FLQ offensive planned

MONTREAL (CP)—An all-out offensive against an extremist group of separatists known as the Quebec Liberation Front was promised Wednesday after a meeting of Montreal city police, provincial police and RCMP investigators.

"We mean business," Montreal Det.-Sgt. Leo Brunet told reporters following the closed-door session. "Our three forces are going all-out to stamp out the FLQ."

The FLQ (Front de Liberation Quebecois) has admitted responsibility for recent acts of sabotage in the Montreal and Quebec City areas, including the explosion of a bomb in the ventilation system of the National Revenue Building here and damage to the CNR main line south of Quebec shortly before a train carrying Prime Minister Diefenbaker passed.

Police report 16 bomb scares in the Montreal area within the last two days.

CALL PROVES HOAX

The latest anonymous caller said a bomb had been planted in the downtown Craig Street armory where Liberal Leader Pearson addressed a political rally Wednesday night. It, like most of the others, "as a hoax."

The letters FLQ have been painted on walls, bridges, road signs, on a freight train near the damaged rail line even on the front door of the lieutenant-governor's residence.

Det.-Sgt. Leo Plouffe, explosives expert of the Montreal force, said the maker of the bomb used on the Revenue Building was "no amateur."

"I wouldn't be surprised if there are some former members of the French OAS (Secret Army Organization with the FLQ) he said.

There have been unverified rumors in circulation that some former members of the OAS who waged a campaign of violence against Algerian independence and President de Gaulle's regime in France, have come to Canada. The FLQ itself denied any connection with the OAS in a mimeographed press release.

Sees a better deal for Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister McCutcheon said today that if negotiations at the forthcoming GATT meeting in Geneva are successful, Canada should win "important improvements" in its export opportunities in world markets.

The special ministerial meeting of General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs countries in May will consider proposals for a further round of negotiations aimed at liberalizing and expanding trade in primary and secondary products, he said.

Senator McCutcheon spoke at the opening session of a conference of Canada's trade commissioners. The conference is part of a trade promotion drive sponsored by the federal government.

He defined Canada's trade objectives as:

1. Fair, reasonable and non-discriminatory access to all the markets Canada can serve.

2 found responsible for death of farmer

ARTHABASKA (Staff) — A coroner's inquest last night found two Victoriaville men criminally responsible for the death of 70-year-old Henri Deneault, whose body was found March 18 in the burned remains of his farm home near here.

The men are Julien Roux, 32, who appeared as a witness, and Jean-Guy Leblanc, 31, still being sought by provincial police.

Crown Attorney Laurent Trotter of Victoriaville said today he was going to call the attorney general's office before deciding the exact charge to be laid.

Roux told the inquest last night that he and Leblanc had gone to Deneault's home on the night of March 16 and demanded that Deneault tell them where he kept the money he was rumored to have.

The old man told them to look under the cellar stairs. Roux took an oil lamp, he said and went to look. He fell down the stairs, dropping the lamp, he said. Roux said that he and Le-

Claim control of Argentina

Loyalist forces discuss a truce with insurgents

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Military leaders loyal to the government claimed control of most of Argentina today as they discussed truce terms brought to Buenos Aires by the rebel fleet commander.

The loyalist command said in a communique the only remaining rebel strongholds were at the Atlantic coast naval bases of Puerto Belgrano, 350 miles south of Buenos Aires, and Mar Del Plata, 230 miles southeast of the capital.

The communique conceded that the rebels had gained the support of three small army units but the government radio announced one of these, a battalion of engineers in the Andean resort of Bariloche, had surrendered.

Military sources said they had received an unconfirmed report that part of the rebel hold on Mar Del Plata had been broken by loyalist takeover of the artillery instruction centre there.

The communique said 24 navy planes were destroyed and nine others taken in the capture Wednesday of the naval air station at Punta Indio. Government planes bombed the rebel base 80 miles southeast of Buenos Aires and tanks then led army forces into the base.

PARATROOPS QUELLED

The communique also claimed full control of Cordoba, where army paratroopers had rallied to the rebel cause. The loyalists said they were put down by other army forces.

Chiefs of the army and air force, backing the buffeted regime of President Jose Maria Guido, held a post-midnight conference after Defence Minister Juan Manuel Astiguela relayed ceasefire conditions laid down by Rear Adm. Eladio Vazquez, commander of the rebel fleet.

Loyalist army commander Juan Carlos Ongania said after the preliminary session: "I believe there is hope for a solution."

Informants said Vazquez had outlined conditions under which the navy would withdraw from the revolt, now in its third day. It is the third military upheaval in little more than a year. This time the government appeared to be winning.

The death toll was placed unofficially at 26. More than 30 government wounded were reported.

SHOTS FOLLOW TALKS

Shots rang out in Buenos Aires when loyalist leaders emerged from Government House after discussing the rebel truce terms, but no casualties were reported. A witness said the shots came from two speeding cars.

