Prematurely-Born Infant Found Floating Down Beauharnois Canal

INVESTIGATING

An amazing and startling discovery caused a great deal of excitement and utter disgust in Valleyfield last week, when a resident of that city found the dead body of an infant which was floating down the Beauharnois Canal.

George Mercier, resident of Valleyfield, domiciled at 3 St. Isidore street, made the discovery when he saw a tightly bound parcel floating down the canal.

Mercier, who was out walking that afternoon near the scene of the discovery, used a stick to pull the package to the shore and when he unfashioned it he was dumbfounded when he realized what it contained.

He immediately warned a neighbor who in turn notified the local authorities. The Provincial Police were also informed of the startling discovery.

The body of the dead infant was taken to the morgue of J. A. Larin and the coroner's inquest revealed that the child was born prematurely and it was no more than ten inches in length.

The Provincial and local authorities are investigating.

R. C. M. P. Is Resting Comfortably

Inspector J. P. A. Savoie Injured in Car Accident While Enroute to Huntingdon

Royal Canadian Mounted Police Inspector J. P. A. Savoie, whose ankle was fractured in an automobile accident near Caughnawaga on Friday, was reported to be resting comfortably on Tuesday at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

Inspector Savoie was injured when his car struck a telephone pole after it had been forced off the highway by an approaching car.

The accident deprives "C" Division (Quebec) of the services of its second highest ranking officer, for the officer commanding Superintendent R. A. H. Gagnon, is at present recuperating at his home from a serious illness. Inspector J. Brunet, of the Quebec City sub-division, has been transferred to Montreal as acting commanding officer, and his place in Quebec taken by Inspector O. Lariviere, of the headquarters division at Ottawa. Inspector Lariviere has spent several years in the Quebec division and while a sergeant was Superintendent Gagnon's assistant in the re-organization of the Quebec City police.

Inspector Savoie was on his way to Huntingdon to meet the local detachment of the R.C.M.P. when the accident occurred.

Raymond Declines Leadership Liberals, A.L.N., Nationalists

Beauharnois-Laprairie Member Advised He Would Be Unable to Endure Strain Of Campaign—His Health is Reason

Negotiations aimed at coalition of provincial opposition political groups under leadership of Maxime Raymond, M.P. for Beauharnois-Laprairie, have failed, it was reliably learned last week.

According to informed sources, Mr. Raymond, who was local delegate of a group of young Liberals to take the leadership of the provincial Liberal Party, the Action Libérale Nationale headed by Paul Gouin, and a group of followers of Dr. Filipe Hamel, M.L.A. for Quebec-Centre and one of the leaders of the provincial National Party, on Thursday gave his reply in the negative.

Mr. Raymond's reasons, it was learned, were those of health, as according to the information obtained, the Member of Parliament's physicians have warned him that assumption of the task would be too great a strain on his physique, involving, as it would, the necessity of extensive travel and effort in fulfilling the duties of the leadership.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Raymond will again be a candidate for the federal seat he has represented in the House of Commons since 1928 as Liberal.

For the first time on Thursday, it was learned that the negotiations were aimed at a coalition of the three groups in a manner which would have permitted each to retain its identity, but that Mr. Raymond was to be the chieftain co-ordinating all efforts.

Thus, Hon. J. Adolard Godbout, former Premier, was to remain head of the provincial Liberal party, a post to which he was elected last June at a convention in Quebec City; Paul Gouin was to retain leadership of the Action Libérale Nationale, originally a rebel group which broke away from chieftain-

Valleyfield Will Build Retaining Wall

Council Approves $25,000 Grant For the Erection Of Wall — Work to Start Shortly

At its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, the members of the Valleyfield Council agreed to accept the grant of the Federal Government amounting to $25,000 for the building of a retaining wall on Lake St-Francois. Mayor Larin was also authorized to sign the contract for the building of the wall with the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa.

It is quite probable that the work on this wall will start within the next few days, which will give employment to several unemployed in Valleyfield. Mayor Larin was also authorized to get in contact with the federal government and ask them to have this work started in the shortest possible delay.

A vote of thanks was passed at this meeting, thanking Maxime Raymond, M.P., for helping to secure this grant for the City of Valleyfield.

A letter was read from Antonin Gailher, secretary-treasurer of the Nouveau Salaberry Village, asking that the City of Valleyfield temporarily employ 7 or 8 unemployed until work is available in Nouveau Salaberry. The City Clerk was authorized to inform Nouveau Salaberry Council that it could not comply with this request.

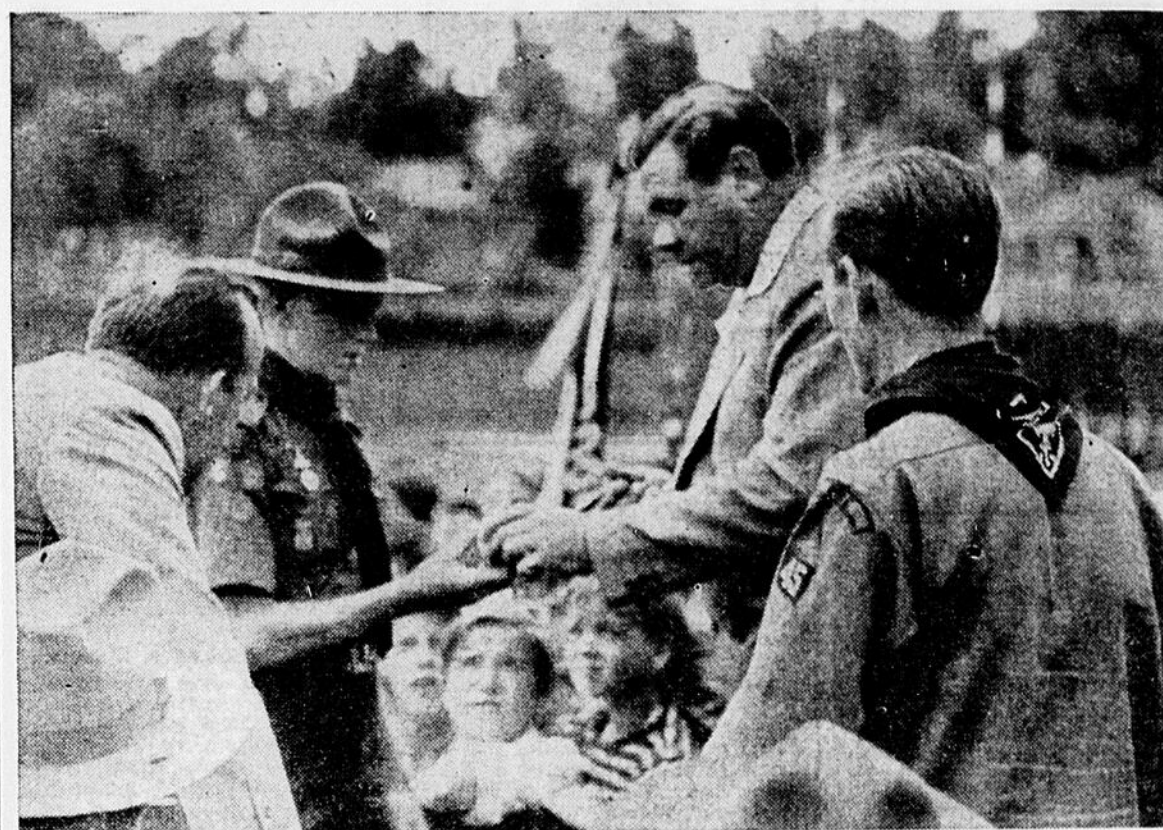

The temporary treasurer was authorized to pay to the City of Montreal the sum of $150 for the use of the Montreal Fire brigade on June 23rd, 1938.

Letters from Delpha Sauvé, M.L.A. in regards to the Handicraft school and from Maxime Raymond, M.P., concerning the unemployment problem in Valleyfield, were read and filed.

A resolution was passed thanking Messrs. Adrien Cholette and Gaspard Crepin for co-operating with the City in purchasing the property of the Valleyfield Coated Paper Mills.

