Political roundup

Learn tax changes in next few days

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

April is really a month of concern for Quebec taxpayers. Not only do they have to settle up their 1960 income taxes, federal and provincial, before the end of the month, but both governments have indicated the 1961 taxation changes will be announced within the next few days.

Premier Lesage, who holds the Finance portfolio at Quebec, has said he will present his budget next week, probably on Thursday, and Federal Finance Minister Fleming has indicated his will follow a week later.

Neither of these documents are likely to bring any pleasure to the taxpayers, whose chief hope at present is that things (that is taxes) will not become worse.

With both administrations facing huge deficits, it is obvious that no tax reductions can be accorded on the basis of sound finance. The only relief that can be hoped for is that concessions may be granted in certain fields as a means of developing new fields of employment.

IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE

There is one important difference in the budgets presented at Ottawa and at Quebec.

Whereas the federal Finance Minister indicates in his budget the tax changes planned to produce the desired financial results, the Quebec budget traditionally has been a financial statement forecasting estimated revenues and expenditures.

Novel ban is upheld

MONTREAL (CP) — Three judges of the Quebec Appeals Court Friday branded a United States company's unexpurgated paperback edition of the novel Lady Chatterley's Lover legally obscene.

Justices Paul Casey, Fernand Choquette and J. Larocque agreed that D. H. Lawrence's controversial novel, in its unexpurgated form, represents an undue exploitation of sex.

The judgment rejected an appeal by newstand owner Larry Brodie against a finding by Sessions Judge T. A. Fontaine last June.

The lower court judge held that a police morality squad seizure of several copies of the novel under obscenity legislation was legally justified.

Mr. Justice Casey said in his notes that "no matter how great its merit, how high its purpose or how lofty its message, if sex is used in a manner that violates our self-imposed restraints, then the publication is obscene."

"If the book were intended for limited distribution... I would approach the problem in an entirely different frame of mind and I would probably come to a different conclusion."

Long active in Scouting, dies at 80

MONTREAL (CP) — Jackson Dodds, 80, former joint general manager of the Bank of Montreal, died Friday.

Long prominent in Canada's Boy Scout movement, he was honorary president of the National Council, Boy Scouts of Canada, at the time of his death.

He was also a former deputy chief scout of Canada. Active in both the Canadian Red Cross and scouting, Mr. Dodds was honored by countries throughout the world for his work in both organizations.

Invite Kennedy to visit Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — A spokesman for the Quebec government said Friday President John Kennedy has been invited to visit Quebec when he comes to Ottawa May 16-18.

He said the invitation was made on behalf of the government by Lieutenant-Governor Onesime Gagnon in a communication sent directly to Washington.

The spokesman declined to speculate on whether the invitation will be accepted.

Favor new 'partnership'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy wind up their allied policy talks today with an evident determination to seek the co-operation of other NATO powers in forming a new "partnership" in nuclear weapons defence.

The two leaders were scheduled to issue a joint statement on the results of their three days of conferences at the White House about noon. It was expected to stress a need for greater unity in allied ranks.

Macmillan stressed the unity theme heavily in a speech at Cambridge, Mass., Friday night. For the first time, he gave some official indication of the nature of his talks with Kennedy, although British and American diplomats have been providing regular, informal reports on the talks which began last Tuesday.

L'ville fire

Monastery building destroyed

A fire which destroyed a two-story building on the grounds of the Franciscan monastery in Lennoxville late Friday night caused damage estimated at between $3000 and $4000.

The building, a combined garage and tool shed contained a 1960 model station wagon which was a total loss as a result of the fire. The tools and other contents of the building were also destroyed.

The Lennoxville Volunteer Fire Department fought the blaze from shortly before midnight until four o'clock Saturday morning. They managed to keep the fire confined to the one building.

Although the cause of the fire is not definitely known, Lennoxville Fire Chief, Robert Guay said that it was probably started by a short circuit.

'Fibber's Molly'

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) — Marian Jordan, wry-voiced Molly of the long-running Fibber McGee and Molly radio show, died of cancer Friday. She would have been 63 April 16.

Her husband and co-star, Jim Jordan, and their two children, Jim, Jr., and Mrs. Kathryn Newcomer, were at her bedside.

Gets 10 years

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul Emile Dallaire, 37, was sentenced Friday to 10 years for manslaughter in the hammer-slaying of his 31-year-old wife Carmelle during an argument Nov. 28. Mr. Justice Wilfrid Laurier said Dallaire, convicted March 27, was suffering from "mental debility."

Heads for home

QUEBEC (CP) — The 25,500-ton liner Empress of Britain left Wolfe's Cove Friday night for Southampton with more than 800 passengers aboard. The ship did not proceed to Montreal as intended earlier because she was delayed 12 hours by pack ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The Empress was the first passenger ship to enter the St. Lawrence this season.

BAHRIEN (AP) — A crowded British liner burst into flames today in the Persian Gulf and was abandoned. The ship's owners said 500 persons were rescued, and a search was under way for more survivors.

About 550 persons were reported aboard, the ship owners said, but it was not known if this included the 130 crew members. Most passengers were believed to have been Indians and Pakistanis, he said, though a few Americans and Europeans might have been aboard.

The ship, the 5,030-ton Dara, had run through fierce storms and torrential rain during the night while plying between Bombay, India, and Basra, Iraq. It was abandoned about 6 a.m., some 50 miles north of Sharjah on the Trucial coast of Arabia.

Officials had difficulty learning just what happened, but a spokesman for the Dara's owners, the British India Steam Navigation Company, said the ship may have been in a collision in the darkness before catching fire.

Three British navy frigates were among rescue ships scouring the gulf for survivors. A British India spokesman said the Royal Navy and the U.S. Air Force were "co-ordinating assistance and providing medical teams to be flown to the areas where survivors are landed."

"There are now many ships standing by," one company official said. "So there is still hope that we shall hear of further survivors."

C. E. Ford, secretary of the ship company, said in London: "Some Europeans might be aboard the ship in the limited first-class accommodations," he said. "But most of those on board would be what used to be known as deck passengers."

The ship captain, C. Elson, was among the survivors, officials said.

At last report, the Dara was still afloat and Elson was preparing to reboard her. A company spokesman said:

Growing trade

Exporting textiles to East

MONTREAL (CP) — Some sections of the Canadian textiles industry are doing a small, but growing, export business with Hong Kong, source of the industry's stiffest competition.

For years, textiles manufacturers here have been yelling "foul" because Hong Kong manufacturers hiring low-cost labor have been producing cotton cheaply and under-selling Canadian producers.

Last year, industry spokesmen said, exports of Hong Kong textiles and wearing apparel to Canada totalled about $8,000,000.

Then came the little-known fact that last year Canada exported about $1,237,500 worth of cotton fabrics, cotton shirts and pyjamas and synthetic fibres to Hong Kong. The figure is from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

One spokesman promptly began to check what these mean to Canadian-Hong Kong trade.

Attention to the exports from Canada was called up by the Canadian Importers and Traders Association of Toronto which noted in a bulletin to members April 4 that the federal government has announced it will take steps to restrict an "uncontrolled flood of Hong Kong textiles."

It warned that government action may cut off at least part of the Canadian trade, but textiles industry spokesman cast doubt on this.

The reason: Canada is the only exporter of textiles which Hong Kong cannot obtain elsewhere or which are high-grade specialties.

About $807,500 worth of Canadian exports to Hong Kong are synthetic knitted and woven fabrics not available to Hong Kong from other than Canada and Britain.

