ROYAL TOUR STARTS OFFICIALLY TODAY

World News In Brief

Paris, Oct. 9.—(Reuters)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada here for North Atlantic pact arms-plan talks, today met French politicians and economists.

After leading the Canadian delegation at the inaugural meeting of the 12-country committee for co-ordinating North Atlantic defence needs with economic abilities, Abbott lunched at the home of Maj. Gen. George Vanier, Canadian ambassador.

Other guests here: Georges Bidault, French defence minister and deputy premier; Rene Mayer, minister of finance and economic affairs; Jean Monnet, French economist; and Wilfred Baumgartner, governor of the Bank of France.

Toronto, Oct. 9.—(CP)—Charles W. Jefferys, 82, whose historical illustrations for more than 50 years made history live for Canadians, died yesterday in a nursing home after a long illness.

His career had three phases: Those of a newspaper artist in New York and Toronto in the days before news photography, of an historical artist whose illustrations found their way into virtually all standard textbooks, and, in later years, of a mural artist of wide reputation.

Aschaffenburg, Germany, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Reinforced Allied troops today launched a full-scale counter-attack at dawn to drive a mythical aggressor out of west Germany.

Tired, grimy United States soldiers, on the defensive since the mock war broke out a week ago, made amphibious assault crossings of the Main river 22 miles south-east of Frankfurt.

Hanoi, Indo-China, Oct. 9.—(Reuters)—French forces killed 853 Vietminh guerrillas and detained 10,000 suspects in a big sweep against rebels southeast of Hanoi, capital of Tonkin, the French army announced today.

Northwest of Hanoi, French paratroopers were reported progressing favorably with a counter-offensive against a Vietminh division attempting to seize the Nghia lo valley.

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A member of the Congressional atomic energy committee said today Russia could launch "an atomic attack at 20 or 30 American cities." A Senator had put the number as high as 50.

Representative Henry Jackson (Dem. Wash.) said, however, that the United States is capable of producing tactical atomic weapons—weapons for use on the battlefield—which could halt the Red army "in its tracks."

United States Cavalrymen Continue Advance In Korea

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 9.—(AP)—United States division of cavalrymen smashed out gains of more than a mile on the western front today.

The communists fought fiercely to stem the advance.

In the mountainous east, communist troops held attacking U.S. and French forces to gains of a few hundred yards—or none at all—on Heartbreak Ridge and neighboring peaks.

Elsewhere along the front no significant action was reported in an early afternoon communique issued by the Eighth Army.

The navy announced in Tokyo the U.S. destroyer Ernest G. Small hit a communist mine Sunday night off the east coast of Korea.

The explosion killed eight sailors and injured 19, the navy said. In Washington the navy had reported nine dead, 18 injured.

The destroyer ran into the mine while dueling communist shore batteries at Hungnam, 130 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Another American vessel, the minesweeper Firecrest, was hit by Red shore guns at Hungnam Friday, the navy said. No one was injured.

The Small and the Firecrest were with the battleship New Jersey and other U.S. warships which opened an attack on Hungnam Thursday.

The navy said the Firecrest was repaired on the spot. The destroyer headed for Japan to have "moderate damage" to her forward section repaired.

Allied troops in the west fought off a series of Chinese probing attacks made under cover of darkness. They began Monday night and continued up to dawn.

Reds Prepare New Message For Allies

Tokyo, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The communists will deliver a new message to the allies tomorrow, presumably their latest word on reopening Korean truce talks.

Tonight they asked allied liaison officers to pick up the message at Panmunjom, proposed new locale for the talks, at 8 A. M. Wednesday.

That is only two hours before the time suggested by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway for a meeting of liaison officers in the Panmunjom area to lay detailed plans for renewing cease-fire negotiations.

The Reds gave no indication of what the message would contain. They sent word of the message to Munsan, advance headquarters of the U. N. command armistice delegation, where reports circulated that there may be changes in the five-man allied truce team.

There had been no indication that top Red commanders had drafted their reply to Ridgway's message broadcast Monday night. In it he agreed to renew truce talks in the vicinity of Panmunjom, but declined to enlarge the neutral zone as the communists wanted.

Ridgway also suggested the preparatory Wednesday session of liaison officers.

They met briefly in fog-blanketed Panmunjom today when allied officers delivered Ridgway's message accepting the vicinity of that Red check point as a site for resuming the negotiations, broken off Aug. 23 at Kaesong.

AP correspondent Robert Tuckman, reporting the possible change in the allied negotiating team, noted that two members of the delegation recently received new assignments.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodges was named deputy commander of the U. S. Eighth Army. Rear-Admiral Arleigh A. Burke was expected to leave soon to report to the chief of naval operations in Washington for an undisclosed assignment.

The Munsan report was that one or two members of the negotiating group would be changed.

Both Burke and Hodges served on a sub-committee meeting on where to establish a demilitarized zone across Korea at the time Reds broke off negotiations 48 days ago.

When and if discussions get going again, negotiations will start to solve that question. It is the first end only clause of an armistice agreement considered in the talks which began July 10.

Military Pomp Marks Start Of Crowded Day — Displaced Persons Join In Welcome.

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Quebec, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Royal tour began officially today beneath the high cliffs of this historic capital of French Canada.

Down beside the St. Lawrence, under bleak, grey skies, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh formally began at 9:45 A.M. EST a month-long tour that will take them from one coast to the other.

For this tour beginning, there was military pomp in plenty. But only a handful of Quebec people came down the high cliffs to old Lower Town to see it. Only a few hundred Quebec people joined the official greeters, the Mounties, the soldiers — and 700 displaced persons who joined the welcome less than eight hours after docking here after an Atlantic crossing.

But nine other events lay ahead up in the city itself, a few miles away from the Anse du Foulon dock where the Royal couple kept their formal rendezvous with Canada.

As the Royal train came out of the quiet countryside and slid to a stop beside a huge waterfront shed, the province and the city extended the greetings of the entire country.

The Federal government's representatives stood aside today. The greetings came from Quebec's Lieutenant-Governor Faspard Fautoux, Quebec's Premier Duplessis, Mayor Lucien Borne, of Quebec, and others.

Veterans Minister Lapointe, a Quebec city representative in Parliament, acted as Ottawa's spokesman.

The ceremony of arrival kept rigidly to schedule, bright with military color, alive with the music of eight R.C.A.F. trumpeters and the red-jacketed band of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

The Royal train pulled up to the shed and the Princess came down the platform steps wearing what female reporters called "a fitted, green, knee-length velveteen coat with a close-fitting hat to match."

On her lapel was a large silver maple leaf. The Princess wore naval uniform with ribbons and medals and carried a sword.

In the background, a ship's whistle blew steadily and artillerymen fired a 21-round Royal salute. The Princess walked through the shed, along a red carpet and out into the raw October air to inspect a 100-man guard of honor from the Royal 22nd Regiment. Beside her was the Lieutenant-Governor.

As the Princess approached the guard, she chatted with Capt. Guy Gauvreau, its commander. Occasionally she smiled, she seemed relaxed, like a young girl delighted at the prospect of the fairy-book happenings that lie ahead of her.

In the background, the band played. Photographers snapped shot after shot. The Princess walked along behind his wife, occasionally rubbing his chin.

The inspection took only a few minutes. The whole dockside ceremony took less than 20. Then a cavalcade of sleek, black cars moved to drive up into the city.

Mounties, sailors and soldiers lined the route as they left.

The crowd of civilians, small but vigorous, surged forward against the military lines.

A round of cheers went up as

Attlee Comes Under Heated Election Fire

London, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee pushed his electioneering in East Anglia today as angry Tories pointed to Egypt and attacked foreign policies.

Egypt's move to denounce the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian pact and make King Farouk master of the Sudan, coming soon after Persia's ouster of British oil men, was profoundly affecting the character of the election campaign.

It focused attention even more on Labor foreign policies rather than their six-year stewardship in domestic affairs.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill shoe-horned the Egyptian turn of affairs immediately into a political speech over the radio.

"Another blow has fallen upon us even more grave and injurious than that which afflicted us at Abadan," he said in his broadcast last night.

Abadan is the site of the huge refinery of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Under Iranian pressure, the company was forced to abandon it after futile efforts by the government to save the big British investment from nationalization.

Heckling and shouts of "Abadan, Abadan" trailed Attlee's progress through the eastern counties yesterday.

It is an area where Attlee's Labor party took a severe beating in the 1950 election, losing 15 seats to Conservatives.

Attlee was parrying "Abadan" shouts before the electors heard the Egyptians were tearing up the 1936 mutual-defence pact and so endangering British control of the strategic Suez Canal.

The Prime Minister moves tonight from the rolling farmlands of eastern England into industrial Leicestershire. He is making a swing around most spots where the voting will be touch-and-go.

He intends to be back in London eight days before the voting Oct. 25.

Compromise Sought In Oil Dispute

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
United Nations, N.Y., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Delegates from the United States and other U. N. members worked behind the scenes today in an effort to start Britain and Iran talking together once more about their oil dispute.

They sought to avert an open fight before the Security Council over Iran's nationalization of the British-owned oil industry in Iran.

The Council is scheduled to hear the ailing Iranian Premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, open his country's case Thursday.

Ernest A. Gross, deputy U. S. representative on the Security Council, was reported to have talked with Mossadegh and with Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British U.N. delegate.

Mossadegh was installed in a suite at the New York hospital. In the hours since his arrival yesterday in what his aides called an exhausted condition, these developments have occurred:

1.—Nasrallah Entezam, Iranian ambassador to the U.S. and president of the General Assembly denied flatly Iran may accept Soviet aid in the dispute.

2.—Jebb and others worked on a resolution said to state that Britain attaches great importance to the opinion of the International Court of Justice. Britain has asked the Security Council to call upon Iran to follow a court recommendation for the oil operations to continue pending a settlement.

3.—It was understood the U.S. wants to take a middle course in the dispute, and to get the two parties together for talks.

Parliament Closes Session. Meets To Open Another

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Parliament today to close its old session and open a new one.

At 11 a.m. EST, the Commons and the Senate quietly resumed the current session—in recess since June 30—and prepared to get together in the Senate Chamber a short time later for the prorogation ceremony.

The new fall session opens at 3 p.m.

At the suggestion of Prime Minister St. Laurent, the Commons opened its sitting by singing God Save the King as a gesture of thanksgiving for the King's continued recovery from his recent operation.

Mr. St. Laurent told Speaker Ross Macdonald he was sure each member would wish Mr. Speaker to convey to the King their gratification of "his continued progress towards recovery and our sincere good wishes."

Four Progressive Conservative members, winners in by-elections held June 25, then were introduced by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and other leading members of the party.

The new members are Howie Meeker from the Ontario riding of Waterloo South, J. Angus MacLean of Queens in Prince Edward Island, Gordon Churchill of Winnipeg South Centre, and Walter Dinsdale from the Manitoba riding of Brandon.

The Commons standing: Liberals 185; Progressive Conservatives 45; C.C.F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent four; Independent Liberal four; vacant one; Total 262.

The Senate standing: Liberals 76; Progressive Conservatives nine; vacant 15; total 102.

51 Persons Are Killed At Week-End

By The Canadian Press
Fifty-one persons died violently in Canada during the Thanksgiving week-end.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed that, with highways jammed with holiday-bound motorists, 36 persons died in street and highway mishaps. Four persons were drowned and two died in fires. There was a hunting accident, a tractor accident and two coal field accidents—all fatal.

A series of miscellaneous mishaps accounted for the other deaths.

Twenty-two deaths were reported from Ontario, 13 from Quebec, seven from New Brunswick, three ### Egypt Moves To Cancel Defence Treaty With U.K.

Cairo, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Jubilant crowds shouting "Down with England" poured into the squares of Egypt's main cities today to celebrate the government's move to cancel her mutual-defence treaty with Britain.

In Cairo, steel-helmeted troops mounted guard over the British and American embassies as demonstrators filled the big Ismailia square.

In Alexandria, excited students delivered fiery speeches to an eager crowd, calling out slogans such as "Long live Egypt and the Sudan."

Shopkeepers pulled down their shutters as a precaution against violence. So far, none was reported.

Spokesmen of the Nationalist, Saadist, Liberal and Socialist parties announced their parties' support of the government's decision to end the treaty which gives Britain the right to station troops in the Suez Canal zone and share the administration of the Sudan.

These opposition parties applauded last night's announcement by Prime Minister Mustafa Nahas Pasha, who proclaimed Farouk King of Egypt and the Sudan. Headlines screamed the news and schools were closed in celebration.

"This is the proudest day of my life," Day told newspaper men. "It is just like running an ordinary train, only we shall have to be a little more careful," the engineer said.

Railroad officials said that the three were chosen for their ability and good service records.

The porter of the train is Coulter States of Dartmouth, N.S., who wore a string of six shining war medals on his chest.

"How I will never know," he said. "But all the same it sure gives me a thrill."

Royal Welcome Given To Royal Couple

Dorval, Que., Oct. 9.—(AP)—A boisterous crowd and a translating telephone call shouldered their way into Princess Elizabeth's arrival yesterday.

The Princess, reputedly a young lady with a strong will of her own, bowed to the strong will of a crowd of Canadian thousands and came out to the observation platform of the Royal train a second time to give them the waves and smiles the people wanted.

The crowd, crying out half angrily for minutes before, waved, shouted and whistled its thanks. The transatlantic phone call allowed the Princess to talk to her mother less than an hour after Dorval airport. She was hardly on the Royal train, removing her rich mink coat, before an aide barked four words into a telephone—"Buckingham Palace—the Queen."

In a few minutes, mother and daughter were in conversation.

The two incidents happened in the half-hour before the Royal train pulled out of a siding a quarter of a mile from the tarmac where the Royal plane landed.

There were several thousand people massed behind a fence 50 yards from the rear of the train.

Between them and the train were a cluster of photographers, roosting on special stands so they could snap the Royal couple shaking hands with officials and then boarding their private car.

The crowd began shouting at the cameramen to "get down . . . get down" some time before the royal couple drove up in an open car. The photographers didn't stir.

When the Royal couple drew up behind a police escort, the shouting didn't die down. If anything, it increased. Irritated voices cried, "get down, get down, we want to see."

It went on as the officials—people like Donald Gordon, C.N.R. president—were introduced, bowed and passed on or chatted briefly with Elizabeth and Philip.

As they climbed the red-carpeted steps to their private car, the shouting increased. "Get down, you bums, get down," some voice cried at the cameramen. If they heard, the Royal couple showed no sign of it. They turned, waved briefly and went inside.

It didn't stop the crowd. The people kept shouting at the photographers. "We want the Princess . . . get down." In 10 minutes, officials came out and quietly arranged to have the photographers ousted.

Then the Royal couple came out, waving and smiling. The crowd cheered.

Gander, Nfld., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Landing of the Royal plane here yesterday morning was partly at the request of Princess Elizabeth so she could see more of the scenery when the flight to Montreal continued.

The plane, originally scheduled to fly direct to Montreal, landed here at 6:15 a.m. N.S.T., and took off again at 8:45 a.m.

