CHILD STRUCK BY MOTOR IN ABBOTSFORD

Ruth Harris, of Montreal, Ran from Behind Autobus into Road—Suffered Broken Leg and Bruises When Car Was Unable to Avoid Her.

(Special to the Record.)
ABBOTSFORD, Que., Sept. 10.—Knocked down by an automobile as she ran into the middle of the road from behind an autobus here on Saturday afternoon, little Ruth Harris, of Montreal, suffered a broken leg and numerous severe bruises. The accident happened in front of the residence of Mr. G. H. Buzzell.

Mrs. Harris and her two children, Ruth and the baby, had alighted from the bus, which had just arrived from Montreal. As she stopped with the baby to pay the driver, the elder child, Ruth, ran around the bus and out into the road. A car was coming down the hill, driven by Magog man, who failed to see the child in time to avert striking her. Fortunately he was driving at a moderate rate of speed, or the accident would undoubtedly have been fatal.

Mr. G. H. Buzzell motored the child to Granby with all possible speed, and first aid was rendered by Dr. H. W. Blunt. The child was afterwards taken to the Montreal General Hospital, where her progress is reported to be satisfactory.

ATTEMPT MADE TO ESTABLISH SPEED RECORD

Flight Lieutenant Stainforth Successfully Completed Five Flights Over a Three-Kilometer Course in Attempt to Beat World's Air Speed Record.

(Associated Press Despatch)
CALSHOT, England, Sept. 10.—Flight Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth successfully completed five flights over a three-kilometer course in an attempt to beat the world air speed record. Flight Lieutenant Stainforth was flying the almost untested Gloster-Napier six.

Under a new timing system, the result of the tests will not be known until three hours after the attempt has been made. The official figure for the record will be the average of the times for four flights over the three kilometre course, two in each direction. Four dashes must be made in one continuous flight. If more than four are made by the pilot, the best speeds for four consecutive runs, two in each direction, will be taken.

The pilot must pass the starting and finishing lines in a horizontal flight. For six hundred yards before crossing the starting line and during his passage over the course his altitude must not exceed a height of 500 feet. Elsewhere his height must not exceed 1,300 feet. The record which Stainforth and Orlebar were out to break today was set by Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherly, with a mark of 322.49 miles an hour in two laps in Saturday's Schneider Cup races.

Atcherly was disqualified from the Schneider Cup race but his individual lap record was allowed to stand by the officials.

In winning the Schneider Cup for England, Waghorn broke the Schneider Cup record with a speed of 328.68 miles an hour.

The British pilots today hoped to attain speeds approximately 350 miles an hour. Their task was complicated by the fact that facing their comrades on Saturday, the few today over a straight course of three kilometres with no banks or turns between start and finish line.

FEW DISORDERS WERE REPORTED IN PALESTINE

Moslem Arabs and Jews Generally Had Settled Down to Their Old Routine of Life Adjoining One Another—Housewives Found Difficulty in Getting Food.

(Associated Press Despatch)

Moslem Arabs and Jews generally, however, settled to their old routine of life adjoining one another. Jewish housewives found themselves hard put to get food after spreading of stories that Arab fruit dealers had poisoned goods sold to Jews. A Jewish boycott on Arab products also complicated the food problem and the leading Jewish hotel in Jerusalem was able to serve only rice at one meal.

In Jerusalem a parade of British soldiers wearing steel helmets and carrying fixed bayonets late Monday was accepted as an attempt to allay any panic. Jews of the old city having become nervous when large numbers of Moslems began to leave their homes.

SHEARER WILL APPEAR BEFORE NAVAL GROUP

Big Navy Advocate Expects to Go to Washington Tonight to Appear Before Senate Naval Affairs Committee, Called to Consider Senator Borah's Suggestion that It Investigate Shearer's Activities at Geneva.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A confidential file of the intelligence service of the United States navy sent to him anonymously from Washington was the source of information he gave the press at the Geneva Arms Limitation Conference in 1926 and 1927. William B. Shearer, big navy advocate, declared yesterday.

Shearer said he expected to go to Washington tonight to appear before the Senate naval affairs committee called to consider Senator Borah's suggestion that it investigate Shearer's activities at Geneva. "And I shall take that file with me to show to the committee," he added. Shearer also said that his activities at Geneva both in 1926 and 1927 were confined exclusively to the press, and that he had no dealings whatsoever with any participants in the conference. "I never met any of the participants as a lobbyist or tried to influence them," he declared. "I was not directly interested in what they were doing. What I went over for was to see that the figures and facts got into the papers."

Referred to Navy File
The navy file, he said, contained figures and other data to show the comparative strength of all the navies in the world and the strength, condition and needs of the United States navy.

HON. J.H. THOMAS AND PREMIER HELD MEETING

Minister of Unemployment in British Government Will Deliver His Only Address in Capital Today—Cabinet Council Meeting Will Follow.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—The fact that Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Unemployment in Great Britain, will deliver his only address in the Capital today lends significance to the Cabinet council meeting which will follow a few hours later.

Mr. Thomas has now completed a journey which has taken him to the larger centres of the country, and it is understood that he will deliver an address conveying the aims of the Labor Government with regard to migration from Great Britain to this country. Since his arrival in this country, Mr. Thomas has been reticent as to the nature of conversations between Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and himself on this subject, but it is believed, that following his tour, the future programme of the British Government in regard to emigration will be voiced.

Mr. Thomas, in various speeches while in Canada, has stressed the importance to the British Empire of encouraging trade within its bounds. It has been indicated that the Minister of Unemployment in Great Britain before leaving this country would give some utterance as to the Government's attitude in regard to major problems between the Dominions and the Motherland.

In case Mr. Thomas makes a pronouncement, it is believed that he will advocate encouraging emigration to this country of artisans and others from the old land who would follow their own trades rather than attempting to master farming in western Canada.

Today's Cabinet meeting will be attended, it is understood, by Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, who recently returned from overseas; and Hon. P. J. Caudin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Many of the other members of the Cabinet will also be present.

SITUATION IN MANCHURIA FAR FROM PEACEFUL

Although No Formal Declaration of War Has Been Made, Russian and Chinese Despatches Today Indicated an Apparent State of Open Hostility.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Sept. 10.—Although there have been no formal declarations of war, Russian and Chinese despatches both today indicated an apparent state of open hostility at points on the Manchurian border, northern Asia.

The despatches told of serious fighting which has been in progress intermittently since Saturday of last week, assuming considerable proportions Sunday and Monday both at Manchuli and at Pogranichnaya, the western and eastern terminus of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Reports indicated a heavy loss of life and property damage as a result of air raids and bombings, heavy artillery fire and accompanying blazes. A Chinese report that the fighting extended along the entire Manchurian border, was taken to mean that clashes occurred between garrisons at other points along the 2,000 mile frontier.

HEAVY FIGHTING REPORTED
TOKYO, Sept. 10.—Despatches to Rengo, Japanese news agency, from Manchuli today said heavy fighting broke out Monday afternoon near "eighty sixth station." The casualties were not known. Soviet airplanes flew over the station and dropped bombs.

A Harbin Rengo despatch said that Chinese refugees arriving at Mulling related that a Japanese had been injured fatally when a Soviet air bomb struck the hotel Europe in Pogranichnaya Monday.

