Police car hits parked automobile

A police car, answering an emergency call for a suspected hold-up, skidded and struck a parked car on the west side of Olivier avenue, causing damage in the amount of $281.

At Monday's meeting of Westmount City Council, Ald. C. H. Drury, Police Commissioner, moved that payment be made out of insurance reserve to cover the damages to the private car.

Ald. Drury added that the occurrence was an accident, and in no way involved blame to the policeman who was driving the patrol car at the time.

Man of many parts

By Margaret Aitken

Britain's new High Commissioner to Canada, Rt. Hon. Viscount Amory, was this session's first guest speaker at a Commonwealth Parliamentary Association meeting. He is a man of many parts and a speaker of both authority and humor.

Lord Amory began his adult career as a businessman, in a family business. From 1940 to 1945 he was a soldier, a Lt.-Colonel, and then he went into politics. Now he is a diplomat after having resigned from politics to go back into business.

There we have the bare bones of a colorful man's career. He is tall, with long sensitive hands, greying hair and a facile mind that brings forth much wit and wisdom. He is the first bachelor in Earncliffe, (the British Embassy in Ottawa) since the days of Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald. Mr. MacDonald rectified his single state by marrying a Canadian.

It is interesting and perhaps significant to note that Lord Amory's predecessor, Sir Saville Garner, was a career diplomat. The present High Commissioner is a shrewd and experienced politician. He was lured out of private life by Prime Minister Macmillan to take on this job at a time when Canadian politicians were very much on the qui vive over the European Common Market. It can only be assumed that British officials thought Lord Amory might be more sympathetic and adept at handling the ECM problems, in relation to Canada, than a career diplomat would be.

The High Commissioner was born 63 years ago. He graduated from Eton and Oxford. During his military career he took part in airborne operations at Arnhem, was severely wounded and taken prison by the Germans.

In 1945 he was elected Conservative MP for Tiverton in Devon and for the next four years sat in the opposition.

When the Conservative party returned to power in 1951, he was named Minister of Pensions. Through the next nine years he held a wide variety of ministries — Board of Trade, agriculture and fisheries, and finally Chancellor of the Exchequer, meaning Minister of Finance. In those days he was known as Derrick Heathcoat Amory. In 1960 he was made a Viscount.

In introducing Viscount Amory, Heath MacQuarrie, MP, president of the CPA, said the High Commissioner had done a truly remarkable thing when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer. He reduced taxes. Viscount Amory beamed. Mr. MacQuarrie went on to say it just so happened the Chancellor brought about his tax reductions in 1959, an election year in Britain. The audience of practical politicians laughed when Lord Amory indicated this fact of an election has escaped his notice at the time.

Off record

The CPA meetings are off the record and no quotes are supposed to be attributed to the guest speakers. But Lord Amory is the kind of speaker who has a story ready at hand for any occasion and harm could be done in illustrating how he looks after himself in frank discussion. One Canadian MP asked a difficult question and that reminded the High Commissioner of the back bencher who asked a loaded question.

"My answer," said the Cabinet Minister, "is partly in the affirmative and partly in the negative."

"Which part is in the affirmative and which is the negative," persisted the back-bencher.

"Oh," said the Cabinet Minister, "I leave that to the innate intelligence of the hon. gentleman."

Obituary

Andrew C. Cordner

"Mr. Restaurateur" — Andrew Clark Cordner, 718 Upper Lansdowne avenue, Westmount — was buried in Mount Royal Cemetery, Tuesday, following a funeral service in Dominion-Douglas Church, Westmount.

Mr. Cordner, better-known as "Andy," died, Friday, in the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, aged 83.

Born at Kilmacoe, County Armagh, Ireland, he was a prominent Montreal businessman for many years, and had just completed his 50th year in the restaurant and catering business.

Mr. Cordner left Ireland with his parents in 1885, and went to live at Chicopee, Mass., where he began his business career as a clerk in the hardware store of Homer Foot & Company, at Springfield, Mass., in 1894.

Four years later he was promoted to shipping clerk, and in 1900 to travelling salesman.

He resigned later to travel for Bemis & Call Hardware & Tool Company, also of Springfield, and remained with that company from 1906 until 1912 when he came to Montreal and founded the North-eastern Lunch Co., Ltd., the first arm-chair self-service restaurant in the city.

The firm soon had a chain of 11 restaurants in the city, and for many years catered especially to businessmen, and to theatre-goers.

When this business was discontinued some years ago, Mr. Cordner became chairman of the board of Cordners Limited, and Industrial Caterers Limited, positions he held until his death.

He was also vice-president of Ernest Cousins Ltd., Obalski Mining Corporation, and Giroux, Cordner Exploration.

He was a past president of the Quebec Provincial Restaurant Association, Kiwanis Club of Montreal, and the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, and a governor of the Montreal General Hospital.

Mr. Cordner was one of the original members of the board of the Protestant Employment Bureau, and also honorary treasurer for many years. In 1941 he was named chairman of the organization.

Among other activities, he was a past president, and life member, of the Caledonia Curling Club, a life member of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, and a member of the Montreal Board of Trade.

His wife, the former Florence Ethel Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus L. Bond, of Bondsville, Mass., died seven years ago.

He is survived by two sisters in the United States, and a brother-in-law, R. L. Bond, of Montreal.

