CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN DISCOUNTS IMPORTANCE OF GERMANY'S STAND

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson Emphasizes that Germany Has Not Definitely Closed Door on Disarmament Discussions—Many Important Problems Are Facing Next Month's Meeting of Disarmament Conference Bureau.

London, Sept. 17.—Arthur Henderson, who left for Geneva today to preside at a meeting of the Disarmament Conference Bureau next week, said he was not disposed to over-emphasize the importance of Germany's refusal to participate in that meeting.

"The fact that the German Government concluded its recent letter to me with the statement that it will follow the work of the Conference with interest and decide its later attitude according to the progress made, is evidence that the door is not absolutely closed," he said. "I am not disposed to over-emphasize the serious nature of the situation."

Mr. Henderson said many important problems are facing the bureau, particularly in connection with Germany's demand for arms equality.

He declared that disarmament plans in accordance with the decisions of the general commission of the Conference must be formulated at once.

"Any unnecessary delay could not but arouse suspicion and seriously prejudice any chance of subsequent success," he said.

"This would not only be a bitter disappointment, but would undoubtedly tend to create a serious situation for Europe and the world at large."

"If we miss this opportunity to carry the world well along the right road, the peoples may pay dearly for it. With all this clearly in mind, I cannot believe the Conference will be allowed to end in failure."

GERMANY WILL NOT HAVE A DELEGATE AT CONFERENCE

Berlin, September 17.—Yesterday afternoon the German cabinet announced that Germany would not be represented at the Disarmament Conference which resumes at Geneva on Wednesday.

"Germany cannot be expected to take part in negotiations with regard to measures of disarmament," Foreign Minister von Neurath wrote to Arthur Henderson, the conference chairman, "until it is established that the solution which may be found is also to apply to Germany."

The tenor of the note was a reiteration of the German thesis expressed on several occasions by German Government officials to the effect that Germany is willing to disarm to any level, provided that the other nations reduce their armaments to the same point.

The new cruiser, whose sister-ships cost approximately $17,850,000 each, is within the limits specified by the Versailles Treaty, but because of numerous improvements developed by German naval architects these vessels are said to be much more formidable than that treaty contemplated.

The political situation has undergone important change since the National Socialists and the other parties in opposition to the Government decided to let Chancellor von Papen's decree dissolving the Reichstag stand and take their chances on a new election, which under the constitution must be ordered within sixty days, for solution.

Herman Goering, the National Socialist Speaker of the House, who at first was inclined to ignore the decree, said today that he had not changed his opinion that the decree was unconstitutional.

That his party would insist that the election be called within the legal period.

"You may rest assured," he told a group of correspondents, "that nothing will be done to provoke disorders which would give the Government an excuse for postponing the election."

The cabinet functioning as though its authority never had been challenged announced a series of important diplomatic transfers.

Ambassador von Roesch goes from Paris to London. Roland Koester, former minister to Norway, succeeds him in Paris. Ulrich von Hassel, minister to Yugoslavia, goes to Rome as ambassador, succeeding Carl von Schubert, who returns.

Walter Zechlin, former chief of the Government Press Bureau, was appointed minister to Mexico.

An afternoon newspaper said that Ambassador von Prittwitz and Gaffron also would be recalled from Washington but not until after the United States presidential election.

THE WEATHER

PARTLY CLOUDY AND COOL.

Pressure is high over the central portion of the continent and Newfoundland, while the Atlantic coast storm is centered this morning off the coast of Maine, apparently moving northeastward, and another deep depression covers Northern Quebec. Gales prevail over Eastern Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, where heavy rain has fallen in many districts, while from the Ottawa Valley westward the weather has been generally fair and cool.

Forecast: Fresh west to north-west winds; partly cloudy and cool; probably scattered showers. Sunday: Fresh northwest winds; partly cloudy and cool.

Temperature yesterday: Maximum 70, minimum 60. Same day last year: Maximum 73, minimum 45.

SHERIFF RENEWS DEMAND FOR AID FROM MILITARY

Woodbury County, Iowa, Official Declares Urgency in Farm Strike Is Beyond Control of Local Authorities.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 17.—New pleas for military aid to handle the farm strike situation were heard today as striking farmers strengthened their picket lines in their attempts to bottle up Sioux City.

With more pickets patrolling the highways last night than at any time in the past few weeks, Sheriff John A. Davenport, of Woodbury County, described the situation as being "far beyond the control" of local officers and listened eagerly to requests from citizens to ask Governor Dan Turner for help from the National Guard.

The pleas came from Sioux City business men, who have been complaining that the picketing has had a detrimental effect on trade, and the sheriff indicated he could make a second request for troops. His first request, recently made to the governor, was refused.

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Sept. 17.—The Graf Zeppelin arrived from Pernambuco today, completing a trip from Germany.

CELLAR CRYPT HID CORPSE OF MURDERED WIFE

Body of Mrs. Charles DuBois Found in Cellar of Home a Few Hours After Suicide of New York Jeweller.

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 17.—The cellar crypt that concealed the corpse of Mrs. Charles DuBois was built, police suspect, at a time when the graying housewife was still alive and grieving—in a room above her future tomb—about her husband's affection for "that other woman."

A quick double climax to the strange "DuBois Case" came yesterday with the discovery of the slain woman's body only a few hours after DuBois, thirty-nine year old jeweller from Tuckaohoe, N. Y., committed suicide. He had shot himself with a bullet of the same calibre that took his wife's life.

After the body was placed in the concrete crypt, DuBois entertained at gay parties in a bottle-strewn room only eight feet above his wife's body, detectives said, as they cast their light on the case before marking it "closed."

DuBois, against whom the police had sought a murder warrant in vain because they had no corpus delicti, killed himself in a Quincy rooming house. He had shaved off his smartly curled mustache and taken the name "Ralph Anderson."

Immediately Assistant District Attorney John V. Sullivan rushed ten men with pickaxes to the DuBois summer cottage near Great Herring Pond, with orders to demolish it if necessary in the search. New construction there had aroused his suspicion.

A few blows of a sledge hammer laid open the funeral vault, a strong concrete box in the cellar. The body lay inside, wrapped in black cloth, a yellow sudarium on the head and a window cloth about the waist. Medical examination showed Mrs. DuBois died of a bullet wound about August 10, the day when police had figured she disappeared.

Detectives said they learned from a Mrs. Gillott, wife of a New York jeweller, that Mrs. DuBois had been worrying before her death. She had written Mrs. Gillott, complaining that her husband was acting queerly, spending nearly all his time in the cellar, where he would "dig for jewels," and lapsing into strange silence when he came up.

She wrote also, police were told, that DuBois, only one year younger than his wife but much more youthful in demeanor, apparently no longer loved her and that he was "like a crazy man over that other woman."

After DuBois was released last Monday by a judge who refused to issue a warrant for him, police questioned Miss Grace Atwood at Middleboro, blonde and youthful daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. They said she told them she had been friendly with DuBois. He had informed her, she said, that his wife was killed in an automobile accident in Montreal. Authorities absolved Miss Atwood of any knowledge of the slaying.

Lawrence Frasier, former chauffeur for the DuBois family, was brought here from Braintree for questioning. He told police he assisted DuBois in laying a concrete layer in the cellar, but he said DuBois informed him it was a foundation for pump and washing machine. Sullivan said Frasier was in New York when the tomb itself was built.

TOM MOORE AGAIN HEADS LABOR CONGRESS

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 17.—Tom Moore, Ottawa, was again elected president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada here. It marked Mr. Moore's fourteenth consecutive election to the highest office in the power of organized labor in Canada.

GOVERNMENT TO MEET FREIGHT COST OF PIPE

Drainage of Farm Lands Will Be Materially Assisted by Move on Part of Provincial Government.

Montreal, September 17.—With the object of assisting farmers in draining their land, Hon. Adelaire Godbout, Minister of Agriculture, announced here yesterday that the Quebec Government will pay the entire cost of freight on the drainage pipes required.

