Forest fire threat in ET

EAST ANGUS — (Staff) — Dry forest conditions in the Eastern Townships area pose a threat of destruction and possible danger, but the department of lands and forests here reports it is well equipped to handle any possible eruptions. A specially trained man in fire fighting procedures is to arrive at the East Angus office within the next couple of weeks. The department is also well equipped with specialized machinery to deal with possible forest fires. Across Canada, forest fire conditions, already critical in many parts of the country, worsened Monday and relatively unthreatened provinces reviewed firefighting resources in response to appeals for help from other areas. However an encouraging note was sounded in Ontario—hardest hit of the provinces. Heavy rain averted the immediate peril at Chapleau, one of two Northern Ontario communities faced with the threat of destruction by fire since Sunday, and evacuated residents began returning to their homes. The evacuation order remained in effect at Sioux Lookout where the situation was still hazardous as a mammoth blaze which has burned out 7,000 acres of spruce

Columbia reported moderate to high ratings. Record - high temperatures during the last few days have resulted in extreme danger ratings in Newfoundland. Although most blazes there have been kept under control, Newfoundland was unable to part with any personnel or equipment to help beleaguered Ontario. New Brunswick's four major fires were all under control but a spokesman for this provincial forest fire protection service said temperatures were expected to soar and "anything can happen." Nova Scotia had a 150-acre blaze and a small fire under control. Prince Edward Island had no major fires. Quebec, with about 50 fires burning across the province, has considered banning highway traffic through dry forest areas. A 40-room hotel and several summer cottages were destroyed in a blaze near Murray Bay, 80 miles northeast of Quebec City, which forced the evacuation of the 60 residents of the community of Pointe au Pic. Light showers fell in Manitoba, aiding firefighters to keep 17 fires under control. Saskatchewan and Alberta reported stable conditions with some small fires burning but held in check. Warmer temperatures, lower humidity and increased wind speeds caused flare-ups in a 1,000-acre fire 20 miles from Smithers in north-central B.C. The thousands of volunteer firefighters battling 168 fires in Ontario—where 21 were out of control—were aided by equipment flown in from Manitoba, Alberta and the northern United States. Lands and Forests Minister Rene Brunelle told the legislature that there were extreme fire danger ratings in every one of Ontario's forest areas for the first time in 50 years.

Suez is closed; Israelis advance

CASUALTY IN ARAB-ISRAELI WAR — An unidentified Israeli casualty is moved in Orthodox hospital in Jerusalem after getting first aid for injuries resulting from Jordanian and Egyptian artillery attacks on Jerusalem during first day of Arab-Israeli war yesterday. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Tel Aviv)

Egypt closed the Suez Canal today and Israel carried the Middle East war, by land or air, into four neighboring countries. The Israelis struck deeper into Egypt's Sinai Desert — one the road to Suez that Israel followed in 1956 — and invaded Jordan, attacked on the Syrian front and bombed an Iraqi airfield. Israeli tanks and troops moved across the border in the Jordanian sector of divided Jerusalem with no serious opposition.

Canada's Jews call for help

Within hours of the news that Israel and the United Arab Republic were at war, Jews across Canada began an all-out campaign to raise funds for aid to get volunteers to Israel. Arabs in Canada offered to return to the Middle East to fight against Israel. Jewish officials in Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal and Calgary estimated that more than $5,500,000 has been pledged and donated by Monday night. More than 400 applications from volunteers to fill civilian jobs in Israel were being processed and 12 men and women are en route, Jewish spokesmen said. A mass meeting in Montreal Monday saw more than $2,000,000 donated with another $2,100,000 collected in Toronto where donations ranged from a few hundred dollars to $115,000. Samuel Bronfman, president of Distillers Corp., Seagrams Ltd., Montreal, and his son Charles, president of the House of Seagram, Ltd., a subsidiary, combined to pledge several thousand dollars.

Stands taken at UN by US and USSR

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The Soviet Union was reported today to be insisting that any Middle East ceasefire resolution passed by the UN Secretary Council must include an order to Israeli forces to withdraw to the positions they held Sunday. The council was scheduled to reconvene at 11:30 a.m. EDT.

Highly-placed diplomats said Arab delegations and the Soviet Union, openly and strongly on the Arab side, appeared to fear Israel would get the better of the fighting and any resolution must therefore be aimed at putting its forces back where they started. However, the United States was reported to have countered with the firm stand that it won't accept a return to "the explosive, dangerous situation" of Sunday, the day before the current outbreak of hostilities. Such a move would leave the Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba unimpaired.

Hockey club surprises

MONTREAL (CP) — There were several surprises today as the National Hockey League's six established teams filed their protected lists. Notably absent from the New York list was Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron, 36-year-old right winger who the Rangers signed last year to a three-year contract. Geoffron had returned to player ranks after a two-year voluntary retirement during which he coached Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League. Toronto Maple Leafs, this year's Stanley Cup champions, chose a mixture of youth and age as Punch Imlach went with veteran goaltender John Bower and aging defencemen Tim Horton and Marcel Pronovost. His front line stresses youth with the exception of veterans Bob Pulford and Dave Keen. Veteran Red Kelly, who announced his retirement along with team captain George Armstrong, both were left unprotected by the Leafs. Defenceman Bobby Bau, 30, also was FRIENDLY TALKS Soviet Premier Kossygin called in the Egyptian ambassador for "friendly talks" after it was disclosed that Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol had sent a personal plea to the Soviet premier to try and end the war—apparently the message being sent before Israel's successes in the air and the ground. Israel, seemingly with air superiority over the fronts, claimed the destruction of at least 374 Arab planes. Israel admitted losing 19 planes, while the Arab commands claimed 183 were shot down. An indication of Israel's air superiority came from a Jordanian communique in Amman. It said there was "a huge umbrella of Israeli aircraft over the whole Jordanian front."

As the war intensified, mobs attacked U.S. facilities in Damascus and Baghdad and the consulate in Egypt's Alexandria. In addition to striking deep into the northern Sinai Desert, the Israeli army announced the virtual occupation of the Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean with the capture of the city of Gaza, Egyptian administrative headquarters. The strip had been bypassed by Israeli forces striking south and west and Radio Israel called on the strip's residents to surrender. Most of the strip's residents are Arab refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

ARMY FANS OUT More than 30 miles west of the strip, the Israeli army fanned out from the captured key coastal town of El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula and seized Bir Lachpan to the southeast, an army announcement in Tel Aviv said. The Israeli column at El Arish was in a position to strike due west for Port Said, at the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal.

Lenn'ville reports a surplus

By CLAUDE LABRECQUE (Record staff reporter) The financial statement for the year 1966, presented last night at the regular monthly meeting of Lennoxville Town Council, showed an excess of revenue over expenditure of $40,501. Secretary-treasurer Ken Herring said the surplus would be carried over to next year's budget to be spent on capital works. He said a portion of the surplus would probably go towards the Centennial park project. In presenting the statement, Mayor Cecil Dougherty said he thought the former administration had done a remarkable job of house-keeping and he hoped he could do as well for his term of office. He complimented the chairman of the finance committee, Alderman Frank Taylor on his good work. The statement shows the town to be in the black by $14,363 in the water department and over by $26,138 in the general department thus giving a total excess of $40,501. Total revenue in the general department is $192,610 while expenditure is $166,472. The biggest revenue, understandably, is from taxes, at $183,600. The outstanding expenditure is for services at $61,468. In the water department, total revenue is $58,250 while expenditure is $43,887. The main avenue of revenue from water is from water assessment ($29,920 flat rates, and $28,230, from meters). Main expenditure in the water department after the $14,430 for redemption of bonds, is for wages at $6,064. The 1966 excess of revenue in the water department of $14,363 compares favourably with the 1965 excess which was $1,590. However in the general department the comparison appears as $26,138 (1966) and $37,901 (1965), excess of revenue. The comparison then stands as $39,591 for 1965 to $40,501 in 1966 for excess of revenue.

Expo welcomes 10,000,000th

MONTREAL (CP) — The Place d'Accueil, world's fair welcomes Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia today after ticking its 10,000,000th visitor through the turnstiles Monday night. The prime minister arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Monday night to be on hand for flag-raising ceremonies at Place des Nations today to mark Australia's national day at the expense of Air Canada. Roger Beaudet of suburban Laval became the 10,000,000th person to pass through Expo gates at 7:38 p.m. Monday and his luck was rewarded with a free four-day trip to any Canadian city on flying routes serviced by Air Canada. Crowds continued to pour into the Expo site and by midnight Monday night 209,834 persons had passed through the turnstiles for a grand total of 10,016,213 since the opening. Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner-General of Expo, was on hand to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Beaudet and their 12-year-old daughter, Helene, when the family entered the fair grounds through the main entrance, Astronaut dead HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — U.S. Astronaut Edward G. Gibson Jr. died early today when his compact car went off a road into an embankment of a few miles from the manned spacecraft hospital. Space agency official said Air Force Maj. Givens, 37, who was one of the 19 astronauts named into an embarkment of a few miles from the manned spacecraft hospital.

End silver coins OTTAWA — (CP) — The government has ordered the replacement of silver with nickel in dimes and quarters in the second of two steps to conserve Canadian silver supplies. Finance Minister Sharp disclosed the coinage move in the Commons Monday, explaining it was triggered by the May 15 U.S. export ban on silver.

Fear red tape CHARLOTTETOWN — (CP) — Fear was expressed here Monday over what was described as a trend by government to inject itself into the affairs of the small businessman. Coming to the aid of small business and manufacturing was the Charlottetown delegation which submitted a resolution on consumer legislation to the annual meeting of the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade. The resolution deplored the trend, saying that the records industry now has to keep under government legislation are "in business and manufacturing which submitted a resolution."

Jets probe deep SAIGON — (AP) — American jets probed deep into the fortified heartland of North Vietnam Monday, bombing rail lines into Hanoi and drawing a swarm of Communist MiG interceptors. Three of the MiGs were reported shot down. Although little ground fighting was reported, the airmen carried the war to the Communists with 113 strike missions over the North and five targets by B-52 bombers against raids in South Vietnam.

Rob restaurant QUEBEC (CP) — Three bandits escaped with $5,000 from a machine gun, burst into the Sam Wong restaurant in establishment by the back door suburban St. Foy Monday after forcing the proprietor to open his house which adjoins the restaurant.

Three-vehicle crash kills two, injures three near Danville

Two young Richmond men died last night after being involved in a collision of two cars and a telephone company truck. Three others were injured in the crash. The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m. on Route 532, about four miles north of Danville. The victims were Jacques Dumont, 20 and Lucien Duchesne, 22. They were driving a 1965 Mustang Sports Coupe. Mr. Dumont died instantly and Mr. Duchesne died at St. Louis de Windsor Hospital, four hours after the collision. Injured were Roland Ledoux, 38, driver of the truck, Mrs. Theobald Dufresne, 27, of 8340 Dora Street, Ville LaSalle, who received minor injuries, and Mr. Dufresne, 28, who suffered injuries to his legs and ribs. Both cars were a total loss and police estimate $900 damage to the truck. The Quebec Provincial Police at Richmond are investigating the accident.

Show to open waterski chalet

The city of Sherbrooke's Waterski Chalet will be opened August 5 and 6 when the American Waterski Team will give a show on the Magog River basin which will be called Lac des Nations. Ald. Paul M. Gervais said last night that the Chalet will be known as the Nadeau Pavilion. Mr. Gervais said that U.S. senators Robert and Edward Kennedy were to be attending the opening. The two U.S. senators will be vacationing in the Eastern Townships. They will also attend Expo.

Lennoxville council

Junkyard, building, census laws passed

Three bylaws were passed last night at the regular monthly meeting of Lennoxville Town Council concerning (a) taking a census, (b) offensive buildings, (c) the removal of discarded autos.

The first bylaw read by the mayor and passed by council concerns a census which is to be taken in the town this summer to assess the number of residents in Lennoxville, where they are situated, and their relation to town services.

