Vacation Time Is Fun Time In Eastern Townships

NEWPORT SCENES: These views of Lake Memphremagog, one of the Eastern Townships favorite holiday centres, are taken from the Newport, Vt., end of the international lake.

Strawberry Lodge And Cottages For Pleasant Holiday

Strawberry Acres Lodge and Cottages, beautifully situated on Lake Memphremagog in the heart of the Vermont lake region three miles north of Newport, Vt., and only 40 miles from Sherbrooke, will again attract many guests who are looking for a resort that is quiet, the atmosphere refined and plenty of good wholesome fun.

The resort, which is situated on the west side, consists of a main lodge which overlooks the lake, has seven bedrooms and can be equipped with single, twin or double beds. There are also twelve cottages that can comfortably accommodate from two to five people.

Most of the cottages are new, well furnished and complete bathrooms, flush toilets, hot and cold water showers. They have clothes closets, heat, electric lights and screened-in verandas. All cottages

Boundary Rotary Sends Greetings To The Queen

Derby Line, June 13—Rev. Peter Farrell of Beebe proposed that the Rotary Club of the Boundary send a message of greetings to Queen Elizabeth, at the regular Monday evening meeting of the Club, held at the Del Monty Hotel, with the vice-president, Fred Gilman, presiding. The proposal met with the enthusiastic approval of the members, and accordingly a message was sent from the first and one of the very few international Rotary Clubs in the world.

There was no regular speaker at the meeting, but Maurice Moore gave a description of the plans for the local celebration of the Queen's Coronation.

Music for the singing was led by L. F. Tilton, with Miss Aline Ricard at the piano. Visiting Rotarians present at the meeting were: Rev. Maxwell Reader, Gordon McKenney, and George Allison, of Newport; Gerry Miltimore, of Waterville, a member of the Sherbrooke club. Guests at the meeting were Frederick Darby, Harold Robinson, William May, Jr., and Mr. Rivett, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Beebe.

and rooms are thoroughly cleaned and cared for daily by a competent staff of cabin maids.

Among the many features of the lodge there is a reading room with a spacious fireplace, a dining room with a seating capacity of 60. Both the lodge and dining room are new, modern and well equipped. There is also a game room, furnished with rustic chairs and benches, where the younger set and those who like more activity may play table tennis, billiards, cards and other games. Outdoors one may pitch horseshoes or play croquet.

There are four golf clubs nearby. They are located at Newport, Orleans and Barton in Vermont, with the Dufferin Heights in Canada 15 miles away. Or if one prefers there are mountains to climb and hikes through forest trails. Guests are furnished with picnic lunches for those trips.

There are two private beaches where there is plenty of opportunity for recreation. The beach nearest the lodge is equipped with a float for swimming and diving, and boats for boating or fishing. Campfires on the beach in the evening for marshmallow, corn and weiner roasts are very popular.

Fishing is also popular with the tourists. Other than Memphremagog there are a number of other lakes, ponds and streams within easy driving distance. Fishing licenses may be obtained at the lodge for a small fee.

ROCK ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rowse and children, Linda and Mark, of Burlington, Vt., who are at a cottage at Lake Seymour, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Solan Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hadlock, at Derby Line. Mrs. Curtis Johnson, of Burlington, was also a visitor at the same home.

Miss Marilyn Taylor returned to her parental home at Derby Line over the week-end after concluding her studies at Vermont Junior College. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Taylor, motored to Montpelier for her. Miss Taylor will enter as employee of the First National Bank at Derby Line for the summer months.

Glenbrook Offers Quietness, Sports To All Tourists

A picturesque view, a panorama of lakes and mountains where one may enjoy invigorating activities or a quiet rest, is only mildly describing the Glenbrook, a summer resort splendidly situated overlooking Sargent's Bay on Lake Memphremagog.

The Glenbrook is only five minutes drive from the boat landing, on the main highway from Magog and Bolton Centre. The lake which it overlooks is over 30 miles long and has bold and mountainous western shore that provide a striking contrast to the cultivated slopes of the eastern shore.

Each year, an ever-increasing number of visitors are attracted by the abounding lakes and streams. Everything that might appeal to the sportsman or recreation seeker, whether boating, sailing, fishing, bathing, hunting or mountain climbing, is available at the Glenbrook.

The beach, only 100 yards from the house, is completely safe, with a gradual gentle slope. Boats and canoes are ready for use at all times. A new games room with a snack bar provides for indoor games and dancing, and insures quietness in the main house.

The main house accommodates 45 guests in comfortably furnished and spotlessly clean bedrooms. New cabins within 200 feet have been constructed. All are equipped with inner spring mattresses and with hot and cold water. Drinking water is government tested.

There is a light airy dining room with a magnificent view of lake and mountains and seating 60 persons. The meals are well known for quality and variety and the menus include garden vegetables, fruits, and the best of meats.

Here is an ideal spot for your holiday. Whether your inclination is to have a nice restful vacation from the worries and cares of the daily routine, or if you desire an invigorating sportsman's life for your holiday, the Glenbrook, is equipped to satisfy your wants.

Faversham, England—The 22 women who play a soccer match at the annual Faversham carnival have protested against plans to replace them this year with a baseball game between United States Army teams. The women said local talent should be used and that few Britons understand baseball.

Blackpool, England—The 1,300 delegates to the post office workers' convention here agreed that Saturday night off is more important than having Sunday free. Accordingly the majority voted for earlier final collections on Saturday.

You Don't Need To Spend The Summer Recovering From 1st Day At Cottage

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
New York. —(NEA)— Opening up the summer cottage is not always a matter of pure pleasure for at least one member of the family. You guess who. She has to get the whole creaky place back into working shape and give it that lived-in look in about the space of an hour.

Spending a summer struggling with a primitive stove, no hot water and no ice is nobody's idea of fun. Unless, of course, you're so intoxicated by the fresh air that you just think you're having a good time.

First step in planning a summer that's fun for mama, too, is to see to it that your summer cottage has at least some of the modern conveniences. Bottled or tank LP gas can make an isolated cabin as comfortable as your house or apartment by fueling a kitchen range, automatic water heater, complete heating plant or space heater and refrigerator.

Better start now to make a list of all the things you can do in advance to ease the initial shock of unhooking that cabin door and walking into an atmosphere reminiscent of Camembert cheese.

You probably have some staples at the cottage. But start now clipping menus and recipes for labor-saving meals from this newspaper. Then make a list of the additional staples you'll need. Before you depart for the seaside or the woods, pack a picnic lunch and the makings of supper

Director Of Rogers Rangers Pageant At Island Pond Engaged By Committee

Members of the Overall Planning Committee for the Rogers Rangers Pageant to be staged in Island Pond, Vermont, on July 31, August 1 and 2, including Bart Holtham of Sherbrooke, Miss Catherine McKenzie, Stanstead and Mrs. Carroll Aldrich, Derby Line, have engaged Harry Young, formerly of Brattleboro, Vt., and now of New York to serve as director of the pageant.

Mr. Young will come to Vermont this coming weekend to meet with the Ways and Means, the Publicity and the History-Script Committees.

so that you don't have to shoot a squirrel for the evening meal. Then check bedding, blankets and towels. Be sure to pack some short sheets and thin blankets for uninvited guests. And decide if you need to replace dishes and silver or add to the present supply.

You should have fresh supplies for your emergency medicine chest and some new games and reading material for rainy days. And what about your kitchen gadgets, those handy tools that cut corners and save time for you? You can very easily buy a duplicate set for the cottage and include, as well, some inexpensive baking tins, bowls and pans with covers that really fit.

No summer composed of pure drudgery can possibly be termed a vacation. That's why it makes sense to set the same standards of living, as nearly as possible, for your home and your cottage.

In the clothing department, be sure to pack sweaters and light wraps as well as bathing suits, sun-tan oil and beach wear. Summer days are not all pure, unalloyed sunshine. There's invariably some dark and chilly weather accompanied by bursts of rain. Be prepared for such days.

You're all set now. Have a restful, sootless, dustless, guestless summer and come back all ready to open up the apartment for the winter. Better make out a list.

Experienced and capable he inspires confidence in his ability to produce a pageant that will be a credit to the people of northeastern Vermont.

The purpose of the pageant is to bring many new people into the area and to establish this area as the locale of the story of Rogers Rangers known to people all over the world through the book, "Northwest Passage", by Author, Kenneth Roberts and the popular moving picture on Rogers Rangers. The most gripping part of the story of the Rogers Rangers Expedition, a turning point in history, took place in neighboring Quebec and across northeastern Vermont and down the Connecticut River.

Mr. Young is a graduate of Michigan State College. His first theatrical experience was in a pageant depicting the founding of Grand Rapids. He first came to Vermont in 1935 when he was associated with the summer theater in Brattleboro. In 1939, he became director of the Brattleboro Company in association with Elizabeth B. Grimball who was for many years one of the foremost pageant directors in America. Just before the war, he organized and directed a show for the Navy in Hawaii which commuted by plane all the principle Army and Navy bases in the Hawaiian Islands. After the war, he returned to Brattleboro and became a year around resident. He re-established the summer theater and in the winter organized and directed the Brattleboro Community Theater. When the Brattleboro Town Hall which housed the theater was sold to make way for a new store, he returned to New York.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young love Vermont and Vermont people. Vermont is their second home.

