Memphremagog's green waters not pollution

The gremlin that has been painting the waters of Lake Memphremagog green over the last little while has finally been tracked down — it's simply one of Nature's many phenomena. More exactly, it's called the fall turnover of water which brings green colored algae to the surface and gives the water the same appearance. Last night, Louis Auger, a biologist for the Quebec Department of Wildlife Service, Tourism and Fishing, revealed the reason for the enigma in green that has caused citizens, fishermen and tourists to fly into a flap over the last few days, fearing that the lake might become polluted. The most furrowed brows and headscratching was centred around the Georgeville area. But, Mr. Auger is quick to say the water isn't polluted, it's still safe for Sherbrooke to guzzle and gulp, and it will not harm the fish. Dr. D. D. Durgin, Health Officer for Newport, Vermont, said earlier in the day that the green condition of the water was probably caused by algae. He said the water "is still safe for swimming," and in his opinion, although he emphasized he wasn't a biologist, "the water is not polluted."

By PETER VERRAL
(Record Staff Reporter)

Just what is the Fall turnover of water? Biologist Auger explains it this way. "It happens every Fall and Spring in all deep water lakes. When the water becomes cooler, the deep water at the bottom of the Lake rises to the top bringing mud and algae with it, while the top level goes to the bottom. The same thing will happen again this Spring," he says. The little green culprits that have been causing all the fuss, the algae, are plant growth usually found at the deepest level where the sun's rays can't penetrate. Mr. Auger says the algae grow from the division of cells and they need a lot of sunlight. The sunlight acts upon the pigment in the algae which contain chlorine, and this gives the algae its green color. So, when the algae comes up from the deeper water during the Fall turnover, it gives the water a green appearance. "You usually can't see the algae because of the deep water, but it doesn't dissolve in water and its easily identifiable when it does come to the surface," explains Mr. Auger. A number of people have been twitching their noses and complaining of a distasteful stench coming from the "green colored water." "The smell," says Mr. Auger, "is caused by the mud, algae, patrifaction, and organic matter, which rises to the surface of the water during the Fall turnover." How long will it take Lake Memphremagog to lose its recently acquired Fall coat of See "Memphremagog" Page 7

Lesage cautious in statements

Levesque's views not Liberal party policy

By CUIBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

Provincial Liberal Party Leader Jean Lesage addressing a group of partisans at Lake Mégantic last night declared that the memo by former Welfare Minister Rene Levesque proposing the eventual creation of a sovereign state of Quebec only expresses the views of one individual on Quebec problems.

But while the party leader was somewhat cautious in his comments on the Levesque announcement, his chief associate, Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, declared during an interview at Montebello that the Levesque proposals for an independent Quebec would not be accepted by the Liberal Federation at its annual convention next month.

Mr. Lesage has been touring a number of Eastern Townships ridings this week and spoke to a rally last night in Lake Mégantic.

Discussing the Levesque document, he said that it was just a proposal that would be studied along with many others at the Federation congress.

"This is a working document prepared by Mr. Levesque in which the member for Laurier presents what he believes is the ideal solution for the constitutional problems of French Canada," Mr. Lesage said.

"Personally, all I know about the document is what I have seen in the papers and I do not wish to pass judgment on the document."

However, in an interview at Montebello, Mr. Kierans was more emphatic.

He declared that the provincial Liberal party will not accept the appeal by Mr. Levesque because it believes in a strong Quebec in a united Canada.

"Everyone has the right to choose his own beliefs and his own policy, even Rene Levesque," said Mr. Kierans, "but I can assure you that the Liberal party is not only non-separatist, it is anti-separatist."

Mr. Lesage winds up his Eastern Townships tour with a visit to various centres in Wolfe County today, the final item on the program being a press conference at Garthby late this afternoon.

He spent Monday in Mégantic County and Tuesday in Frontenac.

Problems loom

TORONTO (CP) — A McGill University economist said Tuesday Canada's mild recession is ending but labor problems and a tightening of corporate profits loom.

Donald Armstrong, of the graduate school of business at the Montreal university, told the Toronto chapter of the American Marketing Association that United States economic activity has declined by almost three points on the industrial index. Canada's decline had been less.

Thant, in reference to peacekeeping, said that the inability to agree on "guidelines and group rules" for a UN force is due to fundamental differences on the interpretation of the UN charter with regard to UN activity in behalf of peace.

Radiologists plan emergency services

MONTREAL (CP) — Radiologist association executives met behind closed doors Tuesday night to consider how to make best possible use of emergency x-ray services said by their president to be faltering.

Dr. Marvin Loughheed, president of the association grouping 190 Quebec x-ray specialists—most of whom have resigned in a dispute with the provincial government—said Tuesday it now is impossible to give emergency radiology service to all who require it.

"There just are not enough specialists available to cope with all the emergency cases," Dr. Loughheed said.

Emergency service has been maintained in hard-pressed hospitals since Aug. 7 when the resignations started.

Reporters were not admitted to the Tuesday night meeting, which Dr. Loughheed said would attempt to establish a system to allow the best possible use of the available radiologists who handle emergency cases.

They said the RIN, headed by Pierre Bourgault, plans a complete re-examination of its program and strategy, as well as consideration of the possibility of uniting all persons working for Quebec independence. The convention is the party's seventh.

At another closed meeting Tuesday night, members of the Quebec Federation of Medical Specialists, which has given moral support to the radiologists met to consider the dispute.

Negotiations between the government and the radiologists broke down last Tuesday and have not been reconvened.

The radiologists originally asked that Quebec's hospital insurance plan be extended to cover x-ray examinations and treatment carried out in private offices. Such examinations done in out-patient hospital clinics are already covered by the insurance benefits.

The government, in negotiations, granted this original request but stipulated it must

Separatist unity is possible

QUEBEC (CP) — Possible formation of a common front uniting all separatist elements in Quebec will be a main item on the agenda of next month's annual convention of the Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale.

The separatist party meeting, to be held Oct. 7-8 in Trois-Rivières, is expected to draw as many as 800 delegates, most of them from Montreal and Quebec City areas, organizers said here Tuesday.

They said the RIN, headed by Pierre Bourgault, plans a complete re-examination of its program and strategy, as well as consideration of the possibility of uniting all persons working for Quebec independence. The convention is the party's seventh.

Police claim no choice in 'Molly' killing

MONTREAL (CP) — Machine-Gun Molly, pint-sized mother of two who police said could handle a machine-gun "like a commando," was shot and killed by Montreal North police Tuesday as she sat injured behind the wheel of a crashed stolen car shortly after a bank robbery.

"Our men had no choice," said a police spokesman. "She had a revolver trained on them, so they took no chances and opened fire."

One suspected accomplice in the $3,000 holdup was arrested soon after Machine-Gun Molly's car had plowed broadside into a Montreal Transportation Commission bus. Two others were arrested later in raids on homes.

The woman, whose real name was Monica Proietti, according to police, was hit three times—once in the head and twice in the chest—by police bullets.

Police said they believed the 27-year-old, 95-pound woman had taken part in more than 20 armed robberies in the Montreal area during the last year. She was free at the time on $1,500 bail pending trial on a charge of assisting in the theft of an automobile.

Adrien Tremblay of Montreal North was pistol-whipped by the bandits, who commanded his car. He was released after treatment at hospital.

The chase began soon after police had answered a burglar alarm at the Desjardins credit union on Vital St. The fleeing bandits tried to switch to a second car but changed their minds as police converged on them.

Police had to run for cover as the bandits opened fire with machine-guns, a 12-gauge shotgun and a revolver.

Police were returning the fire from behind a parked car when Tremblay drove his car into the cross-fire.

Seeing their chance, the bandits forced Tremblay from his car.

Goldwater remarked in the Monday night program that some of his supporters said they did not like what the networks were reporting from San Francisco.

UN seeks lasting solution

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The UN General Assembly's new president called on the 122 member states to embark today on a study aimed at finding a "lasting solution" to the Middle East problem.

Corneliu Manescu, foreign minister of Romania, is the first Communist to be assembly president. He was elected Tuesday in a secret ballot with 122 votes for him to one for Tanzanian Ambassador John W. S. Malecela.

The assembly's prime duty, said Manescu, 51, is "to concentrate its efforts upon a thorough study of this Middle East problem that could lead to a lasting solution in keeping with the vital interests of the peoples of that region."

The dispute was handed to the assembly by the emergency session that met after the six-day June war between Israel and the Arabs but could agree on no solutions. The Middle East dilemma headed the list of 96 items on the proposed agenda for the 22nd session.

Other key issues were the problem of substituting UN for South African control in South West Africa, the question of seating Communist China and the means of achieving disarmament.

A Big Four may meet

The Middle East is a possibility with the arrival in New York of foreign ministers from the Soviet Union, France, Britain and the United States.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown arrives today and U.S. State Secretary Dean

Rusk is expected Sunday night. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is already in New York and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville is due tonight.

The Soviet Union, however, turned down a French proposal last spring, for a Big Four summit on the Middle East.

UN Secretary-General U Thant suggested Tuesday that the Security Council hold a private meeting among foreign ministers at the assembly to seek a consensus on peace issues within UN competence.

IMAGE TARNISHED

Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, in an interview outside the assembly chamber, said "there is no doubt that the UN's image is tarnished." However, he added, "I feel strongly that it is valid to make the distinction between the organization and the members of the organization. What is wrong is not the UN but the background of world events against which the UN operates and the attitude taken toward UN obligations by some members."

This echoed the oft-expressed complaint of Thant that disregard by some members of the UN charter and basic differences between the major powers, particularly the Soviet Union and the United States, work against the United Nations.

Martin said he was particularly pleased that Thant, in his annual report, "came out so strongly" in favor of a UN peacekeeping role, emphasizing "the very points that for three years we have been espousing."

Thant, in reference to peacekeeping, said that the inability to agree on "guidelines and group rules" for a UN force is due to fundamental differences on the interpretation of the UN charter with regard to UN activity in behalf of peace.

Members quit over U.S. policy

SAIGON (CP) — Four leading members of the largest U.S. volunteer relief organization in South Vietnam announced today they resigned in protest against U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The resignations followed an open letter to President Johnson signed by 49 members of the U.S. International Voluntary Services organization, calling for steps to de-escalate the war and a halt to bombing of North Vietnam.

IVS—the largest private relief group of its kind in South Vietnam—has about 170 members working in agriculture, education and community development in the countryside.

The letter charged that U.S. war policies are "self-defeating" and asserted that the U.S. "continues to let self-interest stand in the way of self-determination in Vietnam."

The trend has been escalation of the war," the letter said. "We say the trend should be de-escalation."

POPULATION SUFFERING

The five-page letter said the suffering of the ordinary population was "greatly intensified by today's American presence" and it questioned results obtained from both the refugee program and the vital rural pacification plan.