Since Britain is in trouble meeting its own demand and Canada has a surplus, this country is the logical supplier for Hong Kong, a spokesman for the Primary Textiles Institute said.

When his watch ends another armed guard takes his place. So it will be around the clock until next Tuesday morning.

Although every word spoken will be translated simultaneously from Hebrew into English, French and German, the language problem could cause delays. Moreover it seems certain intricate points in international law will have to be thrashed out during which periods the three-judge court may clear the courtroom.

Eichmann's chief defence counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius of West Germany, may try to challenge the validity of the trial on the ground Eichmann was kidnapped from Argentina.

Famed wild life photographer to present program on Iceland

Dr. Olin Sewall Pettingill, Jr., of Cornell University, will make his second appearance before a local audience with his latest colour-film lecture, A Naturalist in Iceland, at the 7th Annual Bird and Wildlife Revue to be presented by the St. Francis-Massawippi Bird Club, in the Lennoxville High School Auditorium, Saturday, April 15th.

This film introduces a fascinating but little visited corner of the North Atlantic world whose connections with Canada are of surprisingly long standing. Numerous birds which migrate over Eastern Canada spend the breeding season in this island of natural contradictions, and, during World War II, many Canadian soldiers and airmen got to know the charm of this subarctic country where volcanic and glacial phenomena produce amazing contrasts of heat and cold.

Dr. and Mrs. Pettingill are the first American wildlife photographers to make a nature film in this remarkable land, and the film also marks an innovation in the Revue programs in that previous films have been made wholly or in part in the North American continent. The Pettingill cameras follow however, the migrant waterfowl well known to Eastern Canadian bird-watchers, and show them among the lakes, the fjords and islands of Iceland, along with

18 Wellington North, Apt. 8
Sherbrooke — LO. 2-7095

A majority of the proprietors in Zone 5 of the South Ward have decided to accept the largest and most expensive of eight parking lot plans submitted to them. Mayor Armand Nadeau said at his press conference Friday.

They chose Plan "H", costing $662,113 and accommodating 282 cars off Wellington South. This plan has the lowest per parking place cost. The other seven plans were apparently discarded because of their higher per unit cost and lower parking capacity, the mayor said.

The lot will utilize terrain presently occupied by the Windsor Hotel, the War Surplus Store, the Mrs. A. Brault building, Povey's Lunch Cart and a lot owned by the Kouri family, as well as several small pieces of unoccupied land.

Plan "H" was one of two plans prepared by the professional engineering firm of Cote, Lemieux, Carignan and Bourque and presented to city council last week. The two were acknowledged by aldermen to be the most likely possibilities.

Plan "G" rejected in favor of "H", had an estimated cost of $600,125 and a 243-car capacity. Its cost per parking place was estimated at $2,470 while that of "H" is estimated at $2,348.

Mayor Nadeau said that the proprietors are expected to present a petition to council next Monday night. An integral part of the petition will be their agreement to be guarantors for the payment of the debt which the city will incur in the construction of the lot, he said.

Under the terms of such an agreement, should the revenues from the lot be less than the annual payment on the debt, proprietors will have to pay the difference. Proprietors in the zone which contains the Webster Parking Lot, agreed to a similar arrangement before it was constructed.

Once this petition is obtained from the proprietors, the city will hire expert evaluators to assess the value of buildings on a spot for the parking lot and property to be used, according to Mayor Nadeau.

Then two bylaws will have to be approved, the first for purchase of the land and buildings, the second for cost of construction. "If proprietors on Alexander Street could agree

Realistic pictures

Cloudy days not dead losses; flat light fine for photos

Having had our share of cloudy weather recently, it brings to mind the advantages of this type of light. There is an old saying, that light makes dark.

That sounds like a rather ridiculous statement, but it is quite evident the shadow caused by light such as the sun, or flash is proof of the truth of it.

For close up photos of people diffused or even light is the most practical and flattering. Likenesses became very real. The softness seems to emphasize your looks although it is not too dramatic. For the hobbyists it requires practically no retouching.

This type of lighting can be achieved indoors by bouncing the light from the flash off a most shadowless and if the model is looking down the balance of light is such that when making the prints the shadow area is easily printed. I suggest that when working with this type of light one should pick a place that is out in the open or on high ground as trees or buildings will prevent the light from reaching your subject, although white buildings could be an asset.

This is an excellent light for color film as good color saturation is obtained. There is a low contrast in the light which is required for color photography. Although the light is in the blue region of the spectrum and will need a light balancing filter to some degree. A haze or skylight (1A) or even a 81B can be used effectively. Although this light will require larger lens opening or slower shutter speed which ever may be the case, you will have some fine color slides with good color rendition. Follow filter factor in the 81B.

Don't forget to mail your sugaring off pictures to the Sherbrooke Daily Record before April 15. Remember procrastination is the thief of time and $10 in this case, so keep them coming.

Street to King Street will be narrowed to provide more room for an increasing amount of traffic in that area, Mayor Nadeau said.

He termed the centre strip an "obstacle" to smooth-running traffic conditions.

A delegation of proprietors living in the Portland Boulevard area between Ontario and Argyle Streets will meet with council Monday night to voice their objections to a proposed widening of that section of the street, Mayor Nadeau revealed.

Their main objection is that they signed a petition for construction of a sidewalk and not for the widening of the street as well. They maintain that to do so will only increase and encourage speeding.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Traffic lights at the corner of King and Wellington Streets were installed Friday afternoon after a delay of three weeks caused by council's last-minute decision to change the type of equipment to be used.

The modern, overhanging lights are scheduled to go into operation on Saturday night, according to Electricity Committee Chairman Carl Camirand.

Mayor Nadeau said Friday that he intends to meet with the President of Quebecair in the near future to discuss the possibility of a regular air service for Quebec.

The federal government's decision to construct a second 6,000-foot runway at Sherbrooke's airport when it has regular air service will be a big factor in attracting an airline to this city, he feels.

Around the campus at Bishop's

By NORMAN WEBSTER

Bishop's own version of Sadie Hawkins Day is celebrated tonight at the annual Women's Dance, the last big event in the University's gay social season.

If nothing else, it's certainly one of the most enjoyable evenings of the year — for the boys, that is — since the girls have to plan everything and carry things off in the most chivalrous manner imaginable.

They have to call for their dates, present them with hand-made corsages, take them to dinner, open doors, light cigarettes, pull out chairs, see that their dates are first served, and in general do all the little things they customarily expect as their due from their long-suffering opposite numbers.

Best of all, they have to pay all bills until midnight. But when the magic hour strikes, the men all turn into pumpkins again.

One of the most interesting features of the dance is that the males have programs, and the girls must ask politely well in advance if they may have the privilege of dancing with the gentleman in question.

Notes a directive to the girls: "It is a matter of masculine pride for a gentleman to get his program filled with the names of charming ladies."

BEYOND THE QUAD
Signs are appearing that the worth of the recent conference on Canadian Studies at Bishop's is being recognized well beyond the immediate circles of the University.

The Trans-Canada network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will devote an "Anthology" program to a recording of the panel on Canadian Literature held during the conference. The program will be broadcast Friday, April 14, at 10:30 p.m.

Panelists were Professor Desmond Pacey of the University of New Brunswick, Ralph Gustafson, well-known Canadian anthologist and poet, and Professor Thomas Greenwood of the University of Montreal.

