DISCUSS IMPORT DUES IN BRITISH HOUSE COMMONS

TAXES WILL HAVE NO EFFECT ON TARIFF CONTROVERSY WHEN WAR ENDS.

London, Sept. 29.—After a discussion in the House of Commons today on the import duties levied by the new Budget, during which the free traders charged the Liberal members of the government with going back on the principles of their party and with having been influenced by the tariff reformers in the Cabinet, Andrew Bonar Law, the Secretary for the Colonies, said that he and his Unionist colleagues had not known the intentions of the Chancellor of the Exchequer until Mr. McKenna informed the Cabinet of the details of his Budget, and that the taxes imposed in abnormal times would not have any effect on the tariff controversy when the war ended.

Josiah Wedgewood, Liberal and Free Trader, protested against the duty on motor cars. He declared that nothing so helped to economize labor as the importation of motor cars from America.

Chancellor McKenna replied that the times were abnormal and it was obligatory to lessen unnecessary imports in order to secure a readjustment of the unfavorable exchange. However, in deference to the views of experts, he proposed to exempt lorries and vans used exclusively for trade purposes, their parts and all motor tires from the new duties.

Mr. McKenna announced in the House of Commons that he would propose exemption from the import duties on motor cars of all motor lorries and vans to be used exclusively for trade purposes and also of chassis and parts thereof to be used.

LIQUOR DESTROYER OF INDIAN RACE

Deseronto, Ont., Sept. 29.—At the thirtieth annual convention of the Council of the Indian Tribes today, every delegate who spoke condemned liquor as one of the greatest destroyers of the race. Indian after Indian arose and delivered temperance addresses.

The white man was blamed for considerable of the downfall of the Indian through whiskey. It was argued by all the speakers that the dividing of the North American continent into two countries by the American war of independence could make no difference to the Indians. They were still one race, despite any international boundary.

WILL RANK AS ONE OF MOST GLORIOUS EXPLOITS IN ARMY

CORRESPONDENT SO DESCRIBES FIRST CHARGE OF BRITISH IN BIG OFFENSIVE.

London, Sept. 29.—10:50 p.m.—A correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company sends the following despatch from British Headquarters under date of Tuesday, describing the fighting in the great offensive of the Allies on the western front:

"The first charge made by our men from the Vermelles trenches in the gray light of Saturday morning, which carried them right through the village of Loos and to the summit of Hill 70 and beyond this, will rank as one of the most glorious exploits of the British army.

"Nothing could stop them. Two German trenches defending the village fell first; then a race across some open country and they were in the streets of Loos. Some hand to hand fighting with bombs and bayonets, and then out of the village to the slope of Hill 70, about half a mile to the east. The last desperate rush took them to the summit, some going even beyond until checked by a strong earthwork defense with numerous machine guns.

"The enemy's batteries had by this time begun to concentrate on the slopes of the hill, and therefore our men were ordered to dig in about a hundred yards from the summit.

"Fierce fighting continued around the hill on Sunday and Monday. The new army battalions played an important part in the attack; men who had no experience in real fighting sprang forward to the sound of the officers' whistles with a dash and gallantry which nothing could stop. Paying no heed to the terrible fire poured on them from hidden guns, they pressed forward at a steady pace, making their way through the barbed wire entanglements, forcing the enemy's trenches and bayoneting the Germans in them.

"Germans caught hiding in cellars, from which they kept up a steady fire on the men dashing through the streets of the villages, were hauled forth; machine guns firing through holes in the walls of cottages were charged and captured.

"The village was protected by a triple line of barbed wire of extraordinary thickness and strength, the bars being nearly an inch in length. The first two lines had been well destroyed by the artillery, but the third still stood, and this had to be cut by men standing in the open exposed to the enemy's fire.

"One man said that in the trenches around the town the German dead in some places were piled four deep, many cellars contained Germans seeking protection from the bombardment, and into the houses dashed the bomb throwers. They pulled up the flap of the cellars and dropped in a couple of bombs. In one dugout a German officer was found with a telephone receiver at his ear. He had been directing the fire of the German artillery on the village after the British occupied it.

"The village itself was badly damaged. The church was a shapeless mass of bricks; houses were blown to pieces; streets were piled with debris, amid which lay many hundreds of dead and wounded. The few French inhabitants still living in the village consisted of two or three families, mostly women."

ALLIES MAKE FURTHER PROGRESS WHILE GERMANS BEND EVERY EFFORT TO REGAIN LOST GROUND

French Reports State That Advances Have Been Made In The Artois And Champagne Areas While They Also Claim The Capture Of Hill 140 East Of Vimy—British Attack German Line South Of La Basse Canal—Turks Suffer Another Defeat In Mesopotamia

London, Sept. 29.—The Allies great offensive in Artois and the Champagne is still being persevered in, and, according to the French accounts, which, however, are contradicted by the German official reports, further progress has been made in both areas.

In Artois the French claim to have reached Hill 140, which lies directly east of Vimy and is the culminating point of the crests named after that town. The importance of the hill lies in the fact that it commands the plains to the east, the network of roads and the railway which runs from Lens southward.

So far as Champagne is concerned the French appear, at present, to be making their chief effort towards the railway junction north of Massiges, which accounts for the desperate efforts of the Germans to stem the tide and for the Crown Prince's counter stroke in the Argonne, as this railway connects the German army in the Argonne with its base at Vouziers.

Perhaps the heaviest fighting since the offensive began is now going on, for the British are attacking the German third line of defense south of La Basse canal, and the Germans have brought up reinforcements against both the British and the French and are making every effort to retrieve the lost ground. Belgium, despatches from Holland say, has been denuded of troops, while German detachments are even being removed from the eastern front to meet what is now known to be the greatest effort ever made in the west since the armies took up their present positions from Belgium to Switzerland.

The Germans are trying to divert the Allies by a heavy artillery bombardment north and south of the Aisne, but, plans having been made by General Joffre, the French are striking with all the forces at their command at the points selected.

It is reported that the German Emperor has arrived at the western front and that he has already dismissed some of his Generals for allowing their lines to be pressed back to almost the breaking point.

Despite the transfer of some troops to the west, the Germans continue to strike hard at the Russians practically all along their front. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is delivering heavy strokes against Dvinsk, while his colleague on his right is pushing forward to the east of Vileika and Molodecheno in an attempt to turn the Russian position, and has now reached a point to the north of Minsk, which another army is advancing upon from the south-west.

Field Marshal Von Mackensen and Prince Leopold of Bavaria apparently are inactive, owing doubtless to the marshes which are now impassable, but General Von Linsingen is still pressing hard on the Russians in Volhynia.

It is expected that the weather will soon put an end to the operations in the east, as with the continued rains the rivers cannot be forded, and the Russians, wherever possible, the getting behind them.

The British have inflicted another serious defeat on the Turks in Mesopotamia. The Tigris army, after suffering heavy losses, is in flight towards Bagdad. Thus, the three armies which the Turks sent to Mesopotamia against the Anglo-Indian invaders have been scattered. In May the Tigris army was driven back from Kurna to north of Amara; the army of the Karun was driven from Ahwaz, and the army of the Euphrates was last heard of as fugitive on the river somewhere north of Nairie.

It is again reported that an Austro-German army 300,000 strong is assembling for an offensive against Serbia.

LONG DISTANCE WIRELESS TELEPHONE

TRANSMISSION OF VOICE BY RADIO FROM VIRGINIA TO CALIFORNIA.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Long distance wireless telephone communication was accomplished for the first time today, when experiments extending several months culminated in successful transmission of the human voice by radio from the great naval plant at Arlington, Va., across the continent to the station at Marco Island, Calif., 2,500 miles away.

The experiments were conducted under direction of Captain Bullard, chief of the navy's radio service, in co-operation with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company. Secretary of the Navy Daniels announcing the result tonight, predicted that further development of wireless telephone would make great changes in long distance communication both for military and naval service in commercial usage.

Successful operation of advice for automatically transferring to the radio telephone conversations originating on metallic circuits also was accomplished in today's tests. President Theodore N. Vail, and other officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, at New York, talked easily with the Mare Island station, the conversation travelling over an ordinary metallic line from New York to Arlington and thence by radio across the continent.

"The fact that the voices can be started on a land wire and automatically transmitted to a voice radio transmitter," said Secretary Daniels, "holds out hope that persons inland should readily be put in touch by telephone with others at sea through some central transmitting station."

the Hurons were exterminated by the Iroquois. The fact that the cross was found in a part of the country occupied by the Algonquin Indians, of which tribe Longfellow's Hiawatha was a member, is regarded as proof that the particular Huron chief to whom it belonged had escaped from his bloody foes, the Iroquois, and had taken up his abode with this peaceful nation of hunting Indians. He probably spent the balance of his life on lovely Temagami, which has been well named the Algonquin Paradise. This peerless lake consists of one hundred square miles of crystal water, dotted with over thirteen hundred islands of every size and shape, and still wooded with the magnificent primeval forest. So far, its beauty has not been to any extent impaired, either by fire or the operations of the lumbermen. It is in practically the same condition as when Hiawatha and Minnehaha spent their honeymoon on the silver strand of Sandy Inlet, and, even yet, it affords excellent sport to both the hunters and the fishermen. This Huron chief may have died while on a hunting trip on Sucker Gut, and was probably buried on the island where the cross was discovered. However, after a lapse of two and a half centuries the silver object was the only thing found.

TO BE RAFFLED FOR HOSPITAL

LORRAINE CROSS AND ANTIQUE IVORY CAMEO GIVEN TO DAUGHTERS OF EMPIRE FOR CAUSE.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—A Lorraine Cross, a rare relic of the French regime and Indian tribal wars, and an antique ivory cameo from Paris, are to be raffled in aid of the Duchesse of Connaught Hospital by the Madeline de Vercheres chapter of the Daughters of the Empire.

