PARLIAMENT OF SOUTH TO MEET

For Ratification Of Treaty And Setting Up Of Provisional Government Today

Dublin, Jan. 13.—Interest in the political situation to-night centers in the meeting which will be held tomorrow by the Southern Parliament for the ratification of the peace treaty with Great Britain. Invitations to the session were issued today, signed by Arthur Griffith. They were directed to all Deputies elected for the six Ulster Counties including Eamon De Valera and his adherents. It is not expected, however, that Mr. De Valera or any of his followers will attend.

The meeting will be held in the Oak Room of the Mansion House and, unless some members opposed to the treaty decide at the last minute to attend, it promises to be a somewhat perfunctory ceremony.

A Chairman will be elected, the treaty formally ratified and a Provisional Government established.

Mr. Griffith and the Members of the new Cabinet, according to present plans, will comprise the Provisional Government.

Representatives of the Ministry of Labor were called in by the Cabinet and the situation fully canvassed with a view to averting a general stoppage of the country's main transportation facilities.

Two of the railways affected by the strike operate entirely in Ulster and a deputation from the Ulster unions went to Belfast today to confer with the Minister of Labor of the Northern Parliament and a temporary postponement of the strike on these lines was agreed to.

Preparations for the evacuation of Dublin Castle and the withdrawal of the military forces are said to be complete.

The first contingent of the auxiliary forces were withdrawn to-night in quiet and orderly fashion and numerous contingents of other cadets and of the military have received orders to depart within the next 24 hours. Movements of troops on a large scale will take place next week.

Contrary to the arrangements announced Thursday, the auxiliaries marched from the barracks to the station this evening without band or flags. Except for the singing of songs by the cadets and infrequent exchanges of comment with the few people who lined the sidewalks, nothing unusual signified their departure.

Members of the Irish Republican Army in strong force lined the route of march to prevent any possible untoward demonstration.

Dublin Castle today was the scene of bustling activity. The gates still were in charge of the military but civilians seeking admittance met with no hindrance.

GERMANS GIVEN DELAY

For Payment Of January And February Reparations On Conditions

Cannes, Jan. 13.—Invitations to the Genoa economic conference decided on by the Allied Supreme Council were forwarded today to the various nations whose participation is sought. The more important countries were asked to send a minimum of three and a maximum of five delegates and the other nations two delegates each, the date of March 8 being provisionally fixed for the meeting.

A meeting of the committee for the organization of the Central International Corporation, called for by the Council's plan for the economic stabilization of Europe, has been called for January 25 at London.

It was determined that those decisions which were not definite should be reconsidered. The members of the Reparations Commission were then ushered into the Chamber, and M. Dubois, of France, its President, read, the Commission's decision reached this morning. The German delegation was then introduced to hear a reading of this decision.

The decision stated that the Reparations Commission had decided to grant the German Government a provisional delay for payment of the sums due January 15 and February 15, so far as these payments were covered by payments in cash or in kind, on certain conditions.

These conditions are:

First, during the period of provisional delay Germany must pay in approved foreign securities 31,000,000 marks every ten days; the first payment to be January 16.

Second, Germany within a fortnight must submit to the Commission a plan for reforms or appropriate guarantees for its budget and paper currency, and also a program for Reparation payments in cash and in kind for 1922.

Third, the period of provisional delay shall end when the Commission, or the Allied Governments, have reached a decision in regard to the plan and programme mentioned on the second condition, the balance due becoming payable a fortnight after the Commission or the Allies have reached a decision.

Dr. Walter Rathenau, head of the German delegation, took note of the decision in the name of his Government. He added that Germany had not defaulted on her payments, because negotiations had been taken up regarding the payments due January 15. He also took note of the invitation to Germany to take part in the Genoa Conference. All the delegations called here by the Supreme Council meeting are leaving Cannes today.

WITHDRAWALS WERE WHOLESALE

Hundreds Of Thousands Of Dollars Taken From The Merchants Bank

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars withdrawn from the account of Thornton Davidson & Co., in the Merchants Bank by Colin O. Cameron and deposits corresponding to or approximating these sums were made by Cameron to his own personal account, also in the Merchants bank, according to sheets of cheques and Merchants Bank ledger sheets produced at Cameron's enquete this morning before Judge Leet.

Cameron is charged with the theft of $500,000 from Thornton Davidson & Co., and having falsified the company's books for a similar figure. He is prosecuted by the estate of Thornton Davidson & Co., represented by George Alexander, K.C.

A cursory examination of the personal account of Colin O. Cameron, as shown in the ledger sheets produced from the Merchants Bank indicate that huge withdrawals and huge deposits were made within amazingly brief intervals by the 28 year old Cameron, some of these deposits and withdrawals exceeding $100,000. At one time, Cameron had a credit balance of slightly in excess of $179,000.

The withdrawals from Thornton Davidson & Company's account were apparently by the cheques countersigned by Cameron, its manager, and the same cheques bore the endorsement on the back of Colin O. Cameron. The star witness of the hearing was Percy Schaefer, Manager of the Merchants Bank branch at which both the Thornton Davidson & Co. and Cameron accounts were maintained.

The prosecution is expected also to call D. C. Macarou, late General Manager of the Merchants Bank, and T. D. K. Kippen, ex-manager of the Montreal branch of the Merchants Bank.

A slight flurry was created by C. An Wilson, K.C., counsel for Cameron when he remarked at the close of the morning proceedings to the book-keeper for Thornton Davidson & Co., was it not?

This referred to a statement by Schaefer that the bankrupt firm had not kept a pass book which recorded its deposits or withdrawals from its account. Schaefer replied that the bank furnished monthly statements to the company which it could use to check up its own record of its deposits and withdrawals.

GOVERNMENT INQUIRY INTO EXPEDITION

Is Probable Result Of Friction Between Stefansson And Dr. Anderson

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Canada's expedition to the Arctic and the tragedy of the ill-fated Karluk-lost with eleven deaths, as a consequence—have been flung into the arena of bitter controversy and demands for a full Government inquiry lie in the offing.

The expedition was headed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson and financed by the Dominion Government. It was divided into two parties: a Northern party in charge of Mr. Stefansson himself; a Southern party in charge of Dr. R. M. Anderson, geologist, at present acting Chief of the Biological Division, Department of Mines, Ottawa. The primary purpose of the Northern party was exploration of the unknown waters of Beaufort Sea; that of the Southern, scientific work in the extreme Northern land of Canada.

Apparently there was friction in the expedition almost from the outset. Appearance of Mr. Stefansson's latest book "The Friendly Arctic" has brought the whole matter to a head. Scientific members of the expedition now in Ottawa claim that the book contains unjust accusations of "attempted mutiny" and "insubordination."

Here is what Dr. Anderson, Chief of the Southern party, had to say, when questioned today by a representative of the Canadian Press: "The friction," said Dr. Anderson, "started from the time that Mr. Stefansson informed members of the expedition that he had sold out the newspaper rights of both parties. Mr. Stefansson explained at the time that no member of the expedition could send a telegram back to his relatives. This was obviously done to protect Mr. Stefansson's newspaper rights.

"The feeling spread among the men that a supposedly great scientific expedition was really at the bottom a newspaper and magazine exploiting scheme. This matter of furnishing news to the newspapers remained a cause of trouble through the whole expedition. It might not have been so with another Commander-in-chief, but Mr. Stefansson ever had his eye on his news-reading public. He admitted to me that what he had done was ethically wrong, but said he felt justified in using any means to get the expedition started."

"(4) In the spring of 1915, Mr. Stefansson sent word that the Government had given him full control over the expedition, that the Government had no authority to recall him till he was through with his work, that the members of the Southern party were not to be concerned with any orders from the Government."

Dr. Anderson took up the much discussed question of "living on the country" as applied to the Arctic. "Mr. Stefansson," he said, "has stated that the expedition was planned to demonstrate the principle of 'living by forage'. How does he reconcile this with his efforts from the first to have the Canadian Arctic expedition, 1915-18, the best equipped expedition that ever sailed? The expedition, the Karluk for the Northern party and the 'Alaska' for the Southern, were equipped as fully as possible from the very first.

When more men were added to the staff, more provisions were bought and an additional vessel, the 'Mary Sachs' was bought at Nome to carry supplies in 1917, and a considerable amount of freight was shipped to Herschel Island on the whaler Belvedere in 1918.

Dr. Anderson had these further charges to make against Mr. Stefansson's alleged conduct of the expedition:

"(1) That having lost the 'Karluk', Mr. Stefansson endeavored to change the whole conduct of the expedition as outlined in orders from the Government. The remaining members of the Southern party held that he had no authority to change the plans. Mr. Stefansson claimed this to be an act of 'insubordination'.

"(2) In 1915 orders were received from Ottawa that the expedition should come out of the Arctic that year, and not later than 1916. In face of these orders, Mr. Stefansson purchased two vessels in the summer of 1915, at Arctic ocean prices. These ships had American crews and were fitted out for new exploration work.

"(3) During the whole course of the expedition, Mr. Stefansson pursued a policy of wild extravagance. He had the reputation of buying everything in sight at almost any price asked. He certainly raised the standard of living in the Arctic. The expedition was supposed to cost $75,000. It actually cost over half a million.

"Later, in 1914, the schooner 'North Star' with all the outfit and supplies of its trader owner, was bought and another trader named 'Duffy O'Connor' was bought out, stock and barrel.

In 1915 he bought the large schooner 'Polar Bear' loaded down with supplies as well as a smaller schooner, the 'Gladiator' in the same way, at Arctic Ocean prices.

"The 'El Sueño' was also chartered to carry supplies. Large amounts were purchased from the Hudson's Bay Company and other traders at Herschel Island, as well as from natives and practically the whole available population hired. A large bill was purchased from the trading ship 'Herman' in 1916 and in 1917 the 'Challenge' was bought and the Hudson's Bay Company's Stores and the independent traders were bought in many lines as far as they cared to sell. Practical results of 1917-18 were virtually limited to Stoker's ice trip north of the coast of Alaska. Bills ran over half a million dollars.

"The foraging was done on the people who pay the taxes."

WHY PATTERSON IS RUNNING

Claims Casselman Former Member, Was Elected On A Minority Vote

Toronto, Jan. 13.—A. K. Patterson, Progressive candidate in Grenville, in opposition to Hon. Arthur Meighen, was in Toronto today conferring with the U.F.O. Chiefs. Interviewed tonight, Mr. Patterson said:—

"The fight in Grenville will not be on party platforms. The country has spoken on the platforms of the Parties. The issue is whether we want Meighen to represent us." He justifies his entrance into the campaign by the argument that Mr. Casselman, the former Member was elected on a minority vote.

"If the Liberal and U.F.O. votes had been combined, he would have been defeated," he said.

ARE IN DANGER OF FLOODING

Certain That Some South African Mines Will Never Be Re-Opened

(Canadian Press Cable)

London, Jan. 13.—There is apparently no sign of a settlement of the strike situation, now involving coal and gold miners and skilled workers.

The Village Deep Mine is flooding and other mines are exposed to the same danger, while it is now regarded as certain that some of the mines will never be re-opened.

The Rand is silent and deserted and there is an ominous lull in the neighborhood of Johannesburg. The Reef road, which is normally the busiest thoroughfare in South Africa, is empty.

There is every indication tonight that little can be done in the next few days to improve the situation and a crisis will be reached next week.

NAMED CANADA'S REPRESENTATIVE

Murdock Succeeds Robertson On International Labor Office

(By Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has been appointed as Canada's representative on the governing body of the International Labor Office.

This appointment was formerly held by Hon. G. D. Robertson, the former Minister of Labor whom Hon. Mr. Murdock succeeds.

Twelve countries are given representation on the governing body, which holds its next meeting at Geneva on January 17. Hon. Mr. Murdock will not be able to attend that meeting which will probably last for three or four days. Canada will not be without representation at the meeting, however, for the Government has appointed as its delegate for the occasion, Col. David Carnegie who had already been appointed Canadian delegate to the temporary mixed commission for the reduction of armaments by the previous Government and who will be in Geneva at that time.

"Unemployment parades" originating either through the mismanagement of workmen out of employment or on the suggestion of concerned or interested who desire to force action on contracts will not bring about any hasty action in the matter of recommending the issuance of contracts, possibly unnecessary, or in supporting the action of the late Government in awarding what may be found unnecessary and improper contracts during the closing days of its authority.

Meeting Monday Toronto, Jan. 13.—Hon. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers Civil Rehabilitation, in a telegram today to J. F. Marsh, Dominion Secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans, announces that a meeting will be held in Ottawa on Monday to consider extension of the present regulations governing the administration of relief throughout Canada.

HOTEL PROJECT ON MARKET SITE

City Passed Resolution Ceding Rights To Property At Certain Terms

After a lengthy discussion the City Council last night passed a resolution ceding to the Canada Hotel Company the Montreal Market building and any rights which the city may have on the site.

The resolution was passed on motion of Ald. Delagrave with Ald. A. Bouchard and Ald. Collier dissenting.

The terms of the transaction would be $50,000 cash and the company must erect a hotel at the cost of at least one million dollars and containing at least 300 rooms.

The building must be completed by the 1st of May, 1924. During the years 1922 and 1923 the company must pay a sum of $10,000 in taxes annually.

Before the demolition of the present building is started the company must deposit a sum of $50,000 as a guarantee.

At the opening of the meeting a letter was read from the Lafrance family thanking the Council for its resolution of condolence on the occasion of the death of the former City Treasurer Lafrance.

The city was invited to send a representative to attend the conference at the Royal Sanitary Institute which will be held in England next summer.

Messrs. Meredith & Meredith served a notable protest on the city in connection with the damages caused in building of Joseph & Co. by the overflow of the sewer pipes.

In this connection Ald. A. Bouchard, moved that a special committee be appointed to inquire into the cause of the inundation.

Mayor Samson said that the estimate of the damages had been greatly overrated and he said that they would not exceed two thousand dollars.

The Council sanctions a request of the Finance Committee to continue the present loan of $30,000 from the Bank of Montreal pending authorization from the Legislature to issue bonds.

On motion of Ald. Lesage, seconded by Ald. Bedard a special committee was appointed to wait on the Federal Ministers to ask that provision be made for the passage of tramways and vehicles over the Quebec Bridge.

At the request of Ald. Martin, Mayor Samson related the requests which he had made during his recent visit to Ottawa. He said he asked from 250 to 300 additional men for given employment at the St. Malo shops that additional work was also started at the Marine Department and the Harbor Commission.

The mayor said he had learned that certain works would be started at once at the Marine Department and at the Harbor providing employment for from 90 to 100 men.

He said he had also asked the Militia Department not to pade any property here to individuals without consulting the city.

He said that Ottawa was studying a general plan to relieve unemployment throughout the country. Last year, he said, the Government had given Toronto $192,000, Montreal $30,000, but Quebec had got nothing.

The amended by-law relative to the snow removal service was passed. Ald. Delagrave voted hard to have Lachevrotiere street struck from the list but the Council refused stating that the contract for the service on this street had been given out.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—A reduction of between 25 and 40 per cent was made in the price of creams, hard boiled candies, chocolates and biscuits, it was ascertained this morning. The announcement was made by a manufacturing official who added that the cost of production had not been decreased.

IS GIVEN SEVEN YEAR SENTENCE

Harry Jack Williams Convicted Of Robbery With Violence At London

London, Ont., Jan. 13.—Harry Jack Williams, alias Wm. Vaughan, who has been in the county jail since April 12 last, was brought to the Police Court today and sentenced to seven years in Kingston penitentiary on a charge of robbery with violence. The offence for which Williams was sentenced today was one of the three criminal escapades in which he, Sydney and William Murrell, and the Notorious "Pat" were concerned, which immediately preceded the murder of Russell Campbell in the hold up of the Melbourne Branch of the Home Bank.

Williams, in company with the two Murrells and "Pat" visited the laundry at 3 Wharfedale Road, London, kept by Fred and John Lee, Chinese, on April 9, 1921. The Chinese were viciously assaulted and $40 stolen.