The City of Valleyfield will ask permission of the Quebec Municipal Commission to borrow from the bank or other institutions temporary loans amounting to $20,000 until such a time as the collections of Municipal taxes are due. Mayor Larin was authorized to sign the necessary promissory notes.

Calf Club Attends Field Day at Oka

Chateauguy Valley Farmers Well Represented at Holstein Field-Day

More than sixty young and senior farmers of the Chateauguy Valley attended the annual Provincial Holstein Field-day, which was held at Oka, Two Mountains County, on Thursday.

The visitors at this field-day, numbering in the vicinity of 3,000, arrived at Oka in the early morning and in the evening after witnessing some interesting and educational pointers on the art of judging Holstein cattle.

The first item on the program in the morning was the showing of herd sires. This was immediately followed by a demonstration in French and English. The French address was delivered by Mr. R. P. Charbonneau, secretary-treasurer of the Provincial Holstein Priesian Association, while Prof. A. E. Ness of Macdonald College addressed the gathering in English urging the farmers to get familiar with certain facts before purchasing any herd sires.

The Junior and senior farmers present that day had to judge a class of six cows. Members under 21 years of age participated in the Junior class with farmers over 21 years of age in the senior class.

Immediately following luncheon, which was served on the grounds, the guests were informed that they could visit and inspect what they wished on the 1,500 acre farm.

In the latter part of the afternoon, different speakers were heard, who encouraged the members of Calf Clubs to always remain true to their ideals and traditions.

Following the distribution of prizes the visitors left Oka to return to their respective homes. Among the many prizes distributed that day, two were awarded to Huntingdon citizens, Dan Murphy and Fred McGregor ranked first in judging Holstein cattle and were awarded prize money and merchandise as recompense.

The members of the Huntingdon Calf Club made the journey to Oka by school bus and made the transportation arrangements themselves. They were warmly greeted at Oka and took an active part in all the functions which took place during the day.

Mr. J. E. McOuat, accompanied members of the Huntingdon Calf Club in the absence of Mr. J. L. Pelletier, who is on sick leave.

Dr. J. E. Lattimer Urges Farmers to Raise More Pork

Speaking Programme at Cairns Farmers' Picnic Marred Through Inconsideration to Speakers—Programme Carried Out Despite Threatening Weather

The Cairns Farmers' Picnic was held as usual on Dominion Day. The heavy rains that fell off and on during the day made the grounds uninviting, but for all that a good sports programme was carried out. In the bush the dampness marred the usual visiting amongst the older folks and the cars had to be resorted to. In the midst of the luncheon hour a downpour of rain came.

During the afternoon a short programme was presided over by Mr. Mason Greig, Dr. J. E. Lattimer of Macdonald College being the speaker. Dr. Lattimer made references to agricultural conditions of today, the prospects for this fall, etc. He lent encouragement to the farmer to raise more pork. In the past seven years this avenue of agricultural revenue has been very remunerative. Dr. Lattimer felt optimistic about the future of this market as Canadian bacon was now in greater demand than ever before.

Western Canada gives promise of having a great crop of wheat this year. Reports are that Saskatchewan, the province that has suffered so much drought in recent years is to produce a crop, second only to that of 1928. With such wonderful prospects of a wheat crop in sight, surely that means lots of cheap milk feeds, just what is wanted for the raising of pork on your dairy farms.

One farmer who was quite critical of Dr. Lattimer's remarks claimed he could tell him more about agriculture than he would ever know if he lived to be a hundred. At the same time we might mention this same critical farmer is receiving "old age pension". All farmers were not viewing Dr. Lattimer's agricultural suggestions in this critical manner for we noted many were listening intently and perhaps making reservations for future decisions as to what should be done to augment their agricultural income.

The Rev. C. Leslie Taylor of Ormstown was the only other speaker. Mr. Taylor made references to his days at farm work and to conditions. (Continued on page 7)

The Week at Ottawa

Canadian Manufacturers to Make Bid for the Manufacturing of United Kingdom Munitions—Alien Propaganda Being Combated in Canada

By Spectator

Ottawa, July 4th.—The fears that overshadow the world from the unrest of two continents centering about Tientsin in China and Danzig in the Baltic were reflected in the statement of the prime minister, Mr. King when he announced that it would be some little time before he would decide when an election would be called. "At the moment," Mr. King said, "matters are very serious. We all hope they will improve but I would like to take at least part of the summer to consider the Asiatic and European situations, before launching a campaign." Mr. King referred to the recent remarks of the premier of France, Mr. Daladier, which were "very grave." The statement from Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, has since emphasized the seriousness of the situation. There was the possibility that the Canadian parliament might have to be called in special session, as was contemplated last summer when the Munich affair raged to a head, the prime minister stated. "All things considered," said Mr. King, "I believe much might be gained and nothing lost by waiting a few weeks before reaching a decision about the general election."

These days there is a weekly meeting of the cabinet. One of the matters now under consideration is who will be the members of the new defence purchasing board. This board was authorized by an act passed during the past session. Its functions will be to make contracts for munitions and equipment for Canada's defence needs. The department of national defence will requisition whatever is needed and the board will immediately see about asking for tenders and placing the contract. There are of course other appointments to be made in various branches of the government, and the board of penitentiaries board being one, but it may be assumed that foremost in the minds of government members is the personnel of the defence purchasing board, which now by statute is an integral and most essential part of the machinery of re-armament.

Manufacturers Seek British Munitions Orders

At a conference between members of the Canadian manufacturers Association and members of the Dominion cabinet, the manufacturers have been informed that the government is not only willing but anxious to have Canadian manufacturers obtain arms orders from the United Kingdom, and any stores to the contrary are wholly unfounded. At this meeting following the manufacturers convention at Bigwin, Ont., the delegates from the manufacturers association explained to the prime minister and his associates that they contemplated sending a group of experienced manufacturers to England to study British war munition needs that could be made in Canada and to get orders. The prime minister told the delegates that this mission would be helped by the government. A cable would be at once sent to Mr. Massey, the high commissioner in London, to see that the manufacturers were introduced to the proper authorities. The technical officials of the department of national defence would also lend their assistance. It was pointed out at the same time that contracts would have to be made direct between Canadian manufacturers and the British authorities. The Canadian government could not act as agents for either the purchasers or the manufacturers. "The British Government," said the prime minister "has been informed officially and in writing that we would welcome such orders, but we have made it clear that Canadian companies must make their contracts direct with the British government."

Bill Hamilton In Headlines Of City Press

Huntingdon's One Time Greatest of Baseball Pitcher Headed Large Ass'n. in Vancouver

Twenty-five years, or so ago the name that was on the lips of all baseball fans throughout the Chateauguy Valley was Bill Hamilton, nicknamed "Hans Wagner." Bill was just one of the best pitchers Huntingdon ever had and his wonderful disposition made it impossible for any sportsman to disturb him in the least, he just couldn't be rattled. Raymond Rowat was the other outstanding pitcher of that era. These two pitchers would go on the mound and pitch battles that might last for 12 or 13 innings, never being relieved. Baseball was then baseball and not a case of piling up cricket scores and calling it a ball-game. This same Bill Hamilton could skate like a boy, a boy of about 17 his classmates fitted him up with a pair of skates and made him play hockey, and he defended the nets as nets should be minded. Having Bill Hamilton on a team of any sports was just the necessary thing any team required in order that it function 100% perfect.

For several summers Bill Hamilton clerked in the general store of E. C. McCoy. His early training must certainly have induced him to stay with the grocery trade. For 18 years he has been identified with McDonald's Consolidated Wholesale in Vancouver. A few years ago "Piggy Wiggy" and "Safeways" Vancouver's largest chain stores joined McDonald's, with our William (Bill) Hamilton as the city manager of all.

Mr. Hamilton has been president of the Safeway Employees' Association which apparently is a large organization. The Vancouver Daily Province of June 15 comes out with a tremendous heading stating "President Walks Out," the drop heading states "Refuses to answer all questions." A large and very pleasing picture of the same Bill Hamilton adorns the front page of "The Province." The employees request that Mr. Hamilton continue as president.