Guido's government announced Wednesday that the rebels were surrendering after being pushed back in heavy fighting in the south. The rebels promptly said Vazquez "is not coming to surrender. He will only negotiate a truce."

20 awaiting trial in Kapuskasing violence

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Twenty northern Ontario farmers waved goodbye to wives and families Wednesday night, then were transported by police to a prison farm to await trial on three charges each of non-capital murder arising out of bush strike violence.

The settlers, ranging in age from 18 to 59, were committed for trial by Magistrate W. S. Gardner, who said he had "wavered from one side to the other" as he tried to determine whether they should be freed or committed. He finally decided that he could not in effect try the case in preliminary hearing but must leave it to the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The trials, possibly the largest in Canadian history on a charge of murder, are expected to begin next October. Defence counsel M. J. Haffey of Toronto said he is considering seeking a writ of habeas corpus before an application is made for bail. The settlers had previously been released on $5,000 property bail.

The settlers are charged with the deaths of three loggers, cut down by a barrage of gunfire when they and an estimated 400 other striking bushworkers raided a log-cutting camp operated by a settlers' co-operative at Reesor Sidling, 32 miles west of here, Feb. 11.

Charges of shooting with intent to wound and of rioting were dismissed against the settlers by Magistrate Gardner Wednesday when the Crown offered no evidence.

Magistrate Gardner first made his decision on the non-capital murder charges against Paul-Emile Coulombe, 34-year-old farmer and manager of the Val Rita Co-operative, who was charged specifically in the death of Fernand Drouin, 26.

Then each of the other 19 settlers heard the charges, sometimes read in French as well as English, and all agreed to allow the Crown's evidence in the Coulombe case stand for their own.

The magistrate recessed the UNITED FRONT — Liberal Lester Pearson, his Quebec lieutenant Lionel Chevrier and Yvon Dupuis, Liberal incumbent from St. Jean-Napierville link upraised hands in a gesture of solidarity at a Liberal party rally in Montreal last night.

THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Bomarc issue still sizzles in hustings

The Bomarc missile issue still sizzles on the front burner as the election campaign enters its climax.

"Demagoguery," said Liberal Leader Pearson, in Montreal Wednesday night, referring to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's assertion that Liberal nuclear policy for Bomarc might make Canada "a burnt sacrifice."

"Hoax," was the term used by Mr. Diefenbaker about Liberal defence policy, tangled with Liberal leaders at a Toronto meeting.

Speeches of both party leaders still showed fallout from U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara's statement, made public last Friday, that Bomarc missile bases are useful "at the very least" for drawing enemy ballistic missile fire if war comes.

Economic issues were tackled in speeches by the other two party leaders—New Democratic Party chief T. C. Douglas in Vancouver and Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson at Innisfil, Alta.

Mr. Douglas said "in control of the Canadian economy is the main reason why Canada has the highest unemployment rate in the Western world."

Mr. Thompson, campaigning in his Alberta constituency of Red Deer, said Social Credit has no intention of taking over Canada's banking system if "forms a government after Monday's election."

All party leaders are on the move today. Mr. Diefenbaker has a 15-point, whistle-stop swing by special train around southern Ontario leading to an evening meeting at Hamilton. Mr. Pearson flies to northern Ontario for his only campaign visit to his home riding of Algoma East. Mr. Thompson flies east for meetings at Alexandria, Ont., and Ottawa, while Mr. Douglas flies from Vancouver to Winnipeg.

The rowdiness and organized disturbances that have marked several election meetings during the campaign brought a comment Wednesday by Mr. Douglas.

In a statement issued at Vancouver before his speech there, the NDP leader deplored "rowdiness" and said it results from "the frustration of our times." He also blamed "mounting personal attacks" by the Liberals on Mr. Diefenbaker.

There was virtually a heckling as Mr. Douglas spoke to a crowd of 7,200 in the Vancouver Forum, the scene of noisy demonstrations during campaign rallies for Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson.

But there was cross-fire from

The Campaign Trail

Liberal stalwart Lionel Chevrier attacked "saccharine socialism" of the New Democrats and "demagoguery" by Real Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader. Mr. Caouette and his son Gilles—also a candidate—were striking back at the Liberals from two different platforms.

Mr. Pearson, speaking to a capacity crowd of 4,000 in a Montreal armory, repeated his promise of a commission of inquiry to investigate "the problem of partnership in Confederation." Its chairman would be a man "completely above and beyond politics."

Too little too late UK budget reaction

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons today greeted the Conservative party's new national budget—giving British taxpayers £270,000,000 ($810,000,000) in tax relief for the coming year—with neither wild approval nor bitter criticism.

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror summed up the left-wing viewpoint with a complaint that the budget was "too little and too late."

But Conservative opinion, such as that expressed by The Daily Telegraph, said the budget would appeal to Conservative voters who had been shunning the austerity policies of the government in recent elections.

