TWO KILLED BY EXPLOSION ON S.S. ADRIATIC Barracks And Buildings In Cork Set Afire By Rebels

No Structural Damage Was Caused Liner Adriatic By Explosion In Hold Three

Explosion Took Place at Midnight Aboard White Star Liner and S.O.S. Calls Were Sent Out While Investigation was in Progress—Later Messages Stated That no Assistance was Needed and that Liner was Proceeding on her Course—Two Members of the Crew Were Killed, one is Missing and Five Were Seriously Injured as the Result of Explosion—Proceeding at Half Speed to New York.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, August 11.—Two members of the White Star Liner Adriatic's crew were killed, five were seriously injured, and one is missing, as the result of an explosion of undetermined origin in her number three hold, according to a wireless message received today at the White Star Line offices.

The message reported that the Adriatic was proceeding to New York at half speed.

Coal was stored in the number three hold and officials of the Line, in the absence of details, thought that spontaneous combustion may have caused the explosion.

The men killed were a fireman and a trimmer. Those injured included an electrician and other employees of the engine room.

The passengers knew little of the accident, according to the White Star officials, who stated that an immediate investigation would be made. The liner, after proceeding at a slackened speed for some time, later resumed full speed and it is expected to reach New York Sunday afternoon.

INFORMATION INDICATES THAT NO ASSISTANCE IS NEEDED
(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The United States Navy Department, which has been in constant communication with the Adriatic, on which an explosion occurred during the night, said today their information indicated that no assistance was needed.

SENT OUT S.O.S. CALLS FOLLOWING THE EXPLOSION
(Associated Press Despatch)
HALIFAX, N.S., August 11.—A radio message received by the naval staff at Halifax, via Cape Race, reports the White Star Liner Adriatic sending out S.O.S. calls. The Adriatic is on a voyage from New York to Liverpool, and gave her position as 41.23 N. and 51.54 W. The message was sent out at 12.35 a.m. and stated that an explosion had resulted in number three hold, and ship's crew was endeavoring to ascertain the extent of the damage. A message at 1.20 a.m. reported the Adriatic proceeding under her own steam, and that so far as could be ascertained no structural damage had resulted from the explosion.

The Adriatic is a passenger liner of 15,638 tons.

LINER PROCEEDING ON HER COURSE.
(Associated Press Despatch)
BOSTON, Aug. 11.—An S.O.S. call from the White Star Liner Adriatic early today telling of an explosion in her number three hold was followed by a series of radio messages culminating in the word that no assistance was needed.

"Everything is O. K. now," the latest message said.

Her position was given as about three hundred miles east of Portland, Maine. The early messages characterized the explosion as bad and said Captain David was trying to locate the cause, but gave no further details. They said the liner was proceeding on her course.

CHURCHILL IS GIVEN PRETTY SEVERE SNUB

Public Accounts Committee Comments Concerning Expenses of Mr. Churchill to Cairo.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Aug. 11.—Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, receives a pretty severe snub from the committee on public accounts, concerning the expenses of his journey to Cairo.

The scale of allowed expenses per day was originally fixed by the treasurer, but in response to a telegram sent by Mr. Churchill from Cairo, they agreed to waive the arrangement and allow actual expenses, thereby practically dispensing with any limit.

A treasury official, questioned by the committee said:

"It is undesirable for unlimited power of spending to be given to any man and equally undesirable for any Cabinet minister to set an example of asking for it."

CANADA'S WHEAT CROP IS ESTIMATED AT 320,968,000 BUSHELS.

(Associated Press Despatch)

HAVE POWER TO MAKE TREATY WITH FRANCE

French Business Circles Interested in Visit of Hon. Fielding and Hon. Lapointe.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Aug. 11.—A special correspondent of the Morning Post in Paris says that French business circles are looking forward with considerable interest to the expected visit at the end of August of the Hon. W.S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

It is said that they will arrive in Paris with plenary power to open and close negotiations regarding the Franco-Canadian treaty of Commerce signed in 1907 and amended in 1909.

The treaty was denounced by Sir George Foster in June 1920, but owing to the seal of Senator Beaudry, of Quebec, says the correspondent, a modus vivendi was signed in January, 1921, which at most was only a make-shift and far from meeting present needs. As France, who has just signed a commercial agreement with Spain, which was put into force on July 15th, is now discussing the terms of a commercial agreement with Belgium and Italy, the arrival of the Canadian Ministers will be opportune.

Indeed, it is urged, that Canada should set about obtaining an agreement whereby the Dominion should secure all possible advantages before a regime de faveur is granted to other countries for certain products which the Dominion cannot supply.

The United States and Canada formerly sold to France eighty per cent of the agricultural machinery in use on her territory. It is impossible, however, to sell such implements without ensuring the delivery of spare parts. The United States, as a result of their commercial agreement with France, pays only a minimum rate. Canada, because she has denounced her treaty, comes under the general tariff. The effect of this can be realized when it is learned that Canadian exports to France decreased from twenty seven million dollars in 1921 to eight million dollars so far in 1922.

Military And Police Barracks In City Of Cork Burning--Rebels Have Evacuated City

Official Announcement States that the National Troops Entered the City of Cork Yesterday--Irregulars Have Blown up Hotels, Newspaper Offices and All Barracks--Government Troops Are Closing in on the Rebels.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Aug. 11.—All the military and police barracks in Cork are burning, according to the report of a government aviator who flew over the Irregular stronghold late yesterday, says a Times despatch from Dublin.

The National troops at that time had consolidated their positions near Passage West, six miles east of Cork, but had not yet investigated the city.

(A Dublin despatch last night said it was officially announced that the National forces had entered Cork.)

The pilot flew over the town at a height of only about two hundred yards. Little rifle fire was directed at him, he reports, much less, in fact, than when he passed over Dungarvan, although the Irregulars have evacuated Dungarvan proper.

NATIONAL FORCES ENTER CORK

(Associated Press Despatch)
DUBLIN, Aug. 11.—National forces entered the city of Cork yesterday, according to an official announcement here yesterday.

BARRACKS BLOWN UP

RECONVENING OF DAIL POSTPONED

HEM IN REBEL FORCES

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Aug. 11.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing his paper on Thursday from the headquarters of the National troops, says:

"An expedition is landing tonight on the Kerry Coast which will close all the gaps and hem the rebels on the Mallow-Fermy-Mitchelstown line, where they must make their last stand. They are many desertions from their ranks."

VARIED REPORTS RECEIVED

(Associated Press Despatch)
DUBLIN, Aug. 11.—Communication with Cork, except by sea, is still impossible, and the exact results of the fighting between the Irregulars and the Provisional Government forces are unknown here. It is variously stated that the Nationals have entered and that they have not entered the city.

There also is divergence as to the extent of the fighting. Some of the wounded brought here on a steamship say the Irregulars were strong posted at Passage West and that the Nationals had to fight their way through under intense fire, a number being wounded and one killed.

They reported that the Government troops who landed at Union Hall also are fighting their way through the hostile districts.

The crew of another vessel arriving from Cork said the Admiralty House and the British Naval Hospital at Queenstown, both of which became familiar to American naval men overseas during the war, were blazing when they left, as well as two other large buildings, in which frequent explosions were heard. It is reported that the Irregulars have evacuated Clonmel.

TWO NON-UNION WORKERS SHOT DOWN; NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE RAILWAY STRIKE SITUATION

Boston and Maine Railroad Reaches an Agreement with Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Men—Men Working for Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway to Take Strike Vote—Chicago Maintenance of Way Men Have Come to Terms.

(Associated Press Despatch)
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11.—Two non-union employees of the New York Central Railroad in its Collingwood roundhouse were shot and killed last night.

The men had been standing on a street corner arguing with a third man, according to the police, when the latter suddenly drew a revolver and began shooting. The assailant escaped.