On the night of September 1, the Murrells escaped from the county jail by sawing through the bars of their cell window. They, with the fourth man, the elusive "Pat" are still at large and since that date Williams has been the only one of the four in custody. Efforts to recapture the Murrells have proved futile.

(By Canadian Press)

Washington, Jan. 13.—Senator Gooding, of Idaho, as spokesman for twenty-five Senators from agricultural States, this afternoon submitted a list of proposed duties to the Senate Finance Committee.

The members of the club expressed themselves as being delighted with Quebec. For a number of them it is their first visit to the city, and to say that they are captivated with the Ancient Capital would be putting it mildly.

During their stay in the city they will be the guests of their Quebec member, Hon. Frank Carrel.

GLOBE TROTTERS ARE IN QUEBEC

Twenty Five Members Of Famous Club Reached Ancient Capital Yesterday

Some twenty-five members of the famous Circumnavigators Club, who reached the city yesterday from Montreal spent a most enjoyable day. They arrived in Quebec in the afternoon, and after registering at the Chateau, went along to see a curling match at the Victoria Club.

The visitors, who are in the main from the United States, are in the city to witness and take part in the winter sports for which the Ancient Capital is famous, and they intend to make their stay here a busy one in the way of sports.

Today they will in all probability take in the curling matches at the local clubs, and then see the hockey games this evening at the local Arena. Those who do not wish to look on in the sports will most likely spend the day touring round the city and taking in the sights or else they will don snowshoes or ski and indulge in these exhilarating sports.

The Montreal members of the Club are down with their American friends, and it is expected that a batch more will strike the town today from Sherbrooke.

The members of the club expressed themselves as being delighted with Quebec. For a number of them it is their first visit to the city, and to say that they are captivated with the Ancient Capital would be putting it mildly. As a matter of fact Quebec has taken them by storm.

ASK INCREASE IN EXEMPTION

Of Estate From Provincial Succession Duties

Montreal, Jan. 13.—An increase in the exemption amount of an estate in regard to succession duties, $18,000 to $20,000, was advocated in a resolution unanimously adopted at the close of today's session here of the Life Insurance Educational Sales Congress, held under the auspices of the Dominion Life Underwriters Association.

The resolution set forth that in view of the increased cost of living by a hundred per cent, members of the Congress wished to go on record and also to urge on the attention of the legislative committee as respectfully asking the Provincial Government to increase the amount of an estate at which exemption was fixed.

DECIDE TO DROP PROCEEDINGS

Against Twelve Sinn Fein Prisoners Whose Escape Was Frustrated

Belfast, Jan. 13.—The Crown authorities have decided to drop proceedings against the twelve Sinn Fein prisoners whose release last December, when a group of men tried to effect their release down a rope ladder, two constables were suffocated to death by poisonous fumes during the incident. The twelve prisoners, who later were taken to another place of detention, will be returned to the Londonderry jail from which their immediate release is expected under the amnesty order issued this week by King George, as they were imprisoned prior to the operation of the truce.

The British Government, it was decided, cannot interfere in the case of the three men sentenced to death yesterday in connection with the attempted release of the Sinn Feiners. It was held that clemency for the three can only be exercised on the advice of the Ulster Home Secretary.

The action is for separation as to bed and board, and saisie gagerie conservatoire. An additional writ was entered yesterday by Mr. Taschereau on behalf of Dame Maria Vallant for a similar amount against Art. Drapeau, alias William Durrelle.

The ten banks mentioned above are where Mr. Drapeau is supposed to have money deposited.

CRITICS SPEAK VERY KINDLY

Of Recital Given In London By Sarah Fisher, Canadian Soprano

London, Jan. 13.—Musical critics today speak very favorably of the recital given last night by Sarah Fisher, the Canadian soprano. The Times says: "The performance gave genuine pleasure to a large audience. She offered a varied programme, which proved increasingly successful as the recital progressed."

POINCARÉ HAS ACCEPTED TASK

But Does Not Think He Can Complete Cabinet Before Sunday

Paris, Jan. 13.—H. Raymond Poincaré officially informed President Millerand late this afternoon, after a long conference with the Premier, that he accepted the task of forming a Cabinet to succeed the Briand Ministry, but said to-night that he did not think he could complete his work before Sunday evening at the earliest.

M. Poincaré added that he had informed David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, that he would be happy to confer with him at the British Embassy in Paris tomorrow.

Former Premier Briand today received a telegram from Prime Minister Lloyd George at Cannes, expressing in sympathetic terms the hope that the resolutions adopted by the Allied Supreme Council, with the participation of the French delegates, would bear their good fruits in bringing together the European nations and insuring their co-operation for the restoration of the prosperity their peoples.

Sarraut Says Washington, Jan. 13.—A statement issued today from French delegations headquarters at the Washington conference said:—

M. Sarraut, head of the French delegation, has received from M. Briand a cablegram in which he explained the circumstances which caused him to hand in his resignation to the President of the Republic. In accord with President Millerand, M. Briand requests M. Sarraut to continue to act as plenipotentiary at the Washington conference until the work has been completed.

REOPEN MILLS AND FURNACES

Of The Dominion Steel Co. Plant On Monday

Sydney, N.S., Jan. 13.—After being closed for about three weeks, the mill, blooming mill and open hearth furnaces of the Dominion Steel plant will resume work Monday on a 12,000 ton rail order for the Grand Trunk. It was announced at Pesco headquarters here today.

NOT ANXIOUS OVER POSITION

No Use Talking Of Events Before 1917 Says I.O.F. Supreme Ranger

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Discussing the statement of the committee of the Central Ontario High Court, Independent Order of Foresters, that there had been a loss of $5,000,000 on bad investments, W. H. Hunter, the Supreme Chief Ranger of the Order, said that the position of the organization, so far as investments went, was giving no anxiety.

"It is no use," he added, "talking of water which went over the dam before 1917. In the years 1917 and 1918 the Order marked down its pre-war industrial and public utility securities to the new values, for the balance sheets are based upon market values."

In 1917 the general meeting of the Order changed the investment policy of the Order so that new investments were confined to Government and municipal securities and first mortgages on improved real estate. This policy has been followed consistently in 1921 and over $300,000 of Government and municipal bonds were purchased. The general meeting of 1921 reviewed the work of the four years, re-elected the present management and re-affirmed the investment policy laid down in 1917.

"There is nothing new in this," remarked Mr. Hunter when reference was made to the alleged $5,000,000 loss. "That was a writing off in 1917 and 1918 of depreciation in securities. We wrote off the book value as compared with the market value. As far as the general membership is concerned they are fully informed as to this."

FIRE VISITS LOCKPORT, N.S.

Temperance Hall Destroyed—Large Part Of Town Threatened

Lockport, N.S., Jan. 13.—Fire, which broke out here at two o'clock this morning, fanned by a strong westerly wind, destroyed the temperance Hall and threatened a large section of the town. Adjoining buildings caught fire repeatedly but the flames in each case were controlled. Shipping was moved from the piers to the stream as a precautionary measure. The chief of the Fire Department was slightly injured by a falling beam.

INSOLVENT FOR 5 OR 6 YEARS

Says Witness Of Thornton Davidson Firm, Prior To Bankruptcy

(By Canadian Press) Montreal, Que., Jan. 13.—That the local stockbroking firm of Thornton Davidson & Co. had been insolvent for five or six years prior to its bankruptcy in July 1919, was the statement this afternoon of W. Finlayson, trustee in bankruptcy, appointed to look into the firm's books under examination of counsel for the charge against Colin G. Cameron, former manager of the firm, that he had embezzled $500,000 of the firm's money and had falsified the books. The subsequent failure of the firm impaired the financial standing of the Merchants Bank of Canada to the amount of around $4,000,000 and resulted in its selling out to the Bank of Montreal.

Other points brought out by the examination of the trustee were that the net debt balance against Cameron in the firm's books totalled $700,663.82; and when asked if the books of the firm disclosed financial conditions such as to justify the withdrawal by Cameron of the hundreds of thousands of dollars shown to have been taken by him from the bank on evidence of Merchants Bank ledger sheets and cheques, Mr. Finlayson replied:—

In his view the firm of Thornton Davidson & Co. had been insolvent for the past five or six years and were certainly so from his inspection of the books, on January 1, 1919, or six months before they actually went into bankruptcy proceedings.

Trustee Finlayson said in examination that the total debt balance owed by Cameron was $217,993.61 while the securities held by him totalled $217,329.79. He had examined Cameron's accounts as from January 1, 1919, until the time of the failure in July of that year, and had not found a surplus.

The net debt was regarded by Mr. Finlayson as a had debt and he added that the deficit had been brought about by depreciation of securities purchased. It represented eight different accounts held by Cameron with the Thornton Davidson firm which, when consolidated, totalled net $700,663.82.

He added that there were no credits due to Cameron at any time and stated that the profits derived from interest and commissions during the period in question were certainly insufficient to have justified the withdrawal by Cameron.

In his view the firm of Thornton Davidson & Co. had been insolvent for the past five or six years and was certainly so, from his inspection of the books, on January 1, 1919.

The court adjourned to Monday. CLAY PIPE FURNACE THE THING OF THE PAST

CRERAR! SHOW DOWN

Hon. T. A. Crerar's official assurance of platonic friendship for the Liberal Government at Ottawa and of Progressive support for all measures which meet with the approval of that Party may have been gratifying to the sorely-perplexed Premier, but it was by no means complimentary.

Like a lady's letter, however, the Progressive Leader's statement has a postscript which contains the matter of principal interest, and this is not likely to give the same satisfaction to the administration—or certain members of it at least.

"I tell you frankly that I am just a little suspicious of certain interests operating in Montreal, in the matter of the Canadian National Railways," declared Mr. Crerar. "I think the Montreal interests will ascertain before long that they do not represent the attitude of the Canadian people."

This blunt declaration has thrown the fat into the fire with a vengeance, putting a stop to all hope of shelving the railroad problem for the coming season.

The issue that Mr. Crerar has forced to the front is one that perhaps embarrasses the Liberal Party more than any other and which it would be only too relieved to evade.

Regardless of the merits of the issue, it is a mere statement of fact to say that the sentiment of the Dominion, outside of this Province, is strongly in favor of the public ownership policy and the consolidation of the Grand Trunk with the National system.

Whether the Liberals decided not to oppose Mr. Meighen out of chivalry or because they thought the surest way of beating him was to let the Progressives go it alone?

cludes savings deposits totalling $79,409,815 and current accounts amounting to $37,313,958. There are two features of the report which indicate the part the Union Bank of Canada is playing in the country's business.

Yesterday was Friday the thirteenth, a day on which it behooves the superstitious mortal to walk warily. Those who got through the day without misadventure may escape ill luck until next October, when another Friday occurs on the thirteenth.

It is obvious that since there are only seven days in the week a lot of misfortunes must occur on Friday. Similarly, since there are never more than thirty-one days in a month it would be curious if in the course of centuries a great number of tragedies and world-shaking events did not occur upon some given date.

There are various explanations of how the number thirteen acquired its somewhat sinister significance, but the most reasonable ascribes to it an origin with the Children of Israel. There were twelve tribes of them, but they recognized thirteen lunar months.

Once the idea was acquired we may be sure that supporters of it were on the watch to no trouble associated with the number and they would not look in vain. They would not be so alert to note disaster associated with other numbers and gradually the evil reputation of the number thirteen would become established.

Some who believe that the ominous significance of the number is of modern origin can point to the fact that there were those who regarded it as fortunate. Among them was Pope Gregory the Great, who every morning gave a breakfast to twelve unfortunates. One morning Christ appeared to make the thirteenth and bless the number.

Some Things the Public Would Like to Know:

Pertinent Questions on Matters of General Public Interest are Invited.

Whether the Liberals decided not to oppose Mr. Meighen out of chivalry or because they thought the surest way of beating him was to let the Progressives go it alone?

If the city had not better either lay stronger sewer pipes or dump softer snow in them?

MARQUIS OKUMA Is the Marquis Okuma in coma, Or has he been sunk without trace? Has the Angel of Death deprived him of breath, O served him the dreaded akase?

In the paper we read the Okuma was dead, But Okuma was always a roamer, The cables all bed saying 'kuma had died, For Okuma was merely in coma.

PRO AND CON (Vancouver Sun)

Judge takes exception to the way women dress in his court and reprimands those who expose too much silk-stockinged leg.

He says that such things shock a man's sense of decency and that respect for his mother's modesty compels him to frown upon this display.

The modesty of our mothers and grandmothers impelled them to bundle up in long unsanitary skirts, constrict their lungs and religiously exclude all air from their necks and chests.

Modesty wasn't made part of our mental make-up in order to kill off the human race.

The judge might remember, too, that it was the unclean minds of men that made it necessary for women to conceal their figures in the first place.

CONTINUING AS REPRESENTATIVE

Premier King Asked Borden To Remain As Washington Delegate

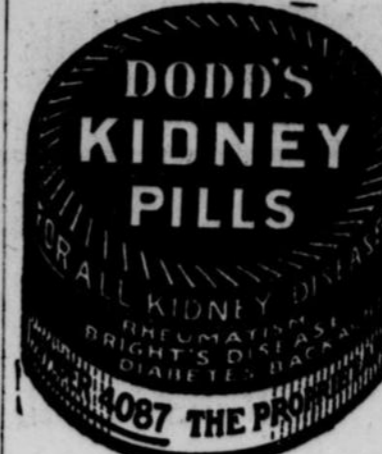

(By Canadian Press.) Ottawa, Jan. 13.—Sir Robert Borden, it was officially stated tonight, will continue to represent Canada on the British delegation at the Disarmament Conference in Washington.

When the change of Government took place here, Sir Robert, who was then in Washington, communicated with Premier King stating that he presumed the new Government might wish to appoint as representative on that delegation some one who had shown a more sympathetic understanding of the new Government and its policies than he himself had done, and that he placed himself in the new Prime Minister's hands and was ready to return to Ottawa at once if that was desired.

Premier King, however, asked Sir Robert to continue to act as Canada's representative in the British Empire delegation. Since that time he has been communicating with Premier King, who is also Minister of External Affairs, as formerly he had been in communication with the former Premier Right Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Referring to the railway problem, Mr. Crerar said he was convinced that the National System was a sound asset fundamentally. Canada had railways for a population of fourteen or fifteen million people, that was the weakness of the situation. "There are certain interests and newspapers and public men," he continued, "who are opposed to the whole principle of National Railways and particularly to the incorporation of the old Grand Trunk System. It is vital to the success of the National System that the Grand Trunk consolidation be completed, and that at the earliest possible date. Continuation of the Grand Trunk under separate management would be fatal to the National System."

DECISION IN LIBEL ACTION

Premier Taschereau Ordered To Furnish Certain Details Within Eight Days
 Our readers will remember the action taken by Prime Minister Taschereau against the Chronicle and against Mr. Simeon Ratté, of Ste. Anne de Beaupre for damages just after the recent Federal elections.
 A couple of days ago, in the Practice Court, Mr. Bellef, acting on behalf of the two defendants, made a motion before Hon. Judge Gibsons, asking that certain details be brought before the court, in connection with a circular that was printed by the Chronicle, and distributed by Mr. Ratté.
 Yesterday, in the Practice Court, Hon. Judge Gibsons rendered a decision as regards the motion, saying that the plaintiff was ordered to produce within eight days details as to what were the declarations of the plaintiff which the said circular misrepresented and what place and where those declarations were made by the plaintiff. Costs to follow was the decision.
 The same verdict was rendered in the case of Mr. Ratté.
 Yesterday was a very busy day for Hon. Judge Gibsons, he hearing in the vicinity of some fifteen cases. The decisions were as follows:—
 General Import & Export Co., vs. Marcotte. Motion dismissed with costs.
 Harris & Co. vs. Thibault. Judgment as requested for $502.89, with interest and costs.
 Attorney General of Canada vs. Galarneau. Declare regular the defendant's appearance filed on Jan. 3, and doth annul the foreclosure entered against the defendant with costs as of a simple motion.
 Perusse vs. Hughes. Motion rejected with costs following.
 Le Prieur vs. Cloutier. Judgment as requested.
 McClean vs. La Cie des Canad. Ltee. Proof insufficient. Deliberate discharged.
 Remillard vs. Oullette & Belanger, opp. Opposition sustained and costs against defendant.
 Blodreau et al. vs. Corporation St. Malachie. Judgment following consent of defendant.
 Devarennes vs. Rochette. Judgment following declaration of tiers saisie.
 Cote vs. Le Soleil. Motion granted, costs of motion and costs occasioned against defendant.
 Gourd et al vs. Gagnon. Judgment as requested.
 London & Lancashire Ltee. & Acc. Co. vs. Lewis Tramways Co. Motion granted with costs.
 Bennet vs. Cie. des Bois du Nord. Dismiss the motion with costs.
 Dr. Rickshaw vs. Bergeron. Pétition granted.
 Dr. Hoffman vs. Berovitch. Pétition granted.
 There was also one judgment rendered by the same judge in the Superior Court, in which the Molson's Bank and Patry were involved. The former obtained judgment for $5,408.97, with interest and costs.

