A.C.W.W. Tour to Take in Beauharnois District

Hemmingford, Howick, Ormstown, Huntingdon And Beauharnois Included in Program

The Huntingdon branch of the Women's Institutes, together with Dundee and Franklin branches, will hold a luncheon for 35 members of the Associated Country Women of the World touring this section of the province, on Saturday, August 29, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon.

Following the A.C.W.W. Conference being held in Toronto from August 12-23, a wide variety of low-cost tours have been arranged by the Canadian women to enable the delegates from abroad to see as much of Canada as time will permit. Hospitality is being extended on a Dominion-wide scale.

A day of the Eastern Townships three-day tour will be spent in the immediate area. One of the highlights of the entire tour will be the visit to the Beauharnois Power Plant, which has been arranged through the courtesy of staff members of the company.

Hospitality will be provided by other W.I. branches in the Chateauguay-Huntingdon district. The Hemmingford branch will provide tea on Friday, following which the tour will continue on to Howick, where they will visit the Ness and other large farms in that area. Howick and Aubrey-Riverfield branches will provide supper in the Howick High School, and the delegates will be billeted for the night in homes in the Howick-Aubrey-Riverfield-Ormstown area. Prior to the Huntingdon luncheon, the ladies will visit Ormstown Exhibition Grounds and the Barrie Memorial Hospital on Saturday morning.

Luncheon Plans

The luncheon being sponsored by the Huntingdon, Dundee and Franklin branches will follow the lines of local church suppers. Members of the three branches will work together in the preparation and serving, as well as entertaining the guests during the luncheon itself. Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt, president of the Chateauguay-Huntingdon County Women's Institutes, will welcome the guests, and the Toast to the Queen will be proposed by Mrs. W. C. Smallman, Dundee, a provincial past-president of the W.I.

Among the head table guests will be Mrs. Raymond Sayre, who will retire at the Toronto Conference after six years as president of the A.C.W.W.; Lady Nuttall, who represents the Quebec W.I. on the A.C.W.W. Board in London, England; Mrs. Gordon Harvey, Stanbridge E., Que., first vice-pres. of the Quebec W.I., who is conducting the Eastern Townships tour; Mrs. W. C. Smallman, Dundee; Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt, Athelstan; and Mrs. Chas. Reid, president, Huntingdon W.I.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the luncheon includes Mrs. Chas. Reid, Mrs. Alex. Robb and Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt of the Huntingdon branch, Mrs. Lyle Currie, Dundee, and Mrs. Roy Blair, Franklin.

Other committees include: Decorations—Mrs. Gordon McCrimmon; Table setting—Miss Frances Turner; Kitchen—Mrs. Carl Anderson and Mrs. Wallace Rennie; Waitresses—Mrs. Gordon Ferry and Mrs. Willock. Waitresses for the luncheon will be members of the Athelstan Junior W.I., which is under the sponsorship of the Huntingdon branch.

Scope of A.C.W.W.

Women from twenty-seven nations are registered for the A.C.W.W. Conference in Toronto, representing the greatest organized group of women in the world—five and one-half million. Member organizations include groups of many names, but they are composed of country women with the same interests—home and country. In this area member organizations include the Institute and Junior Institute groups and Les Cercles de Fermieres.

Additional Hospitality

After a tour to Quebec City and prior to sailing for home on September 4, several overseas delegates will be billeted in the Huntingdon area. This will give the local hostesses an opportunity to learn more about organizations and people in the countries these delegates represent. It will add to the aim of the Conference, which stresses the exchange of information and ideas which will form a bridge of understanding that would make the world a better place for all people, regardless of race, creed or color.

Rotary Club Addressed by J. Lovell Baker

Mr. J. Lovell Baker, a director of Henry Birks and Sons Limited, Montreal, addressed the Rotary Club on Monday. Mr. Baker is one of eleven gemologists in Canada, nine of whom are employed by Henry Birks and Sons, Limited.

The diamond is rated as the King of Gems. Diamonds are composed of but one element, carbon. Synthetic diamonds are impossible to make. An attempt was made to make synthetic diamonds, but it proved to be a failure. Carbon cannot be heated without assimilating with some other property, consequently any such attempt would produce some substance which could no longer be classified as a diamond.

Of the 125 diamond mines in South Africa, 25 are operating at what one might call a breaking-even point, and 10 mines are profitable producers. The Dr. John Williamson Mines in Tanganyika are the largest in the world. Dr. Williamson is a native of Lachute, Que. His mines extend over an area 8½ times greater than that owned by the Diamond Syndicate. His mining operations extend only 6 feet deep, so actually only the surface is being scratched so far. It is not possible to cut all diamonds, 40% of Dr. Williamson's diamonds fall into that category. The other diamonds are used in various commercial ways, but not as gems.

A rough diamond looks much like a piece of washing soda, and only after being cut and polished does it take on the appearance of what is ordinarily looked upon as a diamond. The cutting of diamonds today is a comparatively easy operation, as it is done with a bronze saw, as thin as a sheet of paper. The polishing is done with the aid of diamond dust and olive oil.

Sphene is a more brilliant gem than the diamond. Tetenium is soft and does not wear well, and will lose the color and qualities that are looked for and found in diamonds.

In speaking of diamonds, Mr. Baker stated that the most important things to look for in a diamond was the color, clarity, cutting and finally weight, which in reality is the least important feature. He also remarked that the daily production of diamonds aggregated 3,000 carats.

Next to the diamond, Mr. Baker placed the pearl as the most important gem, although actually the pearl is not a gem, as it is found in an oyster. You will never find a pearl in an edible oyster, and the oysters that may have pearls in them come only from the Indian Ocean.

In Japan, they cultivate pearls in oysters, but these are not true pearls. They are what is termed a bead that has been inserted into the oyster, and so obtain a coating that makes it look like a pearl. Such a string of cultivated pearls may sell for $10 or perhaps even more.

The ruby and the sapphire are very closely related to one another. The emerald is the most precious gem in the world, and is found in South America. The Alexanderite is a good gem, but one not too much is heard about. The ruby and sapphire are found in Burma, India, Ceylon, Australia and Montana. Those found in Australia and Montana are of different colours. The Alexanderite gem changes colour from day to night. Gems are to be found in various parts of Canada, but none of them are so attractive nor as good as others which have been mentioned. The valuable gems appear to come from warm climates.

Diamonds are not a monetary investment as some people may state, but it is contended that diamonds are an investment which provides joy and happiness for the owner.

Elected in Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie

JEAN BOUCHER

Will be the new Federal Member for Chateauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie as a result of the election held on Monday. He replaces Donald E. Black, the former member.

Tenders To Be Called For Warehouse

To Be Built Next to Huntingdon Post Office

As we go to press to-day we have learned by telephone from Donald E. Black that he had just received a telegram from Ottawa stating that tenders are to be called in September for the building of a large warehouse next to the Post Office building in Huntingdon. The building will be used by the Customs Department. The building, according to Mr. Black, will be of brick and stone construction and will cost between $80,000 and $90,000. The building when equipped ready for occupancy will likely cost in the neighbourhood of $150,000.

Another project Mr. Black had instigated was that of building a warehouse at the Herdman Port of Entry, to be built when the Valleyfield-Coteau bridge is open to traffic and roads built connecting same. The plan is, that when roads are built leading to the bridge much heavy traffic from the United States would enter Eastern Ontario via this new route. If and when this project is finalized Mr. Black states it might mean Herdman would require a staff of perhaps as high as 75 officers.

Mr. Black was quite cheerful in his telephone conversation and stated he would continue working in the interest of this community for the general welfare of Canada and the Liberal Government.

Covering The SPORTS

Huntingdon Loses to Hogansburg

On Sunday afternoon, Huntingdon suffered its third loss this season in the St. Lawrence Valley Baseball League. The Hogansburg Chiefs scored 5 runs in the 2nd inning to take a lead which they never lost. In the 2nd inning Hogansburg had 4 hits, mixed in with three Huntingdon errors to account for their 5 runs. Huntingdon's scoring came in the 1st and 4th innings. Jimmy Bero, the Hogansburg pitcher, proved mighty tough with men on bases, although he allowed 12 hits and walked four, Huntingdon could only score 3 runs, leaving 13 men on bases. Bero was very effective in the 1st. inning when Huntingdon loaded the bases with no one out and only scored 1 run to have the side retired in order. The Hogansburg team played fine ball Bob Cree their centre fielder and Jock, the right fielder, came up with some fine catches.

Rosie Lacompte gave up six hits, struck out seven and walked none.

Huntingdon is still 1 full game ahead of Fort Covington, having won 10 and lost 3, while the Fort has a 9 and 4 record. Huntingdon will play its last league game against St. Regis Falls, this Sunday at St. Regis Falls.

Progressive-Conservative Candidates Who Were Defeated in Monday's Voting

JOSAPHAT DEMERS

Progressive-Conservative candidate for Beauharnois-Salaberry constituency, who was defeated by Robert Cauchon, the Liberal candidate on Monday.

MERRILL E. BARRINGTON

Progressive-Conservative candidate for Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie constituency, who was defeated by Jean Boucher, Liberal candidate for the riding, in Monday's voting.

Liberals Have A Clear 77 Majority For New House

Jean Boucher and Robert Cauchon, Liberals, Elected in This Area

Election Day in Huntingdon and other points throughout the Chateauguay Valley and the whole Beauharnois district, was very quiet indeed. There did not appear to be too many out to vote, the rain may have marred it to a certain extent, or it may have been a sort of apathy on the part of the electors. In any event, it was not only in this area that this condition was apparent, for from all over the country similar reports have come.

From the results of the election in general it would appear that the electors had made up their minds what they were going to do long before election day came around. The way the various candidates were returned to office it would almost seem that an election was unnecessary, for practically the same personnel has been returned to office, whether it be Liberal, Progressive-Conservative, Social Credit or C.C.F. All leaders and prominent party officials were re-elected, with some of the parties making slight gains at the expense of the Liberals. The Progressive-Conservatives gained 9 seats for 50 seats as against 41 in the 1949 election; C.C.F. gained ten for 23 as against 13 in 1949; Social Credit gained five for 15 as against 10 in 1949; Ind.-L. gained 1 for 2 as against 1 in 1949; L. Lab gained 1 as against none in 1949. The Liberals lost 22 for 171 as against 193 in 1949, but won a clear majority of 77. Ind. lost 1 for 3 as against 4 in 1949.

All the Cabinet Ministers were returned and thus unless there is a re-shuffling of the members, the posts will remain in the same hands for the coming new term.

The Progressive-Conservatives won four seats in Quebec, three of them previously held by Liberals and which probably accounted for three of the nine extra in this election.