HAVE REACHED AN AGREEMENT.

(Associated Press Despatch)
BOSTON, Aug. 11.—Clerks, freight handlers and station men in the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad reached an agreement with the railroad management yesterday on working conditions, it was announced last night.

A strike vote was taken recently by these employees. A new agreement, which is to become effective next Monday, will be signed today. According to its terms the Saturday half holiday and certain vacation and sick leave privileges which the men claim they enjoyed prior to recent rulings of the Railroad Labor Board, are restored. The workers' demand for a general wage increase of nine cents an hour was referred to the Labor Board.

STRIKE BALLOT ORDERED.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A strike ballot was ordered taken last night by General Chairman Lavelle, of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers and station employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad. It was announced that five thousand or more employees are concerned. Chairman Lavelle said the strike vote had been ordered on the alleged failure of the Lackawanna officials to recognize the union, and its failure to live up to the wage decision of the Railroad Labor Board effecting freight handlers.

CONFERENCES BEING HELD TODAY

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Serious threats to traffic by the refusal of trainmen to move trains at points where troops are on guard, renewed outbreaks of violence resulting in several deaths and the possibility of walk outs by maintenance of way men employed on various railroads were outstanding features today as leaders and railway clerks gathered for conferences to consider separately ending the strike.

Members of the "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods, upon whom train movement depends, were authorized by their chiefs to suspend work if they consider strike conditions and the presence of soldiers at terminals and junction points "unbearable."

Western divisions of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe were threatened with a tie up of transcontinental trains by the refusal of engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen to operate trains while troops were stationed along the line where outbreaks occurred earlier in the strike.

Moratorium Was Granted To Germany

Stated that Agreement Has Virtually Been Reached on Four Main Points of the Reparations Controversy, and a General Accord Is Now Anticipated.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, Aug. 11.—Germany, says a despatch to the Havas Agency from London this afternoon, will be granted a moratorium until the end of this year.

CABINET SUPPORTS LLOYD GEORGE.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, August 11.—Premier Lloyd George has now secured the full support of his cabinet for whatever policy may have been decided on by the British delegates to the conference on German financial questions.

AGREEMENT VIRTUALLY REACHED.

(Associated Press Despatch)
BRUSSELS, Aug. 11.—According to information received from London this morning, an agreement has virtually been reached on the four main points of the reparations controversy and a general accord is now anticipated, says the French semi-official Havas Agency.

The impression in London is decidedly optimistic and talk of a split has ceased, it adds.

UNCERTAINTY IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Aug. 11.—Uncertainty as to whether today's official session of the Reparations Conference here would result in a reconciliation of the French and British viewpoints sufficient to produce a working agreement prevailed in circles close to the conference as the delegates prepared for the meeting.

Premier Poincare left his hotel for Downing street shortly after nine o'clock for a preliminary conversation with Premier Lloyd George.

Premier Theunys, of Belgium, also attended this early-in-the-day discussion.

The document promised by the British delegates explaining their standpoint in the entire reparations problem, which was in preparation last night, had not yet been delivered to the French when the premiers met for their preliminary discussion. The expectation was that it would be made public after the meeting of the conference proper at eleven o'clock, but that hour came and went without the publication of the document or even a meeting of the conference. The informal conversations participated in by the British, French and Belgian premiers were still in progress.

Premier Theunys was said to be striving his best to effect a rapprochement between the British and the French.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply put two or three tea-spoonsful of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

JOHN L. HODGSON AT UNITED SERVICE IN METHODIST CHURCH.

The united services of the Congregational and Methodist Churches on Sunday next in the Methodist Church Court St. promise to be of exceptional interest. At the morning service the Rev. B.B. Brown will preach on "The Heart Test," discussing the statement of Henry Ward Beecher—"When God measures a man, he puts the tape-line about his heart, and not about his head."

The evening service will have a special significance for boys and parents of sons, inasmuch as Mr. John L. Hodgson, Provincial Boys' Work Secretary, of Montreal, will give an address on "High Ideals." Every young man and boy should hear this. Appropriate music will be given by the choir led by Prof. R. Havard with Mr. E. O. Grundy as organist at both morning and evening services.

HEADLIGHTS IN THE CITY.

Contrary to motor regulations, there are many motorists who insist on turning on their glaring headlights inside the city limits, thereby causing a great deal of inconvenience and increasing the chances for dangerous accidents.

MANY ATTENDED
FUNERAL OF LATE
FRANK B. WILSON

Remains Were Laid to Rest in Elmwood Cemetery Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Frank B. Wilson took place from his late residence on Dominion Avenue yesterday afternoon. Prayers were said at the house at 2.30 p. m. by the Rev. H. R. Bigg, rector of St. Peter's, assisted by the Rev. E. K. Wilson, rector of St. John's Church in Waterville. Following the prayers at the house the service was held in St. Peter's Church. The Rev. H.R. Bigg conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. E. K. Wilson, the Rev. Robert Heron, and the Rev. O. G. Lewis.

The choir sang the hymns, "Rock of Ages," and "Lead Kindly Light," and the Rev. Mr. Wilson read an extract from the scriptures. The Rev. Mr. Bigg led the congregation in prayer. Mr. Blackburn officiated at the organ.

The bearers were all members of the firm of H.C. Wilson and Sons, Ltd., of which the late Mr. Wilson was vice-president. The pall bearers were Messrs. E. W. Farwell, Arthur Fraser, Colonel Spensing, Colonel Penhale, J. A. McKee, and J. P. Wells. The principal mourners were Messrs. Meredith and Lennox Wilson, sons of the late Mr. Wilson, and W. H. Wilson, brother. Interment was made in the Elmwood Cemetery.

A large number of prominent citizens of Sherbrooke attended the funeral, among them being the entire staff of the firm of H.C. Wilson and Sons, Ltd., Messrs. F. N. McCrea, M.P., James MacKinnon, H. R. Fraser, H. D. Lawrence, J. M. Jencks, E. L. Stewart Patterson, Mr. Justice White, Col. T. S. Somers, M. W. Mitchell, L. J. Codere, R. A. Aitken, J. K. Edwards, S. L. Spafford, F. A. Briggs, N. E. Brooks, E. O. Grundy, David Wilson, R. N. Robins, Vernon Spensing, C. O. St. Jean, A. E. Berwick, A. G. Campbell, Colin Campbell, Harry Lacey, James Thompson, Ned Bowen, Allan Bayley, Dr. Spencer, Douglass O'Dell, William Wright, J. A. Tate, A. R. Wilson, A. C. Bissell, J. W. McKee, J. E. Foutre, Forrest Keane, George Bradford, J. C. McConnell, R. A. Ewing, Harry Samson, D. J. Salls, A. A. Norcross, N. Wiggitt, M. Woodard, J. J. Griffith, Stephen Edgell, J. O'Donnell, J. T. gious accidents. A year or two ago, the members of the police force were quite strict in having this regulation enforced, and many a motorist was requested to turn off his headlights and burn his dimmers.

Many cars pass to and fro with blinding lights and even the traffic cops allow them to go their way, without a word of reprimand, it is claimed.

It is commonly acknowledged that the law concerning the use of dimmers in a city, is a safe and sane law, and many in this community think that strict regulation of this ought to be enforced immediately.

PROPERTY TRANSFERRED TO DAY.

It is understood that the deeds of transfer, in connection with the Old Cemetery property on Belvidere Street, are being executed today. By this transfer the Canadian Brake-shoe Company, Ltd., which was recently associated with an amalgamation of the Holden interests, secures a valuable site, immediately next to their present works, and current reports are that important industrial extensions are anticipated.

AN AID TO TRAFFIC COPS.

