Next week's weather

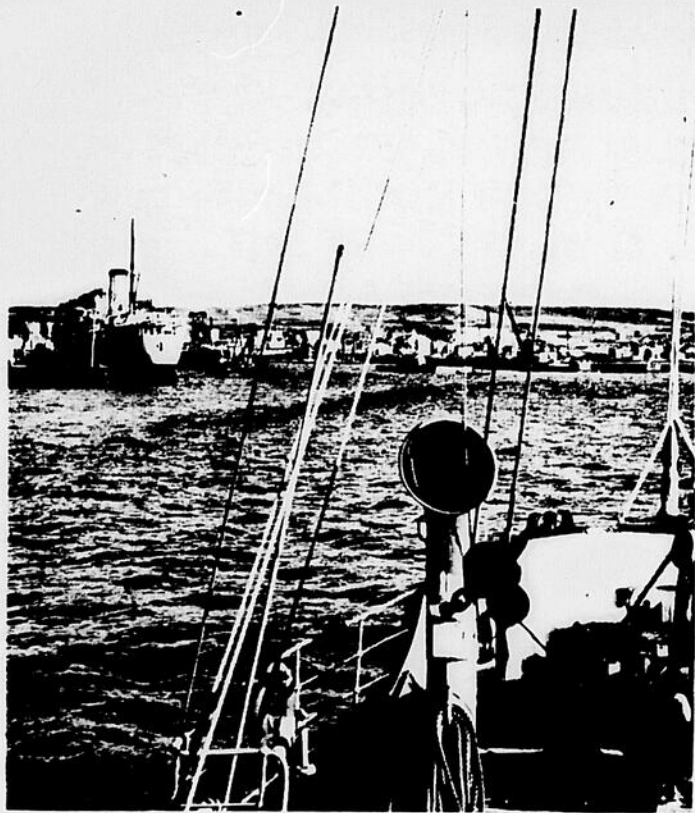

By ERIC NEAL

Beginning mainly sunny and quite cold, this Last Quarter to New Moon week is always a period of sudden changes. A chain of "LOWS" passes along the northern "height of land", and another series travels south of the Great Lakes and through Vermont.

Violent winds and powder snow, 6 to 8" for northern counties and the Laurentians. South of the St. Lawrence, gusty gales, 2 to 3" of soft snow, and some freezing drizzle.

Montreal and Quebec regions, tree damaging winds, sleet and 2" of powder or granular snow followed by fluffy snow, with mild sunny intervals. Temperature range, near zero nights and 45°F days.

Improving generally for a pleasant weekend everywhere, and mainly sunny to end the month.

OUR NEW TWIN - Rimouski, the site of the only deep water port on the South Shore of the St. Lawrence, is to be twinned with Westmount in ceremonies here this weekend. Rimouski Mayor Maurice Tessier and other delegates will meet Westmount Mayor Michael Tucker who will, in turn, visit Rimouski July 6 and 7.

'Bonne entente' twinning this weekend between Westmount, Rimouski

A "bonne entente" between Westmount and Rimouski will be welded this weekend when the two cities will be twinned. The ceremony will take place Saturday, at 10.30 a.m. during a special public meeting in the city hall.

Following the ceremonies at city hall, Mayor Maurice Tessier of Rimouski and his official party will be taken on a tour of Westmount. In the evening the visiting delegation will be entertained at the Montreal-Detroit hockey game.

On Sunday evening, March 24, Westmount will be host to the official party at a civic banquet.

The second phase of the twinning will take place July 6 and 7 when a Westmount delegation, headed by Mayor Michael Tucker, pays a return visit to Rimouski.

Rimouski City Council approved the twinning at a meeting December 4, 1967. In a letter to Mayor Michael L. Tucker of Westmount, Mayor Tessier said that the twinning will strengthen the relationship between the two cities from a municipal point of view and that, provincially and nationally, it would lead to a better understanding of the two cultures.

At its regular meeting on December 18, the Westmount City Council passed a resolution agreeing to the twinning and authorizing implementation of the agreement.

According to Mayor Tucker the arrangement will strengthen the "bonne entente" which exists between Westmount and Rimouski and lead to valuable exchanges of experiences which will benefit both cities.

Rimouski lies on the South Shore of the St. Lawrence at the mouth of the Rimouski River, 180 miles downstream from Quebec City.

Urban renewal changes freeze entire section

A comprehensive urban renewal scheme for an area of Westmount South of St. Catherine Street, prepared by town planning and housing consultant Goldyn Sunderland as a result of a 1966 council resolution will be revised and brought up to date for presentation to the Quebec Housing Corporation.

In the meantime, a halt has been called to all construction, reconstruction, alteration, addition, location or repairs in the area, except where authorization is obtained from the Quebec Housing Authority.

A resolution last Monday by Westmount council appropriated $19,000 from the general funds of the city as Westmount's contribution towards the estimated $76,000 total cost of the study. The resolution also includes a request to the Quebec Housing Corporation for a grant of $57,000 to cover the remainder of the cost of the study.

