When cooking peas, put in a few of the empty pods. They'll add greatly to the flavor.

Munro Hall, Athelstan, Que., Transfer Made

Munro Hall, situated in the Village of Athelstan, Que., was built over fifty years ago. Its erection was made possible by the generous gift of the late Mrs. Enoch Foster (nee Mary Munro) living at that time in Massachusetts, U.S., but who was born and spent her younger years in Athelstan, Que. Mrs. Foster gave $1500.00 towards the erection of this building and the balance necessary to complete same was raised by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Athelstan who canvassed the surrounding community for donations toward same.

Munro Hall was officially opened in October, 1904, being built on what was known as the Old Presbyterian Church Lot. Permission was granted the Woman's Christian Temperance Union by Athelstan Presbyterian Church to erect this building with the understanding that should the Athelstan Woman's Christian Temperance Union cease to exist, it should revert to the Athelstan Presbyterian Church.

Over a period of fifty years this Hall has been owned and maintained by the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union but owing to the membership becoming depleted it was decided by the members at a meeting held September 15th, 1954, that this organization disband and the former Secretary was authorized to write to the Secretary of the Church notifying them of their decision and requesting that they appoint a committee to meet with the W.C.T.U. members to discuss arrangements in regard to the transfer.

This having been done, final arrangements were completed on October 20th, 1954, and Munro Hall is now in the custody and ownership of the Athelstan Presbyterian Church.

The semi-annual convention of the Chateauguay-Huntingdon W.I. was held on Friday, Oct. 15th in the hall, at Dundee, Que., with Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt, Athelstan, county president, presiding.

Mrs. Alex. Robb, Huntingdon, read the treasurer's report showing a balance of $258.79 on hand.

Mrs. Charles Reid, Huntingdon, read the minutes of both the last annual and semi-annual meetings.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to discontinue the W.I. booth at Ormstown Fair next June. Each branch being willing to make up the necessary funds by various ways such as card parties, etc.

The re-adoption of the Greek child was also discussed and was left until the annual convention next May.

The Chateauguay-Huntingdon W.I. donated $538.70 towards the Q.W.I. Service Fund since this fund began and are only surpassed by Stanstead county in this province. This fund helps to support the Junior W.I. work and the Short Courses at Macdonald College for members.

Mrs. Wallace Kerr, Howick, Convenor of Education, requested all branch convenors to send her their annual reports by the 1st of March or as soon as their annual meetings are over; also the Radio Listening Groups to do the same. The Public Speaking Contest will be held as usual in the various schools in these two counties as in other years. The finals to be held at Rockburn Hall about the middle of April next year.

All branches were reminded to start seeds and slips in March for the plant and bulb sale at the annual convention next spring. Last year's sale netted $22.00. The convention will be held at Franklin, Que., on May 7th, 1955, with Ormstown responding to the address of welcome.

Next year's semi-annual convention will be held at the home of Mrs. Alex. Robb, Huntingdon.

Each branch reported a successful year's work. Public speaking contests and school fairs were held. Canned fruits, jellies and vegetables were donated to local hospitals and school cafeterias. Aubrey-Riverfield, Dundee and Howick report 4 hospital beds in use, and Ormstown branch has a wheel chair in use.

Most branches entertained the local teaching staffs. Franklin bought folding chairs and donated to the Franklin Consolidated School. Hemmingford donated cups and plates and silverware to their school. Huntingdon donated prize money to the local agriculture fair for flowers and vegetables; also had a short course on nutrition and oven meals. Several guest speakers were present at branch meetings throughout the year.

Rev. W. T. Payne to Retire After Over 42 Years in Ministry

Will Hold Service For Last Time at Ormstown, On Sunday, October 31st

REV. W. T. PAYNE

Public service is not always appreciated as it should be, for the reason that we become used to certain things being done and accept them in this manner. The past week a Gleaner representative called upon Rev. W. T. Payne, St. James Anglican Church, Ormstown, Que., and talked with him on his coming retirement. On Sunday, October 31, Rev. Payne will preach for the last time in the little church he has come to love. It was suggested that perhaps it would be a farewell sermon that he would give, but Rev. Payne said: "I am not leaving Ormstown, I am going to stay here, so I cannot say farewell." Even when we say "his Last Time", we feel that we are making a mistake, for it may so happen that Rev. Payne will be called upon to take the service again in this church on future occasions.

Rev. Payne is in his 81st year and he has been in charge of St. James Parish for 38 years and one month, as at October 31st next. He was born at Bregus, Newfoundland, and after taking his schooling there, he taught school for about ten years before deciding to enter the ministry. In 1910, he went to Montreal to the Diocesan College and studied to become a minister. He was ordained at West Church Cathedral, Montreal, in 1912, and his first parish was Bolton, Brome County, a church with 250 souls. In 1916, he came to Ormstown to take over St. James parish and followed the Rev. A. C. Ascah and has remained at Ormstown ever since.

Rev. Payne was married in Newfoundland to Minnie Ash who died in 1949. He has three daughters: Mrs. T. S. Moffat, St. John, N.B.; Mrs. A. C. Jensen, of Montreal, whose husband is the general manager of the Bank of Montreal; Mrs. H. U. Banks, of Montreal, whose husband is Inspector of Agencies with the Sun Life Assurance in Montreal. All his children were born in Newfoundland and came to Canada with him. (It must be remembered that Newfoundland was not then a province of Canada). In 1952, Rev. Payne married for a second time to Miss Isabelle Tanner, of Ormstown, Que., who will be able to enjoy with him his period of retirement.

Rev. Payne said, there are so many times that one hears that the preacher only works one day a week, on Sunday. I want to tell you that this is not the case for there are many things to attend to that keep me quite busy and that is why I feel the time has come for me to retire. I do not feel that I can keep up with it. One thing worries me however, and that is it is difficult to obtain replacements and if a replacement cannot be found, the church may have to be closed. Who will look after my people if that happens. I have carried on for several years longer than I intended in the hope that a replacement could be found. In these days, for some reason, young men do not want to go into the ministry.

When he first came to Ormstown, he used a horse and buggy to get around the country and the church had about 200 souls. It was not long before the people of Franklin asked that he take care of their spiritual needs and for the past 30 years he has been ministering to their needs also. When this came about he obtained a model T Ford and used this in the summer months and the horse in the winter. For the

Dr. H. Cook is Speaker at Home and School Meeting

Gives Interesting Talk on Past, Present and Future Aspects of Education

The Huntingdon Home and School Association held a regular monthly meeting at the Huntingdon High School, on Thursday evening, with a fair attendance. Mrs. L. Levine was in the chair and it may be said that this is the first regular meeting since before the school summer vacation period. The period in September was given over to holding the school fair, which has now become an annual event.

The business part of the meeting was very short, there being a few reports and no new business to discuss. One matter which did arouse interest, was that of a study group. Rev. R. D. MacLean was called upon for a report of his committee in relation to what had been decided as to having a study group as part of the Home and School activities. He reported that he thought there was scope for such a group and there were a number of matters to be discussed that would be helpful to the Association, the school and the community. One subject which was creating much interest in some quarters, was what can be done to help pupils who are backward in their learning. Rev. W. S. Hatcher thought that Rev. MacLean had a good point and also thought that if a solution to this problem could be arrived at, it would have far reaching results throughout all of Canada. There are some children who need more than just the ordinary help in learning their school work. With such help it is quite possible that they would grasp the various subjects and in the end prove worthwhile scholars. It was therefore left to Rev. MacLean and his committee to see if they can find enough interested in such a group and to organize one or more if possible.

Mr. W. R. Wilson made a resolution that the fees for the Association be one dollar which covers two persons and that included with this would be a subscription to the Association magazine at 25c and therefore the total fee now be $1.25.

Mrs. W. K. Philps reported on the library and the number of new books which had been purchased.

Rev. MacLean introduced the speaker, Dr. H. Cook, who took as his subject: "A glance at the past, a look at the present, a glimpse of the future."

Dr. Cook asked his audience to go with him on an imaginary walk along a winding road back into the past. He suggested that as they started out they would travel on wide paved roads that are well lighted and gradually onto winding trails and into a mistiness. It would depend, he said, upon the number of years that one could look back. He preferred to go back about 50 years and he recounted some of his boyhood experiences and visits to places which several of those present had been. His description brought forth many a chuckle as those present had memories of their own revived. Gradually Dr. Cook led up to the subject of education in the early

Howick Captures League Trophy in Softball

After two postponements the Ormstown District Softball League held a final play-off tournament at the Hemmingford Diamond, Sunday afternoon and evening. Howick emerged the new winners of the cup by defeating Ormstown 4-3 and Hemmingford 9-7. The Howick players deserve credit for their win play ing the type of ball that earned them first position in the league standing. Oakley McCrae was the individual star allowing only 11 hits going the distance in both games. The three games provided plenty of excitement and a good class of ball considering the players hadn't played for nearly a month due to the weather. Hotel Dieu Hospital, V'yfield Observes Fiftieth Anniversary

Special Program Held For Three Days — Interesting Highlights in Its History

Three days of celebration marked the fiftieth anniversary of the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Valleyfield, October 17th, 18th and 19th. At 11 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 17th, there was a Special Mass at the Seminary, conducted by Bishop J. Alfred Langlois.

At 12.30 p.m. the Civic Banquet took place in the Ste. Cecile Hall under the auspices of L'Association des Dames Patronnesses et Gardes Malades Benevoles of the Hospital.

Bishop J. A. Langlois pronounced the benediction.

Madame Yvan Brassard, who is the President of the Association presided over the banquet and spoke of the work these ladies have accomplished in supplying the hospital with equipment from year to year.

Dr. Aimé Leduc acted as pro-Mayor in the absence of Mayor Quevillon.

Madame P. E. Larivière introduced the guest speaker, H. L. Bertrand, S.J., President of the Council of Catholic Hospitals in the Province of Quebec.

Bishop Langlois also gave an address.

Mrs. James Haffey thanked the speakers.

Between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday the hospital was open to visitors for inspection and at 5 p.m. a Buffet Tea was served to the guests in the Nurses dining room.

On Monday morning a special Mass was held in the hospital chapel for the doctors. The chapel had previously been redecorated and painted in time for the occasion. A banquet for the doctors was held at the hospital following the Mass and then immediately afterwards a conference.

On Tuesday a banquet was given at the hospital for the personnel.

The profusion of flowers everywhere in the hospital added greatly to this memorial celebration.

The Hotel Dieu was founded on Sept. 12, 1904. It was the wish of the late Mgr. Joseph Emard first Archbishop of Valleyfield to have a hospital built in this district. It was the wish of Bishop Emard that it be called Hotel Dieu and under the supervision of the Sisters of Providence of Montreal.

The first college built in 1895 after many alterations became this little hospital directed by the Superior of the Hospice St. Vincent de Paul and considered at that time the Mother House of the Sisters of Providence.

The first patient was a young American from Malone, N.Y.

After a few hectic years of day and night heroic nursing, the Mother Superior ,Sister Marie de la Nativité, first Superior, gave her four religious companions to assist the house doctors, namely, Drs. W. Laroche J. T. A. Gauthier, H. de Grandpré, C. O. Ostiguy, Arthur Brassard and Achille Besner then the following doctors were in attendance: Drs. B. Bibeau, C. L. Roman, A. Brosseau, O. E. Caza, (first resident surgeon), Emile St. Onge, E. N. Moore, Claude St. Onge and L. de Grandpré. It is in this old hospital on Salaberry St. that these pioneer doctors and nurses worked at a great disadvantage but with the kind help of a few benefactors, cared for 5,497 patients.