During the periods of heavy traffic, a casual observer will notice that instead of a separation of traffic, congestion often results at the busy corners. There seems to be a tendency for the traffic to attempt turning in parallel lines and there has been much confusion and even some narrow escapes from accidents. This state of affairs is especially true on the corner of Wellington and King. It has been suggested that the city purchase one or two "Go" and "Stop" signs, of the type that is used in larger cities. There can be only one interpretation from these signs and much of the present trouble might be eliminated. Crossing lines might also be made at the junction of Wellington and King and motorists would have a definite place to come to a stop while waiting for the signal. This would also be advantageous for the police in that they would have a better opportunity of keeping the traffic widely separated. In the larger cities, motorists who slip across the traffic lines, without permission, are treated with the greatest of severity.

INCREASE IN REVENUE RECEIPTS.

The Department of Customs and Inland Revenue of Canada, for the port of Sherbrooke, reports that the revenue derived from the import duty for the month of July amounted to the sum of $31,461.21. This is a slight increase from the amount of receipts for the month of June, which totalled $31,084.92.

The revenue derived from the excise tax amounted to $61,769.11 in July an increase of $3,552.02 over the returns for June.

The excise duty for the month of July amounted to $3,696.59 as compared with the amount of $3,150.45 for the month of June.

DRUMMONDVILLE

Tuesday evening the grounds and gardens of Grantham Hall were the scene of a delightful fête in aid of the repairs and general purposes of St. George's (Anglican) Church. About two hundred dollars was received as the result of the efforts put forth by the rector, the Rev. F. Franklin-Watson, and the wardens, Messrs. Tanner and R. S. Fisk, ably assisted by a committee of ladies, who disposed of many appetizing things. Mrs. R. S. Fisk and Miss Edith Houston distributed hope and joy and fear to numerous wistful maidens and amorous swains from their gipsy tent at the entrance to the rose garden. The orchestra of the Jencks Canadian Co., led by Superintendent Hallin, played for dancing between eight and ten o'clock, and the Drummondville Town Band, with Mr. Ringnet as leader, rendered a varied programme. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Harter are to be sincerely thanked for permitting the use of their beautiful grounds, and their manager, Mr. John Kirkpatrick, for his efforts

BRIDGE BREAKS
UNDER WEIGHT OF BIG TRUCK

Traffic Held Up by Bridge Collapsing Near Eastman.

(Special to the Record)
EASTMAN, Aug. 11.—At about five o'clock last night, the bridge that crosses the Rodgers Brook, about three-quarters of a mile outside of Eastman, collapsed under the weight of a truck carrying gravel for the construction of the new Montreal-Sherbrooke highway.

The truck, which was a three-ton one, was heavily loaded with gravel, and the driver, as he started across the bridge, which is about twenty feet long and fifteen feet wide, heard the structure giving way. He immediately put on full speed and succeeded in keeping his vehicle from crashing through to the brook below.

In consequence of this collapse, the traffic in both directions was turned back for a good many hours, but temporary repairs have been made and the road is once more passable.

LARGE SHIPS IN
THREE RIVERS

No Lives Were Lost, But Both Ships Are Aground on Sand Bars.

(Associated Press Despatch)
THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 11.—The French cargo vessel Indo-Chino, enroute from New York to Montreal, collided at one-fifty this morning off Three Rivers with the Norwegian cargo vessel Sarmatia, going down the river. No lives were lost but both ships are aground on sand bars and the ships will have to be towed, the Indo-Chino to Montreal and the Sarmatia to Quebec, for repairs.

The Berthier rushed to the aid of the steamers from Sorel and arrived here this morning at eight o'clock. The McKinnac was already on the scene of the disaster. The first mate, Gage, of the Indo-Chino, related to the representative of the Canadian Press the particulars of the collision.

"The fog on the river was very dense and there was also heavy clouds of smoke," he said. "We were going very slowly when at two hundred metres we suddenly saw before the flank of a steamer. It was too late for signals and the prow of the Indo-Chino caught the Sarmatia amidships, causing a large hole above water."

"Everybody was soon on deck on both ships, but it was quickly ascertained that there was no danger of sinking."

"We left New York on August 3rd, for Montreal, where we were to take a cargo of wheat for the French Government in the Indo-Chino."

At a later date the Farmers' Club, of Missisquoi County, invited the Institute ladies to join them in a picnic to Venice Point at the Bay on August 3rd. The distance probably was the big obstacle. At any rate not many of the "W. I.'s" attended.

A good programme is being arranged by the members of the Stanbridge East branch. Each branch is to contribute one item. Three prizes will be awarded in each class.

FRANK B. WILSON.

Citizens generally will regret the passing away of Frank B. Wilson, though this relief comes to him after a long period of illness. The late Mr. Wilson, one of Sherbrooke's leading business men, public spirited and of genial disposition, had many friends who will long hold him in pleasant memory. His work on behalf of the Sherbrooke Fair, and particularly in connection with the poultry division, has contributed very considerably to the success of this institution. Only a little past middle life he has been removed in the midst of his usefulness. In passing on he leaves behind him a record of good citizenship.

ECONOMIC SANITY.

The New York World sees return to economic sanity in Europe because "France has acknowledged the necessity of a revision of the reparations, and Great Britain has acknowledged the necessity of a revision on inter-allied debts." But this is not by any means getting at the root of the matter, for until Germany, Russia, and other nations stop flooding Europe with cheap paper money there will have to be revision after revision of both reparations and inter-allied debts.

In the immediate problems of Europe Germany's cheap money is of greatest importance. It is also at the bottom of Germany's financial troubles, and the worst of the matter is Germany appears to be unable to get away from it, even if she wants to. Sooner or later her desires will be learned, as under the terms of the proposed moratorium her finances will be under supervision of the representatives of the Council of Nations. She may not have fully appreciated what such supervision might mean to her, but Germany cannot back out now.

In a measure France has a similar problem on account of the depreciation of the franc. While France has printed less paper money, and to greater degree than Germany has endeavored to maintain some reasonable relation between paper and gold, the value of the franc is causing her serious concern, disturbing as it does her internal affairs as well as her trade relations with other countries. France is wrong, however, in holding that the franc is influenced by the mark, however much this may be employed in French retail trade.

When Europe gets back to honest money it will have returned to economic sanity and not before. Revisions in other directions will be but subterfuges and of no permanent result.

DIGNIFYING LABOR.

Alfred Victor du Pont, disinherited son of Alfred I. du Pont, one of the forty richest men in the United States, says he may go to work. Manual labor will not hurt him and it may help him as it has helped hundreds of other young men, some of whom are now included among the fortunate forty. The situation is regrettable only because he says "I may" instead of "I will."

Many people believe that a time will come when no one will be willing to do manual labor. They say we compel native and immigrant workers to send their children to school and that we educate them above the tasks their parents perform. The children these people say, not only will do no manual work themselves but actually despise all who work with their hands.

Conditions in this respect, however, are improving, year by year. The demand for labor has been lessened by the development of machinery. We no longer use men as beasts of burden and work which formerly required only brute strength now demands a certain amount of skill and training. Position in society has improved in proportion to acceptance of obligations and application of better living conditions. The well-to-do young man of this generation thinks nothing of shaving himself, or even repairing and cleaning his own automobile, but a man in a similar position fifty years ago would have thought it degrading to do similar work.

In an economic situation in which some have many advantages and many have few, there is bound to be an idea of caste among those who do not think deeply. The army which won the World War helped to counteract this idea. The "soft jobs" were not all held by rich young men, nor were those in the front line trenches there for the lack of prestige and influence. Boys brought up in favored surroundings marched and fought side by side with hucksters, and many of the friendships and associations formed then were lasting.

RURAL FOLK LIVE LONGER.

