

Die By Firing Squad

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — A firing squad executed anti-Castro rebel leader Manuel Beaton and two accomplices at dawn today. The end came for the 30-year-old former army captain, his brother Cipriano, and Felipe Martinez a little more than 24 hours after a military tribunal convicted them of leading an abortive revolt against Fidel Castro in the Sierra Maestra last spring and killing a peasant militia leader. The tribunal deliberated only 17 minutes in reaching its verdict.

Beaton and his tiny band of insurgents were captured last week after roaming the mountains of eastern Cuba for more than six months.

Five other members of the band were sentenced to prison terms ranging from five to 30 years. Seven youths were ordered to reformatories until they reach maturity. One was acquitted.

The three condemned men were accused specifically of killing Maj. Francisco (Pancho) Tamayo, an officer of Fidel Castro's forces who went unarmed into the Oriente Province hills to persuade the gang to surrender.

Nyasaland Emergency Concludes

ZOMBA, Nyasaland (Reuters) — The state of emergency in Nyasaland, in effect for 15 months, has been ordered ended Thursday, and authoritative sources predict agreement soon by British authorities to a Negro majority in the legislature of this Central African territory.

Governor Sir Robert Armitage said today he was satisfied that although things were "not entirely normal, it now is possible to abandon the powers provided by the emergency regulations without endangering public safety."

The lifting of the emergency was expected here and observers said the "next logical" step would be British agreement to the Negro majority in the protectorate Parliament for Nyasaland, smallest and poorest country in the Rhodesian Federation.

Dr. Hastings Banda, Malawi congress party leader, will talk with Colonial Secretary Iain MacLeod in London at the end of next month on Nyasaland's political development.

Another Change For B.N.A. Act

OTTAWA — Parliament, obviously embarrassed over still having to seek London's approval for Canadian constitutional amendments, took the first step Tuesday night toward another in the long series of changes in the British North America Act of 1867.

Over Liberal objections but with socialist approval, the Commons carried the Progressive Conservative government's motion for "a humble address" to the United Kingdom Parliament, asking it to write into the B.N.A. Act a compulsory retirement at age 75 for judges of the provincial superior, county and district courts.

At present, judges of the superior courts the senior trial and appeal courts in the provinces, by whatever name they are called are appointed for life under the constitution, being removable only on the so-called "joint address" of the Commons and the Senate—a machinery that has never been used.

As for the county and district court judges, the act provides only for their appointment by the federal government. However, a separate act of Parliament has since 1913 set their retirement age at 75. The present proposal is to transfer this compulsory retirement to the constitution.

Moscovites Must Cut Carousing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Moscow city council Tuesday banned public carousing. In a sweeping ordinance aimed at eliminating the centuries-old practice of drinking in the streets and at public spectacles, the council established on-the-spot fines for offenders.

The ordinance also ordered singers and musicians to stay off the streets between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. And it banned the loud playing of radios and musical instruments between the same hours.

Curfew for school children was included in the new law, which goes into effect today. Parents may be fined for violations.

RELIGION A FACTOR

Religion is a traditional factor when parties choose their candidates. The makeup of Conservative and Liberal tickets in the 17 multiple-seat ridings is, in many cases, carefully considered in the light of religious feelings.

In Saint John, a party veering from Protestants and one Roman Catholic for the four city seats is in deep political waters before the campaign ship even leaves shore. The same holds true for Northumberland where a ticket must have two Protestants and one French and one Irish Catholic. In Moncton, a French-speaking and an English-speaking candidate are necessities on the two-seat ticket.

Police Hunt Man

TORONTO (CP)—A country-wide police search was on today to flush a murder suspect wanted in connection with the death of the peroxide blonde whose body was shipped in a trunk to Argentina, Nfld.

The mystery turned into a manhunt Tuesday after RCMP fingerprint records identified the woman as Mrs. Marjorie Scott, 37. Toronto police issued a warrant charging Leonard Eade, 39, with murder, although they had no confirmation of the case of death.

A police spokesman here predicted an early arrest as more than 100 officers launched a door-to-door search for the suspect, identified by tattoos on his arms and a scar on his neck.

"He may be holed up in a cellar somewhere," said Aubrey Potter, sergeant of detectives. "We're working hard to get him."

Inquiries in Canada and the United States had failed to identify the body since CNR spokesman Thomas Donovan pried open the unclaimed trunk June 7. The battered trunk, addressed to a Mrs. Williams, had been at the station since May 16.

NO SIGNS OF VIOLENCE
An autopsy showed no signs of violence. Parts of the body are being examined at the RCMP crime laboratories at Sackville, N.B., both poisoning and suffocation.

Ratification Postponed

US Must Remain Strong And Faithful To Friends

MANILA — (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States must remain "strong and faithful to its friends" in the face of Russia's current anti-American offensive.

The American leader, hailed again by thousands of friendly Filipinos after a stupendous welcome Tuesday, assailed international communism as the single most important breeder of world tension.

Eisenhower spoke out in a major foreign policy address to a joint session of the Philippine Congress. It was the first in a series he will make during his 10-day tour of the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and Korea.

The president said the actions of the U.S. must make clear that "propaganda pressures, rocket rattling and even open aggression are bound to fail."

Cheers and whistles greeted the president on his arrival in the legislative chamber.

FEAR NATIONALISM
"Communist leaders fear constructive nationalism as a mortal foe," he said. "This fear is evident in the continuing efforts of the Communist conspiracy to penetrate nationalist movements, to prevent them, and to pirate them for their own evil objectives."

"They use force and threats of force, subversion and bribery, to prevent them, and to pirate them for their own evil objectives."

Basque Priests Charge Brutality

MADRID (AP) — More than 300 Basque priests have protested to their bishops that civil liberties have been violated by the Spanish government and there were indications Tuesday they are trying to make their protest nationwide.

A letter signed by 339 Roman Catholic priests of the four Basque dioceses—Bilbao, Pamplona, San Sebastian and Victoria—was sent to their bishops May 30, church sources said. Copies were sent to all other Spanish bishops and to Msgr. Hildebrando Antonietti, papal nuncio in Madrid, and to the Vatican.

So far there have been no reaction from the church hierarchy.

The letter accused Spanish police of using brutal methods in handling prisoners and charged the government with "trampling on liberty of conscience, liberty of public opinion, freedom for trade unions and political liberty."

Twenty-six persons were hurt in clashes between railway authorities and left-wing unionists who stopped or forced cancellation of nearly 800 early-morning trains in a widespread area from Hokkaido in the north to Kyushu in the south.

The train tieup was followed by 30-to-60 minute work stoppages in more than 6,000 post offices, and demonstrations in many cities.

Nuclear Reactor Posed No Danger

HONOLULU — (AP) — One man was unofficially reported missing today after a fire aboard the United States nuclear submarine Sargo at Pearl Harbor.

The one-hour blaze Tuesday was put out after the 2,500-ton submarine was partially submerged, a U.S. Navy spokesman said.

The fire, which broke out in the stern or torpedo room, at no time endangered the atomic craft, the navy said.

The afterstern, or torpedo compartment, was immediately sealed and flooded and the stern half of the ship was submerged shortly after the fire broke out while the submarine was tied along the dock.

Cause of the fire was attributed by navy spokesmen to a rupture in the liquid oxygen line near the after torpedo room. The submarine was taking on a supply of liquid oxygen.

Oxygen for breathing purposes is brought to the dock in compressed liquid form because it is easier to store, but is put aboard in gaseous form in large bottles.

The navy said early today that no determination officially had been made of casualties. But a spokesman said: "One man cannot be accounted for. Until the submarine cools off and the compartment is freed of water, we will not be able to determine whether he was in the room."

One member of the navy public information office said he heard "a small whoomp" when the fire broke out. The office is about half a mile from the submarine.

Two fire boats immediately sprayed foam over the smoking vessel while flames shot out briefly from the stern room. The area was immediately cleared as firemen fought the blaze from the dock.

The spokesman said there was "absolutely no danger from an explosion in the nuclear reactor compartment."

The Sargo won fame after a historic under-ice winter exploration cruise of the Arctic basin, including the North Pole. It returned to its Pearl Harbor base March 3 after spending a total of 31 days under ice. It surfaced 20 times through ice up to three feet thick, and logged over 6,000 miles.

Its skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. John H. Nicholson, 35, was awarded the Legion of Merit for the under-ice cruise.

"Will Find Means"

Trois-Rivieres Bridge Promised By Lesage

QUEBEC (CP) — Liberal Leader Jean Lesage Tuesday night talked about building a bridge in Trois-Rivieres and won a burst of loud applause from about 3,000 persons attending his campaign rally in that industrial city on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, halfway between Montreal and Quebec City.

Mr. Lesage, entering the Lome stretch in the battle for votes in the June 22 provincial election, one week from today, said a Liberal government will find the means to build a bridge across the St. Lawrence at Trois-Rivieres.

Construction of such a bridge has been sought by Trois-Rivieres residents for years.

Premier Antonio Barrette, spending the day in and around Montreal, said he is trying to bring "something new and fresh" to political life in Quebec.

UN To Take Over

Debate Eichmann Case

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Argentina gave notice that it would ask the United Nations Security Council today to take up its charge that an Israeli group's removal of Adolf Eichmann violated Argentine sovereignty.

Israel meanwhile stood firm in its refusal to return the former Nazi official charged with helping to direct the extermination of 6,000,000 Jews during the Second World War.

Eichmann will be tried by an Israeli court, the legal adviser to the Israeli foreign minister declared in Jerusalem, rejecting suggestions that an international tribunal judge the case.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Mario Amadeo, Argentine ambassador to the U.N., discussed the dispute for two hours Tuesday at headquarters here without reaching any agreement.

Mrs. Meir later told reporters the meeting was friendly, but refused to give details of what was said.

There is some speculation that the talks might be continued on a higher level. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi are both touring Europe, and it is possible that they may meet in Belgium or France next week.

In Jerusalem, Israeli legal adviser Shabtai Rosenne said Eichmann would be tried on the basis of the joint declaration by the Soviet, United States and British governments on Oct. 30, 1943, that "Nazi war criminals may be tried and punished by the peoples whom they have outraged."

Rosenne added that Eichmann will also be tried under an Israeli law promulgated in 1950 for punishment of Nazis and Nazi collaborators.

Josephine Baker Arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Internationally-famous singer Josephine Baker was arrested and jailed for more than two hours Tuesday night.

She and her manager Stephen Papiach are to appear in court today to answer charges of bringing stolen goods into Canada.

Miss Baker, 54, American-born but a citizen of France for many years, came to Montreal to perform at the Pagan Blue Club in nearby St. Martin, near Montreal, and to arrange for the adoption of a Canadian baby girl.

Provincial police, acting on a private warrant signed by a New York impresario, jailed Miss Baker 20 minutes before her first show was to go on.

Value of the allegedly stolen goods was not disclosed.

She and Mr. Papiach were hauled out for $2,000 cash by club owner Leon Jeannotte shortly after midnight and Miss Baker rushed back to the roadhouse to do her second act of the evening.

It was the second time in two days that singers from France have been in trouble with the law.

New Tie-Up On Missiles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two big labor unions today placed picket lines at key plants and bases which handle a major part of the United States space and missile program.

The new strike hit Lockheed and Douglas plants across the country. Already being picketed were air force bases where Convair has Atlas missile facilities.

Tied up by the multiple walk-outs were these factories producing high-priority material:

The army's nuclear-armed Douglas Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile, now operational and on Nike sites at major U.S. cities.

The navy's fleet ballistic missile, the submarine-launched Lockheed Polaris, which the navy says should be operational by the end of the year.

Three Lockheed-built air force satellites: The Discoverer research vehicle, and Samos reconnaissance satellite and the missile-launch detection spy, Midas.

