Rev. T.J. Matthews is installed

QUEBEC (WD) — The Venerable Timothy John Matthews, formerly the Rector of St. George's Church, Lennoxville and Archdeacon of St. Francis diocese, has become the ninth Anglican Bishop of Quebec.

The Reverend Matthews was elected in May of this year to succeed the Rev. Russell F. Brown, who retired in June of this year.

The Quebec Diocese is one of the largest incorporating almost all of the Eastern parts of the province, and as far east as Newfoundland taking in some 280,000 sq. miles.

There are approximately 20,000 Anglicans in 137 congregations served by 49 clergymen in the diocese which is now under the jurisdiction of Rev. Matthews.

The Consecration took place at 10:30 a.m. Sept. 28, and members of the clergy from all parts of the Diocese took part.

The very Reverend W. W. Davis of Nova Scotia presided over the celebration of the Holy Eucharist.

At the morning Consecration the Rev. Dr. William Sadler Jr. preached the sermon on CARE dealing with the care of the world, the community and the individual.

The second sermon given at the Installation Ceremony held at 8 p.m. was presented by the Very Rev. Harold Waterman who is the former Bishop of Nova Scotia.

The Rev. Waterman talked on the tradition of the church and gave a resume of the background of Rev. Matthews' family.

The Anglican Young People's Choir from St. George's Church, Lennoxville, assisting in the singing of the Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei of the Eucharist.

The Governor-General and Mrs. Mitchener were guests of honor and sat in the Royal Box at the double ceremony that was held at the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity, Quebec City.

A complete surprise was the presence of his daughter and granddaughter who were flown over from Germany by the congregation of St. George's, Lennoxville.

Rev. T. J. Matthews was born in 1907 in Western Canada where he started his education.

Later he moved with his parents to England where he studied until his return to Canada at which time he entered Bishop's University.

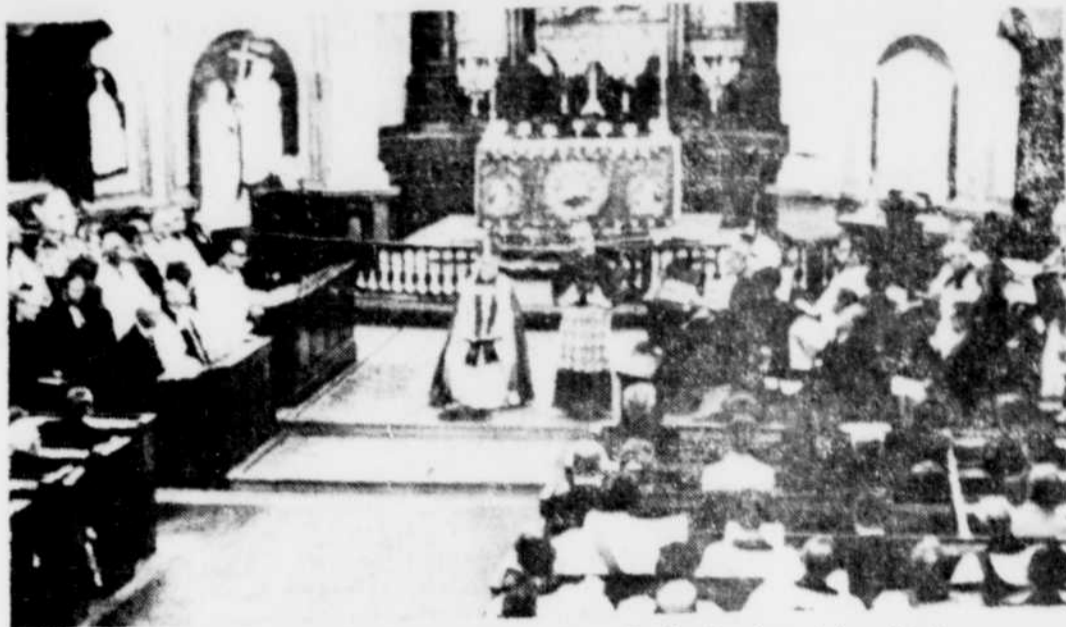

The Rev. Matthews was ordained into priesthood while studying in Edmonton.

From 1940 until his appointment to St. George's Church in 1957, Bishop Matthews served first as parish priest and then as Archdeacon in the Quebec area.

Apart from his diocesan duties Bishop Matthews is a member of the Central Council of Churches of the Diocese.

On the national level Bishop Matthews is a member of the National Executive Council of the General Synod of Canada, and the Commission of Primates.

Locally, Bishop Matthews served as an Ecumenical Officer in the St. Francis district and is a member of the Corporation of Bishop's University.

Cournoyer settles QPP wage dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — After a marathon all-night session, the dispute between the Quebec Provincial Police and the Quebec government arising from last year's kidnap crisis was finally settled Saturday by "giving the men what they wanted."

"Although we didn't get all we wanted, we have obtained a big victory," Guy Magnan, president of the Quebec Provincial Policemen's Association, said. "Everyone is satisfied and we will ask our members to accept the terms of the agreement."

The agreement is expected to be ratified by the QPAA members in two weeks when the association holds its next general assembly in Drummondville, Que.

Quebec Labor Minister Jean Cournoyer, who was appointed mediator in the dispute last Tuesday by Premier Robert Bourassa, mediated during the entire 24-hour session which started Friday morning.

WAS PLEASED

Mr. Cournoyer said the major issue in the dispute was solved by "giving the men what they wanted." He said he was pleased that an agreement had finally been reached.

"This agreement is not perfect, no agreement can be," the labor minister said. "But it satisfies all the policemen on its essential points and it was reached at the lowest possible cost to the people of Quebec."

The 4,000-man force walked off their jobs last Sunday to back their demands for payment in cash of vacation time and days off worked during the October 1970 crisis.

The men wanted to be paid time-and-a-half for some 5,000 extra hours of work done during the three-month crisis. At the time of the work stoppage, the government was offering time off for half the extra work and time-and-a-half pay for the rest.

When Mr. Cournoyer was appointed mediator, the men agreed to end their 36-hour work stoppage and returned to work.

Mr. Cournoyer said police will "have the choice" of taking missed holidays at regular pay or receiving payment for the extra time at time-and-a-half.

SOLVED OTHER ISSUES

Several other "minor" issues were solved by the settlement, the labor minister said. No details were available on these issues, however.

The police also wanted a strict definition and limitation of "an emergency period." Their collective agreement stipulates they may be called in by the chief of police at any time to work during a crisis.

"We couldn't define an emergency period," Mr. Cournoyer said.

"Defining it would tend to restrict it. When the men are not working, the chief of police will have the right to call them in and they will be paid time-and-a-half if on a holiday."

Another issue, involving the chairman of the QPP parity committee representing the men in contract negotiations, was also settled.

Claude Lebery, the chairman of the parity committee was chosen by Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette and the men were unhappy because they felt he might not be impartial.

In the future, Mr. Cournoyer said, the chairman will be chosen by the men themselves and the justice minister.

Something happened in China says French ambassador

TOURS, France (AP) — The French ambassador to Peking, travelling with the Chinese delegation currently visiting France, said Sunday:

"Something has happened in China. I cannot tell you anything more."

Etienne Manac'h made the statement in reply to questions about unusual activity around the Chinese delegation in the early hours of Sunday morning.

Four officials from the Chinese embassy in Paris made a Saturday night drive 135 miles to Valenciennes with information of sufficient importance to wake Pai Hsiang-kou, external trade minister leading the delegation, after midnight.

The Chinese maintained silence on the reason for the night visit.

One of the emissaries from Paris said: "I do not know," when asked why they had come from Paris.

Manac'h was one of the top Eastern experts of the French foreign service before being named to Peking.

There have been puzzling events in China during the last fortnight, including cancellation of the annual Oct. 1 National Day parade. The Chinese have said it was done for reasons of economy but that and other events led to speculation that Mao Tse-tung was dead or ill, or that a power struggle was under way.

Pai went out of his way to tell President Georges Pompidou Friday that he brought greetings from Mao and from Premier Chou En-lai.

Van Thieu gets "vote of confidence"

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu was assured today of an overwhelming "vote of confidence" far in excess of what he had asked in his unopposed but violence-marred bid for re-election.

With final results tabulated in 45 of South Vietnam's 56 voting constituencies, authorities said Thieu had won an average of 95.55 per cent of the ballots cast, with 4.45 per cent against him.

Election officials claimed that country-wide, a record 87.7 per cent of the more than seven million registered voters cast their ballots.

Thieu, the only presidential candidate, had specified 50 per cent of the vote as necessary for the "vote of confidence" he sought in the one-man elections. He had said he would resign if he did not get many votes.

South Vietnamese could vote against him by mutilating or defacing their ballots or by putting an empty envelope in the ballot box. Sadeq province in the Mekong Delta had the highest pro-Thieu vote, with 99.8 per cent and Thieu's province of Ninh Thuan reported 98.6 per cent of its ballots for the president.

The lowest figure recorded was 64.3 per cent in Hue City, long a centre of anti-government feeling.

RIOTS KILL 21

The election was marred by Communist shellings, terrorism, and bloody street rioting which left more than 21 persons dead and more than 100 wounded across the country.

In Da Nang, South Vietnam's second-largest city, at least 57 persons were wounded in anti-Thieu street disorders.