In the Beauharnois - Salaberry Constituency, Robert Cauchon of Valleyfield, former Member of Parliament won the seat again for a total of 14,198 over his opponent, Progressive-Conservative candidate, Josephat Demers with 4,444, a majority of 9,754. In the 1949 election the Liberal majority was 7,084. In Chateauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie constituency, Jean Boucher, Liberal, Laprairie, a new candidate, received 8,108 from 89 polls reported as against 5,818 for Merrill E. Barrington, Progressive - Conservative candidate, of Ormstown. This gives a majority for the polls reported of 2,290, the 1949 election gave the Liberals a majority of 2,958.

A report of the voting by polls in the Chateauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie constituency and the Beauharnois - Salaberry constituency is given elsewhere on this page.

H'don Fair to Be Held Aug. 27 Thru' 29

Huntingdon Fair will commence on Thursday evening, August 27, with a large street parade, and will continue through Friday, August 28, and Saturday, August 29. Jimmy Diano's Variety Show will stage a program each night in front of the grandstand. Last year, his acts were highly praised, and he will have added attractions this year. The Fair Board is planning to erect a huge stage suitable for the presentation of the fine acts to be presented each night. Ted's Broadway Shows will be on the grounds throughout the week, with merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and other rides for children.

Judging will take place Friday — with the Black and Whites sponsoring a "Black and White Day". The Annual Fair Dance will be held on Friday night. Horse races, a horse drawing competition, a nail-driving contest for ladies, and wheel-barrow races will provide added attractions.

Many improvements have taken place at the Fair Grounds. A new metal roof is, at present, being put on the cattle barn; other roofs are to be painted, and the buildings white washed.

Display booths in the show building are now being reserved. Secretary Lyell Graham reports that the 1953 prize lists have been mailed out. Anyone desiring a list should contact him.

The Directors of the Fair are going all out to make this year's Fair an event of interest and pleasure. As the various improvements have added considerably to their expenses, everyone's patronage is required to bring in the gate receipts. Plan to Attend The Fair! You won't be disappointed.

Police Report Six Car Accidents Over Week-end

One Person Dead and Six Others Injured As A Result of These Accidents

The past week-end was one of the worst for automobile accidents in this area for many years. Police reported six accidents between Saturday and Monday for the immediate district. One death resulted and six persons suffered injuries, one horse was injured and had to be destroyed, besides thousands of dollars in damage to vehicles and property.

The worst accident of the week-end occurred on Saturday, August 8th, at about 10.30 a.m. at the intersection of the Plank Road and Ridge Road. Dr. George Lefebvre, Bouchette Street, Huntingdon, was driving in his car accompanied by his two nieces, Carroll and Audrey McCabe, ages 8 and 5 years old respectively, when a collision occurred at the above intersection between his car and a loaded gravel truck. The truck was proceeding along the Ridge Road travelling west to east, while Dr. Lefebvre was travelling on the Plank Road travelling south to north, and hit the truck in about the centre just behind the cab. The truck turned right over and came back on its wheels and it is believed the wheels of the truck passed over the front end of the car. Carroll McCabe was thrown out of the car, while her sister was thrown about inside the car, Dr. Lefebvre suffered bruises and cuts on his left leg and about the body. Carroll suffered a broken neck and a fractured skull, while Audrey suffered shock and a cut over the head. The truck was driven by Rene Bouchard of Valleyfield and he was accompanied by his 6-year-old son, Jean Paul Bouchard. The elder Bouchard was not hurt, but the boy suffered shock.

The injured were brought to the Huntingdon County Hospital, where Dr. F. G. McCrimmon examined them and ordered Carroll McCabe removed to the Victoria Hospital in Montreal, where she died at 11.30 the same night. Audrey was taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital.

Michel Deltorguio of the Provincial Police Homicide Squad came on Tuesday to arrange for an inquest possibly on Thursday evening at the Court House in Huntingdon. Dr. A. B. C. Clement, Coroner for the District of Montreal, will preside and a jury composed of the following has been called: Andre Leclerc, Laurent Riel, Harold Higgins, Lionel Fredette, Eddy Rabidoux and Gustave Houle.

The two girls, Carrol and Audrey are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCabe of Montreal and nieces of Dr. and Mrs. George Lefebvre of Huntingdon.

Damage to the Lefebvre car amounted to about $1,500 and to the truck about $1,000.

On August 9th, at 12.30 p.m. an accident occurred at the intersection of the Plank Road and Route No. 3. Roy Boyer, St. Stanislas de Kostka, was driving south to north and failed to stop at the "Stop Sign" at the intersection of Route 3. He collided with a car owned by Rene Oscar Labelle, of Ottawa and driven by Beatrice Labelle. There were four people in the Labelle car and two of them suffered injuries. Mrs. Marguerite Bourgeois of Ottawa and Estelle Lefebvre of Huntingdon were taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital, where it was found Estelle suffered a broken collar bone and Mrs. Bourgeois chest injuries. Dr. F. G. McCrimmon examined the victims. No one was hurt in the other car. Damage to the Boyer car amounted to about $500. and to the Labelle car about $400.

On August 9th, at 2 p.m., on Route No. 4 near the farm of Real Racine, Conrad Quenneville, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Quenneville, St. Agnes, was crossing the highway when he was struck by a car. The car was driven by Ernest White of Montreal, who was travelling west to east on Route 4. The boy was taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital where he was examined by Dr. F. G. McCrimmon and found that his injuries were only slight.

August 9th, at 9.45 p.m., on Route 4, two miles east of Ormstown, a collision occurred involving about $60 damage to one of the cars. A car driven by Asnald Turcot of Montreal, collided with one driven by William Harvey of Huntingdon. Turcot was driving west to east and Harvey from east to west. Turcot drove away without waiting for the Traffic Officer and had to be traced through his license number. A charge is being placed against him. The damage was to the Harvey car.

August 10th, at 7.10 a.m. at the Edmond Sherry farm, Dewittville, a car struck a horse which had wandered onto the highway. The car was driven by Alcide Brabant of Massena, N.Y., and was travelling west to east when the horse was struck. Two horses were on the highway and the one animal was out of the way. The horse that was struck was injured and on the orders of the owner, the Traffic Officer destroyed it on the scene. Damage to the car amounted to about $400. and the horse was valued at $125.

August 10th, 10 a.m., at Dewittville, an accident occurred when a truck owned by C. J. Kyle and driven by Romeo Beaulieu, Huntingdon, skidded on the wet and slippery road into the gallery of a house belonging to Joe Tessier. The truck was travelling from east to west when it skidded, struck the gallery and broke a power line pole. Damage amounted to about $100.

All of the above acidents were investigated by Traffic Officer Ernest Leduc of Huntingdon.

OVERSEAS QUERY

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) —News of Brantford's fluoridation of water supplies has spread far and wide. From Hong Kong the Brant County health unit received a request for full information on the progress of the experiment.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES

The belief that dogs and cats are enemies does not seem to hold true in the above case, for here is a dog mothering some kittens. In the first place the mother cat took possession of the dog's kennel and the dog was not allowed in. However, the cat suffered an untimely death and left behind a batch of motherless kittens. The dog, a female Irish Setter belonging to Mrs. Braithwaite and Mr. and Mrs. D. Stephen, Huntingdon, took compassion of the kittens and promptly started to mother them in true fashion. Above we see the dog looking out of the kennel with a kitten at her side. Below the kittens were removed from the kennel and the dog is carrying each one back to safety. No doubt it is the mother instinct that prevails and there is a feeling of mother love for the orphans.

Round Byre AND Ring

By Frank Napier

New Ayrshire Secretary

The Executive Committee, Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, has announced that the resignation of E. Willson Richmond, Secretary-Manager of that Association and Editor of Canadian Ayrshire Review, has been accepted, and that Mr. Richmond has now vacated that position.

It has also been similarly announced that Hugh Hunt of Vancouver B.C. has been appointed Secretary-Manager of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association; that he will assume his duties as such on or about September 15.

Acting Secretary

In the meantime Miss Beatrice Pringle will be the Acting Secretary of the Association. The September Review will be edited by Frank Napier.

Miss Pringle is a native of Winton Hill Farm, Huntingdon, and she has been a member of the staff of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association since 1918 — from 1918 to 1930 at Huntingdon, and from the latter year until now in Ottawa. She has therefore been a Secretary to four Secretaries of the Ayrshire Association — to the late W. F. Stephen, at Huntingdon, from 1918 to 1927; to Gilbert MacMillan when he was Acting Secretary during three months in 1927; to Frank Napier from June 1927 to July 1930, in Huntingdon and from the latter year until February, 1951, in Ottawa; to E. Willson Richmond from February 15, 1951, to August 6, 1953. Miss Pringle is therefore well versed in Ayrshire affairs and well qualified to carry on the head office business of the Association in the interval which will ensue until Mr. Hunt assumes his new position.

As an indication of how the work of the head office of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association has grown we may cite the fact that in 1918 registrations totalled 4,475 and that tarnsfers totalled 3,847 whereas in 1952 the registrations totalled 12,947 and transfers totalled 7,199.

It is of course true that registrations and transfers are processed by the Record Office. However, due to the increase in memberships, the plans the Association's head office increase in R.O.P. testing and other work has been more than trebled since 1918.

Nevertheless, during the past thirty years or so the office work of the Association has mostly been carried on by two Secretary-Stenographers while during the past several months Miss Pringle has been the sole Secretary-Stenographer.

Export Shipments

In the light of other years, prior to the sudden embargo which was so suddenly put into force and which lasted for almost a year, until March 1953, the present-day shipment of cattle from this district to the United States is very light indeed. Nevertheless, a considerable number of cattle have been purchased in this district by U.S. farmers since the lifting of the embargo. It might therefore be said that, by and large, the district exports have been on a scale that might well be envied by other less fortunate districts.

As the saying goes, "it's almost like pulling hen's teeth" to get information about quite a number of these shipments - - - - most of those guiding or acting as agents for U.S. purchasers apparently seem to feel that it's nobody else's business that they have so arranged the sales concerned. Otherwise most cooperative, the Health of Animals Division office in Huntingdon has turned down our requests for information regarding such export shipments. It would appear that a number of the agents concerned object to such news notes being published. Fortunately, however, there are a few who realize that it is good advertising for themselves, their breed and district to pass on that information to us.

It therefore is that next week we hope to be able to announce two important, outstanding export shipments — one by R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, to Kentucky, the other, through the agency of Gilbert MacMillan, Huntingdon, to Carolina.

Visitors

Interesting visitors to the district during the past week included Lorne and Mrs. Evans, their daughter and son-in-law Hugh and Mrs. McIntyre, and their daughter Judy McIntyre, all of Aurora, Ont.

Lorne Evans is a former long time director and a former President of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association. The party stayed overnight at the Chateau Hotel, but they were also the luncheon guests of Mrs. Telfer and Mrs. Napier. Lorne Evans also looked-up Bandmaster Don Moore whose grandfather is an old friend, likewise a near neighbour of Lorne Evans in Aurora. Grandfather Moore is a former noted bandmaster and so it would seem that Don's ability in that respect is inherited.