Picketers haven't yet closed down the Convair San Diego, Calif., plant building the big Atlas—the only operational A.S. intercontinental ballistic missile. But pickets have previously crippled Convair operations at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., where the Atlases are launched.

The new strikes — together making up the first big walkout of the missile-and-jet age aircraft industry — involved 31,500 union men and women.

The International Association of Machinists and the United Auto Workers called the strikes to enforce wage-and-fringe-benefit demands in current contract talks. Talks with both unions were still continuing.

Cancer Talks Blame Virus

HONEY HARBOUR, Ont. — The search for the cause of cancer is veering sharply back along an old and once nearly discredited path—the trail of the virus.

The fourth Canadian Cancer Conference, which has attracted some of the foremost scientists in this field to Honey Harbour for four days of lectures and discussion, set aside the entire day Tuesday to hear reports on the subject.

A virus is a tiny particle of protein and nucleic acid which can only multiply within a cell.

About Television

by Cynthia Lowry

NEW YORK (AP)—The three television networks are in a giant contest to provide the most complete, fastest and smoothest coverage of the forthcoming American political conventions.

ABC seems to be out ahead in offering the most luxurious facilities to its commentators and convention delegates. It plans to have a room where weary staff members and tired politicians may repair for a revitalizing whiff of oxygen and a rest in vibrating chairs while breathing negatively charged air, whatever that is.

And, speaking of politics, chairmen of both major United States parties were among the speakers at a session held by the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences here the other day. They said they do not think TV has brought about any greater public interest in politics, although it has changed campaign techniques.

Poll-taker Elmo Roper, another speaker, said he doesn't think TV influences voting much.

are finally getting down to a weight where they can be carried by other than muscle men.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here is news of a sort—a teen-age girl who refuses to date Elvis Presley.

She's Leticia Roman, who is appearing with the mobile singer in G. I. Blues. She explains: "It would seem too much like a publicity date. Besides, I don't think my parents would approve."

Let me add that Leticia is not an average teen-ager in other respects, either. She is a beauty whose long tresses and sultry voice remind you of Lauren Bacall and whose mature outlook makes her seem older than her 18 years. Though she looks and sounds American, she came from her native Rome only 18 months ago, unable to speak English.

REMAIN SINGLE
WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) Three of every 100 German men remain lifelong bachelors, and five of every 100 women fail to marry, says the statistical office here. Half a century ago 13 per cent of the men and 14 per cent of the women remained single.

SHE'S NO STRANGER
Leticia is making her first movie, but she's no stranger to the film world. Her father is Nino Novarese, author of the novel Wild Is the Wind. He also has labored in the movie studios for 35 years as designer and art consultant.

Most of that time was spent in Rome, but a year and a half ago he was brought here to design costumes for Epartacus.

Because of demands for her father's services, their stay was extended, and Leticia set about the task of learning the new language. She worked with Gladys Vogeler, MGM coach who has helped many a foreign star talk understandable English.

She also studied dramatics with 20th Century - Fox coach Sandy Meisner. The studio offered her a contract at a microscopic salary. She refused it, and the deal for G. I. Blues and a contract with Hal Wallis came up. Fox will be sorry.

Education Great Need

Says South African Natives Not Ready To Rule Selves

A recent resident of South Africa, L. W. Adams, now with the Triotec Company here, gave members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club some idea of the complex problems facing the inhabitants of this strife-torn country in his address to the club last night.

The natives (blacks) are not ready for self government, he said. Their greatest need is for education, but under the existing government they are getting less and less.

Describing them as a very backward people, denied the same privileges as whites, Mr. Adams said that for quite a period they were taught in mission schools, run for the most part by government grants. In the past few years, however, the government has refused these grants and some schools have been forced to close.

Almost all whites believe in some kind of segregation, Mr. Adams pointed out, some for their own comfort (servants), some as a cheap source of labor and some, the Afrikaners, simply as racial policy.

The Afrikaners, descendants of the original Dutch settlers (Boers) who came to the Cape around 1652 to use it as a refueling station on the way to the East Indies, have a completely different temperament, he said. They believe God created the blacks separate from the whites and it should remain so.

The missionaries were the first to put the natives (Bantus) into reserves to educate them. They arrived with the British some time after 1700.

Reserves now occupy some 12 per cent of the country, Mr. Adams stated.

But apart from the natives and the whites, there are also colored people, he said, evolved from the whites, Hottentots and Bushmen. These people belong neither to the one class nor the other. Some who had thought they were white have discovered colored ancestors and have had to move to the colored area. Others who looked a bit darker than is usual have been classified as colored even though they are white, he added. Various members of the same family have been known to have been classified as both white and colored.

The problem has magnified since the government has made all people carry identification cards.

Natives that work in town or in industry live either in a compound or hostel in town or just outside town. Those in hotels are subjected to raids by police without warning and if found without their pass book as identification, are flogged or jailed.

The native is generally a poor worker, very slow, and though he is occasionally promoted, strict laws prohibit it generally.

At one time natives were allowed into University with whites, but now they must have their own.

Segregation is also evident in shops where the blacks must wait for all whites to be served; in buses; separate for each; on beaches etc.

Bourque Defends 25-Year Record; Brousseau Says UN Scandal-Ridden

Finance Minister Hits Destructive Criticism

By CUTHBERT JONES
 (Record Staff Writer)

"In the 25 years I have represented this county at Quebec, I do not believe I have brought any dishonor upon my city, my province or my country," Finance Minister J. S. Bourque, Union Nationale candidate in Sherbrooke county, told an audience of over 600 which crowded St. Sacrement parish hall in East Sherbrooke.

Seeking his eighth term as Member of the Legislative Assembly for Sherbrooke, Mr. Bourque was supported by Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Maurice Allard, MP for Sherbrooke.

The Finance Minister devoted a substantial portion of his comparatively brief address to an attack on those who he charged with destructive criticism of the Union Nationale Government and its members.

"They prefer to ignore our accomplishments," said Mr. Bourque, "and talk of scandals which they never prove."

Discussing his policy in connection with the granting of contracts for public works in this area, Mr. Bourque declared:

E. T. FIRMS

"I have always insisted that Sherbrooke contracts be awarded to Sherbrooke firms, that in Eastern Townships counties where there is a local architect or engineer that his services be used. If not, then a Sherbrooke architect or engineer must be used."

"I do not expect a Sherbrooke firm to get work in Montreal. But I insist that Montreal firms keep out of the Sherbrooke area."

Explaining his philosophy on the awarding of public contracts, Mr. Bourque declared:

"I will admit frankly that if conditions of two bids are similar, I will choose that from a friend rather than that of an opponent. I am not ashamed of this and I do not believe you will reproach me for it."

The loud applause which greeted this statement made it obvious that his views were shared by a vast majority of the audience.

It is to the general interest of the province to return the Union Nationale Government,

North Ward Liberal Meeting

Sherbrooke county Union Nationale forces are enjoying a brief respite from speaking activities, with no meetings being scheduled before Saturday night. However, this afternoon an important delegation of party supporters from this district journeyed to Montreal for the mass rally being held by Premier Antonio Barrette at the Showmart.

On the Liberal side, however, campaigning continues in anticipation of next Wednesday's provincial general elections.

Tonight an English-speaking meeting is being held at the Sherbrooke High School, Ontario street, at 8.15. The speakers will be Kenneth Mackay, of Montreal, Paul Gervais and Louis Philippe Brousseau, the party candidate in Sherbrooke.

Tomorrow night the Liberals are holding a rally in St. Anthony's church hall, Lennoxville, with Mr. Brousseau addressing informal gatherings earlier at Huntingville Capelton and Eustis.

Denis Gerin, UN candidate in Stanstead, will hold a social evening with buffet supper for the English-speaking electors of the county at Cabana Lodge, near Magog, from eight to ten. He will be accompanied by Wesley Bradley, Q.C., of Montreal and Sherbrooke.

Pay Increases For Asbestos Workers

THEFTORD MINES — About 6,000 asbestos workers in the Eastern Townships gain pay increases ranging from six to 23 cents hourly under a new labor contract announced Monday night.

The announcement said new two-year agreements providing the increases have been approved by the mining companies and unions representing the workers, culminating negotiations started before the old contracts expired Dec. 31. Several companies have signed and the remainder have agreed to sign shortly.

Mechanical shovel operators receive the biggest increase under the new terms. They get 18 cents the first year and five cents more the second. Their previous basic hourly wage was $2.25.

The increase rates scale down to an hourly boost for laborers of two cents the first year and four more the second. Their former rate was 1.85 an hour.

Companies involved are Lake Asbestos of Quebec, Asbestos Corporation, National Asbestos, Flintkote Limited, Johnson's Limited and Johns-Manville Company.

Says Present Regime Incapable Of Ruling

Addressing an audience of nearly 400 persons at St. Jeanne d'Arc church in the West Ward, Louis Philippe Brousseau, Sherbrooke County Liberal candidate, last night charged that the Union Nationale regime was "scandal ridden," and that it was incapable of administering the province in the best interests of the citizens.

Mr. Brousseau made brief reference to the "Pouliot Affair" and the "Natural Gas affair."

Premier Barrette, he said, had declared on several occasions that he had lost $98 in his dealing with Quebec Natural Gas Corporation stock.

"If Mr. Barrette lost $98 while other cabinet members were making fortunes, then he must be a very poor business man and hardly the man to be Premier of Quebec," Mr. Brousseau commented.

POLICIES DIE

Discussing Union Nationale policy, Mr. Brousseau said:

"When Mr. Duplessis was Premier, he had a firm policy of government, but when he died the policy died with him. Mr. Sauve was next with an entirely different policy. When he died, the policy died with him. Now we have Mr. Barrette with still another policy, and if he dies, it probably will too."

On the other hand, he declared that the Liberal Party has one program, and that all members subscribe to it.

"No matter who is head of the party, the party's policies will remain the same," he added.

Mr. Brousseau attacked the present government as very poor businessmen, and condemned their attitude towards farmers.

"It has reached the point where many farmers are beginning to realize that they have been abandoned by the government," he said.

He was particularly critical of the lack of enforcement of liquor laws and told the audience that he had often seen boys of 15 and 16 consuming liquor.

Mr. Brousseau concluded by outlining the Liberal Party program which he said aims to help all age groups and occupations and particularly the aged. He affirmed that old-age pensions would be raised by $10 a month if his party were elected.

Other speakers at the rally included Dewey Zaor, Center Ward Alderman Carrier Fortin, former Liberal MP Maurice Gingues and Dr. Zepherim Cote who introduced Mr. Brousseau.

A Dedicated Canadian

Canada lost one of her most indefatigable and dedicated public servants in the death of Brooke Claxton Monday.

His passing leaves a void in the ranks of our country's great and good men that will not easily be filled.

Up until the time of his death, Mr. Claxton, in addition to working at his regular job as an insurance executive, put in long, arduous hours as unpaid chairman of the Canada Council.

But long before that he had established a fine and enviable record of public family allowance legislation, was the country's first minister of national health and welfare, and for the last seven and one half of his political career, was the minister of national defence.

Former Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said of Mr. Claxton:

"He leaves the imprint of his energetic and farsighted personality in the many fields of his services to our country."

The imprint will always remain, a fitting memorial to an outstanding citizen.

Visit Of A Patriarch

The Patriarch of the 2,000,000-member Syrian Orthodox Church is in Sherbrooke this week on a short visit.

Mer Ignatius Yacoub III arrived here Sunday. Focal point of his visit will be the Sherbrooke Syrian Orthodox Church and its 1,500 parishioners in the Eastern Townships. The church here is the only Syrian Orthodox Church in Canada.

His Holiness, who comes from Damascus, a part of the world upon which the attention of countries everywhere is focused, had already expressed the view of his church on Communism.

At a press conference Monday, he dispelled any impressions that the rest of the world may have had that the Middle Eastern Arab countries are courting Communism.

