Trudeau urges reform debate

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau used his first major speech since the election to appeal to all provinces to "engage fully" in the continuing debate on constitutional reform.

Unless they do, he said Tuesday, discussions will lack meaning. "Worse still... a climate of suspicion and mistrust may be created which will make it impossible to achieve our common goal of national unity."

He told the Canadian Bar Association convention that some provinces appear more reluctant than others to "embark wholeheartedly on a journey whose destination is uncertain." He did not identify them.

Mr. Trudeau left for Ottawa after his speech. He arrived here Monday from Jasper, Alta., and that night dated Vancouver blonde Susan Collier Lundell, 24.

Mr. Trudeau said Monday night that Parliament faces a "pretty matter-of-fact program" when it reconvenes Sept. 12. Tuesday, he reiterated that an official languages bill will be part of that program.

At a later session of the convention, Justice Minister Turner said the bill will include provision for an "official languages commissioner" to enforce the statute. He gave no details.

Both said the bill doesn't involve forcing any language on anyone. The prime minister told a luncheon it's "nonsense" to suggest Ottawa is trying to make everyone speak two languages.

The prime minister repeated his goal of "a properly functioning bilingual state" in which it would be necessary to speak two languages to qualify for some positions.

"But the vast majority of Canadians will probably continue to speak only one language and they will suffer no penalty for it."

Mr. Trudeau, saying he has reserved for himself "personal responsibility" for Ottawa's role in the continuing constitutional conference, listed two priorities in constitutional reform:

—Re-examination of the Senate. "Could the Senate, by changes in its composition, method of selection or jurisdiction, be made a more effective protector of regional or linguistic interests?"

—Re-examination of the Supreme Court of Canada. "Could the structure of the Supreme Court be strengthened as the keystone of Canadian federalism?"

After this could come distribution of powers among Ottawa and the provinces. He said Ottawa must retain such powers as regulation of economy and redistribution of income.

Later came the appeal to provinces, with the prime minister saying: "No Canadian can afford to wash his hands of a vital issue of national unity which affects all of us in every province."

He said he was disappointed at reports that at the recent premiers conference, no heads of delegations would either endorse or reject Quebec's position on provincial status in international affairs.

One premier "is quoted as saying" the question is up to Mr. Trudeau and Quebec Premier Johnson. Countered Mr. Trudeau: "It is not a dispute between two governments, much less heads of those governments."

Czech leading reformists resign

PRAGUE (AP) — The architect of Czechoslovakia's economic reform program has resigned and the foreign minister appears to be on the way out as a result of policies that angered the Kremlin.

Deputy Premier Ota Sik, whose policies envisioned trade and aid from the West and efforts to break free from dependence on the Soviet Union, resigned Tuesday night, Prague Radio reported. It said President Ludvik Svoboda accepted the resignation.

Reuters news agency quoted free radio broadcasts heard in Prague as saying Czechoslovakia will send a delegation to Moscow soon to discuss economic matters. Topics were expected to include Czechoslovak trade policy, the country's need for big credits to pep up its economy and a request for compensation for damage done by the Warsaw pact occupying forces.

The Soviet government made plain it also expects the ouster of Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek.

The government newspaper IZVESTIA called him an "accomplice of the dark forces of reaction and counter-revolution" and accused him of seeking foreign policy changes which Moscow opposes, including closer ties with the West.

Hajek also angered the Soviets by seeking the support of Yugoslavia and Romania—both rebels against Kremlin domination.

IZVESTIA also attacked Sik along with Planning Minister Frantisek Vlasak and State Control Minister Stefan Gasparik.

Vlasak and Gasparik returned to Prague from Yugoslavia Tuesday, but Sik remained in Belgrade and Hajek is in Switzerland. Sik and Hajek have been abroad since before Soviet, Bulgarian, Polish and East German troops invaded Czechoslovakia Aug. 21.

Hajek came to New York for the UN Security Council debate on the invasion, but on orders from Prague asked the council to drop the matter after Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders reached an agreement in four days of negotiations in Moscow.

That agreement provided for gradual withdrawal of occupation troops as the situation "normalized," but Czechoslovak Communist party officials seem increasingly convinced that the Russians will stay for years, perhaps decades.

The invasion frayed the ideological ties that bound the Czechoslovak Army to its Warsaw pact allies and one Communist source said: "I just cannot see how they could risk leaving our country during the next 10 years."

US would keep its troops in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is willing to pledge along with its NATO allies to maintain current troop levels in Europe as one way to meet the Soviet move into Czechoslovakia, U.S. administration sources say.

The sources say the issuing of such a pledge probably would be done in a joint statement.

They said this was among alternatives before today's meeting of the National Security Council, major U.S. policy-making body, called to deal with the Soviet presence in Czechoslovakia, which points like a dagger at the heart of Western Europe.

President Johnson scheduled the meeting with his top military, defence and diplomatic aides for late afternoon. The president returned to Washington this morning from a long stay at his Texas ranch.

The council session parallels a similar review now going on at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters in Brussels.

Pass resolution for a constitutional charter of human rights for Canadians

VANCOUVER (CP) — Separate sections of the Canadian Bar Association looked at two constitutional issues Tuesday and one passed a resolution seeking a constitutional charter of human rights.

The resolution passed by 23 votes to 20 and could go before all 2,300 delegates Friday. Selected speakers differed on whether courts or members of Parliament and legislatures should regulate rights.

There was general agreement that if such a charter becomes part of the constitution, as proposed by Prime Minister Trudeau, efforts to protect rights must not stop with that development.

The resolution, drawn up by two CBA committees, was voted on at a panel discussion and now goes before the main resolutions committee, which decides if it will go to the convention as a whole.

Mr. Trudeau reviewed some of his goals for constitutional reform. Addressing 2,400 at a convention luncheon, he also appealed to all the provinces to play a full role in the continuing debate on reform.

Some opposing delegates wanted the resolution to mention specific rights, such as linguistic equality. It asks only that Ottawa and the provinces amend the British North America Act to include a charter.

The second section looking at constitutional issues heard what Justice Minister Turner called "divergent but equally valid" views from three Quebec lawyers on Quebec's aspirations and needs.

Kierans warns Postal rates increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Postal rates are going up. Postmaster-General Eric Kierans announced Tuesday.

No date can be set yet for increases in domestic letter rates and in the mailing costs of newspapers and magazines, because these will require the sanction of Parliament. But Mr. Kierans said in a formal statement the government will seek the necessary approval early in the next session of Parliament, which begins Sept. 12.

Major changes for other types of mail, not requiring parliamentary approval, will take effect Nov. 1.

It will cost five cents, instead of three, to mail a Christmas card this year. Postcards are going up to five cents from four and will be increased again to equal the new letter rate whenever it is set.

Mr. Kierans' statement did not say what increases will be sought in domestic rates on letters, which are called first-class mail, and on newspapers and magazines, which constitute second-class mail.

The former Liberal minority administration tried last fall to raise the first-class rate to six cents from five, but the House of Commons defeated the measure.

Mr. Kierans said he expects each class of mail "either to pay its own way or accept its fair share of the operating costs" of the post office.

The revised rates going into effect in November are expected to add $17,000,000 to postal revenues for the remainder of the fiscal year ending March 31, 1969, he said. This would cut the anticipated post office deficit for the 1968-69 fiscal year to about $43,000,000.

A number of international rates are included in the changes, including air mail to the United States and its possessions. Letters and postcards to the U.S. will be 10 cents instead of eight.

Third-class and fourth-class mail will be established on a new basis Nov. 1, with revised charges.

Hit hardest will be business firms that do a great deal of advertising by circular. These circulars, along with Christmas

Pass en bloc vote

City council officially adopted bylaw No. 1817 last night which calls for en bloc elections in 1970.

Alderman Romeo Quintal's motion received stiff opposition last night during the second reading when Alderman Amedee Roy said he was against the proposed by-law.

A vote was taken and the result was six aldermen in favor of the en bloc elections commencing in October, 1970, and four against.

If the ten aldermen had voted five against five, Mayor Armand Nadeau's vote would have been the clincher.

Each alderman voted in turn as the cycle passed around the room until the count was five votes in favor of the en bloc elections and four against.

Alderman Marcel Savard of the Centre Ward, the last alderman to vote, would throw the balance of the vote in either direction.

He voted in favor of the en bloc elections in 1970 without any hesitation.

Mayor Nadeau's vote wasn't necessary.