Generally costumed in green jackets, silver buckled shoes, and tall hats topped with a feather, they change their size and dress depending on what they are up to at the time.

"Leprechauns", says our informer "have names like Jim, Nick, and Nicky, and usually wear red jackets with seven buttons in a row to indicate their single status, and to show that they are fairly shoemakers."

The "Churichum" is the playboy type, and spends his time getting drunk on someone else's liquor.

"Merrows" are seagoing folk, and Irish to the core. They are green all over and they periodically dive into the sea where they keep hoards of whiskey, and the souls of sailors lost at sea in huge lobster pots.

The "Goncercer" inhabits lonesome valleys, and makes love to shy shepherdesses and milk maids.

The "Pooka" is a fairy that can take any shape or form, and he invites strangers for a ride and then rewards them by flinging them over a cliff.

The "Centry" steal new born babies and leave a sickly one in exchange. They are usually blamed by servants for the disappearance of things, but are generally a gentle lot who do good to the good, and bad to the bad.

So Beware! St. Patrick's Day is on the Seventeenth, and that's the night when the wee Folk come out to prow!

Insp. Arsenault retires today

Policemen enjoy the unenviable position in society of being openly disliked by a large percentage of the general public.

But anybody who really knows Ovila J. Arsenault, Inspector in charge of Westmount Police Force, will be only too willing to say that during his 30 years or so in the district, this quiet, gentlemanly, yet forceful officer, has commanded the respect of many local citizens.

Inspector Arsenault, whose home is at 2202 Old Orchard, N.D.G., goes on retirement leave today, and will officially hang up his police hat on May 4.

As Police Chief, Ed Harper, said, the Inspector has been the mainstay of the Westmount Municipal Court for many years in his capacity as clerk.

Mainstay of the court

Due to his excellent work, Inspector Arsenault will not be lost to Westmount.

He will be going back to the police station on May 7 as a civilian clerk of the court.

"This will be a full-time job,"

INSP. ARSENAULT

— by Roger Brunelle

said the Inspector. "I don't have any degrees in law, but I do have quite a bit of experience.

"It's the kind of work I've been used to in the past, so my retirement will not come as a great separation from my career.

"I'll be back in the court, doing what I enjoy — helping unfortunate people to straighten out their lives," he said.

Born on Magdalen Island, Inspector Arsenault attended school on Prince Edward Island, and took his first job in 1925 as a chemist for the Clarke Trading Company in Clarke City, Quebec.

From 1926 to 1931 he was head clerk for the Anticosti Island corporation.

During the depression

He came to Montreal in 1931 during the depression days, and joined the Westmount Police Force as a constable on the beat. Later in the same year he was transferred to the police office, and in 1938 he became sergeant of police and assistant clerk of the recorder's court.

Married in Montreal

He was married in Montreal in 1938 to Aldee M. Boudreau, also

by Gordon Eastwood

of Magdalen Island. The couple have three children.

The eldest daughter, Marguerite is 21, and finishing her studies at the College Marguerite Bourgeoys, on Westmount avenue.

There are two sons, Pierre, 19, a student at St. Luc School on Cote St. Luc road, and Thomas, 16, who is attending Notre Dame College.

Before taking over his "new" job, Inspector Arsenault and his family will be visiting the officer's 92-year-old father, Leger Arsenault, on Magdalen Island.

Since 1957, Mr. Arsenault has held the post of inspector of police and clerk of the municipal court.

Soon after coming to Montreal, he went on a three-year course at Miss Graham's Business College, where he studied English and shorthand.

During his career, Inspector Arsenault took correspondence

Westmount YMCA accepts four students

The Montreal YMCA operates a work-study plan for students at Sir George Williams University who are keenly interested in youth work, to gain experience, a college education, and practical training all at the same time.

These students, in effect, work their way through university by putting in 22 hours a week in "field work" at YMCA branches in Montreal.

This year, four students have been assigned to the Westmount branch.

Although the Westmount branch has been using fellowship students for a number of years, this number is a record for recent times.

Geoff Anderson, of Toronto, and Douglas Harland, of Toronto, have been assigned to the youth department of the Westmount 'Y', while Sydney Zink, of Brandon, Manitoba, and Jim Fraser, of Galt, Ontario, have been assigned to the physical department.

Turn professional

Geoff Anderson is in his third year on the fellowship plan. Geoff was associated with the Lakeshore YMCA during his first two years in Montreal. This year he is in charge of all non-physical youth teen program and the outing club, special events, family program, and the 'Y' newspaper. Geoff intends to enter the YMCA when he graduates next year, as a professional YMCA secretary.

Douglas Harland joined the Westmount 'Y' staff last summer as the assistant-director of the Summer Fun Club. He is acting as youth membership secretary, and craft director, and plans to be with the summer program again this summer.

Doug hopes to take post-graduate studies in theology for preparation into the Priesthood of the Church.

Sydney Zink hails from international branch of the Montreal YMCA where she has worked for two years. This year she is in charge of the girls junior leaders' corps and several swimming and gym classes — adult and youth. Sydney intends to remain in Montreal after graduation this May.

Jim Fraser received his former 'Y' training in Galt before coming to Westmount last September. Jim is in charge of the boys junior leaders' corps. He is responsible for some swimming and gym classes as well. Jim plans to engage in a career with youth when he graduates.