The day-long clashes between protesters and police tapered off by late afternoon and Da Nang was reported quiet overnight.

Thieu cast his own ballot at Saigon's city hall. He told reporters that winning the 50-percent margin would not guarantee that he will accept another term. "I will consider all the factors," he said, speaking before the size of the vote in his favor became apparent.

The president also reported his pledge to retire when he achieves peace.

City couple killed in car crash

SHERBROOKE (WD) — Two Sherbrooke residents were killed this weekend in a car accident on St. Francis Blvd. N.

The couple, a husband and wife, were killed when the car they were driving hit another car head on.

The driver of the other car was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital for treatment of injuries.

The names of the victims are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The injured man has not been identified, police said.

Israelis ready to withdraw

MONTREAL (CP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban says his government is prepared to withdraw its forces from the Suez canal and negotiate face-to-face with Egypt.

Mr. Eban, who was here for a one-day visit to address Montreal's Jewish community Saturday, presented "five roads to peace" that he said would lead to a settlement in the Middle East.

—A troop withdrawal agreement in the Suez canal sector.

—Negotiations without prior conditions under the auspices of United Nations Ambassador Gunnar Jarring.

—A conference of governments that have contributed to relief agencies to solve the refugee problem.

—Drafting of agreed principles of peace between the parties in the conflict.

—Face-to-face joint meetings between Israel and Egypt.

Mr. Eban addressed the UN General Assembly Thursday and proposed an immediate meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister

Mahmoud Riad. The Israeli foreign minister said his proposal was "not formally rejected" and he was awaiting an official reply from Mr. Riad "sometime during the week."

Mr. Eban said Israel is prepared to withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula "but not totally."

"There are certain points of strategy in the Sinai, such as Sharm el Sheikh, that must be open to negotiation."

Sharm el Sheikh is a tiny Red Sea installation on the southeast tip of the Sinai Peninsula, occupied by Israel after the six-day war in June, 1967.

Mr. Eban said Israel is ready for meetings with Egypt under the auspices of Mr. Jarring "provided they are used for negotiation and not ultimatum."

Province-wide search

MONTREAL (CP) — A province-wide search is under way for six men who hijacked two 17-ton containers of imported liquor, valued at $100,000 from Montreal harbor early Saturday night and left a security guard unconscious.

National Harbors Board police issued an all-point alert after the 50-year-old security guard was found unconscious near the harbor's east-end gate and the liquor missing.

Gauthier succeeded

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Pierre Stein, of radio station CFCL in Timmins, Ont., was elected president of the Association Canadienne de la Radio et de la Television de Langue Francaise Saturday at the ACRTF's 18th annual convention here.

Mr. Stein succeeds Jean-Louis Gauthier of CHLT radio-television in Sherbrooke, Que.

Paul Audette, CJMT-TV Chicoutimi, was elected first vice-president representing television and Lionel Tremblay, CFGT Alma, was elected second vice-president representing radio.

Henri Champagne, CHEF Granby, was elected secretary-treasurer of the association.

Quebec Printer to expand

QUEBEC (CP) — Jean-Paul L'Allier, Quebec communications minister, said Sunday that the government will give additional responsibilities to the Quebec Printer to make it a commercial and communications publishing house as well as the province's official publisher.

Mr. L'Allier told a convention of graphic arts industrialists the government would soon create a consulting committee to maintain good relations between the government and the industry.

The Quebec Printer should watch over publications in other countries and publish the information to aid the industry in Quebec, and negotiate rights for reproduction, translation and adaptation of foreign works, Mr. L'Allier said.

Urban affairs legislation

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec government is studying proposed urban affairs legislation which "will change municipal life in Quebec from top to bottom," Municipal Affairs Minister Maurice Tessier said Friday night.

Mr. Tessier told the closing banquet of the annual convention of the Union of Quebec Municipalities that discussions with local authorities had pointed out "the necessity of considerably reducing the number of municipalities and of establishing efficient mechanisms for inter-municipal co-operation."

Although the minister did not elaborate on the brief he presented to the provincial cabinet, he said that it would drastically alter the government's position on municipal regroupings.

Two more killed in Ulster unrest

BELFAST (CP) — Two men died Sunday in separate bombing and shooting incidents, bringing the total killed in Northern Ireland's last two years of violence to 115.

A terrorist bomb damaged a government office at Lusburn, 10 miles from Belfast, early Sunday. A mutilated body found nearby was later identified by police as Terence McDermott, 19.

A British army spokesman said security forces believe McDermott was involved in planting the bomb.

The second victim was shot dead in one of several pre-dawn exchanges of automatic gunfire, this time in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area. The army said it was not involved in the exchange that included the fatal shooting. There were no other reports of injuries.

About 12,000 British troops have been patrolling Northern Ireland for the last two years, trying to keep the peace between rival Catholic and Protestant communities. An army spokesman reported Sunday that during September, 266 arrests had been made in Northern Ireland, 57 small arms found and 415 pounds of explosives and a large quantity of ammunition uncovered.

ENCOURAGE DESERTERS

In Glasgow, Scotland, the Irish delegation to the annual Celtic League Conference reported that funds had been set up to aid

Scottish or Welsh soldiers on duty with the British army in Northern Ireland "who leave their units," or desert.

The three-day league meeting was attended by representatives from Celtic communities in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, the Isle of Man, Cornwall in southwest England and Brittany in Western France.

International Red Cross officials began an inquiry Sunday into allegations of brutality against interned Republican suspects.

The inquiry is being conducted by a three-man Red Cross team led by Melchior Borsinger of Switzerland, the general delegate for Europe of the Red Cross International Committee.

They intend to interview all the 219 suspected terrorists who have been rounded up by British troops and police and interned without charge or trial.

A number of the internees have complained of beatings and other forms of ill-treatment.

Fined for working on Sunday

MONTREAL (CP) — Two unemployed men fined $50 each for working on a Sunday will have their cases appealed by the suburban municipality which prosecuted them, it was announced Sunday.

Mayor Pierre Des Marais of suburban Outremont said in a statement he has ordered the municipality's legal department to launch an appeal of the sentence imposed under the Lord's Day Act.

Edouard Dutremble, 45-year-old father of four, and William Engola, 29-year-old father of six, were convicted last week of violating the act by painting the home of an Outremont doctor on a Sunday.

Mayor Des Marais said Sunday it will be complicated for the city to conduct an appeal for the men because the Lord's Day Act—part of the Criminal Code—is a federal law.

COMPLETE LOSS — This blazing inferno is all that is left of the trailer home of Mrs. B. Stark of Huntingville. The fire which was first sighted at about 11:30 last night burned out of control for over two hours. No fire departments responded because the property lies outside the city limits. Mrs. Stark was not at home at the time of the fire. The home was a total loss despite the efforts of neighbors who tried to put out the fire with fire extinguishers.

Gonorrhea is crucial problem

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Dear Dr. Lamb—I'll skip formalities because I forgot most of them over here, but I can still write my requests. I've just read a late issue of your column about gonorrhea being the No. 2 infection in the United States. Well, I feel it would be a great service if you would have an article explaining the symptoms, what they cause or do to your sexual organs, and what cures there are and what early detection and treatment will do.

tional structure) for a tree examination and treatment for venereal disease. Lack of money is no barrier to medical attention for anyone.

Gonorrhea is spread by sexual activity. In the male, the inflammation causes burning and itching during urination. A discharge may soon follow. The creamy or yellow discharge and discomfort usually warns the man. The female may have no symptoms and no noticeable discharge, other than her normal amount of natural secretions. She can be infected and not realize it. In the male, the tubes to the testicle are involved and may become scarred, making him permanently sterile. The tubes in the female are similarly affected and may cause permanent sterility.

Also, I feel this point should be one of the heaviest points stressed in sex education in schools. I would be very pleased if you passed my point of view along to people who are in charge of sex education in schools.

Being in Vietnam for seven months, stationed just outside of Saigon, "The World's Sin Capital," I've seen a few cases of things and have broadened my life with knowledge I'd like for you to pass on to other young people.

Dear Reader—Your idea of including information on venereal disease in sex education is right on target. With each freedom should go a little responsibility. The truth is that an informed public using mature judgment could wipe out venereal disease.

The main point I'd like to make is that anyone can go to his or her local health department (city or county, depending on local organization) for a tree examination and treatment for venereal disease. Lack of money is no barrier to medical attention for anyone.

Gonorrhea can also cause arthritis, which is particularly difficult to treat.

The woman taking birth control pills is twice as easily infected on exposure to gonorrhea. The pills affect the normal acidity of the vagina, which helps to ward off germs.

Syphilis can cause an infection without any evident signs. A small sore may develop soon after exposure but it may be so small, or within the vagina, that it goes unnoticed. Untreated syphilis is the great imitator, causing problems similar to almost all diseases known. It causes heart disease, brain disease, joint dis-

Role of laity vis-a-vis church must change

LENNOXVILLE (BSL) — If you think that your role in the church of today is to show up, sit up, pay up, and shut up — you're wrong. Or at least Mark Gibbs thinks so.

Mr. Gibbs is director of the Audenshaw Foundation of England and one of the world's foremost authorities on the role of the laity in the Christian church.