Aldermen Savard, Romeo Quintal, Robert Gauthier, Hilaire Beliveau, Antonio Pinard and Gerard Berard voted in favor of the en bloc elections. The four aldermen who opposed the by-law were Everette Nicol, Carl Camirand, Gaston Roy and Amedee Roy.

Three weeks ago, Mr. Quintal proposed the en bloc elections and council voted in favor of the proposal.

However, later during that same week, Mayor Nadeau told reporters the proposal was unofficial because Mr. Quintal failed to make a notice of motion before the proposal.

Last week, Alderman Quintal made his notice of motion and there seemed to be no opposition to the motion.

He read the proposed bylaw last night for the first time, pointing out all five articles of bylaw 1817.

During the second of the three readings of the new bylaw required by the Cities and Towns Act, the opposition was revealed and swept aside.

There was no opposition to the third reading and the bylaw was passed.

The new by-law stipulates that on the last Wednesday of September, 1970, nominations will be accepted for the mayoralty and aldermanic positions.

The first en bloc elections in Sherbrooke will be held on the first Wednesday of October, 1970.

The term will be three years for mayor and aldermen.

Aldermen re-elected or elected between now and 1970 will have to face another popular vote in 1970.

News in brief

Serum tested
MONTREAL (CP) — A new anti-rejection serum which does not interfere with transplant patients' ability to resist infection will be tested across Canada to determine its value for humans, the Medical Research Council said Tuesday.

Dr. H. E. Taylor, director of the project, said clinical tests will be conducted to determine how well the new serum suppresses the body's tendency to reject transplanted organs.

11,000 dead
The Shan and Empress of Iran flew to northeast Iran today to inspect the devastation of the weekend earthquakes that killed, by official count, 11,000 of their people.

Unofficially, the toll has been estimated as high as 20,000 dead in a report carried by Reuters news agency.

Testify
OTTAWA (CP) — More than a score of witnesses to the final minutes of flight of a DC-8 jet testified Tuesday night that the plane executed a series of weaving maneuvers before heeling over almost belly-up and crashing into the ground 15 months ago.

Their testimony was that the plane that carried three veteran pilots to their deaths had trouble lining up on the runway before suddenly dropping its right wing and nose and plunging earthward.

Elude armada
NEW YORK (AP) — Using a speedboat called Cheetah, three gunmen eluded a small armada of police boats and aircraft on Long Island Sound Tuesday after taking possession as much as $70,000 from a City Island bank, police said.

The unusual getaway vehicle was found abandoned almost five hours later but police did capture a man they said had helped plan the spectacular robbery.

Zaor is in a sterile room as he improves

MONTREAL (CP) — Elie Zaor, Canada's third heart transplant patient, was transferred Tuesday to a special sterile room at the Montreal Heart Institute because of his improved condition.

Mr. Zaor, 56, a widowed father of five, previously had been in the operating room, normal procedure for heart transplant patients at the institute.

"Taking into consideration the major vascular operation which he underwent on Sunday, the patient is doing fine and his condition is progressing very satisfactorily," an institute bulletin said at 9 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

It is said oral feeding has been discontinued because of the emergency three-hour operation Mr. Zaor underwent Sunday to clear up a blood clot which had formed in an "aneurism" of the abdominal part of the aorta.

The aneurism, a weakening of tissue in the artery causing it to bulge out over a small area, was removed during the surgery—performed about a day and a half after the Turkish-born resident of Sherbrooke, Que., received his new heart—and replaced with a Y-shaped dacron graft.

Mr. Zaor received visits Tuesday from two of his children, the bulletin said.

An institute report earlier in the day said "everything is fine" with the patient, who received his new heart Friday night from Aime Lamotte, 35, a welder from Sorel, Que., who died of a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

Less than 24 hours later, on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Zaor sat up in his bed and chatted occasionally with his doctors and nurses.

Monday, he received a first visit from his only son, Lawrence, 22, who was able to stay only 10 minutes. His father was still under the effects of the anesthesia administered during the second operation.

Gaetan Paris, 49, Canada's second heart transplant patient, was sent home to suburban Laval last Tuesday, about two months after his operation in mid-June. Albert Murphy, 59, the first such patient, died June 1, only 46 hours after he received a new heart.

Since the first heart transplant operation was performed in South Africa last December, 37 others have been done in various countries. Eighteen patients survive to date.

He won't join party
Senator Eugene McCarthy says he will not become a fourth party candidate for president in the U.S. general election Nov. 5 and will not join the effort to organize a fourth party drive.

McCarthy, who has said he might support such a drive if its programs and leaders were acceptable, Tuesday reiterated refusal to directly participate.

But the New Reform party of Montana ignored the statement and nominated the unsuccessful contender for the Democratic party hopes to get on the ballot nomination as its presidential candidate.

Marcus Raskin, whose NR party hopes to get on the ballot in 25 states, predicted that several state groups would put McCarthy's name on the ballot.

McCarthy said he would deny official approval in those states requiring it to put his name on the ballot, but said he would try to "respond" to the wishes of supporters in states that do not require official approval.

He urged his supporters to work instead for the election of senators who agree with his opposition to Vietnam war policy and his stand on domestic priorities.

McCarthy said he has asked that his name be withdrawn in Iowa where he said it "would have little bearing on the outcome of the national election" and might hurt Gov. Harold Hughes' Democratic Senate campaign.

Must update

KINGSTON (CP) — Clergymen must continue to update their education if they are to retain their professional standing in the church, delegates to the United Church of Canada conference were told Tuesday.

"Continuing education is a necessity for the clergy," said Rev. N. B. McLeod of Hamilton.

Want action
LEVIS, Que. (CP) — Officials of the union bargaining for 110 striking employees of Modern Paving Co. Ltd. Tuesday night called for the "energetic" intervention of Labor Minister Maurice Bellemare of Quebec in the dispute.

The workers went on strike June 26 in support of demands for higher wages and increased job security. Negotiations began the following day but broke down July 26. They are to resume Monday.

Assizes open-murder trial starts Monday

By DENNIS FINLAY (Record Staff Reporter)

The Court of Assizes was opened yesterday in Sherbrooke and Judge William Mitchell of Superior Court slated the first trial for September 9.

There are 15 cases on the roll for the September term of the assizes. One case, George Mosher's trial for rape, was postponed until the February term because of an appeal.

Mosher and Richard Stickle are accused of the same crime and Stickle is serving a six month sentence on the charge. The Crown is appealing the case for a stiffer sentence.

Yesterday, jurors were chosen at the opening session.

Some men were exempted from jury duty because they told the Court they were hard of hearing, had to run their business or were not healthy.

However, many men, after trying to be relieved of duty were told by Judge Mitchell to "take a chance" and be a jurist.

One man was relieved of duty because, although he had a French name, he couldn't speak French and he couldn't be used during French-language trial.

The prosecutors for the Crown are the new St. Francis District Crown Prosecutor, Michel Cote, Andre Langlais and Stanley Steinman.

Benoit Lavoie, alias Ben Thibault, accused of armed robbery, will appear pro forma on Sept. 23. Yesterday, true to form, he walked into court with an arm full of law books and asked for a prolongment of the delay for his trial.

As usual, defending himself, he quoted pages and article numbers from the criminal code he studies while serving a 13-year sentence in St. Vincent de Paul.

He was told by Judge Mitchell to appear on the 23rd and then he could ask for a postponement.

The first trial will be that of Donat Fournier who is accused of non-capital murder. This trial will be heard on Sept. 9.

Fournier is represented by lawyer Jean Cormier.

Clement Leclerc, accused of receiving stolen goods, will appear pro forma on Sept. 23. He is free on bail and is represented by Dewey Zor.

Andre Onil Lambert, accused of fraud, will appear pro forma on Sept. 23. He is also out on bail and is represented by Sherbrooke lawyer Gerald Desmarais.

Jean-Guy Tardif, accused of complicity in an armed robbery and complicity after the fact will appear pro forma on the 23rd.

His lawyer is Sherbrooke MLA Raynald Frechette.

Tardif is free on bail at the moment.

Richard Blass, accused of armed robbery will appear pro forma on Sept. 23 and is presently out on bail. He is being defended by Franklin D. Shoofey.

Robert Allard, charged with armed robbery, is out on bail and is represented by Yves Mayrand. He too will appear pro forma on Sept. 23 when a date will be set for his trial.

Mrs. Christine Helm, alias Ruth Church, is slated to appear on Sept. 30 but the Crown represented by Mr. Langlais informed the Court that the accused is "apparently dead."

She is accused of false pretences and possession of false documents.

She was or is represented by Jean Cormier and Real Gagnon.