The Communist Daily Worker called the budget a "mouse" with "all the impact of a lump of cold rice pudding." Treasury Chief Reginald Maudling—who presented his first budget Wednesday, quickly dubbed the "family man's budget"—predicted a probable government deficit of £700,000,000.

He increased personal tax exemptions for single people, married people and children, and lowered income tax rates.

Property tax on owner-occupied houses was abolished, inheritance taxes were reduced on some estates and he intro-

PCs and Liberals open campaigns in Sherbrooke

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

The near-dormant federal election campaign awakened temporarily in Sherbrooke County last night when both the Progressive Conservative candidate, Roger Perreault, and the Liberal standard bearer, Sarto Roy, opened their speaking campaigns.

Mr. Perreault addressed a gathering of about 65 people in the Immaculate Conception church hall in the West Ward with Mr. Roy speaking at the Ascot Corner school auditorium.

In both cases the candidates and their supporters spent much of their time in denouncing the principles and actions of the Social Credit party, which appears to be their common enemy.

However, the Progressive Conservative also gave a lengthy review of his activities in various local organizations during the past 20 years, which included active support for many community, welfare and sporting organizations.

Explaining his review of his personal record, Mr. Perreault said:

"You need a working man to defend your interests at Ottawa. If I am elected, as I hope to be, I will continue to serve my fellow citizens as

DEMOCRACY in CANADA

By RON POULTON

Let it first be said — without intent to insult — that the House of Commons isn't run like a gentlemen's club. Then, introduce a fledgling member of parliament to it.

The fledgling member soon learns that he can't be sued for what he says in the House, but that he mustn't use profane or threatening language or impugn the honor of another member.

Fledgling members reach the Commons school after a federal campaign which may cost his supporters as much as $10,000 and the country $100,000,000. Where does the money come from?

Party expenses are raised by "bag men" who tap party supporters and businessmen. Some businessmen give to the two major parties on a 50-50 basis. Some favor the last party in power at 60 to 40.

Enumerators who make a door to door check to bring the voters' list up to date cost the country about $3,000,000.

On the 18th, 17th and 16 days before election day—which is almost always on a Monday — returning officers hold public meetings to allow overlooked voters to get on the voting list.

On the ninth and seventh days they open advance polling booths to give travellers a chance to vote. On election day polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. And then the returning officer begins to count the votes.

If given the nod of approval

Reds ahead in space but urges U.S. push

WASHINGTON (CP) — Impressed by Russian rocket power, President Kennedy says the Soviet Union is well ahead in the space race and he doesn't know whether the U.S. can catch up. But he wants the U.S. to keep trying in the hope the race will change by 1970.

Estimating the U.S. won't get its big rocket boosters before 1964-66, Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday the U.S. had started late and with the new Soviet Lunik IV shooting towards the moon, Russia had launched a major new space effort. For the U.S. to try to catch up was an "uphill race at the best."

He also criticized hit-and-run raids on Cuba by Cuban exiles and said these do not help remove Fidel Castro. The U.S. had imposed restraints on these raids, suggesting that those who wanted to aid their country should join the American armed forces.

450 JOIN FORCES
Kennedy said that of the 1,100 Bay of Pigs prisoners released from Cuba, about 450 have joined the American forces. But he did not explain how these soldiers may be used to free Cuba.

The trouble with the rebel raids, he said, is that no one in a position of responsibility knows what was going on. If a Soviet ship is hit in a Cuban port, there may be reprisals against American shipping and this could bring a response from American forces.

It would not create new industries by itself, but would aid in their establishment.

Six-year-plan for Quebec in '65?

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage, declaring there is "no place" in the modern world for economic improvisation, said yesterday the Quebec government hopes to start a six-year economic plan in 1965.

It would run from 1965 to 1970, inclusively, the premier disclosed in a speech on the provincial economy during a legislative debate on unemployment.

Mr. Lesage said that preliminary work — such as studies on various aspects of Quebec's economy — is being continued by the government's Economy Advisory Council.

During 1963 it was hoped enough information will be gathered to permit the cabinet to determine the rates of growth that it wishes to see realized in the province's economic activity.

Once this is accomplished, he said, the government will seek the advice of various sectors of the economy on what goals should be sought. Planning would be "inspired by the democratic character of the political regime under which we live."

"From this," the premier said, "the government of Quebec hopes to submit to the population of the province a first complete plan — or plan one — at the beginning of 1965.

"Probably this plan one will extend over six years, that is, from 1965 to 1970, inclusively."

He said it will be carried out in two steps, the first to 1967, the second to 1970.

"This plan, like those that will follow it, will be conceived in relation to the economic needs of Quebec and the concrete possibilities of action by our people."

Quebec has henceforth hope for balanced economic growth and more rational development of its resources, material and intellectual," said Mr. Lesage, whose speech lasted one hour and 50 minutes.