PLANS PROCEED FOR HOSPITAL FOR THE JEWS

Jewish Citizens in All Parts of Province Being Appealed to for Support of New Institution in Montreal—General Campaign from September 22 to September 30—Wide Endorsement Received.

(Special to the Record)
MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Jewish citizens of Montreal and the province of Quebec will give tangible proof of their interest in the hospital situation in the province, when they launch a campaign from September 22 to September 30 to raise a minimum of $500,000 with which to build a 150-bed general and maternity hospital in Montreal, which will be open to all.

The campaign has received the endorsement of many prominent citizens in the province of Quebec, including Premier L. A. Taschereau, Hon. Athanase David, Mayor Camille Houde, M.P.P., and the superintendents of several hospitals, all of whom have stated that the hospital situation in Montreal is such that an effort of this nature should be supported wholeheartedly.

The appeal, however, will not be limited to the city of Montreal, but will be broadcast all over the province of Quebec, as it is felt by the campaign chairman that there are many citizens throughout the province who will welcome the chance to help what will be, in reality, the first Jewish general hospital in Canada. Outside the city the plan to build a hospital has acted as a potent stimulus to activity, and several offers have been received from outside points, both by mail and by wire, to help in the campaign.

Statesmen At Geneva Continue Their Work On Permanent Peace

Idea of Compulsory Arbitration of International Disputes Making Strides Forward Before League of Nations—Interest of Statesmen at Geneva Again Concentrating on Immense Possibilities of Permanent Court of International Justice for Concentration of World Peace and as Effective Machinery for Preventing War.

(Associated Press Despatch)
GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10.—The idea of compulsory arbitration of international disputes is making big strides forward at the Tenth Assembly Session of the League of Nations. Interest of statesmen at Geneva is again concentrating on the immense possibilities of the permanent court of international justice for the consolidation of world peace and as effective machinery for preventing war.

There is a general expectation that the United States will now accede to the world court.

The question being asked is whether the Washington Government will not take even a further step and sign the optional clause recognizing the compulsory jurisdiction of the court. This clause bestows the right upon one party to a dispute to summon another before the court.

Premier Mussolini of Italy has manifested his intention to submit disputes to judicial processes. With in the past twenty-four hours, at Geneva both Italy and Czechoslovakia have accepted compulsory arbitration for the settlement of judicial difficulties.

Great Britain has announced she will sign the arbitration clause and France is about to make her previous signature unconditional.

Peru recently got aboard this movement and today it became clear that Brazil will also accept its provisions. Brazil has already adhered to the clause but its adherence was to become effective only when two permanent members of the League council had signed.

Italy's action, coming after Germany's, gave the necessary two, and Brazil's adherence is now operative.

"There would be no hesitation on his part that of the Government to remedy the situations in connection with educational administration which had been the subject of criticism and even condemnation by the electors.

said the government was faced with a serious split on Right Hon. Arthur Henderson's proposal for a convention of the nations providing for financial assistance to states which were victims of aggression. The Foreign Secretary made his proposal before the assembly of the League of Nations and his chief opponent in the government the report stated, was his fellow delegate to the assembly, Right Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

YOUNG BOY WAS FOUND BESIDE BROTHER'S BODY

Thirteen-Year-Old Lad Remained for Nearly Two Months Beside Body of His Older Brother, Who Died in Distant Part of Province from Hunger and Privation.

ROBERVAL, Que., Sept. 10.—How thirteen year old Michel Courtois remained for nearly two months beside the body of his brother, Rene, nineteen years of age, dead from hunger and privation in the woods, and how the two of them had wandered for miles, famished and helpless, after their scant provision of food had run out, was described here at the inquest into the death of Rene Courtois, found dead in the woods of Northern Quebec after having been missing since August 1928 and buried by the search party under the spot where he lay.

"Take away that food! I'll faint, maybe I'll die!" gasped the exhausted youngster when the search party offered him a hearty meal.

Hollow eyed, bearing all the marks of misery endured during the tragic odyssey, young Michel told a poignant story of misadventure to the coroner's jury.

Roots, berries and fish bones furnished slender means of livelihood for a time. They were four hundred and fifty miles from Roberval, the nearest outpost of civilization, and they could find no camps.

Having but two matches, a fire was kept burning in a pile for two months. When the search party found them the fire was still smouldering.

At last, on or about July 10, Rene could go no farther. He died with a prayer that his young brother might be saved. The prayer was answered, night unto death, the lad was found several days ago, beside the decomposed body of his brother. Delirious from his suffering, the boy could only stare inarticulately at his saviours. Then he managed to say: "It's papa who has found me." "Your papa is all right," an Indian assured him.

Only a Dream

At first he refused to eat, but patient coaxing induced him to take a little food. He laughed hysterically and sobbed bitterly by turns and told the search party that it was not true and that he only dreamed he saw them.

Although his reason is completely restored, young Michel remains a physical wreck. He will remain under strict medical supervision and treatment for some months, it is thought.

The two boys were taken to the bush last year by their father, David Courtois, a trapper, who left them with fifty pounds of flour, some moose meat and half a beaver while he undertook a side hunting trip. The boys wandered from camp. When their father returned they were missing. At first the father thought that they had taken the home trail for Roberval and went back himself. Finding his mistake, he raised the alarm and search parties went out.

With a party of three Indians, Courtois set out in search for his sons. He returned, baffled. Another party was formed and in a short while the district was the scene of operations of a number of Indian and other searchers.

After twenty-one days of absence the second party returned with the emaciated lad Michel.

"Death by starvation and misery," was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury, after they had listened to the boy's story, told with brimming tears and half-sobs.

ROYAL WEDDING BRINGS NEW QUEEN TO SMALLEST NATION

Rulers Of Monaco, Where Famed Monte Carlo Prospers, Pay Most Of The Taxes Of Their 11,000 Subjects

BY MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Writer

LONDON, September 10.—The ruler of a nation was married the other day in Vienna, but the rest of the world paid scarcely any attention to the news. For the groom was Franz von Liechtenstein, 76-year-old Prince of the tiny independent country of Monaco. The bride was Frau Elsa von Ercos, 50, daughter of Baron Gutmann, the coal king of Austria.

Thus for the second time a Jewess became the reigning lady of little Monaco, in which is famed Monte Carlo. Some years ago the then Prince of Monaco married Alice Heine, daughter of a rich Jewish banker of New Orleans. But she became a convert to Catholicism, and it is presumed the new Princess Liechtenstein also has become a Catholic. She and her husband had been friends for many years, being brought together by their mutual love of art and literature.

Price Real "Taxpayer"

Instead of paying out money for the support of their Prince, the people are accustomed to see the latter pay out money to make the little state better worth living in.

The largest prince built roads, churches, art museums and municipal structures. The present Prince and his rich bride are expected to carry on the good work.

The very existence of this tiny state is a romance of history and a history of romance. It comprises two former fiefs of the Holy Roman Empire, the Lordship of Schellenberg, and the County of Vaduz.

Family Rose to Fame

The ruling princely sent gifts to their loving subjects, but none of them ever visited the place until as late as 1842. In the meantime, the family won a great place for itself in Vienna. Prince Joseph Wenzel was one of Empress Maria Theresa's marshals in the Seven Years' War. Aloysius First became a noted patron of the arts. John the First was an Austrian Field Marshal in the Napoleonic wars and in 1809 succeeded to the supreme command of the Austrian armies.