This is the first time a census has been planned in Lennoxville, according to Mayor Cecil Dougherty.

Two university students will be hired to visit homes and ask pertinent questions.

They are to determine for instance the number of people, sex, number of cars they own, bicycles, dogs and their water and sewer services.

The information will be treated as confidential.

The second bylaw passed last night concerns discarded autos and the keeping of pigs. It begins:

"It shall be deemed unlawful for anyone ... to keep pigs on any lot within the limits of the Town unless such lot is clearly designated and homologated as farm land.

One of the main provisions of the bylaw is that it is unlawful to use any lot in the town for the purpose of storing discarded automobiles, trucks, tractors, motorcycles, boats, or the parts and components thereof, unless such vehicles and parts are stored or housed in an approved building, totally enclosed in accordance with the Municipal bylaws.

Anyone contravening this bylaw will be served with a 30-day notice to remove said articles. Failing to comply with this bylaw will bring about removal of said articles by the town the cost of which will then be charged to the owner of the articles.

Furthermore a fine of $40 or imprisonment of seven days may be added in default of payment.

The last bylaw concerns offensive buildings and gives the right to the building inspector and health inspector to visit and examine buildings to see if they are fit and safe to be inhabited.

Owners of any houses which are deemed uninhabitable by the city inspectors will be served a notice which will specify if the building in question is to be closed or demolished.

According to the provisions of the bylaw the town may, if the owner does not perform the recommendations stipulated in the notice, do it, and send him the bill.

Fine for the offense is set at $40 and costs and imprisonment for a period not exceeding two months.

At the council meeting last night to protest the building of a too-big bonfire at the Beaver Club on May 22 last was Walter Billson of 109 St. Francis Street. He said that the club has always had a bonfire on the May 24 week-end and he didn't mind but that this year it had been much too large and dangerous.

"There was a pile of wood 25 to 30 feet high and the flames were about 75 feet high while a 25 mile an hour wind was blowing," said Mr. Billson who added that it wasn't properly supervised.

He stayed up until 2 a.m. making sure no embers caught under or near his house and the next morning the coals in the bed of the bonfire were still hot.

There ought to be a bylaw covering this, he said.

Mayor Cecil Dougherty said that he too, since he was a neighbor of Billson's, had been worried and had not slept well that night. He promised that it would not happen again.

He said, though, that once the town gave a permit to build a fire it was out of its hands and the responsibility was the permit holder's.

Mr. Billson made a second request, this one for more lighting on St. Francis Street. He explained that it was doubly dangerous being ill-lit since people tended to speed on it.

Mayor Dougherty said that the budget of the town did not allow it to tackle this problem now. There were more crying needs, he pointed out in other parts of the town that would have to be remedied first.

Five cars pile up in a chain reaction

Two accidents were reported in Sherbrooke yesterday. One, involving five cars, occurred on the Montreal-Terrill Street Bridge. It happened at the east end of the bridge as four cars were stopped at a red traffic light at the intersection of Kennedy Avenue.

A fifth car, driven by Roger Grenier, 19, of 580 Therrien Street, Sherbrooke, hit the back of the fourth car, and a chain reaction resulted as each car hit the one before it.

The other four cars belonged to Michel Larivee, 21, of de Rouville Street, Claude Lagrandeur, 29, of 751 Gariep Street, Benoit Vachon, 21, of 457-7th Avenue North, Pierre Gauthier, 31, of 399 Pasteur Street.

No one was hurt in the collision.

In the second accident yesterday, Fernand Tremblay, age five years old, of 860 Ste. Famille Street was slightly injured at 11:51 a.m. when a truck driven by Pierre Rouillard, age 25, of 305 Brooks Street, hit the child as he was crossing the street at the corner of Papineau and 10th Avenue.

Following the accident, the boy was taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital for observation.

Blackout hits in Asbestos

ASBESTOS—(Staff)—A four-and-a-half hour blackout hit this town yesterday evening, beginning at 6:50 p.m.

A 50-ton truck belonging to the Canadian Johns-Manville Company accidentally hit a cable supporting a pole, which carries high tension wires for the municipality's current.

The accident occurred near Manville Street on the site of the construction of a new highway through the area. It was some time before the Hydro-Quebec employees were able to repair the breakage due to the fact that it is holding rotating strikes throughout the province.

GETTING READY — Preparing for the trip to Expo '67 is half the fun, Miss Lovell Brown, 20, (right) a Sherbrooke Hospital nurse who recently graduated, tells assistant director of education, Miss Ruth Elkas, Miss Brown, who is from Coaticook was chosen with 77 students from Canada and three states, to staff the Man and his World pavilion for a temporary period. She has finished her term of duty. Miss Elkas leaves for a similar term next month. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Sherbrooke Hospital nurses staff Expo health pavilion

For 20-year old Miss Lovell Brown, a Sherbrooke Hospital nurse, the month of May was one of great significance.

She left for Montreal, May 8 to staff the Man and His Health pavilion at Expo '67 and interpret her nursing role to the general public at the Intensive Observation station.

She graduated with her class from Sherbrooke Hospital's school of nursing 10 days later, and received, for the highest standing in operating technique an award donated by Dr. R. B. Paulette, of the hospital's medical staff.

Another representative from the hospital, Miss Ruth Elkas, assistant director of education and teacher of pharmacology, medical surgery and nursing, will staff the nurses' booth, on July 15 to August 14.

She is among 21 graduate nurses, who were selected from 55 candidates by a special advisory committee of the Canadian Nurses Association based on geographical representation, experience and language.

Miss Elkas has been a teacher at the hospital's school of nursing for the past seven years. She has an extensive knowledge of French and Arabic, as well as English.

Names of graduates and students were submitted to the CNA by the hospital. The 21 graduates were selected from 56 candidates and the 78 students were nominated from among a group of 116.

One graduate and two students are on duty at all times, working a five day, 28 hours a week, on duty four hours at a time.

Duty is arranged so that each nurse has an opportunity to enjoy other features of the international exhibition. A nurse's service pass covers admission to the grounds and to all theme, national and private pavilions.

Miss Brown was housed at the Verdun General Hospital's residence. This gives her an opportunity to familiarize herself with Montreal while travelling to and from the grounds.

"It's a wonderful experience," says Miss Brown, "you get to meet so many different people from other provinces and countries. People are so friendly, all those I have met are enthusiastic about the exhibition's main theme, 'Man and His World'.

"Everyone is out to help each other."

To split U of S science faculty

Following a series of studies and consultations, the University of Sherbrooke has decided to divide its Faculty of Sciences into two faculties.

One, the Faculty of Applied Sciences, will group the civil, electric, and mechanical sciences, while the pure sciences (biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics) will be grouped at the heart of a Faculty of Sciences.

Accordingly, the University of Sherbrooke has named the two heads of these faculties. The Faculty of Sciences will be directed by Jean-Marc Lalancette.

Gaston Denis, former director of the Department of electrical engineering, will direct the Faculty of Applied Sciences. The creation of the two Faculties of Science at the university is a step in the general effort of the university towards an adaptation of the study program to the reality of the modern world and particularly to the demands of modern science.

Born in Montreal, Gaston Denis obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree at College d'ad-Grasset, and his Bachelor of Applied Sciences at the Polytechnical School of Montreal.

He then studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he received his Masters in science in 1960. In 1958, he was appointed to the post charged with the Faculty of Sherbrooke, and two years later he became an associate professor and the following year a member of the Faculty council.

The University afforded him leave of absence from 1962 to 1964, to permit him to study at the University of Toulouse to obtain a Certificate of superior studies in industrial electronics. When he became aggregate professor in February, 1965, he was named director of the department of electrical engineering. Since June, 1965, he has been a member of the Administration Council of the University.

Originally from Drummondville, Mr. Lalancette obtained his Bachelor of Science degree, with specialization in Chemistry, at the University of Montreal in 1957. The following year, he acquired his masters and in 1960, he received his doctorate in science at the University of Montreal.

He began his teaching career at Montreal, and in 1960 he became a professor at the University of Sherbrooke; he was charged with the direction of the Chemistry laboratory.

Associate professor, then full professor, he was named Director of the Department of Chemistry in 1963. He was also a member of the Faculty Council of Sciences and the executive of the Association of Professors at the University.

Mr. Lalancette also has written many publications. He has done research for the Defence Research Council and the National Research Council. He was President of the Sherbrooke chapter of the Chemical Institute of Canada.

Recently, he travelled to England and Belgium for the University to establish contact with certain research groups and to recruit professors.

City to budget next year for extermination of caterpillars

Caterpillars in the City of Sherbrooke will be cleaned up next year.

An amount of money will be set aside in the 1968 budget, to be unveiled in December, to cover the expense of extermination of the insects in various sectors of the city.

Ald. Antonio Pinard of the West Ward said that he had received various complaints about the insects which are located on city property.

Ald. Everett Nicol, representing the North Ward said that the problem comes up every year and he suggested that council set aside an amount to cover the removal expense.

Ald. Nicol said nothing could be done this year because the city does not have the funds in the budget.

City council was told that several people are living in two separate stables at the Fair Grounds in the city's East Ward.

Fire prevention Bureau Inspector Maurice Lemieux told council that he recently investigated the barns and had found in one barn that there is an electric stove, and a toaster. The electricity is obtained from a ceiling socket in the barn. In the other barn there is a 1500 watt heater.

The inspector warned of possible fire and the loss of lives. He also warned that hay and manure were piling up outside the barn which could easily spread the flames in case of a fire.

Council ordered that the persons be evicted and the manure cleaned up.

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO PAVILION CEREMONY

The public has been invited by Sherbrooke Rotary Club president Herb Simons to attend a sod-turning ceremony marking the start of construction on the Rotary Centennial Pavilion for Retarded Children at the Dixville Home tomorrow afternoon.

The ceremony, on the Home's grounds at Dixville, Que., will begin at 2:15 p.m. On hand will be executives and members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club and representatives of the Home.

The pavilion is being erected with the proceeds from a fund-raising drive the Sherbrooke Rotary Club conducted during April and May. When completed and equipped, the building will cost about $80,000.

Youth given parole on car theft charges

A Sherbrooke youth is to be sentenced in six months in connection with car theft on two counts.

Until his sentence is pronounced he is on parole and is to report to the Sherbrooke police department once a month.

Andre Poirier pleaded guilty May 16 to the charge.

Another person was involved in the theft, described as a joy ride without intent to steal the cars for profit. The other person, a minor, appeared before Judge Roger Bouchard of the Social Welfare Court. Poirier appeared yesterday in Criminal Court before Judge W. Redmond Hayes.

Judge Hayes lectured the Poirier youth extensively pointing out that the youth had dragged the family name before the courts.

Soviet pressure on mid-East oil

An interesting sidelight on the critical situation in the Middle East, a development that is causing grave concern to Western European countries, concerns the substantial armament assistance provided by the Soviet Union to those nations in the Middle East and North Africa which are either important sources of oil or through which oil has to pass on its way to Europe.

Algeria is a case in point. Menaced by nobody, but controlling the pipelines which carry Sahara oil and natural gas to France, it has been equipped with 300 Soviet tanks and 75 MiG planes, while some 2,000 Soviet technicians and 1,000 pilots are in the country to train local personnel.

Its army can field powerful Soviet-made artillery, anti-aircraft guns and ground-to-air rockets.

Iraq, a major oil producer, and Syria, which controls the pipelines from the Iraqi oilfields to the Mediterranean, have received large shipments of arms from Russia.

Egypt, owner of the Suez Canal, and Somaliland, facing troubled Aden, both benefit from Russian arms shipments and training missions.

With all Middle East oil destined to Europe passing through countries armed with Russian equipment, the Soviets can apply major pressure on European policies.

Following U.S. threats to withhold oil supplies from Britain and France during the Suez Canal crisis, France sought to bring its petroleum sources under its own control by developing the Sahara deposits.

