GENERAL MARKET FOR NORTH END SUGGESTED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Present Facilities At Bonsecours Deemed Inadequate—Northern Area Of City Favored As Site For New Mart

Creation of two large markets, rather than enlargement of Bonsecours market, is the suggestion of the Montreal Board of Trade in making again to the city hall, in view of the fact that the markets question is to the fore once more.

The question was discussed at Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the council of the board, and it was decided to reiterate the finding of a committee that probed the whole question in 1926, to the effect that a market should be established on lower Atwater avenue, and another within the area bounded by St. Lawrence boulevard, Papineau and Mount Royal avenues and the railway tracks. Those sites are preferred as being more central for the populous areas, and as avoiding the traffic problem which would be augmented by increasing marketing facilities almost on the waterfront.

Noting by press reports that the city authorities and others are again discussing the much needed improvement of the market facilities in Montreal, the council decided to communicate to the city executive and to the city council, the recommendations made by a special committee of the board in 1926 after lengthy and careful study of the, even then, inadequate accommodation for public markets, which recommendations were heartily endorsed by the council in 1929. The report referred to urged the development of two other market centres rather than the enlargement of Bonsecours market. The present market facilities were established many years ago and served a population and a territory less than one-quarter as large as is now comprised in the city and its immediate suburbs, and are totally inadequate for present day requirements as to space, equipment and traffic accommodation. Traffic congestion is becoming increasingly serious in the narrow thoroughfares surrounding most of the present market sites, while the use of motor trucks and the improvement of the highways have made it practicable for truck farmers to attend these markets from much greater distances, and consequently in much larger numbers than was possible when horse-drawn vehicles were used. The cost of expropriation of property necessary to enlarge Bonsecours market, together with the clearing of the area and the excavation involved, would be enormous. For these and other reasons the report recommended the establishment of one market in the vicinity of lower Atwater avenue, where joint railway facilities are available and easily reached by farmers bringing supplies over the Victoria bridge, the Lachine ferry, and the bridge at St. Annes, as well as from the west end of the island, and another market in that section of the city bounded by St. Lawrence boulevard, Mount Royal, Papineau and the railway tracks, where the city now own large areas of land. The latter market would accommodate supplies brought in by farmers using the new Harbor bridge, and those coming from Bout de l'Île, Ile Jesus and beyond. The creation of markets at these two sites would afford the greatest convenience to both seller and buyer, and give adequate protection for commodities dealt in without the expenditure of unduly large sums of money on permanent buildings.

GREATER PROTECTION FOR CITIZENS

Montreal's new police signal and teletype police intelligence system was inaugurated on October 15th. In the presence of a large group from the City Hall, Alderman Bray, Chairman of the Executive Committee, sent the first message seen in the above picture. By the new system the twenty-seven stations, the traffic department and detective office receive simultaneously any or all messages sent out from police headquarters. This system is shortly to be extended by the police department, to include all thirty-four stations in the Montreal district, and the exits from the city.

Statue of Robert Burns Made by Smith Bros.

Thousands of Montrealers braved torrential gusts of rain and chilly Fall weather last Saturday on the occasion of the unveiling of the memorial statue to Scotland's Immortal Bard, Robert Burns, on Dominion Square. The inclement weather nearly disrupted the ceremonies, and, through the courtesy of the Windsor Hotel, the Windsor Hall was turned over to the committee in charge and the greater part of the dedication services held there.

Many notable addresses were given by prominent citizens and civic leaders. Special reference was made to the universal nature of the poet's work and their beneficial influence on mankind.

The statue of the bard is the work of a Montreal firm, Smith Brothers, of which Mr. Allan Smith, for many years a resident of Melrose avenue, is managing director.

western farmer to a policy of protection for industry.

Whether the British people are prepared to accept Mr. Bennett's offer, remains to be seen. It may indeed, take some time to find out. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Mr. Philip Snowden, traditional free traders, may well raise the old cry about taxing British food, but while Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Snowden are presently the Government of Britain they are not the people of Britain. And a lot of water has run down the Thames since the days of Joseph Chamberlain.

Nor is it at all sure that Mr. Bennett's proposal would tax British food, or, to be more specific, make British food dearer. Why should it make it dearer if the Empire has enough food to supply its own needs, supplies it at a reasonable price? The rest of the world is not anxious to sell wheat at less than a profit.

British Preference
The compensation which Mr. Bennett offers Britain in return for a preferential market for Canadian wheat is the regular employment of thousands of British workmen in industries which will be granted a concrete preference for their products in Canadian markets.

These industries would produce for Canada a large percentage of the $600,000,000 worth of manufactured goods which we now import annually from the United States.

The Canadian Prime Minister made it clear that he did not propose any trade agreements that would be harmful to established Canadian industries or to those yet to be created. Apart from such industries Canada will be compelled to import from three or four hundred million dollars worth of goods per year which can not be economically produced in Canada. It is in the supplying of such goods that Mr. Bennett is ready to extend material preferences to Britain against foreign countries provided that Britain is ready to establish a permanent and reasonable profitable market for Canadian agricultural products.

Mr. Bennett suggested that the various units of the Empire devote six months to a definite and detailed study of all the angles of his plan and then meet in conference in Ottawa early next year to proceed with the consideration of its adoption.

Thus far the reaction amongst the British public may be considered favourable. It will, however, take probably two months to accurately gauge sentiment and it may take a longer period and momentous political developments in Britain to bring about any definite acceptance of the scheme.