Auto injures girl

Miss Priscilla Gendreau, 15, 207 Maplegrove street, Beauharnois, Quebec, a student at the Studio Elizabeth Lize, Victoria avenue, Westmount, received bruises on the right thigh when she was knocked down by a car at the intersection of Sherbrooke and Victoria avenues, Westmount, Saturday.

The girl was taken to Montreal Children's Hospital, but not detained.

The car was driven by Gaston Lebel, 25, Squatteck, Temiscouata.

WE SAY YOU SAY

New milk price: a few suggestions

DAIRIES serving this district last week announced a two cent bump in the price of a quart of milk.

Over the weekend we posed questions in the dairy country supplying much of Montreal's milk.

One typical farmer was cynical. There has been no increase for a long time in the price the dairies pay him. Milk for which he is paid $4.88 now will cost the consumer in Montreal an even $10. "They (the dairies) always got double what they pay us," he said.

When reminded that one reason given for the increase was cost of transportation, the farmer laughed bitterly: "I, like other farmers, pay for the transportation right to the dairy in Montreal. It doesn't cost the dairies a cent."

Another sneaky trick of the dairies, we were told, is to hold the farmers to a quota of milk they may ship at the established price. The surplus is shipped to a co-operative, supposedly for processing, for which the farmer gets only half the usual price. If the dairies run short, they are able to get this cheaper milk from the co-operative.

City consumers get the short end, along with the farmers, in the price juggling and price fixing of the dairies.

The wasteful economics of half dozen firms covering the same districts each day with substantially the same milk is another disgraceful waste of manpower through duplication.

If the dairies can so easily rig prices between them, surely they could arrange to cut out the waste of duplicated distribution systems and pass the savings on to the consumer.

THEY SAY

Good ends can rarely be attained in politics without passion.

Citizen boosts his country

Sir:

I read with a great deal of interest Pierre Berton's column in last week's Examiner about Canada possibly joining the United States some time in the future.

I think Mr. Berton and other members of the panel are dreamers and not realists.

It is true we are deluged night and day (via press, radio and TV) with American propaganda and that, to some extent, our way of life is patterned after our U.S. cousins. Not all Canadians, however, are nearly as materialistic (thank heavens) as Americans; nor do we border on panic when the cold war blows hot on occasion and Communism seems to become a greater threat to the Free World.

For instance, did Canada fall for this crazy shelter (against atomic attacks) business which hit the United States during the past year or so?

Canadians may not think in exactly the same terms from coast to coast, but there still remains an invisible unity just the same — and that unity is growing despite all this blabber about Quebec separatism.

Spiritually, I believe, the average Canadian is far ahead of his American counterpart and would not trade one iota of this for two cars in a garage.

And it's certain that Canadians are far better informed on world events than Americans.

No, I don't think Canada is in any danger of ever becoming another American state.

By the way, does a columnist like Pierre Berton appearing regularly in The Examiner reflect your editorial policy?

—Proud Canadian.

Editor's note: None of the opinions expressed in The Examiner's many columns necessarily reflects our editorial policies. These men and women, however, are not shackled by a host of restrictions. We require only that their copy be in good taste. We have not asked Mr. Berton this question, nor do we intend to, but isn't it possible that much of what he writes has a tongue-in-cheek quality aimed at generating some healthy controversy?

The land of rice and snow By Pierre Berton

MY CASUAL REFERENCE to Eskimos and icebergs on the Jack Paar Show has caused considerable concern in this country. There's a strong campaign underfoot to maintain the traditional image of Canada as a sub-tropical paradise and any reference to such fictional items as snow up here are now considered subversive.

Miss Lotta Dempsey, in a friendly comment is worried that I may have incurred the wrath of the advertising men who have for years been sending color photographs to Holiday magazine showing the palm groves and coconut plantations at Wasaga Beach. "The boys who write all those expensive travel ads won't be happy, Pierre," says Lotta, and I guess she's right.

Mr. Gordon Sinclair took off his galoshes long enough to take to the air waves in a spirited defence of our climate, pointing out that, even as I talked, Canada was suffering from a heat wave that had sent the temperature soaring to a sizzling 57 in Calgary. Mr. Sinclair added that the desk at which I work is actually south of Boston. Well, either they've moved my desk or I use a different atlas than Gordon, since mine reveals that Boston is about 100 miles south of Toronto; but no matter. The point is well taken. There is nothing to do but recant. I apologize for spreading the canard that we have snow.

The Canadian Tourist Association will be happy to hear this as it recently put a ban on all advertisements depicting snow, ice or cold weather unless the people depicted in these ads were shown to be smiling, laughing gaily or leaping up and down in hysterical joy. Thus, all photographs of citizens shovelling something white out of their driveways around 8 o'clock on a busy morning are to be banned unless these citizens are grinning from ear to ear. I understand that photographers have been standing by for 12 months now hoping to catch just such a scene but without any luck so far. Possibly because we have had so little snow.

Hot weather headlines

Personally, I don't believe the Tourist Association and the press have gone nearly far enough and I, for one, intend to throw my weight behind an all-out campaign to tell the truth about Canadian weather. Somebody has got to talk to the people who write the headlines and convince them that an up-beat is needed. This is the sort of thing I have in mind:

THOUSANDS SWELTER IN TORONTO AS THERMOMETER SOARS TO ZERO

TWO MORE DEATHS FROM HEAT PROSTRATION in Royal York furnace room

RESTAURANTS OKAY BERMUDA SHORTS AS FEBRUARY GARB

During the next fall of wet snow I'll suggest this kind of headline:

HUMIDITY MAIN PROBLEM EXPERTS SAY — NOT HEAT

As for Gordon, I'd suggest that he might look into the legality of girls wearing bikinis on Yonge St. in March. I suspect they are banned. A juicy item in itself, it will help get across the fact that the climate, at least, is a tolerant one.