City officials explain that the $76,000 total figure includes the cost of the original report, plus the costs of bringing it up to date.

The study, old and new, involves research into the social, economic, physical and other aspects of the area to determine its exact character.

Involved is the area bounded by Atwater avenue, St. Catherine street, Glen road, the Canadian Pacific Railway right-of-way, Hallowell street and St. Antoine street.

Modern day urban renewal thinking no longer runs along the lines of razing everything in sight, authorities point out. The original study found, for instance, that a mere handful of buildings in the area were actually to be condemned. Others needed extensive repairs but were basically sound. Still others had been well maintained.

The original study suggested phasing the actual demolition, renovation and reconstruction work through three years, from 1967 to 1970. City officials now estimate that this will be set back approximately one year at each phase.

SOMETHING OF VALUE? - The area south of St. Catherine Street currently under study for urban renewal contains some interesting architecture. This house on Metcalfe presents a dizzying array of planes, angles, curves and gingerbread, relics of a bygone era. Present day thinking on urban renewal involves the retention of what is of value as well as the destruction of worthless features. One purpose of the present study is to determine the difference.

Murray Ballantyne seeks Westmount PC post

Murray Ballantyne, author, lecturer and historian, will present his name to the progressive Conservative nominating Convention, June 5, for the post of official PC candidate for the new federal riding of Westmount.

Mr. Ballantyne, who lives at 33 Forde Avenue, made the announcement at a press conference today.

In a statement seeking not only justice, but generosity for French Canadians, Mr. Ballantyne asked:

"Is Canada going to remain a country? Is Quebec going to separate? What will happen to the city and port of Montreal? Where do we English-speaking Montrealers fit in? Who is going to speak for us?

"Canada cannot exist without Quebec. Look at the map. Quebec controls the St. Lawrence River and the Seaway. Quebec lies between the Maritimes and the rest of Canada. If Quebec separated, the rest of us would soon slide southward. Separatism means the death of Canada. I am not ready to commit suicide. Canada is worth fighting for, and I am ready to fight.

"Politics is the means for informing, shaping, and making

To date, more than $3,000 has been donated. Reservations and tickets to the dance are available immediately at $5 per couple from reunion chairman, Wayne Meighen, at 731-4061, or Russ French, scholarship committee chairman, at 365-1180.

We Say

Twining with Rimouski just what Westmount needs

"Twining" of cities and towns all over Canada was a conspicuous feature of Centennial Year.

So the link between Rimouski and Westmount is not novel.

But it has unique features.

For example most twins have been one in Québec and the other elsewhere in Canada.

Great distance, in another province, has made establishment of fraternal ties between communities a relatively uninvolved search for knowledge and understanding.

As with the long-standing and commendable Visites-Interprovinciales between youths of Québec and other provinces, there have been all too few such interchanges between youngsters of French and English language origin within our province. And so with the twinings of communities.

This weekend, Saturday and Sunday, Westmount will be greeting Mayor Maurice Tessier and his official party from the lower St. Lawrence city at a special public meeting at City Hall, a tour of our city, entertainment at an N.H.L. hockey game and a civic banquet. July 6 and 7, Rimouski will return the hospitality by receiving Mayor Tucker and his Westmount delegation.

We think this link could be the most important of the many that have been forged, if only because it goes to the heart of French-English understanding: little point in pursuing cordiality between Québec and the rest of Canada if, within the province, alienation continues between the people of differing ethnic and language origins.

Mayor Tessier's critics in Rimouski - and we'll wager

Mayor Tucker has here among his citizens the equivalent, who cherish their solitudes - unwittingly described the problem without recognizing it when they were quoted as saying: "Rimouski and Westmount have nothing in common."

The twining was regarded as futile, perhaps even feared in some undefined way.

It need not be. Heaven knows, here in Westmount we need no end of deeper understanding of the province in which we live and of the people with whom we share it. Westmounters generally are a privileged lot, by background and calling outward looking toward the rest of Canada and the world. All too often we don't view Québec as our home.

We cannot speak for the people of Rimouski. Tuesday we flew over it, inbound on a business trip to Europe - an undertaking more common for Westmounters than Rimouski people. From 31,000 feet the area looked remote, ice-bound and desolate, much as it likely is imagined without leaving Westmount. Yet we know that Rimouski is a thriving community, where people live, work and play.

We believe that the forming of genuine relationships between Westmount and Rimouski can be made meaningful in many ways, but mostly in understanding of the diversity of Québeckers - without in any way entangling the relationship, at the outset at least, with the broader questions of Canadianism, constitutionalism or racial status.

Westmount needs to know its nature and role as a Québec community much better. Rimouski can help us, and maybe benefit too.

MURRAY G. BALLANTYNE A scholar enters political race

Murray G. Ballantyne was born in Montreal in 1909, son of the late Hon. Senator C. C. Ballantyne, P.C. He married Frances Stephens of Montreal and they have seven children.

He attended McGill University and obtained his B.A. in 1930 and his M.A. (History) in 1932.