Newport House Offers Many Fine Facilities

Champoux, proprietor also of the Costello Hotel in Berlin, N.H., and They are happy to have an opportunity to work with the people of northeastern Vermont in preparation of an area attraction that will bring people from all over the state to the locale of the well known story of Rogers Rangers that will henceforth be much more closely associated with Vermont and neighboring communities in New Hampshire and Quebec.

the Elms Hotel, Lancaster, N.H. The 120-room Newport House has long been a favorite with residents and travellers and features a large grill, cocktail lounge, tavern and dining room accommodating 175. It is host to the weekly gatherings of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs.

Newport House has elevator service and a sprinkler system throughout. A clerk is on duty at all times to ensure the safety of the guests.

It has been completely renovated inside and out. A new kitchen has been installed and banquet facilities improved. Special Sunday dinners are one of the specialties of the Newport House, long known as the home of tantalizing fried chicken. Menus will be mailed upon request.

An ideal home for summer vacationers, the Newport House is strategically located only 100 feet from the shores of beautiful Lake Memphremagog, two miles from the Drive-In-Theatre.

Facilities include those for fishing, boating, swimming, golfing, indeed all summer sports. There is ample free parking space reserved by the Newport House.

Though nothing has been spared to make guests at the Newport House safe and comfortable, rates are modest.

Another feature of the Newport House is the Sugar Shack where pure maple sugar, maple candy, maple syrup and clover honey, all made in the state of Vermont, can be obtained.

Lake Orford Camp For Girls Offers Superb Vacation

In the heart of Canada's lovely Eastern Townships, 1100 feet above sea level, on Orford lake lies "Crow's Nest" Camp for girls. The Camp is open to girls six to eighteen years of age — junior, intermediate and senior groups.

Crow's Nest is 74 miles south-east of Montreal off the Sherbrooke highway, equally accessible by motor, bus or from Montreal, Sherbrooke or Quebec, by C.P.R. All buildings have electric lights, and there is extensive frigidaire and deep freeze equipment. Buildings are of permanent construction with each camper sleeping in a screened cabin, one counsellor with each four campers. Each girl has a bed, spring, comfortable mattress and a pillow.

The Camp has a lake frontage of more than 1,000 feet with a well-designed safety waterfront. This modernized waterfront consists of junior and intermediate cribs for swimming, with safety towers and raft with diving board and tower for the seniors who have passed their swimming tests. Canoes and rowboats are in constant use under strict supervision, while many other activities comprise the program for the camp. Each Sunday morning a religious service is held in the outdoor chapel, "Heavensgate", while denominational churches may be attended at Eastman three miles away.

The entire camp is under the direction of Mrs. E. Lionel Judah, a Canadian sculptress and physical educationist, who opened one of the first girls' camps available to Montreal. Camp Minnehaha on Lake Memphremagog, Mrs. Judah has a wide and varied association with girls through boarding schools and camps, and is assisted by a competent staff of university women and college students chosen as counsellors for their sane judgement and various qualifications to direct camp activities. The staff includes a registered nurse, kindergarten specialist, dietitian and a waterfront staff with Life Saving Certificates.

There is room at Crow's Nest for sixty-four campers.

Supervised dancing on the lawn of the camp is one of the delightful pastimes at Crow's Nest. Ballet, folk dances, interpretive dancing are taught by Winsome Taylor, an associate member of the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing, London, as well as an experienced camp supervisor.

Dramatics are an important activity. Music is in charge of Joan Barnes, a graduate of New Brunswick Teachers' College, with wide experience in music instruction both in the Girl Guide movement and in public schools. At Crow's Nest there is a choral club, rhythmic bands and campfire singing. Free riding in the ring is a major activity at camp and campers are instructed in correct horsemanship. This is a unique feature of the programme at Crow's Nest for horse-riding is part of the regular activity schedule and not a special pastime for few.

Stanstead Masonic Lodge Completes Arrangements For 150th Anniversary

Rock Island, June 13. — An enthusiastic meeting of over sixty members of Golden Rule Masonic Lodge, Stanstead, was held on Tuesday evening to check on final arrangements for their 150th anniversary celebration to be held June 19, 20 and 21st.

The Lodge room, which has been newly decorated for this anniversary will be opened at 2 p.m. Friday, June 19, and again that night for the friendly reception of visiting brethren, with a banquet, for Masons only, to be held at Stanstead South church hall at 6:30 p. m. the same evening. This banquet is limited to one hundred and already over sixty have signified their intention to attend.

On Saturday, June 20, the annual open-air Masonic meeting will take place on top of Owl's Head Mountain at 12, noon, and the same evening banquets will be held at Centenary church hall and Christ Anglican Parish hall, for Masons and their ladies, with time set at 6:30 p.m.

At 8 p.m. Saturday evening the Masons and their guests will assemble at Sunnyside school auditorium for addresses and a brief review of the history of the lodge, to be followed by dancing until midnight.

Sunday, June 21, the Lodge will open at 10 a.m. to form a procession with a church parade to Centenary United Church, Stanstead, at 11 a.m. and representatives of many other Masonic lodges are expected to join with Golden Rule Lodge to mark this special occasion.

It has previously been announced that Dr. W. B. Perry, of Coaticook of the Grand Lodge of Newfoundland, would be the speaker at the anniversary service at Centenary church.

Aid, Helping Circle and 35 Club of Stanstead South church was held on Tuesday evening at the church hall with a fair number attending.

The meeting opened by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Golda Standish read a poem commemorating the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, followed by reading of the Coronation of Christ.

Presiding over the meeting was Mrs. Harry Smith, president of the Aid, Mrs. George Hatch, president of the Circle, and Mrs. Kenneth Rice, president of the Club. Reports of the secretaries' and treasurer's were given.

Plans were made for the serving of the banquet for the Masons on June 19 at the church hall. It was decided to serve a roast beef dinner, family style, with all the trimmings. Ladies volunteered to assist in the dining room and the kitchen and a committee was named to plan amounts of food and to do the soliciting.

Arrangements were also completed for a second rummage sale to be held in the church hall the morning of June 27.

The meeting adjourned. Rev. Mr. Tenneson came in for tea and everyone at the same time viewed the award of silver coronation spoons won by the societies for the third prizes for the coronation float. It was discussed on what to do with the spoons and it was finally decided to make a case in which will be placed a picture of the float and the names of the junior choir with the spoons flanking the names. This to be hung in the building.

Lake House Hotel Offers Fine Service

Lake House Hotel in North Hatley will provide many pleasant attractions for its guests this year. This large white rambling hotel, the only one in town situated on the lake front, can accommodate seventy-five people. It has thirty-three rooms with twin beds, hot and cold running water in all of them, and a brand new snack bar in the basement.

Manager of this hotel is Andrew Gibson who has been running it for five years. Prior to this he was on the staff of the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

In the heart of one of Quebec's finest resort centres, Lake House can offer all the attractions sought by holiday makers.

Lake Massawippi is ideal for every type of vacation. For those who like to fish it offers some of the best waters in the province, whether the anglers seek the mighty pike and lake trout, the fighting bass, or whether they just want to dip a hook for perch. There is boating of every description and for those persons who like to swim, ideal facilities are just a stone's-throw distance from the hotel.

stages of the illness or may be left relative seriousness of polio has been over-emphasized to the general public, mainly because of its dramatic course in some patients who may die during the acute with severe paralysis and deformities.

"It should be realized, however, that other diseases not receiving the publicity that poliomyelitis does, are a greater menace to our children," the HEALTH article states. "Whooping cough kills twice as many children in Canada as poliomyelitis, and rheumatic fever has crippled children far more severely by damaging the heart."

To illustrate the actual possibility of developing a recognizable form of polio, the following statistical analysis is reassuring. During a severe epidemic, there is only one chance in 1,500 of developing polio, one in 7,500 of being paralyzed, and one in 30,000 of dying of the disease. Even in patients who are paralyzed during the acute stage, it has been estimated that 50 per cent recover from their weakness and have no residual paralysis one year later.

"While this information is small consolation to parents of a child who has been left severely paralyzed or has died from poliomyelitis, it is mentioned in an effort to help dispel the panic that occurs among members of our population who may not be aware of the actual facts concerning the prevalence of serious effects of this disease," adds Dr. Anglin.

The Health League of Canada magazine goes on to quote eight rules for the guidance of parents in guarding their youngsters against polio:

1) Any minor illness or fever occurring during the poliomyelitis season should be treated by bed rest and isolation pending diagnosis. It might be poliomyelitis and if it is it can be made more severe by forcing the person to carry on usual activity.

2) Excessive physical strain and unnecessary travel and visiting should be avoided during the poliomyelitis season.

3) Water that might be contaminated by sewage should be avoided for swimming, washing or drinking.

4) Flies should be suppressed and, in particular, food should be protected from fly contamination. All fresh fruit should be washed well before eating.

5) All except urgent nose or throat operations and dental extractions should be postponed until the poliomyelitis season is past.

6) With regard to summer camps, it has been recommended that camps be opened if no outbreaks exists in the area, but children should not be admitted from an epidemic region. If a case develops in a camp, new children should not be admitted, but children in the camp should be retained for 14 days after the last contact with the case.

7) Attendance of children at fairs, theatres and swimming pools should be discouraged.