The Lorraine cross, a relic of the tribal wars between the Huron and Iroquois Indians in the 17th century, was secured for the Madeline de Vercheres Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, (of which Madame T. Chase Casgrain, wife of the postmaster general, is regent), through Mr. Archibald M. Campbell of this city. It is the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Woods, of Temagami, Ont. Mr. Woods has been the Hudson's Bay Company factor at Bear Island, Temagami Lake, since 1889. Although living in the wilds, Mr. and Mrs. Woods keep fully informed as to what is going on outside and they wished to "do their bit" towards assisting our brave lads at the front. To accomplish this, they decided to donate their most valuable curio, to be disposed of for the largest possible figure, the proceeds to go to provide beds in the Duchesse of Connaught Hospital at beautiful Cliveden.

Found by Indians
This cross was found some years ago by an Indian named Michael Kait who died at Temagami during the summer of 1914. He dug it up on an island on Sucker Gut Lake, which lies to the west of Lady Evelyn Lake and northwest of peerless Temagami in the famous Temagami Forest Reserve. It is five inches in length by two and a half in width, is made of solid silver and resembles in shape an old-fashioned archbishop's crozier, in other words, it looks like a Roman cross, with the addition, however, of a second arm, which is placed immediately below the upper one. The ends of these arms, as well as the upright center, are decorated in a simple but chaste design—which is obviously done by hand.

One of Fifty.
This cross has been pronounced by Father Jones, F.R.S.C., of the Jesuit College, and who is a recognized authority on matters relating to the early history of Canada, to be one of fifty given by the Countess of Lorraine, to the chiefs of the Huron tribe of Indians, in the early years of the 17th century. At that time, the Iroquois were the active allies of the British troops in the American colonies to the south, and had been supplied by the British officers with modern weapons of war, which they used with terrible execution against their deadly and hereditary enemies, the Huron Indians. It was with the view of securing the sympathy and co-operation of the Huron chiefs for and with the forces of the French King then in New France, that the noble French lady presented these "Lorraine Crosses" to the French officers, for distribution among the leading chiefs. It is interesting to know that the form of these crosses was limited in its use to the Lorraine family, by a special edict of one of the Kings of France.

Prior to 1649.
The particular cross found by Michael Kait must have been given to its owner some time prior to the year 1649, for in that year the balance of Huge Replica.

As a coincidence, it may be stated that in the issue of "La Revue Hebdomadaire" of the 29th May, an illustration appeared showing the beautiful statue of Jeanne D'Arc, in La Place des Pyramides, Paris, profusely decorated with floral tributes of all kinds. Most prominent among these, and standing on the right, is seen a huge replica of a "Lorraine Cross," which was presented by the English colony of Paris. In thus joining with the allied people in the celebration of the anniversary fête, May 16—of the great French heroine, the British simply gave another evidence of their warm friendship and sympathy.

The Ivory "Cameo."
The ivory cameo, an exquisite carving, depicts the head of a Roman emperor, as Bacchus. It formerly belonged to the wife of a French diplomat, under secretary of state and banker. It is about two by two and a half inches in size, carved in high relief and valued at over $100.

Directions Re Raffle.
Any persons who may desire to see these two interesting and beautiful objects at, with a view to securing throws on the same, should communicate with Madame T. Chase Casgrain, at her residence, 6 Range Road Ottawa, or, in care of her husband, the honorable the postmaster general of Canada.

MAROONED IN FOREST.
Recently during the German drive at Warsaw a scouting party of Uhlans sighted several huts in the depth of a forest, and upon investigation found them inhabited by about twenty half-clad and half starved men. They proved to be Edward Schorghofer, a well-to-do Austrian, and men who had been under his command in guarding the ammunition supply wagons of the 14th Austrian Army Corps.

In September, a year ago, these men had been surprised by a large force of Russians, who captured the ammunition wagons. In the engagement Schorghofer had two horses shot under him. To escape capture he and his men fled to the cover of a forest. They reached a village after some days' marching, where they were supplied with civilian clothes and food. Subsequently the Russians were reported to be nearing the village, and Schorghofer and his men did not dare remain. They ventured to the forest, built huts and lived on game. Their sufferings were intense. On June 23 they sighted the coming of the Uhlans with the same joy that shipwrecked sailors see a craft on the horizon.

The men got leave to return to their homes and see their families, after which they will again go to the front.

HARBOR COMMISSION GRAIN ELEVATOR WELL EQUIPPED

HAS CAPACITY FOR MILLION BUSHELS - QUANTITY OF OATS, ETC., HANDLED THIS SEASON.

In conversation with Mr. St. George Boswell, Resident Engineer of the Quebec Harbor Commission yesterday a representative of the Chronicle was informed that about 300,000 bushels of grain, principally for local trade, had passed through the Harbor Commission Elevator thus far this season.

In view of the fact that elevator has a capacity of a million bushels it will readily be understood that it has by no means been an over busy season to date although a brisker traffic may be expected from now until the close of navigation.

This comparatively new elevator with a capacity for a million bushels of grain is concrete and fireproof in every respect. It has facilities for unloading lake boats in a wet dock at the rate of 20,000 bushels per hour and is capable of loading an ocean vessel at the same rate at a similar berth. Adequate provision has also been made for the reception of grain by rail in large quantities. No fewer than twelve railway cars can be unloaded simultaneously, the operation taking from fifteen to twenty minutes.

It is expected that by this time next year the loading galleries along the new water frontage will be ready for service. "Mr. Boswell stated," when there will be berthing accommodation for four or five of the largest types of ocean vessels. There will be an available depth of 35 feet of water at low tide at these new berths.

"The elevator" continued Mr. Boswell "has facilities for drying and cleaning grain and is thoroughly up-to-date and a well equipped structure. Up to the present the elevator has handled a large quantity of oats, etc., for local merchants, but so far the facilities for ocean vessels has not been taken advantage of.

In the matter of lagging grain the elevator is also well equipped. It is capable of filling 12,000 bushels a day into sacks, without interfering with the general operation of the elevator.

ROLL OF HONOR

ARRANGEMENTS FOR HALF-BILLION LOAN PROCEED RAPIDLY

DEFINITE PROGRAMME IS FORMULATED AT OFFICE OF J. P. MORGAN.

New York, Sept. 29.—Representatives of many banking and investment houses met today at the office of J. P. Morgan & Company to formulate a definite program for placing on the American market the $500,000,000 joint Anglo-French five year bonds, soon to be issued to secure the credit loan to Great Britain and France. Such rapid progress was made during their protracted meeting that the entire programme probably will be in shape to make public tomorrow.

Undetermined details concern chiefly the minimum subscriptions to be fixed for individuals who desire to purchase large blocks of the bonds at 96, the price to the syndicate; the method of marketing the bonds; the date on which they will be offered; their listing on the Stock Exchange; the life of the syndicate and the terms to be offered purchasers who wish to pay by instalments. Upon none of these points, it was said, had a final decision been reached.

Bankers who have worked with the Anglo-French commission perfecting the plan announced last night were jubilant today over the outcome and the prospect. There was no doubt, they said, that the entire issue would be placed without difficulty. At the Morgan office it was thought that the big issue might be oversubscribed. From every section of the country, it was said, had come wholesale assurances of support.

Fully sixty per cent of the issue, in the opinion of the president of one of the largest banks here, will be subscribed in New York city alone. This would leave $300,000,000 to be placed elsewhere. He thought that this could be readily done; although, in his opinion, bankers in Chicago and other middle western cities would not subscribe heavily, if at all. In Chicago, he said, many bankers who would otherwise subscribe might be prevented from doing so by the large pro-German element among their depositors. Opposition had developed there, he said, on the part of certain large manufacturing interests also.

Local syndicates in the chief money centers of the country will assume control of the sale of bonds in their sections. At the conclusion of today's conference, J. P. Morgan and Company sent telegrams to bankers in about a dozen cities which had not heretofore been mentioned in connection with the project. These telegrams outlined the loan plan and invited the recipients to join the syndicate.

It became known tonight that an energetic selling campaign will be pressed by leading bond houses in disposing of the issue and that bond salesmen would travel the country in numbers to interest investors. In the light of assurances received today, the belief prevailed among bankers that the loan would be a popular one; that it would be largely absorbed by investors and that the proportion of the issue remaining in the hands of the banks would not be great.

The proceeds of the loan will be available to the British and French governments, rather than directly to importers in Great Britain and France. This gave rise to considerable conjecture in Wall street as to the manner in which the sum would be used to stabilize exchange. It was pointed out that there is nothing to prevent Great Britain and France for using the money solely for government purchases here, leaving their importers to their own devices to pay their bills in the United States.

Whatever arrangement is made and there will doubtless be some arrangement, in the opinion of most bankers here—to relieve the importers abroad, will be entered into between the importers and their government and American shippers will not be directly concerned.

The bonds will probably be offered to the public within two weeks. They are soon to be listed on the Stock Exchange here. In bond issues the listing fee ordinarily is $50 per million. If this practise were followed, the listing of the big issue would involve the payment of a $25,000,000 to the Stock Exchange. It was thought that this was extremely unlikely, however. Heretofore certain municipal bonds have been listed without charge, and the belief prevailed that possibly the big Anglo-French issue might also be listed free.

A partial list of banks, trust companies and financial houses in New York City which will participate as syndicate managers for New York in the loan was made public tonight. These include thirteen of the largest National banks, a large number of trust companies and twenty-eight financial houses, which include August Belmont and Company, Kidder, Peabody & Company, Ladenburg, Thallman & Company, William Solomon & Company, J. & W. Seligman, Kountze Brothers, Hall Garton & Company, Heidelberg & Ickleheimer & Company.

OPINION AT CHICAGO. Chicago, Sept. 29.—Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company

ANOTHER TOBACCO FUND

The appeal being made by The Chronicle for tobacco and cigarettes for the Quebec boys at the front is already meeting with generous responses from a number of citizens. Although the second Chronicle Tobacco Fund has only been opened a few days ago the sum of $62.00 has been subscribed, and to judge from the favorable comment heard on all sides the fund will swell rapidly.

Table listing subscribers and amounts: J. M. McCarthy $10.00, Miss K. Raymond 2.00, Archie Mitchell 1.00, R. Meredith 2.00, Miss Holloway 2.00, Miss A. Levesque 1.00, H. L. Stevely 2.00, G. J. Staton 2.00, G. G. Stuart 25.00, G. F. Gibsons 10.00, Dudley F. Gilmour 5.00. Total $62.00

HEAVY TRADING IN WAR SHARES

ANOTHER HYSTERICAL OUTBURST FEATURES ACTIVITY IN WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 29.—Another hysterical outburst of trading in specialties, especially war shares featured today's active session on the Stock Exchange. Dealings in the first hour approached the big total of 450,000 shares, and for the entire session the turnover aggregated almost 1,600,000, making it the third consecutive session in which transactions passed the 1,500,000 mark.