During the brief stopover, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip walked around the plane, smiled and waved to residents who had turned out just in case the plane landed, and visited Gander Lake.

Princess Elizabeth said the Atlantic crossing was pleasant. The plane had landed at Gander because of strong headwinds and her desire to await daylight so she could see more of the countryside en route to Montreal.

No dignitaries were on hand but R.C.M.P. officers were stationed at the airbase for such a landing.

Fall Fashion Review Is Success; Practical Femininity Is Feature

By SALLY HALLETT
With a flourish of colour and detail, the Young Women's Association of Lennoxville produced an all-out fashion revue last week in the Gertrude Scott Hall, Lennoxville.
Each season, certain new silhouettes provide us all with a good basic reason for renewing and altering our wardrobes. However, although the emphasis this year is on femininity, the fact still remains that it is also definitely on practicality, which, from the masculine point of view, will be

AT THE PREMIER

Beautiful Moira Shearer dances to stardom in the Academy award-winning motion picture "The Red Shoes" in Technicolor, starting tomorrow for four days at the New Premier Theatre with "Danger Zone", a new murder-mystery drama with Tom Neal, Hugh Beaumont, Edward Brophy, Richard Travis, Virginia Dale, Pamela Blake, Paula Drew.

Hollywood—Behind the Screen: Esther Williams comes up dry except for a carnival "Dunk Me" scene and a brief ballet routine (swimming in the sky yet) in "Texas Carival" and her fans are yelling that MGM shouldn't have dry-docked their favorite mermaid.
Esther confesses she marched upstairs after the picture was finished to argue the point. "But here's the way she sees it now: 'It's Red Skelton's funniest picture. It's so good without my swimming I'm not worried.'" Katherine Dunham of the swivel-hips, on the subject of Hollywood in her backstage dressing room: "I'm not burning with the desire to make pictures in Hollywood after a little mistake called 'Casbah.' But I keep hoping that considered not only a very good thing but perhaps for many females, a very lucky thing too; this at least from where some undiscerning males view such goings-on as high fashion.

At this show, Mrs. Francis Parker was on hand to give a running commentary of all the garments displayed while appropriate background music was played by Mrs. B. Lane, providing that atmosphere characteristic of a well-organized fashion show.

Models for the adult clothes were Mrs. Elton Scott, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton, Mrs. M. King and Mrs. R. Lane, Mrs. L. E. MacAlister, Mrs. A. C. Farnham, Miss Joan Sterling, Miss Joan Wark and Mrs. H. J. Wark.

Children's styles were shown by Carol Loveland, Martha Hurley, Betty Hunting, Buntie Hill, Diane Hunting, Marilyn King, Linda Parker, Lorraine Parker, Sandra Smith, Dale Smith, Margaret McLean, Gene Hicks, Sue Lennon, Jane Edgecombe, Linda Richardson, Marsha Mooney, Jane Montgomery, Terry Lane, Michael Patrick, Dannie McManamy, George Beaulieu, David Cherry, Ann Hadlock and the Lane twins, Kathryn and David.

The teen-agers who modeled were Joan Sterling, Joan Wark, Judy Lennon, June Tolhurst and Coleen Larson.
The sponsors combined their efforts to afford a choice selection of the latest in the world of fashion.

The children's clothes were shown through the courtesy of Tot's Town, the adult apparel, courtesy of Henry's Ladies' Wear. Stockings and gloves were provided by Kayser; hats and purses, Irene Dunn; furs, Martin and Company; floral display, Vaudry's Greenhouse, Lennoxville; cosmetics by Clark's Pharmacy.

There are divers highlights in the 1951 Autumn fashions, a few of which will certainly be of value to those interested in what the up-to-date woman and child is wearing.

This Fall, the most notable of new coats and jackets are pyramid or cocoon-shaped. The wool dress in black or vibrant color, the wool plaid and the corduroy dress are the costumes in vogue.

Gone is the padded shoulder and with it has vanished the masculine look. In their place comes the new skater's silhouette with gored bell-shaped skirt and tight bodice. Another captivating new style which is bound to catch the eye as well as the ear, is the ultra feminine swishy sound of the taffeta and crinoline petticoat.

In the teen-agers department, it is happily announced that the sloppy Joe appearance has disappeared. This will bring a sigh of relief to many a mother. Yes, the jeans and bulky sweaters are being replaced by those extra smart jackets or jumpers. These may be worn with or without a blouse and are

Your hat this Fall, will be the easily converted into any number of different outfits, calot, pillbox, turban, the side-tilted cloche or toque, often worn with a big gold stick-pin or one extra large piece of jewelry. The ever-popular feather hat will also be a topic of conversation.

In the fur corner, the newest fashion note in fur styles is the semi-pyramid shoulder and the cock-tail sleeve.

In the Tiny Tot department, and they, incidentally, are just as style conscious as you or I, we see the practical look. The materials are sturdier, washable, many wind and water-proof. The most revolutionary idea in children's clothes this fall is the adjustable size, which means you will have plenty of extra material to lower hems if necessary, from year to year.

Among the garments displayed by the children were the yellow E-Z sleepers, cosy and warm, easy to launder, no buttons at the neck or waist; to complete this picture was a lovely blue quilted housecoat, also washable. Another pride and joy for a dear little Miss was just the perfect party dress with a velvet bodice, striped taffeta skirt, collar and cuff trimming.

In the teen-agers department, of particular interest, was a wool plaid dress that is equally at home in Edinburgh or anywhere in Canada.

The clothes displayed by adults were highlighted by the newest shape on the fashion horizon, the modified pyramid coat. In addition, many effective fur coats were shown; including Indian Kidd, French Seal with Russian dyed squirrel, grey Persian Lamb and luxurious Canadian Muskrat. In closing, five door prizes were given to the lucky ticket holders.

the right kind of film may come along someday."

I asked if Katherine would be in Rita Hayworth's next picture. "No," snapped the famed dancer, who was linked with Aly Khan in the gossip columns months before Rita fled back to Hollywood.

Norman Kerry, the former silent star, is okay following a heart attack . . . Johnny Desmond, who warbles on Don McNeill's airshow, is up for a big musical at Fox. Shouldn't Be Normal

Lauren Bacall sounded off, but good, to the British press about actors trying to be normal people. Wailed Bogart's Baby: "Who wants normal people in Hollywood, anyway? Too many of the big names in the film world are trying to live like the folks next door. Mrs. Brown—when she has put her four kids to bed—doesn't go to the cinema to see an actress being Mrs. Brown, putting four kids to bed."

Donald O'Connor, who once wasn't sure whether he wanted talented wife Glenn Carter to have a film career, has now given her his blessing. "I even find myself agenting for her," he told me.

"I mentioned her name to a producer just the other day. I sort of sneaked it in, saying I knew a good actress named Glenn Carter. The producer smiled and said, 'That's your wife, isn't it?'"

"But really, we're both serious about her career."

The plunging neckline may have taken its last plunge, but a Hollywood designer, Yvonne Wood, says she'll ignore the return to modest femininity in her movie wardrobes. She told me: "I'm sticking to beautiful clothes and glamour."

Yvonne's description of the new pencil skirts and high button collars for winter and next spring: "Real feminine—and uncomfortable."

Only Movie Hero
The show is over but the melody lingers on. Bill Demarest couldn't understand why he was hailed as a hero while making theatre personal appearances around New York. Then he discovered the reason: "A lot of people think I really

Annual Thanksgiving Program, Prize Day, Held By Bishop's College School

Bishop's College School held its annual Thanksgiving program over the week-end and more than 200 "old boys," parents and friends of the School came from such distant points as Newfoundland, Chicago and western Ontario to attend the ceremonies.

Feature of the three-day program was the official opening Monday noon of the Peter Holt Memorial Library, a beautiful three-room building off the main edifice of the School, by Mrs. W.

R. G. Holt, of Montreal, in memory of her son, Peter G. Holt, student at B.C.S. from 1935 to 1941. The boy was killed on active service with the R.C.A.F. over Europe and his memory will be perpetuated at B.C.S. by his mother's gift to the school.

Mrs. Holt turned the key in the door to open the library officially, following a review of the brief career of Peter Holt by C.L.O. Glass, headmaster, and prayers and dedication of the library by Rev. Brian Whitlow, chaplain of B.C.S.

The many guests then visited the library and their pleasure at its beauty and utility was perhaps best summed up in the words of one mother, "You boys are certainly fortunate in having so beautiful a library."

J. H. Whitelaw, M.A., has been appointed librarian of the Peter Holt Memorial Library.

Also present at the official opening of the library were Lieut-Col. W. W. Ogilvie, of Montreal, immediate past chairman of the board of governors, and Mr. Justice William Mitchell, of Massawippi, his successor.

The week-end also served for the renewal of the annual football rivalry between Bishop's College School and Ashbury College, of Ottawa. B.C.S. trounced the Ottawas 25-5 in the encounter Saturday but lost to the "old boys" Monday morning by the score of 12-7.

Two converted majors by the "old boys" in the first half proved too much for the present-day students. H. Price and B. Molson went over for the majors for the "old boys," whose converts were scored on forwards, Reaper to Ashworth and Furze to Satterwaite. Pratt kicked a single point for B.C.S. in the second half, Southward scored a touchdown, converted by Pratt.

J. Churchill-Smith coached the "old boys" while headmaster Glass and E. V. Pilgrim coached the students. On the "old boys" team were: D. Price, H. Price, T. Price, B. Molson, G. Furze, B. Ross, G. Skelton, T. Williamson, P. Satterwaite, B. Hutchison, R. McMaster, V. Scheib, N. Kouri, R. Kouri, A. MacDryall, A. Gordon, M. Smith, D. Ashworth, C. Pierce and D. D. D. Deverall.

The Thanksgiving week-end concluded after lunch in the school dining hall with the presentation of prizes and a tea dance.

As principal speaker at the prize-giving exercises, Mr. Glass took the opportunity of speaking to so many parents by urging that parents interfere less in the education of the boys.

"Let the boy stand on his own two feet," Mr. Glass suggested. "If you have confidence in the School, leave the boy's education to the School. Parental interference should come only in times of crisis. Restrict your interference for the sake of your boy. He will, in later life, be judged on his own merits, not yours."

Mr. Glass urged that parents do everything in their power to encourage good reading among the boys. "Reading is the key to education," he said. "The school cannot do this job entirely. We try and, thanks to our magnificent new library, we will try harder but we cannot do the job ourselves."

Turning to the "old boys," whom he termed the life-blood of the School, the headmaster thanked them for their efforts in keeping school spirit alive outside of Lennoxville. "There is a modern tendency to sneer at the 'old school tie,'" he said, "but, after all, school spirit is only loyalty and gratitude to the institution which educated us and helped us make our way in the world."

"With your continued co-operation, we can make B.C.S. stand for not only Bishop's College School but best Canadian School."

Speaking of the faculty, Mr. Glass said that "we are most fortunate in our staff. A headmaster is no stronger than his masters and, at B.C.S., we have a most loyal, and co-operative group of masters, working in your behalf, and I wish to thank them."

In his advice to the students, the headmaster asked them not to treat the masters as if the latter were their natural enemies.

"Any master's job is made easier if a boy will work," he said.

Mr. Glass said his own philosophy of education is that education is to prepare a person for life.

Lions Hear About Fire Prevention

A plea to individual Lions to support the current Fire Prevention Week was made by Alphonse Saumier at the regular weekly meeting of the Sherbrooke Lions Club last night.

In a brief talk, Mr. Saumier, who is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined some of the reasons for such a week. Later, films dealing with fire prevention were shown by members of the local fire department.

A six-week attendance contest ended with last night's meeting and 15 members were tied with perfect attendance records over the contest period. A drawing was made among them for the attendance prize, an electric clock, and was won by Dr. Georges Saine.

Reports were given by Rene Robert, for the health and welfare committee, and by Frank Gravel for the boys' and girls' committee. Mr. Gravel announced that the club's annual father and child night will be held on October 29.

The meeting was concluded with a business session at which important changes in the constitution regarding membership and attendance were approved.

President Alberic Julien presided and with him at the head table were Mr. Saumier, past presidents Eddie Caron, Ossie Goyette and Dr. Rene Duberger, and secretary, Joseph Babin.

Jean-Marc Charest, 22, of Victoriaville, was fined $400 in court here Saturday by Judge Dorais Panneton after pleading guilty to a charge of illegal possession of 238,000 American cigarettes. The cigarettes and Charest's car, a 1938 Lincoln, were seized.

Charest was arrested early Saturday morning at nearby Paquetville following a five-mile chase by constable Real Cardinal of the R.C.M.P.

The accused was chased in his car by R.C.M.P. constable Cardinal and R.C.M.P. constable Gerard Lecavalier. At a curb the accused lost control of his vehicle and the car overturned. He jumped out of the car and surrendered.

"Life is not easy and education should not, therefore, be easy. We must eschew fads which tend to make education easy."

The headmaster was preceded by Mr. Justice Mitchell, chairman of the board of governors, who spoke in praise of the retiring chairman, Lieut-Col. Ogilvie.

"Col. Ogilvie's sagacity and foresight, his fairness and tolerance led B.C.S. through one of the finest periods in its history and we thank him most sincerely."

Fire Drills In School Are Farce Gaston Tailon Tells Optimists

"Are fire drills a farce in your schools?" is the title of a booklet published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in the United States and reprinted by the King's Printer at Ottawa.

According to Gaston Tailon, chairman of the Sherbrooke Fire Prevention committee, this title goes for a number of schools in this city.

Mr. Tailon was guest speaker last night at the meeting of the local Optimist Club, held in the LaSalle Hotel.

As Fire Prevention Week began Sunday, Mr. Tailon's remarks on this subject were most timely.

He said that local fire drills at schools were "o.k." provided the schools were given five minutes warning in advance. "But," he said, "I would hate to think what would happen if the drill were called without any warning, let alone have a fire break out. Fire does not give five minutes to prepare."

Mr. Tailon added that a number of schools in this city are "fire traps," but the Fire Department has no power to deal with this situation, outside of merely making recommendations.

He said it was the duty of every citizen to press City Hall to take corrective measures where such a situation exists. Clubs like the Optimists, he said, whose function is to help boys could do much to start such a movement.

Mr. Tailon gave many valuable hints on fire prevention, not only in the schools, but at business and industrial plants.

"We have an excellent Fire Director in Mr. Donahue and a very good fire department, which last year won National honors during Fire Prevention Week. Let us all help them bring further honors to Sherbrooke and make this city safe from fires."

Mr. Tailon was introduced by President Jacques Laliberte and thanked by Paul Allard.

A new member was introduced to the meeting in the person of H. T. (Bert) Chatelets.

Club member Ian Sanderson gave an impromptu classification talk on his line, which is textiles. He gave the evolution of the growth of the textile industry from the time when persons ran around in from next to nothing on until today's fashion-conscious times.

President Laliberte was in the chair for the meeting and seated at the head table with his were: Yvan Codere, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Chatelets, Mr. Tailon and Clovis Buzzell.

Fire Damages Peel St. Home

Light damage was caused by fire yesterday morning to the home of Mrs. Lionel Trudeau, 40 Peel Street.

