THE FARMERS AND THE PETROLEA PICNIC.

The speeches of the Ministers at Petrolea the other day were of the true picnic quality. There was in them nothing to indicate the responsible Minister, but much to show the skill of a talented party orator. Political picnics are farmers' parliaments; but while the Lambton farmers were treated to the sight of five representative Cabinet Ministers and obtained a fair idea of how they each could talk under pleasant circumstances, they went back to their farms without having heard one word of hope for the future. A gathering to laud the eccentricities of the Foster tariff could hardly have been held in a better town. Petrolea is built upon the petroleum business, which in turn is built upon an iniquitous tax of seven and one-fifth cents per imperial gallon—about seventy-five per cent. This tax owes its peculiar wickedness, not only to its enormous and disproportionate weight, but to the fact that it is almost exclusively levied upon the Canadian farmer. Those of us who live in cities and towns burn gas, but the isolated farm house is still illuminated from necessity by the coal oil lamp. Mr. Foster once stated in Parliament, while defending his claim that the common brown sugars made free by his late re-arrangement of the duties are used on the breakfast tables of the people, that he drank just such an article in his coffee; but he will hardly go the length of telling us that he helps to pay this burdensome coal oil tax.

It is scarcely fair, however, to expect that the Ministers would choose Petrolea, whose solid Conservative vote makes safe the seat of East Lambton, as a good place on which to announce a lowering of the protection on petroleum. They might, nevertheless, have taken advantage of the public attention they had asked and received to publish some better message to the farming community than the increase of manufacturing wealth and wages and the overtaxing of the people to the extent of $250,000 during the last fiscal year. Still they did not leave the question of the need of the farming class entirely alone, for Sir John Thompson himself noted the fact that there were "hundreds of our fellow-countrymen who preferred to try their fortunes in the centres of industry in the United States." He did not note, however, that men growing wealthy out of Petrolea oil were not among these foolish "fellow-countrymen" of ours. The silent exodus of the despairing farmer is too real a calamity in the garden of western Ontario for even the budding Premier to ignore it; though his acknowledgment of it in such a fashion would not bring much hope of a cure.

Presumably the cause of the farmer was left to the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Carling. Perhaps the other Ministers felt a delicacy about taking from him the honor of championing the class which is committed especially to his care. If this were the programme, Mr. Carling must have missed his "cue." He claimed credit for the work done at the Experimental Farms," the Empire tells us; but the rest of his speech as reported by the Toronto Conservative organ was devoted to telling of the magnificent success of the oil industry, which, in the name of common sense, ought to succeed with the fattening it gets from farmers' money. Put a protective tax of seventy-five per cent. upon farm produce and let coal oil in free; and then when Mr. Carling comes to talk of "first-class buildings and private residences" as proofs of prosperity, he will refer to the farmers and not to the oil barons.

Now no one disputes—not even the Grits—that the N. P. has built up our manufacturing interests. The Grits think this is a bad thing, wherein we totally differ from them. This was precisely what the N. P. was intended to do, and it has done it magnificently. So much is granted, and it is not at all necessary for the Ministers to leave Ottawa during a cholera scare and journey to Petrolea to trumpet abroad the successes of our industrial life. The manufacturers and their men are not enlightening in alarming numbers. No cry is raised as to their needy condition. Their prosperity may make good material for oratund declamation; but is not this kind of talk rather beneath the dignity of Ministers of the Crown when public journals, public men and public clamor are crowding upon their attention the reduced state of the agricultural class? The farmers are in need of help. Right in the neighborhood of Petrolea the artificial stall-feeding given the oil industry at the expense of the "lean kine" has kept the farmers at home, which proves conclusively that it is hard times and nothing else that has driven their brethren from Huron and Middlesex into the United States. What real difference is there between Huron and Lambton, except that created by the tariff? And yet Lambton increased 5103 in population during the last decade, and Huron lost 9051. When next the Ministers go out to picnic, they should carry with them some message of relief for the farmers in their audience.

HON. JOHN CARLING told the Petrolea picnic audience that "there has been an endeavor to get up a cholera scare." He added: "Every precaution that could be taken has been taken by Government to prevent its (the cholera's) entrance." Both these statements are equally true. To accuse any one of trying "to get up a cholera scare" with cholera already on this continent, is worthy of a Minister who has spent a year in the Senate.

MR. NICHOLAS FLOOD DAVIN has an explanatio of the apparent kindness shown by Lieut.-Governor Royal to Mr. Cayley, the new North-West Premier. He says:

A few years ago the constitution of the Assembly was amended so as to permit the people's representatives to control the purse strings, instead of the money being wholly disbursed by the Lieut.-Governor. Mr. Royal so understood the law and went so far as to promise to submit the estimates and the public accounts to the Assembly. Later on Mr. Royal changed his mind, and following the example of the Stuart kings determined to expend it himself. This started the row, and the advisory board—the Cabinet—resigned and gave peace to men more loyal to the Lieutenant-Governor. The leader of the board was Mr. Haultain. An agitation was started in the territories over the subject of giving the representatives full control of the funds. The result was that Mr. Haultain was returned at the general election. It may be seen now why the Lieutenant-Governor was anxious to have Cayley and not Haultain.

It would be interesting to know in connection with this on just what terms Nicholas himself is with the Lieutenant-Governor.

MR. BLAINE has at last written a letter in which he advises his party to keep to the front the three issues of protection, reciprocity and national currency. Mr. Harrison has plainly abandoned the Force Bill, and the silver question is being pushed by no one, so that it seems likely that Mr. Blaine's advice will be followed. The Republican party is now fairly in line, but the Democrats are still literally at the foot of the hill.

THE organ of the Newfoundland Government declares for union with Canada, because of the generosity of Canadians toward the sufferers from the St. John's fire. This is another case in which the sun of kindness accomplished more than the blasts of retaliation.

After Thirty-two Years.

Thirty-two years ago a young girl of 14, Miss Bridget Bumbray, who then resided with her relatives at Longue Pointe, disappeared one day. It was learnt that she had gone west with a lady to take care of children. Nothing more was heard of her until a few days ago. In the meantime her mother and sisters died. The impression existed among the survivors that Bridget herself was long since dead. Some days ago Mayor McShane received a letter from the West about the matter, and gave it over to Mr. John Bumbray, the contractor, who said that his long lost sister had been found. She is now the wife of William O'Neill, of Chicago, and is the mother of a family. The eldest girl is the one who found out the relatives and brought about the re-union. Mr. Bumbray leaves for Chicago this evening with Mr. D. Masson, his father-in-law, and Miss O'Neill, his niece.

A Belgian Delegate to the Pan Presbyterian Council.

The Rev. Albert Brocher, a delegate from Belgium to the Pan Presbyterian Council, Toronto, is staying with the Rev. R. P. Dicties, 166 Mance street. Mr. Brocher, originally from Geneva, Switzerland, has devoted the past twenty years of his life to the Mission Church of Belgium. He addressed the French congregation of Lacroix on Thursday night. On Sunday morning he is expected to deliver an address in St. Paul's Church and in the American Presbyterian Church in the evening. On Tuesday evening Mr. Brocher will address a union French meeting in Russell Hall.

Bishop Baldwin at St. Jude's Church.

The many friends of his Lordship Bishop Baldwin, who is on his way to the City to be present at the Provincial Synod, which meets next week, will be glad to learn that the eloquent Bishop will preach at 11 a. m. next Sunday in St. Jude's Church, Corner of Coursol and Vinet streets. As St. Jude's Church, since its enlargement, accommodates over 900 persons and the seats are all free, strangers are sure to be made welcome at the service.

Ameen Abdou Lufti Was Discharged.

The trial of Ameen Abdou Lufti was concluded Wednesday. Six witnesses swore positively in contradiction to the chief witness for the prosecution, and Mr. Archambault agreed to abandon the case for the prosecution. Judge Hall then ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty, which they did, and the prisoner was discharged.

Abbe Regaudie, professor of syntax; the Rev. S. Tranchemontagne, prefect of discipline. The Rev. Abbe Latraverse returns to Notre Dame.

Escaped Lunatics.

Zotique Trudel, who had escaped from Longue Pointe Asylum about three weeks ago, was before the Recorder Wednesday, charged with loitering. On being recognized he was sent back to the Asylum.

Felix Maher, a lunatic, escaped from Longue Pointe Wednesday, and has not yet been found.

Labor Day Picnic.

The prizes for the Labor picnic have been distributed. Mr. O. Langlois won the bean guess. The bottle contained 1611 beans, and holding two tickets, No. 535 and No. 540, guessed 1600 and 1650 respectively. As he came nearest to the mark he was awarded both prizes, two sewing machines.

Escaped From the Reformatory.

Napoleon Grew, a ten year old boy, who had been sentenced lately to the Reformatory, Mignonne street, for having stolen harness, escaped Wednesday. The police are on his track, and expect to find him without difficulty, as he was wearing the prison costume.

Fell Into Good Hands.

A man just arrived from the United States went on a spree Wednesday, and finally found himself in the carriage of Odina Lamesse, who drove him to the Central Station, where he was found to have $182 60 on his person. He was released at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan.

Mary Anderson, wife of Christopher Flanagan, swore out a warrant of assault against her husband on Tuesday, and the latter in his turn swore out one against his wife on Wednesday, both for assault.

IS CHOLERA ABOARD?

THE SS. "WANDRAHM" REPORTED.

Will Probably Reach Grosse Isle To-Morrow—There May Be a Serious Conflict of Authority.

OTTAWA, September 9.—There was a meeting of the council yesterday afternoon, at which Sir Adolphe Caron, senior privy counsellor, presided, the other ministers present being Sir John Thompson, and Hon. Messrs. Costigan, Carling, Foster, Haggart, Tupper, Dewdney and Patterson. It is understood that the attention of council was mostly occupied with matters relating to quarantine, and as one of the results of the deliberations Hon. Mr. Carling, Minister of Agriculture, will leave for Montreal and Quebec this morning to consult with the provincial authorities and the Dominion officials as to the best methods to be adopted to check the advance of cholera.

It is semi-officially announced there will be no conflict of authority between the Dominion and Provincial Governments on the question of quarantine regulations. The Dominion and provincial Governments, it is explained by the Government organ here, are fighting for the same end, the exclusion of cholera, and no question of jurisdiction or authority will be permitted to interfere in the accomplishment of that object.

On the other hand, the following correspondence between the Department of Agriculture and Mr. Munderloh, agent of the Hamburg and American Packet Company at Montreal, would indicate that the Dominion Government regards the action of the Provincial Government as ultra vires:

MONTREAL, September 6, 1892.

Hon. John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

"According to regulations issued by the Provincial Board of Health all ships coming from infected ports are forbidden to land within the limits of the province of Quebec. Will Dominion Government sanction such regulations? and will it be necessary for us to cable owners to send no more steamers here even if they carry no immigrants nor rags? Please advise.

"MUNDERLOH & CO."

OTTAWA, September 6, 1892.

Messrs. Munderloh & Co., Montreal.

"Will refer question in your telegram relative quarantine pratique to Department of Justice. Letter mailed.

"J. LOWE, D. M. A."

OTTAWA, September 6, 1892.