In 1866, when Austria and Prussia were at war, Liechtenstein sent a small military contingent to help Austria. The tiny principality never recognized Prussia's victory and technically is still at war with Prussia, although even the former Kaiser Wilhelm Second never contemplated sending a punitive expedition into the little place.

BANANAS

The banana occupies a position in the diet of tropical countries similar to that occupied by potatoes, sweet potatoes and other highly starchy foods in the cooler climates. As to the quantity of food produced by the banana plant, it cannot be rivalled in the vegetable kingdom. Although very prolific, it requires but little care if it has a moist, warm climate, and antagonistic plants are kept down.

An acre of bananas will yield from ten to twelve tons of such carbohydrates as could be obtained from a similar sized field of cereals.

The banana tree is highly ornamental, with palm-like leaves, and is often used in landscape gardening in southern California and Florida. Some of the homes of the motion picture stars in Hollywood look almost like tropical gardens because of the abundance of banana plants and palm trees, but the climate, while suitable for growing the plant, only permits the fruit to ripen in exceptional instances.

Bananas do not grow with the points hanging downward, as they hang in the stores. Upon the banana plant the points grow upward.

Bananas are sold throughout most of the market in North America, but they must be picked in the tropics and shipped while still in a green condition. Most of the bananas are imported from Central America, Jamaica, Colombia and Cuba. After being stored for a time, the skin becomes yellow, with dark spots, and the starch becomes converted into sugar, principally cane sugar and dextrin. It is a popular fruit because of its very pleasant flavor.

The banana is undoubtedly more wholesome in the tropics, where it attains the full ripeness upon the tree, but it can, nevertheless become quite wholesome if subjected to heat, as in baking or cooking. These with a non-carbathal tendency may also eat of the banana in its fresh state if it has become fully ripened, but not mushy.

The banana contains about 30 per cent of the carbohydrates, mostly in the form of starch, proteing 1 1/2 per cent, and mineral matter a little less than 1 per cent, in which potassium, sodium and chlorine are most abundant.

The banana is deficient in lime and iron, and should, therefore, be eaten with green leafy vegetables. It should be combined as any other starchy food.

Bananas are very rich in carbohydrates, and for this reason too large a quantity should not be eaten at one time. It is estimated that one banana equals two slices of bread in calories.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Child Is Irritable

Question—Mrs. J. K. asks: "Will you suggest the proper diet for a child of two and a half years?" He does not seem to be ill, but has rough red spots on his cheeks at times and is unusually cross and irritable after waking from his afternoon nap.

Answer—Try giving him four feedings of milk a day, using eight or ten ounces of milk at each feeding. At the second, third and fourth feedings give him a good-sized slice of minced spinach, carrots, string beans, summer squash or celery. It is a good plan to use also one of the vegetables raw along with the cooked one.

AVIATION SHOW COMMENTED ON BY MR. BARLOW

Mr. Douglas Barlow, Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, Writes for Canadian Aviation—Regrets Lack of Canadian Display at Olympia Aero Show—Seen as Dominant Factor.

An interesting description of the Aero Show held at Olympia, London, England, this summer, has been written for the September issue of Canadian Aviation, a magazine devoted to flying, by Mr. Douglas Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Barlow, of East Angus. Mr. Barlow has been in England for the past year, taking a course in aeronautic engineering at Oxford University, where he is a Rhodes Scholar from the province.

Mr. Barlow, writing as the London staff correspondent of Canadian Aviation in London, says in part: "In commenting very briefly upon the show as a whole, one might say that insistence upon safety has been a dominant factor in the development of the British industry in all its phases. There is little doubt that the British certificate of airworthiness is the highest in the world today. Average rather than maximum figures of performance are in all cases given and the purchaser of British craft may confidently expect complete realization of all guarantees and, not unusually, more. Without prejudice I feel that I may safely say that in every class British craft, if perhaps sometimes equalled, are never bettered."

"One came away from the show with the feeling that one had just had a vision of the future. One felt that one had seen a glimpse of what the world should be like in ten or twenty years, not so much that these machines were ahead of their times, but that outside their field the world has lagged behind, especially in Britain."

"Except for the Franco-Canadian booth, Canada was not represented, or, if she were, I failed to see it; and with the exception of the Ford exhibit, the show might have been called an International European Aero Show. This was regrettable, of course. I took forward to the time when Canada's hospitality will have been offered conditions in the system which require treatment. Usually these causes are kinks or prolapsus of the intestines. The use of luminal or bromides which deaden the nervous system, cannot be considered a cure, and I believe actually handicaps recovery in most cases.

Gaitre

Question—Mrs. J. H. writes: "I have been following a fasting and dieting regime to overcome my gaitre. I have lost considerable weight, and during the fasting period the gaitre became much smaller, but since I have started to eat it seems to be getting large again. I am worried about my loss in weight, and hesitate to fast again on account of that. What is your advice?"

Answer—You should not worry about losing weight as long as you are trying to overcome your trouble with gaitre, and it will perhaps be necessary for you to take another short fast. Be sure to adhere strictly to the diet between the fasting periods. The gaitre enlargement might have been caused by some dietetic indiscretion, uterine trouble or strain of the neck.

and accepted for a like undertaking." The only Canadian booth, which Mr. Barlow mentions, was that of the Compagnie Aerienne Franco-Canadienne, to which he was attracted by a comfortable looking chair and an invitation to look over their aerial photographs, which were all of the Gaspé region and which, he thought, "might have been more interesting."

Mr. Barlow describes many new types of airplanes and engines. Writing of the show as a whole, he declared it was a splendid effort on the part of the British aircraft industry, though he was disappointed in finding a small crowd in attendance. This he attributed to lack of advertising, from which he finds that practically all English industry suffers.

Mr. Barlow was educated at the East Angus High School and the University of Bishop's College, from which he graduated with the B. A. and M. A. degrees with high honors. He worked for a year with the Dominion Observatory staff at Ottawa and then left for Oxford, where he was awarded one of the two Province of Quebec Rhodes scholarships for 1928. Prior to his leaving for England last summer, he was entertained at a dinner given in his honor in East Angus by Mr. J. A. Bothwell, mayor of the town and general manager of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company.

THE HOUSE in
TUESDAY MARKET

By J. S. Fletcher

"Why on earth should he leave them?" muttered Trapper. "That bid of it looks me!"

"It looks me, too," said Pitt. "But we've established beyond doubt that the boots were made for Hadrill—there's no question of it. And they were found in this house."

He shook his head dismally over the last words, but then his expression changed.

"Still," he went on, "I've seen so much of this sort of thing that it wouldn't surprise me in the least if it were proved that Dr. Hadrill is as innocent of that crime as I am! Even with all these facts against him he may be absolutely innocent."

"In that case—who murdered Machin?" said I.

"Probably, somebody whose identity isn't even guessed at, up to now," he answered. "Somebody that one would never suspect—the last person that ever would be suspected."

AIMEE TO HOLY LAND
Noted Evangelist to Lead Easter Pilgrimage of 750 and Re-Enact Biblical Scenes

Aimee Semple McPherson is shown here as she signed the contract chartering the S. S. Republic for $500,000 for her pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

By NEA Service
LOS ANGELES, September 10.—Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, is getting ready to stage the most pretentious project in her long career—a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, at the head of 750 students and followers, on a specially-charters steamship, the S. S. Republic, engaged at a cost of a half million dollars.