In the meantime Canadians together with the rest of the world have with characteristic promptness been placed in possession of Mr. Bennett's policy for dealing with one matter of vital interest to Canada—marketing of wheat.

If Britain is not disposed to embrace his general policy it may be expected that Canada's Premier will find other solutions of the problem.

In and Around Parliament

Written specially for The Examiner by Mr. R. S. White, member of Parliament for Mount Royal Division

The views expressed in these articles are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. They represent the opinions of a Conservative member of Parliament, and might possibly on occasion conflict with The Examiner's policy of political independence, which we maintain both as to Federal and Provincial politics. They are reproduced for their news value, and for their originality of touch, and will be found of great interest to our readers, we believe.

Ottawa, October 23.—(Special to the Examiner) — Premier Bennett's plan to find a permanent market for Canadian wheat and other agricultural products in Britain, together with his statement of policy to promote inter-empire trade was made public through the Imperial Conference at London, just two months after he took office as Prime Minister of Canada.

The twenty-minute speech in which he made clear Canada's position and pleaded for mutually beneficial preferences as the only lasting foundation of Empire Trade development has been proclaimed in Britain as one of the most important declarations ever made by an overseas statesman.

Mr. Bennett took the question of Empire preferences out of the realm of vague platitudes and placed it upon the ground of definite realities. In other words the Canadian Premier abandoned after-dinner speaking and made a concrete practical offer to Britain and the other Dominions. If they will buy our wheat we will give them better preferences for their goods. There was no beating about the bush in what Mr. Bennett had to say. He did not set himself up as a saviour of the Empire and made no pretense that he was not animated first by a desire to help Canada. The primary concern of Canada he declared, was to find a profitable market for her wheat.

Wheat Market Wanted
"This market we want, and for it we are willing to pay by giving in the Canadian market preferences for British goods."

"I offer to the Mother Country and to all other parts of the Empire a preference in the Canadian market in exchange for like preferences in theirs, based upon the addition of a ten per cent increase in the prevailing general tariffs, or upon tariffs yet to be created."

That is that. If the people of Britain are really anxious for a preference in Canada's market, if they really want to sell us more goods, if, in other words, they are concerned in a practical way with the matter of Imperial trade, their chance is now before them. Mr. Bennett is not interfering, not trying to interfere, with their domestic fiscal policy. He has merely taken hold of something that everybody has been talking about, and professing to want, reduced it to an offer, to a plan.

The advantages of the proposition are obvious. It avoids the clear impossibility of what is known as Empire Free Trade. It provides for still higher duties — in some instances much needed — against countries like the United States.

It provides for the best of all permanent markets for Canadian wheat. By providing this, wheat market, profitably, it should reconcile the

GOLFERS! THOU SHALT NOT TAKE CASH PRIZES

A recent ruling from the governing body declares that players of that game must not accept cash prizes in miniature golf tournaments, if they wish to retain their amateur standing.

Mrs. L. M. King, a local resident who was winner of the President's prize at Forest Hills this summer, and Mrs. Boston, another devotee of the Royal and Ancient game, were leaders in a tournament held on the Bob-O-Link course recently, and the former found herself entitled to a cash prize of ten dollars. However a suitable award of that value is being presented to Mrs. King, and in this way her standing in amateur golf will not be endangered.

LATE MRS. JONES HIGHLY ESTEEMED

Deceased Was Prominent In Local Circles—Interment In Sherbrooke

The funeral of Mrs. H. D. Jones, of the Town of Mount Royal, took place recently in Sherbrooke, attended by many out-of-town friends. Mrs. Jones, who died in the Homeopathic Hospital, was highly esteemed, and took a prominent part in club activities. She was president of the Women's Branch of the Outremont Curling Club, and also member of the executive of the Mount Royal Women's Community Club. Before her marriage she was Miss Kathleen Elizabeth Bonner. Surviving are her husband Henry D. Jones, manager of the Packard Montreal Motor Company; her mother, Mrs. T. J. Bonner; two brothers, Thomas and Leonard Bonner, of Sherbrooke; four sisters, the Misses Rose and Irene Bonner, of Sherbrooke; Mrs. H. D. Belland,

MODEL AERO CLUB ADDS NEW MEMBERS

Six Flight Divisions Now Functioning—Enquiries Welcomed

The Model Aero Club at North Branch Y.M.C.A. enjoys the distinction of being the first unit of the Montreal Model Aircraft League to become reorganized and put under way for 1930-31. On Saturday six new members were admitted to the organization which necessitated the formation of two other flight divisions. The newly appointed Flight Commanders are Dennis Pinker and Edwin Glazebrook.

Club Commander Joe Venus is well satisfied with the progress the club is making. Each flight division works as a small group under the leadership of their own officers. Ronald Gibson, Squadron Commander, gives general supervision to the work done, referring knotty problems to the club commander. At present there are six flight divisions. Four flights comprise one squadron so there is one complete and one incomplete squadron. It is expected that other members will be enrolled within the next few days and a record squadron will be fully organized. Any parents desiring information about this work are invited to interview Mr. Porteous, the Boys' Secretary of North Branch Y.M.C.A.

COTTON STOCKINGS

London—The rage of silk stockings has created a problem for Miss Margaret Moffat, the actress. She cannot find a pair of black cotton stockings for her part in an Irish-American tenement dweller in Street Scene. After a long search she went to Berwick Market, where, she said, "I was shown wool, mercerized art silk, vegetable silk, near silk, and pure silk but I could not get black cotton."

"At two or three of the shops the assistants stared at me in horror and asked me if I was Australian. Apparently only the Australians wear cotton stockings."