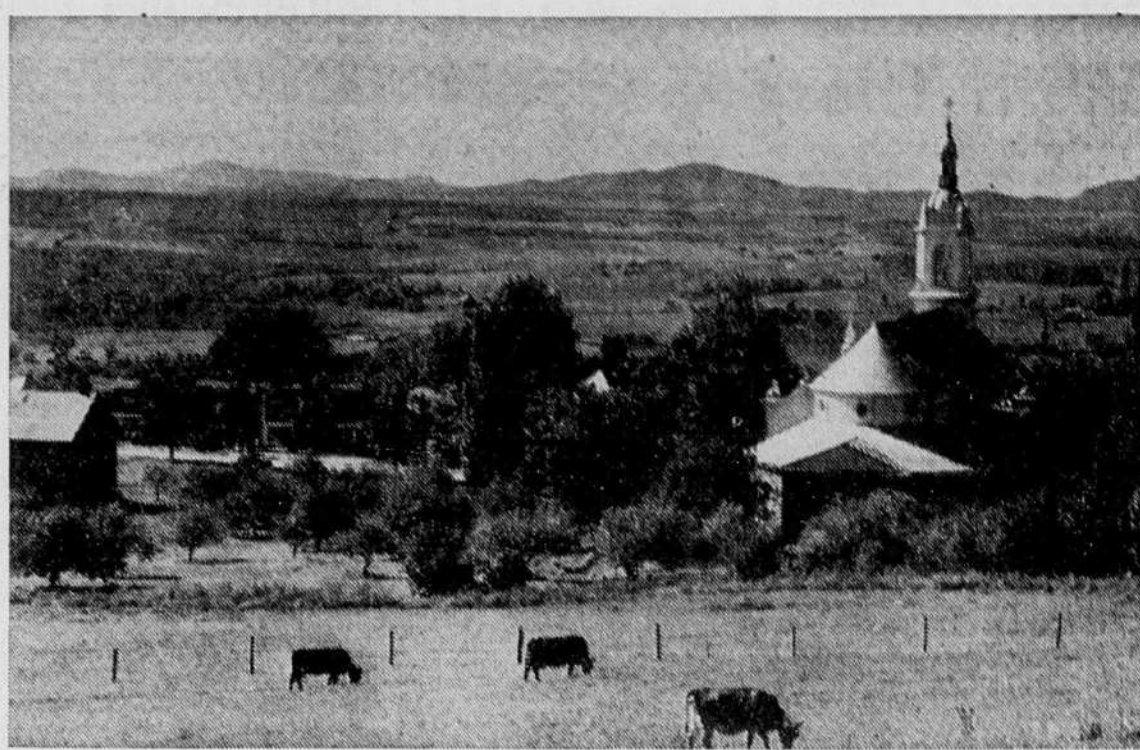

8) In all events, hysteria and panic should be avoided. A normal healthy life should be led and special attention to cleanliness of person and environment maintained.

Favorite gathering places in the main house are the new cocktail lounge, and the popular Pine Room, where voices often ring together in the carefree songs of happy vacationers.

Picnicking Can Be Fun With These Gadgets

The clever design of this new stainless steel frankfurter spear holds hot dogs on the brackets and prong while they're roasting. The prong slides back to release the hot dogs after they're done. Long-handled basting brush, can opener, pepper and salt shakers, and a stainless steel rack (not shown) complete the barbecue set.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

When the pre-summer sun begins to blaze hotly along about Memorial Day, we clean up the rusty barbecue grill, stock up on mustard and franks, dig out the insect repellent and take to the picnic table. And even though the flies buzz down with greedy enthusiasm and there's more smoke than fire in the grill, dining "al fresco" has a firm grip on my family.

Since resisting the pressure of the children's pleas and my husband's persuasion for a picnic takes more stamina than I've got, I've looked around for inexpensive gadgets which make the process much easier and a lot more fun.

Metal-mesh food protectors, for example, that fit over a platter or bowl, will keep flies away from food more effectively than an occasional wave of the hand. Although you can see the food under the protector, the perforations in the yellow or green mesh are small enough to screen out bugs.

A long-handled frank-spear is started in a new barbecue set of stainless steel. The spear, which has two brackets and a sliding prong, is designed to hold and release the sizzling hot dogs without the chef's touching them. A long-handled basting brush, can opener, salt and pepper shakers, and a stainless steel rack are companion pieces to the spear.

To get the charcoals glowing or the fire blazing without scorched fingers or smoke-filled eyes is the claim to fame of a new fire starter. This is a small paper cup filled with a hard chemical compound which you put under the logs and touch off with a match. The starter burns intensely for 10 or 15 minutes, eliminating fussing with papers and kindling.

Inexpensive, and practically indestructible, ribbed rubber mats will keep frosty glasses or drippy beverage bottles from skidding off the tray. The small, bright-colored pads are ribbed on one side to cling to the table or tray and diamond-patterned on the other to trap condensing moisture.

A handy picnic aid is this metal-mesh food protector which fits over a platter to keep flies away from the buns.

Wider distribution of hickory chips will give more of us a chance to zip up the old hamburger with hickory-smoke flavor. The chips are well-dried hickory wood and are meant to be scattered over the top of the glowing coals.

Supper Held By Cookshire W. A.

THE H. and S. ASSOCIATION BROADCAST

On Saturday afternoon on the Home and School Association broadcast over Station CFCF, with Mr. William Petty in charge, a very interesting broadcast was given of a recent recording, made by Mr. Petty on the occasion of his visit with Mr. Jarrand of Montreal, at a meeting of the Bedford High School Home and School Association, on the occasion of "Fun Night." At this time, Mr. Petty and Mr. Jarrand took part in a mock broadcast, the subject of which was "What is Home and School?" Among the members of the local association taking part in the broadcast were Mrs. Neil Creller, Mrs. A. Hewett and Mrs. N. Wood. Appearing on Saturday's broadcast was Gail Chamberlain, who presented her address, given on "Fun Night," "What We Call Democracy." The address came in excellently over the radio, and did great credit to Miss Chamberlain. Mr. Petty paid high tribute to the young student, for her most finished performance and congratulated her warmly on the subject of her address.

An interview with Mrs. Malcolm McCaw, immediate past president of the local association was given, stating that the association in Bedford had a membership of 150, representing 90 families. Reference was made to the excellent school library, Mrs. McCaw stating that the average withdrawals of books per week, averaged one a pupil. There are 160 pupils in the High School. Mention was also made of the excellent discussion led by Mrs. Hughes of Montreal, following the showing of the film "Pre-school Children and Parents."

Mr. Raymond Whitcomb who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening also appeared on the broadcast, introducing those who took part in the oldsters' square dance demonstration, including Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McCaw, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones, Mr. Alex MacArthur, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ames and Mrs. M. Chamberlain.

Among the students interviewed by Mr. Petty were John Teare, Peter Chamberlain and Ronnie Martin. Mr. Petty asked Richard Martin, as the youngest student present, to say good night, which he did with much glee.

After the finish of the High School broadcast Mr. Petty stressed the importance of all members of Home and School Associations taking and reading the Home and School magazine, in order that they might keep up with the latest information of this work, and with the new organizations.

The regular monthly meeting of Missisquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held on June 12, in the United Church Hall. The sale will open at four o'clock, the members on the committee in charge of the arrangements are Mrs. J. Cavers and Mrs. L. Grevatt, of Phillipsburg, Mrs. Hannibal Shelton and Miss Nettie Lovering.

A motion was made that the annual contributions to the bursaries be made at Macdonald College, and that a donation be sent to the provincial fund.

The convener for services at Home and Abroad, Mrs. Richard Craighead, reported that two cartons containing sixty-seven articles had been sent to Provincial Headquarters, I.O.D.E., in Montreal, including, afghans, baby clothing, sheets and pillowcases, men and children's socks also that two cartons of books and magazines had been forwarded to the Naval Hospital at St. Hyacinthe.

A letter was read by Mrs. William Taylor, convener of Empire Study from Provincial Headquarters, I.O.D.E., regarding the importance of combating Communism in every possible way. At the present time there are 50,000 in Canada. Special mention was made of the Labor-Progressive party, in whose rank many communists are

Big Timber Camps Ensure Fine Holiday

One hundred and eighty-six acres of woods and rolling fields bordering the east shore of Lake Memphremagog, 3 1/2 miles south of Georgeville—that is the site of Big Timber camps, one of the finest holiday centres in the Eastern Townships.

Canadian Soldiers Taking Dogs Along On Korean Patrols

By BILL BOSS
In Korea —(CP)— Canadians have started taking dogs along on their no man's land patrols.

The British-trained Alsatians warn of enemy presence and lead the patrols to the enemy.

First Canadians to use a dog were from the 3rd battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment. Lieut. Robert H. Scullion of Hamilton took all the section leaders of his platoon out into no man's land on a reconnaissance patrol. Its mission was to get information on which to plan a raid.

The section leaders also were to learn the ground over which they later would be taking their men. The leaders were Sgt. Charles Saumier of Temiskamingue, Que., Sgt. Rodney Gill of Toronto, and Ptes. Henry Priddle of Toronto and Leonard Parsons of Smiths Falls, Ont.

There still are only a few trained dogs, and units can't get one at will. But the RCR's experience has sold the Canadian brigade on the idea.

Scullion reported that his patrol's work was done more efficiently in half the usual time. And the dog's sureness imparted greater confidence to him and the men. Their British handlers accompany the dogs.

On Scullion's patrol an eight-month-old Alsatian was handled by Pte. George Ball of Leicester, England, a 19-year-old who has lived and worked with him for five months. It was the man-dog team's ninth patrol.

