out two, walked none and allowed eight hits in the six innings he worked. Monk Moniqui whiffed three, walked one and gave up three hits in the seventh and eighth, and was the losing pitcher.

FRANKLIN: G. Waller, Blair, Oceanos, Breza, Vaincourt, Lussier, Kostorick, D. Leahy, J. Leahy and Moneypenny.

HUNTINGDON: McCallum, Brisebois, Senecal, Salter, L. Derepentigny, P. Derepentigny, Moniqui, Kirnan, Pringle, A Proudfoot, Smith and Roy.

BASEBALL ROYALS ROUT LACHINE

Lachine Pirates came aboard the Huntingdon Royals' craft Sunday afternoon and their attempt to sink the locals was a sorry failure, the Buccaneers were repulsed 11 - 1.

The Huntingdon 'farmers', as the visitors dubbed them, proved to be too much for the citified invaders.

Pete Fleury pitched his second win of the season for the Royals and allowed only four hits, beating George Belton, the Lachine hurler, who has won seven and lost three this year.

"Chief" Tremblay led the local assault on Belton with two singles and a double in four trips.

In the third inning, a foul tip caught Jerry Fleury on the finger, breaking it in two places. Don Heath replaced him behind the bat.

POWER BELT TENNIS

Last week the Knights "A" tennis team visited Huntingdon and whitewashed the local racket wielders seven matches to none.

On Sunday, Huntingdon travelled to Beauharnois and this time, came out on top by a close four to three score.

We had hoped to be able to publish the league standing in this issue, but complete scores do not seem to be available, we would appreciate it if the league secretary would forward us results as they are played.

In an exhibition tournament with Hemmingford, the Huntingdon team was victorious by a 6-1 margin last Wednesday night. As an added attraction, J. P. Turgeon and L. Picard, of the Montreal Concordia Club, played a men's singles match, with Turgeon winning 6-1, 6-1.

Sherbrooke's Training Scheme For Young Doctors Is Praised

Sherbrooke's scheme to train young doctors for general practice is praised in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

Dr. T. J. Quintin of Sherbrooke says in an article that "probably as the direct result of the scheme," three young doctors of the 18 trained there will return to practise in the area, and another will go into practise in another part of rural Quebec.

The scheme, sponsored by Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and set up for a group of five hospitals, sends two young interns through Sherbrooke hospital services every two months.

Idea, the article says, is to develop the old idea of apprenticeship of medicine and to encourage young doctors to make and take personal interest in patients.

Sherbrooke doctors let the young intern look at the life of a busy doctor in general practice and take them to see men in smaller villages.

"The interns get to know something of the districts from which a hospital draws its patients and when 'Sam McLeod' turns up in the district the intern has visited, the budding medico has some interest in him as an individual and not merely as a heart or lung."

Stimulates Thinking

"The scheme," says Dr. Quintin, "has raised the level of medical practise in the area and stimulated medical thinking."

The scheme has given the young doctors a feeling of confidence. "They have escaped from the dominance of their teachers to where they are asked for an opinion and are made to feel that they can practise the healing art," the article says.

Dr. Quintin says doctors would like to see "recognition and sponsoring of these and similar schemes by government and university authorities."

This recognition, it is felt, might lead to funds being made available to have have regular visits made by members of the medical faculty or hospital staffs at the central area to hospitals in the surrounding area; provision of fellowships to senior men or resident doctors anxious to improve teaching of interns in surrounding hospitals; and bursaries to be made available to interns to enable them to contribute special knowledge in the areas where they decide to work.

Clinics to Be Held in County

All parents are invited to bring their children to the clinic nearest their home and guard your children's health against disease.

Letter to the Editor

The Editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner Inc.

Dear sir:

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture, which is a timorous organization whose one idea of marketing farm products is to persuade the Government to underwrite the prices of whatever the farmers have to sell, is still trembling before the prospect of lower farm prices in the future.

It has requested the Government to deduct $500 million from Canada's three-year defence program, and use the money for what it is pleased to call the defence of food prices.

It suggests that the Government should buy any food surpluses we might have and remove them from the market by giving them away, or selling them on credit to countries that can't afford to buy them, or it might stockpile them for future use.

There is not much chance of the Government's stultifying itself by granting this request. To do so would be to admit, either that the defence estimates are too high, or that national defence is of less importance than farm prices.

The first responsibility of the Government is national defence, and that doesn't mean partial defence. It means carrying the program through to completion even if it takes the last dollar in the treasury. Nothing should come before it; and it is the Government's duty to see that nothing does.

E. J. Young.

Real advertising doubles sales

Value of advertising in the Wiarton (Ont.) Echo was revealed to its readers by this story:

"A Wiarton merchant who decided to do some real advertising this spring reports astonishing results. After running a couple of ads, he found that he had to order as much stock again as he had started with. This was just twice as much of the same products as he sold last spring.

"He was surprised and gratified at the results of Wiarton Echo advertising. If some others followed his lead, they wouldn't always be squawking about local people shopping elsewhere".

The late William Wrigley was once riding with a friend on a crack express train to Chicago. His companion was curious to know why the magnate continued to spend so much money in advertising. "Your gum is known all over the world", he said, "why don't you save the millions you are spending on advertising?"

$1,000 more paint

Chesley (Ont.) Enterprise tells this story of increased business through advertising:

A country storekeeper at Elmwood, after running a series of paint ads in the Chesley Enterprise, told the editor he sold a thousand dollars more paint than he had the previous year when he did not advertise.

Canadian Weekly Editor,
May 1952

Wrigley pondered a second and then asked, "How fast is this train going?"

"About 60 miles per hour" replied the other.

"Then", asked Wrigley, "why doesn't the railway company remove the engine and let the train travel on its own momentum?"

The above items speak for themselves as to what advertising can accomplish.