Today's rising movement, which lost much ground in the later dealings, gathered fresh momentum from the overnight announcement that the essential details of the Anglo-French loan had been agreed to by the high contracting parties. Inasmuch as it is generally believed that the loan will be carried to a successful conclusion, manipulation of the specialties was resumed.

From the outset, however, it was plainly seen that buying orders were being matched by heavy selling. In fact, stocks were so liberally supplied as the session progressed that prices gradually fell away. In the final hour offerings assumed larger dimensions and specialties declined precipitately, some of the larger gains being reduced by one half or two thirds, while some others were altogether obliterated.

For a time there was a fair demand for railways and other investments; stocks, but these also felt the force of the late impact and yielded in common with more mercurial issues. The bond market also was very active, but in that class of securities the movement was irregular throughout. Students of investment conditions are of the opinion that the forthcoming issue of Anglo-French notes is likely to give a further setback to bonds as a whole.

UNSATISFACTORY CANDIDATES AND PRACTICE OF MEDICINE

Toronto, Sept. 29.—The first definite step in the direction of dealing with unsatisfactory candidates surrounding the practice of medicine in Ontario and of establishing the status in law of osteopaths, chiropractors, optician and other bodies not now recognized by the College of Physicians and Surgeons was taken up by the Ontario Government today. The government appointed Hon. Frank Hodgins, Justice of the Ontario Supreme Court, as a commissioner with wide authority to inquire into all matters connected with the practice of medicine in the province.

FULL COMPANY FOR 70TH BATTALION RAISED

St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 29.—The full company of 250 men asked of Elgin County for the 70th Overseas Battalion has been raised, and recruiting will be continued in the hope of raising another complete company from this county. Twenty-five men have already been recruited for the new detachment.

and the four members of the Anglo-French credit loan commission who came here yesterday to confer with Chicago bankers, completed their work today and returned to New York.

Mr. Lamont continued his conferences with bond dealers and before leaving declared that all of his visitors had expressed themselves as appreciating the objects of the loan. He predicted that the $500,000,000 in bonds would be absorbed by the public much more quickly than was generally thought.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, said that the attitude of the local banks would be known finally after their directors had met. John J. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, predicted that the banks of Chicago would not subscribe to any extent, but he thought that individuals would be heavy purchasers.

HURRICANE SWEEPS ALABAMA TOWNS

AT LEAST TWO LINES IN ONE SECTION—SIX FEET OF WATER IN BILOXI.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 29.—New Orleans and the Mississippi gulf coast tonight were swept by a tropical hurricane that demoralized communication and led to fears of heavy loss of life and property. The Mississippi river levees below New Orleans have broken, houses have been washed away, and at least two lives have been lost in that section, according to a wireless message late today from the Morgan Liner Creole, upward bound from New Orleans.

The business section of Biloxi, Miss., is under six feet of water, and train service has been abandoned because of washouts throughout a large section about Bay St. Louis.

Last reports coming from New Orleans before all means of communication were lost said the city was in darkness because of the flooding of electric plants. Wind had driven the water in Lake Pontchartrain above the sea wall, and Milenbourg and other New Orleans suburbs along the lake were partially under water.

The Creole, in a brief message received here early tonight, said she was encountering a storm of such fury that it was doubtful whether her wireless apparatus would long remain intact. The vessel reported sighting two bodies near the sector, where the levees had given way. Aside from the fact that some houses had been demolished by the flood waters the Creole's message gave no details.

Wireless communication with New Orleans ceased before noon today, and continued inability to re-establish communication with the powerful United Fruit station there led to fears that it might have suffered some damage from wind. The wind reached a velocity of ninety miles an hour at New Orleans and Bay St. Louis at 6 o'clock tonight, according to reports reaching here.

Storm Hits Louisiana.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 29, via wireless steamships Excelsior and Creole to Mobile, La.—Five persons are known to be dead and many injured and property loss reaching into the millions has been caused tonight by the most severe gulf storm in the history of the city.

A gale with a velocity of eighty-six miles an hour swept the city at 5 o'clock tonight, demolishing scores of buildings, stripping the roofs from hundreds of other structures and strewn the streets with broken glass and debris.

St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 29.—J. C. Fisher, of the legal department of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, and a native of Dundas, Ont., has been appointed Michigan Central Railroad at this point.

HON. T. C. CASGRAIN SPEAKS AT CLUB CARTIER OPENING

POSTMASTER-GENERAL OPENS CONSERVATIVE CLUB'S NEW HOME ON CHENIER STREET.

The inauguration of the Cartier Club's new quarters on Chenier street took place last evening under most auspicious circumstances.

Hon. T. Chase Casgrain was the principal speaker of the meeting and his remarks evoked unbounded enthusiasm amongst the five hundred odd who managed to gain entrance to the building which was packed to the doors.

Dr. Arthur Leclerc, President of the Cartier Club, welcomed the Postmaster-General on behalf of the members of the Club and adherents of the Conservative Party and eulogized Mr. Casgrain for the manifold qualities he possessed, which not only endeared him to his own supporters but also to men of opposite politics who could not fail to recognize in him the champion of upright politics and the progress of Quebec city, Province and the Dominion at large.

Hon. Mr. Casgrain was vociferously cheered on rising to reply and was evidently touched by the demonstration on his behalf.

He spoke principally on the war and repeated much which he said at St. Jean Port Joli concerning the duty of Canada in the present crisis.

He laid stress on the fact that this was Canada's war as well as that of the British Empire and that defeat for Britain meant defeat for the Dominion. "French-Canada has done its duty and will continue to do so" stated the Postmaster-General.

The Minister easily disposed of the alleged scandals which had been charged against the Conservative Party since the outbreak of the war.

He admitted that some mistakes had been made at first and even probably a little carelessness might have been evident. But these were surely excusable for the reason that it had been necessary to organize the first Canadian contingent so expeditiously. The Government, however, now had the situation well in hand for Premier Borden was jealous of its fair fame and would have none but honest men around him.

For instance had he not closed the doors of Ottawa to two of his followers Messrs. Garland and Foster? These men had been summarily read out of the party and those that chose to follow their example would assuredly share the same fate.

Mr. Casgrain pointed out that it was not only in Canada that there had been talk of scandals. In France there had been the Cailloux case and others. England too, had suffered and Germany too, perhaps, if the truth were known. History abounded in war scandals but in Canada's case steps were immediately taken by Premier Borden to stamp out this evil and the guilty ones would be punished severely.

Mr. Casgrain also referred to the fact that despite the expressions of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other Liberal chiefs that a political truce should be declared during these stirring times, certain petty envoys, with absolute disregard of their leaders' pledges, were breaking the truce right and left and were attacking the Conservative Party in a most treacherous and disloyal manner because the Government was doing its duty and recognizing its obligations towards England, France and Canada itself.

The Postmaster-General, in conclusion, expressed confidence in the future and looked forward to the ultimate victory of the Allied armies of France, England and Russia together with the other nations which had answered the call to arms against German aggression.

Hon. Mr. Casgrain was cheered to echo on the conclusion of his stirring discourse and spent some time reviewing old acquaintances before leaving for the home of Dr. A. Leclerc, with whom he spent some time before his departure from the city.

$5,000 FIRE IN ONTARIO.

Chatham, Ont., Sept. 29.—Fire of unknown origin this morning destroyed a fine large barn on the farm of John Lewis, near Kent bridge, involving a loss of some $5,000. One thousand bushels of wheat but recently threshed, together with a team of horses worth $500 fell prey to the flames.

EXPLOSION IN RUSSIAN FACTORY

Stockholm, via London, Sept. 29.—11:25 p.m.—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter, on the authority of a business man who has just returned from Germany, says that a great explosion occurred in an ammunition factory at Wittberg, Prussia, on Aug. 23. Two hundred and forty-two workmen were killed and many injured.

RECRUITING AGENTS ARE OVER ZEALOUS

BRITISH GOVT. DOES NOT FAVOR SOME FORMS OF ENLISTMENT.

London, Sept. 29.—4:05 p.m.—There have been so many cases of zealous recruiting sergeants inducing American members of the crews of cattle boats and other craft to join the British army that Robert P. Skinner, the American Consul-General, has effected arrangements with the Board of Trade, by which such men who repent of their enlistment shall be promptly released. The American Embassy of late has turned all cases of the sort over to Consul-General Skinner, who now has a number of them under consideration.

The facts in all the cases are strikingly similar. Men arriving in England are met on board ship by recruiting agents. The British government does not favor the practise and is doing all it can to break it up.

N. T. R. TARIFF IS DISCUSSED

MEETING AT THE CITY HALL CONCERNING THE ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION.

The President and members of the Quebec Board of Trade and the members of the Civic Road Committee held a meeting at the City Hall last night for the purpose of considering an amendment to a resolution proposed by Ald. Lavigneur in the Council recently relative to the tariff of the Transcontinental Railway, which it is alleged discriminates against Quebec.

Several of the large number present gave their views on the matter following which the meeting decided to charge Ald. Lavigneur and Ald. Roy with the preparation of a resolution in the same strain as that placed on the table by Mr. W. H. Wiggs at the recent Quebec Board of Trade meeting.

Among those attending last evening's session were Mr. Joseph Picard, President of the Quebec Board of Trade; Mr. J. G. Scott, Vice-President; Messrs. O. W. Bedford, M. Auger, W. H. Wiggs, T. Levesque, A. J. Gorrie, Superintendent of the Transcontinental Railway; Mayor Antonic Mayor of Amos and President of the Board of Trade of that town; His Worship Mayor Drouin and a number of aldermen attended.

The meeting was presided over by Ald. Lavigneur, chairman of the Road Committee. Mr. Picard gave an outline of the existing freight and passenger tariff on the new railway, which despite the shorter route from Quebec to Cochrane as compared with Montreal to Cochrane, a higher rate was charged on the Quebec-Cochrane direct line.

