INVITATION RENEWED TO GERMANY TO ENTER AERIAL DEFENCE ACCORD

European Diplomatic Circles Buzz with Activity in Wake of Signing of Franco-Russian Mutual Assistance Pact and Opening of Negotiations for Three-Power Air Locarno—France to Study Problems Facing Danubian Conference.

The European diplomatic scene buzzed with activity today in the wake of the signing of the Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact and the British Government's announcement of an increased air force, coupled with her renewed invitation to Germany to enter a collective security system.

Diplomatic experts of Britain, France and Italy were framing the draft of an aerial Locarno, extending the Locarno Treaty to provide guarantees against aerial aggression, in which it was hoped Germany might be induced to enter.

The Foreign Minister of Rumania was conferring with French Government heads, presumably discussing the stand to be taken at the Danubian Conference in Rome when rearmament of Austria and Hungary is expected to crop up. The Italian representatives left for the preliminary Italo-Austro-Hungarian Conference opening tomorrow at Venice.

The Franco-Soviet pact, it was said, while within the framework of the League, will provide for extensive renovating of western Russian rail and road systems with French help.

Meanwhile the British press was almost unanimous in approval of the outline of the British Government's stand on defence and German rearmament given yesterday by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

THREE NATIONS SEEKING WORKABLE AIR LOCARNO

London, May 3.—The Governments of Great Britain, France and Italy are drafting an air Locarno. This is the pact—providing for swift reprisals against aggression from the skies—contemplated in the Anglo-French communiqué of London, on February 3rd, which Italy subsequently subscribed.

The proposed signatories are the five signatories of the Locarno Treaty, Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Belgium. In one particular the air Locarno now under preparation goes far further than the Locarno treaties. These guaranteed the frontiers between France and Germany, and Belgium and Germany. Britain and Italy appear in them merely as guarantors. They themselves are not guaranteed against aggression.

But in the air Locarno protection against aggression is extended to both Italy and Britain.

But while the draft is now under preparation in London, Paris and Rome there is no intention, it is emphasized in British circles, of compelling Germany with a fait accompli in the shape of a completed draft.

If Germany is willing to join in she will be invited to participate fully in the negotiations, just as Prime Minister MacDonald said yesterday.

The British further contemplate that the air Locarno shall be accompanied by a general convention limiting armaments, including aircraft.

ENGLISH PRESS APPROVES MACDONALD'S DECLARATION

London, May 3.—Most of today's newspapers received favorably the speech by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald announcing further increases in British air force construction. Even the Opposition organs recognized the necessity of having parity in the air with Germany.

"But whatever efforts in that direction are now made," the Daily Telegraph said, "Great Britain will have difficulty in reaching parity with Germany in any short time. Our wish is still to limit armaments by agreement, but the sands of that policy are obviously running out."

The Morning Post declared that "in Mr. MacDonald's reference to air defence, the Prime Minister gave a note of vigor which presents a welcome contrast to the recent inactivity of the Government. A further satisfactory aspect of his statement was his renewed insistence on solidarity with France and Italy for the fortification of peace. But we could have wished that he had abstained from more appeals to Germany to come in."

"What is the use of adopting an attitude of appeasement toward a country which every week flaunts some new break of the treaty in our face, and exploits daily in the might of its war equipment?"

HITLER ANNOUNCEMENT TO BE MADE NEXT THURSDAY

Berlin, May 3.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's statement on the Reich's foreign policy will be made on May 9th, it was learned in Nazi circles today. The Reichstag will be opened on that date instead of May 15th.

It was at first expected the Chancellor's address would be made on May Day, but it was postponed.

LITHUANIA SENDS ANOTHER PROTEST NOTE TO GERMANY

Kaunas, May 3.—The Lithuanian Government sent a note to Germany yesterday protesting against and demanding an explanation of the killing of a Lithuanian named Macelis by a Hanover police official.

The note declared a Lithuanian investigation, supported by the testimony of German residents, showed Macelis was murdered when he went to the police to complain against an expulsion order served on him as a reprisal against the sentences meted out to German residents.

JOURNALIST AND ATTORNEY IN HANDS OF KIDNAPPERS

Were Working in Interests of Ten Unemployed Persons in New Mexico Facing Mass Murder Charges.

Gallup, N.M., May 3.—Robert Minor, New York journalist, and David Levinson, Philadelphia attorney, were reported in the hands of kidnapers today after the two had come here in the interests of ten unemployed persons facing mass murder charges.

Mrs. Joe Bartol, wife of one of the men held as a result of the jobless riot here on April 4th, reported the two were kidnapped last night by a band of masked men who drove away in three motor cars. The woman, who said she had been coming to see Minor and Levinson in their parked automobile, reported that Minor was slugged by the abductors.

A tense atmosphere developed in this coal mining town, long torn by labor strife, as local and state law enforcement agencies were mobilized.

FOUR KILLED, TEN INJURED. Little Rock, Ark., May 3.—Four negroes were killed and ten injured yesterday as wind and electrical storms swept through Arkansas, accompanied by hard rains.

MAN MET DEATH IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE POLICE

Pilot of Alleged Rum-Runner Almost Decapitated by Blast of Machine Gun Bullets from R.C. M.P. Cutter.

Lunenburg, N.S., May 3.—Machine gun fire from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police cutter Acadia instantly killed William Tanner, aged thirty years, aboard his rum-running motorboat early today off Cross Island, outside of Lunenburg Bay.

Tanner, at the wheel in the pilot house, was almost decapitated by the rain of bullets. Alton Mason, only other person on the powerful motorboat, escaped injury, and is under arrest here. He comes from East Point, and Tanner was a native of Stouffville, both near Lunenburg.

The fatality followed a chase off these shores. Tanner, it was said, failed to stop when challenged by the cutter. With the small craft speeding along after a shot had been fired across her bow, according to details first reported, a blast of machine gun fire tore through the pilot house window.

Killed instantly, Tanner crumpled over the wheel. The fact that Mason was alone at the controls saved him from possible death or injury. He is being held under strict guard pending an inquest.

Mason faced a charge under the Customs Act. Unloaded from the motorboat, 138 cases of various liquors were placed in bond.

The fatal chase began before dawn in waters made choppy by a brisk breeze. In command of Captain J. C. Kelly, Halifax, the Acadia was near Cross Island at first sight of the motorboat.

Allegedly failing to heed a challenging signal shot, Mason and Tanner continued on their way. A second burst of fire followed without effect, but at the third Tanner collapsed.

With his body still aboard, the motorboat was taken in tow and towed up to the Government wharf here.

Tanner, leaving a wife and five small children, was well known along the Lunenburg waterfront, and word of the fatality spread quickly after the Acadia brought in the fifty foot boat. A small crowd soon congregated around the craft.

NEW TERROR IS SPREAD AMONG 'QUAKE VICTIMS

Earth Shocks Continue in District where Two Hundred Have Already Met Death—Relief Organizations Supplying Needs.

Istanbul, May 3.—Continued earth shocks spread new terror today among inhabitants of Kars on the Turkish frontier where more than two hundred persons were reported yesterday to have perished in a violent earthquake.

The seriously injured were estimated to number five hundred. Destroyed villages were partly destroyed and communications systems severed.

Relief organizations were on the scene laboring to supply the stricken population with food and medicine.

Ismay, Mont., May 3.—Cowboy John Brange has found a new thrill for bulldozers.

While riding the range he spurred his horse in pursuit of a coyote. As the horse galloped alongside the wild animal, Brange related, he leaped from the saddle, threw the coyote and with the aid of companions tied the animal.

REFUSE DELAY IN APPEALS OF COAL CONCERNS

Court of Appeals Rules that Hearing of Petition of Companies Convicted of Forming Combine Must Proceed at Present Session.

Quebec, May 3.—The Court of Appeals yesterday under the presidency of Sir Mathias Tellier refused to grant an adjournment to the second group of coal companies who are appealing from a conviction in Court of King's Bench on the charge of being parties to an illegal combine. Hearing of their case was allotted to the bottom of the roll.

The application for adjournment was made by Antoine Rivard, K.C., counsel for the Montreal Coke and Manufacturing Co., who is also acting for the four other companies concerned. These are: Hart and Adams, Elias Rogers Co., Monro and Robert and Scotch Anthracite Co.

Mr. Rivard explained that the first five companies tried and convicted were now before the Privy Council and he held that it would only be proper to await the outcome of his hearing in England.

He pointed out that his arguments for appeal will be the same as those of the other five companies, and that as the Court of Appeals had already rejected their appeal, it was not likely the court would reverse its decision in the case of the companies he represented.

Valmore Bienvenue, K.C., Crown prosecutor, opposed the request for adjournment on the grounds that the cases were regularly scribbled on the roll and that they had already been postponed for several months.

The court then ruled that the hearing must proceed, and placed the case at the bottom of the roll.

INCREASED SUCCESSION TAXES TO YIELD MILLION MORE IN REVENUE

Provincial Treasurer Given Stormy Reception During Presentation of Amendments to Succession Duties Act—Appeal Court to Rule on Legality of Proposed Changes to Lord's Day Observance Act—Twenty-Nine Measures Given Royal Assent.

Quebec, May 3.—Despite what he referred to as "badgering" from Maurice Duplessis, K.C., Conservative Opposition leader, Provincial Treasurer R. F. Stockwell succeeded yesterday in outlining the main lines of his bill to amend the Quebec Succession Duties Act before the House, in committee of the whole, reporting progress.

To a question of Mr. Duplessis, the Provincial Treasurer informed the House the estimated additional revenue from the surtax on succession duties would be $1,000,000 providing "general conditions are the same as last year."