United-Presbyterian Joint Service

Sunday evening a joint service of the congregations of St. Andrew's Presbyterian and Huntingdon United churches was held on the spacious grounds of Mrs. D. L. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Oney, at Connaught Place, Port Lewis. The evening was ideal for the service, which was well attended. Mr. Oney set up a public address system and had a record player in operation, using a fine collection of hymns. Following the service a number of other records were played. The Rev. Thos. Knowles assisted the Rev. R. D. MacLean, who preached the sermon. The idea of the out-of-door evening service at Port Lewis was the idea of Mr. McLean and as the first such service was such a success it will quite likely be made an annual event in the annals of these two congregatios.

Arvida Band Gives Concert

For the Provincial Band Festival held in Valleyfield on Sunday, many bands were sent to surrounding towns in order that they might obtain hotel accommodation. The Arvida, Que., band stayed at the Huntingdon Chateau from Saturday to Monday. On Saturday evening they presented a lovely band concert in Prince Arthur Square. On Sunday morning the Arvida visitors gave our Town a good inspection for wherever you seemed to be you would see some of the visitors. They were particularly impressed with the great number of fine trees in our town, a great contrast to Arvida, a town of 25 years existence but not yet heavily wooded. The visitors were accompanied by wives and families.

On Sunday, the Sherbrooke, Que., band of 60 pieces also dined at The Chateau for lunch.

"We'll line up to vote for DUPLESSIS, too, BECAUSE..."

Every one of us is much better off today because of his marvelous help to labor. His Minimum Wage law stopped the exploitation of our most needy workers—the unskilled folks. Then he raised the workmen's compensation for industrial sickness and accident all around—the rates, the minimum and the maximum.

He gave us our biggest boost when he won us the right to unionize, and another mighty good one when he got overtime pay made obligatory. It was grand too when he got half a million of us vacations with pay, which we weren't getting before. Through his tremendous public works programme he created thousands of jobs at the time when jobs were scarce.*

He did a whole lot to make us happier and healthier in our work. He cut down the number of industrial disputes between us and our bosses, by conciliation and arbitration efforts—which saved thousands of us from idleness due to strikes. He's extended medical examinations for workers in mines—and throughout the Province—as well as establishing a clinic where we working people get free treatments to build up our health after accidents.

He's given thousands of apprentices skilled training through his fifteen apprenticeship centers; and thousands of our boys and girls vocational training in the trade and technical schools set up by the Department of Youth and Welfare.

YES, SIR! We're sure voting for DUPLESSIS on July 16.

Round Byre AND Ring

By Frank Napier

On Sunday last, I spent a most interesting three or four hours. The occasion being a luncheon at The Chateau, with Gilbert MacMillan as the host, with George and Mrs. Templeton of Carnell, Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, as the guests of honour, also with Douglas A. and Mrs. Ness of Burnside Farms, Howick, Mrs. Napier and this writer as the other guests. The Templetons were spending their second last day on this side of the Atlantic. Next day, Monday, at 5 p.m. they were scheduled to board a B.O.A.C. plane, at Dorval, and so expected to arrive at Prestwick, Air Port, Scotland, some 8 miles from Carnell, some time on Wednesday—today.

ROUND WORLD TRIP

As has already been reported in this column and elsewhere in the Gleaner on several different occasions, the Templetons came back by Canada on their way home from Australia and New Zealand.

They left Tilbury, England, on February 20 on an Orient liner which landed them in Australia four weeks afterwards. Before and after the Australian Royal Show, where George judged the Ayrshires, the Templetons visited a large number of herds in South Australia, New South Wales and Queensland, as guests of the Australian Ayrshire Associations. While the main objective of George Templeton's trip was to judge the Ayrshires at the Australian Royal Show, he was also delegated by the Ayrshire Cattle Herd Book Society of Great Britain to act as a Good-Will Ambassador for that Society.

From Australia they flew to New Zealand and there visited a number of Ayrshire herds, after which they went by plane, across the Pacific via the Fiji and Hawaiian Ils to Vancouver, B.C.

After a series of visits in British Columbia and Alberta they arrived at Burnside, Howick, in time for Ormstown Exhibition. After Ormstown they visited several Ayrshire herds in Pontiac County, Que., and the Ottawa Valley and took in Lachute Spring Fair. During the course of the following week, Douglas A. and Mrs. Ness drove them to Brandon, Vermont, where Cuthbert Nairne of Douglassville, Penna., met them and conducted them on a tour of Ayrshire herds in Vermont, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and New York.

Following their return from the States they visited for a few days around Toronto and Hamilton and during the past week they stayed at Burnside, from whence they visited a considerable number of herds in the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club Area.

THIRD GENERATION

During the luncheon already referred to and after, the conversation was mostly about Ayrshires, naturally so in view of the fact that, like George Templeton, Gilbert MacMillan and Douglas A. Ness, have had lifetime connections with that breed of cattle. However, while the careers of the last two may be said to be "an open book" insofar as their Ayrshire compatriots here are concerned, a few words regarding that of George Templeton may be of interest. Therefore, first of all, we may say that he is one of five brothers who are not only third generation Ayrshire breeders but who are each amongst Scotland's outstanding Ayrshire breeders. The other four being Jacob of Rottenrow; William of Syke; Tom of Hillhead and John of Willoxton. Moreover they are grandsons of the late George F. Templeton and sons of the late Robert Templeton, both of Willoxton. With respect to the latter, it has been said: "Robert Templeton really lived before his time", because he commenced to test his cattle for T.B. away back in 1908. Long before there was any concerted effort as regards T.B. testing of cattle in Scotland.

CATCRAIG

It therefore was that when George took over the farm of Catcraig in 1914, he took with him from Willoxton a herd of T.B. tested Ayrshires. Similarly the Rottenrow, Syke and Hillhead herds were all founded by T.B. free animals from Willoxton.

CARNELL

In 1923, George Templeton moved from Catcraig to Carnell Home Farm, a two hundred acre farm. A few years ago he took his son Robert into partnership under the firm name of G. & R. Templeton, and together they acquired the adjacent farm of Pocknave where Robert and Mrs. Templeton reside. They also rented an additional nearby 50 acres and so they now farm 250 acres in all. The herd numbers 230 head of purebred Ayrshires, almost at the rate of 1 cow per acre, as the saying goes.