The steamship will leave New York next March 20 and return May 11, as her pilgrims will spend Easter there.

"Ever since I was a little child I have dreamed of conducting a crusade to the land where Christianity was born," Mrs. McPherson explains.

"Three years ago I visited the Holy Land with only a few followers and now at last my supreme ambition is about to be realized."

Mrs. McPherson has tied up virtually every hotel reservation in the Holy Land during Easter week, making it almost impossible for other worshippers to stay there.

An impressive program has been arranged. On Holy Thursday, communion will be administered to the pilgrims in the room at Mount Zion where the Last Supper was held.

After communion, their way will be lighted by 70 torches, the procession of 750 followers will wind its way down the mountainside to the

at the end leaned forward and smote his hand on my knee. "Gaisford!" he said. "You don't want to see an innocent—and possibly a foolishly Quixotic—man wronged, do you? Of course not! Neither do I. And you're a well-to-do man, Gaisford, and I have a bit, and a few pounds won't hurt us, anyhow, and there's a thing we must do, and do at once. At once! Tomorrow!"

"What?" I asked.

"We must go to Nice, Gaisford!" he replied solemnly. "It's at Nice that we shall learn the secret!"

CHAPTER XVI
A THOUSAND MILES AWAY
I was so much taken aback by this unexpected suggestion that for a minute or two I could only stare at Trapper in silence. Then I got out the obvious question.

"Why Nice?" I asked.

"Why?" he retorted. "Because at Nice we shall discover something! You'll see!"

"You said the secret," I pointed out.

"What I mean is this," he replied. "Riddington has made a practice for a great many years of going to Nice for the winter months. He was supposed to be there all through the winter of 1915. He certainly went there at his usual time, the beginning of November in that year, leaving Mrs. Riddington here with her mother. Now Mrs. Weaver says that she saw Riddington on a cross-Channel steamer between Dieppe and Newhaven early in December, 1915, evidently on his way to England, and she is sure about his identity. If that was Riddington, he was not in Nice at that time; he was in England. And it was at that time that this Machin affair took place. Well—the first thing to do is to find out, positively, if Riddington left Nice early in December, and how long he was away."

"You think we can find that out?" I asked.

"We can find it out beyond question! I know the Riviera; I know the habits of the English doctors who go there for the season. I will engage—especially as Riddington has been going there for a great many years—to find out beyond all shadow of doubt if he was at Nice between say December 8th and December 20th in 1915. If he wasn't, Mrs. Weaver is correct—he was the man she saw coming to England. Now then, considering all we know, what was Riddington doing in England? And why did he pretend to be weaver that he wasn't Riddington?"

"There's this to be remembered, Trapper," said I. "It was war-time! A lot of very mysterious things were done. Riddington for all we know, may have been employed on some secret service work."

He brushed that aside with a gesture.

"If we want to save Hadrill—I won't say from the scaffold—but from the shame and dishonor of a trial for murder—we can't afford to leave a stone unturned, Gaisford!"

London's distinguished beauty expert

Mme. JACOBSON
tells how to keep skin lovely

"I tell my clients to use only the soap blended of palm and olive oils—Palmolive. It provides that absolute skin cleanliness which must be the foundation of beauty."

Bertha Jacobson

11/12 DOVER STREET, LONDON, W. 1

AFTER 22 years' experience as beauty dictator to Royalty and London's aristocracy, Madame Jacobson turns to one of the simplest of all beauty treatments for home use.

"To enable my clients to safeguard their complexions—to retain radiant skin texture," says Madame Jacobson, "I provide them with my own special Skin Food Creme to be used at night and I ask them to use my famous Skin Tonic after cleansing the skin."

"I then urge them to use no soap other than Palmolive. At the same time, I warn them of all the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of these oils."

Leading specialists advise the Palmolive method of skin care wherever beauty culture is practiced.

The method they use is that subscribed to by Madame Jacobson. This treatment, night and morning, makes a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. With both hands massage this well into the skin two minutes, allowing it to penetrate into the pores. Then rinse, first with warm water, gradually with colder.

Madame Jacobson, in her London salon; Lina Cavalieri, in Paris; Pessi, in Vienna; Elise Bock, in Berlin—all over the world specialists in beauty are recommended Palmolive. Start using it tonight.

At 11-12 Dover Street, in London's select West End, is the Maison de Beauté Pompadour, Ltd., provided over by Madame Bertha Jacobson. Here, for the past twenty-two years, Madame Jacobson has helped to solve the beauty problems of London's smartest women.

FOUR ARRESTS FOR DRUNKENNESS

Four men were found guilty on charges of being drunk and disorderly, yesterday, by the Recorder this morning and were assessed the usual fines.

DRUG STORE ROBBERY CLUE LEADS TO THREE RIVERS

Information received by the Chief of Police this morning indicates that the robbers of Ansell's Drug Store last week had changed the scene of their activities to Three Rivers. During last night, thieves entered a drug store in the latter city and made off with a quantity of narcotics, while a sum of money in the store was left untouched. This was similar to the process followed in Sherbrooke last week.

DESERTED CAR FOUND ON WINDSOR STREET

Yesterday afternoon the police were called to remove a Chevrolet roadster, that had been left parked on Windsor Street for three days.
No plates were on the car by which the owner could be traced. The machine was removed to police headquarters, where the owner may obtain possession of the same by proving ownership and paying the towing and sundry charges.

ODD FELLOWS HEARD ADDRESS

Unity Lodge Number Eight, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held its regular meeting in the lodge room on Wellington street
last evening, with a good attendance of members, who were present to hear an address by Brother
H. P. Hamel, Past Grand. Brother Hamel gave an interesting talk on shells and how they are made.
He said that shells were originally made from lac gum from India, though at the present time it is made from substitutes, with only a small percentage of lac gum.
At the next meeting Brother George Kees will speak on the subject, "How I Became an Odd Fellow." All brothers are requested to attend.

invitations have been issued for it.
There will be no addresses, the only purpose of the gathering being to provide an opportunity for local men meet them. Mr. Bishop will preside.

several of the bank directors who

COATCOOK MAN WAS ORDERED TO STAND TRIAL

J. Raymond Allard Will Appear Before Court of King's Bench
on Two Charges of Manslaughter as Result of Fatal Accident Which Occurred at Stanstead in August—Magistrate Godbout Allowed Bail.

Two more cases were entered on the roll for hearing at the November session of the Court of King's Bench here yesterday afternoon,
when J. Raymond Allard, Coatcook automobile salesman, was ordered to stand his trial by Magistrate God-bout on two charges of manslaughter in connection with the deaths of Mrs. Frank E. Quimby and her two-year-old son, Raymond, who were killed when the rig in which they were riding was struck by a car driven by the accused at Stanstead on August 3rd last. The same bail, $2,000 in each case, that was set pending the preliminary inquiries,
was accepted by the Magistrate.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention in Stanstead County, where the accused is well known, as well as throughout the Eastern Township, owing to the circumstances of the fatal accident and the results which evolved.

Case Reviewed.