DAMAGE DONE IS EXPENSIVE
 Amounts To Some Eight Thousand Dollars in One Warehouse Alone
 The damage caused on Thursday afternoon, by the break in the sewerage main, on Dambourges Hill, will, it is estimated, cost a considerable sum of money which the City will be called upon to pay.
 The warehouse of Messrs. Joseph & Co., wholesale grocers, suffered the heaviest damages. The back premises of the storage department, which are situated in close vicinity at where the break in the main occurred, were inundated by the rushing water, which entered the building and destroyed perishable goods on three floors, causing damages to these premises alone, to the amount of seven or eight thousand dollars.

ORPHANS WERE ENTERTAINED
 Army and Navy Veterans Provided Happy Party
 A large number of orphan children and their mothers were entertained yesterday afternoon by the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada in the Hall of the organization to a splendid tea and a programme of music, which were followed by the distribution of Father Christmas of numerous gifts from the Christmas Tree which was simply loaded with all sorts of pleasing and amusing articles. Besides the ordinary gifts, each child received a bag of nuts, oranges and candies, while the mothers received a hamper filled with choice things.
 The party proved a great success, and it was hard to say which were the most pleased the committee in charge of the arrangements or those who were the guests.
 Among those who contributed to the musical programme were: Mrs. W. J. B. Fraser, Mr. Jim Harrower and party, Mr. William Sharples, the Thorn Quartet and Miss Dale.
 The Committee in charge was composed of the following: Comrades G. H. Garrick, Gregson, Nicol, Quiller, Cooper, Monahan, Gauvreau, Sharpe, Thompson, Todd, Purdon, Boulet, Dwyer, and Purcell, to whom great credit is due for the success that attended the event.

AT HOME HELD AT Y.M.C.A.
 By Executive Of Ladies' Auxiliary For Members Yesterday
 The Executive Committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. held an enjoyable "At Home" for Club members in the Y.M.C.A. Parlors yesterday, which was attended by about one hundred guests. An excellent musical programme, arranged by Mrs. W. J. B. Fraser was given, to which the following ladies contributed: Miss McPharland, Miss Gardner, Mrs. T. B. O'Neill, and Miss Gillespie, while Mr. Lambourne also rendered a solo. Mrs. Thorn kindly acted as accompanist.
 Refreshments were then served and proved another enjoyable feature of the function.
 Big crowds at the Kent House every Sunday night. Another dance tomorrow night.

NEW CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY
 Between Federal And Provincial Governments Over Fishing Rights Up In Court
 An interesting case is now before the Court in regard to a conflict between the Quebec Provincial and Federal Governments in connection with the right of the Provincial Government to grant fishing licenses in the River St. Lawrence.
 Hector Laliberte, a former resident of the Island of Orleans, was summoned to appear before Judge Choquette in the Court of Sessions yesterday, charged with fishing in the river, off the Island or Orleans without having a license to do so from the Federal Government. The defendant produced a license he had procured from the Provincial Government, giving him the right to fish, which the Federal Government agent contends is not legal, in view of the judgment rendered last year, giving the Federal Government the sole right to grant licenses in the St. Lawrence and its tributary rivers. The local government authorities contend that this judgment applied to the lower St. Lawrence, and not the upper, and that the Island of Orleans fishing territory did not come under the meaning of the Privy Council judgment. At the request of the Minister of Colonization and Fisheries of the Province of Quebec, the case against Hector Laliberte was not proceeded with and postponed pending a similar case now awaiting decision in the Provincial Court of Appeal.

"WITH ALLENBY IN PALESTINE"

Was The Subject Of Entertaining Lecture At Morrin College Last Evening
 "With Allenby in Palestine" was the subject of an interesting lecture delivered last evening in Morrin College Hall, under the auspices of the Morrin College and the Literary and Historical Society, by Professor T. L. Morrison, of Queen's University, Kingston and which was extremely well attended.
 Professor Morrison in the course of his lecture which was interpreted with many witty remarks, traced the campaign from Cairo to Jerusalem. He said he served with the 5th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders in this theatre of the War, and extended great praise to the rank and file not only of his own regiment but of the fact that certain parties in the United States and Canada had adversely criticized the work of that organization. He then explained the difficulties that had to be overcome during the campaign. Tanks he said, were not of any use to them because of the peculiar conditions, the sand of the desert particularly being a big factor in preventing them from being used to advantage as was the case in other theatres of the War. It was a difficult campaign also from the fact that transportation of supplies were of necessity slow. But every difficulty was borne with cheerfulness. Although they had met with considerable fighting with the Turks a great part of the way, their greatest task was in dislodging them from Gaza, where the enemy was well entrenched. In fact the piece was nothing short of what might be described as a strong fortress, however, the enemy was beaten at this point, but continued fighting while being pursued, and finally were completely vanquished. The lecturer paid a great tribute to the splendid organizing powers of General Allenby, whose foresight was simply wonderful. One of the first things he did when he took over the command was to reorganize the personnel of the army in Palestine, and in the course of his remarks in various forms. He found when taking over the command that the men had been using the same rifles which had been served out to them in 1914? But he saw that they were supplied with rifles.
 The lecturer then by means of lantern slides illustrated the numerous difficulties encountered during the campaign, including pictures of Jerusalem and of General Allenby's entry to the famous city.
 A vote of thanks was passed by acclamation to the lecturer on the motion of the Rev. Mr. McParlane, seconded by Mr. J. C. Sutherland.
 The machine used for depicting the pictures, as well as several of the slides, was loaned by Mr. W. H. Wiggs.

TUNNEY SECURED DECISION OVER LEVINSKY IN BOUT FOR LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

Bout Went The Limit But Judges Awarded The Fight To A.E.F. Champion—Former Titleholder Congratulated Winner After Contest—Madden And Fulton Fought Draw

New York, Jan. 13.—Gene Tunney, New York, won the American light-heavy weight boxing championship here to-night when he received the judge's decision after a 12 round bout with Battling Levinsky also of this city.

Tunney, who was also light heavy weight champion of the A.E.F. weighed 171 1-2 pounds and Levinsky a veteran of more than 300 ring battles weighed 174 1-2. Levinsky kept close to Tunney in the first few rounds in which there was little striking action. They warmed up in the sixth and Gene shook Levinsky with left hooks to the jaw. He also cut the veteran's nose with a short left uppercut.

Tunney continued his assault in the seventh and punished Levinsky with several hard body blows. The veteran made Tunney wince in the ninth when he shot three straight rights to his young opponent's head, cutting his eye with one of the blows. Tunney resumed his body assault in the tenth and Levinsky appeared to weaken under the blows.

Tunney punished the fighter in the last two rounds but his blows lacked sufficient force to down his older opponent.

When Levinsky heard the judge's verdict he walked to Tunney's corner, embraced the new champion, and said: "Carry on, soldier. The title is safe in your hands for a long time". Levinsky has only been knocked out twice, once by Georges Carpentier, the French idol, who defeated him in the Frenchman's first fight in this country, and prior to that, by Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion. Fred Fulton, who fought in the semi-final, weighed 212 1-2 pounds and Bartley Madden 177.

Fred Fulton, Rochester, Minn., heavyweight and Bartley Madden, New York, fought twelve rounds to a draw.

The verdict was hooted by the fans who seemed to favor Madden. Madden started fast and cut Fulton's mouth with a wicked right hand swing in the first round. Fulton came back strong in the second cutting Madden's eyes with short rights and lefts.

Madden sent Fulton reeling to the ropes in the fourth, with a hard right swing to the mouth. During the next four rounds Fulton punished Madden with hard rights and lefts. Madden was plucky, however, and in the tenth he made the Minnesota plasterer wince with straight rights to the stomach.

A hard right to the jaw sent Fulton staggering into his own corner in the tenth, the bell apparently saving him from being knocked out. He held off Madden in the eleventh and engaged in a vicious exchange of blows in the final round.

Jimmy Darcy, Portland, Ore., middleweight receded to the judge's feet in the opening contest of the Joe Cote outfit defeated the Mechanics Supply representatives by the close score of 1-0, while in the second match the team from the firm of J. B. Renaud won from the Holt, Renfrew aggregation of puck-chasers 4 to 1.

The first match was evenly contested from the start and it was in the second period that the only goal of the game was scored, Shink of the Cote outfit beating McWilliam. In the final period the Mechanic boys worked like Trojans to at least even the count but their efforts proved unavailing, the game ending 1-0 for the Joe Cote team.

The second match was every bit as interesting as the first and it was only the failure of the "Furriers" to cover their men in front of the nets that allowed the Renaud outfit to pile up a score. With the exception of one really all game as the result of passes in front of the net, the Renaud boys being left uncovered and had only the goaler to beat. Holt, Renfrew was the first to score, Grantham doing the trick one minute after play had commenced. The Renaud boys soon evened the count and before the period ended had gathered three goals for good measure, making the score 4 to 1, at which it remained for the remainder of the game.

TWO CITY LEAGUE GAMES TONIGHT

Sons Meet Laval And Sarsfields Will Cross Sticks With Loyola

Another doubleheader will be staged in the City Hockey League at the arena this evening. Sons of Ireland clash with Laval in the first game and Sarsfields are booked to cross sticks with Loyola, the present League leaders.

The main interest of the evening will be centred on the Sarsfields-Loyola contest as the last named club defeated Sons of Ireland 2 to 1 after a brilliant game Thursday night. Some fans are still of the opinion that the win from Sons was only a flash in the pan and look for Sarsfields to emerge victorious this evening.

However, Loyola put up a splendid game against Sons and though the win came as a surprise to the majority, still the Loyola boys showed they have a team that plays the game from the opening whistle to the last, and cannot be taken lightly. Sarsfields also have a clever aggregation of players who are determined to win and should Sons also win would make a three cornered tie for first place.

The Sons of Ireland-Laval contest, although not expected to produce as good hockey as the other game should prove interesting nevertheless. The Sons have offered no alibi for the defeat at the hands of Loyola but that loss has done the Sons more good than harm, as they now understand that there is no team in the League that can be taken as a "sure bet".

The Laval team has been playing nice hockey all along but cannot seem to get their scoring eye working. However, Manager Mercier promises to spring a surprise to-night, though just what it will be, he alone knows.

ARTHUR TALBOT WAS DEFEATED

Belcourt Retains 18.2 Billiard Championship Of City By Virtue Of Victory

A very interesting billiard match took place at the K. of C. last evening, when Arthur Talbot endeavored to wrest the 18.2 billiard championship of the City of Quebec away from Belcourt, who is the holder of the Duquet Cup and the championship of the city.

Talbot failed in his attempt to lift the Cup and the championship, but he made a gallant effort to do so, and scored the high run of the evening, counting thirteen on one of his trips to the table. Belcourt, who scored one hundred points to his opponent's one hundred and fifty, got a high run of twelve, one less than his opponent. The average for the match were: Belcourt, 1.52; Talbot, 1.05.

There were quite a number of spectators, and although no applause was accorded either player during the match, so as not to affect the billiardists, when the contest had concluded, there was quite a demonstration, the winner being heartily applauded, while his defeated rival also received his share of applause.

Mr. Adrien Fairdeau, one of the trustees of the Duquet Cup, stated last evening that any person in the City of Quebec had the right to challenge for the Cup, while any person who wishes any information may write him at the Knights of Columbus Hall, stating what they seek, and their request will be granted.

ENTRIES FOR THE GRAND NATIONAL

List Contains 92 Names And Equals Record For Number Of Entrants

(Canadian Press Cable.) London, Jan. 13.—The list of entries for the Grand National Handicap, the Blue Ribbon event of the "chasing" season, to be run over the Aintree course at Liverpool on March 34, contains the names of some 92 horses and equals the record established last year for the number of horses nominated for this event, which is conceded to be the hardest test of the race horse. In the list published today are to be found the names of most of the best of the English steeplechasers and includes the winner, second and third horses in this event last year, namely: Shuan Spadah, The Bore, and All White. Shuan Spadah has been installed as the nominal favorite for the forthcoming race.

OVERTIME GAME IN INTERMEDIATE

Canadian-Francois And Cercle Dollard Played 1 To 1 Draw—Laval Won 1-0

The first overtime game of the season in the Intermediate Hockey League was played last night at the Arena when the Canadian-Francois and Cercle Dollard outfits played a 1-1 draw after ten minutes of extra play. In the other match Laval-Laval-Amateur whitewashed Belge-Amateur by a score of 4 to 0.

In the Laval-Beige contest both teams failed to tally in the first and second periods, but in the final twenty the Laval outfit by playing some nice combination managed to bulge the twine behind Gagnon on four occasions, Dubois counting three times and Moisan tallying once. The game between Canadian-Francois and Cercle Dollard was the first game played in this League this season. Canadian-Francois was the first to score, Lepage netting the puck after fourteen minutes of play. In the second stanza Laverdiere evened the score. The teams battled hard in the final twenty to score the goal that would win the match, but both goalkeepers refused to be beaten. In the overtime play both net-guardians had some difficult shots to handle but managed to clear everything that came their way, the match finishing in a 1-1 draw.

DELAMARRE GAVE GREAT DISPLAY

"Canadian Samson" Made Debut To Quebec Audience Last Evening At Auditorium

Victor Delamarre came, saw and conquered. Last evening at the Auditorium, before an audience that taxed the capacity of the spacious theatre, the Canadian Samson made his debut to a Quebec audience, and made a very deep impression on them, so deep in fact that during the time that he was performing his stunts, the spectators gave vent to their feelings in the way of cheers and applause, even though they had been requested to try and restrain themselves until he had finished his performance.

One of the most interested spectators was Hector Descaire, who won the strong man championship at Montreal in a contest with Cabana some time past. He was greeted with cheers and applause as he strode to his seat in the front row, on the right hand side, just before the performance started, but as soon as Delamarre made his appearance on the stage, Descaire might well have been absent. He was completely forgotten, except when some fan in the gallery would ask him what he thought of Delamarre.

The Canadian Hercules, who tips the scales at only 154 pounds, appears of slight build. His legs and thighs are not heavily muscled, but from the stomach up he is one mass of muscle and strength. Delamarre appeared on the stage wearing a pair of green "shorts", and with a belt that had been presented to him by a society for his work. Before starting on his "tours de force" this belt was unbuttoned, and then Delamarre got down to work.

His first stunt was to lift a 280 pound weight with his left hand to arm's length above his head, while the second trick of his repertoire was to grab a 300 pound bar with both hands, lift it above his head, lower it slowly to his neck, let it slide down his back, and catch it at his hips. This effort evoked tremendous applause, and it was well merited.

Then the strong man took two steel weights weighing 110 and 114 pounds respectively, and lifted them with one finger of each hand to arm's length above his head. This was followed by his toying with a 200 pound weight. He dropped it into his elbows, caught it, let it slide along his back, and did various other tricks with it.

One of the most difficult stunts of the evening was when he formed a bridge with his body, only feet and head touching the ground, and then lifting a 300 pound bar at arm's length above his head. It had been the intention to place a 200 pound bar for him to lift, but it was announced as 300, and his manager stated that an error had been made, but that as a true champion never retreated before any obstacle, the 300 pound weight would be attempted. This was done, and Delamarre was successful in lifting the weight, amid the deafening applause of the audience.