He was most emphatic in denouncing the Communist philosophy, and declared that his people did not want Communist domination.

In addition to visiting the Syrian church here, His Holiness is also paying visits to other leaders in the city, and seeing how Canadians live.

The rest of the community will rejoice with our Syrian Orthodox neighbors in His Holiness' presence here.

The richness and influence of their Christian traditions will draw strength anew from the patriarch's visit; strength which will make itself felt in the important place his people fill in Eastern Townships life.

It is heartening, too, for all of us to hear the views of such an influential spiritual leader on the tangled situation in the Middle East. His words are a ray of hope in a picture that often looks dark and gloomy to the free world.

Deliver us from the following seasonal pests:

Weekend drivers who can't pass another car without blaring the horn;

Following foursomes that conduct loud debates over the number of strokes each player has taken;

Fellow workers who invariably come up with family crises as excuses for arriving back late from holidays.

When in Rome do as the Romans do. When in Nepal, keep your cigarettes hidden.

Members of the joint British-Indian-Nepalese Services expedition to Mount Annapurna II were hailed into court last

They were found guilty of smoking in the presence of a village headman and offering cigarettes to others.

A student writing his master's degree thesis at the University of British Columbia has come up with a composite picture of the young man who is popular with the ladies.

He has money, regular access to a car, takes a drink, smokes, wears desert boots, skis, jives, tangos, listens to jazz and plays on some athletic team.

And we thought a master's thesis was supposed to explore new avenues of thought and research.

matter of FACT

Some fish evidently enjoy being tickled—which can lead to their doom. "Fish tickling" is an ancient art known in many parts of the world. It is practiced on trout and other species that bask in clear shallow water. The fisherman gently strokes the sides or belly of a fish, causing it to move backward into his hand.

There will have to be greater professional interest and activity in the planning of better and more varied homes and communities, a radical revision of archaic housing bylaws, and a conscious, deliberate demand for taste and beauty in the community environment.

The report by the architects provides a professional appraisal of Canada's housing, and a provocative program to achieve better values. It is a commendable guide for the future, if Canadians are willing to use it.

"I'VE LINED UP SOME SPARRING PARTNERS FOR YOU, CHAMP!" (Grassick in The Telegram, Toronto)

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir,—The letter from 'a farmer's son', recently published by you, is very interesting.

I agree, it is distressing that the outlook is bleak for so many farmers; but wishful thinking will change nothing.

I can assure your correspondent that there was no miss-print in the report as you published it. May I examine his hypothetical project suggesting that a young man could make a good living on milk sales of $5000.00 a year? It is not hard to obtain a gross return of $5,000.00 from 20 cows, of superior breeding, well fed and cared for. That sort of a herd would be worth $8,000.00. A suitable farm with buildings and machinery would cost not less than $16,000.00. The total capital investment would thus be $24,000.00.

The useful life of a cow averages five years; to maintain a production standard of 8000-lb per cow requires a balanced ration at about 1 in 4 ratio. Thus the yearly value of replacements would be $1600.00 and the cost of milk-feed about $1500.00. That would leave less than $2000.00 for the farmer.

However, a skilled manager could raise replacement stock and most of the grain requirement, by adding say a couple of extra cows and carrying perhaps 18 head of young stock. He would also need a bull or A. I. services. He would have to do extra work and take many risks. The herd would then be about 40 head.

Let me be optimistic and assume that the educated young man can meet all his expenses, pay his taxes, keep his machinery and buildings in repair, for a cash outlay of only $2000.00, leaving $3000.00 for labour and management.

To care for this herd, someone must be out at 5:00 a.m., not finish till 7:00 p.m. and quite often get up in the night—seven days a week. Can one man do that year by year?

A hired man ought to get $1800.00 a year, with a house, milk, wood and light thrown in; but that would leave only $1200.00 for the farmer. Perhaps one could find an imbecile, or part-time man, and so keep $2000.00. Would this be an adequate return for the labour, skill and capital invested?

$24,000.00 put into government bonds will yield $1320.00 a year for the sole efforts of clipping coupons. Why work so hard and take such risks for the rather remote chance of gaining an extra $650.00?

I have argued this project at length because it shows that there is no easy answer. A minor increase in efficiency is not enough to drag the industry from the depths to which it has fallen. For thirty years I have watched our once prosperous Eastern Townships farms going from bad to worse: now I feel myself under an obligation to warn young enthusiasts about the very bleak prospects.

A word to your correspondent,

G. Rickover, father of the nuclear submarine.

He says the U.S.S.R. is more efficient on complicated technical projects "chiefly because she does not subscribe to our quaint notion that top management of projects is a part-time chore for technical amateurs."

Her long-range developmental projects proceed on schedule. Admiral Rickover said, "Ours flounders in a tangle of red tape produced by legions of committees and layers of supervisory administrators—all with great power but little personal responsibility for ultimate success of the work."

not otherwise known to me, will he please make himself known—and help to work towards the solution of this problem, even if he does not venture his labour and capital?

Yours very truly,
J. HARGREAVES,
Chairman, English Committee
Q.C.C. Milk Producers Association.

EXPERTS DON'T NEED

Sometimes an expert seems to have mirrors when he plays the cards, but actually the mirrors are all in his mind where he visualizes the why and the wherefore of his opponents' bids and plays.

My teammate, Vic Mitchell, has one of the best developed of those mirrors and he gained six IMP's for us against Sweden with them. He ducked the opening lead of the king of spades and also ducked the queen. East had signaled so enthusiastically that Vic decided he would show up with five spades to the jack. When West shifted to the king of clubs, Vic could wait no longer. He took that trick and then put his mirror to work.

West had rebid hearts in spite of his partner's pass of one heart and West held nothing above the jack in his suit. Of course, West wasn't vulnerable, but he also wasn't crazy so Vic was sure he held six or seven hearts. West also appeared to have at least six cards in the black suits.

Furthermore, West would probably have a singleton or even a void for his second bid.

Accordingly, Vic led a diamond to dummy's queen, returned the ten of diamonds and let it ride after East played low. West showed out. Now Vic was able to pick up the rest of the diamonds and make four no-trump.

At the other table the Swedish player did not have the advantage of Vic's mirror and went down one trick at the same contract.

Laval University Professor

Starts Controversy Over Politics

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
QUEBEC (CP)—Abbe Gerard Dion, 47, the Laval University professor who with Abbe Louis O'Neill has stirred up a soul-searching controversy over electoral morality in Quebec, matured as a young man at the low point of the Depression in the 1930s.

The cities were then filled with unemployed. Bread lines were a common sight. It was a time of economic and political upheaval. The Roman Catholic labor movement was starting to gain strength with church support.

The Liberal party, in power for many years, was beginning to totter while a newcomer to the political scene, Maurice Duplessis, forged his Union Nationale party from scattered political elements of the day.

Young Gerard saw this with the practical eye of a boy from Ste. Cecile-de-Fontenac, deep in rural Quebec, where he was brought up in a family that regarded education of the 10 children as more important than the frills of urban living.

He saw it too with the sensitivity of a boy living as a boarder in a classical college—at Levis, across the St. Lawrence River from Quebec City—a neat, orderly institution that bore little relation to the uneasy world outside.

Within the walls of this staid institution operated by priests new ideas for bettering the lot of Quebecers were in ferment.

Abbe Lionel Groulx, today Canon Groulx of the University of Montreal, was then in his most active period of preaching new pride in their origins to the people of Quebec.

Gerard Dion was fascinated by the sermons and books of the tall, scholarly priest who gave the young people of the province a new confidence in themselves.

"If I am a priest today, it is largely due to Abbe Groulx," he has said.

The priesthood offered independence of political influence and the opportunity to work toward the betterment of his people in a stable environment.

still is not good but it was really poor at the time—and took on the duties of supervising students during recreation periods. From there he was transferred to suburban Silery parish where he was assistant to the priest for 14 months.

In 1941 the cardinal assigned him to a philosophy and social sciences course at Laval. After two years he went to Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., where he studied industrial relations, a field in which he felt Quebec was deficient.

When he returned to Quebec in 1944 he was given the job of organizing an industrial relations department at Laval. Since most of the textbooks in the industrial relations field were in English, Abbe Dion prepared some 12 books in French which today are used in other Quebec universities.

He edited an industrial relations review published in both English and French.

It was while teaching that he met Abbe O'Neill, 10 years his junior, in 1956, following the provincial elections, they prepared an article for the clergy on immoral practices in Quebec election campaigns. The article found its way into the newspapers and the names of Dion and O'Neill became linked in the public eye for the first time.

The article mentioned no political party but it was widely discussed and from that time any public statements made by the two were publicized. Their names were in the news in connection with controversial labor or political issues.

Since their book "Le Cretien et les Elections" (Elections and the Christian) was published in Montreal, they have not spoken to reporters.

A few days before the book appeared, Most Rev. Paul Bernier, bishop of Gaspé, criticized the two priests without naming them for going over the heads of the bishops and making pronouncements on political issues.

Declaring the bill essential to quick economic recovery, President Hoover has signed the measure which sharply jumps United States tariff rates.

cation have been suggested as causes of death.

Police said Eade, who had been living with Mrs. Scott for about 10 years, left the Toronto rooming house where they were staying May 4, the same day the trunk was shipped from the city.

Born in Delta, Ont., Eade, also known as Ernest Ede, is described as slimly built, five feet, five inches tall, with brown hair and eyes. He is said to have been a machine operator by trade and to have worked for a time as a seaman. Police said he has been known to them for some time.

Mrs. Scott was sentenced at Whitby, Ont., in 1944 to three months in reformatory for theft. She was twice arrested in Kingston, Ont., on a morals charge and for theft but was released on probation.

Her husband, Clement Scott, whom she married as a teenager, served 18 months for the same offence. He is believed to have hanged himself in New Westminster, B.C., in 1958.

LIFE IN DANGER

Mrs. Scott, whose maiden name was Sagar, was born in Napanee, Ont., a brother, Maurice, is in a Kingston sanitarium.

Mrs. William Diminie of Belleville, Ont., who said she is Mrs. Scott's sister, said she received a telegram from Mrs. Scott in Kingston in 1955 asking her to go there quickly and adding, "life still in danger."

Mrs. Diminie said she received a telephone call in February from a man in Toronto who said her sister was "sick with dope." She believed her sister lived in Toledo, Ohio, and Clayton, N.Y., from 1946 until she went to Kingston in 1948.

Mrs. Diminie said she thought Mrs. Scott had been killed by "some dope gang."

A Toronto landlady reported that Mrs. Scott and a Newfoundland man were evicted from her home last December for failing to pay rent. Their belongings included a trunk similar to the one in which the body was found. The landlady added that a second man had beaten Mrs. Scott and threatened her with a gun.

A Napanee woman who asked to remain anonymous, said she attended a reception following Mrs. Scott's marriage to Eade in 1947 in Kingston, where he

The Liberals talked of scandals, but Liberal Leader Jean Lesage never spoke of the scandals connected with the new federal government printing plant at Hull or the Jacques Cartier bridge toll collections which occurred while he was a minister in the federal government.

The only way Quebec can hope to regain its taxation rights is through the return of the Union Nationale government, Maurice Allard declared.

The Union Nationale had a record of protecting the rights of the province and had already reclaimed some of the taxation powers assigned to Ottawa as a war measure.

The Liberal leaders, he said, were all centralizers.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of Ald. Robert Gauthier and Ald. Felix Thibault with Andre Langlais acting as master of ceremonies.

next Wednesday, the candidate continued.

An important conference on federal-provincial relations is coming up in July, Mr. Bourque stated, and the interests of Quebec can be protected only by a party that will fight for its rights.

Answering Liberal charges that the hospital insurance plan was being delayed so that the Union Nationale could use the payment of hospital accounts as a means of election propaganda, Mr. Bourque said that recently legislation had been approved giving the government certain discretionary powers to pay hospital accounts for persons not covered by the general law. But these payments were made without regard to the political color of the beneficiaries.