The department of commerce in the United States, through the bureau of census is issuing a publication embracing life tables derived from births, deaths and populations. These show conditions as they existed through three decades and make possible the study of changes in mortality at virtually all ages is higher in men than in women. It appears that the most favorable mortality among women is found among those living in rural districts. Then, too, the rural classes, regardless of sex, enjoy a much lower mortality for almost the entire range of life than those living in the cities. Another important finding which these tables reveal is that while the expectation of life of both men and women has steadily increased, there is no definite indication of the lengthening of the span of life. While almost all classes are living to a greater average age, the limit of human life does not appear to have been advanced. There has been a general improvement for all classes up to about forty for men and fifty for women. After these ages there has been no improvement.

The finding in regard to women living in rural districts combats an idea that has been entertained to some extent. There have been walls over the "hard lot" of farmers' wives, but these figures show that whatever their state it is not a killing one. It is certain that if their condition were not agreeable they would not live so long. They may be short of help themselves and have to cook for help on the farm at times, but it must be a pleasant life, else they would not hold the record for longevity compared with women, or men either, in the cities. The higher average life generally means that it has been learned how to save more of the babies, and, also, we know better how to avoid disease when maturity is reached. But with all that we have learned and with what we practice the human body wears out about the same time it always did.

One hundred years is the limit of the most vigorous and few live so long. By care we may live longer than the average, but by no forethought may we live longer than the body is capable of enduring, and that is not far from a century in the most extreme cases.

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

August 11, 1922.

The Vintners of Vevay.

Of the thousands of Americans who are seeing the Oberammergau Passion Play this year, only a handful, comparatively speaking, are likely to pause today in Vevay, Switzerland. But those who do will be rewarded by seeing the procession of the Vine-growers, a ceremonial held at irregular intervals since 1536.

The vintners keep up the festivities, indeed, all week, and today sees their culmination. With blare of trumpet and flourish of arms, something over a thousand performers will march. Bacchus, of course, will be there with his train, as will Ceres and Peles.

Members of the confraternity of vintners are clad in Louis Quatorze costumes, and the Swiss guards, in their red and white uniforms, lend a military air to the occasion. It had its beginning in the necessity for an annual inspection of the vineyards just preparatory to annual harvesting. But the business aspect, occurs to few nowadays. All is splendor and display. The procession of the vintners of Vevay is not held every year, and is not so widely heralded as many other European midsummer pageants.

Everybody seems to have the inalienable right to quit work except Mother.

Vacations would be rather nice if we had sense enough to stay at home and enjoy them.

Transportation rates should come down again. Coal is a big item of expense, and that is being eliminated.

We can forgive Noah for getting drunk, but we can never forgive his failure to take a swatter aboard.

Still, isn't it rather unethical for strikers to hold up trains and usurp the rights of the regular hold-up men?

Why fret about strikes? They have warm winters in California and Florida, and the old jitney doesn't burn coal.

PRESS COMMENT

WHERE RESTRAINT IS NEEDED.

(Buffalo Express.) It is equally necessary to restrain those coal operators who are inclined to jump prices and those panicky buyers who are beginning to offer high prices.

VALUE OF A WOOD LOT.

(Louisville Courier Journal.) A wood lot on every farm, maintained under the rules of scientific forestry, drawn upon for fuel annually, would make about half of the population of America wholly independent of the coal miners and the coal mine operators in the matter of keeping the home fires burning.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL.

(Christian Science Monitor.) It falls to the lot of relatively few to see the dreams of their youth vindicated so completely as was the case with Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone. It is true his invention leaped so far beyond his primitive practical conception that he has himself explained that he did not fully understand many of the instrumentalities used at the present day in the perfected instruments, but he has also related how, when a mere boy, he dreamed of the millions of miles of wire that now exist.

EXPENSIVE EDUCATION.

(Victoria Colonist.) If the growing expensive processes of elementary education are really so essential as claimed, then there should be a very marked difference in the intellectual development and equipment of the modern product of the schools, as compared with that of half or three-quarters of a century ago. It is rather obvious, however, that there is no such marked difference; that, indeed, from the point of view of intellectual initiative, resources and breadth of vision, there is often claimed to be an actual decline, apparently due to the excessively close following up of the modern pupil by swarms of teachers, with thought economizing instead of thought stimulating instruments and processes.

GLADNESS AND WORK.

(Kingston Standard.) Work is often hard, trying, dreary and weary—if it be allowed to become so. There is, however, one short sentence which can remove all this. We met a man yesterday who said he had done no work for two years through illness, and he went on: "It is very hard work doing nothing." Again, there are men who can find no work to do, though fortunately their numbers are decreasing. Consider these cases, and does not the short sentence, "I am glad I can do it," remove the drudgery and the hardness, and the weariness of work? Use it as a charm, and see how it works.

Some Things I Don't Like About The Home Town

Dear Old Home Town:

You'll forgive me, won't you, if I write you about a few of the failings I think you have. True, you have many virtues and many good points, and there are very many reasons why I love you dearly, but just now I am going to very frank with you and tell you the things I don't like about you.

I don't like your climate in the winter time very well, but that is your misfortune, not your fault.

In the summer time I don't like the absence of flowers in the parks, in the grass plots where the streets intersect. I would like to see quantities of bright colored flowers growing in every available space. Color does people a heap of good, just try it and see.

I don't like the apathy that seems to exist in regard to the Public Library. I would like to see a real live committee in charge who would have that project boomed. Why should not the revenue which is so badly needed be increased by making the nominal charge for books, the same as in other places, instead of the present abnormal low rate of one-half cent per day. A rousing good library is an asset to any community.

I don't like the inferior reels brought here much of the time by the movie men. I think the public should demand better pictures. It is a mistake to be too easily satisfied. Even the chronic kicker is of more use in the community than the too apathetic man who doesn't bother himself to take any interest whatsoever.

Stir yourselves, good people, in my home town and never be satisfied until you have the best there is.

I don't like the air of "smugness" that often surrounds our City Councilors—an air of "we're good enough, why bother to improve." It would be a mighty good thing if they could look around the world a bit and see what other folks are doing and then take for their new password "Progress," for there's no mistake, town o' my heart, you do need to progress a bit.

I don't like the lack of enterprise. Why doesn't some good business syndicate get busy and make of this place a charming summer resort. Advertise it far and wide, and let people know about it. Have a good casino or dance pavilion with a first class restaurant built at the terminus of one of the car lines. "Supply creates demand," they say. Create a supply of a good time, and there will be plenty of demand for it. Still, no matter how energetic the business syndicate, or how progressive the City Fathers, there must be a personal civic pride.

Let every man, who can, that owns a house, keep it freshly painted and in order, and let every man and woman, who lives in any house, take a personal pride in keeping the surroundings trim and orderly, and I am sure that the day is not far distant when this town of mine will be known as a Model City. In the meantime, with all thy faults, I love thee still.

FINE CONCERT WAS GIVEN BY W.A. AT HATLEY

Very Enjoyable Programme Was Presented — Other General News from Hatley District.

HATLEY, Que., August 11. — Although the weather conditions were not wholly favorable on Friday evening, Foresters' Hall was well filled with a representative gathering, not only from the home community but also by an influx from the surrounding towns and villages, both for the purpose of a few hours entertainment and to assist financially the Women's Auxiliary in connection with St. James' Church. The duties of the chair were filled by the Rev. I. N. Kerr, who gave a brief resume of the aim and work of the W. A. throughout Quebec Diocese. It may lend a touch of interest that the lines of the opening chorus of welcome were written for the occasion by Mrs. McDougall, under whose competent direction the event was brought to so successful an issue. The several items which followed were creditably rendered, more especially as the amount of time devoted to preparation had been comparatively short. One of the most charming little items was a dance "The Butterfly and Fairy" was cleverly executed by Jean Mearns and Joan Herrick, the young nieces of Mrs. (Rev.) Kerr, while the fantastic garb and general conception of a Gypsy, in the airy and graceful dancing of Miss Grace McDougall, was faithfully carried out, portraying the happy and carefree life of these wandering nomads. In the song, "Because," Miss Ruth McDougall's voice, which gives promise of a rich contralto of extensive range, was heard to much advantage.