MASHLAM

Some 80 acres are seeded down to grain—40 acres being in oats and 40 acres in oats and beans. In Scotland the later mixture is known as Mashlam.

The Mashlam is ripened in the usual way, is stacked, subsequently threshed, after which the oats and beans are ground into meal. "A Grand cow feed," said George Templeton.

CATCRAIG PANSY

During the early days of this writer with the Ayrshire Association one of the great Scottish cows of the Ayrshire breed was Catcraig Pansy 2nd, bred by George Templeton. Her photograph was therefore largely used in both an editorial and advertising way. Still is one of the classic Ayrshire pictures.

GRAND DISPLAY OF COWS

However, it was evident from the fine array of photographs of present day breeding matrons at Carnell and Pocknave, shown to us by George Templeton, that in the present day herd there is a large number of cows that would rival Catcraig Pansy 2nd, both from a conformation and production standpoint, albeit also from a reproduction standpoint. Catcraig Pansy 2nd was in the Hundred Thousand Pound production class. However, we were shown the photographs of five daughters of Nether Craig Prosperity, that are undoubtedly in the "Super Excellent" class insofar as conformation is concerned. Moreover all of them are in the Hundred Thousand pound production class. One of them is Carnell Tulip 9th, dam of the noted Carnell Tulip 12th (imp) of the Burnside herd of Howick, Que. Incidentally Nether Craig Prosperity also sired Burnside Future Hope, senior herd sire at Burnside.

Other photographs of outstanding herd matrons seen included one of Carnell Peg, full sister of Carnell Pearlstone (imp) herd sire at Macdonald College; Carnell Snowdrop II which in 8 lactations, produced over 100,000 lbs. milk with an average test of 4.5%; Carnell Hyacinth 7th which produced over 100,000 lbs. milk, with an average test of 4.4% in 9 lactations.

We were informed by George Templeton that at present there are 85 cows in the milking herd at Carnell, in which respect we may quote an official certificate of The Scottish Milk Records Association, dated 16 February, 1952. Briefly, that certificate testifies that the Carnell and Pocknave herds were tested, by that Association, for quantity and quality of milk during the years 1949, 1950 and 1951, and that the herd averages, based on 305 day yields and lactations fully completed in less than 305 days were as follows:

1949: 83 lactations (Cows and Heifers)—11,239 lbs. milk, 470 lbs. b.f., 4.17%.

1950: 77 lactations (Cows and Heifers)—10,940 lbs. milk, 455 lbs. b.f., 4.16%.

1951: 86 lactations (Cows and Heifers)—10,679 lbs. milk, 452 lbs. b.f., 4.23%. (end of quotation).

To which this writer might add, a great record for any herd anywhere, but, all the more striking in view of the fact that as with the people of Scotland so also are cattle there on austerity rations.

Political Aspirations

by A. S. PIRANT

One day last week, our old friend Eb. having caught up with his work for a few hours, decided to bask in the shade of a tree near the house and just take things easy. Inwardly he chided himself for wasting time, but outwardly he showed no signs of remorse. His conscience said he should be doing some of those odd jobs he'd been putting off, but this day Eb. was revolting, it was a hot day and why should a man have to work all the time. He had attended to the most pressing jobs and surely that was enough for a few hours at least.

Thus it was that Jake happening to pass by with Annie, caught sight of Eb. in this unusual act of relaxing. He had not intended to stop, but it was too much for him to see his old friend taking life so easy. Bringing Annie to a stop with a squeeling of brakes and the last dying gurgle, he made his way over to where Eb. was dozing, pardon us, we mean taking things easy. "What in thunderation is the meaning of this?" said Jake.

"Yes, yes, my pet, I was just going to do that for you", said Eb., as he suddenly straightened up with eyes wide open. "Oh, it's you is it, I thought it was my wife wanting something done again".

"Well!" said Jake, "what is the meaning of all this sitting around, has someone paid you enough that you can retire and you don't have to worry any more. Perhaps you have made a few dollars out of the election campaign and your mind is all made up".

"Now, that's a funny thing", said Eb., "as matter of fact my mind is made up and I have decided I am going to vote for Tillotson. Not because he is Tillotson, but because he stands for the Liberal Party in Quebec and I believe they have the right idea. You know, next Wednesday is voting day and I feel we have had enough of this Duplessis this and Duplessis that. You know if I hadn't known there was a Union Nationale Party, I would have thought it was the Duplessis Party".

"What brought this about?" asked Jake.

"Well", answered Eb., "I've been reading the newspapers and attending some of the meetings and I have learned quite a bit. When one man does all the talking, makes all the decisions and takes all the glory; it doesn't look right to me. When you pick up a newspaper the headlines say—'Duplessis says this', 'Duplessis keeps Quebec Ahead', everything depends upon Duplessis. Supposing Duplessis dies or something, what are those other poor fellows in the Union Nationale Party going to do? They're going to be lost and then we won't have anybody to keep Quebec ahead. So I'm going to vote Liberal because I feel all the Liberal men can pitch in and do something and each one of them can speak for himself. You know Duplessis fell down on the ice and was laid up for several weeks a few months back and during that time no one could say a word or do anything until he recovered and could make the decisions for them. Or, maybe they were not allowed to say anything. After all, when we elect our man we expect he is going to say something and that he is not going to wait until one man gives him permission to say it. Like Mr. Mongrain said at Ormstown, 'But the royal dictator of Quebec wishes to consume all opposition, so that he alone will reign supreme'. No, Jake, that's not for me. I want every man elected to have his say in the true democratic way. I want all of their ideas sifted out so that we can get the best form of government possible. It is not right for one man to decide everything and say everything—such a person is a government unto himself and I'm not voting for that come July 16th".