DEAR SIRS,—I received yesterday your telegram, in which you state that according to the regulations of the Provincial Board of Health all ships coming from infected ports are forbidden to land within the limits of the province of Quebec. In view of the importance of this question involving a conflict between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, I think it better to submit it to the consideration of Sir John Thompson before giving you an official answer. I may say to you personally, that in my opinion, based on the uniform practice of the department, the position taken by the local Board of Health is not within its competency. It is perfectly true that the local statute gives very general powers, but the statute can only confer powers within the competency of the legislature enacting it. The British North America Act ascribes to the Dominion Government exclusively the question of quarantine.

I will endeavor to give you any official answer as soon as possible. Sir John Thompson is at present absent from the seat of Government, but is expected back to-morrow.

Believe me, etc.,

Yours truly,

J. LOWE, D. M. A.

Messrs. Munderloh & Co., Montreal.

OTTAWA, Ont., September 8.

Messrs. Munderloh & Co., Montreal.

Your telegram 6th instant relative to regulations of Provincial Board of Health preventing your steamers landing immigrants has been submitted to Justice department, which advises informing you such regulation has not been approved by Dominion Government.

J. LOWE, D. M. A.

Another Location for the Quarantine.

OTTAWA, September 9.—The question of selecting another island than Grosse Isle, either as a new quarantine station or as supplementary to the present station, is engaging the attention of the Government, and many places have been mentioned, amongst them Hare Island, Goose Island, Isle aux Coudres and Bic Island, in the St. Lawrence, as well as the Magdalen Islands and Anticosti, in the Gulf. The objection to the two last named is that vessels coming through the Straits of Belle Isle, as the majority of vessels from Great Britain do at this time of the year, would have to go a long distance out of their way to report at quarantine. Bic Island seems to be the most favorably situated in some respects, but the whole question is understood to be in an unsettled state at present, and, in any event, it is not very probable that an immediate change from Grosse Isle will be made. One of the great drawbacks to Grosse Isle is the difficulty of building there a wharf to deep water where large ocean vessels can come. The cost of such a wharf in a tidal river with a rise and fall of about twenty feet must be very great and unless it is of enormous strength there must always be more or less risk of its being carried away by the ice. It is thereupon most probable that before proceeding with the extension of the wharf at Grosse Isle an examination will be made of the different islands, and even of the mainland, with a view to ascertaining whether a more suitable site for a permanent quarantine station cannot be found than the present location.

With respect to the delay in getting the "Druid" with the odixide blast into position at Grosse Isle, it is learned that the blast was affixed on Saturday, but it was necessary to have some repairs made to the vessel, which have been done, and a telegram received from Quebec last night states that the vessel was then coaling and would drop down to Grosse Isle at daylight.

The "Wandrahm."

QUEBEC, September 9.—The "Wandrahm" passed Heath Point, Anticosti, 435 miles below Quebec, at 4 p. m, yesterday.

Orders have been given to the agents of Mr. Munderloh's German steamship lines to take no immigrants. The steamship "Steinhoft," which sailed on Tuesday, has no passengers on board.

Precautions in Quebec District.

QUEBEC, September 9.—A meeting of citizens, called by Mayor Fremont, was held yesterday afternoon to discuss means of preventing the cholera from being introduced into Canada. There was a fairly good attendance, but the time was wasted discussing the relative merits of various kinds of disinfectants. Finally it was decided to concur in the resolutions recently passed by the medical faculty here, with an amendment that the regulations should apply to vessels coming from infected countries instead of infected ports. It was also decided to ask the mayors of all the cities and towns in Canada to take action in support of these demands.

Word has reached here that all immigrants arriving en route to the United States must re eive certificates from Dr. Montizambert before being permitted to cross the line.

The tug "Lord Stanley" left for Grosse Isle last evening with two Blake force pumps for the purpose of increasing the water supply on the island.

Two Provincial policemen have been posted on the wharf to see that the orders of the Central Board of Health are carried out.

The Beaver Line steamship "Lake Nepigon" was released from quarantine yesterday morning and arrived at Quebec at 1 p.m. After changing pilots she proceeded to Montreal.

The St. John Quarantine.

ST. JOHN, N. B., September 9.—Dr. Harding, Health Officer, was notified on Wednesday evening to have all steamers arriving from foreign ports detained and inspected. In consequence of this the "State of Maine," which arrived at about 1.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was ordered to lay to till the doctor arrived. The steamer stopped out near the beacon for about an hour waiting for Dr. Harding, who was at the railway station awaiting the arrival of the International Quarantine commissioners. A large number of people collected on the wharf, and quite a little excitement was caused among those who saw the steamer and thought she must have cholera on board.

The International Quarantine Commission arrived here yesterday and inspected Partridge Island Quarantine station. They found the island here, but no quarantine buildings or appliances. The commissioners left last night for Halifax.

A Newfoundland Quarantine.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., September 9.—A quarantine has been established here and all vessels are examined by the Health Officer on arrival.

More Deaths Down New York Bay.

QUARANTINE, September 9.—The cholera situation at quarantine is, no doubt, very grave. Not only are new cases breaking out every day among the steerage passengers of the ill-fated "Normannia" and "Rugia," the former of whom are on Hoffman Island, but it has now settled among the crew of the big express steamer who are on board. If anything can be added to the horror of the situation, it is the fact that the cabin passengers, who have been free from any sign of the disease, are still kept on the plague-infested vessel. The "Normannia" arrived on Saturday morning. None but the steerage passengers had any symptoms of the disease, although it had broken out some days before. Now the crew have it, and still the first and second cabin passengers have escaped. For eleven days at least they have been liable to infection and for eleven days have escaped.

As regards the situation at the lower quarantine things are much worse in regard to mortality, eleven fresh cases and four deaths being yesterday's record, though one of the deaths took place at a very late hour on Wednesday. The first vessel visited was the "Normannia," where six new cases, and all among the crew, were found. They were all removed to the hospital on Swinburne Island. The first cabin passengers were found all well, but very desparing at being kept on board the cholera ship. On the "Rugia" three new cases have developed during the day, all in the steerage. They and eight members of their families who had been exposed to the contagion were removed to the Island. For the fourth day the "Moravia" was found absolutely free from cholera cases. If this condition continues on the "Moravia" her passengers may begin to count the days to their release. At Hoffman Island it was found that one more of the "Normannia's" steerage passengers had taken sick. He was removed to Swinburne Island.

The following official statement of new cases and deaths is received:

"Normannia" — Franz Albrecht, 24; Adolph Meier, 25; Gottleib Damashon, 36; Gustave Neumann, 25; D. Audile, 24; Carl Grumich, 21; all new cases among the crew.

"Rugia"—Gustave Wellschopper, 1 year; Johann Podratskia, 44; Fetona Kuneschin, 30. Eight persons who were exposed to patients of the same families were removed to Swinburne Island and isolated for observation.

Hoffmann Island—Karl Blunning, 38, a steerage passenger, was removed to Swinburne Island. He was one of the "Normannia's" passengers.

Swinburne Island—Deaths, September 7—Elfrida Schultz, 8, admitted from the "Rugia," September 3; Henry Frankel, 39, admitted from the "Normannia," September 4, one of the crew; Jacob Kessler, 33, who was removed from Hoffmann Island, September 4, and Christian Hansen, 10, admitted from the "Rugia," September 6. The nurse is better.

Dr. Jenkins states that the steamboat "Stonington" has been purchased for the cabin passengers of the detained steamer "Normannia." The doctor is also trying to retain the training ship "New Hampshire" for the cabin passengers of the "Rugia." The "Stonington" will be here to-day and the work of transferring the passengers will begin soon after her arrival.

The French liner "Bourgogne," after a five days' detention at quarantine, arrived at her pier at half-past four yesterday, and landed her passengers. The steamship "City of New York," from Liverpool, also landed her passengers last night after a detention of 36 hours in the lower bay. Hundreds of friends and relatives had anxiously awaited the arrival of her 1100 passengers.

Harrison's Proclamation Modified.

WASHINGTON, September 9.—The following is the official text of the U. S. quarantine circular, imposing restrictions upon immigration to aid in the prevention of the introduction of cholera into the United States:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Office of the Supervising Surgeon-General,
U. S. Marine Hospital Service,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1, 1892.

To Collectors of Customs, Medical Officers of the Marine Hospital service, Foreign Steamship Companies, State and Local Boards of Health:

It having been officially declared that cholera is prevailing in various portions of Russia, Germany and France, and at certain ports in Great Britain, as well as in Asia, and it having been made to appear that immigrants in large numbers are coming into the United States from the infected districts aforesaid, and that they and their personal effects are liable to introduce cholera into the United States, and that vessels conveying them are thereby a menace to the public health, and it having been further shown that under the laws of the several states quarantine detentions may be imposed upon these vessels a sufficient length of time to insure against the introduction of contagious diseases, it is hereby ordered that no vessel from any foreign port carrying immigrants shall be admitted to enter at any port of the United states until said vessel shall have undergone a quarantine detention of twenty-days(unless such detention is forbidden by the laws of the state or the regulations made thereunder and of such greater number of days as may be fixed in special case by the state authorities.

This circular to take immediate effect except in cases of vessels about at this date, which will be made the subject of special consideration upon due application to the department.

WALTER WYMAN,
Supervising Surgeon-General, U. S. Marine Hospital service.

CHARLES FOSTER,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Approved September 1, 1892.

Is the Hamburg Situation Exaggerated?

NEW YORK, September 9.—Sanitary Superintendent Edson received the following cablegram yesterday:

HAMBURG, September 9.—Hamburg's methods in handling cholera are defective. The city, however, has a fine hospital which, when full, accommodates 1200 patients. At present there are 600 empty beds. The situation is exaggerated. The disease is on the decline.

(Signed) SEIBERT.

Dr. Seibert left this city for Hamburg two weeks ago for the purpose of studying the cholera situation.

WASHINGTON, September 9.—The Marine Hospital service has authorized the appointment of a medical inspector at Malone and one at Suspension Bridge, N. Y. The Secretary of State yesterday afternoon received a telegram from Vice-Consul Burke, at Hamburg, saying: "Steady decrease of cholera last few days."

Alarm Revived at Berlin.

BERLIN, September 9.—Yesterday's news of a fresh cholera case at the Moabite hospital, that of a woman, who arrived in the city only Wednesday, has revived alarm here. Owing to the constant arrivals in Berlin of Hamburg refugees in large numbers a police order has been promulgated directing that all arriving travellers shall report themselves at once to the proper authorities, and that they be subjected to several days' observation. All strangers are rigidly excluded from Brunswick, Wernigerode and other places where the inhabitants are in a state of semi-panic.

A Hamburg court official became insane Wednesday owing to his frenzied fear of cholera.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

A woman has been sentenced in Paris to penal servitude for life for killing her husband by pouring kerosene on his clothing and igniting it.

To act on the liver, and cleanse the bowels, no other medicine equals Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

The new German army tent is divisible into two portions, each of which can be converted into an overcoat in case of rain.

Are unlike all other pills. No purging or pain. Act specially on the liver and bile. Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose.

The Montreal Hunt has started out well this season and another most enjoyable run was had yesterday morning, when Mr. L. McJ. To-morrow the hounds will meet at Bord-a-Plouffe, and the following Saturday the annual breakfast at the Kennels will take place.

LONDON, September 8.—The German Emperor has decided to enter his yacht, the "Meteor," to compete for the American cup in 1893. The "Meteor" was formerly the "Thistle," the Scotch yacht which was defeated at New York, in 1887, by the "Volunteer" in the races for the America cup. It is reported that Lord Dunraven has accepted the challenge to race for the America cup and intends to build an 80-ton yacht.