Council disputes tender calling procedure

An argument about asking for tenders blew up at City Hall last night and only after heated debates between Aldermen Tony Pinard and Everett Nicol was a decision taken by a vote.

The cause of the squabble and vote was whether to ask for tenders for certain pieces of equipment with exact specifications from one or two companies suggested by city engineers or to ask for general tenders from everyone as long as the specifications were met.

Council voted for the latter after 30 minutes' discussion and it was Mayor Armand Nadeau's vote which clinched the decision.

Council decided last night to ask tenders for six pieces of equipment, most of them large, expensive machines such as a compacting roller and a large trailer to haul equipment.

City engineers asked in the requisition for tenders that the piece of equipment be a caterpillar D5 or Case 1150 for examples.

Mayor Nadeau suggested to council the engineers' reports should be taken into consideration but that a clause in the requisition be added to open the field for tenders.

He suggested that a clause such as "Caterpillar D5 or equipment with equivalent specifications."

The phrase "equivalent specifications" would allow other companies to submit tenders on the equipment.

This is when Mr. Pinard started to bellow. He said the city should abide by the engineers' requests because they knew what equipment was best suited for the city. Director of Services, Charles Langlois joined the fray when he said a certain type trailer was best because of its specifications and options.

Mr. Nicol voiced disapproval of Mr. Langlois' statement and said other companies could produce the same type of trailer.

This was when Mr. Pinard blasted Alderman Nicol with both guns and he pointed out that while Mr. Nicol was charge of the fire department, he accepted tenders from one company only, American Lafrance. This irked Mr. Nicol so much that he and Mr. Pinard began yelling at each other across the table.

While they argued, mainly about Mr. Nicol's handling of tenders at the fire department, other aldermen smiled, laughed and conversed.

It was strictly a Pinard versus Nicol affair.

When the meeting was returned to order and tempers subdued, Alderman Amedee

Roy seconded Mr. Pinard's proposal that the engineers' advice be followed.

Alderman Gaston Roy proposed that the "or equivalent" phrase be added to the tenders' requisition.

His proposal was seconded by Alderman Marcel Savard.

A vote was taken and the 10 aldermen were evenly split over the matter.

Mayor Nadeau voted to add the "or equivalent" phrase and the battle was over.

WELL DESERVED — The Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Canadian Little League Baseball Champions were honored by

Rotary Club honors Little League champs

By PETER VERRAL (Record Staff Reporter)

Perhaps it was the vivid memories of shouts and cheers ringing in their ears that made the youthful voices of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Canadian Little League Champions ring clearly above the husky howls of the Rotarians as they belted out Take Me Out to the Ball Game.

Coach Amedee Roy and his 15-man team were honored by the Rotarians at their weekly meeting last night.

And it was obvious as Mr. Roy addressed the members that the little ball players revere their coach — youthful yelps of glee interrupted the coach on several occasions.

Completely wrapped up in the team's adventures, Coach Roy created a vicarious atmosphere for the eagerly-listening Rotarians.

In fact, Mr. Roy's comments were almost like leafing through a photo album of the team's events in the last three weeks.

On winning the Provincial Championship: "Someone from Valleyfield who had been to Williamsport for the last 10 consecutive years, told me he hoped the team would get there."

On the tournament in Windsor, Ontario: "If I may brag a little, I am of the opinion that we were the most colorful team of the Tournament in Windsor."

"The language difference, the small size of our boys, their great ability, our exciting pitching — all this made us a really good team to look at."

On the voracious appetites of the little leaguers: "... we had them to lunch at the wonderful 18th floor restaurant at Windsor's Viscount Sheraton Motel ... it is easy to feed these boys, they can eat three chicken meals a day."

On the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Penn.: "Each boy went through a physical. The doctor and two graduate nurses were in attendance at all times and had a special place in the dugout. One nurse said it was the first time they had seen a Canadian team with such a little amount of bashfulness."

Coach Roy as morning bugler: "Our day (at Williamsport), started at 7:15 a.m. ... The boys were awakened very softly by my singing 'You got to get up in the morning.' Usually by the end of a couple of verses, they were ready to throw me out of the room."

On the hospitality: "... the children from Williamsport and visitors from all over the United States and Canada would flock to see the Little Leaguers."

"I really felt sorry for myself as the cutest little 12-year-olds were seeking autographs from the young players — they didn't even take a glance at my grey hair — they should have looked at my eyes — how green they are."

On thinking back: "Some people at times question the wisdom of adults spending so much time in teaching these kids how to play ball."

"... however, when you have lived for some three weeks with 15 kids through days they could not dream of getting anywhere else out of Little League — when you look at their young fine faces — when you know that you would gladly accept anyone of them as a son of yours ... then you are sure that you have done a job worth doing."

Mayor wants specialist to design a flag for Sherbrooke

Council decided last night to have a specialist design a City of Sherbrooke flag at Mayor Armand Nadeau's suggestion.

Alderman Marcel Savard agreed with the mayor that a city flag would be appreciated.

The rest of council probably wasn't in such a mood of civic spirit because aldermen didn't elaborate on the subject.

Mayor Nadeau and council assured members of the Truckers Association and residents of Laurier, Aberdeen and Alexander Streets that everything is being done to rectify the heavy traffic problem in this area.

The principal reason for the heavy traffic on these three streets is that large trucks cannot pass under the CPR overpass on the corner of Galt and Laurier Streets.

Vive les Gens is back again

Vive les Gens is back in Sherbrooke. By popular demand, the 160 member musical show has returned for three performances at the University of Sherbrooke. The shows will be Sept. 5, 6 and 7 in the Grande Salle at 8:30 p.m.

Since appearing in Sherbrooke three weeks ago, the group has performed in Trois-Rivieres, Jonquiere, Chicoutimi, Rimouski, Valleyfield and Drummondville. In Trois-Rivieres and Rimouski, there was such a response by the local youth that they have formed their own "local Sing Outs."

After their return to Sherbrooke, Vive les Gens will travel to Quebec City for three performances at the University of Laval, and then on to Montreal, where they will be performing in Place des Arts.

Although the group is arriving today, September 4, hospitality for approximately 40 members is still needed. If you would like to have one or two of the cast members in your home as guests for the four nights, please call 562-5152.

Because of the tremendous response which the cast has received all over the province, the directors of Vive les Gens have decided to extend their tour of Quebec through November. They aim, during that time, to accept 200 of the best of young Quebec to travel on the road with the cast. Anyone desiring an interview should come to the Vive les Gens personnel office at the University of Sherbrooke.

Employees of the American Bitrite Rubber Co. (Canada) Ltd. appeared as a delegation at council last night to ask for a solution to their parking problem.

Mayor Nadeau and Alderman Everett Nicol both told the employees the city has been trying for years to come to a solution suitable for the employees but wanted to know if the company was ready to spend a little money to do its share.

A spokesman for the delegation told council the company had assured employees it was ready to purchase land in the company's vicinity to help alleviate the parking problem.

Receives a month for breaking and entering

Richard Therrien, 25, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering with theft when he appeared in Court of Sessions yesterday before Judge Roland Dugre.

Therrien, who stole merchandise worth $1,452, was sentenced to one month in jail.

The accused, who appears in Court frequently, was told by Judge Dugre that he always explained very well why he committed the crime.

Yesterday, Judge Dugre listened with a deaf ear as Therrien tried to talk himself out of a stiff sentence.

Only about 8 per cent of the world's population is left-handed, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Alderman Tony Pinard told council that school crossing guards are asking for an increase in salary this year.

Council will study the matter. Council also decided that school crossing guards will take down the licence number of any car which does not stop at a crossing when the guard's sign is up. He will submit the number to the police.

HARD OF HEARING? Motorcycle hits girl

A young Rock Forest girl received head injuries when she was struck by a motorcycle yesterday.

Marie-Andre Paradis, 6, was taken to the Saint Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, where she was reported in good condition by a hospital spokesman early this morning.

The motorcycle was driven by Norman Rancourt, 18, also of Rock Forest.

Winter works bonuses little real benefit

Decision of Prime Minister Trudeau to discontinue incentive payments to municipalities for public works carried out in the winter season may bring loud outcries from many municipal administrators who see an important source of supplementary revenue disappearing.

But in the long run the decision may do the municipalities more good than harm.

In too many cases, cities, towns and villages have undertaken certain non-pressing projects, basing their decisions on the old argument that they were getting something cheap because the federal and provincial governments were paying — in the case of Quebec province — 90 per cent of the labor cost.