"By golly, there Eb., you sound real riled up about this thing and I can't say you don't have a right", said Jake. "If a person really looks the situation over carefully there are a lot of things that are not right and this is our opportunity to make a change. That little bit of paper that you mark with an X at the polling booth on July 16th is a powerful instrument if you use it right. Get enough X's in the right place and you get your man in. You know, I like that man Marler. He's puts things pretty plain when he talks and he talks like he knows what it is all about. You get confidence in a man like that. I believe you are right Eb. we ought to both vote for Tillotson and the Liberal Party on July 16th and I hope there are a lot more people in this county and in this province who will think and do the same as us. Well, it's been nice getting together this way and talking over these important matters, we should do it more often".

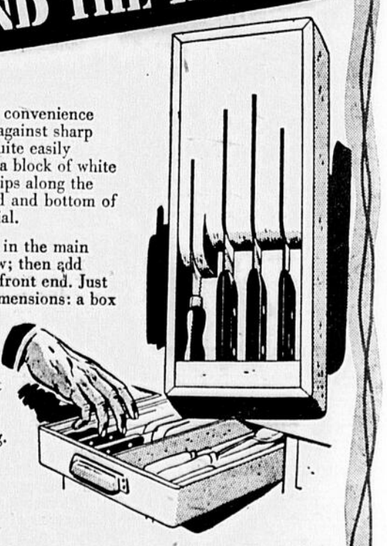
AROUND THE HOME

A KNIFE BOX that offers both convenience and protection against sharp edges may be quite easily fashioned from a block of white pine — with strips along the sides — and end and bottom of the same material.

First make cuts in the main block with a saw; then add sides, base and front end. Just as a guide to dimensions: a box to hold three paring knives and one kitchen or table knife should be about 4 ins. wide; 2 ins. deep, and 10 ins. long.



Very attractive BOOK MARKS for many years of useful service may be cut from discarded felt hats, or scraps of leather and pieces of silk . . . either lettered as desired or left plain.

PICNIC NOTIONS

When hot summer days come along, plan meals with an eye on the weather. If the family is listless and appetites wane in the heat, why not move them outdoors at meal time? It is surprising how fresh air and the novelty of new surroundings will perk up faded appetites. If it is convenient, jaunt out to the beach or to a favourite picnic spot; but the backyard will do. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture send a reminder to have plenty of filling and substantial food. If there is a fire the food will be no problem. Many mouth-watering dishes can be made on a wire grill or plain wire rack set on two stones. Young broilers, about two pounds dressed weight, are delicious split in half or quartered and grilled directly over the coals or separate pieces like breasts or legs may be used. The pieces may be brushed with fat or sauce and grilled slowly, turning frequently, until tender—about 35 to 45 minutes. Spareribs, chops, luncheon meats and sausages may also be grilled successfully.

It is not necessary to have a fire, however, to enjoy delicious chicken or sausage. Chicken-in-a-basket is a wonderful way to serve chicken. This intriguing-sounding dish is really pieces of crisp, tender, golden-brown fried chicken and may be served either hot or cold. The name started when a restaurant specializing in chicken dishes observed that many of its patrons preferred to pick up the pieces with their fingers. They decided to make this a regular practice and served the chicken attractively piled in baskets, without forks. It was so popular that this method of serving became generally accepted. To prepare the chicken, ready-to-cook cut ups may be purchased. Wipe and coat with seasoned flour or egg and crumbs, then fry in one-half inch of hot fat allowing about five minutes for each side. Cover and allow to cook about 25-30 minutes until tender. Serve with a fresh green salad.

Sausage rolls are another cold picnic dish that are sure to please. They are made by rolling oblong strips of pastry, about one-eighth of an inch thick, around small pork sausages which have been parboiled for about five minutes. These rolls are then baked in a hot oven, 425°F., for about thirty minutes. Bake and serve cold.

A chicken salad is always good picnic fare—it is filling and pleases most palates; it can be made ahead of time so that there is no need for that last minute rush, and it is easy to handle. Another point is, it can be made from fowl which is in good supply right now and is less expensive than many other meats. A six-pound fowl will give about four cups of cooked diced meat. To prepare the salad, stew or steam the fowl, then remove the meat and dice enough to make two cups. This will give six average servings—although you may want to increase the size of servings to allow for those special giant-size picnic appetites. Combine the two cups of diced chicken with two cups of diced celery and enough mayonnaise to blend well. For extra flavour, add one-quarter cup of diced green pepper or almonds, blanched, then shredded and browned.

Some prefer to marinate the ingredients for a couple of hours before serving the salad. Marinate comes from an old Spanish word meaning "to pickle" and to do it, an acid dressing is added to the ingredients to give them new flavour and to soften tough fibres. French dressing is usually used as the marinade. For a specially brisk flavour, add parsley, pickles, olives, catsup, chili sauce or Roquefort-type blue cheese to the dressing. After the ingredients have stood in the marinade for an hour or so, the salad is mixed with a regular mayonnaise or salad dressing. The salad should be kept well-chilled until the last minute, then it can be packed in a plastic container or any suitable container with a close fitting lid.

One favourite perennial in the picnic line is eggs — other foods come and go in picnic popularity, but eggs are standard fare at every outing. They can be used as a delicious filling for sandwiches, to add extra food value to light salads or they may be served plain or devilled with the main dish. In any case, they are always hard-cooked for picnics and it is important that they be cooked correctly. All too often the term "hard-cooked" is replaced by "hard-boiled" and as a result the eggs are tough and rubbery. The home economists tell us that eggs should never be boiled. They should be cooked slowly in water just below the boiling point, allowing at least 30 minutes to cook. Of course, no one wants to have eggs with dark rings around them, so cool them immediately in cold water as soon as they are cooked. This will make peeling easier too.

The eggs may be sliced or quartered to serve with a salad or they may be devilled. To make devilled eggs, cut the eggs in half, lengthwise or crosswise, scoop out the yolks and mash them while hot and season with salt, pepper, mustard and a little vinegar or mix them with salad dressing and seasonings. Then place the mixture back into the whites, heaping it attractively. Delicious devilled eggs are made too, by combining finely minced ham or bits of crisp bacon with the mashed yolks and dressing. A little chili sauce, catsup or relish may also be added.