The School Municipality of the Town of Huntingdon urged the members of the Council to enter the Property of the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. upon their valuation roll, as school taxes could be derived from the valuation.

Dr. A. Patenaude, County Health officer, reported that the restaurant of J. M. Hunter, in Godmanchester, is in accordance with the Provincial By-Laws regarding sanitation.

Following Dr. Patenaude's collection that a regular garbage collector be engaged by the Town of Huntingdon to collect garbage regularly in the Towns of the Town Council passed a motion that all garbage would be picked up each Friday during the month of July.

The Council informed J. E. Roy that they would not sign his Public Charter, as he was a resident of Godmanchester.

The Queen's Jubilee Laundry re-mitted to the Town of Huntingdon their business tax amounting to $75 but under protest. (Continued on page 6)

"Log Lodge" Finest Curb Service and Restaurant on Highway No. 4, Adjacent to H'don Town

Attractive Tourist Center Affording Much Service to Town Folks—Seven Cabins Being Erected—Trailer Service Provided—Spacious And Inviting Dining Room Service Appreciated

"Log Lodge", the already popular curb service and restaurant located on a 3 1/2 acre lot of land on Highway No. 4, a short distance west of Huntingdon and owned by J. Morris Hunter is drawing crowds of people and satisfying its customers. The main building is 60 feet by 40 feet in length and is very attractive, being built of imitation log siding, finished in natural color. This building is beautifully located on the banks of the Chateauguy River. The large elm and maple trees along the river bank make the Log Lodge very inviting to tourists.

The "Log Lodge" is the only curb service station between the international border and Montreal. In speaking to a gentleman who sells supplies to such summer business stands he stated that between Toronto and Montreal there was no stand comparable to "Log Lodge". Much work yet remains to be done, says Mr. Hunter. Work is still proceeding in the way of building. Work under way at the present moment includes the building of seven cabins, all of which will be finished to harmonize with the "Log Lodge" in that they will be covered with the imitation log siding. These two-room cabins will also have running water.

A "Bar-B-Q" is being built and is expected to be in operation in the course of another ten days time. The "Bar-B-Q" method of cooking chickens and meats is very popular, attractive and interesting to tourists. With seven cabins being erected for the summer tourist trade it is also deemed advisable to make provisions for tourists who travel with trailers. Mr. Hunter being an electrician is seeing to it that this trade be catered to and is having Fortune Electric install electric wires so that these trailers can be fully connected when parked on his 3 1/2 acre lot.

The river is very inviting to one and all, and at this point the water is quite deep. A swimming platform is to be built on the river bank and in the center of the river a fine raft and diving board will be erected.

At the extreme south end of the lot a gasoline service station will be erected, work starting on same this week. This stand will be built of material to harmonize with the "Log Lodge" architecture. This service station is to be operated by J. A. McCracken, proprietor of Empire Garage.

How Valuable is our Board of Trade?

WHEN the annual meeting of the Huntingdon Board of Trade is held, a certain number of people are sure to be found who will question the work of such an organization in a Town the size of Huntingdon. Anyone who subscribes to such a thought is most assuredly a person with little progressive vision. Fortunately, Huntingdon has many men who never relinquish exerting every concerted effort to do something for the welfare of the town. Mayor Faubert and President D. J. O'Connor, of the Board of Trade, can certainly be placed in this category of worthy and broadminded citizenship.

In recent years, unemployment has been a factor in Huntingdon's slowing up of progress. The way to overcome it is to get employment for one and all, then everybody has an income. To achieve such a hope, the logical thing to do was to get an industrial concern that requires labor. No two local men realized the serious predicaments many families are in any better than Mayor Faubert and President D. J. O'Connor of the Board of Trade. These two gentlemen, with others equally interested in Huntingdon, set about to obtain a good industrial firm. In the Shawinigan Water and Power Industrial Development Department they found loyal and true friends. Many industrial firms have had representatives in Huntingdon. Some of the townsmen felt favourably disposed towards encouraging some of the industries to locate here, while others were let drift away, in the belief they were just not the type of industry that would work out to the advantage of labor and the company itself.

Leach Textiles Limited is a valued company to Huntingdon. Its business is continually increasing and they pay commendable wages for services rendered. This Company desired more floor space and if it was not procurable in Huntingdon they would have moved away. Mayor Faubert, the Town Council, D. J. O'Connor and the Board of Trade members have exercised every effort to retain this Company, so that Huntingdon would save that payroll and not cause more people to be thrown out of employment. Their efforts have been rewarded. Through the united efforts of public spirited men, Mr. J. G. Dunn and Leach Textiles Limited an addition is to be built this summer to the Leach Textile Plant. This additional floor space will permit new machinery being added to the plant, thereby increasing the output and steady employment for more hands. At present the mill is employing 64 people, but sufficient orders are now on hand, and in a very few days the staff will be brought back to the regular winter enrollment of 90. Mr. Alex. Fawcett, the mill superintendent, feels that when the new addition is built a staff of 90 to 100 will be maintained 12 months of the year.

Had Huntingdon no Board of Trade it is very doubtful if the Town Council would have been able to exercise the necessary effort to retain this industry for Huntingdon.

The crowning success of the Board of Trade for 1939 does not end with the retaining of the Leach Textile plant and the assurance of an enlarged plant for now we find another industry is to be established in the former Windsor Silk Mill plant. This new industry, The Huntingdon Woollen Mills will be a subsidiary of a European manufacturing company that has three mills with a combined enrollment of 2000 hands. They manufacture a heavy woollen material used for the making of blankets and military uniforms, etc. The material is made 91 inches wide, therefore large looms and very heavy textile machinery is required for its manufacture. The incoming Company are credited with being financially strong and have asked no financial aid from local citizens, but have demanded much assistance in order that they might acquire the plant. The citizens in due turn have organized themselves into a realty corporation and in turn purchased the property from the Borden Milk Co. Limited, and in turn sell it on a time basis to the new Company.

The Huntingdon Woollen Mills Company plan to start work immediately. Machinery will be shipped here just as soon as the building is made ready for the setting up of same. The plant will open up with one hundred to one hundred and twenty hands. The Company claims that if they could manufacture cloth equivalent to 5% of what is shipped into Canada their Huntingdon plant would require 200 hands.

The industrial picture for Huntingdon's immediate future looks bright, and all credit for such is certainly due Mayor Faubert, the Town Council, President D. J. O'Connor, Board of Trade members, our bankers and the Shawinigan Water and Power Industrial Development Dept., of which Mr. Fraser Keith is head, whilst Mr. J. M. Evans is the Shawinigan official who has developed the contact between the Company and Huntingdonians. To one and all, Huntingdonians have but words of praise and thanks to offer.

With the coming of this new industry to Huntingdon the families of six key men will come to Canada from Roumania and will locate in Huntingdon.

We Love Our Children

WITH the school year over many boys and girls have received bicycles from their parents in appreciation of their efforts in school work. With the new crop, so to speak of cyclists, the hazards are increased as far as the traffic is concerned. We all love children and like to see them have a good time. Cycling is good exercise for them, but when cycling they are also open to traffic hazards. No one will deliberately hit a bicycle but it often happens cyclists cause motorists to get into jams that result in casualties, and such responsibility should really fall upon the cyclist and not upon the autoist.

The Quebec Department of Highways has inscribed a new traffic regulation that is not only justifiable but very wise. From July 1st the law makes it obligatory for cyclists to carry a lighted lamp in front of their bicycles at night and a reflector on the rear, when used at night time. It also stipulated that cyclists must ride Indian file, (one after another) and not two or more abreast. Cyclists must also observe the road laws in general, which means keep to your right. If our boys and girls will adhere to these simple road regulations the hazards of riding on the highways will be materially reduced. Cyclists now come under the supervision and direction of the circulation officers the same as do all motor vehicles on the roads.

Cyclists are not the only users of the highway that cause hazards or infractions. The parking of cars on the side of the road is to be severely checked up by the circulation officers. If a car is obliged to stop on the highway it must stop clear of the road surface so as not to interfere with the circulation of traffic.