"The economic world has entered into an era where improvisation and laissez-faire no longer have a place."

"Quebec will only be following the road that has led to so many remarkable results by nations facing more considerable problems than our own."

Mr. Lesage said his speech is "an integral part" of the budget speech he is to deliver Friday night. To complete his review of the unemployment problem he would discuss the governments' financial policy "as well as the problem of taxation."

The premier said that economic planning, in addition to the work of the General Investment Corporation and state ownership of electricity, is the only way to assure Quebec's economic growth, and, in turn, jobs.

He said the corporation, set up by the government last spring, will soon begin offering shares. It would invest in industry, acting "as a catalyst, as ferment."

It would not create new industries by itself, but would aid in their establishment.

UNWORRIED SOUTH BIDS NO-TRUMP

With 10 high card points and a good five card spade suit North wants to be in game after his partner's opening no-trump bid.

His only problem is to give his partner a choice between no-trump and spades and the Jacoby Transfer Bid.

North responds two hearts to show a spade suit of at least five cards and South makes the automatic two spade rebid. North jumps to three no-trump and South knows that North holds nine to 14 high card points, a five or six card spade suit and no singleton or void.

In spite of weakness in hearts, South decides that with his 4-3-3-3 distribution a no-trump contract is safer and passes.

West opens the three of clubs and South has nine of the easiest tricks one can imagine. He will probably make 10 before he gets through and he has no contract worries.

If North plays four spades, a jack of hearts opening by East will almost surely defeat the contract. If South plays four spades he can be beaten by double dummy defense at

Sherbrooke Shopping Centre
describes April's Diamond

All of us seek perfection, not only in our personal lives, but in the things we buy. According to Webster, an article to be perfect must be in "a state of supreme excellence." So it is quite easy to understand why the diamond customer is so often misled by the jeweler's use of the term "perfect" in relation to diamonds.

In jewelers parlance, and under the regulations set down by the Federal Trade Commission, in their rule 27 from "Trade Practice Rules for the Jewelry Industry" it is understood that "it is an unfair trade practice to use the word 'perfect' as descriptive of any diamond which discloses flaws, cracks, carbon spots, clouds or other blemishes or imperfections when examined in normal daylight or its equivalent, by a trained eye under a ten-power, corrected diamond eye loupe or other equal magnifier."

When judging diamond value and quality, there are four points which are universally used. These are referred to as the "four C's" — Color, Cutting, Clarity and Carat weight. Technically, the term "perfect" only refers to the clarity factor of the diamond. Therefore, a stone so described may be of inferior color and poorly cut (with a seriously reduced value), but according to the FTC Rule, may be called perfect as long as no internal flaws show up under 10-power magnification.

Jewelers understand this point, but most consumers attribute the dictionary meaning to the word. Actually, if a diamond is correctly cut and polished, and is of the finest color, a tiny pin-point carbon spot or inclusion seen only under powerful magnification, will not lower the value of the stone as much as will off-color or cut.

Lennoxville

Will approve survey if payment divided

Lennoxville town council is to give the go-ahead for Photographic Surveys (Quebec) Ltd., to make a topographical plan of the town at a cost of $3,500 providing half-payment can be made this year and the remainder next year.

Council has been waiting since December for a decision from boards of Bishop's College School and Bishop's University as to whether or not they would agree to share the cost of the plan with the town in proportion to their respective holdings.

"They have met and discussed our proposal, but we haven't heard from them," said Mayor Mitchell, Monday. "This matter has been sitting around for months. We will go ahead with it in hopes of getting some money back."

Finance committee chairman Frank Taylor suggested that the plan be given the go-ahead providing the company agreed that half-payment could be made this year and the remainder next year.

Council members agreed. By means of an aerial survey, the company would prepare a plan showing the actual location of existing buildings, the overall contour of the land and the contour of the land at five-foot intervals.

Suggested last December by engineer, L. G. Carignan, the plan would save town engineers time, and help in the layout of streets as well as in water and sewer development.

To help recover the cost of the survey it was suggested imposing a sub-division permit. Developers, who would benefit from parts of the plan they need would have to pay a small fee to receive a copy of the town map. Council made no definite decision on this issue, however.

SUNNYSIDE TO PRESENT PLAY FRIDAY

STANSTEAD — (Special) — Sunnyside High School will present She Stoops to Conquer, an 18th century comedy, April 5 at 8 p.m.

When She Stoops to Conquer was produced at Covent Garden in 1773, the fashion was for sentimental comedy, which was very different from Goldsmith's farces. His previous comedy The Goodnatured Man had not been a success, and Goldsmith had some difficulty in getting his second play produced. It was, however, supremely successful, and has retained its popularity.

The sub-title of this play, The Mistakes of a Night, indicates the misunderstandings and mistaken identities on which the comedy is based.