For some time now we have been publishing in each edition of The Gleaner pictures of well known roads, buildings, and scenes around this district with the idea of helping to educate the residents of the district in the knowledge of the district in which they live.

In last week's quiz the top picture was an aerial view of the City of Valleyfield. In the lower photograph could be seen a view of the Riverfield Presbyterian Church, Riverfield, Que.

In this week's quiz the top picture shows another church. What church is this and where is it located? The buildings in the lower picture still stand but they are now owned by a different company. This photo was taken approximately 10 years ago. Do you know what company owned these buildings then and who the present owners are?

WEDDINGS

PETCH-CHANDLER

The marriage of Katherine Ann, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Chandler of Mooers, New York, to Mr. Charles Marshall Petch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Petch of Hemmingford, Quebec, took place on June 28th at seven-thirty in the evening in First Presbyterian Church, Mooers, the Reverend William C. Watson officiating. Mrs. Winston Norcross played the wedding music and Miss Jane Stafford, as soloist, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer." White candles in candelabra, rose and white peonies and other summer flowers were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, the off-shoulder bodice was fashioned of lace with a yoke of tulle. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle had four fan-shaped inserts of pleated lace and ended in a sweep train, the full length mitts were of lace. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a poke bonnet of lace trimmed with pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations feverfew around a centered white orchid.

Miss Jane Chandler, as maid of honour for her sister, wore a strapless ballerina-length frock of mauve nylon tulle with an appliqued short overskirt of imported Chantilly lace, a cape and short mitts of Bane lace. She wore a cap of mauve lace net and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and feverfew.

As flower girl little Miss Suzanne Chandler, cousin of the bride of Kenmore, New York, wore a teal blue nylon net frock with rosebud trimmed off-shoulder neckline. Pink rosebuds were pinned in her hair and she carried a yellow and teal blue basket of petals.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where peonies and sweet william were used to decorate.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Petch left by motor for Lake George and the New England States, the bride travelling in a tangerine linen suit trimmed with pearly gray buttons and wearing a navy blue hat and accessories and white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Petch will reside in Mooers upon their return.

The Knox W.M.S. held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Martha Goundrey on June 19, at 8 p.m., with the president presiding. Miss Goundrey read the Bible reading, 1st Corinthians, 13th chapter, followed by prayer by Mrs. Carmichael. Members answered the roll-call by repeating a verse containing the word, "Hope." It was of much interest to hear the item read by Miss Jean Ritchie, telling about Helen Keller, although deaf, dumb and blind, and 72 years of age, was ending a tour of the Holy Land, along with her secretary, who had been with her for 39 years. On her return to her home in Connecticut, she plans to rewrite a book about her first teacher, Ann Sullivan, which was three-quarters finished when fire destroyed the manuscript in 1946. The special item,—Study on South America, entitled "With the Bible Church in Bolivia", was read by Mrs. W. Stewart. It told about a man accompanied by some others travelling through that country and the many hardships that they encountered. But it was a revelation to many of the native brethren to know the Scriptures were now published in 1,100 tongues. Miss Jean Ritchie read "The Land of Dawning Tomorrows." A James Thomson of the British and Foreign Bible Society had arrived in Buenos Aires in 1818, starting the first schools and using the Bible as a text-book. It is interesting to note that it was another man, by the name of Thomson, who preached in 1867, the first Protestant sermon in Spanish in South America. "Canadian Baptist Missions in South America," was read by Mrs. Carmichael where it told that by 1948, fifty years of mission work were celebrated in Bolivia. Mrs. E. Reddick read the Glad Tidings' item—"Presbyterian French Work in Quebec", their church now being called Eglise St. Luc, and their minister, Rev. Jacques Smith. Similar churches are being started in the Eastern Townships.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

first in demand in value in sales

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLET TRUCKS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE

Stack up what you get for what you pay... and join the nation's largest group of truck buyers by choosing Chevrolet

Maybe you didn't know that by far the biggest number of truck users in Canada today are buying Chevrolet Trucks.

They are . . . and for good hard-headed reasons. Because what they're after in a truck can be set down about like this:

1) It's got to be low in cost. No use paying a lot of extra money for a truck that the truck will have to earn back. Chevrolet trucks give you more for your money.

2) Upkeep and operating costs must be low. A truck is money-making equipment. It can't be a money-waster. Chevrolet trucks work for rock-bottom "wages" on fuel and maintenance.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. It's got to have the capacity, power and rugged construction to get work done—efficiently and economically. Chevrolet trucks are engineered and built for your loads.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. That's an important part of over-all economy. Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

If these considerations make sense to you, take a good long look at facts 1, 2, 3 and 4 below. Then come in and let's see how a Chevrolet truck can save you money in your business.

ON THE ROAD WITH THE GREATEST PAYLOAD

Fact No. 1

More truck for your money

Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck, capable of handling the same payloads, and you'll see that Chevrolet gives you far more for your money. Chevrolet, for all its low price, brings you ruggedness, stamina, and exclusive truck features you won't find in many trucks costing a lot more.

Fact No. 2

Rock-bottom operating costs

Many thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the four great Chevrolet engines, saves on gas. Chevrolet's special 4-way engine lubrication system reduces friction and wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3

Engineered and built for your loads

Chevrolet trucks are engineered to your payload requirements. You don't waste money by buying "too much truck" — you don't risk work interruption or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team.

Fact No. 4

Lower, slower depreciation

Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale or trade-in than any other make. Chevrolet's market value stays up because the value stays in. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy.