Ball said that only weather affects performance; rains or wet ground eliminate scent. When scent is picked, the dogs are supposed to freeze. The handler takes a firmer grip and says "seek" if the commander wants to close with the enemy.

As the patrol draws near the enemy the dog pants quicker but, trained not to bark or whine, makes no other noise.

"The confidence you get is terrific," said Scullion later. "You can really clip along. The biggest strain on a man here is the time he spends in the valley between the Canadian and Chinese hill-top positions on patrol. On ordinary patrols you've got to go slowly and carefully, taking cover all the while, lest enemy groups spot you."

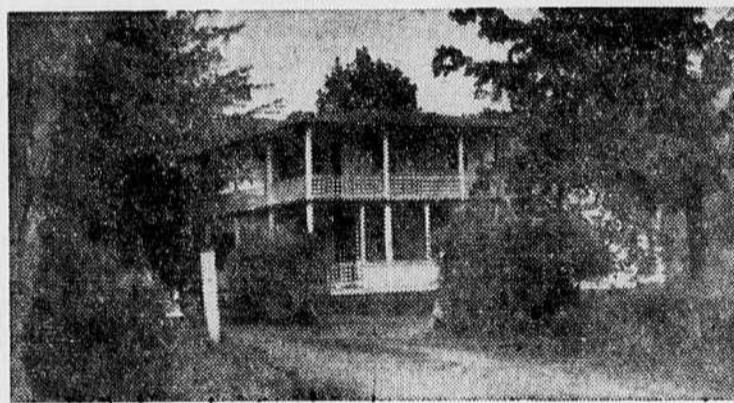

"It's amazing, too, how friendly the dogs are to white men, and how hostile to orientals. We were told we couldn't take Katcoms Korean Army troops attached to the Commonwealth division with us on patrol."

Kingston, England — Archaeologists have formed a "deserted village medieval research" group to investigate and catalogue remains of ancient British and Roman villages in England. In Yorkshire alone about 1,000 such villages are known to exist.

How To Become Bewitching On The Beach, Enhance Suntan With Exotic Jewelry

By ALICIA HART, (NEA Beauty Editor)

On the beach this summer you can emphasize your beauty with accessories every bit as fetching as those worn for the most festive evenings.

Girls will be wearing exotic jewelry on the beach, made from tarnish-proof materials, feather-light in weight. Unlike the pieces you're accustomed to in winter, this jewelry won't make you feel like removing it because of the heat.

You won't wear the jewelry, of course, while you're acquiring a tan. Once well toasted, however, you can wear it without fear of white marks.

Your choice is wide. There's a new "gold" metal that is worn in great masses and looks huge and bulky, but you'll scarcely feel it. It comes in earrings, bracelets and necklaces or adorns a bathing cap. This metal can't tarnish, so wear it in swimming and in your shower, if you like.

You can have exotic mother-of-pearl jewelry imported from the Mediterranean. It's cut to resemble the shining animal-teeth charms worn by African natives.

White enamel decorates expansion bracelets and earrings two inches in diameter.

Straw is woven into flower wreaths for neck and wrists and single flowers for the ears.

Shells of oysters, clams and snails are brightly enameled and strung on coral or gold chains.

You'll need something at the beach for occasional cover-up, so why not investigate the new cotton jersey stoles and squares and terry cloth stoles and bolero shrugs. One terry cloth stole is deeply fringed with a cape-shaped back and big pockets in front.

These cover-ups are more than decorative. They have an extremely important function at the beach of hiding your skin from the sun before it's too late.

Experts say that even the best sunburn preventive creams and lotions mustn't be entirely relied on. It's up to the users of these creams to take their sun gradually, beginning with a few minutes at a time. The fairer you are, the more cautious you must be.

Your complexion, especially, may be ruined forever by continual incautious sunning, if you aren't naturally dark. On a fair girl, a tan may be actually only a few degrees removed from a burn. Conspicuous capillaries, freckles and white spots, coarse pores, crows-feet and deep lines and wrinkles may result over a number of summers.

So, tan if you can, but be very cautious for the sake of complexion beauty.

A beautiful look for the beach is achieved by these girls with use of imaginative new jewelry and scarves. Girl (left) wears heavy-looking "gold" metal massed at wrists and throat with earrings to match. This new jewelry is actually almost weightless and girl can wear it in swimming if she likes, since it can't tarnish. She has more fragile look with another set of jewelry (centre). It's made of white straw, woven into flower forms, and weighs almost nothing. At right, different type girl chooses different type of beach jewelry—tiny clam shells, gaily painted and strung on coral beads. White terry cloth cape-stole with huge pockets protects shoulders from excessive sun. Such jewelry is foil for a golden tan.

Fair At Magog Will Attract Many Tourists

Magog — The joint Lions-Kiwanis Fair planned for Magog this coming July 9, 10 and 11th, should entice more vacationers to this lake-side city. The fair, sponsored by the two service clubs, is conducted to raise funds for their benevolent work, but the members are going all out to give their patrons a wonderful time. Featured at this fair will be bingo, hoopla, wheels of fortune, ball games, dart games, shooting galleries, refreshment booths as well as rides for the children and a puppet show. Presently the two service groups have succeeded in making over half their booths for the occasion, and all committees are hard at work getting ready for the three fair evenings and a Saturday matinee.

One of the world's great ship canals, the 16-mile canal from the North Sea to Amsterdam was opened in 1876.

Magog Baseball Team Is Building Fine Reputation

The Magog Tigers are really doing their part to put Magog on the map, and the citizens of this city are proud of their six-year-old baseball team.

To encourage the game and build up its quality, the City of Magog built a new stadium with large and comfortable seating capacity for its many baseball enthusiasts and outside spectators.

The Tigers are in the Eastern Boundary Baseball League which consists of seven teams, Magog, St. Albans, Vt., Philipsburg, Que., Cowansville, Que., Bedford, Que., Sutton, Que., and a joint team from Inosburg and Richford, Vt. The Magog team, headed by Coach Leonard Auger, has been in the finals for two years now and last year won the championship. Other coaches for the team have been George Hulme and Adelard Lussier.

On Sunday, June 14th, the Tigers will play in Bedford.

Magog Sets Up Commission For Tourists

Magog — At the last council meeting, the city of Magog decided to form a special committee for the promotion of the tourist trade in this city and district. The group bear the name of The Magog Tourist Commission, and is headed by Jean Loslier. Seven persons are on this committee, two aldermen and five interested citizens.

There has not been a tourist information centre in Magog since 1946, and the general feeling has been that Magog was losing a lot of its potential vacation trade because of this factor. After considerable consideration, it was agreed that a special commission should be formed to promote the holiday trade in the city and its surrounding area.

At a special meeting held in the Magog Police Station last Monday evening, the committee laid plans for various campaigns to aid tourists coming into Magog, and to make the city more attractive to vacationers.

At Monday evening's meeting, the group produced more than 200 letters asking about Magog as a vacation centre. Other letters have been received also, such as one from Saskatchewan. A man there is asking for ten gallons of maple syrup from this area. It is the general feeling, that no letters about Magog should be neglected, and the special Tourists' Committee will take care of these as one of its services to the community.

A special office has been laid aside by the city for the purpose of giving tourist information. It is located at the rear of Magog's police and fire station on Main Street, facing the civic parking lot.

Canadian Actor Signs To Make British Films

By MURIEL NARRAWAY (Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London. — (CP) — A young Canadian actor with the stage name of Vernon Gray has just signed a long-term film contract, and he's already being talked of as a British "find."

Gray, known to his friends at Elk Point, Alta., as Vernon Raham-Gray, has the dark good looks of a budding Tyrone Power. With the British screen short on romantic leads, he seems to be just what the script writer ordered.

"At last, a new Man for British pictures," says Betty Box, the film producer who visited Canada last year in search of suitable backgrounds for a forthcoming movie, "Campbell's Kingdom." Miss Box spotted Gray for films when he appeared here opposite Olga Landiak of Fort William, Ont., in a television play.

Gray, just 23, says he has to pinch himself to believe it's really happened—a choice contract after one appearance in films.

The film that landed the contract was "A Day to Remember," in which the Saskatoon-born actor plays a corporal in the United States Army. The leading lady is Joan Rice, promising young British star who used to be a London waitress.

Gray's new contract gives him an assured future and at the same time allows him to do stage work. In these austere days in Britain's film world, this is quite a catch.

Gray's family was dead set against his bid for a show-business career. Chief opponents were his father, Arthur Raham, a railway agent in Elk Point, Alta., and three engineering brothers. They wanted him to be an engineer.

"Ever since I can remember, I've wanted to be an actor," said Gray. Gray recently appeared on the West End stage as "Duke" in the Broadway hit, "Stalag 17." Although the acting in the London production got good reviews, the play folded in 10 days—a keen disappointment to Gray and Vancouver's Lee Patterson, who played one of the leads.

This was Gray's first West End stage part, but he considers he's been lucky since he landed in Britain. After making contacts with theatre agents here, he went into pantomime at Christmas, 1951. Then came Theatre Club and provincial parts until he landed a role in "Death of a Salesman" at the repertory Theatre in Windsor, Berks.

He was spotted at Windsor by a producer, who nailed him for the lead in a television play. It was this part that brought him to the attention of Miss Box.

Gray has been acting since high school days. While working with an automobile firm in Windsor, Ont., he acted for the Windsor Theatre Guild and later joined the Ottawa Repertory Company.