The most amazing stunt of the evening was then pulled off. A 200 pound steel bar was placed on Delamarre's neck, and no less than six men weighed on it with all their strength, causing it to bend somewhat. Delamarre supported the entire load.

He then lifted the same bar over his head with the middle finger of his left hand, and then proceeded to straighten the bend in the bar by using the 110 pound weight as a hammer. Just previous to this he cooled down with the 110 and 114 pound weights, and then after having used one as a hammer, decided that he had not had enough exercise, so he used it as a dumbbell.

This was the last stunt before an intermission was taken in order to enable the Hercules to rest, and to enable him to prepare for the remainder of his efforts.

Continuing his stunts after an interval of about fifteen minutes, Delamarre staged two more, and they were quite enough for his Quebec audience. He climbed a pole standing about ten feet high, with a horse weighing 1000 pounds strapped on to his back, and then lay down on the floor and supported a bridge with his chest, over which was driven an automobile. The total load that he supported on this occasion was 4,500 pounds.

Following this Delamarre gave a muscular exhibition and exhibited his magnificent muscles to the crowd before calling it a night.

The audience fairly went wild over his display, and expressed their approval in no uncertain manner, and their approval was certainly rewarded, for if any man ever gave a display of strength in this city, it is Delamarre, who on his last night's showing might well be entitled to such titles as the Canadian Hercules and the Canadian Samson.

The Quebec Voltigeurs scored their second win in the Provincial League this season when they defeated the Grand'Mere team on the latter's own home ice last evening by a count of 5-4.

The referee for the game to-morrow afternoon between Voltigeurs and La Tuque, at La Tuque, will be Donald Smith, while next Wednesday Riley Hern will officiate at the local arena when Voltigeurs and Chicoutimi clash in their first meeting of the season.

RED X SHIELD MATCHES TODAY

Twelve Rinks From Each Of Victoria And Quebec Clubs To Compete

This afternoon and evening the first competition of the season for the celebrated Red Cross shield will take place between the crack rinks of the Quebec and Victoria Curling Clubs. Every year that this shield is played for, there is some extremely good curling, and today's games should prove to be no exception.

Twelve rinks from each club will take the ice in an effort to bring victory to their club, and it promises to be a battle royal from the time that the initial stones are sent gliding down the ice at two o'clock this afternoon, right up to the time that the last end in the final game is played this evening.

Each club is mustering their strongest players for the event, and such well known curlers as Frank Stooking, H. G. Perry, R. B. Whyte, H. V. Gale and a host of others will be seen doing yeoman duty for the Quebec Club; while W. S. Champion, S. T. Green, Geo. Van Felson, F. J. Home, Major W. H. Petry and a host of other luminaries in the curling world will do their utmost to bring home the laurels to the Victoria club-house.

The opening games are scheduled for two o'clock this afternoon, while the final set of matches are due to be run off at eight o'clock. Six games will be played on the ice of the Victoria Club, and an equal number on the ice of the Quebec Club.

Forty-eight curlers of the highest water in the Ancient Capital will strive with might and main in this competition, which is one of the most important of the inter-club fixtures during the entire season. It will be a case of "scop 'er up" in handsome style today.

Foreign trade is still in a disorganized condition and exchanges fluctuate so violently that international transactions are very largely speculative. This course of affairs was foreseen by your board and executive, and a cautious and conservative policy was laid down to govern procedure during the past year, with the result that the bank's position is strong and comfortable. We enter the New Year with our ship well founded, well manned and amply able to withstand the storms that may loom up in the future.

Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, generally speaking, have experienced a year of light crops and declining prices in all products. The value of field crops in Quebec province in 1921 at $330,000,000, fell to an estimated value of $193,000,000 in 1921.

The amount of grain grown in the three Prairie Provinces in 1921 was probably the second largest in volume in their history. Unfortunately, heavy and prolonged rainfalls during harvesting and threshing operations resulted in marked deterioration in grades, and this misfortune, combined with the serious fall in prices, has brought great hardship upon the agricultural community and has naturally had its effect upon the industrial and commercial activities of the Dominion.

The Governments of the various Provinces are dealing energetically and scientifically with the problem of dry areas, and it may be hoped that in due time difficulties which have been experienced in these districts in past years will be overcome. These Governments are also giving, through their Departments of Agriculture, and particularly in connection with their Agricultural Colleges, close attention to the education of farmers, along more scientific lines, and we may look forward with confidence to an improvement in methods of cultivation, which will be sure to bring beneficial results in their train.

While the cost of production to the farmer in 1921 was probably less than in 1920, this has been more than offset by the drop in prices, with the result that, in many cases, the balance of the year's operations is on the wrong side.

The following statistics as to acreage and results in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are believed to be approximately correct:

Table with columns: Province, Crop, Acres per acre, Bushels, Total. Rows include Manitoba (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax), Saskatchewan (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax), and Alberta (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax).

While the crop year just past has not produced the results hoped for, no decrease, and perhaps even some increase in the acreage prepared for 1922. This is an encouraging feature.

The livestock industry has been struck very hard during the last year. The emergency tariff in the United States has practically prohibited the export of animals, and the British embargo being still in effect, no relief has been obtained from this source. In the opinion of many, well qualified to judge, the chilled meat trade offers a profitable channel for Canadian livestock growers, and a thorough investigation as to its possibilities is well worthy of the attention of the proper authorities. The outlook with regard to this important industry is not at the moment cheerful and it is to be hoped that conditions may soon improve.

In common with other productive industries, Canada's great staple activity, lumbering, has had its share of the business stagnation. Revival of home demands dependent upon an improvement in rural and industrial conditions. Some slight relief has been afforded by a demand for our lumber from trans-Pacific countries. It is reasonable to hope for an early improvement in the home demand, and to expect that the foreign trade will become even more valuable to us than it is at present.

The foreign trade of the Dominion shows considerable decrease as compared with previous years, both in quantity and in value. This condition is world-wide, and no immediate improvement seems to be in sight until the finances of Europe are rehabilitated. The favorable feature here is that our imports show a greater decrease than our exports, and the unfavorable balance against us for eleven months in 1921 is only $23,000,000 as against $28,000,000 in 1920.

The financial conference now in session in France has immense possibilities and we hope that the result of its deliberations may be such as to bring about the stabilization of exchanges, with the consequent gradual resumption of world trade.

A settlement of the difficulties in Ireland seems to be in view, and this undoubtedly will have a most beneficial effect, removing, as it will, a source of grave irritation between the various branches of the Anglo-Saxon peoples.

The Washington conference, too, has already accomplished much, and it is to be hoped progress and labor are completed, many matters at present in dispute between the various participants will have been satisfactorily settled to the benefit of the world at large.

The immediate future of business seems to be largely dependent upon three important questions, and the outcome of each one of them is awaited with the greatest interest throughout the world.

Anyone comparing the condition of Canada today with that of the United States in 1790, or again, with the period immediately following their Civil War, cannot but be struck by their quick transition into an established government from a state of bankruptcy and disorganization to an era of progress and contentment. In material resources we are not far behind them and with the energy and ability of our people should we not believe in a correspondingly rapid recovery in the great nation which we are building up in this Dominion?

The Directors have for some time felt the duty of setting up some kind of memorial to perpetuate the memories of the officers of the Bank who gave their lives in the Great War. The Bank suffered the loss of 119 of these brave and devoted men, and their passing from us in that heroic manner must not go without some perpetual mark of their sacrifice. Various types of memorial methods have been adopted in other instances, but it was your Directors' view that sacrifice of such a nature should be marked by some corresponding service for the good of humanity.

There was initiated by our General Manager a movement in Winnipeg looking towards the establishment of a fresh air camp for children on Lake Winnipeg. He was most ably assisted by members of the Board and other friends, with the result that a multitude of poor children were given a much-needed sojourn in the country, and it was felt by your Board it would be both wise and appropriate to make a liberal donation to firmly establish the camp. Your Directors, therefore, adopted a practical plan which will benefit a needy and deserving class and will actively preserve the memories of our fallen officers. The association formed for this purpose bears the name of "The Lakeside Fresh Air Camp for Children." The location chosen for the work is a beautiful site on the west side of Lake Winnipeg within easy access of the city. The charitable association was formed and the corporation incorporated in the name of the corporation. The original cost was $5,500. Buildings erected about $5,000 in value have been erected on the land. The Directors decided to disburse $10,000 for this memorial purpose. It will take the form of a presentation of a deed to the property to the Lakeside Fresh Air Camp for Children, at a cost of $5,500. The balance of $11,500 will be used to set up a memorial stone in a conspicuous and enduring place on the land, which stone will be marked with suitable words, in commemoration of the sacrifice of those who left the ranks of the Bank for the defence of their country in the Great War. We thus conjoin the memories of those heroic men with the highest class of service to needy humanity.

Our Advisory Committees in London, New York, Vancouver and Montreal, have rendered valuable service during the year, and we tender to them our sincere thanks and appreciation for their care and supervision of the business under their jurisdiction.

The Governments of the various Provinces are dealing energetically and scientifically with the problem of dry areas, and it may be hoped that in due time difficulties which have been experienced in these districts in past years will be overcome. These Governments are also giving, through their Departments of Agriculture, and particularly in connection with their Agricultural Colleges, close attention to the education of farmers, along more scientific lines, and we may look forward with confidence to an improvement in methods of cultivation, which will be sure to bring beneficial results in their train.

While the cost of production to the farmer in 1921 was probably less than in 1920, this has been more than offset by the drop in prices, with the result that, in many cases, the balance of the year's operations is on the wrong side.

The following statistics as to acreage and results in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are believed to be approximately correct:

Table with columns: Province, Crop, Acres per acre, Bushels, Total. Rows include Manitoba (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax), Saskatchewan (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax), and Alberta (Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye, Flax).

While the crop year just past has not produced the results hoped for, no decrease, and perhaps even some increase in the acreage prepared for 1922. This is an encouraging feature.

The livestock industry has been struck very hard during the last year. The emergency tariff in the United States has practically prohibited the export of animals, and the British embargo being still in effect, no relief has been obtained from this source. In the opinion of many, well qualified to judge, the chilled meat trade offers a profitable channel for Canadian livestock growers, and a thorough investigation as to its possibilities is well worthy of the attention of the proper authorities. The outlook with regard to this important industry is not at the moment cheerful and it is to be hoped that conditions may soon improve.

In common with other productive industries, Canada's great staple activity, lumbering, has had its share of the business stagnation. Revival of home demands dependent upon an improvement in rural and industrial conditions. Some slight relief has been afforded by a demand for our lumber from trans-Pacific countries. It is reasonable to hope for an early improvement in the home demand, and to expect that the foreign trade will become even more valuable to us than it is at present.

The foreign trade of the Dominion shows considerable decrease as compared with previous years, both in quantity and in value. This condition is world-wide, and no immediate improvement seems to be in sight until the finances of Europe are rehabilitated. The favorable feature here is that our imports show a greater decrease than our exports, and the unfavorable balance against us for eleven months in 1921 is only $23,000,000 as against $28,000,000 in 1920.

The financial conference now in session in France has immense possibilities and we hope that the result of its deliberations may be such as to bring about the stabilization of exchanges, with the consequent gradual resumption of world trade.

A settlement of the difficulties in Ireland seems to be in view, and this undoubtedly will have a most beneficial effect, removing, as it will, a source of grave irritation between the various branches of the Anglo-Saxon peoples.

WHAT THE THEATRES HAVE TO OFFER NEXT WEEK

Chronicle's Review of Coming Attractions For Next Week

THE VICTORIA

If opinions of critics in other cities mean anything to local picture fans, Lois Weber's latest screen production, "What Do Men Want?" will offer something unusual in entertainment when this great American drama of the hunt for happiness opens its engagement at the Victoria Theatre to-morrow.

Miss Weber who is credited with having produced more successful photoplays than any other person in the film industry, wrote and directed such masterly productions as "Where Are My Children?", "The Price of a Good Time", "To Please One Woman", "Scandal", "The Blot" and numerous other big-time and well-thrilled millions of picture fans all over the country.

"What Do Men Want?" Miss Weber's most recent contribution to the silver sheet, is a vivid portrayal of small-town life and small-town people, yet in this powerful drama, as in all her pictures, she not only supplies the full measure of entertainment but also puts over a moral that is applicable to people of all classes.

A good comedy and other short subjects will also be shown on the same program.

Commencing Thursday, the main feature will be "Lucky Carson" with Earle Williams playing the leading role.

THE AUDITORIUM

The best program of vaudeville and pictures shown at the Auditorium for some time is promised for the whole of next week starting Monday. Nothing but praise has been given the five acts booked while the feature picture "Playing With Fire" with Gladys Walton playing the leading role has also met with much success.

The first act to appear will be Merles Cockatoo, a man and woman with a collection of some thirty beautiful birds which almost seem able to speak.

A singing and talking comedienne in the person of Marie Sparrow will be next to appear and as she is the possessor of a very pleasing voice, should entertain immensely.

Shireen, the Girl with the X-Ray eyes, which has been the leading number at the Princess Theatre in Montreal will be the third act and judging from the success she made in the Metropolis, local vaudeville goers are to witness some real novelty.

The following number will be Lariman and Hudson is a comedy bicycle act while the final number will be McCloud and Mordant in a fast and snappy musical offering.

THE EMPIRE

"The Land of Hope" will be the feature picture at the Empire Theatre for the first four days of the week starting to-morrow.

That elusive thing, the spirit of the stunts, was caught by the camera in the filming of one scene in "The Land of Hope", Alice Brady's latest picture. Just as the atmosphere of some of the scenes of "Humoresque" was a contributory factor in the success of that screen drama, so it will prove to be no less important in Alice Brady's present vehicle.

In the sweatshop scene Bannie and Frederick Hatten, two of the three authors who wrote "The Land of Hope", and E. H. Griffith, the director, created a picture of exceptional power.

It is a far shop of the lowest order a bleak spot and smoke-stained den where gaunt and dreary men and women alive over bits of peels cut from cast-off garments or sliced from ash barrels. Bleeker Street and lower Third Avenue in New York City know just such places. It is here that Alice Brady as Marya, and Jason Roberts as Satcha, the young immigrant, are brought by their friends.

Starting Thursday "The Swamp" with Sessue Hayakawa featuring will be the main attraction.

THE CLASSIC

"Good References" with Constance Talmadge playing the leading part will be the feature attraction at the Classic Theatre for three days beginning Monday. Miss Talmadge has always proved a popular actress with the movie lovers of this city, and this picture "Good References"

MISTRESS OF THE WORLD UNUSUAL

Stupendous Thirty Reel Film Declared Most Amazing Adventure Story Told

What is declared to be the most amazing adventure story ever told on the screen is that related by "The Mistress of the World," the stupendous thirty-reel picture produced by U. F. A. and released in the United States as a Paramount Picture.

The story of "The Mistress of the World" recounts the exploits of Helen Nelson, a young Danish university student, searching for the fabulous riches of the Queen of Sheba, buried from the world in the lost city of Ophir. By acquiring this vast wealth the heroine becomes the mistress of the world and is thus able to wreak her vengeance on a foreign diplomat who not only caused the death of her father and mother but also nearly wrought her own ruin.

"The Mistress of the World" has its locale in three continents—Europe, Asia and Africa. The story is laid against a background of settings which surpass in their pictorial sequence and splendor anything ever shown on the screen.

The title role of "The Mistress of the World" is played by Mia May, the famous European stage and screen artist, who has been proclaimed by Anatole France "the foremost dramatic genius of Continental Europe." In "The Mistress of the World" Mia May's acting is said to surpass in dramatic intensity anything shown in pictures since John Barrymore's portrayal of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Although "The Mistress of the World" runs to the unprecedented length of thirty reels, or more than 30,000 feet of film, the story falls naturally into five chapters, each of which is five reels in length and is a complete story in itself. Thus, it is said, while there is a connected story throughout the entire thirty reels, anybody seeing any one of the five chapters will see an entire entertainment equivalent to a regular feature-length picture.