Pedestrians who are out walking on the highways are advised to walk on the left hand side of the highway so as to face on-coming traffic. It has been proved time and again that this is the safest method. Should a number of people be walking in a group, above all things don't walk part on one side of the highway and part on the other, best keep to the left and as traffic approaches go Indian file or step off the hard surface into the grass.

Tourist Figures Show Marked Increase

DOMINION Day week-end saw a great number of summer vacationists enter the Province of Quebec through the Trout River Port of Entry. Mr. J. C. Robins, circulation officer, feels that the general publicity of the Province of Quebec in the United States is responsible for much new tourist business. The tourists appear to be people of means and anxious to make trips throughout the Province and not merely to Montreal.

Dominion Day traffic was slightly more this year than in 1938. The actual number of cars checking in and out at Trout River Customs was 1188 whilst in 1938 it was 1140. In the year ending April 1st 1939, 25,541 cars passed through Trout River Customs. From April 1st, 1939 to June 30th the increase in cars passing this Customs Port numbers 1016 over the corresponding date of 1938. These figures prove two things, 1st that the traffic is greater; secondly that the power of advertising for American tourists to visit Quebec Province is reaping handsome returns.

One of the finest features about this increased travel is that the autoists are becoming more careful drivers. In past years every Dominion Day seemed to be a date when misfortune would befall some one or other, and too often fatalities occurred. To the best of our knowledge no serious accident occurred in the Chateauguy Valley, and certainly no fatalities either from traffic infractions or drowning. May our good record be maintained, not only on holidays but continuously throughout the season.

Capitalism—The American System

THERE is too much talk going around about the evils of the "Capitalist System." It is being talked about by college professors and others charged with the education of youth. It is even heard in high places in Government circles.

The idea that there is essentially something wicked in making a profit out of business is penetrating into the minds of the uninformed and ignorant in a way which is dangerous to the welfare of the nation.

We are not in a position to charge the obvious attacks upon business and industry to the influence of Communistic propaganda, though goodness knows there is enough of that.

We are inclined more to put the blame upon the loose thinking of public leaders and teachers who have never had an opportunity to learn for themselves how the world of business operates.

Intelligent people understand that the only place the Government can get money to support the needy is by taxing business and the profits of business. No business, no profits, no profits, no taxable income. A lot of people would have to go to work to support themselves.

This is a Capitalist nation. Our whole economic life is built upon the right of capital to engage freely in productive enterprise, being responsible to the people for the abuse of that right. In the free exercise of that right the United States has become the wealthiest nation in the world, with the highest average measure of comfort and of purchasing power for the common man ever attained by any people of any nation since the dawn of time.

We have reached that state because capital in America, large and small, has been ready to take the risk of loss in the hope of profit.

That is the Capitalist system. We do not believe that it is all bad. Certainly its results in America have been mainly good, not alone for capitalists but for everybody.

RAN TOO SOON
 After causing disturbances all over the East with his German-American Bunds, Fritz Kuhn, head of the organization, tried to slip out of the country when New York City's prosecutor began investigating the Bund. A passport was refused him by the department of state. If he is not guilty of pro-Nazi activities he made a mistake trying to run away.

EXPANDING FEET
 "We used to carry women's shoes in sizes two and six, in widths D to E," says a Chicago merchant. "Now we carry up to size 11, with lasts ranging in width from C to quadruple A." This development is ascribed, naturally, to the fact that women have just about given up the idea of wearing shoes that are buying shoes that fit. However, some authorities insist that women have larger feet than formerly. One experienced fitter estimates that the recent surge of open toes, open backs and open shanks has increased the dimension of the average foot by a full size. The average woman wears longer and narrower shoes than in other years. Checking up on the shoe boxes in the models room during a recent style show at a large Chicago department store, these data were noted: Of the 37 boxes piled in rows, only three were marked size five. One was size nine. The other 33 ranged from size 6 to 8 1/2. One third of all boxes were tagged 7 1/2.

"ALADDIN CAVES"
 Not for many years have London's safe deposits been so crammed with treasure as they are today. The total value of this underground wealth is now put at more than $500,000,000. The cause of this is the flight of capital, jewels, paintings and other treasures from European cities to London. In recent weeks, art treasures worth many thousands of pounds have been brought from the continent by air, to be deposited behind the burglar-proof doors of large safe deposits—veritable "Aladdin caves." Other foreigners have arrived with small boxes containing jewels worth a king's ransom. In some safe deposits there are now many of the world's finest gems.

300 YEARS REWARD
 Almost 300 years ago, two peasant families saved King Charles II. of England from capture by Oliver Cromwell. A fugitive from Cromwell's wrath, the king was secreted in a hollow oak tree at Boscombe, England, by members of these families named Yates and Penderel. Afterward, Charles granted an annual pension of 500 pounds to be paid to these families "and to their heirs forever." One of the heirs, Thomas Walker, 29, now lives at Andover, Mass., and received his annual check for 12 pounds last week, approximately $60 in U.S. money.

FURORE OVER $4.65
 Word was received by the Norwegian consul in San Francisco that a legacy left by a relative in Norway awaited Mrs. Edvarda Erickson. Newspapers, radio stations and the police carried on an extensive hunt for Mrs. Erickson, finally locating her in Oakland, across the bay from San Francisco. After her identity was established, through the San Francisco consul, she was informed the legacy was $4.55.

COFFIN PLEASURES
 The valued gift ever presented to a trusted servant, has just been given to Wong Wing, crippled Chinese house boy, who has served Leo Carrillo more than 25 years. It is a red and gold lacquered coffin in which the mortal remains of Wong will be shipped to China for burial when the time comes that he is called to the realm of his ancestors. The coffin was given to Wong by Carrillo at the request of the aging Chinese, who wanted to enjoy his possession for as many years as possible. Wong, before he went into the employ of Carrillo, was a top-notch vaudeville performer. He has been crippled for years, but has been kept on the Carrillo household staff in the capacity of a general supervisor. The coffin occupies the place of honor in Wong's quarters, is displayed proudly to visiting friends, and brings peace and happiness to its possessor.

10 WASTED YEARS
 For the first 21 years of their married life Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Booth, of Detroit, lived normal lives. Then the husband suddenly became silent, refusing even to answer his wife's questions. In ten years he has not spoken a word to her, although they have lived in the same house all this time. He left money for household expenses, had his meals and slept at home regularly, but never said a word. Recently Mrs. Booth received a divorce, which should have been granted long ago for the benefit of both.

$25,000 FOR PENNY
 A man walked into a public auction room in Glasgow, made a bid of "one penny" and had knocked down to him within a minute a block of shops with a rent roll of $2,600 a year and estimated to be worth $25,000. The owner, A. E. Pickard, wealthy property and cinema owner, with a good regular had, in advertising the sale, marked the reserve price at 2 cents. As he had an auctioneer's certificate he stepped on the rostrum of the auction from the street, "Going for a penny," he called. "Going for a penny," he called. "What am I bid?" "One penny," was the immediate response. Pickard looked round the small company, mostly onlookers from the street, "Going for a penny," he called. No one moved. "Going, gone!" He picked up his papers and walked away.

UPSET BY SAFETY
 Clarksburg, W. Va., celebrated completion of two years without a fatal auto accident, but it was a little startling. Church bells rang, whistles blew, fire engines raced over the city to loose their sirens—and telephone switchboards were swamped with inquiries. Manager George Brase, of the Automobile Club, explained the celebration had been planned without public announcement as another way to make residents safety conscious.

COOL CIRCUSES NOW
 Latest development in air-conditioning is a plant built by a Buffalo N.Y. manufacturer which cools off the big tent in the Ringling circus. Units of the plant, mounted on eight huge trailers, pump chilled air into the tent on days when the temperature is uncomfortably hot. The same plant is equipped to produce warm air for the comfort of circus fans in late fall or early spring days.