The principal characters are Mr. Hardcastle, who is a little old-fashioned and loves everything that is old; his wife, who dislikes the country and life of retirement they live, and longs for the society and gaiety of London; their daughter, Kate Hardcastle, Tony Lumpkin, Mrs. Hardcastle's son, who spends most of his time at the ale house; young Marlow, who is extremely modest and bashful in the presence of all ladies except barmaids and servants; and his friend Hastings, who is in love with Constance Neville, Mrs. Hardcastle's niece, and wants her to elope with him to France.

Constance does not wish to leave without her fortune in jewels, which is kept under lock and key by her aunt, who wants her to marry Tony. Hastings and Marlow, coming to pay the Hardcastles a visit, because Sir Charles Marlow has proposed a match between his son and Kate Hardcastle, lose their way and are directed by Tony to his stepfather's house, which, he says, is the finest inn in the country.

Marlow treats Mr. Hardcastle as if he were the landlord, and he makes love to Miss Hard-castle, thinking she is the barmaid.

Misunderstandings are eventually cleared up, and things turn out well for Marlow and Kate, and for Hastings and his Constance. Tony, too, is delighted, because he discovers that he is of age, and is therefore "his own man again."

The cast is as follows: Mr. Hardcastle, Jimmy Cooke; Mrs.

Y's Men discuss 1963 track meet

With the Y's Mens Club annual track meet approaching, a full membership attended Wednesday night's meeting held at the Magog Hotel.

President Jim MacKinnon, who presided, remarked that with favorable weather now approaching, plans for setting the camp at Shore Acres in order was now a big item on the club's program.

The summer camp for boys which is in operation during the months of July and August is one of the club's main projects. Working parties, the president said were now being drawn up by the camp committee and would be announced at the next meeting.

The track meet is being held on Saturday, May 18 and the Y's Men are expecting as many competitors as last year which saw a record in entries. Doug Guthrie is in charge of the track program this year.

There will be no meeting next week. Head table guests with the president included Adam Clark, Doug Guthrie, Bob Jarjour and Tom Lawrence.

Funeral is held for D. Jussaume

LOWELL, Mass. — A funeral was held Tuesday in Lowell, Mass., for Donald Jussaume, who died in Boston March 30 in his 33rd year.

Mr. Jussaume was the brother of Robert Jussaume, general manager of the Sherbrooke Trust, in Sherbrooke, who went to Lowell for the funeral.

Donald Jussaume, son of Mrs. Joseph Jussaume of Lowell, died in the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, and is survived by his wife and five children.

Dance set to help victim of blaze

NORTH HATLEY — A benefit dance for Kenneth Price, of R.R. 1, North Hatley whose barn was gutted by fire Monday morning, will be held at North Hatley High School April 5 sponsored by the Students' Council.

A eight piece orchestra of local talent will provide the music for dancing from 9 to 1 a.m.

In East Ward

Pro-bridge meeting set by new group

By JAMES DAVIES (Record staff reporter)

A week-old, 32 member East Ward property owners group intends to send a petition to Sherbrooke council in favor of the construction of the Montreal-Terrill Street bridge after it meets on April 10.

The assembly will be held at the Assumption Church Hall with the project engineers. Officials will try to convince those present to sign the petition favoring the project.

According to a member of the seven-member committee organizing the meeting, contacts are being made with property owners throughout the East Ward and probably 300 people will attend.

"The meeting is to inform the people of the value of the project," said committee member Zoltique Pelland.

"This bridge is absolutely necessary," he added.

"We have studied the possibility of establishing the bridge elsewhere," he said "but we feel that the present site chosen by city officials is the most appropriate one."

Originally the seven member committee consisted of eight, but, added Zoltique Pelland, one member withdrew. He would not reveal why, nor give his name.

The committee formed at the 32 member meeting originally intended as a provisional one, is to be permanent, he noted.

No estimate of loss

Barn, pigs destroyed in fire near Border

STANSTEAD (Special) — Fire early Wednesday destroyed 500 pigs, and the modern two-story barn that housed them about two and a half miles west of here. There was no estimate of the loss.

The fire, in a barn owned by Gilles Courtemanche of Stanstead, was first noticed about 2 a.m. by neighbors. At that time it was already a "complete inferno," they said.

The fire was burning so fast, neighbors say, that the fire department was not called. There were no nearby buildings.

Mr. Courtemanche said the 500 pigs destroyed included a shipment which was to have been taken to market later in the same day as the fire. Another shipment had been taken to the barn the day before it burned.

Also destroyed was an automatic barn cleaner. Mr. Courtemanche said he was unable to estimate the damages.

The barn was a two-story structure of cement and ply-

$3,000 loot taken from repair shop

Provincial police in Sherbrooke are looking for two or three men they believe broke into an electronic shop and carried off goods and equipment valued at an estimated $3,000.

The break-in was noticed Wednesday morning by Andre Duplessis, the proprietor of Electro Lab Eng. Galt Street East, when he opened up the shop.