Equally a favorite at home and abroad Mrs. F. O. Webster was perhaps at her best in the encore recitation, "The Goblins 'I Get You, if You Don't Watch Out.'" The National Anthem closed an evening of both pleasure and profit as the net receipts, amounting to nearly $50 will give a decided impulse to the activities of the Hatley W. A.

A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. H. Mousley and seconded by Mr. H. H. Brown, was afterwards given Mrs. McDougall for her interest and assistance in this connection, to which a fitting reply was made.

The programme was:—
1. Chorus, "Welcome."
2. Pianoforte Duet, Mrs. and Miss G. McDougall.
3. Tableau, "Rock of Ages," Miss Nellie Birch.
4. Song, "Because," Miss Ruth McDougall.
5. Dance, "The Butterfly and Fairy," Miss Jean Mearns and Miss Joan Herrick.
6. Song, "When Father Papared the Parlor," Mr. Pammenter.
7. Address, Rev. I. N. Kerr.
8. Tableau, "Coming and Going of Mother-in-law."
9. Vocal Duet, "Old Virginny," Miss Poole and Miss G. McDougall.
10. Recitation, "Them Oxen," Mrs. F. Webster.
11. Song, "The Bluebird," Mr. F. Webster.
12. Gypsy Dance, Miss G. McDougall.
13. Song, "Less than the Dust," Miss R. McDougall.
14. Chorus, "God Save The King."

FRENCH CATTLE AT CAP ROUGE

No Other Herd Can Boast a Larger Proportion of Record of Performance Females.

The herd of French-Canadian Cattle at the Cap Rouge, Que., Experimental Station, may not be the largest in existence today, though it numbers about sixty head of registered animals, but no other herd can boast a larger proportion of record of performance females. There is not a cow having passed two periods of lactation which cannot do so. This rigid rule, however, has not eliminated many heifers, in latter years, as practically every one of them qualifies.

This herd was built up since 1911, and a few important lessons were learnt in building it up. One of them was that it is impossible to do constructive work without having and keeping the animals in first class health. How can a cow be a heavy producer if she has not the full vigor required to give large quantities of milk? How can a number of females be regular reproducers if contagious abortion is present in the herd? How can strong heifers be raised if calf scours sap their vitality when young? It may thus well be said that no constructive breeding can be done unless healthy animals are used.

Another lesson which was brought distinctly to light is that it is impossible to improve the milking qualities of dairy cattle, however good the females may be, unless the sires are out of heavy producers. When starting the Cap Rouge herd, a magnificent looking bull was bought, one that could have won at all the shows, and moreover an animal which, according to ordinary standards, was of milk? How can a number of females be regular reproducers if contagious abortion is present in the herd? How can strong heifers be raised if calf scours sap their vitality when young? It may thus well be said that no constructive breeding can be done unless healthy animals are used.

Three of the four herd bulls were dropped at Cap Rouge, the sire of two of them and the dams of all these have qualified for Record of Performance. And the regularity with which heifers qualify show that breeding really counts. Now that the quantity of milk has been increased, other traits, such as percentage of fat, conformation and size, will be attended to, though the writer believes that one at a time is enough to satisfy the ambition of any good breeder.

With the present tendency everywhere to buy milk according to fat content, the little French Canadian cow will come to her own, of course; in localities where other breeds have been used for a long time, it would be better to continue the improvement with bulls out of higher testing cows of the same breed, but in places where stock has been mixed or is mostly scrubby, it is sure that bulls of the French Canadian breed, known for its easy keeping qualities and the rich milk of its cows, will be a paying proposition. Such bulls are for sale at reasonable prices and may be had by applying to

MUSHROOMS ARE SOMETIMES OF A DEADLY NATURE

Descriptions of Two Deadly Species of Mushroom.

Mushrooms and toadstools are included under the collective term "fungi." There is a widespread misapprehension concerning these characters of the fleshy fungi. The public generally classifies them under two main divisions—toadstools and mushrooms—the latter only being considered edible, and embracing the several varieties of the mushroom commonly exposed for sale, and found in fields during the late summer and fall. All varieties outside of these are popularly called toadstools, and avoided as being poisonous. The question is frequently asked, how can one distinguish a "mushroom" from a "toadstool." There are hundreds of kinds of mushrooms, most of which are edible, and but a few are poisonous. It is then a question of how to distinguish the edible from the poisonous species. All so-called "tests" such as peeling, discoloration of a spoon and so forth are mythical, and afford no guarantee. The best method of knowing them is to study their characteristics one by one, starting with a common variety, having this identified by one who knows it, and then continue one's studies as opportunity offers. It is strongly advised to leave severely alone all kinds about which there is any uncertainty. Many mushrooms are nauseating to some persons, but prove harmless to others, while many are edible, but of poor flavor, or too small to be of any use.

Unfortunately, popular works on fungi are not common, but several reliable works are available to the student who wishes to acquaint himself with the subject, as for instance, "One Thousand American Fungi," McIlwaine, Bobbs Merrill Co.; "Mushrooms, edible and otherwise," Hard, Ohio Library Co.; "Mushrooms," Atkinson-Henry Colt & Co.; "The Agaricaceae of Michigan," C. H. Kauffman, Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford Co.

In a short article it is not possible even to describe the commonest edible varieties such as Fairy Ring (Marasmius oreades), Shaggy Mane (Coprinus comatus), Ink Cap (Coprinus atramentarius), and the ordinary field mushroom (Agaricus campestris). The two following deadly poisonous ones are described and should be thoroughly known before anyone ever takes to eating wild mushrooms.

The Fly Agaric (Amanita muscaria)—This is a very conspicuous mushroom, not resembling any other variety in the whole range of mushrooms. The cap is large, from 4-6 inches, rounded at first, then nearly plane; surface, when fresh, slightly viscid. Its color is subject to great variations, ranging from orange-red to yellow or almost white; the yellow color being more common. The margin of cap in mature plants is marked with radiating lines or markings. The surface is covered with thick, angular, persistent scales, and easily removed; flesh white. The gills are free, reaching the stem. Color whitish, rarely becoming yellow. Stem 4-8 inches long, shining white or pale yellowish, becoming hollow, enlarged at base into a conspicuous bulb, marked by prominent, concentric, irregular rings. There is a ring or collar on the stem, very soft, large, white. The Fly Amanita is easily identified on account of its scaly cap, brilliantly colored; large ring, and bulbous hinged base. It occurs along roadsides, wood-margins and open woods, generally from June till frost.

The other deadly plant—Amanita phalloides, or Death Cup—is 3-4 inches broad, commonly shining white or yellowish, but may be grey or brown, olive to umber. It is viscid when moist, smooth, oval, and finally extended the margin is even, not marked; flesh white, not objectionable to taste, gills free from stem, largest at the middle, while the stem is 5-8 inches long, generally hollow, white. The base of the stem is inserted in a semi-free white cup-shaped covering called a volva. It is of common occurrence from July to October, in woods, groves, and along borders or woods. It resembles somewhat the common field mushroom, but a slight examination will disclose in the field mushroom the dark-colored gills and their absence of the cup at the base of the stem. A. Phalloides is the most dangerous of all fungi and is responsible for most of the deaths resulting from eating mushrooms. Ten to fifteen hours may elapse before symptoms of poisoning may appear. No antidote has been found. A safe rule is to avoid eating all mushrooms having white gills, a ring on the stem, and a volva at the base of stem, combined in the same plant. (W. O. Odell, Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm.)

RECENT INVENTIONS OF INTEREST TO EASTERN TOWNSHIPS FARMERS

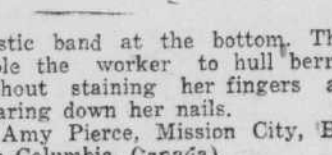

(By C. J. Lynde, Macdonald College, Que.)