After obtaining his M.A. he became Assistant to the Secretary of Canadian Industries Ltd., and Secretary of its many subsidiaries.

In 1936 he left business to revitalize Montreal's English-Catholic newspaper The Beacon of which he was President and Editor and he became confidential lay adviser to the Archbishop of Montreal.

Having been turned down on medical grounds by both the Navy and the Army, in 1941, he became a Director and Honorary Secretary of the Queen's Canadian Fund, which raised over $1,700,000 for British victims of bombing. The founder of this work was John G. McConnell. At the end of the War Mr. McConnell wrote of Mr. Ballantyne: "With deepest appreciation for your immediate acceptance and support of the principles of the Queen's Canadian Fund which did so much to make its existence possible and for your consistently good advice and most valuable efforts in its behalf."

After the War he became Co-founder and second President of the International Rescue Committee in Canada. He gave a year to this work and received and helped to place over a hundred refugee artists and intellectuals.

He has been active in the Arts and from the beginning has been a member of the Arts Council of the Province of Quebec. He is a Patron of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts; a member of the Council of the Museum and a

Mini-industry short sighted Drury warns

By JACK TRENT

Westmount's own Federal M.P. and Canada's Industry Minister C. M. Drury was heard in Paris addressing the regular-scheduled meetings of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, by proxy.

Warning against the "mini-industry" complex whereby U.S. subsidiaries in Canada operate a smaller version of the parent firm and produce similar products in a scaled-down production plant, he said this leaves Canada with a productivity gap in secondary manufacturing. The situation serves the immediate demands of the Canadian economy, he added, but at the expense of higher costs to the domestic consumer with consequent inability to compete in expert markets.

Mr. Drury's words were read by Senator J. J. Connolly, government leader in the Canadian Senate. Mr. Drury did not attend the meeting.

TALKING POINT

The Prince of Darkness is a gentleman. - Sir John Suckling member of its main acquisition committee.

He is now an Honorary Director of St. Mary's Hospital and of the Montreal Convalescent Hospital.

Mr. Ballantyne is Governor of both St. Francis Xavier University and Loyola College.

For years, he has worked to improve relations between Christians and Jews, and is Quebec Co-chairman of The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

For the past seven years he has worked to organize The Canadian Conference on the Family and is Director and Honorary Secretary of the Vanier Institute of the Family.

Mr. Ballantyne's other activities include: Canadian Inter-Faith Conference, Director; Centre de Recherches en Relations Humaines, Director; Civil Liberties Union, Charter Member; Combined Health Appeal, Hon. Director.

He has made a particular study of relations between French and English-speaking Canadians. René Lévesque once referred to him as the English-speaking Canadian who best understood French Canada. Recently in New York Premier Daniel Johnson said, "If only all our English Canadians were like Murray Ballantyne there would be no problems".

He formed a valuable collection of books and pamphlets of Canadiana which he gave to McGill University. This gift, together with the greater gift by Mr. Lawrence Lande, made possible the formation of the McGill Department of French Canadian Studies.

And finally, he is an author and lecturer, having lectured in Canadian history at: Loyola College, McGill University, Thomas More Institute and St. Joseph Teachers College. He has written "All or Nothing", and a History of Canada for children, as well as numerous articles in Canadian and American periodicals.

Lively spring season cure for exam fever

Although many of the older members have had exam fever during the past ten days and have had to forfeit their usual rendezvous at the Club, nevertheless there have been enough bodies on hand for the usual activities. The Club is looking forward, now the exams are over and we hope, passed successfully, is having everyone on hand for the events which are being planned for the Spring season.

when not too much activity is possible outdoors so it is indeed pleasant to have some form of entertainment to look forward to at the Club.

HUMAN CHESS

There has been so much interest shown in this game during the winter season that the idea of having a Human Chess Game is being considered. Anyone interested in joining this gymnastic function please contact Miss Barbara Halpern or Allen Bechard at the Club.

CRAFTS

We welcome Carl Agustin to the Club staff. Carl has been coming to the Club as a volunteer for many months and entertaining the members on the steel drums. We did not realize that he was so talented in the craft line. He is an expert basket weaver and our members have shown much interest in learning this art.

VOLUNTEERS

We have been most fortunate in having two new volunteers enrolled during the past week. Miss Rose Aimee Poulin whose name belies the fact that her home town is Winnipeg and whose profession is acting as a librarian at the National Film Board, has volunteered to conduct a group club in the library every Wednesday evening.

Kirk Smith has also volunteered to conduct an art class at the Club. Last Thursday evening saw a very enthusiastic group doing collages in the craft room.

OPEN DANCE

There will be a record hop at the Club Saturday night, March 23, for members and their friends. Come along and join the fun.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

Our team lost two and won two games against Dawson Boys' Club last week. Our next tilt will be against Rosemount which will be the last before the playoffs.

HOUSE BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Last week saw Team #3 beat Team #4 by a close score of 36-34. High scorers were Brad Syret with 13 points and Chuck Tyler with 14.