Mr. Stockwell made clear the Act was divided in two parts: The first comprising the duties on property transmitted and situated in this province whether the transmitter was at the time of his death domiciled in this province or outside, while the second imposed a duty upon the transmission of property situated outside of the province by a person domiciled in it.

"The bill," Mr. Stockwell continued, "adds to the number of those forming part of the direct line by inserting in the Act the words 'stepfather, stepmother, stepson and stepdaughter' and it also adds to the direct line the adopted children and their consorts. This new system of rates is composed either of a basic rate alone, for small estates, or of a basic rate added to a fractional rate in cases of large estates."

"The new rates replace the old fixed one, which had the effect of causing undervaluation of property so as to be taxed at a lower rate."

"Last year Ontario kept the old fixed rates but introduced between each old fixed rate, a fractional one. The rates we propose are still the improvement upon the new Ontario rates, as they operate on the same basis regardless of the value of the estate and are not subject to sudden changes."

This new tariff will reduce the duties in some cases, but will generally increase them, so the revenue is expected to be materially increased, said $1,000,000. In each line there is a first tax upon the aggregate value of the whole estate and also an additional tax upon the value of the property going to every person.

"As the exemptions are set apart, the rates start from one dollar and whenever exemption applies, it will be deducted from the amount obtained with the tariff."

"In connection with values as the basis of the duties there will be considered as follows: All securities quoted will be taken at their quoted value; all corporeal moveable effects usually traded in, such as stock in trade, household furniture and so on, will be taken at their market value, and all other property will be taken at its real value."

As to exemptions Mr. Stockwell informed the House that the main change is the one in connection with the "direct line" which will be based not only on the degree of relationship but also on the number of dependents and to specific relatives in the direct line.

He gave the following example: The surviving consort will be entitled to exemption of $10,000 and any surviving child or other person considered in direct line will be entitled to an exemption of $1,000 each, the total in neither case to exceed $15,000.

In the collateral line the right to exemption exists only between brother and sister and to the amount of $1,000 only.

When a legacy devolves to a stranger in blood employed by a deceased for at least five years, the amount of the exemption will remain as at present at $1,000.

Mr. Stockwell remarked that all these exemptions, however, apply only in each case where the amount coming to a beneficiary does not exceed the amount of exemption in each case.

Should the amount of the benefit exceed the amount of the exemption it is provided the duties apply on the total amount of the benefit.

"This," Mr. Stockwell said, "has been the practice followed for years back, not only in Quebec but elsewhere, because it is considered that exemptions are granted only in cases of small estates, and that any estate which is larger than the amount specified as an exemption, is considered as a large estate."

In the case of an exemption in direct line, it is stipulated, the aggregate value of all the shares going in direct line are considered altogether, and if the aggregate value of the shares does not exceed the aggregate sum of all the exemptions in direct line—although individually it may exceed—the exemption will be allowed."

MOURN PASSING OF POSTMASTER AT EAST ANGUS

Samuel Cooper, Who Had Been a Resident of East Angus Since 1896, Passed Away Last Evening at the Age of Seventy-Seven Years.

East Angus, May 3.—East Angus today mourned the passing of Samuel Cooper, former mayor and postmaster since 1916 who died at his home here last evening at the age of seventy-seven years. Mr. Cooper, who had not been in the best of health since the beginning of the year, had been confined to his bed the past six months. Nevertheless he was a well-known Irish nursing institution under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen.

In view of the high political feeling aroused by the election war between the two countries, it was not deemed advisable to make public any details of the organization of the fund or the names of those associated with it.

Mr. Cooper was a member of the East Angus Masonic Lodge No. 53, A.F. and A.M., and also of the Odd-fellows. He came to East Angus in 1896 and always took an active interest in the activities of the community. Before being named postmaster for the town he worked for the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife, nee Margaret Montgomery; one son, Claude Montgomery, of East Angus; and two daughters, Mrs. R. J. M. Reid, of Hemmingford, Que., and Mrs. F. B. Eastman, of Newton, Mass.

The funeral will be held on Sunday from his late residence to the East Angus United Church.

SUGGESTS AMENDING CHAIN LETTER CRAZE

Hollywood, May 3.—Screen Actor William Cagney has an idea but it is for married men only.

He proposes that instead of sending dimes in the chain letter that men send buttons "so our wives won't have any excuses."

POLISH SPY IS EXCHANGED FOR GERMAN AGENT

Movements of Baron Sosnowski and Beautiful Young German Peasant Girl Kept Secret Because of Fear for Their Safety.

Berlin, May 3.—Baron Georg Sosnowski, the Polish spy whose machinations resulted in the beheading of two women of noble birth with whom he was associated, has been exchanged for Germany's beautiful young espionage agent, Theodora Ogurek, it was learned today.

The exchange was understood to have taken place nine days ago, but the movements of the couple have been enveloped in greatest secrecy because of fear for their safety.

To one twenty-year-old peasant girl, the exchange meant reunion with her husband, Ernst Draga, whom she has not seen since their prison marriage the night before she went on trial in Warsaw.

For Sosnowski, release meant a period of hiding even from his friends and relatives. Even Sosnowski's parents do not know of his whereabouts, but it was learned that he is not far from Warsaw biding his time until it may again appear safe for him to appear in public.

In Warsaw a report was current that the Polish agent has a personal enemy in the husband and brother of Baroness Benta von Berg, one of the two women whose complicity in Sosnowski's operations sent them to the execution block. The other was Frau Renate von Natzmier.

FAMILY REFUSED TO VACATE HOUSE

Fort Worth, Tex., May 3.—Workers jacked up the house when its occupants refused to vacate and moved it two miles—including Jimmy Owens, a convalescent daughter, a sick stepmother and five chickens.

"I tried to sleep while the house was being moved but it would go bump, bump, bump," Mrs. Owens said today after being served with a citation. Asserting her family moved into the vacant house after a futile search for the owner, she said they would vacate before the eviction suit came up.

MURDERER PAID DEATH PENALTY THIS MORNING

Executed in Montreal Jail After Futile Appeal, Seeking Commutation on Occasion of Jubilee, Was Made Direct to King

Montreal, May 3.—On the week-day which has come to have a far significance in Province of Quebec criminal annals, another murder was avenged here today. Joseph Alisero, who stuffed the body of Grazziella Viens, his sweetheart, into the rumble seat of his car after he had killed her with pistol bullets, was hanged at Montreal jail at eight a.m.

In a vigorous attempt to save the condemned man's life, Alisero's counsel made an appeal direct to the Throne. It was disclosed yesterday that a cable had been sent King George seeking commutation on the occasion of the Jubilee, but the Royal Prerogative was not exercised.

Stays of execution had previously been granted while futile appeals were carried to the Supreme Court of Canada, but the final hanging date was again set on the fatal day.

LOYAL IRISHMEN TO SEND GIFT TO THEIR MAJESTIES

People Respond to Secret Appeal in Unexpectedly Enthusiastic Manner—Names of Subscribers Will Be Kept Secret.

Dublin, Irish Free State, May 3.—After a secret appeal, conducted by word of mouth only, loyalists in the Irish Free State, Catholic as well as Protestant, have contributed £1,500, approximately $7,200, to buy a jubilee gift for Their Majesties.

The organizers had encouraged small subscriptions and from Dublin to Galway and from Cork to Cavan, people contributed in an unexpectedly enthusiastic way.

The intention was to present some suitable token out of a portion of the money, sending with it in confidence a list of the names of the thousands of Irish Maltese admirers who had joined to give it.

The remainder of the fund would be allocated to some deserving work, probably a well-known Irish nursing institution under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen.

In view of the high political feeling aroused by the election war between the two countries, it was not deemed advisable to make public any details of the organization of the fund or the names of those associated with it.

ORDER ISSUED FOR ARREST OF KENNETH BROWN

Warrant Signed by U.S. Commissioner Forwarded to Marshal at Burlington in Connection with Baldwin's Mill Murder.

Boston, May 3.—A warrant for the arrest of Kenneth Brown, thirty years old, of Milton, Vt., who is co-accused with Lucius "Red" Morin, of Burlington, Que., of the brutal slaying of Willis Keith Baldwin, former member of Parliament for Stanstead, Que., has been sent to the United States Marshal at Burlington, Vt.

The warrant for Brown's arrest was issued by United States Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney, Albert F. Flint, attorney for the British Consul at Boston, announced today.

A record of the evidence for the extradition proceedings against Kenneth Brown was drawn up at the week in Sherbrooke, Que., and has been forwarded to United States authorities. Brown is at present held in the Franklin County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Willis Keith Baldwin, seventy-eight-year-old ex-patriate and wealthy real estate owner, was found lying bound and gagged in his general store at Baldwin's Mills at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of April 18th. He died early the following morning from a compound fracture of the skull.

The skull had been rifled and an attempt made to force open the safe. The assassin had cut the telephone wires and had locked the doors of the establishment upon his departure.

Kenneth Brown has been identified by photographs as the stranger who was seen loitering about Baldwin's premises on the day of the murder. He was noticed in Baldwin's store in the afternoon of April 18th, and later operating a car on the Barnston road about five miles from Baldwin's Mills.

Although Brown himself has denied any knowledge of Baldwin's slaying, "Red" Morin testified at the coroner's inquest and for the Crown's record of evidence for extradition proceedings that Brown had plotted with him to rob the rich former member of Parliament.

Morin said that on April 17th Brown arrived in Barnston from the United States, and that the following afternoon he left in his automobile for Baldwin's Mills with the intention of murdering Baldwin "and knocking the proprietor out."

