Kennedy suffers new back injury

WASHINGTON (CP)—The White House disclosed today that President Kennedy has been suffering a back injury since May 16 when he hurt himself planting a tree in Ottawa.

Kennedy suffered the new injury in Ottawa May 16, the first day of his Canadian trip.

It occurred when he was lifting several spades of dirt while planting a tree at Government House, residence of Governor General Vanier.

White House secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy would appear today on crutches.

But, even as Salinger was talking with reporters, the president telephoned Salinger to say he would not use crutches today but would wait at least another day to see how he felt.

Salinger disclosed that Kennedy did use crutches for two days while at Hyannis Port, Mass., just prior to his trip to Paris, Vienna and London.

Salinger said Dr. Janet Travell, the president's physician, described the injury as a lumbosacral strain.

Salinger said the doctor told him the president is suffering "constant discomfort, some-

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie the 'gator is just plain mean.

So mean, in fact, that he has lost his home at the Bronx zoo.

The 10-foot, 400-pound bundle of bad disposition was crated up and carted aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth Wednesday. A traveling British menagerie bought the animal, sight unseen.

"Yeh, we're going to miss him," mumbled a zoo official as he watched five keepers struggling to get the alligator into the crate.

"We'll miss him a lot."

Senate rejects tariff proposal

May lift ban over grain

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's concern over technical problems involved in dumping 60,000,000 bushels of wheat at Red China's doorstep seemed to be allayed today.

But easing of the situation that flared up when the United States refused to let American-made pumps be used on grain-carrying tankers bound for the Communist mainland came only after Canada assured itself that shipments would go through on schedule.

As it turned out, there were only 10 grain-handling pumps involved. And within a day, the government found a Canadian company that would fill the order in three weeks, if necessary.

The bulk of the order will move by freighter from the West Coast. No special gear is needed for them to unload grain at the Chinese docks.

Only two tankers on the St. Lawrence, and under lease by Red China, are affected by the U.S. ban that came into focus when Washington ordered five of the pumps returned to the U.S. when they were being loaded on a Norwegian tanker at Quebec earlier this week.

PUMPS AVAILABLE

At a press conference Wednesday, Agriculture Minister Hamilton said the portable pumps could be obtained from a Woodstock, Ont., company and that Canada would assist on transport to Red China, by air if necessary, to make sure the two tankers could be unloaded when they reached their destination in a few weeks.

Mr. Hamilton said the two tankers—one at Quebec and the other due to arrive at Montreal Sunday—each need five of the $12,500 pumps. They are of Norwegian registry.

He said the problem was really Red China's but "like a good salesman," Canada was eager to help in hopes that delivery could be telescoped into the shortest possible time.

Both Mr. Hamilton and Prime Minister Diefenbaker hastened to point out that Canada understood the United States stand.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the U.S. was fully entitled to apply its ban to American companies within its borders.

EXPECTS NO DELAY

However, the wheat shipments would "proceed without interruption or delay," he assured the Commons.

The prime minister also reported that the U.S. government

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States government has agreed to allow the export of certain grain handling equipment to be used by Norwegian tankers hauling Canadian grain to Red China, it was learned today.

Senator Croll said that in presenting his amendment he is not opposed to the bill itself.

"I recognize it is a measure in which the government feels it has a mandate."

But his amendment would reject "government" by minister.

... secret decision on tariffs by minister and arbitrary action by the minister."

In the committee vote, ending a week of public hearings, one Liberal member, Senator Jean - Francois Pouliot of Quebec, voted against the amendment. He said he is opposed to the tariff board. The Progressive Conservative minority also was supported by Senator Hartland Molson (Ind.-Quebec).

The government bill broadens the range of imports considered to be of a class or kind produced in Canada. On many imports, especially machinery, higher tariff rates apply to goods falling in this class.

SECTION ALTERED

The Liberal amendment did not affect this provision. But it altered a key section giving the revenue minister the final say, without right of appeal, in making certain tariff rulings.

The most important of these rulings would involve classification of certain imports as "custom - made to specifications" and thus subject to the higher made-in-Canada tariffs.

In a last - minute argument against Senator Croll's amendment the government leader in the upper house, Senator Walter Aseltine, said the powers which the bill would give to the minister are "very minor and not very drastic powers."

The bill "will encourage secondary industry and thus create many jobs," Senator Aseltine said. "The businessmen of Canada want this legislation passed."

Farmers protest in France

MORLAIX, France (AP)—Several thousand angry farmers, protesting a slump in markets, today occupied this Brittany town, blocking streets with farm vehicles. The local governor fled to temporary safety in police headquarters.

Tearing up paving blocks from the street, the farmers took over the local administrative building.

Some 100 police on duty were powerless to prevent the takeover.

Farm vehicles blocked highways at the outskirts of the town of 13,000 inhabitants.

Last Sunday groups of men invaded polling places in Brittany villages and burned ballot boxes during local elections.

Thirteen persons were arrested. Authorities attributed the disorders Sunday to the farmers' discontent over prices for their produce, particularly potatoes.

Brittany potatoes are selling in Paris for as little as the equivalent of four cents a pound.

In February, 1960, 25,000 to 30,000 rioted in Amiens because President de Gaulle had removed farm prices from the protection of a sliding scale that rose automatically with the price of other commodities.

Peeping horse

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—They've got a peeping horse around town but the city council won't do anything about it.