Approved TV interview

Under my new scheme, TV personalities appearing on U. S. television shows will be carefully briefed by Tourist Association experts before each appearance to produce interviews like this one:

INTERVIEWER: How long are you in New York, Mr. Grebe.
TV PERSONALITY: Just came down for a few days to cool off, Ed.

INTERVIEWER: To cool off?
TV PERSONALITY: Yes, it's sort of refreshing to see snow again. Takes me back to my boyhood in Alabama. You know a lot of people won't believe this but these months of unrelieved northern sun can get just a bit monotonous. I mean day after day of cloudless skies. I tell you, Ed, it's a downright joy to me to feel the nip in the air that you've got down here.

INTERVIEWER: Uh, Where did you say you came from?
TV PERSONALITY: I work in Toronto, but of course we like to spend at least one month of the winter in Moosonee. It's a good thing I tan easily. It's sheer torture for people with fair skins.

INTERVIEWER: Moosonee? Don't they have Eskimos and things like that up there?

TV PERSONALITY: You're referring to the brown-skinned natives, I guess. You know, Ed, I really get a charge out of their attitude toward life. Not a worry in the world. Just lying around on the beach all day long, playing their stringed instruments and cunningly weaving their grass huts. Sometimes, Ed, I think we could learn a bit from their sunny temperament . . .

INTERVIEWER: I had the distinct impression that Canada was a land of snow and ice . . .

TV PERSONALITY: Well, frankly, Ed, ice is a problem with us, and I can't honestly say we've got it licked. So much of it is used in Planter's Punches that there's a very real shortage in certain parts of our country. There's a move on now to import it from one of your big local Arctic cities, such as Boston. It could work into quite a nice local industry for you people . . .

INTERVIEWER: But what's all this talk about skiing?

TV PERSONALITY: We don't recommend it at high noon, Ed, but in the cool of the morning when the sun is just rising on the blue waters of Great Slave lake, there's nothing like a brisk run behind a fast boat.

INTERVIEWER: I must confess I'm a little confused. I'd always thought of Canada as a cold kind of country.

TV PERSONALITY: That's the trouble with you Americans, if you'll allow a friend to be frank, Ed. The amount of ignorance I've found about Canada down here is little short of amazing. You know, you people just won't take the time to understand us. You think of us as a land of ice and snow and you dismiss us out of hand. The results are sometimes laughable. Do you know, Ed, that I've actually seen tourists crossing the border in January and coming up to the Laurentians bringing fur coats, skis and ear muffs? I guess we can't blame them too much. A lot of our own people who haven't got access to the facts have come down here and shot off their mouths on television, thus contributing to the general misconception.

INTERVIEWER: Well, thank you, Harvey Grebe, for setting us straight about your wonderful country . . .

TV PERSONALITY: A pleasure, Ed. When I get back to the sunny north I'm going to send you a hand-picked garland of hibiscus and bougainvillea . . .

Skating rink to be enclosed

An architect will be appointed to draw up plans for enclosing the Westmount Skating Rink. The decision came up under the heading of new business by council Monday night.

The enclosing was asked so there would be some protection from the bitterly cold winds which are felt by winter skaters in the area now. According to Mayor Cushing, work should start on this project by next November so that it will be completed for next winter.

Westmount sets safety by-law

Westmount has joined several large cities of the world in instituting a public safety by-law, and a code of discipline for its police and fire departments.

The institution came after a year's preparatory investigation which included study of the police and fire departments of such cities as London, Paris and New York.

Something of a departure for a smaller administration, the by-law and code spell out in detail the procedures and duties of all the city's fire and police personnel.

Consulting engineers engaged

Professor Walter Schippel is to be engaged as consulting engineer for the design and office supervision of the third power transformer and controlling switchgear to be installed at Park substation.

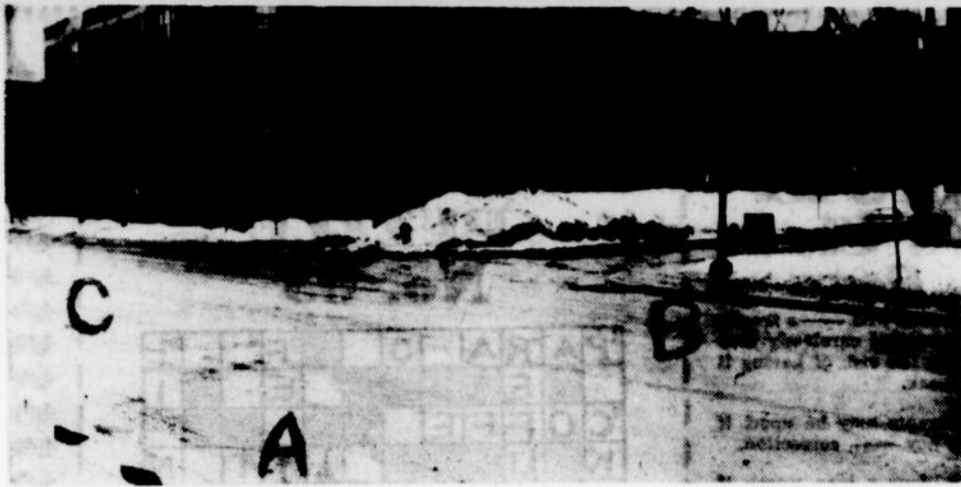

He will also act in the same capacity for the design of a 12-KV switching station.