"Ties" Across The Lake

It is usually a pleasant surprise to meet a number of people in another district who are acquainted with the district one comes from, or who have relations or friends there. In that respect we are leading up to a recent visit we enjoyed in the Lancaster district of Glengarry County, Ontario.

In former years when we frequently visited the Glengarry district we were as of Ottawa, and so had little or no occasion to refer to Huntingdon or learn of any connections, etc., a number of the Glengarrians we met, had with Huntingdon County, the Quebec County "across the water". In that latter respect we may say that, as most local people are aware, the part of Huntingdon County which faces Lake St. Francis is mostly directly across from that part of Glengarry County which faces that Lake or St. Lawrence River waterway. Particularly, so the Lancaster district.

On Thursday last, August 6, we accompanied Gilbert MacMillan to the joint Ayrshire-Holstein (or vice-versa) "Twilight" Field-day (or rather night) at the farm of Harold Demoulin, Holstein breeder, in Lancaster Township, Glengarry County. And it was there that we met a considerable number of old acquaintances, several of whom made enquiries of this and that connection of theirs or, old acquaintances in the Huntingdon district. Amongst others were the Cummings and the Watts. Incidentally, several members of the Cumming family of the now Internationally famous Glengarry Ayrshire farm, were born near Ormstown where the late Donald Cumming, head of the Canadian Sept of that Clan settled when he first came to Canada. That is before he moved his family to near Lancaster, Ont. Malcolm, one of the senior partners of the firm of Cumming Bros., Glengarry Ayrshire Farm was therefore born at the Ormstown farm. We are not sure whether Donald, the other senior partner of the firm, was born before the family moved across the Lake, but he has marital connections, so to speak, with Huntingdon district. Mrs. Donald Cumming, a native of Huntingdon County, is a member of the Goodfellow family and so has a considerable number of cousins in the vicinity of Huntingdon. Carlyle Watt of the old established Ayrshire family of that name is connected with the Aubrey district through his mother who was a McKell of Aubrey.

Twilight Gathering

However to return to the "Twilight" gathering at the Harold and Mrs. Demoulin Holstein Farm. The gathering was comprised of a very large group of members of the Glengarry County Holstein Club and the Glengarry Ayrshire Club.

The demonstrations and judging competitions were supervised by James Y. Humphreys, Agricultural Representative Glengarry County and Secretary of the Ayrshire Club. The demonstrations were capably carried out by Gilbert MacMillan from an Ayrshire as well as from a good dairy cow standpoint in general. Grant Smith, Field Representative for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada in Eastern Ontario, gave a similar talk with respect to the Holstein cow.

One class each of Ayrshires and Holsteins were judged with Gilbert MacMillan as the official judge of the Ayrshire class and Grant Smith as the official judge of the Holstein class.

After the judging contests had been completed the gathering reassembled on the pleasant lawn of the Demoulin Farm. The chairmen of the speaking end of the programme being George McRae, Vice President of the Glengarry Holstein Club and Carlyle Watt, President of the Glengarry Holstein Club. That is George McRae and Carlyle Watt spelled each other as chairman. The guest speaker was Gilbert MacMillan who dealt with the dairy industry in general, particularly the present situation, in his usual capable informative manner. Several others were also called upon for brief addresses, including John McLennan, a member of the Executive Committee of Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association and F. C. Eligh, a Vice-President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

Unlike most similar Glengarry gatherings there was no Piper or Pipe Band or Highland Dancers at this event. However, Ruben Ross gave a number of heartily applauded violin selections. A quartette headed by Salem Thomson also gave several enjoyable vocal selections.

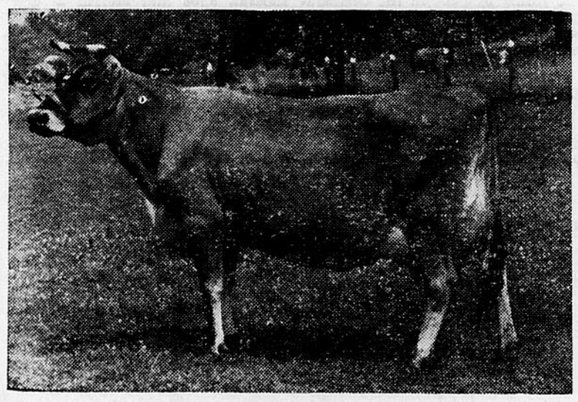

Altogether it was a most friendly, enjoyable event that lasted from around 8.30 p.m. until well after eleven o'clock.

Outstanding Jersey Record

James Bremner, Secretary, Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, has announced that Avondale Alga, a Jersey cow bred and owned by Senator A. C. Hardy, at Avondale Farm, Brockville, Ontario, has completed her second sensational record. Alga went on test at nine years and in 365 days produced 17,856 lbs. of milk, 1,203 lbs. of butterfat, with an average test of 6.74%. This is the highest record ever made by a nine-year-old Jersey cow in Canada, and it is the highest record ever made by a Jersey in Canada on less than three times milking. Alga was milked three times for 153 days. The highest record ever made in Canada by a Jersey cow on two times milking was made by this very same cow at seven years, when she produced 16,768 lbs. of milk and 1,122 lbs. of fat. In her last two lactation periods Alga has produced 2,325 lbs. of butterfat, and qualifies for a "Ton O' Gold" award by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club.

During her recent record, she was milked and cared for by George Healy, a young farm boy from Richmond, Quebec. Arden Baker is farm manager and Mr. Baker reports this is the fourth 1,000 lbs. record made at Avondale by three cows, and Alga carries the blood breeding of the other two.

Alga has four offspring living. Her oldest son heads the herd of Henry White & Son, at Chatham, N.B. She also has a yearling son, and her two daughters are now on test.

Avondale Alga

Highest Canadian Jersey producer on twice daily milkings — 17,856 lbs. milk at 6.74% in 365 days.

The Liberals Back In The Driver's Seat

IT was a foregone conclusion that the Liberals would be back in power again after the election, but there was some idea that they would lose a few seats to the Progressive-Conservatives. The results of Monday's voting however, proved that the Liberals came back strong and almost equal to that of four years ago. All leaders were re-elected and all cabinet ministers retained their seats, even the latest addition and the most talked of Mr. Pickersgill.

In our own district, Robert Cauchon, M.P. for Beauharnois was conceded the election over Mr. Demers as early as 8 o'clock. While in Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie Constituency Jean Boucher, the Liberal candidate, was elected over Merrill E. Barrington, Progressive-Conservative. To many, this was a great disappointment due to the irregularities at the time of the Liberal convention which ousted the former sitting member, Donald E. Black. Resentment in this direction will be felt for some time. While Liberals will hail the general results with satisfaction, it will take a long time to heal the wound that opened up at the beginning of the election in Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie Constituency.

The Astounding Number of Accidents

THIS year right from the very start, the campaign against automobile accidents has been increased in tempo. The Provincial Government introduced legislation to provide for the examination of car drivers in an effort to weed out those who may not be so good and with a view to cutting down on accidents. Unfortunately, this system has not become sufficiently widespread to take in all the drivers on the test. Possibly when this is done on a greater scale, it will have the desired effect. The insurance companies came out with an idea whereby the insured car owner who can claim a no accident record for three years, obtains a reduction in premium. Newspapers and periodicals have kept up an incessant series of articles on how to avoid accidents, stories and pictures of actual accidents and every other type of warning, but still the toll has increased rather than decreased.

What then is the cause of this great upsurge? Are car drivers absolutely oblivious of the danger that is in their hands? Do they not care for the lives of other people and their own? Or are they so crazy about speed that they cannot slow down at all.

We can only reach the conclusion that car drivers are becoming too much lovers of speed and with it they are careless. This past week-end has perhaps the worst record in this particular district of any so far. Not only is it here, but from all over the country reports of accidents are getting numerous. There is no doubt that far too many drivers are driving their vehicles too fast. The faster the car will go, the faster they want it to go and to H---- with the consequences. We want to quote the following as an example of what is meant.

HIGHWAY HAZARDS
(Toronto Telegram)

"The Provincial Department of Highways would be rendering a public service if it took under consideration the question of introducing measures to ensure that trucks, buses and transports travel at a speed on the highways which is not only safe but at a rate which does not interfere with motorists.

"Trucks are, without a doubt, the worst offenders on the highway. They travel at a thundering pace, and since no motorist likes to follow one to be blinded by it and to be enveloped in the stench of its exhaust, drivers are impelled to accelerate their own speed in an effort to pass. Hazards, consequently, are created, risks are taken, and accidents result from excessive speeding and from attempts to pass.

"It is evident that the law as it stands is inadequate. As trucks are permitted the use of the highways, it is essential that measures be enforced which will remove this usage from continuing to be a public menace and a nuisance."

The number of accidents involving buses and trucks would seem to indicate these vehicles are allowed to travel at too great a speed for safety of all concerned on our highways. Gravel trucks with from ten to twelve tons of a load, travelling at speeds up to 60 miles per hour, do not create much chance for anyone when a collision occurs. These large vehicles take a much greater length to bring them to a stop in emergency when travelling at such high speeds. Certainly speed is something which the law should take a long look at.

More attention should be paid to the signs placed along the highways. These signs are put there for protection, but in most cases they are entirely ignored or they are not seen because of the speed of travelling. Stop signs mean what they say, whether they are at intersections in a town or city, or on the highway. They mean you must stop, that is the car must stand still and the wheels must stop rolling. They do not mean just slow down, or the sign would read that way. Yet, how few pay attention to such signs. Why stop if nothing is coming, they say. But sometime something is coming and they don't stop and then the accident. Stopping at Stop Signs should be habit forming and it is far safer.

We believe that the highway department should buy up some of these very bad wrecks and mount them at the points of greatest number of accidents with warnings in large letters to those who may not be cautious minded. They may be unsightly, but such should prove a deterrent, the trouble is the signs of accident are removed too quickly and only a few see the actual results. Such "monuments" may have more effect than ordinary road signs.

So Russia Has The Hydrogen Bomb!

THAT is what the news report say — Russia has the hydrogen bomb and Mr. Malenkov has provided in his budget for an expansion against any aggression. Naturally there are all kinds of reasoning as to what this means. If Russia has the hydrogen bomb and intends to go into its development, then the atomic bomb output will suffer in consequence. The wise ones say that Russia is not equipped to put all her energies into these things.

The point is, do we know what Russia can do? Should we lull ourselves into a contented slumber in the belief that Russia cannot do these things? We can also take these reports with a degree of salt until such times as they can actually be proved. Perhaps Russia has not got the hydrogen bomb, but is trying to spoof us and thus frighten the world. On the other hand she may have it and it may be a really better weapon than we know. Let's not play around with conjectures, but let us believe that Russia has the hydrogen bomb and that it does not interfere with production of other types of bombs and weapons. Let us keep preparing and researching in every direction until we are absolutely out of the woods and sure that peace is sought and not some unexpected war. We don't trust the Russians and never will, until they can prove that they can be trusted. When they allow visitors an open view of their country and how they work and they are not afraid for their people to know what goes on in other parts of the world. When they operate a free press, free to publish stories about everything and at the time of happening without interference or censorship, then we will believe that Russia actually seeks peace and peace only.