Rufus Johnson complained that a horse had been staring into his bedroom window. The council considered making it illegal for a horse to grace within 35 feet of residential property but figured horse lovers would mount a protest.

When it came to a vote Wednesday, the neighbors prevailed.

OTTAWA (CP)—The key section of the government's controversial tariff bill giving arbitrary powers to the revenue minister to make final tariff rulings was rejected today by a vote of 18 to 8 in the Senate banking committee.

The majority strength of opposition Liberal senators carried an amendment proposed by Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario) to provide for an appeal to the tariff board from the minister's decisions. The measure now returns to the Senate for third and final reading. The Liberals have an overwhelming majority in the upper chamber.

Senator Croll's amendment made one concession to the government's argument that such tariff decisions must be made promptly. It specified that on any appeals the tariff board's decision will be final, with no further appeal to the Exchequer Court or Supreme Court of Canada.

He noted that under the law, any appeals from the minister's decision must be heard within 60 days.

NOT OPPOSED TO BILL

Senator Croll said that in presenting his amendment he is not opposed to the bill itself.

"I recognize it is a measure in which the government feels it has a mandate."

Postpone talks in Geneva

GENEVA—Britain today announced indefinite postponement of the conference on Laos because of "apparent serious violation" of the ceasefire.

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko left Moscow for Geneva by air today to take part in the international conference on Laos, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Donald issued a statement that some delegations informed him they could not attend further meetings until they have finished consulting their governments.

The delegations were identified as those of the United States, Britain and France.

The U.S. delegation hoped that the return here of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko would salvage the crumbling talks.

No session of the conference had been arranged for today, but an authoritative source said the Americans would not have attended in any case unless they received instructions from Washington to do so.

The American, British, Canadian and other non-Communist delegations asked their governments for fresh instructions Wednesday after leftist forces in Laos forced right-wing troops out of one of their strongholds in what the United States described as a "blatant violation" of the ceasefire agreement.

The American, British and French delegates met this morning to discuss the serious situation in the kingdom and its effect on the talks here.

Duke of Kent weds commoner

YORK, England (CP)—The Duke of Kent, eighth in line to the throne, was married here today to blonde commoner Katharine Worsley at the first royal wedding in this historic city in 633 years.

Crowds jammed the streets to catch a glimpse of the couple. Many sightseers camped out all night near the York Minster cathedral to get choice viewing spots for the Anglican ceremony.

The Queen, one of about 2,000 guests, watched her 25-year-old cousin wed to Miss Worsley, 28, by Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of York and soon to be enthroned as archbishop of Canterbury, spiritual head of the Church of England.

Along with royalty were members of the reigning or deposed houses of eight countries—Norway, Greece, Denmark, the Netherlands, Spain, Yugoslavia, Romania and Germany.

The ceremony was televised for an estimated 25,000,000 viewers in Britain, France, the Netherlands and Belgium. Monitor sets gave a good view for guests inside the flower - bedecked medieval minster, one of Europe's largest and most magnificent cathedrals.

GIVEN BY FATHER

The blonde, blue - eyed bride was given away by her father, rich landowner Sir William Worsley, holder of the figure-head post of lord lieutenant of Yorkshire's north riding.

Preliminaries to the wedding were plagued by intermittent downpours, and the wedding service had hardly concluded when a hailstorm broke.

Outside the church a crowd of about 10,000 suffered through both the rain and the hail, determined to see as much as possible of the happy couple and the royal guests.

Difficult to stay French

By GUY RONDEAU

OTTAWA (CP)—Saskatchewan's French-speaking minority wants to stay French, but the job is difficult, says a Gravelbourg, Sask., school commissioner.

Roland Pinsonneault, president of the Saskatchewan Association of French - Canadian School Commissioners, said Wednesday there is a growing tendency in Saskatchewan for small school commissions to be absorbed by larger administrations.

The centralizing tendency does not respect the rights of ethnic minorities, Mr. Pinsonneault said. The larger units gradually restrict the freedom of action by commissioners and teachers in small areas.

He spoke at the second convention of the Canadian Association of French-Language, Roman Catholic School Commissioners, attended by some 400 delegates from all provinces but Newfoundland.

QUERIES DELEGATES

Vincent Brassard, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Chicoutimi, Que., and former president of the Chicoutimi School Commission, asked delegates how strongly attached French-speaking Canadians of their provinces were to the French culture.

He said that last week a spokesman for a movement to have Quebec province secede from Confederation had claimed French culture is in full retreat across Canada, that French-Canadians themselves do not want to remain French, and that Quebec should secede to prevent assimilation into English Canada.

Mr. Pinsonneault said he is sure a majority of Saskatchewan's 51,000 French - speaking people want to remain French.

Nowlan improves

OTTAWA (CP)—Hospital authorities today described the condition of Revenue Minister Nowlan as "satisfactory."

Mr. Nowlan entered hospital May 16 following a heart attack. His office said today he is mending "very well."

Raps reporters

CAPE TOWN (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Eric Louw said Wednesday some foreign correspondents come to racially - governed South Africa "almost like vultures, hoping for riots." Louw told the South African Senate some foreign journalists were "thoroughly disappointed" when they did not find riots. He singled out the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune for special criticism.

Firm would provide local air service, makes application to Air Transport Bd.

A western Canada airline has applied to the Air Transport Board in Ottawa for a certificate so it may apply for a charter to fly an air service between Sherbrooke, Quebec City and Montreal, it was learned today.