FUNERAL OF THE VICTIM.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

CORNWALL, Ont., September 8.—The funeral of the murdered man, John H. Davey, took place this morning and was attended by fully twelve hundred people. The chief mourners were deceased's mother, children and brother Bernard. The pall-bearers were Chief Cameron, Constable Smith and Messrs. Allen, Cummings, O'Neil and Duffy. Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father Corbett in the St. Columbian's Church, and the body interred in the Catholic cemetery. The funeral was in charge of the C. M. B. A., a large number of the members attending. Among those following were the Mayor and Corporation, Lieut.-Col. Bredin, Major Baker, Captain Smith, Lieuts. Weller and Runions and many prominent persons from all over the three counties.

The inquest was again postponed until Wednesday next, so that the depositions of the injured men may be taken.

The prisoner, Slavin, has not been taken from the gaol at all since being placed there, for the feeling is very strong against him. Lefebvre is recovering nicely, while Lafess passed a quiet night and but little improvement is noted. Slavin, or Mahon, as he is generally called, will not be taken before the Police Magistrate at all.

BEHRING SEA COMMISSION.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

WASHINGTON, September 8.—Yesterday was the last day for filing evidence in the Behring Sea seal fisheries dispute. Senator Morgan, one of the United States arbitrators, called at the State Department and officially receipted for the Canadian case, which had been left with Secretary Foster some time ago by Mr. Herbert, the British charge d'affaires here. The case of the United States was handed to the arbitrator appointed by the King of Italy by United States Minister Porter two days ago. Under the terms of the treaty each side has a certain number of days in which to file a counter-case, and then the arbitrators must meet in Paris within 110 days at the outside from to-day. It is expected the arbitrators will assemble in March. Associate Justice Harlan, the other arbitrator of the United States, is now abroad, and will probably remain there until the commission meets.

HARVEST NEARLY FINISHED.

Favorable Reports Still Continue to Come in From Manitoba.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

WINNIPEG, September 9.—The harvest in Manitoba is now about past. Over ninety-five per cent. of the grain has been cut, and it is estimated that fully twenty per cent. is already safely in the stack. The weather continues magnificent for stacking purposes, and a week's continuation of it will put the crop of Manitoba beyond the danger of hail, frost or damp weather. Reports received by wire yesterday from different points said:

Minnedosa—The grain is nearly all out. Stacking is general. No damage by frost of any consequence. The yield of wheat will be from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre; oats, forty; barley, thirty-five. All a good sample.

Souris—The grain is all cut except a few green patches. Stacking is general. No damage from any cause. The sample is good. The yield is from twenty to thirty bushels. Threshing starts to-day.

Glenboro—The grain is all cut here and about one-third stacked. The yield and quality are good.

Morden—All the grain is cut and about ten per cent. stacked. No damage from any cause. The estimated yield is 22 bushels.

Rapid City—The grain is about all cut. Stacking has commenced. No damage. The average yield will be: Wheat, 20 to 25; oats, 45; barley, 35.

Brandon—Throughout the Brandon district the grain is practically all cut, the bulk of what is standing being oats, of which there will be a heavy yield. About ten per cent. of the wheat is stacked. The frost does not appear to have done much damage, but smut has appeared in some fields, though not to any great extent. A small percentage is shrunken by the sun from being cut too green. The average number of bushels of wheat to the acre will be eighteen or thereabouts. The weather at the present writing is grand, and the general feeling among the farmers is very encouraging.

Carberry—All the grain is cut here, and a small proportion stacked. No damage from any cause. Yield of wheat, 30; oats, 65; barley, 40 bushels to the acre.

THE CARON CHARGES.

Their Investigation to Begin by the Royal Commission on Tuesday.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, September 8.—Judges Routhier and Tait, commissioners in re the Caron investigation, ascended the bench at 11.15 this morning in the Circuit Court room. The only parties present were the lawyers, two stenographers and two newspapermen. After the reading of the commission by the secretary, Mr. Halet, Mr. Archibald, Q. C., of Montreal, notified the Commissioners that he appeared for the Federal Government, and Messrs. Pentland, Q. C., and Fitzpatrick, M. L. A., appeared for Sir Adolphe Caron.

Addressing the Commission, Mr. Archibald said: "I only act in this case as a Crown prosecutor in an ordinary criminal case. If the Commission is adjourned to the 20th instant I expect that I will have enough witnesses for two days; but Your Honors will understand that, in the event of Mr. Edgar, who brought the charges in the House, not appearing and not giving assistance, it will be difficult for me to know all the witnesses necessary to be summoned. However, as far as I can, I will try to keep the Commission supplied with witnesses until the investigation is concluded."

The Commission then adjourned to the 20th of September.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Ont., September 8.—The committee representing the various historical societies that have charge of the Centennial of this province met yesterday and arranged a programme for the celebration of the anniversary of the opening of the first Parliament of Upper Canada. That Parliament was opened by Govenor Simcoe at Newark (now Niagara) on the 17th of September, 1792, and on the afternoon of Saturday week the hundredth anniversary of that interesting event will be commemorated by a public meeting in front of the new Parliament buildings of this city. The chief feature of the programme will be a series of short addresses appropriate to the occasion, delivered by the Hon. J. M. Gibson and Hon. Richard Harcourt, representing the Government of Ontario; and W. R. Meredith and E. F. Clarke, representing Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Legislative Assembly. Patriotic Canadian songs will be rendered by a chorus of trained public school pupils.

HAVELOCK FAIR.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

HAVELOCK, Que., September 8.—The great fair of Huntingdon, No. 2, was held on the fair grounds at Havelock and brought out a large crowd. There were between 1500 and 2000 people on the ground. The few showers that took place in the morning prevented some from coming. The display in vegetables and fancy work was not up to what it had been in former years. Cattle and sheep were on the thin side. There was a good display of horses both in heavy and light draft. Jeremiah Murphy carried off first prize in pure breds. Thomas Orr took first prize for carriage team, which was something fine. Mr. Thos. B. Pringle, of Huntingdon, purchased one of the matched pair at a high figure. C. H. McGinnis carried off first prize in single drivers.

The dinner was prepared by the ladies of the different churches of that section and the proceeds were to go toward reducing the debt on the Protestant Insane Asylum.

ANTI-HOME RULE MEETING.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, September 9.—A meeting was held last evening and committees appointed to make arrangements for the holding of an anti-Home Rule mass meeting. It was decided that the meeting take place on the 20th. There will be twenty-two speakers, among whom are prominent members of the pan-Presbyterian Council, local members of Parliament and others. The city Orangemen will take a prominent part, though all the speakers will be Irishmen.

The Globe thinks the time selected to hold the anti-Home Rule meeting here is inopportune. Coming on the night after the welcome, the counter-demonstration will, the Globe says, look as if a body of the people of Toronto grudged the honor paid to its most distinguished citizen, the Chancellor and the liberal friend of its University, and the foremost jurist in Canada.

SACERDOTAL JUBILEE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, September 9.—Mgrs. Hamel and Gagnon left yesterday by Quebec Central for New York to attend the sacerdotal jubilee of Mgr. Bernard O'Reilly. Mgr. Gagnon will represent His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau and Mgr. Hamel the Seminary and Laval University.

Chicoutimi Recount.

QUEBEC, September 8.—The judicial recount demanded by Mr. Savard in the case of the Chicoutimi election took place yesterday at Chicoutimi before Judge Gagne, when Mr. Belley, ministerialist, was again declared elected by 32 votes. This result was arrived at, it seems, by the judge following the Point aux Esquimaux vote as legal or declaring that he had no other option but to pass it as legal for the present, leaving the question of its illegality to be threshed out on contestation.

Republican Gains in Vermont.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., September 8. — Returns from thirty-three additional towns show the following result: For governor, Fuller (Republican), 7291; Smalley (Democrat), 4068. This vote shows a net Republican gain over the vote of 1890 of 155, but a net loss compared with the vote of 1888 of 1811.

South Perth Election Contested.

STRATFORD, Ont., September 9.—The protest against the election of Mr. Pridham as M. P. for South Perth came up for trial at the court house here to-day before Chancellor Boyd and Justice Meredith. Mr. Moscrip, of St. Mary's, for the petitioner, said he had no evidence to offer on account of the difficulty he found in establishing the agency of sufficient corrupt acts to set aside the election. Mr. Sydney Smith, acting for Mr. Pridham, in a cross petition against Mr. Trow, made a similar statement. Chancellor Boyd stated that under the circumstances the judges had no option but to dismiss the petitions, which was accordingly done.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Proceedings Before the Royal Prohibition Commission at Quebec.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, September 9.—The Royal Commission on the liquor traffic resumed its sittings yesterday. Mr. Edmond Giroux, Chairman of the Harbor Commissioners, said that there were at one time a large number of men employed by the Commissioners, but he could not say if they indulged in liquor. There were very few cases of drunkenness amongst pilots. He thought it would be very difficult to enforce prohibition, which was not desirable. He favored high license and fine and imprisonment for drunkenness.

Philipe Bazin, grocer, testified that he had been in the liquor trade for seventeen years, and that the largest amount of liquor consumed here was of Canadian manufacture. Contraband whiskey was sold by the Government, the principal purchasers being distillers. Smugglers sold whiskey to licensed venders, but witness could not speak from experience. There was a considerable diminution in the sale of whiskey here, which, it was thought, was due to the large quantity of illicit stuff brought into the country. Dealers did not wish the contraband article to be offered for sale, because it interfered with trade. The heavy duties encouraged smuggliers. Witness thought the consumption of liquor was about the same as it was when he started in business.

Thomas Davidson, of the firm of Ross & Co., wholesale grocers, said his firm did not sell liquor. He was of opinion that less drunkenness existed now than ten years ago. Smuggled whiskey was more readily bought by licensed dealers. The system of the municipal regulation of the sale of liquor worked well. He favored prohibition, and thought it could be carried out efficiently. Questioned as to the effect of prohibition on revenue, he said that he thought the Finance Minister could devise a means to supply the deficiency. He had no confidence in Mr. Foster.

Rev. Cure Belanger considered the license law good, but it was not properly enforced. There were too many licenses granted, and repeated offences against the law were dealt with as in the first instance. Instead of increasing the fine and depriving the guilty parties of their licenses. Sunday selling also prevailed. Witness was of the opinion that drunkenness was increasing, and considered drink the curse of the country. He thought prohibition impossible, and a restriction of the trade was the better plan. Witness would object to the sale of strong liquors, but not to light wines and beers. Experience proved that there was more liquor consumed in places where the Scott Act was in force than in other places. He considered liquor not in itself bad, but its excessive use was. The moderate use of liquor was essentially good.

Rev. Dean Norman testified that the Anglican Church in Canada ordained the use of fermented wine in the service of the Holy Communion. He considered the use of light wines for domestic purposes desirable, and such should be properly looked after. The number of places where liquor is sold should be curtailed, and the quality of the article carefully inspected. He was not in favor of prohibition, and considered it impracticable. The true remedy for drunkenness was education, and he thought the excessive use of spirituous liquors was decreasing here. He always advised total abstinence to the young, but would not recommend them to take a pledge. The Dean thought the sale of liquor a great evil, as it encouraged the system of treating, which led to excessive drinking. Any place which offered drink without food was dangerous and should not be tolerated.