Unfortunately the direct labor costs generally amounted to only a small portion of the entire outlay, with the vast majority being expended for such non-reimbursable items as materials and equipment rentals.

In many cases the subventions from the high levels of government amounted to less than 10 per cent of the total cost of the undertaking.

And, all too often, the increased costs resulting from winter conditions more than offset any advantage that might be forthcoming from federal and provincial aid.

The idea behind the winter works subsidy plan was to promote employment in the dull season but it is doubtful if it served to improve the overall jobless picture, as most of the useful work done under the project was that which could have been done better and more economically in the normal construction season.

The kid who once answered all the alarms grew up, became a personnel manager, and now runs his firm's "fire" department.

That autobus service

Anyone who has attempted to get from one part of Sherbrooke to another, or to Lennoxville, by using the evening and Sunday service provided by local autobus service must agree that the time has come for the City Council to give serious thought to having the municipality take over the mass transport system in the two municipalities.

For all practical purposes the evening, Sunday and holiday service is non-existent, with the headway between busses ranging from a "frequent" one hour on some lines to two hours on others.

This might be bearable if the patron started his journey from one point and terminated it at another point on the same circuit but when he has to spend half-an-hour waiting for a transfer connection at the King-Wellington intersection, the time spent in making a comparatively short journey may range up to 90 minutes.

And as the same delays may occur on the return journey, three hours travelling time may be spent in visiting a friend in another part of the city.

Certainly this is no encouragement to potential users of the transit system.

If the company is unable to provide something better than this because of financial difficulties, the city should assume responsibility for providing the travelling public the service to which they are entitled.

This may involve the city treasury in a deficit but there is no more reason why the city should not spend some money in financing a reasonable public transport service than there is that it spend tens of thousands annually on street lighting.

Both are public services.

Friend says it was all right with him when the boss bought a boat, but having the office manager pipe the snafu aboard each morning is a little bit too much.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

Sherbrooke's home grown amateur troupe, l'Union Theatre, took over the stage at the North Hatley Playhouse last night to present a spicy French dish, Bon Appetit, Monsieur, a three-act comedy.

The play continues this evening, skips tomorrow and ends Saturday.

L'Union Theatre won top honors in the Dominion Drama Festival two years ago and last year was high on the list of awards in the Quebec Regional Festival.

The play is set in Paris at the summer home of Police Commissioner Ledru.

As the first act opens, Ledru has just been told by hospital officials that arsenic has been found in his system.

He is cautioned to watch what he eats and who serves him the food.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

INVERNESS — A quartet of twinkle-toed young ladies and a smiling miss from Inverness shared the spotlight yesterday at the 104th annual Megantic County Fair held in this Eastern Townships village, proving that there is more to be seen than corn and cattle at county expositions.

The young ladies, none of them over 14, were Scottish dancers from the Caledonia Society School of Dancing in Montreal; the smiling miss was the newly-crowned Queen of Megantic County, Miss Cecile Turcotte.

Both held the centre of attraction on the stage in front of a packed grandstand for most of the afternoon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Sherbrooke played host this week to a King and Queen. They were Mr. and Mrs. E. Demitro, King and Queen of the Gypsies, who, with their family and relatives operated six midway concessions at the Sherbrooke Fair.

Fenwickians protest to LBJ American destroyers risk war with the Grand Duchy of Fenwick

VANCOUVER (CP) — When two American destroyers accidentally fired 12 rounds within range of a yacht competing in the Victoria-to-Maui, Hawaii, yacht race this summer, little did the United States know that it would come up against the military might of the Grand Duchy of Fenwick.

The incident occurred on the high seas of the Pacific and involved the yacht Cu Na Mara, owned and skippered by Leonard Webberley of Hermosa Beach, Calif.

The Cu Na Mara sails under two flags—the Stars and Stripes and the battle standard of the Grand Duchy of Fenwick.

Should the grand duchy consider a declaration of war over the incident, it will not be setting a precedent. It has already beaten the Americans, although not a single history book—save one by Mr. Webberley—records the triumph.

That war was arranged in order to save the obscure duchy, located somewhere in Europe, from bankruptcy. The Fenwickians reasoned that the best way to salvage their economy would be to declare war on the U.S.—and promptly surrender to receive reconstruction funds under a sort of Marshall Plan.

CAPTURED NEW YORK
Armed with crossbows and clad in chain mail, the Fenwickian Grand Army set sail for New York. After firing a volley of bolts into the funnel of the Queen Mary, the army arrived and somehow managed to capture the American metropolis through a series of improbable misadventures.

It all worked out in the end, as Yankee dollars poured into Fenwick. These and many other "facts" are recorded in Mr. Webberley's book, The Mouse That Roared. The duchy's tactics were considered to be of such import that Hollywood made a movie of the whole thing.

So when the shells started plopping around the Cu Na Mara during the yacht race, Mr. Webberley tried to raise the impudent destroyer captains by radio to warn them of the grave consequences that could be in store for the U.S.

But he couldn't raise the destroyer captains, so he then radioed Capt. Geoff Hilliard, skipper of HMCS Oriole, a Canadian naval ketch that also took part in the race.

Capt. Hilliard suggested that Mr. Webberley fire a distress rocket.

"What do you mean?" asked the beleaguered Fenwickian skipper. "They're for emergencies."

At this point the destroyers called it a day and steamed off. The Cu Na Mara sailed as rapidly as possible for Hawaii and the safety of the islands.

Once they made port, Mr. Webberley and his crew repaired to the Pioneer Inn Grog Shoppe and began drafting a note of diplomatic protest.

They called on the services of Canadian Ian Sherwin, of the crew of the Victoria yacht Cubara, who told the story on his return. Mr. Webberley, his crew and Mr. Sherwin exhausted the entire Fenwickian war budget of $1.75 on libations while pondering diplomatic phraseology in the Grog Shoppe.

They finally finished it off, sealed it in an envelope with wax and mailed it to the president of the United States after registering the letter with a surprised postal clerk at Lahaina.

London's subway system carried 9.5 million passengers in the first year of its existence, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Rare victory

Ombudsman pries extra cash

LONDON (CP) — An unemployed workman had an unusual injustice to be tackled by Britain's ombudsman, the new official who's supposed to see that the bureaucracy doesn't trample over the people.

His grievance was that, on his return from a continental holiday from collecting unemployment benefit cheques, he found he wasn't entitled to benefits for his touring time. On the ground that a clerk had wrongly informed him he could junket abroad without a break in his dole, the ombudsman pried a special payment out of the government for him.

Such as it is, this is one of ombudsman Sir Edmund Compton's rare victories over government machinery since taking over last year as the country's first "public Solomon"—officially parliamentary commissioner for administration.

In a way, this helps tell why many people consider the high-sounding office is proving pretty much of a flop as now set up. The reason is that the capable commissioner is so hobbled by legislative fetters that he can't even touch most of the problems dumped in his lap.

Sir Edmund, 62, a distinguished career civil servant who had been the government's spending watchdog for eight years as auditor-general, set up shop April 1, 1967. The new post has been modelled on the Scandinavian practice—where the unofficial name comes from—and watched from Canada as a possible prototype for a public guardian there.

He gets a salary of £8,600 ($22,160) and his office costs about £250,000 a year to run. He has a staff of 60, half of them full-time investigators.

But Sir Edmund's report for the opening period of the new era is a stiff-upper-lipped story of frustration. And a Commons special committee looking into his work now urges (1) that he should be given more elbow room and (2) that he should take more initiative on his own in breaking out of narrow confines.

For the nine months to the end of 1967, the ombudsman chalked up only one win of substance for the common man, though that was a notable score against stiff opposition that included the redoubtable George Brown, then Labor foreign secretary.

Back in the Second World War, a dozen British servicemen had been penned for varying times in Germany's notorious Sachsenhausen concentration camp, where 100,000 persons were killed off between 1933 and 1945. Successive British foreign secretaries brushed off their claims to part of a £1,000,000 fund put up by West Germany after the war for British victims of Nazi persecution. The technicality was that the service-physically separated from the extermination department.

Compton finally found there had indeed been the bureaucratic "maladministration" that allowed him to act. The original £1,000,000 had long ago been used up—Brown told one delegation "the cheese is all gone"—but the government dredged up £30,000 of its own to be split among the 10 survivors.

Maladministration is a term used in the ombudsman legislation, and it is at once an operating word and a stumbling block. If there's no maladministration, there's nothing the ombudsman can do, regardless of how rough a deal the taxpayer has had.