The problem of drainage was one of the big issues raised when a re-organization of the Department of Agriculture took place under the late Hon. J. L. Perron when the latter assumed office, and Hon. Mr. Godbout is actively pushing forward that project.

It was an ardent supporter of the idea when it was broached in the Legislative Assembly, though then only a private member, and now that he is minister in charge of such matters he has drawn up a system of aid to the farmers. There is a very considerable area of agricultural land in the province which requires draining so that they may reach a proper condition for scientific agriculture. The cost of drainage of the nature involved in the present project embraces the cost of the pipes, labor and the cost of freight, which is a heavy item, consideration of which has caused many farmers to hesitate in undertaking such work. This cost is now done away with under certain conditions.

The drains will be bought by the representative of a recognized agricultural organization, such as a co-operative syndicate or an agricultural society, a representative of a group of farmers, and even in some cases by an individual farmer. Generally, however, the purchases will be by an organization, for there is provision that the drains must be shipped to the local point by freight car with a minimum of 50,000 pounds specified. These drain pipes must be used only for lands actually in a state of cultivation.

In order to prevent exploitation of farmers, the maximum price which may be paid for the drains is set, the prices being $2 per hundred feet for a three-inch drain up to $16 per hundred feet for a 10-inch drain.

The agricultural organizations will pay the freight and then obtain reimbursement from the department, and to get this rebate they will have to furnish railway receipts, permits from the agronomists showing approval of the projects, and certified accounts of the vendors of the drains.

This policy will be maintained by the department up to the first of July of next year, and the hope is being expressed by the department that the farmers will not lose the opportunity of securing this important aid to their drainage plans.

MADE A SKILFUL LANDING WHEN PLANE TOOK FIRE

Flames Broke Out in Air and Plane Was 2,000 Feet in Air, and Pilot and Two Passengers Had Narrow Escape.

Vancouver, Sept. 17.—Their bi-plane enveloped in flames when flying at a height of 2,000 feet, three persons had a narrow escape from death here. Skilful handling of the burning plane, however, brought about a safe landing in the Fraser River, where rescue of the occupants was made by a Japanese fishing boat just in the nick of time.

Pilot Gilbert Jenkins last night was flying a Vickers amphibian bi-plane and with him were two passengers. At a height of 2,000 feet the gas feed-line of the plane broke, spraying the gasoline over the fuselage and the exhaust outlet. The exhaust caused the gas to take fire.

With the flames raging about them, the flyers were in great peril, but the timely arrival of the fishing boat, the crew of which had seen the plight of the plane as it descended, saved the occupants from further danger. The three were rescued from their precarious position and taken aboard the boat. The plane continued to burn fiercely and finally sank. The pilot and his passengers escaped injury.

MARBLETON ANNUAL FAIR HELD IN WET

Yet Everyone Voted It a Braw Day, and Everybody Was Smiling, Happy and Hospitable With the Many Visitors.

Marbleton, Sept. 17.—On a neat little card which appeared on a selection of fruits at the Marbleton Fair was inscribed, "For this Honour Judge Dean and his worthy assistant, from the Doctor by Dudswell Lake, with his compliments." This was the climax last evening to a beautiful day spent by Squire Dean, who knows farm produce from A to Z, with the exception of apples. On Squire Nixon Dean's farm there is only one hill beyond the fertile flats, and it is too far away from the homestead for him to have any idea of how steep any apple tree which might raise the price of this fruit is all his berries on the uplands disappear like magic.

Squire Dean carried out his published itinerary in the smartest fashion, arriving at the Marbleton Fair at the advertised minute.

It was a Fair by the fair, for the ladies' luncheon booths, the first point of attack by the judges, was proof of the cuisine excellence of the ladies of Wolfe County, even unto the pumpkin pie that mother used to make. The young lady who made the pie for the luncheon tents naturally won the first prize in the pumpkin pie exhibits, and her particular pie was the piece de resistance for an evening meal at Mrs. Dean's home on the Huntingville road, where it made a rainy evening most cheerful.

Dr. Elliott, who knows how to make strawberries grow in seven months in the year, and whose home overlooks the beautiful little lake provided the secondary dessert at a home festival, at which even the three hired men were accorded their share of the spoils of the day. The Marbleton folks are a generous and hospitable people, and their visitors home with fond memories and blissful recollections.

Squire Dean, who brought back a full report of the day's doings as a special correspondent, is a confirmed bachelor, as confirmed as R. E. Bennett or Ian Mackenzie, and he even gave the apple prize to a man instead of to a young lady who had on exhibition the finest basket of sun-kissed apples ever shown in the Eastern Townships. His assistant maintained that Miss Willard's apples not only deserved a prize, but should have had a medal.

The Marbleton Fair this year reflects credit upon the vice-president, H. H. Bishop, who acted in place of the president, Mr. Willard, unhappily in ill-health. Mr. Bishop has one of the most charming, old-fashioned gardens, and when he becomes full president he may make the Fair grounds look like a park.

The showing of cattle was quite up to the mark, though the old-timers, with youthful recollections of the days when they were little and everything looked bigger, said it was not what it used to be.

There were no gambling games, for William Oughtred, with his wand of office, saw that the side shows were bright and clean. Anyhow the rain came down and washed everything clean, including the horse races.

A full report of the prize winners may appear at a later day, when secretary Skinner has recovered from a soaking evening, but a passing word of praise may be given now to the display of farm produce in the main building. On the ground floor there was shown the marvels of field and farm produce such as Wolfe County can show to both residents and strangers. The diversity of production was only equalled by the excellence of flavour.

Colonel "Jim" Hooker, of Bishop's Crossing, a youth of eighty-six years, was on exhibition as he jauntily sauntered about the plaza, and even winked at the many babies of fair (Continued on page 2)

AGED MAN DROPPED DEAD AT BURY AFTER BEING RESCUED FROM FIRE

Euclide L. Lord, Eighty-Two Years of Age, Safely Removed from Burning Building, But Heart Gave Out as Soon as He Reached Safety—Furniture and Contents of Large Tenement House, as Well as Building, Completely Destroyed.

Bury, September 17.—Fire, believed to have originated in the kitchen of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veilleux shortly before midnight, was responsible for the death of Euclide L. Lord, eighty-two years of age, the complete destruction of a three-storey brick tenement house, with all furnishings and contents, and rendering three families homeless.

The building was situated near the Canadian Pacific Railway station and was one of the finest structures in the village. There were four tenements in the block. At the time of the fire one was vacant, the occupants of the others being Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veilleux, their twelve-year-old daughter and Mr. Lord, who made his home with them; William MacAuley, who lived alone, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Murray.

The fire was discovered by C. C. Lindsay, of this place, who saw flames coming from the kitchen of the Veilleux home. The rear part of the building, where the kitchens were situated, was of wooden construction and an easy prey for the flames.

Immediately sounding the alarm the occupants of the building were forced to make a hurried exit. At the time Mr. and Mrs. Veilleux and Mr. and Mrs. Murray were away. Mr. Lord and the young Veilleux girl were alone in their home. Realizing Mr. Lord's age, friends went to his assistance, and he was safely removed from the building.

However, no sooner had he reached the open and safety than he collapsed. Dr. MacRae was immediately summoned, but it was found that the aged man was dead. He had been suffering from heart trouble for some time and it is thought that the shock proved too much for him. Mr. Lord had no people in this country. He came to Bury about two years ago from Island Brook.

The exact amount of damage is not known, although it is expected to be considerable, as it was impossible to save either the building, its contents or any of the personal effects of the occupants.

GERMAN ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6TH.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—The Government ordered a new Reichstag election today for the 6th of November.

This is in accordance with the terms of the constitution, which stipulates that when the Reichstag is dissolved a new election must be held within sixty days. Chancellor von Papen dissolved the last Reichstag on September 12th. The election will be the fifth in Germany this year.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—Maxim Litvinoff, Foreign Minister of Soviet Russia, conferred today with Chancellor von Papen and Foreign Minister von Neurath. He is on the way to Geneva for resumption of the Disarmament Conference.