Hon. Paul Beaulieu, the first speaker of the evening, reviewed the record of the Union Nationale in the field of social legislation, which included the introduction of old age pensions, aid to the blind, the invalids, widows and needy mothers.

The Liberals were critical of the industrial expansion rate in this province, but Quebec province was attracting new industries at a faster rate than anywhere else in Canada. Indication of this was the fact the population of Sherbrooke had doubled in the past 15 years and other urban centres showed corresponding growth. Mr. Beaulieu said. Three new steel mills are now being installed along the St. Lawrence seaway.

PAVEMENT TO PROSPERITY...

JUNE 22 vote for the National Union — the government that has modernized the roads of the province — roads that under the Liberals were 30 years behind the times.

Divided highways, autoroutes, bypasses — these are the factor in the National Union government's understanding of the problems of forestry, farming, mining, power expansion, manufacturing and general business.

A road runs somewhere — and in Quebec, under the National Union government since 1944 it runs to prosperity, is maintained, improved and kept open winter and summer in modern fashion.

Young Folk Turn Out In Force For Asbestos Sunday School Picnic

ASBESTOS — The United Church held a Sunday School picnic at the lake property of Mrs. C. M. McGaw, Lake Richmond. The weather seemed to have been ordered especially for the occasion and the youngsters turned out in force.

The children left the church on Manville Avenue and drove to the lake, where the first item on the agenda was to see who was in the water first. The boys and girls were supervised by the teachers and then the games committee of Messrs. Coupland, Kirstein and Hobbs brought the children in.

The first event was the foot race for the babies and up to 5 years old, with little Laurie Campbell winning the event. The prizes had been purchased by Mrs. J. Hobbs and Mrs. J. Kirstein, who also gave them out.

to the winners. All the children were given sand pails and shovels to amuse them for the rest of the afternoon.

The next race was a sprint for girls of six and seven years, won by Judy Koski, a close second was Nicola Smyth. The boys of the same age group competed the winners being Danny Campbell and Peter McEwen, with Peter Kelly taking the second place.

The girls of the eight to ten group followed; winners were Evelyn Coupland and Mary Walker.

A race with two girls to a sack, open to all ages, was won by Claire McGaw and Evelyn Coupland. The boys followed with Dale Coupland and Jimmie Campbell jumping in ahead of everyone else.

Didn't Get Master's Degree, Found Part-Time Job Too Interesting

HAMILTON (CP) — Thirteen years ago Suzanne McDowell came to McMaster University to study for her Master's degree. She took over management of the university's book store on a part-time basis.

She never did get her degree, having become so interested in the job that she took it on full time.

Now, from a cubbyhole operation in the basement of the administration building, she and her staff are preparing to move into a 5,400-square-foot layout in the new wing of the Arts and Administration building.

"I don't think any girl in Canada could have a more interesting career than this one," she says.

BIG BUSINESS

The rapidly growing university population and expanded curricula requiring a greater variety of textbooks have pushed university book stores into the realm of big business, she says.

This year Canadian university book stores will gross more than $4,000,000 in sales.

A little more than a decade ago, a student could get by on about $25 to $40 in book purchases a year. Nowadays he's lucky to stay within $100. It costs a freshman $75 just to get started.

Originally forced into the textbook business because regular book stores found the risks too great and the profits too small, universities now find they have a thriving enterprise on their hands.

SMALL MARKUP

However, with the small profit margin on such books, they must usually introduce other items in demand by students. The McMaster stores will have a gift and souvenir section featuring everything from university T-shirts to ash trays with McMaster crests.

Mrs. McDowell, with assistant manager Gwen Bowie, supervises an operation that sells 50,000 books annually. A quarter of the sales are in a one-week period at the beginning of the fall term when up to 20 extra students are hired to handle the rush.

The new store will employ self-service merchandising which Mrs. McDowell says "is the only way a university book store can be operated efficiently."

IMPULSE AREA

The entire floor space will be a selling area and, as in supermarkets, the students will have to walk by the "impulse" items (general interest books) to get to the "meat" counter of textbook area.

Students will be permitted to open no-interest charge accounts, paying for books in two instalments, December and April.

A factor in the increased sales, says Mrs. McDowell, is the publication of reference books in low-cost paperback editions. Students now often buy a paperback instead of borrowing from the library. An entire 80-foot wall will be devoted to these books with 6,000 titles displayed.

A special order department operated by Mrs. Helen Sawyer will take care of ordering some 3,000 to 3,500 books annually which are not kept in stock.

Tips to Girls on Putting Husbands Through School

Memo to the girl who is so anxious to get married NOW that she is considering quitting school to put her husband through or who figures that though he isn't making enough to support a wife they can get by if she continues to work.

Neither of these schemes always work out happily—and it is more often the wife than the husband who gets shortchanged.

There's Betty who has worked for four years to put her husband through law school. Betty been holding down a full time job, worrying about making ends meet and being lonely while Bob spends his evenings studying.

Bob has had time, however, to fall in love with another girl and is asking for a divorce just at the time when he is almost ready to hang out his shingle and start earning a living.

Then there is Sue, working in the same office, married to a young man who is perfectly content to have his wife help him earn a living.

She would like to quit work and start a family—but Sue's husband keeps putting her off.

He isn't ready to accept the full financial responsibility for a family. Chances are he never will be.

And there is Charlotte whose husband is a junior in college—not quite a junior because he has flunked a few subjects. He is enjoying college life, but Charlotte who has only a high school education is dissatisfied and doesn't even know why.

Maybe it is because being the breadwinner has made her more serious-minded than her husband. It burns her up to have him flunk a course or waste time at a college hangout then she thinks he ought to be in the library working for grades.

So she nags him more like a mother trying to make a teen-age son quit " goofing off " than like a wife encouraging her husband to make the most of his talents. Naturally the husband resents her attitude and she resents his lack of responsibility.

It would be wise for any girl thinking of helping to support a young man so that the two of them won't have to wait for marriage to get acquainted with a number of young working wives to see how such a setup is working for them.

doesn't always. And any girl ought to know the strikes against her before she offers to put a young man through college or help him earn a living.

L'ville W.I. Given Talk On Laundering New Fabrics

At the regular meeting of the Lennoxville W.I., Mr. William Richardson, of the Crown Laundry in Sherbrooke, spoke to the members on the various methods of laundering.

The speaker based his talk on Mrs. Consumer's Confusion, stating that with the top speed and automation of this day and age, more than 6,000 new fabrics with special properties are flooding the markets. This leads to a great deal of confusion, for as yet, many of the materials in ready to wear garments are not tagged as to their washability. Therefore the housewife does not know the proper methods of washing or cleaning, and today, only a well equipped laundry can cope with them.

Mr. Richardson spoke briefly on wash and wear, drip-dry fabrics and permanent pleating, and gave tips on what to look for when buying a garment, both for quality and serviceability. He also explained the methods of commercial laundering in comparison with home laundering. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Warren G. Ross, convener of home economics, and thanked by Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. R. Pariseau, and the correspondence read by Mrs. N. Tracy included an invitation to the "Open House" being held on Thursday at Grace Chapel.

Conveners reports included agriculture, Mrs. S. Parker noted that June is dairy month. She also read items on tomatoes, gladioli and climbing strawberries.

Citizenship—Mrs. A. E. Abercrombie read an article re the visit of a Federated W.I. delegate who will visit a homemaker in the north.

Education—Mrs. Grant Taylor read an article entitled, 12 month school year. Mrs. W.G. Ross announced a course in sewing will be held from October 24 to 28. Members were reminded to have their exhibits ready for the June convention at Macdonald College.

Welfare and health, Mrs. F. Smith, reported 8 hours work at the Cancer Dressings Station, three donations of used cotton and a carton of wool shipped to Korea.

Ways and means, Mrs. R. Maurice reported a successful phantom food sale.

One new member, Mrs. H. C. Wright, was welcomed in the branch.

Donations were made to the Refugee Fund and No 400 Coupon-Scheme.

At the conclusion of a busy meeting tea was served by Mrs. E. Cote, Mrs. G. Povey and Mrs. L. Ross. The monthly drawing was won by Mrs. Grant Taylor.

Sweet And Succulent

The fresh strawberry season inspires many a new and delectably different recipe. A quick-to-made batter dough is spooned over hot strawberries to make this recipe for Luscious Strawberries with Dumplings. For dessert serve it warm from the oven with pouring cream or scoops of ice cream.

Most Canadians will agree that there are few berries more luscious than strawberries. And history relates that on occasion these delectable morsels have held the attention of some notable people. Perhaps the most lavish compliment of all came from William Butler, a sixteenth century English court physician, who wrote "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

Many are the strawberry desserts that blossom forth each berry season; the perennial favorites being short cakes and cream pies. Today, a new and deliciously different way of making the most of fresh strawberries is given in this recipe for Luscious Strawberries with Dumplings. A quick-to-make batter dough is spooned over hot strawberries. After baking the dumplings emerge from the oven light, fluffy and sweetly sauced by the berries. This dessert tastes best when served warm (leftovers can be reheated in a slow oven) with pouring cream or scoops of ice cream.

LUSCIOUS STRAWBERRIES WITH DUMPLINGS

Yield—5 or 6 servings
2 cups prepared fresh strawberries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3/4 cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 7/8 cup once-sifted all-purpose flour; or 1 cup once-sifted pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, 2-1/2 tablespoons chilled butter or margarine, 1/3 cup (about) milk.

Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (hot).

Wash, hull and halve sufficient fresh strawberries to yield the required 2 cups prepared fruit. Turn into a shallow baking dish about 6 x 10 inches. Sprinkle with lemon juice and the 3/4 cup sugar; dot with the 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and mix lightly. Place in preheated oven while preparing the dumplings. Sift the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder, salt and the 2 tablespoons granulated sugar together into a bowl. Cut in 2-1/2 tablespoons chilled butter or margarine finely. Mix in sufficient milk to make a stiff batter. Drop batter by spoonfuls over hot strawberries. Bake until dumplings are cooked and golden—20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm with pouring cream or ice cream.

Serge Choquette Hurls Three-Hitter To Stop White Sox

Jim Coates Whiffs A's As Yanks Win Their Seventh Straight To Gain Ground, Orioles Down Indians

Nine years ago Jim Coates signed with New York Yankees because his mother didn't like the looks of another club's scout. Now, after seven minor-league seasons, he's the hottest pitcher in baseball's big time and has put the Yankees within three percentage points of the American League lead.