If the stories of P.O.W.s now being released, can be taken as evidence, then there is not too much good faith in anything the Reds have to do with. If faith cannot be placed in what the Reds do, then certainly we cannot trust them. When we arrange excuses for them, we are actually helping them to put over their points and not helping our cause. No, we must believe that Russia has the hydrogen bomb and prepare our defences in accordance with such belief.

The long drawn out truce negotiations are a further evidence that the Reds are not to be trusted. While we have no evidence as yet, it is quite possible they were biding their time for other moves. What these moves could be, only time will tell. The U.N. countries have prepared themselves for surprises in this direction in so far as the Korean truce is concerned. This is as it should be and shows that at least we are not too trusting.

Until Russia shows the world conclusively that she has no aggressive intentions whatsoever and is willing to co-operate with the rest of the world in sharing her knowledge of all things, she should be regarded as dangerous. All the curtains should be drawn and light should be allowed to shine in on all places. Only thus will this mistrust be dispelled and can Russia be accepted by others. While there is the least reason for suspicion that something is being kept back or hidden from sight, no nation can place implicit trust in her word or actions.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken from Gleaner Files

March 12

Clarence J. Stewart, a graduate of Huntingdon Academy, has successfully passed the sessional examinations in second year medicine at McGill.

A landmark of the Outarde is being moved — Mr. Durnin's factory being hauled to the lower part of Boyd Settlement. The factory will be used to replace that of W. G. Prevost which was burnt to the ground this winter.

One of the best farms on the Trout River has been sold, Miss McVeox of Verdun having purchased the 200 acre farm of the late W. H. Walker. Possession is taken in April.

March 19

The auction sales this year are bringing out numerous buyers and prices particularly for milk cows are high. Tuesday, Auctioneer Philps held one of his best so far this year, when he disposed of the stock of David Biggar at big prices. The herd of cows brought from $65 to $100 a head.

Mrs. Arthur has sold her property on Wellington Street facing Prince Arthur Square to Wm. J. Goundry for $1850. Mr. Goundry has given up his position on the N.Y.C. at St. Stanislas, and is now employed by the International Harvester Company. While he had charge of the St. Stanislas railway section, he was awarded many prizes for the condition he kept it in.

April 9

One of the best movements commenced in Huntingdon for some years, was started Monday evening, when the council decided to have a cleaning-up day about the end of the month. It is in the interest of all the citizens to make the day a success. There are numerous fences which need repairing, yards around town which need tidying, and numerous piles of rubbish to be carried away. The week chosen may be one of the busiest in the year, but if the citizens will join together, results will more than justify the labour.

R. J. Hanna has left for Canaan, N.H., having sold his farm, the old Lanktree place to John Paul.

April 16

Several from the district attended the first triennial convention of the High Court of the Independent Foresters which met at Sherbrooke last week. About 75 officers and delegates were present besides visitors from the Supreme Court. On the evening of the first day, the convention was officially welcomed by Mayor McKinnon and by Messrs. Merril and Fitzgerald.

On Monday the agent for Grimm Co. took away syrup and there was a crowd around the N.Y.C. station all day. He bought 500 gallons, at from 65c to 80c per gallon in bulk, according to quality. 75c was the average price.

The sugar season has been the best for many years and goes against the notion that cold winds are unfavourable. The demand has not been as active as last year. Depression in trade has kept back orders from the Northwest. Across the line the tobacco factories have bought freely to use in the preparation of chewing tobacco.

Houses are not to be had in the village. There are inquiries for houses, either to rent or to buy, but there are none vacant. A dozen houses of moderate size could find tenants.

April 25

Walter Brown has successfully passed his examinations as an optician. Of the 21 students who studied for their examinations by correspondence, he ranked first.

The roads in the village are drying fast and the autos are once more running around. A. A. Lunan reports a large sale of Fords, particularly to the farmers, who are beginning to take advantage of the horseless waggon.

The Grimm Co. again took delivery of maple syrup on Monday, and bought 3500 gallons. Highest price paid was 80c.

Letter to the Editor

Civic Affairs,

Montreal 28, Quebec,
Telephone DExter 1887,
August 6, 1953.

The Editor,
Huntingdon Gleaner,
Huntingdon, Quebec.

Dear Sir:

With reference to a letter to the editor in your paper last week that was sent in by the United Textile Workers of America. The writer stated that the Textile Industry is the largest employer of labor in Canada.

I would like to correct this. In 1950, the year when the latest figures on employment in Canada are available the Textile Industry was the third largest employer of workers in our country. The Wood and Paper industry is the largest employer followed by the Iron industry. Textiles is third.

Another point. The Union letter refers to foreign interests "dumping" textiles into Canada.

Under Canadian law — a law that is strictly enforced — dumping occurs when materials are imported for sale into Canada at a price lower than the article sells for in its country of origin. There is no dumping of anything into Canada at the moment. A year or so ago Japanese shirts were brought in for sale at a dollar each. The Government soon stepped in to halt some importers' idea of making a fast buck.

If the executives of the Canadian Textile Industry would get out of their ivory towers and start competing with these so called foreign manufacturers they could sell all their products that their factories could produce.

I am not anti-labor. The sun must shine for everyone. But I am alarmed at the recent trend of Canadian Textile owners trying to get a closed market for their products in Canada by excluding, by high tariffs and laws, competition from outside our country. If they are successful at this manoeuvre we would have to buy their goods, and their goods alone at their prices. No thanks, my dollar is too hard to earn.

Heck, if the Americans can produce textiles with a higher wage cost than ours, export them to Canada and sell them at a lower price than comparable Canadian tetxiles there is just one answer. The men who control the Canadian Textile Industry as a whole are taking too much profit.

Yours truly,

Kenneth E. Lyall,
English River Farm.

The Week At Ottawa...

A spokesman for the external affairs department says there will have to be full consultation between United Nations members represented in the Korean fighting before any action is taken in the event of a breach in the armistice.

The spokesman was commenting on an announcement by the department that Canada signed a pledge last month, along with 15 other United Nations allies, to resist any new attack in Korea.

The agreement, signed July 27 in Washington, said that the 16 nations with armed forces in the UN Command in Korea "affirm in the interest of world peace that if there is a renewal of the armed attack, challenging again the principles of the UN, we should again be united and prompt to resist. The consequences of such a breach of the armistice would be so grave that, in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

The spokesman indicated, however, that this latter part of the agreement does not mean that Canada is committed to an immediate invasion of Communist China if China breaks the armistice now in effect in Korea.

In the event of an outbreak of armed conflict in Korea, there would have to be consultation among the 16 nations before any action is decided on. The UN itself would have to decide whether the armistice has been broken and Canada, as a UN member, then would be obliged to be "prompt to resist."

Canada, among other signatories to the agreement, pledged to do her part in helping the UN and the people of Korea repair the war damages. So far, however, Canada has not received any concrete plan from the United States for using UN troops to help rebuild the war-torn country. An external affairs department spokesman said the plan has so far been described to Canada only in "general terms".

Record-Breaking Exercises Planned

The army has announced that the biggest peacetime military exercises in Canada's history will be held at Wainwright military camp in Alberta Aug. 20-29. One of the aims is to test the 25th Canadian infantry brigade replacement group which will be the next Canadian formation to go to Korea.

More than 5,000 active and reserve force troops will take part in the manoeuvres, dubbed "Exercise Buffalo IV." Directing officer will be Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding the army's western command.

The exercise has an unusual sidefeature. It includes a familiarization course to be run by the army for the benefit of newspaper reporters. Relationships between war correspondents and commanders in the field will also be discussed.

Facts and Figures

Elsewhere on the Ottawa scene came word that advertising in Canada has jumped tremendously in the last 12 years. In 1941 there were 41 advertising agencies in Canada that handled $29,225,000 worth of business. Last year there were 88 agencies that handled business totalling $121,667,000, the bureau of statistics showed.

The bureau also reported higher prices for eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables during June which drove the consumer price index higher for the second consecutive month. Increased food prices were the biggest contributor to the rise to 115.4 from 114.9. But higher prices for clothing, coal, gas, household help and increased costs of home ownership and rents helped shape the half-point rise.

W.I. News

The Franklin Centre W.I. held their August meeting on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Elmer Renaud, with Mrs. Arthur Renaud as joint hostess. The roll call, which was to pay a cent for each inch of the waist measure, caused mixed emotions among the goodly number of members and visitors present. Plans were discussed in regard to the booth at Havelock Fair, and donations of aprons, cooking, jams and house plant slips will be very acceptable. The School Fair was also on the agenda and the date was left to be decided later.

Word from Mrs. Wm. Hope, who is now able to be home from the hospital, expressed her thanks for the shower of cards she had received.

A number of the delegates to the A.C.W.W. convention at Toronto, are to be entertained at Huntingdon on the 29th of August and the ladies from the Franklin branch are invited to meet them there.

Outlines were distributed to the different conveners and Mrs. E. Lindsay read the one on Agriculture, Mrs. H. Blair on Home Economics and Mrs. Walker on Citizenship. Mrs. Walker also read an article on being a good citizen.

A book of patterns of the year 1882 was passed around and the styles of those days caused a lot of comments.

Mrs. Arthur Renaud gave a demonstration of crocheted pillow cases and pot holders which was most beautiful.

The grandmother contest was next on the program and prizes were won by Mrs. J. Goldie, Mrs. A. Rowe, Mrs. A. Renaud and Mrs. R. Barr. The game of twenty Questions filled in for a social time and challenged the contestants' wits.

At the close of the afternoon, the hostess served delicious refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Renaud.

The bride given in marriage by her father, T. P. Murray wore a floor length gown of snow white french lace over satin. Her embroidered veil of tulle was held by a bandeau of tulle with lily of the valley and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. A. Guay was witness for his brother. Miss Jocelyn Murray, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a frock of turquoise nylon over taffeta with a tiny hat of tulle trimmed with flowers and carried a bouquet of white gladiolas. Mr. Gilles Pierre was best man.

Rev. Father Rousseau blessed the marriage. Violet, who was a member of the Society of the Children of Mary, was accompanied to the Altar of the Blessed Virgin, where her cousin Miss Stella Cardinal read the act of consecration. Following the religious ceremony, a reception was held in Lacolle Inn where a turkey dinner was served to some sixty guests.

In Memoriam

McNAUGHTON — In memory of our beloved mother, Pearl McNaughton, who died August 14th, 1948 —
Five years ago a home was saddened
With sorrow and with loss,
God took away our mother
He gave us strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But just how much we miss her
No one will ever know.
Patsy, Ross and Joyce.