Doctors Are Asked To Take Lead In Cutting The Automobile Toll

Two Montreal physicians, Harold Elliott and H. L. Rounthwaite, are campaigning to enlist the help of all Canadian doctors in reducing the annual toll of death from automobile accidents. They have recently published articles in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association and in the magazine HEALTH on the subject. "Although the death rate from road accidents is the most ravag-

New Cliff House Enchances Ayer's Cliff

As each fishing season rolls along, the majority of sportsmen exploiting the fishing riches of Lake Massawippi make their headquarters at the New Cliff House in Ayer's Cliff.

Here in the friendly atmosphere of the widely known hotel, they congregate from far-flung points to spend a period of unmatched sporting pleasure.

Tennis courts adjoin the hotel, and golfing on the nearby Dufferin Heights golf course is rated excellent.

Not in the least oblivious to other sundry desires of those who annually crowd his hotel, the friendly, companionable proprietor, R. J. Stafford, has installed an attractive cocktail lounge and tavern.

Special freezing facilities are also provided for the avid fisherman.

The River Danube flows 1,723 miles through Europe to its outlet in the Black sea.

ing epidemic in Canada every year, it is strange that the medical profession in general has not considered it to be medical responsibility," write Drs. Elliott and Rounthwaite. "If, however, 56,000 people were killed or maimed in Canada during the next year from typhoid or influenza, the whole country would be up in arms about it.

"The medical profession has demonstrated steady progress in other epidemics in the past, and in our opinion, it is the best equipped group in Canada to adequately encompass and reduce the death rate from highway accidents."

They point out that 67 per cent of the 2,402 automobile passengers and drivers killed in Canada in 1932 died as a result of head injuries. This would indicate that crash-shut doors may be very important safety features of automobiles, since many of the head injuries resulted from the victim's being thrown out of the car when the doors flew open at the moment of impact.

The doctors feel that many scalp lacerations and compound depressed fractures of the skull, caused by flying glass, might be prevented by the use of plastic window shields.

Other mechanical factors requiring consideration by car manufacturers include a flexible steering wheel that will yield to torsional stress, and soft dashboards with no projecting instruments.

So far as speed is concerned as an accident factor, they report that the majority of fatalities occur at speeds between 30 and 40 miles per hour, so speeds that are not normally regarded as excessive, but are too fast in certain combinations of circumstances.

Speed itself, is blamed for about 35 per cent of fatal accidents.

"Generally speaking, we have little consistency in thinking as far as vehicle speeds are concerned," observe the Montreal doctors. "The public has encouraged the development of higher speed motor vehicles and highway facilities as a boon to our transportation economy, and at the same time endeavors to restrict these higher speeds with laws and traffic control devices.

"Most people will not tolerate the same vehicle speeds through their community that they themselves exceed or equal in adjoining communities of similar nature."

Education of the public regarding the safest and best automotive machine and how to handle it, encouragement of a realistic attitude on the part of all drivers, and a continuing campaign to acquaint the public with facts about traffic accidents, speed characteristics, and consideration of the "other driver" on the highway are all suggested as basic to a reduction in the traffic toll.

Realizing that a good health program cannot succeed in the face of the opposition of the medical profession, this is a plea to the medical fraternity and the Canadian Medical Association to act as a body to accept its responsibility in the prevention of injuries from road accidents," Drs. Elliott and Rounthwaite conclude.

Ripplecove Inn In Townships Is Scenic Paradise

One of the most scenic spots in the heart of the beautiful Eastern Townships is the site of the Ripplecove Inn, just on the southern edge of Lake Massawippi.

Here at rates within the range of even the most modest income, all pleasures of an ideal summer holiday lie at one's beck and call.

Splendid fishing, swimming, boating, tennis, and golfing at nearby Dufferin Heights Golf course all adds up to make Ripplecove the most attractive resort in this district.

Every Sunday evening a buffet supper is held featuring "smorgasbord" prepared by the Chef. This event is widely known and regularly patronized by many within driving distance.

Improvements have been made in the Anchorage, a recreation room where dancing and other inside sports are enjoyed. A new steam heating system has been installed, thus rendering it capable of remaining open all year.

Among the other improvements the kitchen at the Inn has been enlarged to accommodate the increasing business. The Inn will be able comfortably to house 75 people and will have facilities to handle banquets, weddings and parties.

The grounds have been landscaped, the beach and lake front has been extended. In all, for a quiet restful holiday or for active sporting summer, the Ripplecove is the resort for you.

Recreation, Rest, At Ayer's Cliff Summer Resorts

Ayer's Cliff and the surrounding district have much to offer the tourist who is either looking for a quiet rest or for invigorating recreation in this scenic part of the Eastern Townships.

This little town which is situated some twenty-five miles from Sherbrooke, at the south end of Lake Massawippi is the ideal resort for the holidayer seeking a quiet spot away from the crowds and heat of the city.

If you are the sportsman type, it has much that should appeal to you, such as boating, swimming, sailing, hunting and mountain climbing. Lake Massawippi is also known for fishing and as one visitor described it, it's simply a "fisherman's paradise."

There are two hotels in the Ayer's Cliff district, the Ripplecove Inn and the New Cliff House, the latter being situated in the town itself. Both of these resorts are owned and operated by Archie and Rufus Stafford.

At the Ripplecove, every effort is made to provide for the pleasure and comfort of the guests. There is a long sandy beach and a float for diving, a recreation room where dancing may be enjoyed as well as a table tennis court. There is also a nine hole golf course within driving distance of the resort. Ayer's Cliff also has two good clean restaurants that give you the best of service and that provide clients with only the best quality of food. Situated one mile from the town is Burrough Falls Pavilion where townfolks as well as visitors may indulge in popular and old time dancing. Everything that might appeal to visitors is found at Ayer's Cliff and the nearby districts for it is their aim to supply you with recreation or with a quiet rest in order that you might return home with pleasant memories of the Town-

Air Force Officer Adopts Three-Hour Swimming Course

Edmonton. — (CP) — Sqdn. Ldr. Scott Alexander, officer in command of the RCAF's survival training school here, has developed what is thought to be the shortest swimming course in Canada.

Although a full month is usually needed to teach a non-swimmer, Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander, a former swimming instructor, was allowed only three hours in a packed schedule to teach his survival students to swim.

He studied his problem carefully and developed a method of instruction which would best take advantage of the short period of time allotted. He decided beginners should be taught step by step instead of being overburdened with several points at one time.

Sincere classes started in September, 1952, a total of 247 non-swimmers have learned to swim in the three-hour period. Not one student has failed.

Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander first makes his students overcome the fear of water. He says it is natural for people to swim. Once this is done, the rest follows easily.

Three hours seems like a short time for a beginner to learn to swim, but few of his students need more than two.

Rooster Plays Part In Girl's First Flight

Kingston. — It took a rooster to get Felicity Bennett, 23, her first flight, but now that she's Canada's seventh woman flying instructor she'll get all the air time she wants.

As an enterprising 12-year-old Felicity kept 50 chickens as a hobby. She gave a rooster to her aunt and returning the kindness, Aunty financed a 15-minute flight over Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Recently Felicity received her instructor's rating and took a job at the Kingston Flying Club.

A native of Spencerville, 80 miles east of Kingston, Felicity and her sister, Connie, used to make model airplanes. The model building habit remained until she was 14.

For the last three years Felicity has been a teacher at the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville, but she never lost her love of airplanes.

Quiet and soft-spoken, she planned originally on becoming an airline stewardess. However, she quickly grew out of that—she now stands five feet, 9½ inches in stocking feet.

In 1950, while home on holiday from the Belleville school, Felicity dropped in to Norman Rogers airport, "to see what was going on." Then, after six hours of dual instruction, she made her first solo flight.

The next step was a commercial pilot's licence. The necessity of getting more flying time took her on an air trip to Florida. Added to this were hours spent on book study. Finally she successfully wrote examinations on meteorology, air frames and engines, radio aids to navigation, airmanship and navigation.

Last year Felicity took part in the St. Lawrence zone finals of the Webster Trophy competition. She missed out on navigation, but obtained the highest marks for flying ability.

Uranium Boom Means Business For Bushell

Uranium City, Sask. — (CP) — Saskatchewan's only port—Bushell—is preparing for the biggest season in its short history.

The uranium boom in north-western Saskatchewan is responsible for the rush at Bushell, built beside a rocky ridge in an almost perfect harbor on the shore of Lake Athabaska.

Shipping was scheduled to open in mid-June and for four months tugs and barges are expected to arrive at Bushell's docks after the run across Lake Athabaska from the end of steel at Waterways, Alta.

An estimated 40,000 tons will be unloaded this summer at Bushell, one-quarter to one-third more cargo tonnage than last year. Many of the uranium field's necessities are flown into the area but the heaviest items and much of the high-volume goods go by barge.