Pneumonia Is Cured by Sulfanilamide

Use of Treatment Decreases Mortality From that Ailment Beauharnois Medical Association Informed

"Amazing" results of sulfanilamide treatment in cases of pneumonia were reported to members of the Medical Association of the District of Beauharnois at a regular meeting held in Valleyfield on Thursday at which papers were read on the use of the new drug by Dr. Jules Prevost and Dr. Lucien Sylvestre, of Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal.

Basing his paper on extensive research with the new drug at Notre Dame Hospital over the past six months period, Dr. Prevost declared it worked "almost like magic" and that it was "hard to believe the results obtained." Since use of sulfanilamide in treatment of pneumonia at the hospital, he said, there had been a remarkable decrease in mortality from that ailment.

Use of the same drug in cases of gonorrhoea was explained by Dr. Prevost who stated that results in this connection had been so good that he thought it quite probable that the new drug would revolutionize treatment of the disease within the next few years. Ordinary cases of gonorrhoea which took from six to eight weeks to cure, were cured in 13 days with the use of sulfanilamide, he said.

An interesting talk on endocrinology—the function of the ductless glands in the human body—was given by Dr. E. S. S. Brown, president of the association, presiding in the evening at the meeting held at the Saluberrary at which Dr. Romeo Boucher, professor of medicine at the University of Montreal and director of medical services of St. Luke Hospital, addressed the members and guests on the subject and literature that was to be found in medical history.

Wright Number

The Post Office engineers had arrived with their van outside Mrs. Green's house. Not long after, Mrs. Green herself returned from shopping, saw the men with a pole and a hole in the ground and began to let them have it.

What right had they to put up a pole in front of her house? The value of the property would be lessened. The garden would be spoiled. Her husband knew someone in the town hall who would make trouble. She would see that they all lost their jobs.

After five minutes or so the flow of eloquence ceased. Whereupon the foreman had his turn.

"I'm sorry, madam," he told her quietly, "but we're not putting the pole up. We're taking it away. It's been standing in front of your house for two years."

The Howick Book Club were entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. E. Black with a large percentage of the members present. Dr. Grey was appointed chairman for the evening. Miss Alice Carson's resignation as librarian was accepted with regret as Miss Carson had always been so faithful and obliging in her work. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. W. Watson, Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Younie, (re-elected), Miss Ritchie, Librarian, Mrs. W. Welch and Mrs. D. B. McKay were appointed to buy new books for the club and to read an interesting book review on "Rebecca" by Daphne Dumaurier, was given by Rev. D. B. McKay. In order not to spoil the story for those who had not read it, Mr. McKay referred to the author's powers of description both of persons and places, reading several descriptive passages. He also spoke of the gripping appeal of the book, the reader being unable to leave it once he had started to read it, even though it was a somewhat morbid sort of a story. A discussion followed which was quite interesting many opinions regarding the effect on readers of the various types of books, being voiced. Mr. McHarg, James of Howick, High was asked to give the next book review. The next meeting is to be held in September at the home of Mrs. W. Welch, Howick.

You'll have to see "Pygmalion" for the answer!

Covey Hill

Last Wednesday afternoon fifteen men turned out to the base at the Union Church graveyard which they mowed and tidied up.

The Presbyterian W.M.S. meeting was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Sutton. Owing to the fact that many friends from this section were attending the late Mr. Chas. Barr's funeral at Franklin, only six ladies and some visitors were present. The work for the day was putting quilt blocks together. A very enjoyable tea was attractively served by the hostess.

Mr. Robt. McRae of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. John McRae, of Howick and Nurse Melling spent Thursday evening with their cousins at "Cornerstones."

On Saturday evening an exhibition of fireworks was put on by a local party of summer visitors. What might have been construed as bombing by the I. R. A. rent a quiet night air at the Corners about 11 o'clock. Weary slaves of the soil who had not taken time to celebrate their nation's natal anniversary were roused from their slumbers, but were glad that the morrow was the Day of Rest.

Two appropriate monuments have been erected in the newer portion of the Union cemetery, one to the memory of the late Miss Bernice Sample, the other to that of the Rev. H. P. Edwards.

A tree is one of the things that grows in beauty as it gets older. One of the three large pines at the Lilacs which have stood as many years back as present citizens can remember was cut down the other day. Bereft of much of its beauty by the fire which destroyed Wadell's store about a year ago, the tree was still perfect at the heart. The lumber was shipped to Walsh's mill in Ormstown.

Ormstown Bowlers Win In Last End

A Tie Game, a Win and A Trimming Handed Out in Best Evening of Bowling This Season

Three rinks of Ormstown bowlers visited Huntingdon last evening. The perfect evening for bowling made the games doubly appreciated. Samuel Cottingham and G. C. Stark played a tie game, ending 11 all. Stark held the lead throughout the game but in the last half of the game Mr. Cottingham's rink managed to score on 6 out of 8 ends. G. C. Stark played an excellent game against Mr. Cottingham's four.

E. C. Martin and H. H. Chambers put on a show of their own, for at no time did Mr. Martin let the Chambers rink have a lead. Hugh Chambers bowled, as does his curling skip, W. G. McGerrigle, in that he never gives up until the last ball is thrown and always hopes to score with it, dangerous as the play may be in playing several such shots Mr. Chambers enhanced the Martin score which ended 23 to 9 for Huntingdon, but Hughie laughed all the time.

Dr. W. S. McLaren trounced W. E. S. McNair to a tune of 21 to 5 and this margin of victory meant Ormstown won another league fixture by an aggregate score of 41 to 39. When McLaren and McNair entered their last end of the game the aggregate scores stood a tie and whoever won this end was to be the victor of the evening. Dr. McLaren's skillful playing netted the necessary points to declare the victory for Ormstown.

Huntingdon Succumbs After Taking Early Lead in Finals Of Dominion Day Tournament

Dundee Girls Swamp Brooklet Girls to Capture Honors at Huntingdon Tournament—Tempers Flare and Fights Break out in Final Men's Game—Borzelli, O'Connor Star for Finalists

BROOKLET GIRLS TO THE FORE

Nick Borzelli and the Valleyfield Falcons Nine walked away from the Huntingdon diamond at the Huntingdon Fair Grounds on Saturday evening with the Huntingdon tournament softball trophy. It was the first time that this team has ever won this superb trophy but one which they merited for their fielding and batting ability in all their games.

Dundee girls' who cleaned-up everything at Huntingdon's fourth softball tournament on Saturday, were also awarded a trophy for winning all their games, defeating Brooklet Girls in the finals.

The final game in the men's section was played between Huntingdon team No. 1 and Valleyfield Falcons. Both teams furnished the best exhibition of the day, except in the fourth inning when Huntingdon made a change in their line-up which proved detrimental. A capacity crowd witnessed this game and also had the opportunity to witness a free-for-all between spectators and players in the fourth inning of this interesting contest. The impromptu boxing match started between a Huntingdon player and a member of the Valleyfield team and in a comparatively short time spectators and players were all on the playing field, flinging at each other, some with precision and accuracy and others more or less at random. It took the officials about fifteen minutes to re-establish order and send both teams to their respective positions.

In the final game between Dundee girls and Brooklet girls, the champions scored four runs in the first frame, two in the second and made sure of the game in the third inning when they scored three runs. The Brooklet team, the losers scored five runs in the third and fourth inning and their last tally came in the first half of the seventh inning. James Fraser starred on the mound for Dundee and the hard hitting of Mele McCartney greatly contributed to bring Dundee its first trophy from Huntingdon. The final score in this contest was 15-6.

The tournament was a huge success both financially and otherwise. The results of each game proved that the teams who were in Huntingdon on Dominion Day were of high caliber.

Of all the teams who had sent in an entry, Beauharnois was the only one who failed to appear on the diamond at time stipulated.

The greatest upset of the day was the game between Valleyfield Falcons and Ormstown in the preliminary round. Ormstown, minus young Howe Brockwell, seemed to have a base on ball Smith pitched for Dundee and the hard hitting of Mele McCartney and behind the steady pitching of A. Ennell, Woodlands eked out a victory, 2-1. The winning combination scored their two markers in the first half of the first inning and Pepsi-Cola avoided a shut-out by tallying on a single in their last half of the sixth.