Ald. Roy stated that the question to decide was whether or not Quebec was entitled to a preferential rate in proportion to the mileage or merely a tariff on the same basis as Montreal. In his opinion it would be difficult for this city to succeed in having a more preferable rate than Montreal as it would probably discriminate against other railway companies.

Ald. Cannon, Mr. Wiggs, Ald. Verret and Mr. Antonic gave their views on the question before the meeting reached the decision.

PROCLAMATION.

Prefect of Moscow Does Not Want Repetition of Regrettable Incidents.

Petrograd, via London, Sept. 29.—9:15 p.m.—A proclamation issued by the Prefect of Moscow exhorts the inhabitants of that city to avoid a repetition of the regrettable incidents of the last two days when five persons were killed and a number slightly wounded as a result of unwarranted interference with the police.

The Prefect also requests the people not to gather in crowds, saying that ruffians await opportunities to begin disorders whenever people assemble, however small the desired effect.

It is universally admitted that the disorders began without the police in anywise being to blame and also that there was no political design connected with them.

FRENCH TROOPS SWARMED INTO GERMAN TRENCHES

Artillery had Prepared the Way and the Attack was Most Successful.

HUMAN WAVE ADVANCED

In Several Minutes the German Trenches Were Reached and Defenders Beaten.

Paris, Sept. 30.—2:20 a.m.—A simultaneous movement of the French on a front of more than fifteen miles after a bombardment for three days of prepared German positions which were protected by dense networks of barbed wire; the use of the most recent creations of French artillery and the shelling with long range cannon of roads, railroads and railroad stations while smaller guns swept the entire first line of Germans, were among the elements which brought success to the recent Allied offensive movement in France, according to the Havas Agency, which has received from a correspondent an authorized account of the battle in Champagne.

"The first position which formed the principal line of resistance," says the correspondent, "comprised from two to five trenches arranged in Echelons, with a complete accessory of defenses, including an impenetrable network of barbed wire, under ground hollows as a protection against bombardment and small forts garnished with quick-firers. Further and further there was a system of trenches which formed a veritable labyrinth.

"The German General Staff had the foresight to arrange their second line of resistance on the heights dominating to the south of the valley of the Py. The position had been organized with care. Between the two positions, separated by a distance of from two to two and a-half miles, all the cuttings in the ground had been prepared with a view to defense inch by inch.

"Communication trenches, uniting the two lines and protected by accessory defenses permitted the dividing of the ground in case part of the first line yielded.

"For three days our batteries bombarded the German positions. We made use of the most recent artillery and were able after an examination of the conquered trenches to witness its dreadful effect. At certain points the leveling of the trenches was complete. The protecting caves were filled. As to the network of barbed wire—it was torn up everywhere or destroyed.

"Our fire covered the entire length of the first position, and with long range cannon bombarding routes and railroads certain German units found their supplies cut off and remained 48 hours without provisions.

"The moral effect was no less powerful. Even the interruption of the bombardment increased the nervousness of our adversary who uselessly began a concentrated artillery and musket fire.

"The clear sky of September 22nd and 23rd, permitted of the precise regulation of observation on the land and in the air. On the morning of September 25th, the grey clouds were very low. At nine a.m. rain began to fall and at 9.15 o'clock the attack was ordered.

"This human wave which on a front of more than fifteen miles, at the same moment and with the same dash burst upon and covered the enemy's trenches, comprised Frenchmen from all parts of France and her colonies.

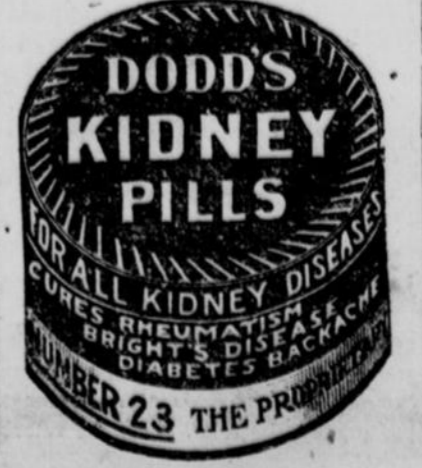

"In several minutes our men, at the cost of small losses—small nearly everywhere—jumped into the German trenches and mastered their defenders and continued their course forward with audaciousness, despite the soggy ground, despite the resistance of the enemy who rapidly with their reserves arranged intermediary positions or, who under the support of perpendicular communicating trenches directed a fire from machine guns and infantry on the flanks of our troops during their forward movement.

"At three points the advance was particularly rapid. Near Souain we directed three divergent attacks and captured several works and entrenchments called von Kluck and von Tirpitz. Then we penetrated trench William II.

"To the east the African troops in a single bound, crossed the German lines and fought in the wood in the direction of the Souain-Tahure road, where they captured the field railroad camps and depots.

"To the right other contingents in eighteen minutes captured an enemy salient called 'the pocket.' Further fighting and noon found them passing the Souain-Tahure road and attaining the slopes of Hill 193.

"North of Beaucourt while the German resistance was being maintained on the heights of La Butte de Mesnil, we had taken on the vast glacis in the wooded region in Fer de Lance and Demi Lune an entire fortified system comprising no less than five successive lines 400 meters (about 1,200 feet) in extent. This gain permitted us to push on along the road from Perthes to Cernay as far as the Maison de Champagne.

CANADIAN ANNUAL REVIEW.

The Canadian Annual Review of Public Affairs, published by the Annual Review Publishing Company, Limited, edited and compiled by J. Castell Hopkins, F.S.S., F.R.G.S.

The well-known Canadian author, lecturer and essayist, Mr. J. Castell Hopkins, has certainly spared no pains in making the fourteenth issue of this work one of the most educationally interesting of the whole series. The first three hundred and fifty pages of its eight hundred and fifty pages are taken up with a record of the European War now raging, its causes and events; and, when that record comes to be amplified by the future historian, it will be difficult for any one to claim that it is in any way more lucid or truth-compelling than the one which has just been issued from the press by Mr. Castell Hopkins. The pages which refer to the "Coming of the War," form a masterpiece of conciseness. The style of the author brings out in striking relief, the narratives we have been coming for the last twelve months or more from every literary source; and the verdict cannot be that Mr. Castell Hopkins has placed before the readers of his Review a literary setting of the situation that may be relied upon. When dealing with the half-hidden influences that led up to the outbreak of the war—the ambitions and policy of the various countries now involved in it—his analysis of this ethical force and that self-interest is made neither too much of nor too little of. And even when tracing the pre-justifications of war by the German leaders of German thought, the reviewer indulges in no diatribe, but judicially places the views indulged in by the misguided wisacres, leaving the condemnation of their "bad logic" to the reader. Indeed the story of the causes and international influences that led up to the war, as embodied in Mr. Castell Hopkins' historical essay, is sure to be highly spoken of in every part of the Empire.

The details of this last issued volume of the Review include as usual a review of what has been happening in Canada and its several provinces during the last year; the whole forming a splendid contribution for Canadians and the world at large to read, as to the status Canada is aiming at attaining to, as one of the Dominions of the British Empire. The volume has for a frontispiece the picture of Sir Edward Grey followed by another of Sir Sam Hughes. The other illustrations are appropriate to the letter press; and altogether the volume is one which would adorn any library; while supplying a ready reference book to every student of current history.

FIGHTING IN FRANCE.

When the German drive in Russia was at its height, someone pointed out to General Joffre that, as soon as the Germans had completed their work in that direction, they would turn to the west. He said: "Let them come. We will start before they do." He has been as good as his word.

The advances made by the British and French on the western front have been well maintained, and even increased. All counter-offensives, including those of the Crown Prince, have been repelled. As might have been expected, the men of the German armies, brutally treated by their officers, seem only too glad to be taken prisoner. To make any stand at all, Germany must send her best troops, now in Russia, to the west—that is, those not of her landwehr and landsturm, but of her regular standing army, trained to the highest point of efficiency. But how can she put these in all directions at once?

BULGARIA.

A writer in the World's Work likens Bulgaria's position to that of Germany's, in that it has reasons to hate every other nation. He points out that traditionally Russia, which won partial independence for it in 1878, is its friend. Without Russia, indeed, there would have been no Bulgaria at all. But Bulgaria's act in proclaiming its independence in 1908, and apparently joining Austria in defying the Treaty of Berlin, rather dampened its historic friendship.

Russia also, Bulgaria believes, betrayed it in 1913, and permitted other Balkan states to reap most of the fruits of the Balkan wars. Austria, although there was a brief rapprochement in 1908, is now numbered among Bulgaria's foes. Austria, according to general belief, really inspired Bulgaria to make its sudden attack upon the Balkan allies, promising military assistance if required; the Austrian failure to fulfil this engagement left the devoted country a helpless prey to a ring of enemies.

Similarly, Bulgaria hates both Britain and France for their failure to come diplomatically to its rescue in 1913. Turkey, of course, is the particular foe, and Germany, as Turkey's ally, and the nation which spent many years building up a Turkish navy, arouses little affection. Bulgaria hates its Balkan neighbors even more than the great powers—Roumania as the country that attacked it in its afflictions and appropriated part of one of its provinces; Greece and Serbia, as the nations which seized Macedonia, the great Bulgarian land to the west. Bulgaria's entrance into the war is predicted upon self-interest, not any sentiment or enthusiasm.

Greece, like Roumania, has traditional friends. And, like Roumania's they are England, France and Russia. It has not yet forgotten that the fleets of these three powers destroyed Turkish sea power at the battle of Navarino in 1827, and so gave Greece its independence. Gladstone's act in giving Greece the Ionian Islands still stands as an evidence of British disinterestedness and magnanimity. In more recent years Greece has the same reasons for liking these three great powers that Bulgaria has for distrusting them; that is the liberal treatment it received at the treaty of Bucharest.

King Constantine, however, is the Kaiser's brother-in-law, a fact that seems to have had considerable influence in keeping Greece out of the struggle so far; but outside of the royal palace there is no liking for the Hohenzollerns. For Austria, the nation which, as presiding genius of the Congress of Vienna in 1815, ignored all Greek appeals and turned it over to the mercies of Turkey, and which has steadily blocked all Greek aspirations since, the Hellenic kingdom nourishes an abiding almost Oriental dislike.