HOW DIRECTORS HANDLE MOBS

Making Scene Realistic One Of The Greatest Problems —Methods Vary

Few people realize the enormous difficulty confronting a motion picture director when the script calls for a mob scene. Most movie fans are under the impression that all that is done when such an occasion arises is to hire a few hundred extras, put them into a ballroom "set" or out on an open field and the picture is "shot." The truth of the matter is that making a mob scene realistic is one of the director's greatest problems. Cecil B. DeMille, D. W. Griffith, Rex Ingram, Ernest Lubitsch and Joseph May are some of the directors who have become prominent through their ability to handle mobs intelligently.

Although all of these directors reach the same desired end, each seems to have a different method of attaining it. D. W. Griffith handles his mobs almost exclusively by the megaphone. Although this is probably the most difficult way of controlling them, Mr. Griffith relies upon their intelligence, making sure before the extras are hired that they have brains enough to require not more than two rehearsals in order to go through the scene without a break.

Cecil B. DeMille in one of his most spectacular productions, "Joan the Woman," had telephone wires laid out all over a field used as a battleground for several big scenes in the picture. A temporary switchboard was erected behind the camera, with Mr. DeMille as the operator. Hidden behind the embattlements or other vantage points invisible to the spectators were a number of assistant directors, each with a section of wire leading to him. Thus Mr. DeMille could control the entire field of men merely by phoning the assistant director nearest to that group of "soldiers." Mr. DeMille wanted moved or drawn from the scene.

Rex Ingram, in his production, "The Four Horsemen," engaged real soldiers for the battle scenes. The most natural way of handling them was by means of a bugle. The men were taught the different notes of the bugle and what each meant. In this manner the loud, clear notes of the horn warned the men of a desired change of action.

But there has been much speculation as to the methods used by foreign film directors in obtaining the utmost from the thousands of extras used in some of the spectacular productions sent from the other side. "Deception," "Passion," "The Mistress of the World," the latter a U. F. A. production soon to be released by Paramount, all contained crowds of extra people from which excellent results were obtained. In fact, it was the work of the mobs in these pictures that brought Ernest Lubitsch, director of "Passion" and "Deception," and Joseph May, director of "The Mistress of the World," into prominence in American film circles.

The system used by these two directors is simple but effective. When the "Mistress of the World" was being filmed, Mr. May was confronted with a mob of 10,000 extras. Instead of tearing his hair out he simply hired about thirty prominent actors and actresses, and explained the situation to them, and distributed them among the crowd. The extras were instructed to take orders from these people. When a scene was being filmed these thirty men and women had their own part of the mob to handle, and the extras merely followed their leaders in whatever they did. With this method all that was needed was Mr. May's instructions to his "lieutenants" and the thing was done.

NEW FORM OF AMUSEMENT IN NEW YORK ELEVATED

(By Canadian Press.)

New York, Jan. 12.—New Yorkers who travel to and from their work on the elevated railway, or the "E," as it is familiarly called, have a new form of amusement. It is trying to guess the age of the cars they are riding in. The recent wreck on the Ninth Avenue "E" brought to light the fact that some of the cars now in use were built in 1879. The Transit Commission is considering the problem of the replacement of this antique equipment with modern steel cars.

A WILD WEST AND BARBECUE

Rivals Frontier Day In Wyoming--All Stunts Done

A Wild West exhibition that rivals "The Frontier Days" at Cheyenne, Wyo., was staged at the Laeky ranch in connection with the filming of Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Her Husband's Trademark." Broncho busting, rope throwing and bulldozing of steers by cowboys and Mexicans make up one of the big scenes in the picture at the Spanish ranch house.

Another feature in this scene was an old-fashioned Spanish barbecue. For this a group of Mexican barbecue experts were hired by Sam Wood, the director, to cook the meat. Huge quarters of beef were wrapped in burlap, put on the grill, covered with dirt and roasted. When the meat was cooked it was placed on large pancakes of tortillo (Mexican hard bread) to be eaten.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Remover is available.

KOSLOFF SHIFTS HIS PADDING

Impersonates Napoleon In One Of Paramount Pictures "The Green Temptation"

Theodore Kosloff is playing padded characters these days.

In his last role as the lead with Agnes Ayres in her Paramount vehicle, "The Lane that Had No Turning," he altered his own natural physique by wearing padding on his back underneath his coat to make him look like a hunch-back.

Now, as a shady Apache character in support of Betty Compson in "The Green Temptation," a William D. Taylor production for Paramount, one of the sequences depicting a fancy dress ball requires that the impersonate Napoleon. To reproduce the characteristic corpulence of that noted French hero, Kosloff had to renew his acquaintance with the padding in large quantities. For this part, however, he wore the padding in front instead of on his back.

"If this keeps up," smiled Kosloff, "I'll begin to feel like a human featherbed."

Besides being a famous and successful dancer, Mr. Kosloff is fast becoming known as one of the best character and make-up artists of the screen. There are many other sequences in this new picture in which Kosloff is given an opportunity to show his abilities as a dancer, inasmuch as he plays the role of an Apache who enacts Harlequin, the well-known pantomime character in a travelling show. With Miss Compson in the role of Columbine, the beauty and effectiveness of such a dance are complete.

PRINCE IS NOW SELLING CARPETS

Failed To Present Low Degree Because Of Russians—Native Of Turkestan

Moscow, Jan. 12.—Prince Tekintz is a vendor of the famous Tekintz type of carpets in one of Moscow's cooperative stores recently opened. He is a prince or "Han" in the neighborhood of Bokhara, in Turkestan, whence come carpets equal to those of Persia in quality.

He has fallen to his present low degree because of the Russians. First under the autocrat General Skobelev, in 1881, the Russians defeated the Tekke Turcomans and completed the conquest of Turkestan, and this prince was captured by the Russians. Now under the Soviet regime, he has lost his estates, where the carpets were made.

He was Minister of Foreign Affairs at Baku, until the Azerbaijan Republic was, over a year ago, converted to Communism by Moscow and became a Soviet republic. Then he was locked up and shipped off last spring to Kolmogoroff prison, near Archangel. Only lately he was released.

Agitation For Complete Separation From England Going On

London, Jan. 12.—Now there is an agitation for the independence of Scotland.

Forty members of the Scots National League, which stands for complete separation from England, recently met in London and, to the wild strains of the bagpipes, affirmed their determination to fight, if need be, to gain complete and absolute independence for Scotland.

Speakers recalled that in 1709, Scotland was a free country with a national debt of only one shilling and seven pence per head of the

ITALY TO HOLD ART EXHIBITION

Will Show World Treasures She Recovered From Austria As War's Result

Rome, Jan. 12.—Italy will soon hold an exhibition to display to the world the beautiful art treasures she has recovered from Austria in consequence of the war. The Italians claim that these objects of virtue were systematically stolen by Austrians from Italy in the days when the Italians were too weak to protect themselves. First and foremost among them are nine magnificent tapestries of Bible subjects. They are of Flemish workmanship.

These products of the first half of the 15th century were hung in the Ducal palace at Mantua. Emperor Francis Joseph ordered their transfer temporarily to the Industrial Museum of Vienna and later they were removed to the imperial palace in the Austrian capital. They have just been returned to Italy's possession and once more hang in the Mantuan Palace.

Some of the works of art just restored were among those carried off by Napoleon from the churches, palaces and country houses of the republic of Venice. They were returned to Venice after Napoleon's fall, only to be carried off to Vienna to become the brightest ornaments of the celebrated galleries there. Included in the number now returned to Italy are Cim de Conegliano's superb "Madonna of the Oranges," and pictures by Bartolommeo Vivarini, Paolo Veronese, Bisciani (the Master of Carpaccio), Tintoretto, Bellini, etc.

GIRL MURDERED BY OWN FATHER

Strange Tale Of Banditry
Vouched For By Bulgarian
Police

Sofia, Jan. 13.—A strange tale of banditry resulting in the murder by mistake of a girl by her own father and mother is vouched for officially by the Bulgarian police. Ivan, a peasant of Hazrad, sold two calves for 10,000 levas and started home from the market with his daughter Milka. Fearing robbers he gave the money to his daughter. The father was attacked on the road and killed by two men who saw him make the sale. Milka fled and sought refuge in a peasant cottage where a woman and her daughter comforted her and gave her dinner. Later Milka was sent to bed with the woman's daughter. When the husband returned he told his wife he had killed a man uselessly, as the money he sought had been carried off by the murdered man's daughter. The woman to whom Milka had told her story, repeated it to her husband and the two determined to kill the girl as she lay asleep to get the 10,000 levas. Milka, in the daughter's dark room upstairs, overheard and escaped through a window. When police were brought by Milka they found the old couple had gone upstairs and killed their own daughter by mistake in the dark.

HOW SHAKESPEARE LEARNED THE LAW

Revealed In New Publications Of The Dugdale Society

(Special to The Chronicle.) London, January 13.—Shakespeare's knowledge of law is well known to dramatic students. How he acquired it is revealed in new publications of the Dugdale Society. In the "Minutes and Accounts of the Corporation of Stratford-upon-Avon," transcribed by Richard Savage, there is a suggestion that William Shakespeare was once in an attorney's office. "The Court of Record at Stratford and its procedure," remarks Mr. Edgar H. Fripp, in his introduction, "are of signal interest to Shakespeareans; firstly because John Shakespeare appeared there frequently, both as plaintiff and defendant, and secondly because his son, William Shakespeare, probably had experience of it in a professional capacity. The one subject the poet shows an expert knowledge of, besides his play's art, is the routine and practice of a country attorney's office. Much light is thrown on the doings of John Shakespeare, the poet's father. He was evidently a very litigious person. He was a yeoman as well as a glover, and farmed land at Shitterfield with his father, later at Ingon, probably with his brother Henry. In 1552 he was fined, with two other men "for making a muck-hill in an unauthorized spot in Henley-street."

In 1556 he is sued by the Court of Record by Thomas Siche, of Arma-cote, for the large sum of £1. After four sittings the case went in his favour. "He pleaded that he had justly used physical force on the balliff." But that Shakespeare's father had brains is shown by the record in September 1556, that he was elected a "taxer"—an office of trust and the usual first step in municipal promotion. The same month he was named as attorney in the Court of Record for Richard Lane, but he declined to act. Another point in John Shakespeare's litigious career was an action he brought against Henry Field, the tanner of Back Bridge street, for the non-delivery of 18 quarters of barley. The same day he was appointed an arbitrator in an action brought by a draper in Corn street against a miller. Later he was appointed a constable. But going to law was so common in Shakespeare's time, points out Mr. Fripp, that there was little or no disgrace in it or ill-feeling. "The best of neighbours fought out their cases before the balliff and steward. "Please ye," says Tranio in "The Taming of the Shrew," "we may... as adversaries do in law, strive mightily, but eat and drink as friends."

QUEST IS ON THE EQUATOR

Shackleton's Vessel Has Visited Little Known St. Paul's Rocks Island

(Special to The Chronicle.) London, Jan. 13.—Private advices received from Sir Ernest Shackleton, leader of the Shackleton-Rowett Expedition to the Antarctic and the little-known islands of the Pacific, state that the Quest has according to plan, visited St. Paul's Rocks, a little-known Atlantic island on the Equator, and that the expedition has accomplished its scientific work there satisfactorily. Gerald Lynght, the amateur yachtsman, who accompanied the Quest to St. Vincent as helmsman is full of praise for the invincible spirit of Marr, the Boy Scout of the expedition. "Marr" he says, "suffered terribly from sea sickness. On one occasion when he was one of the watch with me he left the bridge three times, each time he came back and went on with his job, and when I suggested that he should turn in and lie down for a spell he replied in his strong Scotch accent: 'I'll nae gie up.' "He is a quick clever boy, with a sound knowledge of trigonometry, and Jeffery the navigating officer, who has been giving him some lessons in simple navigation, finds him an able and attentive pupil."

Charge Against Bulgarian, Who Will Face Forgery Charge

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 13.—John Rosenoff's skill as an artist is not to be denied. Bankers who tonight saw some $5 bills which the Bulgarian prisoner is said to have manufactured at home, admitted that they were so near the real thing that they would not hesitate to honor them. Rosenoff resides at 62 William Street and was taken into custody by Constables Gillespie and McLean of the East End Division, on a charge of having two revolvers in his possession. It was while searching Rosenoff's personal effects that the miniature mint was found, the constables claim. The prisoner, according to the police, admitted that he was a "manufacturer" of bank notes of $5 denomination. His plan, as told the officers, is to trace from a real bill and then with oil paints and fine brushes he reproduces. He will face a charge of forgery in the morning.

CAUSE OF RIOTS IN ALEXANDRIA

Fanatical Hatred Of Europeans By Egyptians Given As Reason

London, Jan. 13.—Fanatical hatred of Europeans by Egyptians is one of the causes assigned by a military court for the rioting in Alexandria in May last which resulted in 79 deaths. The court has found, after an investigation, that the outbreak was provoked by adherents of Said Zagloul Pasha, Nationalist leader, who are said by the court to have been determined to reap political advantage by forcing the government to shed the blood of Egyptians. "The Egyptian view of the case is that the riots were caused by Greeks firing on peaceful demonstrations," the court states in conclusion. "The demonstrations were not peaceful and there is no evidence that the Greeks started the trouble by firing. "There is no doubt, moreover, that the mobs had a very definite organization. The court has found no evidence as to what this organization was or by whom it was directed. The court draws attention to a very important fact. Always there has existed in Egypt, at any rate among the lower classes, a fanatical hatred of Europeans. It has shown itself again and again. "This outbreak in Alexandria happened because the people thought the hands of the government was relaxing and that the authorities dare not act against them. They took two days for preparation and then the long pent hatred of Europeans burst out. If this is not the correct view it is difficult to understand why the police should have joined in, or why the soldiers of the Third Battalion, Egyptian Army, who had arrived from Cairo only the day before, should have forgotten their discipline and used their arms to shoot down Europeans in the streets. "Given similar circumstances, this feeling will always manifest itself in the future, as it has done in the past, and a very long period of time must elapse before this feeling can be eradicated." The Italian, French and Greek consuls gave evidence. They solemnly protested, states the report, against the treatment of their nationals, and stated that they could never consent to their being protected by a force composed exclusively of Egyptians.

CONTROVERSY AT WHITE HOUSE

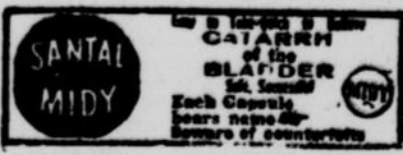

Interior Department Trying To Get Control Of Government Of Alaska

(By Canadian Press) Washington, Jan. 12.—A first-class controversy has developed in the Harding cabinet growing out of efforts of the Interior Department, headed by Secretary Fall, to get control of the government of Alaska. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who has control of the Forest Service, headed by Col. W. B. Greeley, is resisting the effort of the Interior Department. The plan of Secretary Fall is to have Congress provide for a Development Board under direction of the Secretary of Interior. This board or commission would virtually be the Alaskan government and, what is of special interest, it would control all of the natural resources of Alaska, including timber, coal, gold and other resources. Secretary Wallace and the Forestry Service are fighting the proposition tooth and nail. They have developed great plans for use of the timber in Alaska—plans which combine use with conservation—and they regard the Fall plan as one favored by those persons and interests who want to exploit Alaska without regard to conservation. Already, Secretary Wallace is working for establishment of pulp and paper mills in Alaska to use the timber on the enormous forest reserves. He has data to show that this timber can be so handled as to furnish a third of the paper supply of the United States as a permanent proposition. This involves, of course, such methods of handling the timber as to prevent indiscriminate slashing down of trees and to permit growth of young trees along with use of those which are mature. It is not unlikely the controversy over control of Alaska will become a serious political affair for the administration. It is certain that it will unless a way is found to settle it. About ten years ago the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy concerning natural resources in Alaska in which Gifford Pinchot, friend of Roosevelt, alleged the Interior Department, then headed by Secretary Ballinger, was taking a course regarding Alaska which would benefit great financial interests but hurt the territory, proved disastrous in its political results for the Taft administration. It is noticeable that today Secretary Wallace is a conservationist whose views are much like those of Pinchot, while Secretary Fall is unfriendly to such views. How the controversy is settled and what policies are pursued with respect to Alaska timber and other resources is of obvious importance to Canada. Agricultural Department officials look ahead to vigorous development of Alaska, combined with conservation, and to making Alaska before long one of the states of the Union.