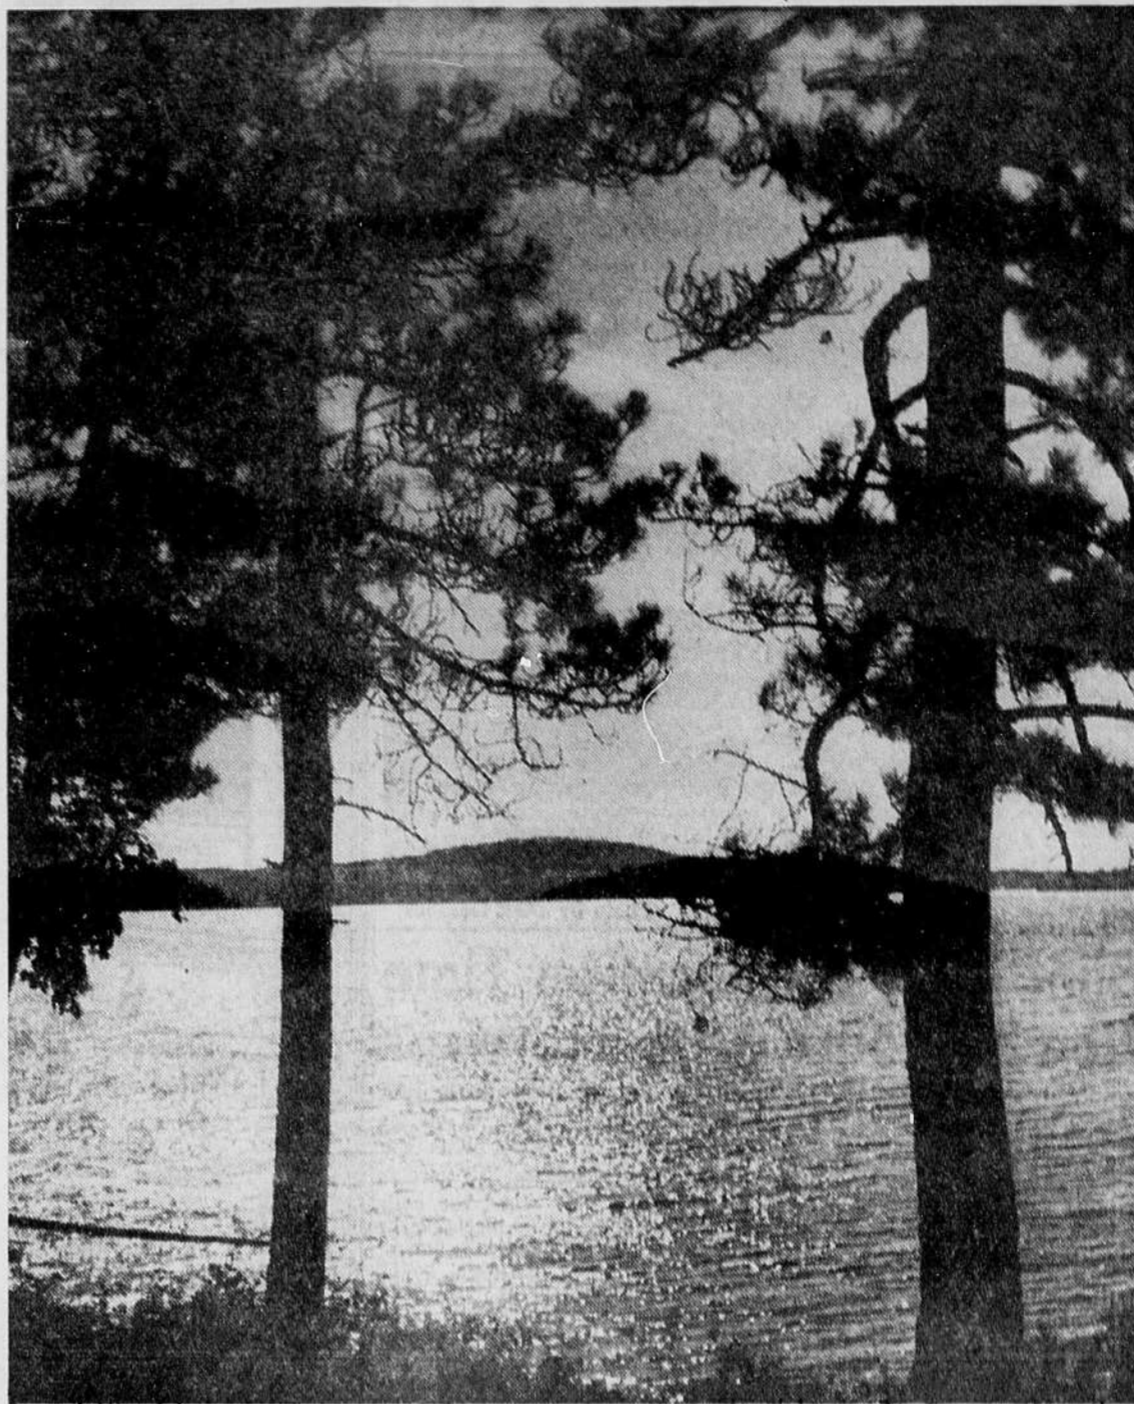

Two thousand men are working in this bush country but by mid-summer when the last ice moves off the rock-bound lakes, making them more accessible to prospectors, drillers and surveyors, 3,000 to 4,000 should be working throughout the uranium-rich area.

The federal government-owned Eldorado Mining Corporation has already gone into production. Ore is being produced at a rate of 500 tons a day and the corporation is aiming at 2,000 tons a day.

The Eldorado mill was scheduled to go into production this summer to concentrate the ore for shipment to the outside world.

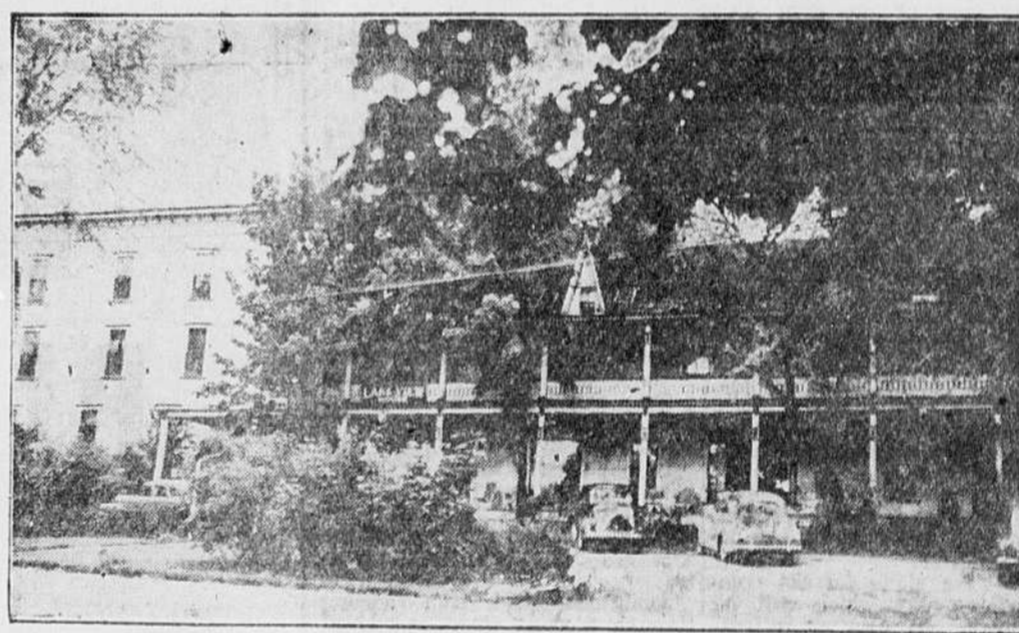

Another leading property in the area is the Gunnar gold uranium holdings, the talk of the north country.

In sharp contrast are the ultra-modern housing development on the Eldorado property and a mile or so away the shack tents of Indians pitched on rocky hillsides. Beside the shacks the women cook food in black pots at outside fires and caribou meat hangs drying in the sun. There, Indian children race around wearing cowboy outfits. Bushell has a 300-foot long warehouse, owned and operated by Northern Transportation Co., a subsidiary of the Eldorado Mining and Refining Corporation. In addition there are two tanks for storing diesel oil owned by Eldorado and five large Imperial Oil storage tanks. Near the wharves are a few houses which were moved from Goldfields, for the most part occupied, Goldfields, now almost completely abandoned, was the chief centre of the area while the gold rushes were in swing in the 1930s. For a period there was some support for retaining Goldfields as the main harbor for the new uranium area. But Bushell offered a more central, accessible route to the main uranium areas and this was the deciding factor.

Georgeville Area Popular With Fishermen

Georgeville — Hundreds of fishermen flock to Georgeville each year to enjoy angling in Lake Memphremagog, where they find prize-size rainbow trout, salmon, brown trout, lake trout and other game fish.

Among the main drawing cards to this paradise of fishing, are the outfitters, who have striven to make it so popular. The two major outfitting establishments are McGowan House, which is headed by Henry McGowan, one of Lake Memphremagog's more experienced fishermen, and the Big Timber Camps, whose outfitter and guide is Maurice Rolfe, also known for his great knowledge of fishing in this lake.

Already, the influx of anglers to Georgeville is amazing, but the great number on this vast lake is only a speck compared with what Lake Memphremagog can accommodate.

Slim Legs By Vacation Time Can Be Yours With Exercises

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

If you're going on vacation soon, and would like slimmer, shapelier legs to show off in your shorts and bathing suit, start exercising now.

Here are two exercises for girls in normal health:

Exercise 1—Sit on the floor with legs extended and slightly apart. Keeping knees straight, bend forward and grasp the toes. Pull on them and hold for one minute. It's important to keep knees flat on the floor. Once or twice may be enough the first time. Work up to 10 times each.

Exercise 2—Lie on back and raise a leg, keeping ankle and knee relaxed. Describe 10 circles with your toes. This slims the ankle. Rest. Describe 10 circles with the leg. This slims the calf. Rest. Now describe 10 circles with the entire leg, from the hip down.