The letter contended there was more anti-Americanism in Vietnam now than ever before.

Resigning are Don Luce of East Calais, Vt., director of IVS in Vietnam who has been in the country for nine years; Gene Stolz of Aurora, Ohio, associate director who has been here four years; and William Meyers of Souderton, Pa. and Don Runk of Arcata, Calif., who have worked in Vietnam for three and two years respectively.

The union was said to have stood firm on its demand for a $3.50 hourly wage rate for fully qualified drivers, while the commission held to its offer to after midnight Sunday, Sept. 24.

1970 en bloc elections are one reason for Jeanson's retiring

A decision to step down from any political office, especially when one has held the position for more than 12 years is not taken easily and without some heart-burning. Ald. J. M. Jeanson, who has represented the West Ward in the City Council since 1955, declared during an interview Tuesday in which he gave his reasons for abandoning the municipal field.

Jeanson said that he had decided to reduce his activities, especially those not directly concerned with his construction business.

The position of alderman required much time and he decided to retire rather than seek another term.

Explaining his delay in announcing his decision, Mr. Jeanson said he had been under the impression that the first en bloc elections for the Council would be held next year, in which case he would have sought another term and then retired.

But when it was decided that en bloc elections would not be held until 1970, he decided to withdraw from municipal politics.

"Another reason for quitting the municipal arena," Mr. Jeanson continued, "is that the enterprises which I have been directing for several years are demanding much more of my time and my capacity is not the same."

The alderman said that he had worked unceasingly to provide Sherbrooke with a new water supply.

His many public duties, he commented, were interfering with his enjoyment of his family life, as when he undertook a task he wanted to give the best of himself.

As for the future, Mr. Jeanson said he wanted to travel and visit many countries he has not seen, among them Japan, Germany, China and Russia.

In addition to directing his own company, Mr. Jeanson is also vice-president and general manager of the company building the University medical centre, is chairman of the committee of construction and development for Hotel Dieu Hospital and for the past 10 years has been president of the credit committee of l'Union regional des Caisses Populaires Desjardins.

Mr. Jeanson said he would always have the best memories of his service on the Council and felt he had been a member of a team that had done much for the advancement of the city.

In addition to the construction of the Memphremagog aqueduct, he had been instrumental in the opening of the Acadie street viaduct and had been chairman of the special committee on urban renewal and the providing of low rent housing.

Now 65 years of age, Mr.

Train hits log truck

SAWYERVILLE — (Staff) — A slow moving freight train collided with a log truck yesterday noon in downtown Sawyerville.

A truck driven by Elmer Carrier of Errol, N.H., was struck broadside by the train just after the cab of his truck had crossed the tracks. The train hit the load of logs on his truck only.

Mr. Carrier was not injured even though the train pushed the truck approximately 20 feet up the track.

There was no damage to the cab of the truck but heavy damage was reported to the trailer which was carrying the logs.

The train was derailed and a ten-foot section of rails was torn out.

It took workers until 3:30 to remove the twisted trailer and to place the train back on the tracks.

Art group holds 1st fall meet

The Sherbrooke Association for the Advancement of the Arts held its first fall meeting last night in the Galerie des Arts at University of Sherbrooke to discuss plans for its current recruitment campaign.

It was also announced that a drawing for a $400 oil painting by the well-known artist, Stanley Cosgrove, will be postponed from Sept. 21 to Oct. 5 and tickets are still on sale for a dollar.

The painting is now on display in the Galerie des Arts.

Mrs. Marcel Lafreniere, president of the association, said there are presently 200 members and the Association is hoping to recruit 500 new members.

Anyone interested in the arts may join at no cost, and it is hoped many English-speaking art lovers will join the association.

Activities on this year's agenda include: the debut of Quebec artists guided tours to the Montreal museum of fine arts and also to various museums around the Eastern Townships.

In addition, there will be forums on different subjects and documentary films on celebrated artists. For the members' children, there will be free puppet shows, films and invited artists.

Tips on public speaking given to city Rotary club

Good vocabulary and simple speech, deliver it and take its consequences."

Said Dr. Preston: "You just don't say a few things that you have jotted down on a menu."

Dr. Preston said the hardest of all speech to make is the "display speech," the after-dinner, wedding and funeral type of address.

He advised researching the subject of the speech, making a rough written draft which should be later boiled down to notes.

The finished product should be two small cards of notes.

Dr. Preston cautioned against reading from a written text or memorizing a written speech. "It will sound like an essay or a declaration," he said.

Other pointers listed by the public speaker were to keep quotations brief — not longer than two lines and to avoid reciprocal questions, self-depreciation, lengthy statistics, attacking others in the speech and off-color remarks.

To deal with nervous tension, Dr. Preston suggested comfortable clothes to suit the occasion and advised against over-eating or indulging in large meals, narcotics, drugs, and alcohol.

He said that although the public speaker does not receive material rewards, public speaking is "closely akin to exercise of power. It is its own stimulant."

"Although few people rise to the top, the ones that do are rarely forgotten."

He also listed articulation as being equally important and extremely difficult to achieve and pointed out how Winston Churchill overcame with difficulty his tendency to lisp.

"Public speaking," said Dr. Preston, "is an art... a great art... and unlike other arts here the speaker does everything. He has to create the

Rotary Club opens campaign

The Sherbrooke Rotary Club last night began its annual campaign to raise funds for the organization's welfare projects.

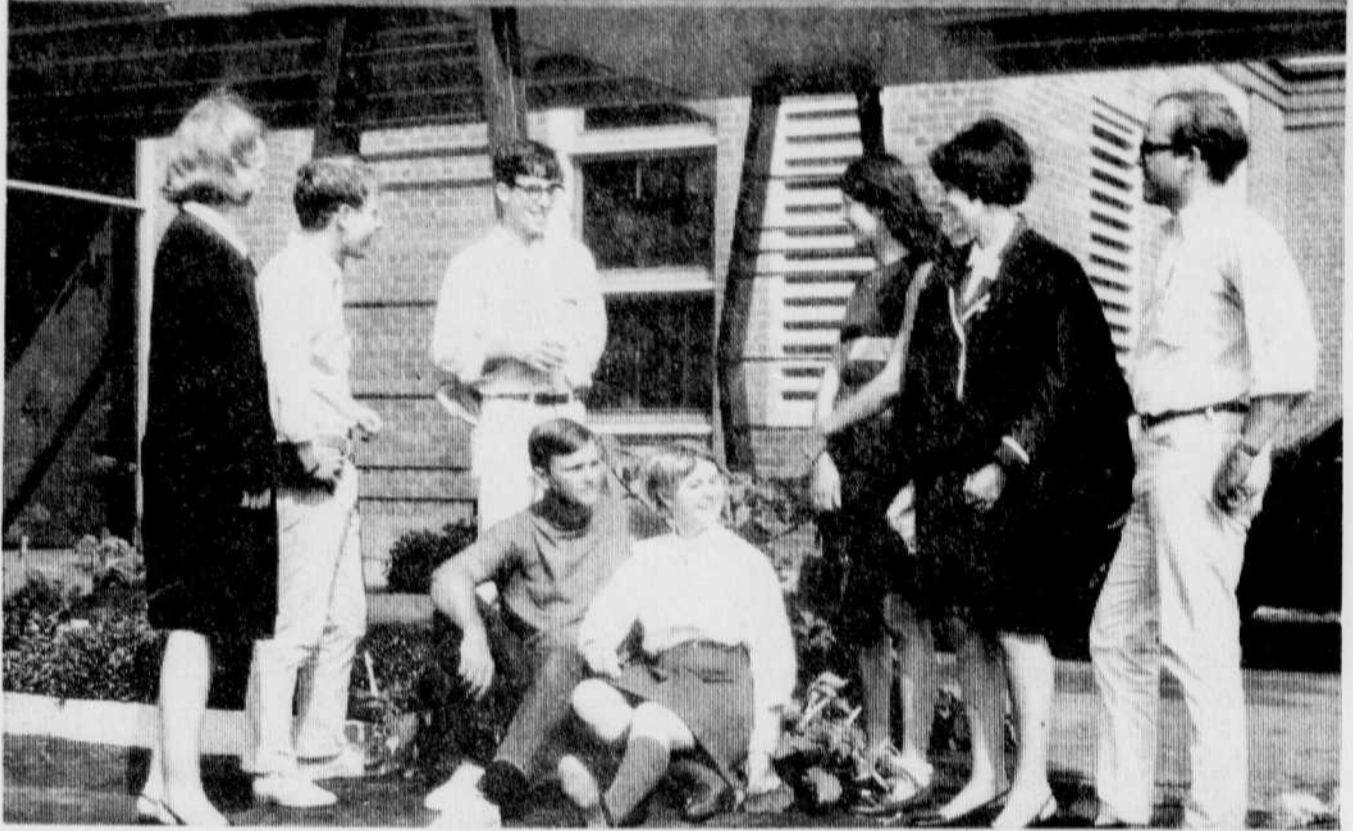

Last year the club's appeal was well-supported and the campaign drew a total of $11,091. This year's objective is $12,500.

The funds last year were utilized for crippled children's work and camp, little league, air cadets, youth projects, international service and rural urban committee, service and welfare projects including shoes for needy children.

Bishop's University a hive of activity as students preparing for another year

This week marks the return to the ivy-covered walls of the alma mater for some Bishop's University Students and a journey into a new world for others.

Those who are returning get busy renewing old friendships which were left suspended over the long summer, while the newcomers, a little shy perhaps, try to get the feel of their new surroundings.

It takes time, however, since their environment is completely different from what they have known for most of their lives.

Gone is the home sweet home and gone is the parental domination against which they had rebelled for the better part of their time in high school.

Instead they are left alone in a world of imposing red brick buildings and unfamiliar faces which reflect the same uncertainty as they are feeling.

It happens every September in every college and university across the country as it happens here at Bishop's this week.

Students arriving here for the first time, however, have a dedicated team working for them to facilitate their entry into the university.

This is the Introduction Committee headed this year by Richard Fitzsimmons, the second year representative on the Student Executive Committee who has worked with his introduction crew for some time now preparing a program to help newcomers feel at home on the campus as soon as possible.

The idea of the program is to get students together in planned activities so that they can get to know each other. It is effective even though the committee's methods seem as though they have been devised with the aim of causing a maximum of discomfort.

Students began arriving Monday and were immediately launched into a round of activities which included campus tours, a massive tea given by Principal Mr. Oden Glass and greetings by faculty heads as well as student leaders.

This was followed by course seminars, Student Council meetings, chapel talks, registration and of all things a computer dance.

The fun will continue with a Cystic Fibrosis shoeshine Saturday which will see the frosh on hands and knees all day for a worthy cause, a compulsory freshman track meet and a hootenanny.

Surely one of the highlights (or possibly low points) in the life of any freshman is the Frosh Inspection.