Painters were removing old paint from the two-storey wooden construction dwelling with a blow torch. Apparently the blow torch heated the walls to such an extent that a fire started.

Firemen from the No. 1 station quickly arrived on the scene and extinguished the blaze, which was confined to the outside walls. Damage was estimated as being very light.

Catholic Charities Campaign Begins; Hospice Enlargement Plans Announced

A crowd of more than 250 attended the opening dinner of the Catholic Federated Charities Campaign at the Sacred Heart Hospice on Sunday night and heard the Honorable J. S. Bourque announce that at this time next year the institution would have a $1,500,000 enlargement to its buildings.

The Minister said the building plans would extend to five floors and should offer some solution to the housing problem faced by the Sisters.

He expressed the wish that the present campaign would be most successful.

J. E. L. Blais and Frank J. Conway, joint presidents of the drive, both spoke briefly, urging the population of Sherbrooke to encourage the campaign as generously as they have in the past.

Objective this year is $25,000, and Mr. Conway, in making his appeal to the English-speaking people, said that he did not believe the figure to be exorbitant, in view of the increasing number of old people and orphans who rely on the Catholic Charities for sustenance.

He said that there is a long waiting list for the Hospice, and mentioned also the other worthy institutions, such as the Little Sisters of the Assumption and the Catholic Women's League, to which the Campaign contributes.

Mr. Conway said that St. Patrick's Parish — apart from collecting from its own members — would contact also the English speaking storekeepers and wholesalers. "Their donations have helped us greatly in the past," he stated, "and we are depending on their generosity again this year."

Mr. Blais said that charity should be the theme of the week and should be the upper most thought in the minds of the local people. He thanked the clergy for announcing the campaign from the church pulpits and made a particular appeal for support from the young people.

Msgr. O. Z. Letendre, D.P., representing His Excellency, Archbishop P. S. Desranleau, declared the campaign officially open. He said that last reports from the hospital declared the Archbishop's condition to be satisfactory. "However," he said, "as long as he remains confined to his bed, we must face the fact that his condition is still slightly dangerous."

He said he knew from past experience the generous spirit of Sherbrooke's population and felt that this year it would not be found wanting.

"We all have to give an account of our talents," Msgr. Letendre pointed out, "and likewise we shall have to account for the worldly goods which Providence has endowed us. It is a commandment of God that we look after the poor. Let us thank Him for our benefits and ask Him to continue them that we may in turn share our good fortune with the poor with whom He has identified Himself."

Msgr. C. B. Howard expressed the wish that the Archbishop would soon be restored to health and said he hoped the 15th annual Charity Campaign would be a huge success.

Referring to the Thanksgiving holiday, he said that the people have many things to be thankful for and if they attempted to count their blessings would find them so numerous that there would be no room in their hearts for anything but grateful thanks.

He said that he and the aldermen were vitally interested in the success of the campaign and pointed to the important role played by the canvassers as well as the donors.

"The past is but the gauge of the future," he said, "but we must not be complacent and rest on yesterday's laurels. We must go forward to greater successes today."

Maurice Gingues, M.P., traced the growth of the Hospice, with the city and the country, and said that the works of charity have grown in proportion. He also wished the campaign every success and, while admitting that the cost of living had increased considerably, reminded the people that greater sacrifice will bring greater reward.

Rev. Father L. Vallancourt, representing Msgr. I. Pinard, pastor of St. Michael's Parish, also spoke briefly.

The excellent meal served by the Sisters was much enjoyed by the huge crowd.

Seated at the head table with the joint presidents were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gingues, Mayor Howard, Msgr. O. Z. Letendre, D.P., Hon. J. S. Bourque, Mrs. Bourque, Judge Dorais Panneton, Mrs. Panneton, Alderman Leo Cadorette, Mrs. Cadorette, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Lanctot, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cote, Mrs. J. E. L. Blais, Rev. M. Lagrevel, Rev. Canon N. Codere, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Georges Sylvestre, Dr. P. P. Beaudry, Mrs. Benoit-Turnel, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bouffard, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Gauthier, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Royer.

Gunmen Who Robbed Taxi Driver Jailed

The two gunmen who held up a local taxi driver here last Wednesday evening were caught by Provincial Police over the week-end and were given jail sentences by Judge Dorais Panneton.

Jean-Guy Rivard, 21, of Montreal, and Georges Vallieres, 19, of St. Henry street, Sherbrooke, were picked up by Provincial Detective Rene Coupal on Saturday. Provincial Police Sgt. Det. Steno Brassieur was in charge of the investigation, assisted by Guy Dupont, secretary at the local police office.

Judge Panneton sentenced Rivard to one year in jail and his accomplice was given an eight-month term.

The pair held up Francois Lapointe, a local taxi driver, and took $30 after pointing a revolver at him.

Rivard came to Sherbrooke last Wednesday by bus and met Vallieres in a local tavern. After a few drinks together, Rivard told his friend that he had a revolver and finally the men planned the hold-up.

ROYAL VISIT BEGINS

Canadians had double cause for celebration yesterday.

It was Thanksgiving Day and it was the day on which Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived in Canada to begin their cross-country tour.

If yesterday's welcome at Dorval was an indication of what is to come during the next five weeks, then the Princess and her consort can expect a welcome from Canadians equally as warm as that given King George and Queen Elizabeth when they came to Canada in 1939.

The Townships will catch only a glimpse of the Royal couple when they pass through Drummondville on their way home next month, but E.T. residents, none-the-less, will join with their fellow Canadians in extending greetings and good wishes to the future Queen and her husband.

Their arrival somehow or other brightened a drab and cold autumn day, and so it will be at every station stop on their long journey from coast to coast.

There may be political reasons for Royal visits — there probably are — but the fact remains that several million people are going to get a lift out of seeing the Princess and Prince Philip. They are going to cheer them and clap them and get pleasure out of doing so.

And that is all to the good. In this unsettled world there are not many occasions on which the public as a whole can get out and cheer, and really mean it.

Canada could not have a nicer couple as guests than Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The next month is not going to be easy for them. This trip has been described as an informal one, but royalty knows no informality and almost every minute of the tour has been accounted for in a most minute program.

And there is always the shadow of the King's illness hovering over the visit, for although His Majesty is well on the road to recovery he is still far from being a well man.

It will be comforting to the Princess to know that she can really feel at home during her stay among Canadians. And there can be no doubt that Canadians are going to make her feel that way.

LABOR'S DEFEATISM

Dismal defeatism has fastened itself on the ruling British Labor Party. Meeting at Scarborough, England, in an annual conference which actually is a pre-election rally, party leaders had only this cheerless prospect to offer voters:

"As bad as things are in Britain today, they were worse under the old Conservative government and will become so again if Labor loses the Oct. 25 election."

What stirring campaign material this is! After six short years in power, the governing party presents itself to the electorate as merely the lesser of two evils.

This mood of despair confirms the oft-heard report that Britain's Laborites have found the governing chore a grueling, wearisome task, and that many would be only too happy to throw the burden to the Conservatives.

Such an attitude has a deeper significance than a simple wish to let the Conservatives take the blame for bad times so the Laborites can pick up the ball again when things get better.

It reveals the essential barrenness of the socialist philosophy of government. The Labor Party's commanding clique is a group without hope. In barely more than half a decade, a party founded on idealistic concepts of co-operation and public ownership and human welfare has run out of steam.

No sane person would suggest that any British government ruling in the postwar turmoil would not have had serious troubles. But the reign of the Laborites has laid bare a fundamental weakness in their outlook on life.

They do not speak the language of growth, of creation of new things. They speak always of sharing the old, of restricting, of preserving what now exists.

In a world of more and more people, who seek with increasing energy to gain for themselves more and more of the substance of life, British Labor's principles are no shining beacon into the future.

Nor is there any more promise in the radical Bevan wing of the party, now temporarily back in the fold for campaign purposes. Aneurin Bevan merely wants to de-emphasize rearmament so the party may get on with its faltering program of nationalizing industry and spreading existing production thinner. He would like this experiment conducted in purest isolation from troublesome world currents.

Labor's leaders themselves are forecasting their defeat by a margin of from 30 to 110 seats in Parliament. In acknowledging the current trend of popular sentiment against them, they are conceding the gray futility of a political outlook that ignores the need for expansion, for progress to higher levels, for a buoyant climate of hope.

NEW URANIUM SOURCES PROMISE UNLIMITED A-BOMB PRODUCTION

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Only half of Connecticut Senator Brien McMahon's latest big idea got much attention. This was the part that proposed mass production of new atomic weapons at a cost of $8 billion a year.

The part that got lost was the Senator's other resolution, calling on all the peoples of the world to unite for a great moral crusade for peace, freedom, and disarmament in all conventional, biological, chemical, atomic and hydrogen armaments.

To some cynics, this may appear like talking out of both sides of the mouth at the same time. On the one side it comes out, "Arm to the teeth with new and more deadly weapons." On the other side it comes out, "Let's cut out all armaments and have peace."

Senator McMahon of course likes to toss out these bomb-shell ideas.

As speeches to dramatize the horrors of future atomic wars, if any, the McMahon proposals make good American propaganda. They speak softly of peace, yet wave around quite a big stick. Paradoxically, the Senator offers both his proposals as economies.

It is cheaper to wage atomic warfare than conventional warfare, he argues.

Senator Knows His Subject

There can be no denial that when Senator McMahon talks about atomic warfare, he should know whereof he speaks. As Chairman of the Joint Senate-House committee on atomic energy, he has access to the most highly classified secrets of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense.

He must be listened to and believed when he says, "There is virtually no limit and no limiting factor upon the number of A-bombs which the United States can manufacture, given time and given a decision to proceed all-out."

This statement is supported by previously released information. The supply of uranium ore has been greatly increased since the end of the war. There have been new discoveries in Colorado and New Mexico. There is still a more promising discovery in the Lake Athabaska region of Canada. Uranium is being processed as a by-product of superphosphate fertilizers in Florida and gold mine tailings in South Africa.

The original Hanford and Oak Ridge plants were built to utilize the then-available supplies of uranium ores. The fact that the ore supply has been increased is obvious from the more than doubled capacity of Hanford and Oak Ridge plants plus the new AEC plants at Paducah, Ky., and Aiken, S.C.

There is reason to believe that still further discoveries of uranium deposits will be made. The rules for its occurrence in nature are not yet known. Colorado deposits are in sandstone formations. New Mexico deposits are in limestone.

Many Sources of Fissionable Material

Still another factor to be considered is the possible use of other raw materials. Bombs are made of uranium 235 or plutonium made from uranium 238. Uranium 233 has not been utilized in mass production on a commercial scale. Thorium offers another possible source of fissionable materials as yet untapped.

Two other factors to be taken into consideration are the more efficient use of uranium or plutonium in bombs and the development of "breeder" reactors.

The breeder would generate fissionable material faster than it is consumed in a chain reaction. A breeder reactor has been built at the Arco, Idaho, AEC center. It is now undergoing tests as a reactor.

Greater efficiency in atomic explosives has been demonstrated by the improvement of bombs from Hiroshima to the last Bikini and New Mexico tests. Theoretically, 2.2 pounds of uranium have the explosive power of 40 million pounds of TNT. Assume original bombs were operated at two-tenths of this efficiency or three-tenths of that efficiency. That would mean that the supply of fissionable material would now go two to three times as far, or give more "bang" per pound of explosive.

What all this adds up to is that as the supply of fissionable materials increases, from whatever source, the atomic energy plant can be enlarged to use these supplies. Senator McMahon seems to indicate that the plant can now be sextupled.

OUT OF THE SLUMS

St. John's (Nfld.) News

It may not be generally appreciated that the movement of 665 people out of the worst slum areas in St. John's to new modern housing units in a superior environment is an almost phenomenal achievement.

That is not so much because the physical effort involved was so great or the cost so high, although with out the co-operation of Federal and Provincial governments it could not have been done, but because for once a constructive idea has been determinedly pressed forward in the face of many obstacles.

Now a start has been made and the Council has agreed to order the demolition of many other condemned houses with the promise of the Welfare Department to help in the re-housing of their inhabitants. The slums, in other words, are on their way out. But there is still a long distance to go to remodel St. John's and eliminate them.

DANCE OF THE GRASSES

Merry cricket! How he fiddles! Tireless legs and arms he twiddles. Tall the graceful grasses sway To the tune the insects play: Dip and bow, they dance and twirl In the maddest, gayest swirl. The woodpecker busily strums A rhythmic beat upon the drums. Proudly perched on a green log Plays the bass drum — grampa frog! But most important of them all: Wind! The instrument whose call Sets the pace. At his command All the birds and insect band Sweetly sing and gaily play. Tall the graceful grasses sway — In Nature's lovely roundelay.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

CAN YOU FIGURE OUT THIS EXPERT'S PLAY?

When the American Contract Bridge League held its national championships in Washington a couple of months ago, most of the best players came from far and wide to put in a bid for the coveted top honors. Howard Schenken, of New York, didn't win any events this year, but he made enough sparkling plays to let the assembled experts know that his hand had lost none of its skill. Schenken played the South cards of the hand shown today in the team championships. It was typical of him that he practically apologized for making the right play, while the expert who held the South hand at the other table completely overlooked the play that would cinch the slam contract.

At both tables West opened the ace of spades. Schenken then announced almost apologetically that he would take the safety play. Just for the fun of it, work it out for yourself. What's the right play at the second trick to make sure of the contract? At the second trick, Schenken laid down the ace of hearts. Since East failed to follow suit, Schenken continued by finessing through West's queen. His jack of hearts was covered by West's queen and won by dummy's king. A third round of trumps fell to declarer's ten, and now it was safe to begin on the diamonds. West could ruff whenever he liked, but that was the only trick the defenders could take.

The ace of hearts would be the safe play even if East happened to have all four trumps. (A 4-0 trump break was the only danger.) In that case, Schenken could continue with the jack of hearts to force out the queen. He could ruff a second spade with the eight of hearts, cash the ten of hearts, and enter dummy with a club to draw the last trump with dummy's king. When the hand was played at the other table, South ruffed the first spade and then led the eight of hearts to dummy's king. This play cost him his slam contract. He had to draw trumps to prevent West from ruffing a diamond, but West captured the ten of hearts with the queen and then led with a spade to make South ruff with the jack. This established West's nine of hearts as a second natural trump trick.

The Record Short Story ON THE BUTTON

By LORIMER HAMMOND

"For a change," said Detective Tom Noon, of the Homicide Squad, "maybe a little luck is coming our way. Look at this." He handed a mimeographed sheet of paper to Detective Campano. The sheet was a police report recording the arrest of some organized shoplifters who had been filching thousands of dollars' worth of expensive tailored garments from the big retail stores.

Campano seemed unimpressed. He said, "I don't see where it makes any difference to us. We are trying to find out who killed the shoplifters. How could a shoplift pinch fit in here?" Tom's round-chinned countenance took on an expression of patient good-nature. "It's just a cockeyed angle of mine," he admitted. "I have the pipe dream. You keep them down to us. That's why the chief teams us together."

Tall and angular, ruggedly handsome, Campano scowled and said, "Okay. Start dreaming. This Barry case is so tough it is a nightmare anyhow."

