

ALLIED PRESS CLAIM GERMAN LATEST SUBMARINE WARFARE IS CHALLENGE TO UNITED STATES

Conviction is That it Will Not Be Taken Up. Luck Was With Hun Commanders as There Were No British Cruisers Within 500 Miles of Scene Where Ships Were Attacked. Day and Night Has Passed Without Any Word From U-53. Extra Precaution Taken By Owners and Agents of Vessels of Entente Nations. Advance in Insurance Rates May Be Means of Checking Shipments From U. S. Ports to Europe.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Paris, Oct. 10.—The torpedoing of Allied steamships off American ports by German submarines is regarded as the most important news of the day. Under the headings of "Blackmail" and "Defiance" the morning newspapers print in prominent position every scrap of news obtainable, accompanied by plentiful comment. The general sentiment of the press is that Germany is challenging the United States with a conviction that the challenge will not be taken up, and that neutrals must see today that they acted unwisely in not "nipping the submarine warfare on commerce in the bud."

LUCK WAS WITH COMMANDER OF HUN SUBMARINE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Boston, Mass., October 9.—Luck was with Lieut. Capt. Hans Rose, or the commander of the German submarine U-53 was all advised. There was evidence to-day that when he set out to attack enemy shipping there was not a British warship within 500 miles from the spot in which he chose to operate.

For some time, according to men who follow marine affairs, there had been but three British cruisers engaged in patrolling the Atlantic coast to keep open the path for American-made munitions of war. One of these cruised between Halifax and New York, another between New York and Bermuda, and the third between Bermuda and the West Indies.

CRUISERS AT NANTUCKET.
Three British cruisers arrived off Nantucket at 2.40 o'clock this morning almost exactly 36 hours after the presence of a German submarine in Newport Harbor had been made known to the world through press despatches.

Figuring back, marine men, making allowance for the time necessary to get orders to their commanders and assuming the ships under full speed, guessed from the time consumed that the cruisers came from a distance of 450 to 500 miles, or in other words, from Halifax or Bermuda.

There was much speculation as to whether the German commander trusted to chance when he virtually advertised what he was going to do and went about doing it so deliberately, or whether his apparent confidence in his plans was based on an exact knowledge that a vital strip of the American seaboard had been left unguarded by the British patrols.

DAY AND NIGHT WITHOUT NEWS OF GERMAN SUBS.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
New York, Oct. 10.—A day and night without further news of the U-53 has not quieted any of the anxiety in shipping circles caused by the activities of the submarine commerce raider at the end of the great North Atlantic highway off Nantucket. If anything, the disappearance of the German U-boat and the mystery regarding her present location increased precaution taken by owners and agents of vessels of the Entente nations.

Transatlantic liners and freight steamers approached this port to-day by unusual courses which carried them far out of the customary lane. Exporters here say the submarine raid and the consequent advance of the insurance rates on transatlantic transportation amounting, in some cases, to 500 per cent., will check shipments from New York to European ports. Word was received from New Orleans that war risks on vessels and cargoes out of that port had been suspended, and despatches from other ports indicated that insurance rates had sharply advanced. There was talk of a revival of a railroad embargo on freight, but no new action was taken.

PREPARED FOR INTERRUPTION.
A New York Central official says attempts are being made to halt freight on the way to steamers, but that the road would not bring to New York more freight than the steamers could take away.

prepared for an interruption of transatlantic trade which might result from submarine raids, it was learned to-day. In anticipation of a shortage of European goods they have placed in bonded warehouses on the Atlantic Coast foreign merchandise valued at about $100,000,000. They began to store this supply as soon as the outbreak of the war. If the German raids continue, the American merchants will draw on this accumulation of stock.

This supply includes, it is estimated, coal tar colors valued at $500,000, 250,000 yards of wool dress goods, 1,300,000 yards of wool cloths, about 8,000,000 yards of linens, several million square yards of foreign cotton goods and a wide variety of other imported stock worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

SAYS GERMANY ALWAYS KEEPS HER PROMISES

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Long Branch, N.J., Oct. 9.—Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, following his talk with President Wilson here this afternoon, said: "Germany has promised to conduct her submarine warfare in accordance with the rules of cruiser warfare, and Germany always keeps her promises." He told the newspaper representatives that his talk with the President had not touched upon present or future peace proposals.

FOUR BRITISH AND 5 NEUTRAL VESSELS SUNK

Newport, R.I., Oct. 10.—German submarine warfare brought to this side of the Atlantic Sunday was pursued relentlessly throughout the night. With the dawn came reports of more vessels torpedoed and sunk.

The captain of the Nantucket lightship, off which the attacks on passenger and freight ships were made, reported that three German submarines were operating south and southeast of Nantucket and that a total of nine vessels had been destroyed. Officers of a flotilla of United States destroyers, which picked up passengers and crews of several of the vessels destroyed, also said that nine merchant ships were sunk.

One of the submarines is supposed to have been the U-53 which visited this harbor Saturday, and another was declared to be the U-61.

The list of submarine victims included four British, one Norwegian and one Dutch vessel. The identity of the other three reported to have been lost had not been learned early yesterday.

The British vessels were the freighter West Point, bound from London for Newport News; the Strathdene, from New York for Bordeaux; the Kingston, destination not stated, and the passenger steamer Stephano of the Red Cross line, from St. John's, N.F., for New York.

The Bloomersdijk, Dutch, bound from New York to Rotterdam via Kirkwall, and the Chr. Knudsen, a Norwegian tanker, are the others whose identity is known.

The crews of all these vessels, with the exception of the Kingston, were brought to this port yesterday, together with the eighty-three passengers of the Stephano, and were cared for by the officers of the Narragansett Bay naval station and prominent members of the Newport summer colony.