Since Parliament didn't provide a definition of maladministration, Sir Edmund had to work out his own as he felt his way around. It comes out that if a bureaucrat follows the right procedures to reach the wrong decision, he's on safe ground.

Apart from this bottleneck, there is a whole shelf of fields into which the ombudsman cannot reach at all.

A selection of the untouchables includes complaints against legislation, court proceedings, civil service personnel matters, hospitals, trade unions, police and extradition affairs.

Another provision is that the commissioner can accept only cases referred to him by MPs. And there are various time limits to keep him from rooting too far back into the Whitehall pigeonholes.

MOST THROWN OUT

As a result of all this, many complaints fail to get through the screen. Of 1,069 cases reported to the commissioner in the nine months under review, 849 had been disposed of by the end of 1967. Of these, 561—or about two-thirds—were thrown out right away because they were outside the ombudsman's jurisdiction.

Another 100 were partly investigated and dropped, for various reasons. Investigations were completed in 188 cases, and in just 19 the commissioner found "maladministration" of the type calling for restitution. Outside of the Sachsenhausen issue, none of the winning applicants appeared to have any more stirring a cause than the man who wanted his dole while holidaying in Europe.

Sir Edmund, himself a civil servant for 39 years, doesn't talk about the frustrations of his office. He never gives interviews, and in his private appearance before the Commons committee—the proceedings of which were recently made public—maintained the discreet viewpoint that he would administer the law as it is written.

The committee itself thought he should investigate and challenge bad decisions even when the decision-makers follow the rules, and bad rules themselves when they result in hardship. But Sir Edmund felt he didn't want to get into "government-by-ombudsman."

WELL-ROUNDED VIEW — Doug Johnston, Stantead, won first prize in Herdsmanship

By JOHN McCAGHEY
(Record Staff Reporter)

BROME — (Staff) — Familiar faces grouped again this year at the 112th Brome Fair. Though the voice of Jim Jolley was absent on the mike, W. Thibault and Ray Mullins filled the gap.

Knowlton Lions Club members Bill and Homer Blackwood, Gene St. Pierre, Cy Pearson, Doug Ladd, Jack and Tom Eldridge and others, were busy soliciting for the Lions Club draw, proceeds of which are to be used for the Club's recreational park. The top prize of $300 was won by Reginald Carriere, 44, Granby, and will be put to good use as Mr. Carriere is recovering from a stroke.

Members of the Canadian Ski Patrol, who handled the first aid for the third time, said there were a number of people who suffered from heat prostration, but recovered quickly when they stayed in the shade. One of the 10-man squad said they were not geared to handle first aid for the ox that was brought in for bandaging.

Delbert and Fern Willey were meaning a food concession during their 20th year, still beaming through the heat, both solar and kitchen-created.

Sutton Mayor Max Gagne was active on the scene, as wasorton Baker, Peter Crowe, Anthony Barker, Claudette LeFebvre — what shorts! Evie Levo and her brood from Bonville, Mimi Seymour acting as co-babysitter for Peter, Andy (Tex), Timmy to mention three, were at the fair.

Evie Newton and Angie Geofredo queasy after a try at a midway ride, claimed they 'should have eaten afterwards!' One imaginative entrant in the cooking section came up with a cake in the shape of a steam locomotive, chocolate, chips for coal, and a bright yellow gumdrop for the bell.

The horticulture building had an excellent variety of garden produce, flowers, and of course, the baked goods.

APLAM, (Association des Producteurs de Laine et d'Agneau de Marche), exhibited wool that was grown locally and carded and spun in Prince Edward Island.

They hope to encourage sheep farming in Brome - Missisquoi, and hopefully able to start a carding and spinning mill, should the venture prove profitable.

Kids and adults fascinated with the appearance of the J. J. Barker replica of a 1903 Oldsmobile, the Briggs and Stratton power plant got a strong workout.

Leo Jette was on the scene to help to direct fair-goers into the grounds, where the parking lots, including a new one were overcrowded on Sunday and Monday. Sunday's crowd was conservatively estimated to be 27,000, the largest single day's attendance ever.

Paul Dubois, RECORD carrier, managed to beat the "Kip" operator at his own game, and came home with a portable tape recorder that cost him zip.

Bruce Bailey, Quebec Fish and Game Public Relations man was back renewing acquaintances with old cronies, especially Cedric Stone, Jack Eldridge, and Jake Baird.

Homespun and woolens were the finest displays in the handicrafts section.

The local publican, blessing the warm weather, reported fair-goers proved to be the thirstiest on record, not to mention the most numerous.

All who attended showed a great deal of enthusiasm, and said they were looking forward to next year's showing.

Psychiatrist explodes myths about black man

By AILEEN SNODDY

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A black psychiatrist came to this city recently and exploded some myths about the black man.

For example:

- The black society is not really a matriarchal one and the black woman is maligned in a back-handed way by the canon of matriarchy.
- There is no black middle class in the truest definition of middle class.
- Merely providing jobs for black men as the total solution to unrest is a misreading of the basic problem of the black man.
- Black men and women do want professional help to soothe their inner hurt—through therapy.

Dr. William H. Grier, co-author of "Black Rage," spoke quietly of insights gained from his patients in the last 10 years. He was ensconced comfortably in the Hotel Algonquin, a favorite hostelry for writers and theatrical folk since the Round Table days of Dorothy Parker and James Thurber.

Grier and Dr. Price M. Cobbs, both at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, outline simply and understandably in their book why, after 300 years, the black man has had it. It could be a primer for anyone interested in unraveling the mystique of self-destruction of the ghettos of L.A., Detroit, Newark and Cleveland.

A practicing psychiatrist since 1955, Grier, his wife and three children live in the San Francisco area. His patients, in his former home Detroit and his present West Coast home, have been black and white.

To understand the belief that blacks suffer from an acute case of momism, Grier compares the Negro mother's situation to that of any woman whose husband is away at war or is incapacitated on a job. "The woman in the family steps in and takes over as the one adult left."

Why is the black woman called on to do this so often that she seems to the role born? The answer is at the heart of the black community's troubles which white America doesn't or won't see, Grier believes.

He points out that the role of any husband is to nurture and protect his wife and family. Historically, the black man could not "protect his wife and daughters from rape or sexual abuse, save his property from being taken from him, get protection from the law, education for his children or vote."

Even financially successful black lawyers, doctors or business executives, he continues, suffer from years of "playing it cool."

Helping her son "survive" led the black woman for generations, he explains, to be both tender and cruel. The frustration of being a man but not being a man in white society terms is a key to what the black man is fighting about now.

According to Grier, a job in a world that doesn't give a man a "hand in his destiny, doesn't throw off demeaning social strictures and doesn't help 10 per cent of the population throw off a self-depreciation of having lived here on someone else's terms for 300 years sidesteps the crux of change in the 1960s."

Grier says he found his posture as a psychiatrist changing as the black movement progressed.

"I no longer could be cold, listen clinically and act as a mirror," he explains. "Can you imagine as part of therapy a discussion of standards of beauty in other parts of the world for the black woman?"

"I found my patients increasingly concerned with blackness and suffering from social problems. Their basic phobias, though, were the same as any person's."

In referring to the middle class Grier explains that it is necessary to note the definition of middle class.

Sleepwear passes for day wear

MONTREAL (CP) — When a Montreal model clad only in a "nightshirt" trudged through this city's downtown shopping area at noon recently, nobody batted an eye.

What's more, she had to step out of a lounging ensemble first. And even then, nobody stared.

"What did I tell you," said Jack Greenberg, a lingerie manufacturer for more than 20 years. "Today's sleepwear can pass for day wear—and I'm quickly discovering that day wear is being slept in."

Mr. Greenberg is concerned with keeping the Canadian woman looking beautiful both in bed and out.

"She should always look sexy when she retires and wear what her husband likes," he says. "If she doesn't, she deserves to sleep out in the hall."

In trying to make women look lovelier and get more wear out of their bedtime wardrobes, he has created a look which can be worn after sunrise too.

One such item features a floor-length pink quilted wrap-around skirt with matching sleeveless vest.

NEEDS GOOD FIT

Beneath this is worn a white nightshirt—or mini-dress—featuring bouffant sleeves with pink embroidery. A pair of white matching bikini panties turn the lounging outfit or hostess ensemble into a pair of shortie pyjamas.

The expert advises: "Women should always try on sleepwear or day wear before buying items. Even if she knows her size, each garment has a slightly different fit, and lingerie should fit as well as outer clothing."

As for incorporating bras and girdles into sleepwear, Mr. Greenberg says he refuses to carry this type of line.