LOCAL MERCHANT ROBBED BY BANDIT

Daring Thief Secures $20 In Armed Hold-up On Wednesday Night

Pointing a large automatic at Arthus Deschenes, branch manager of the Martineau Drug Store, at 5490 St. Lawrence Wednesday night, a bandit forced him and a 13-year-old messenger into the rear of the drug store and, after taking $20 in cash and six bottles of drugs from a nearby cupboard, escaped. Police and detectives were at once notified and are investigating.

Police of the Laurier avenue west station, under Lieut. Mailloux, who were summoned by telephone, learned that Deschenes and the messenger were alone in the building when a man, about 25 years of age and fair complexion, entered the store. He went to the counter where Deschenes was standing, and pointing an automatic at him, said, "Stick your maulers up and be quiet," then turning to the messenger, who was nearby, he said, "You do the same and stand next to this man so I can see you."

The intruder then walked to the cash register, and emptied it of its contents, $20 in cash. Then taking his two victims into the rear of the store, he asked the manager where he kept his drugs. When shown the place, the bandit took three bottles of cocaine and three bottles of morphine. He then ran towards the front door and disappeared.

Deschenes at once telephoned the police and detectives were at once on the scene and searched the vicinity. Inspector Foucault on being notified of the hold-up at once dispatched Captain of the Detectives Brodeur and Sergeant Detectives Laroch and Bourdon, of the hold-up squad to investigate. The messenger and manager gave an excellent description to the police of the hold-up men.

Fine Response Meets Appeal for Tin Foil

The collection of scrap tin foil being made by the Tin Foil Committee of Karnak Temple is proceeding quite well, according to a report received from the Secretary, Edward W. Francis. To date almost four tons have been collected. It is coming from every conceivable source and the Committee are deeply appreciative of the support given.

For the convenience of the general public receptacles are being placed in a number of stores in the North End, but foil may ways be left at the "Examiner" office. The Committee wish to again point out that practically all scrap metals can be used. This includes silver paper or tin foil wrappings for cigarettes, cigars, chocolate bars,

Support the Federation

In a few days residents of the city of Montreal will again be asked to support the campaign for funds for the federated charities. No more worthy cause is there in the city than this, and it is to be hoped that the present business depression will not affect the generosity of the people in rallying to the support of the needy. The campaign locally will again be in the capable hands of the North End Women's Club. Plans have been almost completed for the drive, and a large organization of workers is ready to begin the canvass of the district. The idea of federation is responsible for eliminating much waste and unfairness in the distribution of financial help, and residents can be assured that every dollar they give will be put to the maximum benefit. While preparing for your own Christmas celebrations this year, remember those whom Santa Claus will not visit. Do your share toward mitigating the unhappiness that will this year be the lot of innumerable women and little children.

The Shriners' Hospital

People in all parts of the continent are familiar with the work the Shriners are doing through the medium of their children's hospitals. Wherever they have established these institutions they have done a wonderful work in caring for crippled children who are not in a position to help themselves. There are now fourteen of these hospitals in operation, and the fifteenth is planned. In order to raise funds for this latest building, the Shriners are asking that all friends of the children collect tin foil from tea cases, cigarette packages, and other means and send it in. It will then be melted down and cast into bricks, and sold. It brings a good price, and the Shriners plan to pay the entire cost of the new hospital through this means. The Karnak Temple, Montreal, are looking after the collections in Montreal. It is not much that is asked, and every little bit sent in helps. Those residents of Notre Dame de Grace who wish to help, can do so by bringing their tin foil into the Monitor office where a box for the purpose has been provided.

Not Like it Used to be

Next Friday, the clowns, goblins, witches, Indians, will again roam the highways and byways of the North End, asking charity, breaking milk bottles and windows, shooting peas at the laundries, and engaging in other innocent pastimes in celebration of Hallowe'en. Once upon a time Hallowe'en was a quiet festival, when friends gathered around the fireside, exchanged yarns, and played games. Now, however, it is little more than an excuse of virile juvenility to get away with things that would draw out the police patrol any other night in the year.

The Trend to Miniature

Three events of the past summer may be significant to the change in the public attitude toward prosperity. The past few months witnessed the introduction of small automobiles, small golf courses, and small radios. Advertising men, always interested in things that sell, view the new trend to miniature as significant of the attitude of retrenchment now so much in evidence. The old slogan of the luxury manufacturers "Bigger and Better" seems to have been modified to "Smaller and Cheaper" to conform more to the changed ideas of the public in these days of thrift.

The Three Partners

A Serial Story About YOU.

CHAPTER II

Once upon a time there was a motorist who set out upon a journey. It was a long road he had to travel, sometimes up hill and sometimes down, sometimes smooth and easy, and sometimes full of ruts and stones, with a dangerous corner every here and there, or a cross-road where it was not easy to know which way to turn.

At first the motorist drove without any trouble.

"This is a wonderfully pleasant journey," thought he, and enjoyed every minute of it.

But one day when he stopped to get provisions, he was persuaded to get a new kind of fuel for his car.

"It's the finest stuff out!" cried the man who sold it. "You don't know what driving is till you have some in the engine!"

"It really does make the car run easier," said the motorist, when he had tried it, and he got into the habit of buying the stuff every day.

Presently he found that the car was not in such good order as it had been on setting out; and he was always having to stop for little repairs.

"It's that beastly stuff you buy," said the other drivers, who came to help him. "Can't you see it's damaging the engine?"

"Nonsense!" cried the man crossly; and he would not listen to their advice.