He said Thursday, "They took almost everything there was, even my tool kit." Stolen were five used TV sets, an air conditioning unit, spare TV tubes, tools, testing equipment, and a small antenna. Corporal Maurice Lecours of the Quebec Provincial Police said that entrance had been gained through the back door which had been forced with a crowbar.

"It would have taken two or three men to do it," he said. A small truck was probably used to carry the things away, he said.

Electro Lab Eng. is situated a short distance outside the limits of Sherbrooke. The police investigation continues.

wood, covered by galvanized metal.

It was located on the Tomfovia road, near Stanstead. Mr. Courtemanche lives in Stanstead.

Police probe bomb scares at armories

Sherbrooke municipal police received an anonymous call between 9:30 and 10 p.m. Wednesday night warning that bombs had been planted in both the William and Belvedere Streets armories, it was learned late this morning.

Sherbrooke's Police Captain Armand Genest could only confirm that the call had been received and that men were sent to both armories to investigate. He said there were no bombs discovered.

Local armory officials would make no comment on the situation.

THE DIGNIFIED SPORTIE LOOK FOR MEN

CASUAL COMFORT and the last word in smart appearance is the shortest complete description for this fashionable Tip Top Tailors' outfit worn by Clovis Buzzell last Thursday evening in the Sherbrooke Shopping Centre Merchants' mixed fashion show held at the St. Charles Auditorium. The jacket is a Glencheck with natural shoulders, complemented by a matching vest, and the trousers are in charcoal grey, an ensemble typical of the numerous stylish men's fashions carried by Léo Laliberté & Fils Ltée., 101 Wellington North, whose branch store at the Sherbrooke Shopping Centre is managed by Clovis Buzzell, pictured.

Politics, economics in UK budget

Recent by-election setbacks which indicate growing popular disfavor with the Macmillan Conservative Government obviously vie with economic objectives in the 1963 budget presented to the British House of Commons.

Highlighting the tax changes, which provide relief for the taxpayer totalling nearly one billion dollars in a single year are cuts in personal income taxes through increased exemptions and lower rates. These are designed to strengthen the Government's deteriorating position with the individual taxpayer, the hope being that the cuts will be looked upon by the voters as something of a gift from the government.

Similarly the abolition of the property tax on all owner-occupied houses and the reduction in inheritance taxes are appeals to the electorate to ease up its present dislike of the administration.

But the budget also has its economic angles, with provision for incentives to industry to expand its production and to locate in depressed areas. By these means, coupled with such increased purchasing power as may be made available by the income tax cuts, the government hopes to speed up industrial activity and reduce unemployment which reached a serious level during the past winter.

Politically significant is the Government warning that new taxes are in store for the next budget — a tax on landlords' profits, a general tax on betting and a turnover tax on retail business receipts.

These are basically hidden taxes and thus are unlikely to raise any general opposition while helping to offset the loss of revenue occasioned by other tax cuts.

Rhodesia Federation falling apart

It is hardly surprising that the Rhodesian Federation in Africa should be on the verge of collapse.

Created ten years ago out of the former British colonies of Nyasaland, Northern Rhodesia and Southern Rhodesia, the federation has never had a very satisfactory life. Next to South Africa, as a matter of fact, it has been the focal point for racial strife and bitterness more serious than anywhere else on the continent.

The problem has largely been Southern Rhodesia. With by far the largest white population of the three territories, Southern Rhodesia is also the richest of the three areas, possessing abundant natural resources and well-developed commerce. Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia are, by comparison, poor cousins populated largely by the Africans. Southern Rhodesia thus dominated the federation to a degree all out of proportion to its total population.

This kind of a one-sided relationship might have been made to work had it not been for Sir Roy Welensky.

Although not a racist, Sir Roy has steadfastly followed a policy of white domination that, in his planning, would only very gradually give way to more participation by the native population. It has been the view that the African people are not yet ready for their own democratic forms of government. He may be right, but the problem today is: ready or not, Africans want independence and the pressure for it is such that it must be granted as quickly as feasible. This has been the British government's position, and quite naturally, it conflicted with Sir Roy's.

Now, both Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland have been given the right to secede from the federation if they so wish. There is no doubt that this is exactly what they will do. Where this will leave Southern Rhodesia and its white-oriented policies remains to be seen. But this much is certain; in the light of the hostility shown towards Southern Rhodesia by other Federation members its position will be an uncomfortable one.

Motorists should have safety belts

Car accidents happen so quickly and usually with so little warning that neither the driver nor his passenger is able to react with sufficient speed to protect himself.

Automobile manufacturers are aware of the serious injuries a person can receive even in a minor collision and over the years they have paid increasing attention to incorporating safety features in their vehicles. These have included padded dashboards, shatter-proof glass, windows which give the driver a greater area of vision and special locks on the doors which may not be tripped easily by a child.