OLD QUEBECER DEAD IN LONDON
Mr. E. G. Price Born In This City—Well Known Timber Man

The following article, taken from the current issue of The Timber Trades Journal of London, Eng., should prove interesting to our readers.
It is with the very greatest regret that we have to record the death, on the 1st inst., of one of the oldest and most respected members of the trade, Mr. Edward George Price, of Price & Pierce, Ltd., the well-known timber agents, of 27, Clements Lane, London, E.C. 4, and of "Broadwater," Godalming, who passed away at No. 1, Craven Hill, Hyde Park.

BRAZIL HEAVEN FOR WOMEN NOW
Promises To Be Paradise For Women Workers After Bills Go Through

(Special to the Chronicle)
Geneva, Jan. 9.—Brazil promises to be a paradise for women workers especially mothers, when the Government bills which have passed their first reading in the Brazilian Chamber of Deputies have become law. The text of the Bill on the employment of women, printed in the Official Bulletin of the International Labor Office, shows that women are prohibited from working in (a) Mines; (b) Establishments for manufacturing inflammable materials or when specifically unhealthy materials are used or where the work is prejudicial to feminine constitution; (c) Occupations which, by their nature, are such as to be offensive to modesty or morality; (d) Sunday or holiday work; (e) Night work.

"Her wages shall be the exclusive property of the woman who shall be paid to her direct."
Hours of work may not exceed eight a day which must be broken by a minimum rest of half-an-hour while each worker is to be entitled to a rest of 30 days before and 40 days after childbirth at two-thirds wages. During the first month, mothers shall have fifteen minutes every two hours for nursing a child. Factories and workshops where more than ten women are employed shall possess a Creche or nursing room, not more than 200 metres and assistance, when he felt it was an unmerited misfortune. "One great feature always struck those of us who had business with the house of Price & Pierce and that was the devotion of his staff and the affection openly expressed for him by members of every department."

"His devotion to work astonished those many years his junior, feeling as they did the strain and anxieties of business life. With him, however, it appeared to be his greatest joy to be at the helm of his vast business, and so, as he evidently desired, he died in harness."
"The trade has indeed lost its most honoured member."

UNIVERSITY TO CLOSE DOORS
Lack Of Funds And Professors Near Starvation

Vienna, Jan. 13.—The Vienna University probably will be forced to close its doors in the immediate future because of the lack of funds. At the present value of the Austrian crown, a family of three cannot live in Vienna for less than $0,000 a month, or 1,000,000 crowns a year.

Thirty crowns is the fare on a street car; a shirt costs 5,000 crowns and a suit of clothes 100,000 crowns. As the average income of a native student who lives at home is, it was stated, much under 100,000 crowns, he must either go naked or spend his entire income for a year for one suit.

It was declared that even the most highly paid professors in Vienna were doomed to actual starvation.

How James Tomsonby bought his house

WHEN James Tomsonby was a youth he did a bit of thinking. "Some day," he said to himself, "I'll want to marry, and about that time I will be wishing I had a home of my own."

So he consulted an agent of the North American Life, and finally decided on a 20-year Endowment Policy of $5,000, and when later he did marry, by exercising a little extra thrift Mrs. Jim found it easy to help meet the annual premium.

Jim, having learned the meaning of saving, thought at once of buying a home. His Policy now being some years in force, had a considerable loan value, which enabled him to make a start. When his Policy matured the money received from the North American Life Assurance Company paid off the mortgage. Further, he was at all times comfortable in the thought that, whatever unforeseen contingency might befall himself, his Estate was safe for Mrs. Tomsonby and the children. He was insured.

Young man, you should profit by James Tomsonby's experience! Let us tell you how much—at your age—will be required annually to make a $5,000 lump sum available to you ten fifteen or twenty years hence—by means of a North American Endowment Policy.

BAHAI MOVEMENT FOUNDER DEAD

Recent Demise Has Removed Great Personality From The Orient

Jerusalem, Jan. 13.—The death at Haifa, Palestine, recently of Abdul Baha Abbas, founder of the Bahai movement, removes from the Orient a great personality who has long been regarded as a prophet by thousands of followers scattered throughout the Orient as well as in the Near East.

With his death, the movement has passed under the guidance of a committee of 19 representing different religions and races.

Abdul Baha (servant of God) was 77 years old and his career had been a romantic one. He was exponent of an universal movement whose aim was the realization of the brotherhood of man, and it had gained adherents in Europe, Asia, and America and in some of these continents huge temples had been erected for the observance of his teachings.

His funeral assumed an international aspect at which were present many notables representing many countries. Sir Herbert Samuel, High Commissioner of Palestine, was in the procession.

At the age of 20, Abdul Baha and his father, Baha O'lah, were sent to the penal colony of Acca in Syria because of their radical teachings. For more than 10 years he suffered the vicissitudes of a political prisoner. He was liberated in 1908 at the earnest solicitation of his followers in all parts of the world. Soon after his release, he started on a long journey which took him to Europe and America and resulted in the swift spreading of his message and gospel.

While in the United States in 1912, he spoke from many Christian pulpits and before many different organizations, schools and colleges. In 1920, he was knighted by Great Britain for his humanitarian work in Syria and for his service for world peace.

Bahism is a social reform. It aims at the freeing of mankind from the religious, social and political yokes of the past. Among the things for which it stands are: An universal religion, universal language, a parliament of man with representatives from all countries for the settlement of international disputes, universal education, a perfect civilization founded on simplicity and co-operation and emphasis on the spiritual things of life.

In this world movement which found adherents of almost every religion—Islam, Buddhism, Hinduism, Zoroastrianism, Confucianism, Judaism and Christianity. Almost every race and country of the globe contribute adherents to the organization for international brotherhood.

People came to the city of Acca from all parts of the world to see and talk with Abdul Baha Abbas. His home was a regular Bahai. Within it gathered peoples of all races and creeds.

The creed of Bahism is found in this statement by Baha O'lah, its founder: "We desire but the good of the world and the happiness of the nations; yet they deem us a stirrer up of strife and sedition worthy of bondage and banishment. . . . that all nations should become one in faith, and all men as brothers; that the bonds of affection and unity between the sons of men should be strengthened; that diversity of religion should cease, and differences of race be annulled. . . . What harm is there in this?"

Yet so it shall be; these fruitless strifes, these ruinous wars shall pass away, and the "Most Great Peace" shall come. . . . Is not this that which Christ foretold? . . . Yet do we see your kings and rulers lavishing their treasures more freely on means for the destruction of the human race than on that which would conduce to the happiness of mankind. These strifes and this bloodshed and discord must cease, and all men be as one kindred and one family. . . . Let a man glory in this: that he loves his country; let him rather glory in this, that he loves his kind."

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor Water Blood.

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, haggard and angular. She not only tires out easily, but suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite. This condition will go from bad to worse, if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use brings rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first sign of poor thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further doctor bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

UNEMPLOYED SEEK SHARE OF WORK

Seek Division With Regularly Employed In Germany These Days

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The unemployed throughout Germany are demanding a division of work with the regularly employed and a larger allowance from the municipalities and the labor unions.

They have become so insistent and demonstrations and clashes between the employed and the jobless so frequent that representatives of the Central government, the labor organizations, and the municipalities are trying to find a method of dealing with the situation.

Political agitators have taken advantage of the situation to urge a "red revolt" against employers. This attitude of the radicals has caused sharp dissension even among the ranks of labor.

Labor circles charge that many of the "unemployed" are not members of labor unions, are not really out of work, and if they were would seek to avoid work. They attempt to compel workmen who have jobs to quit in favor of the unemployed. The government is planning the establishment of employment bureaus throughout the country, while the municipalities and the labor councils are canvassing the industries in the hope that jobs may be found for all.

The German Housewives League is trying to aid unemployed married men by placing their wives in positions to earn a little money, "when not engaged in housework."

Low earning power of workmen and high prices has popularized the movement among women to share the responsibility of supporting the family.

DEBS WILL WORK FOR CAGED MEN

Future Career Of Socialist Leader Will Be More Useful To Society

There is reason to believe that the future career of Eugene Debs will be of more use to society than his career before he served a penitentiary sentence. He says he will devote his remaining years to the service of men in prison. Eugene Debs thought that he knew most things before he ran foul of Uncle Sam and was sentenced to Atlanta, but perhaps he learned more in prison that he ever learned out of it. Probably he would subscribe to the saying of W. T. Stead to the effect that "until a man has been in prison he does not know what human life means."

There have been many efforts of intelligent and influential men after having served a prison sentence trying to bring about reforms for the inmates but reforms are slow. The great masses of convicts are not influential persons. They have few friends. They have few opportunities to present their grievances. They begin with the assumption that they are liars. Reform moves nowhere with such leaden feet as in the prisons of the world.

Hawthorne's Experience.

One of the most interesting books that have been the recent fruit of a prison experience is that of Julian Hawthorne. This son of the famous American novelist was himself a prominent magazine and newspaper writer. He got into trouble by attempted fraud through the mails and was sent to a Federal penitentiary. Hawthorne said that he was well treated and treated personally, but that new prisoners were welcomed by the guards just as if little boys might welcome a new supply of beetles to torture. Petty tyrannies he found to be the rule, the only thing that the guards found to interest them. They were always discovering some little breach of prison discipline to justify them. They received their information from the snobs in the institution, who were spies for the sake of having their terms reduced. Hawthorne said that these stool pigeons were almost invariably negroes.

Fear'd the Yeggs.

The best men in the prison were the yeggs, and they were the most feared by the wardens. They knew that the yeggs were bold enough to kill if persecuted, and as a result they left them alone. But the general principle upon which the guards worked was to put the fear of God in the men under their control. Then they would give no trouble. The men were also warned not to attempt to escape because they would be killed. The bed Hawthorne occupied at Atlanta and which was the same as that used by all the other prisoners, raised strip of a few inches above the side would have prevented one falling out of bed, but there was no strip. Though himself a man of good nerves, Hawthorne said that the sighs and groans of those about him kept him awake at nights. He mentions one convict who was greatly attached to a rat and who explained his affection to a visitor by the remark, "He bit a guard."

Grim Federal Prisons.

The Federal prisons in the United States are much grimmer than the average state institution. They seem to be conducted more by old standards, and the wardens show less initiative. Some state penitentiaries the wardens are permitted to run as they see fit, to discard even the barred windows and permit the prisoners to wander far from their cells. This was notably the case in Sing Sing when Thomas Mott Osborne was warden. Mr. Osborne's ideal prison is one with-

An Open Letter

To All Ford Dealers and Service Garages

Service that will increase the confidence of Ford owners

DEAR SIR:—

Service is the most vital factor in creating and maintaining the confidence and good will of the Ford Owner. A satisfied Ford Owner not only means a repeat sale but a strong force in effecting sales to others.

That is why, at the beginning of this New Year of 1922, we are taking this means of telling you our conception of Service that a purchaser of a Ford car, truck or tractor should receive from you.

The Purchaser should be able to obtain—

- (a) A Genuine Ford Part or Parts, whenever required, at the fixed prices as set out in the Ford Price List. (This should be possible as every Ford Dealer is required to stock a sufficient number of Spare Parts for the requirements of his territory—and the blue and white Service sign, now so familiar to the Public, will guarantee to him that only Genuine Ford Parts are carried.)
- (b) The putting of the part or parts in place by the dealer satisfactorily and at the minimum of cost. (The latest improved machinery, special labor-saving devices and highly trained mechanics in each Ford Garage should enable you to prove to the owner that the elimination of lost motions and the accuracy permitted by proper equipment save him dollars when the work is handled by you.)
- (c) In the event of the Ford car not running to his satisfaction, service that will locate the trouble and remedy it quickly, effectively and at minimum cost to the Purchaser. (Since the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited has fixed the price for every repair operation, based on the shortest possible time in which that operation can be performed properly, and has established standardized prices to be charged, you can create a most favorable impression on the mind of the owner by telling him in advance what the cost will be.)

We are convinced that the continued close adherence of the dealer to this Service Policy will result in greater sales and steadily increasing confidence on the part of Ford Owners.

Yours truly,

out walls, and with the prisoners doing farm work and other outdoor labor. He would provide them with good food and with inconspicuous clothes. They might play games and read books and attend the movies. His idea is that the state has no moral right to do more than deprive the man of his liberty, and that his confinement should be made as light and pleasant as is compatible with the safety of the public.

A Bandit's Experience.

Al Jennings, a reformed bandit, who served a long prison term, gave an account of his experiences that were enough to curdle the blood. One gathered that the guards in the prison where he was confined were worse than the ruffians in their charge. Some of the latter were tortured to death. It is to be admitted that convicts are not an easy class to deal with, and that many of them will take advantage of any little relaxations that may be made in their favor. Sometimes when the honor system is put in force the great majority of convicts may prove worthy of it, only to have the privilege withdrawn as a result of its abuse by two or three. Nevertheless, a man who is serving a prison term deserves our sympathy. We can think of few positions of equal responsibility to that of a warden of a large prison, who exerts almost the power of life and death over hundreds of his fellow-men.

A Remedy for Bilious Headache

To those subject to bilious headache, Parmalee's Vegetable Pills are recommended as the way to speedy relief. Taken according to directions they will subdue irregularities of the stomach and so act upon the nerves and blood vessels that the pains in the head cease. There are few who are not at some time subject to biliousness and familiar with its attendant evils. Yet none need suffer with these pills at hand.

RUSSIAN BALLET FACES EXTINCTION

Various Municipal Soviets Tiring Of Deficit They Have To Make Up

Moscow, Jan. 13.—Russia's greatest sport, the ballet, is threatened with extinction. The various municipal Soviets are tiring of the deficit which they have to make up in order to keep the operas and the ballets going. Ballet and opera alternate in the big theatres. The ballet pays, but doesn't make enough profit to carry the opera and the great orchestras necessary to satisfy the music-loving Russians.

Hallerines are the subjects of endless discussion.

Families break up over differences about the merits of Smirnova, Gelsler, Gerdt and others who are now holding the spotlight in Petrograd and Moscow. To a lesser degree the same battle rages at Kazan and Kiev and Odessa. Just at the moment Laskin is the hot favorite in Petrograd and Gelsler in Moscow. Youth and beauty do not count with Russian ballet fans. It matters not if the ballerina is old. In fact she generally has to be fairly mature before she can master the intricate steps upon which Russians give points. She may have muscles which give her the appearance of a strong lady in the circus and still fascinate Russian spectators if she can spin fast enough on her toes and shift her weight from one big toe to the other at just the moment prescribed in the rules. At first a foreigner is inclined to admire the beautiful young neophytes who dance mazourkas, and have all the charm which grace and flowing white robes can impart to youth dancing to the music of a

Happy Parents Pour Out Their Thanks To Tanlac

BLANCHE BLAIR

THAT Tanlac is a wonderful medicine for delicate children is conclusively proven by the remarkable results accomplished in the cases of the three children shown in this picture.

Little Blanche Blair, of Providence R.I., aged 13, gained 10 pounds; Regina McCabe, at right, aged 9, of Scanton, Pa., gained 15 pounds; little Richard Leary, Jr., of Philadelphia, who was very delicate, is now in fine, robust health. The statements made by their parents are as follows:

Mr. A. M. Blair, residing at 29 Atwood street, Providence, R.I., said: "We are just so happy over the change Tanlac has made in our little girl that we can't do or say enough to show our appreciation. She had lost nearly 20 pounds in weight and looked so frail and weak that her mother and I were both almost worried sick over her condition. Since taking Tanlac, she has gained 10 pounds, her color is better than it ever has been and she looks and acts like a different girl."

REGINA MCCABE and RICHARD LEARY

surprised to have seen him drop off at any time. He had stomach trouble and many a time the gas pressed up into his chest until his heart palpitated so I thought sure he couldn't breathe but a few more doses of Tanlac gave him back to us strong and well and we will praise it to our dying day."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists and general merchants everywhere.