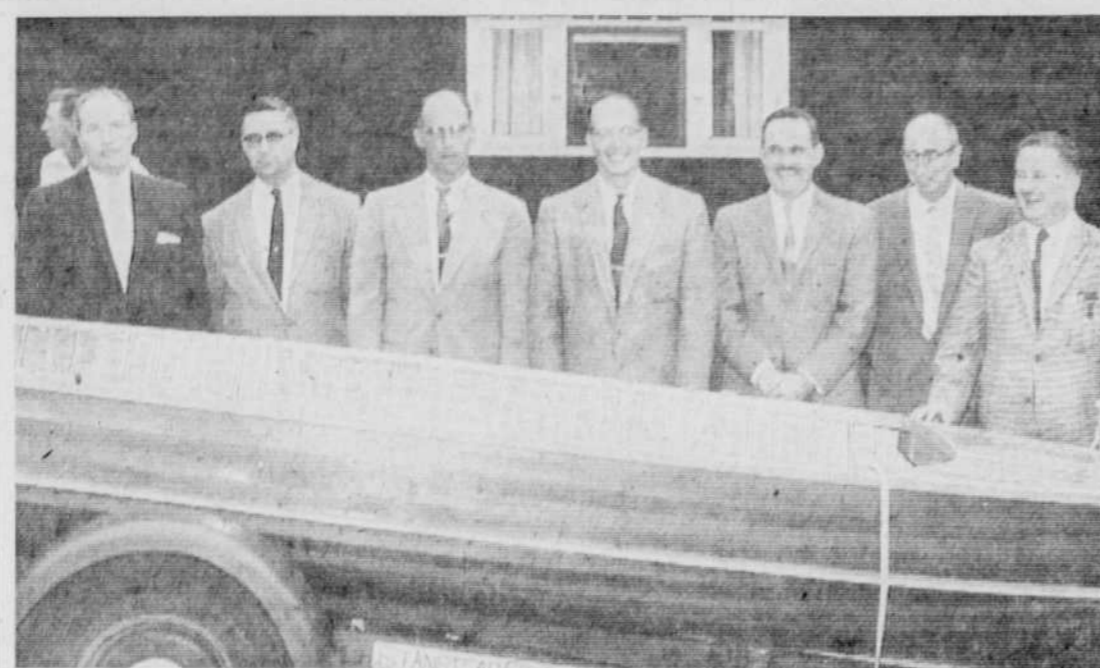

The lean righthander shoved his season record to 7-0 Tuesday night as the third-place Yankees won their seventh straight, 6-2 at Kansas City. New York is closing in rapidly on the front-stumbling Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles edged within one percentage point of the top by handing the first-place Indians a third straight defeat, 7-4, in the opener of a four-game series at Cleveland. It was only the third success in eight games for Baltimore.

Detroit defeated Boston 2-1 and wet grounds at Chicago caused postponement of the White Sox' game with Washington.

MARIS HITS NO. 18

Roger Maris kept his major league home run lead with No. 18 and drove in five runs for the Yankees, making it a breeze for Coates. It was the Yankees' eighth in a row over the Athletics, sixth this season, and handed Johnny Kucks a 1-1 record.

Jake LaMotta Admits Taking Dive In Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Senate investigators called a self-styled underworld money lender from a prison cell to testify today in its hearings on high-level scandals in professional boxing.

From the volatile convict, Irving Mishel, they sought inside information about money deals in the promotion of bouts.

As a witness before the Senate racketeers committee last year, Mishel told a detailed story of loaning "many, many millions" at usurious interest rates as a sort of unofficial banker for New York underworld figures.

He is serving 10 to 20 years now for theft of about $60,000 worth of securities in a complex money deal.

LOST FIXED FIGHT

Just where his testimony might fit into the boxing investigation the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee refused to say in advance, except that it would deal with "money transactions in boxing."

As the hearings opened Tuesday, former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta testified that he purposely lost a fixed fight in 1947 to Billy Fox.

He said he had been offered—and had rejected—offers of $100,000 each to lose that fight, and another the same year to Tony Janiro. He won the bout with Janiro.

But he agreed to take a dive in the Fox fight, he said, in return for the promise of a shot at the middleweight title. Despite the agreement, LaMotta testified he had to pay $20,000 to get the bout in which he won the championship nearly two years later from Marcel Cerdan.

RECEIVED NO MONEY

Cerdan's American representatives, Lew Bernstein and Sammy Richman of New York, both testified that they had received no money for arranging the bout, and had never heard of any payoff connected with it.

The LaMotta-Fox bout, which was stopped by the referee in the fourth round, was investigated both by the New York State Athletic Commission and by the office of New York district attorney Frank S. Hogan. But

Whiffs Eleven As Tigers Post First Defeat Of Season On League Leaders, Indians And Red Sox Slated Tonight

Young Serge Choquette came up with an outstanding hurling display last night when he held the White Sox to three hits to inflict the first defeat of the season on the Little League leaders at the Parade Grounds.

Choquette in posting his three-hitter whiffed eleven men for the upset of the season while his mates pounded three hurlers for a total of eight hits. Choquette, while a standout on the mound, also pounded a double to help his own cause. One game is on tap for this evening with the Indians visiting the Red Sox at the Parade Grounds. Game time 6:30.

White Sox in the top of the first got a single run. Farrell, the first man up, drew a walk stole two bases and came home on a passed ball. This was all Choquette allowed them in the first three innings.

Tigers got their first hit in the second inning third baseman Letellier connecting for a single. Last of the third the Tigers went into the lead with two runs on hits by Chatelain, Larenneau and Choquette. Lachance and Gravel, connecting in the top of the fourth, made it a two-all game. This didn't hold long as the Tigers came up with four big runs in their part of the fourth.

Choquette, with a double, and Chatelain hitting his second single sending in the runs. In the fifth and sixth Choquette held the White Sox to a lone single while in the 5th his team mates added two more runs with Bacon and Letellier hitting safely. Tigers copped the game on the long end of 8-2 count.

Tigers in winning this one were a vastly improved team. The infield play was tops. They backed up pitcher Choquette by pulling off two double plays. Choquette with his hitting and pitching was the star. Chatelain was also an outstanding getting three hits. White Sox did not play their usual game and slack infielding was responsible for

Three Commonwealth Golfers Out To End Reign Of Americans In US Open,

DENVER, Colo. (CP)— Three Commonwealth golfers, including Canada's Stan Leonard, are determined to end the reign American golfers have had on the U.S. since 1920.

Leonard, Gary Player of South Africa, and Bruce Campton of Australia are the only non-Americans entered in the tournament, which opens Thursday, who are conceded a chance of upsetting the strong American contingent.

U.S. golfers have won the event since Ted Ray of England turned the trick at Toledo in 1920.

Canada's other representative will be Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont.

20-TO-1 ODDS

The odds-makers don't mark Leonard as a top-contender by any means. He's rated, along with Crampton, at 20-to-1. Player is given a 12-1 chance.

In contrast, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., Masters champion is 4-1 and Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., and Sam Snead, still seeking his first open after 19 tries, are 5-1.

Ken Venturi and Ben Hogan are rated 6-1 and Dow Finsterwald is 8-1.

Three Fixtures Contested In MVIBL Last Week

Ayer's Cliff defeated Beebe 17-12 at Ayer's Cliff Sunday in the Massawippi Valley Intermediate Baseball League. In other M.V.I.B.L. action, Magog downed Beebe 9-3 on Saturday while, on Thursday in Waterloo, the hosting Waterloo club posted a 7-3 decision over Magog.

In the Ayer's Cliff-Beebe fixture, Richard Cote started on the mound for the victors but was replaced by Alan Wing in the ninth. Bert Parent worked four innings on the mound for the losers. But Doug Wing took over his chores in the fifth.

Next Saturday, June 18, Magog travels to Ayer's Cliff to complete a game called after four innings and also to play a regularly scheduled tilt. On Sunday, Ayer's Cliff plays at Bolton while Magog visits Beebe. All games start at 1:30 p.m.

Emily Frost Wins First Leg Of BB Added Stakes

MONTREAL (CP) — Favorite Emily Frost paced the mile in 2:04 3/5 Tuesday night at the Blue Bonnets Raceway to win the first leg of a $5,625 added stakes for three-year-olds.

Benoit Cote drove the bay filly, owned by the Four Way Stable of Sorel, Quebec, to victory over a field of eight in which Ronny C. Grattan placed second and Worthy Tip was third.

The winner returned $2.40, $2.30 and $2.20. Ronny C. Grattan paid $4.10 and $3.00 and Worthy Tip paid $3.60.

Pirates Post 5-3 Win Over Giants But Surging Cards Hold Spotlight, Cubs Edge Milwaukee On Two-Hitter

Pittsburgh Pirates have a two-game lead after getting past San Francisco Giants in the opener of a three-game series but right hander Larry Jackson and the surging St. Louis Cardinals are stealing the spotlight in the National League pennant race.

Four unearned runs gave the Pirates a 6-3 decision over the second-place Giants Tuesday night while the Cardinals backed Jackson with home runs for the eighth straight victory in a 6-3 decision over Cincinnati Reds.

It gave Jackson (9-5) a tie with Pittsburgh's Vern Law as the majors' top winner and moved the Cards past the Reds into fourth place.

Chicago Cubs defeated third-place Milwaukee Braves 3-2 behind a two-hit pitching job by Glen Hobbie. Last-place Philadelphia Phillies defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 in 10 innings.

FLOOD PLATES FOUR

Jackson, 29, a winner against every club but Los Angeles, gave up five hits and just one earned run—a fourth-inning homer by Jerry Lynch—while beating the Reds a second time in his streak. Ken Boyer and Curt Flood, who drove in four runs, homered off loser Jim O'Toole (4-6) for the Cards' sixth victory in the last nine games.

Boyer's shot, with a man on in the first inning, was his 17th, keeping him in a tie with Ernie Banks of the Cubs for the NL lead. Flood tagged his first of the season with two on in the third.

A two-out error by Willie McVey with the bases loaded set up three unearned runs in the second inning for the Pirates. Dick Groat's two-run single capped it and beat Sam Jones (8-5), who lost his first in eight decisions at Candlestick Park. Bob Friend (8-3) won.

Hobbie, a righthander with an 8-2 lifetime record against Milwaukee, held the Braves hitless for seven innings, then gave up home runs by Del Crandall and Glen Hobbie. Last-place Philadelphia Phillies defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 in 10 innings.

A single by Clay Dalrymple scored two runs and won it for the Phils in a three-run 10th off losing reliever Clem Labine (0-1). The Dodgers blew a 3-2 lead in the ninth. Dick Farrell (3-1) won it in relief.

Indians Edge Coaticook 9-8 In Junior League Action Last Night

Billy Robinson Stars On Mound For Victors As Indians Rally For Win In Seventh Frame, Take Over Third Place

Sherbrooke Indians edged Coaticook Canadians 9-8 last night in a thrilling see-saw battle contested at the Municipal Stadium. Starring on the mound for the victors was Billy Robinson while Coupal, Bissonette, and Louis Michaud shared hurling chores for the visitors.

Billy Robinson whiffed four men, walked three, and gave up eight hits while, for Coaticook, four strike outs were registered, five walks passed out and 13 hits allowed.

The victory by the Indians puts them in third place with a .600 percentage while the Canadians occupy fourth position with .500 percent. The next game in the Marie-Louis Fortier circuit is set for Thursday night when Coaticook visits Fuller at the Municipal Stadium with game time scheduled for 7.30.

In the first inning, each squad racked up one run with the Canadians tallying their's when Louis Michaud crossed the plate thanks to an error, a stolen base, and teammate Simard's single. Indians chalked up their point when Gordy Robinson scored due to two hits and a sacrifice play on the part of Kirby.

Only one point was scored in the second, that being when Indians' Pelletier tallied on two hits and a sacrifice laid down by Marquis. The third frame was a scoreless deadlock with neither team able to chalk up a run.

In the fourth, the Redmen held the Canucks scoreless in the top half of the inning but tallied three themselves in the bottom. Marquis, Billy Robinson, and Moreau were the marksmen for the club, bringing the score to Indians 5, Coaticook 1.

The Canadians came roaring back in the top of the fifth to take the lead when Pelouquin, Louis Michaud, Bissonette, Simard, and Ouillemette scored, thanks to a rash of hits and Indian errors.

The hosts failed to tally in their half of the fifth while the sixth saw the visitors bring in a single when Louis Michaud scor-

NHL Leafs Might Make Deal For Guy Rousseau

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, chairman of the Maple Leaf hockey committee, said Tuesday the National Hockey League Leafs "might consider making a deal" for forward Guy Rousseau, drafted last week from the Montreal Canadiens organization.

Rousseau was quoted in a Quebec City newspaper as saying he wants to play with Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League. He said he would probably retire from hockey rather than re-locate to Rochester Americans, Leafs' farm club in the AHL.

Though a member of the Montreal organization, Rousseau played the last two seasons in Rochester.

Pancho Gonzales' POWER TENNIS

Until I was 13, I was a chubby little kid.

That's about the time I started playing tennis seriously, and since then I've stretched to 6-3 and a fairly constant and lean 185 pounds.