At the request of the doctors and Bishop Langlois, a referendum was passed and the General Council of the Order of the Sisters of Providence undertook the building of the present large hospital. The cornerstone was laid on June 12th, 1932, and on January 30th, 1933, twenty-four patients were transferred from the former hospital to the New Hotel Dieu.

The formal opening was on the 23rd July, 1933, with His Excellency Bishop Andreal Cassulo giving the benediction and it was a day of celebration.

The hospital is supplied with the best in modern surgical equipment required by medical science and with a professional service answering all calls of the growing population.

The staff consists of a Chaplain, 29 Sisters of whom 11 are registered nurses, 18 graduate nurses, 20 registered nurses in baby nursing ,nine nurses aides, four orderlies, six office clerks and 52 other employees, a total of 139.

The first president on the Medical Staff was Dr. W. Laroche and he now has 29 doctors who hold regular meetings on scientific proceedings. There are 16 other doctors also attending and giving their services to hospitalized patients.

The Ladies' Association was founded by Mrs. B. Bibeau in 1942.

Since the foundation of the hospital 62,000 patients have been treated, not counting those who received laboratory services as well as X-rays, Electro Cardiagrams and Physiotheraphy. Many people in the neighboring regions owe their life and health to this institution.

We must not forget to mention Dr. John A. McDonald, who has been a faithful member of the staff of the Hotel Dieu since 1932, on his return from China in 1931, where he served as a Medical Missionary for 25 years before he took up practice in Valleyfield.

Tedstone, Collum Speak On Insurance

School Law to Be Discussed Oct. 27th

Fire, Auto and Life Insurance were the topics of the sixth lecture of the School of Business Administration held at the County Building, Huntingdon, Wednesday night, October 20th.

Mr. Roger Fortier was chairman of the lecture. His two guests were Mr. George Collum, agent for the Royal Liverpool Insurance Co., and Mr. William Tedstone, agent for Canada Life Insurance Co.

The first part of the lecture was devoted to Fire and Auto Insurance. Mr. Collum described the differences between a tariff and a non-tariff company how their rates vary with respect to Fire and Auto Insurance. He, Mentioned some of the points that an owner of a building should remember when he wishes to insure his building for protection against fire, and the reason for the supplement Insurance Contract with respect to boilers and oil stoves, etc. After Fire Insurance, he talked a few minutes on Auto Insurance stressing the different classes of drivers with respect to the amount of primiums that people must pay on their policies. He quoted the costs for the different amounts of coverage on a vehicle. He also listed some of the different parts of the car that can be insured such as transportation (on a ferry) plate class, radio trailer for farm purposes, etc.

Mr. Tedstone spoke briefly on the history of life insurance, the different policies that the Insurance Companies have, eg., term insurance, lifetime insurance, endowment, pensions, and annuities. He listed some of the age groups that would receive the payments when the policies mature. The rates of life insurance are based on the age of the person and the time that he wishes to pay, the shorter the period of time, the higher the preminiums of the policy, the longer the period of time, the smaller the premiums on the policy.

Tonight, Wednesday, October 27th, the seventh of the series lectures of the School of Business Administration, sponsored by the Board Of Trade, Huntingdon, as a service to the community, will be held at the County Building, Huntingdon. Mr. E. C. Martin, Secretary of the School Board, Will speak on School Law. It costs nothing to attend. Just bring your pencils and paper and be at the County Building for 8.30 p.m. sharp.

Chateauguay Valley Teachers Attend Inservice Training Course

Fifty six teachers of the Chateauguay Valley assembled at Ormstown High School on Thursday evening, to begin an Inservice Training course entitled, "The Improvement of Reading in Chateauguay Valley Schools". The idea of an "on-the-job" training programme, in contrast to summer school which few teachers find themselves in a position to attend, promises to be one of the most constructive projects undertaken by any teacher group in rural Quebec during recent years.

This lecture series has been made possible by close accord between the Chateauguay Valley Association of Protestant School Boards and the District Teachers' Association. The C.V.T.A. has been particularly fortunate, moreover, in procuring Professor C. Wayne Hall of the McGill School for Teachers as course director. Professor Hall is perhaps the most outstanding authority on the Teaching of Reading in the Province of Quebec, and his expressed willingness to undertake the Reading Course has ensured its success.

While fifty-six teachers attend the initial meeting there is every reason to anticipate a membership of over sixty within the next two weeks. Teachers represent primary, junior and high school departments from Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Franklin, Hemmingford, Howick, Huntingdon, Ormstown, and Valleyfield.

Lectures are held weekly and are of two hours' duration. Professor Hall lectures the combined group for the first forty-five minutes following which teachers divide into smaller groups, according to the grades they teach, for a practical work-shop period. Such an arrangement enables class teachers of all Valley schools to compare teaching techniques and to pool their thinking in affecting a general improvement in their present methods.

Because Chateauguay Valley pupils will ultimately reap the reward of this Teacher Training Project both school boards and teachers deserve high commendation for having taken so positive a step.

The meeting adjourned and delicious refreshments were served to bring the evening to a close.

Rotary Speakers Talk on New Nurses' Residence and St. Lawrence Seaway Changes

REV. E. I. JOHNSON

On Monday the Rev. E. I. Johnson, Pastor of St. Paul's United Church, Ormstown, and on the Monday previous John K. Dickson, Ormstown, Chairman of the Board of Governors of The Barrie Memorial Hospital, addressed the Huntingdon Rotary Club. These two men from Ormstown picked subjects that were of real interest to their attentive audiences. Mr. Dickson's remarks dealt with the desire to have a Nurses' Home built adjacent to the Hospital, for which tenders were being invited in the last issue of the Gleaner. The proposed Nurses' Home would follow along the lines of a motel as to layout and construction. Each nurse would be provided with a private room, and share the use of a living room with three other nurses. The plan was quite compact and generally believed will work out quite satisfactory for the staff.

The Nurses' Residence would be heated through the use of a steam line from the Hospital heating plant.

The Rev. E. I. Johnson's talk was not one of new construction, but dealt with the Social Repercussions re. the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Rev. Mr. Johnson came from the area immediately west of Cornwall, Ont., at Moulinette. This area is to be flooded and it was the problem of satisfying the long time residents in that area that formed the basis of his interesting talk. Out of 65 families in one hamlet, only 10 have indicated willingness to vacate and accept the financial offers made for their properties, or what is to be offered in place of what they have had. The new type of dwelling, remote from the main highway and river means many of these folks will not be in a position to augment their annual income, that they may receive through providing tourist accommodation. Then again the prices offered for some properties is much below what the occupants may have paid for the farm or home when acquired. In the case of many old folks, they seem to resent the idea of entering into a new home built on a small lot of land, but would prefer living in their old home, on a sizeable plot of land, with which they are perfectly familiar. To solve the latter cases Mr. Johnson stated some of the homes were going to be relocated as they are but repaired after being moved.

The repercussions are many amongst the people west of Cornwall to Morrisburg. The way Mr. Johnson explained matters it would appear many of the arguments had merit but that such was not being given sufficient consideration by the powers that be. Indications point toward the fact that from the surveys made, the expropriations will be made but that humanitarian considerations will be altered considerably.

Ormstown Legion to Open Poppy Campaign and Hold Joint Memorial Service

Once again the Ormstown Branch 196 of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. is asking the people of Ormstown and District to wear a Poppy on Remembrance Day. It is an excellent way to help the disabled Soldiers of two wars and should not be overlooked. During the years since Col. John McCrae wrote the challenging poem "In Flanders Fields", the poppy has taken on a peculiar significance by the free countries of the world. The people of Canada are asked to wear a poppy and to pause briefly to honour the dead. The debt, we who live, owe to those who died, that we may be free.

Clarence Baird, chairman of the Poppy Campaign, asks the public to give freely and buy a poppy when the canvass is made the first week of November. Contributions of $1. or more will receive an official receipt. Branch 196 also extends an invitation to all to attend the joint Memorial Service in St. Paul's United Church at 10.30 a.m., Nov. 7th, and the laying of the wreaths after the church service. Help the disabled as we give our time. "They served till death — why not we".

NOT ALL PROFIT

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Parking meters here bring in an annual revenue of $30,000 but city officials say most of this goes out in maintenance and salaries.

Round Byre AND Ring

International Dairy Show

The Ontario Holstein exhibit to the 1954 International Dairy Show, at Chicago, Ill., certainly made a great showing and thereby won many prizes, to the credit alike of the Holstein breed in both Ontario and Canada in general. However, before making further reference to the Ontario Holstein Winnings we might well quote an interesting item from the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, report concerning the International Dairy Show in general.

"The International Dairy Show", says the report, "was brought to the attention of the urban people of Chicago by a monster, mile long parade at which the Mayor (of Chicago), the Governor (of the State) of Illinois and the Hon. Ezra Benson, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, were on the reviewing stand. Since the day selected was the anniversary of the great Chicago fire, a float featuring Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicking over the lantern (legendary cause of the fire) occupied a prominent spot.

"Directing the attention of Children to the benefits of milk was a float on which Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion and now owner of a milk vending machine business, sat enthroned surrounded by boxing gloves."

Ontario's Grand Champion

According to the Holstein Friesian Association report there were 276 head of Holsteins in that section.

A.B.C. Shamrock Mildred of Rosafe Farm of Dr. Hector I. Astengo, Brampton, Ont., first headed a class of 35 aged cows and then went on to win the senior and grand female championships. In the competition for the senior championship A.B.C. Shamrock Mildred's strongest opponent was Gray View B.D. Skayanne (H. A. Nelson & Sons, Union Grove, Wisc.) which was first in the three-year old class at Chicago and which had been grand champion female the previous week at the U. S. National Holstein Show at Waterloo, Iowa. The "Skayanne" heifer was made reserve senior and reserve grand champion to A.B.C. Shamrock's Mildred. Quoting from the report of the H-F. Association. "Judge George W. Trimberger (of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.) said both had marvellous udders and were sharp, smooth and full of dairy character. He particularly praised the head and neck, rib and rump of Mildred."

As an indication of the strength of the aged cow class, last year's winner Maple Lea Sunset Sally (L. B. Reid, Ripley, Ont.) was forced down to eighth place this year. An entry of D. W. Shively, Springfield, Ont., was fifth.

Ontario Junior Champion

The first prize heifer calf, Haigertlee Jean Hope, by Spring Farm Fond Hope, was junior champion female for T. H. McGee, Norval, Ont.

Other Rosafe Farm winners included Rosafe Shamrock Top and Rosafe Shamrock Bonnie, respectively fifth and seventh in the 4-year old cow class. Incidentally, Shamrock Top was All-Canadian 3-year-old in 1953, while Shamrock Bonnie was Reserve All-Canadian three-year-old in 1953. Third and fourth prizes for senior yearling heifers, third prize for 3-year-old bull and third prize for bull calf also went to Rosafe Farm.

Other Ontario winners in the individual classes included: Harold James Sarnia—fourth prize 4 year old cow; George Ainslie, Curries, and Harry M. Clark, Blenheim—fifth prize bull, 3 years old or over; J. D. Innes, Woodstock, twelfth 3 year old heifer.

The grand champion male was Cash-Mar Ormsby Jerry for C. M. Bottema, Bridgeport, Ind. The junior and reserve grand championships for males went to Carnation Farms, Carnation, Wash.