LAW OF INSTINCT OBEYED TO DEATH

Little Brain Types Of Animals Follow Rules Even To Doom

Instinctive activities are the outcome of inborn skill, which does not require learning or practice, though it may be improved by both. These are seen in their purest and greatest form in the behavior of the "little brain" type, namely animals like ants, bees and wasps. When we pass from these to the big brained birds we feel at once a change of air; inference and learning are at work as well as the inborn inspirations of instinct.

In what particular ways are instinctive activities wonderful where all is wonderful? The first marvel is the extraordinary perfection which instinctive behavior often exhibits. Take the story that the great French naturalist, Henri Fabre, has told us of one of the solitary wasps, which we shall call the Fury. It shows extraordinary skill both in hunting and in building. With minute pebbles and with earth moistened with the juice of its mouth, it builds a finely finished cupola about three-quarters of an inch in height; the outside is covered with glistening grains of quartz or sometimes with tiny snail-shells; the orifice at the top is like the mouth of a Greek vase, gracefully curved, worthy of a potter's wheel.

After the mother wasp has placed an egg in her well finished nest, she adds five to ten small caterpillars, which she sings, and the next step is to close the orifice with a cement plug, in which there is always set a tiny pebble. But the touch of perfection is to be found inside. It appears that the stung caterpillars that form the living ladder inside the wasp's cell have still a good deal of vigor, and toss about when touched. Now the least pressure would crush the delicate egg, so it is hung by a thread from the roof of the cupola, and after the wasp grub hatches it makes the shell of the egg into a flexible ladder so that it can reach the caterpillars and bite them, yet retreat if they are too fierce.

Grub Prepares for Beetle Life.

A second wonder is the way in which different operations are linked together in a chain. The grub of the capricorn beetle burrows for three years on end in the depths of an oak tree. But when it is full grown and the time of its change into a beetle draws near, it moves to the margin and makes a passage almost out, leaving only a film-like screen, just as if it knew that the winged beetle to come out of the pupa case would otherwise be buried alive. It then draws back a little in its gallery and makes an outer barricade of particles of chopped wood, and inside that again a partition like a white skull cap or acorn cup, composed, strange to say, of carbonate of lime and some organic cement.

The next step is to make to the inside of the partition a transformation chamber. This three or four inches long is padded, Fabre tells us, "with a fine swan's down, a delicate precaution taken by the rough worm on behalf of the delicate pupa." The next step is to fall asleep and dream of becoming a beetle.

The grub lays aside its tools, moults its skin and becomes a pupa, lying, weakness personified, on a soft couch. The head is always turned toward the door. This seems a little detail, but the strength of a chain is that of its weakest link. The supple grub can turn this way or that in its chamber, but the coming beetle will not be able to turn or bend. "He must absolutely find the door in front of him lest he perish in his casement. Should the grub forget this little formality, should it lie down to its nymphal sleep with its head at the back of the cell the capricorn is infallibly lost; his cradle becomes a hopeless dungeon." But the grub forgets as little as it learns.

A third wonder of instinctive activities, which the observations of Fabre will illustrate very well, is that they are very apt to go wrong if there is anything the least unusual in the circumstances. Often subtle and perfect, without a loose thread from first to last, the instinctive routine may end in an almost ridiculous failure when a grain of intelligence would have saved the situation.

Fabre once made a closed circuit of procession caterpillars on the rim of a palm vase in his garden, and around this on a silken trail the creatures continued crawling and crawling for seven times twenty-four hours, working round and round 335 times and covering a distance of a good bit over a quarter of a mile. "The caterpillars, in distress, starved, shelterless, chilled with cold at night, cling obstinately to the silk ribbon, covered hundreds of times, because they lack the rudimentary glimmers of reason which would advise them to abandon it."

Instinct is the voice of the past, and it has to be obeyed even if it is fatal to do so. Instinct is not a low form of intelligence; it is more like an inborn inspiration, it works well for old ways, but not where learning is necessary. Instinct is wonderful, but intelligence is the more excellent way.

UNION BANK'S NEW PRESIDENT

W. R. Allan Chosen To Replace John Galt, By Shareholders Of Concern

W. R. ALLAN, President of the Union Bank of Canada.

Union Bank Appoints New Officers

The shareholders of the Union Bank elected on Monday, January 9th, W. R. Allan to the presidency recently vacated by John Galt, who is leaving Winnipeg to make his home in Victoria, B.C. Mr. Galt remains a director of the bank.

The interest in the appointment of W. R. Allan extends beyond banking circles. Mr. Allan is a member of the Montreal Shipping family, and instead of staying East where he would have been able to avail himself of a ready-made position—he as a young man elected to go West and carve out for himself his own career. Steadily he has worked upwards and in his new position with the Union Bank he occupies the highest office that the shareholders can put before him.

In General Manager H. B. Shaw, who is to continue his managerial duties, the Union Bank is to have the services of one of the foremost authorities in the banking world and one of the most active and capable executives that Canada has known. There is wisdom in the choice of the shareholders, and we may look forward to seeing the Union Bank maintain its prominent and very satisfactory position.

TORPEDO BOATS THE BEST CRAFT

For Defensive Purposes And Not Submarines Declares Lloyd George

Cannes, Jan. 13.—That submarines are more dangerous to merchant vessels than warships, as he believed the late war had proven, and that torpedo boats and not submarines are the best defensive craft, was the opinion which Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain expressed to French correspondents in reply to questions they put to him before his departure from Cannes this evening.

"I don't fear submarines in the hands of France, especially," he added, "but I fear them in general." The Premier wished the Anglo-French pact would be signed before the Geneva conference. He explained that the Italian Government would not, for the present, be asked to adhere to it because the shape of the Italian frontiers did not require additional safeguards. He declared that an entente with Belgium had been effected and with regard to the Near East question, he hoped it would be settled within the next fortnight at a meeting of Foreign Ministers to be held at Paris.

CARP. DESIRES ANOTHER CHANCE

Rickard Says Dempsey-Carpentier Return Match Wouldn't Draw Expenses

New York, Jan. 13.—"A return match between Carpentier and Dempsey would not draw expenses in this country," Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, said today when informed that Carpentier had expressed a desire for another meeting with the world's heavyweight champion. "Carpentier is without doubt the best 175-pound pugilist in the world," he said, "but he has neither the power or endurance to battle with a fighter of Dempsey's class and calibre. I would not think of bidding for or promoting a second match between the pair."

"I have both Carpentier's and Dempsey's assurance that they will return to the United States early in March for the match with Tom Gibbons. The latter should make an excellent opponent for George, and an interesting contest should result, but Dempsey against Carpentier, again I cannot see under any circumstances."

A. J. BALFOUR IS GREAT DIPLOMAT

Record Shield To All Suggestions As To Patriotism—Admires France

Though it became Mr. Balfour's duty to use words respecting France that might in other circumstances have brought about a rupture of friendly relations, his record is the shield to all suggestion that he is either anti-French or pro-German. The fact that his utterances concerning the French submarine demands have been supported almost without exception by the American press, shows that what he said everybody believes. Throughout his long career he has been pre-eminent among British statesmen of his generation in admiration for France and in the understanding of her development in art, science, literature and politics. If Haldane was steeped in German philosophy, Balfour was steeped in French literature. It was due to him and to King Edward that the Entente Cordiale was brought about which reversed the foreign policy of one hundred years so far as Britain was concerned and ended her period of splendid isolation.

He Stood For France.

Again at the beginning of the war Balfour stood out for France and Belgium and was, perhaps, the first great leader to declare for intervention. Some of the Liberal Ministers were in favor of remaining aloof. The chief organ of Liberalism at that time, the London News, controlled by the Cadbury cocoa people, told England that her interest lay in remaining neutral and making a fortune out of the struggle. Morley and Burns, leading Liberals, retired from public life when war was declared. It was Balfour who led in bringing the Unionists into the support of Aquilino, although it is not to be suggested that they would not have declared for war in any event. Nevertheless, Balfour's part in those great events ought never to be forgotten by France and we think they never will be forgotten. France is merely playing politics. She wants a guarantee of protection, and if Britain were willing to make a treaty of defence with her she would be perfectly willing to hand over every submarine in the control of the British Admiralty.

A Tower of Strength.

In the war, Balfour was a tower of strength, accepting one portfolio after another, and distinguishing himself in them all, and we may be sure that there was no member of the Cabinet to whose views greater respect was paid than to those of this venerable bachelor, who is the only survivor of the Congress of Berlin. In 1917, he visited the United States, and no Englishman who ever went there made a stronger impression. (Mr. Balfour is not an Englishman, but a Scotchman, but we do not desire to bring him into invidious comparison with other Scotch importations.) He is one of those who is at home in all circles. A room full of Kings or a room full of navvies would find him the same courteous gentleman and we recall that an American newspaper on that occasion in comparing him with von Bernstorff made the remark that Balfour had the inestimable advantage over the other in the fact that he was a gentleman.

The Great Figure.

Arthur Balfour has been the most interesting and eminent figure in Washington, as all the correspondents bear witness. Though he is a veteran of the old, bad diplomacy, which everybody nowadays is deploring and condemning, and the dean of the assembled diplomats, nobody there so heartily applauded the new diplomacy which Harding and Hughes are credited with ushering in. His utterances concerning France shows this suave gentleman can speak in the plainest words when the occasion demands. One recalls that for all his apparently hesitating utterance and diffidence, he had the name of "Bloody Balfour" when he was Chief Secretary for Ireland. We do not know that he abhors the title, and we have an idea that Irishmen respect him none the less. It might have been a good thing for everyone concerned if he had always been Secretary for Ireland. We may be sure that if he had, Griffith and de Valera would not now be debating whether Ireland should be a republic or a free state.

A Talented Musician

How many sided the man is may be inferred from the fact, attested by Frederick Curllife Owen, C.B.E., that is one of the most talented amateur pianists. At Wittinghame, his Scotch home, the music rooms are equipped with a couple of grand pianos and he is never so happy as when he can find some congenial and equally gifted player to play double duets with him. He is also the author of several articles and even a book on Handel, of whom works he has an unrivalled collection. He is, moreover, addicted to the concertina, and carries several of these instruments with him wherever he goes. Though well into his seventies, he plays not only golf, but tennis. It surely is difficult to imagine that this man, whom we might class with Frederick Harrison as the last of the great Victorians, is a godson of the Duke of Wellington and as keen in the service of his country today as was the victor of Waterloo a hundred years ago.

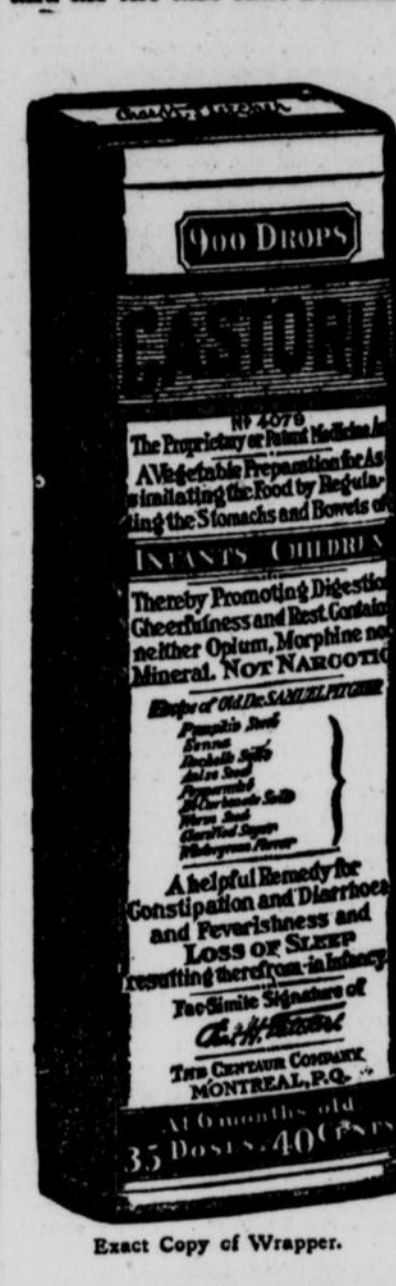

Why Brides Must Weep

Stumble on your wedding morn, and you'll be a widow before a year. Ill on your wedding day, ill most of your life. It is unlucky for the bride and groom to see each other before the ceremony. Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be. That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Honestly advertised as such, without a claim for more than its over 30 years of use have amply proven. A Baby's remedy for Babies. And not an adult's remedy for all the family and all the ails that human flesh is heir to.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food. A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived. Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

BEWARE! IF IN LOVE AND SUPERSTITIOUS

Some Don't To Follow If You'd Wed And Be Happy

Superstitious people have a lot to worry about before they become engaged or married if they would make certain of future happiness. A writer learned in love lore has made the following list for the use of the superstitious:

Sweethearts should not have their photographs taken together; if they do they will never marry. A man and his fiancée should not stand up together at a christening or they will never marry. If two sisters marry two brothers, one of the couples will not live happily. If you keep writing your future husband's name before you have taken it on, you may never have it. If you bump against a closed door, you will not be married for a year. If you hear of the marriage of a friend, you should not exclaim that you wish it had been you, or you will not marry. Runaway Marriages It is unlucky to have to do your hair up twice when preparing for your wedding. It is lucky for unrelated persons of the same name to marry. If an old person is the last to say good-bye to a bridal party, they may expect a long life. Leave the parental home in haste and you come back in a short time. It is bad luck for one or other of the contracting parties to go back, having once started to the place of the ceremony. If you sit in the back seat on the way to be married, you will always be second in his affections. Runaway marriages are rarely lucky. To be married before sunset brings more luck than after. The first to cry at a wedding will be the next to marry. Marriages on board ship are considered unlucky. The postponement of a wedding is unlucky. The first words spoken after marriage will come true. The bridegroom should get to the home of the bride before the preacher. The bride who enters her home by the back door will be a drudge. Change your place of abode the first year, and your life will be unsettled. Her trousseau can be told this way: "Big box, little box, bandbox, or bundle." The last petal determining the answer.

WHAT ATTRACTS MEN THE MOST?

Modern Girl Severely Criticized By English Cleric—Brains Or Beauty

(Special to the Chronicle)
London, Jan. 13.—Which attracts men most—brains or beauty?
Very emphatic opinions on the question were expressed at a meeting held at Campden Hill, in aid of the Bradford College Appeal Fund. The Rev. Hugh B. Chapman, Chapel Royal Savoy, severely criticized the modern girl.

He said his advice was once sought by the father and mother of a girl of 19 who had been giving a lot of trouble.
"To everyone else that girl appeared to be a sort of Madonna, without fault. I may mention that she had already, at that early age been engaged six times.

"I had known the girl since birth. She was extremely pretty. When I was consulted I came to the conclusion that she was totally uneducated. As a child she had managed to avoid all kinds of schools. My advice to her parents was to send her back to school.

Masses of these young women, with no education, but pretty faces, seem to annoy men. The result is unhappy marriages, which last but a short time.

Every day I am coming across examples of beauty coupled with ignorance, a combination that seems to be the vogue just now.

"I have had a great deal to do with the unhappy question of divorce during the past few years, and it is my experience that divorces are largely attributable to ignorance rather than to immorality.

True Companionship.
The uneducated woman does not make a good mate for a man.

"The moment you get a girl to love knowledge, it seems to me that you have the promise of woman—the kind of woman who can be a friend and companion to her husband every day, whose appeal does not depend on emotion or on her beauty, factors which, no doubt, play their part in happy marriages, but which are incidental in comparison with companionship.

COHESION OF NATIVE RACES

Anti-White Feeling Fast Increasing In Various Parts Of Africa

London, Jan. 13.—Anti-white feeling is fast increasing among the natives in various parts of Africa, states Reuter's in an article "based on documentary and other evidence obtained at first by an authoritative British observer who has visited every part of Africa.

Reuter's informant emphasizes the growing cohesion of native races throughout the continent. He says the strongest factor in the development of antagonism to the whites is "skillful propaganda fostered by an extreme section of American negroes."