The professor is on the staff at McGill University. He worked with the late professor C. V. Christie, whom he replaces.

I SAY

Five times during that fifteen months they witnessed accidents. All occurred on a dangerous stretch of about 125 feet from the corner of Irvine avenue to just west of Park place.

The most serious one occurred last June when Miss Bertha Ross was knocked down by a car during the evening and sustained a broken hip.

While hundreds of people gathered around the scene of the accident, fourteen persons rang Examiner columnist Valentina Rahr's doorbell (her windows look out on the "dangerous stretch") to inquire how best to proceed to get some protection from traffic and to have traffic lights installed.

A few suggestions

Most of the suggestions were to form a group and walk to the Westmount Police Station to demand protection.

"Let's walk over right now. I'm sure we'd get at least 100 people to come with us now from the crowd," one said.

"Are we supposed to wait until someone gets killed here before something is done?" asked another.

"Let's write a letter to the Chief of Police and tell him about it. He's the one to look after it," someone added.

"No. Let's just go over now and stand outside the station and make them come out and listen to us. That should get some action."

"I have five children and I'm moving away from here as soon as I can find another place to live," said one mother.

It was well on to eleven o'clock in the evening when people stopped coming to the door, and Valentina Rahr telephoned retired lawyer Dan Gilmore, Mount Pleasant avenue, to ask him how to proceed to get the best results. Mr. Gilmore immediately suggested getting up a petition and then mailing it to the Mayor of Westmount and City Aldermen.

Petition drawn up

Some weeks later the signatures were all collected, the petition was written up according to Mr. Gilmore's instructions, and delivered.

Almost immediately a reply came from City Manager Norman Dawe stating that the installation of traffic lights was being studied and that further action would be taken after results are available from the Westmount Traffic Department.

Three weeks of study followed before a chart showing traffic direction, speed, number of pedestrians crossing, and their habits, was made up.

Then, on the recommendation of the Traffic Department, a decision to install traffic lights at St. Catherine street and Park place was taken by the Westmount City Council.

Residents in the area are still waiting for the equipment to be shipped and installed although council voted the necessary amount of $9,300 to cover labor and installation costs last Monday.

"Traffic light installation at this intersection will not completely solve the traffic problem, but will go a long way toward helping it," Alderman Drury stated.

Residents of the area agree with this.

Valentina Rahr appeared on a Channel 12 TV interview to discuss the problem on Tuesday.

Police get pay rise

An important agreement with the Westmount Police Association and the City of Westmount reached its climax, Monday, when the council moved that salaries of the policemen be brought into line with those paid in Montreal.

The move calls for an increase in pay, and the introduction of long service pay starting June 1, 1961, and ending May 31, 1963.

Salary increases range from $400 annually for a first year policeman to $700 annually for a detective lieutenant.

The annual salary for policemen will now be $5,400, and $7,100 for detective lieutenants.

It is the first time in Westmount history that a move for long service pay for policemen has been passed. Starting December 1, 1961, an employee with 15 years' service will receive $156, and after 25 years, $260.

"SERVICE" IS OUR MOTTO

In 1928 . . . when Westmount Taxi was established . . . cars like this were still on the road — and giving good service. Now they're antiques but Westmount Taxi is still going strong and still giving the best service. Our business was built on courteous, dependable service and our drivers are proud of it.

Local artist honored by Canadian Council

An attractive brunette, Ghitta Caiserman, who lives at 353 Kensington avenue, Westmount, in a home furnished with authentic early Canadian pieces that may well be displayed in a museum, explained her very definite views on painting and art, yesterday.

She was notified this week by the Canadian Council that she was among the 12 Montreal area artists to receive a grant, ranging in value from $2,000 to $4,000.

The grant will enable her to work at home, without pressures from outside, for a year. She intends to spend part of that time travelling abroad.

"I don't worry too much about art as communication, or about the pure subjectivity of painting because I feel that both these things are inherent in art," declared artist Caiserman.

"The moment an experience is externalized and objectified in a visual image, communication — a give and take — occurs."

Ideas are cumulative

The Westmount artist said she

Westmount drivers collide

Donald Timm, 57, 722 Lexington avenue, Westmount, and Joan Kellnor, 20, 694 Grosvenor avenue, Westmount, received slight damage to their cars, Thursday, when they collided at 48 Belvedere place.

Police reports stated that Timm was backing out of a driveway when the accident occurred.

hoped that she painted as she lived, and lived as she painted.

"I am not embarrassed by the fact that painting has a history — as have I. Rembrandt interests me as much as Riopelle. I value memories, associations, and experiences, and I recognize the symbolic nature of much of this experience. Ideas are cumulative, and can be read on many levels," she declared.

Born in Montreal, Miss Caiserman began to study art while still a child, and by the age of 10 was exhibiting in the spring show at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

Her formal studies began at the

by Valentina Rahr

Parsons School of Design in New York City, where she was awarded a post-graduate European Scholarship in 1941.