But now they find that delivery of this oil is dependent upon the good will of Algeria, who is under considerable pressure from the Russians.

World diplomats evading real issue

Actual outbreak of hostilities between Israel and its Arab neighbors offers proof of one of the greatest weaknesses in modern diplomacy — the inability of world statesmen to get at the roots of the long-standing grievances which are dividing the peoples of the world, especially in the smaller and less developed regions.

Over the past decade the United Nations has established peace-keeping forces in many troubled areas — the Congo, Cyprus and the Gaza Strip being three examples — with the idea of keeping the would-be belligerents from each other's throats until the basic differences could be solved.

Admittedly these emergency forces, to which Canada has been an important contributor, have preserved a troubled peace as long as they could be maintained in operation, or as long as neither of the parties concerned in the conflict was really anxious to fight.

But, generally through no fault of their own, they failed to achieve their avowed purpose, to establish a for real peace in the endangered areas.

Instead of using the valuable time provided by this police force action to bring the opposing parties to the conference table, world diplomats seemed to regard the establishment of the emergency force as the end in itself.

This tempers have been permitted to build up, ready to explode when the peacekeepers were either withdrawn or, as in the case of the Gaza Strip, were kicked out by the feuding governments.

The readers say:

Canada sees God not dead but in dotage

The trouble with Canada today is not so much its "God is dead" philosophy, but the fact that in His place, we have created a senile grandfather god who sits upon his little red wagon wearing a Mao button on his college sweater.

The goal of this grandfather god appears as little more than the promise of a "paradise on earth" wherein each day winds up assuring us that "a good time was had by all."

In his dotage, this grandfather god would protect his children from the idea of sin, sacrifice, duty, patriotism, judgment of hell lest the little deers suffer the traumatic experience of guilt. Instead, he would feed us the candy of indulgence until we vomit; offering no command save that of "love" devoid of discipline or personal responsibility.

Unfortunately, all too many Canadians who won't stand up for something, will fall for anything — including a senile grandfather god.

Yours sincerely, Patricia Young Vancouver, B.C.

Other papers say:

Everything goes up but production

The obvious conclusion to be drawn from Finance Minister Sharp's white paper, tabled in Parliament on Tuesday, is that in 1966 Canadians were living in a fool's paradise, and that the situation is not likely to change radically in 1967. The 1966 story was one of rising wages, rising prices, rising living costs and rising debt. The reason was given bluntly by Mr. Sharp: Production in Canada did not rise correspondingly — "disappointing" was the word he used. As a result more money was chasing relatively fewer goods and services and prices were forced up by 4.8 per cent.

The Winnipeg Free Press

sharply in many areas and the full effect of these increases has not yet been felt. This year, according to the minister, the strong demand for labor will continue and this will mean high wages to attract workers into particular industries; added to this must be the higher wages that are a result of long-term settlements won in 1966. These are built-in increases; and taken with the unsatisfactory record of productivity they "indicate a continued rise in unit wage costs and hence a continued increase in the general level of prices."

Who is to blame? Everyone must share responsibility to some degree: Canadians individually for not producing more; business for not making it possible to increase production substantially; individuals, business and government for spending more and more. It is all very well for Mr. Sharp to lecture the man in the street, but advice would carry greater strength if the federal government itself were not spending more and more and borrowing more and more to do it. The estimated deficit for the 1967-68 fiscal year is now given by Mr. Sharp as $28 billion, $108 million more than he predicted five months ago. The government ran into high bills for old age security, armed forces salaries, international assistance, grants to universities and to railways. But there is no apparent attempt by the government to cut back on its spending — and it will be surprising indeed if the minister's budget shows any such inclination in the coming fiscal year.

As a result of the federal government's continued living beyond its means, even in times that are supposed to be prosperous, the national debt now stands at just under $16 billion, or $785 for every man, woman and child in Canada. With this kind of an example before him it is optimistic to believe that the ordinary Canadian is going to pay much heed to warnings not to live beyond his income. And as long as the merry-go-round spins, wages will rise, prices will rise, living costs will escalate.

The only way to stop it is to spend less, borrow less and produce more. As Mr. Sharp said: The crucial question (for) 1967 is whether output can keep pace with growth in incomes. If it can, the transition should be relatively smooth and easy. Mr. Sharp did not say what will happen if incomes continue to rise and production continues to lag behind. He did not have to Alessandro Gavazzi, a former Italian priest, made his first speech on a tour of Canada 114 years ago today — in 1853 — and a riot by Quebec citizens was avoided only by the appearance of British troops. He was speaking in favor of Italian independence and argued that the Roman Catholic Church was working against this. June 9 in Montreal he spoke again and troops were called out. They fired into the crowd, killing 11 persons and wounding others. The event increased Protestant-Catholic hatred in early Canada.

Historic ice-breaking tomorrow

Britain's Royal exiles return to London to see the Queen

By RON POULTON

LONDON — (TNS) — History will be made and ice will be broken tomorrow when Britain's Queen meets its former king and his duchess at Marlborough House.

The ice cracked some time ago. But this will be the first time since he abdicated as Edward VIII that an official invitation has been extended by a British monarch to the Duke of Windsor and his lady.

Considering the delicacy with which Royal things are done, it is more than ever significant that they have been called to the unveiling of a memorial plaque for Queen Mary — unyielding author of a dual exile.

The invitation has given some grounding for speculation that the Duchess of Windsor may at long last be recognized by her Royal relations even if no one expects she will ever be granted the title of Royal Highness.

A generation has grown since the nights and days of crisis that rocked the British throne. A generation that cannot assess the sense of Royal duty that impelled Queen Mary to set her son to wandering or made her appear, in the recent words of one chronicler, "as hard as nails."

She died at Marlborough House, much admired and honestly mourned. She never met the person upmost in Edward VIII's thoughts when at 10 p.m., Dec. 11, 1936, he sat shaking before a microphone to tell the world:

"You must believe me when I tell you that I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as King as I would wish to do without the help and support of the woman I love."

To the generation who never heard that broadcast, the uncrowned king who ruled for only 326 days has existed only as a cosseted traveler — following the sun and the seasons restlessly, growing older and sadder looking with every passing year.

INTO EXILE

History had repeated itself. On Dec. 11, 1936, Edward left Windsor for exile; not fleeing, as James II had done on Dec. 11, 248 years before, but going just as surely.

As Edward left Portsmouth, almost unnoticed, at 1:45 a.m. on Dec. 12, on a destroyer bound for France, it wasn't any wonder that a nation echoed the Archbishop of Canterbury when he said:

"Oh, the pity of it! The pity of it!"

Millions of words have been written about the abdication crisis which bubbled and boiled through 16 days.

Whole codes have changed. It is highly unlikely that the British press, which kept the story under wraps while American newspapers chattered with rumor, would do so today.

Those were times of unyielding attitudes where Royal behavior was concerned, as Queen Mary was to prove and the bishop was to reveal when he said on Dec. 2:

"What I had reference to was the fact that, to all outward appearance, the king seems to live entirely indifferently to the public practice of religion."

ATTITUDES WERE RIGID

In the days that followed, the cabinet met in seemingly endless session. There were street demonstrations in front of the Commons and the palace. Royal brethren arrived from Edinburgh and Windsor. Prime Minister Baldwin saw the king five times in as many days.

The king favored the isolation of Fort Belvedere. It was there that two army dispatch riders arrived, at 3:30 a.m. on Dec. 10, carrying the cabinet's ultimatum: that no morganatic marriage was possible.

The final act was played Dec. 13 in the House of Lords when two bewigged clerks announced that Royal Assent had been given to an abdication bill.

Edward became a private citizen, passing to his brother the Duke of York, the title of King of Great Britain, Ireland, the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King-Emperor of India.

The times, as far as Royals are concerned, are more relaxing now. History's frown has been slowly unfurling. The Duke of Windsor lunched with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in 1952, though without his duchess.

Some Royal meetings might have gone unrecorded. But the records one show that the Queen met the Duchess of Windsor three times: in 1936 when Edward was king and Elizabeth was 10; and twice in March, 1965, when the duke was being treated at a London eye hospital.

In April, 1965, the duke and duchess flew home to Paris in an aircraft of the Queen's Flight — the first time since the abdication that either had been on a Royal plane.

In 1936, the attorney general had assured the House of Commons that Edward "will be free to return to England whenever he wishes."

Under redistribution:

Alberta to gain two politicians

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta voters who in 1953 returned 63 members to the legislature elect 65 members in the May 23 election under redistribution completed last year.

Both new seats are urban ridings — Edmonton Strathcona South and Calgary Victoria Park. Their formation resulted in boundary changes for seven ridings.

The addition of the two city ridings gives a total of 11 to Edmonton and nine to Calgary. The 20 seats in the two major cities represent about half the province's population.

Boundaries of seven rural constituencies were changed to provide for about 9,600 voters on the province's Indian reserves, who will vote for the first time. Constituencies changed were Cardston, Grouard, Lac la Biche, Lac Ste. Anne, Macleod, Pincher Creek-Crowsnest and St. Albert.

There was also a slight correction on one rural constituency boundary.

The changes are minor except in the southern riding of Cardston, where about 1,400 voters from the nearby Blood reservation will be added. The seat has been represented by E. W. Hinman, former provincial treasurer who lost the nomination in this election.

Last year's changes completed a general redistribution begun in 1961. At that time five rural seats were eliminated and

LATE BETS BANNED

LONDON (AP) — A parliamentary committee has recommended a ban on public opinion polls and betting odds 72 hours before general elections. A pollster denounced the idea. A leading bookmaker said he opposes all election betting because people have enough other things to bet on.

TEN YEARS AGO

INVERNESS — The annual meeting of the Megantic County Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Rothney with members attending from Lemesurier and Inverness. Mrs. Ossington was guest speaker.

Mrs. Weston Graham, of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Weston Graham; co-presidents, Mrs. Fred Cox and Mrs. Lloyd Oliver; first vice-president, Mrs. H. Scott; second vice-president, Mrs. Allan Little; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. John Dempsey.

Conveners appointed were: Publicity, Mrs. Harry Little; agriculture, Mrs. John Kinghorn; education, Mrs. George Rothney; home economics, Mrs. Weston Graham; welfare and health, Mrs. W. Nutbrown; citizenship, Mrs. R. H. Wright.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

STANSTEAD — Fifteen students of Stanstead College were admitted for membership in troop 1056 of the National Thespian Society in an impressive ceremony held here Sunday. The ceremony was conducted under the leadership of Wilson Collins, Trinity Bay, Quebec, president of the Dramatics Club, and he was assisted by the Secretary, John Mackay, Town of Mount Royal, and the Stage Manager, Laurie Tilton, Rock Island. The qualifications of the initiates were presented by Mr. Lloyd MacPherson, the Sponsor of the Troop, who also administered the pledge of membership.

Stanstead College is the only Canadian School to have a Troop of the National Thespian Society, an organization with over 1,200 troops. Membership is given to those high school boys and girls who demonstrate, by their participation in school plays, interest and ability in all phases of the dramatic arts.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

George H. Carr was re-elected President of the Sherbrooke Y.M.C.A. at a director's meeting called last night following the annual banquet of the Association.

Other officers re-elected were: C. Joslin, vice-president; Colin Campbell, treasurer; S. A. Belmont, recording secretary.

Elected to the advisory board were: H. Haigh, and J. R. Sangster; to the Board of Trustees, D. J. Salls, G. E. Ewing and A. C. Stevens; to the board of directors, C. E. Joslin, J. H. Wark, J. L. Pergau, E. J. Bascom and W. H. Griffith.

In his report to the members, President George Carr stressed the need for a larger membership, stating that in order to serve the community effectively, "the help of many is required, for it is impossible for few to do the job well."

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Don't postpone buying that rainbow TV set any longer. Contrary to widespread expectations, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp did not lift the luxury tax from the technicolor idol boxes and is not likely to do so even if we have a mini-budget later this year.

