Suspect's wallet proves better than a revolver as Sgt. Wood gets his man

Westmount Police Sgt. Leslie Wood got the last laugh following a struggle early Sunday morning with a suspect who succeeded in grabbing Wood's revolver and holding him and a passer-by at bay while he made his escape. Wood had the man's driving licence with his name and address, which he was checking when he made his break-away attempt.

It all started when the sergeant, alone in a patrol car, saw a car with two occupants fail to stop at a stop-sign at the Glen and St. Catherine. He followed the car up Lansdowne, where it failed to stop for the red light at Western avenue. He caught up with it at Melville avenue.

While he was checking the driver's licence, the other occupant got out and ran across the park. Wood asked what the matter was and got the reply that he was "nervous of policemen."

Wood proceeded with his check and noticed that the trunk was slightly open with some goods in it. The driver got out and ran round to the rear of an apartment house at Melville and Western. He jumped three fences. Wood fired a warning shot in the air.

The man then ran out in front of the houses in Western avenue and hid under some steps. Wood called to him to come out, the man came and Wood placed him under arrest. With that, the man grabbed Wood, they wrestled on the lawns and rolled over a wall.

A passer-by stopped to give assistance but during the tussle the revolver had fallen from Sgt. Wood's holster. Both lunged for the gun but the suspect got to it first, aimed it at Wood and the would-be assistant and made his escape. An immediate search of the area by other officers failed to locate the man.

Wood, however, still had the driving licence and detectives investigated and arrested the man Monday night. He was Denis Trudel, 35, of no fixed address.

He appeared Tuesday before Judge Bernard Rose on charges of resisting arrest, pointing a (Continued on page 6)

VOLUNTEER LEADERS NEEDED

Despite the fact that 25 volunteer leaders have returned for another year of service at the Club and eight new leaders have joined the volunteer staff, we are still short and will require additional workers if a complete program is to be provided for all our members. Some former leaders are yet to be heard from and this might improve the situation, however, we are appealing to citizens of Westmount and St. Henry to offer their services. We are in need of handicraft instructors and supervisors for the Junior Games Room and the Saturday afternoon musical Jam Sessions.

The new volunteer leaders are: Pamela Foggo (dramatics); Mrs. Sheila Lawson (Library); Mrs. Freda Bowden (Leathercraft); Bill Semper (Gymnastics); Ed. Humphrey (Supervisor); Mildred Cohen (Supervisor) Diana R. Hood (Dramatics); Lou Somers (Supervisor).

CLASSES UNDERWAY

The following classes are in operation and club members are urged to sign up as soon as possible: Creative crafts, leathercraft, embroidery, two precision chorus lines, two majorette groups, library, fretwork (three periods), talent club, scrap book club, junior and senior dramatics, woodwork (Monday, Wednesday and Friday), and social activities (Jazzarama Club and the Friday Nite Club).

The Gymnasium schedule has been in operation for the past two weeks. For further particulars — see the Sports Bulletin Board.

T. J. GUILBOARD

Thomas John Guilboard, former general manager of Consolidated Glass Company, died at his home Tuesday. Funeral was held this morning at Clarke Funeral Home and mass was sung in St. Augustin of Canterbury Church.

Born in Brockville, Ontario, 1887, Mr. Guilboard moved to Montreal in 1892. He retired from Consolidated Glass Company in 1947 as general manager, a post which he held for 20 years. He had been in the glass business for 49 years.

Mr. Guilboard was president of Saint Lawrence Kiwanis Club in 1936 and an honorary member of the Montreal Executive Association. Among his other activities, he was a member of the Marlborough Golf Club, Senneville Golf and Country Club, St. George Curling Club and the Mount Stephen Club.

REPRINT. An impression made from the original printing base after the issue has been withdrawn.

RETOUCHED. Altered slightly, as an engraved plate from which a stamp is printed.

ROTARY PRESS PRINTING. A printing of stamps made from curved plates on a rotary press, instead of from flat plates on a flat-bed press. Fire prevention week is marked

When Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lamp, it not only parkled off Chicago's great fire but helped in later years to start Fire Prevention Week, which runs this year from 5th to 11th October.