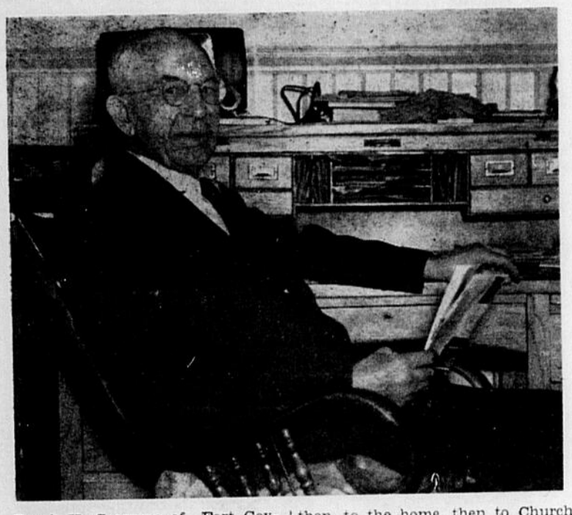
40 Years in Funeral Business Ft. Covington and Dundee



Frank H. Cosgrove of Fort Covington, N.Y., has just completed 40 years as an undertaker, having laid to rest a number of persons equal to a good size community.

Let me tell you, many changes have taken place since 1912, says Mr. Cosgrove.

Well I can remember when we used horses and the old style Hearses with a funeral 10 miles out of Town. We would have to start out about 5.30 A.M. on a nice cold morning at 10 below, or in a real snow storm — and we sure did have them — with snow well over the fence posts along the Highway. If everything went well, we would arrive home around 2 p.m.

One trip in those days generally was the case. We would take casket and box along, leave box at cemetery, take casket or coffin as that was what they were named then, to the home, then to Church. Times sure have changed. Now we have to make at least four trips, besides always some extras with flowers that may come in. Now it takes four or five autos before a funeral is completed. Also in those days the body or casket was lowered in grave with ropes or straps by four of the bearers, but today there is the lowering device, grass for trimming grave and grave tent. This of course takes another auto and two men, but this I think is a wonderful improvement over the old way. It makes it so much easier for the ones left to see their dear one laid at rest.

We always are ready to render what service we may, he says, — THAT is one of our mottoes.

He points out that in the early days, there was very little embalming. If it was asked for, it was done in the home, generally in the room called the parlor, closed all winter with no heat in it. Mr. Cosgrove remembers well holding an oil lamp while his father-in-law, Mr. James Courtney did the embalming.

"Today, the funeral business is a profession," he states. Remember, that the body is just as dear to you after death as it was during life and should be shown the same respect in every way. If your dear one was sick you would call a doctor or have them removed to a hospital where they would get the best of care and attention. Same should be after death.

Here, we have to have a state license from the Department of Health renewed every two years — we never know when a state inspector might drop in to inspect our preparation room and equipment. We do not allow any one except the men who do the embalming or some one of the family, if they wish, in this room while the body is being cared for. Then there is the dressing of body and placing in casket to repose either here or at funeral home, or if the family wishes, returned to their own home. This is up to the family what they want done.. We are only, as you might say, your hired help. We are ready at all times to consult with you in regard to the arrangements of the funeral. Your wishes come first.

In my 40 years of funeral business, I have run 50 to 80 funerals a year. I have now another licensed man to help with this work and give better service if possible. I have arrangements with a Funeral Home in Montreal who looks after any case there for us which saves time in removing a body from the city. We in turn go and remove the body from the Montreal Funeral Home.

In any case, just use the telephone on reverse charges to call the Cosgrove Funeral Home day or nite and we will try and give you service.

The week-end transportation problem is particularly heavy as a continuous stream of cars pass to and from the city. This situation would be worthy of the town's recommendation for consideration.

Here's what DUPLESSIS has done for Quebec and here's what it means to you!

You've heard and read many facts about the tremendous growth and progress of this Province under the National Union Government. But what does it all mean to you—what has it done for your income, for your family, for your health, for your happiness?

IN INCOME:
Surely, a goodly slice of the three quarters of a billion annual increase in salaries and wages must have gone into your pocketbook if you are a worker. If you own your business you must have profited mightily by the developments which have enabled Quebec to supply nearly one-half the nation's power, half the world's pulp and paper, one fifth of Canada's mining output; and which have brought over 5,000 new industries into the Province.

FARM PROFITS:
If you are a farmer, you have profited greatly by the Provincial farm loans which rescued Quebec farming from wholesale bankruptcy—the hundred millions of dollars which rehabilitated the land. And the fifteen thousand miles of new rural electric lines. And the six hundred thousand acres of land reclaimed by drainage.

IN EDUCATION:
Your children have benefited beyond any mere dollar-value, by the erection of 1846 new schools and the remodelling of 8,000 others. And by the hundreds of trade, technical and agricultural courses never available to them before the Duplessis Government made them possible.

IN YOUR HOME:
You and your family live in greater home comfort, and at less cost because the terrible housing crisis was greatly relieved by the Quebec housing loans of over twenty-five million dollars. Even if you are a tenant, this stimulation of new building (and the recent Provincial Rental Control) have kept your rent from skyrocketing.

IN HEALTH:
All of you enjoy much better health because of the 61 new hospitals, and 37 hospital modernizations, built with the aid of this administration. And you have been helped by the millions of dollars granted to health and hospital institutions, the twenty millions to fight tuberculosis, the establishment of 66 health centers—all reducing sickness and mortality. The infant mortality rate has been cut in half!

IN OPPORTUNITY:
You live and work and play in a Province that jealously insures that equal opportunity shall be given to all races, classes, creeds, languages and nations. It's the Province which most mightily upholds the doctrine of private enterprise. It is the Province where the facilities for travel have been tremendously increased and improved through more and better highways, airways, and many other transportation developments.

Yes, you live in a grown-up Province now — one that does not have to bow in any way to its neighbours. This Quebec of yours has come of age in industry, farming, education, health and social welfare. It grew up to manhood under DUPLESSIS. And that's why everybody will vote National Union on July 16.

Quebec Now Fastest Growing Industrial Province

QUEBEC RICH IN ORES, HYDRO COULD BE INDUSTRIAL HEART OF CANADA AS FIRMS EXPAND

By BELAND HONDERICH
Financial Editor

Quebec City, May 5 — Don't believe all you hear about "backward" Quebec. This province is turning from agriculture to industry with such speed and such success that it could become the industrial heart of future Canada.