Neither did he — and that was a far greater blow to the expectations of the budget night — lift the 11 per cent tax from building materials which, together with soaring labor costs, has pushed the price of new homes beyond the reach of most people in need of decent housing.

The only concession Mr. Sharp made to the mounting criticism of his crippling tax was to exempt building materials used for university student residences that are built by provincial Crown corporations established for that purpose.

This is a small mercy of no appreciable significance within the context of the general housing crisis.

Mr. Sharp was more accommodating to his critics in lifting immediately the remaining 6 per cent sales tax on production machinery and equipment which was scheduled for removal on April 1, 1968.

This step is in line with the Finance Minister's endeavor to stimulate an upswing in capital investment which took a sharper nosedive after his restrictive 1965 budget than he had anticipated. In the higher cost-price setting of 1967 the response to the change is likely to be considerably slower and weaker than it was a year ago in the opposite direction.

Since Mr. Sharp chose not to tinker with the patchwork of personal income tax before the anticipated general overhaul of our entire tax structure next year, the only item in his budget of direct significance to the general public is the exemption of drugs from the 12 per cent sales tax.

This is a welcome relief, although there will be some disappointment that the collection of the tax at the manufacturers' level will delay the resulting drop in drug prices until Sept. 1.

An election in the offing?

The loss of revenue to the Federal Treasury from the sum total of the minor changes will be about $40 million, bringing the anticipated deficit in fiscal 1967-68 to $740 million.

The fact that the Government is not seeking to reduce this huge deficit by higher taxes can be taken to mean that a general election is in the offing sometime early next spring.

It could also mean that Mr. Sharp, who is a strong proponent of balanced budgets, is trying harder this time to balance his chances in the forthcoming Liberal Party leadership race than to balance the budget accounts.

Whatever the reason, Mr. Sharp did not elaborate on it. Instead, having nothing of substance to announce, he turned his budget speech into a lecture in political economics.

The way he sees it, our two most difficult problems in the next few years are the rate of productivity growth and the cost-price index. Prices, as we all know only too well, are rising at an alarming rate, while gains in productivity lag far behind soaring production costs which account for the price inflation.

"The chief obstacle I see to our attaining stable growth in the next few years," Mr. Sharp said, "is the danger of excessive increases in prices and costs. Our record in the past two years in this respect has deteriorated."

Prices and wages going up

The rate of deterioration, which affects not only our cost of living but also Canada's competitiveness on world markets, can be gleaned from the following figures:

"Between April 1965 and this April the consumers' price index has gone up by 7.5 per cent — and the rate has been accelerating recently for categories other than food. Wages and salaries have been rising at rates several times the overall increase in our productivity per man."

"Personal income per capita, which includes all kinds of income whether from wages, profits or Government payments, has gone up by 17.6 per cent in the two years following the last quarter of 1964."

All this is happening at a time when "our industry and our labor will have to compete vigorously with their counterparts in the U.S. and overseas." If the gap between productivity and costs continues to widen, the inevitable result will be growing unemployment aggravated by rising prices.

From this trend "it is evident that we in Canada had not learned to pace ourselves; too many Canadians were anxious to exploit the (boom) situation quickly — to get while the getting was good — and in doing so they overloaded the economy with excessive demands."

This is a polite way of condemning powerful pressure groups for grabbing more from the national economy than they are putting in.

Unfortunately, Mr. Sharp offers no remedy, which to my mind lies in some form of the British Labor government's experiment with wage-price planning.

Appeals for voluntary restraint, which Mr. Sharp repeated with great emphasis in his budget speech, will obviously accomplish nothing, especially when the Government shows no restraint in its own spending.

The prospect, I am afraid, was summed up by Mr. Sharp when he said: "If we all endeavor to exploit the full measure of our bargaining power in the present situation we can certainly harm one another."

He should have added that a good deal of the harm has already been done — often with a powerful assist from all levels of our over-bureaucratized governments.

Street signs installed

By STEPHEN MORSON
Record correspondent

KNOWLTON — (Special) — Knowlton Corporation has installed attractive street signs, erected at all the main intersections of the thoroughfares throughout the village.

This erection of street names has filled a long awaited need for this community. With the increased tourist traffic this year, visitors may now have some sort of reliable guide to find their way around, and perhaps to locate friends and relatives, and the residents may now add the name of the street to their addresses, with the hope that their homes may be more easily located by visiting friends and tourists in search of information and assistance.

A tour around the village will produce some new and strange names, such as March Street and Pine Street, as well as the more familiar Main Street and Maple Street, Conference Hill and Foster Avenue.

However, the point has been made, the avenues and streets are now officially named, and these names erected in attractive green and white metal signs, boldly proclaiming that one is now entering March Street or Main Street.

Congratulations are now in order for the planners of this first stage. Knowlton residents do not any longer live on nameless streets, although they still live in numberless houses, maybe this will be the next project to be completed.

Bush pilot candidate for council

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Gauchie, the northern bush pilot who survived 38 days in the Arctic earlier this year when his small plane was forced down on a flight between Cambridge Bay and Yellowknife, is among candidates in the Northwest Territories council election July 14.

Mr. Gauchie, a resident of Fort Smith who lost five toes as a result of his ordeal, filed nomination papers Monday to run in the riding of Mackenzie South, the council announced Monday night.

The territorial council consists of seven elected and five appointed members and is presided over by Commissioner Stuart Hodgson. Election day is July 4.

Because of poor communications Monday night between Ottawa and the North, it was not definitely known whether there would be contests in the ridings of Mackenzie Delta and Mackenzie River.

Four-way contests shaped up in both Mackenzie South and Mackenzie North.

Opposing Mr. Gauchie in Mackenzie South are Robert Porritt, a Hay River trader who represented the area on the previous council; Don Stewart, a former mayor of Hay River; and Ann Enge, a Fort Smith Housewife.

In Mackenzie North, four Yellowknife residents threw their hats in the ring. They are Peter Baker, a retired fur trader who sat on the previous council; lawyer David Searle; pilot Gordon Hornby and mill operator Charles Saunders.

Art exhibit at Knowlton

KNOWLTON — (Special) — The Bolton Pass Inn is the setting for another in its long series of art exhibitions.

This time, on display for the month of June are the works of Miss Betty Evans of Brossard, Que.

Miss Evans studied at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts and was a three year scholarship student, receiving her diploma in fine art honours in painting and design. Miss Evans studied under the direction of the world famous Dr.

Arthur Lismer during the years 1962 - 1965. She also studied at the Banff School of Fine Arts in 1963 and graduated with Senior certificate scholarships.

Her paintings were exhibited in the Travelling Exhibition of Alberta in 1964 and 1965.

Miss Evans received the Purchase award of the Banff School of Fine Arts and has exhibited at Loyola College in Montreal in 1964.

She has paintings in private collections in Vancouver, Alberta, Toronto, New Brunswick, Montreal, and West Africa.

With such an impressive background Miss Evans comes to Knowlton with her collection, and this is indeed an exhibition that should be on the "must" list for all the residents of this area interested in the careers in the art world.

This exhibition is shown here through the courtesy of Curly Reid, proprietor of the Bolton Pass Inn, who has been responsible for the past several years of bringing fine art exhibitions to this village.

22-year old Indian helps preserve his culture

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jackson Beardy is only 22 but he refuses to share an attitude he says is held by the younger generation of Indians who "don't give a boot any more" about their culture.

Beardy cares deeply and is helping preserve that culture by writing a book of the stories and legends of his people. Strangely, Beardy's talent with a paint brush led to a chance to produce a printed record of Indian folklore.

It was through his paintings, which depict Indian legends, that he was first noticed by an official of the department of Indian affairs. He was quick to accept a commission from the department to compile the book.

"I was aware the legends are part of our culture and because they pass from mouth to mouth there is no written word on them. And because there is no written word, the older ones with the knowledge would die with it. The young people don't give a boot anymore."

Beardy, a Cree, was born on the shores of remote Island Lake, a reserve 250 miles north of Winnipeg. He is fond of his birthplace and went back each year for summer holidays while taking his schooling at Portage la Prairie, Man.

He has enjoyed painting for many years and this brought him to Winnipeg for an art course which led to a job with a big department store.

However, his liking for the outdoors and dislike of being told what to do soon caused him to rebel. He began working on his own and says he had little trouble selling his works in Winnipeg.

The initial phase of his writing project took him to Island Lake where he says the Indians have not been influenced "by the outside." His stay was shorter than expected because he ran out of recording tape, but on his next field trip he'll be supplied for a two-week stay.

Beardy says the legends, or folklore as he prefers to call them, he is gathering are "pure stories, authentic, not played upon or exaggerated like those in the south where they have become commercialized."

These legends, he says, are parables, a form of education that teaches the laws of nature. They contain morals and history.

Beardy says he doesn't think a white man could properly gather and translate the folklore. "They couldn't understand and get the true meaning."

While Algonquin is the basic language of the area he is covering — northern Manitoba and northwestern Ontario — the Indians who live there speak three dialects. Beardy is confident he can interpret each.

Three mile maps are replaced

OTTAWA (CP) — The last of a series of maps commissioned the year Canada became a nation has been withdrawn from circulation by the surveys and mapping branch of the energy department.

The "three-mile maps" — named for their scale of three miles to the inch — made their first appearance in 1891 with publication of sheet No. 315 of the Edmonton area. They were revised regularly for use as road maps and aeronautical charts up to 1955.

Now they are being replaced by a new series of four-mile maps, based mainly on aerial surveys and covering the whole of Canada in 322 sheets.

There were only 133 sheets to the three-mile series, covering a region from Lake of the Woods to the Pacific Coast and from the U.S. border to parts of the present border of the Northwest Territories.

While the three-mile maps didn't show as much information as the new maps, they were "quite accurate considering the methods the original survey crews used," a department official said.

The first survey party left Ottawa in 1871 to start the job of laying out six-mile-square townships along the 2,000-mile route to the Pacific, measuring distances with 66-foot chains.

After battling insects and weather, the surveyors discovered they had another fight on their hands — replacing the posts on township lines that disappeared for some reason or another. The same problem exists today in some remote areas, probably for some of the same reasons.

Surveyor-General Lindsay Russell, who led the first field party west in 1871, noted in his annual report in 1883 that there was "much trouble" in "securing any approach to permanency of the survey boundaries established."

"The prairie fires burn the wooden posts placed in earthen mounds. Wherever there are herds of cattle they demolish the mounds; after this the melting snows in spring float the posts away and little or no trace of the survey remains."

But one of the biggest problems was Indians.

Dutch Army veteran recalls D-Day

Gilbert A. Milne, a well-known Toronto photographer who was a Royal Canadian Navy photographer during the Second World War, has been visiting Europe. In this story on the anniversary of the Allied invasion of Normandy, he describes typical Dutch attitudes as recalled by an acquaintance in Amsterdam and remembers his own experiences on D-Day.

AMSTERDAM (CP) — The anniversary of D-Day evokes memories of despair turning to hope for millions of Europeans.

In The Netherlands, the recollection is coupled with gratitude — freely expressed to the Canadian visitor — for the sacrifice of Canadian soldiers who liberated this country from German occupation.

"There was a time, especially in 1942 and 1943, when we Dutch felt our country would never be free again," recalled Peter van Brummer, a veteran of the Dutch Army, on the eve of the D-Day anniversary.

"Some of us refused to hope even when we heard about the landings in France," van Brummer said in reference to the massive Allied invasion of German-occupied northern France, June 6, 1944.

With such an impressive background Miss Evans comes to Knowlton with her collection, and this is indeed an exhibition that should be on the "must" list for all the residents of this area interested in the careers in the art world.

This exhibition is shown here through the courtesy of Curly Reid, proprietor of the Bolton Pass Inn, who has been responsible for the past several years of bringing fine art exhibitions to this village.

"But gradually, as we learned of Allied advances, we became hopeful again and it changed our whole attitude."