The accident occurred on a rainy Saturday night in August in the village of Stanstead, when a Dodge sedan, driven by Allard, crashed into a horse-drawn rig driven by Isaac Fortin, alias Fortin. Mrs.
Quimby, who was in the rig, was almost instantly killed while her child, who was also with her, died early the next morning at the Orleans County Hospital at Newport, Vt. Fortin escaped with minor injuries and in giving evidence at the inquest, which was held in Stanstead on August 5th, stated that the woman was his wife. Subsequent developments, however, led to the discovery that the woman was the wife of Frank E. Quimby, of Enfield, N.H., who had left her husband some months previous to the accident.

Same Evidence in Both Cases.

On August 22nd the inquiry was opened in the Magistrate's Court, presided over by Magistrate God-bout and, as both cases were similar the same evidence was accepted in both cases.

Nine Crown Witnesses were heard,

the first of which was Frank E.
Quimby, husband and father, respectively of the woman and child.
Quimby produced the marriage certificate, showing that he was the husband of the woman, and the birth certificate of the child, and told the Court of having identified the victims.

Gave Definite Speed.

Mrs. John McIntosh, of Stanstead, who saw Allard's car passing a few seconds before the accident, stated that it was travelling at forty miles per hour and stuck to her evidence despite the barrage of cross-questions by Col. Emile Rioux, K.C., attorney for the defense. At the time Mrs. McIntosh was sitting on the verandah of her home, some sixty feet from the road, talking with her daughter, who corroborated
the evidence of her mother. Mrs.
Harold Wells, of Stanstead, who also saw Allard's car pass, was unable to judge either the speed or the distance she was from the scene of the accident, though she stated he was going at a "pretty fast clip".

Six Witnesses Heard.

Six defence witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon, including the accused who told the Court that he had been driving a car for fifteen years and that he had never been fined or stopped for speeding nor had he ever been in any accident of a serious nature before.

Told Story of Fatality.

On the night of the accident he left Coatcook at about 8.30 o'clock for Derby Line, being accompanied by Jas. B. McIntosh and Ralph W.
Taylor, and, slightly over an hour later, arrived in Stanstead. A few seconds before the accident they had passed a car coming in the opposite direction. Allard was driving dimmed his lights, but was unable to tell whether the driver of the oncoming vehicle did so or not. In any case he did not notice any difference. This, with a heavy rain which was falling at the time, blinded him and he reduced the speed of the car by lightly touching the brakes so that at the time of the crash he was going between eighteen and twenty miles an hour. Suddenly a team loomed out of the darkness,
but as it was only eight to ten feet away it was impossible to miss the vehicle although the accused swung out on the left hand side of the road in an effort to do so. The team was struck on the left hand side. Allard drove past the rig, parked his car on the right hand side of the road, and went back to the scene of the accident. He picked the woman and child up and carried them to the edge of the road, doing all that he could to assist them.

When questioned, the accused

stated emphatically that he had not taken any liquor, nor was there any in the car when the accident occurred.

Was Careful Driver.

That the accused was an excellent as well as cautious driver was the evidence given by Ralph W. Taylor, of Beebe, one of the inmates of the Derby House, who stated that he also told the Court that it had taken them an hour to come from Coatcook, a distance of twenty-three miles. When the accident occurred Taylor was sitting in the back seat of the car. Shortly before he had noticed a marked change of speed as the brakes had been lightly touched. When cross-questioned, however, by Crown Attorney Wilfrid Lazure, K.C., Taylor stated that the reduction might have been caused by engine compression although he thought it was caused by braking.

Was Going at Moderate Speed.

Harry Ticehurst, garage propi-etor, stated that he was sitting in his car waiting for a passenger when Allard passed him going at a speed of from eighteen to twenty miles per hour. This he was ready to swear to as his long experience with motor cars had given him the opportunity of judging speed fairly accurately.

Difficult to See Teams.

When questioned as to the lighting of the street and the condition of the pavement, Ticehurst stated that the street was only lighted on one side and that on a rainy night it was almost impossible to see a team owing to the glare of the street lights on the road. The pavement, according to Ticehurst, was also very slippery and as an illustration, stated that he had skidded badly on it only last week. The poor visibility was also stressed by the witness, who told the Court that on the night in question he himself had nearly come into collision with a team.

Judging Speed Not Easy.

A long discussion as to the manner of judging the speed of motor cars followed during which Ticehurst stated that he was of the opinion that it was very easy to misjudge the speed of a car, especially on a rainy night, as the noise from the tires on the wet pavement often made it appear as though the car was travelling much faster than it really was.

Much To Be Considered.

That it is next to impossible for an unexperienced person to judge the speed of a motor car anywhere near accurate was the statement made by Mr. John McLeod, of Cookshire, provincial traffic officer, who pointed out that the revolutions of the motor per minute, the size of the car, and other factors all have to be taken into consideration.

McLeod said that he was well-acquainted with the accused, having known him for some years. In his opinion Allard was a very good and careful driver and never had,
to his knowledge, ever been stopped
for speeding.

Pavement Glaring.

Provincial Traffic Officer Chartier,
whose territory includes the section
in which the accident took place, was also of the opinion that it is very difficult to judge the speed of a car at night, even for an experienced person.

Some fifteen days before the accident, Chartier stated, he happened to be in Stanstead during the evening and had noticed that the street lights were so strong that the pavement reflected them making it very difficult to see. On a rainy night this would be even more pronounced, he pointed out.

The last witness heard was G. C.
Thibault, alderman for the Town of Coatcook, who said that he had known the accused practically all his life. Allard, in the opinion of the witness, was an expert driver and very careful.

At the conclusion of the evidence, Allard was ordered to stand his trial on the two charges of manslaughter.

THE LATE ROBERT CAMPBELL

Considerable regret will be expressed throughout the Eastern Townships at the death of Mr. Robert Campbell, of Quebec, clerk of the Legislative Council of the province, who had many friends in this district. Of old Canadian stock, Mr. Campbell had lived all of his seventy-six years in this province, practising at the Bar for some fifty years and being an official of the Legislative Houses for almost as long.

In addition to his work for the state and in the practice of law, Mr. Campbell took a leading part in the affairs of the Church of England throughout Canada and in the diocese of Quebec in particular. He was for years a delegate to the Canadian and diocesan Synods, and was general secretary of the former for many years. It was in connection with his efforts on behalf of the educational institutions of the church that Mr. Campbell was best known in southern Quebec. He served on the board of Governors of the University of Bishop's College for many years, and was honored by that institution with the degree of Doctor of Civil Laws in recognition of his and his kindred services. He was likewise a Governor of King's Hall, Compton, the well known girls' school, and for several years acted as chairman of the board of directors of Bishop's College School, Montreal.

Thus, though a man of affairs until the end, Mr. Campbell never lacked the time to work on behalf of others, and he gave to all the objects in which he took an interest sound counsel and generous aid. His death removes a familiar figure at the annual Convocations of Bishop's University and the various meetings and functions of the other institutions of his choice, and they will genuinely miss his presence.

THOUGHTS ON IMMIGRATION

(By Glenn Frank)

The problem for immigration is destined to be an increasingly vital issue in the politics of the Western nations.

No question is a happier hunting ground for the demagogue. It is refreshing, therefore, to find a group at Antioch College proposing the following code of twelve principles as a basis for considering immigration in an undemagogic fashion:

1. As the field on which the adventure of human life might be pursued, the earth belongs to mankind as a whole.

2. Right to control its occupation must rest ultimately on the effect of that control on human welfare. Accident of present occupation does not confer on a people the right arbitrarily to prevent immigration.