According to Fire Chief Harper, Westmount's contribution to the nation-wide campaign will include distributing literature to all schools in the city, sending letters to ministers, priests and rabbis asking them to draw the attention of their congregations to the drive and generally emphasising the increasing toll fire takes on life and property each year.

The department will hold special drills in the schools by walk-in at any time, unannounced, setting off the alarms and checking the time it takes to clear the buildings.

In addition, drills will be held on the Lookout nearly every afternoon to test the efficiency of fire equipment.

The whole point of the week's activities, says Harper, is to bring to the public's notice the dangers that fire holds, any time of the day or night.

THOSE we've served know that we offer the very best facilities, equipment and services to each family.

John Turner urges much broader base to welfare giving

The base of community welfare giving must be broadened and all should do a proportionate share, John H. F. Turner, 118 Arlington avenue, Westmount, said in a report to a Red Feather mid-campaign meeting Monday.

Mr. Turner, campaign chairman, said he had not the slightest doubt that the objective of $1,921,000 could be reached, provided citizens and corporate executives appreciate community service needs and accept their real responsibilities.

He felt that such an appreciation exists in the minds of many but they are still too few in number.

The campaign is now in its final week.

Mr. Turner appealed to his 8,000 campaigners to redouble their efforts and at the same time praised them for their "magnificent performance".

He reminded his listeners that there is an awful lot of convincing still to be done. "If only

Weekly papers are expanding

THE latest figures published by the bulletin of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association show that there are nearly 600 weekly newspapers published in Canada every week.

That calls for some thought, but even more so does the revelation that all the weekly newspapers of Canada have a combined paid weekly circulation of 1,750,000!

A population of 17,000,000 indicates there are perhaps 6,000,000 homes in Canada, and that therefore a weekly newspaper is bought for one out of every three and one half homes in Canada every week.

To any reader who is inclined to conclude that many of those weekly newspapers are published in places where there are no daily newspapers with which they have to compete — for instance in the widely-settled areas of the western provinces — we hasten to point out that more than 200 of them are published in Ontario where various dailies in various cities extend their circulation areas up to 200 miles from the point of publication.

These figures, therefore, would indicate that the weekly newspaper is not only here to stay but is here to increase its circulation and scope of influence.

Cozened and entreated and almost bribed into buying their issues by the dailies the ever-growing list of subscribers to the weekly continues to enjoy the home-town journal in preference to, and in spite of, the "daily."

The "daily" frequently devotes a page or part of a page a day to record suburban news, but in the natural course of events it simply cannot afford to give the space to the local suburban events that the weekly can. Also, the daily cannot — because the members of its editorial board and even its suburban editor are concerned with other weighty matters — devote space to, or be in the position to advise on, the problems of every local community in the way in which the editor of the local newspaper can.

As for advertising values — the weekly newspaper has it over its daily competitor like a tent in the matter of offering far fuller coverage for the local advertiser at a far cheaper rate.

If a local advertiser on the fringe of any large Canadian city decides to advertise in any "daily" of that city in order to reach his own particular community market he suffers on more than one count. For instance: if his store is in a suburban community outside Toronto or Montreal or Ottawa or Vancouver or Winnipeg and he advertises in one of that city's dailies he is paying for advertising at a rate that is based on coverage of all the communities in that metropolitan area — perhaps ten times the rate of his community newspaper — and yet he can only hope to attract customers from his own and just one or two nearby suburban communities. But he is paying an advertising rate based on coverage of all the suburban communities of that metropolitan area.

In other words if we lived in Highland Creek outside Toronto and read in one of the three Toronto dailies of a bargain in cars or furniture at a store 25 miles away in another suburb of Toronto — on the other side of it — it is unlikely that we would drive 25 miles to see if the bargain was worth buying. But the man in that suburb 25 miles away who advertised that bargain, paid at a rate 10 times higher than he would have in his own weekly newspaper to reach us and thousands more in the other suburbs around Toronto who are extremely unlike to be interested in it.