Van Brummer explained that years under German occupation had made it difficult to trade hope for despair. In Amsterdam alone, 150,000 Jewish citizens were taken away and only 10,000 ever returned.

But one year less one month less a day after the D-Day landings — May 5, 1945 — The Netherlands had been liberated by Canadian forces.

"We shall never forget what Canada did for us," van Brummer said.

"The tulip bulbs we send to Ottawa every year — paid for by the Dutch people themselves — are testimony to that. So is our pavilion at Expo 67. I understand, because it expresses our thanks for what Canadians did for us 23 years ago."

My own memory of D-Day is also a mixture of hope and despair. As a Royal Canadian Navy photographer, I shared and recorded some of the D-Day action.

Crowds of civilians on the Portsmouth jetties gave us a rousing sendoff June 5, 1944, and throwing flowers into our wake. The Germans, apparently, were as well aware as the people of Portsmouth what we were up to by the time we reached the beach off Bern-sur-Mer at dawn June 6.

Our voyage was a little like driving along a street lined with streetlights. The navy had swept channels and marked them with lighted buoys so we would avoid minefields.

When we got to our spot, we could not get to the beach because of a barricade of blown-up landing craft. We cruised about 200 yards offshore for about 20 minutes until we received a change in landing orders.

I know the soldiers aboard felt vulnerable in the landing craft and were impatient to get onto land. From my point of view as a photographer, I had a prolonged panoramic view of the action — the shelling, the tracers, the fighting.

A lot of the fellows in my craft were equipped with bicycles and their mission was to ride inland to Caen.

Troops encountered a German panzer division. I am afraid all the boys who made it to Caen were probably killed there.

A lot more died on the long, hard road to the liberation of Holland.

MR. AND MRS. BLAINE A. LOWELL.

Lowell — Groom vows exchanged

BURY — A pretty wedding took place at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Bury, Que., on May 13, at 2:30 p.m., when Claudia Baxter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Groom, became the bride of Mr. Blaine A. Lowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lowell, of North Hatley, Que. Rev. M. Jones officiated at the double ring ceremony and the organist, Miss Mildred Rudd, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of nylon organza over taffeta trimmed with imported French lace, fashioned with a long train with matching coat. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place with an organza rose set with seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses inset with tulle.

Miss Susan Parsons, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a floor length dress of can Beauty roses. Mrs. Wooten, maternal grandmother, wore a brocaded suit in turquoise with white accessories and a corsage of Red American Beauty roses.

The reception was held following the ceremony at La Salle Jean Paul, Bury, where tables were arranged for 180 guests. The tables were decorated with candles, floral arrangements and the wedding cake, made by the bride's mother.

For travelling the bride wore a blue lace dress with matching coat and white accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Guests were present from Caledonia and Alexandria, Ont.; Montreal, Rock Island, Stanstead, Beebe, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Sawyerville, Cookshire, East Angus, Bishopton, North Hatley, Marlleton, Bury, St. Johnsbury and Newport, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell left for a short wedding trip to points of interest in Vermont. They will reside at North Hatley.

Deacon — Raymond wedding

MILBY — The marriage of Linda Darline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Raymond, of Concord, N.H., to Mr. Warren Ambrose Deacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Deacon, Waterville, Que., took place in St. Barnabas Anglican Church, Milby, Que., May 6, at 7 p.m. Rev. D. F. M. Roberts officiated at the ceremony, and Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Milby, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length white ensemble. The French cotton silk lace coat worn over a sleeveless sheath of nylon sheer with matching lace appliques. A bouffant nylon tulle veil was held in place by an open crown pill box of nylon sheer with double bow. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Leah Raymond, of Concord, N.H., sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a frock of yellow nylon chiffon over rayon taffeta with lace bodice. Her headdress was yellow and white nylon net with a white rose and she carried a nosegay of white and yellow roses.

Miss Leona Raymond, also of Concord, sister of the bride, and Miss Elaine Deacon, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids wore matching frocks of pink nylon chiffon over taffeta with lace bodices. Their headdresses were of white nylon net with white roses, and they carried nosegays of pink roses.

Mr. Garry Deacon acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Lyle Raymond, brother of the bride, and Mr. Lynn Deacon, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Raymond, mother of the bride, chose a two-piece dress of blue embroidered cotton with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Deacon, mother of the groom, wore a three-piece navy blue linen suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Milby Hall.

Out of town guests were from Grimsby, Ont., St. Johnsbury, Vt., Littleton, N.H., McIndoe Falls, Vt., Concord, N.H., Westfield, Mass., Minneville, Hudson Falls, N.Y., Foster, Cowansville, Montreal, Windsor, Inverness and Ste. Agathe, Que., and surrounding district.

Prior to Mrs. Deacon's marriage, she had been entertained at a community shower at the home of Miss Doris Banfill, also a shower at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Albert Wingate.

Today's recipe

Delicious pie made with fresh rhubarb is as much a sign of spring as the morning dew on daffodils or chirping robins on the lawn.

Although rhubarb is a popular dessert food, it actually is a vegetable that originated in Asia. Many refer to rhubarb as the "pieplant." And it does seem to have been created just for pies. In the recipe featured here, tangy rhubarb stalks are cut into one-inch pieces and combined with cinnamon, grated orange peel and sugar.

FRESH RHUBARB PIE

- (Makes 9-inch pie)
 *Double Crust Pie Pastry.
 1 1/4 cups sugar
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel
 2 pounds fresh rhubarb cut in 1-inch pieces
 2 tablespoons butter
 Milk

Roll out 1/2 the pie pastry on lightly floured surface and line 9-inch pie plate. Roll out top crust and cut into strips for a lattice top.

Mix together sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon and orange peel. Place layer of rhubarb in pie shell; sprinkle with 1/2 the sugar mixture. Repeat layers. Dot with butter. Arrange pastry strips to make lattice top. Brush with milk. Bake in 400 degrees (hot) oven 50 minutes or until golden brown. Cool. Serve with hot coffee or tea.

*Double Crust Pie Pastry: Combine 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour and 1 teaspoon salt in bowl. Cut in 3/4 cup solid all-vegetable shortening until uniform, but coarse. Sprinkle with 4 to 5 tablespoons water; toss with fork. Press into ball.

For and about Women

Near Con Thien

French photographer wounded in motor barrage

ABOARD USS SANCTUARY (AP) — Catherine Leroy, the petite French photographer wounded in a mortar barrage near Con Thien, looked like a beaten child against the fluffly white sheets and pillows on this hospital ship.

Her face was swollen and bandages covered wounds on her face, neck, both upper arms, her left hand, her chest and her legs. Cathy, only 22, looked up with frightened eyes and said: "I was scared. It was so awful."

The words came awkwardly because her teeth were wired and her jaw was fractured.

On May 19 more than three dozen pieces of steel had ripped into her 95 - pound body while she travelled with U.S. marines advancing on the demilitarized zone.

"When I think about the mortar, I see it all again," Cathy said. "I can hear them. I didn't hear the one that hit me, though. A helicopter was leaving and made too much noise."

"I was walking across an open space and had passed some men digging foxholes, and suddenly my head began to ring."

"It was like a lot of music was floating. The music was strange, sort of surrealistic. I got dizzy and my eyes went funny. Suddenly I fell to my knees."

"I thought I was falling apart. I realized I'd been hit but I didn't know where. The sun felt so hot. My cameras were all covered with blood and I tried to clean them off. The music was still going on. I saw my fatigues were all bloody. My teeth felt like they were going just want to. A matter of taste. I want to take good pictures of the war — better than anybody else. So I have to be where things are happening."

"A corpsman began to cut off my bloody clothes. When he reached my bra — it was new and had been pure white, now it was pure red — he started to cut it off. I tried to stop him. He said, 'Come on, come on, this is no time to be embarrassed. We've got to look.'"

"More men were shouting and running over. They called for more bandages. I realized then I had many wounds. They bandaged both legs and wrapped me in a poncho."

As Cathy remembers it, the tank ride back to Con Thien was not too painful. But she was spitting blood all the time and couldn't be given any water, for which she thirsted. From Con Thien a helicopter took her to the deck of the Sanctuary in the South China Sea.

"Hey," a corpsman shouted as she was brought into an examining room. "This is a woman, a blonde, a girl." She is the only female patient aboard, although 25 female nurses keep her from feeling totally isolated in a sea of men.

Cathy was in the operating room three hours.

"They said I should stay another three weeks," Cathy continued. "I guess this is about the best place I could be if I have to be in a hospital. Everyone treats me very nice and it's calm out here and clean."

And after that?

"I'll get back to covering the war," she said.

"Why do I want to stay? I don't know exactly. I guess I

Questions readers ask

Q—I always try to plan my family's meals around what's plentiful in the market. Will you please tell me what protein foods will be in good supply in June?

A—According to latest reports of U.S. Department of Agriculture marketing experts, these sources of top quality protein will be in generous supply during June: milk, eggs and beef. They expect a little more milk than a year ago, about 6 per cent more eggs and a little more beef than a year ago.

Q—Please clear up my confusion about garlic salt, garlic powder and instant minced garlic. What's the difference?

A—Instant minced garlic are pure garlic. But garlic salt is garlic powder, plus table salt and therefore is not so potent as the other two. The instant garlic powder and garlic salt can be added to a dish at last minute and require just a stir. But instant minced garlic is used differently. It should be added to the dish at least 10 minutes before to give cooking or sleeping time for releasing its flavor. (NEA)

REMOVE MILDEW SPOTS

There is a more gentle method than lemon juice, salt and sunshine for removing mildew spots from clothes.

After wetting the stained area, soak it as long as necessary in buttermilk. This is also excellent for removing rust spots and many other stains.

When the discolorations have disappeared, wash the article as usual in hot sudsy water.

Look as good as you feel at Expo!

You'll view with pride, walk with pride and glow with pride when you visit Expo '67. It's a swinger, a real Canadian swing-er. And as a visitor, it's your patriotic duty—seriously—to look as attractive and well put-together as our national showpiece in the St. Lawrence.

Since Expo is surrounded by water, it's breezy. Plan a simple coiffure — the shorter the better. Shampoo and set your hair two days before you hit the entrance gates. Use plenty of hair spray to fashion-set your coiffure. To save your hair tint from sunstroke, tie a light chiffon scarf over your head — or invest in one of those gaily printed sun hats. Either one is easy to tuck away when times comes for dinner in one of the glamorous Expo restaurants. Incidentally, the Ontario Pavilion restaurant does accept reservations — no standing in line for your table.

How can you keep your makeup smooth and flawless through the day? Do what all the Expo guides have been taught to do by DuBarry experts. Be sure that your makeup is put on a skin that is not only spandling clean, but firm and smooth. Makeup just do. Saturate pads of cotton with skin freshener and pop them into a little plastic baggie before you leave and tingle cool water to take off old makeup. Don't disturb your eye makeup, however. If you have used the cake and water type of eye makeup, it will last through the day and evening.

Along in your tote, carry tubes of moisturizing lotion, flattering makeup base, matte bloom you'll feel a little pale and wan after all that tramping) and possibly a compact of pearl dust powder for that lovely luminous look across the table.

You can't look pretty if your feet are killing you. Comfortable, supporting shoes are a must. During your tour, try the exercising treadmills to relax you. And the foot baths. Sit down and catch your breath in the Australian pavilion in those marvelous high-back, talk-softly-to-you chairs.

At refreshment time, smooth a couple of these freshener pads over your hot feet. Slip into materials that came off our clean pair of stockings when it was re-covered.—you've remembered to bring along.

Justice probe's interim report

MONTREAL (CP) — A commission of inquiry into the administration of justice in the province has submitted a preliminary report to Jean-Jacques Bertrand, provincial justice minister.

Government sources said Monday the report may lead to a one-year extension in the commission's mandate, scheduled to expire July 24.

The preliminary report is designed as a working document for the commission, its lawyers and researchers.