Several weeks had elapsed since the brothers Carl and Vernon Barry were shot to death side by side at their adjoining desks in the office of the travel agency which they conducted as business partners. They often worked late hours, long after their employees had gone home, and the medical examiner fixed the time as having been perpetrated not earlier than 2 or 3 a.m. Neither the watchman nor any of the cleaning staff had seen or heard anything suspicious. The office was on the ground floor, so the elevator man was not involved. The bodies were found in the morning by the stenographer, Winifred Hopkins, when she opened the agency for the day.

She had a verified alibi covering the hours of the crime. So did the office boy, Morris Parker. So did Albert Landerson, the booking clerk. These three seemed completely respectable, and the Barry brothers employed no other help. "Not a shoplifter among 'em," Campano remarked.

Tom Noon grinned at the sarcasm. "Right," he said. "If this is an inside case, it may go deeper in."

Carl and Vernon Barry were dealers in cut-rate tickets for travel by boat, railroad and unchartered aircraft. They also traded in moderate amounts of foreign money. No attempt had been made to force open their safe or their cash box, although they had about $3,000 on hand. Robbery did not appear to be the motive behind the double murder. On an office table, Tom and Campano laid out the contents of the desks used by the brothers.

"Typical lot of trash," Campano commented. "Check: stubs . . . old bank statements . . . scribbled memorandums (we've read all them) . . . couple of fountain pens on the blink . . . couple of busted cigars . . . paper clips . . . buttons . . ."

"None," said Tom. Not buttons. Just one button. One fancy button. Let's take it with us and go places."

They went to a wholesaler of garment-trade sundries. The wholesaler appraised the button, saying, "Genuine imported staghorn. Very exclusive. Only used for sportsmen's overcoats $150 and up." He listed the retail stores where such coats were stocked. His list named the stores that had been shoplifted.

A store manager gave Tom and Campano a description of the coat from which the button came. At the jail on Centre Street, Tom and Campano confronted the sharp characters who had been caught shoplifting. Terrified of complicity in a murder charge, these characters softened their sharp edges in a hurry. The one who had sold the coat was soon persuaded to remember many interesting details about the personality of the purchaser—including the location of his hideaway.

It was a tranquil apartment on the top floor of a towering hotel, far above the plebeian noises of the city. Campano opened the door with a passkey. Pistols in hand, he and Tom tiptoed in. The front room evidenced no sign of life, but from the bedroom issued a whisper of gentle snoring.

The man in the bed had on striped pajamas of the richest French silk. Wardrobe closets were packed with elegant apparel.

Campano and Tom looked at each other. "Well, they couldn't scare Quiet Lee. The gold was paying him too much profit. The night of the murder, they had a showdown with him at their place after office hours. He threatened them and they beat him up. In the fight, Lee's imported overcoat lost a button. Afterward one of the Barry brothers picked up the button and put it in a desk drawer. Later that night Lee came back with a gun. His gun had a silencer."

"He walked in and shot both the Barry brothers, making a quiet job of it, in his customary style. If Campano and I hadn't found the button, Lee would be quietly arranging to sneak gold abroad through some other agency. But like most of the real dress crooks, he bought his fine clothes from professional shoplifters."

"And shoplifters don't keep quiet under pressure. When you squeeze them they squeal. Campano and I squeezed the one who sold the stolen coat to Lee. Our shoplifter let us know where Lee was hiding out, and sure enough we found him sleeping nice and quiet, full of brandy. Yes, sir, Campano and I are bringing him in the right way."

With Quiet Lee cooling his heels in a quiet cell, Tom and Campano sauntered from the 10th Precinct station to enjoy a cool glass at Burn's quiet chophouse on Seventh Avenue. Campano said to Tom, "You're some dreamer. Your pipe dream certainly cracked this case — popped it square on the button."

Trail Riders Pay Visit To Knowlton Area

By GLEN BROWN

Knowlton, Oct. 9.—Led by President Lucien Bergeron and his executive, the Laurentian Trail Riders Association moved in to Brome County 30 strong to spend a delightful three days, riding the byways, and viewing the scenery, from the vantage point of their favourite horse's back. This get together was the first of its kind in this area. The trail riders were high in their praises of the trails, scenery and hospitality, and many voiced the opinion that a repeat must take place in the coming year.

The program for the three-day ride was planned by Jack Rudel and Russell Call, directors and past presidents of the association. The horses were stabled at the Brome Fair Grounds under the protective eye of George Rogerson assisted by Dave Sadler. All the riders from outside points put up at the Knowlton Golf Club and used this club as their base of operations. Lunches on the road were put up at the golf club, and transported to trail meeting places by Leopold St. Aubin's chuck wagon, under the expert supervision of "Fatty" Dupont, who, by the way, is an institution with the trail riders since their inception in 1939 he has followed them over hill and down dale with the most luscious estates possible.

On Tuesday night and Wednesday morning all horse roads led to Knowlton. Such outstanding Internationalists as Mr. and Mrs. Gene Timmons, Mayor of Malone, New York State, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Irwin of New York City, Herman Zorn, Huguenot, New York, president of the Riders' Association, and Leopold St. Aubin of St. Lambert, arrived at the head of the contingent. Mr. Timmons arrived fresh from the Green Mountain Trail ride with his Albino mare and his lovely Morgan saddle horse. Harold Hadd of Enosburg Falls and his Falomino, Mrs. W. G. Dodge her horse Robin, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shemilt of Knowlton their well known First Light, Harkway and Calamity Jane. The sight of these outstanding horses was very inspiring, a real galaxy of equine stardom.

To start the ride rolling Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rudel served a buffet lunch at the Knowlton Hotel. From there they rode through Bolton Knowlton. From Mr. Rudel's, the party headed through the Lost Nation's area, cut south through to the Sutton area, and back to Brome. This trail ride covered about fourteen miles and was just a mild workout for the next day's activities.

On Thursday the riders left Brome early headed north-east through the Marquis de Cardillac's property, explored West Bolton as far as the Brill Church, headed east to St. Etienne and south to the crest of Foster's Mountain. There they lunched with the chuck wagon in attendance. From there they rode through Bolton Glen, across the Fred Arthur's and thence to Brome.

To relieve the outdoors life, Mrs. J. G. Johnson gave an after-dinner party, with Doc Charlie Baker in his element as master of ceremonies. Everyone had a fine time and they were off early to bed to be ready for Friday's ride.

On Friday everyone started late and a short ride was offered through the Mills to West Brome. On arrival there general Bert Ryan took over completely with a fine lunch, and a tour of inspection of the famous Ryan layout. From West Brome they doubled back to Jackson's Pool and then to the Brome County Agricultural Society stables. Friday night saw all the folks and their friends dancing at the Golf club with the square dance very much in vogue.

Saturday saw the round up of riding with a visit to East Hill, across to Knowlton Hill stone school house, Tibbitts Hill, Bondville, Owens Corner and back to Brome again.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Gene Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Irwin, Harold Hadd, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shemilt, acien Bergeron Montreal, Herman Zorn, Miss Peggy Malin of Montreal, Mrs. W. G. Dodge, Mrs. J. H. Stewart, Paul Dandurand, Adrien Martin, Stewart Tatt, Armand Laframboise, Miss Colleen Cahoon, all of Montreal, Fred Stoessel, Beau-repaire, Dr. Thibaudeau, St. Eustache, Leopold St. Aubin, St. Lambert, Kenneth Harrison, St. Agnes, Misses Carol and Nancy Hirst, Knowlton, Mrs. C. Martineau, St. Lambert, Miss Dorothy Newcombe instructress for the Cart and Canter Club, Knowlton, Mrs. C. Carter Chateaugay, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, Knowlton, Messrs. CP Directors Condemn Oatis Imprisonment

Quebec, Oct. 10.—(CP)—Czechoslovakia's imprisonment of Associated Press correspondent William M. Oatis was termed yesterday by CP directors as a "grievous encroachment" on the principle and practice of news freedom.

Directors of The Canadian Press, Canada's co-operative news association, at their semi-annual meeting today passed a resolution condemning without reservation "the tyrannical action of the Czechoslovakian authorities" and urged that efforts be continued to bring about release and reinstatement of a newspaper man "whose only offence was to exercise the news-gathering zeal which liberty-loving newspapers have a right to expect from their representatives."

The resolution was moved by D. B. Rogers of the Regina Leader-Post and seconded by Charles H. Peters of the Montreal Gazette.

Oatis was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment on spy charges. The CP resolution noted that there was no evidence to indicate he was engaged in any activities except news-gathering, and stated that assurances of the Associated Press in this regard are fully accepted.

Text of the resolution: "That in the opinion of the board of directors of The Canadian Press, the arrest and conviction of associated press correspondent William M. Oatis on charges of operating as a spy in Czechoslovakia constitutes a principle and practice of news freedom.

On the basis of the evidence made public, this board believes there is nothing whatever to indicate that Oatis was engaged in activities otherwise than completely normal in the carrying out of his duties as a foreign correspondent. The assurances of the Associated Press to this effect are fully accepted.

"The board accordingly condemns without reservation the tyrannical action of the Czechoslovakian authorities and urges that efforts be continued to bring about the release and reinstatement of a newspaper man whose only offence was to exercise the news-gathering zeal which liberty-loving newspapers have a right to expect from their representatives.

It is further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the general manager of the Associated Press and the Canadian department of external affairs."

The board, under the presidency of Herve Major, news editor of Montreal La Presse, discussed CP affairs including the new service in French Canada, as outlined by general manager Gillis Purcell.

were something more than the usual honor guard. In a sense they formed a fashion parade.

All airmen in the guard command, by Ft. Lt. Paul J. Roy, D.C.F., were wearing the new style uniform. It was being worn for the first time in the R.C.A.F. The uniform is cut from Baratheba material.

One of the most noticeable features was the padding in the shoulders, which gave the uniform much more of a tailored look.

Dorval, Que., Oct. 9.—(CP)—Montreal women who went out to see Princess Elizabeth are as smart as the weatherman.

When they arrived at the airport to await the royal couple in a gray drizzle they wore dark rain coats or transparent plastic capes and helmets.

There wasn't a sign of finery you'd expect to see on such an exciting occasion. But when the sun suddenly broke through the clouds about 11 o'clock the airport became a giant fashion show.

Under that same dull-looking rainwear was Sunday dress. High-leathered hats appeared. There were soft fur capes, brightly-colored dresses, velvet suits and un-gainly rubbers or overshoes had disappeared too. It seemed nearly every woman took a chance on wearing her best pumps or sandals regardless of the wet roads.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—(CP)—The Gazette says today in a newspaper story that a communist plot to throw firecrackers into the path of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip shortly after their arrival here from Britain was foiled by police.

The paper says that the plot, foiled by a combined operation of the anti-subversive squads of federal, provincial and city police squads, was designed to break up the official welcoming ceremony.

It was similar, the paper says, to the disturbance a few weeks ago in Ottawa at opening of the Atlantic pact meetings.

The story added police had searched hundreds of known communists as they left their homes to go to the airport and that the plot was part of a general program worked out by the communists in Quebec and Ontario to embarrass officials.

In Ottawa, R.C.M.P. commissioner L. H. Nicholson said no report of an incident of this nature had been made to him.

Quebec, Oct. 9.—(CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will attend a benefit concert given by the Quebec symphony orchestra tonight and the women's committee of Canada's oldest symphonic organization is pretty proud about it.

The reason is that the orchestra's board of directors looked upon the idea as a bit of luncheon on the part of the ladies' organization, formed two years ago to give a helping hand to the men in financing the orchestra's expenses.

But the ladies remembered that once before British royalty attended a concert by the symphony. They made their request to the provincial officials and their suggestion was accepted when it was considered that this would mark the 50th anniversary of the group.

A fashion show of dress styles in the last half-century will be held at the concert in an upper town motion picture theatre.

In 1907, it was the then Prince of Wales, later King George V, who attended a concert during tercentenary celebrations of Quebec city.

The symphony was founded in 1902 to help mark the 50th anniversary of Laval University.

Quebec, Oct. 9.—(CP)—Richelieu Clubs, an organization of French-speaking Roman Catholic business men, last night asked Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fautoux of Quebec to present on their behalf a silver jewel-case to Princess Elizabeth, visiting here today.

The organization, concluding its 4th annual convention, also forwarded through Mr. Fautoux, a parchment explaining to the Princess the aims of Richelieu clubs.

A service organization, Richelieu clubs do work for underprivileged children.

The request to Mr. Fautoux was made when the Lieutenant-Governor recalled the history of Bois de Coulonge, his official residence, in a speech at the convention's closing banquet.

Dorval, Que., Oct. 9.—(CP)—The King is going to follow the Royal tour on a special map sent over to London by Canadian officials.

It is the same sort of detailed map provided Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh for the Royal train, with every stop especially marked and the day-by-day progress charted.

The Princess, on arrival, said her father is taking the greatest interest in the tour and intends to follow it day by day.

London, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will take "bread-and-butter" gifts along with them when they visit President Truman in Washington.

Prince and Princess

The Royal couple drove past in an open car. The Prince waved. From time to time he leaned over to speak to her as they left lower-town.

Meanwhile, under skies that remained grey, crowds started to assemble along a three-mile route laid out for the Princess and the Duke.

Troops led by bands marched to points where they took up guard duty along the route.

Immediate after greeting the Royal couple at the dockside, Premier Duplessis hustled away to be on hand at the Legislature buildings to meet the couple there and present members of his Cabinet.

Lieutenant-Governor Fautoux remained with the motor parade that carried the Royal visitors up from Wolfe's Cove, across the Plains of Abraham and along Grande Allee toward the city gates.

While the crowd at the Wolfe's Cove arrival point — two miles from the heart of the city — was thin, people crammed places such as the Commons, the Legislature grounds when the Royal couple arrived for their welcome there.

Under golden maple trees the Royal couple and their police escort drove before the Legislature through a guard of some 200 nurses in uniform.

They entered the 80-year-old Legislature buildings passing under a deep blue awning decorated with silver fleur-de-lis and were met by Premier Duplessis.

A crowd of about 4,000 packed around the Legislature entrance to glimpse the Royal couple.

The Premier, in morning clothes, escorted the Princess into the red-decorated Legislative Council chamber.

The Duke walked slowly behind. After the Royal couple signed the province's golden book, the first of several in which they will enter their names today, Premier Duplessis presented members of the Legislative Council, their wives and other provincial dignitaries.

The Princess smiled and appeared at ease as she greeted the legislators. The Duke chatted in a friendly way.

The ceremony lasted but a few minutes and the Royal couple left the Legislature buildings and arrived at Laval University about 12 minutes ahead of their schedule.

There they were greeted by Msgr. Maurice Roy, Quebec's Roman Catholic Archbishop. Most Rev. Philip Brindley, Quebec's Anglican Archbishop, and Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval.

Msgr. Vandry in a brief address of welcome in French told the Princess and her husband the university authorities were "very happy" to receive their visit.

The University rector showed the Princess Laval's charter, signed by Queen Victoria in 1862.

Still ahead of their schedule, the Royal couple was driven over the old cobblestones and across the university courtyard up a hill and just across a square to city hall for the third golden book ceremony.