The local newspaper — the weekly newspaper of one's own community — is the best bet editorially, and for fuller coverage of local news as well as for knowledge of merchandise values available, as far as the reader is concerned, and is the best bet for the local merchant who wishes to secure the largest number of customers for his goods at the lowest possible cost of ad-

Family man

Very much a family man, Mr. Butters lives with his charming wife, the former Rita O'Brien, of Havelock, at 4331 Rosedale avenue. His second son, Thomas, and his third son, Gordon, are insurance salesmen, while the fourth son, Robert, sells in Toronto. One daughter, Jean, a graduate nurse, is Mrs. Kevin O'Brien, of Montreal. The Butters' offspring range in age from 32 to 22. The Butters have two granddaughters and one grandson. Last weekend their newest granddaughter, two-month-old Patricia Ann O'Brien, was christened here.

Mr. Butters is the cook at the family summer cottage at Sandy Lake near Havelock, and on all hunting and fishing excursions. "You'd be surprised how many busy business men cook as a hobby but many feel ashamed to admit it," he said. "I'm cooking a turkey at the moment for the christening tomorrow."

How about the recession? "As far as the construction business in Quebec, it enjoyed a boom in 1956 but in 1957 the construction awards were less than half. In 1958 the construction awards are almost equal to those of 1956. I anticipate a sizeable increase in the building market in Quebec during the last quarter of this year. It's started to show already and will probably continue to improve in 1959."

Life Is Like That

I was glad to read that a man "has shaved off his beard since he took to bicycling."

There was an auctioneer in Tralee whose beard was so long that on one windy day it got entangled in the bicycle wheels. There he crouched, making spasmodic movements which only added to the confusion.

A barber was sent for, but he got his head stuck in the front wheel and was rescued by a grocer who broke three spokes and got his foot entangled in the beard. The epic combat of the three heroes ended when the struggling mass banged into a wall. Everything came apart, the three were released by the impact and honor was satisfied.

"Lou" Butters is a firm believer in the adage that if you sell yourself you sell your products. "I've been in merchandizing all my life," he said. "And the philosophy in business has changed drastically. The value of natural salesmanship has depreciated in the past few years. They don't attach the same importance to salesmanship as they used to. In speeches lately I have been recommending a revival of just that.

"The tendency is toward straight business training with the emphasis on the scientific approach rather than on salesmanship. Today it's all prove and do, curves and charts. That may be all very well but you can't dismiss the fact that human nature's the same, responding to the same things. I don't think that you can write off entirely personality, character, ease of approach, all that goes to make a business man acceptable in any circle."

By
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

My correspondent's next point is a strong criticism of the Church for its record over the centuries. She has in mind its record in persecution, and there is no use trying to disguise the fact, that almost every branch of the Church has been guilty of the sin of persecution. The Baptists claim that they have never been persecutors, but they generally add that they have never been numerically strong enough to persecute others.

Apart from that the record is black. After three centuries of enduring hardship and suffering the Church found herself in a favored position and proceeded to put into effect her interpretation of her Master's word: "Compel them to come in." From that time on the dominant party felt justified in promoting what it thought to be Christian truth by force. As the heathen had persecuted the Christian so the Christian persecuted the heathen. Catholic persecuted Arian and Arian when he had the upper hand persecuted the Catholic. Yet all that separated them was a single iota. The non-Christian world laughed at the sight of a Church divided by the smallest letter of the alphabet. But the historian Lecky says that if the Orthodox had surrendered that iota the Christian Church would have become nothing more than

Advent church marks birthday

Church of The Advent, corner Wood and Western avenues, Westmount, will mark its sixty-sixth anniversary Sunday. The church was dedicated for worship on Advent Sunday in 1892.

Rev. Alexander Mellor, rector, announced that clergymen from other parishes will participate in the special services of the dedication festival.

Rev. A. V. Ottiwell, senior assistant priest of Christ Church Cathedral will preach at the 11 am service of Solemn Eucharist and the Rev. K. B. Keefe, rector of St. Matthias, Westmount will preach at the 7:00 pm Solemn Evensong.

Services of Holy Eucharist will also be held at 8:00 am and at 9:30 am. Immediately following the first service a parish breakfast will be served by members of the Women's Guild in the parish hall. Following the 9:30 service Sunday School and confirmation classes will take place.