GRANBY FAMILY OF NINE HAD TO ABANDON HOME

Had Narrow Escape When Their House Was Struck by Lightning.

Granby, Sept. 17.—Nine members of one family were forced to make a hurried exit from their home here yesterday when lightning struck the building. The victims included a baby in arms and a woman over seventy years of age.

The family were awakened by a fourteen year old girl and sought safety in a barn a short distance away, which was struck by lightning also as they rushed to it. The barn, however, did not catch fire and they were able to remain there until the storm abated. The damage is estimated at $5,000, partly covered by insurance.

The home which was destroyed was that of Mederic Gibeault, a farmer living six miles east of here. It was four o'clock when the storm broke and the lightning struck the house occupied by Gibeault, his wife, his children and his mother, Mrs. Mathilde Gibeault, seventy-two years of age.

When the alarm was given, Mrs. Gibeault seized her baby in her arms and ran out of the house. Three of the four girls jumped through a window landing on a shed roof from which they jumped to the ground. The elder Mrs. Gibeault managed to walk from her room on the ground floor of the house to safety, while the two boys had to run a gauntlet of flames on the stairs in order to escape.

Gibeault saved nothing but a pair of trousers and a vest, while Mrs. Gibeault saved only a kimono. Not a single item of furniture was saved from the house, so rapid was the spread of the flames. The house carried a lightning conductor but the glass insulator was shattered by the lightning. The barn was split in two by the bolt that struck it but was not destroyed.

$70,000 FIRE AT EMBRUN

Embrun, Ont., Sept. 17.—Damage of approximately $70,000 was caused early this morning when fire destroyed several places of business and residences here.

Starting in the hotel owned by J. Bonville, the flames quickly spread, fanned by a high wind. Emburn is thirty miles southeast of Ottawa.

OTTAWA HALTS UNLOADING OF RUSSIAN OIL

Montreal Shipment Must Await Government Investigation Before Cargo Can Be Discharged.

Montreal, September 17.—The exact status of 9,000 tons of Russian crude oil which arrived here aboard the Danish tank steamer Aasa Maersk from Batoum is as yet undecided, orders having been received by Arthur Magnan, collector of customs, that the vessel could not discharge its cargo until permission had been received from Ottawa.

In the meantime, officials of the Aluminum Company, to whom the cargo is consigned, take the stand that if bartering crude oil for aluminum will provide employment for three thousand men in the Province of Quebec, they have no qualms in consummating the agreement. This stand was taken during the course of an interview yesterday.

The Soviets expressed their willingness to place an order for aluminum amounting to $1,000,000 in Canada providing that payment could be made by barter, in this case, crude oil. The Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, interested in the proposition, contracted with Joseph Elie, head of the LaSalle Petroleum Refinery, Limited, who is willing to use the Russian crude oil at his local plant and otherwise act as intermediary between the Soviets and the Aluminum Company.

At this end the contract works out as follows: The Aluminum Company is to ship aluminum to Russia and soon thereafter shipment of Soviet crude oil arrives in Montreal consigned to the LaSalle Petroleum Refinery, Limited. This latter firm makes out a cheque for the value of the oil shipment and deposits it in the name of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, at one of the local banks. Thus, according to the official, three parties conclude a highly satisfactory agreement; the Soviets use the aluminum mostly for transmission lines, the Aluminum Company is in a position to hire additional men to fill the order, and the LaSalle Petroleum Refinery, Limited, gets oil at a fair price which it distributes in Montreal at a profit.

It was pointed out that negotiations for the contract have been going on for some time, and that the company could see no objection to them in view of the fact that Premier Bennett's Government did not place an embargo upon Soviet crude oil at the time that it legislated for the exclusion from Canada of Russian coal, lumber, pulp, and asbestos.

More important yet, it was emphasized, is that in order to fulfill its end of the contract, the Aluminum Company has been able to take on 300 men at its plants at Arvida and Shawinigan Falls, Quebec. The contract, apparently, came in force sometime at the end of July for the official stated that it was since that date that the 300 men had been given employment in the company's plants.

It was stated that the Soviet order was the only one the company had received which justified its taking on additional help.

The crude oil will undoubtedly be refined and distributed in Canada, and not in the United States due to prohibitory tariffs.

The company official was queried as to the possibility of the oil being a disturbing influence in the Canadian oil market as it is more than likely that it will seek a market below that established by the regular (Continued on page 2)

"I would like to issue a challenge to that young lady at Sawyerville who has been winning the turkey shoots at Sand Hill. They tell me she is a marvel. Would you say that I will shoot Miss McGee for money, marbles, or medals, at 500 and 600 yards on any day this month, first on the Bishop's ranges and then on the Birchton. Or I will captain a team from Bishop's Crossing, six men a team, from both Birchton and Bishop's, and throw in Captain Houlton, of Sherbrooke, with the challenged club. That's fair. I'm only eighty-six years of age, but I have all the pep of the first age reversed."

That is a side view of the Marbleton Fair, held yesterday, and attended by all the 'who's who' of Wolfe County, even though it was not near enough to an election here on the grounds. However, Henry Kidd was there with his

ONTARIO LIQUOR CONTROL ACT NOT TO BE AMENDED

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 17.—Ontario's liquor control act is not to be amended to provide for sale of beer and wines in hotels, as urged by hotelkeepers.

The government may help the hotels to meet competition of less highly assessed tourist houses and camps, but it will not be licensing them to sell beer or wine, Premier George S. Henry announced last night in a statement designed to clarify the government's policy.

Mr. Henry denied he had given hotelmen to understand at a recent interview that the government looked with favor on the proposal for beer sale in hotels. Rather, he said, he refused to accede to their wishes in this regard.

There were other men of mature years besides the youthful Colonel Hooker, but to mention them all, and not say a word about the young ladies and their proud parents would be quite impolitic.

THE "MORNING AFTER" THE YEARS BEFORE.

It is only by comparison that the financial condition of any one government can be properly gauged. What each Province spends each year must be counted in respect to the population, the rate per person. Even though some pay more than others do, each and every person pays according to their means.

For provincial government purposes, therefore, the per capita cost of taxation cannot be rightly measured, for when the power of taxation is granted to other than the central power, the outcome is hard to gather.

Municipal, church nor school taxes are not included in the per capita cost of $14.21 in the province. The 1932 figures for these departments are not presently available.

All the newspapers of Canada are now following us in discussing the high cost of government. In British Columbia it has reached, for provincial purposes the devastating cost of $40.23 per person, and a writer in a magazine, speaking of the Business Men's Committee in that province, and their investigation and recommendations under the name, "Kidd report," says:

"British Columbia to-day is heavily counting the cost, regretting the dissipation of the old reckless days, after the manner of the painfully sobbing gentleman with ice on his head on the 'morning after.'"

WHERE THEY BEFOOL THE ELECTORATE THROUGH CONTRACTORS.

The Trent Valley Canal was to have cost $6,960,000. It actually cost Canada $20,000,000.

The Welland Canal deepening was carried in Parliament on an emergency estimate of $40,000,000. It cost Canada $120,000,000.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway was to have cost Canada $13,000,000. It is costing us $100,000,000 a year and an investment of $2,500,000,000, with no surcease in sight.

The estimate of a few hundred millions as the cost of the St. Lawrence Seaway will engulf us in a debt of $1,000,000,000 before we are through, and if we borrow the money from the United States they may foreclose the mortgage and take control of our St. Lawrence, the mighty river of North America.

The United States minister who put through the negotiations has already ducked under.

All the politicians who have plunged us into debt finally leave the taxpayer to carry the burden. "We will be dead" was the reply of an objector to Mr. Tschereau's query, "Who will pay?"

The tashy it is that the politician vanishes, and he is irresponsible when the day comes to pay the interest and sinking funds on the money borrowed to carry on these ventures of folly, extravagance and waste.

It was a costly piece of business to Canada to build a Hudson Bay Railway so that the candidates might use the people's money to pay their election expenses in that devious way the politicians have of collecting party funds.

THE POINT OF VIEW.