First for Get-of-Sire

Rosafe Farms also won first in the Get of Sire class with 4 cows by A.B.C. Reflection Sovereign (grand champion male at the International Dairy Show in 1953). The group was comprised of the grand champion female A.B.C. Shamrock Mildred, and the prize winners in the 4 year old class already mentioned—Rosafe Shamrock Kit, Rosafe Shamrock Top and Rosafe Shamrock Bonnie. Rosafe Shamrock Kit and her twin sister Rosafe Shamrock Kay also won second prize in the progeny of dam class.

The Rosafe exhibit also won first for Dairy Herd and for the three best female and third for junior get of sire.

Ontario stood second in a class of ten State or Provincial Herds, being beaten by Wisconsin on what Judge Trimberger is quoted as having called "an extremely close decision."

Ontario Ayrshires Also Leading Winners

While our information in that respect is rather sketchy, in fact confined to a very brief Radio announcement, we understand that the Ontario Ayrshire exhibit at the 1954 International Dairy Show, at Chicago, did very well indeed. However, so far our only definite information is that Stansell Bros., Aylmer, Ont., won the senior and grand female championships on a Leitchcroft-bred cow. Also that the Ontario Ayrshire exhibit scored first in the State or Provincial Herd competition.

Unique Project

A plan or project that might well be emulated by other Fairs or Organizations might well be said of the Norwood Fair, (Ontario) Heifer Calf Project.

"With the thought in mind of providing foundation seed stock for boys and girls on the farms in the district, Norwood Fair has this year supplied forty boys and girls with Holstein heifer calves", says a report of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

Under the personal supervision of G. A. Brethen, President of Norwood Fair, the forty heifer calves were selected in York County last spring. They were sired for the most part by bulls in the Maple and Toronto District Artificial Breeding Units and they ranged in age from November, 1953 to Frebruary, 1954.

They were drawn by lot on April 3rd., and the ownership recorded in the names of the girls and boys. These young charges, with the help of their parents, reared the calves throughout the summer, and attended several meetings where they learned proper feeding, grooming, clipping and showmanship.

The calves, says the report, were a top quality group, and the young folks did an excellent job of feeding and training them.

Thirty-eight of the original forty were shown by their youthful owners at Norwood Fair, bringing the project to a successful conclusion. Moreover, ten of the calves were selected to be shown in the open class at the Peterborough County Black and White Show held earlier in the season.

In the Howick-Ormstown-Huntingdon district we have three very active Calf Clubs—the old established Howick Ayrshire Calf Club, the Ormstown Calf Club and the Huntingdon Calf Club. So also have they outstanding 4H. Heifer Calf Clubs in most every county in Ontario, including Peterborough in which Norwood is situated. But in all these districts or counties the memberships are on a very limited basis. That is when one considers the large number of other girls and boys who do not have the same facilities for obtaining calves as have their more fortunate compatriots who are members of the 4H Clubs. It is therefore suggested that the local or district Breeders' Clubs and Fairs might well give some thought to the Norwood Fair project, with a view to emulating same.

Prevent A Third World War

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Deputy Supreme Commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe, told a press conference at Bergen, Norway, recently that "if a counterpart of NATO had existed before the last war there would not have been any war."

How many of the major and the minor tragedies of this world in the past have hung on that little word "If"! And that applies especially to European wars from Napoleon onward. We can now say that if that little Corsican warmonger had been faced with an armed Atlantic alliance he never would have attempted to overrun the whole of Europe. As it was, Britain fought Napoleon alone, while the United States, nominally neutral, cut off trade with Britain, entered into agreements with France and tried to annex Canada in the war of 1812 when Napoleon launched his campaign against Russia.

A hundred years later the German Kaiser declared war on Britain and France with the object of repeating the Napoleonic conquests of Europe, plus the British Empire; which he would never have attempted IF he had thought he would have to face an Atlantic alliance with the United States. But the United States was again neutral and looked on the conflict for two years while Britain was fighting alone. Twenty years later, Hitler made the same miscaugulation, gambling on the neutrality of the United States, in his planned blitzkrieg for world conquest. Britain again had to fight alone until the United States was stabbed in the back by Japan at Pearl Harbor. That treacherous blow knocked all the neutrality out of the United States and sent the American people fighting mad into the war for their own safety.

Hindsight is easier than foresight, and all our ifs about the past are vain unless we apply them to the present and profit by our mistakes. That is what Montgomery meant when he applied the "if" to the beginning of the last war, and implied that if the western nations failed to support the North Atlantic Alliance, a third world war would be inevitable in view of the growing military might and agressive policy of Soviet Russia.

As much as we hate war and want to live at peace with all men, we cannot afford to leave ourselves open to attack by nations whose rulers, puffed up with their absolute power at home, seek to extend it to the rest of the world. All dictators down through the ages have been rapacious for more and more power, and they have only been checked at home by assassination and abroad by war. But they have never gone to war with a nation that they knew they could not conquer. Like the bully in the school-yard ,they would never hit a nation of their own size or fighting strength, but sometimes they made a miscalculation.

NATO was organized as a defensive alliance by nations that had shown their desire for world peace by demobilizing their fighting forces immediately after the last war. The big German bully was well beaten and we imagined the horrible example of that beating was sufficient to discourage any sane nation from starting another such conflict. But we did not reckon with the ingrained insanity of Communism, the declared aim of which is conquest by conspiracy and world revolution. Seeing the disarmament of his former allies, the Red lunatic in the Kremlin asylum thought that here was his chance for a coup de main. With nearly half the world within his grasp, the weakened remainder was his for the taking of it! And so it might have been if the western nations had not been awakened from their dream of peace by the fact that they were being sniped and sapped by Moscow-trained political perverts from within, in preparation for the final coup. NATO arose out of that situation, and IF only that alliance is maintained at full strength it can disillusion the Red world revolutionists.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor

Dear Sir.

There appeared in a Magazine a short time ago, another dissertation on the evils caused by Prohibition, so it might be fitting to look at it as seen by others than the liquor interests. The following is a copy of an Article written a few years ago by Dr. George Little, and published in the United church Observer. I quote — "When will people stop repeating the parrot cry of the liquor interests that prohibition was a failure? Arrests for drunkeness decreased, as did the cases of neglected children and poor relief. The jails were emptied, Keeley cures closed down, working men bought houses and cars, dressed and fed their children well, while consumption of milk increased. The flop house type of citizen disappeared. Judged by any measurable social welfare test, Prohibition was a Glorious Success." George A. Little. Unquote.

We are here shown how that, by loud and continued assertion, even of an untruth people become imbued with an idea, and come to believe it implicitly.

However, Prohibition was voted out, and what has been the result? Certainly no lessening in the consumption of liquor. More and larger breweries are being built, taverns are springing up at every corner; Accidents and crimes from the use of liquor are multiplying to such an extend that even the brewers are getting worried. After trying by every fiendish device conjured up by their fertile brains, to induce people to drink — even sending it free to the armed forces — after having taken away all his money, his health, his reputation, everything which makes a man a man, and having left him one of the most disgusting of God's creatures, a drunkard, then they think of reforming him.

Trying to reform a drunkard reminds one of the old adage, "keeping an ambulance at the foot of a cliff instead of building a fence at the top ". For long years the ambulances have been in use, and every hospital asylum, jail, refuge of any sort, and many homes, house the fallen, and still people fall, or are being pushed, over the cliff of alcoholism. Is it not high time to build some fences?

I fear that some of us abstainers are getting very apathetic. Serine in our own security, we forget that we are our brother's keeper, and we neglect our fence building. We would not altogether advocate the tactics of the Pioneer women of Prohibition in the U.S.A. But they certainly built fences. Those fences got broken in places, but that does not mean that they were not good fences. It is a terribly strong fence that never gets broken. Dr. Little has shown us how effective those were. How much better to prevent one from falling, than to heal a fallen and broken body.

So, let us be on the alert to prevent any encroachment on the law, particularly in the matter of advertising. Let us find out what the laws are, and if they are the best which can be made and enforced. In short let us do all we can to keep people from becoming the victims of alcoholism.

Rise up, O men of God.
And gird your armor on.
Give heart and soul and strength and mind
To serve the King of Kings.

M. A. VanVliet.

Electric Power and Light Rates

IT would be well for users of electric power and light to take a look at their bills. Just recently changes have been made in rates and some previous privileges have been taken away. In the past, when paying the electric light bill we have been in habit of receiving a discount of 10% providing the bill has been paid within ten days. Thus, supposing the amount of the bill including tax, is $20.00, the amount paid would be $18,00 if paid before the time limit, otherwise the amount paid would be the full of $20.00. Under the present system you pay the $20.00 and if not paid within the specified time, you pay approximately $22.20. In other words there is no discount and you are penalized a further amount of over 10% for not paying your bill promptly.

There has been a revision in rates and a comparison of the differences between the old and new is shown here.

E-80 RESIDENTIAL SERVICE

Old Rate

33¢ service charge per month
3.5¢ per kwh for the first 50 kwh per month
1.5¢ per kwh for the next 150 kwh per month
1.1¢ per kwh for the balance of monthly consumption
Discount—10%—10 days. Min. monthly payments $1.00 net.

New Rate

Fixed charge 30¢ per month
3.4¢ per kwh for the first 50 kwh per month
1.6¢ per kwh for the next 150 kwh per month
1.0¢ per kwh for the next 600 kwh per month
1.2¢ per kwh for the excess monthly consumption
Minimum monthly bill: $1.00

NOTE—In the case of residential service net rates are 90% of the gross rates. The gross rates will be applied if the bill is not paid within 15 days from date.

Let us take a specimen account for one month where 900 kwh have been used. At the old rate we would have the following:

Monthly service charge	.33
50 kwh at 3.5¢	1.75
150 kwh at 1.5¢	2.25
700 kwh at 1.1¢	7.70
	$12.03
Tax at 2%	.24
	$12.27
Less Discount 10%	1.22
Paid if bill not past 10 days	$11.05
Now at the new rate:
Monthly service charge	.30
50 kwh at 3.4¢	1.70
150 kwh at 1.6¢	2.40
600 kwh at 1.0¢	6.00
100 kwh at 1.2¢	1.20
	$11.60
Tax at 2%	.24
Paid up to fifteen days	$11.84
After 15 days approximately	$13.10

The gross rate on the two bills is $12.27 and $11.84, which shows a saving on the new rate of approximately 43¢. However, at the old rate a discount of 10% was allowed if paid within 10 days, thus the old rate bill would be $$11.05 or a saving of 79¢ over the new rate. Under the new rate, one pays the bill in full, or $11.84. If the bill is not paid within 15 days, approximately 11% is added to it and the amount paid becomes approximately $13.10 which is called the gross amount.

This seems to be a peculiar method of accounting and even an attempt to disguise an extra raise in rates. If the new bill were taken on the basis of $11,84 less 10% discount, the amount would be $10.66 or a saving of 39¢. By this method one loses the saving and also the discount and is penalized into the bargain for non-payment within a certain period. The gross amount as we know it is the total of amount charged for current used and the tax. That being so, then 90% of $11.84 would be $10.65. This according to wording on the bill then, should be the amount paid within the 15 days. If this period passes then the amount of $11.84 becomes payable. But from a letter received this is not the case. According to the letter it is computed $11.84 divided by 90 and multiplied by 100 to obtain the gross amount. This would give us as stated above, approximately $13.10.

We have consulted accountants who are well up in their work and we have spoken of the matter to school teachers and other mathematicians and none have heard of this method of arriving at the gross amount of a bill.