Last night in an address to an inter-denominational group at the United Church in Lennoxville, Mr. Gibbs said that if organized churches can expect to survive the present era of progress and change they will have to change many things within their present structure.

The most important of these changes will have to be in the sphere of church relation with its laity.

"For too long there has been a large gap within the institutionalized church," he said.

The church has tried to establish a moral code of goods and bads with no alternatives in between, he said. "What the laity needs from the church is a closer relation and identification with real life where one rarely finds the ideal solution to a complex problem."

Mr. Gibbs feels that the major reason behind recent alienation of many lay people is the church's failure to relate to real life and real situations.

The survival of the church will depend on its capacity to adapt the Christian doctrines to reality, he said. The only way this can be done is through the education of the church about real life by its lay people, and the education of the laity about the role of Christianity in this real life by the church, he said.

They will have to work hand-in-hand with more cooperation than has been the case in the past, he said.

The churches will also have to communicate more with each other so as to learn from what each other is doing. He said the churches will also need to provide financial assistance to its lay education projects.

Commenting on the youth situation in relation to the church, Mr. Gibbs said that both segments could learn from each other. "The churches tend to think deeply and the young tend to feel deeply," he said.

The ideal situation, according to Mr. Gibbs, would be to have both sections think and feel deeply at the same time.

There is also a need in the church for people to discuss differences within the church establishment. "It seems that the church organizations and committees have become more of a social club for people who like to do religious work," he said.

The topic for tonight's discussion will centre around the practical ways the church can support and educate its laity.

Construction booming in Bromont

BROMONT (BSL) — The City of Bromont issued $250,000 worth of building permits in September for 14 single family units. The city expects the number to be much higher in October since already it has received 20 demands for a total of $325,000.

These figures show an important increase in permanent housing being built in the Bromont area. Where Bromont once was a seasonal resort area, it is now steadily growing into a bigger, more urbanized centre. The majority of these homes are single family, middle-income residences, joining the two separate sections of Bromont. Before the town was divided into two sections. The rural village, similar in all respects to any rural Quebec town, and the seasonal resort area around the mountain.

The folders will be mailed to different organizations which are contemplating a convention.

Occupational centre for retarded opens

SHERBROOKE (BSL) — An occupational workshop for the mentally retarded, similar to those found across the province, has recently been established in Sherbrooke to help train young adults with mental deficiencies.

The forming of such a workshop was urgently needed in the Sherbrooke area since the school board could no longer accommodate retarded persons over 18. Once they left school they had nothing to do. The Quebec Association of Mental Deficients in collaboration with the school commission and the Villa Dufresne decided to establish an occupational workshop in Sherbrooke.

Roger Lepage of the Villa Dufresne says that an occupational workshop is neither a protected workshop nor a school.

"It's obvious that our young people are incapable of advanced intellectual effort. But they can do simple and routine tasks in a very conscientious manner," says Therese Corriveau, the workshop's monitor.

Thus Friday afternoon, 14 young people were quietly passing their time making French-fried potato boxes, or weighing coconuts, or filling rice bags. The directors of the workshop are ready to accept any contract as long as the work required is simple.

The personnel of the Workshop (two monitors, one male and one female) and a CEGEP student majoring in rehabilitation of the mentally ill, are paid by the Villa Dufresne, an organization that works with the mentally ill.

The money made through the contracts goes to provide the retarded workers with a small salary.

The workshop, situated at 871 Ontario Street, is open from 8:30 to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The young are driven to the workshop by a bus supplied by the Villa Dufresne.

Clement Bernard, director of professional services at the Villa Dufresne, says that the object of the workshop is not to provide the retarded persons with money but rather to help them to accomplish small tasks alone.

The workshop is presently supplying 14 young adults around the age of 20 with work. "As the demand increases we will increase our number to 20," says Mr. Bernard.

Upcoming events in Lennoxville

MONDAY — Bud Drury, chairman of the Treasury Board for the Federal Government will be arriving at Bishop's University at approximately 2:30 today for a tour of the campus. A reception for the Liberal member will be held at 4:00 p.m., to be attended by Bishop's representatives, Mayor Cecil Dougherty and the Lennoxville town councillors.

A council meeting is slated for 8:00 p.m. at the Lennoxville Town Hall. A report of the meeting will be issued on Tuesday.

TUESDAY — The Lennoxville Optimist Club will meet at the La Marquis Motel for dinner. Incoming officers: David Price, President, replacing Bob Passmore, Fred Grahnam as vice-president, replacing David Price and Secretary Blair Donachie, replacing Gerry Frost. The main topic of discussion will be the recent damages incurred upon the newly constructed Centennial Pool building. Only a month the structure was erected and needless vandalism has already occurred.

It seems ironic that the Optimists work for and build towards a future, with the youth of the community in mind, then the youth turn around and destroy.

The public is asked to inform the Lennoxville Police Dept. of any information leading to the sources of this destruction.

WEDNESDAY — The Lennoxville branch of the Rebekah Lodge will hold its first meeting of the month.

SATURDAY — A Thanksgiving Supper will be held at the Army, Navy and Air Force hall on St. Francis St. in Lennoxville. Supper hours are between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. at a price of $1.75 per person. The public is welcomed, along with members and guests, to enjoy a hearty turkey dinner with all the trimmings and homemade pies. Ronnie Ward's Orchestra will be playing for your dancing pleasure after the supper from 9:00-1:30 p.m.

If you or your organization have any events of public interest or for the information of your own members please submit them to D. Montgomery, P.O. Box 601, Lennoxville or phone 562-9095 between 5:00-6:00 p.m. Articles to be published should be submitted by the Friday prior to the week the event is to take place.

Everything to lose

Unless something dramatic happens soon, relations between Canada and the United States will soon be reaching their lowest ebb in living memory. The results could be drastic.

President Nixon's 10-per-cent import surcharges are the most obvious cause, but even though they are vital to the well-being of this country, the duties are by no means the only reason for concern.

The Nixon administration, for instance, is openly uneasy about the manner in which the U.S.-Canada auto agreement has worked to the Canadian advantage. In a few short years it has, almost alone, erased the Canadian trade deficit with the United States.

Questions of sovereignty over islands and waters in the Arctic linger uneasily in the background, promising future friction as U.S. economic self-interest is pitted against Canadian territorial sensitivity.

The Arctic problems have been exacerbated, variously, by the voyage of the Manhattan, U.S. assertion of criminal law jurisdiction in the case of a far North slaying, and by public plans for future deployment of Canadian Forces in the North.

Recent months have been characterized by a quiet but constant series of disputes concerning fishing rights on both coasts. Fishing vessels have been seized by each nation.

U.S. plans for nuclear explosions on Amchitka Island have angered Canadians. Americans, in turn, have been angered by the Canadian reduction in NATO support, Canadian refusal to establish North Bay as an alternative NORAD headquarters, coupled with a hard attitude towards renegotiation of the NORAD agreement in 1972.

Canada has openly welcomed U.S. draft dodgers and deserters. Our neighbor has responded by tightening its border surveillance. That border is undefended no longer. It bristles with pistols and policemen.

Lurking in the background is the proposed U.S. DISC program which, if passed, would erect strong incentives for U.S. subsidiaries manufacturing in Canada to relocate production in the U.S. The economic consequences are frightening for Canada. Suggestions for continental resources policies reinforce Canadian suspicions that we are valued as raw materials suppliers only.

In the potentially explosive area of emotion, Canadians are again galled at the apparent American disinterest in listening to our voices and our problems. But Americans, when they do listen, are angered to hear such gratuitous pieces of rudeness as that delivered in Denver some time ago by Energy Minister Joe Greene of Canada.

The leaders of both countries have made their contributions to unease. In Prime Minister Trudeau, Canada has a leader who has made no secret of his disdain for the United States. In President Nixon, the U.S. has its toughest leader in many years. He is a man who combines the essence of Republican "America first" philosophy with broad international experience.

This all adds up to a deteriorating situation vastly more serious in aggregate than the one-issue uproars of the early Sixties—the nuclear arms crisis, trading with Cuba, and so on. With their heavy lacing of economic self-interest, today's issues go to the roots of the future development of the Canadian nation.

In that connection it is interesting to note today the relative silence of Canada's home-grown ultranationalists, who were filling the air with verbal muscle-flexings only a year ago. But then these people always lean to silence when the going gets rough; when the evidence is open that the depth and complexity of our relationship with the United States is not amenable to their simplistic solutions.

The individual issues themselves are, because of their technical nature, to some extent beyond the reach of ordinary public opinion. But the atmosphere in which such issues are raised and determined can in fact be heavily influenced by the public.

While there is still time, Canadians and Americans outside politics have a duty to keep their heads and examine dispassionately a relationship between two countries which has been unique in its intensity, its basic friendliness, and in its mutual benefit.

If they do not want that relationship to erode and crumble, then they must tell their leaders that—and soon. It is either that or else dig in for a fight which, in the end, both parties must lose.

From the Calgary Herald

Story across Canada: layoffs

Diamond drills and synthetic rubber. Automobiles and tobacco. Nickel and lacrosse sticks. Shoes and newsprint.

What does this wide cross-section of Canadian industry have in common?

The word is layoffs. The result is reflected in Canada's unemployment figures.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows layoffs—some permanent, some temporary—hitting a wide spectrum of industries.