It was believed that no lives had been lost, and although the men of the freighter Kingston were reported adrift at sea in open boats, the fact that the weather was mild and the sea calm made it seem probable that they would be rescued within a few hours by some of the searching craft. Rushing to give battle to the submarines, three British cruisers were off Nantucket Shoals at 2.40 o'clock this morning. This was the first appearance of any warships of the British and French patrolling fleet in that vicinity since the submarines began their attacks at 6 o'clock Sunday morning.

PRES. WILSON GIVES WARNING TO GERMANY

Long Branch, N.J., Oct. 10.—President Wilson announced yesterday, as a result of the German submarine attacks on vessels off the American coast, that "the German Government will be held to the complete fulfillment of its promises to the Government of the United States." He added that he had no right now to question its willingness to fulfill the promises.

CALLS ON U. S. GOVERNMENT FOR ACTION

New York Herald Says There is no Excuse for Delay Against Prussianism.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
New York, Oct. 10.—The New York Herald this morning in its leading editorial under the caption "This is a time for action, not for 'weasel word,'" says: "Surely, even the most pusillanimous patriot cannot find excuse for delay on the part of the Government of the United States in bringing Prussianism to an immediate account for the sinking of the Red Cross liner Stephano, plying between St. John's and New York."

"We are all Americans on this side of the Atlantic. The Stephano was engaged in peaceful commerce between two American ports. Her international status was just as clearly that of an American vessel engaged in American Coastwise trade as if she were of American registry and flew the American flag."

"She bore no relation to the conflict in Europe. The lives of the Americans were placed in jeopardy by the crime of this Agent of Prussian 'Frightfulness.'"

"This is American territory this North American continent and thank God the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine lives in American hearts. Can anybody doubt that the United States would rise in its might to repel a Prussian invasion of Canada?"

"The warfare instituted by Prussian submarines in American waters is just as much an attack upon the Monroe Doctrine as would be a Prussian attempt to invade Canada."

PROF. LAMBROS FORMS CABINET

Correspondent Says it is the Weakest Greece Has Ever Known.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
London, Oct. 10.—Telegraphing from Athens yesterday, Reuter's correspondent said Professor Lambros had succeeded in forming a Cabinet, which will be sworn in to-day.

It is composed as follows:—Premier and Minister of Public Instruction Prof. Spyridon Lambros.

Minister of Foreign Affairs: M. Zolotas, (former Greek Minister to Bulgaria).

Minister of War, Gen. Dracos.

Minister of Marine, Rear-Admiral A. Dandanos, the present incumbent.

Minister of Finance, Socrates Tsariftzios.

Minister of Justice, Constantine Andonopoulos.

Minister of Interior, Alexander Tserlos.

Minister of National Economy, probably, M. Oeconomides.

The correspondent describes this as politically the most colorless Cabinet Greece has ever known.

London, Oct. 10.—Eleftherios Venizelos, accompanied by other members of the Provisional Government, arrived at Saloniki on Monday, according to a despatch from that city to Reuter's.

GERARD HAS NOTHING TO SAY

U. S. Ambassador to Berlin Neither Affirmed or Denied That He is on Peace Mission.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
New York, N.Y., Oct. 10.—James W. Gerard, American Ambassador to Germany, upon his arrival here to-day declined either to affirm or deny published reports that he was returning to the United States on a peace mission on behalf of the Emperor of Germany.

Mr. Gerard's attention was called to a copyright article which appeared this morning in the New York World, to the effect that his errand was to inform the administration that a resumption of submarine activity is being considered by Germany in a manner which might threaten German-American relations. Mr. Gerard, after quickly glancing through this story, said: "You do not see me quoted anywhere in it, do you?"

To questions put to the Ambassador by reporters who met him at Quarantine, he replied: "It is useless to question me, boys. I cannot say a word."

SOD TURNING CEREMONY

Interesting Function in Connection With New School at Lennoxville.

NEW BUILDINGS DONATED BY MR. J. K. L. ROSS ESTIMATED TO COST ONE MILLION.

Three hundred and fifty guests attended the initial ceremony and festivities, held yesterday, in connection with the expansion scheme of Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, involving the construction of entirely new buildings on a new site on the other side of the St. Francis River. The project will represent an outlay approaching a million dollars, and it is due to the benevolence of Mr. J. K. L. Ross, the present chairman of the Board of Directors, and an old boy of the school (1886-1891), who is donating the whole of the funds for the land and buildings.

The sod-turning ceremony took place at 12.30. The first proceeding was the raising of the Union Jack on a small knoll between the locations marked out for the preparatory school and the dining room block, to the playing of the National Anthem by the 53rd Band. The School Cadets formed up in a square, guarded the flag. Capt. G. W. Smith was in charge of the Cadet Corps, and the officers present were Lieuts. Gordon Ross and Rob McLeod.

DONOR OF NEW SCHOOLS SPEAKS.

Mr. Ross then addressed the gathering. He stated that the reason why he had decided to build the new school was twofold. In the first place, the existing buildings were crowded to their capacity this spring, and with the addition of a number of new boys this fall and an expected further increase next fall, it was impossible to continue with the present accommodation. In the second place, the school authorities did not own the property they at present occupied, but were only tenants of the college. The university authorities had been approached with a view to granting an extended lease of the (Continued on page 8.)

SENTENCED TO DEATH

Ceminero Condemned to Hang on January 10, 1917, For Capeton Murder.

AFTER FOUR DAYS TRIAL CONVICTED OF KILLING ANOTHER ITALIAN.

Tom Ceminero was sentenced to death at 11.30 this morning by Mr. Justice Hutchinson in the Court of King's Bench for the murder of Gato Calcaro of which he was found guilty on Saturday afternoon.