The Princess and the Duke disappeared under another awning into city hall where they spent five minutes meeting Mayor Borne and other city officials and their wives.

Jews Observe Yom Kippur

Coming 10 days after the beginning of their New Year 5712, Sherbrooke's Jewish community is preparing for the observance on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. It begins a half hour before sundown tonight and concludes after sunset Wednesday.

The most sacred day in the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur climaxes the Ten Day of Penitence, now in progress, which began with Rosh Hashanah. Yom Kippur calls for all Jews to observe a strict fast to abstain from all worldly pursuits. Services are scheduled in the synagogue, which will also be open for private prayer.

Confession and atonement of sins constitute the principal motif of the Yom Kippur services' liturgy. Yizkor, the memorial service for departed relatives, soldiers and Jewish martyrs is held just prior to afternoon prayers. Another impressive service is the Avodah, which describes the manner in which atonement was observed by the priests and people in the ancient Temple of Jerusalem.

Toward nightfall on Wednesday the Neilah, a solemn closing service, will be chanted by cantors and congregations. Then the Shofar, or ram's horn, sounds and Yom Kippur is officially over.

Traditionally a festival of hope and encouragement for the Jewish faithful, Yom Kippur affords Jews an opportunity to contemplate its message of forgiveness and the ultimate goodness and unlimited potentiality of man.

1,060 Bottles of Blood Given At Clinic Here

The most successful clinic in Red Cross Blood Donor work locally came to a close Friday night at the William Street Armory, after 293 persons had given blood during the day, to swell the 3-day total to 1,060 bottles, highest in Sherbrooke history.

While Red Cross officials are highly satisfied with this total, the next clinic here will have to raise 1,129 bottles when it returns in the Spring, in order to make up the objective set for Sherbrooke in a 12-month period.

The objective is 2,189 bottles—the exact amount which local hospitals used during 1950, when blood from Montreal had to be shipped here after the Sherbrooke supply ran out.

If citizens will keep this in mind and turn out in force the next time, to meet the balance of the quota, the Red Cross will not have to return here for a third clinic within a year.

Magog Residents Observe Fire Prevention Week

How To Prevent Fires In Home

More than half the fires and most deaths from fire occur in homes. Practically all can be prevented by heeding these simple rules:

Smoking—Do not smoke in bed, in the attic, closets and garage. Matches—Keep out of children's hands. Place used matches in incombustible trays. Keep "strike anywhere" matches in closed metal boxes. "Safety" matches are safest. Extinguish smokes and matches before discarding. Be sure they are cold.

Trash and rubbish—Keep cleaned out, especially in basement, attic and closets. Burn safely and never on windy days. Use rubbish burners in built-up areas. Watch fires till out.

Flues and heating plants—Have them cleaned, examined and repaired if necessary once a year. Protect exposed woodwork with incombustible shields or mats. Do not pass stovepipes through ceilings, roofs or wooden partitions. Never overheat.

Flue stops—Use metal kind. Do not paper over flue holes or stuff with rags.

Ashes—Use only metal receptacles. Do not dump hot ashes against anything which can burn. Gasoline, benzine, naphtha—Do not store or use on home premises. It's dynamite.

Kerosene—Do not use to start a fire. Flash-backs and explosions kill and maim scores yearly.

Electricity—Have an expert do all electrical work and repairs. Do not use lamp cord for circuit extensions or hang it over nails.

Electric fuses—Use 15 ampere fuses for ordinary circuits. Never plug blown fuses with pennies nor replace with oversize fuses.

Electric irons—Always disconnect current before leaving them. Gas tubing—Replace with rigid pipe.

Gas plates—Protect underneath with asbestos covered with metal. Open lights, lamps—Do not have near curtains or combustible material.

Decorations—Do not place flimsy or combustible decorations over electric light globes or near open lights or heaters.

Oil mops, oily rags—Keep mop in closed metal can. Destroy rags. They ignite spontaneously.

Remember—A careful person seldom has a fire; a clean, orderly place seldom burns.

MAGOG CHIEF

TELESPHORE LAVOIE, police and fire chief of Magog, this city, like others from coast to coast, is observing fire prevention week and inspection of homes and industrial plants, plus special fire prevention programs for the schools, are being carried out.

Minister Proves Dietary Theory, Laughs At Pills

Toronto—Rev. F. A. Robinson, former member of the social service department of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, says he has found a method of eating his troubles away.

Twenty years ago he suffered from arthritis, psoriasis, deafness and duodenal ulcer. Then he discovered a health foundation in the United States, which introduced him to a special course in eating. Having already undergone eight operations, listened to the advice of 21 specialists, had his tonsils and 10 teeth removed he felt he might as well give the dietary experts a chance. Now, at the age of 78, he is healthy and full of life.

The food theories he came to accept are not so much concerned with what a person eats as the combinations in which they are eaten. For instance, he says, starches do not combine well with each other. Neither do such protein foods as meat, fish, cheese, eggs, milk and nuts, and, too, proteins don't adjust well with starches. This last strike a blow at the old meat and potato combination.

He recommends natural sweets, brown sugar, dates, figs, maple syrup, and raisins which, in his opinion, combine well with other foods but should not be taken in too large quantities because they are highly concentrated. The same applies to fats and oils.

All vegetables and sour fruits combine well but sweet fruits, such as dates and figs, should not be eaten with acid fruits, he says.

What does this sort of diet leave the health-minded individual? Rev. Robinson quotes the breakfast he favors:

The juice of three oranges mixed with a pint of cereal cream. For extra pep, a raw egg or two, two or three times a week.

He skips lunch five times a week and when he eats it, he has a salad.

For dinner he has "solid food" something in the protein group, but often goes two or three days without meat, using nuts instead.

Every day he has a salad of uncooked vegetables of which he regards celery as the most valuable.

German Youth Are Taught Democracy

By DON DOANE
Frankfurt.—The United States army's German Youth Activities program has reached 500,000 German youngsters with play-taught lessons in democracy.

The Americans who sponsor the program are convinced it has reached many German adults too.

"There are signs of growing interest among adult Germans in organized democratic activities for their youth," said Mrs. Joutett Shouse of Washington, D.C., after a tour of G.Y.A. centres.

Mrs. Shouse is head of the General youth activities.

"Voluntary contributions by Germans are steadily increasing," Mrs. Shouse said.

In the program's infancy some Germans were suspicious the Americans were trying to "Americanize" their youngsters.

"But this suspicion has steadily faded," said Lt.-Col. Robert Norman, who oversees the program.

"We found a simple cure. We simply invited the parents into our centres to see for themselves we are just trying to teach them democracy."

When the American occupation goes it will take with it many of the things that have made the program possible—including funds.

Already the program has taken a severe financial rap. The U.S. high commission donates 4,600,000 marks ($1,094,800) a year. The U.S. army used to contribute nearly as much by providing buildings and equipment.

The army this year dropped the aid because of German complaints about high occupation costs.

This forced closing of 121 out of the 247 community centres.

But out of the money crisis grew the most hopeful sign for the future. Germans stepped in and took over 58 of the abandoned centres themselves and continued to operate them.

"You can tell immigrants about democracy, but they must see it in action and believe it before they will accept it," was another important statement in a fine and interesting talk.

"I have come to believe that there is a genuine nervous shock in changing cultures. No matter how good our culture may be, it is different from that of many of our immigrants, and it does take time to understand it and to get used to it. These differences in culture are important to us. Canada and the United States are made up of people from many different countries with different ideas behind them, and this difference is very important to us. We need the leavening power of these differences, and these people can make a very real contribution to us. They may and do have many things to learn from us, but we can learn from them as well, and what we learn may be very valuable to our country."

"I believe that we should try to integrate our immigrants rather than to assimilate them," continued Miss Hayward. "People of different countries have the right to preserve many of their customs and ideas; a democracy is made up of people who do not always agree on everything. We should try and help these people understand us, and we certainly should try to understand them."

Miss Hayward told of the work of her department of the Canadian government in assisting voluntary organizations engaged in helping immigrants become Canadian citizens, and stressed the fact that work continues toward helping those at present citizens to become better ones.

The president of the school, E. J. Struthers, presided at the public assembly, and the speaker was introduced by Rev. Frank Stanton, Mrs. A. Arkin of Newport, Vt., thanked the speaker, and said that the advice given and remarks made applied just as well to the United States as to Canada.

There was a very large attendance at the school, nearly all the classes being filled, and movies preceded the speaking.

Local Stores Made Feature Windows On Fire Prevention This Week-End

Fire Prevention Week began in Sherbrooke Sunday and already a great many store owners have become aware of this.

During last week, the local Fire Department carried out an inspection of all stores in this city. "So far," says Fire Director W. P. Donahue, "everything seems to be in first-class shape and we are, indeed, satisfied on the good house-keeping of local stores."

All schools in the city and public buildings will be inspected this week and the following week hotels, theatres and hospitals, with manufacturing plants and other industries set for the final week.

The inspection is being carried out by off-duty firemen who work these extra hours without remuneration. "Without their help we could not carry out this vital job," Mr. Donahue states.

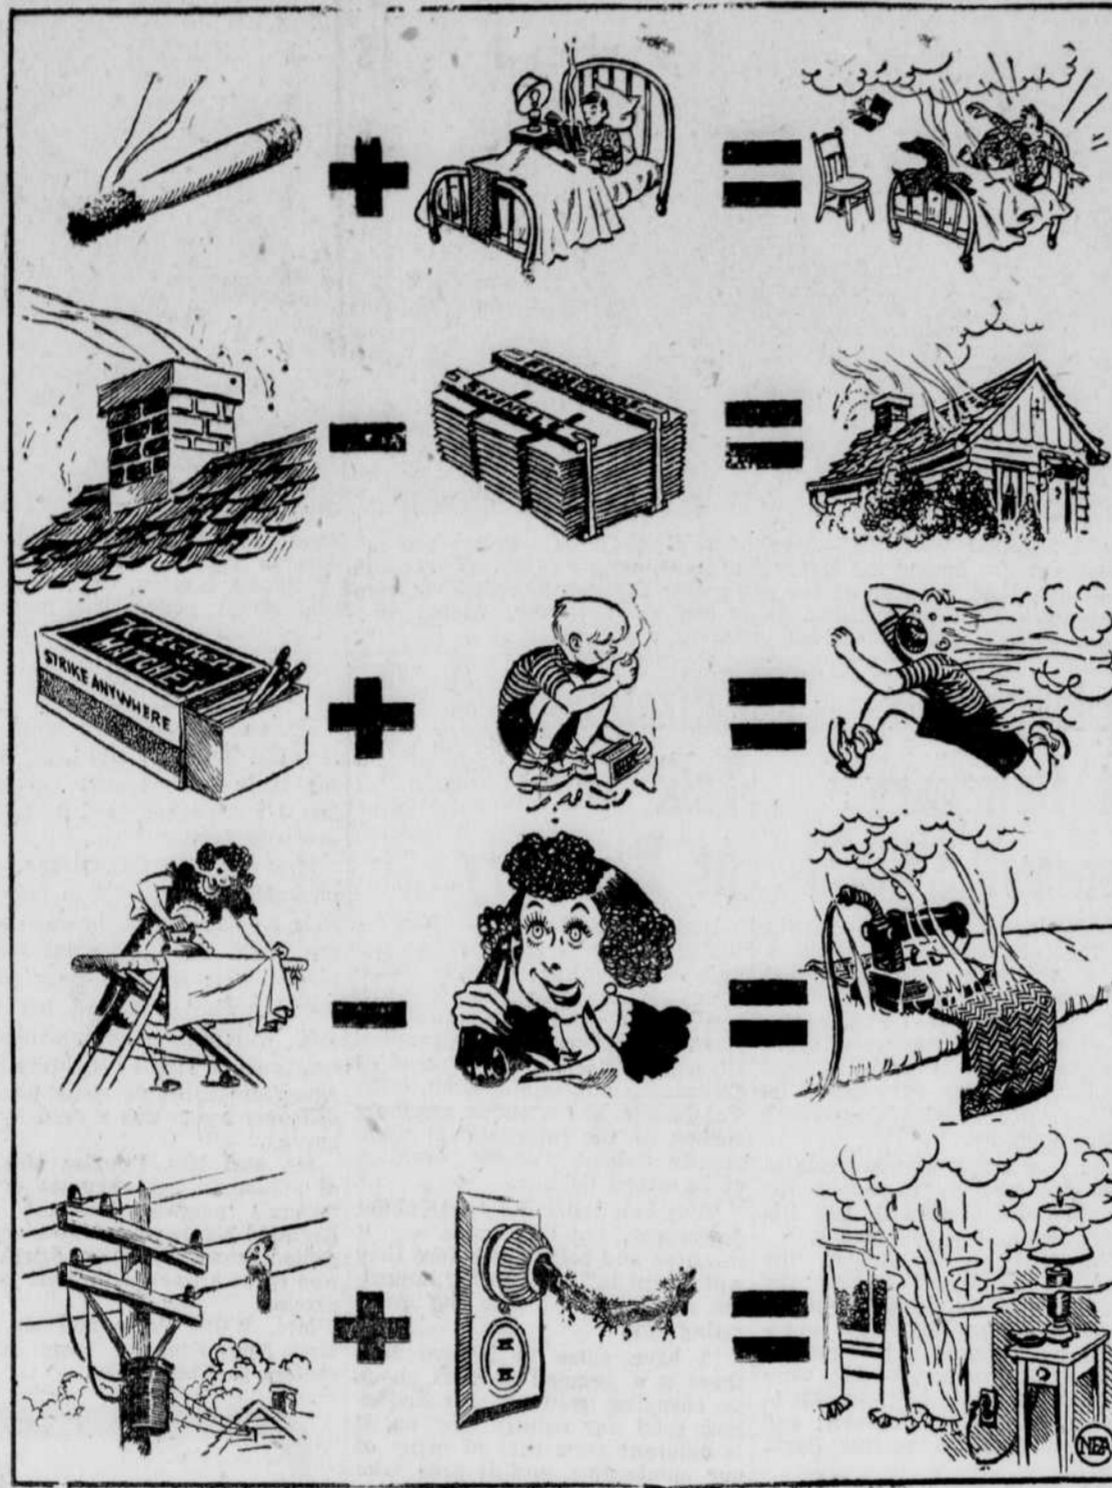

The firemen are assisted in their work by a civilian fire prevention committee.

Last year, the local Fire Department copped both the Dominion and Provincial trophies in the fire prevention field.

They hope to repeat this feat in 1951 but in order to do so they must receive the co-operation of all citizens.

It was not only the tip-top condition of various city buildings which won the local brigade all the honors last year. It was additional features in their report such

Fire Safety Arithmetic: Add Precautions, Subtract Risks

Fires, which annually take a terrible toll of lives and property, can almost always be explained by simple addition or subtraction. In two of the illustrations above, proper precautions and watchfulness were removed from the presence of fire hazards. Carelessness and negligence were added to three other situations with the same result—tragedy. National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7 to 14, is your cue to rid the home of the mathematical ingredients of fire, a terrible sum that can be avoided with simple safety measures.