No industry appears immune because of size alone. Some layoffs involve 2,000 workers. Others only a dozen or so. The reasons given are just as diverse: Foreign competition, increasing labor costs, the U.S. import surcharge.

Latest figures show Canada's unemployment at a seasonally-adjusted rate—the one that takes into consideration such things as winter slumps and summer student activity—at 6.5 per cent of the labor force, up from 6.3 per cent a month earlier. A major reason was that more young people than usual remained in the labor market.

455,000 JOBLESS

Total unemployment stood at 455,000 at mid-August, down from 514,000 a month earlier but up from 448,000 in August of 1970.

Major layoffs made since mid-year, or announced for the near future, will mean loss of jobs for about 2,000 employees of General Motors of Canada Ltd. at Ontario and Quebec plants, 650 employees of Domtar Ltd. at Trois-Rivieres, Que., and about 1,200 at the Toronto Telegram which is ceasing publication.

General Motors said it will cut 1,350 workers from Ontario plants at Oshawa, Windsor, St. Catharines and Scarborough and a further 570 jobs at Ste. Therese, Que., starting Nov. 1. It blamed competition from foreign imports, particularly Japanese cars.

Domtar Ltd. plans to stop producing newsprint at Trois-Rivieres in early 1972, affecting about 650 of 1,040 employees. The company said it lost almost $3 million during the last 18 months because of the floating Canadian dollar, reduced market demand for newsprint and increased costs.

The Telegram said it is ceasing publication because it has been losing money for some time. No date has been announced for the final publication.

SAME ACROSS COUNTRY

Aside from these larger layoffs, scores of smaller firms have made similar decisions. Across the country, these layoffs and reductions are samples:

Bowaters Newfoundland Ltd. has announced its plans to shut down major paper-making equipment at Corner Brook Nov. 1 for an indefinite period because of continuing market problems. The shutdown would result in the layoff of at least 350 of the mill's 1,000 employees and leaves in doubt the jobs of between 600 and 900 loggers.

In New Brunswick, depressed world pulp and paper markets have hit the forest industry.

The year-old St. Anne-Nackawic Pulp and Paper Co. mill at Nackawic shut down its kraft mill Sept. 6-22, leaving 350 men temporarily without jobs and 30 employees permanently without work. Forty-three jobs disappeared when the company closed another operation June 16.

MacMillan-Rothsay Ltd. at Saint John and Fraser Companies Ltd. at Atholville had shutdowns for varying periods, affecting 150 to 400 workers.

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. closed a mill Sept. 5-Oct. 18 for a conversion program, affecting 85 men.

LAYOFFS AT RAND HERE

Scott Maritimes Ltd. has announced it will not reopen a groundwood pulp mill at Sheet Harbor, N.S., damaged in an August hurricane. The mill employs 110 and another 200 in woods jobs.

Acadia Fisheries Ltd. closed operations at Canso, N.S., in July, blaming financial troubles and a long strike last year by trawler fishermen. It employed 360.

The Cardinal Protein Ltd. plant at Canso also closed, leaving 60 to 100 out of work. Its closing was linked directly to Acadia's collapse.

Canadian Ingersoll-Rand of Sherbrooke announced closing of its foundry with 60 to 70 layoffs by the end of the year. Union sources said up to 300 would be affected.

Alcan Aluminum Ltd. announced it is reducing primarily aluminum production at its Canadian smelters by about 60,000 tons a year. The cut will be at Quebec plants—not yet announced—and will mean loss of 300 jobs.

In Orillia, Ont., 112 of an original work force of 300 have been laid off by Boyles Industries Ltd., manufacturers of diamond drills and mining equipment.

The Univac division of Sperry Rand Canada Ltd. laid off about 60 employees, saying an anticipated increase in business didn't materialize.

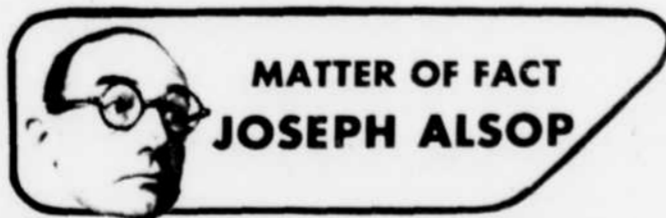

POLICE WAR VICTIMS

Power Supermarkets Ltd. and Busy Bee Discount Foods Ltd. cut staff by 40. The company blamed a food price war and increasing labor costs. All told, about 200 full-time jobs have been lost at these two firms since the start of the year.

Polymer Corp. at Sarnia, Ont., is laying off about 60 workers because of increasing competition, mainly from Japan, in marketing of synthetic rubber.

"Winter unemployment talks in December, task force inquiry in January, decision in February, legislation in March, then April—Bingo! Winter unemployment licked!"

MATTER OF FACT
JOSEPH ALSOP

KUWAIT—This is the richest single area on the face of the earth—the place where a turn of a spigot can stop or start the flow of most of the oil that fuels the economies of Western Europe and Japan. And by the end of this year, when the British will formally depart, the richest place on earth will be left with no shadow of any sort of defence.

Politically, in short, what is now happening is so astonishing that the Persian Gulf ought to be a major tourist attraction. Thousands of gapers and gogglers would surely be attracted if countless billions of dollars were soon going to be left in an unprotected heap of currency in the middle of Pennsylvania Ave. What lies ahead here is rather similar.

On the surface, to be sure, no such potential drama seems to impend. This bustling city-state is by far the richest place on the Persian Gulf and nothing could exceed the reassuring outward tranquillity of Kuwait.

The Kuwaitis are people of great shrewdness and charm. There is no more of the bitterness of 15 years ago when Gamal Abdel Nasser was going all out to subvert the sheikdom's ruling house of al-Sabah. Kuwait's present ruler is a wise, experienced and moderate man, who has followed a policy of sharing the wealth.

The wealth's principal beneficiaries have been the other Arab states that might threaten Kuwait, plus the native Kuwaitis. Kuwait citizenship is a most enviable privilege, financially desirable in an extreme degree. But the non-Kuwaitis who compose about half of the working population also enjoy the highest wage rates of the Middle East.

The schools, the hospitals, the other social services are all admirable and are open to all. The most hotly debated local problem is the failure of Kuwait's electrical supply to keep pace with the state's economic and population growth, plus the spread of air conditioning. Outwardly, therefore, all is prosperity and peace.

The question is, however, whether this kind of peace and prosperity can endure for very long with no defence whatever against the cupidity of the rest of the world. To begin with, there are plenty of other little states of the Persian Gulf, most notably Bahrain, which are by no means as wealthy and contented as Kuwait.

The political organization the British are leaving behind can be best described as an improvised crazy quilt. At Um Qasr, Iraq has a naval base that was built by the Soviets. In its present stage, Iraq resembles a madhouse run by gangsters. Without much military power, Iran also aspires to be the protector of the gulf. This aspiration is far more likely to stir up trouble than to avert it.

The British forces guarding the Persian Gulf have long been very small. Yet they have at least been strong enough to discourage the cheaper sort of old-fashioned gunboat diplomacy. More importantly, British control over the foreign relations of most of the little Persian Gulf states has also discouraged the crude sorts of newfangled Soviet diplomacy by espionage and subversion.

Kuwait has been independent for over 10 years. But in most of the smaller states of the gulf, strict British passport control until recently kept out all Soviet and Eastern European agents. Now all that is to be changed. All up and down this area—all around the world oil tap, in fact—Soviet and Eastern European embassies, news agencies and trading companies can be expected to flourish wherever they can find a foothold.

To put it bluntly, control of the world oil tap is coming up for grabs. Quite aside from the possibilities of gunboat diplomacy—to be examined later—the possibilities of political trouble and penetration are almost limitless.

It is perfect nonsense to say, as they say in London, that they can't drink the oil, can they? So they will just have to go on selling it. Whatever happens, the oil company managers, who know the most about the subject, think the very opposite. If the Soviets ever get their hands on the world oil tap, one of them told me, the possibilities of blackmailing both Western Europe and Japan will be almost limitless.

So this area is indeed the prize of prizes in the whole world, where limitless leverage can be gained by exploiting a seemingly limitless political strategic opportunity!

Imasco Ltd. plans to close its tobacco plant at Delhi, Ont., in February or March. About 200 jobs will be lost, but most are of a seasonal nature.

International Nickel of Canada Ltd. released about 50 from its central engineering department in Toronto because of slack nickel demand. Some were professionals earning up to $25,000 a year.

Heywood-Wakefield Co. of Canada Ltd. plans to close its operation at Orillia before the end of year, leaving 90 without jobs. It makes bus and car seats and other related products.

Dominion Road Machinery Co. Ltd. at Goderich, Ont., laid off 30 workers and blamed the U.S. import surcharge. It produces heavy equipment.

SHOE PLANT CLOSES

Savage Shoes Ltd. said it is closing its plant at Galt, Ont., to consolidate its operation with one at Preston. Some workers will be given other work, but 125 will be without jobs.

Cornwall, with one of the highest unemployment rates in Ontario, has been hit by a number of cuts, including 22 production workers laid off by TCF of Canada Ltd., a temporary cut of 100 at Courtaulds of Canada Ltd., and the indefinite layoff of 135 by Domtar Fine Papers Ltd.