Communists beware! The following was noticed this week on a University bulletin board: "The Bishop's University chapter of the John Birch Society will meet Thursday night in the Oak Room."

Clothes in reasonable condition are being solicited by the Samaritan Society on campus for the benefit of needy families in the area.

MRS. J. N. WHITE

To mark 97th birthday

COATICOOK — On April 11, Mrs. J. N. White, Sr., will celebrate her 97th birthday at The Blake Nursing Home in Ayer's Cliff where she has been in residence since the fall of 1950.

Mrs. White was born April 11, 1864 and lived as a child in Berlin, N.H., where her father was a millwright for the Brown company. Her family moved to Coaticook when she was seven, and she took training in dressmaking in Coaticook at a school operated by the late Mrs. Andrew Hanou.

Following her marriage to J. N. White she operated a quite extensive shop of her own for several years. An active member of the United Church she held many offices in the various church associations. A life membership in the W.M.S. was presented to her by the local members in 1950. In 1884 she married J. N. White of Coaticook, who died in 1908.

For many years she made her home with her son, Jay N. White Jr. and his family. One daughter, Mrs. Fred Colwell, predeceased her. Mrs. White is the only living charter member of Harmony Rebekah Lodge.

WAR OF WORDS

Admitting past errors in its policy toward Cuba, the U.S. state department put out a pamphlet Monday saying Fidel Castro and his followers have "betrayed their own revolution" and delivered it into "the hands of a power alien to the hemisphere."

The Cuban reaction: Another dirty American slur. Seaway opening for a week beyond the target date of April 15, shipping sources in Montreal say.

Spotlight On Business

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The stock market ended the week on high ground after a general upward movement in all segments during the five days of trading.

A climax to Friday's trading came when the industrial index jumped two points to 562.38, the highest industrials have been since the inception of the index in 1934. The previous high was 560.69, set March 17.

The dollar value of each day's trading amounted to approximately $10,000,000 a figure that has not often been equalled in the past three or four years. The high dollar value was one indication of heavy trading in high-priced industrial stocks, some of it brought on by good news in the week's annual reports.

Pipe lines and refining oils fared well, with BA oil and Imperial reaching new highs, Interprovincial and Pemina also attained new highs, but Trans Mountain was the most active pipe line for the week.

Among mines, there was considerable activity in Irish, Bethlehem and Jacobus, while Radore was a feature in uranium.

Gold nickel, asbestos and iron issues were quiet. Prices on gold were generally lower.

HAD GOOD WEEK

Western oils had a good week with Ravolta reaching a new high for the year. The group began the week with a great deal of trading and maintained a steady pace, with Sapphire showing the greatest volume.

Western oils also reached a new high for the year at 2 p.m. Friday, when they stood at 102.93 on the exchange index. Papers were mixed, consolidated generally moving with the New York market, and St. Lawrence trading actively on the exchange of stock between the company and Dominion Tar and Chemical.

Index changes at Toronto: Industrials up 4.57 at 562.38; golds up 7.5 at 82.10; base metals up 1.34 at 181.02 and western oils up 2.56 at 102.89.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks up .65 at 64.65; utilities up 1.9 at 146.0; industrials up 4.4 at 308.3; papers up 6.8 at 467.6 and golds down 2.25 at 75.95.

A challenging call to overcome sin and sickness of every kind, through wholly spiritual means, will be sounded at the services in all Christian Science churches this Sunday, arising out of Christ Jesus' oft-quoted admonition to all his followers (as given in Matthew's gospel): "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received freely give." This verse is the Golden Text of the week's Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" Pertinent readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "God is as incapable of producing sin, sickness, and death as He is of experiencing these errors. How then is it possible for Him to create man subject to this trail of errors,—man who is made in the divine likeness?"

The Bible is a CATHOLIC Book

People differ radically in what they think about the Bible. Some seem to think it was handed down from Heaven written in English and bound in morocco. Many accept it as the inspired Word of God without knowing why they are justified in doing so. And others say that the Bible is full of contradictions and must be taken "with a grain of salt."

A proper understanding of the Scriptures can exert a tremendous influence for good in your personal life. You should, therefore, know where we get the Bible... what it means... why you can believe its every word.

Nowhere in the Bible text will you find a list of the 73 inspired books of which it is composed. This list was given to the world by the Catholic Church almost three full centuries after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Between the time of the Crucifixion and the time the Scriptures were gathered into a single Book, millions had received and accepted the teachings of Jesus Christ... and had died without ever seeing the complete Bible.

Established by Jesus Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his books of the New Testament.

For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.

These compliments carry some built-in rebuttals

Aren't these rather dubious compliments?

"I've never heard her speak an unkind word about anyone." Maybe that means she's afraid to speak her mind.

"She sacrificed everything for her children and they don't show her any consideration at all." As a mother she's a failure.

"Her house is so clean you could eat off the floor." What's so good? They've got a dining room table.

"She gave him the best years of her life." Well, she had to do something with them.

"She'd make some man an awfully good wife." How come no man ever figured that out?

"She's as comfortable as an old shoe." And the woman that description fits is usually just about as exciting as an old shoe, too.

"She looks like her daughter's sister." Then she ought to be spending more on her daughter's looks and less on her own.

"She hasn't changed a bit." Shouldn't the years improve us?

"She certainly knows how to manage her husband." Another way of saying a man is hen-pecked.

Jottings

by GLADYS TAYLOR

With the spiritual uplift of the Easter season still fresh in our minds it seems timely to mention a new book called LET GOD IN by Lenn L. Latham published by PRENTICE-HALL. An ordained Presbyterian minister, Rev. Mr. Latham writes: "The most exciting discovery you can make is that God has a definite plan for your life, and that only as you find that plan and fit yourself into it can you be really joyous and effective." He goes on to say, "For a Christian through his own strength to try to accomplish anything is like trying to drive uphill with the brakes on. Our personalities can be free to develop only as we acknowledge our own helplessness and turn to God for aid."

The MACMILLAN COMPANY of Canada reports that THE MARK based on a novel by Toronto writer Charles E. Israel has been chosen as the official British entry in the Cannes Film Festival. Starring in it are Maria Schell, Rod Steiger and Stuart Whitman. Translation reprint rights to RIZPAH, Mr. Israel's third novel have been bought by a Spanish publishing company. RIZPAH which will be published simultaneously in New York, London and Toronto is the April selection of the Literary Guild.

WINGS OF CHANCE, the first feature movie to be made in Western Canada and the first Canadian movie for which world-wide release is planned had its premiere in Edmonton on March 23rd. Canadian writers are taking a particular interest in this movie because it is based on the story KIRBY'S GANDER written by John Patrick Gilless, past president of the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Authors Association. KIRBY'S GANDER is a story with a long history. It was first published in the COUNTY GENTLEMAN, it then appeared in the Edinburgh Scotland publication CHAMBER'S JOURNAL and next in the FAMILY HERALD. It has also been included in the ALBERTA GOLDEN JUBILEE ANTHOLOGY, been translated into German and Finnish and was the title story in a book published by RYERSON. KIRBY'S GANDER as the movie WINGS OF CHANCE has such stars as Frances Rafferty of T. V.'s December Bride; James Brown who plays Rip Masters in the Rin Tin Tin series and Patrick White of the Bengal Lancers series. One can only hope that the movie has as successful a career as the original story had.

Farley Mowat is making a much publicized trip to Halifax to do research on a new book. Later he will be in Regina to take part in a deputation to the government on behalf of the Regina Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards. Following this he will be guest speaker at a Canadian Library Week Banquet in Winnipeg.