EAST ANGUS

The September meeting of the Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Nickerson, with Mrs. Roy Cillis and Mrs. Vipond, as joint hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Gordon Sims was in the chair. Minutes of feet wide, 265 feet high—about 100 feet higher than Niagara Falls.

On returning to the city, they visited the Parliament Buildings again, this time going to the richly furnished chambers where the Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council (only upper house among Canada's ten provinces) meet. On the walls and ceiling of the chambers of the Council and the Assembly are huge paintings, depicting historic scenes and figures. Statues of important historic personages are set in niches in the main facade. A memorial fountain, monuments and beautifully landscaped grounds make a fitting setting for this stately building which dates back to 1878.

The ladies at the close of the day bade adieu to Mr. Wood, their excellent guide, and to the city itself. Reaching home after brief stops in Thetford Mines and Disraeli, the ladies all declared it was the end of a perfect day.

Scotstown Ladies Visit Ancient Capital By Bus

Scotstown, Oct. 9. — Thirty-four ladies, most of them members of the W.I. boarded a special bus at the Scotstown Hotel recently on a clear, cool morning, ideal for sight-seeing and for enjoying the beautiful panorama of variegated autumn foliage against the contrast of dark green fir trees.

Going by way of Gould, they followed route 1 to Quebec where, at the Parliament Buildings, they were met by Mr. Cormier, who welcomed them to the city in the name of the Hon. C. D. French, whose guests they were to be for the day. He introduced Mr. Wood, of the Department of Education, a former school principal in Sawyerville, whose excellent services had been provided as a guide for the tour of the city. His pleasant manner, familiarity with the city and all its historical points of interest made the day an especially pleasant one and made the history of our ancient capital more real to each one.

After a brief visit to the Handicraft and Painting display at the Parliament Buildings they boarded the bus once more to tour the Plains of Abraham and see the cove where Wolfe landed, the path by which his men climbed to the Plains, the approximate places where the two armies drew up their lines for the historic battle and the monuments erected to Wolfe and Montcalm, the noble leaders of each army. On the way Mr. Wood called attention to the old cannon retrieved from English and French vessels engaged on the river and Gulf of St. Lawrence. Many of these are set up opposite and alongside Earl Grey Terrace, named in honor of the former governor-general, who held office from 1904-1911 and who was the originator of the Plains of Abraham Battlefields Park undertaking. From this terrace one has an excellent view of the river and the C.P.R. docks. The men and trucks appear like mere toys from such a height.

Time permitted only a very brief visit to the Museum but the models built to scale and enclosed as the reports of school children and local organizations on fire prevention conditions which helped.

The local Fire Department has a fine record. Besides winning all the honors in 1950, they have trophies showing that they won the Provincial competition in both 1943 and 1949.

Last week-end, city stores featured fire prevention window displays and these will be judged by a committee, the winning store to have the honor of showing all the cups won by the local firemen, including the ones for 1951, if everybody co-operates and makes this possible.

But, should the Sherbrooke firemen not repeat their previous triumphs, there will still be enough trophies for the winning store to display.

Length of time the store carries its fire prevention window, or windows, will count in the final judging.

ed in glass cases of Champlain's house, the first Parliament Buildings as well as several other historical houses of the early days, the excellent collection of mounted animals, birds and fish made many of the visitors determine to return at some future date and take more time to enjoy these collections.

From Cape Diamond beside the citadel, the ferry could be seen going over to Levis while another was just leaving Levis to cross to Quebec.

Stemming from the fort are two miles of walls around the old city. Three picturesque gates—Saint-Louis, Kent and Saint-Jean—still pierce the fortifications. In Lower Town a brief visit was paid to what is commonly called the sailor's church, Notre Dame des Victoires. The cornerstone for this church was laid in 1688 by Governor Denonville. It was damaged during the siege of 1759 but rebuilt with the same walls in 1765. Since that time it has been restored several times, the last time being in 1929. A visit to Lower Town would not be complete without seeing the narrowest street in the Old City—Sous le Cap. Leaving the bus, the ladies walked along, noticing the very old houses and followed all the way by a group of little French children singing little "begging" songs. Knowing this group to be tourists, they mistook them for the affluent American tourists who often shower handfuls of silver on the street just to hear their songs.

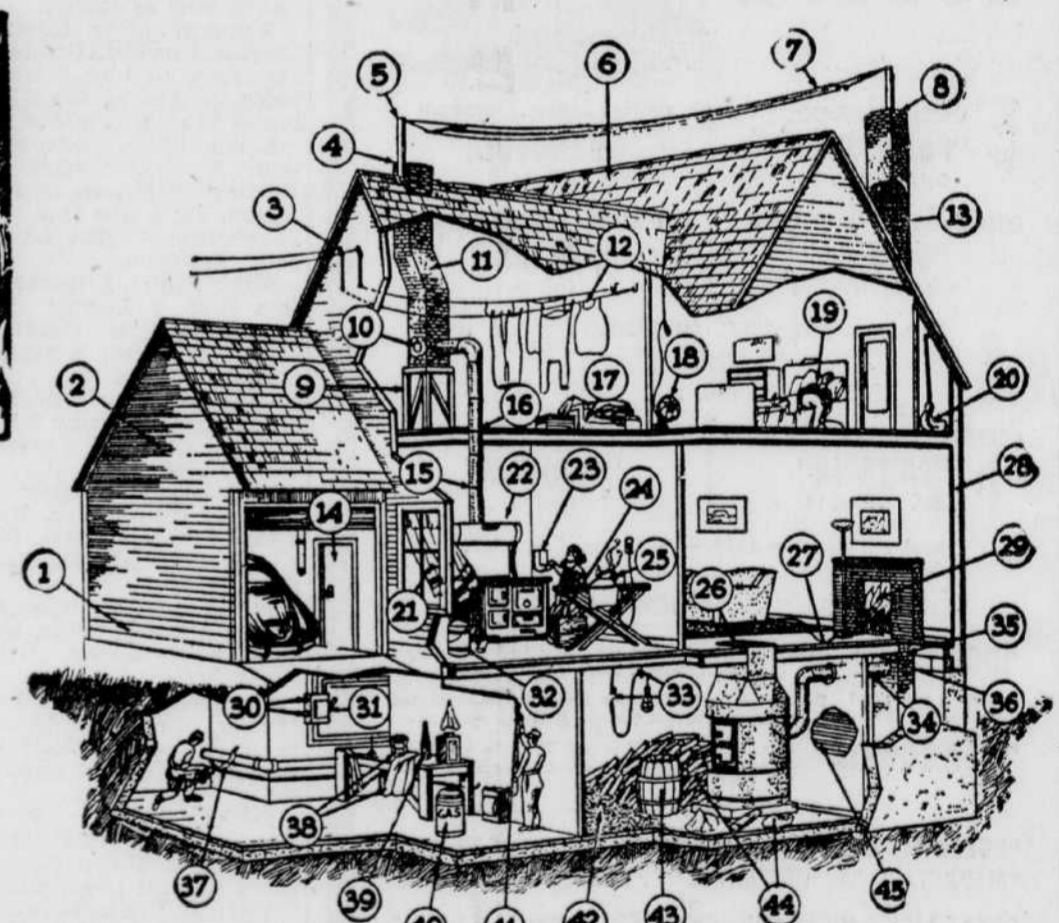

They boarded the bus again to go to the Chateau Frontenac where they were welcomed by the Hon. C. D. French himself and invited to be his guests for lunch. A delightful luncheon was served in one of the private dining-rooms where the tables were decorated with gladioli. The ladies expressed their deep appreciation to Mr. French who in his usual gracious manner assured them it was a pleasure to him, and the ladies once more were put in care of Mr. Wood.

Before going out to Dufferin Terrace for the excellent view of the river with the Isle of Orleans to the left, a short time was spent in the souvenir shop at the Chateau.

From there they walked to the English Cathedral erected by His Majesty King George III. It is a replica of St. Martin-in-the-Field in London. The oak for the pews was brought from Windsor Forest and everything necessary for Divine Worship was furnished by its founder. Two persons are buried in the Cathedral, the Duke of Richmond who died in 1819 and was Governor-General of Canada at the time, and Dr. Jacob Mountain, the first Bishop of Quebec. The stained glass windows in this church are exceptionally beautiful. The last member of the Royal family to worship here was the late Duke of Kent, but they hope that Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip will sit in the pews decorated with the royal coat-of-arms, during their early visit to Quebec.

Returning to the bus, the ladies then left for Kent House and Montmorency Falls. Many places of interest were pointed out by Mr. Wood along the way, among them being the court-house where the trial of Albert Guay was held, the new Post-Office, the Union Station, the Basilica, the Ursuline

Convent and many others. After a six-mile trip they reached the beautiful historic landmark "Kent House" which was closed for the season but from the adjoining lookout a magnificent view was had of Montmorency Falls, 150

Alarming Losses Call For Greater Fire Prevention Across Dominion

Written For The Canadian Press By CMDR. C. A. THOMSON
Dominion Fire Commissioner
Ottawa, Oct. 9 — (C) — Fire loss in Canada last year, rising to the highest in history, exacted a grim toll in human life. Much of the suffering, destruction and death could have been prevented. It is up to all Canadians to see that this story is not repeated.

That is the purpose of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 7-13—to teach Canadians to be more careful, to make thorough inspections of basements and attics, to watch for uncleaned stoves and chimneys, faulty electrical wiring, piles of rubbish and oily rags.

Any of these and other hazards may bring the terror of fire to your home. Last year, Canada's loss through fire amounted to more than $90,000,000 in property alone; 420 men, women and children were burned to death and about 1,500 others were injured.

Fire has scarred our history and economy. Year by year, losses are increasing. Whole communities have been laid waste. Many years ago it was Chicago when a cow kicked over a kerosene lamp and set the city on fire. Last year it was Rimouski and Cabano, Que.

During the last 10 years, when the country was attempting to conserve and maintain its national wealth and prosperity fire struck more than 500,000 times, destroying $490,000,000 in property, bringing death to 3,897 persons and injuries to another 15,000.

The Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, has emphasized this in a proclamation on fire prevention week. He has pointed out that humanitarian and economic considerations demand that human life and resources be conserved and prosperity be maintained.

You can help prevent fire. During fire prevention week, fire chiefs and firemen in every community, with the assistance of 110,000 Boy Scouts and Cubs, have undertaken to inspect every dwelling. They will ask you a few simple questions on fire hazards in your home. Answer the questions carefully. Protect your home by making quick changes if hazards are found.

Each year, top cities in Canada and the United States compete against each other for top spots on fire prevention and clean-up reports. Last year 127 Canadian municipalities gained merit awards.

Five of them—Sherbrooke, Hull, Ottawa, Port Alfred and Arvida—were graded 90 per cent and over. Another 42 cities and towns were given a special merit grade of 80 to 90 per cent. The Canadian Chambers of Commerce, boards of trade and Canadian Legion and service clubs are assisting in the organization and operation of fire prevention committees in your community. Help them and help your community get top marks in this critically-important contest.

An analysis of 1950 fires shows that there are certain weaknesses in some Canadian structures which help fire spread. These include

13 Ways Not To Burn Down Your Home

- In conjunction with National Fire Prevention week, October seventh to 13, an illustrated pamphlet has appeared in Sherbrooke entitled "13 Ways Not To Burn Your Home."
- Published by the National Fire Protection Association, offices in Boston, Mass., the booklet gives 13 tips that are timely now and during every other week of the year.
- The tips appeal to common sense, that oft-forgotten faculty. Here they are:
- 1) Send clothes to the cleaners or use non-explosive cleaning fluids.
  - 2) Burn oily rags in the incinerator at once, or keep them in covered metal cans.
  - 3) Have your cigarette BEFORE you go to bed.
  - 4) Use only fire-safe roofing.
  - 5) Keep matches away from small children.
  - 6) Replace frayed electric cords and repair defective electrical equipment.
  - 7) Keep a screen in front of your fireplace and watch the fire.
  - 8) Use only metal barrels for ashes and rubbish.
  - 9) Use paper and kindling, never kerosene.
  - 10) An approved fire extinguisher will provide a knock-out blow for small fires.
  - 11) Keep stoves, furnaces and smokepipes in good repair.
  - 12) Keep portable stoves clean and set them well away from combustibles.
  - 13) Burn rubbish only in an incinerator.

Non-Profit Opera Gets Big Results On A Shoestring

Philadelphia. — Bargain opera, professionally performed, is presented on a shoestring in Philadelphia.

The co-opera company, in its third season, provides high-class musical theatre with neither high-salaried stars or mink-and-diamond audiences. At the same time it trains new singers and dancers. You can almost say it was done for nothing. Certainly a gross expenditure of $3,000 for one season's work isn't extravagant.

Co-opera is non-profit all the way. It produced a number of major productions this year—Puccini's "Tosca," "Gianni Schicchi," and "Il Tabarro," Gian-Carlo Menotti's "The Telephone" and "The Medium," and "Prospice," an original ballet-opera written by Romeo Casarino, co-opera's musical director.

Co-opera is the only complete workshop in the Philadelphia area and, as far as its members know, it's the only subsidized group in the United States.

Operating money, obtained from membership and ticket sales, is turned into costumes, stage settings, materials. Sometimes a member of the audience, impressed, makes a donation—like the lumber-yard owner who donated the wood for one of the shows.

Singers, musicians, carpenters,

School Pupils To Write Essays On Fire Hazards

Children of all local schools are being given the opportunity of helping during Fire Prevention Week and making some pocket money at the same time.

As in previous years $150 has been put up jointly by the Fire Department and the City Council for prizes in a school essay contest, with the best essay from each school to win a prize.

During Fire Prevention week, school children will be visited by firemen and members of the civilian committee who will give them pep talks on fire prevention. School fire drills will be more numerous during the week and special movies on fire prevention will be shown.

The children will be given home inspection blanks to fill out, which should aid greatly in preparing their essays.

ing, lighting, costuming will be as attractive to the public as lighter musical shows," Rudofker says.

"Most of the operas we present are seldom given in Philadelphia. We try to supplement rather than compete with the standard repertoire of the major opera companies."

"We believe that opera presented as lyric theatre with good act-ineffective fire walls, weak outer walls, air conditioning ducts which help transport fire; insufficient water supplies, partial and shut-off sprinkler and poorly-designed and maintained automatic systems; insufficient equipment and manpower in public fire departments and poor fire protection training.

Any Canadian citizen can get pamphlets and other literature to show him the proper handling of approved materials to fight fires. He can get with little or no cost a standard fire code covering the manufacture, storage and operation and handling of materials; a dwelling construction code or a Canadian electrical code merely by going to his fire chief, or the provincial or Dominion fire authority, or his fire insurance company.

If you have any problems, discuss them with your fire chief. He'll give you the kind of advice you need—advice that may prevent suffering and destruction at your doorstep.

Lake Megantic Bible Society Holds Meeting

Lake Megantic, Oct. 8. — The Lake Megantic branch of the Montreal Auxiliarily Bible Society held its annual meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church with a good number of children and adults present.