Hallowe'en

WHILE Sunday, October 31st, is actually All Hallows Eve, most of the celebrating will be done on Saturday evening, October 30th. Hallowe'en is much more mildly celebrated nowadays than in former years. While the early celebrants may have thought they were having and exceedingly good time, actually many of the tricks played were dangerous and nonsensical. Some of the tricks played were often done so in spite which would not be tried on any other occasion. There was an idea that whatever was done on Hallowe'en could not be punished by law and many a bad deed was allowed to go unpunished because it took place at this particular time. Property damage, stealing and so forth played parts in the Hallowe'en tricks of the past. Animals were let out of barns, machinery dragged hither and yon, air let out of tires on cars and gasoline drained. Such tricks could not be regarded as funny, even though they may be funny to those who did them.

For the past few years, a more sensible attitude has been maintained toward this celebration and parties of one kind and another have been organized both for children and adults. It has been found that just as much fun can be had this way and perhaps an even more enjoyable time. One thing, at these parties it is not necessary to be on the alert for police to chase the people away, or for angry owners of properties taking a pot shot with a gun. Everyone is safe and property is safe. There is no better way of enjoying Hallowe'en than this and no one is going to mind it being celebrated in such manner.

The Huntingdon Rotary Club is organizing a party for the children of the district, to be held in the Huntingdon Theatre in the early part of the evening. Huntingdon Firemen are sponsoring their annual Hallowe'en Costume Dance at Heath's Hall and there are a number of other similar parties and dances being organized throughout the entire area. The children will no doubt make their regular calls for treats, but if it doesn't go beyond that, no one will mind.

For those that may have a notion to go into the vandalistic type of tricks, the police will be organized to make rapid checks of complaints and to investigate. If they have to do much of this, it may not be so funny for those who are caught. We suggest therefore, that it is better to attend a party and have an enjoyable time there and to forget trying to create a disturbance.

The Blind Campaign

AT this time a campaign to raise funds for the benefit of the blind is being conducted in Huntingdon and Ormstown. These campaigns are conducted under the auspices of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, or, as it is known, C.N.I.B. A local committee has charge of the campaign at each point and the amount of money raised is kept in the district for use of persons residing in the area. Should it be needed for Headquarters requirements elsewhere, it can be used, but a credit is given to the district so that the amount can be claimed should it in turn be needed in the district. Thus in this way a district always can claim what it has raised. Should the need of a district go beyond what it has raised then it can call upon headquarters for help. In such a case it would be expected that at the next campaign a higher objective would be set. In the present case the objective for both points has been set at $1,000 each.

Not only is the money used to help those who are blind and may be in need, but also for those who may be in danger of losing their sight. Medical care is looked after in order to try and preserve the sight or to postpone the actual time when a person may be classed as blind.

Those who have their sight have no conception of what it means to lose it. Those who have had good sight and must turn to glasses, realize in some measure what it means. But all can imagine what it would be like to never see again those things which we are used to in our everyday lives. Not to see the familiar faces of the members of our family and friends. Not to see the sun, not to know the difference between daylight and darkness, to never see flowers in their beautiful colors and the thousand and one other things which we take in our stride. But take a look at a blind person and see how well they get around and can do things for themselves. To do this took long hours of patience and training and no doubt they often were ready to give it all up. It is these helps that the money raised in this campaign, will provide for someone needing it. They can be taught to read and enjoy good books, they can enjoy good music and listen to stories by means of talking books. They can be trained to various types of work in factories which only those with sight may be thought capable of doing. This all takes money and very often more than the individual has at his or her disposal. The fund raised comes in here and provides the blind person with a way of finding his own independence. There are very few people who want to depend upon others to any great extent if they can do for themselves. By subscribing to this fund we can all help in an unassuming way to give the blind person independence and a better way of living. There is nothing so cherished as sight. Much can be done even though suffering other incapacity, as long as we have sight.

When the canvasser calls on you for your contribution make it as generous as possible and be thankful you have your sight.

May 8th

Ormstown — More letters have been received by the Secretary of the Spring Show in June from the Exhibitors living at a distance, who expect to bring stock to the show, than in any previous year, at this date, some being from as far west as Toronto. Ormstown Live Stock Show is becoming known far and near as one of the best in Canada.

Huntingdon — There was the usual attendance at the picture show on Friday evening. Mechanically the pictures were first class but something of a little better moral standard would be just as entertaining and more beneficial.

That the mail box in front of the Bank of Commerce is a convenience was evidenced on Monday morning when Mr. Rae declared every one in Huntingdon seemed to be saving their letters to put into it.

A car load of joy riders skidded and dumped its load into Trout River. As no casualties passed through the clearing station, we presume it was a case of too large a rum ration.

Store-keepers are paying 43c a dozen for eggs and creamery butter is being sold for 50c a lb.

With the exception of the Presbyterian Church, everything is being run on the new time (Daylight Saving Time). It is expected they will adopt it on Sunday.

May 15th

Hemmingford — The auction sale held at one of the local farms brought high prices for stock. The grade cows averaging $145 while the purebred Holsteins were sold from $180 to $215. The two-year-old Holstein heifers went at $269 each.

Huntingdon — The Provincial Licensing Officer reports few Licenses for new autos. So far only 6 against ten times as many last year. He estimates there are at least 1000 cars in the three counties.

There is an active demand for heavy-draft horses. Many extra heavy horses have been shipped to Nova Scotia. Prices go from $200 to $250.

May 22nd

Howick — Engineers from the Quebec Department of Roads visited this vicinity and accompanied by members of the parish council, tested the finished portion of the Chateauguay River road by running an auto over 38 miles an hour in order to observe the vibrations produced on the car. The test wa ssaid to be satisfactory.

There are bad bogs on the clay roads which prevent autos from leaving the macadam.

May 29th

Riverfield — The road inspectors who sped over the road between Howick and Riverfield to test vibrations made one mistake. They should have made the trip in a steel tired carriage at 10 miles an hour and they would have had more vibrations. It would have given them fits. Yet how infinitely better is such a road than the almost impassable clay road. With elections pending now is the time to get PROMISES for much better highways.

June 6th

RIVERFIELD — Riverfield has a fine demonstration of what use a tractor is on a farm in the rush season and warm weather. Robert McKell with his Case tractor is doing the work of 10 horses and 3 men, as he has attached to the tractor a set of double disk cultivators, a spring-tooth and chain harrows. Robert can "carry-on", as he does up to midnight some evenings. The neighbours are besieging him to help them out in some of their fields where it is going very slowly by horse power.

Chateauguay — It is seldom that there has been seen such a crop of dandelions; the fields were a fine golden colour last week and this week are all white. A gentleman from Montreal just remarked about the height of the dandelions, many stalks were 18 to 20 inches in height.

Huntingdon — Yesterday was the hottest of three extreme days. In the afternoon the mercury passed the 95 mark on a certified thermometer.

THE TOP SHELF

By BENJAMIN BEVERIDGE

BEING INTERESTING NOTES OF NEWS IN COMMENT FORM

Gregory Clark, an editor of Weekend Magazine, was very much impressed with that delightful little English movie called "The Kidnappers." In fact, he thinks it is one of the best films ever produced; but, like a great many other Canadians, Mr. Clark wonders why a movie about Nova Scotia has to be filmed in another country by a foreign studio.

There are a number of good answers to this question, and we can give one of these answers by going behind the scenes of "The Kidnappers" (called "The Little Kidnappers" in the United States).

It cost J. Arthur Rank $150,000 to make the film. It would have cost at least $200,000 to make it in Cape Breton, the setting of the Scottish story. But apart from the money involved, it couldn't have been made by a Canadian company anyway. We don't have a studio capable of handling that kind of production. (It cost 20th Century Fox $205,000 for the sets for just three scenes in the color extravaganza "The Egyptian".) We don't have the equipment. (Some of the cameras used by the Rank studios cost $25,000 a piece.) We don't have the make-up artists, the stage engineers, the directors or the actors. Most of the good directors in Canada are with the National Film Board, a public-owned company not given to filming features such as "The Kidnappers". And Canada's acting stars, like Alexis Smith, Hume Cronyn, Alexander Knox and Raymond Massey, earn their living outside their native land.

Of course, the stars of the picture we are discussing were two little boys who don't make nearly as much money as Hollywood's Jackie Coogan and Shirley Temple used to make. This was in the English company's favor, although this was not the only reason why "The Kidnappers" was so much more satisfying than Fox's $5 million Egyptian film.

The real problem facing Canadian film companies, however, is the matter of distribution, and with the situation in this respect as it exists in Canada today there is no producing company able to take the chance of making an expensive picture with the hope of paying for it at the box office.

Distribution of films in this country is tightly controlled by the United States. Approximately $85,000,000 is taken in each year by Canadian filmhouses, and a sizeable part of this goes to the big picture companies in Hollywood. Most of Canada's 1,760 commercial theatres are in the American chains, although there are about 400 additional drive-ins and part time outlets. The French and Italian films that are in circulation these days are distributed through independent theatres or are produced by foreign firms in which Hollywood has financial interest. When the Rank organization of England tried to get into the Canadian circuit it was necessary to build up the Odeon chain in order to show English pictures and other foreign movies such as "Bitter Rice" and "The Bicycle Thief".

Perhaps this is the way things should be, in a business sense, at least. But it must be very frustrating to Canadian film companies who are aware that one of the moguls of the screen world, Louis B. Meyer, is himself a native Canadian.

It doesn't really take much to start a film company, of sorts. There are about 20 in Canada, some of which consist of little more than a movie camera, sans studio, sans staff, save the man who operates the camera. The most important studios are Shelley Films of Toronto, Crawley Films of Ottawa, which produced the excellent Christopher Chapman film, "The Seasons", which Imperial Oil distributes in Canada as a public service; the Associated Screen News of Montreal (formerly owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway, now an independent), and, of course, the N.F.B.

The National Film Board has about 4,000 outlets for its films in schools and among community groups, where the showings are free.

The Week At Ottawa

OTTAWA, (CP) — Six Canadians who know the Barren Lands are going north to help the Eskimos learn to live with the white man.

Four of the successful Candidates 300 persons applied — are married and their wives are expected to go with them to the remote posts at Aklavik, in the Mackenzie river delta; Churchill., Manitoba Southampton Island; Port Harrison on the eastern shore of Hudson Bay; Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island and Fort Chimo on Ungava Bay.

The job pays $4,500 to $5,000 a year plus a $900. allowance for a single man or $1,500 for a married man. In announcing the appointment of the six northern service officers, Northern Affairs Minister Lesage explained why the job was created;

"Most of the Eskimos are still nomads living much as they have done for centuries. They are finding different problems now because they are having to adjust themselves to a new civilization which is coming from the southern parts of Canada to meet them. Changes in their lives . . . and the changes in resources of game upon which their food supply depends make it neceessary for us to help them."

The six men for the job may assist the Eskimos with local industries such as boat-building, tanning or handicrafts and will be on the lookout for new outlets for native talents. They also will advise Ottawa of measures that might be taken to improve the life of the Eskimos.

All six officers have had experience in the North and three are living there now. They will come here first to study the background of the problems of Eskimos society.

They are : John Jameson Bond, 36, Toronto anthropologist now at Arctic Bay on northern Baffin Island; Albert James Boxer, 44, Thorold, Ont., and Yellowknife, N.W.T., who has 25 years' experience in the North as hunter, trapper and Aklavik trader.