Morin and Brown became acquainted while serving a three-year term in the Windsor, Vt., penitentiary. Morin is a collier by trade.

On the day after the murder, Brown was stopped at the Richmond, Vt., Customs House because he did not have any card registration for the automobile he was driving. At that time Quebec Provincial Police had neglected to advise border police that Brown was wanted in connection with the murder, and the Vermont man succeeded in escaping from custody and entering the United States. He was apprehended the following day, April 20th, in Georgia, Vt., and held on a theft charge.

Friday. One morning last summer passersby were started by a man who had cozed from the rumble seat of an automobile parked in a north end street. When the seat was opened the body of the girl was found. Alisero told police he had lent the car to the girl but knew nothing of her death.

A tell-tale fingerprint was, however, found on the side of the car, pressed into the dried blood. It was declared by experts to be that of Alisero.

The man was hopeful until the last few hours that the death sentence would be commuted.

Stays of execution had previously been granted while futile appeals were carried to the Supreme Court of Canada, but the final hanging date was again set on the fatal day.

STATED DUBUC TO RESIGN UNLESS COUNCIL SANCTIONS HIS ACTION

Aldermen Would Never Consent to Share Blame in Such a Foolish Act by Patting West Ward Alderman on Shoulder and Saying "Well Done"—Rev. E. M. Taylor, Prominent E. T. Historian, Deplores Ruthless Treatment of Historic Site which Whole Community Held Veneration.

If Alderman Dubuc does not get the support of the City Council for his act of vandalism in connection with the Pioneers' Monument in Victoria Park he is going to resign. So the story goes. If that is true the West Ward representative might just as well start packing his municipal suitcase. He will shortly be off on a trip with a one-way ticket.

How could the City Council possibly sanction such an atrocity? The aldermen could never allow themselves to be involved in such a foolish act.

Already several of the aldermen have expressed severe criticism of Alderman Dubuc's actions. They resent very much what he has done and the discredit which he has brought upon the city.

The City Council will meet on Tuesday evening, May 7th. That will be immediately following the city's celebration of the King's Silver Jubilee. Then the matter should come in for official comment. The Mayor is in duty bound to reprimand Alderman Dubuc, and the alderman's action.

There is only one solution to the deplorable affair. Alderman Dubuc's graceful exit from the municipal arena is the only way to clear up the situation, and restore confidence in the Council. Certainly he can not remain in the City Council and continue his recurrent policy of stupidity and nonsensical procedure. Nor can the City Council be expected to bear the brunt of his solecisms.

There is an old book in the City Hall vault which tells a most interesting story regarding this monument. The book contains the minutes of the City Council meetings for the year 1891 and succeeding years.

The minutes clearly show what great importance was attached to the monument, which was first conceived and the initial steps taken.

Glancing through these minutes one reads how on August 1st, 1891, when Mayor J. Wood was Mayor of the City, the Council discussed the question of erecting a monument to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the first arrival of settlers in this district. The Mayor was then authorized to get into communication with the leading citizens of the city and of the Eastern Townships to study the project.

On April 2nd, 1892, a monument again came in for further study by the municipal governors. By this time the plans had been pushed forward to such an extent that the time had come for the Mayor to prepare an address of welcome to Hon. Auguste-René Angers, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, who had been asked to come to Sherbrooke to officiate at the actual inauguration of the monument, which took place on September 6th, 1892.

It was also decided at this same meeting that the city would purchase a golden trowel to be used by His Honor when the corner stone was officially laid.

The selection of a special committee to look after the details of the dedication ceremony was also named at this meeting. This committee consisted of Alderman J. L. Terrill, George G. Bryant and Daniel McManamy.

Yet Alderman Dubuc would venture to say that the granite blocks which he had removed were of no consequence.

Still later on in the Council minutes of that time one reads how on September 4th, 1893, the Council went on record as heartily endorsing what had already been done towards the completion of the monument and special mention was made of the great value to the city of this monument. It was felt by the worthy City Fathers of that time that Sherbrooke had been most fortunate in having such a monument erected within its borders.

Today, forty-three years later, the site presents a dilapidated appearance; the stones which were raised with such dignity and care have been ruthlessly hauled down, broken into bits and scattered throughout the city to be trod upon, buried under the winter's snow and covered with summer's dust. All because an ignorant man happened to make his way into the City Council.

Already many protests have been received over this deplorable state of affairs and different influential citizens throughout the Eastern Townships have raised their voices in denouncing such a ruthless act.

The last one to voice strong disapproval is none other than Rev. Ernest M. Taylor, of Knowlton, Rev.

CITIZENS PAID FINAL TRIBUTE TO EX-MAYORS

Hundreds of Friends and Associates Attended Funerals of Two Former Chief Magistrates, John Leonard, K.C., and J. S. Tetreault, This Morning.

Sherbrooke paid a final tribute to two of its former mayors when John Leonard, K.C., and Joseph Sylvini Tetreault were laid to rest this morning. Hundreds of representatives of local professions and business circles attended the funerals of the two prominent citizens whose deaths this week caused universal grief.

The remains of Mr. Leonard, Sherbrooke's chief magistrate in 1905, were removed from his late residence on Montreal street to St. Patrick's Church, where sympathizing friends and neighbors filled the edifice. Rev. Canon J. C. McGee received the body at the door, while the solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Paul Morin, assisted by Rev. Canon McGee and Rev. Father Anatole Bernier as deacon and sub-deacon. Rev. Father Dolan Biron was present in the sanctuary.

The harmonized Requiem Mass was sung by the choir with John Codere, Marcel Dufresne and George Sylvestre as soloists. As the body left the church Mr. Dufresne rendered the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee." Mrs. Maurice Shea presided at the organ. Interment was made in the family lot in St. Michael's Cemetery, a large number of sorrowful friends and relatives accompanying the remains to their last resting place.

The pall bearers were Mr. Justice Charles D. White, Col. E. B. Worthington, J. H. Walsh, Firmin Campbell, F. S. Rugg and W. H. Lynch, while the bearers were J. Begun, John Wolfe, Fred Webster, Bernard Murray, Maurice St. Laurent and B. N. Holtham. The many floral tributes which covered the casket and the numerous masses and messages of sympathy testified to the esteem in which this venerable old citizen was held.

Mr. Tetreault, mayor of this city from 1928 to 1930, was buried from his home on Short street to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Citizens of all walks of life and many residents of the ward he had represented in the municipal council for years were in the cortege which wended its way to the West Ward church.

In the funeral procession were twenty uniformed officers of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, the regiment of which the deceased was one of the founders. The detachment was under the command of Brigadier Valmore Olivier.

Ernest Sylvestre was funeral director and the pall bearers were Col. Emile Rioux, J. W. Grogan, Dr. J. A. Darce, Dr. W. Begun, Dr. Fred Bertrand and Dr. R. Gaudet. The bearers, all fellow notaries, were J. A. Ouellette, of Bromontville, C. O. Biron, Leonidas Bachand, P. H. Dubuc, Paul Sylvestre and Eugene Gervais.

Interment took place in St. Michael's Cemetery.

MARYLAND CITY FARM AIDED BY SQUIRRELS' INDUSTRY
Hagerstown, Md., May 3.—Thanks to the industry and absent-mindedness of squirrels, the city farm here has twenty fine young walnut trees. The squirrels buried the nuts on a private lot two years ago, expecting, no doubt, to use them as food in lean times. But they forgot them, and saplings sprang from the ground.

CLAIMS BRITISH DEBATE SUPPORTS GERMAN POLICY

Berlin, May 3.—The foreign policy debate in the House of Commons yesterday "disclosed agreement with the German viewpoint over the imperfections of the security system," the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung claimed today.
"Germany has always given proof of a conciliatory policy as regards security systems," the newspaper added, "and has made practical propositions."
The Berliner Boersen-Zeitung, financial organ, stated that "Our desire to negotiate an accord remains as strong as ever. Britain knows the preliminary conditions, and if she declares herself ready to negotiate with us, we suppose that these conditions must be approved by London."

FRANCE TO AID RUSSIAN RAIL RECONSTRUCTION

Paris, May 3.—It was authoritatively learned today that the French will assist Soviet Russia in renovating her western frontier railway and strategic road system as an immediate result of the accord for mutual assistance between the Paris and Moscow governments.
The first outcome of the signing of the treaty is expected to be a consultation between the general staffs of the two nations in order to determine Russia's ability to transport troops rapidly in case of need.

As soon as this is established, it was authoritatively learned, plans will be drawn to aid Russia through the use of French engineers and the sale to Russia of French materials, such as machinery and other manufactured products necessary for railroad reconstruction.

GERMANY DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN AIR POSITION

Berlin, May 3.—Germany, denied the right to possess any military aircraft under the Treaty of Versailles, had notified the world today that her aerial fighting force "will always be as strong as any combination of air or against peace."

This challenge, immediately answered in Great Britain by measures to reinforce the Royal Air Force, was voiced by General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the Reich Air Minister, in a conference yesterday with members of the Foreign Press Association.

Simultaneously, he disclosed that the first recruits for the Reich's new conscript army would be called to the colors on October 1st. They will serve one year, Goering said. While asserting that the size of Germany's aviation force would depend entirely upon that of the other European powers, the Air Minister insisted her strength in the air would be devoted to the cause of peace.