Assuming the black cap the Judge addressed the prisoner as follows: "Tom Ceminero, you were charged before this Court with the crime of murder, namely, the killing of a fellow workman in malice and blood. You have had a fair trial, you have been tried by twelve good men wholly disinterested and they have unanimously rendered a verdict against you upon the crime of which you have been charged. It is therefore now the painful duty of the Court to pass sentence upon you as required by law. The judgment of the Court is that you be taken back whence you came to the common jail of this district and be detained there until execution of the present sentence, and that on the tenth day of January next 1917 that you be hanged by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

Previously to the passing of the sentence Mr. Belanger presented motions to the Court for a reserve case to the Court of Appeal on certain questions of law, and for the postponement of sentence. He submitted among other grounds that Care's deposition given before the District Magistrate on August 4th should not have been read to the jury as there was no proof he had left Canada, also that Care being an accomplice his evidence should not have been taken, and that the accused had been irregularly tried on the Coroner's warrant. The three men, Care, Ceminero and the three men jointly charged with participating in the murder, whereas they had been tried separately.

The Court answered the objections and dismissed the motions and Mr. Belanger gave notice of appeal. The Court room was crowded this morning. Prisoner took his position in the most unconcerned manner. After ten minutes' deliberation on Saturday afternoon, the jury returned a verdict of "guilty."

Mr. L. C. Belanger, K.C., spoke for two hours in the morning on behalf of the accused, and when the Court (Continued on page 8.)

WORK OF ONE SUBMARINE

Newport, R.I., Oct. 10.—The whole sale raid on foreign shipping south of Nantucket lightship Sunday, was the work of one submarine, according to reports of American naval officers. Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves, commanding the torpedo boat destroyer flotilla, which did such remarkable speedy rescue work yesterday, said last night, reports of all his officers agreed that to the best of their observation one raider only was concerned. This boat presumably was the German U-53, which called at Newport Saturday afternoon to mail a letter to Ambassador Bernstorff, and then put to sea without taking on an ounce of supplies, although she was seventeen days from her base, according to the statement of her officers.

ROAD WORK

AT WATERLOO

Section of Streets Finished
And Other Work Will be Commenced.

Waterloo, Oct. 10. — (Special.)— Road Inspector Lajole and his staff have about completed the eastern side of Foster Square as far as the railway crossing at the foot of E.B.
Perkins' property. The south and west sides will be commenced immediately. The road work on Court street has been commenced and by winter the people will be in the enjoyment of perhaps the best roads in the country.

HIGH PRICES FOR PROVISIONS.

Potatoes in this vicinity are a fairly good crop, but rotting badly.
Housekeepers complain of the price, which ranges about a dollar to a dollar and a quarter per bushel; butter, 30c per lb.; eggs, 35c a doz.;
pork, 20c per lb.; beef, 25c per lb.

FINE BREATHING SPACE.

Foster Square, which a few years ago was only a sand hill and pasture ground for stray cattle, but which some years ago was redeemed and laid out as a park largely by private enterprise, and for some years has been cared for under the direction of Mr. M. H. Temple, was this year something to be proud of. The trees and shrubs set out some years ago have so far matured as to give grateful shade to pedestrians during the hot days of summer, and groups from the town could be seen in the afternoons and evenings taking advantage of the cooling breeze from the lake and the shade from the trees. Good walks have been made for walking and comfortable seats have been provided for rest. The walks have been kept clear of weeds and the grass closely and evenly mowed; the two large flower beds have been throughout the summer brilliant with flowering plants. A commodious band stand occupies the north end, and on summer evenings
the Waterloo brass band gives frequent concerts in the evening. The contract for the care of the square has again been given to Mr. Temple for the coming year, and this is a guarantee that in the future, as in the past, Foster Square is a part of the town that the citizens of Waterloo may well be proud of. Another part of the town of Waterloo that has been greatly improved during the summer is the site of the old knitting mills, which had been acquired by the S. H. C. Miner estate of Granby. The old mills which had become so dilapidated as to be unsafe have been pulled down; the ground has been nicely graded and sown with grass, sloping off from the fine bridge which spans the river to the level below. It only needs the energetic action of some of Waterloo's enterprising citizens to lay out the grounds, build walks, plant trees and shrubs, provide suitable seats, and the north end of the town will have a park viewing in beauty with that of the south end. This should be done for the credit of the town. It gives strangers a good impression on entering the town to find at the very entrance such a fine public square as we have in the south end and could just as well have at the north entrance. Could not some of our wide-awake ladies living in the north end follow the example of those of the south end and take this matter up?
This is the ladies' age—the time when the ladies do things, but will they?

WEST BOLTON
ITEMS OF NEWSSheep Worried By Dogs. Farm
Property Sold For Seven Thousand Dollars.

West Brome, October 10. — (Special.)—The thanksgiving supper at the Brill Church on Thursday evening surpassed all previous records. The proceeds of the evening amounted to over $100, although the amount charged was only 25c a ticket, as on previous years. The evening was perfect in every way, as it had been for several days before, making the roads in the best of condition for people to come from all surrounding points.

The programme arranged by the pastor, consisting of addresses and vocal selections of a high order, presumably could not be enjoyed by many as owing to the vast multitude to be fed it had to be going on in the auditorium of the church while others were eating below in the dining hall. Those taking part in the entertainment were Rev. P. and Mrs. Pergeau, Waterloo; Rev. M.
Gibb and Mr. Percy Purdy, South
Stukely; Rev. and Mrs. Nelson,
Knowlton; besides local talent.

Much praise is due the president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. C. B. Mc-Laughlin, for the very efficient manner in the planning of affairs for the gathering, and all are very thankful to those who helped in the sale of tickets, cooking, or any other way, of which there were many, to make the evening's gathering such a good success.

SOLD FARM FOR $7,000.