Resigned-Mayor Walker of New York profited through purchases which were made by the city, and when he saw he was going to be dismissed from office by a politically friendly governor he resigned, but not without making a bitter attack upon the governor and his "persecutors."

Is not that just like a man? He is not satisfied with being allowed to resign. He does not rejoice that he is not made to disgrace and go to penitentiary for malfeasance. He gets indignant and angry and fancies himself a martyr. It is not a pose. He is not playing-act. He really feels that he has been unjustly treated. What sort of education did he have? Does he know the difference between right and wrong? Has he ever heard that public office is a public trust?

Or did his long association with Tammany and ward politics vitiate his mind and lead him to believe that graft was a requisite that went naturally with his $40,000 salary in a city where thousands expected him to do it and would think him a fool if he did not take advantage of his position to enrich himself, his brother, his friends and his henchmen? Walker is the by-product of a system which started with Tammany and which will rise triumphant from this setback as it has done more than once before in the course of its sinful career.

The point of view of the grafter and of the unlawful profiteer is peculiar.

WILL THE TOURISTS BE CALLED BACK TO THE HOTELS?

Hotels, as well as railways, are being badly hit by changed and changing conditions since gas-driven vehicles came into vogue.

There is more travel now than ever, but the majority of travellers stay at tourists' homes or at the carps that cluster along the highways. They take their meals there or at restaurants and cafeterias. It may be that when times improve they will go back to the hotels, which just at present they are avoiding because they cannot afford to pay hotel rates.

Travellers have imbibed a new idea about values. They are not going to pay five to seven dollars for a room for one day, and big hotels built on extravagant lines cannot afford to charge less if they expect to pay the bond-holder's interest.

There are other debts besides war debts that have to be written off before we get down to bed-rock. Big city hotels never cost the amounts charged for construction. At any rate, they should not have cost so much. They would never have paid interest on the money alleged to have been invested even if the kiting times of '28 had continued and the public had remained extravagant.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

Canada is importing from the United States 3,000 feet of hardwood lumber to every 1,000 feet she exports to that country. The Canadian wood manufacturing concerns are using inferior lumber to the Canadian birch, either red or yellow. The United States put up another log on their tariff barrier of $3 a thousand, and this came into effect on June 21st of this year, resulting in the closing of many sawmills for the coming winter. The Canadian duty should at once be made to match that of the United States. The idea is absurd that Canada, a great hardwood lumber country, should be importing lumber from any country—perhaps with the exception of hickory for picker sticks in the textile industry.

Three commercial firms and the newspapers joined in a last three-day rush at the Toronto Exhibition to stem the falling tide of attendance at the grounds. There had been a net decline of near a quarter million. Not only did they succeed in their effort, but they showed an increase of about 20,000 within the three days as compared with the figures for the previous year. Had the same percentage of decline continued their efforts must have resulted in bringing over 50,000 more people. A losing frame of mind can be changed to a winning one through the momentum of good ideas and the kind of advertising which only a newspaper man knows how to write.

Bermuda is a coral reef with a thin coating of fertile soil, a sandy loam, and yet it is an exporting unit of the Empire for agricultural products. To Canada alone Bermuda exported this year 113,317 crates of vegetables, including quantities of cabbage, carrots, celery, onions, potatoes and tomatoes. These are consumed chiefly in urban centers where the epicureans demand the luxuries of eating the year round, such as Brome Lake Ducklings, and all the delicacies which the professional chef can think of to tempt the appetite.

In the story of the "Flying Hutchison Family," where two children were taken aloft on a joy ride, the two parents earned the opinion that they should have been spanked. The world is not enriched by such foolish ventures, and those who voyage on the ocean are put to a great deal of trouble in rescuing the victims of folly. It was a case for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. September 17th, 1902.

Departures from the city included Miss Katherine Panslow to take charge of a school near Island Pond, Vt.; Misses Mabel, Florence and Emily Strickland to visit friends at Massawippi; George H. Wilcox, Jr., to recuperate from an illness at Milan; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Caron to visit their daughter, Mrs. Bachand, at Pawtucket, R. I.

C. E. Therrien found two tramps sleeping in the hay in his East Sherbrooke barn. When he attempted to evict them they showed fight, but were finally driven away after Mr. Therrien had received a severe scalp wound.

H. V. Haight wrote to the Record advising the establishment of a standard weight for bread in Sherbrooke, where, he said, light weight loaves cost the consumer from 20 to 100 per cent. more than in other towns.

Frank B. Sanborn left the office of the Rand Drill Company to commence the study of law at Savannah, Ga.

C. M. Cotton, of Sweetaburg, who had just been admitted to the Bar, sailed for Paris for a year's study there, having been awarded a Macdonald scholarship.

Hon. M. F. Hackett agreed to accept the Conservative nomination in the pending bye-election in Stansfeld.

W. H. Lynch, B.C.L., who was a gold medalist in his final year at McGill, announced his intention of beginning the practice of law at Cowansville.

The Bell Telephone Company reported having installed over 500 phones in Sherbrooke, the largest number for any city of equal population in Canada.

RECORDINGS

by Ted Bullock.

I pass on a strange, somewhat touching, yet not altogether admirable letter which I have just received.

It reads as follows: "In the Record of September fourteenth, a statement under the heading 'Three People Face Murder Trial' that Mr. Frederick Appleton has no personal friends or relatives. 'Now suppose you were my half-brother, would you be related to me? I think you would be. 'And if I were a good man in the ring like Freddie, you would say that kid is hard to beat. 'But if I went to jail, would that break our relationship and would you come to see me? Or let a daily paper tell the public that I have no personal friends or relatives? 'Give me your idea. 'Life is short for those who live to die a natural death.' There follows this message which, presumably, I am to attempt to convey to Fred Appleton: 'Hoping to see you soon, half-brother. . . . Then the signature, which I withhold for obvious reasons. And, finally, this post script: 'Please pardon me for sending this letter to you, because you may not be the party responsible for writing that column.'"

In the first place, I did not write the very cleverly done colour story on Appleton and the Bernards which appeared in Wednesday's paper. It is the work of Don McMahorton—enterprising Record police reporter—and it is by no means the first bit of brilliant writing he has done. As a matter of fact I knew very little about the Appleton case until this letter came to my desk.

But I have made a few inquiries since, and have found out things which prompt me to say that that letter is not altogether admirable.

Is writer appears to infer that the Record is personal in saying Appleton has no personal friends or relatives. If he has relatives, they are not of much use to him. Sheriff Therrien informs me not one has been to see him since his arrest.

It seems to me it would have been more valourous of the half-brother to visit Fred Appleton than to sling an innuendo at the Record for making a statement which was justified by the facts as we knew them.

Now, that letter puts several questions to me, and asks me to answer them. It asks, particularly, whether, if I had a half-brother who went to jail, I would go to see him. And I reply that I most certainly would.

I do not know whether or not Fred Appleton is guilty of the crime of which he stands accused. Murder is such a complicated thing—it is so mixed up with emotional stress, hidden, complex motives, possible mental derangements, the escape, perhaps of ugly things which lie hidden away in all of us—that no man can really say with assurance to what extent a murderer is responsible for his act.

Even the most cold-blooded, cruel killer is still a human being. The mere fact that the whole world is against him should, it seems to me, prompt his family and his friends to give him whatever moral support they can.

I cannot discuss a case which is before the courts. But I have dug up a few people who knew Fred Appleton before he went to jail, and their opinion of him is that even if he did kill a man, he is by no means a hard-boiled criminal.

I have been dragged into this case out of a blue sky. I have telephoned Sheriff Therrien and he has promised to hand on this strange letter to Fred Appleton.

If Appleton has a half-brother, it may comfort him to know that that half-brother is thinking of him.

And I am going to do more than that. If the authorities will permit it, I am going to visit Appleton in his cell.

And I am NOT going to publish what happens at that interview, to make a Roman holiday out of the sufferings of a young man.

Social and Personal

Mrs. E. A. Chadsey, of Bedford, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. T. Flaherty, Fulton avenue.