The Women's Guild will also serve a special parish supper celebrating the Dedication Festival on the preceding Saturday evening.

The Church of the Advent was first established as a chapel to serve the west end of the parish of St. James the Apostle. In 1896 it became a separate parish and today its supporters come from all parts of the island of Montreal.

The music of its boys' and men's choir, which was the first choir in Montreal to become affiliated with the Royal School of Church Music, has always been a special feature of the Advent's services. Organist and choir director is Edward Brown.

Induction Service at Stanley Church

Thursday evening October 9th, there will be a special service of public worship in Stanley Presbyterian Church, Westmount and Victoria Aves., when the Rev. J. C. McLelland, M.A., B.D., Ph.D. will be inducted into the chair of Philosophy of Religion in Presbyterian College.

Stanley Church has always taken a very real interest in the life and work of the Presbyterian College, the professors have occupied the pulpit on many occasions and the congregation has supplied men to serve on the Board, and Senate of the college. Rev. J. D. Wilkie, B.A., the minister lectures there in Christian Missions. The service will start promptly at 8 p.m.

Operatic Society

The Montreal West Operatic Society will start rehearsals for Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Gondoliers" Monday, October 20 at 8:15, at the Montreal West High School. Auditions for all voices will be held at the High School, Easton avenue, on Wednesday, October 22 at 8:15. As in previous years, the production will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris.

By LAURENT PRICE

WE bumped into our ubiquitous Uncle Beauregard over the past weekend at Le Montclair in Ste. Adele, and are able to report the venerable old boulevardier in tip top form.

He had his usual heartfelt of nostalgia, and an armful of old Police Gazettes — the latter he explained away as research material for a small tome he is publishing privately dealing with some old, but treasured, romances.

Our colloquy — and its import — to retain full essence should be in play form. So here goes:

(The Scene: Lobby of Montclair at Ste. Adele, Quebec. Soft music in background, with pretty girls passing to and fro. Uncle Beauregard has discarded his summer straw boater in favor of a seasonably suitable alpine-type fedora with feather. A canary yellow cravat is set off by a baby blue pullover, and he's wearing a Bobby Logan sport jacket and flannels. Buckskin shoes and a cane featuring a Mae West handle complete a fine sartorial effect. The getup matches the resort spirit and Laurentian foliage to a degree that George Powell of the Chantecler has offered him a permanent job just walking in and out of the new Cocorico Lounge. It's mid-afternoon, as the curtain rises —).

Uncle Beau: (with one punctuation tap of cane) Laurent, my boy. From time to time, it has pleased me to note that you draw on my — shall we say — experiences and judgment in matters concerning your column.

Us: Draw is an understatement, Uncle Beauregard. I positively lean on your opinions.

Uncle Beau: That's as it should be, m'boy. You realize, of course, that Thanksgiving is barely two weeks hence?

Us: So it is —

Uncle Beau: (with two taps of cane) You will remember, too, your dear departed great Aunt Agatha —

Us: — reverently, Uncle Beau —

Uncle Beau: — and how we gathered at her festive board, year after year, to celebrate the day —

Us: — gratefully, dear Uncle —

Uncle Beau: On those occasions, of course, you weren't aware of the trouble she went to preparing the feast — and cleaning up after?

Us: It never entered my mind. But come to think of it the pots, pans and dishes must have been a problem —

Uncle Beau: Problem, my poor misguided fellow! Lend me your portside ear. I've got a secret and news for you. (Three taps of cane, and in whispered confidence) Your Aunt Agatha loved all her relatives fondly, but HATED to wash dirty dishes —

Us: You astound me, Uncle Beauregard. How thoughtless of us. So that we may not err in the future, you have a solution?

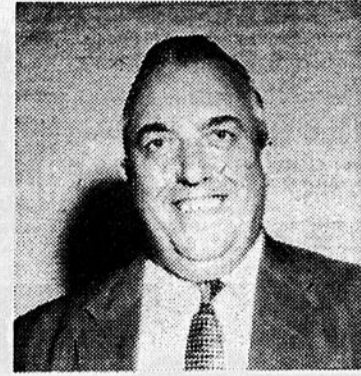

Uncle Beau: Certainly. (four taps of cane) Restaurants and inns everywhere are begging to be Thanksgiving Day hosts. And not a dirty dish to worry about — (sudden recall, and as an afterthought) Lean on me! Why, I even do your commercials!