Mr. O. A. McLaughlin has sold his farm to Mr. Patenaude, of Knowlton, with an auto accident in Sutton Friday when their auto went into the ditch. Mr. Woodley, it is understood, escaped injury; Mrs. Woodley, it is reported, received only slight bruises.

REVISION OF VOTERS' ROLL.

At the special session of the council on Saturday, Councillors Wood-ley and Stone were absent; all others present. The time was mostly spent in the revision of the voters' list. Quite a large number of ratepayers were present, also Mr. Cloutier, advocate, of Waterloo, who was able to decide in their judgment as to who were lawful voters.

GOOD ROAD WORK.

The road leading to Foster that has been remade is now ready for graveling, which, when done, will be a great improvement.

BONUS TO TEACHERS.

A pleasant feature of the largely attended and successful Teachers' Institute held at Knowlton was the handing out by Inspector Taylor of cheques as bonuses to those teachers who had been successful in obtaining the required number of marks. Those receiving them were Miss Alice Bullard, Miss Mary Cousins (from Mr.
Rothney's inspectorate), Miss Velma
Derby, Mrs. John Worden, Mrs. G.
Wilson, Miss Lenore Wilson, Miss
Pearl Copland and Miss Katherine Gwens.

are both in Sweetburg, acting as jurymen.

in the township on Friday. The trip was made by autos. Messrs. O.
C. Salsbury and Don Chapman ac-at night registered 60 miles of travel. The purpose of the trip was to ascertain the conditions of the school buildings and recommend the improvements, if any. Careful notes were taken of the conditions as found, also the numbers of pupils in attendance. Eighteen schools were visited, and with the exception of the one near the village of West

GLEANERS HOLD SALE.

The Gleaners, a society of the Methodist Church in this city, held their annual tea and sale Saturday in Wesley Hall, with a large and gratifying attendance of members and visitors. Miss Jennie Smith, president of the society, and Mrs. C. B. Howard, received the guests, and Mrs. W. B. Morehouse and Mrs. A. G. Campbell presided at the tea table, which was gay with potted plants in bloom. The small tables were looked after by the girls of the Gleaners, who were most efficient. The sales tables were festooned with colored bunting and laden with a great variety of attractive articles, which were soon disposed of. The following were in charge: household table, Miss Marion Parker; fruit and vegetables, Miss Eunice Cutler; candy, Miss Emma Joslin; fancy work, Miss Pauline Bradley; cookery, Miss Florence Hyndman. The proceeds, for the mission fund of the church, were most satisfactory.

THANKSGIVING SUPPER.

The Thanksgiving supper of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church took place last evening, with even more than the usual success. The tea room, which is very spacious and has been newly decorated, tinted and furnished with up-to-date electric lighting, looked most bright and attractive, and the throng of guests were received by the Rev. Mr. McIntosh, the pastor, Mrs. McIntosh, Mrs. W. E. Loomis, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. Morehouse, assisted by Mr. D. G. Loomis and Mr. B. C. Howard, old and prominent members of the congregation. Ten tables were laden with lovely autumn flowers, late sweet peas, asters, scarlet geraniums and snowdrops, the effect being very striking, while flags and colored leaves added to the brilliancy of the scene. It goes without saying that the menu was all that could be desired, chicken pie being the leading feature of the feast, while old-time and modern Thanksgiving dainties were served, the members of the society, with many assistants, attending to the wants of the guests. After supper a short but well-arranged programme of vocal and instrumental music was given in Wesley Hall, closing the festive day of 1916.

53RD REGIMENTAL CHAPTER.

The tea and food sale of the 53rd Regimental Chapter of the I.O.D.E., in the officers' mess rooms, Saturday, was immensely successful, much to the gratification of the organizers. A large number of visitors were present, and the receipts amounted to $40, to be applied to the Christmas boxes for the men at the front. The tea table was arranged in the drawing room, which was decorated with late autumn flowers and foliage, and the small tables for the guests were conveniently placed about the large room. Mrs. C. F. Waller, the convener, was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Grimes, Mrs. Whitley and Mrs. Ward, and tea was poured by Mrs. Loughheed and Mrs. Adams. In the dining room the display of home-cooked food, jams, jellies, pickles, fruit, etc., was large and very tempting, and all was disposed of to eager customers. The guests were looked after by Mrs. Cutbert, was won by Mrs. Horsfield, and a fine pair of chickens, presented by Mr. Waller, were carried off by Mrs. Jarvis. During the afternoon, piano selections by Miss Wingo added to the gaiety of the occasion.

most inviting with tables daintily arranged with red geraniums, ferns, and maple leaves. The food table contained home-made bread, pies, and cakes, which were all made by the guides, and which were soon disposed of. Members of the local committee and officers of the 3rd Company, called in and several girls, who are interested in the organization, were present and gave their names for enrollment. The officers have made a few new rules for the coming year which are on stricter lines, in hopes that some girls who take things so lightly may realize that the organization means more than just a "fad," and that the high standard of Girl Guide must be upheld. Several names have been marked off the roll-call and in future the officers will only accept recruits who are in earnest and in promising to keep the Guide laws, and to take an interest in the work.

Systematic work and study will be outlined for the regular meetings during the winter months, and the first Saturday of each month, the Club room will be open to visitors, and friends of the officers and guides, to enable them to see the work, and to learn what this organization means to young girls.

Avoid Harsh Pills! Doctors Condemn Them

Most pills unfortunately are harsh and drastic; they cause inflammation and great discomfort. Rather like nature is the way a pill should act, mildly but effectively. Science has established nothing more satisfactory as a family pill than the old reliable pills of Dr. Hamilton's, which for forty years have had a premier place in America. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are very mild and can be effectively used by the aged, by children, and indeed by men of all ages. No stomach or bowel medicine is more reliable. No remedy for indigestion, headache or biliousness is so effective, so mild, so certain to quickly cure as a 25c. box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

AUTOMOBILE SPEED LIMIT

Associated Boards of Trade Petition Government on This Question.