She also studied at the New Art School, under Moses and Soyer, and later at the Art Students League under Steinberg.

After 1942 she studied and taught in Halifax, Montreal, and Mexico, and in 1950 she won an O'Keefe Art Award and travelled in Italy and France.

The first winner

The following year Miss Caiserman became the first winner of the $1,500 scholarship of the Institute of Allende of Mexico, entitling her to a year's study in that country.

Her work has been exhibited in the United States, Europe, and throughout Canada.

One man shows of her work have been displayed in Toronto, Vancouver, Montreal, Saskatoon, Calgary, and other Canadian cities.

She is also represented in the permanent collections of the National Gallery of Canada, the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, Vancouver Art Gallery, Art Gallery of Hamilton, Saskatoon Art Centre, Hart House Toronto, Windsor Art Association, Helena Rubinstein Collection, Great West Life Collection, and other public and private collections.

Miss Caiserman is a member of the Canadian Group of Painters, Canadian Society of Graphic Arts, associate member of the Royal Canadian Academy, and the School of Fine Arts at Sir George Williams University.

After completing her studies in New York City, Ghitta Caiserman returned to Montreal, and opened the Montreal Art School with three other Canadian artists.

Among the painters who have attained prominence since attending this school are Jerry Tondino, and Joe Prezamant.

Year of grace

Commenting upon the grant, artist Caiserman said that getting a grant from the Canadian Council was like getting a "year of grace."

"Just to know that my living expenses will be taken care of for a year is marvellous.

"I can concentrate on doing the work I have wanted to do for years, and could not due to pressures from outside like meeting a teaching schedule, or getting a painting ready for an art gallery.

"Now I can travel or stay at home and just work. It's unbelievable," she added.

'Mr. Immigration' retires

Westmounter W. A. (Bill) McFaul, 44 York street, known to many as "Mr. Immigration", is on retirement leave after 34 years with the Immigration Department.

The 53-year-old native of Quebec City leaves government service long before statutory retirement age of 64.

His reason: "I want a change of pace."

Fluently bilingual, Mr. McFaul joined the Immigration Department in 1928, and leaves as superintendent of the department's eastern district, which covers all Quebec province.

Mr. McFaul has long advocated individual and group assistance to help the government re-establish refugees and immigrants.

He considers Canada's selective immigration policy has brought to the country the kind of people needed in an expanding industrial economy.

PROSPERITY SIGNS

The extensive development and building programs planned for this area in the coming months by federal, provincial and municipal governments as well as by the CNR and private firms are a sure sign of the growing prosperity of this region. These programs will mean not only jobs during the actual construction, but continuing industry in the years ahead.

Woofers and Tweeters*300 uses for tape recorders

By Giveon Cornfield

A recent survey conducted by a well known electrical manufacture resulted in some amazing facts coming to light. Questionnaires were mailed out to doctors, teachers, sound engineers and hi-fi enthusiasts.

The names and addresses were of those who had purchased a tape recorder from the firm; when the results of this survey were tabulated, it becomes evident people using these machines had found no less than 300 different uses for them.

Most obvious uses for the tape recorder are the tasks the machine performs in routine use. Musical amateurs record performances and then, in listening to playback, correct mistakes and style. One may also perform with accompaniment on tape, in the absence of a live partner, and a teacher can point out to the pupil exactly where there is something wrong.

Many others

Then we come to the use of the tape recorder as a dictating machine, usable to best advantage by businessmen. A tape with a live message on it communicates so much more than a letter. Secretaries find the tape recorder a real blessing in keeping minutes of meetings, letters and instructions.

These are a few of the uses we come across in everyday life. But there are many more ways. Many people depend on

Juvenile crime minimized due to efforts of UBC

The minimum of juvenile delinquent trouble encountered by police in Westmount is one in no small way to the work being accomplished by the Unity Boys' Club on Greene avenue, according to the retiring president of the club, W. W. Allison, in his annual report presented, Wednesday.

Mr. Allison, in the 11th annual report for the year ended December 31, said the club was providing everyday leadership and guidance in behaviour, and in attitude.

"It provides also an opportunity for wholesome recreation and companionship to boys and girls who might otherwise have to find their recreation in the streets, with the possible result of doing something for wholesome recreation and companionship to boys and girls who might otherwise have to find their recreation in the streets, with the possible result of doing something their tape recorders to help them in their work. In the medical field alone more than a score of uses have been listed, such as in psychoanalysis, hypnosis, and heartbeats.

And a whole new world is opened up for the blind who have a recording machine at their disposal. Facility of push-button operation is an important factor here; another is that four hours of uninterrupted sound can be had on one reel of tape, through the combined use of longer playing tape and the use of four tracks.

Clergymen find their tape machines of prime importance in the preparation of sermons, choir rehearsals, organ music, and missionary work. In the field of education the possibilities are almost unlimited, from rediffusion of school programs to various training instructions. During recent years educators have come to rely more and more on audio-visual aids in their work.

The theatre is another branch of the arts that would be deprived of tremendous assistance were it not for the easy handling and portability of the tape recorder. I doubt there are many lawyers and other people in the legal field who do not use a recorder regularly. In sales they are a great help and an imaginative executive can make one do the work of several workers.