MEET AN AUTHOR: Margaret G. Steer of Victoria.

Margaret G. Steer

An expert view of America

JOURNEY INTO SUMMER by Edwin Way Teale, Dodd, Mead & Company (Canada) Limited, $5.95, 348 pp. — Here is a book for those weary of snow, slush and the hesitant advance of spring. The author, an American naturalist, who is also an accomplished writer and photographer, has an occupation which many readers would surely like to follow, had they the necessary skills and training.

Together with his wife, Teale set out at dawn of a June day, the official beginning of summer, to wander across his native land, taking pictures and making notes of anything that caught his trained and observant eye.

From the Franconia Mountains in New Hampshire, the couple travelled as they pleased, until three months, one day, fifteen hours and six minutes later, having covered 19,000 miles, they sat in front of a fire in a log cabin on Pike's Peak, Colorado, while the calendar version of summer drew to an end.

The average North American tourist, generally trying to cram too much sight-seeing into two or three weeks sometimes returning home with a vague feeling of dissatisfaction, will enjoy ambling with the Teales.

They poke into out of the way corners of the land, discovering beauty and revealing intriguing habits of animals, insects and plants. When they do visit a tourist landmark, such as Niagara Falls, the author gives the chapter freshness and interest by ranging skillfully from the birds, reported to have been seen riding ice cakes, calmly and with evident enjoyment, to the brink of the Falls; through the odd behaviour of pigeons he has known, back to humorous tangles with customs inspectors.

Eliot criticized

PEKING—(Reuters)—The poet and dramatist, T. S. Eliot, has been attacked by Chinese critics as an "imperialist dilettante whose entire life has been devoted, lock, stock and barrel, to United States and British capitalist imperialism."

A long article on Eliot and his works appeared in a recent issue of Literary Criticism, a Chinese publication devoted to literature, and was reprinted in the widely-read newspaper Kwangming Daily.

It follows another attack last year on Western writer Pearl Buck, who was described as being "the most vicious and wicked exponent" of United States "cultural aggression."

The same issue of Literary Criticism as that carrying the article on Eliot accused the American novelist, Howard Fast, of "wasting a tremendous number of pages selling bourgeois 'democracy' and 'freedom' in one of his recent works."

B. C. is an author and newspaperwoman. Originally from Eastern Canada, she taught primary school in Brantford, Ontario before moving to Calgary, Alta., where she again taught primary school until she became editor of the woman's page of the CALGARY NEWS TELEGRAM. After her marriage she moved to Victoria and with Myrtle E. Lane and Mary Carr Wright was co-author of the well-known child's history of B. C., the LAND OF SHINING MOUNTAINS. She was also assistant editor of prose in the Provincial Anthology in 1958 entitled BRITISH COLUMBIA: A CENTENNIAL ANTHOLOGY. Mrs. Steer has written for the VANCOUVER PROVINCE, VANCOUVER SUN, WINNIPEG FREE PRESS and the MONTREAL STAR. She has been a member of the Canadian Women's Press Club and of the Canadian Authors Association.

SAME DATE

April 23 is the anniversary of both the birth of Shakespeare, in 1564, and his death, in 1616,

Throughout this charming book, odd bits of interesting information keep popping up casually, why Mayflies are called Canadian Soldiers on the south shore of Lake Erie and Yankee Soldiers on the north, why grass stays green and thrives with frequent cutting which might kill other plants, that there is a summer equivalent of hibernation, called estivation and how one woman found a large portion of the meteor-

Edwin Way Teale, the author of JOURNEY INTO SUMMER

Red River Rebellions are basis for western study

In March, 1870, Thomas Scott, an Orangeman from Ontario, was put to death at the instigation of Louis Riel, the half-breed rebel. Fifteen years later, Riel himself was executed—amid world-wide protests.

Around these deaths and the two rebellions that precipitated them, George F. G. Stanley has woven a tale of the early days and people of the Prairies in his book The Birth of Western Canada University of Toronto Press.

This is the story of the Red River settlement and of the men who peopled it and, led by Riel, rebelled against the young Dominion of Canada.

It is also the story of the Indian problem in what now is Alberta and Saskatchewan; the struggle against absorption, and the Riel-led uprising in Saskatchewan in 1885.

The two rebellions, minor in terms of modern warfare, transcend themselves in significance, the author suggests. Both were classic studies of primitive people vainly resisting the tide of more advanced civilization. Both resulted in deaths that created racial antagonism.

Stanley writes in a scholarly, heavily factual and well-documented style, making free use of untranslated French quotations.

His book, likely to find its greatest use on college library shelves, is a fascinating and rewarding study of the early days of the West.

The latter part of the book is the story of Hamp's pathetic, ugly and destructive love for Laura Dell Dane. The only physically attractive character in the book, she is shallow and unprincipled.

SEASON OF FEAR is a grim story, but the characters are true to themselves, their circumstances and their environment.

BLUEBELL S. PHILLIPS

Agrimstory of the South

SEASON OF FEAR by Guy Owen, Random House $4.95 337 pp. — This first novel by Guy Owen is written with meticulous, sometimes almost too meticulous, attention to detail: though it is a slow-moving tale, it moves inexorably toward its inevitable conclusion, carrying the reader with it.

Set in the south of the United States, during the first part of the Roosevelt regime, SEASON OF FEAR is principally the story of Clay Hampton, a man tormented by his ugliness, his ineffectiveness, by the poverty of his personality, but most of all by the desires of his flesh: Clay Hampton is pitifully rather than heroically tragic.

Hamp, as he is usually called, lives with his ancient mother and her sister, surrounded by old women smells and clutters; he lives with his rigid puritan morals and his cardboard Christ and a fanatic belief that the drought ruining his tobacco and cotton crops is caused by the sinfulness of others.

In the first part of the story, he is concerned with the behaviour of his neighbour Naomi Powell, a hairy, heavy-legged young woman and her stepfather. He spies on them, secretly reports them to the Klu Klux Klan and secretly and righteously watches the resultant whipping. His deed is all the more horrible because it is the result of repressed and thwarted passion.

The latter part of the book is the story of Hamp's pathetic, ugly and destructive love for Laura Dell Dane. The only physically attractive character in the book, she is shallow and unprincipled.

SEASON OF FEAR is a grim story, but the characters are true to themselves, their circumstances and their environment.

New approach to Much Ado

LONDON (CP) — British critics grumbled today about the effects of the new approach used in staging Much Ado About Nothing at this year's opening of the Royal Shakespeare Theatre.

But there were some who liked it.

"Shakespeare?" critic Milton Shulman asked incredulously in The Evening Standard.

"It could be Noel Coward," Starring in the play that launched the Stratford-on-Avon theatre's 102nd season was Montreal-born actor Christopher Plummer. Critics' reaction to his performance was as mixed as it was to the play as a whole.

David Nathan, writing in The Daily Herald, says Plummer's is a name to note, "not so much for what he achieved as for the great things that are expected of him."

"Plucked from Canada, where his reputation exceeded his opportunities, Mr. Plummer has launched on a tide that will take him to major roles before the year's end."

However Nathan thinks Plummer was miscast as Benedick in the play.

"I think a meatier role than the gay bachelor Benedick might have done him more justice."

Bernard Levin, whose views aired in The Daily Express on both the play and the players ran counter to those of the majority of the critics, says the result of director Peter Hall's efforts is "round after round of fresh colors to the eye."