PRESS COMMENT.

Theodore Roosevelt is likely to be a candidate for the Presidency of the United States next year. He wanted the Republican nomination in 1912, and it was because he did not get it that he started the Progressive party. Apparently it is the Republican nomination he wants again. If he gets it the Progressive party will be absorbed by the Republican. If he does not, he will play the Bull Moose role a second time. A Washington dispatch says: "While the colonel is having a busy time hunting up in Canada, his lieutenants have perfected arrangements to place his name on the Republican ballots in nearly every State possessing the direct primary system. Minnesota, Montana, Washington, Indiana and New Hampshire have already been heard from. The significance of this lies in the fact that Minnesota, Indiana and New Hampshire are the first three States to hold a presidential primary next year, and if Roosevelt should get the jump on the regular Republican aspirants in those States, he would become a factor in the pre-convention campaign, and possibly such a factor that his nomination either would be forced or the battle of 1912 repeated."

At the outset of the European war, Colonel Roosevelt said most emphatically that the United States was as much concerned as any other nation in defending the neutrality of Belgium, and that she should at least have protested against its violation. If she did not actually go to war in its defense. He has kept up this line of expression ever since. In the October number of the Metropolitan Magazine he has a characteristic article, denouncing pacifists, hyphenated Americans and all else who seek to turn the United States aside from the plain path of duty. "The beef baron," he says, "or the representative of the cotton interests who wishes to ignore the butchery of our women and children and the sinking of our ships by German submarines, and to take sides against the Allies so that he may make money by the sale of cotton and beef, is faithless to every consideration of honor and decency. It is entirely fitting that the sheer materialist should in such an issue stand shoulder to shoulder with the professional pacifists, the peace-at-any-price man, and with his sinister brother, the hyphenated American. As for the hyphenated American, he endeavors to serve his fatherland without exposing his own wretched carcass to the danger which would come to him if he served in the trenches beside his fellow-countrymen who have stayed at home—and who at least pretend to no divided allegiance." Regarding the invasion of Belgium, he says: "If no duty had been expressly imposed on the United States in this matter, we ought nevertheless to have acted in accordance with the generous instincts of humanity. But as a matter of fact, such a duty was expressly imposed on us by The Hague conventions." He proceeds at some length to prove this point. Then he returns to his condemnation of the Americans who fail to see, or to measure up to, their duty, showing not only how shameful is their course, but how it imperils their own country, which would be the next mark for German aggression, regardless of the Monroe doctrine. He says: "A representative of a great American arms factory informed me recently that they had been about to abandon their work prior to the beginning of this war, because the Germans systematically endeavored to undersell them in every country. It has been the settled policy of Germany to drive all other countries out of the business of manufacturing arms and supplies, because, of course, if this were once substantially accomplished, the rest of the world would be completely helpless before Germany; and Germany has made it evident that she knows no such thing as international morality, and looks upon all other nations, including the United States, merely as possible prey. In short, Germany has thriven enormously on the sale of arms to belligerents when she was a neutral; she insisted that such sale be sanctioned by The Hague conventions; she, so far as possible, desires to prevent other nations from manufacturing arms, and if she is successful in this effort, she will have taken another stride to world domination." If the United States cannot fight for Belgium, she can at least help to equip the allies. Here is what the colonel thinks of those who would fetter her in this respect: "The professional pacifists, hyphenated Americans, and beef and cotton Americans, in short, all the representatives of American molly-coddleism, American greed, and downright treachery to America, in seeking to prevent shipments of munitions to the allies, are playing the game of a brutal militarism against Belgium and against their own country." The German element in the United States is largely Republican in politics, but that does not prevent Colonel Roosevelt from saying exactly what he thinks. Probably he knows—as most well-informed people know—that the bulk of the Germans in America are not German-Americans, but Americans, that the best of them are in sympathy with the allies rather than with the Prussian militarism which they came to America to escape. However this may be, there is one man in the United States who cannot be muzzled by considerations of expediency, even as a Presidential candidate. Perhaps that is precisely why he is so strong. The American people admire a real man.—Hamilton Spectator.

Successor to THOS. DONOHUE
18 and 184 ST. JOHN STREET

STREET CAR RUNS DOWN EMBANKMENT

BRIDGE OPEN AT VICTORIA PARK—TRAM PLUNGES INTO THE RIVER.

One of the street cars on the service between Stadacona and Victoria Bridge plucked over the embankment on the west side of the bridge about ten o'clock last night and only the fact that it struck against the pier and the bridge which was just closing at the time prevented the car and its occupants from being hurled headlong into the St. Charles River.

The car, which was returning from Stadacona had some eleven passengers of whom eight were women and three men, besides the conductor and motorman. As the bridge, spanning the St. Charles River was approached, the motorman either did not see that the bridge was open until too close to stop or else lost his head and drove the car headlong into the space. Fortunately when the car toppled down the embankment the front wheels caught in the wooden pier while the upper portion strung against the bridge which was swinging closed at the time. The passengers were hurled with force to the front of the car and were all rather severely shaken up, but none of them was seriously injured.

Much excitement attended the accident and the screams of the women passengers attracted a large crowd. Some of the passengers got out through the windows and climbed up the bank while others were assisted to safety on ladders which were lowered from the top. A couple of young men Rosario Racine and Louis Lamontagne assisting in the rescue work.

The most seriously injured was Mrs. Bouchard who was taken to her home at the Canada Hotel on Anderson street, where she was given medical attendance by Dr. Samson. She is suffering from shock and bruises which she received. Mrs. Bouchard was sitting in the front of the car and when it plunged down the bank the other occupants were hurled down upon her so that she was considerably trampled before she was rescued.

As a result of the accident the service to Stadacona was held up as it was impossible to close the bridge due to the position of the car.

ONE AMATEUR ACT IS SPECIAL NOVELTY
Tomorrow's Contest at the Auditorium Bids Fair to be Best Performance of the Kind Yet Offered.

A special amateur act is booked for tomorrow's contest at the Auditorium and that act alone, we can say, will be worth more than the price of admission, for it is unique in Quebec and the two persons that present this special turn would certainly give a very good vaudeville act if they only wished.

With this novelty in amateurism there will be on the bill several other acts of different kinds that will also appeal to the audience's good taste or hilarious dispositions.

The performance will commence at 7.30 by the moving pictures that will be followed by the regular five acts of vaudeville are the amateurs will come next.

The price will remain the same as for the vaudeville performances.

GRANDE ALLEE GARDENS.
Classical Dancing the Strong Feature in "The Last Dance" Fritzi Scheff Friday and Saturday.

"The Last Dance" which will be again shown this evening is equally as good if not superior to any picture yet shown the dancing alone is well worth the price of admission, although the story and photoplay cannot be surpassed those desiring to see a real good picture should be on hand today. Friday and Saturday we offer "Pretty M.S. Smith", starring Fritzi Scheff, is a charming society comedy-drama written by Messrs. Oliver Morosco and Elmer Harris. The play has been gorgeously staged to mark the debut into photoplay work of this illustrious star, and also the initial production of The Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company.

No expense has been spared to make this a memorable picture, and particular attention is directed to some of the scenes, which are in every way realistic. The trip to Africa, the ocean liner, docks, ocean views, dancing parties on board ship, and some exquisite scenes are in this picture. Miss Scheff worked for days at a fashionable country club, getting interior and porch views, and some excellent pictures on the golf links. The scenes of "Pretty Mrs. Smith" in a hotel seeking repose, were made in the magnificent Hotel Alexandria. Throughout the play Miss Scheff exhibits a wonderful array of artistic costumes, specially designed for this role and a crystal robe worn in a fire-side scene will attract no end of attention and admiration. The beach scenes and the views on the lake add a touch of summer life which will be welcomed.

CAFE CHANTANT WAS A SUCCESS

PLEASANT FUNCTION AT THE CHATEAU UNDER AUSPICES OF S. P. C. A.

The women's branch of the S. P. C. A., are to be congratulated for the unqualified success of the Cafe Chantant event held in the Chateau Frontenac yesterday afternoon in aid of the Army Veterinary Corps.

A large and fashionable attendance availed themselves of the pleasant afternoon tea and select program of music provided and thoroughly enjoyed the function.

The magnificent orchestra of the Chateau Frontenac discoursed choice music while three well-known artists lent their talents to the affair, their numbers evoking unbounded enthusiasm.

Mrs. R. Goodday, whose reputation as a violinist is widely known, entertained those present with some beautiful selections rendered in her usual expressive manner and received unstinted applause for the rapturous melody she so ably defined.

Miss Porteous, of Edinburgh, Scotland, a most pleasing contralto, charmed her audience with a couple of beautiful ballads, while Mr. A. J. Carpenter, Quebec's well-known singer added his share of the vocal program in a manner which earned him hearty recognition.

Candy was sold during the afternoon, and the affair was regarded as a great success, both socially and financially.

The ladies who are responsible for the organization of the vent are:—Mesdames J. T. Ross, Burstall, Tessier, M. Joseph, Boswell, Doucet, Price, Beckett, Scott, Goodday, and Barclay. Misses Burstall, Penney, Sheehan, Marois and Miss Gale, the energetic secretary of the Woman's Branch.

DEATH OF ALDERMAN J. N. BEAUMONT.

Quebec has lost one of its prominent and progressive citizens in the person of Mr. J. N. Beaumont, Treasurer of the Dominion Fish and Fruit Company, and member of the City Council for St. Peter's Ward, who passed away at his residence, 854 St. Valier street, at noon yesterday, after an illness of several months' duration.

The late Ald. Beaumont, who was only 39 years old, had been in indifferent health for upwards of a year, but had only been confined to his home for the past two months. Early last spring he took a trip to Florida in the interests of his health, and seemed to be much improved on his return. He had a relapse, however, and sank gradually until the end came peacefully yesterday.

A self-made-man in the fullest sense of the term, the deceased had worked his way up from an humble beginning to one of the most important in the commercial life of Quebec, and was widely esteemed and admired for his kind, genial disposition and his absolute honesty in all his dealings. As an alderman, the deceased had represented St. Peter's Ward in the City Council during three consecutive terms and always worked conscientiously in the best interests of his city. Out of respect to his memory the flag was flying at half mast at the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

Keen regret will be felt throughout the whole community at the death of the deceased and much sympathy will be extended to his sorrowing widow and five children in their sore affliction.