Souvenirs*too

Some people collect autographs. I haven't got one such memento, but I do have a lot of tapes I've been collecting over the past few years. They are a lot more fun than just paper — they are alive, and that's the difference.

It would be impossible within the confines of this column to go into all the uses of the tape recorder. There are probably more than 300 uses for this wonderful little contraption. But if you plan to buy one, just one word of advice. Don't hurry — it's worth waiting a little longer, until you can afford a good one.

Fund vice-chairman named

C. L. Walker, 648 Grosvenor avenue, Westmount, assistant general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, has been named a vice-chairman of the Montreal Children's Hospital Fund.

C. L. Walker

The fund is organizing a campaign, which will be held from April 16 to April 30, to raise $493,000 to maintain essential outpatient and research services at the hospital.

The campaign target represents actual and estimated needs for the years 1961 and 1962, and is confined to costs not covered by government grant, or through the Quebec Hospital Insurance Plan.

Young enthusiast seeks chess players

A nine-year-old boy is interested in having other boys around his age come to his house to play chess.

John Wilfred Galbraith, 600 Grosvenor avenue, has written to the Westmount Examiner, asking for help.

Anyone interested can contact John at HU. 9-8967.

that could get them into trouble," he said.

Trouble can be helped

"Do not get the idea that our club members stay out of trouble," pointed out Mr. Allison.

"Far from it. But when they do find themselves in trouble they know that they can come to the club director or some member of his staff for guidance, and many of them have profited immeasurably thereby," said the president.

In handing over the presidency of the club to W. Borden Empey, Mr. Allison said it had been a great privilege to have been associated with such a wonderful group of people who had the interests of youth, and the building of tomorrow's citizens, so much at heart.

Club director, Maurice Mariasine, stated in his report that in 1961 a total of 900 members made use of the facilities at the club, maintaining a steady pace in membership enrolment over a nine-year period.

Total attendance 75,455

The total attendance for the year was 75,455, which showed a slight increase over the previous year's total attendance of 75,296.

The daily average for the year was 262.

Discussing the future of the club, Mr. Mariasine said the role is what the professional boys' club worker makes it.

"We are recognized, as are others in the social welfare field, as dedicated people.

"By good-fortune we have not been labelled the 'do-gooders', but are respected participants in the field of youth training.

"The unique position in which the average boys' club director finds himself in his own community places upon him a heavy responsibility. He must not become too complacent.

Moulder of action

"He must be not only a leader of youth, but also a moulder of action for the welfare of youth. It behoves us to accept our fair share of responsibility for the work of our local church, our civic, and our community organizations," said Mr. Mariasine.

Officers elected for the year 1962 were: president, W. Borden Empey; vice-president, Harry Houston; secretary, John M. Squier; treasurer, David T. Youngson; directors: W. W. Allison, J. B. Burrows, W. Borden Empey, E. A. Everson, James E. Frost, H. Houston, W. Frank Kenwood, J. G. Lawson, Ernest E. Mills, W. G. Moxley and Donald B. Ross.

11:00 a.m. Public Worship
The Minister will preach

Lester A. Woodin,
Organist and Choirmaster.

Visitors and Friends are Cordially Welcome.

The eternal spiritual relationship between God and man will be brought out at the services in the Montreal and Westmount Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's lesson-sermon on the subject "Man".

The scriptural view of this relationship is epitomized in the golden text from Psalms: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."

What tasks this imposes upon mortals is indicated by passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

Mrs. Edwin Bagley of Toronto, guest speaker, told the 600 delegates, "... We must always remember we are not a missionary society only, not just a knitting and sewing group, not just a society for deep study, nor are we a group of women, helping the poor. We are all these and much more.

Dear Abby...

The psychology of it all!

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband tends bar in a cocktail lounge that hires only shapely waitresses who wear as little as the Law allows. One girl started to work there last month and my husband came home and told me what a "swell kid" she was. He couldn't stop talking about her. He met her husband and said they acted very much in love. Then he added that the husband reminded him of HIMSELF when he was about 30!

I told him that he really was coveting another man's wife, but took comfort in the fact that the woman HE wanted loved a man who resembled HIM! He said I was crazy and should quit reading Freud. In your opinion, was my husband mentally unfaithful to me? I am 52 and he is 56.

NO FOOL

DEAR NO: Men are not jailed for their thoughts, nor should your husband be condemned by you. P.S. Freud would have been more interested in you than your husband.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who flatly refuses to put a picture of his wife and children on his desk at work? My husband says it is "corny," and is not done by top-flight executives. If you have an opinion on this subject, please state it in your column.

EXECUTIVE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A man's family is something to boast about, and I see no reason why their pictures should not be on display alongside his diplomas, degrees and other achievements. If it is "corny," it's the kind of corn that happy family men grow fat on.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a night person. For twelve years I have played in bands from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. and I never got to sleep until 5 or 6 in the morning. Recently, I married a man who works from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. and he expects me to go to sleep when he does at 10 p.m. I just can't do it, Abby. I lie as wide awake as an owl all night. I don't want to start taking sleeping pills, but I wish I could figure out some way to get on his schedule.