BERRY BOX HOLDERS
This device is a shell which is strapped to the picker and holds the ordinary berry box. It enables the picker to use both hands and to remove the full boxes easily; also it serves as a hopper to guide the fruit into the box and to keep it there. (Paul I. Andrews, Kennebunk, Maine.)

FRUIT HULLERS
These hullers are thimbles made of thin sheet metal with an imitation finger nail at the top and an elastic band at the bottom. They enable the worker to hull berries without staining her fingers and wearing down her nails. (Amy Pierce, Mission City, British Columbia, Canada.)

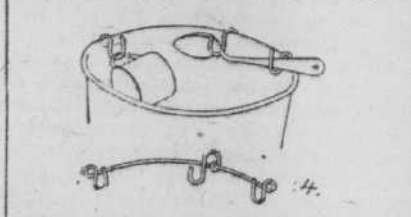

FRUIT JAR HOLDER
Fruit jars placed directly on the bottom of the sterilizing vessel in the process of canning are liable to be cracked by bumping because steam is formed under them. If they are placed in these holders, however, the water circulates, no steam is formed, and no bumping occurs. (Thomas G. Melish, Cincinnati, Ohio.)

CUP AND SPOON HOLDER
One annoyance met with in canning fruit is that the spoons and cups used drip juice over the stove or floor.

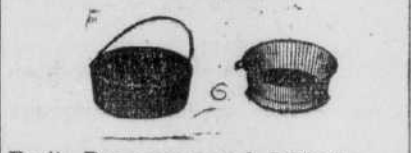

This simple holder prevents this. It is made of stout wire and is readily bent to fit vessels of different sizes. (Minnie A. Owen, Charlottetown, P. E. I., Canada.)

FRUIT BASKET COVER
This cover is held on without the use of metal hooks. It is prevented from moving endwise by the cross slats near the handle and from lifting by the elastic pressure of the handle against its sides. It is released by pressing down on the handle to spring its legs apart. (John B. Kenny, Geneva, N. Y.)

THE GRADING OF PUREBRED RAMS PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY FOR BIG FIELD DAY

Purpose of Work Is to Encourage Replacement of Undesirable Stock by Purebreds.

The grading of purebred rams, which was conducted by the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture a year ago, will be continued again this year. The purpose of work of this nature is to encourage the replacement of undesirable stock by purebreds of certified quality. It also provides a medium whereby a prospective buyer may secure a ram from a previously known breeder with full assurance that he will receive the type which he may desire. Breeders who had their rams graded last year have commented favorably on this policy as having facilitated the sale of their surplus breeding stock at remunerative prices.

The demand for purebred rams of the Down breeds is increasing rapidly in the province of Quebec. This year indications are that even more will be required. There are only a limited number of purebred flocks in the province, but yet there are breeders of good stock who are unknown in the buying public. Last year it was necessary to secure nearly fifty per cent. of the rams bought from outside the province.

Breeders wishing to take advantage of having their rams graded should apply immediately to Mr. Oscar Lessard, Parliament Buildings, Quebec, P.Q. An expert will be employed for grading and will visit each farmer who makes application before August 15th. The rams are graded only into two classes. For each ram graded and tattooed as three stars the Provincial Department of Agriculture gives a bonus of $3. For each of the second grade designated as two star rams, a bonus of $2 is paid. All others are recommended for slaughter.

THE MISSISQUOI FARMERS HELD GOOD PICNIC

Many in Attendance and Good Addresses Delivered—Clarenceville General Notes.

CLARENCEVILLE, Aug. 11.—The Farmers' Clubs and Co-operatives of the County of Missisquoi held their first annual picnic on August 3rd at Missisquoi Bay. It was a glorious day and over three hundred people gathered together to participate in this event. There was also a band in attendance. The picnic was declared open, when the president of the Federation of Farmers' Clubs of the county, Mr. G. R. Struthers, delivered the opening address. There were also many other excellent speakers on the programme and interesting talks were given both in French and English.

Mr. Kay, the federal member, spoke on the good that the farmers' clubs were doing throughout the county, while Mr. J. B. Martin, of Toronto, delivered an interesting talk on the livestock industry, explaining the difference on the mag-

PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY FOR BIG FIELD DAY

Expected that Many Farmers Will Be in Attendance on Wednesday—Prominent Speakers.

Every indication points to another banner field day at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm on Wednesday, August 16th, as the officials in charge have already received numerous letters from prominent agriculturists and others signifying their intention of being present, among whom are Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa; Mr. E. S. Archibald, Director Experimental Farms, Ottawa; Mr. Grenier, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Quebec, as well as other prominent local men.

It is hoped every farmer and his family are making plans to be present at this gathering in order to keep in close touch with each other and to have an opportunity of discussing different agricultural problems together.

The Women's Institutes are co-operating as usual in order to make this field day as instructive and pleasant as possible for the ladies. Miss Roach, who is so well known all over the Eastern Townships, and is head of the Institute work in this province, will be present and will give a practical talk on farm homes. The Institutes are planning to have a refreshment booth as usual. There will be a programme of sports on the lawn for the boys and girls as usual, in which it is hoped the young people will all take part. The Lennoxville band will be in attendance.

ket of well-finished stock and poorly-finished stock.

Mr. J. P. Reddy, whose work as county agronomist is well known throughout the county, spoke in both French and English, and Mr. C. F. Millard, secretary of the Noyan Co-operative Agricultural Association, urged those present to support the farmers' organizations and help the officials in their work. Mrs. George Beach, of Cowansville, president of the Women's Institute, also addressed the gathering.

Races and other sports were held during the day and all present declared the first annual picnic of the farmers of Missisquoi a great success.

GREAT VALUE IN EGG LAYING COMPETITIONS

Contests Scheduled to Commence in Each Province on November 1st.

The Federal Department of Agriculture, through the Experimental Farm's branch, is operating ten egg-laying contests at the present time. A laying contest is located in each province and the competition is restricted to residents within the province itself. The Canadian contest is conducted on the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa and is open to the world. Each contest begins November 1st and continues for fifty-two weeks. Ten birds constitute a pen.

Egg-laying contests are valuable in that they show the relative value of different breeds of poultry to produce eggs and also show where the best strains of these breeds can be found. As the birds are all given the same care and attention and a careful record kept of the number of eggs laid by each individual in every pen one can tell the value of the strain as well as that of the individual bird within the pen. The pen that is composed of ten good producers is much more valuable than the breeding standpoint than one that has one or two outstanding birds, some good producers and three or four poor producers.

High production, coupled with uniformity throughout the pen, is the ultimate object of the breeder of bred-to-lay birds, and the only way to attain this end is to practice the breeding of high producers. Certificates of production are issued to birds according to merit, and by breeding these females to males of desirable breeding the egg production of the flocks should be very materially increased.

The securing of the high-producing females is but the first step in this breeding work. Realizing the need of more advanced work along the line of poultry breeding the Department of Agriculture is about to undertake the work of issuing registration certificates to birds of high production. The egg-laying contests serve as a medium through which registration can be obtained. By breeding males from registered females to females with official records that are registered also, we hope to be able to very greatly increase the production of the poultry flocks throughout Canada.

As weekly reports of the eggs produced by each pen are issued for each contest, the person who wishes to purchase eggs or stock can tell at a glance where the best-producing strains can be secured. By comparing these reports from year to year any person can pick out the breeders who are doing the consistent breeding work. To breeders who make a high yearly average, even though they are not necessarily leading, the person who wishes to purchase good stock can be almost sure of getting birds of a good laying strain.