As soon as you are able, begin describing circles with both legs simultaneously. Work up gradually to as many circles as you can describe.

Expect no results unless you give regular daily time to the exercises. Be sure to begin very gradually if you are unused to exercising those muscles.

MARBLETON

Mr. A. J. Elliott, of Campbellton, N.B., was a guest of his brother, Dr. R. Elliott, and Mrs. Elliott.

Owing to the very cool weather and the electric lights not working properly, a damper was put on the Coronation celebrations held at the fair grounds on June 2. However, the fireworks display was very brilliant and much enjoyed, also the band music by the Asbestos Band.

Mrs. L. Sharron, of Sherbrooke,

Mr. Fred Bilton and his mother, Mrs. Bilton, of Bromptonville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James MacKay.

Mr. Keith Elliott, of Bedford, was a guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Bishop, of Sherbrooke, and their daughter, Betty Lou, who has just returned from Macdonald College, where she obtained her teacher's diploma, were tea guests on Sunday of Mr. Bishop's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bishop.

Summer Togs Smart If Neat

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Some teens think that summer is the time to let down the bars of good grooming. Although it's a time for a more relaxed way of dressing, this idea needn't be coupled with sloppiness.

Dungarees are popular for very good reasons, so enjoy wearing yours. Make sure, however, that they fit you, are clean, and not worn threadbare.

Socks needn't be wrinkled to be comfortable. Pull yours up taut and fold them over if necessary.

An old and mellow pair of shoes may be your choice for comfort. But you'll walk better if the heels are even. It's better not to own white shoes if you haven't time to keep them clean.

Cotton dresses, so enchanting when fresh, are unsightly when rumpled and soiled. Change into a fresh one as often as necessary. Save whites and pastels for country life and the darks for the city.

If your dress is sheer, be sure to have proper underpinnings for it. Bra straps shouldn't show. The slip should match the color of the dress and be neatly fitted and pretty.

Avoid too much lace showing through a sheer dress—an absolutely tailored, well-cut slip looks better. Occasionally a girl forgets to check her back view and others see a piece of bra riding up above her slip.

With Mrs. A. P. Bliss at the piano, the ladies sang the hymn "Blessed Assurance," followed by the president giving a devotional reading. The roll call was answered and the minutes of the last meeting read. The treasurer gave the financial report. The sum of $75 was voted as a part of the church budget payment for the year.

It was moved that this society help pay a part of the plumbing installation at the parsonage. The closing of meetings for the summer months was discussed but nothing definite was decided.

After a social hour tea was served.

days? That depends on you. Every year statistics reveal an appalling number of mishaps — some of them serious — caused by undue and unwise exposure to the sun. In a frantic quest for the healthgiving properties of Old Sol, and of course, the fashionable tan, people forget that even a good thing can be carried to extremes.

Perhaps you are one of the vast legion of sun worshippers who are firmly convinced that only a tanned body can be a beautiful and a healthy one. Or maybe you belong to the old school of die-hards, clinging to the idea that sunshine is fine for plants and all green things, but definitely poison to the human epidermis.

Well, whichever you are, you should know that the sun is really a Jekyll and Hyde combination. Since its power to do good is matched by a strong potential for evil, the sensible thing is to find out just how far it can be trusted and used to advantage.

Scientists tell us that the sun's rays represent a blending of infrared, luminous and ultraviolet radiation, and that tanning depends largely on a person's supply of pigment. Sunlight stimulates the formation of pigment, which in turn, causes tanning—or freckling when the pigment is unevenly distributed. Of course, if you have very little, you'll just have to face it—you won't tan at all. But that's no reason for you to feel you're a social outcast. After all, we can't all be of the hardy garden variety — some of us have to be content with being hothouse blooms.

A look at the country's numerous beaches proves that sun bathing has become extremely popular in recent years, but it still should be employed with due care in all instances. There's no doubt about it, properly applied sunshine and open air act as an excellent tonic, increasing the powers of resistance and promoting mental and physical development.

On the other hand, overexposure to sunlight may cause varying degrees of sun burn, sunstroke or even heat stroke, and such symptoms as headache, lassitude, undue fatigue and irritability, to say nothing of severe shock to the nervous system and perhaps irreparable damage to sensitive skin tissues.

After all if we were meant to be broiled like lobsters, wouldn't nature have provided us with the same unattractive but definitely shock proof covering? As it is, she gave us a protective shield of countless little skin cells called epidermis, which act as a packaging for the bones. Underneath the epidermis is the pigment — the coloring matter that partly determines the skin tone and the color of our hair. Remember that blondes and redheads are lightly pigmented and brunettes more heavily so. Albinos of course are entirely pigment free.

It's a great temptation to get out and revel in the warm sunshine, especially after being cooped up in a stuffy apartment all winter, and swallowing the soot and grime of the big city as a steady diet. But let's take it easy.

Doctors will tell you that duration and extent of exposure to sunshine should be always carefully graduated and those who do not tan efficiently or easily should be especially careful. In light-skinned or blond people severe reactions may occur, due to abnormal sensitivity or in the presence of light-sensitizing substances.

Your first session with the sun should run about fifteen minutes if you're dark, about five if you're fair. Gradually increase your intake but remember, the word is bask, not bake!

The sun is strongest at noon and chances for a burn greater between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. But don't let anybody ever tell you it's impossible to get a burn on the beach, on a cloudy day. It is possible even when there is no direct radiation from the sun, because the reflection of ultraviolet from the surface of water is twice as great as from a field of grass. In fact there is a relatively higher amount of ultraviolet in the skyshine than in the direct sunshine, which is why the ocean, the sandy beach and even snow, furnish a very powerful form of sunlight which is therapeutically valuable.

If you do suffer a burn however, relieve the sting with vinegar or a solution of baking soda and water. You may follow this by a gentle application of cold cream or vaseline, but remember that sunburn is cumulative, and give your skin a chance to recover from the first scorching before adding more heat to it. If by any misfortune, you happen to acquire a severe burn, immediate medical attention would be wise.

Maybe you're one of those specially favored creatures who tan quickly and gracefully. So much the better — but don't feel forced to get a tan that's a cross between a full blooded Indian and mother's mahogany dresser. It would be well to remember that the good you receive from the sun is not measured according to the degree of your tan. Undue exposure to the sun, summer after summer is bound to rob your skin of its natural tone. It dries out the oil and can result in serious skin conditions later on. Wrinkles come all too quickly, and you hurry your skin cells through their life cycle so fast that you'll be wearing squint lines years before your time.

This doesn't mean you should spend the summer like a butterfly before it emerges from its cocoon. Nor does it mean that you have to sit in the shade of a large sun hat and even larger beach umbrella, wistfully watching everyone making the most of the sun and water.

Germans Find Cricket Hard To Understand

Bonn — (Reuters) — Note to American sports fans: The Germans can't understand cricket, either.

The West German popular daily, Der Mittag floundered about when it took on itself the task of explaining the mystery of "cricket" in 500 words.

"Cricket is a ball game played according to certain rules between two teams of 11 men each," it started off lamely.

"They compete in the open air about two sets of marking posts with a very hard leather ball about the size of a man's fist and two powerful clubs, known as bats.

"Someone throws the ball at one of the sets of posts and his opponent tries to hit it away. If he connects properly, the two strikers run criss-cross from one set of posts to the other, the more often the better.

"The other side tries to catch the ball and throw it at the posts and the team which makes the most runs wins.

"But," said the German paper, "though every team tries to win they do not play cricket just to win.

"This sounds complicated but it is in fact just English. Cool, dispassionate restraint, individual skill coupled with team spirit, patient waiting hour after hour for the right moment and then a lightning decision, above all correct behavior, that makes the good cricket player."

Der Mittag claimed that "cricket" has become "an institution, a ceremonial cult, a mythical tradition" which resisted all encroachment from science and technique.

Poor Children Are Favored At Toy Store

By HAL COOPER
 London — (AP) — There is a place in London where a poor child can buy a toy for a farthing.

The door to this bargain counter is an archway only three feet 10 inches high, to keep the big kids out.

The toys are sold on Saturdays. One Saturday only boys are admitted, the next Saturday only girls.

The odd toy store has been in business since 1907 at the Fern street settlement in Bromley-by-Bow. This is a part of east London where most families are lucky to have enough money for food.

Founder of the settlement, and toy store, was Miss Clara Grant, who began teaching in a neighborhood school in 1900. Over the years she built up a wide circle of donors who sent money or the cast-off toys of their own children. A benefactor for years was the Queen Mary.

Miss Grant had the playthings reconditioned and made up into neat little packages for sale.

She insisted on the token payment of one farthing because she felt this gave the children a feeling of independence and self-respect. She encouraged them to complain if they thought the goods weren't up to standard.

Miss Grant died in 1949, but her stores goes on.