GERMAN PLANE-BUILDING FACILITIES DESCRIBED

London, May 3.—Information that Germany has facilities for building one hundred fighting planes a month, replacements were received in high British quarters today as the Government threw into high gear its air force expansion programme to meet Reichsfuehrer Hitler's challenge.
The one hundred-planes-a-month capacity was understood to be in addition to Germany's facilities for regular construction in the event of hostilities.

LONGSHOREMEN CONFER ABOUT DOCK STRIKE

Questions of Wage Increases and Radical Cuts in Size of Loads Being Handled Still Form Basis of Contention.

Montreal, May 3.—Striking Montreal longshoremen met in conference again today to decide on a course of action in the present strike of two thousand dockworkers which has tied up Montreal's waterfront for almost two days.

At the same time exact grounds for the present dispute, which have been kept secret by union and company officials, were learned. It was revealed the questions of wage increases and radical cuts in the size of loads being handled still form the basis of contention.

The men have been granted the following:
Pulp loads per sling will be reduced from six to five hundred and fifty-eight pounds each to four hundred. Tin loads per sling will be reduced from sixteen and fourteen cases to ten cases per sling. Each case weighs two hundred and eighty pounds.

They refuse to return to their jobs, however, until they have been granted an increase of fifteen cents per hour over the general cargo rates when handling bulk cargo such as sulphur, china clay and grain. General cargo rates are sixty-two cents an hour.

They also refuse to push trailers with two-ton loads and demand that they be pulled by tractors. There are now two men to each trailer. The men insist the work on sugar loading be slowed down on the grounds they are being pushed too heavily and demand that sugar sling loads be reduced from seven bags of three hundred pounds each to five bags per sling.

FAILED TO PREVENT LINER SAILING

Montreal, May 3.—The strike of longshoremen failed to prevent the sailing of the liner, Duchess of Athol, today. The Athol sailed for European ports with all but 1,200 tons of her 4,000-ton freight cargo. The unloaded cargo left on the docks as a result of the walkout has been forwarded by rail to Quebec where it will be loaded on the liner tonight.

CLAIMS CONDON UNABLE TO IDENTIFY STRANGER

New York, May 3.—The Daily News, in a copyrighted story, says a member of the 1932 Bronx County Grand Jury declares Dr. John F. "Jasfale" Condon told the Grand Jury in 1932 that he "could not then and never would be able to identify the mysterious 'John' to whom he handed the Lindbergh baby ransom money in a Bronx cemetery."

At the Flemington, N.J., trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann Dr. Condon, from the witness stand, identified Hauptmann as "John."

COURT DECISION ASKED ON SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

Quebec, May 3.—The question of whether or not the Quebec Legislature has the right to repeal a section of the provincial Sunday Observance Act which is incorporated in the Dominion law will be referred to the Court of King's Bench, Appeal Side, the Legislature decided yesterday.

Jean-Paul Sauve, Conservative, Two-Mountains, raised the issue with introduction of a bill to amend the Sunday Observance Act in order to facilitate Sunday observance in the Province. The bill sought repeal of that section of the Act which allows Jews who observe the last day of the week as their Sabbath to work on Sunday.

The bill was defeated by a vote of thirty-nine to eight on an amendment of Premier L. A. Taschereau referring the question of constitutionality to the Court of King's Bench. Premier Taschereau said he agreed with the spirit of the Sauve bill and thought the "Jews should respect what does the great majority in this province." He referred to observance of Sunday as a day of rest.

The admission of Peter Bercovitch, K.C., Liberal, St. Louis, was for "Christians to put their own house in order and observe their own Sunday." He recalled that the Premier had not passed a resolution condemning the "persecution" of Roman Catholics by the Mexican Government. It appeared odd to him that a legislature which adopted such resolutions should now "turn face about when a different race is concerned."

If the law did not appear in the statute books of the other provinces, Mr. Bercovitch claimed, it was patently because the other provinces tolerated his compatriots to work on Sunday seeing they observed Saturday as their Sabbath.

"My people do not want to be a source of irritation or friction," Mr. Bercovitch concluded, "as a lawyer, however, I do not believe the provincial statute can be repealed seeing it is in a way re-enacted in the Dominion law."

Premier Taschereau thought the Sauve bill represented the prevalent opinion of the public. He had received many letters on the matter of non-observance of Sundays by the Jews, however, he insisted, the subject "by its very delicacy" had to be approached with the utmost prudence. "We must keep up our courage for tolerance," he emphasized.

Giving the answer direct to Mr. Bercovitch the Premier said: "If the

Mr. Taylor, who is now past the eighty year mark, is a keen student of Eastern Townships' history and from his pen have come many choice lines expressing noble thoughts regarding this section of Quebec province.

"I was horribly surprised to read that such an act of vandalism had taken place," Mr. Taylor remarked to the Record. Mr. Taylor has for years been prominently connected with the Brome County Historical Society and he holds very dear to his heart all matters pertaining to the historical life of the Eastern Townships.

Continuing, Mr. Taylor said he was grieved to learn that these granite blocks which had remained unmolested for forty-three years should "have been so ruthlessly interfered with and taken away to serve a purpose for which they had never been intended."

There was a possibility, Mr. Taylor thought, that some good might come out of this evil. "I hope," he said, "that this baseless act may give the necessary impetus to awaken the proper authorities and that action may be taken immediately to have suitable monument erected in honor of the early settlers."

"It was surprising," Mr. Taylor said, "that such an unaccountable act should have occurred in such a progressive city as Sherbrooke at a time when special attention was being given throughout Canada to historical monuments."

Christian house is not in order perhaps this is due to the example set by the Jews who keep their shops open."

The Premier recalled that twenty-five years ago "a Legislature equally as Catholic as this one decided that Jews who observe the last day of the week as their Sabbath may work on Sunday providing such work does not disturb others." The Dominion law followed the provincial measure, he added, and stipulated that the various provincial points of view would be respected.

It was probably on account of this, he said, that the Dominion Government had respected a tradition followed "since time immemorial" in Quebec to have stores opened on Sundays to which Christians went after mass to buy their newspapers, etc.

The question was the Premier asked: "Can we create an offence the Dominion Government refuses to recognize?" Legal opinion furnished him, he told the House, was to the effect the provincial statute could not be repealed. Hence no amendment which the House approved including Mr. Bercovitch.

Mr. Sauve and his chief, Maurice Duplessis, K.C., Conservative Opposition leader, urged Premier Taschereau to withdraw his amendment.

Said Mr. Duplessis: "Are we legislators or not? Must we refer everything to a tribunal to find out if two and two makes four. It is elementary that any provincial statute may be repealed by a provincial legislature. No need to go before the courts to find that out."

Mr. Duplessis said the fault with the statute was not present was that Jews who supposedly attended their own religious services on Saturday were allowed to work on Sunday. The very set-up of the law was "ridiculous" he said. It could not be expected a check-up was possible of all the Jews in Montreal who went to synagogues on Saturday. To do this, he added, would require a regular police force permitted to enter the homes of all Jewish residents.

"Let us assume our responsibilities," he urged. "There is no sense in paying money for lawyers to present a case before the court. We have the incontestable right to repeal the law and if Premier Taschereau has any doubts which I don't share—let him move an address suggesting the Dominion Government repeal its section of the law. It is erroneously believed conflicts with ours."

Joseph Samson, Quebec Centre, was the only member of the Liberal deputation to vote against the amendment.

TIGHTEN RESTRICTIONS ON SALESMEN OF SECURITIES

Quebec, May 3.—Favorable report on a bill of Premier L. A. Taschereau to amend the Security Frauds Prevention Act for curb laws of fly-by-night "security" salesmen was unanimously given by the Public Bills Committee of the "Quebec Legislative Assembly yesterday."

One provision of the bill is that every broker who is not a member of a stock exchange must keep books of account in which are entered a statement of his receipts and expenditures, indicating the source of the receipts and the objects of the expenditures.

W. A. Amyot, K.C., Registrar of the Security Frauds Prevention Act, informed the committee that he was aimed at brokers who do not keep books or who kept them in such bad shape a check-up on their activities was impossible.

It is provided for that no broker or salesman shall call upon any individual at any residence for the purpose of trading in securities. Infraction constitutes an indictable offence. The words "call upon" include telephone calls.

No broker will be allowed to employ, directly or indirectly, any person as a salesman in connection with the trading of securities unless such person so employed be registered as a salesman for such broker under the provisions of the Act. The provisions in this respect are that registration of salesmen will be made annually. Temporary registration may be effected for such period as the Registrar may determine.

The Registrar is given wide powers under the Act. For instance, he may "from time to time order any broker or salesman not to trade in one or several classes of securities. Upon receipt of such order the broker or salesman must refrain from trading in the security mentioned in the order." Failure to comply with this order will constitute an offence.

MANY PEOPLE are astonished to find that the Ford V-8 interior actually has more head room, shoulder room and leg space than many "big" cars. That's why the V-8 is such a splendid family car. Seats are inches wider (front seats 4 ins. to 5½ ins.) so that three people can ride on either front or rear seat. Doors are inches wider too, permitting easier entrance and exit.

The new forward position of the V-8 engine, new distribution of passenger weight and the new springs, effect a marvellously easy ride. Roominess and riding comfort are matched by elegantly styled body lines, rich appointments and exterior and interior finishes. The economical Ford V-8 engine gives the performance you would only expect in an automobile costing several times as much. In fact, to get a V-8 engine in any other car you have to pay $3500 or more.

Sings of Spring.

Brown swollen rivers, rough heaving roads,
Fashionable ladies flaunting springtime modes,
Hints of buds on the awakening trees,
Crocuses on the lawn—stirred by the breeze,
Smiles on faces that in winter were long,
Once more the bird's cheerful chirpy song.
More eggs from the little red hen.
College boys wearing gowns on the street again!