Donald Coombs, 33, Simcoe Ont., and Ottawa, who has spent time in the Arctic since 1946; William Kerr, 53, Ottawa a member of the RCMP for 27 years with service in the eastern Arctic.

Robert Van Norman, 26, of Hamiota, Man., now with the RCMP detachment at Frobisher Bay; Douglas Wilkinson, 34, of Toronto and Kirk's Ferry, Que., a writer and director for seven years with the National Film Board.

First Seaway Work

The treasury board has approved a bid of $2,314,500 for the first stage of construction in the St. Lawrence seaway. The work covers excavation in rock of a navigation channel and construction of a dike to drain the site in the Lachine, Que., section.

The successful bid was submitted jointly by three Ontario companies, McNamara Construction Company Limited, Toronto; Piggot Contruction Company Limited, Hamilton, and Peacock and McQuigge Limited, Toronto. Hon. Lionel Chevrier, president of the seaway authority, said the work is to begin immediately and be completed by June 30, 1957.

URGE WHEAT PAYMENT

The Interprovincial Farm Union Council, representing some 110,000 producers, has urged the government to make an immediate 15-cent-a-bushel interim payment on last year wheat crop.

The council, in a brief submitted to federal ministers, said Prairie grain farmers may lose about $400,000,000 because of a poor crop this year and that failure to boost western purchasing power promptly might spark a full-scale agricultural depression.

Council president J. L. Phelps placed the submission before various cabinet representatives, but The Canadian Press learned from Government sources that there will be no immediate interim wheat payment.

Maritime Oats Hit

The Maritimes' oats crop has been hit hard by black stem fungus but federal cereal authorities doubt that the disease will spread westward. Some of the damaged grain can be recovered, but harvesting is expensive. The Maritime oats crop is estimated at ouly 11,700,000 bushels.

Carried by spores the oats disease first was reported in the Maritimes in 1948 and damage appears to be increasing year by year, the agriculture department, said. This year, however, cereal men say the damage is "very serious". disease seems to thrive in the damp harvesting weather, causing deep concern among Maritime farmers who depend heavily on their oat crop for animal feed.

Russian Trade Feelers

Officials said the government is prepared to allow Canadian shipyards to build ships for Russia "up to certain dimensions." One federal authority said the goverment, which maintains a tight grip over export of strategic goods to Communist countries, would likely

Observations

Written specially for The Huntingdon Gleaner by Robert G. Sellar, Grenoble, France

Stockholm, Sweden

Stockholm is often referred to as the Venice of the North as the city is built on a series of islands as well as on the mainland. Being the capital of Sweden, the great Royal Palace is very predominating as it faces one of the many inlets of the harbour and in the distance, a part of the diplomatic row. These inlets permit passenger ferries and small cargo ships to load and unload in the centre of the city.

By the Royal Palace is the oldest part of the city. In this region there are the Stock Exchange, the Swedish Academy and the Nobel Library, the latter being the site where the famous Nobel Prizes are awarded to the outstanding citizens of the world every year. Nearby is one of the most famous and oldest restaurants in Europe, "The Gilden Kongen" or as it is more commonly called the "Cellar Restaurant". As the name implies, the restaurant is on three levels——two floors below street level and the main floor. According to an ancient licence hanging on the wall, the restaurant used to be an Inn where guests could secure lodgings and meals. The restaurant is over 300 years old. At one time, the establishment distilled its own brandies, but now the elaborate distillery is purely ornamental.

To eradicate slum or near slum conditions caused by building large housing units three and four deep, the city of Stockholm has gradually been demolishing the buildings between the ones lining the street and the back row facing the second street. In the space left, the land has been landscaped into beautiful gardens and parks. These parks are municipally owned and such that any one is permitted to walk through the pathways of the parks. It is certainly an ideal way of reducing slum conditions.

There are two very famous statues in Stockholm. One is the statue of St. George killing the dragon. This statue is actually a copy of the original which is in one of the churches. The original statue was sculptured in 1220. The other statue is to King Gustave III who was notorious in Swedish history as being the most dressed up man. It is said that he had more than 6000 different costumes and suits to choose from.

The royal burial place in Sweden is the Riddarholm Church founded by King Magnus Ladulas in 1270. Since then, many of the Kings and Queens of History have been interred there as well as some of the great generals and statesmen. Throughout the centuries, different chapels have been built. The largest is the Gustavian chapel which was built about 1650 on the orders of King Gustave II. The church is the home for the highest Order of Merit in Sweden, founded in 1748 by Frederic I. It is reserved only for knights and famous foreign people such as President Eisenhower.

The most prominent building in Stockholm is the City Hall which was completed in 1923 after some 12 years of construction, at a cost of $4 million. Over 20 million bricks were used of which one million of them are hand molded. The hand-molded bricks were used to build the Blue Room. This is a large reception-concert-auditorium — and I suppose if it was so desired, — a gymnasium. The architectural style is similar to that of Moorish and Roman architecture. The ceiling is blue. There is a large organ with a loft containing over 10,000 pipes, the longest Pipe being 33 feet, — the shortest about three inches.

The great Council Chamber seats the 100 councilors of which 27 are women. The Chamber is very luxurous — red chairs, red drapes that hang ceiling to the floor, green carpets and red carpets. The President of the Council is the Governor of Stockholm who represents the Federal Government but has no voting power. There are large galleries for special guests and the general public. The ceiling of the room is a copy of the Viking Houses. However the Viking Houses had holes in the ceiling for ventilation and to let smoke out. Thus in the Chamber, the holes are represented by rectangualr pieces of inlaid wood. The walls of the room are of pine wood covered with a layer of cloth projecting 19 inches from the wall. This is for sound proofing the room.

Near by the Council Room is the Room of 100 Arches, (an arch for each councillor), where there is a mechanical clock which has the Prince, St. George killing the Dragon and some other characters to symbolize an old Swedish folk song.

Beyond the Room of 100 Arches is the Granite Room with the beautiful black granite columns. The walls are concrete paintings done by the late Prince Eugen of Sweden who took some eight years to do the work. He was a very popular member of the Royal family and to many of the Swedish people he was known as the Painter Prince.

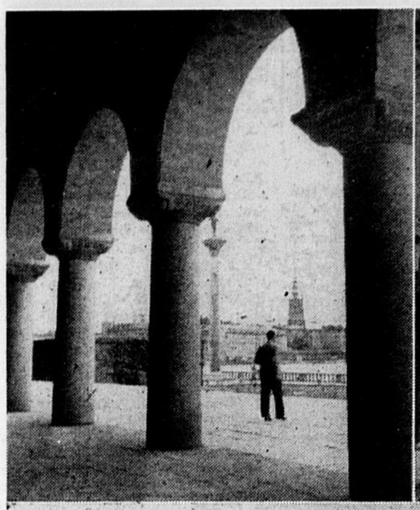

The most sumptuous room of the City Hall is the Banquet Hall where such dinners as the Nobel Dinners take place. The entrance doors are of oak and copper, each door weighing a ton. The walls of the room are inlaid gold mosaic pieces, (around 25 million pieces). The mosaic scenes are a monument to the development of Swedish culture. At one end of the hall there is a scene to the Swedish nurse, Alex Branestrom, who aided and comforted the German prisoners in the First and Second World Wars held captive in Russia. She is known as the Angel of Siberia. The most unusual aspect of the whole room is that the artist was only 23 years old when he did all the mosaic work.

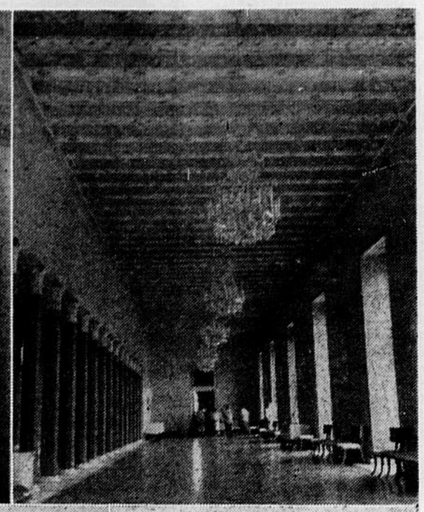

Since Stockholm is built on a series of islands, the mony boat trips through the canals and rivers are very picturesque. I took one of the longer boat trips which took the best part of the afternoon. The boat took us past the City Hall and on up one of the rivers past thousands of moored pleasure craft from row boats to large cabin cruisers. Our tour passed by one of the largest hospitals that I have ever seen. The hospital has 5400 rooms which contain 12,600 beds. There is a staff of 1400. I was told that the doctors quite often ride bicycles along the corridors when they are visiting patients. The roof of the building is strong enough to permit a helicopter or a small plane carrying a patient to land.

One of the greatest alcoholic beverages in the Scandinavian Countries is "snaps", (pronounced "Schnaps") or properly called "acquavit". This is a liquor which is drunk ice cold with fish dishes such as shrimps and pickle herring. Snaps is made from potatoes. I saw one of the distilleries which was relatively small in size yet large in capacity — over 600,000 gallons a day.

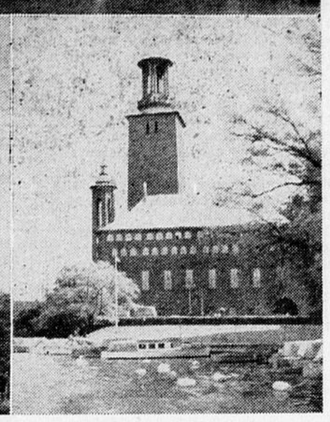

Within Stockholm, there are several large parks. One of the most popular with the younger group is the Skansen Gardens. This park contains an open-air museum, a zoo, a number of open-air concert stages, folk-dancing and modern dancing floors, a theatre, several restaurants, glass and pottery works as well as many miles of beautiful walks which give wonderful views of the city. From one of the lookouts, I was able to see a very unusual youth hostel. It is an old three-masted sailing ship converted into a hotel and restaurant. The restaurant is noted for its wonderful open face sandwiches similar to the open face sandwiches that the Danes are so famous for.

Behind the rows of black granite pillars, are some of the paintings of the Painter Prince, the late Prince Eugen of Sweden. The chandeliers are of the famous Swedish crystal. There are also a number of scenes in bas-relief along the walls by the windows. Lower left hand corner: The largest hospital that I have ever seen anywhere in Europe. Ormstown High School Notes

INSERVICE TRAINING

Through the joint efforts of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers' Association and the Chateauguay Valley Association of Protestant School Boards, a new project has been worked out for teachers of at least eight schools of the area. Under the capable leadership of Professor C. Wayne Hall of McGill School for Teachers, an inservice training programme was held for the first time on Thursday, evening October, 21.

Classes will be held weekly and will be of two hours duration. Professor Hall, a specialist in English and Reading, will entitle his series, "The Improvement of Reading in the Schools of the Chateauguay Valley". Some sixty teachers from Beauharnois, Chateauguay, Franklin, Hemmingford, Howick, Huntingdon, Ormstown and Valleyfield have registered in the course which is being held at Ormstown High School. To the best of our knowledge, this is the first project of its kind to be undertaken in rural Quebec. There is every reason to believe that it is going to be a very worthwhile one.

Ormstown High School Notes

PUBLIC ADDRESS INSTALLATION — Thanks to Messrs. Roland Anderson and Ken Aldridge the new public address system at Ormstown High School has been almost completed. From a central operating panell in the Principal's office, it is now possible to communicate with all but two classrooms in the school. Classes are thus able to enjoy direct or delayed radio programmes, recordings, or play-backs of programmes made by themselves. We hope to demonstrate our new equipement to parents and friends on Chateauguay Day, October 27.