If this surprises you, it's only because you still think of John Baptist as a peasant who wouldn't trade his quiet, simple life on the farm for all the conveniences of modern day life in industrial towns and cities.

This may have been the case one day. But John Baptist has changed and so has his province. The Quebec of 1952 is a wide awake, up-and-coming, industrial province. New industries are springing up faster than in any other part of Canada, and Canada, you know, is expanding faster than ever before.

New Industrial Atmosphere

All the way from the Ontario border to crowded Montreal, towns and villages are taking on an industrial atmosphere. In many instances the industries are those that form the basis of big enterprises. But others are of significant size around the world.

One of these is the $200,000,000 Hollinger North Shore Exploration Co.'s iron ore development in far northern Ungava, that promises to make Quebec one of the world's great exporters of iron ore.

Some new Quebec ore will be spreading by train and boat to the Ohio iron and steel mills along the Great Lakes. Eventually, millions of tons a year may be smelted in electric furnaces along St. Lawrence tidewater. There is evidence of this today at

...Quebec's rapid industrial expansion today under Premier Maurice Duplessis' Union National government.

Lacolle

LACOLLE — On Friday afternoon, Miss Mary VanVliet, Mrs. Hewson, Mrs. Grant and their mother, Mrs. M. A. VanVliet, motored to Lachine for the marriage of Mrs. VanVliet's granddaughter, Miss June Buchanan.

Mr. Douglas Grant came home on Tuesday last after having spent four months working in Goose Bay, Labrador. As Douglas worked at night and slept during the day, he considered that shaving would be only a waste of time and energy. Therefore he has come home with a perfect beard. It seems unfortunate that this should now have to be sacrificed in order to conform to the dictates of fashion.

Miss Jeannette Geymonat, B.A., of Montreal, who has been spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mrs. M. A. VanVliet, left on Monday to take a summer course in kindergarten teaching at Macdonald College.

On Sunday morning Misses Eleanor Daggett, Mary VanVliet and J. Goymonat attended service in the Methodist Church in Champlain, N.Y. It was the church in which, during horse and buggy days, Miss Daggett had for twelve years been organist. She was disappointed to find only two of ser former friends were there to greet her.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Buchanan of Lachine are spending a few days with relatives in Lacolle.

There is a curfew siren in Lacolle, but it does not seem to be productive of required results. Every night until 10 o'clock and after, children can be seen and heard playing on the streets, quite unconcerned about any prohibitory laws.

Last week marked the record of persons entering Canada through the port of Lacolle.

Miss Louise Masten returned home on Saturday after spending 10 days with relatives in Toronto and Jackson Point, Ont.

Mrs. L. Gibson, Alex and Caroline returned to Montreal on Friday, after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. H. Gibson.

Mrs. Max Boast and little Jimmy of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. F. Deery and two children of Verdun have spent a week or more here.

Georgetown Sunday School Picnic

The annual Georgetown Presbyterian Sunday School Picnic was held on June 27. The children, parents and friends gathered on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Alister McArthur's home on the banks of the Chateauguay River. The ample basket lunch was served by the superintendent, Mr. P. D. McArthur, and leaders. Miss Lois Elliot made delicious chocolate milk for all the children. Several colour pictures were taken of the various groups, then the races began with the infant class and so on up to the senior boys. Many novel and amusing contests under the leadership of the energetic Rev. John Marshall made for much merriment. The refreshment booth, located in the summer house, did a roaring trade with young and old in the ice cream, drinks and candy. This service was manned by Mr. W. Anderson and Mr. Donald Elliot. Several very new members were welcomed to the picnic — among these were Master Brian Anderson, Miss Judith Champ. The Piper family joined in the fun, although but recently arrived from Europe — welcome to Canada. Rev. John Marshall, in the name of those present, thanked Mr. and Mrs. Alister McArthur for their gracious hospitality and all wended their way home after another happy day.

Glenelm

Elgin Town Hall was built in 1869. The well and solidly-built brick building is as sound today as it was when erected. Recently the Elgin Township Council had the interior of the Town Hall painted and a cloak room partitioned off in one corner. This cloak room is so located that it can also serve as a polling booth. Elgin Municipality has a Town Hall of which the ratepayers can be justly proud. When the new highway fronting the Town Hall property is completed the grounds and the cemetery across the road will undoubtedly be brought back into a state of well kept tidiness.

Personal Gift of $200 To 4-H Clubs by Premier Duplessis

We have been officially informed that the Prime Minister of this Province grants, for the fifth year, a scholarship of $200.00 to the most deserving member of the 4-H movement. This reward will be remitted to the winner on the occasion of the next provincial convention of the clubs which take place in Montreal, the 18th, 19th and 20th of August. It is the intention of the Prime Minister, in granting this scholarship, to give a public appreciation of the good work achieved by the 4-Hers.

The 9,500 members of that youth movement have recently taken an active part in the celebration of the "Tree Week" and of the "Conservation Week". They have organized public arbor days in more than one hundred villages, they have made a special study of the forest, of the birds, and of the wildlife, etc.

With this scholarship, the Hon. Mr. Duplessis has expressed his intention to encourage the members of the 4-H clubs who devote their youth to preserve our natural resources from exhaustion. The 4-Hers are indeed very proud to receive such an appraisal of their work.

Elgin Sunday School Picnic

Cloudy skies and a forecast of showers did not keep the Sunday School pupils and several members of the Elgin Presbyterian Church from gathering at the Church grounds for the Annual S.S. picnic on Wednesday, June 28th. The picnic dinner was served to all present at noon in the Sunday School Room. At the close of the dinner Mr. Mawhinney, Student minister, addressed the pupils and friends stating the occasion had a double significance this year as Miss Lillian Murdock had resigned her position as teacher at the close of the previous Sunday School year, a position she had held for fifteen years. Arthur MacFarlane, superintendent, pro term, and two decorated anniversary cakes with the inscription "In Appreciation of Your Faithful Services." One was cut and passed to all present. Open Letter To Premier Duplessis

384 Lansdowns Avenue,
Westmount, Que.

July 5, 1952.