"How many women do you know who like to sleep in a bra? What she should do is buy a nightgown designed and cut in such a way as to provide a little support and create a naturally attractive bustline."

Influenced by the European fashion market, Mr. Greenberg also advises women to wear slips which feature wide lace shoulder straps.

Suspect orphanage of child cruelty

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters) — Brazilian police investigated Tuesday night charges that children were murdered, tortured and sexually assaulted at a privately-run orphanage at Nova Iguaçu, on the outskirts of Rio.

As police dug up the garden and searched the well of the orphanage for possible hidden bodies, a guard was mounted outside the police station to prevent angry mobs from lynching Edilsa Barbosa Marques who ran the Abode of Light asylum with her husband Abel.

The 47 children at the orphanage, all under 12 years, were sent to other asylums, private homes and hospitals. Police put out a dragnet across the two states for Abel and the couple's 13-year-old son Luis.

Police said physical examination of the children bore out their testimony of near starvation, beatings, torture and sexual assault.

Newspapers published pictures of some of the children, which were reminiscent of pictures taken in Nazi concentration camps.

Police raided the orphanage Friday following tips from neighbors.

THE PROOF IS IN THE PUDDING!

Few people realize that many national concerns are having printing done right here in Sherbrooke. Some of this printing is more than a bit complicated, necessitating full color illustrations, etc.

Any time you'd like to know more (just because you're curious) give us a ring; our salesman will call on you and show you samples of our work. No obligation on your part; when you DO want something printed, however, you'll know where to go!

we care

we never "run out" on a sale!

We never advertise a special sale item unless we have an ample supply. Once in a great while, the special is more popular than we imagined. So occasionally, we do run out of the item.

But we never "run out" on a sale. If the item is sold out, just ask the manager for a "RAIN CHECK".

An A&P Rain Check is a certificate that entitles you to buy the item at the same special price, the following week.

We think that's the fair thing to do. We think that shows "WE CARE".

Not every store can care that much. A&P can... and does. Shouldn't A&P be your store?

Anyone can make five odd in hearts with today's cards. All he has to do is draw trumps, finesse successfully against West's queen of spades, discard one diamond on the long spade and wind up losing one club and one diamond.

Anyone can make five hearts, but a good player will make only four odd. He will see that his game contract is safe provided his opponents can't take a club, a spade and two diamonds, and he will guard against two diamond losers by keeping East out of the lead.

He will start his campaign against East by letting West hold the first trick. Then he will win the club continuation and draw trumps with three leads, making sure he winds up in dummy. His next play will be to lead the jack, 10 or eight of spades from dummy and let it ride.

West will be happy to cash his queen but this won't interfere with South winning game and rubber. On the other hand, if the finesse were taken the other way and East got in the almost-automatic diamond shift it would give the defense four tricks.

The bidding of the hand illustrates the use of a limit raise. North has 11 points in support of hearts, not enough to force to game but enough to invite game strongly. In the early days of contract everyone used limit raises. Then, they disappeared for quite awhile only to start coming back into expert bidding. We rather expect they will get back into ordinary bidding also although they do indicate an unusual trend—a move toward simplicity.

Says he can cut maritime feed costs

CANNING, N.S. (CP) — J. E. Peill has sown 45 acres of his Annapolis Valley farm in Opal variety wheat, which he says has a potential for cutting Maritime feed costs by half.

The new variety, developed in Mr. Peill's native Germany 25 years ago, out-yielded all other varieties in federal research station tests, he said.

Mr. Peill, who is finishing hogs on his farm, has 650 acres sown in grain, potatoes, cabbages and cauliflower. He plans to use his new Opal wheat to feed hogs and poultry.

Nova Scotia imports $10,000,000 worth of livestock feed annually, and "if we continue to be dependent on imported feed and pay a high price for it, we will not be able to remain competitive."

Mr. Peill said grain varieties like the Opal "will mean the survival of agriculture in the Maritimes as we know it."

There is a $10,000,000 market in Nova Scotia for Opal wheat and farmers have the land on which to produce it, the Valley farmer said. Other farmers in the Canning area have already sown 200 acres in the new variety which will be harvested this fall.

RESISTS DISEASE

That there is a substantial land reserve in the valley is borne out by a land survey of the Annapolis Valley Affiliated Boards of Trade. The survey showed that out of 640,000 acres of potential farm land there were only 140,000 acres under cultivation.

Mr. Peill said dikeland with good drainage would provide the richest soil for wheat or other cereal crops.

Opal wheat was not as susceptible to certain diseases as native varieties and was developed for conditions similar to those in the Maritimes. It was higher in protein and total digestive nutrients than any other grain Nova Scotia produces except corn.

The Maritime cereal committee has applied for a licence for production of Opal seed, Mr. Peill said.

Social notes from Beebe

Advent Mission Society meets

DANVILLE — The Home and Foreign Mission Society of the Advent Christian Church met at the summer home of Mrs. A. J. McCoy, Three Lakes, on Aug. 23, when a short business meeting was held.

As there had been no meeting in July, the project, A Cent a Meal, proved very worthwhile. Reports were given on work completed in the Parsonage, which included a new floor, as well as floor covering for the kitchen, and repainting of the walls and ceiling.

Some 25 members enjoyed the supper served on the spacious porch by the hostesses, Mrs. McCoy and her sister, Miss Phyllis Adams, Elliott, Me., who is on vacation here.

The evening program was in the form of a quiz under Miss Adams' capable leadership.

Members were reminded that the September meeting would be held at the home of Mr.

and Mrs. Roy Monahan, and that the guest speaker would be Miss Sylvia Whitman, a former resident of Wells River, Vt., who has been a missionary in Japan for some time.

The project for September will be a Bring and Buy Sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Perkins and family of Powsann, Ont., were guests at the meeting, as they are spending their holidays with Mr. Perkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Perkins.

Friends honor Boundary lady

DERBY LINE — Kelley's Restaurant was on August 26, the scene of a farewell party when some 30 of the Butterfield office workers and ex-employees gathered to pay tribute to one of their most loyal and popular members, Ivah, Mrs. Harley Ames.

Mrs. Ames had been invited to dine there with Mrs. Patricia Clark and Mrs. Phyllis Armstrong of the Billing department. On their arrival, and after the momentary shock of being surrounded by so many friends had subsided, and greetings exchanged, a corsage of red roses was pinned on her dress.

Following a social hour the group gathered in the dining room for a sumptuous dinner. After dessert and coffee, Miss Elizabeth Clarke, manager of the Billing department, spoke feelingly of Mrs. Ames' work and conscientiousness through 26 years, and on behalf of the office and shipping room employees, presented her with a camera and a purse of money. Mrs. Ames expressed her appreciation.

Mrs. Ames was first employed by Butterfields in 1922 as an employee of the Sales department, working under C. C. Copp. In 1925 Mrs. Ames left to train as a nurse at Little Lake Hospital, Burlington, where she graduated as an R. N. in February, 1928.

June 28, 1928, she was married to Harley D. Ames. They quietly celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in June. In February, 1942, Mrs. Ames returned to the Butterfield plant to accept the post of Registered Nurse in their new dispensary, made necessary because of the great influx during WW2 of factory employees, working several shifts. DANVILLE — Once again the fields rang with the laughter of children and adults alike, as members of the Olney family congregated at Kilolney Farm, the original homestead, where the first Olneys settled in the early 1800's.

The spacious farm house, now heated by electricity, still has the big stove in the dining room that came with the original owner, where so many family gatherings have been held throughout the years.

Nevertheless, it had been some time since the brothers and sisters of the present owner have all been present at a family reunion, and it was with great pleasure that they recalled the happy days of bygone years, enjoying even a hayride, with their congenial host, Bradley Olney, acting as chauffeur for the tractor, which replaces horses on the farm of today.

Later in the afternoon a corn roast and picnic supper was served. Miss Ida Olney was hostess, with her brother, for the happy occasion.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Olney and Dr. Gerald and Mrs. Olney, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Olney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Olney and family, Danville, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel St. Cyr and family, Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Olney, Sherbrooke, as well as many of the other Olney relatives, who all enjoyed a day of renewing old friendships, and of meeting relatives who live at a distance.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Sniffing Gasoline Fumes Can Cause Brain Damage

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The folly of gasoline sniffing has been well-publicized. Loss of consciousness has been observed in some persons who have persisted in this pastime. Now a recent report indicates that, because almost all commercial gasolines contain tetraethyl lead, serious lead poisoning may result from this habit. Small amounts of lead absorbed through the lungs can cause permanent brain damage.