"Mr. Christopher Plummer, the handsome young Canadian Benedick, is more than a peacock in his strutting young-Olivier pride. He makes the lines jump and ring with the force and virility of his playing."

The Telegraph described the opening as a "gay, swift unpretentious performance which seeks no place among the more impressive productions of this comedy but may well be remembered with pleasure when more pretentious efforts have faded from one's mind."

STAMP CHAT

by Milton Cronenberg

Two unusual commemorative stamps were released by the French post office in March. The famous early master of trick motion picture photography, George Melies, was featured on a 50 centime stamp March 13, on the 100th anniversary of his birth.

And Jean Nicot is shown on a 30 centime value issued March 27, on the 400th anniversary of the beginning of tobacco culture in France. Georges Melies was a professional magician who became intrigued with the movie camera in the 1890s and soon combined his magic tricks with pantomime stories.

He set up a fantastic glass enclosed studio on the outskirts of Paris and began producing hundreds of amazing one and two reel films that revolutionized the infant industry.

MAGICIAN AT HEART Melies was always a magician at heart and used every trick it was possible to invent. From his crude cameras came miraculous appearances, disappearances and transformations.

He mastered the techniques of double exposure and superimposition, producing extraordinary effects. He invented the "dissolve"—blending one scene into the next.

Being an excellent artist, Melies created his own sets, which were triumphs through forced perspective great vistas in spite of his small state. He was without doubt the movies first genuine creative artist.

Modern movie audiences recently had the opportunity to see part of one of Melies' most famous works. A Trip To the Moon, completed in 1912, when Mike Todd used it to introduce his version of Jules Verne's Around the World in Eighty Days.

A scene from Melies' moon picture is also reproduced on the new French stamp in the background and to the left of the portrait of the brilliant film producer.

Melies' films were seen throughout the world, but he made little profit from them—new negatives of his films were quickly duplicated and sold everywhere without his knowledge or consent, and he was finally forced out of business. By the 20s he was almost forgotten.

He was found years later, selling newspapers in the Paris Metro, and died in 1938 in a home for destitute actors.

Jean Nicot, the Sieur de Villemant, featured on the tobacco stamp, returned to France in 1561 after serving as ambassador to Portugal. He brought back tobacco seeds obtained from a Dutch sailor in Lisbon. Planting the seeds in his garden, he grew tobacco for the first time in France and popularized its use.

His role in the introduction of tobacco in Europe is memorialized by the use of his name in Nicotiana of nicotine, the botanist's term for the genus to which the tobacco plant belongs.

Leaves and flowers of the plant are shown beside a contemporary portrait of Nicot on the new stamp.

Collecting in the E.T.

by I. F. WHITEHOUSE

Every stamp collector, whether he knows it or not, is an historian of sorts.

The stamps themselves are a by product of historical development and faithfully picture for future generations the political and economic lives of all nations.

Stamp collectors who study their stamps, and all true collectors do, will find that the postal history will tell the story of communication between peoples of all countries.

A bundle of papers gathered by a collector I did not know and which reached me by a devious route brought the formation of a Canadian Pony Express service to my attention.

This service actually has nothing to do with stamps but will illustrate how stamp collecting can bring added pleasure in learning about communications in Canada a century ago. In those far away days, as in these modern times, newspapers depended on news while it was "hot", and there was no trans-atlantic cable, no radio, no air service.

Ships carried the news of the old world to the new, a vital commodity to business and to politicians. Newspapers would hire small, fast sloops to meet the ocean-going boats, or carrier pigeons would be released.

The telegraph line was eventually extended from New York to St. John, N.B. and so news could be transmitted from that point far ahead of ships arriving at the U. S. port. A group of New York newspapers formed the "Halifax Express" to carry the news to St. John by fast dispatch riders. This group still exists today as the "Associated Press."

The dispatch riders carried the news after the arrival of every English mail steamer via Annapolis. The first run was made on the 21st of February, 1849, after the arrival of the "Europa". (It is worthy of note that the famed U. S. Pony Express did not begin until 1860).

The service operated until November 1849 when the telegraph line was completed to Halifax - the cost of operation was high, averaging $1000. per trip - a great sum indeed in those days.

It should be pointed out that when the riders reached Victoria Beach a steamer took their dispatches across the Bay of Fundy to St. John. The riders could cover the 144 miles in eight hours, each one doing 12 miles.

Interesting indeed are these sidelines that one finds when reading about stamps and the mail service. Additional facts were discovered in the publication by Anne Dorian Postal History Digest, dealing with Canada Covers, Postal History and so on, the cost is nominal, address, Anne Dorian, 57 Teignmouth Road, London, N. W. 2, England.

I have read with interest lately about hinged or unhinged stamps. Which do you prefer? I believe that stamp collecting should remain simply collecting with the good use made of good quality hinges. I don't mean to imply that mounts aren't good to use, they are, but the average collector need not worry about this added expense.

I read an advertisement recently of one of the largest dealers in U. N. material, and he stated that he was interested in purchasing "unhinged stamps" in spite of the publicity to the contrary.

Have you joined the Eastern Townships Stamp Club? They need you and you need them.

CAMBRIDGE GETS

LONDON (P) — Rubens Adoration of the Magi, which brought a world record price of £275,000, $770,000 at a London auction, has been donated to Cambridge University. The gift was disclosed by Leonard Koester, an art dealer who bought the painting for Maf. Alfred Allnatt two years ago.

Gold Sovereigns

Gold sovereigns dated 1957-60 are the first since the sovereign was discontinued in 1914.

Saint George, portrayed on present day British gold sovereigns, was, according to legend, executed at dawn one Good Friday for persistently upholding the Christian faith.

But it is factual that in the canon of Pope Gelasius (494), the saint was mentioned in a list of those "whose names are justly revered among men, but whose acts are known only to God."

Gold sovereigns dated 1957, 58 and 59 are available through most local banks for $10 each, but no 1960s have arrived here. These are the first issued since the sovereign design was discontinued in 1914.

Following a single appearance of St. George as patron saint of England on gold coins of Henry VIII (1509-47), known as George nobles, this type design was not used again until the gold sovereigns of George III in 1817. Replacing the earlier guineas, coined since Charles II, the design by Pistrucci shows a classical naked figure with helmet, mounted on horseback with dragon below. It was also used on the silver crown of George II and the Festival of Britain crown of 1951.

JOINED ROMAN ARMY George, from a Christian family of Asia Minor, entered the Roman army at 20 and rapidly climbed in military rank. While he attended a great dinner in the courts of Emperor Diocletian (284-304), it was decreed that all who would not sacrifice to Roman gods, thus denying Christ, would be put to death. George rose to his feet to defend his faith, so was thrust into prison and tortured unmercifully, until the evening of Maundy Thursday.

He was awakened in his dungeon by a bright light, the story goes, and a voice saying "Tomorrow thou shalt come to me and be at rest." At dawn of that Good Friday, St. George was executed.

A FAMILIAR LEGEND Familiar to most is the legend of St. George slaying the fiery, monstrous dragon after it had devoured half the town of Lydd in Palestine. It was through Richard the Lion Hearted that St. George became special saint of the English. Richard led the army of English knights and soldiers in the Crusades against the Saracens. Once, when the out-numbered Christian army was being driven back, St. George appeared in their midst, mounted upon his great white horse and bearing a flaming sword. Greatly encouraged, the soldiers rallied and won a great victory.