The International Monetary Conference.

LONDON, September 8.—In regard to the International Monetary conference the new Government has heard nothing from Secretary Foster, whose ignoring of the change of ministry seems not likely to assist the conference arrangements. The Associated Press is authorized to state that both Mr. Gladstone and Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, his chancellor of the exchequer, are averse to the conference discussing anything affecting the currency of the British Empire. Mr. Gladstone thinks that if anything is done to relieve the strain of the monetary system of India it ought to be effected without agreement or conference with the United States authorities. Mr. Gladstone thinks that the conference will lead to nothing. Mr. Gladstone privately expressed the opinion that Mr. Goschen had gone too far in treating with Secretary Foster and that finally the officials asked why the Washington Government did not forward fresh papers on the subject. Mr. Gladstone does not like the idea of a suspension of England's silver currency, but finding that the India office insisted upon an early settlement of the question he has consented to submit it to the Cabinet.

An English Tragedy.

LONDON, September 9.—The mystery of the headless and armless body of a woman found in a sack near Aldhyrst has been cleared up. The woman, who was identified by a piece of clothing, was Annie Pritchard, who had been living with Rae Anderson at Northampton. Anderson was found to be the assumed name of Andrew McRae, manager of a warehouse in Birmingham, who has a family and has been living a double life. In June the woman had a child. McRae was arrested and his office was searched, and in the fireplace were found the bones of a child and the arms of a woman. Detectives discovered that the child was murdered in the house occupied by the victim. The girl was decapitated and the head with the arms, which were sawed off, and the baby were taken to Birmingham and cremated in McRae's office. Through being unable to dispose of the trunk and limbs in this manner the fiend placed them in a sack with lime and dumped them where they were found some days later.

Newfoundland and Confederation.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., September 9.—The Telegram, the newspaper organ of the Newfoundland Government, has an article strongly urging confederation with Canada, praising the generosity of the Canadian people towards this colony in the present distress, and expressing the most friendly sentiments towards the Dominion. The feeling in favor of confederation is advancing rapidly among the people. It is believed the Government will adopt this policy at the next elections or before, perhaps. The idea is that the ministers are now feeling their way.

First of the Greenland Fleet.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 8.—The British barque "Salina," Capt. Peterson, the first vessel of the Greenland fleet to arrive here this year, reached port last evening and reports having been jammed in the ice at Kajartalik from June 2 until August 13 unable to move. Capt. Peterson neither saw nor heard anything of the steamer "Kite," which went to the relief of Lieut. Peary and his party, but he saw no reason why it should not be successful.

Venezuelan Dictatorship Overthrown.

WASHINGTON, September 8.—Unofficial advices received at the State Department from Venezuela are to the effect that Gen. Crespo has finally triumphed and the dictatorship has been overthrown. Gen. Crespo, it is said, has been called to Caracas to assume the reins of government, and there is now a bright prospect for the restoration of peace in the distracted country.

C.P.R. and the Transcontinental Association

CHICAGO, September 9.—The Transcontinental Association has begun to go to pieces. The Canadian Pacific gave notice yesterday of its intention to withdraw from the organization, taking effect January 1. A number of reasons are given for taking this step, and they all hinge on the quarrel between that company and the Southern Pacific.

The Largest Steamer in the World.

GLASGOW, September 8. — The steamer "Campania," built for the Cunard Steamship Company, was successfully launched here to-day. The "Campania" is the largest steamer in the world, and is to be used for the New York and Liverpool service.

VIENNA, September 8.—Count Adalbert Sternberg, aged 24, shot himself yesterday with a fowling piece, inflicting fatal injuries. He had lost $100,000 betting on races.

A Fusion of Parties.

FARGO, N. D., September 8.—The Democratic state convention in session here has arranged a fusion with the People's party.

JOHN MILBANK'S CONFESSION;

OR,

A LIFE'S REMORSE.

"From my earliest days, I loved you, when we were children both, and Richard was a child, whose wayward tempers pleased you even then far better than my poor devotion. I was shy and silent, and had nothing to attract your love; while he—he had but to smile—nay, only not to frown—and all our little world was at his feet. I felt how inferior I was to him—it was impossible, indeed, not to do so, since my uncle, Mrs. Morden, and every one with whom I was brought into contact, made me feel it—yet, as I honestly believe, without envy; for I loved Richard myself, and envied him only one thing in the world—your love.

"We grew up and still I loved him, did my best to give him pleasure, to shield his faults, and to extenuate them with my uncle. If a grain of bitterness was in my heart, I knew it not; it had not sprung up into the green blade of jealousy. There was a glamour about the lad that blinded me, like all the rest. I did not dream what I now know, that all I did was done in thankless service to a worthless client. That jars upon you, Maggie; I feel it as I write; yet I must speak the truth, as I have spoken it, perchance, by this time, before a more impartial Judge than you. I am not defending myself; the man who does so, has some hope of clearance, of forgiveness, or of remission of punishment; and I have no such hope. I shall, for certain, never see you, hear you, touch you, more: the desolation of that thought is unspeakable; it overwhelms me utterly, and but that I have passed my word to you, to wait Heaven's own good time to die, I would end all, this moment. I am not defending myself, but I have left a memory upon earth, from which I would fain wipe an undeserved stain; and to be just to it, I must speak truth, Maggie.

"By the time that I had come to man's estate. It was understood—indeed, my uncle told me so, with his own lips, not knowing the pain he caused me (though, if he had known, he would have told me still)—that you were one day to be Richard's bride; and from that moment, I strove to put you from my heart, to live my life without that hope which was the breath of it—to forget you, to forsake you. Uncle Matthew knew about it. I besought him, upon my knees, to let me go elsewhere, away from Hilton, not to doom me to be the spectator of Richard's triumph. But I was useful to him in his trade, for which my brother had no aptitude, and he refused to let me go. I do not blame him; I blame none but one. The old man knew not what it was to love, or, at least, to love like me. "Take some other girl," said he, "and she will cure your itch for this one." It would have been good advice to most men of my age; but to me it was useless. I had no eyes for other girls but you, though you were blind to me. If you had not been so, you must have noticed how I shrank from your society, avoided the temptation of your presence, and when I could not avoid, resisted it. It was to lead my mind away from you, quite as much as through any natural diligence of my own, that I applied myself to business, and showed no fancy for the pleasures that attracted others of my years. There was, it seemed, but one pleasure in life for me—the right to call you mine, and that Fate had denied me. Yet not for a single instant did the idea occur to me of usurping Richard's place; not because it was impossible to do so (although I knew it was so), but because I had so reverent a regard for the object of my brother's love. It would have been bliss even to think of you as mine—I dreamt of it sometimes, when Heaven seemed to have sent the dream, and Hell the waking—but I never permitted myself to do so. You were sacred from me; an adored, but forbidden thing. It might have been so to the end, perhaps, had not Richard himself proved base. He had won you, and, for all I knew up to that time was worthy of you; he had not, indeed, that reverence for you which I had, and wore that gracious prize—your love—as lightly as the flower in his button-hole. But that was his way—a way that pleased you well, and therefore was the right one. I was very humble, and confessed my way the wrong; and if I could not wish him joy, I wished Richard no harm, and certainly not the greatest harm of all—that he should lose you. I knew he drank and gamed, but was content, for your sake and for his, to deem such errors but spots upon the surface, blots of youth, which time would cleanse. I did not judge him by myself, who had no taste for cards or wine, and therefore was not tempted. But a day came when perforce my eyes were opened, and I saw clearly what this Richard was. You have heard how, when my uncle was on his deathbed, or supposed to be so, some thief, disguised, pistol in hand, compelled him to set his name beneath some bond. A cowardly and cruel deed, in any man, but in one to whom he had been Benefactor, a crime unparalleled for baseness and for greed. Men said indeed that it was Richard, but I, for one, denied it, as you know. It could not be, for Richard was as the apple of his eye, whose trespass he had forgiven a score of times, and to whom he had left all he loved on earth—his gold. Yet it was Richard. Uncle Matthew told me so with his own lips, an hour before his death.

"I have no hopes of the wild lad," he said, "unless Maggie Thorne should wed him; yet, because I loved him once, I have given him one chance, which, if any grain of grace is left in him, he cannot miss. If the remembrance of his old uncle shall induce him only to see my body put in earth, he shall go shares with you, John, in what I have to leave."

"I think the old man meant me to give him warning, and I did so; but I was sorely tempted to be silent, not, Heaven knows! that I coveted my brother's portion, but, because, if he was poor that might be an obstacle to his marriage—at all events, for the present, and I was already bent upon deferring, and, if, possible, preventing it. Even yet, I swear, I never thought of substituting myself for him, but only of saving you from such a mate. It seemed so horrible that my uncle, who had such good cause to know how vile he was, should have thought of Richard only, not of you. He had no hopes for him, he had said, unless Maggie Thorne should become his wife. But what hopes, if that happened, thought I, could there be for Maggie Thorne!

"You know on what sort of terms we brothers lived together here at Rosebank, and who it was that led the other a dog's life. Well, I bore all that. It was nothing, or next to nothing, compared with what I suffered when I thought of the life he would one day lead you. Never shall I forget the hour when I first found out—what was a well-worn jest with his gay companions—that he was faithless to you. That seemed to me—who was faithful to you without cause—a heinous crime and blasphemy. Not you yourself, had it come to your own ears, could have resented it with a greater indignation. I had long known that he was unworthy of you; that not one of your many virtues had any reflection in him; but I had hitherto believed that at least your love for him was reciprocated. But now I felt how hard, indeed, it was that Richard, who could be happy with another, should become your husband, while I, who had no happiness save in you, should live my life alone. For the first time, the thought of supplanting him was sown within me, and though I strove to tread it down, it grew and grew. It was not without a struggle even that I compelled myself to keep silence respecting your rival; the temptation to inform you in some private manner, of Richard's infidelity—which I knew would cool your passion for him, and perhaps make you read him aright in other respects—was strong within me; yet I withstood it. I could no longer persuade myself that, in making such a revelation, I should be only actuated by the wish to save and serve you; I knew that 'self' would be my object, and I shrank from the baseness of building my future home upon the wreck of Richard's. A circumstance, however, now took place which dissipated all my scruples. Dennis Blake has doubtless told you of it; I allude to my brother's forgery of the thousand-pound bill. I redeemed it, I confess, with the vague intention of holding it over him in terrorem—of compelling him to leave the town and you; but when I found, from his own lips, that he had made you the innocent instrument of his crime, I swore to myself that you should never wed with such a villain. The letter Richard left behind him was written at my dictation, and under the threat of immediate prosecution: he had no choice but to accept my terms. I gave him a hundred pounds—the last I had in the world—and left Rosebank, promising that he would never return thither, or claim you for his wife. That very night, within two hours of his departure, he did return—to meet his death."

A mist, not of tears, here fell on Maggie's eyes; her whole frame shook: a noise was in her ears of dreadful blows, and of cries that grew fainter and fainter.

"Mamma, mamma! ook, ook!"—little Willy was dragging at her skirts, and pointing to his favorite illustration that lay open on the carpet—"ook at naughty man!"

She looked mechanically, then turned away with a quick shudder; it was Cain slaying Abel.