The commission, under Yves Prevost, was formed early this year and has held public hearings in Montreal. These resumed Wednesday.

Barn levelled by a fire

NORTH HATLEY — (Staff) — One truck and three firemen from Sherbrooke Fire Station Number 1 fought a blaze near here for three hours yesterday afternoon at 5:18 p.m. The fire totally destroyed a barn and pigsty owned by Hevre Monseau. Nine pigs and several agricultural implements were lost in the sty and barn.

The house belonging to Mr. Monseau was not damaged, according to fire authorities, nor is the cause of the fire, which caused an estimated $6,000 damage, known.

Identify body

BUCKINGHAM, Que. (CP) — The decomposed body of a woman discovered a month ago in a wooded area here has been identified as Laurette Ethier, 51, reported missing in August, 1964.

Police said the woman's identity was established after an examination of clothing and eyeglasses found near the skeleton.

Buckingham is about 30 miles east of Hull, Que.

Urges UN force

MONTREAL (CP) — Lady Barbara Ward Jackson, an authority on world social problems, said Monday the removal of United Nations supervision from the Middle East was a blow to the preservation of peace in that area.

other and make the fair a success.

"Oh, there are so many people, but strangely enough, there doesn't seem to be much confusion."

Miss Brown said the working arrangements give "Expo Nurses" an opportunity to discuss and learn about the different educational systems and various methods of training in the hospitals.

Miss Elkas, who is a graduate of Sherbrooke Hospital, is looking forward to her month at Expo.

"I'm quite happy to be going and pleased to think that my name was chosen out of so many."

She added: "I've heard it's not going to be a holiday entirely. We will have plenty to do, but I hope that people from this area will drop in the pavilion and make themselves known."

Chapleau fire threat ends with half-hour rain storm

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP) — Residents began streaming back to their homes here today after 30 minutes of pelting rain Monday afternoon relieved fears that the town might be cremated by a menacing forest fire.

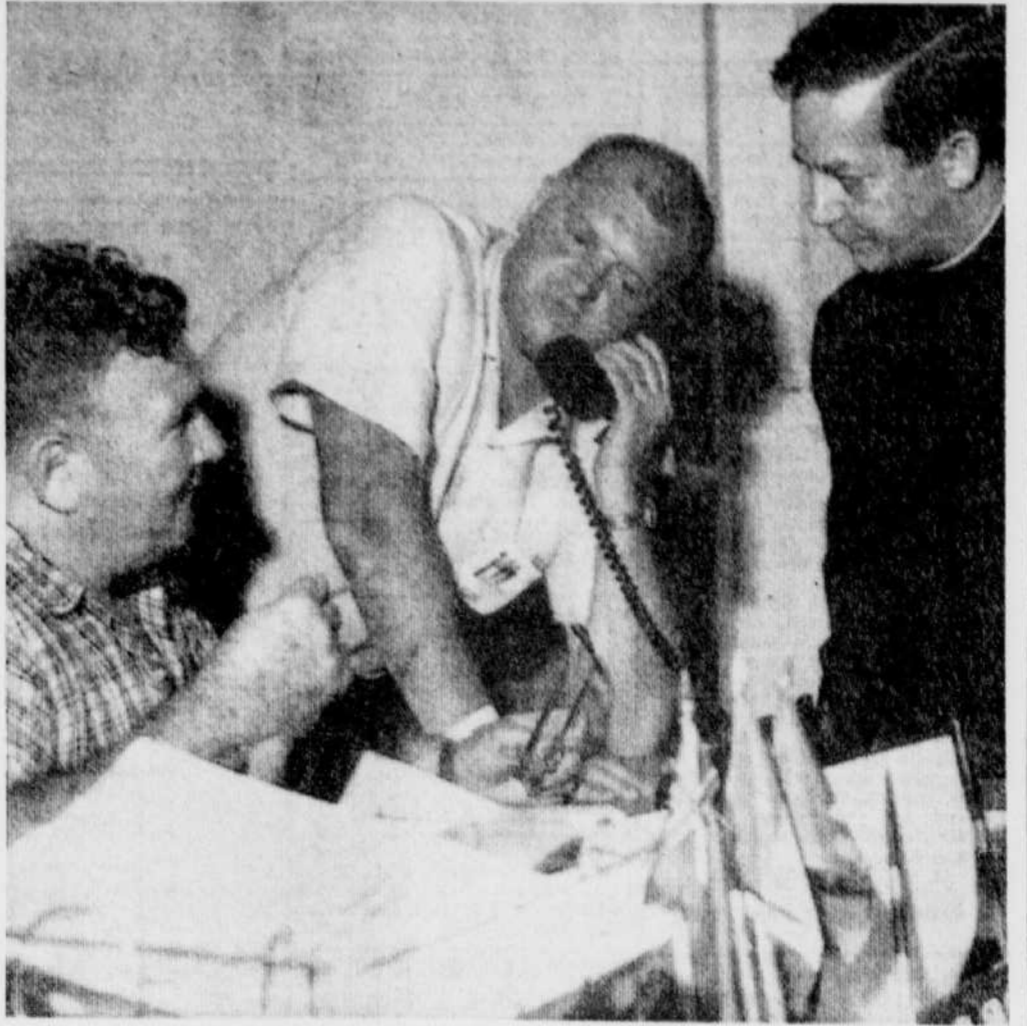

About 3,800 persons were evacuated Sunday when the 3,800-acre fire, fanned by winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour, moved to within 1 1/2 miles of this town, 170 miles northwest of Sudbury.

The more than 380 firefighters were first encouraged Monday morning when the wind levelled off and changed direction, stopping the fire's progress.

About 3 p.m. rain began falling and the department of lands and forests reported the blaze under control.

Scattered showers or thunder-showers were forecast for today with light, southerly winds. The temperature is not expected to exceed 70.

Incineration or safety in the wind for Sioux Lookout; 7,000 acres burn

SIoux LOOKOUT, Ont. (CP) — Forest fire quarantine is still in effect at Sioux Lookout.

When will it all end, this fire and forest-isolation? It could be today. It depends on the wind.

If the wind kicks up its heels and once more barrels the 7,000-acre fire toward the western approaches to this Northwestern Ontario town, crisis times will return to Sioux Lookout.

If temperatures stay moderate, there is a good chance water bombers and the foot-flogging firefighters can tame the fire.

"If we don't have any troubles with the wind we will be in pretty good shape," district forester Allan Baxter, of the Ontario lands and forest department, said Monday night.

But, he said the forecast was that the wind might gust today to 25 miles an hour, keeping the situation touch-and-go.

Crisis time for Sioux Lookout hit Sunday when stiff winds sent the fire roaring to within a mile of the town, a disaster potential that prompted a wholesale evacuation.

More than 1,000 people, out of a total population of about 2,700, made a hasty 65-mile trip to Dryden, Sioux Lookout's pulp and paper neighbor.

and motels are staying open but the only entertainment in town they haven't staff to change is a little dog who dances on a property damage in the area local beer parlor. Most hotels has been light and although the fire chewed through an assortment of spruce, lodgepole pine and poplar, much of it was rated non-commercial cutover growth.

What would you do if your pay stopped?

Suppose you had a serious illness. Or an accident. Suppose you couldn't work for 6 months, a year, or a lifetime. Would you have to change your way of life? Move to a cheaper home? Sell your car? Cancel plans for your children's education?

There is no guarantee that you'll always be able to work. But Manufacturers Life can guarantee you a regular monthly "pay" check which will help you maintain the standard of living you've worked so hard to achieve.

Call the Man from Manufacturers. He can help you set up a plan to meet your needs and your pocket-book. A plan that is guaranteed renewable to age 65 and which in the interval cannot be changed or cancelled by the Company no matter what happens to your health. The cost is reasonable; return of peace of mind starts the moment your plan is in effect.

Canadian scholars over the coals

OTTAWA (CP) — It isn't soologists were concerned only much what Canadian scholars about their research and do it, it's the way they go about with why they were doing it, the Royal Society of Canada. The current argument over whether American domination J. F. Graham of Dalhousie of Canadian business leads to University said some political and political control of scientists, economists and soci-not was an example, he said.

and there was often little co-operation between French and English departments in arranging a course of Canadian literature of both languages.

"Lukewarm response breeds lukewarm art breeds lukewarm response."

Canadians should encourage their minor artists with enough belief in their country to hope it would produce great ones.

Though "from some viewpoints" the literature had little merit, it gave a sense of nationality.

If Canadians painted, wrote plays and "even comic strips" about the ideas of thinkers like Northrop Frye and Marshall McLuhan, we would have a distinctive culture "before anyone had time to discover just when it became distinctive."

News flashes from around the world

PLYMOUTH, England — (Reuters) — Yachtsman Sir Francis Chichester became ill at a dinner party Monday night, the 65-year-old navigator, relaxing here after 225 days alone at sea on the 28,500-mile trip was examined by a doctor and advised to rest at home.

A hospital spokesman said: "He was slightly indisposed, it turned out, nothing serious."

BOSTON — (AP) — Spreradic violence broke out Monday in Boston's Negro sections, for the fourth night in a row, but police said the disturbances were "relatively minor."

Policeman Thomas Walsh suffered eye injuries when an object was thrown through the window of his cruiser.

PEORIA, Ill. — (AP) — Richard Speck, 25, was sentenced yesterday to die in the electric chair Sept. 1 for murdering eight young nurses in their Ontario dormitory last year.

In pronouncing a sentence, Judge Herbert C. Paschen of Circuit Court carried out the recommendation of the jury that convicted Speck April 15. The jury recommended death but the judge was not bound to impose the maximum penalty.

Detroit left winger Andy Bathgate, 34, off the list. Leo Boivin, a veteran of 15 years in the league with Boston and Detroit, was left off the Wings' list in a surprise move by coach Sid Abel who chose to go with the youth of Bob McCord.

NESTERENKO LET GO

Chicago Black Hawks, last season's league champions, discarded Eric Nesterenko and defencemen Ed Van Impe and Matt Ravlich in favor of Pierre Pilote, Pat Stapleton and the youth of Doug Jarrett.

Canadians, who lost in the Stanley Cup final to Toronto, did not protect goaltender Charlie Hodge, 33, who spent the early part of his 14-year pro career backing up Jacques Plante at Montreal.

Veteran left winger Dick Duff was among the missing from Canadiens' list as was Claude Larose, another right winger.

Boston Bruins, perennial last-place finishers in the old NHL setup, surprisingly went with goalie Gerry Cheevers over veteran Ed Johnston.

They retained the three players they picked up from Chicago in a recent trade—Phil Esposito, Fred Stanfield and right winger Ken Hodge. The Bruins also protected Eddie Shack, picked up from Toronto Maple Leafs for Murray Oliver. Oliver did not appear on the Leafs' list.

The draft got under way with the six new NHL teams drawing lots for order of choice of players who did not appear on the protected lists.

Rene Doyon
(4 years experience)

These men have collectively 393 years of selling experience. Most of them have lived in Sherbrooke – pay taxes here – many belong to local service clubs – many do work for different charitable organizations.

These men believe in the old fashioned concept of service – to see that you get the clothing you and your family need at sensible prices.

If sometimes when you are shopping, you get the feeling that you know more than the person serving – or that you would prefer to have someone serve you rather than just wrap your parcel, why not visit the Bon Marche and have one of these experienced people help you with your purchases. We at the Bon Marche are proud of our large staff of salesladies too. Only chivalry prevents us for listing their years of experience. All are friendly - able - well experienced women. Many are mothers and we even have some grandmothers, although you'd never know it.

D-DAY FOR NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE
TODAY IS THE TIME when the new six clubs in the NHL will see just what they will be getting for the $2,000,000 they paid to become members of the famous circuit.

THE SIX CLUBS in the circuits were obliged to hand over their protected list of 18 players to President Campbell yesterday by 5 p.m. and this morning the new entries were handed a complete list of both protected and those eligible for the draft.