So the council of Oxford in 1222 (during the reign of Edward I) ordered a feast kept as a national festival on April 23, for the young and valiant patron saint of England. This is St. George's Day.

EDITORIAL NOTE: The history of St. George has long been a puzzle. There were two Georges, each with the same birthplace, Cappadocia. Problem facing historians: which became St. George. There is no historical source for dragon-slaying (this is accepted by many as an allegory). But the one credited with being St. George is also generally accepted as being NOT the George who made a lot of money supplying food to the army of his day, later became Arian Bishop of Alexandria and is written into history as a persecutor of both heretics and Christians in his domain.

Music on Records

by Hugh Doherty

GUITAR CONCERTOS are relatively rare in the classical orchestral repertoire, even though the instrument has been used in concertos for over 200 years. One of the problems involved in composing a concerto for guitar is that it lacks the powerful voice of more conventional solo instruments. Two new releases, one mono from RCA VICTOR and the other a stereo disc from London provide interesting contrasts in coping with the problem.

GIULIANI: Concerto for Guitar and Strings; Arnold; Guitar Concerto, Op. 67, Julian Bream, guitarist, with the Melos ensemble (RCA VICTOR mono LM-2487) — The Giuliani work, first performed in 1808, is one of the earliest virtuoso compositions for guitar. It is a pleasant, tuneful, light piece of music to which to listen. A small string orchestra provides a partner for the guitar which will not drown out the latter's frail tones.

The second concerto is by contemporary composer Malcolm Arnold, and was especially written for Mr. Bream. Some brasses and woodwinds have been added to the ensemble, but it is still a relatively small musical group compared to a full symphony orchestra. The concerto is a highly descriptive work. The mood-evoking qualities of the solo guitar are perhaps best exemplified in an elegiac middle movement, where the soloist's role is uncomplicated, but extremely expressive.

RODRIGO: Concerto for guitar and orchestra, Narciso Yepes, guitarist, National Orchestra of Spain; Falla: Nights in the Gardens of Spain, Gonzalo Soriano, piano (LONDON stereo CS 6046) — In this guitar concerto, a full symphony orchestra is employed with the guitar. But the orchestra's role is diminished by what sounds like sound engineering — microphones concentrated on the soloist, with the orchestra left in the far background. As a consequence, the orchestra sounds listless (or perhaps, since the work has a definite Spanish flavor, it is simply being languorous). Nevertheless, the performance is a colorful one.

Canadian priest predicts

South African racial explosion

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — South Africa has three or four years before a racial explosion occurs, in the view of a Canadian priest who has worked in Africa for 21 years.

When the blowup comes, the Afrikaner will be shown no mercy, says Very Rev. Romeo Guilbeault, a native of Mat-tawa, Ont.

Father Guilbeault is principal of the University College of Pius XII at Roma, Basutoland, about 250 miles south of Johannesburg. Basutoland is a mountainous British protectorate entirely within the Union of South Africa.

"It is a terrible way to put it, but that is what is going to happen. And the Africans don't care what the consequences will be."

"The African liberation movement is very active. After the shootings at Sharpeville in South Africa last year, several hundred Africans fled to Basutoland and the other protectorates—Swaziland and Bechuanaland.

"They are collecting guns and ammunition and money. In the cities of South Africa, maid and boys employed at white homes have been told to set fire to the houses when the time comes."

"Can you imagine what it will be like if every one of these lights a fire at the same time? They don't even care if they get burned themselves.

FARM UPRISING

"On the farms, it will be even easier. The average Afrikaner farm is large and the houses are widely separated. Each family has 30 or 40 blacks as farmhands."

Father Guilbeault recalled sadly how on a previous trip to North America in 1956 he tried to warn people that a showdown was coming in the Belgian Congo.

No one took him seriously and more than once he was told: "The Belgians know what they are doing."

When—for Father Guilbeault the word is not "if"—black turns on white, there will be only a few Africans capable of keeping a modern society running.

The West still has a chance to avoid a total breakdown but there is little time, the teacher-priest told an interviewer.

He said the college he and two other Canadian Oblate priests started at Roma in 1945 is the sort of help the West can best provide.

"Higher education is the golden key to the African but much more needs to be done."

Father Guilbeault is in North America hoping to get financial support from governments and institutions for a $3,000,000 expansion program for the University College of Pius XII. There were six students in 1945 and 250 now. The future goal is 800.

SCHOOL INTEGRATED

Despite its name, the college is not a Roman Catholic institution. Only half the students are Catholic and only six of the 42 staff members are priests. There is no religious instruction.

The school is not segregated and this has frequently brought it into conflict with the South African government, which has considerable control over Basutoland's affairs.

If the West is going to be Africa's guide and helper rather than Russia and Communist China, it will have to give more proof of good intentions, Father Guilbeault said.

While applauding South Africa's withdrawal from the Commonwealth, he said Africans will have their worst suspicions confirmed if trade advantages are left unchanged.

To illustrate the feeling of educated Negroes, he showed a letter from one of his graduates. "The African leaders have made it very clear, except in Guinea, perhaps," the young man wrote, "that they will accept no aid with strings."

"But I am afraid, father, that a stomach is a stomach and politics another thing. Even if you cheeks when it comes to fight are a thief or a murderer, if you once helped me in a direct practising these evils. Russia is need, it is human that I don't aware of that."

fail you in your direst need too.

"What I fear is that while the West is gradually changing its attitude towards the evils of colonialism and imperialism, they nevertheless speak with their tongues deep in their hearts."

When you consider the problem of equipment needed to properly outfit your boat, the Evinrude Boating Clinic reminds you that you must consider its size, the use to be made of it and the locality in which it is to be used.

But, for the sake of example, let's take a 14 - to 16-foot runabout and suggest what is necessary to outfit it properly for ordinary day cruising around a normal body of water.

First you need a government-approved life preserver for every person aboard. This requirement can be met, at least in part, by using approved life-preserver seat cushions, but for the kids it's a good idea to keep them dressed in life jackets or vests at all times when on the water.

An anchor is essential, and it should have either ¾ inch nylon or half-inch manila rope. The recommended length is 100 feet, which should be enough.

Do's and Don'ts of boating

With thousands of square miles of open water available to boating enthusiasts, it's sometimes hard to believe that boating accidents are possible.

The Evinrude Boating Clinic has compiled a list of do's and don'ts which, if followed, will keep novices and "old hands" safe afloat - and dry.

DO — Check maximum horsepower rating of your boat as recommended on the power load capacity plate on the transom, or make certain your boat and motor are "balanced."

DO — Step aboard a boat as nearly to the center as possible. Keep lines taut or have someone steady the boat.

DO — Fill your tank carefully with a minimum of splashing and spilling.

DO — Carry one Department of Transport approved life preserver for every person aboard.

DO — Learn basic signs of impending weather changes. Always head for shelter at the first sign of an approaching storm or squall.

DO — Slow down or stop before changing position or standing in a boat.

DO — Cross the wake of a large boat at a safe angle if avoiding it completely is impossible.

DO — Punch holes in both ends of cans so that they will not float. Sink them only in deep areas in lakes so that they won't harm swimmers, and small craft.

DO — Bring your boat into harbors and docks at low speed and respect the property of others.

DON'T — Buy a boat without regard to the load or horsepower the boat can stand safely. Never crowd a small boat beyond its obvious or stated capacity. The number of seats in a boat do not indicate capacity.