This annual event will take place on Monday morning this year and will see the newcomers routed out of bed at 6 a.m. and hustled into outfits which feature pyjamas worn backwards with shorts and sneakers for the boys and different color socks along with 12 pigtails for the girls.

After being assembled on the soccer field, this rag-tag army will then be marched around the campus to suffer the abuse of upperclassmen.

Also on the program are freshman skits, a golf tournament, a carwash, a pep rally and a football game which will climax the whole grind.

If any local resident from now till Thanksgiving happens to encounter a lad or young lady wearing a placard on front and back bearing a name and address as well as a beamie, they are not escapees; it is the frosh outfit at Bishop's and all part of the program.

On the more serious side, students are being assigned to

Camporee at Baldwin's Mills is a huge success

BALDWIN'S MILLS (Special) — The Stanstead District Centennial Camporee held on the weekend of Sept. 15 to 17 was one of complete success and satisfaction to the district executive.

The weatherman co-operated by giving perfect weather, days bright and warm with sunshine, nights cool with a full moon, ideal for camping at Camp Piskart at Lake Lyster. The campsite was on a hill with pine trees as a background and overlooking the lake and majestic Barnston Pinnacle.

Attending were 31 boys and nine leaders.

Registration was on Friday night about 5 p.m. and tents were set up followed by a warm "mug-up" three hours later, then into bed.

Saturday morning, the cooks were up at 7:30 with breakfast an hour later. Dishes were done and the flag break was at 9:30 after with the troops, Magog, North Hatley, Ayer's Cliff and Stanstead, set to work on their pioneering work. The Magog troop set up two birch pole tables with seats lashed to them, and gateways made by all the troops.

After lunch the boys and men hiked up Barnston Pinnacle, to the very top. They carried small granite blocks from the Beebe quarries, mortar, minerals and stones for their centennial memorial.

This is in the design of a circle of the granite which forms an edge ridge, mortar rocks in the center form the Centennial of Canada symbol which is filled with the minerals and rocks gathered by the boys.

Around the inner edge of the ridge is the engraving, "September 16 - IX - 1967 - Stanstead District Boy Scouts."

Saturday another feature was a scavenger hunt of things of nature.

The flag lowering took place at 6:30 p.m. then cars began to arrive, for the parents and some friends had been invited to the campsite for the centennial campfire. The visitors were guided about the campsite then all gathered at the campfire location where Tom Pecteau of the North Hatley troop had constructed a fine fire in pyramid design.

Canada was the theme and the troops had an exchange of provincial logs at the fire on Saturday night, the boys to represent the various ten Provinces laid the log on the fire.

The Stanstead scouts represented the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, later they represented British Columbia, Terry Soutiere, one of the Stanstead troop assistant masters, gave a brief outline of the Maritimes history when John Cabot in 1497 was the first explorer.

They ended their participation of the Maritimes by singing a sea shanty, led by Mr. Soutiere, Tom Black and Harland Hodgman.

North Hatley boys represented Newfoundland, and one of the scouts spoke in a very fine way of the economies and early history of this 10th province of Canada.

Ontario, was by the scouts of Ayer's Cliff, and with considerable humour presented skits of a tour of the province by (make believe) cars.

Magog troop represented Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba. They too presented some fine skits and referred to the economy of the three provinces.

Michael Goode, D.S.S.M. came in for some of the sport in a skit as did six others, masters and boy scouts in the two skits.

Stanstead scouts then represented British Columbia with notes on its economies. As each province was represented they placed a design on a blue blackboard and when completed, with a map of Canada.

Led by district scouts, all sang Canada's centennial song, This Land is Our Land, and other songs around the glowing campfire.

Howard Aikman, District Commissioner, as the program started spoke about the centennial logs and about the scouting weekend, he also expressed

Scuba diver finds old canoe; may be rare historical find

A sunken canoe believed to be either from the late 17th century or the early 18th century has been found in Lake Memphremagog just above Georgeville.

While enjoying an afternoon of scuba diving, John Meagher of 2541 Vaudreuil Street, Sherbrooke, happened to notice what first appeared to be a large log.

Upon closer observation he realized that it actually was and decided to bring the sunken canoe to the top with the help of a friend, Jim Wilkin.

The canoe is presently in a garage in Georgeville where it is drying out before examiners will try to verify the authenticity of the find.

J. D. Ferguson, president of the Stanstead Historical Society, was not sure of the period or the origin of the canoe and therefore sent a letter to Ottawa asking for positive identification. Mr. Meagher said. He said the canoe is 15 feet long, three feet in diameter and was resting in 35 feet of water.

It is believed to an oak dug-out and if it authentic it may be one of the rarest historic Canadian findings in many years, Mr. Meagher said.

Sutton Township Council takes lead

In appointing a special committee to study the naming of roads, both main and secondary, within the municipality, the Sutton Township Council has undertaken a project which deserves close study by other rural municipal groups.

One of the greatest problems faced by a stranger seeking to locate a resident of a rural area is to obtain accurate directions.

Many roads are nameless or have too many names, with the result that the visitor often is told to continue straight for about half a mile then turn right for about two miles and then turn left.

This might be fine if the person giving the directions had an accurate sense of distance but unfortunately the approximations often bear little relation to the actual mileage involved.

Much of this difficulty could be resolved if the questioner could be told to follow East highway until he came to North Road and then along Lake drive — provided signboards were placed at each road junction.

Another interesting, if perhaps less practical, aspect of the undertaking is the possibility for preserving the history of the region.

Properly prepared, a road-naming system could be linked to prominent personages or events — the signs recalling pioneer settlers or some notable event that may have occurred in the area.

Perhaps the cost might be too great, but consideration also could be given to erecting a plaque at main intersections telling why the road carries the name it does.

In itself, the Sutton Township project is important but to prove really effective it should receive the co-operation of all municipal authorities in the region so that an entire region could be classified on a clear and logical basis.

Cabinet changes satisfy everybody

The most impressive feature of the cabinet changes announced by Prime Minister Pearson Monday is that they are most satisfactory for the principal parties concerned.

Former Transport Minister Jack Pickersgill finds himself in a job he believes is ideally tailored to his needs and abilities.

And it should be because he was the man responsible for blueprinting the newly-created Canadian Transport Commission of which he will become first president.

Few politicians, indeed, are offered such a golden opportunity.

Most of them, when they wish to leave active politics, are compelled to accept some existing position which for all its attractiveness may have certain unpleasant aspects the nominee must be prepared to accept.

By transferring to the Transport Department, former Defence Minister Paul Hellyer is given a respite from the troubles surrounding his now-completed effort to unify the armed forces.

Probably he hopes that much of the controversy connected with his unification attempts will be forgotten after he changes portfolios.

And the job of Transport Minister will be infinitely easier with the appointment of the Transport Commission to handle much of the work, giving Mr. Hellyer an opportunity to organize his campaign for the party leadership when Prime Minister Pearson steps down.

Of course, the new Defence Minister, Leo Cadieux, must be satisfied at receiving a full-scale cabinet post after serving as Associate Defence Minister for some time.

All-in-all, there is nothing earth-shaking in the limited cabinet re-organization announced by the Prime Minister.

Vietnamese children need warm clothing

Sir: May I use your letter column for this appeal for the children of Viet Nam. Though this is a tropical country the winter season is chilly, and many children who have had to flee from bombed or burned homes are without adequate shelter, and are in need of warm clothing and bedding.

Concerned women across Canada are helping to fill this need. Small blankets for babies — size 36 x 36, 36 x 40 or 40 x 40 — are especially needed.

These can be made economically from squares knitted of left-over dark-colored yarn, or pieced from light-weight, dark-colored woolen material such as tailor's swatches. Patterns are available for garments for babies and small children. All material must be dark.

Light or bright colors pick up the light from flares dropped by planes searching for targets, and many expose these little ones to injury or death.

Articles are sent by the Vancouver Committee for Civilian Relief for Viet Nam, and are divided among the Red Cross Societies of the three divisions of the country according to population.

This is one concrete thing that can be done for these small, innocent victims of war.

For further information and patterns write Mrs. R. Knight R.R. No. 2, Ayer's Cliff, Que. or call 876-2878.

Heath needs more political flair

Britain's Labor government has just taken a drubbing at the annual conference of the Trades Union Congress

Christian Science Monitor

— although there was never any question of the unions switching their allegiance to the Conservatives. Even within the Labor Party itself, murmuring against Prime Minister Harold Wilson — particularly from the left — is more audible than at any time since he took up residence in Downing Street. Mr. Wilson's assumption of control at the Department of Economic Affairs is an indirect admission that government economic policy is still in the toils, after three years with Labor at the controls. And abroad, one has only to cite Rhodesia and Aden to be reminded of the frustration of Labor hopes.

Mr. Heath will need to show greater political flair than hitherto to be able to exploit Labor's vulnerability when next the British electorate is consulted.

Mr. Heath's appointment of a new party chairman is so obviously part of his plan to lead the Conservatives back to office. But even with this, events — or somebody's sniping behind the scenes — seemed to conspire to fuz up any image of buoyant decisiveness which the move was intended to establish. Last year, when a change in the air, Mr. Heath was impeded — by a premature and perhaps tendentious press leak — from doing anything at all. This year, there has been a similar leak. Mr. Heath went ahead with the change this time — but made the mistake of overreacting to the newspaper report.

Many of Prime Minister Wilson's critics abhor him for what they think is his excessively clever political sleight of hand. Certainly they would not wish Mr. Heath to pattern himself on the Conservative's pattern of the newspaper report.

At first sight, this would seem to make Labor unusually vulnerable to siege or onslaught from the Conservative Opposition. Yet Opposition leader Edward Heath still seems unable to get his party buoyantly off the runway into a steady climb toward returning to office at the next general election. That election could still be four years away — which still gives the Conservatives plenty of time. But

Men get a kick out of realism

NATO W. German training camp essential for the professional

By BOB TRIMBEE

SOEST, West Germany (CP)—A posting to this Rhineland area is vital to a career soldier as training camps for professional athletes.

"Training is a year-round thing here," said Capt. Bob Billings of Kingston, Ont. "There's no setting in Canada as realistic as what we have here. The Soltau-Luneburg site has everything—a variety of terrain, abandoned villages for house-to-house clearing exercises and river crossings.

"Men get a bigger kick from the training because of its realism. It allows them to get a better perspective of what the operations are intended to accomplish."

The 6,000 men of the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group and its supporting units are based in a series of forts grouped near the German cities of Soest, Iserlohn, Hemer and Werl. The headquarters unit is at Fort Henry near this Westphalian community.

The major brigade exercise is a three-week October affair in the Soltau district 50 miles south of Hamburg. The site is 25 miles long and an average of five miles wide.

Building for the October scrimmage begins the previous November when refresher courses are conducted. December to March is reserved for tactical work at the platoon level. April to June for firing operations at Sennelager, July and August for holidays and September for equipment repairs and last-minute exercise preparations.