ASK THAT LIMIT ON COUNTRY ROADS BE INCREASED TO 25 MILES

(Fifth Article E. T. Board meeting.)
At the recent meeting of the associated Boards of Trade at Coaticook, the following resolution moved by Mr. A. O. Norton, was adopted: "That the provincial government be approached with the object of having the speed limit for autos on country roads increased from 15 to 25 miles per hour."

In making the representations the Coaticook Board submitted that it is the general opinion of the public in that locality that the present speed limit is altogether too low for country districts and is broken by every one who drives an auto. The opinion appears to be shared with the people of the Townships generally and is the view taken by the Eastern Townships Automobile Association as already expressed by its president and other members of its annual and other members in these columns.

CAREFUL DRIVING NEEDED, ALSO LIGHTS ON HORSE VEHICLES

In submitting the motion Mr. Norton said that on good roads 25 or even 30 miles per hour was not too high, while in some places 15 miles an hour would be dangerous. What was needed was careful driving, and good autoists used wise discretion as regards speed. He thought that all horse drawn vehicles should be compelled to carry a light, and that the danger at present existing in the respect should be brought to the attention of the government. The headlight matter also required attention, he understood a special lens was being constructed to modify the glare. RESOLUTION FROM FARNHAM BOARD

Mr. R. C. Wilkins introduced the following resolution passed by the Farnham Board which is identical with the one mentioned above, and was accepted:

Resolved:
That the Farnham Board of Trade consider the speed limit of eighteen miles an hour for automobiles in the Province of Quebec is entirely too low.

Owing to there being so many miles of bad roads over which only very slow progress can be made, parties touring the country cannot make a reasonable day's run unless permitted to make over eighteen miles per hour, where the roads are good.

We believe that twenty five miles an hour is a reasonable limit, and hereby ask the Eastern Townships Boards of Trade to consider this resolution when presenting their petition to the government in connection with this subject.

During the discussion Mr. J. N. Davignon expressed the opinion that the lights should be dimmed when meeting other cars and the speed reduced to ten miles per hour.

Dr. Bowen spoke of the importance of careful driving round corners and when meeting other cars. As far as the speed limit was concerned he believed in keeping within the law until amended.

AMERICAN COLONEL GIVES FREE ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

SAYS IT'S SHEER FOLLY FOR ANY-ONE TO SUFFER THESE DAYS.

Rheumatism can't be cured so long as your system is weak and run down. You must first build up and get strength to fight off the disease. Ferrerozine cures because it builds up, because it renews the blood and dissolves the uric acid and the poisons that cause rheumatism.

It is proved right here that Ferrerozine does cure.
Col. H. M. Russ, of Edwards, St. Lawrence Co., one of the fine old heroes of the Civil War, was completely restored by Ferrerozine. Read his statement:

"I couldn't get around without a cane, and then only with difficulty."
"Rheumatism took complete control of my limbs."
"Suffering was more intense than hardships on the battlefield."
"When my doctor had done his best I got Ferrerozine."
"Then came a quick change."
"Ferrerozine gave me comfort at once, eased my pain and took the stiffness out of my muscles."
"I am well to-day. Ferrerozine cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago."
Be sure about your case. If your present medicine is useless give it up. Don't experiment again. Ferrerozine is known on all sides to be a cure that does cure. Why not get a supply today? The sooner you begin Ferrerozine the quicker you'll get well. Price 25c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarthozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

MESSAGE FROM JELICOE

Looks Forward to Large Number of Canadians Joining British Navy.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 10.—Hon. Rupert Guinness, who is conducting a campaign in Canada for recruits for the Imperial Navy, has received the following appeal from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, in command of the Grand Fleet:

"H.M.S. Iron Duke.
"Dear Captain Guinness,—I wish you all success in your mission to Canada, and feel sure the response of the Dominion to the call of the Imperial Navy will equal in proportion that grand response given by Canada to the Empire on the declaration of war."

"I give you the following message to the people of Canada.
"On a memorable occasion early in the war, the Navy watched with pride the magnificent stand made by Canadian troops, when their self-sacrifice, gallantry and tenacity saved a very critical situation. The officers and men of the fleet which I have the honor to command, look forward to seeing these men of Canada who have hitherto not been able to join the contingents from their Dominion for service on shore, come to sea to share with them the task of watching and guarding the great sea-front for the Empire, a duty which it is our honor and privilege to have entrusted to our keeping."

"The task of the Navy is to safeguard the coasts of the Empire, to protect the Empire's commerce, the passage of Imperial troops and munitions of war, a task rendered more difficult as time goes on.
"The immense expansion of the fleet which these various duties involve, together with the inevitable losses which occur, necessitates a large increase in the personnel, and it is for this reason that I would invite the men of Canada to join us. With their help we shall accomplish all the sooner the task for which the Allies are working: viz., the freedom of smaller and weaker nations, and the safeguarding of treaty rights."

"(Signed) J. J. JELICOE."
NECESSITY FOR MORE MEN.
As a direct result of the British Admiralty, Captain Guinness is just starting on a recruiting tour in the West, and offices are being opened in all the principal cities and towns to enroll men. Captain Guinness says: "When Admiral Jellicoe writes from the Grand Fleet (somewhere in the North Sea) in this vein, we can visualize the need for more men very easily, and for men needed quickly. New fleets are putting to sea—battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines—and they must be manned. Untrained men—men who have never seen the sea, but who have a desire to serve and have a good physique—will see service almost at once in the Navy."