Submit the Plain Question to a Ballot by the People.

As a student of Canada's railway ever since 1904, when the diabolical third transcontinental was thrust upon the country, when the railway lobbyists took advantage of the loyalty of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his lack of business experience, I can promptly answer the twelve queries of the hesitating Minister of Railways.

After a denunciation of the unification of the railways, and the consequent lifting of the load from the stooping shoulders of the taxpayers, these are the questions of Hon. Dr. Manion, who advocates the perpetuation of the Canadian National Railways, who is opposed to any measure of relief for the sake of the people:

1. Are the amalgamated railways to be under private or under Government control?

Answer—Under responsible private ownership, with freight and passenger rates to be fixed by railway and government officials.

2. How much saving can be made by amalgamation under present traffic conditions?

Answer—At least $100,000,000 a year, and not less than the present total yearly loss under political ownership.

3. If by amalgamation savings are made, in what proportions are these savings to be divided between the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific?

Answer—The greater proportion would come from a railway under public ownership, naturally. Some $100,000,000 of the loss saved will come from a cessation of the deficits now borne by the taxpayers in income tax and direct impositions.

4. How much capital expenditure will be necessary to effect the physical union of the two railways?

Answer—About $5,000.

5. How much of the present deficit of $50,000,000 is the C.P.R. ready to absorb if the C.N.R. is taken over by the other railway?

Answer—This deficit is one hundred and not fifty millions. It would be saved without necessity for absorption by anyone. More capital would be put into the road through the restoration of confidence to investors.

6. If the C.P.R. is brought under Government ownership, are the bondholders of the C.P.R. to be guaranteed their interest and would the holders of common stock expect guaranteed dividends?

Answer—If no unfair and fool legislation be injected into the amalgamation by the men who know nothing, there would be no guarantee beyond that of the restored confidence.

7. Would the Canadian Pacific put in all its assets or only part of them?

Answer—That again would depend upon the lack of foolish restrictions, and sectional lobbying by self-seekers.

8. What is to be done about settlers and industries and towns and terminals, on lines to be abandoned?

Answer—No lines would be abandoned where the settlers made use of the railway to profit. Altogether not five hundred miles of railway would be abandoned in all Canada.

9. Are those affected by closing of shops and terminals to be compensated?

Answer—Only the employees would be affected, and they would, within a few weeks, be absorbed within a newborn organization which will be filled with an enthusiasm, which will surely show a large percentage of increase each quarter. Within a year the unified railway would require to seek new recruits, whilst men of experience would be at a premium.

10. What provision is proposed to provide for these displaced wage-earners until they can be absorbed in other industries?

Answer—With readjustment completed and within a month thereafter there would not be any displaced wage-earners, for there will be need of every trained railway man in the new birth which would follow.

11. Should these questions be answered, or are we to decide on amalgamation first and get our answers after?

Answer—These questions can be answered unequivocally and in detail as soon as the Government decides upon the principle of negotiation for unification. The trained railway economists have to foresee a year ahead on all their budgeting problems. The staff will, of necessity, receive first consideration, for upon their individual loyalty depends the success of the enterprise.

12. Is this the time—near the bottom of the financial crisis—for final decision on this question?

Answer—Now is the time and now the hour, lest the burdened ten million be forced into rebellion over the continuance of a fallacy which is rejected by all who give thought to a problem which can never be settled by theorists.

Suppose we leave it to the decision of a referendum at the general elections. The straight question on a ballot: Do you favour a continuance of the Canadian National Railway under political operation?

Government by Commission.

Vancouver Sun.

Running downward all through federal government, provincial government and municipal government is a growing craze for investigating commissions.

In Canada just now we have commissions investigating everything from the price of commodities to the length of women's skirts.

Every time a Minister of the Crown wants to know something, he doesn't even bother looking in his files or sending out a deputy to get it. He just has a commission appointed to sit two or three years all over Canada and bring in a report that nobody ever reads.

And probably eight-tenths of all information thus adduced is already tucked away in some remote file in Ottawa or Victoria or some other centre of government.

It is a stupid waste of time and money that has no parallel in any other form of human endeavour.

It is a scathing reflection on the disrepute into which politicians have fallen when Ministers of the Crown tacitly admit that the public will not accept their opinions on these various matters and demand the testimony and judgment of experts appointed especially for the purpose.

Government by commission can grow into outlandish proportions.

It is a polite and official way of playing that old, old game known as "passing the buck."

That is the Government way—though the electors are led to believe that the members whom they elect are going to do the work.

The Record does it differently. At ten o'clock in the morning it was reported to this office that vandals had taken the base of the Pioneers' Monument from Victoria Park. We put two of our bright young men at work on the mysterious disappearance. At twelve o'clock they had tracked the granite blocks to their resting place, some two miles away from the site of the monument. The monument had been torn to pieces by thoughtless civic employees acting under directions of a Parks Chairman who only thinks he thinks.

At one o'clock the two-column story was written and a cut of the architectural design made for the issue of the paper at 2.30. Within four hours a complete and specific tale was made where a government would have appointed an investigating commission of five or ten at $10 and $15 a day each.

Photographs were taken of the smashed stone, some pieces and blocks still showing the marks as clearly as though they had just come from Thompson's marble works. Prints were made before sunset, and these were developed and printed and shown to the Mayor, so that the responsible alderman might be impeached before the bar of public opinion.

These photos, one showing a step on the way to the Notre Dame Catholic Church, were indelibly cut showing that it had been donated by the Masonic Order. It was marked A.F. and A.M., whilst another showed a corner of the date stone IV. Imagine that—leading to a church blessed by a Catholic bishop.

The alderman may be excommunicated as well as impeached. It was a stupid and inexcusable bit of vandalism, and if its sponsor had any sense of conviction he would resign.

Roumania has just signed a contract for armaments or munitions amounting to $25,000,000, which is grist to the mill of Sir Basil Zaharoff and his high-powered friends. This is the country which ordered $25,000,000 worth of goods from Canada over ten years ago, and hasn't paid a cent on the principal of the debt since that time.

LINK ANARCHIST GROUPS TO MARITIME DISASTERS

Havana Police Believe that Six Men Arrested for Terrorism May Have Connection with Disasters that Have Befallen Sailing to and from Cuba.

Havana, May 3.—Simultaneously with the arrest of six suspected Spanish anarchists, police expressed the opinion today that there was a possible connection between the existence of anarchistic groups here and disasters which have befallen vessels sailing to and from Havana. Included among seized documents, they said, was a letter from Barcelona anarchists to the National Maritime Transport Syndicate giving the "anarchist salute." The authorities said the letter advised that the trans-Atlantic liner Magallanes had discharged twelve members of its crew and demanded that Havana anarchists "make the ship company suffer the consequences of the despotic action and give merited punishment to strike-breakers."

The police ordered a rigid surveillance of docks and ships in port to prevent the instructions from Barcelona from being carried out.

OPERATION ON NERVES TO REDUCE HUMAN SUFFERING

Cutting of Pain Nerves Greatly Reduces Pain while Not Interfering with Control Over Affected Parts.

Philadelphia, May 3.—Surgery on the nerves of pain offers hope of reducing human suffering.

The operations possible were reviewed today by Francis C. Grant, M.D., of Philadelphia, at the meeting of the American College of Physicians.

Some of the fibres which form the bundles of nerves, just as separate fibres form threads, carry the sensation of pain. Others give the movement orders.

By cutting the pain fibres in the spinal cord, pain can be stopped in the legs and up into the pelvis. Touch and position nerve fibres remain unimpaired and the movements of the legs are not interfered with.

NOTED EXPLORER PAYS TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN FLIERS

"We favor Canadian fliers," Sir Hubert said.

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, I am going to tax your memory."

"Great snakes! Has it come to that?" interrupted a voice from the rear of the hall.

IN SAME PLIGHT AS HE WAS

TWO DECADES AGO
Ontario, Calif., May 3.—Twenty years ago John Cozad stood on a street corner here, homeless, hungry and broke.

The best place to go, he thought, was jail. So he threw an old discarded battery through a plate glass bank window.

Yesterday the constable noticed a solitary figure lingering on a street corner. It was Cozad, now sixty-one years old.

He was in the same plight as he was two decades before. Nearly was a plate glass window.

The constable looked at Cozad, looked at the window—and hurried him off to jail for sixty days. The charge was vagrancy.

LOCAL REVENUE OFFICE SHOWS BIG DECREASE

Collections for April, 1935, Totalled $63,854.70, a Decline of $15,069.35 Compared with Figures for Corresponding Month of 1934.

A decrease of $15,069.35 in the collections at the local office of the Department of National Revenue compared with the figures for the corresponding period last year was reported today by L. W. Greenland, collector in charge of the local port. The revenue for the first month of the fiscal year totalled $63,854.70 as compared with $78,924.05 in April, 1934.

Import duties declined from $27,419.75 in April 1934, to $21,944.21 last month, a drop of $5,475.54. Excise taxes, chiefly the sales tax on manufactured goods, amounted to $40,899.31 in the past month or $53,149.49 less than the receipts from this source of $1,250.80 last year.

Excise duties expanded sharply, however, jumping from $243.50 in April, 1934, to $986.90 in April, 1935, or an increase of $743.40. Sunday collections rose from $10 to $24.28.

VALUABLE EXHIBITION OF COINS, MEDALS AND MONEY

Museum at Seminary Open to the Public for Coronation Week—Day and Evenings.