The car got worse and worse; very soon the least little hill caused trouble, the easy corners became awkward and dangerous. Then one day, at the top of a little hill, the brakes refused to act, the steering-wheel seemed to wrench out of his hand, and the next minute the care was on its back in the ditch.

It was towed into the garage, and the mechanics shook their heads over it.

"It will be a long, expensive job to patch it up," they said, "and when we've done it the car won't be worth anything; you'll never have any fun out of driving it again".

"But how am I to get to my journey's end?" asked the man.

"You should have thought of that before you used that fuel in the car," said the mechanics. "Can't you see it has been corroding all the metal work. There is not a single part that is not damaged".

"But it seemed to make the engine run so much easier," said the man.

"What is the use of anything that seems to make the engine run easily, but eats away the very thing of which it is made?" asked the mechanics. "Why didn't you treat the machine properly and give yourself a chance?"

"I wish I had!" sighed the man and he wished it over and over again as he crawled through the rest of the journey in his broken-down car.

The Part of You Called "Cells"

Every normal person may be said to be three people in one. The first of the three is Body, the second is Mind, and the third is Spirit. Body and Mind are the servants but Spirit is the owner and master—our real self.

Body is a very busy servant, and has many duties to perform. It is the house in which Mind and Spirit live; it is the machine with which they must do the work they plan. Body is You, but for all that it is of the greatest importance. As long as you are alive you must live in and with it; you

Work Of Jackson, Lightbourn and Associated Screen News Praised

An exhibition of photographs which should appeal to every citizen of Montreal is being shown this week in Ogilvy's Tudor Hall under the auspices of The Photographer's Association of Montreal.

The locale of the exhibition could hardly be improved on; the dignified setting of the Tudor Room proving an effective setting for a wide variety of photographic subjects.

The Travelling Loan Exhibit of the Photographer's Association of America is one of the features of the display. This section comprised the very finest examples of photographic art.

Several beautiful portrait studies are included in the display and these have been set off to the best possible advantage by the use of effective mats. The recent visit of the R-100 is portrayed in several interesting photographs showing the giant dirigible in flight above the city.

The value of photographs in advertising is emphasized in numerous studies of everyday objects. Subdued lighting and the grouping of familiar objects in unusual positions form an attractive feature of the exhibition.

The exhibition is under the distinguished patronage of Hon. A. David, Provincial Secretary of Quebec and was made possible through the kindness of Jas. A. Ogilvy's Ltd., who loaned Tudor Hall to the association for the occasion.

It is to be hoped that in the near future there will be another exhibition of this kind staged by the association; and in it, it would not be amiss to see a more comprehensive display of photographs relating to Montreal. Our city is rich in pictorial beauty. There are many spots throughout the island which would well repay the attention of the association.

Temperance Study Course SECOND LESSON

For the next six weeks will be published by (special request) some of the lessons which are being studied just now by the boys and girls in our Sunday Schools in the Annual Temperance Instruction Course.

The course is in three grades:
 Senior: For boys and girls 15 to 17 inclusive.
 Intermediate: For boys and girls 12 to 14 inclusive.
 Junior: For boys and girls 9 to 11 inclusive.

With the 6th lesson, Examination questions will be published. Any boy or girl, whether belonging to a Sunday School or not, may take the Examination—and send the written Examination paper to Mrs. George, Box 3070 Montreal.

Prizes for the best papers written are being offered by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

If you have ever seen a drunken man you know what a foolish sight he usually is. He staggers around, laughing or crying about nothing, sometimes trying to fight every one he meets, and often unable even to pronounce his words correctly.

Even if you have never seen a man drunk you probably know what it is that puts him in that condition, it is something that he has had to drink. There is a great variety of drinks which will make a man drunk or "intoxicate" him, as we say. They include, beer, wine, whisky, brandy, gin and several others; but there is one substance, and only one, which causes the drunkenness, and which is common to all these drinks. It is a poison, and its name is Alcohol. These drinks are called intoxicating liquors. The word "intoxicating" comes from the Greek word "toxicon," which was the name of a poison that the ancient Greek warriors used to put on their arrows to make sure that their enemy would die.

If you go to the drug store to buy poison for that purpose, or any other, the chances are that the bottle or package it comes in will bear a big label, with the word "POISON" printed on it in large letters, and a skull and crossbones above it. The next time you see a skull and crossbones on a bottle ask the druggist what it means. He will tell you that the sign means Death; the contents of the bottle will kill you if you take enough of them. Any substance which will kill people in this way is a poison. As we have already said, alcohol is a poison.

Here you may be saying to yourself, "If alcohol is a poison, why doesn't it kill a man to take a drink of beer or whiskey, and why don't they put a poison label on every bottle of liquor?" The answer is that alcohol does not act as rapidly as other poisons, like strychnine or carbolic acid, but if a man drinks enough alcohol, even if he doesn't take it all at once, it will kill him just as surely as any other poison.

Nobody ever thinks of taking medicine when he is perfect; well, and nobody should ever take any medicine, and especially one with poison in it, unless the doctor has ordered him to do so. We know that alcohol is a poison. Why, then, treat it differently? That is why a great many people have decided never to use liquor with alcohol in it, just as a drink or beverage. If we use it only under doctor's orders, we can be fairly sure it will never do us much harm.

KIRBY CONDEMNS CARELESS DRIVER

Failure to Observe Rules of Road Cause of Most Accidents

Of all the pests that menace the safety of motorists and vehicular traffic in the streets, the "bird" who pulls out from the curb without giving any signal of his intentions or even looking to see if his plans endanger others is, indeed, the prize idiot in the lunacy circle of half-cracked drivers, says T. C. Kirby, general manager of the Montreal Motorists League.