Dear Mr. Duplessis:—

This open letter is addressed to you as Prime Minister by a taxpayer who is as proud as you are of the progress and prosperity this Province has achieved and confidently hopes will continue and increase with the years. The prospects of this are bright and, in some aspects, brilliant.

But if these hopes for our future are to be realized there must be the utmost conservation of our resources, natural and human.

God has blessed our Province beyond imagination in power, forests, minerals and area. But our greatest resource is our people. Virile, thrifty, frugal, industrious, man for man, woman for woman, there is not, I think, their equal anywhere in the world.

Whatever may be done about conserving trees, water, minerals and land should go hand in hand with wise and forward-looking action to conserve, strengthen and build up our people. The chief agency in this is found in our churches and our schools. These two bastions of our economic aand spiritual life are interdependent. You and I have no responsibility for the church except to support her upkeep and follow her teachings. This is not so as to schools. You, as Prime Minister, and I, as a taxpayer, must shoulder our school responsibilities to this and future generations without evasion or shirking. It is because of this I earnestly request that at your meetings in Montreal and vicinity next week you discuss schools and school finance and in doing so yeu tell us —

(1) Can school fees be justified in elementary and high school grades? Shouldn't school attendance in these grades be like Salvation-free to all? Surely a six-fold increase in provincial revenues in about twelve years — from $40,000,000 to $240,000,000. — should make free education in these grades possible. Does not the shortage of teachers, the need for ever-increasing numbers of trained technicians to man and operate our growing and multiplying industries make imperative free education in these grades?

(2) How are Montreal Protestant Schools to be built, financed and supported in the next decade without doubling fees and increasing real estate taxes 20% to 25%? Would such increase in fees and taxes meet the needs of the Greater Montreal Board over that period? My answer is NO. Sooner or later your government or some other government will have to come to the rescue.

(3) Any school problems we have now, in retrospect —1965-1970— will appear of modest dimensions if our population growth and commercial expansion continues at the present or an accelerated rate.

(4) Looked at from any angle, expenditures for schools, Protestant and Catholic, will likely about double in fifteen to twenty years. This would make education the largest spending department of government. Surely the raising, administering and distributing of such large amounts calls for a Minister of Education, responsible to the legislature. The appointment of a Minister would in no way interfere with control of our schools as to curricula, text books, courses of study, now under the Council of Education.

In conclusion, the Protestant people of Montreal and vicinity, and particularly of Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount, are looking forward eagerly and with sharp expectations to hearing your views on all matters having to do with schools, but particularly school fees.

In this area no drumming up of crowds will be necessary. The multitude will be there when you arrive.

With highest respect, I am,
Yours sincerely,
A KIRK CAMERON.

Bonusing Parentage

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Mussolini was one of the first to institute family allowances, and his avowed purpose in doing so was to encourage parents to have big families and thus provide more men for his army of "eight million bayonets" with which he proposed to establish his New Roman Empire. That Empire, however, never materialized. Even the nucleus of it in Africa was lost and the "Sawdust Caesar" died ignominiously at the hands of his own people. The allowances were very popular and were doubtless responsible for the increase in population which is now a serious problem in Italy.

Family allowances were introduced in Canada as an economic measure to assist parents with inadequate incomes in providing the necessaries and little extras for their children, and perhaps, incidentally, to encourage them to have more children and thus add to the native-born population. All this seemed to be reasonable and generous, and it was so popular that the government, which tentatively passed the measure before a general election, was returned to power. The allowances are still popular, except with parents who have few or no children and those who, having raised their families without government help, have now to pay extra taxes to help raise their grandchildren. I happen to be one of the latter, and I don't think it is fair. But nothing can be done about it, for no political leader dare say a word against it.

No one who has raised children (and I have raised four of them) could object to assisting parents who are in real need. There were many such parents during the great depression when so many were out of employment. But when and since family allowances were instituted there has been comparatively little unemployment. Wages have been greatly increased and people generally have more money in their pockets than ever before. Yet these allowances for "needy" parents are still being pald to thousands who are in no need and are more able to provide for their children than some of us were when we were raising ours. It is not jealousy, on my part at least, for I am now thankful for the spur of hard times in the Old Country that forced me to migrate with my family to Canada. When we arrived there was no one to greet us, and I accepted the first job that was offered—at ten dollars a week. When I read about some of these new immigrants from Britain complaining, I am ashamed of them.

But my objection to family allowances is not only that they are a form of pauperism, but that they are unfairly distributed to parents who do not need them, and are a wasteful expenditure of public funds, which calls for higher taxation to maintain a host of civil servants, and which takes back a large proportion of the money distributed. An example of this was revealed recently by the mother of a family in the middle-income group with one child, who received an allowance of $60 yearly, but had benefited only to the amount of 38 cents a week after income tax had been deducted from the total income. Commenting on this in a letter to the Toronto Globe and Mail, Al Cheesman, of London, Ont., wrote:

"Ottawa maintains a large staff of file clerks, stenographers, secretaries, right up to the executive heads of staff, to make out cheques, which have to be handled first by the Postoffice Department and then by the banks. You and I and Mrs. Ellis have all paid taxes so that Mrs. Ellis may receive 38 cents, and many people have been taken out of the production effort in order to perpetuate this farce of 'family allowances'."

There may be instances where parents in the low income group with large families benefit substantially from the allowances, but in many of these cases the assurance of a monthly bonus income has had the effect of lessening the sense of parental responsibility and rendering the "breadwinner" less inclined to work. I know of one case where a married couple decided to have one child every year in order to build up a bonus income, while the father was content to do odd jobs and run around with an old car rather than bind himself to regular work. The children were neglected. This was a case of bonusing bad parentage.