The company, Prairie Airlines Limited, of Winnipeg, Man., in its application to Ottawa claims that Sherbrooke "definitely wants an air service."

Twice daily flights are proposed between Sherbrooke and Montreal and Sherbrooke and Quebec.

Proposed one-way fares to Montreal are $7.50; to Quebec, $8.50. Air express rates are six cents per pound; air freight, four cents a pound.

W. C. Hanaway, representative of Prairie Airlines, said the line planned using Lockheed Lodestar aircraft, capable of flying 14 passengers in 30 minutes to Montreal and 35 minutes to Quebec City.

The airport in Sherbrooke is still under construction but its single 6,000-foot runway is expected to be completed by the end of this summer.

One month ago, Transport Minister Leon Balcer told a delegation of Sherbrooke representatives, that this city would have to "sell" the airport to the various commercial aviation companies and that the city could not count on government subsidies to attract an airline providing regularly-scheduled services.

Mr. Balcer also told the delegation that the government would be prepared to build a second runway should commercial airline companies decide to provide Sherbrooke with regular air service.

How not to win friends

Washington has officially announced that it will review the ban on the delivery of certain grain unloading equipment required by Canada for the purpose of fulfilling its wheat contract with Canada. But even if the ban is repealed, at the insistence of this country and Norway, further damage has been done to the good relations between Canada and the United States.

For some time past, important political and economic leaders have been insisting that Canada has become too dependent upon the United States. Washington, they say, can do permanent harm to the country's trade any time it wishes. And this incident may serve to reinforce these arguments.

Perhaps the embargo on the grain-unloading equipment results from excess zeal on the part of a junior officer of some United States department. But it carries all the appearances of an effort to interfere with a perfectly open transaction between Canada and Red China, with Norway interested as the owner of most of the ships being chartered to carry the grain.

But it should serve as a warning to the United States administration to take more care in framing its executive orders insofar as they concern relations with friendly countries.

Official spokesman in Washington claim the order under which the ban was issued was not aimed at Canada. But this country was on the receiving end of the spear.

Trading stamp inflation

Much has been said in recent years about the evils of inflation and its effect on the purchasing power of savings.

A similar situation has developed in the trading stamp field — a highly-controversial one in any case.

Articles which once cost, for example, three books of stamps now cost three and a half or four books.

It works this way:

Trading stamp companies issue catalogues in which are displayed the various things for which shoppers may save up stamps.

Every once in a while, some issue a new and updated catalogue. The articles in them are similar in kind and value to those in previous catalogues, although they may not be exactly the same.

Lovers' lanes

Hamilton, Ontario and Lennoxville, Quebec appear to be poles apart where romance is concerned.

In Lennoxville, Alderman Frank Taylor complained to Council that a side-road off St. Francis street near Bishop's College School was becoming a "regular lovers' lane."

As a result of his complaint Police Chief Grant Smith was ordered to patrol the area after dark.

In Hamilton, however, the city Council's transportation and traffic committee was asked to crack down on misuse of secluded parking areas on Hamilton's mountain. Apparently car pools were meeting there, parking their cars and continuing on to work in single vehicles.

To combat this practice a two-hour parking limit was proposed.

Alderman Frank Dillon, a bachelor, jumped to the defense of romance. "You'll be cutting off the lovers," he protested.

"Two hours should be enough for lovers," was the reasonable reply of Ald Ross Fischer, a married man and supporter of the proposal.

Press Comment

WHERE'S THE FIRE?

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)
Apparently the determination of the Frost Government to refuse to investigate further organized crime in the province is not going to be taken lightly by the CCF and some of the more outspoken Liberals. The most recent act of the farce is an accusation by a Liberal member of the Legislature that there is a link between an Ontario Cabinet minister and organized crime.

One can scarcely blame Queen's Park for shying away from any such investigation of Cabinet members' integrity after the Daley farm tempest and other unsavory messes involving higher ups in the Government, but surely such a barefaced accusation as this by the Liberal member from Sudbury should be investigated. At least, he should be compelled to name names and give proof. His conduct reflects on the Liberal leader, Mr. Wintermeyer, who unless he objects vigorously must be considered to condone his member's conduct.

The question of large-scale gambling has become a political issue now, not merely a matter for the police and courts. It will be embarrassing for Mr. Frost if he does not take some step to lull growing suspicions that there is smoke there is fire. His own denials and those of his minister would ordinarily be sufficient, but when the CCF and Liberals realize there is political capital to be made, other measures are necessary. Even an investigation would not be an unnecessary inappropriateness. If there is nothing to hide, the CCF and Liberals will be silenced; if there is some fire, it is better for it to be discovered by those owning the attic than by the neighbors next door.

WILL RUSSIA EVER JOIN THE WEST?

(From the Financial Post)
A mental strait-jacket inhibits a lot of current thinking, or what passes for thinking, about world affairs. For example, what's your view of a Russo-American alliance? Most Americans will think it is as fantastic as the idea of colonizing the moon. Here is what a right-wing London newsletter, with a fairly good record of correct guesses, has to say:

"Russia is convinced that, in the course of time, China will in every way outmatch Russia and control a large part of Southeast Asia. Russia also fears that one day India will go Communist in China style. This would leave Russia as a mere satellite. Khrushchev knows that the best solution of all would be to give up militant communism and join the West. That is what Lichner (Soviet foreign minister under Stalin) wanted. A great many people in Russia want this."