Farmers and poultrymen generally believe that laying hens produce more eggs when given free range. The laying contests prove that this belief is not well founded. A pen of White Leghorns in the Canadian contest in 1920-21 laid 2,255 eggs, and in the present Canadian contest a pen of the same breed have 1,844 eggs at the end of the thirty-seventh week (July 17th). In the British Columbia contest a pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks had 1,859 eggs at the end of the thirty-sixth week. All the above birds were under strict confinement. Five birds in the Canadian contest laid every day during the ninth four-week period (June 18th and to July 10th), and the winning bird in the Ontario contest had twenty-eight eggs to her credit for the same period. Thus the laying contests show that birds in strict confinement can and do produce eggs in large quantities. The objects of the laying contests are to assist poultry breeders in bettering their breeding stock along egg-producing lines; to demonstrate the producing ability of different strains and different breeds of hens and build up a larger and better industry.

"A MAN OF HIS WORD"

By Ruby M. Ayers.

CHAPTER XXIII

"Diamonds, Jean?" he asked jerkily. "Yes...if you like..." She heard him draw a quick breath.

"You know what I mean, Jean..." "Yes...yes...I know..." She felt a little giddy and faint, and yet deep down in her heart there was a sort of relief that it was over at last as she followed him into the shop.

James stood by silently while he asked to see some diamond rings; she knew that the shop assistant shot a swift, interested look at her, but for the moment she was incapable of realising anything beyond the fact that, after all, nothing had happened to prevent it, and that she was really and truly engaged to Gavin Dawson.

Afterwards everything seemed blurred and indistinct. Jean had vague recollections of going into many shops and of Gavin buying her heaps of things she did not want; vague recollections of sitting opposite to him in the corner of a select and very expensive tea-room, and of him holding her hand when the waitress was not looking, and even once kissing it under cover of a tall palm that screened them from the rest of the room.

She was wearing the diamond ring now; it hung heavily on her slim finger. The stones caught the reflection of the pink-shaded lights all around them and winked and blinked like knowing eyes.

"I've never been so happy in all my life," Gavin said again and again. "Not even down in Osterway. Have you, Jean?"

She smiled. "You've taking my breath away. Gavin, you must have spent a dreadful lot of money."

He laughed recklessly. "I'd have spent more if you'd let me; I'm so happy, I want to give you the moon. Jean, this is the most wonderful Christmas...What will they say when we tell them all? Do you think they will be very surprised?"

"I don't know..." "I should think everyone must have seen what was coming," he declared happily. "I know I should have done...Jean—I am just longing to kiss you..."

"I'm afraid you can't," she told him, trying to laugh. "And—need we tell anybody—tonight—Gavin?"

His face fell. "I shan't be happy till they all know that you belong to me. Why do you want to put it off, dearest?" "I don't know; tell them if you like."

"O'Neil won't be very pleased, will he?" "I don't know..." She wondered how many times she had answered with those same three words; she tried to think of something else to say, but her brain seemed to have forgotten everything else.

"I always had my own ideas on the subject of your 'grim griffin,'" Gavin went on lightly. "Jean—if the truth could be known, I believe he was rather sweet on you himself."

She shrank a little at the expression on her cheeks flushed. "Oh me! Mr. O'Neil. Why, we were never civil to one another..." "Very likely; but sometimes—I've seen the way he looks at you."

"He never looks at me at all unless he is wishing he could hit me," she said stiltedly. She wondered Robin had bought Pansy a Christmas present...

"Anyway, we don't want to talk about him," she added quickly. Gavin agreed.

"I never cared for the fellow," he said. "But we won't talk about him...Have you finished your tea? If I, I think we ought to be going; Mrs. Fisher was very anxious for us all to be back early, if you remember."

"Yes," She began pulling on her gloves; she was glad when the very new ring was hidden, but she could still feel it—a weight on her finger. Gavin hailed a taxi when they were out in the street; he bundled all their purchases on to the small seat; he himself sat down beside Jean. He put an arm around her as soon as the cab started.

"Kiss me, dearest, kiss me; I've been so patient."

She turned her face obediently enough. He had been good to her; she must be good to him. She kept on telling herself this, but her soft mouth felt hard beneath his kisses. After a moment he released her.

"You don't love me as I love you," he said suddenly. She laid a hand on his arm.

"You're so impatient; you must give me time, Gavin."

In the darkness she passed a hand across her mouth; she wished she could wipe out the memory—the touch—of his lips.

"I answered readily. 'He didn't mean to hurt you, but—' I love you so much, Jean."

"You're much too good to me," she told him. He held her hand. Suddenly Jean spoke:

"Gavin...do you remember my telling you that if I married before I was of age...without...without Mr. O'Neil's consent...that I—I should lose my money?" she asked.

"Well—well—I never had any money to lose," said Jean quiveringly.

He kissed the hand he held. "I knew that."

She drew back a little. "You knew?"

"Yes. Mrs. Fisher told me that day I came up in the train with her from Osterway," he said unthinkingly.

"Mrs. Fisher?" Jean felt herself turning cold; her quick mind had sped back to that day—and the following day—when she had waited alone at Euston.

Had that been the reason?—had that...She could not bear to think of it.

She tried only to remember that since, at any rate, he had been willing to marry her; only too eager to marry her; and that now he was rich and she was poor, he was still longing to shower his riches at her feet. But she could not forget that night in the fog at Euston; her own desolution and fear—the way he had failed her.

But for O'Neil, what would she have done? How much she had to thank him for.

Her eyes smarted with tears she kept resolutely back; her hand lay limply in Dawson's clasp.

They were nearing Lillian's house, and suddenly she remembered that she had yet to tell him—to ask him for the money with which to repay Symons. She roused herself with an effort.

New Fire Bill Meets with Approval of Fire Marshals' Association.

(Associated Press Despatch) VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11.—A draft of the proposed personal liability for fire bill was read and approved at the annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals here yesterday.

The act, which will come into force sixty days after receiving royal assent, will be adopted by every Province of the Dominion. The purpose of the act is to enable fire departments to recover the cost of extinguishing fires from persons who, through criminal negligence, are responsible.

Canada's consumption of matches averaged twelve a head of population a day, and fifteen per cent of Canada's fire loss was due to careless use of matches, declared G. F. Lewis, Deputy Fire Marshal for Ontario.

Moving picture films also came under discussion at the convention.

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—In the course of a quarrel arising out of domestic troubles, John Kirkpatrick, sixty-six years old, of Ottawa street, was struck repeatedly with a hammer over the head by William Dibble, thirty-eight years old, a boarder at Kirkpatrick's house.

Kirkpatrick suffered a fractured skull and died shortly afterwards. Dibble, who is being held as a material witness by the police, said he struck Kirkpatrick in self-defence, the latter being about to assault him with a wooden pole.

NEVER BEFORE HAVE TONG MEN CALLED POLICE

Three Arrests Made in Connection with Murder of Tong Chief in New York.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Three Chinamen, Tom Yee, James Chuck, and Harry Wong, are being held as material witnesses in connection with the killing of Ko Low, president of the Hip Sing Tong, as he stepped from the doorway of a restaurant in Chinatown on Monday night.

Wise men of Chinatown blinked in the nearest Asiatic approach to surprise yesterday as they told in sing-song phrases of the arrest of the three men, for identification of the prisoners to the police was made by members of the Tong whose chief was killed. The legend of Chinatown has never before recorded an occasion when Tong men called on the police for revenge for the death of one of their number.

NUMBER OF INMATES IN PENITENTIARIES DOUBLE THAT OF YEAR 1913

Brig.-General Hughes Gave No Explanation for the Increase—Gave Advice.

(Associated Press Despatch) WINNIPEG, Aug. 11.—Brig.-General W. S. Hughes, superintendent of Penitentiaries, addressed the afternoon session of the Union of Canadian Municipalities Convention here yesterday on the Canadian system of Penitentiaries and how the municipalities may assist them.

The number of inmates in the Canadian Institutions had more than doubled since 1913, he said, but gave no explanation for this fact.