McNAUGHTON — In fond and loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Pearl, who passed away August 14th, 1948 —
Looking back in memory
Upon the path you trod,
We bless the years we had with you
And leave the rest to God.
Thinking of you always,
Father, Mother, sisters and brother Will.

Accident on Ridge Road, Ste. Agnes

Patches of dense fog were the cause of an accident early Sunday morning when a car driven by Tommy MacNaughton, of Huntingdon, failed to make a curve just east of Ernest Leduc's gate on the Ridge Road, Ste. Agnes. The car, a 1950 Ford, ran over the embankment of the road, which is quite high at that spot, and hit some huge boulders that were in the bottom of the ditch. The car is a total wreck, and the driver and six other occupants are reported to have received injuries.

ORMSTOWN — On Wednesday morning, early risers around the Shell garage phoned Bill Hooker to report that a car, a 1949 Chevrolet coach, had struck his property next to the Shell Garage, loosening several bricks in the wall, and had become mired in the fresh earth in front of the house.

At St. Chrysostome Parochial church on Saturday, August 1, at 10 a.m., a very pretty wedding took place, when Lila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Costello of St. Chrysostome was united in marriage to Roy Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holmes of Huntingdon. The marriage was blessed by Rev. Father Robillard, S.J., pastor of our Lady of Victory Parish at Plattsburg, N.Y. The double ring ceremony followed the Child of Mary Ceremony when Miss Dolores Dame of Plattsburg, N.Y. read the act of Consecration attended by Miss Marie Claire MacKenzie. The altars were decorated with white lilies and chrysanthemums and ferns. Mrs. Dale Harter of Detroit, former classmate of the bride and Miss Betty Harnett of Plattsburg, N.Y., were soloists with Mrs. Wilbrod Laberge at the organ, playing the wedding march. During the signing of the register she played strains from the Rosary. Other selections were "Because", "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod, "Panis Angelicus", "Oh Lord, I am not worthy", "On this Day."

The bride, entering on her father's arm, wore French imported heirloom rosepoint lace over pleated nylon tulle and taffeta. Her veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a bandeau of gypsophalia, baby's breath and she carried a white prayer book upon which was clipped a white orchid corsage with streamers of white satin ribbon and stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Catherine Costello, a sister of the bride, wore an aqua marine bouffant skirt of lace and pleated tulle over taffeta with matching mitts and a bandeau of lilies of the valley and she carried a nosegay of red sweetheart roses and baby mums.

The bridesmaid was Mary Costello, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of orchid lace with a bouffant skirt of pleated tulle over taffeta, matching mitts, and a bandeau of lilies of the valley and she carried a nosegay of lavender daisies and white baby mums.

The junior bridesmaid, Miss Juanita Bell, wore a gown of yellow lace with bouffant skirt of pleated tulle over taffeta, matching mitts, a bandeau of lilies of the valley and she carried a nosegay of yellow daisies and baby mums.

The best man was Roger Tobin of Hemmingford. The ushers were Stewart Holmes of Huntingdon, a brother of the groom, and James Leahy of Franklin Centre, a cousin of the bride.

Following the religious ceremony, a reception was given to 75 guests at l'Hotel l'Hermine, Henrysburg, Que.

Mrs. James Costello, mother of the bride, was gowned in navy shirred sheer over taffeta, a toning hat trimmed with rhinestones, with matching accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Holmes, the groom's mother, wore a navy gown of crepe francais with white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

The happy couple left by motor on a tour of Gaspé Peninsula via the New England States, crossing back to Canada at St. Leonard's, N.B. For travelling the bride wore a pale blue gaberdine suit with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

The bride is a student of Hochelaga Convent at Montreal, graduate of St. Mary's Academy at Windsor, Ont., finishing her studies at Loretta Business School of Plattsburg, N.Y. On arriving home for the week-end from Montreal where she is employed, Maureen was told she was to meet a certain party at the Legion Hall to discuss some plans. On entering the hall, Maureen was taken completely by surprise when she was met by Jean who led her to a beautifully decorated chair. In front of her was placed a table loaded with parcels large and small. As she entered the hall ,all sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." After being seated, Maureen was presented with a beautiful corsage by her little cousin, Sharon Tobin. The hall was beautifully decorated in blue and white.

After opening her gifts and passing them around for all to see, Maureen thanked everyone for their kindness. A number of pictures were taken during the evening. A social hour was then spent in a sing-song with Mrs. Rosalea Barwick at the piano. Refreshments were then served to over 50 relatives and friends after which all departed wishing Maureen much happiness.

There are Still Some Honest People

This story is without names as the parties do not wish them to be mentioned, but nevertheless they wanted it to be known they were thankful for what happened. A wallet containing some valuable papers and cash was lost in Howick on Friday while the party was on a visit. On Sunday morning another party arrived at the door of the loser's home in Huntingdon with the lost wallet intact. The owner was thankful for the return of the wallet and also that there are honest and thoughtful people in Howick, who, upon finding the wallet and money, took the trouble to return it to the owner.

Junior Institute Rally at Bury

Two members of the Athelstan Junior Women's Institute and their counsellor, Mrs. W. E. Bernhardt, will leave on Thursday morning for the J.W.I. camp at Bury, Quebec. The girls chosen to represent the Athelstan group are the president, Lois French, and the secretary, Pauline Foers.

Bury, the oldest J.W.I. branch in the province, will be host to the first province-wide rally, which is being held from August 13-16. An Achievement Evening will be held on Saturday in Bury Town Hall to display skills and handicrafts of the campers.

Rally activities will be based on the theme — "From J.W.I. to A.C.W.W." The Junior Institutes form part of the membership of the Associated Country Women of the World, which is holding its convention in Toronto this month. Details of an A.C.W.W. tour through this section of the province will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Gleaner.

Plans for the rally include folk dancing, hikes, singing, group painting, swimming, camp fires and various other camp activities. The girls will form crews for light camp duties and the aim of the rally is to give the campers a clearer picture of the J.W.I. organization and develop their personalities as intelligent citizens.

Accommodation for the campers consists of a cabin and tents, with a hall in the town of Bury available for rainy weather activities and camp assemblies. The Army has provided tents and sleeping bags.

The camp staff consists of Miss F. Elizabeth Campbell, Junior Supervisor, J.W.I., and Miss Ida Bruneau, Q.W.I. Handicrafts Technician, of Macdonald College, Mrs. K. Tarrant, Bury and Mrs. R. COOL DRINKS

On hot summer days, what is more refreshing than to stretch out under the shade of a big tree with a tall cool drink by your side! If you have actually lost the desire for solid food, then be sure to drink cool drinks that are not only thirst-quenchers but are also wholesome foods. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture point out that cold drinks can fulfil a two-fold purpose. They can be refreshing and at the same time very nourishing.

Does your family like egg nogs or do they think of them as a food for invalids? A plain egg nog made of milk, egg and flavouring can be as cool, tempting and satisfying as any other drink. A plain egg nog is very good but the flavour may be varied by substituting fruit juice for all or part of the milk and by beating in either a whole egg or the beaten white. If the whole egg is being used, it is best to mix the fruit juice with the beaten yolk and then, just before serving, fold in the beaten white. Raspberry juice is particularly good used in this way and apricot nector or grape juice will give an egg nog a party air.

Cool, appetizing and always a favourite with adults is café au lait. This is hot coffee mixed with plenty of hot milk, then chilled and served icy cold. It is a simple drink, easy to make and just the thing to serve to summer guests.

When a scorching day is predicted, a quick drink that is sure to appeal to practically everyone is plain ice-cold milk. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture remind us that adults and children alike need milk every day. However, in summertime, plain milk, even though icy cold, does not always appeal to everyone. Often just a slight change in the flavour of the milk will remedy the problem. This is a very easy thing to do. Just add a little chocolate or fruit syrup to the cold milk. As a matter of fact, it is a good idea to keep plenty of these syrups in the refrigerator ready for any occasion. Chocolate or fruit syrups are easy to make and to prepare a flavoured drink, you need only to add a spoonful or two of syrup to each glass of milk.

Another simple, easy way to change the flavour of milk is to add crushed fruit or even a little jam to the cold milk. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture suggest crushed peaches mixed with ice-cold milk and a spoonful of ice cream for a drink which the family will love, right to the last drop. They mention peaches because they are in season now but any crushed fruit may be used. Many milk drinks may be turned into milk shakes by adding a little ice cream to the flavoured drink, pouring it into a sealer and shaking it well. The home economists also suggest that in making cool drinks, very interesting flavours may be developed if two flavours are combined. For instance, peppermint flavouring with chocolate drinks or almond flavouring with peach milk drinks.

Fruit garnishes really give drinks a party air so use plenty of them. Fruits such as cherries, melon wedges, raspberries, grapes are ideal for the purpose. Mint grows in abundance in many gardens but it is often forgotten until a roast of lamb appears on the table. Pop a spring in a glass of cold drink. It will give it that finishing touch.

Like To Hear A Secret? — Here's my secret recipe for the best mustard pickles you've ever tasted. First of all, be sure you have the following — HEINZ WHITE PICKLING VINEGAR, KEEN'S DRY MUSTARD, WINDSOR COARSE PICKLING SALT — and to seal in the goodness of the pickles once they're done — PAROWAX.

MUSTARD PICKLES

3 lbs. small pickling cucumbers
4 cups Heinz White Pickling Vinegar
½ cup Keen's Dry Mustard
½ cup Windsor Coarse Pickling Salt
3½ cups sugar

Wash cucumbers. Combine Heinz White Pickling Vinegar, Keen's Dry Mustard, Windsor Coarse Pickling Salt and sugar. Heat to boiling. Add cucumbers and heat to boiling. Quickly pack one hot, sterilized jar at a time. Fill to ⅛" from top. Be sure vinegar solution covers the vegetables. Seal each jar with Parowax at once. Yield: 7 pints.

For Elegant Results Don't Sew in Hurry

A dress hastily planned is usually plagued by three things. The material is wrong for the pattern. The dress fits the pattern, but does not fit you. The seams come out at the cleaners. There are four reasons behind these three bugbears. You have already discovered the first. Home sewing can save you money only if you plan it, and don't rush. You can learn how to plan — even for the unexpected — from a home-dressmaking course in your nearest sewing center. The sewing methods you learn will give you the answers to the other three pitfalls.

Choosing the right material for a pattern is not just a flair some women have and others haven't. Fabrics have certain draping qualities. You can learn what these are. Some pattern lines call for stiff material. Others for soft fabric. A stand-up collar won't look well in clinging crepe. Stiff taffeta will not fall softly in a panel.

Getting the right fit is a matter of knowing the relation of each pattern piece to your own figure. In the sewing centre you will learn how to check pattern measurements with your own and pin fit the pattern pieces before cutting into the material. You can use a dress form. It really takes the headaches out of fitting.