ANTI-DANDRUFF

Anti-Dandruff acts directly on the scalp, removes all impurities, cures Eruptions, prevents Baldness and causes the hair to grow thick, soft and beautiful. No sugar of lead or any other poisonous ingredient is contained in the formula. It is a new departure as a hair preparation and contains properties unknown to any other preparation. Be careful to get Anti-Dandruff, manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co. Toronto, Ont.

If a dealer tells you he has something just as good as Anti-Dandruff do not believe it; he has not and would not make such statement if he knew the ingredients of Anti-Dandruff. We have paid for and have received from the Trade Mark Office at Ottawa papers showing that we are the only persons in Canada entitled to use Anti-Dandruff as an advertising design or such name to a specific preparation. Any preparation advertised to the public in which advertisement of Anti-Dandruff is used is a fraud and will be dealt with accordingly.

When a barber tells you he has something better than Anti-Dandruff take no stock in the statement; there is nothing so good, therefore nothing better. Barbers, like other business men, will wake up to the fact that a preparation of merit like Anti-Dandruff and one that is far superior to any preparation for the hair now known must come to the front. Try it once with your patrons and advise us if it does not please.

LADIES

Anti-Dandruff is a valuable addition to your Toilet Table, is exquisitely perfumed, pleasant to use, clear as Crystal, free from all injurious ingredients and is thoroughly appreciated by all who use it as a perfect Hair Dresser. In every home there is some one who requires a hair dressing or a remover of dandruff. The mother usually knows first when such an article is required. It is within our province to say that Anti-Dandruff makes the outer head comfortable and imparts pliability to the hair. One trial with father, mother or child will prove its merits. No poisonous ingredient enters into its composition.

MISS MICHAUD,

BISHOP MEDLEY DEAD.

THE METROPOLITAN PASSES AWAY,

Full of Years and Honors—His Work for the Church in Canada—A Great Composer of Church Music.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

ST. JOHN, N. B., September 9.—The Metropolitan of Canada died this morning at half-past eight o'clock. His Lordship, who had been considered out of danger for the past fortnight, suffered a relapse two days ago, from which he never rallied.

The Most Rev. John Medley, D. D., was born on December 19, 1804. He was the son of George Medley, Esq., of Grosvenor Place, London, England. He received his early training in the schools at Bristol, Bewdly, Hammersmith, Cobham, and took his degree at Wadham College, Oxford, in 1826, after three years' course. His name figured in the class list of honors at that institution. In 1828 he was ordained deacon, and in 1829 priest of the Church of England. He entered upon his first parochial charge as incumbent of St. John's Church, Truro, Cornwall, in 1831, and became Archdeacon of Barnstaple in 1833.

Prior to 1846 the Episcopal churches in New Brunswick were within the diocese of Nova Scotia. In that year the ecclesiastics of the province made a representation to the Archbishop of Canterbury of and Rev. Mr. Medley was nominated to Lord Stanley, then Colonial Secretary, and came out to New Brunswick. He was consecrated first Bishop of Fredericton on Ascension Day, 1845, in Lambeth Chapel, by the then Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Howley. The people established a stationary fund of £3000, the interest of which was to be applied to his maintenance. In addition thereto the Bishop received his official salary, half of which he surrendered to the present constitutional Sovereign, Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, upon the latter's appointment in 1851. In 1879 Bishop Medley was elected to the honorary position of Metropolitan of Canada by the House of Bishops, on the resignation, because of ill-health, of the previous incumbent, Most Reverend Bishop Oxenden.

In 1877 Bishop Medley journeyed forward a canon for the appointment of a coadjutor bishop. This step was rendered necessary by the advanced age of the bishop, and by his desire that the diocese might not suffer from that circumstance. This canon was

ENACTED BY THE DIOCESAN SYNOD

by a large majority, and the bishop nominated Rev. Hollingsworth Tully Kingdon, vicar of Good Easter, in Essex, who shortly afterwards signified his acceptance. He arrived in June, 1851, and his election was unanimously confirmed by the synod. The actual burnishing of the 10th, of that year, he was consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of Fredericton, assisting the Bishops of Nova Scotia, Quebec, Albany and Maine and sixty-four clergymen being present.

THE LATE MOST REV. JOHN MEDLEY, D.D., Metropolitan of Canada.

Bishop Medley was an effective preacher. Without striving to be eloquent he was eminently instructive, his sermons being full of "meat." His published sermons and charges are of the same character. His last work was "The Book of Job" in metrical form.

Had Bishop Medley, instead of taking holy orders, devoted the musical profession, he would undoubtedly have attained pre-eminence in that art. He was a deep student and lover of the sacred works of the old masters, as well as of the more modern composers of church music. He excelled him in the oratorio, as well as sacred music, chants, chorals and the like; and without his was a composer and critic of ability and a master of harmony and thorough bass, as evidence of these facts is the chant of the Fredericton Cathedral library of music among which are and arrangements, notably the introit, "Turn Thee, O Lord, and deliver my soul," the seven, yet exhilarating tunes for the New Year hymn with the words "Rivers to the ocean run," and the sad, melancholy yet majestic "It is nothing to you, all ye that pass by." There are also several "sevices," Te Deums, anthems and chants by the Bishop, possessing masterly, artistic characteristics. Among the latter is a dedication of the recognition of His Lordship's musical ability. Further proof can be adduced than the mention of the fact that his compositions are sung in the leading Anglican cathedrals and churches of England, as well as on this side of the Atlantic. He was of late years have an honored place in Joule's fine collection. With the exception of a short time when Alexander Ewing wielded the baton as choirmaster in the Cathedral, Bishop Medley superintended the direction and rehearsals of his choir, in the performance of which by his word was law.

Any allusion to the work of His Lordship in the Cathedral would be incomplete without a more than passing reference to the Cathedral at Fredericton, which forms a lasting and noble monument to his good taste, energy and business management. The Cathedral was consecrated on 15th, 1846, when the corner-stone was laid by Lieut.-Governor Sir William Colebrooke, it was finished and consecrated in 1853, and has been

from time to time. Four thousand pounds was subscribed by the people of Fredericton, and gifts were received from all parts of the Province, from England and even from Ireland. Queen, New York, which gave 100 guineas towards the cost of the east window. The then Governor of the Province, Sir Edmund Walker Head, contributed liberally to that window, and the ex-Governor's wife, Mrs. Head, of Newbury, England, gave to the value of £80. The side windows of the nave were half paid for by Sir Clayton & Bell, the eldest—excepting three memorial windows, one in memory of the late Attorney-General, Mr. Ambrose Street; the second, in memory of Mr. Shore, a son of Colonel Shore, Clerk of the Crown, who was killed in an engagement with the Sikhs, at Chillianwallah, India, a few years before the third, in memory of two prebendaries (Coleman and Lamont), a few years after friends of the Bishop. All the windows, massively two pairs by Clayton & Bell, well known English artists, and possessing superior specimens of art. In reply to an interviewer some time ago, the Bishop Medley said, touching the design of the Cathedral: "It is worthy of remarking fact that I incidentally visited a family in Norfolk, England, and there heard of the church at Snettisham, the entire style of the exact copy of that church, and I had an architect go down and take the plans of the mouldings. The main body of the church is of Gothic architecture, with a Norman and Gem stone. The west window is a reproduction of the west at Snettisham, and the east window of Selby Abbey. The bell in the cathedral, put in the year after the church was consecrated, was ever since. It was made by Bent, of London, and was superintended in its construction up Sir Edmund Head, who personally placed in position the big clock at Westminster. There are eight bells in the tower are eight in number, the tenor weighing 2800 lbs. The wood used in the cathedral furniture could scarcely be replaced nowadays. All the seats and stalls in the chancel are of butternut, as sound as the day they were put in; the reredos consists of five woods, butternut, black walnut, basswood, white holly and ebony; the carving of red pine from the Aroostook country, and the Kentucky floor put in over 40 years ago has never warped or given away in the slightest.

His Lordship married in 1827 Christiana Bisson, a grand-daughter of the great English sculptor of that name. She died in 1843. In 1863 he married Margaret Hudson, also an English lady, who survives him. Bishop Medley had no issue by his second wife. By his first wife his children were: Clara, their only daughter, who died, was married to Capt. Lancaster, of H. M. 97th Regiment; Rev. Charles E. Medley, rector of Sussex, N. B., for several years, now dead; Rev. John Medley, who remained in England, and is now private chaplain to an English gentleman; Rev. Edward Medley, present at Norway, Carleton, England, and Captain Spencer Medley, of the Royal Navy, now settled in New Zealand.

SOME OF THE LOSERS.

The Price Fight Cause Many Thousands to Change Hands.

NEW ORLEANS, La., September 9.—John McAuliffe gave Richard Roche his cheque for $16,250, which was requested Roche to give to Sullivan for him. He was so confident in Sullivan's ability to win that he even went so far as to borrow $5000 and put that up himself against $2500. Consequently McAuliffe was worked almost up to a frenzy by the time the knock-out occurred. He felt that he had lost his every-thing on earth and that it was simply a case of going back and beginning life over again. A millionaire was removed from his heart, however, when he ascertained from the bank that $15,000 was on deposit to his credit, as the long-headed Roche knew more about the uncertainties of the ring than the young fellow, so quietly held back the cheque.

The biggest loser of the day, as far as can be ascertained, was John Reilly, of New York, who placed the greatest single wager, the ex-champion for $21,000. Reilly felt the loss greatly, but it did not break his heart by any means. He said on the night: "I shall have to commence all over again."

If there was ever a creditable crowd of sports it was the Manhattan Club contingent of New York. They came here full of enthusiasm for Sullivan, and staked their money on the issue.

Those who showed a generosity in a most remarkable manner last night at the St. Charles Hotel, when the word went out Sullivan that he would not only spar four rounds with him in Boston, but to be held at Madison Square Garden, Sept. 17, but would take a box and pay $1000 for it. When Corbett went to the sullivan corner and helped him to his chair he held out his hand and said: "John, will you shake hands with me?" and Sullivan replied: "Yes, my boy, I'm glad it was you that won." Corbett will but adieu to his New Orleans friends this morning.

"Corbett will never meet Jackson again," said Delaney: "you may make it public. We are against fighting any more in this city. We are particularly catering to the wishes of our southern friends in this matter. Besides Corbett has bested Jackson already, and nothing is to be gained by fighting him again. We will be no exception to Mr. Mitchell, and for the present will ignore all challenges, because we have no arguements very far ahead."

Sullivan and party left yesterday afternoon.

Lost all His Money on the Fight.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., September 9.—Thomas Rooney, of Plymouth, having lost all his money and prospects in the result of the Sullivan-Corbett fight, committed suicide last night by taking poison.

SUSPECTED CASE OF MURDER.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

KINGSTON, Ont., September 9.—Yesterday Edward Ansell, of Gibson township, Michigan, was in the city on very serious business. He went to the Police Magistrate and swore out an affidavit that he believed his brother, Michael Ansell, who died on the 25th August, in his house at Odessa, twelve miles from this city, came to his death by violence at the hands of some person or persons unknown. Deceased was not married. He lived on a farm which he owned. Edward was not at the funeral, because he could not reach Odessa in time. He came the other day, and from information he heard he believes that his brother was killed. He says that a large quantity of meat on the kitchen floor, Edward was told that a man named Mitchell was with him when dying, and his head was cut and his eyes bruised. One was small and the other open. He died in great pain, and was unable to speak. The premises were searched and a piece of old sacking covered with blood in a shed. There was no money in the pockets, but inside a pocket book in the pocket of the trousers containing 26 cents. Neighbors say that Mitchell was well off, and had been before his death, and had $150 in his possession. Deceased lived in a very lonely section. He was half a mile from a neighbor.