Us: Uncle Beau, the industry owes you a great debt — Uncle Beau: (cutting in) — and so would your Aunt Agatha, if she were around.

(Curtain falls, as Uncle Beauregard, with a wink and flip of cane, follows two girls into the Copper Bar off Montclair lobby.)

Max Siegmann, boss at the Sun Valley Hotel and chairman of the Salon Degustation Committee (believe us, please, "degustation" is the right word), did a masterful job in setting up the affair. Walk Softly

We should walk softly on life's rugged way,
Lest someone weak, be jostled in the throng,
The road is crowded, and winds endlessly,
The race should not be only for the strong.

Not only those who run but those who wait,
In patience, for the guiding of the star,
Shall know that good, shall be the final goal,
Of each and all, when they have reached the bar.

Offers the following

Interesting Suggestions

Suggestion No. 1

That Companies, Service Clubs and Banks consider the idea of purchasing an occasional painting for presentation for long Service - Retirement Gift - or Meritorious Service - as a deviation from the stereotyped presentations at present in vogue.

Suggestion No. 2

That young married or engaged couples consider investing in one or more good pictures especially bearing in mind our lay-away and easy instalment payment plans.

Huskies score third straight football win

HUSKIES ran up their third straight win in the city of Westmount Recreation department eight-man tackle football league with a close win of 6-0 over Broncs, who are in the cellar.

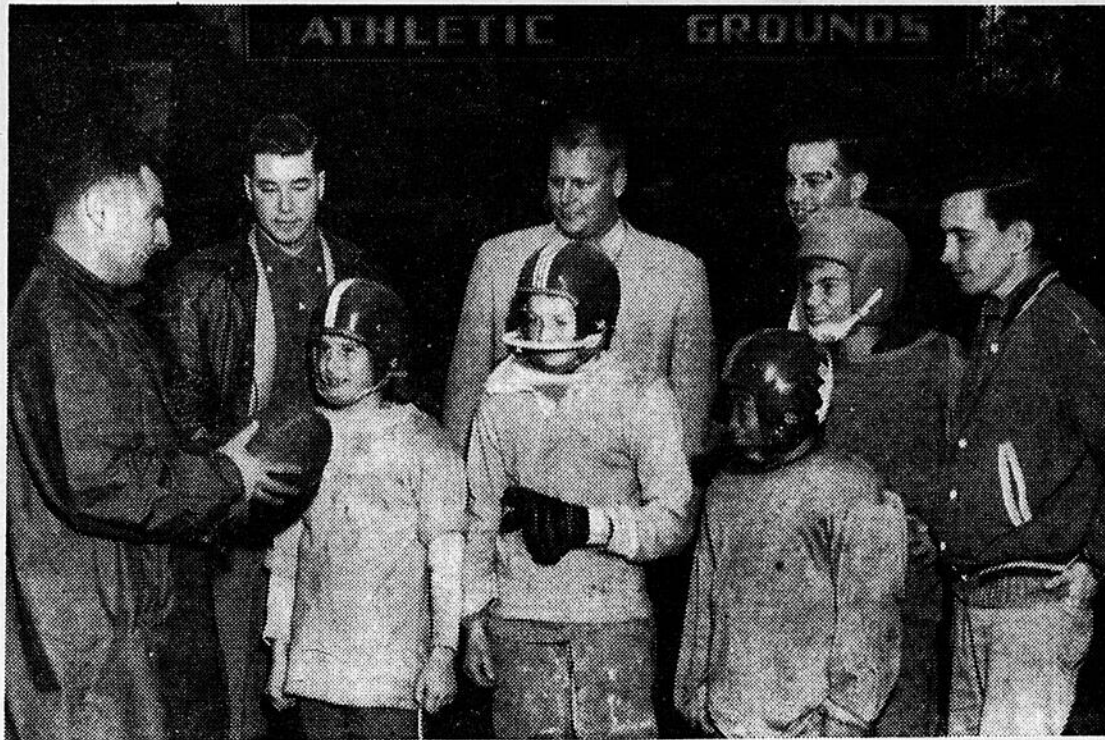

The other game saw Mules win 21-12 over the Bulls and second place with Bulls with two points each, but the Mules have a game in hand.