He certainly is deserving of all the invective heaped upon him daily everywhere. He is ever present. And the wonder of it all is that he is not spending long periods of time on a hospital cot or behind the barred doors of penal institutions.

His almost suicidal practices are seldom if ever detected by a police officer, and in the event of collision caused by his own weak-minded antics as a driver, he is quick to howl and long about the inability of others to "see where they are going".

Federal, Provincial, or local laws and ordinances or common sense do not restrain this "bird" in his blind rush to be out in front, crosswise, or somewhere contrary to rule or reason. He is the cheerful "nut" who never gives a signal of his intention to turn left, or right, or stop, and who breezes by you when your left-turn signal is extended outward from your car and clear up to your arm-pit, nearly removing the skin from your knuckles with his car to further emphasize the disdain he entertains for other users of the streets.

NICKILO STAGES BEST PERFORMANCE AT THE Y.M.H.A. FIGHT SHOW

One Knockout Featured Attractive Card Arranged By Local Association—Gerson Again Defeats Martin In Extra Round

The boys of great girth, Gus Wall and Abe Crasin, the latter a Y.M.H.A. representative and the former a newcomer from the reaches of Park Extension mixed it up in the final bout of the opening amateur boxing show at Y.M.H.A. last night before a crowd of more than 500 nearly a record for this type of entertainment in the city. Crasin won the decision.

A much better struggle, was seen between Paul Mecteau, the National A.A.A. lightweight, and Harold McLeod of the C.N.R. club. Mecteau won the decision by a close margin.

Nickilo, the colorful dark-skinned boxer of Belding-Corticelli, was awarded a cup for the best bout of the evening. He gained an extraordinary decision in an action bout with R. Godding, of Y.M.C.A., to whom he conceded weight.

Bobbie Martin again met his Nemesis in the tricky Harry Gerson, of Y.M.H.A. The Y.M.C.A. lad met defeat once before at the hands of Gerson, last spring in the Provincial Championships. Martin seemed distracted and unable to cope with the lanky Jewish boxer, whose style was mostly long arm stuff with plenty of jabbing. Gerson was awarded the decision.

The Verdun youngster, Bert McLashlin, lost to Harry Lane, of Y.M.C.A. by an unpopular decision. Bert was fighting his fourth bout, and was at something of a loss attempting to overcome the Y.M.C.A. boy's reach. McLashlin is a chunky fighter and uses both fists.

The only knockout of the evening, one that tickled the assembled 500, came when Johnny Pope, Belding-Corticelli, finished off Ramsay, an unattached boxer, in the first round. Pope had a sore face and seemed to think that the best way to protect it was to settle Ramsay with a right uppercut over the heart.

After two straight victories over Gregorson, Belding-Corticelli, Eddie Heathfield lost to him by a decision.

Emphasis On The Kickers

The importance of strong kickers in football today was rather well stressed in many games last weekend, when numerous encounters of major importance were decided by the overhead attack.

Real honest-to-goodness touchdowns in the more important games have been few and far between this year. There have been touches, but not many on legitimate plunges or broken field runs, more so on fumbles behind the line by catching halfbacks.

Single points to date have played an important part in the deciding of games, and the value of a good drop kicker and also a long distance punter has been strongly emphasized, for more than one game hereabouts has been won in this manner.

Jack Sinclair has carried along Toronto Varsity to a pair of wins through his phenomenal kicking, when his front rank had failed to make the necessary advances. Queens too owe their success in their two starts to Howie Carter, whose lengthy spirals have made up for the lack of offensive punch around the ends and through the lines.

Montreal lost a highly important game to Toronto Argos mainly through the fact that they could not call upon anyone on the team to send a drop kick through the bars when they were in favorable positions to score. Frank Turville on the other hand was a big factor in the Toronto victory, his long and consistent kicks giving his team their necessary points.

Westward knows perhaps better than any other club the value of a drop kicker to a team. Ken Copland has snatched a game from the opposition on more than one occasion through his timely work in sending the ball through the goal posts. Canadian National had that brought home to them in two games in as many years, when the Westward quarterback pulled his team from behind with his well directed drop kicks, those three pointers being exactly what was needed at the time.

The M.A.A.A. juniors however cling to their old fashioned ideas. They do not depend on drop kickers or punters to win their games. They adhere to the rip-tearing tactics to push along the ball, blasting their way to innumerable touchdowns. They just don't have to rely on high class kickers with the bunch of huskies they have on their squad to slaughter other opposition.

BISHOPS VISIT LOYOLA COLLEGE GRID TOMORROW

Intermediate Intercollegiate Champions Present a Powerful Squad

PLAYED 9-9 DRAW First Game Of Season Proved Exciting and Very Strenuous Affair

The Loyola College Intermediate grid-men will come up against stiff opposition tomorrow afternoon when a Purple and White aggregation from Bishops College will visit the West-End in an attempt to retain the provincial honors which were their's last season.

The fact that Bishops and Loyola battled to a 9-9 deadlock last Saturday denotes that neither team will bow to defeat without putting every ounce of fight into the game. A battle royal is expected to be staged tomorrow as the Bishops gridders now realize that the Loyola representation this year is a strong organization, and over anxious to fight their way to victory.

The Loyola squad, however will find it no easy task to eliminate the Bishop men as the Purple and White team this year have a determined representation of footballers. Skelton, captain and star halfback will lead a lot of watching along with Fuller and Masson, speedy catching halves.