Exercises outside this region are arranged through a special service liaison group which forwards requests from various NATO groups to civilian authorities involved. Exercises notices are posted five weeks in advance in the zone selected to give civilians time to lodge any protests.

These involve air support units. Until recently airmen from other NATO countries joined the Canadians, but now that the RCAF's European squadrons have switched to low-level ground support operations from high-altitude interception work they are becoming the prime air support units for Canadian ground forces.

While Canadians can train anywhere in West Germany as long as they get prior clearance from civilian authorities, the emphasis is placed on building toward the October sessions at Soltau.

"We use the same site as the British Army of the Rhine," said Billings. "But it's a pretty busy area and we have to reserve it a year in advance.

"The exercises are similar to those at home, but the realism is much greater. The population is always close by whereas in Canada our training sites are pretty well removed from inhabited regions."

Women gained their first limited federal franchise with the passing of the Wartime Elections Act 50 years ago today—in 1917. The act gave the vote to women who had close relatives in the armed services. Complete enfranchisement came in the following year but because the Elections Act of 1918 bestowed only federal franchise, women in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Quebec still had no provincial vote. Provincial franchise in New Brunswick came in 1919 followed by Prince Edward Island in 1922 and much later in Quebec in 1940.

Black smoke once a joy

Russia struggles with pollution

By AARON R. EINFRANK

MOSCOW — (TNS) — Back in the early days of the Communist experiment here a smokestack belching black smoke was a joy to every comrade. In fact, the blacker the better.

Even more likely to arouse ecstasy among the comrades was the vision of a power dam — which, thanks to Lenin's obsession with electrification, Bolsheviks regarded in the same way a religiously devout person might regard a church steeple.

Belching smoke stacks, power dams, and the other paraphernalia of industrialization were the symbols of what Communism was promising the masses. In a word, Progress!

Fifty years after the birth of the Soviet state, industrialization and electrification are still hallowed concepts. But Soviet citizens, and even the government, have come to realize that there is a dark side to the progress picture — pollution of air and water plus the destruction of wild life.

In a centrally-planned economy, it should be easy to eliminate pollution.

Factory managers, who must meet production and (now) profit quotas, may not find palatable, the costly and time-consuming anti-pollution programs which might cut profits and production.

An executive in charge of building a dam or a fuel-burning power station may not want to see his grandiose scheme interfered with by protests from nature lovers.

Due to the seriousness of the pollution problem, the government has finally begun to take groping steps. But the system is not as centralized as it looks on paper. The paper plans often are not translated into reality.

POLLUTION WIDESPREAD

Major bodies of water, including the Caspian Sea, Lake Bakal, and Lake Sevan, have been seriously polluted and/or have had their water levels reduced through industrial power developments.

As for air pollution, one Moscow paper has suggested policemen be equipped with pollution meters so they can detect sources of this pollution.

One scheme was to preserve the fish by building slits in dams so that the fish could swim upstream to breed, but the fish didn't co-operate.

Nuclear power plants might be the answer to much of the problems caused by dams and conventional fuel-burning power stations. But the Soviet Union is still engaged in the development of massive conventional — fuel power plants rather than making an all-out effort in the direction of nuclear energy.

Naturally, much of the problem is not due to "public be dammers". There are legitimate conflicts of interest. People need electricity, fishing grounds and factories as well as clean air. Much of the Soviet industrial plant is backward and inefficient, which means unnecessary wastage. Then there is the problem that the Soviet Union, at present, lacks the refined technology and research facilities to tackle the pollution problem, a fact admitted in the Soviet press.

YOUTH SPEAKS OUT

In the Communist youth newspaper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, Professor K. Kostrin wrote:

"It is becoming more and more difficult to supply to the population and the economy with water, particularly in the more densely populated regions. This is due in part to uneven distribution of industrial enterprises, many of which — oil refining and chemical plants for instance — consume a great deal of water. The purification installations now in operation at industrial enterprises and in cities do not ensure bodies of water against pollutants."

Prof. Kostrin highlighted the lack of anti-pollution training and technology when he wrote:

"Our higher educational institutions that train men for the petroleum industry do not train specialists for the water-supply and water-disposal shops of the oil refining and chemical enterprises. The general technology courses, strange as it seems, do not give the students specialized knowledge in the sphere of water purification..."

"Another, no less important, reason is that the water disposal shops are considered auxiliary at the enterprises. The salaries here are lower than in the technological shops, the opportunities to earn bonuses are fewer, and even in the matter of retirement pensions their employees are in a less advantageous situation than those in other shops."

Beulah lashes Texas coast

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Beulah lashed Brownsville with 100-mile-an-hour winds early today and thrashed northward up the Texas coast. Her full force of 160 miles an hour still whirled offshore as the storm crept landward.

The giant storm, one of history's most powerful, aimed her eye at the Gulf Coast metropolis of Corpus Christi.

Thousands of Texans had fled far inland or sought refuge in hometown shelters. Their flight was orderly and appeared to be mostly cheerful. But officials in Matamoros reported there was panic as citizens of that neighboring Mexican city sought shelter.

Ham radio operators reported the tiny town of Valle Hermoso, Mexico, 15 miles south of Brownsville, was almost wiped out as the hurricane winds swept through. Many residents had been evacuated before the storm hit.

No deaths or injuries were reported immediately.

24 DIED EARLIER

Earlier, Beulah had been blamed for 24 deaths—23 in the eastern Caribbean and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and one when a 15-year-old girl was swept from her surfboard by rolling waves at Freeport, Tex.

The weather bureau said Hurricane Beulah's centre would pass just east of the mouth of the Rio Grande and thence northward, just offshore of Padre Island, a pencil-thin strip that runs along the coast from Brownsville to Corpus Christi.

Forecasters said the eye would remain over the churning Gulf of Mexico until it crashed inland in the Corpus Christi area late today.

With the focus of the storm still over water, there was little likelihood that its force would diminish during a charge up the coast. Hurricanes draw their strength from warm sea waters.

Beulah uprooted giant palms, battered buildings and flailed Rio Grande Valley citrus groves as she surged to the coast.

POWER KNOCKED OUT

The storm's blast knocked out all power in Brownsville.

The Brownsville weather bureau lost emergency power as well as its primary source and all tracking of the storm reverted to New Orleans.

Rain fell in heavy bursts. Uprooted trees and ripped branches littered Brownsville streets. Some streets were impassable. Hospitals were on emergency power.

The weather bureau said tides up to 15 feet and torrential rains threatened dangerous flooding from Brownsville to Palacios, 50 miles northeast of Corpus Christi on Matagorda Bay.

Five to 10-foot tides were predicted from Palacios to Galveston and three to six-foot tides from Galveston to Port Arthur, just across the Sabine River from Louisiana.

In the 159-mile stretch from Brownsville to Corpus Christi there is little immediately along the coast except pastures of the huge King Ranch, lushly grassed coastal prairie so flat there is no barrier for winds or tides.

'DEVoured BY SNAILS' — Cillian Edmonds, Welsh-born secretary now living in San Francisco, exhibits a holey letter she received from Chepstow, Monmouthshire, England. It was stamped "Received in Bad Condition" by the post office. Printed across the letter, apparently by an English postal worker, was the explanation, "Devoured by Snails." Snails must eat faster than they move; the letter was received four days after being posted.

'I'm no swaggering bully' San Quentin warden not tough?

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—"I'm no swaggering bully," says the new warden of San Quentin Prison. "And I disagree with people who classify me as 'tough.'"

Yet tough is the impression you get, sitting across from square-jawed, steel-eyed Louis Sander Nelson—Big Red to the 3,400 thieves, rapists, killers and other felons who populate the ugly yellow fortress 20 miles from San Francisco.

"I'm decision-oriented," said the veteran of 27 years of prison work. "So I get the reputation of being fair—but hard."

Nelson, 57, was appointed to head the prison last May after a seemingly endless epidemic of prison escapes, stabbings, murders, and racial turmoil.

"Serenity in the prison" is Nelson's goal. To that end, he promptly announced to prisoners that anyone caught with a weapon—a knife, a pipe, a filed-down spoon—would get a year in isolation to think about it.

Nelson, conceding his views on running a prison are "unfashionable," said capital punishment should remain on the California law books. Nearly all his predecessors at San Quentin opposed capital punishment.

DETERS MURDERERS

"I believe if capital punishment deters one person from committing murder, it ought to be kept on the statutes," he said.

Before his appointment as warden from his job at Vassar Medical Facility, Nelson had spent several years at San Quentin as captain and later associate warden.

Nelson draws his "hard but fair" philosophy from his boyhood on a South Dakota farm, as one of seven children of parents of Swedish background. His stern father taught his brood, "there is no escaping punishment—a lesson Nelson lives, with some of his own added."

"I believe the men inside these walls should be treated with humanity, and have the privilege of forming human relationships—insofar as it is possible," he said.

But he adds: "The prison is not a place of comfort. There must be something uncomfortable about prisons if they are going to have any deterrent effect at all."

"We have to remember that we're running a prison here for the protection of society."

How do the tough prisoners repay Nelson's practices?

"The day I took over here, men came to me in the yard and said, 'Boy, are we glad you're back.' They know I'm fair and they respect me," Nelson said.

To some of the younger inmates Nelson is a father figure.

First man made crop species 'Triticale' opens exciting new avenues of conjecture

WINNIPEG (CP)—You can bet your last dollar that if man is able to colonize the moon plant science researchers here on terra firma will come up with a food-plant species which will grow there.

While the developments of space-age technology attract most of the publicity today, the science fiction-type research of plant breeders goes almost unnoticed.

At the University of Manitoba's plant science department researchers now are investigating the exciting idea of a perennial species of wheat—a species that would grow every year without re-seeding.

Startling? Possibly, but so was the idea more than 12 years ago which has resulted in an entirely new strain man-made from a combination of wheat and rye.

Triticale, pronounced "trit-i-cay-lee," is hopefully about two years away from commercial use, says Dr. R. C. McGinnis, head of the department.

"We'll know this fall." This intriguing new plant has a grain-heavy head almost three times the size of a normal wheat head. It is rich in body-building protein.

an element sorely required by the world's hungry, ever-growing population.

DRUG AIDED PAIRING

Dr. McGinnis says perhaps the most remarkable aspect of the new plant is that it is the first crop species created by man. Researchers have, in their laboratories, spanned millions of years of evolution in the process—a process which has opened exciting new avenues of conjecture.

The fascinating story of the plant's development involved the pairing of chromosomes which carry the genetic code. A problem with the wheat-rye was that the chromosome numbers of the two species were different.

During fertilization the normal reaction of the sex cells is to pair male with female, restoring the original number, but the problem was that instead of "pairing" the chromosomes stayed apart.