DON'T — Jump aboard. You may go through the hull. Don't step on the gunwale; you'll spread-eagle into the drink.

DON'T — Smoke while filling a gas tank.

DON'T — "Run" from waves in a rain storm. Always keep your boat headed into large waves.

DON'T — Be a "cowboy" with your boat at any time. Don't take your boat too close to swimmers. Never "run down" another boat or swimmer "just for fun." Your boat has no brakes.

DON'T — Throw floating refuse overboard to drift on beaches.

DON'T — Ever stand upon or change seats in a fast-moving boat.

DON'T — "Cowboy" your boat around other craft through a crowded anchorage or at dockside.

WHAT HAPPENED TO CANADIENS AND MAPLE LEAFS?

This seems to be the $64 question in sporting circles just at present. We don't see anything to get worried about regarding the future of these teams and you can rest assured that they will be back as strong, if not stronger, next year.

The Leafs' defeat can be summed up in one word, INJURIES. No team can afford to lose its key players and expect to carry on as usual. Coach Punch Imlach did a great job in keeping his team in the thick of the battle for first place but it was only natural that eventually things would catch up with him.

A coach can keep his players fired-up for a period while concentrating on a certain goal but after a time it wears off and let-down is only natural. They tried hard in their battle against the Red Wings but lacked their usual fight although some of their injured players were back they were not at their best.

As for the Canadiens it was little of the case of injuries but at the same time we think some of their stars failed to produce. We know they got raked up by the Hawks but what surprised us the most was the way they took it without dishing any of it back. Something funny there.

We don't blame Mr. Selke for blowing his top regarding their performance. Injuries hurt them also as Jean Beliveau got clipped in the first game and after that he wasn't his best. The Boomer was out and he certainly was missed with his "booming" shot on the power play.

Coach Toe Blake was forced to reshuffle his lines and defense units and this never helps a team. A player gets used to his mate's moves and he knows what to expect but with a new man it is different.

The Canadiens were supposed to be a hard-hitting club but they certainly forgot what it meant. We believe that only two solid body-checkers were handed out and the fast-stepping Hawks knew this and took more liberty than usual around the blue-line.

We think the most foolish thing of all was Bernie Geoffrion cutting the cast off his knee on the train. Some may think it was a show of courage but we can't agree with this. It was only natural that he couldn't help his team under those circumstances. No man is at his par on one leg.

We think he took a great chance of ending his career by trying to play. He got nailed right at the start and this didn't help matters. He lacked his hard drive as he couldn't get it away on one leg as he couldn't put any pressure on his bum knee. It just went to prove that the club doctor and Bill Head knew what they were doing when they put it in a cast.

The Hawks were hungry and in good condition went all out skating the Canadiens almost into the ice. They dished out some pretty tough checks and kept doing it as there was no retaliation so they had a field day.

It is hard to understand how fellows all season seep into everybody and then in the playoffs they fail to continue. No doubt this is what got Mr. Selke up in arms. He knew he had a good team but some of his players just let him down and that is what is hard to take. But he will get his chance next fall when it is time to discuss contracts.

As for the Chicago-Detroit series it is going to be a hard checking affair but we think the Hawks have the "horses" to carry them through. They are fast, check well and the forwards come back to help their goalie and defence. That is the secret of a good team. Chicago has it and they are hungry for a title. They are all fired-up and rearing to go so we pick Chicago as the new NHL Champions.

The annual Dow Invitation Borspiel is taking place at present with thirty-two rinks from the Townships competing. It is staged at the Sherbrooke Curling Club and is sponsored by Dow Brewery.

Play commenced Wednesday and three shifts of games were on the agenda each evening. Yesterday they started at 2.00 followed at 4.00, 6.00, 8.00 and 10.00. The semi-finals are slated this afternoon with the finals for the Dow Trophy and consolation slated for tonight at 8.00. A dinner for all contestants is booked for today while this afternoon another special event is slated.

The main idea behind this movement is sort of a get-together of all curlers of the District to end the season and if the past ones are any indication then everybody is in for a good time today. The finals are slated for 8.00 this evening.

Andre Olney of Asbestos has been named racing secretary of the Sherbrooke Racing Club which should help to settle a few headaches for President Trudeau and his executive. It seems that several people were after the job but their salary demands were out of proportion with the means of the local club.

President Trudeau with his executive have lined up quite a program for the season. They are definitely out to improve the brand of racing at the local oval and with a little time should accomplish it. They have put in an order for an electric tote-board in order to supply the odds faster and help the bettors get their bets down quicker.

This will be a big improvement but the only company who handles these can't fill the order until June or July. Anyway it is a big step towards improvement. Several other items will be straightened away and all in all it looks like a good season ahead.

Golf enthusiasts of the Eastern Townships will be interested in the new project being developed on St. Denis de Brompton Road by the Sherbrooke Golf and Country Club, under the management of Harry Blue.

The project will be only five minutes by car from Sherbrooke and will feature a miniature golf course and driving range. Also on the agenda will be a nine-hole, par three, chip-and-putt course. This will be completed by next year and will be open day and night.

The driving range, miniature course and club house are expected to be open around the first of June. This will be the first of its kind around here and it should be a big help to all aspiring golfers. Harry Blue will let us know when it will be ready for the club-swingers.

Manager Gaston Fausse and his Vics are going to be guests of honor at a civic reception in Granby next Saturday at the City Hall. The Vics, back from their trip to Amherst where they dropped the semi-finals to Ramblers, will be feted by their supporters the same evening at Saxby Hall.

The Vics copped the Province of Quebec championship giving the league the title for three years in a row. They knocked over Hull-Ottawa in their first round but came out on the short end of the "stick" at Amherst but despite this deserve plenty of credit for their showing during the past season.

Gaston Fausse assisted by Laurent Turgeon did a wonderful job. The citizens of Granby gave them fine support and this always helps when you try to build a team. Gaston got the support from all. The players faltered a little in Amherst when they were getting slashed with high sticks and what not. A total of thirteen carried home

Sawchuk, Pronovost To Miss Tonight's Game

Rival Coaches Worried Over Their Mistakes, Eddie Marcon Called Up, Eddie Litzenberger In Hospital

By W. R. WHEATLEY

DETROIT (CP) — Chicago Black and Detroit Red Wings flew Friday to Detroit, where they meet tonight in the second game of the Stanley Cup final, and the masterminds of both teams professed an urgent need to correct mistakes made in the series opener.

First business of the day for the Red Wings was to survey their injuries. They turned out to be serious.

Both goalie Terry Sawchuk and defenceman Marcel Pronovost are out of the lineup for the second game, scheduled for 8 p.m. EST today. The Wings announced that there is no chance of either playing as the club endeavours to pull even in the best-of-seven series.

Sawchuk suffered a severely wrenched left shoulder in Thursday night's first game in Chicago, won by the Hawks 3-2, and had to be replaced after the first period by Hank Bassen.

Pronovost, one of the best defencemen in the National Hockey League, played little more than one period. His right ankle, injured by a shot a few days ago in practice, was hit by the puck again Thursday night.

Pronovost's loss is regarded as by far the more serious. Bassen is a capable goalie who splits the chores with Sawchuk during the regular season and in Thursday night's game produced a workmanlike job in holding the Hawks scoreless from the time he took over.

Eddie Marcon, who played in the Western Hockey League this year, was called up to replace Pronovost tonight.

The Hawks have no such serious injuries but are without Eddie Litzenberger, sent to hospital Thursday with a virus infection. He did not make the trip to Detroit.