It is far better to emulate Ferdinand the bull and smell the flowers for kicks. Their fragrance is sweeter than that of gasoline and their harmful side effects are nil.

Q—In hot days when I go into an air-conditioned store I immediately get severe abdominal cramps and have loose bowel movements. This also happens in winter when, after sleeping under an electric blanket, I get up in a cold house. What causes this and what will help?

A—You have a very irritable colon. Chilling the abdomen usually aggravates this condition. The treatment is not easy and usually requires the attention of a gastroenterologist.

Q—In a recent column you said that cholestyramine had reduced the blood cholesterol level of a number of persons with hardening of the arteries. My doctor never heard of it. Does it have any other name?

A—It is sold under the trade names Cuemid and Questran. Q—In a recent article you said that taking cortisone during pregnancy would interfere with adrenal function of the fetus. How would it do this? Is Meticorten in this class?

A—Cortisone is derived from the adrenal glands. An excess of adrenal hormone in the baby's blood supplied through the umbilical cord removes the stimulus for the baby to develop his own adrenal hormone. Prednisone (Meticorten) is a synthetic cortisone.

Q—What is meant by pelvic inflammatory disease, urethral stenosis and cystoscopy with urethral dilation?

A—PID is a general term for inflammation of the uterus (endometritis), uterine tubes (salpingitis) or ovaries (oophoritis). The cause is an infection following delivery or complicating a venereal disease. Urethral stenosis is a narrowing of the urethra. A cystoscope is an instrument that is passed into the bladder so that its walls can be seen. Dilation or stretching of the urethra is standard treatment for a urethral stenosis.

Will represent Cards whip Miners 10-2 to take Orford Hotel Association 1-0 lead in PBL playoff finals

Mario Podorieszsch, Mont Orford Ski School director, has been named official representative of the Mont Orford Hotel Association, an organization of 20 or so hotels in the immediate ski area. The Association's function is to welcome skiers to Orford and in particular to familiarize tourists with the different winter activities in the region. The Mont Orford Ski Centre will again this year participate in numerous ski trips to the United States and other regions in Canada for the purpose of attracting more tourists to Orford's winter wonderland. Representatives of Mont Orford will travel to New York, from the 17 to 20 of October, to Toronto, October 20-27, and to Boston, November 15 to 17. Another ski team will travel to Montreal from October 20 to 27 while Mr. Podorieszsch is in Toronto.

EFL quarterbacks must be good runners to survive in battle

TORONTO (CP) — What does a quarterback do when he finds all his receivers covered, the line bending and a short ton of carnivorous beef bearing down? In the Eastern Football Conference he runs, and well enough to rank high among the top 10 rushing backs.

times so far this year for 152 yards and a 9.5 average. Williams has rushed for two touchdowns; Gabler and Jackson one each.

Of the four first-string quarterbacks in the East, only Joe Zuger of Hamilton Tiger-Cats didn't make the list. Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders has peeled out 11 times for 128 yards and an average gain of 11.6 yards—the best rushing average of anyone in the conference.

Jackson, Gabler and Zuger all have reached the 1,000-yard plateau in the passing department. Jackson has completed 66 of 105 for 1,294 yards and a completion percentage of 62.8; Gabler has been good on 70 of 123 for 1,090 yards and a .569 percentage; Zuger has clicked on 65 out of 120 for 1,007 yards and a .542 percentage.

Wally Gabler of Toronto Argonauts has rolled out 26 times for 190 yards and a 6.8-yard average.

Williams has hit on 38 out of 89 for 694 yards and 427 per cent. Gabler has been the most stingy in the interceptions department, allowing only four to seven each for Jackson and Zuger and six for Williams.

58 young hopefuls report for tryout with National squad, nine missing from last year

WINNIPEG (CP) — The lure of professional contracts and other interests have cut deeply into the ranks of Canada's Winnipeg-based national hockey team.

Huck, Ted Hargreaves, Bill Macmillan, Herb Pinder, Ray Cadieux and Morris Mott. McLeod said Gerry Pinder may also return.

But coach Jackie McLeod is not disheartened. "We're going to lack the experience but we'll make up for that in hustle," McLeod said Tuesday while discussing the largest-ever rookie camp now in full swing.

At the blue line, where the largest gap has been created, Terry O'Malley and Gary Begg will be back. Wayne Stephenson will be in goal again.

From the camp of 58 young hopefuls, McLeod must find about nine replacements for those lost since last year. The camp, which opened Sept. 1 at St. John's-Ravenscourt school for boys in suburban Fort Garry, will produce 20 to 25 players who then will attend the regular training camp which opens Sept. 15.

McLeod said Steve Monteith will be finishing University in Ottawa this year and, besides playing for the Ottawa-based Nations whenever possible, he will remain available to the western team. He probably will be taken on at least one of the exhibition tours overseas.

VETERANS RETURN

Returning for another year are forwards Jean Cusson, Fran

Those who have left include goalie Ken Broderick, forwards Brian Harper, Danny O'Shea, Gary Dineen and Roger Bourbonais and defencemen Paul Comlin, Barry Mackenzie, Brian Glennie and Marshall Johnson.

A surprise to the Nationals was the appearance of Jim Pritchard, defenceman with Winnipeg Jets of the Western Canada Junior League last season. Pritchard, drafted by Montreal Canadiens this year, told McLeod he has decided to finish his high school education before turning pro.

McLeod will make his decision on what players will be invited to the regular training camp when he holds a rookie intrasquad game Sept. 9.

Coach Joe Zaleski is confident his Bombers will stop Russ Jackson

OTTAWA (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, still nursing high hopes for a playoff spot in Western Conference, meet Ottawa Rough Riders tonight in an interlocking Canadian Football League Conference game.

Coach Joe Zaleski told a news conference Tuesday night he is confident his club can contain the passing of Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson and the beefed-up Ottawa running attack led by fullback Bo Scott.

"Otherwise, we would not be here," Zaleski said.

The Bombers managed only one win in five starts and are in last place in the West. However they are only two points behind fourth-place British Columbia Lions and three behind third-place Edmonton Eskimos.

The Riders can jump into first place in the East with a win. They now are tied for the top spot with Toronto Argonauts. Each club has six points.

Zaleski said rookie quarterback John Schneider is improving with every game and that the University of Toledo gradu-

RACE IS TIGHT

Zaleski said the Bombers can make the playoffs but declined to say how many games he thought they had to win to do and more offensive duty from rookie Vic Washington to put more threat in their running attack.

Scott returns to action tonight after being placed on the 30-day injury list. He hurt a knee in the opening game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Riders have not been able to mount much of a running attack since.

Even though he has missed three games, Scott ranks as Ottawa's second best ball-carrier. Jackson is tops with 128 yards, seven better than Scott.

The Riders picked up George Stetter of Montreal Alouettes on waivers last week and are grooming him to fill in for Washington on defense.

That would leave the speedy Washington free for full-time duty on offense.

Tonight's game will be carried on the full CTV network starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

Detroit Tigers' Jim Northrup had some ups and downs Tuesday night before stroking the key hit in a 6-3 triumph over Oakland Athletics.

Northrup booted the ball.

JIM MAKES AMENDS

But the Tigers filled the bases again in the ninth and Northrup made amends for his miscue with a two-run single to right.

The victory, coupled with Baltimore Orioles' 6-1 loss to New York Yankees, sent the first-place Tigers eight games in front of the fading Orioles in the American League stretch run.

Elsewhere, Washington Senators edged Chicago White Sox 2-1, Cleveland Indians trimmed California Angels 7-2 and Boston Red Sox beat Minnesota Twins 4-1 in a five-inning, rain-shortened game.

Northrup committed a damaging error in the eighth inning as the Athletics rallied for three runs and a 3-2 edge. He then sent home the tying and deciding runs with a single in the ninth, sparking a four-run Tiger comeback.

The Detroit right fielder started the night on the downgrade, going hitless in his first three trips to the plate and stranding three base runners in the fifth. He singled to open the eighth—and was picked off first—but got back safely when John Donaldson's throw hit him in the head.

Left-hander Fritz Peterson protected the margin until the ninth, when Roy White's bases-loaded triple and Robinson's second RBI single wrapped it up. Peterson, 9-9, was hit by a pitch in the ninth and Dooley Womack finished up.

With the Tigers clinging to a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the eighth, Joe Keough laced a single to right. Allen Lewis raced home with the tying run and Sal Bando scored from first when Tom Cullen's two-run pinch single in the sixth overcame a 1-0 Chicago lead and Joe Coleman made it stand up with a four-hitter as the Senators climbed within one game of the ninth-place White Sox.