As far back as 1937 botanists discovered that colchicine, a natural drug extracted from the autumn crocus, could facilitate the pairing process and on trials with the wheat-rye combination it worked.

But early strains of Triticale had defects—surmounting in existing modern grains—such as weak fertility, tall, weak straw and kernels shriveled and light.

"Today we've progressed to the point where the main attraction of Triticale is the short, strong straw and early maturing features—all important to farmers," Dr. McGinnis says.

EXPECT HIGHER YIELD

There now are literally hundreds of varieties of Triticale, all of which are being minutely tested, "not only against other grains but against each other."

This year spring seeding of the new grain was made at 31 experimental stations across Canada and the United States.

"We're trying to determine whether Triticale will out-yield all other grains," Dr. McGinnis said. "Right now we need more pounds of Triticale per acre because to achieve commercial acceptance it will have to compete more favorably—that is, out-produce—other grains."

Dr. McGinnis said the new Triticale is expected, fairly soon, to increase yield on an acre basis more than 50 per cent.

Dr. McGinnis says the first strain to be released for commercial production will not be the ultimate. "There will be lots of room for improvement."

He emphasizes that initially Triticale will be used mainly for livestock feeding and that human consumption is the ultimate goal.

"Triticale will never compete in the field of livestock feeding where corn is grown. But it will be a definite factor in areas of the world where corn is not available."

BETTER THAN BARLEY

He said tests on hogs have shown Triticale more efficient—that is providing more pounds of meat on less feeding—than barley.

"It is also being tried on beef but the cattle don't seem to take to its taste."

In Eastern Canada a large cereal manufacturer used 8,000 pounds of Triticale in tests. The grain was turned into puffs and flakes and rolled.

"They are extremely interested after reporting excellent results. The firm also milled a pancake flour from Triticale which they said was as good as their regular product."

Three byelections to be held Nov. 6

OTTAWA (CP)—Three federal byelections will be held Monday, Nov. 6, informed sources say.

Ridings concerned are Colchester-Hants in Nova Scotia, where Conservative skipper Robert Stanfield will seek election to the Commons; Bonaville-Twillington in Newfoundland and Jasper-Edson in Alberta.

The last may be the most interesting of the three. All parties will be anxious to see how loyal the Prairies will remain to the Conservatives now that John Diefenbaker has been deposed as leader.

Nomination day in Colchester-Hants will be Monday, Oct. 23. The Liberal association in the riding has not yet decided whether to field a candidate against Mr. Stanfield. The New Democratic Party has already opted out.

FEAR GINGER GROUP

It is being suggested by some Liberal sources here that if the Liberals do not put up an official candidate, a ginger Liberal group in Colchester-Hants might do so.

Colchester-Hants was held by Conservative Cyril Kennedy from 1953 until last week when he resigned to give Mr. Stanfield an opening to the Commons, which will reconvene Sept. 25.

Nomination day in Bonaville-Twillington and Jasper-Edson will be Tuesday, Oct. 10. Normally it would be the previous day but Oct. 9 is Thanksgiving, a statutory holiday.

The Newfoundland riding was left vacant Monday by the departure from the Commons and cabinet of Transport Minister Pickersgill. The riding has been Liberal since Newfoundland joined Confederation in 1949 and Mr. Pickersgill has held it since 1953.

It is believed that Charles Granger, former Liberal MP for Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador and a former aide to Mr. Pickersgill will seek his party's nomination in Bonaville-Twillington.

Mr. Granger, 55, now is minister of Labrador affairs in the Newfoundland government and his provincial riding—Gander—covers some of the same territory as the federal Bonaville-Twillington constituency. He resigned his federal seat only last year.

Jasper-Edson was left vacant months ago by the resignation of Conservative Dr. Hugh Horner, a surgeon, who has entered provincial politics in Alberta.

Dr. Horner had held the seat since 1958, increasing his plurality over the Liberal candidate by more than 10,000 votes in 1965 when the last general election was held.

Conservatives have been extremely cool to the overtures of E. C. Manning, Social Credit premier of Alberta, for a Conservative-Social Credit alliance.

Action and not words is urged on Lennoxville Optimist Club

The Lieutenant-Governor of Optimist International, zone three, told Lennoxville Optimists last night that the road to forming an honor club lies in action, not in words.

He praised the Lennoxville club, a member of zone three, for its work in sponsoring the Optimist Community Park and for the many youth activities it had maintained throughout the year.

The actual amount of money made at the annual chicken barbecue and tombola was reported to be in excess of $2500 but as yet the final net profit has not been reached.

Originally this meeting was intended to be a civic affair, but through a misunderstanding only Cecil Dougherty, mayor of Lennoxville, attended.

At the close of the meeting Hartley Graham, past Lieutenant-Governor of Optimist International, zone three, from Lennoxville was given a plaque for his contribution to the new club building program.

Mayor Dougherty, in a short talk, told the Optimists that everyone should take an active part in both municipal and provincial politics.

"Give your opinion," he said, "if you have something to say, say it, and that way the people will form a type of organization by which they will become part of their community."

He said that this organization has been lacking for years and that the blame lies solely on the shoulders of the people.

THE QUEBEC SCENE

Time to assess Que's position

QUEBEC (CP) — Claude Ryan, managing director of the Montreal daily Le Devoir, says Quebec must now decide whether the province's position can be reconciled with the desire of English Canada to create a strong country.

Mr. Ryan, who was inaugurating a new season of discussions and cultural events at the Institut Canadien at Quebec, said Monday that Quebec and the rest of Canada have arrived at a "moment of truth" when an equilibrium ought to be established to permit them to follow a future course.

Extolling special status in a renewed federalism, he said that with the arrival of the separatist Rassemblement pour l'Independence Nationale on the Quebec political scene, a new force had appeared, and there was no indication that its sojourn would be brief.

He said the recent withdrawal of Francois Aguin, former Liberal M.L.A. for Dorion, from the provincial Liberal party, was further proof of this new force, and he predicted that there would be "other interesting developments in the weeks to come."

He said that this organization has been lacking for years and that the blame lies solely on the shoulders of the people.

At the close of the meeting Hartley Graham, past Lieutenant-Governor of Optimist International, zone three, from Lennoxville was given a plaque for his contribution to the new club building program.

Fight abortion

MONTREAL (CP) — The Catholic Women's League Tuesday urged its 165,000 members to tell their federal representatives they oppose adoption of permissive abortion legislation.

The 400 delegates attending a three-day convention of the national Roman Catholic women's organization, based their resolution on a statement passed by last year's convention which termed abortion "the taking of the life of an innocent human being."

Strike worsens

MONTREAL (CP) — President Leonard McLaughlin of the striking Seafarers' International Union said Tuesday settlement prospects in the Great Lakes shipping halt "have deteriorated greatly over the past 24 hours."

He called upon Labor Minister Nicholson to arrange a meeting of the disputing parties "without delay."

In a telegram to the labor minister, Mr. McLaughlin called for a settlement attempt in the interests of the "inevitable cumulative effect on the economy" of the strike and also in the interest of the sailors and their families.

Oldest citizens

MONTREAL (CP) — A good humored delegation from Soviet Azerbaijan boasted Tuesday at Expo 67 that the far-off land has the oldest citizens on earth.

"We have in our republic one man living today who is 162 years old," said Iskenderov Mamed Abdulovich, president.

pleasure on behalf of the district officers and the troops to have so many visitors for this high light of the weekend.

Sunday morning was a repeat of Saturday until the flag break. Afterward the Protestant scouts assembled on the parade ground of the Pinnacle and Lake Lyster for an outdoor church service which was conducted by Rev. Frank Stanton, of Stanstead, a man long associated with scouting.

The service opened by all singing, O Canada. Five of the boys scouts went to the Catholic church in Baldwin's Mills.

After dinner, a tour was made of the provincial hatchery, then camp broke up and the closing ceremonies took place and awards made.

All the boys received a shoulder flash of the camporee. North Hatley troop placed first, they did so at the Klondike in the winter and were warmly congratulated on their second time to place first by the other scouts. Magog placed second, Ayer's Cliff, third and Stanstead, fourth.

faculty advisers, meeting professors and being told what lies ahead of them in their academic life at the university so they can plan accordingly.

Lectures are scheduled to begin Friday to mark the beginning of the long winter grind which will determine whether the whole venture has been worthwhile.

The bookstore staff is working overtime as students arm themselves for the study sessions of the coming months.

As time goes by, the newcomers will fade in with the older students who have already gone through the initiation and are now watching the confusion of the freshmen with smug smiles on their faces.

In the meantime, it will take a while before the new students learn the Alma Mater by heart and add such Bishop's words as brewie, snog and greaser to their vocabularies.

KNOWLTON — Members of Brome Branch No. 23 of the Royal Canadian Legion met on Aug. 31 to extend their best wishes and bid Bon Voyage to Grayden Tibbits, who after a period of many years of faithful membership in the branch, and for a number of years welfare officer of the branch, on the occasion of his departure to St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Tibbits and his wife are taking up residence in Florida where they will start a new business venture.

The guest of honor was presented with a sterling silver Legion ash tray and a purse of money, by Roy Bullard, from members of the branch.

Mr. Tibbits thanked those present for the gifts and the gathering together of the members for this occasion and expressed hopes that he would be at least an annual visitor to Knowlton during the slack season.

Cadillac presents elegance in action!

And the "inside story" for 1968 starts with the biggest, smoothest V-8 engine ever put into a production motor car.

Brilliant new styling • Dramatic new interiors • Totally new instrument panel • Concealed windshield wipers • Improved variable ratio power steering • New disc brakes available on all models • Wide choice of eleven exciting new body styles.
 Now, enter a new era of luxury car performance—with the biggest and smoothest engine ever put into a production passenger car—the completely new Cadillac 472 V-8. This new engine has the greatest torque, or usable power, of any passenger car engine and has the newest combination of engine components since Cadillac pioneered the V-8 fifty-three years ago. You will notice a brilliant improvement in passing performance which in no way compromises a huge reserve of power that efficiently operates all of Cadillac's usual power conveniences.

 You will also be impressed with its amazing quiet—so remarkable that only its responsiveness reminds you that a great new engine lies under the hood.
 Cadillac for 1968 provides, in addition, its well-proved triple braking system with finned drums that delivers smooth, straight stopping power. Front disc brakes are available for those who prefer the further refinement of an advanced disc-and-drum combination, and this year they're standard on Eldorado. You may also choose a greatly improved air conditioning system that moves more air more quietly.

 There is a new instrument panel... windshield wipers that disappear when not in use... new brilliance of styling and interiors so beautiful and luxurious that they must be seen to be believed.
 Whether your preference is for one of the more traditional Cadillac models—or the classic beauty of the incomparable Fleetwood Eldorado—come discover new elegance and excitement in luxury car motoring!