Tennis wasn't responsible for all of that, but it helped. I helped by getting and staying in condition. Being physically fit contributes 50 per cent.

A fellow like Lew Hoed hits a ball at a rate of 100 miles an hour. It's little more than a blur to me on the other side of the net. If my reflexes aren't sharp, I've had it.

Before a match I never go to a movie or watch TV.

When I'm not in competition, I jump rope and do deep knee bends. Athletes in other fields use tennis as a prime conditioner. Ted Williams and Elroy Hirsch feel that their tennis playing helped them last longer in baseball and football.

Eating is an important part of condition. Sleep is another. I'm a steak and salad man, four hours before a match. A heavy

8th Annual Track And Field Meet At St. Lambert Expected To Draw 400 Competitors On July 1-2

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP) — The St. Lambert branch of the Canadian Legion announced Tuesday that its eighth annual track and field meet, carrying Canadian championship ranking in five age divisions, is expected to attract 400 competitors.

The meet is scheduled for July 1 and 2 in this city across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

General chairman George Clark said entries have been received from as far west as Saskatchewan and as far east as Halifax. Close to 100 have been received from the Toronto area, and others from various Ontario and Quebec points.

The U.S. Air Force base at Plattsburgh, N.Y., is sending a team and Malone, N.Y., will also be represented. Inquiries have been received from the University of Vermont.

The divisions in which Canadian championships will be decided are those for junior men, juvenile boys, midget boys, juvenile women and bantam girls.

There will be open events in both the senior men's and women's classes and in the bantam girls' class.

The Legionnaires have built the annual meet into a gala show that has attracted maximum crowds of 5,000. This year they have added the Chambly County High School marching band as an attraction along with the usual fireworks display and dance.

The Legionnaires themselves have been turning out in force to work on the track to assure it is in top condition.

Los Angeles—Otis Fuller, 192, Los Angeles, outpointed Jim McCarter, 215, Seattle, 10.

Neale Fraser And Maria Bueno Head Wimbledon Championships Seedings

LONDON (AP) — Australian Neale Fraser, reigning United States champion, and Maria Bueno of Brazil Tuesday were named official favorites for the 74th and probably last all-ama-teur Wimbledon lawn tennis championships, opening Monday and ending July 2.

The Australian left-hander and the Brazilian girl who won the Wimbledon women's crown last year got the nod as top-seeded players.

The man rated the biggest challenger to Fraser for the men's crown is 6-foot 4-inch Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Bueno's chief threat figures to be Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., seeded No. 2. Mackay won the Italian title last month.

The singles seedings:

Men 1. Neale Fraser, Australia. 2. Barry Mackay, Dayton, Ohio. 3. Rod Laver, Australia. 4. Luis Ayala, Chile. 5. Nicola Pietrangeli, Italy. 6. Roy Emerson, Australia. 7. Ramanathan Krishnan, India. 8. Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, Mo.

Women 1. Maria Bueno, Brazil; 2. Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif. 3. Christine Truman, Britain. 4. Ann Haydon, Britain. 5. Angela Mortimer, Britain. 6. Susy Koermoezzy, Hungary. 7. Jan Lehane, Australia. 8. Sandra Reynolds, South Africa.

This year's Wimbledon—as popular as ever from the way the tickets have been going—probably will be the last all-ama-teur affair on the hallowed courts. The international federation will vote July 6 in Paris about open pro-amateur tournaments. Everything points to the open idea going through.

The other seedings:

Men's doubles: 1. Roy Emerson and Neale Fraser, defending champions from Australia. 2. Rod Laver and Bob Mark, Australia. 3. J. L. Arilla and Andres Gimeno, Spain. 4. Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, Italy.

Women's doubles: 1. Maria Bueno, Brazil, and Darlene Hard, Montebello, Calif. 2. Margaret Hellyer, Australia, and Yolanda Ramirez, Mexico. 3. Karen Hantze, San Diego, Calif., and Janet Hopps, Seattle, Wash. 4. Sandra Reynolds and Rene Schuurman, South Africa.

Mixed doubles: 1. Rod Laver, Australia, and Miss Hard, Montebello, Calif. (defending champions). 2. Bob Howe, Australia, and Maria Bueno, Brazil. 3. Roy Emerson, Australia, and Ann Haydon, Britain. 4. Bob Hewitt and Jan Lehane, Australia.

Hockey Men To Umpire Alouette-Canadian Game

MONTREAL (CP) — Three sharp-eyed hockey men will look after the umpiring next Wednesday night when Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League and Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football League meet at softball.

Proceeds from the game will go toward helping retarded children.

Defenceman Doug Harvey of Canadiens, moving spirit behind the game sponsored by the Kinsmen Club, announced today that Red Storey, former NHL referee, will work as plate umpire.

Umpiring on the bases will be Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings and Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks.

This is the third annual game between the hockey men and the footballers. Canadiens won the two previous games.

Harvey disclaimed any intention of getting Howe and Hull into his lineup and said he will stick to the rules. But a suspicion is growing that if Canadiens happen to be trailing late in the game, Howe and Hull may find themselves stripped of their umpiring duties and hustled in to help.

Eight Vie For Berths On Canada Davis Cup Team

TORONTO (CP) — Eight of Canada's top tennis stars go into a three-day round-robin tournament here Tuesday vying for berths on Canada's Davis Cup tennis team.

One and possibly two of the juniors will be selected to join the team now comprised of Don Fontana of Toronto, Bob Bedard, Lennoxville, Que., Val Harit, Montreal and Francois Godbout, Waterloo, Que.

Players taking part in the 11-game set and match tourney are: Harry Fauquier, Canadian open champ, and Don Curtis, junior Davis Cup title-holder, both of Toronto; Brian Flood, London, Ont.; John Fraser, Victoria; Reider Geitz, Vancouver; Tom Bell and Keith Carpenter both of Montreal and Yvon LeBlanc, Maryville, Que.

First round of the North American zone Davis Cup is scheduled for Quebec City July 15-17.

DOUBLE PAYS $2,949.60

HAVANA (AP) — The second daily double on the Sunday racing card at the Jockey Club of Cuba racetrack paid a Cuban record of $2,949.60. Don Grillo, $38.60 winner of the eighth race, and Flourie, which paid $65.80 in the ninth, combined for the payoff.

In this age fraternity pins are all the rage! These are glittering, glamorous wee bits of metal bedecked with jewels. The Panneton Street company with a staff of 11 skilled jewellers, begin their manufacturing process with bare essentials.

And attractive essentials they are — bars of 10 and 14 karat gold.

PURE GOLD SOFT

"Pure gold is registered at 24 karats," explained Mr. Johnson, "most people could not afford or would not want rings and pins of more than 14 karats, because they would be very soft."

An art department at the company's head office, Ottawa, Ont., designs the school rings, pins and service awards to suit the taste of the customer.

Then steel dies of the crest are made and stamped onto the gold.

A large drop hammer shapes the gold into the form of rings and the crest is superimposed onto it.

"The gold is melted between each separate process and tested until it is exactly the proper grain and structure to make sure that the rings do not blister, crack peel or chip," Mr. Johnson said.

A large supply of enamel colors are kept on hand to dye parts of the school crests, an intricate process when the crest consists of more than one color.

A bakery has nothing on this jewellery company! Scorching heat surrounds the oven where the baking process takes place. Among the final processes is polishing.

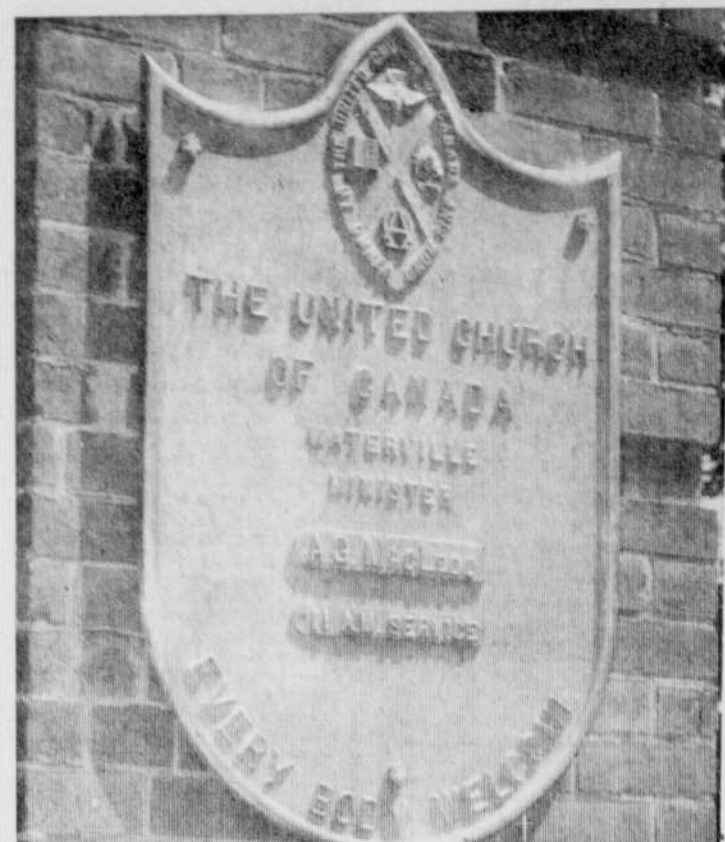

Pins are dropped in a muddy solution before being shined on a revolving polisher.

Mr. Johnson has one word of advice to would-be investors in rings — know the size before you order the ring, they can only be stretched half a size.

Already, the company has sold pins and rings to about 40 schools and six universities, as well as making service pins for many companies.

Among the novel pins made is one the size of a dime of a small dial phone given to members who have served a telephone company for 25 years. In the center number plate appears, 25.

Friends Honor Bride-To-Be At Sawyerville

SAWYERVILLE — Mrs. Wellington Raymond and Mrs. Ernest Berwick were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Raymond for Miss Patricia Olsson, prior to her marriage to Mr. Gordon Stickle.

Upwards of 50 guests were present when the guest of honor was ushered into the livingroom to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Marilyn Labaree.

The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage by the hostesses and seated in a chair decorated with blue and white streamers from the ceiling, and several balloons filled with confetti, which were broken later.

On each side of the guest of honor were seated her mother, Mrs. Orly Olsson, and the groom's mother, Mrs. Donald Morrow.

The Misses Bonnie and Brenda Berwick wheeled in a carriage decorated in blue and white filled with many beautiful gifts, making several trips.

The bride-elect was assisted in opening the gifts by Mrs. Olsson and Mrs. Morrow. Miss Olsson thanked her friends and relatives.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by several young friends.

Out of town guest present were from Lennoxville, Bury, Eaton Corner and Randboro.

Waterloo Board Entertained By School Staff

WATERLOO — Thursday evening, June 9, the principal and staff of Waterloo High School entertained the chairman and commissioners of the school board at an enjoyable dinner at the Cabana Lodge, Lake Memphremagog. Places were laid for 40. Jack Kastner, guest speaker, was introduced by John Chapman and thanked by O. T. Pickford. Mr. Kastner gave a stirring address on "Faith", with concrete examples of how faith had held his sanity and those of countless others who existed through those years previous to and during World War II, under Hitler's regime.

A. J. Buckland thanked the hosts and hostesses for the pleasant evening, which closed with a social hour.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix. In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract. So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Hair-Breadth Balance

New Zealand Is Getting Ready For A Hard-Fought Election

AUCKLAND (CP) — New Zealand is preparing for a general election in November with a campaign that will be bitterly fought. The keenness of the contest arises from the hair-breadth political balance which has endured for nearly three years.

At the last election in 1957, the National party was turned out of office by the narrowest possible margin. Labor won 41 seats in the 80-seat House of Representatives, to 39 won by National. After Labor had appointed a Speaker, it was left with a majority of one. Yet, it has managed to survive in office.