Chisholm Lacrosse Manufacturing Co. announced a temporary shutdown of its Cornwall plant, which employs 110. The owner said not all would be rehired when the plant reopens.

Continental Insurance Co. said it will lay off about 40 employees at its Winnipeg office within two months because of expected loss of automobile insurance to a provincially-backed scheme.

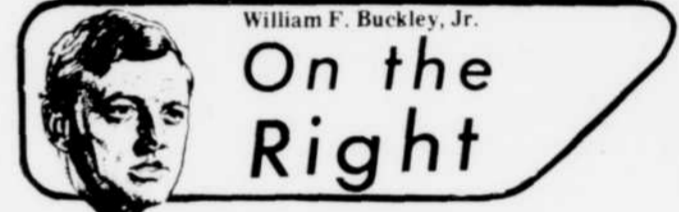

In British Columbia, soft markets—especially for exports—have hit the forest industries. Union officials say most of the layoffs have been minor and relatively short.

Tahsis Co. Ltd. laid off 360 when it closed its Gold River pulp mill June 6 - July 5. Canadian Forest Products Ltd. closed its Port Mellon mill June 14-July 15, making 450 men idle.

MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., employing about 18,000 workers in the forest industry, eliminated one shift each at three mills for six weeks in July and August. Sixty jobs will be lost by the closing of two paper machines at Powell River by the end of the year.

B. C. Forest Products Ltd. curtailed half of its pulp mill operation at Crofton for four weeks in mid-June but vacations eased the blow for 60 employees. Other operations also were curtailed for varying periods.

Rayonier Canada B.C. Ltd. had several shutdowns of its pulp mill. The number of workers affected was not divulged.

William F. Buckley, Jr.

On the Right

Pity the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, the talented and amiable Mr. George Bush. On top of the intrinsic difficulties of serving in the United Nations, where the frictions range from the equality of Upper Volta to the peace-loving imperatives of Soviet policy, Mr. Bush finds himself actively brokering, in behalf of the Nixon Administration, the so-called Two China policy. That is one seat (including the Security Council) for Red China, one seat (in the General Assembly) for Nationalist China.

Mr. Bush faces many difficulties. Among them is the emotional difficulty. Now, of course, Mr. Nixon having made the decision to recognize Red China, the psychic reorientation is necessary. Mr. Nixon found it easier than any amateur might have thought: resistance to his proposed trip to Red China has been slight. The American people, who yearn for good news, and who continue to believe that Richard Nixon is simply not the kind of person who will make mistakes in his dealings with the enemy, rewarded him with a significant increase in the Gallup rating.

It was left only to give flesh to Mr. Nixon's promise that nothing in his decision would suggest that he was engaged in betraying America's "old friends." Now there are two ways in which one betrays one's old friends in this particular context. To begin with, the old friend in question is easily identified as Nationalist China.

As regards Nationalist China, we are in a position to prove the constancy of our friendship in two ways, the one symbolic, the other substantive. As regards the latter, what matters is the defence treaty of 1955. Any suggestion that that defence treaty, passed overwhelmingly in the United States Senate, is being rescinded, would amount to betrayal of the coarsest kind, and it is not anywhere suggested that President Nixon entertains any such intention. The other betrayal is symbolic. And the assignment has been given to George Bush to prevent its happening, namely the expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese from the United Nations.

There is no doubting the sincerity of Mr. Bush's efforts to line up the necessary votes. And he has succeeded in getting a formidable co-sponsor, namely Japan, for the two-China resolution. On the other hand, the votes we need in the UN are not by any means out there waiting to be counted.

The specialists lining up the market situation, are frankly skeptical that when the vote roes, the United States will prevail. They are saying that it will be close, that it is altogether possible that the United Nations will expel the Nationalist Chinese in order to validate the Red Chinese claim to dominance over Taiwan. These are the same people, one pauses to remark, who would run away from any proposal to deny to the present representatives the right to dispose of the votes of Hungary and Czechoslovakia, let alone Byelorussia or the Ukraine.

The international mood in the UN is bent on appeasing Red China and embarrassing the United States. I tend to think that the latter is the stronger of the two impulses, for one simple reason, which I beg you not to dismiss. Although the Soviet Union, for reasons of abstract socialist solidarity, will argue in favor of jettisoning Taiwan, in fact the Soviet Union is not going to work hard to oblige the Red Chinese. Therefore, the anti-Taiwan vote will be, primarily, not a pro-Communist vote, but an anti-American vote. You wait and see.

So what is Mr. Bush to do? This depends, of course, on his instructions. Up until now one gathers that Mr. Nixon has told him to do what he can within the parliamentary situation. That may not prove enough: who knows, Upper Volta may decide that world peace requires the vaporization of Nationalist China.

Eight years ago, Senator Barry Goldwater wrote a piece for This Week Magazine on the question of the admission of Red China. He said that the time had come for the United States to say: No. The piece was of course explicated, but the title told it all. If the United States, certain of its moral and historical footing, were to say No—why, that is all there would be to it.

The question becomes—as so many questions do—political. Is Mr. Nixon prepared symbolically to acquiesce in the betrayal of Nationalist China? I do not doubt that he is watching carefully to judge the American temper on the question.

Meanwhile Mr. Bush is charged to Stakhanovite parliamentary endeavor. The appearance has got to be right. Actually Mr. Bush could hole down in the Waldorf Towers if he wanted to, and do nothing at all. All he would have to say is: Richard Nixon says No.

St. Hubert Bar-B-Q opens

SHERBROOKE (WD) — Good food and moderate prices are the theme of the new St. Hubert Bar-B-Q, opening today on King St. W.

The restaurant will seat about 120 persons comfortably in its tastefully designed dining room that also will feature a bar in the months ahead.

A local group of businessmen started investigating the idea to bring St. Hubert's into Sherbrooke a few years back but the final plans were not completed until about a year ago.

If this one is successful, said a spokesman for the group, they will build more in the future.

Stamps stop Ti-Cats as Lions maul AIs

Familiar turf and the pleasant cheers of home had their effect during the weekend in the Canadian Football League, with visiting teams able to score just three points in three games.

Calgary Stampeders clinched a playoff spot by trouncing Hamilton Tiger-Cats 17-1 Sunday in an interlocking game.

The win over the Eastern Conference team left Calgary six points up on Saskatchewan Roughriders, who were thumped 35-2 by Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night.

British Columbia Lions maintained their third-place tie with Winnipeg at 11 points each, one back of Saskatchewan, by dispersing with Montreal Alouettes 28-0 in another interlocking game.

In Calgary, the Stampeders defence gave up a measly 117 yards to Hamilton while hauling down quarterback Joe Zuger a half-dozen times as he searched in vain for an open receiver.

The Tiger-Cat ground game accounted for an insignificant 52 yards, including a 27-yard ramble by Bob Anderson.

The Stampeders offence, in front of 23,616 fans, piled up a net gain of 429 yards.

LINDSEY DOES JOB
Quarterback Jim Lindsey, filling in for injured veteran Jerry Keeling, split the gains between rushing and passing but went to the air for two touchdowns. He hit Rudy Linterman.

Action Canada

Hellyer pleased with first convention

TORONTO (CP) — Action Canada's Paul Hellyer Sunday night declared he was "very pleased" with the movement's first convention, organized partly in hopes of forging an alliance with the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties.

The leader of Action Canada said the meetings "exceeded expectations" but it was too early to say whether he would be successful in realigning opposition parties into a new political force.

"I am both optimistic and pessimistic, and when I say this I am underlying the difficulties of bringing together parties of different backgrounds. I won't make any predictions at this stage."

For three days, delegates from all 10 provinces—organizers said there were 750 attending, but there were never more than 300 present at any one time—worked on policies for Action Canada, a "people's movement" begun last May 25 by Mr. Hellyer after he quit the Liberal party.

DEBATE HEATED
While few controversial resolutions were approved by the end of the convention, there had been many heated arguments on the floor as red-hot reactionary viewpoints clashed with moderate stands. Resolutions favoring bilingualism, and giving Quebec the right to determine its own future, were finally just tabled after lengthy, and steamy debates.

At one point, a delegate shouted that "people who are real Canadians should speak English." Another resolution which was soundly defeated said that English and French should both be scrapped and replaced with a new "Canadian" language, which would include a mixture of both "with a smattering of Eskimo and Indian."

Resolutions passed are directed back to the membership at large—there are some 4,800 members in Action Canada—and then returned to the "national advisory council" for further consideration.

While no immediate policy shifts resulted from this convention, it was clear that delegates favored a right wing approach to most problems. The free enterprise system was stoutly defended by virtually all delegates, and there was a large number advocating an end to the social welfare system.

But Mr. Hellyer said it would be difficult to label the outcome

CALL FOR TAX CUTS
The economic package, originally outlined by Mr. Hellyer and approved by the delegates, calls for immediate tax cuts, mandatory price and wage guidelines and an increased money supply. By giving labor-intensive industries a share in the productivity gains of capital-intensive industries, Mr. Hellyer told the delegates that Canada could reach a stage of full employment without inflation.