3. International policy should favor migration which tends to raise the quality of world population, and should discourage that which tends to lower such quality.

4. As ability increases for measuring biological and cultural qualities, migration should be allowed which raises the eugenic and cultural level of the receiving nations, and any nation should be allowed to prevent immigration which would lower the average quality of its population.

5. Marked excellence representing biological or cultural inheritance, should be free to migrate at will.

6. Any nation, however backward should have the right to prevent influx of persons rating low in human quality, for public welfare requires that sparsely settled regions be reserved for good stocks and cultures.

7. The maximum density of human population is yet to be determined, and a nation should be supported in any intelligent effort in good faith to attain new standards of worth and welfare through controlling the density of population. A country making such an effort might limit immigration to persons ranking with the best third of its present population. Control of immigration should be in some such relative way, not by absolute or arbitrary prohibition.

8. A nation which by the high quality of its social, political, and economic life has created superior living conditions, should not be required to open its doors to its superior standards would be submerged by influx from nations less skillful and intelligent in managing their affairs.

9. Desire to maintain ethnic purity is not in itself a valid reason for excluding immigrants, but some degree of racial discrimination should be allowed until the facts of race equality or inequality and of racial mixtures are more definitely determined.

10. There can be no permanent solution of the population question without birth control. A nation which intentionally and indiscriminately stimulates a high birth rate and suppresses knowledge of birth control cannot properly demand outlets for its surplus on the ground of overpopulation.

11. Reasonable recognition should be given to immature peoples who are on an ascending curve of culture, but who require time to express their innate genius unobscured by peoples who already have reached cultural maturity. The world cannot afford to lose the unique contributions of such peoples.

12. Reasonable doubt as to the total effect on human welfare of any movement of population should be resolved in favor of nations wishing to control the quality of their own people. Interference with domestic affairs should be limited to clearly defined cases.—Cpt. 1929.

PRESS COMMENT

BLUNDER.

(Chatham News)
In Wisconsin a telephone company, through an error, allotted the same number to a beauty parlor as it did to an Old Lady's home, and the Beauty Parlor proprietors, probably at the instigation of their customers, have started a law suit. The telephone company official who made that error must have been either a humorist, or a keen observer of human foibles.

PETER PAN DAY.

("Under the Clock," in the Daily News and Westminster Gazette)

"If I were dictator," writes a correspondent, "I should institute on the longest day of the year, namely, on June 21st, a children's day, to be called Peter Pan Day. On this day every community, from the smallest village to the biggest city, would organize festivities for the children, and every child of, say, twelve years or under would be given a copy of a book containing in simple words a conspectus of our wonderful island story and an account of the lives of the great English reformers and social workers, beginning with Alfred the Great and ending, shall we say, with Mrs. Pankhurst."

NEW FASHION OF ERUDITION.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
A most gratifying sign of the changing customs and manners of our time we see in the report printed in the Plain Dealer that college graduates are in demand as clerks and in other capacities by department stores.

The man who emerged from the academic groves a decade or so ago found to his surprise that possessing a diploma, like wearing white flannels or knickers, was regarded as putting on airs. One was forced to combat it by adopting a demeanor which said in effect, "I admit I'm a college man but, honestly, I'm a regular fellow." The feeling was so strong that several college professors of our acquaintance attempted to disarm it by affecting the grammar and vocabulary of deep-sea sailors.

And, ironically enough, while the high-brows were attempting to pass for low-brows, the low-brows were making even more frantic attempts to become high-brows. In the resulting confusion, if a man talked like Gyp the Blood, the chances were that he was a Phi Beta Kappa man; and the chap you figured was a Rhodes scholarship man was none other than Lefty Louie.

Perhaps the millennium has come, when a college man can admit his identity without a blush of shame.

CHINA SUSPECTS A HIDDEN HAND.

(Christian Science Monitor)
China, insisting that she is being goaded and imposed upon beyond endurance by the Russian Soviet Government, has appealed to the powers through an identic note, seeking to justify her course if she is compelled to resist by force of arms. In the Western world during the last few weeks there has been growing assurance that sanity and patience would combine to placate the dispute between the two nations which for the moment seemed to threaten immediate war. A study of China's note to neutral nations can hardly fail to cause a doubt as to the sincerity of the Soviet's attitude. If, as China alleges, the possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway is being made a mere pretext to distract the attention of Europe and the United States from more significant activities, the safety of China will not be assured even if this dispute is compromised.

The charge laid at the door of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, is the old one which it has so often faced. It is that under the present ruling regime there is being carried on in China that Trotsky hoped would convert all the world to Communism. China alleges that for two years or more these efforts have been carried on in that country, the finances being supplied from the misappropriated revenues of the railroad which is now the subject of controversy, as well as those of other Soviet-controlled institutions and industries.

What is the immediate objective sought by Moscow? China says it is the overthrow of the Chinese Government, coupled with the destruction of China's entire political and economic system. If these charges are founded upon fact, it is not difficult, under all the circumstances, to understand why Russia, fortified and prepared to undertake an armed invasion, has been biding its opportunity in the belief that China would make itself the aggressor in the eyes of the people of the West.

China, which it seemed a few years ago, might be destined to become a pawn in the hands of Communist leaders, has offered strong and heretofore successful resistance to the spread of Soviet doctrines. Is it the hope of Russian radicals that what they fail to accomplish by secret means can now be more successfully done by conquest of arms? China is not the goal of the ambitious world revolutionists. Convinced or conquered, it will be but a stepping stone in the march of Communism toward the West.

SHERBROOKE THE UN-MUSICAL

Editor Daily Record.
Sir:—It was heart-breaking to see but thirty-two people turn out and pay admission to support the Canadian Grenadier Guards Band, which gave a real worthwhile performance last evening. Try and imagine the feelings of the leader who has just returned from the Canadian National Exhibition, where he played with his band before tens of thousands of people, while Sherbrooke could muster thirty-two for the evening performance. Poor Sherbrooke, has it lost all its taste for decent, well played music?

I feel too disgusted to say more, or even to enter into any probable controversy.

"A CANADIAN MUSIC LOVER," Sherbrooke, Sept. 10, 1929.

SPLENDID BAND GAVE CONCERT LAST EVENING

Canadian Grenadier Guards Band from Montreal Gave One of Finest Concerts Ever Heard in Sherbrooke—Splendid Organization Showed Wonderful Musical Ability—Audience Extremely Small.

One of the finest musical programmes ever presented in Sherbrooke was heard in the Belvedere Street Armory last evening, when the band of His Majesty's Canadian Grenadier Guards, of Montreal, played a concert of great merit. Unfortunately the audience was exceptionally small, less than half a hundred people taking advantage of hearing what is recognized as one of Canada's finest bands. Despite the smallness of the audience, the band played its full programme and was enthusiastically applauded by everyone who heard it. The concert was brought here under the auspices of the Harmony Band of Sherbrooke.

The band of the Grenadier Guards is undoubtedly one of the best Canadian bands which has yet played in this city, and its performance is a delight to any audience. It is a collection of accomplished and splendidly trained musicians under a leader of the first order. Every member is clearly a musician, and no one group or section of the band predominates over another. It is wonderfully balanced. In contrast to the many bands in which the heavy brass sections are too prominent.