The score between Team #1 and Team #2 was not quite as close. Team #1 had 49 points while Team #2 collected 38. Allen Bechard was elated as this was the first time his team had been successful. Of course, he had to import his cousin from Ottawa to carry out this feat. Al was the high scorer with 21 points and Robert Follette collected 16.

COSOM HOCKEY

This activity continues to be very popular. The Black Hawks won over the Canadians 8-4. High scorers were Brent McPhee for the Hawks with 4 points and Mike Hansen for the Canadians with 3. The Red Wings scored 8 points over the Maple Leafs. The Red Wing players - Kim Lefebvre, Tim Kitchen and Patrick Fernandes each scored 2 points while Ronnie Fein collected 2 for the Leafs.

effective the will of the people. I stand for complete equality between French and English speaking Canadians. I stand not only for justice for the French-Canadians, I stand for generosity. Since in Canada and in North America the French language is so much more vulnerable than English, it may even need special safeguards and priorities. But never will I seek to help French at the expense of English. I want a bilingual Quebec in a bi-lingual Canada.

"I was born in English-speaking Montreal. I am not ashamed of my heritage. I speak for a group which did much to make Montreal what it is today. We have played a useful role in the past. We intend to play a useful role in the future.

"There are in Quebec a million people who habitually speak English. There are outside Quebec at least a million who habitually speak French. Both groups have a perfect right to be where they are. Both groups have a right to speak their own language, to teach their children in that language, and to deal with their provincial governments in that language.

"We are told that Quebec is the home of the French-Canadians; 83% of them live here. Quebec is also the home of many others. The Government of the Province of Quebec is the government of all the people of that Province. On the other hand, Quebec has the only government which the French-Canadians can control. It is therefore particularly dear and valuable to them. Quebec is not exactly a province like the others. I believe that all provinces should be given more powers and more revenue. Among the great problems of the day are housing, health, urbanization, and education. All these problems lie at the provincial level. The provincial governments should have the money to match their responsibilities. Canada is too big to be centralized. Within a renewed federal framework we should be able to find a place for a vigorous and unique Quebec.

"There is little time left. Mr. Daniel Johnson is the Premier of Quebec. It is with him that any federal government must deal. It will be a pleasure for the Conservatives to do so. Mr. Johnson is a reasonable and experienced man. He has stood for a renewed Canada at a time when a demagogue would have ridden the separatist wave. We should help him and support him. The alternative is not Lesage but René Lévesque. Nothing will be gained by questioning the good faith of Mr. Johnson, or indeed of any man. Personalities have no place in politics.

"Much of Montreal's charm lies in its Frenchness. I would like to see Montreal even more French than it is. It is a pity that so few English-speaking Montrealers are bi-lingual. They miss so much. But Montreal would wither if French were its only language.

"It is wonderful that a relative handful of French-Canadians have kept their language and their culture in a sea of anglophones. Obviously they need our help and our support in their continuing struggle. But one can't save French by suppressing English. I have as much right to speak English and they have to speak French.

"I have always stood for the rights of the French in the other provinces. Can I do any less for the rights of the English here? There is a strong and vocal group which seeks to make Quebec unilingual. They would willingly destroy Canada in the process. They would destroy themselves while they are at it.

"More and more, business is organized on a national or continental scale. Inevitably important affairs are conducted in English. Nothing can change this. If the French wish to do business with the rest of North America, they must speak English. No dreams of a vague "francophonie" will replace reality.

"There are in the Liberal Government three English-speaking men from Montreal. I have yet to hear one of them stand up for the rights of their City and their community.

"Full equality? Yes. Partnership? Yes. A special concern for the French-speaking Canadians because they are so few? Yes. But a unilingual Quebec? Never. And a separate Quebec? Never.

"Many other great problems face Canada today. We live in dangerous times. Our port was tied up last year, and may be tied up again. American unions and American union leaders try to make Canadian wages equal to American without waiting until our productivity also is equal.

Critically acclaimed art encyclopedia acquired by library

The Westmount Library has recently acquired a 10-volume pictorial encyclopedia of the visual arts, entitled, "The Book of Art," with a general introduction by Sir Herbert Read. These volumes present the story of the visual arts (painting, drawing, sculpture, collage) from its beginnings to the present. Each volume is devoted to a major school or historical period, such as "Impressionism and Post-Impressionism" or "Chinese and Japanese Art" and is edited by a recognized authority in that particular area. Each volume is liberally illustrated with plates in color and monochrome.

Critics have been particularly impressed by the quality of the reproductions - perhaps the most important requirement of such an undertaking. This is especially important where subtle juxtaposition of color or variation of texture is a critical factor.

Not only have the reproductions been given high critical acclaim, but also the encyclopedia has the virtue of a scholarly writing which is easily comprehended by the layman. The editorial plan is to present a concise historical outline of the period followed by a detailed consideration of its principal artists and their works.