A huge score was piled up in the first game of the day when Huntingdon team No. 1 swamped Valleyfield Majestic by 32 to 1. The losers scored their only run in the first half of the sixth on a single for Dundee and the hard hitting of Mele McCartney in this game.

In the second round of the men's games, Huntingdon team No. 1 met Woodlands and won by 12-2. Young Andy O'Connor officiated on the mound for Huntingdon in this game and he was given the best support. His teammates fielded well and batted as they had never done previously.

This victory enabled Huntingdon team No. 1 to meet Huntingdon team No. 2 in the semi-finals. The other semi-final game was played between Valleyfield Falcons and Valleyfield Tigers with the former team winning by 16-0. Nick Borzelli who pitched for the winners, established somewhat of a precedent in this game when he threw a no hit, no run game.

When the Huntingdon teams met on diamond No. 1, it was expected that it would be a close contest, but the finalists started hitting hard in the first frame to score runs in every inning but the sixth and seventh. Imports on the Huntingdon team No. 2, did not make much change in the pace already set by

Although the weather was unfavorable around noon hour, the crowd remained on the grounds and cheered their favorite team to victory. It is estimated that more than 300 fans paid admission to the grounds. This support of the local and visiting fans made the members of each team play better. The assured the patrons that the exhibitions that day were satisfactory.

The line-up of the teams who participated in the final games was as follows:

Dundee—P. Platt, J. Arnold, R. McMartin, D. Franisford, J. McNeil, G. Thompson, I. Stowell, J. McNeil, T. McMillan, J. Fraser.

Brooklet—B. Taylor, E. Herdman, B. Oliver, I. Sweet, J. Taylor, P. McCoy, M. Elliott, G. Graham, R. Elliott.

Falcons—B. Berthelme, G. Laplante, S. Anderson, E. Burgess, N. Borzelli, Searle, May, Boyer, S. Yardley.

Huntingdon: R. Senecal, M. Smith, J. C. Lefebvre, G. Wilson, J. M. Hunter, P. Lalonde, E. Lefebvre, A. O'Connor, Brisebois and B. Damant.

Score by innings:

Dundee	.....	426 021	—15
Brooklet	.....	632 001	—6
Batteries—J. Fraser and P. Platt; J. Taylor and Sweet.
Huntingdon	.....	220 200 000	—6
Falcons	.....	100 910 01X	—12
Batteries: Smith, O'Connor and Smith, Brisebois; Borzelli and Burgess.

The umpires who handled the games are deserving of much credit for the efficient manner in which they conducted all the games. Their decisions were popular and no complaints were made during the many games which were played. In the finals, Umpires Charles Palle, James Newman, Harry Moneypenny and Fred Swoy hustled the game so that the teams might be able to play the required nine innings.

The committee in charge of the Huntingdon Town League, who are sponsors of this tournament, were always on hand to help the visiting teams and to see to it that each and everyone present were accommodated to perfection.

Chapter 13

"I think I'm going to Nelson and driving down to Hollywood; he's going to get into things there." Ben observed. His father raised interested eyebrows.

"Is that so?" he asked. "Nelson got anything definite?"

"Kind of. I know it seems crazy to you, but we'll get away with it," Ben said.

"It doesn't seem crazy at all," his father answered cordially.

"Oh, mother, I had an adventure the day you left!" This was Joyce. "A man—he looked more like a wolf—is living in a shed way up back of the canyon. He's an Englishman; he came down to borrow some food for his dog, and he was starving himself, so I gave him some lunch here in the kitchen and he was ravenous!"

"How do you mean he's living up there?" William Ballard passed his cup for more tea. "What's he doing, squatting?"

"Oh, no, he's not that sort. He looked like a gentleman fruit-picker."

"Oh, I know who he is," her father said. "Swede spoke to me about him. He said this fellow would help with the cherries next week. He'll probably come down and talk to me about it."

"But what's he doing in one of our cabins?" Sally demanded. "I call that pretty cool!"

"I don't believe that cabin's on our place, Mommy. It's a good way south, on the ridge. I'll walk up there in a day or two and see him."

"Well, wherever place he's on he's not paying any rent!"

"That may be county property, you know. I doubt if it's on the map. It's all pretty wild back there."

"Where'd you see a map, Dad?"

"Buying this place. I paid the whole thing down yesterday, but there are taxes to catch up. Four or five hundred dollars."

"Funny to own a ranch, and chickens and cows. Joyce mused. "It gives you a funny feeling under your feet. Firmness."

"We owned 'Ninety-nine'" her mother reminded her sharply.

"I never thought of cherries as coming so thick," Dodo said. "You can go out there and stand under the tree and just stuff, and yet you see masses of them way up above you and you can't even tell where you've been picking."

"What do people do when they have too many? Dad? I mean, Swede's got cherries, and over at Cooley's they have tremendous lots of cherries."

"Sell 'em! What did you think farmers did?" William Ballard said with a nervous chuckle and a placating glance at this wife. "I'm going to pay six dollars a year to belong to the Farmers' Institute. They send a truck to the gate every morning and whatever I've got—cream or eggs or fruit—I take it. At the end of the month I get my check."

"Why, Dad, I never knew that!" Joyce said. "Why don't we give them our extra milk? Mike—this man I was talking about—says it's gold!"

"I'm just joining the Institute, Joyce. We've not begun to tap the possibilities of this place yet!" her father said. "A ranch like this might easily be self-supporting."

Sally said nothing. She compressed her lips, shrugged; her breast rose and fell in a long sigh.

Later she said to her youngest daughter in a somewhat grudging tone: "You're taking all this beautifully, Joyce, and your father and I appreciate it. But nothing will ever make me feel that it's the right solution for Ben or for Dodo. Dodo ought to be coming out this winter, poor child!"

"Ben seems happy enough now," Joyce observed. "And maybe if he goes south with Nelson he'll get work in the movies."

And for a brief interval there was domestic peace on the ranch.

The Ballards were getting settled and while that activity lasted, they found time flying too fast for introduction or blues. Every inch of the house had to be washed, every room aired, every bit of paint renewed; fresh curtains had to go up; a load of handsome furniture came down from storage in the city. Bits of fine china embellished the rather bare hopeless dining-room; a blue-flame kerosene stove was placed in the kitchen.

The days grew hot; the sun rose at five and by breakfast time the world was dazzling with dry shadows. Two calves were born and sold to the butcher; cherries were gone and blackberries and apricots in full glory.

A plumber came up from the village and installed a bath in the room of the kitchen. The room would never look like a real bathroom; it was too big and it was not the right shape, but it was an undeniable comfort.

"I shall get off this place the first second I can," Sally told her daughters. "Daddy knows that. In the meanwhile I suppose we had all better make the best of it!"

Joyce helped her father in the yards and barn. They raked down hay hunted eggs, whitewashed the chicken house inside and out, spread apricots on wooden trays to dry. With this last job Ben helped Joyce and her father. Mike Talant, Mike was a pretty regularly employed on the ranch now and Joyce had heard him at the farmer's telephone ordering feed from the village and identifying himself as Ballard's hired man.

On the day they split and spread the apricots Joyce was in wild spirit and would have laughed at anything. Paul was going to stay overnight, which meant games and fun at the table and a thrilling walk in the moonlight afterward, and the next day she was to drive to Burlington with him for a Friday-to-Monday visit with his father and stepmother. It was too much bliss! Paul was to sleep in the boxlike upstairs bedroom that had recently been equipped for Lissy, and Lissy was to have a cot in her sisters' room. Lissy preferred to share with her sisters. Of the four bedrooms that were square set on the upper floor, without imagination or variation, this was perhaps the least desirable, but the curtains were fresh and the bed comfortable. The other rooms were the front and largest chamber, where the senior Ballards slept, the room back of it for the two younger girls, and the former summer room, which had been a place in the living room under an arch of greenery, intermingled with pink and white peonies. The bride, unattended, was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Thomas Cameron. She was taster, when their eldest daughter, Etheivienne, became the bride of Mr. Gerald Capsey of Bedford, Que. "He's not like most of 'em. But I'd be jealous of any one who liked you! Listen, there's something I want to tell you—"

They were at the bars, looking down at the moon-washed world of the valley. Close to the fence on the other side, Joyce saw something stir; a man's shadow down on the dry grass; a man with a pipe got to his feet, was facing them, Mike!