But there was no indication that Action Canada was on the verge of uniting the Conservative and Social Credit parties in a new realigned opposition. The Conservatives sent a half dozen observers to the convention, most of whom spent less than one full day in attendance, and the Social Credit party had one MP in Toronto for a short period. None commented officially on the prospects for realignment. But E.D. Armour, Action Canada's executive director, finally asked Mr. Beattie to yield the microphone and leave the discussion to paid-up members.

"You're bound to bring out the fringe element when you organize a new movement," said Mr. Hellyer. "They lose interest as policies become more clearly defined."

During a Saturday night speech, Dr. James MacGillivray of Collingwood, Ont., who will challenge Real Caouette for the leadership of the Social Credit party next week, said he was interested in the goals of Action Canada but there would be no "deals" with Social Credit.

"We will not compromise our principles because our position has been compromised before. We have been double-crossed before."

But he made several references to the similarities of Action Canada and Social Credit. Both are based on monetary policies, he said, and "we are against the welfare state and bureaucratic government."

...No indication of coalition

TORONTO (CP) — Regardless of what may happen in future, there is no immediate indication that Action Canada, as a result of its founding convention here, will become a bridge for the union of Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties.

Representatives of both parties attending the Action Canada convention as observers were not making any official comments on the unification proposals, but it was clear they were not optimistic.

"We'll have to know a lot more about Action Canada," said a Conservative observer. "After all, 4,800 members hardly constitute a viable political entity."

When Paul Hellyer, former Liberal cabinet minister, announced the formation of his "people's movement" last May, he said he would work toward a realignment of existing opposition forces. And by inviting representatives of the Conservative and Social Credit parties to this three-day founding convention, he made clear what type of realignment he had in mind. Neither the Liberals or New Democrats were invited.

Six Conservatives came from Ottawa, none of them remaining for more than one day, and one visiting for only a few hours. Gilbert Rondeau (SC Shefferd) represented his party but because of a serious family illness left shortly afterwards.

DIDN'T JOIN IN
None of these party representatives took part in any of the discussions. "I wish they had," said Mr. Hellyer.

Bert Leboe, a former Social Credit MP for Cariboo, said there is nothing in the Action Canada program that would disturb members of his party, but he wouldn't predict the outcome of unification efforts. "In politics you just never know," said Mr. Leboe, now an Action Canada member.

With its emphasis on free enterprise and its proposal to expand the money supply, Action Canada has been viewed as a possible link between Conservatives and Social Credit. "But you don't change party loyalties just like that," said one Conservative.

Mr. Hellyer will say only that he has been promised co-operation from the political leaders he has talked with. He has had conversations with Social Credit Leader Real Caouette.

Satch's secret out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Satchel Paige's secret is out: He's 65 years old.

Of Satch, whose age has long been a mystery, revealed Sunday night at a testimonial dinner in his honor that he was born July 7, 1906, at Mobile, Ala.

Satch had the proof: verification of his birth from the Mobile County Health Department.

Paige could have put a stop to all of the guessing about his age more than 2½ years ago if he had so desired, but the baseball Hall of Fame pitcher liked to keep people wondering. The birth verification was dated Jan. 7, 1969.

Robertson clouts 3 homers

Pirates tie series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Six weeks without a homer is too long for a man with his power," said Murtaugh. Robertson, himself, was just happy to be playing—let alone turn out to be the hitting hero. He once sat out a season with a kidney ailment.

HAPPY TO BE PLAYING
"I am thankful to be in baseball after the scare I received from my kidney trouble," said Robertson in the Pirates' locker room.

While Robertson turned on the power, reliever Bob Miller helped to turn off the Giants with four innings of lofty work. His performance was almost lost in Robertson's herculean performance.

"Miller did a great job," said Murtaugh. "He hasn't been out standing lately. But I thought he was outstanding out there for four innings against the Giants."

The right-hander had some tough work to do when starter Dock Ellis, the Pirates' 19-game winner, got in hot water in the sixth inning. The first two batters reached base, one hit by a pitch and the other with a base hit, and Miller came in to protect a 4-2 lead.

Miller got pinch-hitter Frank Duffy to bunt foul for a third strike, but slipped deeper into quicksand when he walked Ken Henderson to load the bases. Then he struck out Tito Fuentes and got out of the jam when Willie Mays lined to Roberto Clemente in right.

"If there was a key play, it was when Miller struck out Fuentes in the sixth," said Murtaugh.

"I struck him out with a fast-ball on the outside," declared Miller. "I was determined to keep the ball outside on him. I'd have to say this was the most satisfying game since joining Pittsburgh, even though I didn't get through the ninth inning."

GIUSTI ENDS RALLY
Miller served up three straight hits to open the ninth, including Willie Mays' two-run homer, before Dave Giusti came in to get the side out.

The Pirates tormented San Francisco Giants with 15 hits, including Bob Robertson's three home runs, to secure a 9-4 victory and deadlock the National League playoffs at one game apiece.

The Giants won the playoff opener Saturday 5-4.

The best-of-five series continues Tuesday with game No. 3 in Pittsburgh.

"That guy on first base (Robertson) was nasty," said Charlie Fox, San Francisco manager Danny Murtaugh.

The brawny slugger hadn't reached the fences in six weeks. After hitting a double in the second inning, he went to work with circuit shots in the fourth, seventh and ninth.

Orioles take opener

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles talked about heroes while the bitterly disappointed Oakland Athletics talked about an umpire after the defending champion Orioles beat the Athletics 5-3 in the opener of their best-of-five American League playoff series.

The teams go at it again today in the second game of the set with high-hander Jim (Catfish) Hunter hoping to succeed where ace Vida Blue failed and gain an even break for the Athletics before the series switches to the West Coast Tuesday. Left-hander Mike Cuellar, one of four Baltimore pitchers who won at least 20 games this season, pitches for the Orioles.

Despite the key opening-game victory, Baltimore manager Earl Weaver wouldn't even talk about the possibility of the Orioles sweeping the AL playoffs for the third straight year.

"We have one and they don't have any," Weaver said when asked if he anticipated a sweep. "We'll be at the ball park today to play just that game. So will they. It doesn't help to think about a sweep one way or the other."

Weaver preferred to talk about the clutch performance of his players, who rallied for four runs in the seventh inning off Blue, the Athletics sensational 24-game winner.

"We battled Blue," said Weaver. "We kept our bat on the ball. We conditioned ourselves to stay away from the pitch up and around the shoulders. We figured eventually he would slow down and the ball would stop jumping."

The ball stopped jumping for Blue in the seventh inning as Frank Robinson led off with a walk. After Boog Powell struck out, Brooks Robinson singled Frank to second. Blue appeared to have worked out of the jam when he got hot-hitting Andy Etchebarren to fly out as Frank Robinson took third.

U of S wins golf tourney

MILBY (WD) — The University of Sherbrooke Golf Team won first place in the Quebec University Athletic Association finals held at the Lennoxville-Milby Country Club.

Nine other teams from universities in Quebec and Ontario took part in the U of S-sponsored tournament.

The University of Sherbrooke got off to a strong start when they took first place in the first-half of the playoffs that were held on Sept. 23 and 24 at the Mount Orford Golf Club.

Things looked bad for U of S, however, when on Thursday they finished two points behind Laval University.

On Friday the U of S showed it had what it takes when it finished 19 strokes better than the Laval squad with a 634.

In third place Bishop's University finished with 650 followed by Lovola with 668 and McGill with 669.

Sir George Williams had a disappointing 702 to give them sixth place after having finished third last week. Seventh, eighth and ninth places went to the University of Montreal with 706, and Royal Military College, Kingston, Ontario, with 716, and CMR with a disappointing 773.

Individual scores for the first place U of S team are: P. Lessard — 151, R. Gagne — 154, J. Authier — 167, P. Brosseau — 162, B. Bernies — 181 and J. Cote — 167.

This is the second year that the University has sponsored the event which has been termed a huge success by Andre Pelletier, the organizer of the tournament.

A trophy was awarded to the winning team at a presentation held at the Lennoxville-Milby Country Club.

St. Jerome throttles Beavers 13-7

ST. JEROME — St. Jerome Alouettes, down 6-1 two minutes into the second period, rallied to tie the score at 7-7 before the end of the middle frame and then poured in six more unanswered scores in the third en route to a 13-7 shellacking of Sherbrooke Beavers Sunday night.

Rene Lambert led the St. Jerome offensive with four goals while Maurice Desfosses, Serbe Roch and Reynald Belanger chipped in two apiece. Alain Tremblay, Pierre-Yves Ouellette and Mario Desjardins rounded out the Alouettes' spree with single goals.

Francois Rochon, Gaston Boulanger and Jean Lemieux paced Sherbrooke with two goals each while Claude St. Sauveur scored once.

St. Jerome outshot Sherbrooke 44-36.

Did Coach Claude Dolbec bring his Bruins to play hockey Friday night or just to have his players roughed up the Junior Beavers? His boys did everything that calls for penalties in the game. Bruins were served up 11 of the 14 penalties that were issued. They received nine minors, two majors and a misconduct. Rene Villemore was the villain being tagged with four minors and a misconduct. Beavers lost the services of Gaston Boulanger with possible head injuries and may be out for a couple of games pending a doctor's examination during the weekend. But when the fireworks were over the Beavers came up with a 4-2 win in the season's opener.