General Hughes strongly advocated the segregation of young first timers and youths who were sent to penitentiaries from the old timers and "repeaters" and older offenders.

(Associated Press Despatch) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—At the opening session of the American Bar Association's annual convention yesterday, a call for closer unity between English speaking nations, to be fostered through the medium of the legal profession, was made by Lord Thomas Shaw, of Dunfermline, representing the English and Scottish Bars.

M. Henri Aubepin, of Paris, who spoke on behalf of the French Bar, told of the rise of judicial power in France.

William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States and Vice-President Coolidge were among those on the platform at the opening session.

Dr. R. Masujima, of Tokio, first president of the International Bar Association, was also in attendance.

Hon. Arthur Meighen Delivers Another Attack on the Present Government.

(Associated Press Despatch) PORT STANLEY, Ont., Aug. 11.—Speaking here last night Hon. Arthur Meighen said the calamitous process of drainage of the best blood and brain of Canada into the United States has been checked by the protective tariff. He asked if the present government of Canada was not merely a drifting aggregation of men drawing their salaries, devoting themselves to self propaganda and theatrically cutting the country positions of office.

Among these, according to Chief Bigwin, are the payment of money to the Indians throughout Canada for lands appropriated by the Government in the early eighties, and some adjustments to the game and fisheries laws.

Federal Officers Destroy More Than Twelve Thousand Gallons of "Scotch."

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Federal Marshal Hecht and a squad of deputies have begun the task of pouring more than twelve thousand gallons of Scotch whiskey down a sink in compliance with orders from the Federal Courts. To make doubly sure that the liquor would not serve its original purpose, kerosene was mixed with it as the bottles were broken.

The whiskey was seized on the schooner Viking at the end of a run from the Bahamas.

The Viking, valued at fifteen thousand dollars, will be sold at public auction August 22nd.

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh

Wall Street Journal—Once more the general list displayed almost complete indifference to developments in the labor troubles. Professional operators tried out the ability of the market to withstand unfavorable occurrences. This attempt utterly failed to force liquidation.

Tribune—In the opinion of Wall Street statistical displays bearing upon the position of the carriers more than offset the temporary embarrassment of the strike and active buying of many railway stocks resulted.

Wall Street Journal will say today:

Standard Oil of New Jersey brings suit against Pure Oil Company does not intend to monopolize patent on cracking process, but insists respect for vested rights.

California Crude Oil may replace Mexican supply.

Refiners on Atlantic and Gulf Coasts consider feasibility of meeting contracts with California crude. Wabash Railway June showing best so far this year.

American Locomotive half year loss $966,780. Big gain in unfilled orders promises better earnings in current six months period.

Lewis predicts early end of the coal strike. Say seventy-five per cent of the bituminous mines will be in operation within ten days.

STRENGTH DISPLAYED ON WALL STREET EXCHANGE

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The short interest was distressed by the market's aggressive display of strength in many quarters and the indifference with which the latest phase of the labor problem was received. Low priced railroads worked steadily higher and there was some inquiry for the dividend paying issues, with St. Louis Southwestern Common and Preferred, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Texas and Pacific, Omaha and New York, Chicago and St. Louis moving up 1 to 2 p.c.

Marked strength was also exhibited by the Independent Steels, Shipings, Farm Implement, Merchandise, Equipment, Gas and United States Alcohol shares which ruled 1 to 3 points higher. Mexican Petroleum extended its rise to over 3 points and the motors and rubbers recovered their earlier losses.

Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

WHEAT PRICES SHOWED A TENDENCY TO DECLINE

(Associated Press Despatch) CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Wheat showed a tendency to decline in price today during the early dealings, being affected chiefly by failure of Liverpool quotations to reflect yesterday's advance here. Trade, however, lacked volume. The most noticeable feature was persistent simultaneous selling of September and buying of May.

The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 cent lower, with September at $1.06 1/2 to $1.06 and December at $1.06 to $1.06 1/2, was followed by a slight rally, and then by a downturn all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1/2 cent lower, with September at 59 1/2 to 59 1/2 cents, the corn market continued to sag.

Oats started a shade off to 1/2 cent up, with September at 31 1/2 cents and later held near to the initial figure. Provisions reflected an advance in hog values.

COMMISSION OF ONTARIO HYDRO MAKES REPLY

Statement Has Been Issued in Reply to Criticisms Contained in Murray Report.

(Associated Press Despatch) TORONTO, Aug. 11.—A reply to the criticism of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, which has gained wide circulation in Canada and the United States through the agency of the Murray report, is contained in a "refutation of unjust statements" which the Commission handed out.

The Murray report was a voluminous document prepared by Messrs. Murray and Flood, a firm of New York engineers, at the request of the National Electric Light Association. It purported to be a comparison, the report states, based on an "impartial and exhaustive study," between government owned and privately controlled electrical enterprises.

Its substance, however, was regarded by friends of public ownership as little less than an endeavor to discredit the hydro project.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, has a lengthy foreword to the "refutation."

He says, in part: "Mr. Murray has made definite statements purporting to be true, but which are at absolute variance with well known facts. He has misquoted statements, even replacing significant words therein with others. He has presented grossly misleading statements respecting even physical facts within his knowledge, and he has made comparisons between entities radically different, when even a proper recognition of the real differences would have created an impression entirely at variance with what he has presented. He has inflated costs in a manner which falsifies the conclusions. Such procedure is characteristic of the use made of much of the essential material embodied in the premises which Mr. Murray has adduced and upon which he has based his conclusions. This accounts for the worthless nature of such conclusions."

STATE TROOPER DETERMINED TO GET EVIDENCE

Plunged into Fifteen Feet of Water to Recover Quart of Whiskey.

(Associated Press Despatch) DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—Harry Yost, a State trooper, dived into fifteen feet of water to recover a quart of whiskey in order to base a charge of rum-running against Fred Graham, River Rouge. A party of troopers were cruising in a seized launch on the river, when Graham appeared, piloting a small launch laden with liquor. On being hailed, he turned his boat up river and the troopers gave pursuit. When they drew near, Graham ran his boat into a patch of weeds, and the troopers had to commandeer a rowboat in which to follow him. There was no liquor aboard when they found him, but bubbles were rising to the surface nearby.

Yost doffed his outer garments, and after several plunges came up with an undamaged quart.

(Associated Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Commissioner General Hubbard, of the Bureau of Immigration, announced yesterday that instructions had been sent to Immigration Agents along the Canadian border calling attention to provisions of the contract labor law. The bureau had been advised, the Commissioner said, that advertisements had been placed in Canadian newspapers by several of the larger of the American railroads offering employment to workers skilled in the railroad business.

BULLS VERY ACTIVE ON MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—Continued activity of the bulls featured the early trading on the local stock exchange this morning, the paper issues again occupying the limelight.

Abitibi rose another half on its forward drive to 62 1/2. This stock was at 50 1/2 less than a month ago. Of the other papers, Laurentide was stronger by a half to 93, while Price Brothers, the only issue to register a decline, fell off a similar fraction to 45. St. Maurice was unchanged at 84. Steel of Canada was another very active stock this morning, registering an advance of 1 1/2 points to 75 1/2. Other leaders were all firm.

ST. LOUIS NINE INCREASE LEAD OVER NEW YORK

Cincinnati Took Another Game from Giants, While the Cards Downed Braves.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Giants tumbled to defeat for the third straight time yesterday by 7 to 3, by the baseball order of the Reds, and consequently fell still further away from the National League lead, as Cardinals won an easy victory from the Braves, by the same score.

McGraw's men are now a game and a half behind the St. Louisans. The Pirates, using the Phillies for their victim, batted out sixteen hits to win by the score of 14 to 4, and made their third place position more secure.

Brooklyn's eighteen hits went for sixteen runs against the lonely ninth inning run of the Chicago Cubs. The American League teams were idle.