The volume on "Modern Art" will be helpful in orienting the reader to the styles of our own time. Volume 10 may for some readers be the most important in the set. In its twenty chapters, various considerations pertinent to "understanding" works of art are presented. The artist as philosopher, critic, moralist, dreamer, prophet, entertainer, among other considerations, are covered in this final volume.

Each volume of the set will be allowed to circulate.

The town overlooks the only deep water port on the South Shore, with lumbering being the chief industry of the surrounding area. Within the town itself are many woodworking plants. At one time the economy of the town was at the mercy of fluctuations in the lumber industry, but a more stable prosperity has been achieved as a result of mining developments in Labrador and hydro electric developments on the North Shore.

Half the town was destroyed May 6, 1950, by a disastrous fire that caused damages of $10,000,000. Within two years the devastated area was rebuilt with wider streets, finer homes and modern commercial buildings.

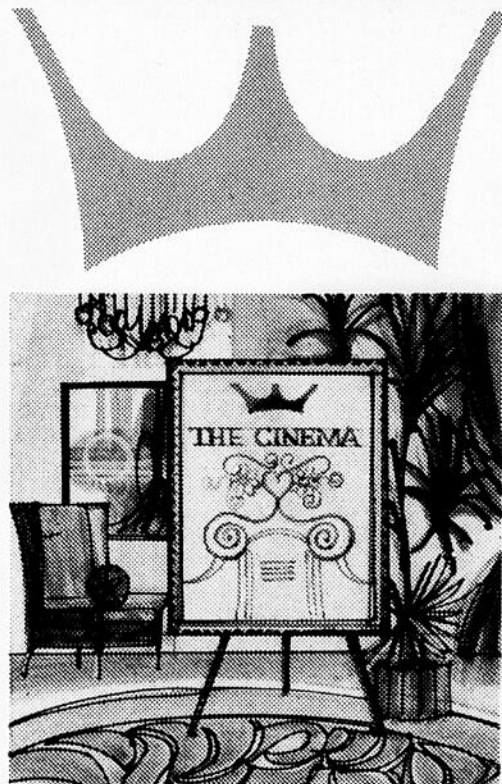

Rimouski is picturesquely situated on a hill, one slope of which descends to the shore, the port and a fine beach. The town contains commercial, technical, marine and normal schools, an archbishop's palace, a seminary and an agricultural college. It is served by a radio station, a television station, and two weekly newspapers, L'Echo du Bas St. Laurent and Le Progres du Golfe.

Rotary annual meeting to be held March 27

Industry today recognizes that packaging is a science and is a part of everyday life as far as merchandising is concerned. Rotarian Alan Forbes of T.C.F. of Canada Limited said in a classification talk before the Westmount Rotary Club on the subject of plastic film and sheeting-manufacturing. A cellophane wrapped object sells more quickly than others because of the fact that the purchaser can see what he is buying owing to its transparency and preservative qualities.

On the evening before the March 27 annual meeting, on March 26, an assembly will be held in Victoria Hall at 7.30 p.m. followed by a fellowship meeting.

Russians describe homeland to Club

The atmosphere created at the International Club's last meeting was very Slavic: the country under discussion was Russia. This meeting was made possible thanks to the courtesy of Mr. Mackarov, First Secretary of the and welcoming remarks, Mrs. Kafadorov, making use of the many maps, described the geography of the USSR, which included some discussion on climate, population and the major cities.

Music was the next topic and Miss Troubetsky delighted the members by singing many Russian folksong favorites, such as "Midnight in Moscow" "Kalinka" and "Greenfields" accompanying herself on the guitar. Miss Troubetsky also discussed Russian folk music and its evolution throughout the years. Patricia Marks, in charge of reception, then spoke on the gastronomical aspect of Russia.

A short break was then taken for listening to popular recordings of the Red Army Choir and visting the displays.

In a room decorated with scenic posters of Moscow, Leningrad and other cities and views of Russian countryside, Nicole Gareau modelled an original Boyar costume. Exhibits were on display and many books and pamphlets were distributed to members.

After the president's opening

Nicole Gareau then outlined the history of Russia from ancient times up to Peter I (the Great) followed by Anne Murphy who continued up to Nicholas II. Joanne Warren took over from this point and discussed the reign of Nicholas II and the Russian revolution. Finally, Mary Green spoke on modern Russian history.

A general outline of the present governmental system was then given by Gail Ryan and M. Del Giudice. Christine Reutlinger described trade, industry and agriculture, very important factors of the Russian economy. Cathy Colvey's topic was art, architecture, painting and sculpture, showing Russia to be very rich in the artistic area.

Industry Minister Drury Canada's biggest buyer

By JACK TRENT
(special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA - In less than a year transformation of Canada's defense production department into a primary Federal purchasing agency will be completed, making Westmount's MP Bud Drury the country's biggest buyer.

Drury already has taken over more than 40 percent of the purchasing for civilian departments, in addition to his responsibility for defense purchasing.

Extension of the powers of the Drury-dominated setup began two years ago and resulted from a recommendation of the Glasco royal commission on civil service reorganization.

An enabling Bill has been passed by the House, after Mr. Drury explained the expanding role.