The band plays with great expression, and its crescendo and diminuendo work was excellent. Its contrasts between the military march, the wonderful volume accomplished in such works as the "Poet and Peasant" overture, and the calm and melodious tones of such a number as the Pastoral of the "William Tell" overture, brought out the true splendor of the organization.

The director of the Grenadier Guards band is Mr. J. J. Gagne, who is one of Montreal's foremost musicians. He is leader of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, which is being built up into a first class concert orchestra, and so combines leadership in the two outstanding musical organizations of the city. He is a pleasing conductor and has good control over the musicians under him.

Last night's programme was a splendidly chosen one, almost every piece being well known, popular and of the finest type of music in its own particular class. It was, further, well varied programme; so that the ability of the band was well illustrated and the listener never grew tired. It is difficult to say which were the most popular selections, so excellent were they all. The several lighter numbers were all well-executed, and included grouped airs, one Canadian, the second consisting of songs of the Allies during the war, particularly English and French, and a third a selection of Scotch, Irish and English airs. The two brilliant overtures already mentioned, "William Tell" and "Poet and Peasant," were splendidly executed, and could not be surpassed by anything during the evening. Elgar's magnificent "Pomp and Circumstance," composed for the coronation ceremony in 1911, and the chorus of which has since been used for his great hymn, "Land of Hope and Glory," was truly wonderful. An unusual number for a band programme was Beethoven's Minuet in G, practically always played by the violin but which nevertheless was splendidly accomplished by the full band.

The complete programme follows: British Grenadiers; Netherlander, by Richard Wagner; Canadian Patrol, march; Overture to William Tell, by Rossini; Two Guitars, a Horlick; A Lament, by Fouch, with English horn solo throughout, to full band accompaniment; Soldiers of the Entente, march; selections from the operas of Sullivan; Pomp and Circumstance, by Sir Edward Elgar; Invitation to the Waltz, by Weber; Minuet in G, by Beethoven; Poet and Peasant Overture, by Suppe; Grand National Fantasia (collection of Scotch, Irish and Eng-

Shearer To Face Naval Group

States navy.

"Was it a secret file?" he was asked.

"Not exactly secret, perhaps," he replied, "but certainly confidential."

"Who sent it to you?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he replied.

"Wasn't there any letter with it?"

"No."

"Had you been told you were going to get it?"

"Well—I'd noticed it about that I was going over and that they'd better load me up."

Shearer made his statements after denying he had ever in any public statement given as the source of his information four United States admirals.

Shearer also denied a news dispatch quoting several London newspapers as saying he had been barred from Great Britain as an undesirable alien. According to the London dispatches he applied for a visa to visit the country, was refused, and then appealed in vain to Premier MacDonald.

"I have not even applied for a passport in Washington, let alone applying for a British visa," he said.

Expected To Visit England.

"Because I was informed at Geneva in 1927 that it would be advisable for me never to put my foot on British territory owing to my activities in issues of national defense for my own country. I wrote to the British Prime Minister asking that, if I should visit England I be accorded the same courtesy that is accorded to a British subject visiting our country."

"I did so because I anticipated that the pending naval conference would be held in London. If it was, I wanted to go. And I did not expect to go unless it was. I have not yet made any formal application for permission to visit England."

"In reply to my letter to the Prime Minister, I received a brief and formal note from the British Foreign Office, courteously acknowledging its receipt and stating it had been turned over to the Prime Minister."

"And that's all I've heard from the British Government. If I am barred from their country, they have not informed me."

Shearer, who is head of a marine and fuel and paint company, said he attended the 1926 Geneva conference at his own expense, simply because he was interested in "seeing our own navy get a break."

When he went back in 1927 he said he was on the payroll of the three big shipbuilding concerns he is now suing for more than $200,000 in back salary.

"I was on their payroll, but I was not hired for that job specifically," he said.

LENNOXVILLE MAN SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

Raphael Carbonneau, 65, Struck by New York Automobile in Montreal and Died from Effects Over Week Later—Head and Shoulders Severely Hurt.

Raphael Carbonneau, sixty-five years of age, of Lennoxville, died on Sunday at the Hotel de la Providence, in Montreal, where he had been removed after being struck by an automobile driven by an American visitor. The accident occurred on September 5th, last, on Notre Dame Street east, Montreal. The victim suffered injuries about the head and shoulders. The body was removed to the morgue for an inquest.

According to information obtained by Constable Delorme of the Pointe-aux-Trembles police, Carbonneau was crossing Notre Dame street, opposite No. 10,091 east, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Charles Viglio, of New York City. The victim had just avoided a large truck, but walked right in front of the second vehicle. The ambulance was summoned and Carbonneau was taken to the hospital.

CONDITIONS IN WEST IMPROVED, SAYS C. N. HEAD

Sir Henry Thornton Gives Views on Western Crop Situation on Return from Trip to Coast—Progress and Trade Development Stressed.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 10.—"There is a silver lining to the cloud insofar as the situation in Western Canada is concerned," stated Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railway, on returning to his office in system headquarters yesterday after a tour which took him throughout the Western Provinces and to the Pacific coast.

"While it is true that the west is not harvesting such a voluminous crop as in average years, and it is also true that some farmers and some districts are hard hit, it must be remembered that there are districts and farmers in those districts who have harvested better crops than they anticipated a short time ago, and who are reaping the benefit of higher prices from their held over grain from last year, and also higher prices for the grain which they have produced in 1929. The west has gone ahead and is going ahead building up on a basis of sound progress and one going from the east cannot fail to be impressed with the same development which is taking place on all sides."

"On the Pacific Coast in particular, the development of trade with the Orient is being closely followed, and there is also a keen realization of the fact that Canada is sharing and will share to a greater degree in the future development of that trade," Sir Henry said.

CONSOLIDATED MINING SETTLE ACCIDENT CASE

Judgment Given by Mr. Justice C. D. White for $1,500 in Connection With Injuries Received by John Belan While in Employ of Defendant Company.

Judgment was rendered in the Practice Court this morning by Mr. Justice C. D. White in connection with the case of John Belan, of Eustis, vs. the Consolidated Copper and Sulphur Company, whereby Belan was allowed the sum of $1,500 as compensation for injuries received while in the employ of the defendant company.

The action was taken out under the Workmen's Compensation Act for the sum of $2,880, Belan claiming this sum as the result of injuries received when he was struck on the head and right jaw by an iron bar on July 31st 1928. The two parties however, arrived at a settlement between them and in an agreement filed in Court, judgment was rendered this morning by Mr. Justice White for $1,500 in full settlement of all claims.

SITUATION IN ONTARIO MORE ENCOURAGING

Various Districts of Province Experienced Heavy Rain Throughout Night and Early Today, Which Helped to Undo Damage Done by Intense Heat of Past Three Weeks—More Rain Is Needed.

(Toronto Press Despatch)
TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 10.—The drought situation through the Province of Ontario showed signs of easing today when various districts experienced heavy showers throughout the night and early today. However, farmers state that more rain would be required to undo the damage done by the intense heat of the past three weeks.

Further improvement in the situation was promised by the prophecy of the weather men that more rain would fall in practically all parts of the province today and this evening.

In its weekly crop report the Ontario Department of Agriculture stated last night that heavy rain was needed in all districts. The report also pointed out that cattle were in poor condition owing to the lack of grass and that there was a considerable decrease in the milk supply.