Whether it's credible or not Western people should try to break out of the rigid thought pattern in which the East-West quarrel is an everlasting, unchangeable feature of the world scene. If it really is unchangeable, atomic war is a certainty.

Don't call on Thursdays...

There isn't any place like Paris

PARIS (CP) — There isn't, there isn't—repeat there simply isn't—any place like Paris!

The broad sweep of the Champs-Elysees, pleasure boats on the River Seine, the architectural delights of the Place des Vosges, dinner high up in the Eiffel Tower, lights twittering at dusk in the Place de la Concorde where Napoleon paraded his troops and Marie Antoinette went calmly to the guillotine—that's Paris for you.

The city is unique. Few fail to feel its charms. To bid farewell to Paris, the poet said, is to die a little. Novelist Nancy Mitford, who lives in an elegant house on the Rue Monsieur, says her English visitors are always in astonishingly good humor—they're happy just to be in Paris.

Paris is like this: A man and woman, complete strangers, sit at nearby tables in a tiny restaurant on the Avenue Montaigne. They order Chateaubriand steaks, one rare, one medium. The waiter mixes the orders and the woman, shyly, suggests an exchange of plates.

The man, putting down his paper, gruffly agrees. After a moment of constraint the two exchange a few polite comments. When the woman finishes her carafe of wine, the man offers her some from his bottle. Conversation flourishes. On leaving, the two exchange cards. "Above all," says the woman, "don't call on Thursdays, that's my mother's night to visit."

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — In this country we've not been guilty of sneering at American "dollar diplomacy" but — hold onto your seats — a pretty good case can now be made for calling Canada a country of dollar diplomats.

Indeed, the government's policy of normal trade relations with Castro's Cuba has been described right in Parliament, by Liberal Senator Dave Croll, as a policy of "anything for a fast buck". Many Americans would agree — especially after the deal to sell $425 millions worth of grain and flour to Red China.

Like a cartoon in the NY Herald Tribune a few days ago showing the American John Q. Public in his back yard. Across the fence on one side leans a slavering bear labeled "Russia in Cuba". Across the other fence marked "Canada" breathes a fire-breathing dragon called "Red China Trade".

Agriculture Minister Hamilton, who negotiated the grain deal, said that he understood the Chinese were getting the sterling to buy our wheat by exporting rice. Since then I've heard from two separate sources that hungry China stopped exporting rice a year ago, and that Peking is getting the sterling from Russia. This report is somewhat disquieting, but another report says China has been selling silver in London at a rate of 1 million a month since October.

There are other trade reasons why our image abroad is showing some tarnish. Prime Minister Diefenbaker won great admiration among colored nations for his key part in the virtual expulsion of South Africa from the Commonwealth. The admiration diminished when the PM rejected suggestions that Canada should also cancel tariff concessions to South Africa. Foreign Minister Green told the Commons that "Canada sells far more goods to South Africa than we buy from that country."

It has also seemed good business to the government to argue against Britain joining the European Common Market without assurances that a substantial part of our billion dollar British market would remain open to us.

Good business also to look at President Kennedy's plea for Canada to join the Organization of American States from a dollar point of view. The government hesitates — if fears that if we were to side with the US in intra-OAS differences, we would offend Latin American customers, and that if we were to side with the Latin Americans we would offend the US.

Through another new policy our exports may increase, but at a cost of some goodwill. It is a policy, enunciated by Trade Minister Hees in a speech at Calgary, that approves of a form of dumping of Canadian goods in foreign markets.

In his speech, the minister gave top marks to "business men... selling an extra 25 per cent or so of their production in the export market, and selling it at cost, if it were necessary to go that low in price in order to get established in a new market."

"Why are the cops always gettin' tough with us poor innocent teen-agers?"

JACOBY On Bridge

WEST'S BID IS SCORE PROBLEM

Look at the West hand and the bidding only! You will note that the bidding winds up with a question mark. What is your answer?

In rubber bridge your choice lies between a pass and a bid of four hearts. If you pass you may set the opponents. If you bid four hearts, you probably will be doubled, but nothing really bad will happen to you. Your opening bid is sound and your partner is surely going to be short in spades.

In duplicate you have an entirely different problem. Here your choice is between a pass and a double.

If you double and set the opponents one trick you will score 200 points. This will be better than any part score in hearts and will surely be a good score. If you double and the hand makes you will score zero, but you probably wouldn't score much if they made three spades undoubled.

At three out of four tables in a tournament where the bidding went this way, West decided to double. The other West passed.

South always went down one trick and the doublers divided a top score between them while the player who passed was bottom.

How did it happen that no one reached four hearts? It just happens that the East and West hands fit perfectly and that all cards are located right for West. Hence, at those tables where South stayed out of the bidding West simply played two hearts and made four odd.

Beebe council

Study new sewer system

BEEBE — (Special) — The Beebe council met on Monday evening, June 5 with a full agenda. Prior to the meeting the members, in a body called at the Cass Funeral Home in Rock Island to pay their respects to the late Eugene Shepard who was a much respected citizen of this community.

An engineer from Sherbrooke was present at the council meeting to give information on the construction of a proposed sewer for parts of the village not serviced by the present sewer system. The department of Health will be approached and an inquiry will be made as to whether a grant is available for this purpose. More information will be given at a later date on this issue.