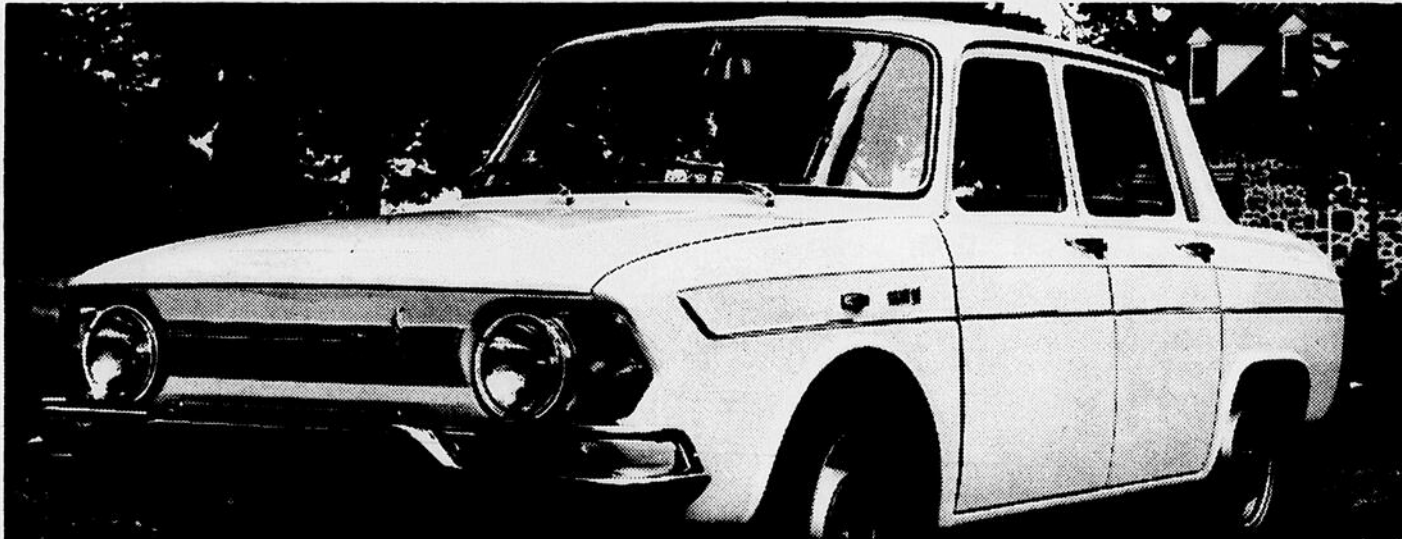

The amendment, for one thing, increased to $250,000 from $25,000 the value of a purchase the department can make without Cabinet approval. They also increased to $500,000 the size of a purchase that can be made without Cabinet approval where tenders are called and the lowest bid accepted.

Deleted was a Second World War provision that gave the minister unlimited spending power on defence production in the case of a national emergency.

School board vote lists posted

This was announced by the school commissioners for the municipality of the City of Westmount.

'Y' CAMPAIGN - Lorne Webster has been appointed special names chairman, Westmount division of the YMCA maintenance campaign; it was announced by W. D. MacDonald, chairman, board of management, Westmount branch. Mr. Webster is vice president of Canadian Import Ltd.

Gary Johnson invested some money to put his son through university.

Now he's behind a major housing development.

This young father realized that six-year-old boys soon grow up, and that university education cost money. That's why he asked National Trust about safe, profitable investment opportunities. He learned that our Guaranteed Investment Certificates pay a high rate of interest and are guaranteed (both principal and interest) by one of Canada's largest trust companies. This was the kind of security he'd been looking for: he left his son's future education to our investment experience.

At National Trust, we're in a position to consider all investment opportunities, from bonds to residential and industrial mortgages. Since our only obligation is to our clients, our experts—some of the best brains in the business—are able to invest carefully and wisely. Today, National Trust administers over $1,500 million of other people's money, providing high earnings and educations. We can make your money work just as hard for you, too.

Westmount Painter Yolande Porter at Arts Club

An exhibition of paintings and collages by Yolande Porter, a Jamaican-born Westmount resident, will open at the Arts Club, 3448 Stanley Street, Monday evening, March 25 and continue until April 12.

The Arts Club is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays, 2 to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Porter, who has produced about 300 canvases in the past eight years, began her art education in Jamaica when she was eight years old, and studied under a number of teachers.

The influence of her exposure to the vivid coloring of the Jamaican landscape as well as to the magnificent gardens of the family plantation, is evident in her own use of color in all her works.

Mrs. Porter began her career as a textile designer and created designs for garments produced in her native Jamaica.

Her love for painting continued, however.

One of her teachers was the late Abel G. Warshawsky, an internationally known American-born artist, who lived in Pebble Beach, California. Mrs. Porter spent one year working and studying with him. Warshawsky, who rarely took students, inscribed several books and catalogues of his works to "Yolande Porter, my talented and dear pupil".