VEN. ARCHDEACON DEAD

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 29.—Venerable Archdeacon William Yate Daykin is dead at his home here, aged 83 years. In 1875 he was made Archdeacon of Durban, South Africa, but, being stricken down with fever in 1877, he came to Canada, and from 1884 until 1905 served in various parishes in Ontario dioceses.

HALL CAINES' "ETERNAL CITY" BANNED.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—Hall Caines' "Eternal City" has been banned from reproduction in the moving picture houses in Montreal by the provincial board of moving picture censors on the ground that the theme would offend the religious convictions of the majority of the patrons of moving picture shows in this city. Sheriff Lemieux, chairman of the board, made this announcement this evening.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—The Mail and Empire tomorrow will say: Provincial License Board, it is understood, put the finishing touches upon its recommendation to the government covering the reduction of the hours of sale in the hotels of the provinces, and the matter now awaits the approval of the Lieut-Governor in council, which will probably be given today.

The regulation drafted by the board, it is understood, provides for the closing of all hotels in the province at 7 o'clock, whether in military districts or not. It will probably be made effective shortly before the soldiers go into winter camp.

Thin Men and Women DO YOU WANT TO GET FAT AND BE STRONG?

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract properly assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known as Sargol, which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This preparation is called Sargol and much remarkable testimony is given as to its successful use in flesh building. Sargol, which comes in the form of a small non-injurious tablet, taken at meals and mixing with the digesting food, tends to prepare its fat, flesh and muscle building elements so that the blood can readily accept and carry them to the starved portions of the body. You can readily picture the transformation that additional and previously lacking flesh-making material should bring with your cheeks filling out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappearing and your taking on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid healthy flesh. Sargol is harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of this vicinity have it and are authorized to refund your money if weight increase is not obtained as per the guarantee found in each large package.

NOTE:—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc. have been reported care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

HELPING RECRUITING. St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 28.—Following yesterday's announcement from the local Michigan Central Railroad office stating that all employees of the Canadian division of the road joining the colors would be given their old positions back on their return, circular letters were issued from the Pere Marquette Wabash and Grand Trunk offices today to the same effect.

ALEXANDER HELD BRAVES TO ONE HIT AND EX-WORLD'S CHAMPS ARE OUT.

Boston, Sept. 29.—The Philadelphia Nationals won the championship for 1915, with Alexander pitching a one-hit game against the pennant holding Braves. The score was 5 to 0. The defeat of the Braves makes it possible for the league leaders to lose all their remaining games and still have a clear title to first place.

Among the spectators of the game were some of the Boston American players, the probable competitors of Philadelphia in the world series. Manager Bill Carrigan, of the Red Sox watched the play carefully. "It seems to be a well rounded combination, but I'm sure we can beat them," he remarked during the game.

It was "Patsy Moran Day" at the Braves Field, and several thousands turned out especially to honor the visiting manager. Most of them came from Fitchburg, his home town. Among them was David I. Walsh, Governor of the State, who presented Moran with a great floral horseshoe. The score: R. H. E. Philadelphia . . . 300 100 100—5 10 1 Boston . . . 000 000 000—9 1 2 Batteries: Alexander and Burns; Rudolph and Gowdy.

CRAWFORD'S BAT KEPT DETROIT IN THE RACE.

Detroit, Sept. 29.—Crawford's double to the rightfield fence in the 9th, scoring Cobb and Veach, gave Detroit a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis here today. Had the Tigers lost the game, the American League pennant would have been clinched by Boston. The teams play here tomorrow to decide another postponed game. The score: R. H. E. St. Louis . . . 000 110 000—2 5 5 Detroit . . . 000 010 002—3 8 2 Batteries: Hamilton and Agnew; Lowdermilk, Oldham, Boland and Stange.

LORE BEAT K. O. BROWN. Montreal, Sept. 29.—Johnny Lore, local lightweight, in a ten round bout with "Knockout" Brown, lightweight from New York, before the Canadian Athletic Club, in the East St. Catharines street Gymnasium tonight, earned a decisive victory over Brown, whom Lore outpointed in every round. "A wind-up, he had Brown hanging into the ropes as the gong rang.

Sporting Notes

Well! the league didn't take kindly to our suggestion and as a result St. Patrick's and Laval will meet in Sunday's game and the following Sunday, Patricia vs. St. Patrick's and Emmets vs. Laval will be the attractions. In case of a tie the saw-off game will be played October 17th.

A record meeting was held only a half hour's deliberation decided the issue. The customary mid-night session did not occur.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—Tommy Buck defeated Knock-out Eggers, of New York, here last night, closed his left eye and did not get a mark.—Montreal Star.

The above despatch appeared in the Montreal Star of Tuesday's issue. We don't know who sent this misleading intelligence but evidently Johnny Eggers is losing lots of his battles in foreign papers, though he can win in the ring.

All Quebec papers declared the bout a draw, therefore we cannot imagine any of their representatives as having sent the news. Then who sent it? Readers will remember that when Schiff left the ring before his scheduled bout with Eggers, he sent a wire to the Montreal Gazette announcing his victory over the New Yorker.

Surely Tommy Buck did not send out the story. We credit Tommy wit's being a better sport than that. An item from Johnny Schiff appears on the same page of the "Star". We do not wish to insinuate that Schiff sent the "dope" but this coincidence is rather significant to say the least.

Eggers seems to be the "butt" of these fake news stories and it is utterly unjust to him. He fights a goodly number of battles every time and has no remarks to make afterwards. Eggers is a boxer pure and simple and not a newspaper writer. There are men hired for press work. The boxers may box but the press men are supposed to write up the fights. Not the boxers who participate in the bouts.

Martin Kelly the speedy St. Patrick's sprinter will be a competitor in Saturday's sports. Johnny Evers will have to admit now that the Braves are out of it. The Phillies are "it". And most of the experts said they would crack in July. Popular Pastime, No. 222—Waiting for the world's series experts to express their views on the probable winner. (There'll be lots of dope).

ANCIENT WRITING.

The History of Man Began When an Alphabet Was Devised. Perhaps the most valuable invention after the making of languages was that of writing, says a writer in "Student's Investigations." Picture writing was the first used by primitive men such as was and still is used by the Indian tribes of the new world. The characters in this system of writing were pictures of objects very crude in art, as for instance the picture of the eye, to indicate the organ of sight, and then again symbols for ideas were drawn, such as a picture of an arc, representing the sky and wavy lines beneath, thus indicating rain. This system of representing ideas and objects, which is the most natural to man, is known as ideographic, and the signs are called ideograms.

When the picture writer used symbols to represent the sounds of the human voice—that is, words and not objects or ideas—he took a great step in perfecting the system of writing. When symbols are used to represent words the ideogram becomes a phonogram, and the writing is called phonetic or sound writing. The Babylonians and Assyrians used characters to represent the syllables instead of words, thus reducing the number of signs used in their writing to a few hundred. When characters or symbols are used to represent syllables they are called syllabic phonograms, and a collection of such signs is called syllabary.

But still the system was clumsy, and a final step was taken in the making of an alphabet, the symbols being used to represent elementary sounds of the human voice instead of syllables. The symbols then became true letters, a collection of which is called the alphabet, the writing alphabet. When and where the first alphabet was made is not known, but several Semitic tribes were in possession of an alphabet as early as the ninth century B. C. It may truthfully be said that the history of man begins here, for without an alphabet records, dates, names and events could not have been recorded and preserved for us.

No Porcupines There. The term "porcupine," applied to Ontario's famous mining district, suggests the presence of these animals, but none have ever been seen there. In fact, they rarely appear north of the main line of the C. P. R. In the river outlet of Porcupine Lake some poles have been carried by a freshet and lodged on a large round rock, the heavy ends in the water, the smaller ends pointing up above the bark, the whole having the semblance of a porcupine. This was noticed by a party of surveyors and gave the present name to the whole district.

EFFECTIVE WORK BY SOCIETY LADIES

FRENCH WOMEN'S AUTO CLUB RECEIVE ORDERS FROM THE MILITIA.

Paris Sept. 28—6.05 p.m.—Forty women of social distinction, who have been driving ambulances, have been doing their most effective work in recent days. They receive their orders from the military authorities each evening and are out at 6 o'clock every morning. They constitute "the women's automobile club for the transport of wounded."

This is the only organization of the kind, composed of women enrolled in the sanitary service of the army. The president of the club is Madame J. Pallier, who is also an aviator. The vice president is Madame Ferdinand Perier, of the family of the former French President, Jean Casimir-Perier. Among the members are Countess De Marschoff and other well known women of Paris. All furnish their own automobiles. They wear uniforms of dark blue, having a military cut. They are under military regulations and give the salute.

The women are not sent to the firing line, but use their automobiles to transfer soldiers from depots in the rear and, in quiet times, to take them from hospitals to convalescent homes.

CARGO OF NORWEGIAN STEAMER IN PRIZE COURT

London, Sept. 28—The cargo of packers' products on the Norwegian steamer Vitalia, from New York August 19 for Rotterdam, was thrown into prize court today, notwithstanding the fact that the goods were consigned to The Netherlands Overseas Trust. The British government contends that there were no fats and oils in the cargo which were not consigned to The Netherlands Trust.

CHARGE OF FALSE DECLARATION OF OFFICE

Tavistock, Ont., Sept. 28—William F. Appel, Reeve of Tavistock and editor of the Tavistock Gazette, was today summoned to appear in Police Court in Woodstock on Friday to face a charge of making false declarations of office. Reeve Appel, who is a native of Germany, denies the charge, which is laid by a member of the Town Council, and claims that he took the oath of allegiance years ago, although, through a technicality, documents of the proceedings never were made out.

GERMAN PRISONERS.

Three Hundred Are Landed At Southampton.

Southampton, Sept. 28—Three hundred men, the first detachment of the German prisoners captured by the British in the last battle on the western front, were landed here today. The majority of them are young men in good physical condition and well clothed, although much bedraggled and otherwise showing the effects of the severe ordeal which they had undergone.