Miss L. M. Parker

A by-law was passed to pay the salaries that came due during the 1961 winter works project. This move was previously covered by a resolution only. During the winter works project 850 feet of sewer and water line was completed at a cost of $10,000, the work being done on Elm and Tomifolia streets.

A complaint was made regarding the burning of cedar shavings and bark near the gravel pit. Apart from this being a fire hazard the odor is disagreeable to near by residents. Another complaint was made on the condition of the road passing the gravel pit where the removal of gravel has undermined the road at one point. An engineer will be contacted regarding this matter as that portion of the road is maintained by the government.

A complaint was also made about motorists disregarding the stop signs on John and Pine streets. There are several small children in those areas and it has been reported that motorists do not use caution where the stop signs are concerned.

A request for the installation of a light on Pine street was granted.

A representation from the fire department was on hand to request the council to accept a panel truck which the department has raised funds to purchase for the use of conveying the resuscitator and other small equipment. The fire committee was authorized to act on this request and locate a suitable garage for the truck.

A report was given by Arthur Langevin who attended a meeting of valuers recently and it is not likely that Beebe will require any change at the present time.

A government engineer has been in the village recently and it is hoped that the side streets on which the sewer work has been completed will be topped with tarmac.

It was decided to purchase a light and siren for the police car.

An offer from the Ogden council for the use of the Beebe town dump was granted. The dump will be open on Tuesdays and Saturdays for the disposal of household refuse.

Private funeral services were held in St. George's Church Lennoxville on Tuesday for Miss Louisa M. Parker, a founder of the Parker School for Trained Attendants and a prominent figure in the nursing field. She died in Montreal on June 4 at the age of 86.

Tips for parents

By HELEN R. HEWSON
Parent Education Associates

Flipping the pages of RCAP pamphlet No. 96, Planning Play, I found this statement: "Spring is an over-organized season with final exams, recitals, tournaments, and closing events of all kinds, but summer is the time for play. Then children can play all day almost every day."

"During summer holidays communities must make a special effort to provide a full and satisfying program of activities for children of all ages. Two months is a relatively long time in a child's life and they are two important months. Plan to make them good months."

During the long summer days too many small children are bored, lonely or lost. You may not have a summer nursery school in your district, but if you have a park, a bit of woods, a ravine, preferably with pool or stream, then you have the perfect setting for safe and happy play.

Perhaps you would enjoy a few quiet hours on the porch or in the garden, yourself, serene in the knowledge that the children are well cared for.

Start planning, now. What are the resources of your community? Where can you turn for help in planning, in finding personnel and equipment? The Y conducts day camps for older children and may have some suggestions for you. Your public health nurse, a school teacher, a church group, your local or provincial safety organization may suggest ways and means.

It is important that someone — you — take the initiative for getting the project under way.

You may find help on your public library shelves, or write to the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, and send 75c for the RCAP pamphlet 96, Planning Play. This little book is an excellent guide to have on hand, clear, straightforward, and written by people with plenty of know-how.

It discusses planning, leadership and activities for tots, boys and girls, preteens and teenagers, and is full of suggestions for family and community fun.

Canada is a land rich in resources, in imagination and initiative. Put them all together and come up with a memorable summer for you and your small fry. (TNS)

Do-it-yourself program attracts nursing students

MONTREAL (CP) — A do-it-yourself program to attract nursing students has been started by Montreal's Jewish General Hospital, which sent information kits to 700 high schools across Canada.

"We hope, of course, to interest future high school graduates in our hospital," a spokesman said.

"But if we merely manage to interest them in the field of nursing in general, we will be more than satisfied."

The kits contain pamphlets and posters that depict such nursing experiences as operating room duty, ward supervision and emergency admittance staffing.

They also emphasize attractive single rooming for the students and a modern staff cafeteria which maintains a kosher cuisine, although the hospital and its school of nursing are non-sectarian.

To help dispel notions that nursing is all work and no play, social, cultural and sports facilities are also stressed.

Married or single is the question

NEW YORK (AP)—It is getting harder to tell the married girls from the single girls.

There was a time when it was easier. All you had to do was glance at a certain finger of her left hand.

But customs change. Many of the married ladies in the feminine work force don't wear their wedding rings on the job.

And many single girls wear rings which give them the air of matronhood but actually celebrate only the fact they were able to graduate from high school or are members of a winning team in the factory bowling league.

THE SURE SIGNS

But there are other signs. It's a pretty safe bet a gal is married if—

Whenever she leaves home after dark, she is trailed (two paces behind) by a tired-looking man who looks as if his feet hurt him.

She pushes her own way through a revolving door instead of waiting for some man to come along and do it for her.

When she's dining out, she tells the man with her, "I'll take this, and you'll take that. It's better for your stomach."

She always kicks off her shoes in a movie house.

Jailed nine times, receives tribute

NEW YORK (AP)—She sits quietly with folded hands, looking like a modern Whistler's mother.

Her floor-length silk gown is red, but somehow it goes with her Irish red hair that needs only slight tinting as she nears 80. She's gently placid, almost frail.

But just ask Margaret Sanger if she has mellowed. The blue eyes flash with the old fire that kept her embattled birth control movement going in its early years.

"Of course I haven't mellowed," she snaps. "Back when I was actively crusading I felt everyone simply had to believe what I said. I still do. I don't see how any thinking person could feel differently about birth control."