Y. M. C. A. WON FROM MAGOG IN LOCAL SOCCER

Won Their Final Game of League Season from Magog by Count of Three to Nothing.

The Y.M.C.A. celebrated their final league game of the season by defeating Magog at the Parade Grounds, on Saturday afternoon, by a count of three to nothing. A. Jackson, the prolific scorer of the league, increased his record of goals made to thirty-one, by tallying every one of the three obtained on Saturday.

Early in the first period, Jackson notched up two tallies in quick succession, as a result of fine kicks. Shortly before the end of the stanza, Jackson headed in a well-placed corner kick by Grey, for the third and final goal of the game.

The new cinder path across the corner of the field has considerably increased the difficulties of play, several players narrowly missing serious injuries when their feet caught and they were thrown on the rough ground.

Mr. J. Rice handled the game as referee, with Messrs. Webb and Hawley as linesmen.

The line-ups were as follows: Magog—Sandle, Jackson, Cross, Hawley, M. Hawley, Griffith, Hewitt, Golden, Parker and Lilly.

Y.M.C.A.—McGinty, Wootton, Jackson, Westlake, Hayes, Elford, Jackson, Adair, Booker and Grey.

PITCHING DUEL ENDED IN WIN FOR THETFORD

Nine Hundred Fans Saw Great Battle at Local Grounds Yesterday—Visitors Took Victory by 2 to 1—Deciding Game of Series Here Next Sunday.

To the great delight of their supporters, who numbered several hundred of the nine hundred fans present, Thetford Mines, Sunday, evened the series with St. Roch, when Cummings bested Morin in one of the finest pitchers' battles witnessed here this year. The final score was 7 to 1. Both twirlers pitched air-tight ball and they were accorded splendid support by their team mates. Up to the seventh, Morin kept the visitors out, and only gave the miners four singles throughout the whole game. In the seventh, however, a bad break for the locals gave Thetford their first run.

The inning started by Savage rolling down Draggett's long fly. Cummings lined to third and Asselin had plenty of time to retire the man at first, but his throw was poor and the runner advanced to second on the play. Trask then singled through second to score Cummings.

ings, when Morin was slow in fielding the ball from the outfield. Morin hit Allard, but Crevier hit into a double play to end the inning. St. Roch evened matters in their half of the eighth. Blanchard walked and was advanced to second by Savage. Blanchard stole third, receiving a close decision at the bag. Landry walked and the stands went wild as Landry pilfered second. Asselin came through with a timely single to score Blanchard. Perron bunted in front of the plate, but Landry was caught trying to cross the pan. Pinard ended the rally by striking out. Not to be outdone the miners came back in the first of the ninth to tally the deciding run and even the series. Perron pulled down Draggett's liner to retire him at first. Cummings made his second hit in the afternoon when he singled through short. Trask got a free ticket to first and Allard singled through first to score Cummings to put Thetford in the lead. Crevier struck out and Aubert lined to first for the third out.

For the locals all the players showed up well, with Savage and Blanchard starting. The former handled three hard flies, made a single and two sacrifices, and was walked once in five trips to the plate. Blanchard showed some snappy fielding and assisted in a well executed double play. Morin struck out seven men and walked four, while Cummings fanned nine opposing batters, and also issued five passes to four.

The deciding game will be played here next Sunday at the ball park at three o'clock, and as both teams are using the same batteries and the identical line-ups, another exciting struggle is looked for.

T. score by innings was: Thetford Mines: 000 000 101—2-4-0 St. Roch: 000 000 010—2-1-1 Batteries: Thetford Mines, Cummings and Arrowsen; St. Roch: Morin and Landry.

CHICAGO CUBS HOPE TO CLINCH 1929 PENNANT

Set Out Today in Quest of Eight More Victories, Which Is All They Need to Clinch National League Pennant—By Winning Eight of Their Remaining Games Cubs Would Wind Up With a Record of 98 Victories and 54 Defeats.

(By Herbert W. Baker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs set forth today in quest of eight more victories, all they need to clinch the 1929 National League pennant. Thirteen games ahead of the second place Pittsburgh Pirates and with only nineteen more games to play, the Cubs were hoping to clinch the pennant within the next two weeks or less.

As the situation stood today the Cubs by winning eight of their remaining games would wind up with a record of ninety-eight victories and fifty-four defeats. Pittsburgh, by winning all of its twenty-one remaining games would finish with ninety-eight victories and fifty-six defeats, the difference being that two of Chicago's games with St. Louis have been washed permanently off the schedule. Every Pittsburgh defeat from now on, of course, will make the Cubs' already easy task that much easier.

The two leaders each chalked up victories, the Cubs nosing out Boston four to three, and Pittsburgh outslugging Brooklyn nine to seven.

Ferny Lee Jones appeared to have the Cubs stopped, two to nothing until the seventh when Hack Wilson hit his 37th homer with one on to tie the score. Then after the Braves had scored one in the ninth, Stephen's son's homer, Tolson's single and Taylor's double gave the Cubs two runs and the game. Jones gave only eight hits to eleven for the Braves.

out Charlie Root Wilson's home run put him in a tie with Klein, of Philadelphia, for the league lead.

Won Hard Fought Triumph. A four run rally in the seventh gave the Pirates their hard fought triumph over Brooklyn. Rosolaf, a recruit from Wichita, drove in the tying run in the seventh and later scored a run that added to the Pirates' advantage.

Brame went the route for Pittsburgh although he was reached for fourteen hits.

The New York Giants took two from Cincinnati six to four and ten to four in five innings. The Giants concentrated their attack on Adolph Lague in the second inning of the first game for four runs and then added two more off Ash in the ninth. Hubbell held the Reds in check most of the way. McGraw's hopefuls slugged Kolp and Rixey for twelve hits in the abbreviated nightcap and Fitzsimmons had little trouble coasting into victory.

The Phillies bunched hits to down St. Louis nine to three. Sweetland had only one bad inning, the second, when the Cardinals scored all their runs.

Danny MacFadden outpitched Jack Ogden and the Boston Red Sox beat the St. Louis Browns six to two. The game was scheduled as the first part of a double header but rain forced postponement of the second game.

McFadden gave only seven hits and was never in danger after the Sox gave him a three to two lead in the 8th.

In the only other American League game of the day, young Ed Walsh gave Washington only six hits and Chicago beat the Senators six to four. A three run White Sox rally in the seventh sent Sam Jones to the showers.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Should the average player try to learn how to slice the ball properly, and how it is done? Answered by LEO DIEGEL

Canadian Open, San Diego Open, Massachusetts Open, Metropolitan P. G. A. Qualifying Medal, P. G. A. Championship, 1928; Tied for Long Beach Open, 1928; San Diego Open Canadian Open Champion, 1929.

The average player should not try to learn how to slice, as it will hurt the rest of his game. The intentional slice is valuable to the professional, for he can often use it in conquering a tree stump.

However, I have known even star players to get off their game trying to perfect a slice. In playing for a slice, the ball should be played off the left heel with open stance. Bring the right hand over the club a bit more than in the regular grip. Keep the club face open at the top of the swing and on the backswing take the club a little more upright than otherwise. Tightening the left hand on the down swing and keeping the hands ahead of the club helps. The follow through should be shorter than ordinarily.