"With 900 to 1,000 men in some ships, the recruit can be used in many ways, and his chief value at the moment lies in being able to release trained sailors for special duty or, in technical terms, 'dilute' the

COOKSHIRE SCHOOL FAIR

Third Annual Event Was Very Successful. Entries Were Large.

Cookshire, Oct. 10 (Special).—The third annual school fair for the town of Cookshire and the surrounding districts was held in Cookshire Academy on September 19th. From beginning to end the fair was a large success. The weather, the large number of exhibits, and the loyal manner in which the people came out to attend the fair, all went to make Cookshire fair one of the largest and best school fairs yet held.

As there had been upwards of one hundred settings of eggs, sixty-two lots of seed potatoes, thirty-five allotments of corn and a great number of flower seeds, sweet peas, barley, etc., distributed among the children it was expected that the competition would be keen. It was. Entries literally poured in from nine-thirty until noon, people poured in from nine-thirty until the building was packed quite tightly. Should next year's fair give indications of being larger than the one just held, more accommodation will surely be needed.

This year, in all classes and sections, the material was good. In every instance those who received prizes merited them. Below is given a list of the prize winners. In a short time the prize money will be distributed. Those who won prizes in the classes for sewing, cooking, etc., have already received their prize money from Mrs. A. Robertson, president of the Cookshire Home-makers' Club. Those classes were kindly added to the prize list by the members of the Club.

This year's fair was a good one; let next year's fair be better.

RAISING BABY BEEF ON SKIM MILK

Market Offers Splendid Inducements to Producers of Calves.

The market offers splendid inducements to the producer of baby beef, and stockmen are beginning to cater more extensively to that trade. It is a recognized fact that the beef breeds are more adapted to producing what the meat market demands than are the dairy breeds. In order to keep the calf growing and gaining in flesh so that it will tip the scales at nine or ten hundred pounds when a year old, the general practice is to allow the calf to suck the cow and also feed it liberally on rolled oats or other concentrates and clover or alfalfa hay. The calf must be fed and cared for so it will not lose its calf-flesh. Raising calves for the baby-beef market permits a quick turn-over of the money invested, and the price per pound for a finished yearling is about equal to that paid for older and heavier cattle.

Grade cows of the beef breeds if bred to a good bull of a beef breed produce calves that meet the market demands when about a year old. If a calf is worth $80 when 12 months old, it is fairly good return from a cow for a year. The labor entailed in looking after the calf and the cost of feed to supplement the milk is not great. The strictly beef breeds are not the only class of bovine stock that are used for producing baby beef. In a number of stables, grade dairy cows are bred to an Angus bull and the progeny produced are fed for the high-price market. The same success is not attained as results from using both dam and sire of a beef breed. However, the returns are quite gratifying and reveal the possibilities in stock raising.

On several farms recently visited the system followed was to breed the grade Holstein cows to a pure bred Angus bull, and raise the calves after they were a month or six weeks old on skim-milk, rolled oats, oil cake, silage and clover hay. On one farm where this system was followed, twenty-five calves had been raised on the feeds mentioned and sold for an average price of fifty-six dollars when about one year old. This left room in the stable for the next crop of calves which were coming on.

On another farm a herd of twelve to fifteen grade Holstein cows are kept and are bred to an Angus bull during the fall or early winter. The calves are fed whole milk for two weeks, after which skim-milk is added. When the calves are five or six weeks old the whole milk is discontinued, and from eight to ten quarts of skim milk is fed. At first there was trouble with the calves scouring, but by adding a little low-grade flour to the milk the difficulty was overcome. The calves are also given water to drink. When six weeks old the calves would eat silage out chop and clover hay. A handful of oil cake was given each calf, night and morning. At eight months old, the calves were fed about six pounds of grain, (oats, peas and barley), and one and a half pounds of oil cake, and all the hay and silage they would eat. Raised on this ration the calves weighed about 800 pounds when one year old, and were in good condition. There was no trouble in selling them at the prevailing price for butchers cattle. The money received for the calves, added to the value of the cream, made a profitable return from grade cows.

The crossing of the breeds is not generally to be recommended, but several stockmen with grade dairy herds are finding it a profitable investment. True, the cows in the herd will wear out in time, and there will be no heifers growing up to replace them, but the idea is to purchase animals to keep the herd to its present number. It may be difficult to secure suitable animals of the desired quality, but the venture is proving remunerative, at the present time, to the men who were interviewed.

AMOUNT OF FEED FOR SHEEP

A full-grown sheep which is being fattened for market should have approximately 1 1/2 pounds of grain per day and all the hay it will eat, which will amount to about two pounds per day with that amount of grain. Sheep can ordinarily be fattened in about 100 days by the use of grain in the amount mentioned. Breeding ewes can be carried through the winter without grain if they are supplied with an abundance of the right kind of roughage. If they are given all the clover or alfalfa hay they will eat, approximately 3 pounds each per day, they will go through the winter in good breeding condition. If the hay is not of the best quality, it should be supplemented with one-half pound of grain each per day, which may be oats, barley, corn, or a mixture of these three feeds. In feeding alfalfa and clover, it is an excellent plan to give the breeding ewes some other roughage, such as corn stalks or oats straw. Roots to the amount of 3 pounds each per day are excellent for breeding ewes, if supplemented with some dry feed.

SOD TURNING CEREMONY

ground and additional land for the erection of new buildings, but owing to certain legal formalities in connection with the deed of gift, they did not feel at liberty to grant the request. Therefore it was necessary to acquire a new site, and the one on which the company was assembled was chosen because it was in the town of Lennoxville. Although in the past the institution had been known as Bishop's College School, the boys had generally spoken of it as "Lennoxville," and in the future it would be called Lennoxville School. Mr. Ross then called upon Mrs. Ross to turn the first sod.