Father Marcotte, of the Seminary, will mark the silver anniversary of the coronation of King George V with an open exhibition of the collection of coins, medals and money which are a feature of the numismatic assembly in the tower room of the Museum.

This coin collection is a noteworthy one among collectors, and contains about 3,000 pieces.

The exhibit will open each day from 7 to 9 p.m., and on Sunday from 12.30 to 5 o'clock. There is no charge whatever.

Besides the coin collection exhibit, visitors will take much interest in the permanent exhibit of birds and animals, Indian relics and other historic pieces from foreign countries. Instantaneous the ornithological exhibit, the collection embraces 296 species where in the province there are but known 203 existing species.

Informative attendants will be at the service of visitors, but the whole exhibition will be conducted by Father Leon Marcotte, who is known quite widely among the enthusiastic naturalists of the continent.

The Directors of the Sherbrooke Fair may try and persuade the amicable curator and collector to give a similar open exhibition as an adjunct to the Sherbrooke Fair week. Many years ago the President and Directors of the Sherbrooke Exhibition awarded to Father Codere a bronze medal for his exhibit of furs, and this medal is in the Seminary Museum. Father Marcotte suggests that other silver, gold or bronze medals awarded in the past years might be given a prestige-making career by making the Museum a safe depository. They would thus be donated to posterity.

DIRECTORY OF ALL CANADA

Montreal, May 3.—The 1935 McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications, lists tangible evidence of improved business conditions, showing an increase of 62 new publications as against an increase of only 20 the previous year. Failures in the publication field decreased proportionately.

This 1935 edition of the directory is the twenty-eighth, the series having begun several years after the founding of the A. McKim Limited, advertising agency, in 1889.

Recognized as an authentic gazetteer of advertising media throughout Canada, the directory gives information about newspapers, magazines, trade papers and miscellaneous publications, publishers, cities and towns where publications operate are all listed, together with populations, industries and outstanding characteristics of market areas.

Somewhat larger than its predecessors, this edition will replace last year's directory on the desks of manufacturers, publishers and all firms dealing in advertising in Canada. Enquiries should be addressed to any one of the six McKim Advertising Agency offices at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax or London, England.

ANNUAL PLEASANT EVENT FOR PROTESTANT TEACHERS

Social enjoyment and business were pleasantly combined at the annual meeting of the Protestant Teachers' Association in Plymouth church hall yesterday afternoon. The staff at the Central School and five members of the Mitchell School staff acted as hostesses for the annual supper-party which precedes the business session. Under the auspices of the Women's Association of Plymouth United Church, the delicious salad tea was served to the many teachers who attended yesterday's annual gathering.

The business included a few reports and the election of officers. As the whole slate was re-elected, with the exception of the recording secretary, which position Miss H. Harvey has resigned owing to her approaching marriage, the election was merely a matter of form. The officers of the Protestant Teachers' Association include: president, Miss E. Tilton; first vice-president, Miss E. Holdren; second vice-president, Miss E. Symons; treasurer, Miss L. Sherman; corresponding secretary, Miss M. Siddall; library convenor, Miss I. Cobleigh; and recording secretary, Miss A. Woodmark, who succeeds Miss H. Harvey.

"Did you say the man was shot in the woods, doctor?"

"No! I said he was shot in the lumber region."

Members of the Orford Women's Institute were pleased to have Miss Drummond, the County President, at their May meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Faith on the Victory Highway. The session opened with the Club Women's Creed, and the roll call was answered by the name of a Canadian tree. After the usual routine business had been disposed of, plans were made for entertaining the annual county meeting in Lennoxville next week.

Following adjournment the hostesses served delicious refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Olyer.

TWO PRISONERS LIBERATED ON JUBILEE

Benefiting of the partial amnesty in connection with the celebration of King George's Silver Jubilee, two prisoners were allowed to walk out of the local jail this morning. Two months had been lapsed off their sentences and this entitled them to their freedom. Another prisoner was released on May 15th. Governor Charest announced to the Record this morning.

Prison gates swung open for sixty-six men at the Montreal jail. At St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, seventy-nine men were released. A number of these are from Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships.

MANY COUPLES DANCED TO JUBILEE BAND'S MUSIC

An entertaining programme was enjoyed by a large number of Sherbrooke dancers when Leo Shelley directed his Silver Jubilee orchestra here last evening. The varied selection of popular numbers rendered by the smooth-playing band earned much applause from the patrons.

Favors were distributed to the ladies, while silver cups and other prizes were awarded for the Opportunity and Waltz contests. Don Ford, of Bromptonville, was adjudged winner of the Opportunity feature, his vocal rendition meeting with the support of the majority of the audience, while G. M. Moreau and Miss J. Belanger, of this city, won first prize in the waltz competition.

HIS GOLDEN JUBILEE IS HONORED BY HIS BANKERS

The Same Business Stand and the Same Bankers in His Fifty Years Business Career.

"May 3rd, 1885"—just fifty years ago—the ledgers of the present Bank of Commerce at the Magog Falls branch, show the opening of the business saving account of Joseph Rosenbloom, and it is still on the record. This account, according to the chief clerk, has never been closed in the passing years. Nor in all that time, to his knowledge, has this distinguished customer of the bank distinguished a single draft or cheque.

Mr. Rosenbloom came to Sherbrooke at the age of 16, as the "young man from Gengarry." The bank building was new, and was the pride of President Farwell and the directors of the Eastern Townships Bank. Stephen Edgell was then the local manager, and these two magnates took a warm personal interest in the energetic arrival from this Scotch-Canadian County of Gengarry, which was made famous by the pen of Ralph Connor. It was always the favorite theme of that great author, Rev. C. W. Gordon, now a resident of Winnipeg, and still active in the ministry.

Joseph Rosenbloom is still the active head of the firm, though his son Lewis helps make it "the old store with the young spirit." He has outlived all of his mercantile colleagues of that day. This is the only business on Wellington street which is still directed by its founder, and the only business in existence under the same management as it was when he first hung out his sign. That sign decorates the same identical spot on the street, where he first opened his business.

From the main branch of the Bank of Commerce in Sherbrooke, Mr. Rosenbloom received a very prettily constructed letter, signed by each member of the staff following the signature of George E. Ewing as manager. This letter will be held among the precious archives which recite the tale of a long and honorable business career, a record which is a rare achievement.

Cleveland and Hamm are at present on $4,000 bail. Court officials said that it would be improbable that the preliminary hearing of the accused would be completed this afternoon. They will likely be remanded to next week.

Cleveland and Hamm are alleged to have struck the two Rimmers during an altercation on Saturday afternoon last when they met on the Barnston road. For several years a bitter feud has existed between the Rimmers and the Cleverlands. Richard Rimmer and his son suffered quite severe cuts about the head and were confined to the Sherbrooke Hospital for several days. They have since returned to their home.

MERCHANTS WARNED ABOUT COUNTERFEIT CURRENCY

With the opening of the tourist season the menace of counterfeit money returns to this district. During the past few weeks several "phony" bills have been passed on unsuspecting merchants—service stations being the principal victims.

The method of procedure is simple. A motorist approaches a service station for a supply of gasoline, in payment he tendered a worthless bill. He disappears before the attendant discovers that he has been victimized.

Ten dollar bills have been found in several of the smaller towns. They have, apparently, been passed by drivers of cars bearing New York license plates. They bear the same serial number—B-25602633-A.

Local police authorities have circulated a warning to all merchants to be on their guard against accepting American money which appears to be doubtful in any respect.

THE REIGN OF GEORGE THE WISE

Rule Fraught With Trouble From Earliest Hours

London, May 3.—On the twenty-fifth anniversary of his reign, King George V finds himself acclaimed the hero of a national drama that paralleled his seventy-year span of life. Exciting scenes followed with breath-taking rapidity before reaching the world-rocking climax in which he so distinguished himself.

Yet there was little in his early life to forecast the stellar role he was to play. As a boy he had no thoughts of being king. He was a second son of the Royal House, a generation removed from the throne with remote prospect of gaining accession.

Fate nevertheless elevated him to the throne, with its heritage of bitter factional battles, a world war and the world's most tragic disaster.

Out of the adversities that beset his Empire he has emerged stronger than ever. If he has an enemy without, he has made himself vocal. King George's story is the Empire's story, too.

He was born at Marlborough House in London on June 3, 1865, the second son of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, the lovely Danish princess.

King Edward planned for his two boys, the Duke of Clarence, heir to the throne, and Prince George, a healthy, happy childhood. When they were twelve he decided it was time for them to have companions. Accordingly he entered them both as cadets on the training ship Britannia at Dartmouth. The boys had to perform their various duties like everybody else.

When Prince George was fourteen he and his brother, as midshipmen on the Bacchante, took cruises which led them around the world.

Then came a separation for the brothers. The Duke of Clarence went to Cambridge and afterward into the army. Prince George chose to stick to the navy. Being a younger son, with no seeming prospect of the throne, he wanted to make a career for himself in England's senior service.

In 1882 he was made sub-lieutenant and appointed to the Canada, which had its station in North American and West Indian waters. Returning home for a time, he was graduated from the Royal Naval College at Greenwich. In 1885 he became lieutenant and joined the Thunderer in the Mediterranean squadron. After service in various other ships, he joined the English Channel squadron and finally had command of a torpedo boat.

All seemed set fair for him to be a sailor prince for the balance of his life. But the Duke of Clarence became ill with influenza and died on January 14, 1892. This made Prince George direct heir to the throne. His naval career was ended. Queen Victoria created him Duke of York, Earl of Inverness and Baron Killarney.