THE DRAFT OPENED this morning at 10 a.m. and I will be on hand to witness it. This should be something as a total of 404 players are subject to the draft. If it isn't finished by 5 p.m. today it will continue tomorrow.

SEVERAL WRITERS have predicted just who will be protected but I am of the opinion that no one, except those connected with the clubs, knew ahead of time. I think it was just guess work on their part.

ONE THING THAT President Campbell pointed out is that there will be no draft-dodgers. If a player wishes to remain with his old club or will retire if picked it will be up to the drafting club to talk him out of retirement. If they can't then the player will be suspended by the NHL.

EACH NEW CLUB will receive 20 players in the expansion plan. With a few exceptions they will come from the present six clubs. A special system has been lined up by President Campbell and his office to direct the draft and it should be interesting.

THE SYSTEM has been outlined and I am sure it will run smoothly as President Campbell is a stickler for rules and order. It will be something to see the various heads of the clubs trying to out-fox each other. I think a lot of the veterans may return to their same old clubs, even if drafted, as no doubt some deals will be made on the side after.

FOR THE ORDER of the draft President Campbell will draw the names of the six new clubs from the Stanley Cup. The goalies will be the first to go in order of the draw. The second round it will be reversed and once that each club has two and when the old clubs have replaced their losses the big draft will commence.

ON EACH SUCCEEDING draft the top clubs move to the bottom and the others move up. For the first and second rounds each new club will take one player and the old club will add to its protected list. On the third call each new club will claim three players and there will be no fill-in on protected lists by the old clubs.

ONCE AN OLD CLUB has lost eighteen players it is through with the draft. When the draft is completed the 12 clubs must by 5 p.m., the following day, file their list of protected players, two goalie and 18 players. Time limits have been set on draft choices and each club will be allowed three 10-minute conference sessions but if they fail to select within three minutes they lose one conference period.

SO FROM THE looks of the rules it should be a very interesting day and certainly anyone connected with hockey should see. I think at the same time one will learn just who has been picked from the Quebec Senior League by the new clubs. I trust I don't confuse you too much but I figure it would be nice to put everyone in the picture and give them an idea how it will be run.

SHERBROOKE OLYMPICS have one road game before they return to the Sports Palace and no doubt Coach Bill Wilkinson and his squad will be happy to get back. They have lost two close tilts, to Valleyfield and Sorel, and this evening they travel to Granby.

THE OLYMPICS will play their only game this week at home Thursday evening when they host the Drummondville Athletics in what should be a real old battle. On Sunday they return to the A's so Coach Bill's crew has a few tough games this week on tap.

I KNOW THE schedule was arranged to stay away from the same nights as the baseball but just the same it will be tough on the Olympics. They play here Thursday and then don't perform on their home surface until June 17 and then they jump to July 1. So it looks like it will be a tough year for the Olympics. Here's hoping they can survive through until they hit the home stretch when they play ten out of their last 16 games at home.

THE ALOUETTES are certainly having more than their share of trouble just at present. They can't seem to win a game or even buy one. They have been out in front several times but then they seem to boot the big ones and this hurt badly.

COACH POOLE is having his troubles trying to juggle his lineup in order to post his first victory. Errors are hurting them badly, especially in the infield, but with the coming of the warm weather maybe it will be a little different. Poole and a few of the others are hitting the ball well but defensively they need help.

MANAGER COTE claims they are looking for reinforcements and hopes the fans will stay with them for the time being. Several players have been contacted and the club hopes to have the needed help shortly.

NHL STATISTICAL CARDS are out and if anyone is interested in securing one he can do so by writing the Publicity Department, NHL, No. 922 Sun Life Building, Montreal 2.

THE OFFICIAL opening of the Sher-Lenn Little League is slated Saturday and in keeping with past years President Ted Anderson and his committee have things pretty much under control.

PHIL GOVETTE, one of the mainstays of the New York Rangers, will be the guest of honor and knowing Phil I don't think the Little League could have picked anyone better suited for the job.

SO HOW ABOUT taking a few minutes Saturday and drop up to the Parade Grounds and give the kids a helping hand to officially open their season. President Ted and his executive are doing a great job in supplying fun for the kiddies and I think the least one can do is to drop around and give them some support.

THE LITTLE LEAGUE organization is a great community job and deserves all the help it can get. Everybody from the president down to the ump's do everything free. This is quite something when you consider all the time it takes. I wonder how many who stand on the sidelines and take pleasure in criticizing would be ready to do as much? So before you start to sound off think about that.

Vilas unbeaten in Cowansville softball league

COWANSVILLE — (Special) — After only two weeks of play in the young softball season, the Vilas team has shown the form which last year won them the championship as it remains the only undefeated team in the league.

Last week the well-balanced Vilas squad humiliated the Bruck Braves 38-2 in a game which featured a free-wheeling slugging spree.

Legion avenged its first 24-5 loss to Vilas by topping the Barons 20-9.

In another game, the Bruck Braves rebounded for a 12-9 squeaker over Union Carbon, scoring seven runs in the seventh inning.

Canada's National team accepted as sixth club at special meeting

At 10.22 last evening at the Social Club in Sherbrooke the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League completed their expansion to six clubs with the acceptance of Canada's second National team in the circuit, stated President Len O'Donnell.

The special meeting was called to study the demand for franchises from three clubs, the Nationals, Quebec City and Sorel. Granby's application had already been accepted at the beginning of the year making it a five-club circuit and the clubs decided to accept the Nationals as the sixth.

In the case of Quebec, who had deposited their $3,000 bond, it was decided to remain as a six club loop instead of seven for the coming season. The other teams in the circuit are, Drummondville, Sherbrooke, St. Hyacinthe, Victoriaville and Granby.

Prior to the special meeting the representatives of the National team, Gordon Juckes, Jackie McLeod, and Lionel Fleury, all members of the QAHA senior hockey committee met with the presidents of the club to discuss certain aspects of their demand. The special meeting, owing to this, was delayed an hour and a half.

President O'Donnell stated he was very glad that the Nationals had been accepted in the loop and was sure this move would pay off in more ways than one could imagine. "It is an honor for our league to have the National squad as a member of the circuit. I am of the opinion that the Nationals, as well as the other clubs, will derive plenty of benefits from this move and it will certainly give the league plenty of prestige," further added President O'Donnell.

Jackie McLeod claimed he was happy that the Nationals had been accepted in the league and that they would do their best to have a good club to be able to compete with the other teams.

"I haven't had the chance of seeing your league in action but Rev. Father Bauer attended one of Drummondville's games with Calgary and stated that without any doubt the league is the strongest senior circuit in Canada. You have proved that gentlemen with your records of the past three years in winning the Allan Cup twice. This is something in itself and I sincerely hope that our coming into the league will be a happy one and that the loop will benefit from it," stated Jackie McLeod, general manager of both National teams.

Following the acceptance Gordon Juckes and Jackie McLeod, who had made the trip from Winnipeg to attend the meeting left for Montreal for their trip back West. The meeting continued with other matters. The Nationals will be based in Hull and will play a certain number of games in Montreal's Paul Sauve Centre, especially during the week. This was approved as the new club figured this would reduce the travelling. The Nationals will be comprised mostly of students and this would cut down their time from their studies.

The number of games was settled also with the Nationals playing 40 instead of 50 like the other clubs. They would not take part in any of the league playoffs but would compete for league honors. This was approved since the students would have to study for their final exams in the month of April when the playoffs would be taking place.

Several changes to the constitution were discussed and approved and the date for the annual meeting was decided upon. This year it will be held in Sherbrooke, Tuesday, June 27. The meeting was guests of the Sherbrooke Beavers at the supper and reception.

New clubs pay $12,000,000 for franchises, draft today

MONTREAL (CP)—While today is the day of the expansion draft, Monday was the day of the selected short subjects. Scores of hockey men here for the National Hockey League's biggest convention in its 50-year history managed to touch on a myriad of subjects during Monday's sessions.

The Central Professional League emerged with a new structure.

The six new NHL clubs—Pittsburgh Penguins, Philadelphia Flyers, St. Louis Blues, Minnesota North Stars, California Seals and Los Angeles Kings—were accepted as full partners on presentation of their individual cheques of $2,000,000 to NHL president Clarence Campbell.

The NHL rules committee hammered out some changes, and rejected other proposals. It took the new West Division NHL teams two years to reach their objective and one club almost blew it at the final moment through no fault of its own.

The CPHL moved on an expansion program of its own, making the league alignment for next season eight teams instead of six.

At the end of three it was 6-5 in Senators' favor. Two runs in the first and three in the third giving them the lead. Orioles had eluded for two runs in the second and three in the third. Senators could only manage one more run in the three remaining innings, while the Orioles tied it up in the fourth and with a big seven run inning in the fifth to put the game on ice and ran out winner on the long end of a 13-7 count.

Bergeron and Jutras hit home runs for the losers. All the Orioles played well in the game. The losing pitcher was Provencencher and the winner Labreque.

Senators: 213 100—1 6 4
Orioles: 230 175—13 6 6
Halle, Provencencher (3) and Gregoire; Labreque and Deschenes.

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Los Angeles Kings, purchased the contracts of 29 players on the roster of Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians. Cooke's AHL farm team will also be known as the Kings.

After acceptance by Campbell of six new teams, the league president said he expects them to reach a parity with the old teams in playing ability in 1970.

TRANSIT SLOWED
Payment by Philadelphia president Bill Putnam was delayed when a power failure in Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey slowed telegraph transmission of a certified money transfer to a Montreal bank.

Putnam, whose club recently purchased a controlling interest in Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League, admitted afterwards the experience had left him shaken.

OPENS NEW DOORS
"Up until last season there were only about 20 new jobs a year available for youngsters trying to break into the NHL," Campbell said. "Now with the new teams, 120 more players will find work in the league and this will be an added incentive for youngsters—both in Canada and the United States—to look to hockey as a career."

The coming season will open Oct. 11 and close March 31, with the final draft of the schedule still awaiting approval.

That rules committee decided to restrict player rosters to two netminders and 18 others for the coming season. In other years it had been 18 skaters and two goalies until Dec. 1. For the playoffs the figures will be 18 and two instead of 17 and two goalies as in past years.

Als seek cure for their ills; St. Vincent replaces Poole as coach

Manager Len Cote of the Sherbrooke Alouettes has finally concurred with the local baseball fans on the fact that the team, in its present form, is not strong enough to compete in the Provincial Baseball League.

Other lineup changes tonight will include Lou Skinner at first-base, Gary Morley at second, Gerald Brooks at third, Willie Madisson and Este Birth will remain in their right and center-field slots while Willie Mastin, formerly of the Plessisville Braves, will occupy left-field.

Big Simon Perez will be after his first victory for the Als while Bob Koehler will be on the mound for the Indians.

In other Provincial action, the Plessisville Braves will play host to the Coaticook Canadians, Drummondville will be at Theftford and the Granby Cardinals will travel to Lachine.

Errors hurt as No Stars belted 26-9 by Town Boys in softball

Errors were a big factor in the Record No Stars 26-9 downfall in the Lennoxville Softball league game last night with the Town Boys were the winners.

Errors by the No Stars helped the Town Boys in their win. Hits by Ross, Nugent, and Mills gave the Town Boys a three-run lead at the end of the first inning.

J. Mills getting his third hit in a row started things off again for the Town Boys in the fourth followed by a single by Coates to push two more runs across the plate. Fred Rice, Ed McCurdy and R. Brae hit safely for the No Stars in the fourth duplicating the Town Boys by getting two runs. At this stage of the game the Town Boys were ahead by 11-6 count.

In the fifth inning with Dell and Nugent hitting raised the Town Boys total to 13. The No Stars went scoreless in their part of the fifth.

Twelve runs in the last two innings finished off the Town Boys scoring while the No Stars got two in the sixth and one in the seventh. The game ending with the Town Boys away out in front with a 26-9 win.

W. Nugent, J. Mills and A. Ross were the big guns for the winners, Wayne Crack and Fred Rice each with two hits were the big men in the No Stars' lineup.