Play opened fast in the first five minutes of the first period with both goalies being called on to make big saves. Bruno Isabel was the first man to get the nod for hooking. Maxime Quoquochi of the Bruins was chased for roughing but the Beavers were unable to penetrate the Bruins defence while he was off. At the eight minute mark Rene Villemore went off for elbowing and the Beavers power play clicked for the only goal of the period. Denis Carle, the Bruins defenceman, put the puck behind his own goalie on an attempt to clear his zone. Gaston Boulanger, the last Beaver to touch the puck, was credited with the goal. Villemore and Levasseur of the Bruins were chased before the period ended.

The Bruins were out to tie the score right off at the start of the second period keeping the play in the Beavers end and the goal did come after eight minutes. Maxime Quoquochi scoring on a pass from Jean Paul Gilbert. Right from the face-off both Claude St. Sauveur and Francois Rochon missed chances to put the Beavers out in front as Jacques Legevre came up with big saves. It was the Bruins who took the lead after 10 minutes. Alain Lessard teaming up with Johnny Martin and Quoquochi to score from close in. The Beavers tied it up when Yvon Cloutier, who was a going concern all night, scored with a low shot to the goalies stickside. Michel Lefebvre and Marcel Charette got assists on the tally.

Less than a minute later Charette put the Beavers ahead on a pretty passing play with Lefebvre and McCue.

Jean Lemieux, the sturdy Beaver defenceman, got the only goal of the third period scoring on a long shot into the righthand corner. Lefebvre, the Bruins goalie, was screened on the goal.

The third period was a rough one with no less than eight penalties being called. Five to the Bruins and three to the Beavers. Lemieux was tagged with a major and Villemore got a misconduct penalty during the period. It was a hard fought game with both goalies earning stars along with Claude St. Sauveur. 2,800 took in the game. Beavers next home game is Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. when the Drummondville Rangers will be the visitors.

Argos squeak by Riders

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders beat Toronto Argonauts everywhere but on the scoreboard Sunday, losing 12-3 before 21,868 disappointed Eastern Football Conference fans.

The trouble was the Riders ran all but four of their plays from outside the Toronto 40 yard line and never appeared to threaten at any time during the game.

This left both coaches disgruntled, the players grim and silent and the fans displeased.

"We were lucky to win, we were so inept," Toronto coach Leo Cahill said while coach Jack Gotta of Ottawa complained: "Our throwers aren't throwing and our catchers aren't catching."

The players dotted their dressing room benches like mute lumps—hands and heads hanging—and the fans showed their general feelings by a series of boos for Ottawa quarterback Rick Cassata in the second half.

Cassata had been spared this until last week when Ottawa put Gary Wood on waivers and brought in former B.C. Lion Paul Brothers.

Cassata threw one interception and Brothers two in the brief time he was allowed to lead what attack Ottawa had.

Two Ottawa points came on a fine defensive move by lineman

Wayne Smith when he nailed Toronto quarterback Joe Theismann in his own end zone for a safety touch in the first quarter. Marcel De Leeuw punted 43 yards for a single.

The only real attack the Argos showed ended in a 23 yard touchdown pass to Mike Eben in the first quarter. Their other points came from Ivan MacMillan with a convert and a 38-yard field goal and from Zenon Andrusyshyn with two punt singles.

Beyond that it was mostly solid, sometimes brilliant, defensive football.

The Riders had 18 first downs to nine for the Argos and a net offence of 271 yards compared with 200 for Toronto.

The one really bright spot for Toronto, perhaps of the game, was Theismann who completed 12 of 18 passes for 118 yards and ran 12 times for 62 yards.

But here too the Riders were on top with Cassata and Brothers good on 12 of 30 pass attempts for 161 yards.

more slowly but the end result will be nine or 10 tricks. In other words, three no-trump played by South is a cinch contract.

Oswald: "Let's see what happens if South opens one spade. North may elect to respond one no-trump. South will study awhile. He may pass or he may raise to two no-trump. If he raises to two no-trump, North will continue to game. East will be on lead and is quite likely to lead the jack of hearts. If he does West will win the first five tricks and no one can make three no-trump that way."

Jim: "North may raise spades. Playing in spades, South will probably be held to nine tricks. Nine tricks are enough for game in no-trump. They aren't enough in spades."

Oswald: "We are frequently asked if we ever open one no-trump when we hold a five-card major. Our answer is that we do any time our hand fulfills all requirements for a no-trump opening."

Jim: "Today's hand illustrates why we favor the no-trump opening when our hand meets these requirements. After South's opening no-trump, North has a classic raise to game. If West makes his normal opening lead of the fourth best heart, South proceeds to rattle off 10 tricks. If West opens some other suit the play will go

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BRERETON

Brereton, Marsh wed

The marriage of Rita Mariene, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Marsh of Bolton Centre, to John S. Brereton, only son of Mr. John T. Brereton and Mrs. Flora Manderson of Montreal took place on August 28, at 2 p.m., at St. Patrick's Anglican Church, in Bolton Centre.

Rev. Ian Dodd officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Laird Thomas presided at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white nylon, featuring an empire waist with a white satin bow with streamers. The long sleeves and square neckline were trimmed with guipure lace. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place with a satin pillbox. She carried a bouquet of daisies and miniature red roses.

Miss Juanita Marsh, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a pant suit of blue lace. It had a high neckline and long sleeves with a solid panel on the buttoned jacket. She carried a nosegay of daisies and pink roses.

Miss Mona Marsh, as bridesmaid, wore an identical pant suit in pink lace. She also carried a nosegay of daisies and pink roses.

Miss Kathy Marsh, as flower girl, wore a short dress of blue taffeta with a high round neckline and gathered skirt, with a coat of blue lace. She carried a basket of daisies, pink roses, and baby's breath.

The three attendants wore white satin bows with streamers in their hair.

Mr. Jean Masse acted as best man and the ushers were Norman and Douglas Marsh, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a dress of light blue lace over taffeta, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother chose a dress of light blue lace with an overcoat of the same material. She wore white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Club Room, due to the rainy weather, as a garden reception had been planned. The hall was decorated in yellow and white.

The bridal table was covered with a gold and white damask cloth purchased in Egypt by the bride's uncle, and featured a four-tier wedding cake, trimmed with white roses and topped with a bride and groom and two attendants under a bower of bells and white lilies-of-the-valley.

Following the reception, the bride and groom left for a trip through Vermont. The bride wore a dress of pink fortrel lace with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Guests were from Boston, Mass.; Valcartier, Montreal, Cowansville and East Farnham.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was entertained at two showers, one at the home of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ella McGill, where she received gifts of money; the second one was a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Terrio, where she received many lovely and useful gifts.

STANSTEAD — Maclures Restaurant at Stanstead was on Tuesday evening, September 21, the scene of a delightful event when 55 relatives and friends gathered to honor Mrs. Paul Pellerin for a stork shower.

On arrival, she was presented with a stork novelty corsage and escorted to a chair and seated between the prospective grandmothers, Mrs. Leo Dubois and Mrs. Emile Pellerin. The trio opened the attractively wrapped and ribboned gifts to reveal a wide selection of beautiful and useful items for the expected wee one.

Games were played and prizes presented to the winners. Mrs. Horace Doyon claimed a door prize.

The hostesses were Mrs. Huguette Wing and Mrs. Rita Tellier, who served refreshments. The shower cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon in the design of an adorable poodle dog in light blue with a pink bow.

Guests attended from Waterville, Lennoxville, Beebe and the Boundary Villages.

25th anniversary celebrated

MARBLETON — Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rogers of Lacolle, Que., were honored guests at a cold plate supper held in St. Paul's Church, on Sept. 25, to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, nee Florence Thorneloe, were married in St. Paul's Church, Marbleton, on Aug. 10, 1946. The anniversary party was delayed as they were holidaying in Europe at that time.

The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion by a niece, Mrs. Byron Thorneloe, with streamers, wedding bells, and autumn flowers.

The head table was prettily decorated by Mrs. Richard Thorneloe, sister-in-law of the couple. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and decorated with pink and white streamers with silver numerals 25's.

The anniversary cake, topped with a silver numeral 25, was decorated by Mrs. Thorneloe. It was flanked by lighted candles in silver holders, and a silver bowl of rose-pink miniature asters. Mrs. Thorneloe also decorated the sugar cubes used at the tables.

Mrs. Walter Thorneloe was in charge of the other tables that seated 32 relatives and friends. She was ably assisted by other members of the family.

On entering the hall, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, with their daughter Pamela and their son Peter, were met by the bridal attendants at their wedding. Mrs. Gordon MacAulay was the maid of honor; Mrs. Forrest Daigneault and Mrs. Edward Rowland, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

The rose corsages were made by Mrs. T. Thorneloe. Mrs. MacAulay presented a corsage to Mrs. Rogers, and a carnation boutonniere was presented to Mr. Rogers by Mrs. Thorneloe. Corsages were also presented to Mrs. Sylvia Thorneloe, mother of the bride, and to Mrs. Alic Heatherington, an elderly friend of the family. Mrs. F. A. Rogers, mother of the groom was unable to attend.

Following greetings and congratulations, the guests of honor were escorted to the head table by Mrs. MacAulay. Seated with them were Mrs. Sylvia Thorneloe, Mrs. MacAulay, Mrs. Daigneault, Mrs. Rowland, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thorneloe.