Hundreds attend Boundary parade and horse show

DERBY LINE — After a rainy weekend, Labor Day, was a perfect day, with warm sunshine, and hundreds of people, many from a considerable distance, came for the events of the holiday held for the sixth consecutive year at Baxter Park under sponsorship of the Derby - Derby Line Lions Club.

The horse show was the great attraction, but there was a noon parade, with flags, the Lions Club Float, boys and girls on bicycles, cars, the Derby Academy band, horses and ponies, fire trucks and ambulance, the Derby Line Brownie Troop, 4-H group, and The Queen of the Horse Show, who looked much like a young man anyway he — she was good for a laugh. With the band was a witch on her broomstick.

On the grounds were pony rides and mechanical rides for the youngsters, lots of fun where the "corny" game was played under the big tent. The Vermont Maple Sugar House did a rushing business as did the candied apples and popcorn booth and the refreshments tent. Dinners of barbecued chickens, as only the Lions can cook them after frequent practices, were served to a large number.

All proceeds of this excellent day will be used to help other people in the communities.

Cleland Selby, of New Hampshire, won the pony and saddle, which was claimed by his father, Lloyd Selby, and a cute doll, complete with trunk and wardrobe, was won by Mrs. J. Price. The doll was sold by the Foster Cosby Auxiliary Unit of Post 73, American Legion.

Class program shows progress in swimming

COWANSVILLE — A splash party was held at the swimming pool at Shady Brook Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Webster, of West Bromo, when parents, relatives and friends were entertained by Miss Cathy and Master J. Webster and their swimming class friends.

A program and demonstration was given of what they had learned during the summer.

The children, pupils of Mrs. W. T. Pickering, of Cowansville, from five to thirteen years of age, were divided into four groups each group taking part in the program of swimming and diving followed by water games of wheelbarrow, spoon and ball and relay races. They were greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Cold drinks, potato chips and lollipops were the order of the day, much to the delight of the children.

Danville home scene of shower for bride-to-be

DANVILLE — Miss Barbara Brown, a September bride-to-be was the raison d'être of a shower held at the home of Mrs. Duncan Kerr on Sept. 2.

The guest of honor, on arriving at the home of Mrs. Kerr, was presented with a corsage by Mrs. Guy LeRoux, who also presented corsages to Mrs. Brown, the bride-elect's mother, and to Mrs. Leonard Blake, mother of the prospective groom.

A large chair against a background of white, and canopied with pink and white streamers, was reserved for Miss Brown, with chairs on either side for Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Blake, who assisted her in the task of unwrapping the gifts which had been placed in a decorated basket in front of her chair. The basket was refilled several times by little Glenna Coburn and Sylvia Blake.

A social hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served by the hostesses, Mrs. Duncan Kerr, Miss Jean Kerr, Mrs. G. LeRoux and Mrs. Charles Coburn, who had also made and decorated the shower cake for the occasion, as well as the corsages presented to the honored guests.

Giants' Mike McCormick is first 20-game winner in NL

St. Louis Cardinals are champions of the National League but the consolation prize for reclamation project of the year goes to Mike McCormick of San Francisco Giants.

McCormick became the league's first 20-game winner Tuesday when the Giants rallied for five ninth-inning runs and a 6-2 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Jack Hiatt's two-run pinch double keyed San Francisco's ninth-inning uprising and helped McCormick reach the 20-victory mark for the first time.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, New York Mets dropped Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3, St. Louis blanked Philadelphia Phillies 1-0, Cincinnati Reds trimmed Atlanta Braves 3-1 and Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for an 11-7 victory over Houston Astros.

TRADE NOW PAYS OFF

It took 11 years and three trades before McCormick finally paid off on the investment the Giants made on him back in 1956 when they signed him as a 17-year-old bonus baby.

He was traded to Baltimore in 1963 and to Washington in 1965 before returning to San Francisco in an unheralded three-player swap last winter. He's been anything but unheralded for the Giants though.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

London—Chartchai Chionoi, 110½, Thailand, stopped Walter McGowan, 111¼, Scotland, 7; Chionoi retained world fly-weight title.

Jim Beckman signs contract with Beavers, Canadiens here Monday night at 7:30

Jim Beckman is the fifth player to sign with the Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League, announced General manager Georges Roy yesterday afternoon.

Beckman agreed to terms with the Beavers for his third season with the locals. Beckman is a right-winger and last year had his best season when he potted 18 goals to go along with his 17 assists for a total of 35 points.

He has been used mainly on the power-play as he possesses a hard shot from the point. Last year Coach Roy threw him on a line and he proved able to hold his own and turned in a great year on right wing. He is a hard checker and can hand out stiff body checks.

He is at the training camp and reported in top shape following a season with Theford Miners in the Provincial Baseball League. He is rated as one of the hardest workers on the club. He never lets down and keeps digging all the time. He joined the Beavers when

JIM BECKMAN

Coach Roy took over the reins and bails from the Maritimes. He comes from Halifax and performed with Coach Roy when he was coaching Windsor, N.S. in the Maritime Senior Hockey League.

He is living in Sherbrooke and works at the Combustion Engineering-Superheater Company since his arrival in Sherbrooke. He is married and is the father of three children.

SEASON TICKETS ON SALE

The season ticket holders of the Beavers have first claim on all tickets for exhibition games, including the Canadiens game next Monday at 7:30 p.m. They can be picked up during the day and also in the evening when the Beavers work out.

Those interested in securing season tickets for the Beavers' games can do so by checking in at the box office between the hours of 9:00 to 6:00 and in the evening from 7:30 until 8:30.

Rangers running into tough luck as injuries put three regulars out, Denis DeJordy still holdout

Unless something happens to change their luck soon, New York Rangers may start the National Hockey League season with a complete lineup of new faces.

After three pre-season exhibition games, the Rangers have had three probable first-stringers put out of action for varying periods of time.

Most recent was Donnie Marshall, taken to hospital in London, Ont., with a ruptured blood vessel in his thigh after being dumped Tuesday night by Boston Bruins forward Ross Lonsberry in a game the Bruins won 9-3.

It was one of three games played Tuesday with Eddie Joyal scoring three goals to spark Los Angeles Kings to a 7-3 victory over Minnesota at North Stars at Guelph, Ont., and Philadelphia Flyers being held to a 2-2 tie by Quebec Aces of the American League.

NO WORD ON TIME

There was no media report on how long Marshall's injury may keep him out of action, but Larry Jeffrey and Red Berenson missed the game because of injuries picked up Sunday.

Berenson will be out until after the week-end with a bruised instep but Jeffrey will go well into the week with a knee injury.

Lonsberry, Fred Stanfield and Johnny McKenzie paced the Bruins with two goals Tuesday as Derek Sanderson and Tommy Williams and Ted Green contributed one each.

Green had signed a two-year contract with Boston earlier in the day.

New York goals went to Joe Rattelle, Reg Fleming and Jean Fairburn.

A number of bright spots shone through for beleaguered general managers Tuesday as players started signing contracts in increasing numbers and two Toronto Maple Leafs holdouts reported at their Peterborough, Ont., camp.

Veteran Tim Horton arrived a week late and Mike Walton made his second appearance after walking out Saturday along with Brian Coacher.

None of them have signed contracts as yet, nor indeed has Bob Pulford, but at least general manager-coach Punch Imlach has them on the ice.

CAME TO TERMS
As well, forward Val Fonteyne signed with Pittsburgh Penguins at their Brantford, Ont., camp and Berenson and goalie Gilles Villemure came to terms with the Rangers at Kitchener, Ont.

But Ranger manager-coach Emile Francis had to take a little bitterness as well in learning that defenceman Al Hamilton will be out of action several days with an injury to his left leg suffered in practice.

The North Stars are maintaining their torrid pace in keeping with manager-coach Wren Blair's avowed intention of having them the best-conditioned team in the league. They go in their fifth game in as many days tonight, playing Memphis Wings of the Central Pro League at Kingston, Ont., in the only scheduled game.

BACKED JOYAL

Roger Cote, with two goals, and Real Lemieux backed Joyal's play for Los Angeles while Pete Goegan and Murray Hall scored for Minnesota.

In Quebec City, the Flyers got goals from Andre Lacroix and Forbes Kennedy in the first two periods before Rene Drolet and Cleland Morton tied it up for the Aces in the third period.

The most important holdout now is goalie Dennis DeJordy, who is refusing to attend Black Hawks practices in Chicago.

Winner of the Vezina Trophy last year as the goalie played the greatest number of games with the least goals scored against him, DeJordy is staying at home in Buffalo with his wife while the Black Hawks ponder his $35,000 demand.

Chicago is reported offering him $20,000, but DeJordy knows well that Glenn Hall got $42,000 from the Hawks last season and is getting $47,500 this year from Los Angeles. And Hall didn't win the trophy.

Bud Poile of Philadelphia is having his troubles as well with Joe Watson and Ed Van Impe in Quebec refusing to practice until they sign contracts.

As if this weren't enough, goalie Bernie Parent was suspended by Poile for refusing to sign his contract after agreeing to its terms.

Poile said Parent refused the contract after talking with lawyer Allan Eagleson of Toronto, legal representative for the new NHL Players' Association.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Pitching—Dave Boswell, Twins, limited Kansas City to two hits and struck out eight in an 8-2 victory that kept Minnesota in a tie for first place in the American League pennant race.

Batting—Manny Mota, Pirates, led off a six-run ninth inning explosion with pinch hit single and capped the rally with a two-run single as Pittsburgh overtook Houston 11-7.

Argos have chance of moving out of cellar if they can knock over Stamps tonight

TORONTO (CP)—Despite their position tied with Montreal Alouettes in the Eastern Football Conference cellar, Toronto Argonauts see tonight's interlocking game with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference as a chance to better their lot.

A victory would leave the Argos tied on points with Ottawa Rough Riders, last year's conference champions, in second place four points behind Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

A win by the Stampeders would move them four points in front of Saskatchewan Roughriders in the West.

Argo coach Leo Cahill has a new weapon for the game and a couple of old ones he has not used in some time.

The new weapon is quarterback Tom Wilkinson, picked up this week from Toronto Rifles of the Continental League to support Wally Gabler, who has been having a rough time setting into his first pro season.

GABLER TO START
Wilkinson may see only limited action in the 8 p.m. EDT game that will be broadcast on the CTV network. Gabler is slated to start.

The older weapons are a pair to stop him.

SAFE BUT UPSET—Detroit Tigers' Dick McAuliffe take a seat in the dirt after he tumbled over Boston Red Sox first baseman George Scott in this seventh inning action in game at Detroit last night. McAuliffe had Rico Petrocelli and forced runner Mickey Lolich at second base with throw coming to first from second with McAuliffe tumbling over Scott trying to make the doubleplay. Boston won game 4-2 to stay in a tie with Minnesota Twins in the American League pennant race.