Friends and relatives will regret to hear that Mrs. George Nealey has suffered a relapse and is seriously ill at her home on Gillespie street.

Miss Phyllis Blissette, of Montreal, is a guest of the Misses Bertha Tiffin and Lou Farnsworth at "The Roy" apartments, Wolfe street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Collins, who have spent a short holiday in Sherbrooke, guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Woolgar, King street west, have returned to Montreal.

The many friends of Miss Edna Pinkham, of Scottstown, who is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, will be pleased to hear that she is making satisfactory progress following her recent serious illness.

Mrs. J. A. Cook, Mr. Webster Cook and Mr. E. S. Cook, London street, are to attend the Neople-Gould wedding, which is taking place this afternoon. Miss Gould is a grand-niece of the late Mr. Palmer Cox, of "Brownie" fame.

The election of officers and other important items occupied the members of the Anglican Young People's Association of St. Paul's Church at their annual meeting held in the parish hall on Wednesday night. Owing to the absence on account of illness of the president, Mr. John Lillian Smith, the vice-president, Miss Lillian Smith, presided.

After the regular business routine the chairman invited the rector, Rev. W. H. Cheverton, to preside during the election of officers for the coming year. The following were duly installed: President, Mr. Harold Smith; vice-president, Miss Lillian Smith; secretary, Mr. Norman Woolterton; secretary, Miss Dorothy Robinson; refreshment committee, Miss Rhoda Oak, Miss Hilda Robinson and Mr. Harold Bend.

The ladies also elected convener of the "Misses' committee." A message respecting this inability to be present was sent by Mr. J. Robinson, the retiring president, who thanked the officers and members for their splendid help and co-operation during their term in office. Rev. Mr. Cheverton addressed the members, complimenting the retiring officers upon their efficient manner in which they had carried on the work of the A. Y. P. A., during the past year. Mr. Cheverton also extended a warm welcome to the newly elected officers, wishing them every success in the coming season's activities. He also congratulated the retiring officers upon their efficient manner in which they had carried on the work of the A. Y. P. A., during the past year. Mr. Cheverton also extended a warm welcome to the newly elected officers, wishing them every success in the coming season's activities.

It was arranged for the members to have corporate communion on the first Sunday in each month, and it was decided to extend an invitation to all parents and friends of the A. Y. P. A. to attend the next gathering of the Association in the parish hall. After the rector had closed the meeting with the Benediction, a pleasant social time was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served.

Mr. Gordon Harkness, who came home to Sherbrooke to be present at the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Harkness, has returned to Toronto.

Mrs. Allen Moyle, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Harkness, Ontario street, has returned to her home in Lancaster, N. H.

Miss Alice Lyster, Skinner Apartments, Wellington street north, has returned from Richmond, where she spent a week at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lyster.

The friends of Miss Ellen Hatch will be pleased to hear that she has returned to her home on Esplanade avenue from the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. C. A. Pankham, of Scottstown, is staying with friends in Sherbrooke to be near her daughter, Miss Eda Pankham, who is convalescing at the Sherbrooke Hospital after an operation for acute appendicitis.

The Rev. Augustus Superior and the Sisters of Mount Notre Dame extend to all their former pupils a cordial invitation to revisit the convent on Sunday afternoon, September 25th, from three to seven o'clock. The occasion marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of the opening of the convent, but as it has been considered inadvisable, owing to general economic conditions, to organize a large celebration, the Sisters hope that many of the old girls will return on Sunday afternoon for a social hour. A musical programme is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Codere, and lantern slides of school scenes from early days up to the present will be shown.

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church held their opening meeting, which was very largely attended at the home of Mrs. E. S. Stevens, Queen street, Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Mackie Fuller, presided, and in addition to the usual business, plans for the coming season's work were discussed. Mrs. George Hall was in charge of the study period, when she took up the first chapter, "Christ Must Reign," from the new study book on "Canada," written by D.E.M. Oliver, moderator of the United Church of Canada. A leaflet on the Doukhobors was read by Mrs. George Parsons and one on the Raskinians by Mrs. R. Havard. The members were entertained by a delightfully rendered vocal trio, sung by the Misses Eleanor Wheeler, Betty Havard and Molly Havard, accompanied by Mrs. R. L. Dean.

MARRIAGES

WILSON—MOSES. Sutton Junction, Sept. 17.—A pretty and informal wedding was solemnized by Rev. F. W. Geary in St. Aidan's Church, Sutton Junction, on Thursday, September 8th, when Margaret Elouar Moses became the bride of Douglas Dudley Wilson. The bride entered the church on the arm of her mother, who gave her away, and was dressed in maroon, blue crepe with her veil and train. She carried an arm bouquet of white and purple asters. Mr. J. de la Man acted as best man for Mr. Wilson. Luncheon was served at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left by motor for Montreal. On their return they will live at Sutton Junction where Mr. Wilson is employed.

Before her marriage Mrs. Wilson had been employed at the Grocery store in Sutton and had been entertained at three showers, one by Mrs. Griggs at her cottage at Brome Lake, one by the Misses Nunn and one by Miss Gertrude Hawley at the home of her sister, Mrs. Baker. Many beautiful presents testified to her popularity and all wish her a happy life.

On her wedding day she received a cable from her grandmother in England. Miss Agnes Taylor, a cousin, played the wedding music and the church was decorated with white hydrangeas and golden glow.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts, including silver tea service from St. George's Church choir, blankets from Sunday School staff, dinner and tea set and hall mirror from the Empire Tobacco Company employees.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Adams and Mr. T. Garry, of St. Catharines, Ont.; Mr. B. Stephenson and Miss Margaret, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Messrs. Walter Douglas, Howard, Lorne, Sydney, Kenneth, Arthur, Alec and Ralph, of St. Luc, Que., and daughters, Mrs. G. Craig, Miss Katherine Stephenson, of Stoneham, Que., and the Misses Florence and Jean, of St. Luc, Que.; A. Craig, of Stoneham; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wing and son and Mr. Clarence Knox, of Rosslyn, Ont.; Miss A. Owen, of Weir, Que.; Miss E. Williams, Montreal; Miss L. Reynolds, of South Roxton, and Mr. Percy Brownrigg, and Miss Violet Brownrigg, L'Acadie, Que.

BEATTIE—MONAHAN. Lemieux, Que., Sept. 17.—A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning, September 7th at eight o'clock at St. Peter's Church, West Broughton, when Miss Clara Monahan, only daughter of Mr. Mathew Monahan and the late Mrs. Monahan, became the bride of Mr. Urban John Beattie, son of the late Mr. Andrew Beattie and Mrs. Beattie.

The church was nicely decorated. Rev. Father Chabrais, parish priest, sang the nuptial mass and officiated. The bride was given away by her father and looked lovely in a fawn flat crepe ensemble, with small, brown felt hat and brown kid pumps. Her purse and gloves were brown and fawn.

The groom was supported by his youngest brother, Mr. Alphonse Beattie. Following the ceremony, the wedding guests motored to the home of the groom, where dinner was served at eleven-thirty to over sixty. The dining-room was beautifully decorated with wedding bells, streamers and cut flowers. The long table where thirty-two sat down at one time, was centered with the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Beattie left on the evening train for Quebec City. For travelling the bride wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories. On their return a reception will be given at the home of the bride.

POLICE ARREST JAIL BREAKER IN DANVILLE

Henry Cooch, a Fugitive from Justice, Tracked Down by Danville Chief of Police—Removed to Victoriaville.

Danville, Que., Sept. 17.—Wanted for jail breaking in Montana, Henry Cooch was arrested here by Constable Albert Bergeron, Chief of Police, and Constable Victor of the Provincial Motorcycle Police. The arrest was made when the authorities were informed by a Danville farmer about a suspicious character.

Armed with a circular which bore Cooch's picture, his description and to the Danville Hotel and interviewed Cooch, who was employed at the hotel as a horse trainer. They asked him to train a horse for them and when arrangements had been made they arranged him to step into the auto to go and see the horse. En route to "H.C." tated on the left arm, reaching Victoriaville they took Cooch to the local jail and told him he was under arrest as a fugitive from justice.