How about those seams that come out in the cleaners? The answer here is knowing how to get the best from your sewing machine. You can learn the right tension and stitch length for different seams and how to adjust your machine to get it. The new machines will sew in reverse. Reverse to reinforce the start and finish of every seam. Choose your thread—cotton, silk or nylon—to suit the amount of "give" in your fabric.

You can still sew quickly without rush, if you take advantage of your session in the sewing center to learn how to use sewing-machine attachments. Once you have used the hemmer, the zipper foot, the binder, and others to do time consuming details you'll save time.

How to Keep White Nylon White

Summer means more white garments in the laundry and greater washing care. Since white is the most fragile color to maintain, improper laundering of any white fabric soon will result in discoloration. Despite its well-known washing ease white nylon is no exception.

Whenever white nylon garments lose their original gleam and become slightly yellow or grey, laundry methods should be examined.

White nylon clothing should be washed frequently in creamy suds and water hot enough to remove dirt thoroughly. If a water softener or a detergent containing one has not been used in an area where the water is hard, then the soap curds may be responsible for the off-white shade. The rule of washing colored and white garments separately also applies to nylon, as it too tends to pick up dyes readily.

As nylon is strong even when wet, clothing can be washed vigorously when necessary. Nylon garments can be put in the washing machine provided seams and trimmings are securely stitched and in no danger of fraying or tearing. To avoid unnecessary wrinkling, squeeze water out by hand instead of using the wringing or spin drier. It is, of course, wiser to wash sweaters, stockings and socks by hand.

Like other white fabrics, nylon garments require thorough rinsing. A single rinsing will not remove all soap from shampooed hair, nor is it enough for white nylon. Two rinsings in clear, warm water are considered a minimum.

Strong bleaches should be avoided as they will weaken nylon as much as any other fibre. They should be used carefully when necessary, following directions for cotton if none are given for nylon. There are whitening agents compounded to improve the appearance of garments that have been worn many times and have become slightly discolored.

When washing tricot shirts and blouses, extra soiled collars and cuffs can be rubbed briskly with a cellulose sponge. Ironing can be skipped altogether by hanging them to drip-dry on a hanger without squeezing out the water.

Fish Give Ideas on Water Fouling

By means of an artificial "lake labyrinth" within a laboratory chamber 12 by 12 feet in the Quebec Biological Bureau, University of Montreal, the speckled trout is being given a means of expressing its own opinions as to the qualities of water fed to it.

The experiments are part of the anti-pollution program being conducted by the Bureau within the general conservation plan of the provincial Department of Game and Fisheries, whose minister is Camille E. Pouliot, M.D.

The "lakes" consist of six round basins each 40 inches in diameter and connected by the equivalent of creeks to form a single chain, as if they were part of a river system. The chain is subject to manipulation by means of doors, however, so that the order in which the lakes receive the inflowing water may be varied at will.

Various chemicals and other pollutants are precisely dosed into the water, at various parts of the system, by means of pipes, and a little shoal of fishes which live in the "lakes" as in an aquarium express their feelings by switching from one basin to another and another, tracing a pattern which science may interpret.

The device was invented by Paul Dostert, D.Sc., pollution specialist of the Bureau. It provides yet another tool whereby the water fouling nuisance is being controlled and remedied despite the increasing industrialization of the province.

Green Peas Were Royal Favorite

Green peas, Canada's most popular vegetable in fresh, canned and frozen varieties, originated in ancient times in Asia and reached a zenith of popularity in the royal courts of Europe in the 17th Century, according to historical records.

"Kings, princes and nobility set an example in the eating of this dish which might be characterized as gluttonous", is the way one writer described the succulent vegetable's acceptance in European countries 300 years ago.

During the Middle Ages garden pea seeds were imported from France and English gardeners were the first to give names to varieties which they developed, reports the American Can Company, which developed a method of retaining the green color of fresh peas in the canning process.

Cultivation of green peas in North America dates back to the earliest settlers who planted pea seeds in kitchen gardens. They are still a standby for backyard gardens as well as being a leading commercial canning crop and important in the frozen food industry.

"Canned green peas have become the most popular vegetable on the grocer's shelf and are now a staple item of diet in many thousands of Canadian homes the year 'round", said G. H. McVean, Canadian manager of sales for the can-making firm.

Last year's Canadian pack totalled 79,776,000 cans (Federal Government estimate), he said.

French Culture Held Essential

A former Canadian diplomatic official says retention of the major Canadian nationalities and languages is essential if Canada is to maintain her distinction from the United States.

Jean Desy, former Canadian ambassador to Brazil and Italy, told a convention of the Canadian Association of French Language Educators in Winnipeg that the cultural difference now is the only real dividing line between the two countries.

"If Canada has rapidly become a world power," Mr. Desy said, "that is undoubtedly due first of all to the English genius for organization. But it is equally important to us that Canada owes its stability, realism. Christian sense and most of the characteristics which kept it from melting into the British Empire and now distinguish it from the United States."

Mr. Desy noted an improvement in relations between French and English speaking Canadians. He said a trend in favor of French speaking groups has been indicated, particularly in the last 20 years.

heads every time

Suppose you are tossing a coin. Then, according to one rule, if heads have been coming up noticeably oftener than tails, you should now start betting on tails. Because now tails will have to come up oftener to keep the law of averages balanced.

A second rule says that if heads have been coming up oftener you should keep betting on heads, because this is obviously the day for heads.

Scientists scoff at both laws. A coin, they point out, has no memory. Even if it has just finished coming up heads nine times in a row, the chances of heads on the tenth toss are the same as they were on the first, namely, one chance in two.

Your chances of getting a perfect bridge hand — say, thirteen spades? Exactly 635,013,559,599 to 1. Every time you pick up any bridge hand, your chances of getting that particular combination of cards were 635,013,559,599 to 1 anyway—which makes a perfect hand no more unusual than any other hand.

In brewing ale there is another rule: there's no room for gambling. Everlasting vigilance is the price of consistent quality. So — when millions of millions of bottles keep turning up "heads" over more than 167 years it's a pretty good sign that nothing has been left to chance. That's why, when you say "Make Mine Molson's", you join the great majority of Canadian ale drinkers, who might take a chance on a coin toss, but never when they want the finest in ale.

Labor Situation Summer Season

OTTAWA — The usual influx of students into the labor market took place in June. More than matching this increase in labor supply was the further expansion of seasonal employment activities, and hiring by employers to replace an increasing number of workers on vacation. By July 1, the labor market was generally in balance in 85 of the 115 main employment areas in the country. Labor surpluses existed in 22 areas, while shortages prevailed in the remaining eight. Some difficulty in recruiting sufficient workers was encountered by farmers and employers in other seasonal industries in Ontario and the Prairie provinces. On the other hand, layoffs and short-time either continued or took place in the farm implement, textile and aircraft industries in Quebec and Ontario.

Dundee Boy Loses Fingers In Power Saw

DUNDEE — Gordon, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deschambault, who live in Mr. Albert Dupuis' farm house, met with a very distressing accident last Wednesday when his right hand came in contact with a high speed power saw.

The Deschambault boy and a chum, nine-year-old Bruce McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moran McDonald, were playing around the saw and just as he had his right hand on the blade the McDonald boy happened to push the switch, setting the saw in motion.

Part of the unfortunate boy's thumb was cut off as well as the first two fingers and the third one almost severed. He was taken to Barrie Memorial Hospital, Ormstown, for surgery and treatment, and returned home last Friday night.

Dr. Margaret Edwards of the Montreal Truth Centre spent a few days last week at Cedar Point, guest of Miss Lello Cameron, R.N. Week-end visitors at the same camp were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lang, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cockerline, the Misses Janet and Louise Cockerline, also Mrs. Laura Barbe and Susan, all of Henrysburg, Quebec, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fraser and family. All attended the Sunday School picnic which was held in the Recreational Park at Malone, N.Y.

The scores were as follows: Valleyfield 6 to 3; Ormstown 6 to 5; and Bellevue 1 to 0 in favour of St. Antoine.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dunn were Mr. Clinton and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Middlemiss, and visited their other relatives in Rockburn and Huntingdon. Miss Effie Middlemiss drove her cousins from Sawyerville and on the return trip.

We are pleased to note that little Diane Rennie is quite recovered from her illness and that Mrs. Sloan and Mrs. Harold Steele, who have also been ill with what seemed were attacks of something of the nature of the 'flu, which has been so prevalent, are regaining their usual health.

When Power Failure Occurs Simple Gadget Helps Farmers

W. J. Smythe Has Idea to Operate Milking Machines With Tractor

William J. Smythe has come up with a gadget that he claims will help farmers in the district in the event of power failure at milking time. Many farmers in the district with milking machines have been at a disadvantage when power failures have occurred and milking had to be done. Mr. Smythe says that a good number of cows do not like hand milking after being used to the machines and many farmers find it quite hard when they have to resort to hand milking.

Mr. Smythe says that there is no need to milk by hand in the event of power failure and suggests bringing the tractor into use for this twice-daily chore. By means of attachment on the intake manifold of the tractor, Mr. Smythe claims that the milking machines can be made to operate the same as if by electric power. The attachment is composed of the following: ½x¼ inch nipple; ¼x⅛ inch reducing bushing and a ⅛ inch nipple. By taking out a screw plug in the intake manifold of the tractor, above attachment can be inserted. Use a piece of ordinary ½-inch garden hose of sufficient length to attach to the stall cock in the barn. Start up the tractor engine and allow it to run at a speed sufficient to give the right amount of suction, and the milking machine will perform as usual. This particular attachment is suitable for I.H.C., Massey-Harris and Frost and Wood tractors.

For Ferguson tractors a slight change is necessary and the parts for the attachment would be as follows: two ¼-inch nipples; ¼-inch elbow; ¼x½ inch reducing coupling. Attach in a similar manner as above.

The above attachments will work on all milking machines except the DeLaval Magnetic type. The cost of the first is about 72 cents while the cost of the latter is about $1.25 and the parts can be obtained at any plumbing establishment.

To increase or decrease the amount of suction on the milking machine, simply adjust the speed of the tractor engine until satisfactory. Mr. Smythe claims this will do as good a job at milking as the electric power and save much valuable time and labor in the event of power failure. He also says that the attachment can be used on a Chevrolet car. He warns that the attachment should be taken off the tractor when not in use and replaced when needed. Further particulars can be obtained from Mr. Smythe, who is willing to help fellow farmers in this matter. Several farmers have already tried out the idea and found it quite satisfactory and a great time saver when the power emergency arises.

While William J. Smythe is well known locally, this article will no doubt attract attention of farmers from distant points — it is well, therefore, to add that Bill, as he is more commonly called, owns and operates the homestead Smythe farm near Lee's Corners. For a number of years he also successfully operated a milk transport to Montreal before selling this latter concern to J. G. Fraser. His willingness to share his invention that others may benefit is typical of the Smythe family. He is a brother of James F. "Jim" Smythe of Huntingdon Motors Reg'd.