FOREST IN NORTH IN FLAMES.

Report That Starvation is Confronting Indians.

Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 28—That general starvation is confronting pretty well the whole of the north amongst the Indians and that thousands of square miles of forest are in flames, is the report brought into the city today by William McKay, Dr. Stuart Reid, and Harry Polroyde, three members of the treaty party which left here on June 11th, and arrived back in the Prince Albert this morning. The party visited Isle a la Grosse, Lac la Loche, Stanley, Lac du Brochet.

SEEING THE WIND.

Easy to Watch the Air Currents Flow—ing Like a Waterfall.

It is said that any one may actually see the wind by means of a common handsaw. The experiment is simple enough to be worth trying at least. According to those who have made the experiment, all that is necessary is a handsaw and a good breeze.

On any blowy day hold the saw against the wind—that is, if the wind is in the north hold the saw with one end pointing east and the other west. Hold the saw with the teeth uppermost and tip it slowly toward the horizon until it is at an angle of about forty-five degrees.

By glancing along the edge of the teeth you can "see the wind." It will be pouring over the edge of the saw much after the manner that water pours over a waterfall. This is doubtless due to the fact that there are always fine particles of dust in the air, and in a strong breeze the wind forces against the slanting sides of the saw, slides up the surface and suddenly "pours over" when it reaches the top.

It is doubtless the tiny particles that make the air dust laden that can be seen falling over the edge of the saw as the wind, current drops, but it is about as near as any one can get to seeing the wind under normal conditions.—Washington Post.

Not Unmixed Disaster.

While the damage to the Ontario grain crop through the recent storms will be heavy, it will not be nearly so great as was at first surmised. It is probable that forty per cent. of the cut grain was already in the barns. Much of the balance is inferior in quality, but will not by any means be a total loss. The Ontario farmer does not put all his eggs into one basket, and a storm which would bankrupt the graingrowers of the West would only put a crimp into a portion of the Ontario farmers' prospects.

Right along the Department of Agriculture has been urging farmers to devote more attention to the raising of cattle, and there is no doubt that the recent storms, by reducing grain to such shape that it can only be used for cattle feeding, will give a decided impetus to that branch of farm activities in the province. With the present excellent market for meat this development may have a very important effect upon the character of Ontario farming generally.

CASCAPEDIA TOSSED ABOUT IN STORM

VESSELS ROUGH VOYAGE—CAPTAIN HAD TIP OF FINGER TAKEN OFF.

The steamer Cascapedia, Canada Steamship Lines arrived yesterday morning from Pictou, Natashquan and other points after one of the most exciting trips the vessel has probably ever had. During the severe storm of Sunday and Monday the steamer was tossed about in the Gulf like a match box with rain and sometimes snow beating against her deck.

Captain Hearn had the tip of one of his fingers taken off during the storm through the slamming of a door, but made no mention of this incident when speaking to a representative of the Chronicle yesterday morning. What he did say was his vessel encountered a strong south westerly wind almost during the entire voyage which increased to a gale around the gulf.

The Cascapedia carried 62 passengers besides general cargo, 200 tons of which, were discharged here. The vessel left for Montreal at 5.30 p. m. yesterday.

MANCHESTER CORPORATION IN PORT.

The S. S. Manchester Corporation, Manchester Line, steamer Foal from Manchester arrived in port at 6 o'clock last evening with a general cargo a portion of which is being discharged at the Louise Basin. After discharging, the vessel will take on a quantity of spool wood, asbestos, etc., before proceeding to Montreal.

MANCHESTER LINE.

S. S. Merchant from Montreal arrived at Manchester on September 28th 1915.

CAPTAIN SAW SHIPS SUNK.

German Fleet Chased S. S. South Pacific Until Falkland Island Vessels Intervened.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—Passing through the Straits of Magellan while the German fleet rounded the Horn, Captain F. S. Proctor, of the Pacific Shipping Company, Ltd., steamship South Pacific, new in this port as chief officer of the Anglo-Californian, unknowingly placed himself in the path of the Kaiser's vessels running northwards on their way to bombard the Falkland Islands. Captain Proctor thought that the last hour of his vessel had come as she could only develop nine knots an hour, while the men-of-war which had sunk the Good Hope and the Monmouth overhauled her rapidly. None of them fired a shot, as they intended to have a look over the cargo before sinking her.

Suddenly to the intense surprise of the captain of the South Pacific he received word from the merchant cruiser Otranto to clear out of the way as H. M. S. Inflexible and H. M. S. Invincible were about to engage the German vessels. He did as he was bid, and the quarry had the pleasure of seeing the chase shift from herself to her erstwhile hunters. Out from where they had hidden came the two great British ships, and engaged the German vessels from the moment that they had registered them. Captain Proctor saw some of the German boats go up in flame, steam and smoke. Even at the distance from which he viewed it the scene was one calculated to inspire terror. As for his own ship, the Otranto acted as escort for the next ten hours while the battle passed out of his view.

At the time of this exciting episode the South Pacific was taking a load of flour from Portland, Ore. to Capetown, S.A., and Port Elizabeth, Captain Proctor said last night that the Inflexible and Invincible had only arrived at the Falkland Islands on the day previous to the combat. If they had been a day and a half later the bombardment would have taken place, and the South Pacific have been at

34 SAVED TWO FINGERS

While at work in the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, J. V. Besnard, of 539 Craig Street E., Montreal, had his hand badly crushed by the falling of an iron beam. Two fingers, particularly, were so badly crushed that the doctors, who were called to attend him, said they must be amputated.

Mr. Besnard, however, had heard of the wonderful healing properties of Zam-Buk, and he refused to have the fingers taken off. Instead he had the fingers and the crushed hand dressed with Zam-Buk. This, he says, stopped the bleeding, eased the pain, and put the wounded members on the way to recovery. Every day he had the Zam-Buk dressing replaced, and by the time he had used eight boxes of Zam-Buk the fingers were completely healed, he could use them as before the injury, and his hand, too, was quite restored.

Just think what this really meant! Think what it means to go through the world with a maimed hand, and minus two fingers! Practically a cripple! Ordinary treatment would have meant just that to Mr. Besnard. The Zam-Buk saved him from it. By a trivial expenditure of $4 in Zam-Buk, the world's greatest balm, he saved himself from disablement for life!

Take the lesson to heart! If you have any injury, blood-poison or any diseased tissue, old wound or suppurating sore, apply Zam-Buk. Don't waste time! Zam-Buk builds up new tissue, heals wounds, cuts, burns and bruises, ends eczema and eruptions, heals cold cracks, cures piles, and is the most useful and most effective balm known to present-day science. All druggists and stores sell it at 50c a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful imitations and substitutes. Get the real thing and see the name on the box before purchasing. Imitations and substitutes of Zam-Buk would not have saved Mr. Besnard's fingers, and will not save yours!

COMMERCIAL NEWS
 NEW YORK MARKET.
 (Canadian Press).
 New York, Sept. 29.—Completion of the preliminaries connected with flotation of the Anglo-French loan was used as a lever for another extravagant movement in special stocks today, but gains were largely if not wholly obliterated before the close, the weight of realizing sales overcoming absorptive capacity. All records of recent years as to activity, breadth and extent were surpassed in the first half of the session, at which time quotations were at highest levels. Trading slackened later with the general recession of prices, but total transactions again approximated
 the large total of 1,575,000 shares.
 At various times it was evident that selling for profits was proceeding on an enlarged scale, while new buying seemed to be on a more cautious or tentative character. In the opinion of the onlookers, the movement consisted largely of secondary speculative buying and professional selling, supply giving way to demand at the end.
 There were indubitable signs also that the frenzied movement in the war shares had caused a further withdrawal of investors, pending some readjustments of the existing abnormal situation.
 A temporary rise of 1 to 2 points in railways and other issues which once ruled as speculative favorites was regarded as a cloak for liquidation in less stable quarters of the list.
 Specialties, especially those of the more direct war variety, derived some of today's added strength from the revival of rumors of new deals or mergers. Wall Street believes that some of the companies whose stocks are now in the forefront will figure in one or more industrial combinations, but details connected with these reported projects are being carefully withheld.
 Included among the specialties which broke all previous high records were Continental Can. up 1 1/2 at 111.
 Lackawanna Steel 13 at 93 1/2, Crucible
 Steel 8 1/2 at 109 1/2, Tennessee Copper 77-8 at 68, and American Car and Foundry 4 3/4 at 85. Some of these maximums were reduced by 8 to 9 points, while other active specialties closed at actual losses.
 Foreign exchange reflected by its strength the settlement of the international loan, but offerings of bills on London and Paris were relatively light.
 Bonds were irregular, with some selling of high grade issues in the later dealings.
 Total sales, par value, $6,750,000.