According to the officers Cooch admitted later he was the man mentioned in the circular, and that he had been serving a 60-year sentence in Deer Lodge state prison. Asked if he were a child kidnaper as he was described on the circular, Cooch, according to the officers, smiled but vouched no information. The only admission he made was: "I've done enough to get 60 years, but I do not want to go back to Montana."

Report of the arrest was made to the Provincial Police and word was sent to the United States authorities. Arrangements for extradition are being made.

It was several days ago that Chief Poudrier and Constable Bergeron were notified by Edward Yale, a farmer, for whom Cooch had worked, that Cooch seemed a suspicious character. They investigated and became satisfied that he was the Cooch mentioned in the circular from Montana.

They learned that Cooch had been in Danville for six weeks or thereabouts, including Yale, before working at the hotel. He had admitted coming from the west and being thoroughly conversant with the training and handling of horses. It was this ability that got him his employment at the hotel where he looked after the owner's stable.

Cooch was transferred from the cells of the Victoriaville police station to the county jail at Arthabaska where he was turned over to Jailer Primo Houle. He was placed in a cell and two special guards were placed at the door to guard him.

It was learned that Cooch, who is described in the circular as a child kidnaper, had escaped about six weeks ago. It is thought that he made his way directly from Montana to Danville.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 400 St. Charles Annex, at which about fifty guests were present, including relatives of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson left for Quebec City and other points of interest. The bride travelled in a blue and grey knitted suit, blue felt hat and accessories to match.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts, including silver tea service from St. George's Church choir, blankets from Sunday School staff, dinner and tea set and hall mirror from the Empire Tobacco Company employees.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Adams and Mr. T. Garry, of St. Catharines, Ont.; Mr. B. Stephenson and Miss Margaret, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Messrs. FRACTURE WAS FATAL FOR MAN AT ST. FRANCOIS

Inquest Held Yesterday into Death of Wilfrid Dubreuil, Who Sustained Fatal Injuries When Kicked by Horse.

St. Francois Xavier de Brompton, Que., Sept. 17. — Suffering from injuries sustained on September 13th when he was kicked by a horse, Wilfrid Dubreuil, local farmer, succumbed yesterday.

Coroner Leonidas Bachand, of Sherbrooke, conducted an inquest, and a verdict of "accidental death" was returned.

Dubreuil witnesses testified, suggesting a fractured skull on the evening of September 13th when a horse kicked him. Dr. Morissette, of Windsor Mills, was called and treated the injury. Dubreuil was in a critical condition from the first and no hopes were held out for his recovery. Among the witnesses yesterday at the inquest were James Stratford, a farm hand, and Arthur Dubreuil, brother of the deceased. The jury-men were Phedeleon Boutin, Gerard Stratford, Arthur Latulippe, Alfred Boutin, Joseph Latulippe and Telephone Peplin.

ASBESTOS MEN INVOLVED IN LIQUOR CASE

J. O. Bilodeau Declared in Magistrate's Court that He was Double-Crossed by Friend—Seraphino Precourt Charged With Possession of Illicit Liquor.

"Framed"—That was J. O. Bilodeau's plea, the second of his kind in the Magistrate's Court yesterday, when he contested charges made against him by High Constable Gaudreau and Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers that he and a companion, Seraphino Precourt, had been in the possession of illicit liquor.

Bilodeau and Precourt, both of Asbestos, were stopped in the former's car on King street east by High Constable Gaudreau and Constable Broome on August 12th. In the rear seat of the automobile, according to the police, was a quantity of alcohol which, upon analysis, proved to be different from that sold by the Quebec Liquor Commission.

The cases against the two men were heard separately. This required the repetition of much evidence and lengthened the proceedings. With several witnesses still to be heard, Bilodeau's trial was adjourned by the Magistrate, shortly before five o'clock, to September 30. Hearing in Precourt's case was also adjourned.

Bilodeau unfolded a story to the court that had all the earmarks of a much overworked detective tale. He declared he had been framed by a friend, one Hector Lapointe, of East Angus. This man, he said, gave him two parcels to deliver to Sherbrooke—parcels he afterwards learned contained liquor—and then "tipped off" the authorities that he was on his way. He left Asbestos with Precourt, he continued, to attend to some business in East Angus, and then proceeded to Sherbrooke. At East Angus he met Hector Lapointe, who asked him where he was going. "When I told him I was headed for Sherbrooke," Bilodeau stated, "Lapointe asked me if I would deliver two parcels to some relatives of his in this city. I said surely, and Lapointe placed a grip and bag in the rear of my car. I thought nothing of it. Precourt and I took our departure and we journeyed to Sherbrooke. Lapointe had given me an address at which to deliver the parcels. It was on King street east."

They arrived in the city, he continued, and started searching for the address. They were on King street east when they were halted by two officers—Gaudreau and Broome, the latter of the R.C.M.P. When the officers asked what he had in the rear of his car, it was then that Bilodeau realized something was wrong. He ordered Precourt to take everything out of the back seat. When Precourt had apparently done so and was engaged in conversation with Broome—Unintelligible arguments, for Precourt could not speak English and Broome could not speak French—he threw his car into gear and dashed away.

Under cross-examination—persistent questions and violent objections—High Constable Gaudreau admitted that he had been "tipped off" about the case that afternoon.

He had been told Bilodeau was on his way to Sherbrooke. He would not say who the informant was. The defence insisted on knowing. The prosecution declared an informant's name should be kept secret. The Magistrate shook his head solemnly and said, "Well, if Constable Gaudreau looked at the Magistrate for his cue, he smiled. "The informant did not name himself," he said.

But the defence persisted. "You recognized the voice?" "Yes."

"You presumed it was?" "Hector Lapointe." In fact, High Constable Gaudreau continued, he was now positive it had been Hector Lapointe.

When Bilodeau was stopped by the two officers, he did not then realize that he had been tricked. In fact, his first thought was to "protect" his friend, Lapointe; and that was why he dashed away in his car, leaving Precourt, bewildered, in the custody of a police officer, he told the Court in giving evidence.

"I lost my head," he explained. He drove up King street east and turned toward the Exhibition Grounds. Suddenly he thought there might be another parcel in the back seat. He felt in the back with one hand and found that this was so. It was a bag. Precourt had taken out only the satchel. Bilodeau threw the bag out of the car. He continued on his way. Gaudreau was in the rear, following, but apparently lost him. Afterwards Bilodeau realized that he should not have run away. He tried to remedy that, he said. He returned to Sherbrooke and phoned the police. The municipal officers said they had not heard about any man named Precourt being arrested. After that Bilodeau went home to Asbestos. He left town the following morning, and when he returned two days later was told his car had been seized.

The car had been seized in his absence by Constable Lemieux, of the R.C.M.P. Bilodeau was notified of the seizure. A few days later, Bilodeau—then realizing his position—phoned Sergeant Eld, of the R.C.M.P. He had nothing to hide, he said. He was not mixed up in the liquor traffic—directly or indirectly—and did not intend to be.

It was here that the case was remanded. The prosecution desired an adjournment to produce other witnesses. Seraphino Precourt did not quite know what it was all about, one was led to believe when he gave testimony in his own defense. "You're the accused in this case," he was asked—an unnecessary question, true; but a formality. He grinned sheepishly and said, "He looked like it." He had been unaware there was anything in the rear of Bilodeau's car until they reached Sherbrooke and were approached by the police, he declared. There had been nothing when they had left Asbestos. At East Angus in a hotel he had seen Bilodeau talk to a man he later learned was Lapointe. They seemed to be good friends.

When Bilodeau ordered him to take the parcels out of the back seat of the automobile upon their being stopped by the officers, he grabbed the grip and started off. He didn't know where he was going—but he was going. Constable Broome commanded him to stop and he did. The constable opened the grip and Precourt was astounded at the contents.

Just then Bilodeau abandoned him. "What worried me most," exclaimed Precourt, "was that I was left alone with Broome."