Rotary Club Asks Your Support

Conducting Benefit To Aid Nurse Training Scheme

The Rotary Club, of Huntingdon is conducting a benefit at the present time, with a view to raising funds to aid local girls in training as nurses in Montreal Hospitals. Two years ago the Rotary Club decided that as our local hospitals are always in need of registered nurses it would be a good thing if the club would offer encouragement to girls to become nurses. The scheme is that as a girl enters for training she be given $200., to aid her in buying uniforms, etc. Each month she also receives a $20. cheque from the Rotary Club, and this goes on throughout her three years of training. The scheme calls for the Rotary Club to so aid three girls in training. At the moment two girls are training in Montreal, Miss Welburn at the Royal Victoria Hospital for almost two years, and Miss Tessier one year at the Montreal General. A third girl is expected to start training this fall. When the girls graduate as nurses they agree to serve at least two years as Registered Nurses in The Huntingdon County Hospital. To finance this aid to nurses in training, it will cost the Rotary Club $900. a year.

To help meet this expenditure the Rotary Benefit is now in full swing and the general public is invited to acquire tickets. The tickets cost $1. The tickets may be purchased from any one of the Rotarians and many others who are voluntarily lending their assistance in that direction. To further aid the effort, four young ladies of Huntingdon are entering into the spirit of the benefit and will compete as popularity contestants, the tickets counting as votes. The young ladies are the Misses Jeanine Lazure of the Huntingdon Woollen Mills Limited staff; Huguette Beaudin of the Bank of Commerce staff; Carmen Bougie of the Gleaner staff and Therese Leduc of Spinners Limited staff. These young ladies will be in the contest and sell tickets as well as the many others.

Second Wind

My son, Bill, on holidays, writes, "Dear Dad, we went for a run around the lake last night. I didn't think I could go all the way. Half way around I thought I was puffed out. But all of a sudden, I wasn't tired any more and I ran fast all the way. My Uncle says I got my second wind."

What memories that letter brought me! One time, at Scout Camp years ago, I'd discovered that if I just kept running, even though "puffed out", I'd get my second wind. I told my scoutmaster, an old sea captain, about it, and he said something I'll remember all my life.

"So you got your second wind, did you, laddie? That's good. Because you'll find it is your second wind that will blow all your argosies safely to port. Never forget that, my boy."

If you have a dream that is faltering, keep on. Your second wind will blow it safe to port. When the going seems rough and you're all but puffed out, go a bit further and watch for that amazing miracle called second wind.

You know, there are many men and women who have never known that amazing experience. They quit too soon. When they felt puffed out they stopped, or yelled for help, or blamed the world for their misfortunes. If only they had gone along a while, persistent to the end, they might have felt that wonderful second surge of energy that would have brought their dream to fruition.

I knew a man who owned a little radio station back in the days when the going was tough. Merchants had very little money with which to advertise. Every month the station was losing a little more. All the owner's friends urged him to quit and salvage what he could. They said there was no use sending good money after bad. But he hated to quit because he loved the radio business and he had faith.

He went to see his bank manager, where he already had an overdraft.

"I guess I should quit," he said, "but I can't bring myself to give up yet. If you'll go along with me, I'll try another year of it before I close up shop."

The banker agreed to go along, because he knew my friend had the kind of courage it takes to win out in the long run. And the tide soon began to turn. That little station is now one of the biggest and most prosperous in Western Canada, and the owner is quite comfortably off. He is glad now that he kept on until he got his second wind. And so are the people in his community, because his broadcasting station, unsubsidized by any tax money, gives generously of its time and money to every worthwhile cause.

Have you a dream that stubbornly refuses to come true? Keep pushing, and your second wind will waft it safe to port!

Russia Announces It Has The Hydrogen Bomb

Malenkov Announces Budget Provides For Improved Defence Capacity Against Aggression

An ominous warning came from Moscow just two weeks after peace returned to Korea. Russia served notice on the world that she has mastered production of the hydrogen bomb.

The announcement came as Premier Georgi Malenkov made a surprise appearance before a joint session of the Supreme Soviet. "The United States no longer has the monopoly of the hydrogen bomb," Malenkov told the cheering deputies. He added that Russian scientists had mastered its production long ago.

Malenkov said the Soviet military budget provided for improved defence capacity "to give a crushing blow to any aggressor who wants to violate the peaceful life of the Soviet Socialist Republics."

The hydrogen bomb is a development of the atom bomb but many times more powerful. The United States atomic energy commission is believed to have exploded the world's first hydrogen bomb in a series of tests at the Eniwetok atoll in the Marshall Islands last year, although this has not been announced officially. AEC announcements have said only that there have been experiments in certain thermonuclear devices, which was taken to mean that work was done on hydrogen bomb-like explosives.

Malenkov's speech also outlined a big new government program for production of consumer goods and said the government was prepared to make a major effort in this direction. He told the deputies the budget was a big step torwards building communism in the Soviet Union and reflected the government's policy towards a steadily rising national economy.

U.S. Guarantee for Korea

A treaty pledging the military might of the United States in defence of war-battered South Korea if the Red armies break the truce and attack again has been initialled in Seoul. It must have the approval of the U.S. Senate before it becomes binding.

The signing in Seoul, by U.S. State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Minister Pyun Yung of South Korea, came as United Nations headquarters announced in New York that 16 allied countries with troops in Korea have promised to take up arms again in the event of a new Communist attack.

Dulles and President Syngman Rhee of South Korea also announced an agreement to walk out of the forthcoming political conference if both feel after 90 days that the Communists are "exploiting" efforts to achieve peace in Korea.

The security pact provides for basing U.S. troops in Korea although Dulles said that U.S. was anxious to get its troops home "as soon as is consistent with our responsibilities." Dulles and his advistors also discussed with South Korean leaders a vast program of economic aid planned by the U.S. to help rebuild the war-torn land. The program, to take from three to four years, contemplates $1,000,000,000 in American aid.

Dulles and Rhee in a joint statement hailed their works as "an important contribution to the development of independence and freedom in the Far East."

Ready to Fight Back

Almost in routine fashion, the United States revealed to the United Nations that it had signed a pact with 15 other UN members who fought in Korea pledging to resist any new attack on South Korea even if fighting should spread beyond Korean borders.

Britain and Canada, however, promptly announced some reservations. They declared that the promise did not commit them to any definite course of action, and a Canadian spokesman said any move to meet a new attack would be taken only after consultations among the 16 nations. In London, a foreign office spokesman said his government did not consider the pledge committed Britain in advance to "any precise course of action." Explaining that only "hypothetical" situations were covered by the pledge, he said action taken would have to be in line with circumstances at the time.

Just what the pact involved appeared to depend on the outcome of the post-armistice political conference in Korea, which according to truce terms must open by Oct. 27. The talks are aimed at finding a way to unite North and South Korea by peaceful means and fixing a time for withdrawal of Chinese and UN forces from the peninsula. U.S. State Secretary Dulles said other matters might also arise for debate, including such Asian issues as the fate of Formosa and the Indo-China war.

Dulles and South Korean President Syngman Rhee are committed to walk out of the talks in 90 days if they feel the conference is being "exploited" by the Reds, and Rhee has clamored for allied support of resuming the war if unification is not achieved and the walkout becomes a fact.

Hungry Germans Defy Reds

Hungry East Germans continue to defy severe restrictions by Russian zone Communists on travel into West Berlin. Thousands dodged guards and streamed over the border for their share of free food parcels from the United States. Even direct assaults by Red storm troopers failed to smash the relief campaign.

Lines were forming at the food stations before mid-morning and the vast give-away passed the 2,000,000-parcel mark last week-end.

In the Soviet sector, Dean Heinrich Grueber, Protestant church liaison officer to the East German government, condemned the West's food gift program as a barrier to German unity and peace. He warned the distribution "will not turn into a blessing but into a curse."

Seek Continental Federation

A powerful continental federation is the aim of the foreign ministers of West Europe. At a two-day conference in Germany they agreed to create a commission of experts to meet in Rome Sept. 22 to speed final approval of a project for a united Europe.

The ministers said they agreed that formation of a political community consisting of six West European countries is essential and would represent an important contribution to world peace.

Crippling French Strike Ends

France staggered back to normal after the country's worst general strike since 1936. An estimated 2,000,000 workers in a variety of public services left their jobs in protest against Premier Joseph Laniel's rumored plans to save money at their expense.

There were possibilities of further general walkouts if Laniel decided to go through with his plans.

Tree Marking Paint For Woodlot Owners

Time consuming axe-blazing of trees marked for felling can now be eliminated by the use of a new tree marking paint developed by the paint and varnish makers.

Brilliant yellow in color, the paint can be seen for a considerable distance in the bush even on a dark day. It may be applied with an Alemite gun or a pack-sack-type pressure sprayer.

Tree marking paint will be found especially helpful to farmers who are managing their woodlots on a sustained yield.

Bringing Home The Harvest 4,000 Years Ago

For several centuries in ancient Egypt it was the custom to furnish the tomb with wooden models of servants and retainers executing various tasks. The Royal Ontario Museum possesses several interesting examples of this type of object, and among them is an appealing group of two loaded donkeys with their drivers, about ten inches high and roughly carved and painted.

This group formed part of the stock funeral equipment that provided the owner of the tomb with the pleasures and necessaries of daily life in the next world. Thus it served the same magical purpose as the pictures decorating Egyptian history. Wooden models of the kind were usually unskilled work, naively conceived and roughly executed, and they cannot be compared with the finer art of their period. They carry an unusual appeal, however, to the modern eye because of their liveliness and the direct way in which they furnish information about a wide range of daily activities. To the archaeologist they are important because they represent subjects that commonly appear in the ancient paintings, thus explaining obscure details in these paintings when unfamiliar stylistic conventions make them difficult to interpret.

The saddlebags are probably filled with grain for delivery to the government storehouse, since they bear the inscription "royal treasury." As in rural Egypt today, the donkey was the common means of transportation, and always brought the harvest home.

New-type Nylons Strong and Sheer Say Hosiery Men

King Solomon with the whims of 1,000 women to cater to had an easy time of it compared to hosiery mill executives. Hosiery men have literally millions of women to keep happy—as they go about the job of producing nylons that will appeal, flatter, slim, attract and generally glamorize female legs. And, while nylons must do all these things, they must also wear well. They must be light as a powder fleck, as sheer as the wing of a dragonfly,as sturdy as the sides of a battlewagon.

Impossible? Of course it is. But this does not stop women from demanding all these qualities in the hosiery they buy. So the men who keep the hosiery mills running try to satisfy these demands. And, it is amazing what they have done towards achieving the impossible. Take, for instance, what is happening at Burlington Mills in Lachine. The company is spending more than $500,000—in addition to the $1,500,000 spent two years ago—to give women the hosiery they want.