Then, humor getting the upper hand, she recalls: "When I started out, I had to be very careful what words I used. The whole subject was taboo. Even my father—an outspoken Irishman who brought me up to do my own thinking—said to me one day: 'Margaret, can't you find some other subject in the world to talk about but the bedroom?' And he whispered when he said 'bedroom'."

TIMES CHANGED

But times have changed. The dignified little woman who was jailed at least nine times and had her first clinic raided by police as a public nuisance was in New York to receive an international tribute from science and government leaders gathered for a conference on the "world population crisis."

Breakfast tips

... Breakfast is everybody's meal! Don't forget to step up the quantities of energy and growing foods—the milk, the toast and the cereal—for active youngsters and growing teenagers. If Dad's working hard physically, he'll need extra calorie-producing foods to keep him at top efficiency—so he'll welcome more toast and jam, more cereal with sugar and milk, and extra servings of fruit.

Avoid Trouble

One trick I learned by watching stars is that they always drive from the side of the tee nearest the trouble zone.

This usually is out-of-bounds. That way, they shoot away from trouble, rather than into it. This increases their chances of staying out of trouble by a small margin. The practice may save you quite a few strokes in the course of a year.

Learn to read greens to determine the grain on approach shots and putts. Almost invariably a shiny green surface indicates that the ball will be going with the grain. A dull surface indicates you are going against the grain and must hit the ball harder to be up.

Prevailing wind conditions have a great deal to do with the way a green runs.

LEARN TO READ THE GREEN.

In almost every case, the grain goes with the wind.

Brown Shoe Posts Fourth Straight Win

RICHMOND — The Brown Shoe club of the Richmond County Softball loop is setting the pace as they came up with their fourth victory in as many starts. They edged Windsor 5-3 in a game played here Wednesday evening at the Notre Dame School grounds.

Rolfe Letourneau, pitching his usually good game, won his second game in the four for the locals. Though he allowed eight hits in the game, Letourneau proved his power on the mound while holding off the Paper-towners.

He allowed five walks and fanned four in the process while hurler G. Krupa of Windsor gave up nine hits, walked three and fanned nine men. A Racine of Windsor homered while R. Kendall came up with four hits in four trips to the plate. He drove in two runs. Best hitters for Richmond were Paul Cote and Gerry Blais, each coming up with a double and single. Connie Pariseau caught the game for Brown Shoe while Red Dubois wound behind the batters for Windsor. Bob Pariseau of Richmond, another hurler, filled in during the final innings substituting for Letourneau. With one out, Pariseau took over and fanned the next two men to retire the side and give Richmond the 5-3 victory, their fourth straight.

BIRMINGHAM STOPS ALL-STAR VICTORIA (CP) — Birmingham of the English First Division defeated Victoria All-Stars 5-1 Wednesday night in an international soccer match before 2,580 fans.

Indians Wallop White Sox 15-2 As Vincent Tosses Four-Hitter, Fortier Gets Four-For-Four, Game Tonight

Francis Vincent, star hurler for the Rotary sponsored Indians, allowed the White Sox only four hits last night in guiding his team to a convincing 15-2 win in a Little League game played at the Parade Grounds at 6:30 p.m.

The teams went scoreless in the opening inning. G. Fortier of the Indians got the only hit in the frame, his first of four. In the top of the second a triple by M. Raymond and a single by J. Pepin gave the Indians one run. The Sox kicked for a single tally in the bottom of the third with D. Labonte and Mongeau hitting.

A big six run inning in the top of the fourth saw the Indians take a commanding lead. Five hits came up in the inning. Poloquin, Waters, G. Fortier, Raymond and F. Vincent all connecting for singles.

Indians Begin Four-Game Series With Tigers, Canadian Ted Bowsfield Gets Chance And Stops Orioles 4-0

The number of Canadians playing big-league baseball can be counted on the fingers of one hand and seldom do any of them make the headline on the sports pages.

Possibly, it's because they don't get much of a chance. British Columbian Ted Bowsfield got his opportunity Wednesday night and turned in a performance that should draw him more attention in the future.

Bowsfield, 25, a pitcher from Penticton who went to Los Angeles Angels from Boston Red Sox in an American League trade earlier this season, appeared in 17 previous games this season as a reliever and had pitched no longer than two innings in any of them.

FIRST COMPLETE GAME Wednesday night at Baltimore manager Bill Rigney sent the six-foot-one southpaw to the mound to start against the Orioles and Bowsfield was still there at the end when the Angels were celebrating their 4-0 victory that lifted them out of the league cellar.

In other games Wednesday night Cleveland Indians strengthened their first-place lead over idle Detroit Tigers by walloping the Senators 11-0 at Washington. New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 5-1 on a two-hitter by Ralph Terry that plunked the Twins into the cellar with their 13th consecutive loss and Boston Red Sox defeated Kansas City 6-2.

The Indians, sweeping into the league lead on a nine-game winning streak carry a half-game edge into Detroit, where they meet the Tigers tonight in a doubleheader that opens a four-game series.

STARTED SLOWLY Bowsfield, whose victory gave him a 1-1 record for the season, started slowly but was almost untouchable over the last six ago today, completing a triple crown triumph for the William Woodward colt after victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness. Gallant Fox was the leading money-winner that season with a total of $308,275. The present record for one-season winnings was set by Nashua in 1955 at $752,350.

Hold Half-Game Lead Over Redlegs Who Drop Tilt To Braves, Giants Win, Stan Musial Gets Four-For-Four

Los Angeles Dodgers, shrugging off slumps, are back on top in the National League race again, thanks to Sandy Koufax who has put away four of their last eight victories.