The local grid-men, on the other hand, feel certain of a win, although they are not too optimistic as to the number of points by which they will clinch the tussle. Laurie Byrne, who showed fine form in the punting position at Lennoxville will again boot the pig-skin with Frank Shaughnessy and Glen Ryan as assistants in the back-field. The Loyola "stars" of the line including, Segatore, McCarthy, Starr, L. Shaughnessy and Tigh, report that they are prepared to meet, the toughest opposition in the game as their are no casualties and all are in the finest form.

Referee Moore Bannon will start the game at 2.15 sharp.

In the modern state highbrows, being poor consumers, are bad citizens.—Mr. Aldous Huxley.

Modern progress is indeed wonderful. It has made it possible for a man to get indigestion and a remedy for it at the same drug store.

HOBBY CASES PROVE POPULAR AMONG MEMBERS

Photography and Basketry Occasion Much Interest At Local "Y"

Two more hobby groups at the North Branch "Y" have swung into action, the Photography Club and the Basketry Class.

The Photography Club under the guidance of C. W. Scott, a member of the Board of Management, has an active program planned which includes lectures and laboratory work. Already several films have been developed and many pictures printed. The course taken by the group will include developing, printing, and enlargement of pictures. Sepia work will be studied as well as toning, reducing and intensifying pictures. The chemistry of photography will also be explored. Considerable attention will be given to the technique of portrait and flashlight photography and copy work.

The Basketry Class is one that has proved exceedingly popular during the past two years. It is also a favorite at camp Kanawana. Robert Gibson and Ivan Davison are the instructors of this group. Mr. Gibson will take charge on Friday nights. His class is particularly for Employed Boys who would like to take up this hobby, but others who cannot attend on Saturday afternoons may secure a special permit to the class. Ivan Davison takes charge on Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. This class is particularly for school boys but working boys may attend if unable to be out Friday night.

The articles to be made include round, oval and oblong trays of various sizes. The most popular articles at present are flower baskets and bulb boxes, waste paper baskets and gardeniers. The individual wishes and tastes of boys are cultivated in Basketry. Originality of design and structure is encouraged. Several of the boys are engaged in making articles as Christmas gifts for their friends.

Referees' Ranks Are Depleted

While managers all through the National Hockey League are busy rounding up their players, President Frank Calder has a real problem on his hands, that of securing competent referees for the coming season.

The player question is a serious one, but hardly any more important than that of officials. Good referees are not the easiest things in the world to find, and there will be a lot of new faces seen in charge of the games this winter.

The old brigade of whistle-tooters seem to be pretty well broken up. Referees are taking managerial positions and also giving up their posts through pressure of business.

Cooper Smeaton, president Calder's right hand man, who has been referee-in-chief, relinquishes that position since he accepted the management of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Odie Cleghorn was slated to join the master minds again, this time with Detroit Olympics. Latest reports indicate that this competent official will be back again with the N.H.L. referees. The Toronto scribes, who did yeoman service during the ice season, Mike Rodden and Lou Marsh, broke away from the senior pros last season, while Dr. Jerry Laffame tried his hand at managing the Maroons.

Billy Bell, once he gets going, handles games pretty nearly every night in the week. He is at Sudbury with the Dominion Bridge, and his engineering work does not always permit him to follow the hockey matches.

With these men off the list the referees' ranks look pretty well depleted, and a lot of new men will probably get their chance to call the decisions in the major league this year.

ED. HOLDEN HEADS LOCAL "Y" LEADERS

Basketball League Rumored For Corp Leaders In Branches

The Senior Leaders Corp. of North Branch Y.M.C.A. held their first meeting of the season on Saturday, October 18. Eddie Holden, the president was in the chair. Other members present were Ralph Smith, Reg. Dawson, Alf. Loader, Ronny Daman, Ernie Mildenhall and Ken. Morrison.

The first item on the program was the election of officers for the ensuing season. Eddie Holden was re-elected president, Alf. Loader was appointed vice-president, and Don. Bain was elected secretary-treasurer.

It was decided that some new members would be recruited to the corp, this season, from the Young Men's gym classes.

Ralph Smith is forming an inter-"Y" basketball league among the Leaders Corps of other Y.M.C.A. branches in the city. It is almost certain that this league will be formed in the near future, and it is hoped that this event will bring the Leaders of the different Y's closer-together and prove to be beneficial both from a physical and social standpoint.

Reg. Dawson has gone to Ottawa, this week, on a business trip and is taking greetings to the Leaders Corp. there. He is arranging a visit to Montreal for the Ottawa Corp. for a basketball game in the near future. This game will reciprocate the trip made to Ottawa last season by local members.

Another meeting of the Corp will be held next week.

COLUMBUS LOSES TO "Y" POLOISTS

Montreal Swimming Club Also Defeated By Local Mermen

Y.M.H.A. water polo teams strengthened their high standing in the City Water Polo League this week when the "Whites" took the Columbus team into camp by a score of 11-2; and the Blues defeated the Montreal Swimming Club by 4-1.

With twelve games to play the local outfit will have to continue their good performances in order to retain their position.

An all star team composed of players in the house league is being organized to play against the two Varsity teams. The team at present is composed of H. Litwin, P. Pepper, N. Oliver, N. Mergler, H. Smiley, B. Smilovitch, L. Coplan, H. Cooperburg, S. Frank, E. Schuiman, R. Anchel.