NIGHT PERSON

DEAR NIGHT: Go to bed when he does. No matter what time you fall asleep, get up with him, and stay awake until he goes to sleep again. After a few days of this, you'll be ready to fall asleep at 10 p.m.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend (18) and I (19) went to visit her grandmother. It was a 7-hour bus ride. The bus was packed, but we got two seats together. At the first stop a little, silver-haired lady got on. Nobody offered her a seat, so I got up and gave her mine. She was very grateful. She got off when we did, but my girl friend was so mad she gave me my class ring back. She said I was a sap and should have sat there and kept her company. Now my mother isn't as old as this silver-haired lady, but I've had it drilled into me since I was a child to respect age. Do you think my girl should have broken off with me over something like that?

LOST MY GIRL

DEAR LOST: I think you are lucky to be rid of her. A girl who would give you the gate for showing courtesy and consideration to an elderly person is not worth worrying about.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband keeps after me to shorten my skirts. I am 50 years old and have been told all my life what fine-looking legs I have, but I see no reason to advertise the fact to every stranger who has eyes. Can you tell me (disregarding the ridiculous new trend in fashion) approximately how short a skirt should be?

NICE LEGS

DEAR NICE: A skirt should be short enough to show that you're a woman, and long enough to show that you're a lady.

Life and Lent

Short and fleeting
Life brings its crosses,
To each and all,
Life's petty losses.
But crowns are promised
To those who prevail,
Who never waver
Though storms assail,
All that lives ever,
All that survives,
After the fire,
Tries and purifies,
Are the true spirits
Chosen to stand
Through countless ages,
At God's right hand.

Penfield hits out on language teaching

A two-point platform on improving the effectiveness of language teaching was stressed by retired neuro-surgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield, 4302 Montrose street, Westmount. He presented the platform to the second Canadian Conference on Education, Tuesday night.

Dr. Penfield's a long-standing advocate of an entirely bilingual Canada, proposed first a break with the traditional rule in most provinces which requires Catholic educators to teach Catholic children, Protestant educators to teach Protestant children, and so on.

"I would be the last person to criticize or interfere with religion," he said. But he added that summit consideration might well discover that a Protestant teacher, speaking English, could be allowed on occasion to handle the routine classwork of six and seven-year-olds in a Catholic school to advantage.

Equal success

"Perhaps, too, Catholic teachers, speaking French, could handle similar classes in English schools with equal success," said the doctor.

He suggested also that a system of bilingual juvenile exchange and school placement be started, enabling small children to start second-language learning more easily on their own initiative. And if this couldn't come to pass, Dr. Penfield suggested that children of each language group share the same playground.

Secondly, he stressed the need for a continuing conference on education in Canada, which would be called the Canadian Education Forum. Financed by endowments and annual income from supporting organizations, the forum would "plan both occasional and regular conferences, provide information on education, and call attention to the good and bad in our educational system."

Wings and Beavers will meet in the other semi-final bracket at 9:00 a.m.

Crowns stay unbeaten

Crowns completed a very successful season in the Mosquito section, trouncing Cadets by a 6-1 score.

Undefeated in 12 scheduled games and holding a 9 point bulge over the second place Raiders, they were declared the 1962 champions. Coached by Bob Hamilton and Jim Nykoluk, their roster included league scoring champion Geoffrey Scott and goaler Roger Harte who allowed only 15 goals against him in the 12 game schedule. Defense-man George Musto also served with credit.

Following is the champs roster: David Casgrain, Stephen Dyke, Philip Chapman, Richard Paterson, Geoffrey Scott, Andy Schwab, George Musto, George Logothetis, Michael Culver, Roger Harte, Michael Fitzpatrick, Ozzie Hamburg, Paul Fleury, Bobby Bambrick, Louis Gendron.

Guards catch Huskies

The Pee Wee division finished with only four points separating the first and sixth place teams.

Consequently all 6 teams were included in the playoffs.

In the first semi-final sudden-death elimination game, Broncs knocked the Owls out of contention with a 4-2 score. The fourth place Guards then knocked off the league leading Huskies by a 6-5 count. The Huskies led 4-0 at the end of the middle period but wilted at the close.

Billy McJannet put on one of the finest performances every seen at the Artificial Rink in leading his teammates to the thrilling win. McJannet scored 5 of his team's 6 goals, Dave Patrick scored one and set McJannet up twice.

Leopard cubs, fish contests highlight sportsman's show

Three baby leopards from Granby Zoo will be making a trip to Montreal shortly to become mascots of the Montreal Sportsman's and Motor Boat Show, March 16-25.

The cubs are the six months old children of Diane, named for the famous hurricane which was raging when the leopard was acquired by the Zoo. Mother will accompany the kittens for their stay at the Montreal Show Mart.

Diversified displays of boats, motorboats, hunting and fishing and camping equipment, aquariums, a fishing pond and stage acts will be amongst the attractions to be seen during the 10 day period. Net proceeds derived from the eighteenth annual show will be used to intensify this year's programme of Conservation through Education, which is the theme of the co-sponsors, the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations and the Montreal Anglers & Hunters Inc.

The Quebec fly and bait casting and spinning championships will again be decided at the show on Saturday, March 24, at 9:00 a.m.

Final program made

With the dates March 17 and 18 fast approaching, rehearsals for the 1962 Ice Revue of the West End Figure Skating Club took on an increased enthusiasm and excitement last weekend.

Pat Daoust and her committee have been hard at work organizing the costumes for the skaters. All fittings will be completed this coming weekend. Music for the group and solo numbers has been selected and the task of tape recording has been undertaken by M. Solomon.