Old Fashioned Turkey Stuffing

Turkey is one of the nicest presents that the Old World received from the New.

Turkey dinners used to follow successful turkey shoots. Wild turkeys which were extremely swift-footed abounded in the area of the Plymouth Plantation.

Today we know nothing of the skill that our forefathers required to successfully stalk a "turkie". All we have to do to produce a turkey dinner is visit our local supermarket and buy a fresh or frozen bird (even boneless!) which can be ready for dinner in three hours.

But time hasn't changed the idea of serving a dressing with a roasted turkey. However, today there are more convenient ways of making the stuffing.

Today we have stuffing mixes — seasoned or plain — bread cubes and bread crumbs which makes preparing old-time flavored stuffing easier.

It was and still is not uncommon to serve two or three kinds of dressing with the bird. This is a good idea if you are serving a buffet dinner to people with a variety of tastes. All of these dressings can be made in a casserole and cooked alongside the turkey.

Some sloppy breads can't read

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young married woman (under 30), no square and certainly not a prude. I'm writing about something that has been bugging me for a long time. I realize you can't do anything about it but I must get this off my chest.

What's with these slobs who think it's sexy and "with it" to go without a bra. I can't tell you how many times, while walking on the street with a casual friend, or my dad, or my husband, and I see, coming toward us, a cow-like female, her breasts flopping around. It is embarrassing and disgusting. A person doesn't know where to look or what to say.

And this is only part of it. I work three days a week in a dress shop. You wouldn't believe the women who come in here to try on expensive dresses with no bras, and sometimes no underwear. I refuse to wait on these pigs and my boss has backed me up. Please publish this letter so it can be tacked up in every fitting room in the country. Then, instead of having to say something, the salesperson need only point to your column on the wall. Much obliged.

—Hollywood
Dear Ann Landers: Here's the column and I hope it helps. But prepare yourself for a shock. Some of those sloppy breads can't read.

Dear Ann Landers: A personal family problem: Can you shed a little light on an already overheated argument? My young cousin was expecting her first baby in a few months. The family got together and furnished her nursery, complete with organdy curtains. A great deal of thought and imagination went into that project, aside from the money.

A few days ago Lila gave birth to a premature baby. He lived only a few hours. Lila is heartsick and, in my opinion, not thinking clearly. She instructed me to phone her sister-in-law and ask her to send her husband and take everything out of the nursery.

The relatives are very upset. They say they did not buy this furniture for Lila's sister-in-law. I believe they have a point. What's the best solution to this knotty problem?

—Hedda in Erie
Dear Hedda: I agree with you that the young woman is not thinking clearly. In my opinion the best solution would be to put the furniture in storage. She is young. I gather from your letter, and hopefully she will yet have a baby of her own.

Dear Ann Landers: I am in love with the man I plan to marry in a few months. He is in love with his ex-girlfriend. If you think I am crazy, let me assure you I am not. Fred and I have discussed this in detail and I know the facts. He agrees that I have them straight. His reasoning is simple. He says I would make a much better wife for him than his former sweetheart. He states quite openly that she is more beautiful, more sexually appealing and more exciting, but

OBITUARIES

MRS. REGINALD NOBES of Lennoxville The death occurred on Thursday, Aug. 26, 1971, of Mrs. Reginald Nobes at her home in Lennoxville.

The former Winona Daniels was born in Rowe, Mass., U.S.A. Nov. 5, 1906, a daughter of the late Frederick Daniels and his wife Delia Martin.

In 1929 she was united in marriage to Roy S. Clark. Of this union one son was born, Charles. She was predeceased by her husband in 1933.

In 1937 she was reunited in marriage to Reginald Nobes. Of this union one son was born, Eric. They resided in Lennoxville until 1960, then moving to Sherbrooke for 10 years, then returning to Lennoxville in 1970.

She was also predeceased by one brother, George Dewey Daniels some years ago, in Barton, Vt., U.S.A.

The funeral was held from R. L. Bishop Funeral Home, 76 Queen St., Lennoxville on Sat. Aug. 28 at 2:00 p.m. Rev. Brett Perring, Galt, officiated. The organ music was played by Mrs. Ernest Howland. The soloist, Miss Thelma Crawford, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

The bearers were one cousin Ron Miles and three friends, Walter Billson, Les Beaulieu, Bill Dezan.

Interment was in the family lot in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

Mrs. Nobes is survived by her husband, Reginald, two sons, Charles Clark and Eric Nobes, two daughters-in-law, and seven grandchildren, all of Lennoxville.

Other survivors are one aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Despres, of Burlington, Vt., two nieces, Evelyn, Mrs. Stanley Dorry, Newport, Vt., and Margaret, Mrs. Earl La Clair, Barton, Vt., and several cousins in Mass., U.S.A. and surrounding district.

ANDREW H. HORAN of Danville The death occurred suddenly at The Meadows, Washington, Pennsylvania, U.S.A. on August 21, 1971 of Andrew Harland Horan of Danville, Que.

Mr. Horan was born at Danville on June 3, 1918, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horan, being the eldest of eleven children.

He received his education at the Bickford and Asbestos schools; and spent most of his life working in the vicinity of Danville and Asbestos; with the exception of one summer in Montreal and the last three in Sherbrooke, Montreal, Quebec City, Ste. Anne de La Rochelle and finally the past fourteen months in the U.S.A.

He carried on a milk route in Danville for 25 years, and was well-known by young and old; French and English alike.

Always interested in horses, he owned and trained several, eventually going to New York State, where he became employed by W.R. Houghton Racing Stables and was in the Grand Circuit at the time of his death, which came as a severe shock to his family and friends.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Stella Barlow, to whom he was married Nov. 15, 1941. Four children, Colin, Barry, Marina and Craig, two grandchildren, two daughters-in-law, his mother, Mrs. C.J. Horan, his mother-in-law, Mrs. L. Barlow; also six sisters, Mrs. Roy Carson (Eileen), Mrs. Garth Carson (Hazel), Mrs. George Kazual (Leola), Mrs. Foster Morrill (Deveda), Mrs.

The funeral was held at the Carl F. Slade Funeral Home, Interment Southern Memorial Park.

Those from Canada who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McKevelly, Mr. Robert McKevelly, Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Hornett, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McKevelly, Mrs. Robert Whitcomb and daughter Crystal and Mr. Edward John McKevelly.

His bank branch will telephone or wire the Montreal exchange office and ask for a quote on the price of francs at that particular moment.

If the price quoted is acceptable to the customer, the deal is immediately concluded over the telephone and recorded in Montreal on a yellow slip.

However, with the transaction the dealer's job is only half done. To cover the bank's "position"—its own holding of foreign currency—he now must locate and purchase the amount of francs he has just sold.

"In other words, for every buyer here, there must be a seller somewhere," said Mr. Lawson. "We're middle men, in effect matching buyers against sellers."

To find the francs required, the trader may—if time zones permit—contact a bank in France. However, if the French banks are closed, the trader will have to shop around elsewhere, in Philadelphia, Toronto or just down the street.

Mr. Lawson said that a life of dealing with millions in the foreign exchange can do funny things to a man.

"I once came home after a tremendous day, and was telling my wife about handling millions of dollars worth of transactions.

"When she mentioned buying one of our children a new pair of shoes for $7.95, I replied: 'What? That's a hell of a lot of money.'"

COFFEE PARTY

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Meet the money merchants
MONTREAL (CP) — Foreign exchange traders are a rare breed who live in a world of their own.
Their world is a room dominated by telephones, a telex and the word "millions." Sometimes the millions mean dollars. Other times they could mean pounds sterling, francs, deutschmarks or drachmas.
But always there is the pressure of snap decisions on the buying and selling of international currency. Right decisions mean profits, wrong decisions mean losses.
Take, for example, the Bank of Montreal's foreign exchange department, located in the bank's headquarters on St. James Street. In it sit the bank's foreign exchange traders—men responsible for millions of dollars of currency transactions a day.
The bank's half-dozen traders belong to a small elite. There probably are no more than 100 men in Canada who make their living in this world of high-pressure money dealing and sudden fluctuations.

ASTRO-GUIDE
By Ceean
Tuesday, October 5
The Day Under Your Sign
ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19)—Egocentric news darkens the forecast, but Arians bounce back in a sunny mood by wearing a smile in P.M.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 21)—Go to bed early to avoid to renew your low vitality. Listen to soft, soothing music on the radio.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Spontaneous attractions may not last long, but they're fun while they do last. Relax and enjoy it.
CANCER (June 22 to July 22)—Intuition isn't all that it should be today. Instead, rely on that old standby, common sense.
LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21)—Seas from a friend lifts your spirits early in day but you yourself are happy about his good fortune.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Further mutual inductions depend on action taken now. Don't be indecisive—act promptly.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Accent is on mail—both quantity and quality! An unexpected package brings an extra pleasant surprise.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Perplexing circumstances have you "crawling up the wall." You can't figure just what the trouble is.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Impromptu activities will prove to be more fun than formal gatherings planned far in advance.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—There seems to be considerable concern over health of older members of family. Help where you can.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You'll find yourself ahead of the game if you can hold on just a little longer without tipping your hand.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Don't force your own social interests on others. Not all people like golf, not all like to fish, etc.