Red Sox edge Tigers while Twins belt A's to remain tied while White Sox win

Dave Boswell overcame a severe backache and early control problems Tuesday night and finished with a brilliant two-hitter as Minnesota Twins held a share of the American League lead by pounding Kansas City Athletics 8-2.

The victory kept the Twins tied for first place with Boston Red Sox, who scored the winning run on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Earl Wilson, Detroit's 21-game winner, during a three-run ninth-inning spurt that caged the Tigers 4-2.

Detroit fell into the fourth spot in the hectic stretch race, one game behind the leaders and one-half length back of Chicago White Sox, who blanked California Angels 3-0 on Joe Horlen's six-hitter.

Baltimore Orioles shut out New York Yankees 5-0 and Cleveland Indians nipped Washington Senators 2-0 in other AL games.

WINS NO. 14

Boswell breezed to his 14th victory after being hurt by five walks, two wild pitches and a hit batsman in the first four innings. He struck out eight and retired 16 of the last 17 batters he faced.

The Minnesota right-hander said his wildness was due, in part, to a sore back.

The Twins, breaking out of a week-long hitting slump, tagged Jim Nash for four runs in the early innings, then struck for four unearned runs in the seventh after Sal Bando's error opened the gates.

"We've got it going our way," said Bob Allison, who contributed two singles and a double to the Twins' 14-hit attack. Allison, Ted Uhlendorf and Jerry Zimmerman—who also stroked three hits—drove in two runs apiece.

SINGLE TIES SCORE

The Red Sox were down 2-1 on the scoreboard at Detroit when Jerry Adair reached second on a single and a bases-loaded walk by Earl Wilson, Detroit's 21-game winner, during a three-run ninth-inning spurt that caged the Tigers 4-2.

Knowlton Larks drop heart-breaker to St. Jean 20-19 on sleeper play

KNOWLTON — Knowlton Larks lost a heart breaker last Sunday, to the tune of 20-19 at the hands of the St. Jean Broncs.

The game started out as if the Larks would get back in their winning ways after the Marieville whompings, and were in the game until the last twenty seconds or so. The Broncs reached down and scored a t.d. on the infamous sleeper play.

The Larks pass defense was truly asleep on the play, as Andre Poirier jogged towards the sidelines as if he was leaving the field. The ball was snapped he was flying towards the goal line by two astonished Larks defensive men and when the ball sailed over their heads in his waiting arms he was in the clear.

Qb Norm Beaulieu moved the Larks well on the ground in the first half, before two-way duty, cut down the effectiveness of the lib's Beaulieu, who is normally a defensive back but was pressed into duty as a Qb, replacing Ted Merris, who was injured in the Marieville game.

Danny Mullins, Larks' fine flanker, was also on the sidelines in a walking cast but will be ready for the Marieville game, Oct. 1.

Beaulieu scored the first t.d., in the first quarter on a Qb keeper around the right side from nine yards out, behind the blocking of Dave Edwards and Russell Willey.

Dave Willey put the Larks into a 12-0 lead early in the second quarter when he walked right in and took the ball right off the kicker and ran the short distance into the end zone. St. Jean had the ball on their six yard line at the time.

St. Jean began to find holes up the middle of the Larks' defensive line for two quick t.d.'s and tied the game 12-12 at the half.

In the second half, both defenses bogged down and St. Jean got a single point on a 36 yard punt by Petrin, when Bourgeois recovered a St. Jean fumble at mid-field with about six minutes to go and the Larks marched down the field only to be stopped inches short of a first down on the St. Jean four.

The Larks got the ball back at mid-field and with some fine running by Norm Therberge and Wade Hadlock brought the ball into scoring distance. Beaulieu scored again from fourteen yards out, to bring the Larks into the lead 19-13.

With less than three minutes left in the Broncs moved the ball up field and with twenty seconds left in the game called the sleeper. Both teams had trouble converting their t.d.'s but Petrin split the uprights for the win.

The Larks again came out of the game with more injuries, as Ryzora turned an ankle and Therberge hurt his knee going out of bounds. Allan Palmer was still bothered by the knee injury he sustained in the Marieville game and changed into civics at half-time.

Russ Willey, Dave Edwards, Stan Ryzora and Dave Grant all deserve plaudits for sparking two way play in this game. The team now has a two week layoff to rest their injured and walking wounded.

City archeology society helps restore North Shore fort

Sept-Iles marks centennial

SEPT-ILES — (Staff) — I used to live here and for a long time I didn't think the city's history went any further back than 1954, when the Iron Ore Company of Canada shipped out the first load of "red gold" from the vast Schefferville deposits 365 miles to the north.

Row upon row of new houses, modern glass and steel churches, and even the rambling growth of shacks on the outskirts down "by the Bay" add to the impression of a brand new city which sprung out of nowhere. Only the squalor of the Indian encampment and the old homes of the French Canadian fishermen serve as reminders that Sept-Iles is far older than the IOCC.

But now there is a new reminder, the Old Fort, painstakingly reconstructed on the original foundations which were resurrected from the sand by the Sherbrooke Archeological Society.

The fort's clean logs and fresh timbers are the city's centennial project and are testimony to a history which goes back as far as 1650, when French missionary Father Jean Dequen used the site as a base.

It was Msgr. Rene Belanger, the president of the North Shore Historical Society who first got interested in the excavation of the old fort, which was actually a fortified trading post.

Father Belanger called in Father Rene Levesque, the organizer and founder of the Sherbrooke Archeological Society, the first French Canadian archeological society.

Father Levesque first came here in 1964, with a handful of the student members of his group and the late Dr. Eddie Macfarlane, the archaeologist and scholar who directed the operation.

Dr. Macfarlane was a study in himself. Dying of cancer he hustled about the site in his slouch hat and plaid shirt. His native language was Scots Gaelic and yet he was educated in French.

He held degrees in medicine and archaeology and was one of the leaders of the French resistance movement during the last war.

By PAUL WATERS
(Record News Editor)

The group made camp and settled down to a summer of digging in the sand which makes up the "topsoil" of the Sept-Iles area.

The society members and their student help dug their foot-wide trenches into the ground and spent the long hot days of Sept-Iles' short summer in the ditches uncovering, sifting and filing every remaining remnant of the site's forgotten history.

Three summers the society worked on the project and eventually laid bare the foundations of the post as it was described in a report from Edward Harrison to Lieutenant Governor Henry Hope in 1786.

Though the reconstruction, carried out by descendants of the same Montagnais Indians who traded at the fort, follows Harrison's detailed inventory, the post's history is far older. It stretches back into the days of the French occupation when it was listed as one of the King's Post, and into the days of the English Conquest when it was taken over by the North West Company and later by the Hudson Bay Company.

The post stands on a low bluff where the Old Fort River meets the Gulf of St. Lawrence, separated from this sprawling boom town by a scant few hundred yards of bush.

It used to be one of the quiet spots near the city where a whitewashed cross stood as the only reminder that any human being had ever been interested in the place.

Now the city and the IOCC hopes the site will become more than just a historical monument, to be looked at and photographed. The eventual plan is to make it a social and cultural center.

Already there has been an art exhibition in the trader's house and a "theatre intime" in the little chapel.

Soviet equality of sexes

Current state of domestic affairs spotlighted from both sides

MOSCOW (CP) — Every Westerner has undoubtedly seen a photograph of lumpy-looking Soviet women sweating away on a road-building crew. What they haven't seen are pictures of Soviet men in aprons.

Militant feminists have reason to complain about the pictorial imbalance, because a candid camera on a tour of Soviet homes would undoubtedly show the aprons doing a lot of double duty.

With the great majority of women holding down outside jobs, the male in the Soviet Union is increasingly being required to give a hand around the home.

Like his Western counterpart, however, the Soviet husband is often accused of shirking. Nearly 50 years of complete legal equality between the sexes still finds the wife with the toughest row to hoe, according to many irate wives here.

A pair of articles in separate Moscow newspapers turned an unusually vivid spotlight on the current state of domestic affairs as viewed from both sides.

"Women have more rights than ever today," male correspondent E. Parkhomovsky wrote almost peevishly in the government newspaper Izvestia. "They often earn more money than men, hold higher positions than men and can outdo the men in many respects."

"They have not yet established a complete matriarchy. We still hold the reins. But tomorrow! . . . I have no doubt that tomorrow they will get every privilege imaginable. . . ."

He predicted grumpily that women "will soon be demanding that we get out shopping after the office, cook dinner, as well as doing the mending, washing, ironing and baby-sitting."

But there's every indication that the offended correspondent's predictions have already been overtaken by reality.

Judging by the number of hand-dog males lined up in every Moscow grocery store for bread and other necessities, a good many husbands are already under the gun.

The other commentator, a woman named Larissa

Kuznetsova, wrote with barely concealed satisfaction in Literaturnaya Gazeta: "Women no longer think about surprising their husband by cooking a tasty dinner. More often they surprise him by not cooking at all."

Termining the kitchen the key to much of the problem, she said:

"To solve a question as complex as that of female labor, we should begin with the needs of our society and the nature of women and mothers. We should not begin with a general concern about a deserted kitchen."

"The kitchen under the new system will belong to anyone who wants to eat."

It sounded like an ominous forecast for the Soviet male, but it may be inevitable.

An estimated 75 per cent of adult women hold down jobs in the Soviet Union and they make up fully half of the labor force.

More women than men go through secondary school and they emerge to dominate such fields as the health services and education, banking and clerical work.