O.H.S. MUSEUM — A special Museum Committee under the co-chairmanship of Betty Forrester and Gordon Duncan, Grade Ten, has been created to invite families of Ormstown either to contribute or to loan desirable articles to our new O.H.S. Museum. On many occasions in the past, fine museum collections have been displayed in the school. These have proved of great public interest as well as of real educational value to the students. The students, staff and school board have decided, therefore, to set up a permanent display in the School. Two large cabinets were built during the summer for the purpose of housing the museum. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard articles in the collection. During the next two weeks, the committee will be contacting selected families who are known to possess suitable items. Both school and community would be most grateful to them for their generous co-operation with the experiment.

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN — Students of Ormstown High School have once again undertaken the Magazine project and are now engaged in establishing a clientelle. Proceeds from the sale will go into the Student Council Treasury. During recent years, any cash surplus has been donated to the school for desired improvements.

Cafeteria — The Cafeteria Director has requested that parents and friends of the school continue to send in contributions of fruit and vegetables which at this time of year are most gratefully received. Help of this kind, will ensure a superior menu at the lowest possible cost to the students. Our grateful thanks to the following for their generous contributions: Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay.

Brooklet

BROOKLET — Mr. and Mrs. Willie Graham of Chateaugay spent Wednesday evening, Oct. 13th, with Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilson.

Mr. Arthur Forester of Calgary spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sutherland and family of Dundee also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott.

Miss Dian Rennie is spending a few days with Misses Frances and Helen Elliott.

Mr. Alb. Cowan of Chateaugay spent Saturday with Mrs. Fred Sweet.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Forrester of Ormstown were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilson.

Maple Leaf Grange

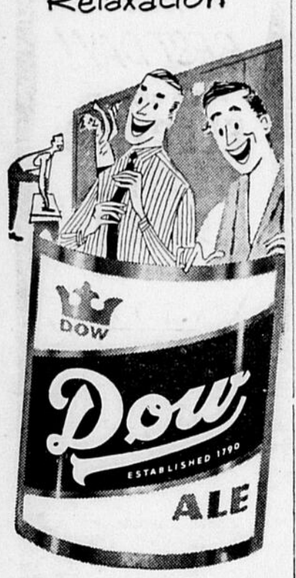

At the last meeting of Maple Leaf Grange No 11, the following officers were installed for the comming year.

McDonald; Gate Keeper, Harold Higgins; Chaplain, Mrs. Pearl Graham; Lecturer, Basil Kelly; Secy, Rupert Hawley; Treasure, Catherine Higgins; Ceres, Grace Booth; Pomone, Rita Sadler; Flora, Anita Smith; Ex. Com. Stephen Flynn.

Installation ceremonies were carried out by Bro. Bernard Fleury, Marie Riendeau, Mary Rockhill and Rita Lauzon of Westville Grange.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Whyte assisted by Mrs. Janet Gavin and others an oyster supper brought the meeting to a close. The tables were tastefully decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving Season.

The Youth Committee are sponsering a variety concert which is to be given in Athelstan Munro Hall, Herdman Hall and Chateaugay N.Y. in the near future.

and then there was LIGHT!

Seventy-five years ago Edison invented the first practical light bulb. Thus began the great new era of electrical living—an era that has brought us all untold benefits.

Today, as we celebrate Light's Diamond Jubilee, electric power serves us at work and play, at home and in industry. It cooks our food and washes our clothes . . . it runs our machines, cools our offices and lights our lamps. It does so much to make our everyday life more convenient, more pleasant and still more fascinating.

Since 1901, about twenty-two years after Edison's achievement, Shawinigan has brought the efficiency and comfort of electricity to homemaker, farmer, industrialist and businessman. And, with the citizens of the Province of Quebec, Shawinigan looks ahead to an even brighter future, as it continues to harness and deliver the vital power that gives us the highest standards of ease and leisure in this age of light.

Recipe Suggestions For Zestful Living

TRIED AND TESTED FOR SATISFACTION

This Week - "Meat Parties"

Common to all of us is our love of beef. That is quite a broad statement to make because how many other foods are there that we can say everyone loves. Our meat consumption figures show that Canadians eat a lot of beef and pork, but not so much lamb and veal. Statistics also show that Canadians prefer roasts to other cuts, but the butcher has to sell all the cuts and we cannot just ignore some of them. And so, the home economists of the Consumer Section want to tell you about a type of meat that many homemakers do not buy very often, ground meat. In saying that it is a type of meat which is not bought very often we are not quite correct because after all every homemaker is very familiar with ground beef whether it is minced round steak or hamburger. But it is the less common ground meats such as ground pork, ground veal and ground lamb they want to describe to you.

Starting with the ground pork — there are two types of ground pork available, sausage meat which is ground pork to which seasonings have been added and plain unseasoned ground pork. Both ground veal and lamb are usually sold unseasoned. There is a very good reason for mentioning the fact that they are unseasoned. All ground meats can be bought in bulk by the pound, but frequently the ground meat sold in butcher shops has been shaped into patties and sold as meat patties with a dash of paprika on the top. These patties look very attractive and are a good buy, but Mrs. Homemaker should realize that she should add a little salt and pepper and other seasoning before cooking. The home economists also suggest that these patties may be served with a spicy meat sauce or gravy.

As mentioned, ground meat can be bought by the pound and can be made up into patties. The home economists of the Consumer Section have this excellent basic meat patty receipe:

1 ½ pounds minced lamb, veal or pork
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ to ½ teaspoon seasoning
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce (optional)
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg
2 table spoon water.

Mix meat and seasonings. Brown onions in a little fat if desired. Add slightly beaten egg and water. Shape into patties about ½ inch thick. Panfry on broil.

Season lamb with thyme or basil. Season veal with thyme, marjoram or savory.

Season pork with marjoram, sage or savory.

If desired patties may be dipped in dry bread crumbs than dipped in 1 egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons water, and dipped in additonal crumbs.

Panfry — Brown 1 - ½ minutes each side on moderate heat in a small amount of fat. Reduce heat and continue cooking 8 - 10 minutes each side. Drain fat off lamb and pork patties before turning them. Cover pork and veal after browning.

Broil — Follow general directions for broiling. Broil patties approximately 2 inches from heating unit 4 to 6 minutes each side or until well browned.

W.M.S. Thankoffering Meeting Held

ATHELSTAN—The Southern division Women's Missionary Society held its Autumn Thankoffering meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Anders on Friday last. Kenneth Masih, the 2nd Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Illinois; 3rd., Dr Sundar Gaikwad, superintendent, Mandleshwar Hospital, and 4th, Miss Marjorie Singh, principal, Indore High School. All of these women showed the marvellous impact made on India by the Christian community. A generous response was made to the Thankoffering. Letter to the Editor

213 Chateauguay St.,
Huntingdon,
October 23rd., 1954.

The Editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner.

Dear Sir,

It is reported this week, that the outdoor skating rink with artificial ice, has already been opened in Lafontaine Park in Montreal.

As it appears that the plans for the arena in Huntingdon have been held up for another year, could not some consideration be given to a similar scheme in this town.

There would seem to be enough places of public assembly in Huntingdon, without erecting another. Each High School has an auditorium, the three Protestant churches each have a hall, the Legion another, and there are two cinemas. The question arises, how much real estate can a town with a population of 3,000 or so carry, or be expected to support.

The first requisite of a skating rink is ice, and even with a new arena, there would be no guarantee of this except for very limited periods.

The publication of this letter, may draw out other readers' observations on the subject.

Yours faithfully,
Hugh Spencer.

Wedding

Gowned in a model dress of alpine rose pure silk taffeta, Miss Mary Evelyn Petch, was married on October 23, 1954 to Donald Courtland Case, son of Glen S. Case and the late Mrs. Case, in the Divinity Hall Chapel, McGill University. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Charles E. Huntingdon High School Notes

Basketball

The opening game of the Chateauguay Valley basketball league was held at the school on Friday, Oct. 22. The visiting team was Ormstown. The Huntingdon boys showed good teamwork and were the winners by a score of 33-13. Despite the score the Ormstown boys played well considering the fact that they have not an indoor court. Our girls team did not do quite as well and lost by a score of 21-10. Nevertheless this was quite an improvement over last year when the score was 56-2 in favour of Ormstown. Following the games, refreshments were served. Both our teams still have need for improvement but should benefit considerably from the time and effort devoted to coaching by Mr. McGerrigle and Mr. MacKrith.

During the past week inter-class basketball has been organized with an aim to provide as much pupil participation as possible in school sports.

Softball

The C.V.T.A. annual softball tournament was held in Huntingdon on Saturday, October 16. Due to unforseen difficulties only Ormstown, Hemmingford and Huntingdon participated. The weather was grand and an enjoyable time seemed to have been had by all.

Grade 2

The two grade 2's held a very successful Candy Sale recently for the benefit of the Junior Red Cross. The sum of $9.65 was forwarded to Red Cross Headquarters.

From the minutes of the Secretary of Current Event Class we learn that the class had the privilege of hearing an address by the Reverend Beal on the topic, "The United Nations". The speaker dealt with the principle course of the United Nation's Organization the work of the Security Council, and actual achievements of the various welfare organizations. In a short discussion following the speech, the pupils concluded that the work of specialized agencies, such as the World Health Organization, the International Labour Organization, and the Food and Agriculture Organization makes a greater and more lasting contribution in helping to create a world in which peace can be maintained than does the Security Council in balancing power against power.

Reverend Beal left numerous pamphlets which are extremely helpful to the members of the class engaged in research on the United Nations.

The speaker was introduced by Jean Dobson and thanked by Gloria Lacey.

Chateauguay

Auxiliary Anniversary

Chateauguay — The Woman's Missionary of St. Andrew's United Church Celebrated its 48th Anniversary on Friday, Oct. 22, when a Social Evening was held in the Church Hall.

Mrs. L. R. Taylor, Mrs. David Lang and Mrs. E. R. Richardson were on the reception Committee.

There was a short musical programme and three films were shown.

The first item was the singing of "O Canada", followed by words of welcome given by Miss Rhoda McFarlane to members and friends which included representatives from St. George's Anglican Church.

A piano selection by Miss Janet Wearing, Prelude by Clarence Pepin, was pleasingly rendered.

Mr. David Smith delighted everyone with Musical selections played between the showing of the pictures.

Mrs. L. H. Melville, by special request sang "I'd rather have jesus", with feeling and expression.

The first two films entitled Persia and Strange Gods of India respectively, shown through the courtesy of the Imperial Oil Company of Canada were much enjoyed. The second film was particularly appropriate showing as it did, the strange gods worshipped approximately 97% of the people of India who suffer from poverty and hunger, disease and illiteracy and the money lender.

The third film "Village of the Poor" was a contrast to the previous one shown. It also proved interesting and challenging.

A coloured film shot in a Christian village of Southern India it is the story of three lives transformed by Christ through the love and helpfulness of village Christians — Rama, a temple dancer, Bagianadan an illiterate farmer and Devidoss a shepherd boy. It shows how one transformed life influences another.

Mrs. C. M. McCully thanked the artists; the accompanist, Mrs. J. R. Dickenson, the projectionist, Mr. David H. Reid; and the Sunday School for the use of the projector; Mrs. Douglas Gilmour for the lovely Chrysanthemums which decorated the platform; the ticket convenor, Mrs. Dickenson and those who had sold tickets; the Refreshment Conveners Mrs. Herbert Davies and Mrs. Peter Fernandez and the members of the Y.P.U. who would assist in serving.