However, the one invention which stands out above all these is the safety belt. Police authorities and highway safety officials agree unanimously that the belts reduce the number of serious injuries and deaths in road accidents.

The belts have become obligatory for all vehicles in some areas and, no doubt, the day is not far off when all provinces of Canada will follow suit.

The English section of Sherbrooke's Junior Chamber of Commerce is currently holding a sale of safety belts to help finance a juvenile football team in the city. But the drive also has an equally important purpose which is to emphasize the life-saving usefulness of the device. This is one point which every responsible motorist cannot overlook.

Cuban raiders headache for Kennedy

It is small wonder that there is a growing impatience in United States official circles with the activities of the Cuban raiders.

President Kennedy, while still maintaining his restraint, latterly has been much more obviously irked by the embarrassment caused to his administration by these unauthorized activities on the part of Cuban exiles — the more so because of the obvious difficulty of disproving Cuban claims that such raids are officially disapproved, but unofficially instigated, by "the Yankees."

Such claims are, of course, a natural source of strength for Premier Fidel Castro. As long as he can find a scapegoat like the United States on which to place the burden of a whipped-up Cuban emotionalism, he can pose as the martyred head of a martyred state.

Thus, in effect, the annoy-

ance raids by small craft, far from doing anything to bring about the fall of Castro, are actually making him stronger. In addition, by embarrassing the American administration, they are actually weakening the only major backing which they are likely to receive in their attempt at reconquest.

But they are dangerous, even beyond this. They are like a series of pin-pricks, which cannot do any major damage, but which can succeed only in goading the Cuban government to desperate actions, and in materially increasing the danger of war in the Caribbean.

Unfortunately, the region is almost ideally adapted for the mounting of such unauthorized raids. Everyone except Premier Castro may be certain that there is no official American backing for the activities of the Cuban exile commandos. But the practical problem of stopping their nefarious activities is one which presents almost insuperable difficulties.

Sea distances are short and easy, not only from Florida, but also from Central America. Small boat activity in the Caribbean is of such enormous dimensions that it is virtually impossible to keep any kind of check on vessels, short of a national emergency.

And Cuban waters abound in small islands suitable for use as advanced bases for raiding expeditions and their supplies.

This is the major difficulty which faces Washington. And it is not easy to see how it is met, without recourse to the extreme policy of forbidding all small craft the use of southern waters except under licence — which even at that, is virtually unthinkable.

GUNNING FOR VOTES

The readers say:

External campaign funds dangerous

Dear Sir,

Political parties with an over-abundance of campaign funds, especially when those funds originate largely in what are basically external sources with only minor concern in the country's welfare — such as the 80 per cent externally-controlled industrial and financial complex of Eastern Canada — can be dangerous to their countries. It is not alone that their external money sources are likely later on to demand a quid pro quo, should the party succeed in gaining office; but their preponderant financial resources can give them far too great an influence in the country's media of public communication, which should be informing the public as fairly and impartially as possible on the issues of the campaign. A lopsided picture of political events, overweighted by huge advertising toward one party, can mislead the electorate into the worst of political quagmires.

Dailies are particularly vulnerable because in recent times they have fallen on increasingly evil days, with strikes, amalgamations, bankruptcies, and so on; so that one wonders whether in the recent New York and Cleveland strikes they may not have been glad to suspend publication for a time, and save some money.

A western daily recently admitted in an editorial that it had been prepared "to join practically every other daily newspaper in Canada in supporting the Liberal party" — nor who are the external influences backing that party to win.

Weekly newspapers also need advertising, but are happily not quite so dependent on the advertising dollar as the dailies. They can sometimes the one with funds — until repelled by that party's ineptitude. "Practically every" daily in Canada, on this paper's testimony, is supporting one party, and that party is the one with the teeming coffers. Surely, one is not alone in regarding this situation as grave and dangerous. It is not in accord with the law of averages that all, or practically all, Canadian dailies should plump for one party, unless there are very special reasons; and it is impossible to avoid the suspicion that there must be very special reasons — thousands, even millions, of them, green, valuable, for which men and perhaps even parties may be willing to sell out their country.

How shall we vote? The New Democrats are internationalists, for whom Canada is only a unit in a world-wide socialist hegemony; the Social Crediters are too deeply involved in Quebec nationalism to be able to speak for Canada as a whole; the Liberals are alarmingly dependent upon external influences.

Those who do not wish to see Canada sold out to external wealth would do well to vote solidly for the only real Canadian party, the Progressive Conservatives.

REPORTING

VANCOUVER — In a political sense British Columbia is the second most interesting province in this election. The first, of course, is Quebec.

But outside the context of the vote next Monday, BC is unsurpassed in the fascination it holds for politically minded easterners. The interaction and reaction of personalities and ideas are peculiarly British Columbian in this test-tube province where the people have developed political thinking and habits in a kind of psychological isolation imposed by the mountain barrier to the east.