Some observers claim that even the toughest New Zealand election campaigns arouse little heat because the parties do not differ widely in outlook. Labor, they say, is a Conservative-minded Socialist party while National is a Socialist-minded Conservative party.

The National party has been first to deny this claim. It is showing determination to point out the differences in outlook and approach and to deny any fellow-feeling with Labor.

Some of the issues between the two parties were emphasized by the National party deputy-leader, J. R. Marshall, in a campaign preliminary.

Real and deep differences exist between the philosophies, policies and platforms of the two parties, he said, National placed greater emphasis on the individual, Labor on the state.

He admitted that the welfare state had been firmly established in New Zealand and would stay under any government. The Labor party had made a contribution to development by establishing a wide social security system to take money from those who had it and to redistribute it. But that had gone far enough. Now was the time to consolidate the welfare state, not to enlarge it.

It was necessary, Marshall said to safeguard the rights and privileges of the individual in the welfare state. National recognized this to a greater degree than Labor.

Accused Of Mass Murders Eichmann Lives In Past

By ARYE WALLESTEIN
TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—Adolf Eichmann, accused by Israel of ordering the massacre of millions of Jews, today is living in the past—unaware of the present diplomatic dispute between his captors and Argentina, the country where he sought refuge.

In a heavily-guarded prison cell, the former Nazi S.S. colonel is going over with interrogators the Second World War record of deportations and death camps. His alleged attempt at genocide led to a 15-year search which ended with his capture by a band of Israeli "volunteers" last month.

Eichmann is unaware of Argentina's demand for his return and his threat to raise the issue of his capture at the United Nations.

But even if he did know, Eichmann also would realize that Israel would never let him go.

ACT OF RETRIBUTION

The people of Israel, like their government, are unable to consider the Eichmann affair unemotionally. The fact of his capture presents to them a historic, if not divine, act of retribution.

The Israeli government, while virtually admitting that Eichmann's capture involved the violation of another country's law, sees the case as momentous in terms of global history and expects the rest of the world—including Argentina—to share this view.

Some Israelis, however, believe Premier David Ben-Gurion might have chosen a more diplomatic course in handling the delicate issues of international law which arose after Eichmann's capture.

Says Economy Of Maritimes Is Improving

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — A leading Canadian banker says the economy of the Maritimes is showing definite signs of a healthy and permanent improvement.

R. D. Mulholland of Montreal, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, commented during a visit to Moncton that Maritime private enterprise is displaying an "aggressive spirit in developing the Maritimes resources" and Maritime residents are starting to take a "self-help" attitude to their problems.

He said much of this change in attitude is due to the promotional efforts of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council, an organization formed a few years ago by the four Atlantic provinces to boost the region's economy.

Mr. Mulholland said he was "cautiously optimistic" about the trend of Canada's economy this year. It was becoming evident that a rise in business activity which began in 1958 has progressed much slower than earlier post-war economic recoveries.

able experience in fighting an uphill political battle. It stands for "one man, one vote" in a multi-racial society and liberation of the African by democratic means.

The men of the PAC obviously are imbued with the political thinking of the new African independence movements in Ghana, the Belgian Congo, Tanganyika and elsewhere and represent a break with the past.

Which party will manage to survive and spread its ideas? Which of these two voices is catching the imagination of the 10,000 Africans in South Africa?

They are difficult to answer. A partial answer was given by Walter Sisulu, a former ANC secretary-general, now banned from office, writing in the liberal African South magazine last year.

He said, at that time, that the PAC had "thus far failed but their mere appearance is an urgent warning to all democratic South Africa."

Hovercraft

'Saucer' Attracts Attention

By CHARLES MOTT

LONDON (Reuters)—Canada, France, Russia, Norway and Australia are among the many countries showing a keen interest in Britain's new "flying saucer," the revolutionary Hovercraft.

The Hovercraft, planted firmly on a cushion of compressed air pushed out by its engines, can fly over water at a speed of up to 60 miles an hour.

Reports of the wide international interest came from an official of the government's National Research Development Corporation which, with Saunders Roe Aircraft, built the first prototype Hovercraft.

The first Hovercraft to come into commercial use, possibly in about three years' time, has not yet taken shape, even on the drawing board.

60 MPH ON THAMES

But a test model attracted large crowds when it was undergoing trials on the River Thames recently. It skimmed inches above the water in a cloud of spray in 10 demonstration runs up and down the river at speeds of up to 60 miles an hour.

The official stressed the value of the Hovercraft to underdeveloped countries with extensive coastlines, few roads and long rivers.

Here are some examples of overseas interest in the project:

The Soviet Union has made inquiries about its possibilities for transport over ice.

CANADA ASKS
Canada is wondering whether it could be used on the Great Lakes.

Australia has asked if it could be used to ship cattle from inland to the coast, for export.

South America and some Asian countries have inquired about its possible uses on their wide rivers.

"But no one is taking orders yet, and all that countries can do at present is to give the specifications of the sort of thing they would like," the official added.

Meanwhile, in Britain and on the Continent, planning for the introduction of commercial Hovercraft services continues.

It has been reported that Dover will build a port for Hovercraft next year; that Boulogne will follow with one in 1962; and that Calais and Folkestone will join them soon afterwards.

Deep And Bitter Sense Of Grieving

Voices Stilled In South Africa

By HENDERSON GALL

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—The voice of African politicians in South Africa now is virtually silenced.

The two main parties, the African National Congress and the Pan-Africanist Congress, are banned. Their leaders are either detained under emergency laws or serving prison terms.

Gatherings of more than five persons are illegal without police permission — thus barring Africans from any legitimate political activity. If any exists, it is clandestine.

This has added to the already deep and bitter sense of grievance, particularly among urbanized Africans.

All this has made it increasingly difficult to assess the direction in which African opinion is moving. But before the present blackout was imposed, all the signs pointed to a trend toward extremism, observers said.

THE HATED PASSES

It was the LAC and its ardent 35-year-old leader, Robert Sobukwe, which leaped suddenly to the fore in the early months of this year with a demand for an end to the hated passes which all Africans must carry.

The anti-pass campaign, for which Sobukwe took full personal responsibility, led to the Sharpeville shootings when police killed 67 Africans and wounded 183. This brought further violence and imposition of the emergency laws.

At this point, the dynamic Sobukwe, former teacher of Zulu at Witwatersrand University, was the "man of the hour." But police repression was so drastic that many Africans now may feel the more moderate, patient and canny approach of the ANC is preferable.

Sobukwe now is serving a three-year sentence for incitement against the pass laws.

He stands for the "complete overthrow of white domination" in South Africa, rejects apartheid — like all African politicians — but also dismisses multi-racialism as "pandering to European arrogance."

ALL BLACK RULE

He and the LAC are not prepared to co-operate with whites under any pretext — contrary to the ANC — and demand "a government of the African, by the African, for the African, with everybody owing his allegiance to Africa and prepared also to accept the rule of the African majority."

This "Africanism" is in sharp contrast to the platform of the ANC, which is led by ex-Zulu chief Albert Lutuli. Lutuli is aging, of unsound health, a detainee and under a five-year political ban, but with considerable personal prestige.

The ANC, formed in 1912, is imbued with Gandhian principles of non-violence, and has considerations — but also dismisses multi-racialism as "pandering to European arrogance."

ered a skull wrapped in red silk, with a parchment beside it. The bust of the other soldier also contained a skull. A parchment dated 1879 identified the relics as belonging to saints Felix and Nabor, who were beheaded at Lodi during the religious persecutions of the Roman Emperor Maximilian.

The Doctor Says

EVER FRAUDS—AND DUPES

IN 'REJUVENATION' HISTORY

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

A great service has been rendered the public in general and medical practice in particular by Gerald Carson.

In his newly published book, "The Roguish World of Dr. Brinkley," Carson has provided a documented history of Dr. John Brinkley who was, according to the New York Times book reviewers, "one of the outstanding quacks of American therapy."

After an early and checkered career, during which he was jailed on charges of forgery and fraud, Brinkley obtained a medical degree from a diploma mill that no longer exists. When a goat rancher consulted him because he felt "all in" and lacked "pep," the doctor conceived the idea of transplanting goat glands into his patient's tissues.

From this modest beginning there arose an empire that included Brinkley hospitals, Brinkley home treatments, a Brinkley 500,000-watt radio station across the Mexican border, a Texas estate, a Mexican castle, three steam yachts, a fleet of expensive cars, an annual income of about a million dollars, a total income of some 12 million, and almost the governorship of Kansas for which he ran on a write-in ticket.

Yet, despite these triumphs, Brinkley died a bankrupt in 1956, owing back taxes to both the Mexican and United States governments — not even possessed of his license to practice medicine, revoked by the Kansas medical board in 1930.

What makes the Brinkley story so timely is the disturbing fact that it is only a single chapter in the long history of "rejuvenation" through transplantation of animal glands.

Shortly before Brinkley proclaimed his clinic to be "The Home of Gland Transplantation,"

Couple Fish Great Lakes For Lamprey

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—Three Latvian-Canadians are doing their part in the campaign to rid the Great Lakes of the lamprey eel—and they're doing it at a profit.

In a little farmhouse east of Denny's Dam near this Lake Huron community, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roze and their helper, Ivans Janis, process the eels they trap in the lake, then sell them for food.

Department of lands and forests officials are delighted. Every lamprey caught reduces the future toll among game fish. In Lake Huron the eels have been blamed for killing off most of the lake trout and many other species of fish.

For spawning the lampreys like water at 50 to 60 degrees. The eels move up the Saugeen River after dark, staying close to the bottom.

The Rozes trap the lampreys in weirs, many of which are home-made from willow branches. Mr. Roze says it usually takes two days to make one weir.

When the lampreys are caught, they are roasted four hours at 400 degrees. Then they are pressed out, cut into pieces and canned. Mr. Roze says many of the pound tins find their way into Toronto homes.

Heaviest catch for one day by the three was 800 lampreys. Last year's catch was 6,000 and the Rozes had already surpassed that figure with a few weeks still to go. Trapping at Denny's Dam starts in April and ends about mid-June when the spawning season is over.

YOUNGSTERS HELP

WATH - UPON - DEARNE, England (CP) — Boys from a grammar school in this Yorkshire town are contributing £5 in pennies each week towards the education of a 13-year-old Polish refugee.

the Russian-born Voronoff captured the headlines (and the fees of aging tycoons whose wallets were larger than their intellects) with his promise to effect rejuvenation through transplanted "moon key glands."

Currently, the more sensational "science writers" have been whopping it up for the "miracles" attributed to injections of tissue extracts prepared from the organs of unborn lambs.

Here are the simple truths about the fate of gland transplants and of injected material derived from animal tissues: While it is possible to perform skin grafts from one area of a person's body to another, it is difficult to perform a successful graft from one individual to another of the same species.

It is impossible to transplant even the relatively simple skin tissue from one individual to another of a different species.

While it is possible to transplant an organ (such as the kidney) from one identical twin to another and, on rare occasions, from one nonidentical twin to another, no one has yet succeeded in transplanting human organs from one to another person. And certainly no one has succeeded in transplanting the organs of a nonhuman species to a human.

In the case of injectable extracts of animal tissues, none can be sold in the United States without a government license attesting to the safety, sterility and potency of the preparation.

No such authorization has been sought or obtained for a tissue extract prepared from the organs of unborn lambs and purported to effect rejuvenation or any therapeutic action other than that resulting from the salesmanship of the injector and the gullibility of the recipient of the "shot."

New STRIPE

gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash

This is the remarkable story of new Stripe toothpaste, that gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Ever since scientists discovered that germs cause tooth decay and bad breath, they have been trying to develop a protective toothpaste. They know that ordinary toothpaste is not an effective germ-killer. It does wash some of the germs away. But those left behind soon multiply into millions.