The Dodgers have lost no more than two in a row during the last three weeks while winning 12 of 20 games in a head-to-head battle with Cincinnati Reds for first place.

The Dodgers regained a half-game lead with a 7-3 victory over the Pirates Wednesday night as Koufax became the first league pitcher to win eight this season.

Milwaukee Braves helped the Dodgers by beating Cincinnati 3-1 and third-place San Francisco moved within 1 1/2 games of first place with a 4-3, 11-inning victory over Philadelphia Phillies. St. Louis Cardinals defeated Chicago Cubs 8-6, with Stan Musial going 4-for-4 and belting a pair of two-run homers.

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the second inning, beating Earl Francis in his first major league start on a two-run homer by John Roseboro and a clinching two-run double by Willie Davis. They added three unearned runs in the fifth, making it easy for Koufax, 8-2.

STUCK OUT SEVEN The young lefty gave up seven hits and two walks, but Banks hit a two-run homer off struck out seven for his fifth straight victory, all complete games. Homers by Roberto Clemente, in the first inning, and Don Hoak, with a man on in the ninth, scored the Bucs runs.

The Braves beat the Reds for only the third time in 10 tries this season behind the four-hit seventh inning by Art Mahaffey, pitching of righthander Don Nottebart, who squared his record at 3-3 with his first major league complete game. The Kuenn, both pinch-hitters, and Reds scored in the second on a Willie Mays, Jim Duffalo and walk. Gene Freese's single and Stu Miller shut out the Phils a passed ball, but the Braves on four hits over the last six then scored three in the third, innings, with Miller winning his two on Ed Mathew's double, fifth without defeat.

Musial's home runs, giving him six for the season, built the Cards' winning cushion in the third and seventh innings. Larry Jackson 2-5 won but needed relief in the eighth after a home run by George Altman.

Maury McDermott finally saved it, coming on when Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer off reliever Al Cleeve in the ninth, straight victory, all complete games. Homers by Roberto Clemente, in the first inning, and Don Hoak, with a man on in the ninth, scored the Bucs runs.

The Braves beat the Reds for only the third time in 10 tries this season behind the four-hit seventh inning by Art Mahaffey, pitching of righthander Don Nottebart, who squared his record at 3-3 with his first major league complete game. The Kuenn, both pinch-hitters, and Reds scored in the second on a Willie Mays, Jim Duffalo and walk. Gene Freese's single and Stu Miller shut out the Phils a passed ball, but the Braves on four hits over the last six then scored three in the third, innings, with Miller winning his two on Ed Mathew's double, fifth without defeat.

National Hockey League Clubs Take Look At High Bidding For Rookies, Meet Next Week, Some Deals Made

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League draft next week may turn into a hectic session or it may be dwarfed into a run-of-the-mill affair involving few players because of pre-draft agreements.

Several deals already have been made. There's a good chance that others are in the making or have been completed and await only formal announcement.

Present indications are that the combination of deals and drafting may be substantial. The NHL's three-day annual meeting opens Monday and private talks aimed at swaps likely will continue at least until the six clubs file their protected lists at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The league's internal draft is scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday. Each club can protect 18 players, plus two goalies, against the draft. The draft price is $20,000.

DEALS ARE COMMON Pre-draft deals have become more or less the rule in recent years. Loaded clubs—and Montreal Canadiens have been a stick-out in this respect—have been inclined to do pre-draft business with the have-not clubs.

The reason largely is that the loaded clubs, if they must lose unprotected high-class young rookies and established players, would rather lose them in a swap with a low-placed club rather than the draft to a hot rival.

In many instances players acquired by the high-placed club are used by it to replenish its farm clubs.

Hockey may say money doesn't figure greatly in such deals because usually little or no cash is involved. They say also that the draft was not established as an act of generosity or as a means of providing players at a cheap price. They feel that $20,000 is a realistic price for a marginal player.

SOME WERE BURIED The intent was to make sure that players capable of playing in the NHL could do so. Prior to the draft, by reason of plenty of money or good farm clubs or luck, some clubs found themselves with more good players than they needed. The result was that the clubs buried players in the minors and other NHL clubs couldn't get them.

The most publicized pre-draft deal so far is that by which Doug Harvie of Montreal goes to New York Rangers as playing coach, although this particular deal is not regarded in the light of beating the draft.

The other half of the deal—who or what Montreal gets—won't be completed until the two clubs see what happens in the draft.

Canadians have figured in two other deals. Boston Bruins get highly-rated rookies Cliff Pennington and Terry Gray. Boston turns over to Montreal Willie O'Ree, who scored only four goals in 43 games last season, and rookie Stan Maxwell.

Montreal defenceman Bob Turner has been traded to Chicago Black Hawks for Fred Hills, high-scoring youngster with Sault Ste. Marie of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Sherbrooke Tennis Association Will Operate This Year, City Grants Use Of Three Peel St. Courts For Summer

The Sherbrooke Tennis Association has finally secured grounds for the coming season. The executive, who have been hard at work since quitting the Sports Club, announced that courts in the centre of the City will now be available to members.

After reaching an agreement with the City Council and City Parks Department the club will be able to use three courts on the north end of Peel Street. These courts are used by St. Charles Seminary during the school period but will be turned over to the Sherbrooke Club for the summer months.