The Meeting closed with the singing of God Save the Queen, after which refreshments were served.

The Auxiliary is grateful to Mr. C. H. St George's W. A.

The W. A. of St. George's Anglican Church held an open meeting on Monday night in the Church Hall.

The meeting opened with prayers led by Mrs. R. O. Chretien.

Mrs. Jim Johnson welcomed the members, representatives from St. Andrew's Auxiliary, Rev. B. Valentine and Mrs. Moran from Beauharnois, and introduced Miss Elizabeth Giovetti, B. A. of St. Lambert, Que. on furlough from Church of England Mission Field in the Punjaub India.

Miss Giovetti, the principal of St. Anne's School for Girls at Palampur, India, was dressed in the typical native costume white trousers, an overdress with slit skirt and white scarf across her shoulders, which is also used as a head covering when needed.

Miss Giovetti gave a very interesting talk, illustrated with lantern slides, of the varied activities of school life.

The girls who attend this school belong to a tribe of the lowest Hindu Caste, living high in the Himalaya mountain region .

Besides the regular school subjects the girls are taught to spin and weave and given lessons in cookery.

The tribe subsists mainly on rice and when Miss Giovetti found her supply of chalk, for use in the classroom, dwindling, she discovered the pupils were eating it, they lacked calcium in their diet. This deficiency was remedied when she asked for and obtained vitamin pills to distribute to the needy pupils.

Miss Giovetti had on display two beautiful silk saris worn by the higher caste Hindu women, a string of jade beads and two jade rings bracelets of silver, glass, and to give a modern touch there were bracelets made of plastic. and other articles.

Miss Giovetti was thanked by Mrs. O. Bradley the meeting closed with the Benediction, pronounced by Rev. B. Valentine.

A social half hour followed when the hostesses, Mrs. James Lang and Mrs. R. Schurman served refreshments.

Mr. Francis Woodley accompanied by his mother, Mrs. O. W. Woodley of Montreal, were recent guests of Mrs. Edmond Jones.

Master Brian Davidson of Lachine, Que., was the week-end guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davidson.

But there seems to be precious little scope for such films in the commercial theatres.

Some of the camera work in full length features circulating in Quebec is unexcelled, but the stories are generally weak. While they are quite widely distributed in the French-speaking province, circulation outside Quebec is limited. Thus we return to what is perhaps the main answer to Mr. Clark's question: distribution.

In spite of these frustrations, it is interesting to note that at the first international film festival held recently in Durban, South Africa, three firsts and a second went to the National Film Board of Canada. Eighty films from 21 countries were entered in the competitions.

The Canadian National Ballet opens its new season on January 17 with new choreography by Antony Tudor, a Briton, with Offenbach music (German-French), and Moulin Rouge costumes and settings.

Frances Hyland, the young Regina actress who did so well with James Mason in "Measure for Measure" at Stratford this year, drew an unfortunate play for her television drama debut. The play was Ted Allan's Playbill production of "Goodbye Hollywood, Hello New York". The C.B.C. could not have saved the effort, even with a Sarah Bernhardt. But there is one consolation. Those who do not yet have TV will remember Miss Hyland for what she did at Stratford, and that will be to her advantage.

Bear for Punishment

ALASKA'S GIANT Kodiac bear plays rough. But the people who run the Bronx Zoo have found the perfect toy for him. It's an aluminum beer barrel, which in his playful moments he can bang, bounce and generally maltreat without serious damage. Having seen barrels (filled) being tossed around trucks, we can understand why breweries have turned to these rugged, attractive containers. Another reason, of course, is that aluminum is an excellent protector for food and drink, preserving their purity and flavour indefinitely. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Saving money... and writing cheques

A bank offers you two types of deposit account, Savings and Current.

If your main purpose is to save, to accumulate funds, it's good to have a Savings account.

If you write cheques frequently, you will like the many advantages of a Current account.

The money you leave in a Savings account earns interest, and your bank book gives you an up-to-date, continuing record of your financial progress. If your funds are active, with frequent deposits and withdrawals, a Current account provides a special service; a monthly statement, together with your cancelled cheques—useful as receipts and a ready reference for budgeting, bookkeeping and other purposes.

An Economists's Appraisal of Farmers' Marketing Schemes

During the course the annual meetings of the Canadian Agricultural Economics Society held recently at Macdonald College, Dr. R. B. How of Saskatoon presented an appraisal of agricultural marketing schemes. The full text of Professor How's paper will be available in the Canadian Journal of Agricultural Economics at a later date, but some of his comments regarding present or proposed marketing plans for hogs and other species of livestock are of particular interest.

In the first part of his paper Dr. How discussed the operation of fruit and vegetable marketing schemes in British Columbia, Ontario and the Maritime Provinces. For seasonal crops produced in relatively localized areas and which can be graded and stored centrally, co-operative marketing plans, efficiently managed and operated, have enjoyed considerable success. But he felt that "the same techniques which have been used by the apple and tree fruit boards do not appear to be capable of being used by a livestock or hog board, either operating provincially or nationally." Foremost among the difficulties Dr. How envisaged in the latter connection was the following.

"It does not appear likely that a livestock or hog board which does not possess control over all or most of the product available to processors and which cannot divert supplies into other channels or restrict sales can exert any appreciable bargaining power. The ability to withhold supplies at least temporarily—to wait, in other words is difficult if not impossible as far as livestock is concerned. Livestock production is a continuous and lengthy process and the alternatives that are available to the grower of annual fruits and vegetables prior to the beginning of the growing season are not available to livestock producers.

Basically Dr. How felt that the quest by livestock producers for greater bargaining power must stem from the belief that "profits constitute or may constitute an appreciable part of the unit marketing margin." But he said that "in this case the argument that marketing agencies are earning unduly high returns on invested capital is not as significant as whether this return amounts to more than a very small percentage of the value of products marketed. Stated in another way, the important fact as far as the exercise of bargaining power is concerned is whether any appreciable increase in farm prices would accompany the reduction or elimination of excess earning (profits) of marketing agencies." His conclusion in this respect was that "in the case of the livestock industry it would appear that although at times some firms have been able to make substantial earnings these would not have had much effect on farm prices if spread over the total volume handled. It is not likely that bargaining power alone would be sufficient to raise the level of meat and livestock prices."

As futher evidence of the inadility of processors or any other agency to arbitrarily control the price of livestock products, Dr. How observed: "Meat purchases form a substantial part of consumers' food expenditures and changes in the level of prices, particularly of any individual meat, are accompanied by considerable charges in the quantities purchased. The greater price elasticity of both the supply of and demand for livestock and meat in comparison with products such as fluid milk, would seem to have the effect not only of preventing marketing agencies manipulating the level of prices but also of making any program designed to change this level much more difficult. Programs involving production control or surplus disposal would soon become necessary."

As to the feasibility of a marketing board influencing prices by regulating supplies, the speaker said: "If a livestock or hog board, of the agency which it established, undertook to regulate the movement to market, it is conceivable that some increase in livestock prices might result. This would occur if this action enabled processors to obtain more constant supplies with greater certainty and thereby operate more efficiently." But he warned "part of any price increase, and perhaps a substantial part of it, would be offset by additional costs to the agency of carrying out this program and by costs incurred by individual farmers who would not be able to choose the time and place of sale."

Conceding that there may be shortcomings in the present livestock marketing system, Professor How was of the opinion that "there may be other more direct and effective means of dealing with these features than through the establishment of a livestock or hog marketing board." Further enlarging on this statement he said that "greater use of co-operatives, an expanded market information service and closer supervision of livestock trading by federal authorities and the extention of federal price supports through market operations are some alternatives to producer boards that may be desirable."

Dr. How felt that "two questions that possibly should be raised in connection with producer marketing schemes are whether farmers have been misled about the effectiveness of such schemes and the extent to which interest and support of schemes stems from the need to develop them in order to tain the benefits of other government legislation." In connection with the first question, he suggested that some provincial marketing acts contain provisions which "in actual practice cannot be used because of restrictions imposed either by the operation of the market or by courts of law." He cited the authority to directly fix prices or margins as a case in point.

He felt the second question, namely whether schemes were being developed to obtain greater facility in securing government assistance, e.g. under the Agricultural Prices Support Act, raises even more serious implications.

In conclusion Dr. How said: "I would simply like to re-iterate my belief that producer marketing schemes should be regarded simply as one instrument of government policy, rather than the only one, which should be made available to bring about improvements in agricultural markets . . . The greatest danger may well be that the unwise use of this instrument will lead either to preventing the development of changes which permit agriculture and the rest of the economy to progress, or to public reaction which will result in its use being withdrawn completely. As George Mehren said, 'the producer group which abuses the privileges of monopoly organization is most vulnerable to damage from economic controls . . . It is not society which should be protected from the use of monopoly in agriculture. It is agriculture which should be protected against its abuse."

Dr. R. B. How who has spent the past four years at the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon has received an appointment to Guelp Agricultural College, and with his wife and two small daughters arrived there last week. Dr. How spent many Summers on the farm of his Uncle and Aunt Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moe in Ormstown.

Dr. H. Cook

days and quoted much of this past history from the late Robert Sellar's book on the History of the Three Counties of Chateauguay, Huntingdon and Beauharnois. He remarked that the late Robert Sellar was a man who had very strong opinions and made very strong statements and much of this was to be found in his book. It was his hope that someone sometime would continue this history where the late Robert Sellar had left off. Such a book is the only means of reference that is to be found and has proved itself most useful time and again.

Throughout the various readings of the establishment of education in this county and surrounding areas, it was to be noted that much had to be overcome. Many teachers were what might be termed drifters, that is they came and went, some were drunkards, some were even ministers who were addicted to the drink habit. That the path of education was very rough and uncertain. As time went on however, changes and improvement took place and the Huntingdon School carved a great name for itself.

A few years ago, conditions at the school were not too good, but this seems to be righting itself and the future outlook is much brighter. It was thought that an addition to the school was an immediate requirement, but is now thought that this addition is not as urgent at the moment. However, the future may hold a different view and it may become necessary for an addition to be made to the school. The town is becoming more and more industrialized and of consequence there are more children coming along all the time because of an increase in the number of residents. It has been suggested that any addition that is made would be made where the long corridor goes between the schools, but that is out for the time being. It may happen that more room will have to be made in the near future or it may be a distant project.

Harmony within the school, among the taxpayers, and as between the school board and the public has greatly improved. The work of the pupils has improved and generally the picture is much brighter as we look toward the future. With such an outlook, the progress of the school can be counted upon and the general reports will show this improvement. One thing, Dr. Cook said, is that we must pay more attention to public relation. There must be more co-operation with the local press and we must see that news of our school is given to the press in order that the taxpayers and others will know more of what is going on and being done. Public relations is something that has been neglected in the past, but it must not be in the future. It is our greatest asset for better relations in general.

Keeping in mind all these things and with everyone working together in harmony, the school should show great improvement in the future.

Mrs. Sidney Smith thanked Dr. Cook for his address and remarked that there were quite evident signs of improvement and that the talk had further enlightened those there.

The gathering adjourned to the Household Science classroom, where refreshments were served.

Variety Concert

Favoured with a fine night, Munro Hall was packed almost to full capacity on Friday night for the Variety Concert put on by members from Kensington Grange. The programme was certainly varied, having items to suit a "variety" of tastes, all very enjoyable, but none more so than the one featuring our own local talent, Mr. Clarence French. A candy sale by the pupils of the Persbyterian Church School added more money to the funds. The Sunday School thanks the Kensington Grange for putting on such a fine programme.