THE DOMINION PREMIERSHIP.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, September 9.—The Globe speculating as to who will succeed Sir John Thompson as Premier, says: "Sir Charles Tupper is regarded by the Montreal STAR and one or two other Conservative papers as the most eligible for the post. It is true, Sir Charles can plead long and strenuous services as a reason for favoring the selection of his claims. Had he not taken the High Commissionership, there can be little doubt that he would have succeeded to the premiership on the lamented Sir John Macdonald's death. That the post will fall to Sir John Thompson may, however, be taken for granted in consequence of the claims mentioned by the STAR, namely, Sir John's age, which will prevent his taking the office from the Premiership. The other, that he has made no effort to secure the position for every piece of rascality of which Tory politicians have been guilty for the last five years, should actuate him, but will not."

AN ESCAPED CONVICT.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

QUEBEC, September 9.—At a late hour last evening Constable Routhier was called into the disreputable house in the St. Roch to arrest a man for creating a disturbance. The man was immediately given in charge of the house, but not arrested. Upon reaching the street the disturber turning to the constable, said: "My name is Jos. Gauthier, and I have escaped from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary. The constable not appearing to believe him, Gauthier said "Take me to the station and you will see for yourself that I am a convict." Routhier took him to the nearest station and upon the prisoner's shirt that he was really an escaped convict. He has been lodged in gaol awaiting orders.

"Blake's" Tars Ashore.

QUEBEC, September 9.—Two hundred blue-jackets of H. M. S. "Blake" were landed yesterday morning and marched out to the plains of Abraham where they went through several manœuvres and afterwards marched back to their ship. They were headed by their band. They are a stalwart body of men and marched with a steadiness that would do credit to a line regiment.

More Housetead Outrages.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 9.—Red pepper was thrown into the eyes of non-unionists at Homestead last night as they were passing along Eighth Avenue from the restaurant, where they had supper, to the mill. Many of the men had their sight so badly injured that they will be unable to work for a few days. The pepper-throwing was done by a lot of boys who lined the sidewalks. The non-union men could not resent the attack, as strikers stood on both sides of the street ready to help the boys.

ACTION OF THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT

In Prohibiting Vessels From Cholera Infected Ports Landing Likely to be Called in Question.

Has the Quebec Government the right to prohibit vessels from cholera infected ports landing at any place in the Province of Quebec? This is a question that will have soon to be tested, for before the month is over a steamship from Hamburg will be on the way up the St. Lawrence, and it is not supposing that it is not forcibly detained below. Some correspondence has passed between Mr. W.C. Muncerich, manager here of the Hamburg-American Packet Company, and the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa. On the sixth of the present month Mr. Muncerich wrote to the Minister asking asking him if the Dominion Government would sanction the regulations issued by the Provincial Board of Health, that all ships coming from infected ports are forbidden to land within the limits of the Province of Quebec? He also asks if the vessels would be necessary for the agents here to cable the owners to send no more steamers to Montreal, even if they carry emigrants and nor cargo. Mr. J. Lowe, deputy Minister of Agriculture, replied that this question was an important, involving, as it did, a conflict between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and that it was thought it better to submit it to the consideration of Sir John Thompson before giving an official answer. However, Mr. Lowe's personal opinion was that the position taken by the local Board of Health was not within its competency. A further letter from Mr. Lowe to Messrs. Mundrich & Co. stated that the regulation of the Provincial Board of Health had been approved of by the Local Government. This means that the Hamburg-American Packet Co.'s boats will continue to come to Montreal, and an attempt is made to prevent their landing in Quebec, an appeal will be at once taken

TO THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

The steamship "Lindraimo," which was reported as having cholera on board, passed "Cape Magdalen" at 5.30 this morning. She will reach Quebec at 10 o'clock to-night this evening. No report whatever has been received from Dr. Wandinger, the officer in her passengers, and nobody is in a position to say whether or not she has cholera or anything of the kind on board. The steamship "Steinhoft" left antwerp on Wednesday for Montreal, but she has a large number on board. The next boat is the steamship Europa, which will leave Hamburg about the 13th of the present month.

Dr. Lachapelle was called on this morning by a STAR reporter and asked regarding the statement that the action of the Quebec Board of Health in closing the province of Quebec to vessels from infected ports was illegal. "I believe we are perfectly within our right," replied Dr. Lachapelle. "Every municipality has a right to protect itself. Of course a question of law arises here, but that will have to be fought out if necessary and in the meantime the steamship will be detained and the cargo spoiled."

Dr. H. W. Sawtelle, of Boston, was in the city to-day, and was in consultation with the Provincial Board of Health. Dr. Sawtelle is one of the officers of the Marine Hospital Service, and is here to see what steps are being taken in this city. He also says that he is satisfied with what is being done.

A general meeting of the Central Board will take place to-morrow in Quebec.

Mental Aberration Ascribed to Tea Tasting.

The English commercial agent, Taylor, who attempted suicide at the Waverly House the other day, is to be removed from the General Hospital to that at Verdun. Taylor's incapacity is ascribed to the demented man, inasmuch as his aberration is attributed directly to one of the peculiar hardships of the tea trade. His "mine" is tea, and the absorption of large quantities of the fragrant beverage, in the course of different brands in the work of blending has evidently affected his brain, as well as his and nervous system. This theory is supported by the fact that Mr. Taylor is of a physical build, and of a mental bent of mind of a self-destroyer, stoutly built and full-blooded, and that his speedy recovery at Verdun is confidently expected.

City Property Values.

Before the commissioners in expropriation the property of G. Congal, at the corner of St. Denis Dante and Rachel streets, was valued by his witnesses at $1.25 and by the city witnesses at $1.00 per foot. Mrs. G. Austin, on Panneleon street, was valued at 40 cents by the city witnesses and 60 cents by the proprietor. The commissioners for St. James street west, Messrs. Ewing, Gagnon and Lamothe, will resume work next week, just as soon as the report of the Road Committee on the subject is passed by the City Council on Monday.

Cable reports Boston's make on the basis of 10c. At the Brockville Cheese Board yesterday this offer was refused, while at Listowel as high as 10⅝c was paid for choice, in the absence of large deals the market may be called a nominal one. The cable to-day was unchanged at 45s.

Ontario Cheese Markets.

BROCKVILLE, September 8.—Seven factories registered at the cheese market to-day: 299 boxes colored, 150 white cheese; the small offering is due to the fact that nearly all the factories have secured for the balance of the season's make, the ruling figure being 10c. Buyers were out in full force, and prices ruled 10c for both white and colored by one buyer, which was the only one present. At the Cornwall Board was adjourned for two weeks, when the final meeting of the season will be held.

They Trust Their Experience!

Despite the cynical indifference of Diogenes in his tub, the question of dress to a refined and civilized people is always important and worthy of attention. The male member of the community at times affects the part of the stoical Greek, but the ladies are guided by a divinely instinct in this matter. They trust their intuitions, and these give a surer light than anything evolved by the logical process. They trust their experience, too, when about to buy, and this invariably leads them to the celebrated Mantle Department of JOHN MURPHY & CO.

PIANOS
PIANOS
R. S. WILLIAMS & SON

This firm determined years ago that they would build up a trade in the manufacture of pianos that for stability of establishment and absolute excellence of the instrument made should not be surpassed by any other on the continent of America. Invested with an enterprise that ensures success, their business gradually grew to its present immense proportions. Unsurpassed as far as Canada is concerned, and rivalling the great manufacturers of other countries, to-day they ask the public to make a personal inspection of their pianos, and take particular notice of an Upright in Hungarian walnut. It is certainly a beautiful piano; is grand in tone power, and capable of the very severest test.

A full assortment of these fine Pianos can be seen and tried at

THE ST. JOHNS FAIR.

Its Success Interfered With by Unfavorable Weather.

ST. JOHNS, Que., September 8.—The unfavorable weather of the opening day rather interfered with the success of the St. Johns Fair. The exhibition was of ten counties, viz.: St. Johns, Iberville, Napierville, Beauharnois, Chambly, Chateauguay, Huntingdon, Laprairie, Missisquoi, and Rouville, and the success of the exhibition was dependent, in a great measure, on the hard work of the president, Mr. Henry Roy, and the secretary, Mr. A. N. Deland. The formal opening was fixed for two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and it was expected that the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Beaubien, would deliver an address. He was unable to be present, however. His place was filled by the Hon. Mr. Marchand, who delivered an appropriate address. In it he expressed his pleasure at being present, and congratulated those present on the excellent exhibition they had got together. He was pleased to see such a large quantity of live stock, particularly horses, and thought that the counties there represented were ahead of any others he knew. He hoped that the awards of the judges would be satisfactory to everybody, and that the best prizes would go to the best stock.

After the formal opening, a general move was made to the various departments of the show, which was well worthy a visit. Although the grounds have been enlarged by an addition of 50 stalls, making in all 500 stalls, there was not sufficient room for the entries. A further expansion is necessary, and will be made as soon as possible. The exhibit of horses was a first-class one, nalese than 125 entries having been received. The other entries in this department included 200 cattle, 150 sheep and 70 pigs. In the poultry department 90 entries were received.

The show of farm products, embracing cheese, honey, butter, maple syrup and sugar, fruits and vegetables was first-class, and there were some particularly fine specimens of melons and pumpkins.

In the ladies' department there was a splendid exhibit of lace, wool work, embroidery, fancy work and paintings, some specimens of which are almost beyond praise.

The show of manufactured products was only fair, there being comparatively few specimens of agricultural implements.

Gladstone's Egyptian Policy.

LONDON, September 9.—Mr. Gladstone and the Earl of Rosebery manifest considerable haste in their willingness to placate Mr. Labouchere and his faction by beginning to realize his hopes as regards Egypt. Yesterday a despatch from Cairo told of the apparent waning of British influence in high quarters there and of an increasing lack of respect shown to British officers of naval troops. This despatch was somewhat enigmatical until explained to-day by a supplementary despatch, which states that the Dorset Regiment, the strongest in Egypt, has received orders to return home shortly. This regiment will not be replaced by other troops. The British headquarters staff and garrison at Cairo will be removed gradually to Alexandria, where practically the whole remaining British force in Egypt will be concentrated. After six months England will be represented at Alexandria probably only by two ironclads. She will be ready, however, on short notice to send on troops from Cyprus to meet any emergency. The Anglophiles in Egypt declare that in the absence of British bayonets the Khedive will not be able to continue his reign more than a year. The Liberals seem to be satisfied with the prospective changes, as they believe that France to secure an amicable arrangement in Egypt has made important concessions in the Newfoundland dispute, and has promised her co-operation in Morocco.

The Salvation Army Troubles.

TORONTO, September 9.—It is asserted that the Salvation Army is being greatly injured by Booth's treatment of Philpott. The Peterboro corps offer to join the secession body if Philpott will send an officer down there. Brantford, Hamilton, Guelph, Oshawa and Simcoe are also showing strong signs of sympathy with the discharged brigadier. It is asserted that fifteen thousand have left the army in Canada in the last two years, the whole trouble being based on dissatisfaction with the management of the army affairs at headquarters. It is said that their property is mortgaged, and since Booth came out from England a large sum of money has been made in New York. It is also stated that nearly 100 barracks, rescue homes, etc., in Canada, have been abandoned in the last two years.