The manufacturers of hosiery, have an answer, at least the best answer for the present, to the women's desire for a stocking that will wear as well as it looks.

So, the ultra-chic 66 gauge 12 denier nylons are a fact. And for those who prefer them, heavier denier and looser gauge hosiery are also being produced. This is one way hosiery men try to keep women happy!

Rifle Tournament at Mount St. Bruno

STE. AGNES — The annual rifle tournament held at Mount St. Bruno from Aug. 1st to 5th brought out a record number of competitors this year. All three services were represented — Navy, Army and Airforce, but there was only one woman competitor, Mrs. Elsie MacRae, wife of the president of the Association.

A feature of the prize list this year was that a good slice of the $2,500 cash has been alloted to "green shots." This brought out a surprisingly large number of youngsters who made their appearance for the first time and seemed to enjoy the novel experience.

The highlight of the first two days of shooting was the fine team performance of the Black Watch of Canada who won several cups, one of which was the Star Cup which they won on Monday by a single point ahead of Longue Pointe Military Rifle Association. However due to a protest made to the Match Committee, the much coveted "Star Cup" was of necessity relinquished by the Black Watch and given to Longue Pointe team. One of the Black Watch team members, Petty Officer K. S. Fox, who was a former member of the Black Watch, but was now serving with H.M.C.S. Donnaconna, was charged with having infringed the regulations by shooting for his old regiment while entering application from the Navy. After deliberation by the Match Committee until the early hours of Tuesday morning, the Black Watch team, who had given such a fine performance, was disqualified.

One of the well-known figures in the shooting field, Officer Cadet E. L. Warner of Sherbrooke had just returned from the Canadian Bisley Matches in England and once again did himself proud in this competition. In the Memorial Shield Competition, he hit the bull's eye 19 times out of 20 shots making the best figures of the match 99/100. Besides winning individual matches, he helped his team from the Sherbrooke Regiment win the Victoria Rifles of Canada trophy.

Messrs George Sutton, Allan Sutton and Tom Gowdy spent the five days of the meet at St. Bruno; Mr. Joe Carr spent the week-end there and Messrs Billy Tannahill, George and Danny McFarlane motored to Mount St. Bruno on Sunday and enjoyed the day with their fellow riflemen. The prize lists are not at present available, but the local boys all did very well, one of them getting nearly $30.00 in prize money. The toughness of the 5 day competition was shown by the fact that six winners of prizes in the P. 2. R.A. aggregate were all Bisley men. The Montreal Star said that although Montreal marksmen took a large proportion of the prize money, they met stern competition from "keen-eyed riflemen from Dundee, Quebec City and Sherbrooke."

Major D. MacRae, president of the P2 RA, paid tribute at the close of the tournament to members of the staff who had helped to make the annual meeting a success. They included: Major W. J. Anderson, Capt. W. Redmond and CSM G. C. Henderson range officers and the acting secretary Mrs. Mae Blais.

Young People Return From Camp

Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship Group broke camp on Thursday after ten delightful days at Lake Meacham, N.Y. The group was chaperoned by Mrs. Simon Gleason, Mrs. Joan Bennett, Misses Arlene Howard and Betty Manson who relieved each other at different times.

Sunday morning, Aug. 2nd, the group invited Rev. William Walch of Buffalo, N.Y., who was in camp with his family, to conduct an open air service at the Camp.

The young people had fine weather almost every day they were in camp, even though it was a bit on the cool side. The mountain air was clear and invigorating and the group enjoyed climbing Mt. Debar and surrounding mountains, and exploring the local countryside.

The only casualty of the party was Hugh McPherson, who was bitten by a poisonous spider. The bite is on his left hand just above the little finger, and it has been causing him quite a little trouble. While at camp he was treated by a doctor at the North Star Camp at Lake Meacham who gave him two shots of penicillin. This brought about the desired effect of taking down the swelling, but on Monday, almost a week later, the bite began to swell again. Hugh paid a visit to Dr. Ronan who said that there was still infection in the blood-stream, and Hugh had another shot of penicillin, with the prospect of more to come.

Stock Car Races

The stock car races sponsored by the Fort Covington International Speedway, Inc., and held in Fort Covington on Sunday afternoon were attended by fans from near and far. It was reported that close to 4,000 people attended the opening race. A record-breaking crowd for Fort Covington. There wasn't sufficient seating room on Sunday, and it was announced at the close that by next week 1,500 more seats would be available.

According to those who attended, there were thrills and excitement for all. These races, which are to be a weekly event, may very well prove to be a popular sporting activity of the district.

News of Rev. A. B. MacPherson

The congregations of Dundee, Kensington and Powerscourt might be interested to know that Saturday, Aug. 8th, was Rev. Mr. MacPherson's wedding day. Rev. Mr. MacPherson, who was pastor during the fall, winter and early spring months made many good friends in his three charges.

He left Montreal about the middle of June, planning to motor to his home in Nanton, Alberta, but while he was still travelling through Ontario, he received news of the sudden death of his father. He left his car in Ont., and flew home immediately, and so he is still without a car.

Rev. Mr. MacPherson and his new bride will be at Belleville, Alberta for the next two years. Here they have three charges also, and two of them are in coal-mining towns. He says that so far his congregations have been pretty small, but knowing Mr. MacPherson, he will soon have the greater part of the community coming to listen to his simple philosophy of life.

In case anyone is interested, his address is; Box 73, Bellevue, Alta.

Involved in Accident

While travelling home to Winnipeg, Man., Mr. and Mrs. Allan Arnold and family met with a most unfortunate accident. Just on the outskirts of New York City, with its usual heavy traffic, a car pulled out right in front of Mr. Arnold who had no alternative but to run into it. A car, travelling directly behind the Arnolds, in turn ran into them causing considerable damage to all three cars. Miraculously, none of the Arnolds were injured, although they did receive a terrific shaking-up. The car, a late model Chrysler, was a total wreck, and the family were forced to complete their trip home by train.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Demers and family, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Kazulak motored to Montreal on Sunday to visit with Mr. Kazulak, who is still a patient in the Montreal General Hospital, where he is recovering from injuries sustained in a fall from a load of hay. Mr. Kazulak is making satisfactory progress and hopes to be home in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Winders and children, Margaret and Donald of Hadeonfield, N.J., spent a couple of days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle L. Currie. They were also callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregor Leslie and visited relatives in Huntingdon. Mr. and Mrs. Winders are compiling a family tree and were endeavouring to collect as much information as possible about relatives in this district. Mr. Winders was a second cousin of the late Miss Bella McBain, and through the Post Office in Dundee he traced relatives of the late Miss McBain and so came in contact with the Currie family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Campbell and family of Cornwall, Ont., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Currie. Judy and Susan remained to spend a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Currie.

Valleyfield

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henderson of Montreal were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Gladys Read.

Mr. E. T. Stanger has returned from a six week's business trip to London, England. Mrs. Stanger and little daughter, Anne, visited Hampton, N.B., while Mr. Stanger was in England and they have now returned home.

Miss Pat Petrie and Miss Iris Amos were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening, Aug. 5th, at the home of Miss Petrie, for Miss Georgianna Anderson, whose marriage to Mr. Calvin Price takes place on Saturday, Aug. 15th.

Nichols Co. Sponsor Annual Picnic

Nichols Chemical Co. Ltd., held their annual picnic on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9th, in the Recreation Park owned by the Company, which was formerly known as Clark's Island. The manager and office staff from Montreal were present. Games and races for which prizes were given took up most of the afternoon and a very enjoyable time was had by grown ups and children alike.

Travelling Machine Shop

If, in the summer of 1954 when walking on the main street in Valleyfield you should happen to see a two-decker bus, don't be startley and cry, "I must be in New York!" because we will soon be having a visit from Dan Dann, the fix-it-man.

He had a small machine shop rigged up at his home in Kingston, N.Y., but decided to buy a second hand Fifth Avenue bus in New York and is having it remodelled in Albany. It will be similar to a trailer when finished. The top deck will be turned into an apartment, kitchen, living-room, bedroom, bathroom and an observation platform on the back.

The lower deck will have a complete machine shop, which includes a lawn mower grinder, saw filing and key making machines, welding equipment and four different types of grinders for scissors, knives, etc., also a bench with plenty of hand tools. In Kingston, he has been declared the official knife and gavel maker. He has invented many gadgets. One is a beer drinking affair that you can use without removing the top of the bottle and it could also be used on any can of fruit or tomato juice.

His wife has a Necchi sewing machine and will sew for anyone requiring alterations on a dress, etc.

Look for the double decker next summer with the sign on it,
"Dan Dann, the fix-it-man
If I can't fix it, who in the heck can!"

Canoe and Sailing Club Regatta

The Canoe and Sailing Club of Valleyfield held their local regatta on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9th. The weather was pleasant and there was just enough wind for the sailboats. There were hundreds of spectators. The results of the races are as follows:

Canadian Schenley Trophy, Class 25, horsepower motor boats—1, Dr. D. Perron, driver Gilles Sauvé; 2 Jim Williams, Ormstown; 3 Jean Marchand, Beauharnois.

Perron & Freres, Trophy—Lightning Class—Sailboats—1 Charles McDonald; 2 Ronald Vincent; 3 Jim Lafontaine; 4 Doug. Montgomery.

Runabout Class—1 Claude Blanchard; 2 Jacques Brodeur; 3 Antonio Patenaude.

Hydroplane Class—1 Marcel Myre.

Ormstown

W.I. Notes

The meeting of the Ormstown Branch was held at the home of Mrs. Archie Wilson on August 4th with 17 members and several visitors present.

The meeting opened with the Ode and Creed.

The roll call was responded to by giving a remedy for First Aid.

Some fruit and vegetables were prepared and stored in the locker. These were done at the home of Mrs. Jas. Hunter.

A very interesting address was given by Mrs. Jas. Lang on the history of the W.I. as long ago as the year 1797, a meeting was held in Finland and in 1897, the first meeting in Canada was held at the home of Mrs. Hoodless in Ontario. She also spoke of many notable women of the past and in the present W.I. circles and of the A.C.W.W. which is meeting in Toronto this month.

Plans were made concerning the entertaining of ladies from other lands who will be coming to these parts from Toronto. It has been planned they will stay at the different homes that were suggested at the meeting. They will arrive on Aug. 28th.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. Ward Rember and Mrs. Chas. Moe

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Kilgour.

FIND IT HARD to relax in the dentist's chair? Then you'll be glad to know that the dentist's drill now has a rival — a new device which "drills" teeth by means of a fine spray of aluminum oxide powder. They say the new technique takes the "ouch!" out of having a tooth fixed.

Manufacturers in many fields keep coming up with new uses for aluminum. And our research people are often called on for help in finding a remedy for their production aches and pains. Many times the result is another Canadian plant opening up to make a new and useful aluminum product. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).