The city league standing:

	W.	L.	D.	F.	A.	P.
Y.M.H.A. Blues	4	0	0	23	3	8
Y.M.H.A. Whites	4	0	0	32	5	8
M.A.A.A. Reds	4	2	0	28	20	8
M.A.A.A. Blues	3	3	0	32	29	6
Columbus	2	2	1	19	26	5
N.A.A.A. Purples	2	4	0	13	21	4
M.S.C.	1	3	1	18	16	3
N.A.A.A. Whites	0	6	0	3	46	0

On Monday evening October 27th, the M.A.A.A. Reds and Blues play the Y' Blues and Whites at the "Y" tank. Every game at the "Y" pool has brought out a big crowd, so that when these two leading clubs clash on Monday night a record gallery is anticipated. Bill Aird of C.P.R. A.A.A. will referee.

It would be a good thing for every country to have its desert — a place for meditation and fasting.—Mr. Vance Palmer.

MOORE "MOOSE" BANNON

"Moose" Bannon former Loyola athlete and more recently with the University of Montreal hockey team, has been appointed to handle the whistle in tomorrow's important game between Bishops College and Loyola intermediates on the latter's campus. Bannon is a resident of Notre Dame de Grace, and has distinguished himself as a scholar as well as a rugby and hockey star.

J. WILSON OFFERS CUP FOR SWIMMING

The program is as follows: Free style—7 lengths (105 yards) and four lengths novice (60 yards); Back Stroke—2 lengths (30 yards); Life Saving—(2 man teams)—Head carry (1 length each) Tread swimming (2 lengths each). ## RECIPES FOR LATE PICKLES

Requests for pickle recipes continue to be received by almost every mail. Recent requests have been for "late" pickles—that is, pickles made from the materials which remain on the market during the late fall season. We trust that the suggestions which we are giving this week will answer the requirements of those homemakers who have been delayed in their pickle-making operations.

French Tomato Pickle

One peck green tomatoes, six onions, all sliced. Sprinkle with one cupful of salt and let stand all night. In the morning drain well and scald in weak vinegar for ten minutes, then add one pound of sugar, two table-spoons of curry powder, two tea-spoons cinnamon, two teaspoons all-spice, two tablespoons mustard, and simmer all together for a few minutes, then bottle.

Pottsville Pickle

One and one-half quarts green tomatoes, 1 1-2 quarts ripe tomatoes, two onions, three ripe peppers with-out the seeds.

Chop the vegetables; sprinkle with half a cup of salt and let stand over night. Drain and add one quart of vinegar half a teaspoonful of cloves half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of mustard seed and two cups of sugar. Cook until tomato is tender.

Bordeau Sauce

One gallon green tomatoes, two green peppers, one medium-sized head of cabbage, eight onions (medium sized), chop all fine, sprinkle over one cupful of salt and let stand for one hour. Drain. Add one-half ounce turmeric, one-half ounce celery seed, one-quarter pound white mustard seed, two pounds white sugar and one quart of vinegar. Boil all for one hour, and bottle.

Cucumber Pickle

One gallon sliced green cucumbers, sprinkle with salt and let stand for several hours, then drain. For the dressing, mix together one ounce mustard seed, 1 1-2 teaspoonful celery seed, 1 1-2 teaspoonful curry powder, one tablespoonful mustard, one tablespoonful turmeric powder two cupfuls brown sugar, and enough vinegar to cover the pickles. Mix together, add the pickles and simmer for thirty minutes, then bottle.

Picallilli

One quart cucumbers, one quart onions, one quart cauliflower, one head celery, one red pepper. Remove seeds from pepper, and put all ingredients through the food chopper. Put into separate dishes, sprinkle with salt and let stand over night. In the morning drain and put into preserving kettle with two quarts of vinegar, 1-4 ounce white mustard seed, 1-2 ounce celery seed, three cupfuls brown sugar and let come to boiling point. Mix to a paste with cold water, 2-3 cupful flour, 2 ounces mustard, 1-2 ounce turmeric and pour into the pickle. Stir quickly bring to boiling point, and boil for one minute, then bottle.

Manitoba Pickles

Twelve large green cucumbers (peel and slice), six large onions (peel and slice). Sprinkle with salt and let stand over night. Drain and add the following dressing: One and one-half pints vinegar, two cups granulated sugar, one teaspoon turmeric, 1-2 teaspoon curry powder, two teaspoons flour, 1-2 teaspoons mustard. Boil until pickles are glossy, bottle and seal. If dressing is not quite thick enough, add slightly more flour.

Tomato Cream

Wash 18 large ripe tomatoes, 12 large ripe apples and 12 onions. Slice them and cook thoroughly, remove from fire and rub through a sieve. To the pulp add one pound white sugar 4-1 pound mustard, one quart vinegar one teaspoon cayenne pepper, one teaspoon salt. Cook slowly until it is the consistency of cream. Bottle while hot.

Sweet Crab Apple Pickle

Three pounds crab apples two cups cider vinegar, one cup sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoons cloves, 1 1-2 teaspoons all-spice berries, 1 1-2 teaspoons black pepper, 1 1-2 teaspoons ginger.

Wipe crab apples, remove stems and steam until soft. The spices in muslin bag, put in preserving kettle, add vinegar, sugar and apples, bring gradually to boiling point, and let simmer 20 minutes.

Spiced Celery

Six bunches celery, 15 tomatoes, one red pepper, two cups sugar, two tablespoons salt, one teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon cloves, one tea-spoon allspice, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-teaspoon celery seed, 1 1-2 cups vinegar.