Mr. De Courcy Raynor was in charge, when the meeting was opened with prayer. Hymns were thrown upon the screen which all enjoyed. The Bible House activities were shown at length. The next picture was from Africa and showed the natives in the home, the school and outside life, also the progressive life of those now becoming developed through our methods. Recitations of such groups were modern, and enjoyed thoroughly.

After the pictures the secretary was called upon for the yearly report, which was accepted as read.

From the three churches the sum of $75 was collected. Three dollars and 25 cents of this was the evening collection.

The officers of last year were unanimously re-elected as follows: President, Mr. John Lavalliere; vice-president, Mr. G. M. Stearns; secretary-treasurer, Miss Katherine Kelly.

During the business meeting it was moved that we stand, and with bowed heads, remember the long period of service and membership (over 50 years) of our late president, John Chisholm, whose name is now on the Honor Roll at the Bible House.

ALLIE REYNOLDS HURLS YANKS TO VICTORY AND KNOTS SERIES

Saints Return Home After Successful Road Trip; Win Four Out Of Six; Providence Reds Here Tomorrow Night

Sherbrooke Saints arrived back in town yesterday afternoon after an eight-day road trip in which they played six games chalking up four wins tying one and dropping the other to Jonquiere Aces.

In their first victory they dropped Grand Mere 8-4 and then hooked with Jonquiere for their only loss of the trip. The Saints loaned Guy Labrie, Sandy Milne and Lucien Gilbert to the Aces and they played a big part in their mates' reversal.

They met the Aces once again and trounced them 8-1 while on Friday evening they took St. Joseph into camp to the tune of 10-2. Saturday night they downed Port Alfred 4-3 and on Sunday afternoon they played a 1-1 draw with St. Joseph for their fourth game within the same number of days.

Gerry McCabe has returned to the club as the official of the day. Tomorrow's game will be the final exhibition game before the opening of the season on Sunday afternoon when the strongly packed Ottawa Senators will be in town. On Saturday night the Saints travel to the Capital City to make their 1951-52 debut.

Playoff Notes

New York, Oct. 9. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio's first hit of the series, a third inning single, brought a sharp round of applause. But the cheers were nothing compared to the ovation on his line drive home run two innings later.

Although the Polo Grounds is noted for its short fences along the foul lines, and DiMaggio's native San Francisco is famed for its Chinatown, there was nothing "Chinese" about the blast. It sailed into the upper left field bleachers not too far to the left of the 360-foot sign. Polo Ground homers often are called "Chinese" because they are but "One Long Hop."

Big Chief Master Of Situation As His Mates Pound Maglie Out Of Tilt; Joe DiMaggio Smashes Out Homer

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Revived by a day of rest, the Yankees came back behind Allie Reynolds' fine pitching yesterday to batter the Giants 6-2 and tie the World Series up at two victories apiece.

Reynolds, knocked from the box in the opener, was a different pitcher yesterday. He limited the National Leaguers to eight hits, three of the doubles by captain Alvin Dark, and was in charge all the way.

Joe DiMaggio, the ageing Clipper, snapped out of his Series slump to hammer a mighty two-run homer into the second deck at the Polo Grounds, hastening the demise of Sal Maglie, Giants' 23-game winner, and giving the crowd of 49,010 its biggest thrill of the one-sided exhibition.

Only once did Reynolds give Bomber fans a few fleeting moments of worry. That was in the ninth chapter when he permitted the first two Giants to reach base and Bobby Thomson singled one of them across with only one away.

That brought up youthful Willie Mays, the Giants' Negro centerfielder, who previously had rapped into two double plays to stifle potential rallies. Willie did it again, and the game was over. Four twin killings ripped off by the Yank infield tied the World Series record.

Maglie, whom Leo Durocher had figured to handuff the American Leaguers and shoot his club into an unbeatable 3-1 lead, didn't have his usual mastery and departed for a pinchhitter after the Yanks had taken a 4-1 advantage on DiMaggio's blow in the fifth. Sheldon Jones was the victim of two more unearned tallies in the seventh, if it is necessary. Monte Kennedy held the winners tightly in check in the ninth.

But for Sunday's long-day rain which made the outfield a marsh, Casey Stengel would have been forced to go yesterday with Tom Morgan, a rookie, instead of Reynolds, one of his top aces.

No matter what happens today, the rich playoff now is bound to go back to the Yankee Stadium for the sixth contest and the seventh, if it is necessary. The world champions will have the advantage of finishing on their home soil.

It was plain from the very start that Maglie, with an unaccustomed four days' rest since the playoff with Britain, was not at his best.

When the Yanks got a run across in the second inning to tie the count at 1-1 and then forged ahead with another in the fourth by rapping two singles around a walk, it was obvious that the Giants were in trouble. By that time Reynolds had settled down from an uncertain first frame and was spinning magic.

The Giants had chalked up one in the opener on the first of Dark's three straight doubles and Monte Irvin's ground single into left. That was all they were to do to Reynolds until their brief but abortive explosion in the ninth.

The Yanks' first run off Maglie was nothing much, stemming from a lead-off double by Gene Woodling which sliced off his bat and blooped down the left field line. But their second was the McCoy. Bobby Brown smashed a grounder between third and short which DeMunnig stopped, but which left him off balance and pulled his throw wide of first.

Joe Collins then drew a walk, and Reynolds followed with a clean blow into centre to bring Brown across. It might have amounted to considerably more had not Allie get himself caught in a rundown between first and second.

Yogi Berra set the scenery for DiMaggio's eighth World Series home by singling into right with one down in the fifth. The Clipper, who said he had changed his stance slightly today after going 11-0 in three games, caught hold of a Maglie curve and really put

B.C.S. Trims Ashbury 25-5 In Rugby Match

In their traditional Thanksgiving weekend match Bishop's College School's senior football team beat Ashbury College of Ottawa 25-5.

Ashbury rocked the home team by scoring a touchdown within the first two minutes of play but then pulled two long passes to set B.C.S. kicked for a rouge and up a converted touchdown in the middle of the quarter.

A 30-yard run by Ross Southward for B.C.S. put the team in position for a rouge.

In the second half a B.C.S. end run sent Bill Badger over the line for another five points. John Pratt missed the convert but later kicked for a rouge. The same end scored again at the end of the third with another touchdown and a convert.

A single touchdown in the last quarter by Roger Hart completed the 25 points for B.C.S.

Ottawa Rough Riders Dump Als Twice To Tie For League Honors; Argos Blank Tiger-Cats 10-0

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who threatened to make a runaway of the Eastern Big Four football race earlier in the season, now must endure the shock of finding themselves in a tie for first place.

Ottawa Rough Riders, whose chief claim is that they can beat Montreal Alouettes anytime they try, overtook the league-leaders with a 12-9 Thanksgiving Day victory over the Alouettes in Montreal.

At the same time, in Hamilton, Toronto Argonauts handed the Tiger-Cats a 10-0 licking. It was the first time in four regular season tries that the Argos have been able to subdue the Cats.

The Roughriders, like the Cats, now have 10 points and they have picked up eight of them in four consecutive victories over Montreal.

Oddly enough, in two tries Ottawa has been unable to beat Argonauts who hold third place, four points behind the leaders and two points ahead of last-place Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan has a two point lead over Edmonton Eskimos who lost 36-27 to third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The Bombers are two points back of Edmonton and six ahead of Calgary.

Federal Grand Jury Commences Country-Wide Investigation On Professional Boxing In States

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A country-wide investigation of professional boxing in the United States began today before a Federal Grand Jury.

The jury, called together at the direction of U.S. Attorney General Howard McGrath, will seek to determine whether anti-trust laws have been violated and to inquire into possible monopolistic holds on boxing champions.

Although no specific organizations were mentioned today, the jury was expected to dig into the activities of the sprawling International Boxing Club which promotes boxing in arenas in New York, Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis. The I.B.C. has a better than million dollar contract for the network telecasts and broadcasts of boxing bouts on Wednesday and Friday nights.

In Washington, Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morrison, in charge of the anti-trust division, said the action is being taken "on the basis of numerous complaints and a preliminary investigation."

Charles, Layne Ready For Tussle Tomorrow

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, ex-heavyweight champion who wants the crown back, and Rex Layne, who just wants it, ended training today for a 12-round bout tomorrow night at Forbes Field that will do a lot for the winner's prestige if nothing else.

The fight will be televised.

Charles finished up the heavy work yesterday with four fast rounds and said he is in much better physical condition than when he dropped the crown to Jersey Joe Walcott in Pittsburgh July 1, Layne, a young hopeful from Salt Lake City, traded punches with his sparring partners for two rounds and then told his audience:

"I wish I was climbing through the ropes at Forbes Field right now."

Both previously have talked of a win by the knockout route.

A win would boom Layne's chances of a quick shot at the title. Although win or lose Charles still has a guarantee to meet Walcott if he wins.

The Salt Lake City boy took a 10-round decision from Walcott in 1950 but he suffered his first kayo at the hands of Rocky Marciano in the sixth round his last time out July 12.

Junior All-Stars Swamp Quebec Citadelles 9-2

Quebec, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association All-Stars Saturday night defeated Quebec Citadelles, last year's Provincial Champions, 9-2.

Bert Scullion, a Montreal National regular, led the All-Stars with three goals, while teammate Real Pronovost scored two.

Other scorers for the All-Stars, coached by Jack Toupin of Three Rivers Reds, were Bernie Bernack, Conny Borwick, Butch McKay and Watson.

Roger Guay and Rainer Makila scored the Citadelles goals in the second period after the All-Star took a 5-0 lead.

Valleyfield Edges Providence Reds 6-5

Valleyfield, Que., Oct. 9.—(CP)—Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League defeated Providence Reds of the American League 6-5 in an exhibition game here.

Jackie Schmidt completed the hat trick for the Braves, while Gaston Gervais fired two and Rosaire Benoit got a singleton. M. Kapusta scored twice for Providence with J. Davies, R. Bedard and A. Deschenes blinking the red light once each.

Braves announced that Jean-Paul Bisailion and Larry Kwong signed their contract, bringing to 12 the total of players with the team this year.

Mike Irish, last year's assistant trainer of the Montreal Canadiens of the National League, has been hired by Valleyfield.

Industrial Softball League Presents Trophies, Crests At Annual Banquet

More than 150 players, league officials and guests attended the sixth annual banquet and dance of the Industrial Softball League Saturday night at the Tuque Rouge Club.

League president Ted Anderson congratulated the S. Rubin Ltd. team for having won the League playoffs and wished them the best of luck in the city playoffs.

Roger Guay and Rainer Makila scored the Citadelles goals in the second period after the All-Star took a 5-0 lead.

Paul Perrault trophy, the Maturin trophy went to the Rand, the Rosenbloom trophy to Railroaders.

Besides the president's talk, brief addresses were given by Ed. Lussier, banquet chairman, Ald. Paul Hamei, Mr. Spawick, H. S. Howcroft, A. J. Weiner, Claude Willard, Wendell Witcox, E. T. Harbert, Gerald Spafford, and Louis Griffin, umpire-in-chief.

In giving a resume of the League year, Mr. Anderson said that the success of the concluding campaign was made possible by the fine sportsmanship of the various teams and extended the thanks of the League to the City Council, particularly Ald. Sylvio Rousseau, chairman of the Parks committee, Lou Griffin and his umpires, the grounds keepers and the press and radio for the valuable publicity they had given the League.

"We have had a wonderful season," Mr. Anderson said.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the most valuable player trophy to Maurice Blondeau, star pitcher of the Railroads. Mr. Blondeau is the first winner of the Sam Cohen trophy, up for competition for the first time.

Rubin's, playoff champions, received the Sydney Spawick Memorial Trophy from Sydney Spawick and Dominion Textiles, who finished the schedule in first place, received the J. S. Mitchell trophy from Ald. Paul Hamei, representing the Mayor. Rubin's also received league crests.

The teams who made the playoffs were also given trophies. Dominion Textiles received the Jean

Black Hawks Beat Aces 4-2 In Exhibition Tilt

Quebec, Oct. 9.—(CP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League defeated Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 4-2 in an exhibition game.

After the teams tied 2-2 in the first period, Chicago went ahead 4-2 in the second stanza on goals by Jim Conacher and Doug Bentley while Aces were short-handed.

Bep Guidolin and Gus Bodnar gave the Hawks a 2-0 lead in the first eight minutes of the first period, but Quebec tied it up on counters by Ludger Tremblay and Morrie Hamilton.

Three-Way Tie For Honors In Kansas Open

Kansas City, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A mixture of sand trap trouble and a short putt on the final hole landed three players—Cary Middlecoff, Dave Douglas and Dave Ford—in a tie for first place in the $15,000 Kansas City Open Golf Tournament at the end of the scheduled 72 holes yesterday.

All three players had 72-hole scores of 278 over the 6,500-yard, par-72 Milburn Country Club course. They will tangle in an 18-hole playoff for the $2,500 top prize money today.

Campbell-Ford Fail To Sign With St. Mary's

Halifax, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Minus two of their last season's standouts, Hughie Campbell and Bill Ford, St. Mary's hockey club broke camp at Halifax last night and headed for Fredericton, where they will hold a workout Wednesday.

Campbell left Montreal for Sydney, St. Mary's general manager Jimmy MacDonald told the Chronicle-Herald in a telephone conversation, still refusing to sign a Halifax contract. Ford told St. Mary's officials he planned to return to Toronto and to retire from hockey, for the coming season, at least.

Two exhibition games are on tap for the Saints before they arrive in Halifax Saturday, MacDonald reported. The Saints will go against Moncton Hawks at Fredericton Thursday and, if present plans hold, will meet Sydney Millionaires at New Glasgow Friday.

Fifteen players are making the trip from Montreal, the Halifax

Claude Robert Returns To Chicoutimi Sags

Chicoutimi, Que., Oct. 9.—(CP)—Roland Hebert, coach of Chicoutimi Saguenays of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, announced last night he has acquired the services of Claude Robert, left winger who performed last year with Montreal Canadiens and Cincinnati Mohawks.

Robert wore the local colors two years ago and wound up the season top scorer for the club.

U.S. Top Colleges Remain Unbeaten

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The big three of United States College football—Michigan States, California and Tennessee, in order—came through unscathed Saturday. But Oklahoma—No. 4—fell before Texas A and M, 14-7, in a night game.

Of the top three, first-rated Michigan State had the roughest going. The Spartans had to come from behind in a thriller-diller to whip Ohio State 24-20.

California, Tennessee, Illinois, Texas and Maryland, all in the top 10 of the first Associated Press weekly poll, emerged victorious.

Major Leagues Turn Down Minors On Radio

New York, Oct. 9.—(CP)—The Major Leagues yesterday struck a sharp blow at the efforts of minor leagues to exercise some control over radio and television in their territory.

A meeting of the two major leagues repealed a rule which prohibited broadcasts or telecasts of a major league game from a station located in an area where a major league team is playing a home game.

Hockey's Modern Greats Ready For Tonight's Fifth Annual All-Star Classic At Maple Leaf Gardens

Toronto, Oct. 9.—(CP)—The best players in the puckchasing business face off tonight in Maple Leaf Gardens in the fifth annual National Hockey League All-Star Game.

The encounter between the N.H.L.'s first All-Star team and the second will be the curtain-raiser of the 1951-52 season.