"He couldn't understand French—and I couldn't speak English!"

CHARGED WITH FALSE PRETENCES Jack J. Turner, formerly of Sherbrooke, who was arrested by High Constable Gaudreau in Montreal this week, appeared before the District Magistrate yesterday afternoon on a charge of false pretences.

His case was remanded, Turner is accused of having, on August 12, unlawfully given a cheque, drawn upon the Royal Bank of Canada, Sherbrooke branch, payable to the order of Echenberg Brothers, for the amount of $15. The cheque was signed Turner Canvas Goods, per J. J. Turner.

EUGENE DENAULT GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE Eugene Denault, indigent, who refuses to work for the assistance he receives from the municipal kitchen, appeared before the District Magistrate yesterday afternoon on a charge of refusing to support his family. He was found guilty and given a suspended sentence.

Denault has become a familiar figure in the local court. Several weeks ago a similar charge was laid against him, but was dismissed by Judge Couture because it had been taken in the name of the city and not the King.

He returned home and continued his persistent refusal to work for the city. If he had to work, he declared, he wanted money—not merely clothing and food.

He is the father of several children and the city is determined he will work for the assistance that he receives from the authorities.

Denault was arrested again and another charge lodged against him. He was given a severe lecture by the Magistrate yesterday.

"Some of the comforts of civilization are the result of a single discovery. Others have evolved almost imperceptibly through generations of gradual progress.

"Connoisseurs are beginning to realize that Canada has developed, through years of trial and error, a type of cheese which, when it is perfectly matured and skillfully handled, is fit to be ranked with the most famous cheeses of Europe.

"A newspaper in Sherbrooke complained recently that such Canadian cheese is hard to come by.

"I admit you cannot find it everywhere, but it does exist."

Strong Canadian cheese of the finest quality is carefully matured and sold only when it reaches perfection at

TEACHER LEAPS TO DEATH FROM PLANE

Searching parties scoured fields near Annapolis, Md., for the body of a woman—believed to be Miss Marjorie Fletcher (above) of Forestville, N. Y., who chartered an airplane, sailed at her pilot, and then leaped 2000 feet to death. Miss Fletcher, a 37-year-old former school teacher, had been unable to obtain a position.

LENNOXVILLE

SCOUT ASSOCIATION HOLD SUCCESSFUL GATHERING That the Lennoxville Troop of Boy Scouts has strong and energetic backing was proved yesterday afternoon, when the food sale and tea sponsored by the Ladies' Association of Boy Scouts and held in the Women's Institute room, proved a splendid success, in spite of the fact that an incessant down-pour of rain continued the whole afternoon.

The brightly-lighted room with its tea tables, to which autumn flowers lent themselves as centres, looked very attractive to the guests, as the president of the Association Mrs. J. G. Morrison, welcomed them at the door. Mrs. L. Bozer, convener of the tea committee, with several members as helpers, waited on the visitors, Mrs. William

Simultaneously with the serving of afternoon tea a sale was carried on. A long table filled with specimens of the culinary art, was presided over by Mrs. J. G. Trenholm, many customers anticipating week-end needs by purchasing a supply of home-made cooking.

At a table covered with articles of utility in the kitchen, Mrs. Everett, and Mrs. W. S. Stewart acted as salesladies, while Mrs. Arthur Coates acted as cashier. Among those attending were many mothers of Scouts and other interested friends of the Scout movement.

General Notes. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hedeon, of Manchester, Conn.; Miss Evelyn Peterson, of Windsor, Conn.; and Miss Mary A. Donoley, R.N., of Hartford, Conn., have returned to their homes after spending the past week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Peterson, "Rockholm," Church street.

COULD NOT LIFT A TEASPOON

Now He Moves 220 lbs.

RHEUMATISM MASTERED People told him he would never work again. It is true he is 70 years of age—but he soon proved the prophets to be wrong. For now he sometimes does 12 hours a day. Let him tell you about it:—

I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with Rheumatism. I could not brush my hair, wash myself nor lift a teaspoon. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young one today. I can move 220 lbs. now. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my tea and I have recommended them to many. I could not get out of bed myself, nor sit up. My wife had to put a towel round my neck to help me. I was a lump of trouble. But see me work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have done it.—G. J.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid but of other body poisons which undermine the health. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Nineteen new cases of infantile paralysis in the last twenty-four hours were reported today to the city health department, an increase of four over the previous day. For the second consecutive day, no deaths have been reported.

NOTED MUSICIANS VISITING SHERBROOKE

In the above picture members of the famous Montreal Citadel Band of the Salvation Army are seen grouped on the steps of the New York City Hall where they recently visited. These same musicians are this week-end guests of the people of Sherbrooke, and while here will make several public appearances. Recognized as the finest band in Canada at the present time, the group of fifty-outstanding musicians will give a musical festival, at eight o'clock this evening in the 53rd Army, William Street. Divisional Commander for Montreal and Ottawa division. On Sunday afternoon at two o'clock they will give an open air concert in Lennoxville, at three-thirty o'clock they will make their appearance in Portland Square and at seven o'clock in the evening will take part in the service at Plymouth United Church, when Col. Peacock will again speak. On their way back to Montreal the band will stop off at Magog at eight-fifteen o'clock and give a concert.

INTERNATIONAL FINAL FOR U. S. CHAMPIONSHIP

"Sandy" Somerville First Canadian to Reach Final for U. S. Golf Title—Opposes Johnny Goodman, Who Yesterday Eliminated Ouimet.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 17.—Johnny Goodman, the young Nebraskan who was not good enough to represent Uncle Sam in the recent Walker Cup matches, today carried United States' hopes in the first international battle for the U. S. amateur golf championship since 1928.

The twenty-two year old star from Omaha, who is the youngest finalist since Dobby Jones first won in 1924, was paired with Rosa (Sandy) Somerville, the steady shooting Canadian from London, Ont., in the thirty-six-hole final over Five Farms course here.

Yesterday Goodman defeated the defending champion who also was captain of the United States cup team in the engagements with the British squad, in the semi-finals, by four and two. Francis Ouimet was the third successive Walker Cup nominee Goodman had repulsed. Previously he took the measure of Charles Seaver and Maurice McCarty.

Somerville passed into championship round with a seven and six victory over Jesse Guilford, of Boston, the 1921 titleholder. Not since Bobby Jones turned back Phil Perkins, of England, four years ago has the shadow of a foreign threat fallen over the late stages of this tournament.

Only once, when Harold Hilton, of Liverpool, England, won in 1911, has the United States championship left this country, but Somerville was conceded a fair chance to carry the handsome Hoveyver Trophy to Canada.

Of these two new championship round figures, Somerville has been playing remarkably steady and frequently brilliant golf. The Canadian bettered the record course in the third round with a 68, two under par for the difficult Five Farms layout. He had Guilford at his mercy almost from the start today. Yet in spite of "Sandy's" great golf the statistics reveal he would have been five down to Goodman yesterday in the thirty-six hole, which was as far as Somerville had to go to dispose of Guilford.

Goodman had the shots yesterday to cover a wide range of emergencies, and there were, in fact, many of them for the youngster to face. Through the decisive middle stages of the match, Goodman wiped out Ouimet's early lead and forged himself into a margin that proved too much for the champion's belated rally to offset.

From the seventh hole in the morning to the twenty-fourth hole in the afternoon an eighteen-hole stretch, Goodman used exactly 66 strokes. Ouimet's 70 over the same stretch was not good enough to hold the rampaging westerner in check.

They were deadlocked after the morning round, but on the first seven holes of the afternoon, Goodman became four up and just about clinched the decision. He won three of these holes with birdies, aided by a twenty-foot putt on the twentieth hole and two marvelous pitch shots "dead" in the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth pins. For the first twenty-seven holes Goodman had only forty-four putts, just two under par for the greens.