Producers Request Increase In Price of Milk

Representatives of the United Milk Producers' of the Province of Quebec, led by their President, Mr. Stan Panneton of Three-Rivers, met the Quebec Dairy Industry Commission in Montreal on Thursday and requested that the price paid to milk producers be increased by the sum of 35c per hundred weight on the various fluid milk markets covered by their association which includes Montreal, Quebec City, Three-Rivers, Sherbrooke, Thetford-Mines, Drummondville, Victoriaville, Shawinigan Falls and Abitibi.

The reason given for the necessity of this increase is the almost catastrophic weather and the resulting crop conditions existing on farms over nearly the whole province. Nearly all of the approximate 4,000 farmers supplying milk to the Montreal market have been plagued with adverse weather conditions since early last Spring, state Mr. John K. Dickson, Vice-President of the Montreal Milk Producers' Association, who pointed out that due to an over abundance of rainfall, crops which would normaly be sown between May 1st and May 20th were in most cases not sown until sometime during the month of June. In fact, considerable land was unable to be sown at all, which immediately ruled out any possibility of a normal crop return, As many vacationists will recall, this rainy weather continued throughout the Summer making it impossible to properly save the hay crop and resulting in this crop being of a very low quality and of a much reduced feeding value.

Very little threshing of the grain crop had been accomplished by August 31st, on which date Montrealers will recall 2.67 inches of rain fell, thoroughly soaking the stooked grain and flattening most of the uncut grain. Since then, rains have continued often and heavy and there are still many farms on which the threshing has not been completed at the present time with the result that the balance of this crop still remaining is practically a total loss. In fact, any threshing done since August 31st has produced grain in a blackened condition and very low in quality.

With all this rainfall, the ground has become so sodden that much of the crop of ensilage corn which is normally all in silos by October 1st, is still standing because corn harvesters cannot be drawn across the muddy fields. This crop is now frozen and lifeless looking and any harvesting done in recent weeks has been by the old fashioned and labor consuming method of cutting the corn with sickles and then carting it through deep mud to the silo. The soggy condition of the pasture fields on which the milking cows feed is resulting in increased diseases in the dairy herd such as foot rot, mastitis etc. This is affecting milk production and there is at present actually less milk available on this market, over and above that needed to supply milk distributors day to day needs, than has been the case at any time during the past year.

Mr. Dickson continued: "Older milk producers in trying to recall a period when similar disastrous crop conditions existed, would remember the year 1918 (the time of the terrible "flu" epidemic which raged through the autum of that year) when corn was drawn off on stone-boats and fields were unable to be ploughed.

In order to maintain milk production during the coming winter season, dairymen are going to be forced to make heavy purchases of grain to replace that unharvested or to mix with the low quality portion which has been threshed; those purchases will necessarily consist largely of oats and barley which according to recent feed price quotations show an increase in price since last Spring of 60c and 40c per hundredweight respectively. The general unfavourable crop conditions in Western Canada are undoubtedly responsible for these increases.

In the face of those adversities, it must surely be recognized that the increase in price asked for is a modest one. If this increase is granted, it will result in price of $4.75 per hundredweight F. C. B., Montreal, to milk producers supplying this market.

past few years, Franklin has been closed for the winter months. Sunday services required this schedule: Ormstown at 11 a.m.; Franklin at 2.30 p.m. and Ormstown at 7.30 p.m. Communion is held at Ormstown on the first Sunday of each month. Besides preparing his subject for the sermon and arranging the hymns, etc., for the services, Rev. Payne has taught Sunday School all these years. He has had help with this and he says this year, it is the largest Sunday School attendance in his time. In connection with the church is a cemetery and it has been Rev. Payne's job to keep a register of the plots and be able to tell people where a person may be buried and any other particulars they may desire. Added to these tasks, are the marriages and baptisms, the giving of advice in so many ways and in generally looking after the welfare of his people. As he said, many of the men and women who are married and parents today, were the boys and girls in his flock of yesterday. He knows them by Christian name just like one of his family. He can talk to them just like a father. There have been more baptisms this year than for a very long period.

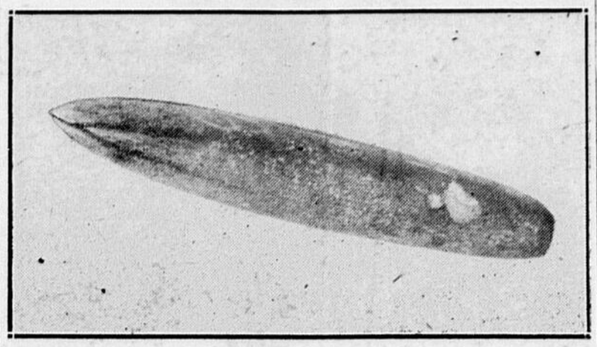

Talking of some of the past history of the church, Rev. Payne said: the first church was built in 1834 and the present stone church was built in 1852. The rectory, in which he resides close to the church was built in 1857. The first minister came in 1837 and was Rev. Wm. Brethour, grandfather of Mr. A. A. Lunan, of Huntingdon, Que. The first church was located back of the Campbell store in Ormstown, not at the site of the present church There was also a cemetery there.

Rev. Payne has been in the ministry for the past 42½ years, but it is quite noticeable that he is reluctant to leave it. However, as he says, he feels that he cannot carry the burden any longer and he must be relieved of the work. He hopes that a student minister will be obtained to take the services after he retires so that the parish is kept alive until a resident minister can again take over. There is much work to be done here and someone must do it, he says.

Correction in Howick High School Prize List

In the recent report of the prize distribution at Howick High School, which was published last week, an error occurred in one of the prizes. The list contained a prize as follows: The Howick Women's Institute History Prize; this should have been as follows: W. F. Welch History Prize, presented by W. F. Welch to Eva Macfarlane. The Gleaner has been asked to publish this correction.

UNUSUAL STONE FOUND AT HOWICK, QUE., MAY BE OF VALUE

Pictured above is a stone that was brought to the Gleaner Office on Friday, by R. B. Tolhurst, of Howick, Que. Mr. Tolhurst is located on the old Jim Cullen farm at Howick and it was while moving earth near the river that the stone was uncovered. Noting that the stone was rather unsual in its formation, Mr. Tolhurst brought it to the Gleaner as being something of interest. One of his daughters on looking up her history book came across pirtures of stones used in the stone age which resembled the one found.

The stone was about 18 inches in the earth and about 150 feet from the river bank. It is grey in color, very smooth and ground down to a very sharp knife-like edge at one end and blunted at the other. It is about ten inches long and fits the hand perfectly, being about 2¼ inches across. It might be said that it somewhat resembles an axe. Such stones were used in prehistoric days as implements and weapons of war. Great skill is required to shape them and this one has the earmarks of such skill.

Mr. Bob Parson, Editor of "Animal News," who was in the Gleaner Office at the time Mr. Tolhurst brought the stone has sent us the followings:

That piece of sharpened flint, according to my Nelson Encyclopaedia was not Palaeolithic, or early stone age — the tools made then were formed by chipping only and are not ground and polished. The illustrations give nothing like the one Mr. Tolhurst found.

It is more likely of the Neolithic age or Later stone age as the encyclopaedia says: The principal larger implements characterizing this period are axe-heads, chisels of polished flint and other very hard stones, of an endless variety of form and size but in nearly every instance polished and ground to a perfect cutting edge. There is no record in my book of these being found in this country, so maybe you have got something rare.

Bob Parson

Mr. R. E. Walsh, Ormstown, who was in the office later and saw the stone, says it is a skinning knife and used by the Indians. It is an Indian relic. He said he found one of the same ytpe in a house at Laffoley's Point.

It is possible that the find has value and could be added to any collection as a relic of bygone days.

Jaycees Distribute Trees

The regular monthly meeting of the Huntingdon Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Parochial Hall, Huntingdon, October 19.

It was decided during the business meeting that there should be a campaign to increase the present membership to 75. A number of committees were tentatively formed.

A few weeks ago, the Junior Chamber of Commerce advertised in this paper that the householders of this town could have trees and shrubs delivered to them free providing that they would pay the small cost of delivery from Berthierville Nursery. To date 104 trees have been delivered in the town. However, some of the property owners will receive such trees as the Norwegian Spruce next May as such trees can only be transplanted in the spring of the year.

Hallowe'en Costume Dance

Sponsored by Huntingdon Fire Brigade

The Huntingdon Firemen are now putting the finishing touches to the plans for their Hallowe'en Costume Dance to be held in Heath's Hall, Huntingdon, on Saturday, October 30th. The merchants of Huntingdon have very generously donated prizes and cash to make this event an outstanding one, for there will be over sixty prizes offered for costumes, door prizes, spot dances and so forth.

The firemen would like as many as possible to be in costume, but this need not stop anyone from attending. The music will be by the Merry Music Makers and there promises to be lots of fun for everyone.

Special mention must be made of the generosity of the business men of town and the Firemen are very appreciative of the splendid support they have given them. The proceeds of the dance will be used for a very good purpose in buying some equipment which the firemen feel will improve their fire fighting abilities. In the past they have used money raised in this way to purchase useful equipment. Thus all will be helping a worthwhile cause by attending the dance or purchasing a ticket.

Notes From The Police Blotter

Three Hurt in Car Accident

An accident occurred on Sunday evening at about 8.15 on Highway No. 3, between Cazaville and Dundee, near the Gordon Fraser farm. The driver of the car, Antoine Leduc of Valleyfield, in trying to pass another car went into the ditch, struck some stones and the car turned around in the opposite direction. The driver, together with two other occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gauthier, also of Valleyfield, were all injured. Det. H. Ruiter went to the scene and had the ambulance and Dr. F. G. McCrimmon go also. The injured people were taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital, where Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier were detained for a few days. Mr. Leduc was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Valleyfield the same evening for further X-ray. The car was damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

Series of Break-ins

An epidemic of break-ins in various parts of the territory have occurred within the past few weeks. On the night of October 19-20, Carson Bros. Garage at Howick was broken into and about 1 ton of batteries were stolen. Some of the goods have been recovered. On the night of the 16-17 the Normandie Theatre at Ste. Martine was broken into and cigarettes and chocolate bars were stolen. On a previous occasion some money was taken. The same night a second break occurred at M. Hills' Garage, at Hemmingford, and about $225 worth of stock was stolen and some windows broken. On October 21-22, Howick was again the scene of break-ins. The C.N.R. Section House was broken into and 25 gallons of gasoline and 10 gallons of oil were taken. At the Town Hall about $200 in cheques were taken, these being the property of the Council of St. Sacrement. The cheques had been made out for persons in the municpality. A. Brault's grist mill was also broken into, but nothing is missing from there. Dr. Watson had his car stolen that night, but it was discovered next morning at Caughnawaga. Det. H. Ruiter is investigating these cases. Some of the goods have been recovered.

Warning Re. Drunken Drivers

A further warning is given by the police on drunken driving. No leniency can be expected if you drive your car while under the influence of alcoholic liquor. A number of drivers appeared at Valleyfield court on Tuesday and were fined heavily and had their licenses suspended for varying periods. Police and judges are frowning heavily on cases of drunken drivers and no quarter is being shown. If you must drink, then don't drive your car. If you want to stay out of trouble don't imbibe while driving, and be sure you are not involved in an accident if you have been drinking.