The star-studded squads were chosen last season in a ballot conducted by the league among sportscasters in N.H.L. cities.

This marks the first time the two teams of stars, strengthened by players from the six N.H.L. teams, have met. Previously, the first and second All-Star combined to play the defending Stanley Cup champions.

Thus, any member of the cup-winning team who was named to the first All-Star club and to play with his own team. Thus, in reality, it was only a partial all-star game.

In four previous All-Star games, the "Dream-Team" won three, from Toronto Maple Leafs, and lost once, to Detroit Red Wings.

Peterborough Petes Cop Canadian Senior Lacrosse Championship As "Moon" Wootton Wins M. V. P. Award

Vancouver, Oct. 9. — (CP) — When it was all over, Peterborough Petes mobbed their goalie so happily he collapsed on the floor under their weight. When officials announced Lloyd (Moon) Wootton had won the Mike Kelly Memorial medal as the most valuable player in the best-of-seven Canadian Lacrosse final, the husky netminder was pummeled to the floor again. In this way, Petes showed the 2,500 fans, who knew already, that the 24-year-old Wootton had carried the major load in their 13-7 victory over Vancouver Combines in Saturday night's deciding game of the boiling, bruising series. Combines, battered but unbowed after six games' worth of Peterborough's brutal checking, hammered away at the easterners' defence and goal for the first quarter. But of 10 shots fired point-blank at Wootton, only one got by him. Once the onslaught simmered down, Petes played cool and deadly efficient lacrosse. They passed on target, pounced in rebounds,

Joe DiMaggio Gives Credit To Two Old-Timers For Snapping His Miserable Batting Slump

New York, Oct. 9. — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio credited two old-timers — Lefty O'Doul and Lew Fonseca — with snapping the miserable batting slump that threatened to make him a goat of the 1951 World Series. "I'm not going to tell you what they did for me," he added, good-naturedly while flash bulbs popped and pencils scribbled in the delighted Yankee dressing room. "We've got three more games, possibly, to play, and I want those Giants to pitch to me just as they have been doing all along." Hitless in his first 12 times at bat, the Yankee Clipper, who is playing in his tenth World Series,

Rogers Hornsby Named Manager Of St. Louis Browns; Only Three Major Teams Left To Name Their Pilots

New York, Oct. 9. — (AP) — Now that Rogers Hornsby has been chosen to manage St. Louis Browns, 13 of the 16 major league jobs are set for next year. The unsettled ones are Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates. Of these, the only good bet for a change is at Boston. Steve O'Neill is reported on his way out as manager of the Red Sox, to be replaced by Lou Boudreau, the former Cleveland pilot, or Pinky Higgins, Louisville manager. Billy Meyer is said to have a 60-40 chance of returning to Pittsburgh and there's a good chance Marty Marion will be given another try with the Cardinals, who finished strongly. Two managing situations, those of St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees, were clarified yesterday and a third the day before. Willy Casey Stengel, who has won three straight pennants and is going on his third World Series, denied a report that he plans to step out of a contract that has another year to run and turn the Yankee reins over to Frank Crosetti. Hornsby was signed by owner Bill Veeck to a three-year contract as manager of the Browns. Veeck, declining to give details, said the salary was the highest ever paid a Browns manager. Brooklyn's Charley Dressen, who saw his team dissipate a 13 1/2-game lead in the final weeks of the campaign, was given assurances over the week-end that his job is safe for 1952.

Sports Roundup

New York, Oct. 9. — (AP) — Found at last — something Monte Irvin can't do: Slide Irvin, whose performance has been slightly on the sensational side all through the World Series, singled to drive in Al Dark in the first inning yesterday. The Yanks called the turn on his attempt to steal, but Yogi Berra's heave to second was so high that Phil Rizzuto had to leap high in the air after it. But Irvin missed the bag with his book slide on the wrong side, grabbed with his hand, but before he could make it, Phil had landed in a heap and touched him with the ball. That was the first sign that it wasn't the Giants' day. Maybe there was a hint the night before. Sal Maglie appeared on a television show and was asked: "Would you like to see Joe DiMaggio hit a home run off you in the fifth inning tomorrow?" Sal shook his head just as sadly then as he did when Joe really hit one in the fifth yesterday. Shorts and Shells The decision of the major leagues to withdraw from the business of arranging broadcasts apparently was dictated from Washington. Now the big question is whether radio and TV stations can "pressure" the big league clubs into sending their games where they may hurt the minors. When the Norfolk (Piedmont League) club won the pennant and playoffs, each player's cut was about $136. DENISON'S MILLS The sale of the former Kingsey Mission parsonage, was made final this past summer, to a Mr. G. Gagne, of Ste. Felix de Kingsey. It is hoped that at some future date, a more suitably located parsonage for the mission will be purchased. Rev. T. L. F. Beattie, of Kirkdale, will continue to minister to this community in the meantime. During Rev. Beattie's vacation, Mr. H. Coles, lay reader, of Richmond, conducted a well-attended afternoon service. Mrs. Muriel Hill, of Shawinigan Falls, was organist. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Raines, formerly residents here, now of Montreal, was christened by Rev. Beattie this past summer. Mrs. Forrest Rief and Miss Ethel Rief were sponsors. An impromptu business meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at the home of the president. It was decided after a considerable discussion, that a chicken pie supper would not be held this year, but voluntary donations would be held to make up the financial deficit. Mrs. John Andrews recently spent a week visiting relatives in Sawyerville. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mastine and small son, who have been residing with Mr. Melville Hodge, have again taken up residence in Richmond. through Ontario, and the United States. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Young, of Beebe, were dinner guests of Mrs. J. Yates and son, Douglas, afterwards, Mrs. J. Yates and son, Douglas, accompanied them and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Richardson, in Bulwer. Several ladies from here accepted an invitation from Huntingville W.C.T.U. branch and were guests at the meeting held at Mrs. L. Bowers. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Alcorn with children, Graham and Dorothy, have left for a week's visit to Boston, Mass.

I. O. D. E. To Hold Semi-Annual Meet At Knowlton Soon

Knowlton, Oct. —The I.O.D.E. Provincial semi-annual meeting is being held in Knowlton in St. Paul's Church Hall on October 9th and 10th. Delegates from chapter, all over the province will be present to represent their chapter.

An interesting and varied program has been arranged.

It is of special interest to note that October 9th is the 37th birthday of the Sir John Fisher Chapter of Knowlton.

On October 9th the general meeting held in St. Paul's Church will be followed by a sherry party at Brearhurst the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Call after which dinner will be served at the Knowlton Golf Club, Mrs. J. J. Crellman, Provincial president, will be the guest speaker.

A meeting will be held on the morning of October 10 and special colored movies will be shown in the projection room of the High School in the afternoon. Tea will be served at the school.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church took place at the home of Miss Lucia A. Knowlton.

The president, Mrs. E. H. Gray was in the chair and presided, over the meeting.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. G. M. Ransom and Mrs. Gray gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. Earl B. Mizener.

Twenty sick calls were reported to have been made during the month of August.

Mrs. R. McCutcheon collected reading points and distributed books to be read by the members. Thank offering envelopes for Thanksgiving were given out.

Mrs. Ian W. Crandall supply secretary reported that parcels of clothing and suitable gifts had been sent to a Mission Field in Alberta.

Mrs. Donald Miller gave a very interesting report on the sectional meeting held in Cowansville. The worship service conducted by Mrs. Gray had as its theme, "The Church of the Frontiers" and the call to worship was taken from Deuteronomy 8: 7, 8, 9.

The hymns "Lord of the Lands" and "From Ocean Unto Ocean" were sung and Dr. E. H. Gray led in the singing.

Psalms 72 was read responsively after which Mrs. Gray led in prayer.

The program was taken up by Mrs. Donald Miller and Mrs. Carl C. McClay and introduced the Study Books for the year "From Lakes to Northern Lights" and "Home Missions Digest." Mrs. H. L. Hastings, Mrs. H. W. Spence and Mrs. G. M. Ransom assisted in the program.

The leader explained that Canada has been a land of ever expanding frontiers. The United Church has been a church of the frontiers. In the pioneer days the saddle-bag preachers carried the Gospel to the remotest farms of Eastern Canada. Missionaries travelled by wagon, canoe and dog team to the north and across the prairies, to plant the church in new settlements.

In modern times, as Canada has expanded west and north and into new industrial areas, the same spirit has impelled the United Church of Canada to win the frontiers for Christ. This is what is meant by Home Missions. Through Home Missions we are still helping to plant the church in hundreds of Canadian communities and to maintain the church in small settlements where without the aid of Home Missions, the Gospel could not be reached.

Prior to the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. A. McCutcheon was presented with a life membership in appreciation of her faithfulness and interest in the work of the W.M.S. by Mrs. Gray. Mrs. McCutcheon expressed her thanks and in her reply stated that she felt that in all her work with the Society her benefits had been more than the labor put forth, emphasizing that the more one puts out in the work of the church, the more benefits one receives.

Orders were taken for the Study Book after which the meeting closed with prayer. Miss Knowlton then served tea with Mrs. H. W. Spence and Mrs. Elton Bockus assisting in the serving.

A social evening took place recently at the United Church with the staff of the High School were the guests of the evening sponsored by the Women's Association of the evening's program consisted of games, sing song and musical selections which were much enjoyed.

Miss Nesbitt was accompanist for the evening and Mr. A. L. Bulard sang two delightful numbers and led in the sing song.

Prizes for the contest were donated by Mr. C. P. Thonout and went to 1st prize Mrs. Marion Pettes and Mr. Merton Tyler—2nd prize Mrs. George Coote and Mr. J. M. Ransom.

Dr. E. H. Gray was chairman for the evening and extended a welcome to the guests.

Mrs. G. M. Ransom was convener of the refreshment committee. At the conclusion of a delightful lunch, Mr. J. Edward Perry thanked the women's Association on behalf of himself and the teachers present for the very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. K. C. George entertained at tea at the home of Mrs. L. J. Crandall in honor of Miss Betty George prior to her marriage to Mr. Ray Mullins. Mrs. D. M. Manson and Mrs. K. Mullins presided at the lace covered table which was centred with pink and white flowers, tall white tapers completing the table decorations. Mrs. Dan Mullins cut the ices and Mrs. L. J. Crandall, Mrs. Grey Henrichson and Mrs. W. Blackwood assisted in serving.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewen MacSweeney was christened at the United Church parsonage here with Dr. E. H. Gray officiating. The child received the names Sandra Beatrice.

The funeral service for Mrs. Charles Russell, of West Bolton, took place in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Knowlton. The pastor, Rev. T. E. R. Nurse, officiated. The deceased, who had been ill for several weeks, passed away at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal, on September 28. She was in her 59th year. Interment was in Knowlton Protestant Cemetery.

The funeral service for Mr. Albert McGeoch took place from Robbs Funeral Home on Friday, September 29. Dr. E. H. Gray officiated and interment was in the Knowlton Protestant Cemetery, Knowlton Lodge No. 28 met in regular session when election of officers took place.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served in the Dining Hall by the committee in charge.

A Rally Day Service was held by the United Church Sunday School with the Theme being "A Story to Tell to the Nations."

Miss June Spencer was pianist and the hymns sung were, "All People That On Earth Do Dwell," "Once Again Dear Lord, We Pray," "Tell Me The Stories of Jesus" and "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

Prayers of Thanksgiving were read and the Scripture lesson read responsively was taken from Mark 10: 13-16 and Matthew 23: 16-20. Prayers were also given for the Church, and for help in doing our parts, the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison, and the service was brought to a close with Benediction.

New Swiss Discovery F "99"

for Eczemas, Boils, Psoriasis, Leg Ulcers

EMINENT scientists have discovered that the lack of unsaturated fatty acids in the normal diet is one of the main causes of skin diseases, such as Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and Psoriasis. The modern type diet and the use of refined fats and oils in which these unsaturated fatty acids are often completely lacking, have brought about a deficiency in a great number of individuals.

Remarkable Discovery

A Swiss chemist, Dr. W. Schmitz, succeeded after 10 years of research work in extracting from pure vegetable oils an unsaturated fatty acid with a concentration of 99% and therefore named F "99". Thanks to this hitherto unattained high purity, F "99" is so readily absorbed into the blood stream, that it has a decisive biological activity in the treatment of skin diseases. Its remarkable efficiency has astonished even Skin Specialists of international reputation.

New, natural way to clear up skin troubles

F "99" is not a synthetic drug but a concentrate of natural nutritive substances. It is absolutely harmless and may be given even to infants without any hesitation.

As its name suggests, the F "99" Two-Way Treatment acts internally (capsules or liquid) and externally (ointment). While F "99" Ointment treats the external symptoms, F "99" capsules give the power to suppress the cause to combat successfully Eczemas, Boils, Leg Ulcers and even Psoriasis. To many thousands of skin sufferers all over the world, F "99" Two-Way Treatment has already proved its tremendous value.

The cattle rustler tiptoe one at a time into the room where the sheriff is guarding the cattle. If the sheriff hears any sound, he yells: "I hear a rustler!" and draws his gun. The rustler must then be captured and locked in jail. If any rustler succeeds in entering the room and slapping the sheriff on the back, he is free to walk away. The stealthy rustler receives a plug of tobacco (stick of bubble gum) or that same prize is the sheriff's if he captures all the rustlers.

Refreshments are best served on a chuck wagon for which your old express wagon will do fine. Cookies, ice cream and pop can all be crowded on and served with a come-and-get-it.

End the party by singing western ballads, new or old and get those who can't sing to clap an accompaniment.

COWBOY parties are something new in birthday entertainment. They may be given on other occasions too. Be sure to use western dialect in your invitation. "Hi, Pardner!" is the approved greeting. Small cowboy hats, boots and guns can be cut from magazines or colored paper and pasted on your writing paper as a letter decoration.

Games should be carried on in the true western manner. Here are a few starter-offers:

ROUND-UP: Each guest is given a paper picnic plate that is numbered and inscribed "UR CORRAL." All players place the plates upon separate chairs. Tissue paper cows and horses are on the floor at the other end of the room. Straws are handed the players and the order given to bring the herd in. The player who succeeds in bringing the most horses and cows to his corral receives a brightly-colored kerchief.

ROPE A STEER: Drape a chair in a sheet, only the four legs protruding. Affix horns and a comical steer's face in paper atop the covered chair. Each player in turn is handed a lasso having the appropriate noose, and told to gallop around a chalked circle in the room and rope the steer. The winner receives a kerchief-holder as a prize.

DARK HORSE: Hand each player a sheet of paper and a black crayon. When the lights are switched off in the room, everyone draws a horse. As soon as the lights go on, the drawings are examined by Judge Hoststieff and the artist who has drawn the nearest likeness to a horse receives a dime store picture on any western subject.

FIND THE LOST MINE: Have cartons filled with shredded newspapers in which foil-wrapped chocolate coins are hidden. Each guest is given one minute with a cardboard pick to dig into the newspapers, a guard carefully counting to 60 for each digging. Gold-diggers are told to keep what coins they find.

CATTLE RUSTLERS: Blindfold the player who is to be the sheriff. Everyone else is a cattle rustler.