HUNTINGDON FAIR.

A SUCCESSFUL OPENING YESTERDAY.

Fine Weather in the South-western Frontier County—Some Excellent Exhibits—The Prize-Winners.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

HUNTINGDON, Que., September 9.—The annual fair of the Huntingdon Agricultural Society No. 1, which opened yesterday on their grounds at the rear of Huntingdon village, had things its own way. The rain fell and the wind blew upon the fairs of the counties to the east, but exhibitors and spectators at the fair of the county of the south-western frontier basked in the early autumn sunshine. The day was charming and before the morning had grown into forenoon the people began pouring into the fair ground. They came from all quarters, by team and train, a large party coming from across the international line. The fair is open to the whole District of Beauharnois and Franklin county, N. Y. This large territory was well represented, both by those who came to see and those who came to win prizes. Geographically the district of Beauharnois is part of the great valley of the St. Lawrence with level prairie-like land and an exceedingly rich soil. It is not a country of beautiful scenery, but it is a country that yields abundant crops and produces a wealthy population. Years ago its staple article of production was grain. Since then the great west has been opened up and practically driven the east out of the grain market. The farmers of the district were not slow to see the change and adapt themselves to it. The grain fields grew smaller and the dairy increased. Butter, cheese and cattle are now the leading articles of export and every year sees mixed farming growing and paying better.

The people are not given to show, but they want things solid and so they took to breeding heavy horses. To-day more and better heavy draft horses can be found in this district than in all the rest of the Province, nor are they behind when the competition is thrown open to the whole Dominion. The rest of their stock is well in keeping with the animals which do the work. Their dairies are composed largely of thoroughbreds and their sheep and swine are all of superior quality. All these were represented on the grounds yesterday. There was a large show of cattle, but, said an exhibitor, they are not as fat as those of last year. That was owing to the injurious effect of the heavy rains upon the pastures. Comparatively few grades were shown, but the leading families of pure-breeds were represented. Among the exhibitors of Durhams were J. G. Mair, Daniel Brimms, Hugh Garvin, James Cowan, Thos. Rutherford exhibited Holsteins, and so did Mr. Sangster. The leading exhibitors of Ayrshires were Arch. Muir, John Muir, James Stephen, Thos. Drysdale, John Howden, Robert Robertson, Robt. Anderson and James Cottenham. One of the leading exhibitors of Jerseys was Mr. John Blachford, of Boyd Settlement. The fine sheep exhibit belonged to David Pringle, John Pringle, Neil McCuaig, David Baxter, James Cowan, Daniel Brimms, John Purcell, Malcolm McNaughton, John Purce. In the swine department the competitors were R. J. McNeil, Peter Cavers, J. G. Mair, Wm. Martin, John Muir.

The horses were numerous and valuable. The names of exhibitors will be found in the prize list. Of course Clydesdales predominated, and their blood could be seen in horses entered in other classes. The horses shown for general purpose would be called draft horses in Stanstead and Missisquoi.

Of the other departments perhaps the best was that filled with apples and vegetables. It is by far better than that at the Eastern Townships fair at Sherbrooke. There was also a full display of fancy work and domestic products. The cheese exhibit was pronounced by competent judges to be excellent. Good cheese means money to the people, and all were glad to see so fine samples present.

The opening day of the fair saw on the ground Mr. Julius Scriver, M. P., for Huntingdon; Mr. G.W. Stephens, their local member; Mr. E. E. Spencer, M. P. P., for Missisquoi; Hon. Louis Beaubieu, Commissioner of Agriculture; Mr. Robert Sellers, of Huntingdon; Mr. Robert Ness, of Howick; Dr. Shanks and R. L. Murchison and S. Leet, advocates, of Montre

A BITTER PROTEST.

PASSENGERS ISSUE AN APPEAL.

They Complain to the Governor of New York that Their Lives Have Been Imperilled Needlessly.

NEW YORK, September 9.—The following letter has been sent to the Governor of New York state by the Committee of Sanitation on board the quarantined steamer "Normannia:" "To the Hon. R. P. Flower, Governor of the state of New York, etc., etc.—The undersigned, a committee representing the first and second cabin passengers of the steamship "Normannia" now in quarantine in the port of New York, respectfully show: That, as good citizens, we cheerfully submit to such detention as may be deemed necessary by sanitary experts for the preservation of the public health, but we hold that when the imprisoned persons, most citizens of the United States, have been exposed to infection, to their own danger and the danger of the public.

To show this to be true, we submit the following facts: We were ordered on shore at 6 o'clock Saturday morning by order of the Health officer and yesterday morning the official inspection of the ship or visit to the sick has been made by that officer or any one representing him. No ventilation of cabin or other air has been furnished to supplement the cabin ventilation, which is bad, but the work has been left entirely to the captain and his crew. The supplies needed for and promised have not been furnished, so that the work of disinfection begun by the ship's officers has been stopped. No means have been provided for communication with health officers, with the result that the sick and the dead have been retained on the ship for a needless time. Fresh water has not been provided to replace that put on board from the "Elbe," although application has been made therefor, and the water tanks of the ships have been emptied, refilled and otherwise made ready to receive it.

We merely solemnly declare that at this moment there is nowhere among the cabin passengers, nor has there been for eight days, nor is there any cause for apprehension much less panic among them.

Can it be possible that the national Government, the Governor, and people of New York will permit 500 of their fellow citizens, all now in good health, to be incarcerened up in this ship without proper inspection or even any medical visit for a day, or any official, Federal or State, that the ship has been properly disinfected? We therefore, we pray that Your Excellency will put at the disposal of the Health Officer competent medical expert assistance such appliances as necessary. Now that you know that we are safe you that you will act promptly. Longer delay seems to us to approximate the criminal, for which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) J. H. McPherson, senator of New Jersey; Theo. Heinrich, of the Lutheran; Edwin L. Godkin, Rodd, M. Thompson, A. R. Hunter, J. S. Rumbold, W. Paige and others.

No Conflict of Authority.

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR.)

OTTAWA, September 9.—Sir John Thompson, speaking to a STAR correspondent this day, said: "There can be no conflict between the Federal and the Provincial authorities in the enforcement of quarantine regulations. Both are working for the same object.

Spain Quarantines England.

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR.)

LONDON, September 9.—A despatch to the Times from Madrid says a decree establishing quarantine against all persons arriving in Spain from London has been issued in consequence of the receipt of a telegram from the Spanish consul at London, announcing that Asiatic cholera exists in North London.

The Times adds that the Spanish consul here explains to the Spanish Government regarding the presence of Asiatic cholera in London has been misunderstood.

Inspecting the Maritime Provinces.

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR.)

S. JOHN, N. B., September 9.—Messrs. McCormack, Baker, Watson and Smith, members of the International commission now in this city, left this morning for Fredericton to meet the different cities along the Atlantic coast, and will arrive in Portland, Me., on the C. P. R. train. They were met by the quarantine officer here, Dr. Harding, and during their stay he gave them all information as to the quarantine arrangements in this city. The steamship has been notified by telegraph of their coming this afternoon, but they were late in arriving, and as the Doctor felt that he should be on hand to receive the commissioners, he gave orders to boat the International Company's steamer off the quarantine station that he might meet them. The steamer came up the harbor, but on receiving instructions, gave the party the slip, and remained there till examined by Dr. Harding. She was detained about three hours. The commissioners left for Portland last night.

Immigrants Quarantined at the "Soo."

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., September 9.—Thirty-two Swedish immigrants, who left Liverpool by the Allan Line steamer "Circassian," landed at Quebec, and from there came by the C. P. R. through to the North-West, were quarantined at the Canadian "Soo" yesterday by order of the Collector of Customs Carleton, who acted on instructions from Washington by wire. They are in good health, but will be held just over the border, washed and thoroughly disinfected and their baggage will be fumigated. The authorities of the Canadian "Soo" were very indignant over the matter, and Chief Plummer stationed a squad of police at the car, and will not allow any of the occupants to leave it. Major Plummer said they will be sent around over the main line of the C. P. R., or returned to Quebec.

An order received from the Superintendent of foreign mails, at Ottawa, by Postmaster Osborne, to disinfect foreign mails arriving through Canada, has been cancelled.

The "Normannia's" Passengers.

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—Everyone here feels a relief that the intolerable cruelty of keeping the quarantined cabin passengers of the "Normannia" longer imprisoned on the steamship Normannia must be put an end to, even though the decision was finally brought about by private generosity. The Acting Secretary has been forced to be allowed the use of the Sandy Hook pilot-boat Gedney to take the cabin passengers to the piers for their accommodation, but the Attorney-General ordered the experiments raised such an outcry against allowing a contaminated cabin ship to pass between the wind and their neighborhood that the Acting Secretary was finally brought about by private generosity. The Acting Secretary has been forced to refuse the request. In this emergency Mr. Pierpont Morgan, the eminent banker, stepped forward and tendered the right the commodious and magnificently appointed steam-yacht Corsair to ply between New York and Jail River, and placed it at the disposal of the passengers of the "Normannia," who are to be removed to it immediately for a few hours' further inspection before being finally cleared from imprisonment. It is now hoped and believed that the quarantine regulations seconded as they have been by Canada, will be effectual in preventing the spread of the cholera appearing to any city on this continent. All the alarms about the outbreak of cholera in other cities have proved to have been found, on investigation, to be based on groundless fears.

Another Steamer Flies the Yellow Flag.

SANDY HOOK, September 9, 8 a. m.—The Hamburg-American steamer "Moravia" from Hamburg, which arrived in lower quarantine a week ago after seven days' passage, hoisted the yellow flag this morning, indicating that she has cholera, typhoid fever, smallpox, or all three on board. She has come to anchor off the seaside. The "Wieland" is not one of the Hamburg-American line of steamers. The American line, but is a vessel of about the same size and build as the "Hugia." The "Wieland," however, carries both cabin and steerage passengers, and no doubt has her usual full complement of the latter. The yellow flag has also been hoisted on the infected steamer "Normannia," and it is evident that there is more sickness aboard of her.

The yellow flags of the "Hugia" and "Moravia" have not been hoisted this morning, so it is beyond doubt that there have been no fresh outbreaks of disease aboard those two vessels.

When the White Star line steamer "Britannic," from Liverpool, passed here this morning for New York, she put the following signals: "Report me all well."

It has been learned on good authority that a portion of Sandy Hook at least will be devoted to the use of well passengers from Quarantine detained at the latter. They will undergo their period of observation there. It is understood the President favors such a plan and has so informed the proper authorities at Washington.

The British steamer "Joseph John," which left Hamburg on August 26, passed Sandy Hook at 8.30 o'clock this morning. This vessel is a tramp species of steamer, but is likely to have a number of immigrants aboard.

Lax Quarantine Methods.

NEW YORK, September 9.—Mr. Bertaux, of G. W. Bertaux & Co., No. 10 Broadway, said yesterday morning that it was quite time that private citizens should be given at his office. He said he did not think there was any danger of cholera coming in by way of the bound, although he acknowledged that there was nothing to stop it in the way of official quarantine, and no inspection of any kind to make any attempt at preventing inoculations of cholera or any other disease.