MRS. ROSS TURNS THE SOD.
Mrs. Ross performed the interesting ceremony to the strains of "O Canada," played by the band, and a vigorous cheer rent the air. The spade used for the occasion was decorated with yellow and black, the racing colors of her husband.

MR. C. M. HOLT, K.C.
Mr. C. M. Holt, K.C., one of the directors, followed with a short speech. He referred to the splendid work that benefactor had done for the Empire in connection with his gifts of boats to the Royal Navy, in which he is a lieutenant, to his magnificent gift to the Patriotic Fund and hospitals, and to his work as chairman of the Pensioners Board of Canada. Mr. Ross had long been interested in education, and when, twelve months hence, the first pile of magnificent buildings had been reared on that lovely site, they would be able to more fully appreciate his generosity. Quoting a Latin phrase, Mr. Holt added that when the buildings were finished, the present boys, their sons, and their sons' sons, would find Mr. Ross' monument around them.

Philip Davis, of the Preparatory School, presented Mrs. Ross with a bouquet of flowers, and the ceremony ended with the singing of the National Anthem.

THE LUNCHEON
The guests were afterwards entertained to luncheon at the school. After a recherche repast had been thoroughly enjoyed, Mr. J. Tyson Williams, B.A., headmaster, proposed the toast of "The King."

GREAT IN THE PAST, GREATER IN THE FUTURE

Mr. Williams then made a brief speech in which he thanked Mr. Ross on behalf of all present for the very kind interest he had taken in the school and for his generous gift. In the very near future Lennoxville would be a great school. It had turned out in the past, hundreds of fine fellows who were now scattered throughout the whole of the Empire, and with increased facilities nothing could impede its progress. That was due to Mr. Ross. Whether or not the new site was more beautiful than the old it was certainly more elevated. He would personally regret leaving the present location in many ways and it may be that his bones of old he would only lead the child-

Guests from all directions began to arrive early, to the complete surprise of Mr. and Mrs. McKinney, who, however, were equal to the occasion, and a right royal time was passed. THE LATE J. A. DUFORT, COMPTON.

Compton, Oct. 10. (Special).—The funeral of the late J. A. Dufort was held from the R. O. Church on Friday morning at 9 o'clock and was largely attended. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Father St. Jean, and the bearers were Messrs. Aubury, Doyon, Bolduc, St. Marie, E. Le Clerc and Bureau. The manager was Mayor J. A. Rivard. The choir was composed of Mr. Alfred Gendry, brother-in-law; Mr. Emile Gendry, cousin; Mr. L. H. Olivier and two sons and Mr. Leandre Proulx, of Sherbrooke. Miss Bolduc presided at the organ, and the relatives were assisted by the Compton choir.

The late Mr. Dufort was born at St. Mark, Que., in March, 1838, and was therefore in his 79th year. In the spring of 1872 the deceased came to Compton and purchased a farm on the Eaton road, now owned by Mr. Mercier. In the autumn he married Alice Gendry, who now survives him. Mr. and Mrs. Dufort remained on the farm until 19 years ago, when they moved into the village, where Mr. Dufort's familiar figure has often been seen on our streets. For a year past, however, he had been in failing health, suffering from a heart affection. He bore the sufferings patiently and like a Christian. He was a kind husband, and was universally liked. Especially was he good to the poor, not ostentatiously, but rather he gave in places and at times when it was not known. In religion he was a Roman Catholic and in politics a strong Conservative.

Among those in town for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Allaire, Mr. Dufort, Mrs. Ducharme and three sons, Montreal; Mrs. Proulx, Montreal; and Mrs. Pinsonneault, Waterville.

ren to the promised land and not be permitted to enter himself.

THE DOVE OF PEACE

Mr. Williams was glad to have the presence of Dr. Parrock on that occasion, because it was proposed to plant a number of olive trees on the other side of the river. The speaker hoped Dr. Parrock would do the same on that side of the river, and then the dove of peace could hover around and between, and they would both go their own way with, he hoped, more success in the future. (Cheers.) Mr. Williams was glad to see so many representatives from the town of Lennoxville including Mr. Murray whom he believed was the best Mayor they ever had. He welcomed all old friends and believed the school would have the continued support and friendship in that great undertaking not only of the immediate district, but of all the surrounding country. He proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

ASKS FOR CONTINUED SUPPORT OF FRIENDS OF SCHOOL.

Mr. Ross was greeted with musical honors on rising to reply and a lusty yell from the boys. He said that having already made one speech he did not intend making another, but he wished to thank every one for their kind expressions. He only hoped the Board of Directors, headmaster, and staff, would receive the support not only of Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, and the province but of the whole of Canada. He also hoped that within two years they would see the completion of the buildings that for many years to come would be able to take care of the rising generation of Canada. He asked for the entire support of all in making the new school a success; they had already shown their sympathy and encouragement in attending the first ceremony. Although it would be a new school it would still be the "old Lennoxville school." (Cheers.)

The band played outside during the luncheon.

SERVICE IN CHAPEL

An informal tea was given in the afternoon and the day's proceedings concluded with a bright service in the evening. Rev. H. C. Burt, school chaplain, took the service and Mr. I. Sawdon, presided at the organ.

AFTER MODEL OF ENGLISH PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

In a statement to the Record, Mr. Ross said he hoped by September, 1917, that the preparatory school would be finished and that the whole scheme would be completed by September, 1918. Everything would be carried out in the most modern style and the school would be modelled on the lines of the best English public schools. The school has a large representation from Montreal, Quebec and the United States. One significant fact is that when one boy enters his brothers invariably follow.

re-assembled at two o'clock, Mr. J. Nicol, K.C., commenced his address for the Crown. He concluded at 3.15 and the summing up of Mr. Justice Hutchinson occupied 45 minutes. The jury retired at four o'clock and returned at 4.10 p.m. There were few spectators in the court room when Mr. Samuel J. Elliott, foreman of the jury, pronounced the word that sealed the fate of Ceminerio. The verdict came as a surprise as popular opinion anticipated an acquittal as in the case of Metz and Care. The accused took the finding of the jury very coolly when it was translated to him by Louis Bendo, the interpreter in the case.