Town Boys: 315 2357—26 16 2
No Stars: 022 2021—9 7 4
Chapman and Hay; R. Smith and R. Mills.

PARKER HARLING, OF BISHOPTON

BISHOPTON — The death occurred on Nov. 3 1966, at the Sherbrooke Hospital, of Parker Harling, one of Bishop's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens. He would have reached his 90th birthday within the month.

Mr. Harling was born at Partly Bridge, England on Nov. 27, 1876, the son of John and Margaret Harling. At the age of seven, he came to Canada with his parents, who settled near Bishop, where he attended the model school.

Always keenly interested in farming, in later years he purchased land and settled on a farm, where he took great pride in his herd of Ayrshires, which won many prizes at local fairs. He remained on this farm the rest of his life.

In May 1915 he married Elizabeth Ann Nelson, of Winnipeg, Man., formerly of England.

Seven children were born to them all of whom survive, Vernie, Mrs. Norman Peasley, of Lorne Park, Calif.; Vera, Mrs. Bill Harper, Bury; Thelma, Mrs. Arnold Harding, Lennoxville; Betty, Mrs. Gordon Butler, Willowdale, Ont.; Beverly, Mrs. George Smiley, Lennoxville; Nelson and Billy, of Bishopton.

Mr. Harling is survived by his children, six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He was predeceased many years ago by a brother, Harry, and step-brother, Herbert, and in April 1960, by his wife.

Always active in community life, Mr. Harling had served for many years on the local school board, in the Agricultural Society, and was a life member of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Funeral services were held on Nov. 6 at the Bishopton United Church, Rev. G. Lokhurst officiating. One of the deceased's favorite hymns, Abide With Me, was sung by the congregation.

The bearers were Lyford George, Horace Ainsworth, Ernest Bennett, Ernest McAulay, William Matthews and Fritz Leonard.

Interment was in Lakeside Cemetery.

Relatives and friends attending the funeral were from Ontario, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Coaticook, Iron Hill, Bury and the surrounding district.

MRS. ALBERT H. SYKES, OF LENNOXVILLE

Mrs. Glenna May Harvey, wife of the late Albert Sykes, died at her home on Church Street, Lennoxville, on May 1, 1967. Mr. Sykes predeceased her in June of 1957.

Mrs. Sykes was born in East Dunham on June 15, 1898, the daughter of Jonathan Harvey and his wife Mary Turner. She had six sisters and two brothers, only two of whom survive her, Marvin and Alice.

Left to mourn are two daughters, Mrs. Grady Bennett, of Bury, and Mrs. Helen Forrest, of Lennoxville, five grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

Prayers were held at Johnston's Funeral Home on May 4, followed by service in St. George's Anglican Church in Lennoxville. Archdeacon T. Matthews officiated. The choir sang Unto the Hills and Peace Perfect Peace.

Interment was in Malvern Cemetery. The bearers were Albert Farwell, Robert L. d. d., Harold Flinders, George Smiley and two grandsons, Leland Bennett and Robert Bennett.

MRS. ZIBA SMITH, OF GENEVA, N.Y.

Formerly of Richmond GENEVA, N.Y. — The death occurred suddenly on May 6, 1967, of Mrs. Ziba Smith, at her home in Geneva, N.Y.

Mrs. Smith, the former Emma Blanchard, was born at Richmond, Que., on Sept. 25, 1881, a daughter of the late Joseph Blanchard and his wife, Clarissa Burns. As a young girl she moved to Tilton, N.H., with her mother and brother Frank. On June 20, 1904, she was married to Ziba Smith, who predeceased her in May 1959. Following her marriage she moved to Geneva, where she spent the remainder of her life.

Mrs. Smith was a devoted and active member of the First Presbyterian Church and the Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by her brother Frank A. Blanchard, of Richmond, two nephews and two nieces.

The funeral service was held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, Geneva, conducted by Rev. J. Richard Hart. The bearers were Frederick Phillips, John J. Smeade, Walter E. Brees, Thomas E. Rodgers and James Swart, all friends of the deceased, and Charles F. Barnard, nephew of her late husband.

Interment was in the Glenwood Cemetery, Geneva.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Frank Blanchard and Harold Blanchard, a nephew, both of Richmond; Mrs. John Hawker, Kingsbury, Que., a niece, and Alfred Blanchard, nephew, of Port Credit, Ont.

Abercorn Guild, W.I. plan June rummage sale

ABERCORN — All Saint's Guild was entertained May 24 at the home of Mrs. Roland Lahue. One visitor attended.

Perennials have been put in between the cement steps at the front of the Church. The new Church sign has been placed on the front of the building.

The annual rummage sale is to be held at the W.I. Hall, on June 10, in conjunction with members of the Women's Institute.

Chance game was won by Mrs. Wighton. Two folding picnic tables were ordered. They are much needed items for the Guild food sales, a tea and card party.

Mrs. Caine is to be hostess for the June meeting at the home of Mrs. E. Riddle.

A social hour was spent. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pearl LaHue.

Two dressed dolls were donated by Mrs. Caine, who also contributed to the birthday box. The travelling apron is still "en route" collecting money patches.

It is hoped to have a Chinese elm hedge at the back of the Church, also a general clean-up of the church grounds, as well as straightening the board fences, east and west of the yard.

CELEBRATION AT STANSTEAD — A gathering of their families and a few friends was held at the Ursuline Convent, Stanstead, recently to mark the jubilees of two reverend sisters, who have served at the convent for over half a century. Above, from the left, are: Rev. Sister Mary of the Precious Blood, who was celebrating her diamond jubilee; Rev. Mother Marie du Bon Pasteur, observing her golden jubilee; and Rev. Mother Omer, mother superior of the convent.

Two Ursuline Convent sisters honored on marking jubilees

STANSTEAD — Saturday, May 27, was a day of celebration at the Ursuline Convent, when their families and a few friends gathered on invitation of the convent to celebrate the diamond jubilee of Reverend Sister Mary of the Precious Blood and the golden jubilee of Reverend Mother Marie du Bon Pasteur.

Approximately 200 visitors were received by Reverend Mother Omer, the Convent Mother Superior, and others of the religious, and all were presented with a gold colored ribbon engraved with the names of the celebrants and dates. After chatting a while, Mass was celebrated in the chapel where the Sanctuary was decorated with flowers and vessels used were gold.

The Mass was celebrated by Reverend Father Leon Pouliot, s.j., from Montreal, a cousin of Mother du Bon Pasteur and the sermon was by Abbe Raymond Delamarre, a former chaplain at the convent. In his sermon he paid tribute to the celebrants and the sacrifices they have made and thanksgiving to God for his many spiritual gifts to them.

The school choir sang. Others in the Sanctuary were Father

Aime Legendre, s.s.s., who came from Leicester, England, to be with his aunt, Sister of the Precious Blood, on this special occasion, Father Fernand Richard, o.m.i., of Plattsburg, N.Y., a cousin of Sister of the Precious Blood, also, Father Mainguy, St. Malo, Father Joseph Labreque, Father Rock Martel and Father Lucien Leblanc, both former chaplains at the convent, Father G. Lalibert, Father Paul Pouliot, a nephew of Mother du Bon Pasteur, from Manchester, N.H., Father Lajuenesse, Father Geo. Guay, Father Pierre Comeau, Father Joseph Dussault and Father St. George, who is the present chaplain at the school.

After Mass, a dinner was held in the cafeteria where at each end of the large room were the guests of the reverend sisters honored. The tables were decorated with spring flowers. Grace was sung by students of the school before and after the excellent repast and the students assisted the Reverend Sisters in serving.

Leaving the cafeteria, all assembled in the auditorium, where each of the celebrants was presented with gifts and good wishes, and the remainder of the time was spent visiting, making it a complete and happy day for the two being honored. Sister of the Precious Blood said: "I have been here 60 years and I have more than 60 relations here today". She was 88 years of age last February.

Sister of the Precious Blood was born Mary Louis Legendre, at Stornoway. As a young girl she went with her parents to Fitchburg, Mass., and in 1906 came to Stanstead Ursuline Convent. Her last vows were taken on July 19, 1907. In 1957, when she celebrated her golden jubilee she renewed her vows and did so again on Saturday, as did Mother du Bon Pasteur before they received the sacrament of Communion at the Anniversary Mass.

Sister of the Precious Blood was the last nun to take the black veil in the original chapel of the institution, built in 1884, for shortly after this the south wing of the monastery was built and the present chapel included in the addition.

Mother Mary du Bon Pasteur the former Marie Pouliot, was born at St. Francois de Xavier de Brompton and came here from Sherbrooke on Sept. 24, 1914. She took her last vows and the black veil on Feb. 2, 1917. She has been a teacher at the school.

Both reverend sisters are still busy people in their religious community. Sister of the Precious Blood is now in charge of the chaplain's quarters; she hustles about to have everything clean and comfortable for him and takes great pride and delight in her duties. Mother Marie du Bon Pasteur is still active in the teaching profession.

Together these nuns have put in 110 years of service to God and the students that attend the school. Among the guests were several of their pupils, now married with families of their own. There were also other nuns and relatives from many points of the United States and Canada.

Sutton ladies are honored at birthday party

SUTTON — A surprise birthday party was held May 26 at the home of George Patton in honor of Mrs. George Patton and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lynn Reid, who was observing her birthday on the following day.

DANVILLE — Mrs. Ernest Keefe and Mrs. Fred Austen were the guests of honor at a lovely tea held at the home of Mrs. James Johnson on May 26, when they were presented with Centennial coffee spoons as souvenirs of their stay during the time their husbands had charge of churches here.

Both ladies were given corsages of mums on their arrival. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion in yellow and white, with the spring flowers carrying out the color scheme.

Personalized napkins with a jaunty motif added to the table, where lighted tapers flanked a gorgeous spring bonnet cake, the work of Mrs. Douglas Hawkins.

Refreshments were served informally to those present, including Mrs. Allan Johnston, a special friend of Mrs. Austen, Mrs. L. G. Westman, and her guest, Mrs. Larry Withrow of Kite, Ga., who, with her husband had been a former resident of Danville. Rev. L. Withrow having been the previous minister at the Christian Advent Church; and Mrs. Hawkins.

RUBY UNIT OF U.C.W. MEETS

RICHMOND — The May meeting of the Ruby Unit of the U.C.W. of Richmond-Melbourne United Church was held in the church study on May 11. The regular date of the meeting was changed so as to coincide with the Maytime sale and tea, sponsored by the Melbourne Unit in the church hall to give members an opportunity to attend.

The leader, Mrs. Frederick Wintle, opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer in unison. Fees collected amounted to $10.50. Talent money amounting to $8.00 was also handed in.

Mrs. C. E. Manning, Mrs. Pearl Driver and Mrs. Hazel Hardy were appointed May visitors to the Wales Home.

A card of sympathy was sent to a member, Mrs. M. E. Lodge, on the death of her brother, Mr. L. Turner, formerly of Montreal, which occurred at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mrs. F. Roster was appointed to report on the kitchen needs. It was voted that the June meeting be discontinued, as well as July and August meetings.

Bonjour!

can be so many things

As hosts to the world, we owe our guests a warm, Québec-style welcome. "Bonjour!" is a welcoming word... but that's only a beginning if we want our visitors to be sure of their welcome. Let's spruce up our homes this summer! Be ingenious! It's saying "Bonjour!" when you plant flowers in your garden and trim your hedge, and it's "Bonjour!" when you paint your fence or clean up your balcony. There are so many ways to say "Bonjour!" to Expo 67 visitors! You say "Bonjour!" when you give up your seat on the bus... or when you help someone who needs an on-the-spot translator. "Bonjour!" is smiling when snarled traffic holds you up... and, when line-ups form at your favourite restaurant, use the time profitably! Smile and say "Bonjour!" Your hospitality will bring Expo visitors back to Québec... again and again.