Meanwhile, the rival coaches were worried about mistakes of omission and commission.

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks was thankful for the opening - game victory, giving his team the jump on the Wings, but fretted over what he considered physical and mental lapses.

Coach Sid Abel of the Red Wings, acknowledging a com-

Rudy Pilous Of Hawks Seems To Be On Thin Ice Despite Good Showing If Past Records Are Any Indication

By JACK SULLIVAN

Rudy Pilous has other things to think about right now, but he probably is aware that Chicago is the National Hockey League's most popular graveyard for coaches. A Stanley Cup victory doesn't mean security for Black Hawk bench jockeys.

It's a matter of record that 19 Hawk coaches have paced the boards behind the Chicago bench since the team entered the NHL in the 1926-27 season. Since that time Detroit Red Wings have had only four, the fewest in the league.

This isn't necessarily a kiss of death on Rudy, but Black Hawk coaches who brought the club to the championship round four times previously were on the firing line the next year.

It started back in 1931 when Dick Irvin handled the Hawks who lost in the final to Montreal Canadiens. Irvin was around for a little while in 1932 before Bill Tobin took over.

The Hawks soon regretted this because Irvin went to Toronto mid-way through the 1932 season and guided Maple Leafs to a cup victory. He stayed there until 1940 when he went to Canadiens for a 16-year stay. He returned to the Hawks in the 1956-57 season and died May 16, 1957, at his Montreal home after a lengthy illness.

In 1934, the Hawks sipped champagne from the Cup after beating Detroit in the final. Their coach, Tommy Gorman, was in Montreal as manager of the old Maroons before the 1935 season got under way. Ironically enough, the Maroons won it that year.

Then, in 1938, Bill Stewart, an American in his first year as manager-coach of an NHL club, piloted the Hawks to a startling upset over Toronto. The NHL then was a two-division league. Chicago was a sad third with a season's record of only 14 victories and nine ties in 48 games but allowed the Leafs only one win in the final. Stewart was fired mid-way through the next season.

In 1944, the Hawks entered the final in the manner of a souvenirs of cuts, bumps and slashes but they left a few ailing down East.

To Gaston, his executive and players on behalf of hockey fans in the Townships congratulations for your fine efforts during the past season. You lost to Amherst but you left your mark on Sam Pollock and his highly-rated Canadiens of Hull-Ottawa.

Yvon Ellyson, business manager of the Sherbrooke Alouettes, tells us that season tickets for the ball club are going over well and they shouldn't have too much trouble in reaching their objective of 500. Gaston Bergeron, chairman of the ticket committee, claims things look good and if anyone desires a couple of season tickets just drop him a call.

Manager Dykes Taboos Poker For His Indians

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Before Cleveland Indians boss spring training baseball camp at Tucson, Ariz., Thursday manager Jimmie Dykes held a meeting with the players "to lay down a little law." The result: A ban on poker playing for the season.

Dykes first warned the players about holding on to their money in Las Vegas, which he called a "wicked city." Then he said:

Arnold Palmer And Gary Player Tie For Lead In Masters After Second Round, Stan Leonard Tied For 15th

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the big man from Pennsylvania, and Gary Player, a little man from South Africa, waged a tremendous golf struggle over the broad Augusta National course Friday and came out even.

After 36 holes of the 25th Masters championship, they tied for the tough 6,980 - yard, par 36-72 layout. Palmer did it with rounds of 68-69, barely missing a 15-foot putt on the 18th green that would have given him the lead.

Player picked up a stroke Friday by holing a tremendous 40-foot putt at the same hole for rounds of 69-68.

Four strokes behind these two—the top money winners of the pro golf circuit this year—came pudgy, bespectacled Bob Rosburg, who shared the lead with Palmer after the first round. Rosburg shot a one-over-par 73. Ken Venturi, who twice has finished second in the Masters, looked like a threat to the leaders when he came through the 15th hole four under par. But he took two over par going into the water at the short 16th and was two over par on the 18th to finish with a 71 for 143.

Don January matched Player's 35-33 — 68 for the best round of the day and moved into fourth place at 142.

At 143 were Venturi, 49-year-old Byron Nelson, a two-time Masters champion; Tommy Bolt, Lionel Hebert, Ted Kroll, Walter Burkemo and Charlie Coe, two-time U.S. Amateur champion.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard, who had an even-par 72 Thursday, shot a 74 in the second round. His 146 left him in a six-way tie for 15th place in the tournament.

Toronto's Al Balding got his second 74 of the tournament. His 148 left him in a five-way tie for 32nd place.

The three other Canadian golfers failed to survive the cut-off point of 149 as the field, originally 88 players, was cut to the low 40 for the third and final rounds.

Amateur Keith Alexander of Calgary ended 76-76—152. Montreal pro Bill Kerr was 75-78—153 and Phil Brownlee, a Toronto amateur, was 79-79—158.

Others eliminated included Cary Middlecoff, 1955 Masters champion, Jimmy Demaret, a three-time winner of the Masters, and Australia's Kel Nagle, 1960 British Amateur champion.

EYES ON THE BALL — Sam Snead, left, and two caddies have their eyes riveted on a ball hit by Arnold Palmer on the Augusta National Course. The defending champion is seen smacking a pellet during the opening round when he carded a 68 to tie for the lead with Bob Rosburg.

Lennoxville Curling Club To Be Officially Presented Edinburgh Trophy Tonight, Dinner At 6.00

The Lennoxville Curling Club will officially receive the Edinburgh Trophy this evening when officials of the Royal Caledonia Branch will be on hand to make the presentation.

The two rinks who won the event were skipped by Sonny Mooney and Cliff Beaudreau. On the former's quartet were, G. Bernard, R. Stevenson and E. Bartlett while Pete Parker, Tom Ball and H. Simons comprised Beaudreau's foursome. They each emerged with a 12 plus score to give their club a total of 24-plus to cop the trophy by two points.

The weekly Saturday evening supper will be held at 6.00 and

Moncton Out To End Series Tonight With Trois Rivieres, Manager Dugre Figures His Team Will Tie Series

MONCTON (CP) — Scrappy Moncton Beavers, bouncing back after an opening-game defeat, will be out to become the first Maritime team in 27 years to reach the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals today. They meet Quebec champion Trois-Rivieres in the fourth game of a best-of-five semi-final series.

After dropping the opener, the Maritime title-winning Beavers struck for 6-3 and 4-3 victories

Minnesota May Lose Their Top Hurler To Cuba

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Minnesota Twins may lose a top pitcher if the anti-Castro pot really starts to boil in Cuba.

Pedro Ramos said Friday he may have to return to his Cuban home "within a week or two" if actual fighting breaks out against the regime in his homeland.

Ramos, tabbed as the Twins' starter in the American League opener at New York Tuesday, told manager Cookie Lavagetto he has volunteered his services to the forces opposing Premier Fidel Castro and feels obligated to serve if called upon.

Lavagetto said he is trying to talk the fast-balling right-hander out of the idea.

Eastern Allan Cup Final To Open Monday

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP) — The Allan Cup hockey final will be played in Nova Scotia, probably in Halifax, if Amherst Ramblers win the Eastern Canada title, president Jack Roxburgh of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said Friday.

Roxburgh said the final decision has not been made. Availability of a rink will be a factor.

Amherst still has to get past Galt Terriers for the right to represent the east in the battle for the cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior hockey championship.