This season the club will not sponsor the Eastern Townships Tennis Tournament under the circumstances. Without clubhouse facilities it was decided to suspend the event this year however any club affiliated with the PQLTA can if they wish apply to hold the tourney.

It was also decided that the City Tennis Championships would be played on the public courts and when the quarter-finals are reached they will finish on the Peel Street courts. The club will give special instruction to members. These will be under the guidance of

Enforcement Of Rules On Drugs And Medications For Horses Seems To Lack Uniformity Among Horsemen

TORONTO (CP)—What is a thoroughbred horse's normal racing condition?

Delegates to the National Association of State Racing Commissioners—the men who supervise racing in North and Central America—are trying to find out at their five-day convention here. They aren't getting very far.

Delegates have argued the point and all because of a pain-killing medicament called butazolidin. Its use is allowed in a few states in the U.S. but it is banned in Canada.

"Until further experimental work is conducted, it must be concluded that phenylbutazolidin (the technical term for butazolidin) possesses inherent dangers when given to horses in repeated doses," said a report read Wednesday by Dr. John E. Martin, director of the school of veterinary medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

Some delegates thought it was all right to use but only to the point where it would bring a horse to its "normal racing condition." Beyond that, it could be used either to make a horse run faster, or slower.

Others argued that horses needing medication don't belong on a race track and, anyway, how does a person define "normal racing condition?" That's the rub—and the horses can't tell them.

Uniform rules concerning the use or non-use of butazolidin is the big issue. A resolution spelling these out is expected to be presented to the meeting Friday, but hardly anyone believes it will be acceptable to all delegates.

Dr. Martin, who studied effect of the medicament on horses for a year, reported that experiments showed the drug was safe when given in single doses ranging from one to 16 grams but added:

"On the other hand, the fact that one horse died after receiving a total of 80 grams of the drug raises a serious question concerning the effect of repeated doses. Although critical studies have not been conducted on horses there is a good possibility that the drug tends to accumulate in the body. Thus, even repeated small doses might eventually lead to toxic levels."

Cops Main Class Of Mid-Week Card With Great Display Of Speed In Last Half, Prices Are Moderate

Fabi's little bay mare, Poplar Dream, proved that she possesses plenty of speed. In the main class of last night's racing card with R. Babbins at the reins the little mare came roaring home in the second half to cross the wire in 2.09 2/5 to register the fastest time of the current season.

Poulain's El Dora's Irishman started with a burst of speed and set the pace for the first half when he was clocked in 1.06 but in the second turn he faded. Babbins pulled Poplar Dream out of the third spot to round the leaders with a terrific burst of speed to win going away.

It was the best showing of the year for the Fabi mare and proved when feeling fine she can go with the best. Cote's Jack Harvester finished second after trying to hold the pace with the Fabi mare but failed to beat him under the wire.

In the double it was Beau-doin's Lise Directly in the first with Laporte's Miss Allie Storm. The bettors collected $65.50 for their investment. The favorites in the second race, Count Pulaski and George Logan, broke stride during the race which caused the big change in the outcome.

In the DD Trot and Pace Fabi's Denny Pointer was driven home to win the class by R. Babbins. Toutant's Prince Gerry C. the top favorite in the class broke stride to change the whole outlook. He paid $19.70, $11.30 and $5.60 across the board.

Raymond's Canada Bill won the first half of the D Trot and Pace and formed a quinella of $7.20 with Cyril Iba. On the second trip he finished second as Argyle Lee, who pulled up third in the first heat beat him to the wire.

ST. FRANCIS - MASSAWIPPI BIRD CLUB NOTES

Rain, the nemesis of many a springtime outdoor activity in this month of May, washed out the second P.Q.S.P.B. trip on May 27, but held off for the last official trip to Brompton Lake hillside and waterway. Ten observers, 57 species, and the almost invariably good luck that the Brompton slopes offer, made it a good finale. Luck? Picture ten pairs of glasses focused on a Philadelphia Vireo in the branches at twenty feet; down the slope came a Scarlet Tanager to the forefront of that same tree. Three poses — back, full-face and profile — and he was off, but moments later, a Rose-Breasted Grosbeak took his place in the greenery, and strutted his colours in turn. A few rods beyond, an Indigo Bunting made his bid for attention, though he was less of an exhibitionist.

Those three beauties satisfied most of the party, but they were only the most startling. The woods were alive with song and movement: Thrushes, a nesting Catbird, and a Mourning Warbler with its black neck-piece all were items to remember.

The executive discussed plans for a busy and entertaining fall and winter season. It is almost certain that a number of the club will make a junket to Plum Mass., about the first of September.

Church observes 59th anniversary at North Hatley

In accordance with a long standing custom, the pastors and congregations of the North Hatley and Minton United Churches were invited, and Rev. A. G. MacLeod, led in prayer at the Sunday service.

The choir of the Baptist Church provided special music at both services and on Sunday Miss Betty Majury rendered a solo, Today is Mine.

At the Monday service, Norman Bradley of Sherbrooke Baptist Church, read the Scripture lesson.

Following the service an hour of fellowship was enjoyed in the Sunday School hall. Members of the Ladies Circle provided refreshments under the leadership of Mrs. Wesley Sharman.

Friends were present both evenings from Sherbrooke, Minton, North Hatley and Ayer's Cliff.

Lunch served included a beautiful shower cake, after which games were played.

The guest of honor expressed thanks to her friends for the gifts and party.