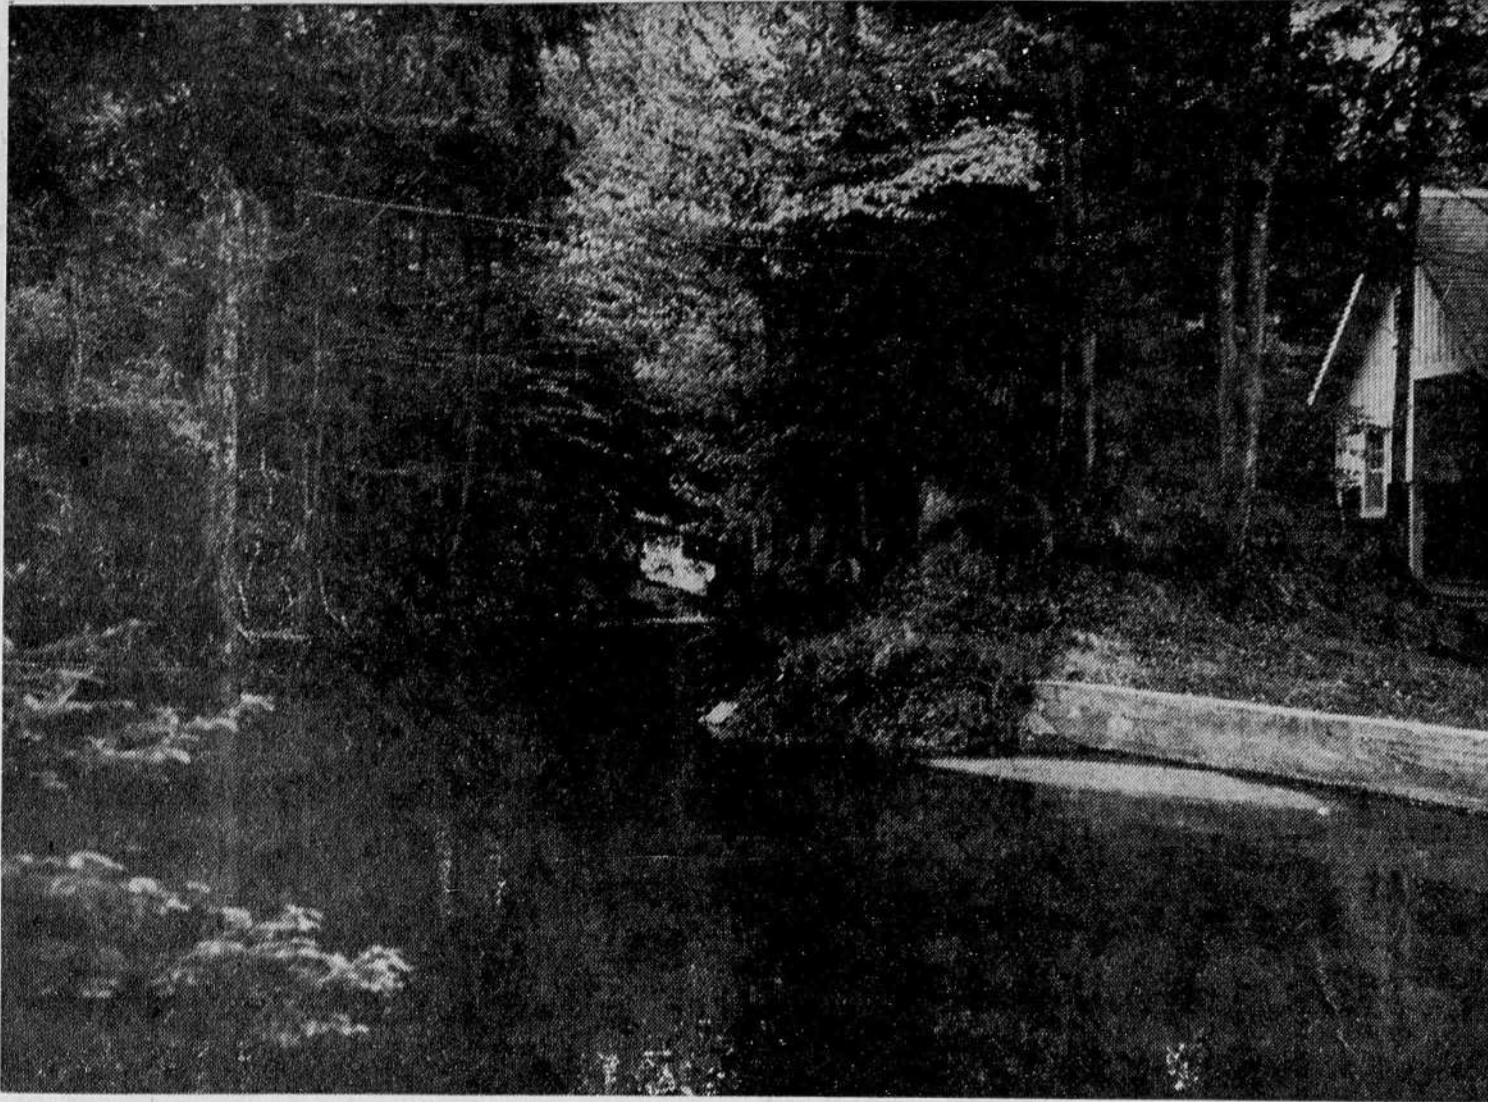

Four decades ago as many as 500 kids with farthings in their grubby little hands used to show up on a Saturday morning to vass, if they could through the archway. The archway bears this inscription:

"Enter now ye children small,
 None can come who are too tall."

Nowadays, the Saturday sales seldom draw more than 100. Officials of the settlement say this reflects the slow but sure conquest of the more abject kind of poverty in the Fern street area.

And in the 46 years of the toy store's existence, the heights of the archway has been raised four inches. That's because Fern street kids eat better and are much taller than they used to be.

Oldest recorded ruling Welsh prince was Rhodri the Great, from 844 to 878 AD.

National China's Govt. Member Tours Canada-U.S.

Saskatoon — (C) — A member of the national Legislative Yuan — the legislature of National China on Formosa — is touring Canada on a United Nations fellowship to study Canada's welfare program.

Mrs. Yen Fu, editor of two magazines in Taiwan, capital of Formosa, was in Saskatoon recently to attend the fourth biennial western regional conference on social work.

Mrs. Yen Fu said the first thing she will do when she returns will be to draft legislation to protect children.

She is in Canada to study orphanages, family services, federal and provincial budgets for child welfare, and the training and appointment of personnel.

Child welfare is a big field in China, said Mrs. Yen Fu. There are no laws to protect children. She has been in charge of homes for orphans and the aged since 1934, at one time in Nanking. She was principal of a nursery school for refugee children at Chungking and from 1949 to 1951 headed an orphanage at Taiwan.

Mrs. Yen Fu was also professor of psychology, personnel administration and municipal government at the national Lan Chow University from 1949 to 1951.

This is not her first visit to North America. She went to Seattle in 1930 to study at the University of Washington and later attended the University of California at Berkeley, Calif.

Mrs. Yen is a widow with two daughters. The eldest girl is attending college in the United States and the other is at school at Ottawa.

Mrs. Yen says she already has learned much from her Canadian tour which started several weeks ago at Ottawa. From Ottawa, she travelled to Toronto and then to Saskatoon. After completing her Western tour Mrs. Yen will return east to Toronto and Montreal.

Exclusive Indian Club Members Are Prominent Men

Cardston, Alta. — (C) — One of Canada's most exclusive clubs is the Kainai chieftainship, restricted to 35 members, all honorary chiefs of the Blood Indians of southwestern Alberta.

Formed in 1950, the organization meets only twice a year and is composed of notable public figures.

der, British defence minister, says the object of the Kainai chieftainship is to "preserve all the fine traditions of the Bloods, to broaden their knowledge so that they may, through an advanced system of Indian education, achieve that high level of citizenship for which they are so eminently qualified."

Earl Alexander's Indian name is Pit-O-To-Kon which means Chief Eagle Head.

Literally speaking Kainai means "many chiefs" but the accepted meaning in the Blood tribe's language is the name of a Blood Indian band.

When the chieftainship was formed, it absorbed those who had been made honorary chiefs by the Bloods earlier. These included the Duke of Windsor who was made

HATLEY

A Coronation tea put on by the Guild of St. James' Church and the Women's Association of the United Church, was held in the Guild Hall on Wednesday, June 3. The hall was appropriately decorated with flags and flowers. An outstanding feature in the decorations was a lovely crown resting a chief in 1919 while he was Prince of Wales.

The one vacancy open now is being held for Hon. C. D. Howe, federal trade minister.

Members of the non-sectarian and non-political body include the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada, Rod Cameron, Hollywood cowboy star, and Senator W. A. Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald.

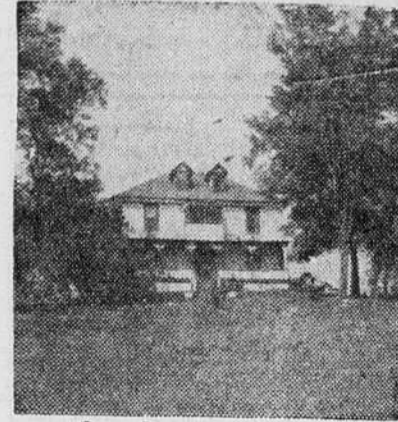

on a purple cushion on a stand, beneath the picture of the Queen. This was the handiwork of Mrs. Theodore Dobb. A large crowd gathered to enjoy the delicious tea provided by the ladies. The proceeds were very satisfactory.

On Sunday, June 7, a Masons' church parade was held at the United Church of this place. The lodge from North Hatley, including members from Waterville, Ayer's Cliff and Hatley participated in this impressive gathering, which was addressed by the pastor, Rev. Vernon Hatch, Mr. A. J. Ross, Mr. vice, refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed in the vestry by the members and their wives.

The Baltic sea, covering 158,000 square miles, is only 1,300 feet deep at its deepest part.