"Circulars coming from Nationalist sources in India and Egypt and the United States, translated into five of the principal African languages, are distributed in enormous numbers throughout Africa... the traveler states. "Booklets of 25 to 30 pages, urge that the time has arrived for the black races to assert themselves and throw off the white yoke."

"It is only fair to say," adds the authoritative British observer, "that these are not received with universal sympathy, but the very unsettling effect is easily to be observed."

He has met it in the Union of South Africa, in French Equatorial Africa and in a lesser degree in Uganda, in Nyasaland, Belgian Congo, Abyssinia and Kenya.

"It is wonderful the extent to which the war has produced fraternal feelings among natives but in present circumstances they tend to become anti-European," he continues.

The main reason is the growth of race consciousness through the world.

"The most effective remedy is an equitable system of land tenure guaranteeing to the native a stake in the country, protection from eviction by his own chief or local European interests and a system of higher education that provides something more than the three Rs."

FIND PRINTS OF DINOSAUR'S FEET

Mt. Holyoke College Gets Valuable Slabs—Connecticut Valley Sandstone

South Hadley, Jan. 13.—Among the specimens being added to the collection of the department of geology of Mt. Holyoke College is a great slab of Connecticut Valley sandstone, upon which are imprinted seven footprints of a giant dinosaur, who wandered his reptilian way in this region millions of years ago. On the other side of this slab, as well as on the side with the footprints, are mud-cracks and ripple-marks of great geological value.

"The ripple-marks," it is explained, "were made in mud at the bottom of shallow water when the region of the present Connecticut Valley was a large river bottom, which was occasionally flooded. As the waves in this shallow water worked back and forth they rolled the mud into ridges which were preserved when the mud was dried and later turned into stone. The beauty of the ripple-marks from this quarry is that they are so distinct and that they run in so many different directions in a small space.

"When mud dries it cracks into plates whose edges curl up. In these specimens coarse sand blew under the curled-up edges of the plates and between the plates, and the whole surface was later hardened into hard rock, so that we can see the fine material filling the cracks.

"The bird-like footprints show that at least two dinosaurs of different size roamed over the mud flats and there are three footprints of a kind in each of two sets. These dinosaurs walked around on their hind legs and had very long necks and tails. The tracks are very well preserved. They show the places where the claws at the ends of the toes dug into the mud. The tracks on the large slab are about eight inches long and the distance between them is about four or five feet, the length of the animal's stride. On a different slab there are also seven tracks, but they are those of a much smaller dinosaur, tracks about three inches long and a foot and a half apart."

TRAGIC DRAMA OF THE ROMANOFFS

One Of Chief Causes Of The Czar's Downfall Tsarevitch's Malady

(Special to The Chronicle.)
London, January 13.—The malady inherited by the Tsarevitch was, strange as it may seem, one of the chief causes of "his father's fall." This is the theory advanced by Pierre Gilliard in his book "Thirteen Years at the Russian Court."

M. Gilliard was tutor to the young heir to Russia's throne and shared many of the hardships and miseries imposed on the Royal Family by the Bolsheviks.
So profound was his devotion that he felt on his escape to Europe in 1920 that it was his "duty to rehabilitate the moral character of the Russian Sovereigns."

"The Tsarevitch's malady," he declares, "made possible the phenomenon of Rasputin... The disease would suddenly swoop down on the boy... the last hope had failed.

It was then that Rasputin, a simple Siberian peasant, was brought to the Tsaritsa, and he said, 'Believe in my help, and your son will live.'

The Tsaritsa persuaded herself that her son's life was in this peasant's hands.

"Pats will that he who wore the halo of a saint should be nothing but a low and perverse creature, and that this man's evil influence was one of the principal causes of which the effect was the death of those who thought they could regard him as their saviour....

"All the Tsar's generous impulses were broken against the passive resistance of an omnipotent bureaucracy.

"An essentially reflective man, he would have been perfectly happy to live as a private individual. He loved his people and his country with all the force of nature, he had a personal affection for the least of his subjects, those moujiks whose lot he earnestly desired to better."

M. Gilliard traces the now familiar show of the tragedy of the captive Romanoffs to the dreadful day of butchery at Ekaterinburg.

"At Tobolsk the Tsaritsa, always seeking to heal the wounded hearts

SUNNY Japan and cherry blossoms—one instinctively thinks of them when one looks at this most attractive little five room bungalow. Pointed roofs and gentle sloping lines give this unique design an artistic touch which place this plan in a class all its own. For sheer artistic beauty, this little home cannot be surpassed and built of stucco with concrete foundation, and with shingle roof stained a russet brown to harmonize with the trunks of the trees and earth toward which it is inclined to nestle, this bungalow is one that would instantly be pointed out as unusual and distinctive by passerby. Looking at it one can easily visualize it set down in a bewitching garden in which cherry and apple trees are all a-bloom, and one can catch their sweet fragrance wafted by careening winds through the quaint latticed windows through which one glimpses distant blue mountains which rise mistily in the background.
But let's go inside a minute! From the tiny hallway from which the staircase ascends to either unfinished attic or a nicely fitted up sleeping apartment, according to the owner's taste and incidentally, his pocket-book, one steps into the living room with its three windows grouped together and an open fireplace. The sun parlor which could be made an open air porch in summer time, is directly off from the living room and is also the dining room in which is a built-in sideboard. The kitchen is fully equipped and there is space on the service porch for a refrigerator. Two bedrooms and a bath, separated from the rest of the house by a tiny passageway, complete this charming and convenient floor plan. One of the unique features of this home is the front terrace which could be so attractively furnished for outdoor entertaining. Washington fir finished with mission stain is used and the flooring is of oak. The estimated cost, exclusive of plumbing and heating, is between $4,900 and $7,000.

FROM SEATTLE TO GT. BRITAIN

Blue Funnel Line Puts Four Ships On Sixty Day Schedule

Seattle, Jan. 13—Giving another regular service with Great Britain and Europe, the Blue Funnel Line, of Liverpool, has ordered four steamships into the route under a sixty-day schedule. It was learned yesterday from Dodsell & Company, general agents for the line, that one of the vessels, the Hector, is equipped with 1,200 tons of refrigerator space for apples and other perishables of the Northwest.

The new regular service is being instituted by the steamship Memnon, which sailed from Liverpool December 17, bound for Seattle and other Pacific Coast ports. She will be followed by the Hector, sailing from Liverpool February 17. The name of the other vessels will be made public later. Beside Seattle, the Pacific Coast ports of call will include Los Angeles, San Francisco, Tacoma, Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., but the vessels will enter other Coast ports when business offers.

The Blue Funnel Line has had a service between the Pacific Coast and the other side of the Atlantic for a long time, but it has been operated on an irregular schedule, the number of vessels varying constantly. Under the new plan, four vessels are being assigned permanently to the service.

In the Seattle-Oriental routes, the line is maintaining a twenty-one-day sailing schedule, operating four huge freighters, an increase of one vessel as compared with a year ago. The ships handled an immense cargo movement from the Sound to the Orient during 1921.

REFORMERS ON THE RAMPAGE

Demand Police Action Against Sask. I.O.D.E. Chapter For Gaming

Saskatoon, Jan. 13—Reformers here yesterday demanded police action against a local chapter of the Daughters of the Empire on the allegation that gaming laws were being violated through losers at a bridge tournament paying twenty-five cents each.

The card party was given to raise funds for relief work and was a tended by practically all the women prominent in Saskatoon society.

The women who requested the authorities to interfere suggested a "raid" but the Chief of Police took no further steps than to telephone the Regent of the Chapter and make enquiries.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation, poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Tried for Years to Find Relief

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOOTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

SEPARATION OF SIAMESE TWINS

May Be Decided On By Chicago Surgeons In Consultation

Chicago, Jan. 13—The advisability of surgically separating Josefa and Rosa Blazek, Siamese twins from Czecho-Slovakia, will be determined today by Chicago surgeons. Dr. Max Thorek, who will be in charge of the examination, explained that the sisters fear the death of one would bring the immediate death of the other. The examination will be by the X-ray. The women are 34 years old. They recently came to Chicago to live in the foreign colony after tiring of exhibition work. Rosa is the mother of an 11 year old boy. Josefa is unmarried.

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 13—Completion of the recount in the Port Arthur-Kenora convention constituency confirms the election of Dougald Kennedy, Progressive, with a majority of 54 over F. H. Keefer. This was a reduction of four in the majority announced by the returning officer. The Liberals, whose candidate A. J. McComber, was 218 behind Kennedy, have yet to make final decision on a proposed protest of the election on the ground that some three hundred names were improperly left off the voters' list.

GREIVANCE 58 OLD STANDING

Provincial Agents Don't Want To Play Second Fiddle To High Commissioner

(By Can. Press Cable.)

London, Jan. 13—The coming of a new High Commissioner to London from Canada prompts one or two newspaper references here to the old standing grievance of the Canadian Agents-general against the High Commissionership.

To-night's "Evening News" says the Agents do not believe in being expected to play second fiddle to the High Commissioner. They assert that they ought to be able, as a matter of right, to approach the Colonial Office direct, like the agents of the Australian States.

When official invitations are going round for social functions it seems the High Commissioner is often charged with sending them out to the Agents of the various Provinces who can point to an official lineage running back to the eighteenth century, whereas the High Commissioner goes back only to 1880.

The "Evening News" concludes its article with the remark that Canada itself is not wildly distressed over these hardships; no break-away from the Empire, for instance, is being contemplated as a result of them at present.

Sir George Perley who is retiring from the High Commissionership, is making final preparations to sail for Canada.

The Base of Many Troubles
Inactive Kidneys and Suffering are Inseparable

THE kidneys are one of the prime causes of good or bad health. With active kidneys, the body keeps in good condition, but once these organs fail to perform their work properly you begin to be gradually sapped of your vitality.

Nothing will "drag you down" quicker than the backaches, the headaches, rheumatism, and other pains resulting from neglected and congested kidneys. Debility of the whole system is caused when the kidneys cease to perform their functions properly.

Yet, these many ills can be avoided or remedied by taking—

Gin Pills
FOR THE KIDNEYS

Gin Pills have a wonderfully soothing effect on the kidneys. They quickly heal any inflammation, and enable the delicate organs to resume their work of filtering the waste and poisons from the blood. That is the reason the people of Canada bought 618,644 boxes of Gin Pills in 1919.

If you would have improved health and relief from your kidney troubles, try Gin Pills without delay.

Gin Pills are sold everywhere at 50c a box—with money-back guarantee, if they do not help you. You can obtain a sample by writing to:—

National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited

Gino Pills sold in the United States are the same as Gin Pills sold in Canada.

Portrait of Mrs. GOFF, of Shesheo Cottage, Baitsey Ferry, near Chester, England, who writes:—

"For five years I suffered greatly from an ulcerated leg, which at one time was covered with open wounds from knee to foot, there being as many as 21 wounds in it at once. I tried all sorts of preparations, and attended the infirmary, but nothing seemed to do me any good and I was sent away from the infirmary as incurable. One day my daughter saw Clarke's Blood Mixture advertised in a newspaper and read it to me, and I decided to give it a trial. Finding the first lot was doing me good I persevered with it, and after having four bottles my leg was completely healed. All that happened some eight years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble ever since."

Sufferers from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Piles, Eczema, Bells, Pimples, Eruptions, Itchiness, Gout should realize that lotions and ointments can do but little to relieve them. It is the true cause of their troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks, overcomes, and expels the impurities, that is why so many remarkable recoveries stand to its credit. Pleasant to take and free from injurious ingredients.

CONTINUED EASE OF MONEY AND SIGNS OF EARLY ADVANCE IN BASIC INDUSTRIES HELPFUL

Investment Rails Led Movement—Equipments And Miscellaneous Specialties Made Similar Gains—Foreign Exchange Rose Considerably Transactions In Bonds Again Large

New York, Jan. 13.—Dealings in stocks today were more active and diversified than at any previous season of the week, many standard issues making substantial gains. Continued ease of money, strength of foreign exchanges and signs of an early forward movement in the basic industries stimulated the advance.

Investment rails led the movement at gains of one to two points. Equipments as well as miscellaneous specialties, chiefly food and chemical groups, made similar or greater gains, but oils and steels lacked their usual prominence.

Sales amounted to 650,000 shares. The official rate for call loans remained at 3 1/2 per cent, but that figure was shaded to 3 per cent on prime collateral in private offerings. The unprecedentedly large gold holdings of the Federal Reserve Bank are said to have influenced the more liberal supplies of lime money.

Regardless of the tension created abroad by the French political

BETTER TONE DISPLAYED ON MONTREAL STOCK MARKET YESTERDAY SAYS DESPATCH

As Result Of Fairly Good Buying Orders, More Gains Shown Than Losses At Close—Partial Recovery Of Dominion Bridge One Of Chief Features

Montreal, Jan. 13.—A better tone was displayed on the local stock market today. As the result of fairly good buying orders scattered through the list, more gains were shown than losses at the close of trading, one of the chief features being the partial recovery of Dominion Bridge.

Twenty-five shares of St. Maurice Paper came out at 88, twelve points below the previous last sale of the issue, made last November.

Fairly wide price margins have not been unusual in sales of this stock in the past, and the present decline has no special significance. In January last, it sold at 120 and its decline is in line with the rest of the papers.

Dominion Bridge opened a point lower at 54, but with buying the price worked back to 55 1/2 and later to 56 1/2, where it closed up 1 1/2 for the day. Steel of Canada which declined in sympathy, al-

Daily Gossip On Leading Stocks

Gold production of the world has declined from $469,000,000 in 1915 to $335,000,000 in 1920, a decrease of 28 per cent, while that of the United States has declined from $101,000,000 to $51,000,000, a decrease of 49 per cent. Of the total decline in the world's production during this period the United States has contributed 38 per cent, although its normal quota to the gold production of the world has been about 21 per cent.

In 1916, the United States produced 21 1/2 per cent of the world's output of gold, while in 1920, it produced but 15 1/2 per cent. In the former year the gold production of the British Empire was 63 per cent of the total, while in the latter it had risen to nearly 70 per cent.

The decline in the gold production of the world, excluding that of this country, from 1915 to 1920 was 22 per cent, while that of the United States was 49 per cent, or more than double.

Ninety twenty-one goes down in the records as a 38 percent year in steel. Ingot production exceeded 19,000,000 tons as against 40,881,000 tons the year before.

The outlook for the pulp and paper industry at the beginning of the new year appears promising.

According to statistics compiled by The Iron Trade Review, the

Sugar Market

New York, Jan. 13.—The early raw sugar market was steady, no sales were reported, but Cubas were offered at 2 cents cost and freight equal to 3 1/2 for Centrifugal. Raw sugar futures opened easier and from one to two points net lower under liquidation and trade selling, prompted by the increased offerings in the spot market.

There was a good demand from Wall Street interests and prices rallied and at midday were one point higher to 2 points lower.

A reduction of ten points by one of the local refiners to the basis of 4.80 for fine granulated, was the only change in refined sugar while others fluctuated but 1 1/2 per cent. The demand continues of fair proportions.

Refined futures were without transactions.

Pierre Le Droit, Esquire, do, do, do, by ditto, dated 4th. January instant.

From the commencement of the year with the exception of two or three days the weather has been extremely cold. The thermometer has ranged very frequently as far as 20 degrees below zero. Several mornings it was at 25 and in exposed positions 27 degrees and 28 degrees. We remark that on the 3rd. January it was as low as 22 below zero at Kingston, an uncommon occurrence.

The Parish of St. Elizabeth, County of Berthier, has just passed a by-law granting a bonus to the Great Northern Railway, which is to pass through the centre of the Parish. The Parish is very rich and the by-law on being submitted to the ratepayers was carried by a majority of 110 votes and by a majority in value of $208,125. The contract for this connection to the road will be signed this week, and work begun at once.

Ice Bridge.
The recent cold spell has formed a splendid ice bridge at Cap Rouge. The ice is solid and will in all probability remain for the season. While there is a bridge at Cap Rouge, it is not likely that we will have one opposite the city. But the ferry boats will enjoy pretty plain sailing in the meantime.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at nights for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."