The Duke not only fell heir to the throne, but won for himself Princess Mary of Teck, who had been affianced to his brother. Of all her cousins, George had been the favorite playmate and the nation rejoiced when their engagement was announced on May 6, 1893. The wedding took place in the Chapel Royal July 6.

The newly married pair were given quarters in St. James' Palace and settled down sedately. In the course of time, they had six children, one girl, Princess Mary, and five boys, the youngest of whom, Prince John, only lived until he was fourteen.

The Duke's father wanted the future king to see the Empire for himself. Accordingly the Duke and Duchess visited Ireland in 1899. But now a bigger trip was planned. Parliament had passed a bill creating the Commonwealth of Australia and there was a great demand that the Duke should open the Commonwealth Parliament. Queen Victoria had consented. In the meantime, she died on January 22, 1901, and her son mounted the throne as King Edward VII.

The King agreed that his son should make the trip as already planned. So in March the young couple boarded the merchant ship Ophir turned for the occasion into a royal yacht, and started on their long cruise which took them to Gibraltar, Port Said, Aden, Ceylon, Singapore and all over the Australian continent. They were warmly received everywhere.

From Australia they sailed to New Zealand, Tasmania, South Africa, still in the dying throes of the Boer war, and then made for Quebec, from whence they went on a complete tour of Canada.

The future King George of England was formally made Prince of Wales shortly after this trip. Now his intensive training for the kingship began. King Edward sent him on trips to Berlin and Paris, and, in 1905, to another great section of the empire—India.

The England to which the Prince returned was threatened by a great political storm. It was a problem which caused the King much anxiety taxation on the rich. It was defeated in the House of Lords. Now the Government had no intention of tamely submitting to a Tory house which was hereditary in its membership. The Government therefore proposed to shear the Lords of their power. They should have no right to amend a money bill and no right to veto any House of Commons bill, if passed in three successive sessions. Passions rose to a high pitch. Suddenly there came a tragic interregnum. King Edward became ill from a neglected cold and died May 6, 1910.

The heir to the throne was now King George V in his own right. His troubles had now begun. Everybody could see that in this parliamentary struggle the King would perform before brought into it. He grasped the nettle with a firm hand. He insisted that the rival leaders should meet in conference and try to settle their differences amicably. Twenty-one meetings were held. Neither side would budge an inch.

There was a sort of truce while the Royal pair had their coronation ceremonies on June 22, 1911, and then the political battle was renewed.

Finally the more reasonable men among the peers decided to accede to the inevitable democratic trend. The Government measure was passed by a majority of seventeen.

This settled the new king next was assailed by the angry shrieks of the suffragettes. For many years the women in a lady-like way had been campaigning for the vote. But in 1910 Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst had formed an organization designed to be militant. They interrupted political meetings. They set fire to buildings. They broke windows. They went on hunger strikes.

The King himself was brought into it. A high climax came when a suffragette attended the Derby, herself beneath the feet of the King's horse and was killed. This battle came to an end when war was declared. The militants threw themselves into war work.

So nobly did they labor that by universal consent in 1918 a bill was passed giving women over thirty years of age and having certain property qualifications the vote. Ten years later all restrictions were removed and all women twenty-one years old and over were given the vote. King George's reign was, therefore, marked with a situation in which there were more women than men voters.

No English sovereign in the past three hundred years has ever been permitted to reign without having Ireland on his mind. In King George's younger years he often visited Ireland and had always been well received. On July 8, 1910, he once more sailed for Ireland, accompanied by the Queen, the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary. Graciously received in Dublin, the sovereign cleverly took the opportunity to show that he was above religious quarrels and considered all the Irish people as part of the brotherhood of the Empire.

But the cheering had hardly died before an ugly situation arose. In May, 1914, a home rule bill for Ireland had been passed and was ready for the Royal signature. The bill proposed to set up a single Irish parliament for all Ireland, with full authority over everything except the army, navy and foreign affairs. The bill meant the inclusion of Ulster, which, ultra-loyalist and largely Protestant, violently objected to being part of the new Irish Dominion.

Ulstermen began enrolling in military bodies and arms were smuggled into the country. It looked as if the stage was all set for a civil war. To avert this Premier Asquith introduced an amendment to the home rule bill by which the six main Ulster counties should temporarily, at least, be exempted from its provisions. Even this did not cool passions that had been excited on both sides.

When then the King once more asserted himself and intervened in the cause of peace. On July 21, 1914, he convoked at Buckingham Palace a conference representing the Government, the official Tory opposition, the Irish Nationalists. Although the sovereign himself opened the meeting in a very grave speech, the conference failed.

While people were wondering what the next step would be, greater events overshadowed it. The heir to the Austrian throne had been assassinated at Sarajevo on June 29 and Austria had sent a terrible ultimatum to Serbia.

King George was due to reign during Great Britain's darkest period.

STUDY CLUB AT COWANSVILLE HELD SESSION

Varied Programme Presented at Regular Meeting of Cowansville Study Club—Notes of General Interest from District.

Cowansville, May 3.—The Adult Study Club met in the assembly hall of the High School on Monday evening. The vice-president, Mrs. W. D. Smith, presided. The programme opened with a piano duet, "Habenera Chorus," from "Carmen," by Miss Rowena Cotton and Miss Jean McClure. Mr. Grayburn gave a talk on the history of Germany. Mrs. B. A. Planché, elocutionist, gave a fine rendering of the widely-loved "Chambered Nautilus." Oliver Wendell Holmes, which was his own favorite.

Mr. K. Lunenburg read a well-prepared paper on Germany, first mentioning the three principal rivers, the Rhine, Elbe and Oder, which are all navigable through the greater part of their course. The climate in the western part is very moderate, but colder in the east. Lunenburg there is counted a branch of agriculture, as there is a law providing for the replacement of trees as soon as they are cut. Important cities include Berlin, Hamburg, Kiel, Strassburg and Dresden. The Kiel Canal, which connects the North and Baltic seas was important for the navy as well as the merchant ships. The German race originated from the Teutonic and are first cousin to the Anglo-Saxon. Germany is half the size of the Province of Quebec and has seventy-five million inhabitants. The German is proverbially very fond of music and mountain climbing as divisions. Miss Cotton and Miss McClure played as their second number, "Marche Grotesque," Sinding.

Mr. Clifford Johnson gave a short historical sketch of the St. Lawrence Valley. A discussion period followed.

ROOKIES PROVE SENSATIONS OF YOUNG SEASON

Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds Owe Present Berths in League Standings to Fine Performances of Recruits—Blanton Is Leading Pitcher Among Freshmen.

It seems to be an almost unbreakable rule in baseball that youth must be served—especially in the early spring. That goes a long way toward explaining the positions of the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds in the current major league standings as well as a number of other April surprises.

The White Sox, running a close second to Cleveland in the American League, appear to have skimmed the cream of this season's rookie crop with Vernon Wilkerson hitting .305, Ray Redcliff in the outfield, and John Whitehead on the mound winning his first three games in fine style.

Cincinnati's freshmen have not been so impressive at the plate—Lew Riggs tops them with a .285 average—but either their inspiration or the realization that they have to battle for their regular jobs has started a few of the veterans toward comebacks. And it all has helped to put the Reds into the first division scrap.

In the number of rookies playing daily the Reds still are at the top. Riggs, Billy Myers and Alex Kampouris, who hardly has graduated from the recruit class, are in the outfield, Ival Goodenough on the outer line, Bill Campbell catching, and Gene Schott and Al Hollingsworth taking their turns on the mound.

In contrast to this array, the rest of the National League's rookie crop looks slim. Pittsburgh presents Darrell "Cy" Blanton, sensational young hurler who has won three games, granted only fifteen hits and whiffed twenty-two batters. Most of the others have a pitcher or two up from the minors but so far the other recruits have done little of importance.

In the American League the standouts in the hitting line are Roy "Beau" Bell, of the St. Louis Browns, and Mel Almada, of the Boston Red Sox, with batting averages of .353 and .327, respectively. Roy Hughes has been performing so well in the Cleveland infield that he may be hard to oust when Billy Knickerbocker is able to play again, but Louis "Boriz" Berger has not yet come up to expectations. Ellsworth Dahlgren, Red Sox first baseman, also is a doubtful quantity.

Alvin "Jake" Rowell apparently has won a steady job in the Washington outfield and Wally Moses with the Philadelphia Athletics, where Alex Hooks and Lamar Newcomb seem to be infield fixtures. Some good pitching performances in the junior circuit have come from Vito Tamulis, of the Yankees, Leon Pettit, of Washington, who put in ten years in the minors, Joe Sullivan, of Detroit, and Joe Vance, of Chicago.

Recruits and veterans alike were scheduled to meet next and perhaps suffer tests today with the opening of the first east-west rounds in both leagues. Yesterday's three-game programme was a complete washout as rain and cold weather halted the New York-Brooklyn and the Philadelphia-Boston games in the National League and the Detroit-St. Louis fixture in the American circuit.

SAYING IT WITH SONG
Chicago, May 2.—The last in a medley of songs an attorney for Mrs. John Capocy offered in Superior Court was "The Prisoner's Song," and the judge decided, Capocy could sing it in jail for failure to support "The Mises" and their children.

The other songs were "Happy Days," which the attorney said "spoke" while punning the cash register in his tavern, and the "Blues," which Capocy sang in court while denying ability to pay.

CANADIAN GIRL HAS PROMISING TENNIS FUTURE

Caroline Deacon, of Vancouver, Who Won Canadian Women's Singles Title Last Year without Loss of a Single Set, Will Play in England This Summer.