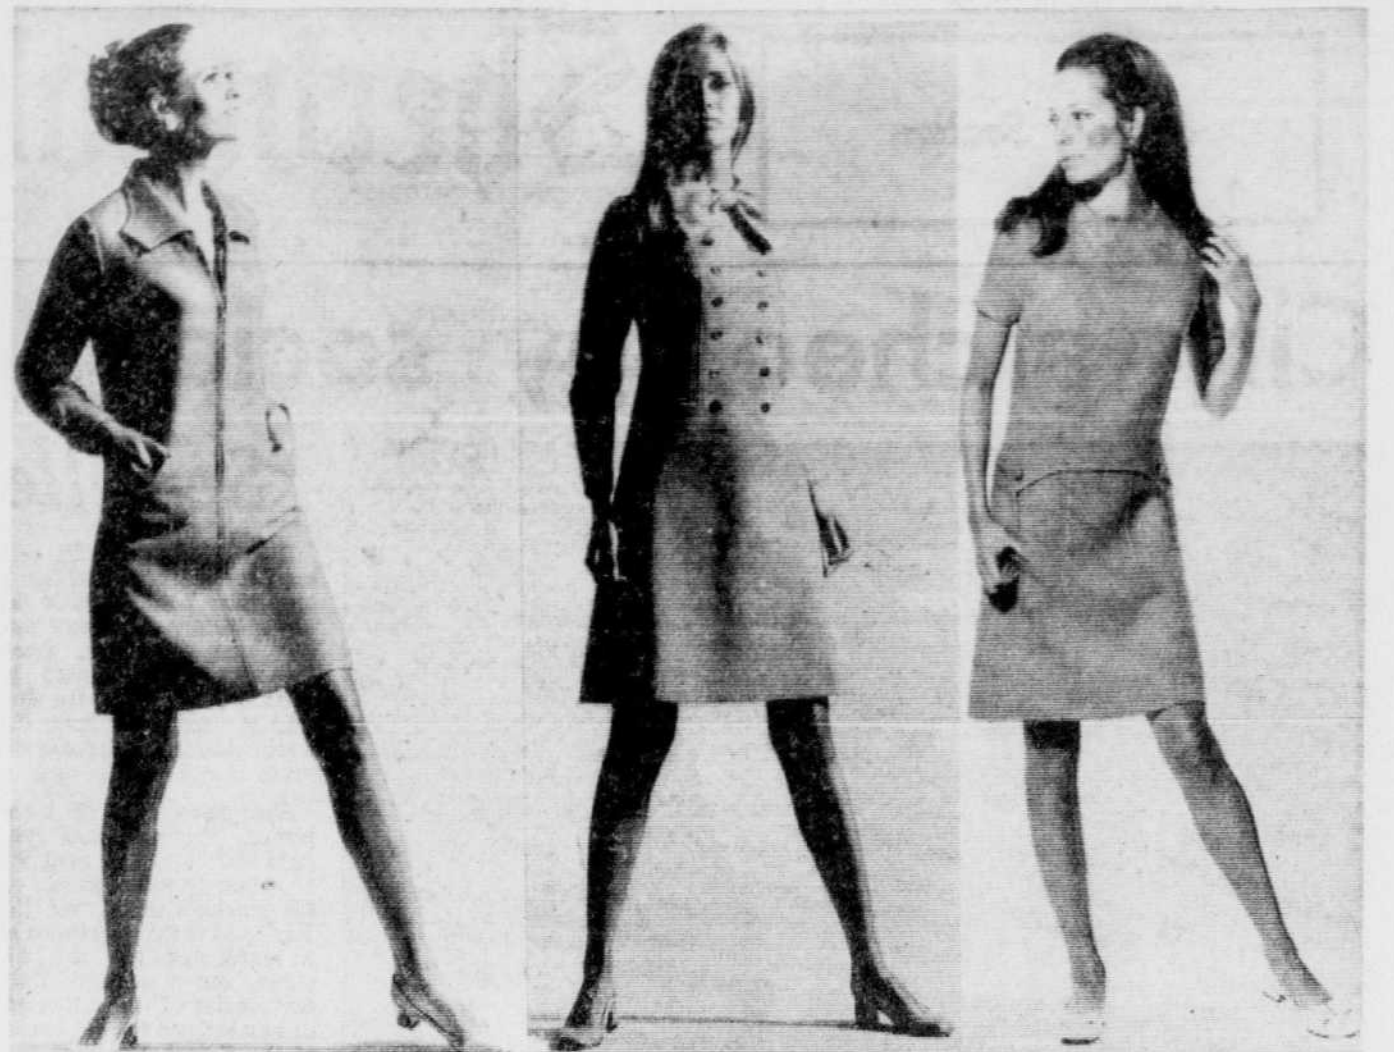

Even in the building industry about one-third of the workers are women. The assembly lines in factories and the tractors on collective farms are manned by as many women as men.

One of Moscow's working mothers told me that her husband "looks after the two children, helps with laundry and dishes and does most of the shopping."

He even sews missing buttons on his shirts.

The only thing he doesn't do regularly is the cooking, although he will take over the kitchen occasionally to prepare a fried-fish meal which is his speciality.

"I can't say that he likes all that nonsense—the kitchen and all that," the wife said. "He does these jobs more out of necessity than out of love like a mother's. But he does them in the end, with perhaps a bit of urging."

Regional School studies director is guest speaker at UCW meeting

Mr. Ian MacLay, of Lennoxville, director of studies for regional schools was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Lennoxville Women's Institute held recently in the club room.

The speaker had on display a proposed model for the Lennoxville school and with excellent charts explained the plans for the building and the location of the various floor plans and use of each room.

The school is expected to accommodate 2,700 pupils and is to be located on the former Mary farm, just beyond the Ascot Consolidated school building and Experimental Farm. The grounds have all been well planned for outdoor sports and recreation areas. Plans for this school are of vital importance to the community and for the upcoming generation; it is imperative that citizens of today take an added interest to help carry out these plans to which the various committees have contributed much time and thought in setting up these proposed plans.

Mrs. Rupert Porter, president, thanked Mr. MacLay and a question and answer period followed, with interest running high as many had not had the opportunity of knowing what they might expect from the new set-up.

Mrs. Porter presided for the business meeting and welcomed all back after a month recess. Following the opening the roll call was responded to by donating a jar of jam or jelly for the Maplemount Home. The sum of $15 was voted towards school prizes.

Plans were made to hold a card party in St. George's Church Hall on Sept. 28. The late for the pre-Christmas sale, to be held on Nov. 30 was confirmed. Members were asked to donate a hand-made article at the next meeting for the roll call towards this sale.

Members took part in the Optimist parade and rode in a decorated convertible.

During the summer recess members had honored Mrs. E. L. Atto, only remaining active charter member, with a small gift on the occasion of her 94th birthday; a gift of $25 was received from the estate of Mrs. Lena Hogg, a valued deceased member.

Conveners reports included a report on the school fair by Mrs. Allan Mack, which showed a decided increase in the number of exhibits of excellent quality. There were 834 entries and prizes given of nearly $200.

Mrs. Gilbert Patrick read an article, and Mrs. Sterling Parker announced that the French conversation classes for adults would be held again at the Lennoxville High School, opening Oct. 2, held as usual Monday and Wednesday evenings 7:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m. These classes are free.

Mrs. J. Edward Perry reported on the success of the handicraft booth at the fair and explained the new set-up.

Mrs. Neil Tracy gave the highlights of the last quarterly County meeting and was thanked by the president.

The mystery parcel, donated by Mrs. Allan Mack, was won by Mrs. Ernest Cote.

Hostesses for the afternoon tea were Mrs. E. Cote, Mrs. Gerard Cascadden and Mrs. Rufus Dunn.

Centennial Showcase of Fashion is presented

A unique and fascinating Centennial project was sponsored by Steinberg Miracle Mart, at Place Belvedere, on Monday last. The project, known as the Centennial Showcase of Fashion, presented an historical survey of Canadian fashion from 1867 to 1967. The showcase comprised two large connecting vans which contained a number of displays — each one depicting a Canadian fashion era, and with mannequins and photographs illustrating the styles of the period. It followed the ups and downs, the ins and outs of fashion from the sobriety of the Fathers of Confederation, to the Swingin' Sixties.

In the two-van showcase visitors saw 100 years of evolution in Canadian fashion — from hooped skirts to the mini-mini — from beribboned curls to the Twiggy cuts. Women's, men's and children's styles were included.

The Phases Of Fashion which had been selected were: 1867-1900, Confederation Years; 1900-1914, Pre-War Years; 1914-1918, World War One; 1920-1930, The Roaring Twenties; 1930-1940, The Depression Era; 1940-1950, World War Two; 1950-1960, The Fabulous Fifties; 1960-1967, The Swingin' Sixties.

First male associate is admitted to NSA

NEW YORK (AP)—The handwriting was on the wall, clear and unmistakable in this age of legislated equality, so the girls of the National Secretaries Association finally agreed to admit their first male associate.

"This is a clean break with one of the basic precepts set down by the founders 25 years ago," announced the association, which now has more than 25,000 members, all but one of them female.

But the real story is the odyssey of C. J. (Bucky) Helmer Jr., who fought a long, lonely battle against the forces of discrimination by sex, a battle some men concede is uneven on a one-to-one basis. But 25,000 to one makes Helmer a hero.

Helmer, an employee of the New York State Electric and Gas Corp., Binghamton, N.Y., applied for membership in 1964, when he was in his early 20s, but found the NSA had no provisions for admitting men. All their brochures referred to she and her—never to he or him or his. He then formed his own group, the Male Secretaries of America, and helped it grow to 315 members.

GIRLS CHANGE LAW

But the girls recognized the pressures of the times. They changed their attitude and their bylaws this year.

Bucky Helmer again applied and was invited to Kansas City, the national headquarters. In fact, the girls paid his way there. They baked him a cake and decorated it to say "NSA welcomes Bucky Helmer to membership."

Lenore Forti, president, duly noted that history was being made. "Perhaps secretarial historians will record that Bucky Helmer is symbolic of the biblical Joshua for whom the walls of Jericho went tumbling down," she said.

Helmer responded in the only way a humble male could respond. "I am deeply grateful," he said. "I guess it is everybody's dream to be first at something."

FLANDERS — HUSK MARRIAGE

In the account of the Flanders - Husk wedding, Sept. 15 issue of the Record, the name of the minister, Rev. R. A. Cameron, was inadvertently omitted. It should have read: Rev. R. A. Cameron assisted by Rev. Dr. P. W. Murray, uncle of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES R. BARNETT, Barnett-Joyall marriage

MANSONVILLE — The marriage of Sheila Ruth, daughter of Mrs. E. Joyall, of Montreal and the late Mr. Joyall, to Mr. Charles R. Barnett son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne E. Barnett, Highwater, Que., took place at 2 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 26 at the Mansonville United Church. Rev. Ed MacDonald officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mr. C. Wall, at the organ, played selections during the signing of the register. Seasonal flowers were used to decorate the church, and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Erwin Joyall, wore a floor-length gown of white silk taffeta. Her short veil was held in place by white roses and she carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. J. Ferras, as matron of honor, was in a street length dress of blue nylon over silk taffeta with matching veil and headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Cedric Bailey, Jr., acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Terry Willard and Murray Brown.

A reception was held at the Mansonville House, where the bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Andrew Cote, Vale Perkins.

Later, the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride travelling in a white silk and silver thread net dress. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Guests were from Montreal, Bolton Center, Springfield, Mass., Dunkin, Highwater and Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett have taken up residence at Highwater, Que.

What's the Big Problem?

Just preparing 3 meals a day . . . 21 meals a week . . . is a bit of a problem. It takes time and work. But, buying all the food you need without going over your budget . . . that can be a BIG problem. The few advertised specials offered by some stores aren't the answer if you pay more for the other items on your shopping list. What you need is a store that offers scores and scores of low prices every day . . . and not just on items you use once in a while, but on those you use time and time again. WE HAVE A SUGGESTION: If you want to lower your total food bill, try A&P. We have plenty of low prices every day on guaranteed-to-please fine foods. A&P low prices may not solve everything. But, chances are your BIG problem will become quite a bit SMALLER.