In the present exhibition, her third in Montreal, Mrs. Porter will show several nude studies, landscapes, collages and a number of portraits, some created from the imagination, others from models. Still other portraits she labels her "spirit children".

The collages are figurative and have been created from the inside of envelopes.

"I had no idea the inside colors and patterns of some envelopes were so beautiful," said Mrs. Porter. She got the idea of using them while working in an office where she opened mail.

OLD-FASHIONED

Mrs. Porter considers herself an old-fashioned artist because her paintings and collages are figurative.

"I do not feel I can honestly paint abstracts because there is much I don't appreciate about the age I live in," she explained. "Automation and abstraction have contributed to the destruction of the innermost human soul, and the human soul is what I hope comes through in my works," she emphasized.

However, her experiments in mediums other than oils and collages show an inventiveness that is extremely avant-garde. She has created sculptured slabs using built-up, uneven surfaces similar to sand sculptures. Broken bits of colored glass fitted into the built-up surface of the plaster create a striking, free-form abstract design. Although her "sculptures" are not being shown in the exhibition, Mrs. Porter wants to experiment further in this medium.

STUDYING IN TWO LANGUAGES - Pupils at Westmount's Sacred Heart Convent use texts in French and in English during a cramming session in the library. Shown are Sandi McKenzie, Tina Betson, Nicole Morand and Veronique Utereiner.

A century old and avant garde Convent is truly bilingual

Westmount's Sacred Heart Convent, more than 100 years old, is showing itself to be as innovating as it is traditional with a bold new experiment in truly bilingual classes.

This is the second year for bi-lingual classes at Sacred Heart, which was established in 1861.

Results have been so encouraging that it is planned to extend the scheme on into Third Grade next year - making the majority of the Junior School (Grades 1 to 4) into a little island of true bilingualism.

So far these classes have been coed. It seems too good an opportunity, Sacred Heart spokesman said to restrict it to girls only, so the gentlemen in grey shorts and blue blazers have been sharing the riches of Sister Ryan's and Mlle Jeanine Delain's expert teaching in both languages.

Sister Ryan, a native of North Sydney, Nova Scotia, teaches Grade One for two and a half days per week, while Mlle. De-laine is teaching the Grade Two.
The principle is to teach everything in one language - not just to teach the language. When the children see Sister Ryan they do everything in English. When Mlle. Delaine enters the classroom they automatically switch to French. Whether it is reading, writing or arithmetic time, the children identify the language with the person and act accordingly.

A visit to this year's Grade
Two - the pilot class that started the whole scheme moving last year - revealed children of many different racial, language and religious backgrounds working together on nouns, verbs and pronouns under Sister Ryan's direction. Meanwhile, next door, Mlle. Delaine was busy with the Grade Ones teaching them reading skills by means of the methode dynamique - an animated and imaginative method which has captivated the inter-

Westmount pioneer in bilingual schooling hopes to return, almost

The senior section of Weston School, an expatriate from Westmount since 1963, will move from its rented quarters in the NDG YMCA building to a site closer to our fair city, if the hopes of staff and governors are realized.

Parents, graduates and friends of the school are being contacted in an appeal for financial help.

Before 1963 Weston offered bilingual instruction from nursery to McGill matriculation in the school building on Severn avenue. Eventually, the majestic old house was simply unable to accommodate the pupils pushing at its doors, and the senior school, grades 4 to 11, moved to NDG where it operates as a separate unit with Mrs. Crosby Lewis as principal. The junior school remains on Severn avenue with Dr. Mary Winspear as principal.

Regardless of the success of the campaign, a return to Westmount appears to be unlikely. "Nearer Westmount", is the way Mrs. Lewis describes it. For one thing, she says, the City of Westmount seems reluctant to permit any more property to be converted to non-tax paying status. Weston School, as a non-profit educational organization, would be tax exempt on any property it acquired.

This is not the only limitation, however. A building for the school would have to satisfy health and fire regulations, as well as meet zoning restrictions.

Approximately 25 percent of the senior school's pupils come from Westmount. Another quarter are from Town of Mount Royal, another quarter from NDG, with the remaining 25 percent from various other areas.

So, a geographical position "nearer Westmount" is thought to be desirable.

Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of Dr. Wilder Penfield, whose research and theories on early language instruction have influenced the school from its beginning.

Boys and girls enter the Nursery School at the age of three. They have a large play-room equipped with tricycles, blocks, painting easels, dolls' houses, peg boards, puzzles, records and books designed to help develop large and small muscles, manipulation and co-ordination, as well as visual and auditory perception.

Under the guidance of a trained and experienced staff they learn to play together indoors and outdoors, to share their toys and to get along with children of the same age.

A French teacher is a member of the Nursery School staff and the children become accustomed to hearing a second language.

In the Kindergarten class, children acquire the techniques they will need when they start to read and write. The attention span lengthens, they participate in conversations in English and French; co-ordination of hand and the ability to move the eye from left to right are developed by crafts and exercises; work with sounds increases auditory perception, and work with numbers develops a number concept.