CLOSING LETTER.
 By private wire to Brunneau & Dupuis,

 A. A. GINGRAS, Manager.
 New York, Sept. 29.—The successful conclusion of the foreign loan has been the occasion of a good deal of profit taking in the market, as is often the case when something of this importance which has been pending is satisfactorily carried through.
 There is also perhaps in some minds the feeling that so large a financial operation may affect the money market. As the funds are to be disbursed in this country, however, it does not seem reasonable to expect any very important effect in this respect. Apart from all this the pace in the trading has been so hot of late that it is only natural to expect some reaction.
 The general list has shown only moderate concessions, a pronounced reaction occurring in only one or two of the more spectacular performers in recent markets.
 A reaction of this kind is more likely to bring in new buying than to cause any increasing pressure of liquidation.
 Total sales: Stocks 1,474,185 shares;
 Bonds, $6,592,000.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER
 McDougall & Cowans, Stock Brokers,
 No. 116 Mountain Hill, Quebec.
 *Phones 1402-1403.
 New York, Sept. 29.—The heavy distribution of stocks which began on the opening advance in the market,
 made its influence felt in the afternoon
 and prices reacted sharply in the late trading.
 On the decline support was rendered by the pools and other bull interests, and prices were not allowed to move off far enough to improve the markets technical position or make stocks look appreciably cheaper than they were before.
 The declines were heaviest in the stocks in which there has been recently violent advances, and the rails were notably firm, so that holders of them had no reason to feel nervous over
 the position.
 The Union Pacific statement for August was both in gross and net a little under the figures of a year ago.
 The annual report made its appearance in the course of the day, but
 the income had been published before,
 and therefore, it produced no effect on the market. The earnings on the stock for the year were little over 13 per cent.
 The steel trade news continues highly favorable with an increase in the domestic demands as the feature in the weeks developments.
 Optimistic reports in regard to the prospective demand for the Anglo-French loan are current but it may be that these are colored a little in order to influence favorable attention towards the bonds. A $500,000,000
 issue is very large, and as American investors are not familiar with issues
 of that kind, it is not improbable that a good part of the loan will remain
 with the banks for a considerable
 time to come.
 It is likely that much will be heard
 of new war orders in the near future,
 but as the market factor, the new contracts have already been discounted, and it is advisable to realize profits in those stocks.
 Sales, 1,670,000; bonds, 5,453.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER
 McDougall & Cowans, Stock Brokers,
 No. 116 Mountain Hill, Quebec.
 *Phones 1402-1403.
 New York, Sept. 29.—The heavy distribution of stocks which began on
 the opening advance in the market,
 made its influence felt in the afternoon
 and prices reacted sharply in the late
 trading.
 On the decline support was rendered
 by the pools and other bull interests, and prices were not allowed
 to move off far enough to improve
 the markets technical position or
 make stocks look appreciably cheaper
 than they were before.
 The declines were heaviest in the stocks in which there has been recently violent advances, and the rails were
 notably firm, so that holders of them
 had no reason to feel nervous over
 the position.
 The Union Pacific statement for August was both in gross and net a
 little under the figures of a year ago.
 The annual report made its appearance in the course of the day, but
 the income had been published before,
 and therefore, it produced no effect
 on the market. The earnings on the stock for the year were little over 13 per cent.
 The steel trade news continues highly favorable with an increase in the domestic demands as the feature in
 the weeks developments.
 Optimistic reports in regard to the
 prospective demand for the Anglo-
 French loan are current but it may be that these are colored a little in
 order to influence favorable attention
 towards the bonds. A $500,000,000
 issue is very large, and as American
 investors are not familiar with issues
 of that kind, it is not improbable that
 a good part of the loan will remain
 with the banks for a considerable
 time to come.
 It is likely that much will be heard
 of new war orders in the near future,
 but as the market factor, the new
 contracts have already been discounted, and it is advisable to realize profits in those stocks.
 Sales, 1,670,000; bonds, 5,453.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Electric Light on the Terrace.
We are so accustomed in these days to new inventions such as the aeroplane, the dirigible balloon, wireless telegraphy and the motor car, that we begin to look upon the electric light as a thing of ancient history. But it is just thirty years ago last night that the citizens of Quebec thronged the Dufferin Terrace in a dense mass to view the exhibition for the first time of the electric light on that popular promenade. Punctually at 8 o'clock His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor arrived upon the Terrace and was met by the President, Mr. Andrew Thomson, and the Directors of the Quebec and Levis Electric Light Co. His Honor was conveyed at once to one of the kiosks, and there, at the request of the President to touch the button which gave the signal for the officer in charge at Montmorency Falls to turn on the electric current. A few seconds elapsed and the thirty lamps on and around the Terrace blazed forth into brilliant light. The effect was magnificent, and everything in the vicinity was illuminated as by the noonday sun. The bands of the 8th and 9th Battalions furnished music during the evening. The Directors of the Company were highly congratulated upon the magnificent success, and many were the words of wonder and praise heard among the multitude. A scheme is now in order for illuminating the city by the Montmorency Falls agency.

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY

Conspiring Against Spain.
In this column yesterday, where it was stated that three American officers were arrested at Carthagena and sent in chains aboard a ship in that harbor, the question was asked, What will the U. S. do?
President Madison's Proclamation.
President Madison's proclamation is an answer as to what the U. S. will do as follows:—
"Whereas information has been received that sundry persons, citizens of the United States, are conspiring together to provide and prepare means for a military expedition against the dominions of Spain, with which the United States are happily at peace, that for that purpose they are collecting arms, military stores, provisions, vessels, and other means, are deceiving and seducing honest and well meaning citizens to engage in their unlawful enterprises, have, therefore, thought fit to issue this my proclamation, warning and enjoining all faithful citizens to withdraw from the same without delay And I do hereby enjoin all officers of the United States to be vigilant in searching out and bringing to punishment all persons engaged or concerned in such enterprise. And I require all good and faithful citizens and others within the United States to assist in the Discovery and Apprehension of all such offenders as shall neglect to give information against them to the proper authorities. Col Boeristlar, Capt. Wilkinson and Lieut. Ryan committed their indiscretion not within the United States but in Spain. Still the President's proclamation covers their case, as they were plotting against a country at peace with the United States will be waited on by representatives of the Board of Trade and of the Harbor Commission. Important matters relative to Quebec will be discussed and great things are expected to accrue.

Great Expectations in Quebec.

On this day 30 years ago there arrived in the city several very important gentlemen who were putting up at the St. Louis Hotel. Those who arrived this morning are W. C. Van Horne, Esq. with Mr. Shaughnessy, Mr. Drinkwater and Mr. Tait, secretary. The Hon. John J. C. Abbot arrived at the St. Louis last night. There will be a meeting of the C. P. R. directors during the day, and they

WHEN McCORMACK ALMOST MISSED HIS TRAIN.

JOHN McCORMACK, the genial and popular Irish Tenor who is to appear at the Drill Hall on October 7th next has had some very interesting experiences during his brief but remarkably successful career on the concert stage.
An incident, which was at first amusing then very touching, occurred at one of his eleven concerts in Carnegie Hall, New York, last season.

MR. McCORMACK.

"An extraordinary demonstration was witnessed towards the close of the evening's entertainment. McCormack had responded with a quartet of encores after his last number, which were greeted with tumultuous applause and calls for more. As he was to sing on Sunday in Boston, there was very little time for him to make the midnight train, but the crowd was not yet satisfied, although he had sung twenty songs or more. McCormack bowed himself off the stage; shaking his head, but such was the clamor in the hall that with his hat on and muffled in a big fur overcoat, he came out once more to explain that he must catch the train to fill an important engagement.
Just when he had nearly succeeded in making his escape, an elderly lady, who was seated near the piano on the stage, approached him and whispered something in his ear. He at once discarded his hat and overcoat, sat down to the piano and sang to his own accompaniment, Lady Dufferin's old masterpiece, "I Am Sitting on the Stile Mary." Just as he finished the words"

"They say there's bread and work for all
That the sun shines always there.
But I'll not forget you darling
Were it fifty times as fair!"
The old lady threw her arms about his neck and kissed him as if he were her long lost son. This was the signal for others to nounce upon the tenor, and it was with some difficulty

THE LAY OF THE SANDBAG.

An Early Morning Spasm.
Now when the war is over
And the battle really won
Just pause to bless the sandbag
For the glorious work he's done.

He saves us from the bullets
Gives us cover from the guns,
And shields us from the malice
Of the devil-minded "Huns".

We use him when he's empty
And when he's full as well,
And when we've got sufficient
The "Bosch" rhy go to—

His purposes are numerous
Of every sort and kind,
(I really can't help telling you
Of a few I have in mind.

We put him on our boots at night
To keep our blankets clean
And if we've not got blankets
It's the other things I mean

We wrap him around our puttees
To keep us warm and dry,
When the rain is pelting, pelting,
And no sunshine in the sky.

We use him as a mattress
To lie upon at night,
Whilst he serves us as a pillow
With some hay to make him tight.

He's hung up as a rubbish bag
(There's one in every bay)
To keep our trenches tidy
By night as well as day.

We boast of no fat larder
But have three meals a day,
And the grub comes from headquarters
In sandbags all the way

We fill him up with brickbats
We fill him up with earth,
We fill him up with stones or clay,
Toiling for all we're worth

But though we put in anything
That's lying close at hand,
I've never in my trench life seen
A SANDBAG filled with SAND! I

Trenches Sept., 9th., 1915.

Russians Are the Best.

The medical officers who are examining recruits for the Canadian expeditionary force say that a much smaller proportion of Russians fail to pass the medical test than do the native Canadians or those from Great Britain. In fact, it is very seldom that a Russian cannot pass the doctor. Their teeth, as a rule, seem to be better than the other Canadians, and their eyesight as a rule is considerably stronger than that of English-speaking recruits or French-Canadians. This is probably due to the fact that the Russians as a rule work in the open air and do not strain their eyes to the extent that those working in offices do. Most of the English-speaking Canadians enlisted have worked, to some extent at least, indoors.

NO CHANGE IN THE DARDANELLES

Constantinople, via London, Sept. 28—11.30 p.m.—The following official communication was issued today: "The situation on the Dardanelles front remains unchanged. Our reconnoitering detachments surrounded two hostile scouting patrols near Anafarta and in the environs of Keveas Dere and made them prisoners. Other parties made surprise attacks on hostile trenches and captured a number of field guns, munitions, a field telephone and pioneer materials."

TURKS MURDER ANOTHER CHRISTIAN.

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 28—Rev. Armen Amirkhanian, local Armenian missionary, received word today that his brother, Rev. Vartan Amirkhanian, Professor of Philosophy and Psychology at Hartpool College, Armenia; has been murdered by Turks, together with all the other members of the college faculty.

OLD ENGLISH HOUSES.

In the Days of Wooden Huts, Thatched Roofs and Clay Floors.

The habitations of English common people of centuries consisted of a wooden hut of one room, with the fire built in the center. To this hut, if a man increased in family and wealth, a lean-to was added and later another and another. The roofs were of thatch the beds of loose straw or straw beds with bolsters of the same laid on the floor or perhaps eventually shut in by a shrel and ledge like the berths of a ship or a small closet.

The Saxon thane or knight built a more pretentious "hall," a large open room like the Roman atrium with a lofty roof thatched or covered with slates, or wooden shingles. In the center of the hard clay floor burned great fires of dry wood, whose thin acrid smoke escaped from openings in the roof above the hearth or by the doors, windows and openings under the eaves of the thatch.

By day the "hearthmen" and visitors, when not working or fighting, sat on long benches on either side of