Cullen delivered the winning hit off reliever Wilbur Wood, who had inherited a bases-loaded jam from starter Cisco Carlos. Russ Snyder drove in three runs with a single and his third homer and Lee Maye also homered, leading the Indians past the Angels. Southpaw Sam McDowell, 14-11, needed late relief help from Vicente Romo.

C of C golf tourney to be held Sept. 12

The annual Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament will take place at the Sherbrooke Country Club Thursday, Sept. 12.

Golfers wishing to take part in the event can register at the Chamber of Commerce office or by calling Curtis Bishop, committee chairman, at 562-4797. The tee-off will be between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The committee is willing to deal with the suggestion made during last year's closing dinner, that is to organize a nine-hole tourney for the members' wives. However the decision will be based on the number of replies received.

The closing dinner will be held at 7 p.m., and members are requested to register stating the number of people who will attend. This should be done as soon as possible with the office in order to make the necessary arrangements.

Dodgers explode with barrage of hits to edge Phillies, Cards win

Los Angeles Dodgers, a last-place team in the National League this season because of their weak hitting, suddenly came to life at the plate Tuesday night.

Jim Lefebvre struck out, but pinch hitter Len Gabrielson walked and Gary Wagner relieved Hall. Tom Haller greeted Wagner with a double, and Ron Fairly slammed a pinch double that scored Gabrielson and Hall and tied the score 7-7.

Dodger hitters, usually content with a handful of singles, pounded out five doubles and three home runs to produce eight runs in the final two innings and edge Philadelphia Phillies 10-9.

Philadelphia took an 8-7 lead in the bottom of the eighth when Gary Sutherland walked with the bases loaded. But in the ninth, Crawford greeted John Boomer with a double and scored on Davis' double. After Sudakis struck out and Boyer popped up, Lefebvre walked and Gabrielson doubled home Davis and Lefebvre.

Elsewhere in the National League, first-place St. Louis Cardinals topped Cincinnati Reds 5-3 in 11 innings, Pittsburgh Pirates edged Houston Astros 3-2, New York Mets beat Atlanta 4-3 and then lost to the Braves 7-6 in 12 innings and Chicago Cubs trounced San Francisco Giants 8-3.

Philadelphians in the seventh inning. New York got its first two runs on J.C. Martin's homer in the second.

Willie Crawford of the Dodgers led off the eighth inning by slamming a Dick Hall pitch for a homer. Then with one out, Bill Dudakis homered and Boyer hit his second homer.

Don Lock homered for the Phillies in the last of the ninth.

SINK THE REDS

St. Louis sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight loss when Curt Flood singled home one run and Roger Maris' sacrifice fly drove in another in the 11th inning.

Johnny Bench's two-out, two-run homer in the Cincinnati ninth sent the game into extra innings.

Pittsburgh beat Houston when Willie Stargell's 22nd homer snapped a 2-2 tie with two out in the sixth. Houston had tied the game in the previous inning on John Bateman's run-scoring double and Jose Herrera's RBI single.

33---Lips Of Traps

Greed is often the downfall of golfers confronted with a shot under the lip of a trap. They expect to get good loft as well as good distance to the green.

One just can't expect too much from such a position. The first—and possibly only—concern is to get out of there. Therefore, use any club that will serve that purpose. Use enough club to loft past the lip.

Worry about distance after getting over the lip is assured. Once, though, I broke my own rule on this. It was on the 17th hole of the Master's a few years ago. I was trying to get in contention and was faced with a shot from the lip of a trap.

I decided to gamble because I felt I had nothing to lose and everything to gain. I tried for loft and distance, but primarily distance. I swung, hit the lip and the ball rolled back. I lost the gamble. But, it must be emphasized, that was a rare circumstance. And you saw how it paid off, anyway.

Mrs. Harris faces high resistance cost

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Mrs. David Harris spends a lot of time in jail. She calls cops "brothers," but they keep locking her up anyway.

Other than that, Mrs. Harris is a rather typical young newlywed. She worries about the world situation, encourages her husband in his career and likes to write "just for fun."

The difference between Mrs. Harris and most new brides is that any time she feels like working a couple of days, say Friday and Saturday, she can make $25,000. You can't do that by throwing brush parties or selling cosmetics door to door, but money is easy to come by when you're a top folksinger like Joan Baez. That's who Mrs. David Harris used to be and still is to most people.

Even as she sang to a full house at New York's Fillmore East Theater recently, her book, "Daybreak," was seen protruding from the pockets of many of those in the audience and it seemed a certainty that most of those on hand had at least a few of her nine record albums tucked away in their collections.

Money is no problem for Miss Baez. If creature comforts were her only concern, she could long ago have retired to her beloved California to count coins and sit in the sun. But that's not the case.

"I'm very grateful," says the singer, "that I can go into a room with 10,000 people in it, sing them songs, which I enjoy, and tell them things that I feel are important and have to be said. I'm happy that I've been able to integrate my performing with David's work."

David's work consists of organizing resistance to the draft. So far, his efforts have earned him admiration from those who oppose the Vietnamese war and/or war in general, hatred from those who label him a hippie or Communist or both, a three-year jail sentence (which is being appealed) and a dedicated wife who has logged jail time of her own protesting what she considers to be an unjust system.

"There really isn't any leader as far as draft resistance goes," says Miss Baez. "My husband comes as close as anyone and he fights all the time to keep from being a leader and to make people function for themselves."

There was a time when Joan was closely associated with the civil rights movement. And more than one political hopeful would like to have her singing his campaign song. She has little interest in either cause.

She calls politicians "nationalists" and says, "I don't have 20 minutes to go down to the polls and vote for something corrupt. That's not my idea of being constructive."

The vision of those involved in the civil rights movement has been "way too short," the singer says. "They're clutching for a piece of moldy pie."

Her only cause, she claims "is the brotherhood of man." Draft resistance, she feels, is one step toward bringing about that brotherhood.

"In effect," she says, "draft resistance is an attempt to organize decency. What David and others are saying is, 'The odds are against us, but the only way to stop killing is to stop killing. I have to personally take myself out of the Selective Service System.' But when you make that commitment, you have to be ready to go into battle. You can't just sit around and wait for the brotherhood of man to arrive."

Harris made his commitment a couple of years ago when he and two friends turned in their draft cards. At that time, their hoped-for goal was to have 500 young men follow their example in two or three years. Today they claim that 4,000 have done so.

They also say that there are 30 draft induction refusals each week in San Francisco alone; they claim that Los Angeles has 20 refusals per week.

Says Miss Baez, "There are 600 refusals in San Francisco that nobody has caught up with yet. The courts are backpedaling."

But numbers have never been that important to her and she's quite willing to admit that not all of those connected with the draft resistance movement are motivated by the same forces that drive her husband. "He believes that the taking of life is immoral," she says, "but we know that some people are involved just because the draft is an imposition on their lives. Others are involved because they feel the Vietnamese war is immoral. I have no idea as to the percentages, but I have to hand it to anybody who is a resister. This is the one outfit where you can't be monkeying around. You've got one-to-five years hanging over your head. There's a very low percentage of phonies in the movement."

When Joan isn't performing or getting herself locked up, she likes to spend her time in Carmel Valley, Calif., the location of her Institute for the Study of Nonviolence. Ira Sandperl, a long-time crusader for antiwar causes, runs the school while Joan is away.

"There's a chance for branches in New York, Rome, France and Santa Barbara," she says, "but so far I haven't found the people I'm certain of to run them. I'm fussy."

She's also fussy about where her money goes.

"I don't see how anyone in their right mind can pay income tax," she says seriously. "Eighty per cent of that tax goes to building new weapons. You don't have to pay your tax. The least you can do with the tax collector is have him do his job, which is to collect your taxes. You don't have to send it to him."

"They come and take your money away and they take a little fine. And I think it's good that they take the fine. Then it becomes a real act. For each little thing you do, there has to be something vaguely akin to sacrifice or the act seems too light."

The act hasn't been light for Miss Baez. She won't say what her income is, but one report has it that the government took as much as $50,000 from her bank account to cover last year's taxes, plus that little fine.

At that figure, the price of resistance is high. But Mrs. David Harris thinks it's worth it.

In a subway station not far from the Fillmore, someone has scrawled, "The war must end, the draft must go." It's the hope of David and Joan Harris that Paul Simon knew what he was talking about when he observed, "The words of the prophet are written on the subway walls."