Instantly her senses were in complete confusion. He had been right there within a few inches of them while they talked; he had heard everything they said.

"I'm sorry I was hoping you'd move along and not see me. I'd of ten hang around here a bit and see that the cows are fed, and tonight I told your father that I'd go up to the dairy with him after supper. I am really sorry."

"Nothing to be sorry about!" Joyce interrupted the somewhat halting sentences gallantly. "Only you've not had any supper."

"Oh that!" he said carelessly. "I should have something to eat when I get home."

They were all walking back toward the kitchen door now, before they reached it William Ballard's substantial figure suddenly blocked it and he called, "Mike!"

"Here you are sir!" Mike answered, joining him. Paul and Joyce walked away into the moonlight again. Joyce was in a state of youthful agitation not unmixed with rustic laughter.

"Oh, wasn't that awful! I said—he wasn't three feet away, he could not miss it! What on earth did I say? That I wouldn't marry—no, that was right! He was jealous of a hired man! I did say 'hired man,' Paul. Oh, I could die! He's so nice. How'll I ever look him in the face again!"

"What of it?" Paul asked. ### "Log Lodge" Finest Curb Service...

report the quantities of foods sold it would amaze our readers. The popularity of Ottawa Dairy ice cream and the soft drinks of various companies was duly exemplified, especially on Thursday and Friday which were extremely hot and muggy days.

The kitchen of "Log Lodge" measures 12x25 and is laid out in a very compact manner. Hotpoint Electric Stove, Coleman Gasoline Stove, Griswold Automatic Grill and Griswold Hot Dog Toaster, serve as the heating units. Other mechanical equipment used in the kitchen include a slicer and potato chip chopper, both of which were used a great deal. As a matter of fact nearly four bags of potato chips were made up in four days time.

The Curb Service Counter is well equipped with an electric refrigerator for the soft drinks and an electric storage refrigerator for the various kinds of ice cream. The Curb Service counter is spacious and attractively arranged. The counter itself being of butternut wood.

The real inviting feature of "Log Lodge" is the 30x35 dining room. Not often are such dining rooms found at such stands, but here one sees an unusually fine room. The floor is covered with "Masonite" and is patterned. The room provides seating accommodation for 80 in the center is left a space for dancing. The music for the multi-selector. The walls of the dining room are finished off in Pannelled Fir in natural color. The ceiling is of patterned Donnacora board. About the walls is a plate rail, which lends beauty to the room. The nautical lighting fixtures certainly add to the room. This spacious and beautiful dining room looks out upon the Chateaugay river and as you sit in the room and look up the river a beautiful pastoral scene captivates the eyes as one sees the cattle in pasture at the forks of the Chateaugay and Trout rivers. Rest rooms and a shower bath are also provided for in this building.

Due to the fact that "Log Lodge" is located beyond the town limits it has to provide its own water and sewerage system. Under the direction of Dr. Patenaude, the District Health Officer, a sewage disposal system was installed to his entire satisfaction. A pressure water system was also installed including a filter. Mr. Hunter has just let a contract to Mr. Paul Galipeau to drill an artesian well, and when it is completed the water system will be connected to same thereby providing the public with well water, which in addition will be filtered. Sanitation and cleanliness go hand-in-hand, and that is what the management of "Log Lodge" are aiming at, so that it will long maintain good reputation for sanitation and service. The food served has been of a high order. The service has been very acceptable, especially when it is considered that everything is new and the help not experienced in such a line of endeavour.

Mr. Hunter has spared no expense in making "Log Lodge" a credit to the Hunter name, and we all sincerely trust he will be amply repaid for the investment made which is creating much steady employment and according the general public an appreciated curb and restaurant service.

BURIED AT LAST

In 1929, the wife of a young mechanic died in Augusta, Ga. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment, but the widower, too poor, refused to have her taken to a potter's field. He promised to earn the necessary funds as quickly as possible. Meanwhile the undertaker embalmed the body and left it in his morgue. The depression came and the young widower lost his job. Then he went North looking for work, promising to send money as soon as he began earning it. An accident prevented this. In time, he stopped writing and the undertaker for lack of him. Last month, the undertaker decided to bury the body in a potter's field after all, but a movement led by a local judge who donated a cemetery plot provided a decent burial with full rites of the Episcopal church—ten years after death.

Week At Ottawa

Alien Propaganda in Canada

There is every indication that government departments are becoming more and more concerned with the spread of subversive propaganda in Canada. During the last sessions members of parliament on several occasions drew the attention of the house to the growth and content of this propaganda, and have protested against its continuance. In a land of free speech, there is always the latitude given to the expression of individual opinions and for this reason the forces of the crown move with greater caution and deliberation in affairs of this kind than in non-democratic countries. During the session the minister of justice informed the house that the department through the R.C.M.P. was keeping close watch on subversive propaganda from all sources. The feeling is growing in Ottawa that the time is becoming ripe for more rigid measures of prevention through various departments including officials at ports of entry where objectionable political literature gains access to this country. These customs officials, as well as officials of the post office department, justice and external affairs are all stirred to the urgency of combating the evil of the spread of literature which aims at the disruption of our political integrity. Most of the propaganda is from Nazi sources although some is of communist origin.

While the shadow of world affairs lies across the capital at Ottawa, the domestic situation is felt by all official circles to hold one very important feature which should promote optimism. That is the crop situation in the West, with all that a bountiful harvest means to the whole economic fabric of Canada, to purchasing power in the West, to railway earnings, to the farm implement and other industries. The prospect of a return of the province of Saskatchewan to its one time stature as a vast wheat granary is remarked upon with satisfaction.

Sultan of Swat Honored at Malone on Dominion Day

A FIGURE who once reigned supreme on the home run throne of big time baseball was on Saturday at Malone placed on the throne of admiration by hundreds of eager-eyed children and thousands of grownups; he was king for a day, not only of Malone but of the entire north country.

Saturday, Dominion Day, was the prelude to Malone's perennial Good Will Week Celebration and it was highlighted by the presence of one who has probably done more towards making America's national game more interesting than any other player; Babe Ruth, the Sultan of Swat, the colorful home run king for many years of the consistently victorious New York Yankees, was there in all his glory. All day long he basked in the glowing rays of the admiration of the thousands of visitors who thronged through Franklin's lovely County Seat.

Threatening weather hovered down from the nearby Adirondacks every now and then as if playfully attempting to upset the day's proceedings but the forces of Old King Sol battled their way sufficiently to ward off the rain most of the day with the result that the program, with but little exception, was carried out as arranged. It was the fourth successive year that a touch of rainy weather had visited Malone when a Dominion Day celebration was being staged.

The program for Saturday was launched by the appearance before the Hotel Flanagan at approximately 10:30 o'clock of the honored guest of the day, Babe Ruth. Enthusiastic cheering from the large crowd assembled was to be heard as he alighted from the steps of the Hotel and, after giving the crowd a cheery hello, entered his private car. A procession which was escorted by the New York State Troopers proceeded to the Kilburn-Morse Athletic Field where a program especially for the children had been arranged. In the procession was included the Sons of the American Legion Band, the band of the Junior Corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Tupper Lake and a troop of Huntingdon Boy Scouts.

At the Athletic Field there long awaited happy youngsters, eager to see the idol of the Diamond. He was introduced to them by Wm. B. Conroy, Jr. With a beaming countenance under a healthy coat of tan, the Babe delivered an address to the gathering. He remarked that the year 1938 had been a great year for him. In it he had observed the 25th anniversary of the first time he pitched in a professional game of baseball. He had also attended the interesting anniversary of 100 years of baseball in America which was held at Coopers-town. In his remarks he amusingly intimated that he was no longer a youngster for baseball and that with the passing of time the youngsters such as were present would have to take his place and others like him. The young aspiring ball players were warned that if they had hope of becoming professional ball players, however, they would have to practise. It was only by constant practise that good ball players were made.