Mr. Bertaux said that he came for a number of years had made his headquarters at the office of C. W. Bertaux & Co., and from there drove carriages and horses according to their pens and unload. The captains called at their office to report, and Mr. Bertaux did not doubt many of them had Seguine did not boast the presence.

Mr. Bertaux said that during the past two weeks Mr. Seguine has been so busy at quarantine that he could not come up to his office. He has been living out on the office boy, who has been giving out permits to any coming from the quarantine.

Mr. Bertaux said that there was a great deal of business done in this line, and it would be a great hardship to make all those vessels go down to quarantine for inspection. If there were any cholera, the said lies with the Government in not having a medical inspection at the entrance to the Gate.

The office boy, Mr. Bertaux said, only gave permits to sailing vessels from along the coast, but after ward he acknowledged that he also gave permits to steamers, naming "Miranda," from St. John's, Nfld., and the "Ivy," he said, was expected to arrive yesterday in by way of Hell Gate.

A number of business men down town said that a little more stringent arrangements regarding vessels coming in through the Sound were called for. If there were cholera and other contagious disease on board, the only way of the quarantine officer was to find out through a voluntary statement of the captains, and captains are not noted for volunteering such information.

Deaths on the "Wyoming."

QUARANTINE, N. Y., September 9.—Two children were transferred to death on the "Wyoming" last night. The names of the children on the "Wyoming" are Ida Pearson, aged 23 years, and Elias Pearson, aged six months. Dr. Jenkins has sent two children and a mother of the former to the sick with cholera, to Swinburne island. They had not only been landed, but were taken out of Russia. The "Wyoming" has been sent to the Lower Bay.

The two members of the Pearson's family, who died on the "Wyoming," were Swedes, not Russians. The mother and two children, sent to Swinburne island, are Russians. It is stated that the two children were caused by asphyxiation, but the case is still unexamined.

The steamer "Wyoming," which was ordered to the lower bay with 526 cabin and 304 steerage passengers aboard.

NEW YORK, September 9.—The general pas-senger agent of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company says he believes that the new steamboat inspection law will be the cause of the receipt of a telegram from the Spanish consul at London, announcing that Asiatic cholera exists in North London.

The Times adds that the Spanish consul here explains to the Spanish Government regarding the presence of Asiatic cholera in London has been misunderstood.

SITTING OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION.

The Evidence Tendered by Mr. L. O. David and Judge Dugas This Morning —Against Prohibition.

The Montreal session of the Royal Commission on Prohibition opened at the City Hall this morning. It had been originally intended to use one of the Bank's rooms at the City Hall; but as His Worship was receiving some visitors from the English market-war, it was decided that it would be better to meet in another room. The Council-chamber was finally selected and the Mayor having placed his confidential man, "Narcisse," at the disposal of the Commissioners, the proceedings commenced at eleven o'clock sharp. Sir Joseph Hickson, president, occupied the chair. On his right sat Judge Dugas and the Rev. Dr. McLeod, of Fredericton, N. B., while to the left were seated, occupied by Messrs. E. F. Clarke, M. P. P., and A. A. Ouimet, M. P., the counsel acting on behalf of the distillers and Mr. Pearce appeared to watch the interests of the temperance party.

At eleven o'clock, Mr. Monaghan, the secretary, came forward and announced opening the Commission, in English, after which Mr. Gagnon read a similar announcement in French. This formality having been concluded, the chairman announced that the intention of the commissioners was to open proceedings His Worship the Mayor, but as he was engaged elsewhere they would have to defer, were content with the examination of other witnesses.

Mr. L. O. David, City Clerk, was the first witness. He was a strong advocate of temperance; he thought intemperance was the greatest curse of the age. Prohibition, he said, would be a great encouragement to the importation of light wines and ales. It was impossible, and their manufacture in this country also. Prohibition would encourage the importation of light wines and ales. It was impossible, and their manufacture in this country also. Believing, as he did, that in cold countries some stimulant in the beverage of drink of the people, he felt that if one did not give them an inoffensive beverage, they would have to give a worse one. In France the vine growing districts were practically free from drunkenness, while in all other parts of the country drinking was in progress. He thought license commissioners should be

AS INDEPENDENT AS POSSIBLE.

While a member of the Council he had endeavored to have a high license law passed. Witness strongly favored a reduction in the number of licenses. If a man passed ten or twenty saloons on his way home, he was tempted to call in some of them. Witness did not think that the greatest harm was done in the hotels. The hotel-keeper would not drink at all if he had not a convenient saloon. Again recurring to the subject of high license, he was of opinion that, far from their use creating a taste for drink, their liquors, for the most part, were of a very inferior quality. A man who had his palate trained to appreciate a fine light wine would be totally out of it with disgust from the coarse liquors that are now consumed so largely. Light wines, he said, did not give cretion. Asked if he would favor the number of persons being made responsible to the population, he said that every citizen should be equal in the eye of the law, and if one man got a license he should not be asked to another who was equally well qualified. He was not prepared to say that the discretionary power should be taken from the commissioners in the first instance, but there was much room for discreditable hotels and restaurants by forcing hotel keepers to new accommodation for a certain number of guests, and making the restaurants pay a license like some of the worst. The law at present provided that meals at all hours should be had at establishments. Witness was not in favor of a system of treating. He was opposed to an inducement to holders to keep orderly houses. He was in favor of the high license as he considered in their conduct. Witness did not believe in prohibition. Mind liquor would be introduced secretly to the city of quality. Prohibition would bring people to accustom themselves to drinking the low kind, which was a bad thing. Smuggling and illicit distilling would become common. Witness thought hospitals should be built, and that the latest should be free. He was in favor of taxing from the mainland of unquestioned purity to take the place of the surface wells now in use, which, he said, in the city of Montreal might become a source of great danger.

The scenes of rending and sickening scenes in the hospitals of Hamburg. The cholera has reached such a pitch that there is no time for preventive measures. Every moment is occupied in attending to the sick and dead. Identification is out of the question. Very few bodies are claimed, and the dead are piled in nameless graves. Relatives can only guess the fate of stricken friends. The terrible scenes have hardened the people. Nobody accompanies the dead to the grave. There is little doubt that many persons, principally children, have been carried off by the hospital suspicion, and there have been infected. There is no law providing for the forcible removal of the sick to hospitals. In order to prevent the epidemic will continue unrestricted. It will last the winter, to reappear with vigor in the spring."

AT THE CITY HALL

THE BRITISH OFFICERS' RETURN VISIT.

The Commander and Officers of the "Magicienne" Call on the Mayor and Are Made Welcome.

Capt. Pipon and some of his officers paid a return official visit to the Mayor at the City Hall this forenoon. Eleven o'clock was the hour fixed for the reception, and sharp to the time the naval visitors arrived at the City Hall and were received by the Mayor and escorted to the Council Chamber. Introductions were in order, the Mayor doing the honors, and those introduced were Dufresne, Farrell, Griffin, Cunningham, Cresse, Germain, Clendinneng, McBride, Stevenson, Prefontaine and Robert, ex-Ald. Proctor and Shorey. Hon. Jas. Robertson, member of Parliament, he said the Mayor, Ald. Alma, Dr. Hingston and Mr. E. Howe, of Boston, Mr. Bolvin, Mr. L. Beaubien, Jr., and others. Mayor McShane then assisted his wife and resumed the introductions. Capt. Pipon and his officers of a warm greeting, and voiced the sentiments of all the people, when they extended them a hearty welcome. The officers visited would see a people living under the kindliest and most generous laws, were unsurpassed. Capt. Pipon returned thanks for the kindly way they had been received and spoken of. They had spoken about the cordiality and good feeling which greeted them. If there existed any Anglophobia could destroy. He hoped they would leave with the same good feelings as the French-Canadians had.

Ald. Cleghorn said that British seamen had had a name through all the ages that stood for bravery. Although here they did not belong to the visitors' country they were one country the world over. Classes, he said, was sure as loyal to the Queen as the people in England.

Ald. Rose remarked that they all loved England, the land of liberty and peace. They were pleased to meet the representatives of the Queen who reigned over them. Ald. Wardle, M. P. P., also said a few words of welcome and Ald. Cunningham, as a man of peace, was pleased to meet men of the British navy, which by nature were ready in time of trouble. Ald. Germain, McBride and Stevenson also made a few remarks, the expressions of welcome. Then Ald. Stevenson was called upon and in a brilliant speech in reception to their visitors, especially as Captain Pipon was well known here, and would be remembered for his love of fun. He was the nephew of General Pipon. Then such a good name behind him. They then adjourned to the Mayor's parlor, where the Mayor presented the officers of Capt. Pipon and his officers in the following words: "Gentlemen, drink their health heartily, as I am sorry I have to," addressing Capt. Pipon he said: "Your uncle was a friend of James McShane's, and a good one at that. As Mayor I am proud to give you the freedom of the city. I am delighted to receive by me in my younger days. Long may you live to keep your good name unsullied and unshorn as a friend of the Queen." The toast was received with three cheers and the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows."

Capt. Pipon asked his officers to drink to the health and prosperity of Montreal, its mayor and aldermen. Such flattery made the Mayor blush, but more pleased he could go away with the impression that they were appreciated and more impressed than they were. If called upon they would do their best to uphold the glory of Great Britain.

Ex-Ald. Shorey, the Hon. Mr. Hardie of Ontario, Capt. Lee of Boston, and Ald. Prefontaine, all spoke in the warmest kind of terms, and all spent the same time and a hearty welcome. Mr. Lajoie of Somerset Park extended the Freedom of that piece of amusement to Capt. Pipon, his officers and crew this morning, which was accepted. They will also pay a visit to the Hara National at Outremont on Tuesday.

The "Magicienne" will give an exhibition of drill some day next week and on Thursday night at their own lights. The old "Magicienne" takes her name from the old "Magicienne" which was captured by the British from the French in 1781, but was found to be unseaworthy to be destroyed, and was put into commission under the British flag.

Disgraceful Sanitation.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—Would you permit me to express, through your valuable columns, the indignation of many of our citizens, that the sanitary condition of the city is in a very bad state. This is especially demonstrated by any person who takes the trouble to inspect our lanes, and look over the fences surrounding the yards of many properties. At this period of the year, the yards of many of our old houses also contain dry closets used by servants, which are never inspected by sanitary-police and yet are a source of danger. Now that water is abolished at once and landlords obliged to replace them by modern structures. The cesspools and drains of other houses in the Faubourg Ste. Antoine (?) piece of engineering. Complaint after complaint has been made against the disgraceful state of affairs, but the owners of property, who are willing to put their money into the stock and grain exchanges, are loth to spend a few dollars in view of the cholera visiting the city the Council should appoint special sanitary police, part of whose duty should be visiting cellars, and in the case of the landlord. There are landlords and landladies, some who are willing to spend a little on their property, but the majority of the well than part with a penny (if such is for the benefit of their tenants, who would be the first victims of their dwellings die off like rats in a trap. Montreal has been a name for a long time to hold here, rather than at their own expense, and especially in the case of those, including my own landlord, I take this means of bringing to the notice of the Board of Health people who have gone to the trouble of sending men to examine cellars and premises. The landlord should be closely watched and made to remedy the defects and damage at the latter cause of the trouble is not in a few days, next week, next month, or perhaps, next year, but it should be done at once, immediately, no delay, no prevarication, no shilly-shallying now. Wake up, some of you close-listed proprietors, and do as you are told by the law and while you have the time. A TENANT.