Cut of roots and leaves of celery, separate stalks and chop. Wipe, peel

"MELODY MIKE" TO BE BROADCAST

Radio fans in Canada will be introduced to a new and original form of radio entertainment this winter with the inauguration of Monday evening hours from "Melody Mike's Music Shop", a broadcast over the Canadian Pacific Railway's transcontinental network. "Melody Mike", as the above picture shows, runs a music shop near the station at a railway divisional point. The shop becomes the centre of numberless adventures in which Mike himself, Mary, his wife, ("Molly Maloney, as wuz"), Ted and Larry, their sons, Scotty Macgregor, an argumentative but friendly neighbor, and Lack-a-day Liz, quite the most surprising of the characters, all play parts. All are competent and enthusiastic musicians, and their adventures are sprinkled with charming music, old-time favorites and popular song hits. Also, the fame of their musical Monday evenings has spread beyond the division, and when a train halts at Melody Junction there is a stream of visitors to Melody Mike's emporium, many of whom contribute to the enjoyment of the evening. The first programme from "Melody Mike's Music Shop" will be broadcast from 8 to 9.30 p.m. on Monday, October 6th, by the following stations, linked together by the broadcast transmission system of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Telegraphs, CKAC, Montreal, CHRC, Quebec, CKGW, Toronto, CJGG, London, CFCC, Chatham, CKY, Winnipeg, CKCK, Regina, 10-RB, Moose Jaw, CFQC, Saskatoon, CJRW, Fleming, Sask., CKCA, Edmonton, CJCJ, Calgary, CKLC,

Blood Transfusion Leads Couple to Secret Wedding

Romance Begins When Salesman Volunteers Operation to Save Life of Girl

Denver, Col.—A romance which had its inception a year ago when George Head, Denver tire salesman, volunteered a blood transfusion to save the life of Miss Dorothy Moll, of Harry Moll, prominent Denver business man, culminated in the secret marriage of the young couple on July 4th, it was learned recently.

Head and Miss Moll motored to Castle Rock, obtained a suppressed marriage license and were married by the Rev. J. Frederick McDonough, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament Church.

The couple did an excellent job of keeping their marriage a secret. Head is employed as a salesman by the bride's father, while Mrs. Head is the telephone operator.

They returned to their respective positions the day after the wedding ceremony, determined to keep the event secret—at least for a while. The secret remained a secret until somebody, whose identity is unknown to the bride and bridegroom, talked and news of the affair reached the bride's father. After a family conference, parental blessing was bestowed upon the newly married couple and everybody was happy.

Geneva, O.—A cat which has six toes on each of its four feet and sleeps with one eye open, is the property of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Plankell of Walnut street here.

Dickey, as the cat is called, has the advantage over other cats because he has six claws to climb with and to use in capturing flies, bugs and birds. He is an inveterate hunter and can often be seen crouched to spring on some unwary prey.

Having been run over twice, the kitten probably has only seven lives left.

After being hit the second time Dickey was found to keep one eye open, even when he was apparently asleep.

Some of the neighbors have nicknamed Dickey "Pop Eye." His favorite menu is liver and milk.

82 YEARS AT ONE TRADE

Caniff.—Henry Hoffman, a cabinet-maker, of Brynmawr, Monmouthshire has just completed a remarkable record of work.

A native of Borden, Germany, Mr. Hoffman was brought to Brynmawr by his parents when he was fourteen years of age. He was apprenticed to the furniture trade, at which he has since worked regularly.

He has just celebrated his 96th birthday, so that he has worked regularly and continuously at his trade for 82 years. What is more, he still works every day and hopes to be able to work when he is 100 years old.

Mr. Hoffman has nine children, forty grandchildren, and sixty great-grandchildren.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MEASLES

Measles is perhaps the most easily transmitted of all the communicable diseases. As a result, it is a disease of such common occurrence, that many people regard it as inevitable, and so do little or nothing to prevent its spread. Indeed, many parents think that it is inescapable, and rather welcome it so that it may be over and done with.

Everyone is susceptible to measles. The most important thing to know about measles is that the younger the child, the more serious is the attack likely to be. We say "serious", because in spite of the commonly accepted idea that measles, at the worst, is only annoying it is a fact that measles is serious because of the injuries and deaths it causes.

Deaths from measles? Yes, indeed. This disease which is regarded so lightly comes second as a cause of death among the common communicable diseases occurring in young children. The number of deaths varies from year to year as epidemics of the disease occur, but few years pass which do not see several hundreds of young children fall victims to measles, and the younger the children afflicted, the higher the percentage of those who succumb.

Measles is spread in the droplets from the nose and throat of a case, and unfortunately, the case succeeds in spreading the disease in this way for some days before the appearance of the rash. Because measles is spread during this period, it makes it most difficult to control, as, in many cases, the disease is not suspected, or the child is thought to have only a cold in the head, or, as is the common opinion, even though it is measles, there is nothing to worry about, and so the child is allowed to mix with other children and no care is taken to control the spread of the disease.

One other point to be mentioned is that simple measles does not cause many deaths. Measles, however, gives rise to many complications, particularly broncho-pneumonia, and it is the complications of measles which are so often fatal.

We have presented these facts because we want parents to realize that measles is a serious disease.

Children should be safeguarded from infection. We have said that the younger the child, the more serious the effects of the disease, hence the more need for precautions.

The child who has been exposed to measles should be carefully watched and put to bed on the first appearance of watery eyes. It would be better still to put the child to bed eight days after his exposure to infection, because the child who develops his attack of measles when in bed is likely to escape complications.

During an attack, and while the patient is convalescing from measles, he should receive the careful attention he requires in any serious condition, one of which is measles.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.