"Youngsters today have more opportunity of becoming good ball players than I had when I was a boy," said the Babe. "They can go down to a store and buy a good ball, bat and glove and are soon on the way towards becoming professional ball players. When I was a youngster we had to use an old ball that would in time have all the string unravel and any old excuse of a thing for a glove."

The Babe recalled one of the many incidents which occurred during the barnstorming days of his baseball career. He was playing ball with Bob Meusel, one-time big star, out in a little town in the middle west, Sleepy Eye, Minn. On the night preceding the day the game was to be played he went to a little hotel to sleep. The next morning he woke up to find it a cold October day with sleet falling. About 11 o'clock in the morning a heavy knock was heard on the door and a man entered to announce pompously that he was in charge of the arrangements for the game so he felt he should introduce himself early in the day. Later in the day the boys proceeded to the ball park behind the village band which played loudly and merrily despite the hail stones. One chap with a big tuba played with difficulty. As he played he blew out the hail stones from the mouth of the tuba horn until he looked as if he were operating a pop corn machine.

After the game got under way while Bob Meusel felt it was so cold he would have to call it "quits". As a result a call was sent out to the crowd for a volunteer ball player to take his place. Soon there rushed up a big chap, about 50 pounds heavier than the Babe. He boasted that he could hit the ball. When his time came to bat he did hit the ball. In fact, he knocked it so far, according to the Babe, that it went over two nearby corn fields. Instead of running, he paused to have a chat with the umpire. When the crowd started yelling at him to run he turned to one man in particular who was doing a lot of urging and barked, "Run? Hell, I'll buy them a new ball; I'm not going to run!"

Following his talk, the Babe autographed baseballs for the youngsters.

At about 11:30 o'clock in the morning the new Municipal Golf Course on the Whippleville Road was duly initiated with the Babe being the first golfer to drive off from the tee. He was followed by Mr. Frank Regan of New York City, Mr. Albert Laviole of Malone and Mr. Charles Douglass of Cornwall, Ontario. The King of Swat demonstrated that he could wield a mean golf stick as well as a baseball bat and on his first drive he covered well over 200 yards on a straight line to the first hole. A slight drizzle of rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a large crowd which followed the players as they came to the course.

The scene of Saturday afternoon's program was laid at the Franklin County Fair Grounds. Here the Malone Maroons and the classy Mohawk Colored Giants from Schenectady staged an exhibition ball game. Play had to be called in the first half of the sixth inning, because of rain with the Colored Giants leading by a score of 3 to 1. In the midst of the ball game Babe Ruth arrived and was introduced to the crowd by Mayor L. Stanley Bowker. Mayor Bowker expressed pleasure on behalf of the Village in having such a distinguished personality present and then presented to him a large key, emblematic of the key to the Village of Malone. In reply the Babe told of his pleasure on being present.

Mayor Bowker later introduced Lieut. Johnson, who was in command of two large amphibian planes of the United States Coast Guard which were at the Malone Airport for the occasion of the celebration of International Good Will. Lieut. Johnson in turn stated, "I am very happy to welcome on this occasion the very congenial gentlemen from the Royal Canadian Air Force. Squadron Leader M. C. Dubuc of the Royal Canadian Air Force reciprocated by expressing the honor it was for the staff of four Canadian planes to be present. The members of the Canadian squadron were introduced as follows: Flight Lieut. A. Raymond, Squadron Leader Roy Foss, Flying Officer C. J. Fee, Flying Officer D. Anderson, Pilot Officer C. Leonard, Pilot Officer N. David, Pilot Officer G. Hyde.

During the course of the afternoon the Canadian planes staged flying exhibitions, flying in formation, diving, etc.

A testimonial banquet in the State Armory at six o'clock in the evening and another exhibition ball game under flood lights between the Malone Maroons and the Mohawk Colored Giants brought the day's program to a close.

Dr. J. E. Lattimer Urges Farmers...

Canada. "Five years ago in Western Canada I kept some hens and sold eggs, six dozen for 25 cents. The wheat which was fed these same hens cost 22 cents a bushel. Butter was being purchased at the stores for 10c a pound. Those were terrible conditions and I now relish paying more for my butter and eggs knowing conditions are better for our farmers here in the east." Mr. Taylor's remarks, though brief, were much appreciated.

Years ago many outstanding addresses were delivered at the Farmers' Picnic. The addresses were enlightening and truly inspiring and at the same time giving expression to loyalty to our Dominion and the Empire. It is unfortunate more such speaking programmes are not now held at this great picnic, and the only reason we can see why such is not being done to-day is that quietness and better order is not maintained when such speaking is being conducted. Speakers cannot give expression to their thoughts when a great number of people are talking. If this feature of the Farmers' Picnic is to be maintained it is high time some action is taken to improve matters. The speaking programme should also be arranged for before the day of the picnic so that the speakers might be prepared.

During the day the Maxville Community Boys' Band supplied music that was greatly appreciated.

Athelstan Picnic Success

Success Receipts Over $200 — Acceptable Programme Presented — Burke Wins Ball Game

The annual picnic of the Athelstan Presbyterian congregation held on Dominion Day in the lovely meadow at the foot of the hill, was quite as successful as any held in former years. Although scattered showers were reported from several neighbouring sections, no rain fell to spoil the success of the picnic dinner, which was served to several hundred persons.

A short programme was held in the afternoon when Rev. W. S. Duncan and Rev. A. Nimmo sought to uphold the honour of their respective countries, Scotland and Ireland.

Piper Conway of St. Louis entertained by his selections on the bagpipes. Music was also furnished by Mr. A. B. Wilson, Rev. W. S. Duncan, Mr. Roy McParlane and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sweet.

The special attraction of the afternoon was the ball game between a local pick-up team vs. North Burke, all the honours going to the visitors.

Receipts of picnic amounted to $184.45. A sale of work by the Ladies' Aid Society realized $17.50.

Presbyterian Social. — A very successful social was held on Friday evening under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Aid of the Ormstown Presbyterian Church. Because of threatening skies the social was held in the Church Hall, instead of on the lawn, as previously planned.

A large attendance resulted in the social being a well-balanced and financially successful one. The program presented proved an outstanding example of a well-balanced and universally acceptable entertainment. Evidence of this is seen in the fact that, without exception, every number was encored, although almost every item was to be repeated on the regular program. Following is the program:

1. Chairman's remarks—Rev. E. J. White; 2. Selections by the Glee Orchestra; 3. Dancing by the Glee children; 4. Violin solo by the Rev. W. Scott Duncan; 5. Tap Dancing by Miss Park.

During the intermission selections were rendered by an orchestra composed of Mr. Pantou, Sr., Mr. Pantou, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Weale.

Franklin Council

Met July 3rd, Councillors Lamb and D'Amour absent.

Mr. Macé Lussier came before the board about breaking his car on the highway. The car was damaged by a hole in the road. The council decided to have the hole repaired. The council also discussed the matter of the sale of the property on the corner of St. Lawrence and St. George streets. The council decided to have the property sold.

Mr. Lussier read a letter from Dr. P. G. McCrimmon re Mrs. Mary Kazak, whose health is in a very critical condition. As the cost of medicines needed by the patient is quite high the Council is being asked to consider giving some financial assistance. No action was taken, the matter being left on the table for the present.

The changes made in the Valuation Roll at the special meeting of June 17th were homologated with one added change, that of Lot No. 3-4 B 2nd Range changed from J. T. Arnold to Joseph Quenneville. The front part of the Town Hall was rented to the Bank of Commerce for a Branch office, the Bank to take immediate possession. In the future the council sessions will be held in the same portion of the Hall as occupied by the Bank instead of the small room at the rear of the building.

The Council intend to appoint a committee at a later date to interview the Roads Dept. in regard to securing aid for winter roads for the coming winter.