The answer: hexachlorophene

The answer was discovered in an effective germ-killer called hexachlorophene. During World War II, surgeons found hexachlorophene far more effective than traditional methods of cleansing their hands before operations, yet so gentle it could be used with complete safety. They also learned that hexachlorophene clings to the skin, keeping germs away between washings.

Now in a toothpaste

Now Lever Brothers' scientists have developed a way to put hexachlorophene to work in a toothpaste—an effective new red-and-white toothpaste called Stripe. Rigorous testing shows that Stripe with hexachlorophene—

- kills tooth decay germs better than any plain white toothpaste.
- kills bad breath germs too, giving you mouthwash protection.

In this way, Stripe gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Clings to mouth surfaces

Moreover, Stripe's hexachlorophene clings to the surfaces inside your mouth for hours.

It keeps fighting germs between brushings... for hour after hour... as clearly proved in clinical tests.

And Stripe's hexachlorophene penetrates between the teeth... where tooth decay and bad breath often start... and where your brush can't reach.

Stripe is 100% sugar-free, and completely safe for children of all ages. In fact, children are so fascinated by the way Stripe comes out of the tube in red and white stripes that they brush longer and more often than ever before.

Remember, the exclusive red stripes identify Lever Brothers' hexachlorophene toothpaste. Get Stripe for your family today.

When you see these red stripes— you know you are getting germ-killing HEXACHLOROPHENE

The performance and quality of Stripe toothpaste are unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Limited.

Greater Participation

A Shifting Altar Seen Newest Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—The altar of the future may be a simple table located in the middle of the church.

The trend is moving that way in the opinion of Dr. Edward S. Frey, executive director of the department of church architecture of the United Lutheran Church in America.

"In the first five years of our department," says Pastor Frey, "we didn't see a single plan to indicate such a trend."

"But in the last three years we've seen about 15 out of a thousand, and two or three hundred of the others featured free-standing altars, that is, altars moved slightly away from the wall."

CENTRAL WORSHIP

Pastor Frey, who notes the trend in Roman Catholic and reformed as well as Lutheran churches, attributes the shifting altar to the liturgical revival of the past 33 years.

"It's designed to inspire a greater participation on the part of the people in the central act of worship—the eucharist," he says.

"It's the conception of the church as the people of God gathered about the Word and the sacraments.

"It's the idea of the altar as the holy table with the whole congregation close to it."

Pastor Frey sees the trend toward central altars, not as a modern innovation, but as a return to the practices of the church in apostolic times.

ALTAR GREW REMOTE

"The early church," he says, "met together as an intimate group. Many of the oldest churches were octagonal or circular with the altar in the middle."

"The early basilicas had altars at one end of the church but not against the wall. Often the clergymen stood behind the altar facing the people."

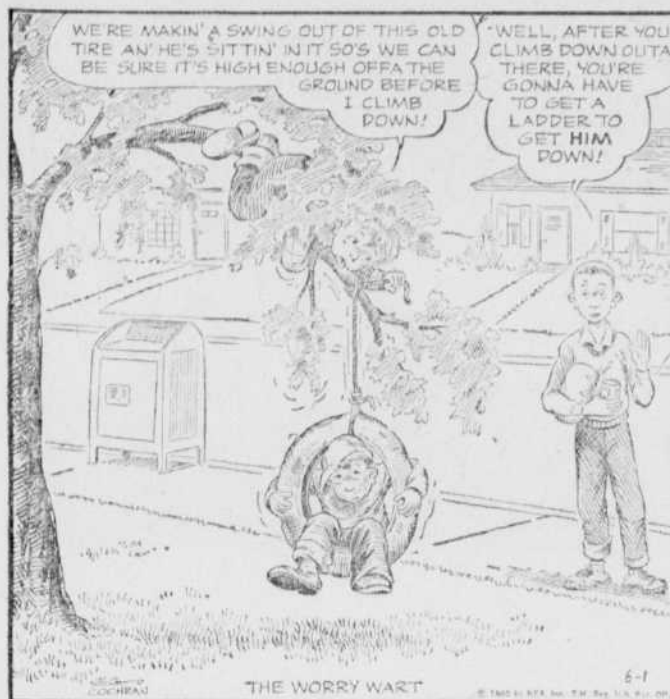

"It wasn't until medieval times that the concept developed of the congregation as spectators rather than participants. Then the altar started getting remote from the people."

"Perhaps, as of this moment," he adds, "more Roman Catholic than Protestant churches are moving the altar to the people."

Pastor Frey also detects a trend toward simplification of altars making them ministerial rather than mysterious or dramatic.

Geneva Report

Disclose Child Labor

GENEVA (Reuters)—Millions of children, some as young as seven or eight years, all over the world are working long hours when they should be at school or at play.

This was disclosed in a report by David A. Morse, director general of the International Labor Organization, which says that no area of social policy seems to be more in need of constructive and co-ordinated national and international action than questions relating to the employment of youth.

"In some parts of the world, working children under 15 years old form a substantial part of the total labor force in agricultural and non-agricultural activities alike," the report says. "The occupations at which they work are subject to little or no control."

PROBLEM ACUTE

The report states that while much has been done this century to eliminate the abuse of child labor in the less-developed countries, the problem is still extensive, acute and difficult to solve.

Children can be found at work in quarries, mines, factories, fields and offices, the report says. Many of the commodities and products which find their way into world markets could bear the stamp "made by children."

Generally speaking, children make up one per cent or less of the total labor force in Australia, New Zealand, North America and Western Europe.

In much of Latin America and in some Asian countries, they form between two and 10 per cent of the labor force, and in certain Middle East countries and elsewhere, the percentage is still higher.

National and family poverty are the root causes of child labor, said the report.

Mexico Electric Industry Heads At Nationalization

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—1,280,000 kilowatts of the total of 2,142,000 kilowatts in the country. What business circles consider to be a first step towards the eventual nationalization of the electricity industry in Mexico has been taken by the government with the purchase of utility holdings of the American and Foreign Power Company for slightly more than $70,000,000.

The purchase includes seven small companies affiliated with the AFPC, which in turn, is an affiliate of the Electric Bond and Share Company.

The material holdings will be acquired by Nacional Financiera, a government financing organization. Later, they will be transferred to a company which will be set up to operate and distribute electrical energy.

The companies involved in the sale provide service in 14 Mexican states and have a capacity of 339,400 kilowatts. The largest electrical power company, it services the federal district and other large portions of central Mexico.

With the purchase of the AFPC affiliates, the Federal Electricity Commission and other electrical companies belonging to the Mexican government now control a capacity of

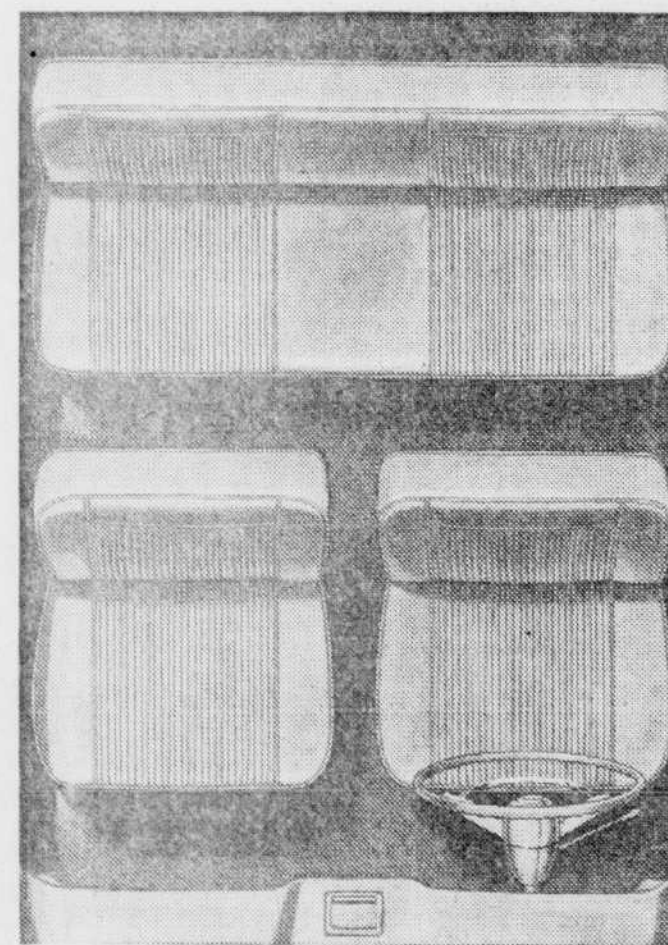

Monza—Distinctive Addition to Revolutionary Corvair Line

The New Corvair Monza 900 Boasts Sports Car Flair

A sports version of the rear-engined Corvair, Monza is the latest addition to the General Motors line of cars. The Monza features 2-door coupe styling, bucket seats in front, and exclusive interior trim treatment. It's designed for the car buyer who likes his driving spiced with spirited performance and elegant appointments.

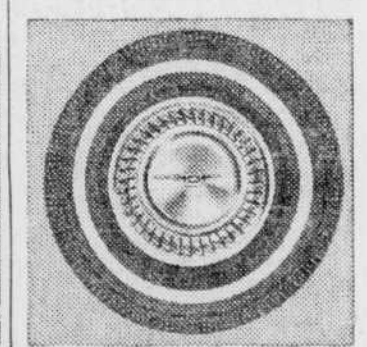

The Monza features sports car interior plating. Front bucket seats are coupled with exclusive interior trim treatment to make this car extra-luxurious. Seats are upholstered in smart, leather-grain vinyl. Deep pile carpeting, in colours keyed to upholstery, is standard, as are luxury-size arm-rests with chrome base. Rear-quarter trim panels have built-in ashtrays. The steering wheel features a smart, chrome-finished horn ring. Instrument panel, too, adds chrome highlights to the Monza's inner distinction.

Monza's plush bucket seats feature bright metal panels on both sides for distinctive beauty. And Monza interiors are available in a choice of red, turquoise, blue or green.

Fold-ahead front seats give more than ample entrance to the Monza's wide rear seat. And the exclusive Corvair fold-down rear seat is standard equipment, giving the new Monza versatile carrying capacity.

Exterior trim features a number of exciting Monza exclusives. One of the most eye-catching of these is the use of full wheel covers. Others include: bright metal moldings, simulated air vents on rear deck and backup lights.

General Motors of Canada announces the addition of the Corvair Monza 900 to its 1960 line of cars.

Oshawa, Ont. — The decision to add the Monza to the 1960 line resulted from overwhelming reception it has received at three major auto shows this year. The Monza had its first showing as a feature of the Chicago Auto Show in January and later proved a hit at both Detroit and New York International Auto Shows.

Styling highlights of the Monza, which uses the Club Coupe Corvair body introduced in January, are bucket seats in the front, all-nylon interior and generous exterior and interior bright metal applications. The rear seat folds down as in all Corvair models.

The exterior features bright moldings around the doors and rear windows, rocker panels and simulated air scoops beneath the rear window. The Monza has full wheel discs and backup lights will be standard equipment.

Monza is sold by all authorized Chevrolet dealers.

Styling, Performance, Economy Monza's Exciting Story

Styling is only part of the exciting Monza story.

Like every Corvair model, the Monza offers the easy-handling benefits of engine-in-the-rear. Due to this distinctive design, the passenger compartment is more toward the centre of the car and thus, weight distribution and ride remain nearly constant regardless of the number of passengers.

Weight distribution is also the secret of the Monza's remarkable braking and traction. Even in emergency stops, the brake load is distributed equally, giving straight, heads-up stops.

The Monza's traction is unmatched by any other car in its class, even over independent suspension, which means first-rate handling even on corners.

The Monza's lightweight 80 h.p. engine can deliver all the get-up-and-go you'll ever need. On the economy side of the ledger, the quick warm-up of this air-cooled engine means less fuel consumption because less driving is done during engine warm-up.