Typical of the skill Goodman exhibited in making recoveries were his shots on the short thirteenth and sixteenth in the morning. On the first, Johnny's tee shot was hidden in thick underbrush. He had to back into the bushes to get even a half swing, but he connected brilliantly to put his ball on the green and save a half. Then, from a trap on the sixteenth he almost holed out, his ball stopping a foot from the cup to save another half.

Whether these developments were discouraging or not to Ouimet, he failed to display his usual brilliance on the greens until it was too late. The veteran's final rally gave him three out of five straight holes coming back over the last nine.

Somerville's rout of Guilford knocked none of the thrills of the Goodman-Ouimet duel, which had a gallery of more than 2,000 spectators in turmoil most of the afternoon. Not even the help of the members of the state militia, assigned to work with the club's own police forces, could keep fans from stampeding frequently in the rush to see every shot. The result was that at times the gallery obstructed Somerville's march, but he had his match so well in hand that he did not need to do much worrying about that.

Guilford, who held the championship in 1921 and has long been known as one of the game's greatest sluggers, failed at times even to outslug Somerville. Big Jesse generally had a good edge off the tee, but he was so much wiser that extra distance did not mean anything. The Canadian was not only much steadier up to the greens, but much more consistent on them.

Six up after the morning round, Somerville won the first two holes of the afternoon round before Guilford made any kind of a stand. The Canadian clinched the match with five successive winning holes, from the sixteenth through the twentieth, and then pulled enough shots out of his bag to discourage Guilford's attempted comeback.

CHICAGO WON CLOSE VERDICT OVER PHILLIES

Hartnett's Home Run Started Cubs on Way to Victory Which Increased Their Margin Over Pittsburgh to Six Games.

New York, Sept. 17.—With all the talk of the Yankees' wrecking crew and what they are likely to do to the Chicago Cubs' pitching in the approaching world series, it might be timely to point out that the Cubs boast a pretty fair game breaker-upper of their own in big Gabby Hartnett, the Florida backstop.

If the Chicagoans win in the National League, which they will, barring a major catastrophe, the Yank curvers will do well to work on Hartnett very carefully. He is hitting like a ton of bricks for manager Charley Grimm, specializing in home runs where they will do the most good.

Hartnett's smash over the right field wall in the third inning, his fifth in eight games, started the Cubs on the way to their three to two victory over the Phillies yesterday. It was Gabby's twelfth homer of the year, placing him second only to Johnny Moore among the club's distance sluggers. Moore has hit for the circuit thirteen times.

As all the other National League teams were idle, the victory planted the Cubs a full six games ahead of the second place Pittsburgh Pirates, with only nine to go. They now need to win only five more, even if the Pirates capture all of their remaining eleven, to pick up the marbles.

Bud Tinning, who took Burleigh Grimes' place as one of the Cubs' starting pitchers, went the route yesterday, keeping nine Phillies hits well placed. Ed Holley also pitched for the Phils, yielding seven hits, but an error by Chuck Klein cost him a run.

Appearing in Chicago for the last time before they go back to tackle the Cubs in the big series, the coasting Yankees scored a four to one win over the White Sox. Willy Moore and Dan MacFayden conspired to allow the Sox only "five hits, while the American League champions jumped on Sam Jones for five hits and three runs to sew it up in the third inning.

At Simmons' thirty-third home run of the year with Cochran in base helped "Lefty" Grove, of the Athletics, take a close decision from Irving (Bump) Hadley, of St. Louis, by three to two. The A's made only six hits off Hadley. Oscar Melillo knocked in both Brown runs.

Ivy Paul Andrews, who missed being in the World Series money when the Yankees traded him to Boston in the MacFayden deal, pitched the Red Sox to a closing six to two triumph over Cleveland, leaving ten Indians stranded in Washington took its season final from Detroit by eight to three, Alvin Crowder setting the Tigers down with three hits, two of them by Heine Schulte.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE RESULTS

Yesterday's International League games resulted as follows:
Montreal 7, Buffalo 5.
Baltimore 3, Albany 1.
Rochester 2, Toronto 1.
Toronto 3, Rochester 1.

MALAYA OFFERS A GOOD MARKET FOR CANADIANS

Believed Quite a Good Market for Canadian Lumber, Flour and Canned Fish Could Be Built Up.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—Canada has a splendid opportunity to market her products in Malaya, A. W. Hamilton, former police commissioner of Johore, said here.

It was quite possible, he said, that a considerable demand could be built up there for Canadian lumber, flour and canned fish. If suitable methods of refrigeration were employed the Malaya Peninsula would import as much cream as Canada was prepared to offer, such salad vegetables as lettuce and celery might also be sold there if adequate refrigeration facilities were available.

The key to the situation, Mr. Hamilton said, however, was the question of the terms of Canadian Pacific steamships. If Singapore were made the terminus, instead of Manila, trade with Malaya would be greatly stimulated.

In exchange, he said Malaya was anxious to sell canned pineapples to Canada.

KAYE DON IS NO LONGER A "PERPETUAL BACHELOR"

Speed Wizard of Motorboat and Auto Racing Famed Married to Ailee Martin, of Greenwich, Conn.

New York, Sept. 17.—Kaye Don, British speed wizard of motorboat and auto racing fame, sailed for Europe today—no longer the "perpetual bachelor" he liked to call himself.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Martin, of Greenwich, Conn., officially pronounced, disclosed that Don and their daughter, Ailee, twenty-one years old, were married in Greenwich on Friday morning.

"Of course, we're married but we wanted to keep it secret," said the bride as she sat at a farewell dinner with her husband last night. A few hours later Don sailed on the Olympic.

Mrs. Don will follow him next week and they will spend their honeymoon on Lake Como.

RAIN MENACING FINAL MATCHES OF TOURNAMENT

Miss F. Miller Defeated Miss MacNamara Yesterday—Final Games Scheduled for Tomorrow if Weather Permits.

Rain today threatened to postpone the final stage in the St. Francis Tennis Club tourney.

Yesterday the game between Miss F. Miller and Miss MacNamara, interrupted the previous day by darkness, was completed. Miss Miller won the third set, and the match, by 7-5.

If inclement weather conditions interfere with the men's semi-finals this afternoon, the games will be played tomorrow if that is possible.

At 1:30 o'clock, A. W. Bishop will play Mac Dunsmore, and at 2:30 o'clock Bob Dunsmore will encounter A. Ledoux. The finals in the men's section will be played at 4:30 o'clock. Miss B. Langley will play Mrs. Norman Lowe in the ladies' singles semi-finals tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. At eleven o'clock, Miss H. Wolfe will meet Miss Fany Miller. The finals, if the games are played according to schedule, will be staged at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

VON GRONAU CONTINUES AROUND-THE-WORLD FLIGHT

Tokyo, Sept. 17.—Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, German flier who is making a flight around the world by easy stages, made a forced landing in bad weather in the Sea of Hirasaka today, twenty-five miles southwest of Yokohama.

After less than two hours he was able to resume his flight to Nagoya, however, and landed there at 3:55 p.m. He took off for Nagoya this morning from Kasumigaura airport, near here.

England, has lived here several years. After the World War he chivalry prominent, disclosed that Don and their daughter, Ailee, twenty-one years old, were married in Greenwich on Friday morning.

AERIAL ATTACK ON PARAGUAYAN CITY DEMANDED

Report that Paraguayan Troops Are Bayonetting Red Cross Stretcher Bearers Arousing Crowds in Bolivian Capital.

La Paz, Bolivia, Sept. 17.—An aerial bombardment of Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, was demanded today by crowds of people here, after reports said Paraguayan troops were bayonetting Red Cross stretcher bearers in the battle at Fort Boqueron, in the Chaco.

The battle entered its ninth day today and officials said the Bolivian flag was still flying. The Bolivian defenders of the fort, a high official said, numbered about 2,000 and they were faced by between 8,000 and 10,000 Paraguayans, soldiers and civilians, armed with all kinds of weapons.

Reports that stretcher-bearers were being bayoneted were denied by Paraguayan officials at Asuncion.

Great crowds surged through the streets last night shouting their demand that the Bolivian air force wreak retribution by bombing the Paraguayan capital.