In summing up the case Mr. Justice Hutchinson held there was no doubt a murder had been committed. He reviewed the principal features of the evidence and pointed out that the testimony clearly established that Ceminerio was one of the men who were seen by different witnesses on the road from Albert Mines to Capelton on the night of the murder, and that the time of the murder fitted in with the time the men were seen to pass Bendo's house and the presbytery in the direction of the little bridge. If the prisoner was elsewhere on the night in question it would have been an easy matter for him to have established his whereabouts by evidence, but he had not seen fit to do so.

The judge dealt with Metz's evidence, which was to the effect that he had left Care and Ceminerio in the road and went home carrying a pail of milk which Care had requested Metz to take care of until he should call for it, telling him they had some business hand. His Lordship understood that public opinion had acquitted Metz of participation in the murder although there was a feeling that he might have known something about it. If the jury believed Metz's evidence, especially that portion where he stated that Care and Ceminerio called for the milk later at night and twice requested him not to say they had seen them, that would undoubtedly form a strong link in the chain of circumstantial evidence. If the accused and his companion had done no wrong, why should they endeavor to conceal their movements?

Mr. Justice Hutchinson agreed that Care had perjured himself before the coroner and in his first appearance before the District Magistrate, but was it not feasible that he spoke the truth on August 4th when he told a different story and "made a clean breast of it for the sake of his own soul." On the latter occasion Care incriminated himself when he said that after Metz and Ceminerio had done the deed they made him throw a stick on to Calarco's body. Was it likely that a man was committing suicide when he came forward and testified against himself?

The court told the jury it was for them to decide the question of Ceminerio's guilt or innocence and that if they had a reasonable doubt the accused must of course be given the benefit of it.

After the verdict had been rendered the Judge thanked the jury for the consideration they had given to this very painful case occupying four days. He perfectly agreed with the verdict, and remarked that he presided at Ceminerio's second trial last year. He had had a fair trial. His Lordship discharged the jury and relieved them from further attendance at the Court until Wednesday morning.

SKETCH OF THE CRIME.

Gastano Calarco and Metz, Care and Ceminerio, the three men originally accused of the crime, worked at the Chemical Works, Capelton. Calarco had a good job, and when the murder was committed jealousy on this account was put forward as a motive. There was also some talk of robbery as another incentive to the crime, as it was stated that Calarco carried a considerable sum on his person. Calarco was found dead late on the night of June 26, 1915, near the little bridge on the road leading to Capelton. His back had been slashed with a knife, and there were other knife wounds on his body. Besides this, he had been dealt two heavy blows on the head with thick sticks, which Dr. Colquhoun said were alone sufficient to cause death. The three men had been drinking at Tom Carbone's house in the afternoon, where Calarco formerly boarded, and they had called at Bendo's, where he had gone to live, on their way down to the village. According to several witnesses, men answering the description of two or three of accused were seen to pass down the road a little ahead of Calarco, who was going to work. Soon after a noise was heard like the chopping of wood, followed by a groan, and coming from the direction of the little bridge.

The three men were charged on a coroner's warrant. Metz' first trial broke down owing to the illness of a jurymen. On his second trial he was acquitted. The jury disagreed at Care's first trial and he was likewise acquitted at his second trial. Ceminerio had two trials last year at each of which the jury disagreed.

Care was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for contempt of court, and subsequently to four months for perjury.

THIRD GAME IN WORLD'S SERIES

Scene of Battle Has Been Transferred From Boston to Brooklyn.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, Oct. 10.—The weather for the third game of the world's series is clear and cool. A brisk northwest breeze sent many spectators to Ebbets Field wearing overcoats and gloves.

THOUSAND FLOCK TO WITNESS GAME

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, N. Y., Oct. 10.—With the battle for the premier baseball honor of the year transferred from Boston to Brooklyn today, the base ball enthusiasts of greater New York flocked by the thousands to Ebbets field to view the world's series from a new angle. Brooklyn has sent many a strong delegation to the polo grounds in Harlem, home of the Giants, to witness past season struggles in former years, but today saw a reversal of the process, with the tide of travel turned towards Ebbets field, where the stadium of the present National League champions is situated.

In contrast with the warm haze of the past few days, remarkable for its suitability to baseball, the morning broke cool and breezy, with the promise of a day more suited to work on the gridiron than on the diamond.

On familiar grounds after the loss of two heartbreaking struggles to alien soil, the Dodgers figured in the calculations of ardent Brooklynites as likely to gather sufficient inspiration from congenial surroundings to give them the edge they lacked in the Braves Field encounters. A pair of reverses by single run margins, in one of which five extra innings were required to subdue them, was not looked upon as an indication that the National Leaguers were outclassed and doomed to certain defeat. Nevertheless it was realized that today's battle might virtually decide the series, as another setback would force the Robins to the wall where a single thrust would mean their downfall.

Manager Robinson, of the Brooklyn, as usual, gave no hint of his pitching selection, but Jack Coombs was looked upon as his probable choice, with Marquard in a come back effort as a possibility.

The probable line-up of the teams for today's game is as follows: Boston—Hooper R.F.; Janvin 2 B.; Walker C.F.; Hohlzoll 1 B.; Lewis L.F.; Gardner 3 B.; Scott S.S.; Carrigan C.; Leonard P.

Brooklyn—Johnston R.F.; Daubert 1 B.; Myers C.F.; Wheat L.F.; Cuthshaw 2 B.; Mowrey 2 B.; Olson S.S.; Miller C.; Coombs P.