Vancouver, May 3.—Five years ago Caroline Deacon started to play tennis. Last summer she entered the Canadian women's championship tournament for the first time, going to Toronto for the occasion. She won without losing a single set. It was a tournament record.

Flame-haired Caroline goes to England and Wimbledon this summer along with Eleanor Young, her tennis-playing companion, and the two Montreal stars, Laird Watt and Bobby Murray. She has come a long way in five years and they say she is nowhere near the end of the trail.

The Deacon-Young invasion of the 1934 championship classic in Toronto remains one of the most spectacular and sweeping in the history of the event. They went out as strangers and they came home as champions.

Caroline defeated Eleanor in the final round of the women's singles.

They teamed to capture the women's doubles in decisive fashion and Eleanor did her share by annexing the junior women's singles crown, defeating Betty Hollinger, of Dayton, O., United States indoor girls' champion, in straight sets.

They left a mark of consistent brilliance for future title-holders to shoot at.

Miss Deacon was coached by E. J. H. Cardinal, who held the Vancouver city title for four consecutive years a quarter of a century ago.

The twenty-two year old Vancouver girl is just the sort of dynamo on the court that popular belief associates with those possessing red hair. She is never still a second during a match. She bounds around the court with a display of action that often causes critics to wonder if she is not wasting energy.

On this point, however, Coach Cardinal is emphatic.

"She is high-strung and nervous," he claims, "and must have an outlet for nervous energy. It is the only way she can keep on her game. If she were to hold herself down to the smooth play of the stylist her tennis would suffer."

Miss Deacon did not play in an open tennis tournament until 1933 when she won the Vancouver Island junior singles championship. That was the beginning of a season that ended with the new sensation in possession of six titles—all provincial. Last summer she won six championships—including the British Columbia and Canadian crowns.

ST. PAT'S LEADING Y.M.C.A. IN SECOND SERIES

The forerunner to Sherbrooke's first table tennis tournament was staged last evening when a team representing the St. Patrick's Old Boys' Association defeated a Y.M.C.A. squad by five matches to three.

The present series, which will be concluded with eight contests this evening, is a continuation of the friendly home-and-home competition inaugurated in the Irish Academy's gymnasium two weeks ago. The Y. captured the opening set of games by the margin of a single triumph.

Both teams broke even in the singles events last night, but the Irish boys captured the two doubles encounters to emerge with the honors. The matches required five sets before a winner was declared, while three other contests went to four sets. In two events victories were achieved in straight sets.

The city tournament, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A., will be staged during the week of May 13 to May 18. Entries will be accepted until Thursday, May 2, when the draw will be made.

The detailed results of last night's games follow:

LOCAL SCHOOL GIRLS SCORED EASY VICTORY

Sherbrooke High School Cage Quintette Had Too Much Experience for Coaticook Visitors in Exhibition Basketball Fixture Yesterday Afternoon.

Greater experience and superior playing conditions were the principal factors in the one-sided victory the Sherbrooke High School girls scored over the Coaticook High School in an exhibition basketball engagement on the MacKinnon Memorial gymnasium floor yesterday afternoon. The material which Coaticook floored, however, revealed several future promising performers who would develop rapidly under careful and capable coaching.

The visitors were outclassed from the opening whistle. They were bewildered by the fast combination and individual plays uncorked by the local cagers, while their defence was unable to withstand the strong offensive launched by Bob Calder's proteges. The Coaticook quintette, however, never flinched before the continual pressure and gained applause for their courageous stand.

The Sherbrooke hoopers posted an eighteen to three margin before the half-time intermission arrived. Their marksmanship was improved over the shooting they revealed during the Sherbrooke County Girls' Association schedule and their rear-guard functioned smoothly to thrust aside the few dangerous sallies made by the visitors.

Sherbrooke contributed thirteen points to its column. In the second half and Coaticook was held scoreless. The final result was thirty-one to three in favor of the local students.

All but three members of the winning squad scored at least one field basket. Marion MacIntyre paced the local sharpshooters with eight points, while Ruth MacMillan and Ella Mullin were deadlocked in the running up berth for individual honors with six points each.

Miss J. White scored Coaticook's lone field basket and Miss D. Martin counted the penalty shot which added the extra point.

Len Gillam handled the game and Ken Jackson acted as scorekeeper. The line-ups and individual scores follow:

Sherbrooke: M. McCabe 3, M. MacIntyre 8, M. E. Lynn 3, E. Mullin 6, V. Hall, J. Becheier 2, V. Jones, M. Vlahakis 2, and M. Johnson 2. Total 31.

Coaticook: D. Martin 1, J. White 2, E. Parsons, B. Drennan, E. Bruhmiller, E. Legge, B. Mayhew, E. MacDonald, E. Thompson, T. Edison and A. Pinn. Total 3.

BOWLING

PRESBYTERIANS EVENED CHURCH TITLE SERIES

A third and deciding match will be necessary to determine the champions of the Inter-Church five-pin Bowling League. Plymouth won the initial play-off contest by two strings to one, but St. Andrew's reversed the decision in the second contest last night to square the series at three-all. The league title will be awarded to the quintette winning the best five-of-nine strings.

Cecil Patton, of the Presbyterians, annexed individual honors last night with a single string total of 265 and a three-string aggregate of 672. The Plymouth Church representatives, led by Terry Jackson, made the count three to one by capturing the first string last night, but the Saints rallied to deadlock matters by winning the second and third fixtures.

The detailed results of the match follow:

PLYMOUTH
C. Holt 156 155 265-512
P. Gellman 211 161 124-496

SHERBROOKE BOY POSTED A PERFECT SCORE

Gerard Pinard last night realized a bowler's ambition—a perfect score.

Playing in a practice match with Gerard "Lightning" Deslauriers, Pinard made three hundred at the ten-pin game. Twelve strikes in a row was the remarkable achievement as Pinard became the third bowler to record a perfect mark on Sherbrooke alleys.

Pinard had made a score of 213 in his first string. As he reached the latter stages of his second string, the interest of the few spectators heightened and reached the climax when the pins tottered on Pinard's twelfth delivery. Pinard is a member of the Boswell quintette which captured both the Industrial League and the City bowling championships this year. His best previous score was 254—a mark he recorded last year.

Fourteen years ago the late Joseph Savio became the first local bowler to make a perfect score. In October, 1923, one of Pinard's teammates, Leo Bignonesse, duplicated this feat.

FILLY FAVORED TO WIN ANNUAL DERBY CLASSIC

Deluge of Rain Yesterday Brought Fresh Wave of Sentiment for Nellie Flag, Only Filly Entered in Sixty-First Renewal of Historic Churchill Downs Race.

Louisville, May 3.—The weather man holds out hope of clearing skies by tomorrow afternoon, but it seems certain the going will be heavy, if not actually muddy, when the entries in the sixty-first Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs parade to the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home." The track was fetlock deep in mud last night, an early morning cloudburst followed by another heavy thunderstorm late yesterday converting the historic one-mile oval at the Downs into a quagmire.

With the deluge of rain came a fresh wave of sentiment for Nellie Flag, granddaughter of the renowned Man o' War and only filly entered in the year's first classic for three-year-olds.

The weather, besides dealing a blow to the carnival atmosphere with which Louisville has been rampant all week in preparation for its celebrated horse race, also developed a fresh flock of arguments centering around the mud-running qualities of the Derby field. But the gentlemen of the press agreed that the lady in the case—Nellie Flag—likes any kind of going. In fact they conceded she may prove a better mud-runner than any colt in the field and unquestionably has the best chance to win of any member of her sex since Regret, the one and only filly to capture the Derby, showed the way home in 1915.

A poll last night among more than a score of turf writers here from all parts of the country revealed nine favoring Nellie Flag, with seven nominating William Woodward's Omaha to win and only three picking Today, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's colt which won the Wood Memorial at Jamaica last Saturday and now rates the betting choice at three to one. Edward Riley Bradley's Boxhorn, choice of the "hardboots" and hope of the Idle Hour Farm for a fifth Derby triumph, Mrs. Walter Jeffords' Commonwealth and Roman Soldier, Texas Derby winner, each received the vote of one newspaper correspondent.

Apparently it will be considered a distinct upset if one of these six horses fail to win, although Mrs. Payne Whitney's Plat Eye has had its backing by turning in some fine performances this spring.

Nellie Flag worked out before yesterday's first deluge and removed any doubt that she can travel in the mud. In discounting the Derby record, showing only one filly to win in sixty races, the experts point to Nellie Flag's impressive juvenile record and her unquestioned class in competition as a three-year-old, including a smashing victory last Saturday here over a good field of colts.

There are still twenty-two thoroughbreds listed as possible starters but not more than eighteen are expected to answer the bugle call in the race for the lion's share of about $50,000 and the honors that will go with victory in the most colorful United States horse race.

KENTUCKY DISTRICT HARD HIT BY VIOLENT STORMS

Three Lives Lost and Thousands of Dollars Damage Caused when Storm Ripped into Derby-Bedecked Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—Storms that killed three persons as they roared eastward ripped into Derby-bedecked Louisville today.

Loss was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Power lines and trolley cables were severed. Part of Louisville, half a dozen nearby towns and Kentucky's capital, Frankfort, were without lights. Trees, shrubbery and Derby festival decorations filled the streets.

Churchill Downs was reported undamaged. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of thoroughbred horses are quartered there, awaiting Saturday's Kentucky Derby. The animals were excited by the furious salvos of lightning but none was injured.

Only slight injuries were reported in Louisville.