When they are ready for more formal learning the children move into Primary Class or Grade I depending upon their age and ability.

Distinguished theologian will lead Baptist rally

A distinguished Christian scholar and lecturer, Dr. George Beasley-Murray, will be the visiting preacher at Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday, March 24. Dr. Beasley-Murray is the principal of Spurgeon's College, London, England, and is in Canada to deliver the Yorkminster Park Foundation lectures at McMaster Divinity College, Hamilton, Ontario.

The evening service at 7:30 will take the form of a city-wide Baptist rally, with Dr. Beasley-Murray as speaker. He will also preach at the morning service in Westmount Baptist Church, and address a Monday morning ministerial gathering.

The Church School meets on Sundays at 10 a.m. for seniors and 10:45 a.m. for primary and juniors.

The midweek meeting of the church is on Wednesday at 8 p.m. for Prayer, Praise and Bible Study.

English classes for New Canadians are held on Monday evenings at eight o'clock.
The BYPU (ages 18 to 25) meets on Fridays at 8 p.m.

Bible's predictions demonstrated

How certain recent conclusions of modern physicists were foreshadowed by the Bible, will be brought out at the services in Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Matter". Relevant Scripture will be highlighted by this verse from I John: "The world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever."

Pertinent passages from the denominational textbook will include: "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

In the first three grades the children are receiving the foundation of their formal education. Before they can read and write they need to be able to co-ordinate the muscles of hand and eye, move the eye from left to right across the page, to have experience of life from activities and stories and an extensive oral vocabulary.

Children develop at different rates of speed, and it is important that the schedule should not be too rigid. The child needs to feel that progress is being made in one or another activity of the class room. The progress here is by units of study rather than by grades.

French instruction is based on a sound linguistic method. Stress on phonetics sharpens awareness of sounds and aids clear articulation. In Grades II-VI children take one-third of their curriculum in French.

In High School, the girls prepare for the responsibilities they will accept as adults, in their homes and communities.

Throughout the school emphasis is laid upon the child's ability to speak, read and write English and French, the second language for people living in Quebec. All the girls have an introductory year of Latin to help them with the formal aspects of grammar. If they have sufficient ability, girls may study both science and Latin until they are mature enough to make a choice between these courses.

History includes social as well as political history and history of art and literature are presented at the same time to give the enrichment of life that comes from the knowledge of cultural developments past and present.

Bread is not fattening. An average slice of enriched white, bread contains approximately 75 calories, the same as one orange, a half-grapefruit, one glass of skim milk or a one-inch cube of cheese.

ST. LEO'S SPORTS Old Boys' game the last?

The playing of the Old Boys' hockey game tomorrow at 6.30 p.m. at Westmount arena could mark the end of an era in sports for the academy, for this could be very well the old school's farewell to senior school hockey.

The senior hockey team over the years has meant more than just a game or practice for its athletes, it was indeed a way of life during the high school years. St. Leo's, which ranks 47th in student enrollment out of a 48-school membership in the GMIAA, was in comparison much smaller than its opponents and its athletes banded together in close association to build up a spirit that could stand the onslaught of big schools. Many times they confounded interscholastic sport experts with their underdog upset victories in sport contests and they truly earned the reputation as the mighty mites of school sports.

Sport Briefs

Lower Canada has survived a complicated play-off to earn the senior school hockey crown. The LCC boys were easily the best team in school hockey this year and congratulations are in order to coach Roger Reynolds and his players.

Bob Lunny promises some surprises for the Old Boys' hockey game, including the scoring of at least one goal. Well, Bob old boy, it might not be that easy but good luck anyway.

Reid Sherriff's Academites are the new champions of St. Leo's intramural hockey league. They beat Fred Peron's Saints 5 to 3 on the round score of a two-game total goal series for the championship.

est of both French and English children.

Mlle. Delain is a native of Belgium who has done considerable specialization in language teaching since her arrival in Canada five years ago.

AUTHORITY

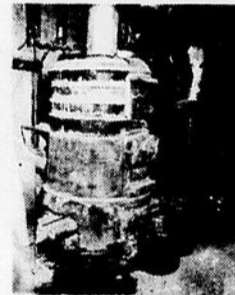

In a talk delivered before a large invited audience at the Convent of the Sacred Heart a few weeks ago, Dr. Wilder Penfield, underlined the value of laying a second language foundation early. Research done at McGill in recent years has also shown that bilingual students tend to score higher on all intelligence tests. The bilingual classes at Sacred Heart are a big step in the direction of enriching young people for life.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart have a long tradition of bilingualism in their schools. It is only comparatively recently that the pressure of heavily loaded high school programs has forced them to separate their French and English high school classes. Even now, there are parallel English and French classes up to the Sixth Grade. After this, those wishing to continue in French Secondaire move into Eléments Latins in French Schools throughout the city. Those continuing in English stay at the Convent on Atwater Avenue where classes prepare them to write the Provincial Junior Matriculation examinations. Sacred Heart students have had a remarkable record of success in these exams over the years, and many of them go on to college or other higher studies.