Mules and Broncs have two games next week. Mules and Broncs meet on Saturday at WAG grounds at 10:30 while in the first game at 9:30 Bulls will take on Huskies. Broncs and Mules will clash again next Thursday.

In the first game of last Saturday's double header, Huskies munched on under the whip hands of coaches Bruce Wilson and Bob Robertson to squeeze out a 6-0 victory over the bucking Broncs. Broncs' defensive play was extremely good, with the entire team playing a fighting game. Huskies lone major came in the third quarter on a run through centre by the mighty mite, Ruddy McKaig.

The last play of the game saw the Broncs end up about one

It's Als (no mistake) and Cats top choice

Two more winning selections last weekend puts the score at: 14 games played, two we did not make any selections; 10 right, one wrong and one tie.

It's going to get tougher as the season draws to a close. Hamilton Cats are marching on the law of averages that they must suffer a loss sometime this season and it could come next Saturday.

For Saturday's coming games we pick Montreal over Toronto which should make my Alouette friends so happy and again Hamilton to win over Ottawa.

Westmount bids for Intermediate hockey League

There will be a meeting at the Westmount Athletic Grounds, Wednesday October 8 at 7.30 p.m. for all players and coaches interested in playing intermediate calibre Hockey this season. The meeting is being called because of the numerous requests by the young men of the community.

Intermediate hockey has no age limit and is therefore open to many of the youth and young adults who at present are not doing anything to keep fit.

It is the Westmount Recreation's aim to organize a league if there are enough players interested. Also, we intend to play hockey by the rule book. Working boys and men cannot afford to be away from work due to playing hockey in a butcher's league. Much enjoyment can be derived from playing clean fast hockey.

Should anyone be interested, but unable to attend telephone Rocky Rothwell or John Garland, WE 5-6975.

Former Notre Dame grid star, Grey cup speaker

"Sleepy" Jim Crowley, one of Notre Dame's famous Four Horsemen backfield will be guest speaker at the first annual Pre-Grey Cup dinner at Queen Elizabeth Hotel, Wednesday, October 8.

The dinner is being sponsored jointly by the Young Men's Section of the Montreal Board of Trade and Carling's Breweries Ltd. Proceeds from the dinner and the money already received from Montreal business firms will go towards a Montreal float which will take part in the Grey Cup Parade in Vancouver, November 29.

Besides being one of America's football greats, Crowley is well versed in the Canadian game, having worked on the N. B. C. telecasts of Big Four games to the United States a couple of years ago.

Crowley has quite an impressive sports record, especially in football. At present he is chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

He played college football for Notre Dame's famed Irish team in the early 1920's. In 1924, Crowley and quarterback Harry Stuhldreher, two of the Four Horsemen were named to the All-

JIM CROWLEY

America team and teammate Adam Walsh, one of the Seven Mules fronting the Four Horsemen was another All-American selection.

From 1925 to 1928 he was backfield coach at the University of Georgia and in 1929 became head coach of Michigan State, a post he held until 1933 when he switched to Fordham. He stayed at Fordham until 1941 and a year later became a commander in the U. S. Navy, serving in the South Pacific on Admiral Halsey's staff.

After the war he became commissioner of the All-American Football Conference until that league joined forces with the National Football League.

Crowley's address will be a feature of the dinner, which will be limited to a select 200 prominent guests from the world of sport.

Tony Tyrrell turned in a fine performance by scoring three TD's on runs of 45, 75 and 20 yards. Gary Duncan scored the other major for the winners on a 25 yard run up the gut.

Ronnie Sheel and Gil Gagne combined for an 85 yard pass and run play to score the first major for the Bulls. Gil Gagne scored his second TD on a brilliant 55 yard run.