It is here that much which has impinged on and shaken the old Grit-Tory hegemony over Eastern Canada was originated and put to test. Talk of coalition at Ottawa? The Liberals and Conservatives tried it here 25 years ago, to stop the CCF, and all but destroyed themselves. The NDP as a Labor Party? Labor long ago made the CCF its political voice in BC. Social Credit in the east? A dozen years before Real Caouette, BC's Premier Bennett showed how to slide the Socialists into office under conditions of public disenchantment with the old line parties. Moreover, the prospect in the next provincial election is for a Social-NDP stalemate with neither party having a majority and the Liberals holding the balance of power.

Geographically this province is magnificent. Politically it is a mess. And as such it is an object lesson for all voters on Monday who may be tempted to put other considerations ahead of the great issue of this campaign, the restoration of stable majority government at Ottawa.

The main British Columbia battles in the current campaign are being fought in the densely populated "lower mainland", where an average of slightly more than 1000 persons per square mile live and compete for jobs, advancement, and opportunities.

The principal issue here is probably concern about the economy. Many persons are disturbed at what they consider to be a lack of opportunity, especially young people. The United States — geographically close, economically attractive, culturally alien — has a seductive appeal which continues to disturb even those who reject it.

Separated by the Rockies from the busy east with its breadth of interest and range of opportunities, British Columbians feel inhibited and contained. They feel squeezed between the States of Washington and Alaska, and squeezed by US investment dollars that control much of the province's resources. At Nanaimo on Saturday a score of high school boys tackled Liberal Leader Pearson on the US investment question. As they saw it, the country was being sold out to the Americans, and with it their economic birthrights.

Except that the people here speak English, British Columbia is as much a separate entity within Canada as Quebec is. Language and race keep Quebecers at home, often to their economic disadvantage. A salubrious climate and a pleasant way of life keep British Columbians from migrating readily to the east in search of better opportunities.

It is not strange that economic dissatisfactions in both Quebec and BC turn both eastern and western habitants to the boot-strap, spend-more political philosophies of Social Credit and the NDP. Not strange — only unfortunate for them and for all the rest of us in this election when the nation needs a government that can govern.

Stanstead council meeting

Transport board to decide on bus service

STANSTEAD—(Special)—Grade nine students of Sacred Heart school, Stanstead, were guests of the Stanstead municipal council at their monthly meeting held on April 1st. The boys were welcomed by Councillor Georges Labrecque.

At the March meeting a request was heard from Racine Transport for a council letter to the board of transport. The company wants to provide service from the Border to Sherbrooke and return.

A committee of Edward Hyatt and Harold Cass was appointed to look into the matter. At the Monday night meeting, this committee stated there was need for improved transportation. The councillors said they met with Racine and with officials of the Quebec Central Transportation who are presently providing transportation, and the committee recommended that the decision be left entirely in the hands of the federal board of transport to which the firm must apply.

Letters of recommendation for both parties have been received by the Stanstead Council. At the present the Quebec Central does not provide a morning bus and Racine Transport has received several requests from persons desiring to go to Sherbrooke for a day, to ride on the daily school bus.

Application is to be made to the provincial forestry department for 200 trees for municipal planting and to be made available to property owners. The trees are free of charge but the municipality will have to be responsible for transporting them, and this can be arranged this year as the municipality now owns a truck.

The annual firemen's banquet is to be held this spring. The arrangements will be made by the fire committee, A. D. McHarg and Edward Hyatt.

There was discussion about the fire by law of the municipality in regard to spring burning of grass. This will be enforced, council decided.

All vacant lots must be burned.

The property owner must have permission from the fire chief to ignite the grass and the fire chief or members of the department will stand by in case the fire gets out of hand. The council will also have as much burned as possibly through fire department practices. It was noted that last spring the department received eight calls in one day and that some of the fires are started by youngsters who seem not to realize the danger of grass fires.

During March the municipal police received 264 calls at the police center, 22 were complaints about dogs. There were 10 cases in Rock Island Municipal court; 72 traffic tickets were issued; $119.85 was collected from fines and the police patrolled 1,460 miles, in addition to other duties of the department.

Regrets were expressed at the death of Leo Gagniere in March. Mr. Gagniere was a former councillor.

It was noted that the chimney inspection is now well underway by Stanley George. Mayor E. J. Struthers spoke on the March county council meeting.

It was agreed that as long as farm land remains as such it will be taxed accordingly, but when sold for building lots the valuation will be increased.

A quarter page for advertising will be placed with Stanstead College annual Spectrum magazine and a half page with the Rock Island Catholic Women's League program being prepared for the C.W.L. convention at Rock Island the end of this month.

A request from the Bell Telephone Company to place underground cable in sections of the municipality, was granted.

Notice was given that the winter works program has been extended until May 31. Each councillor gave his accounts and monthly reports and transactions were explained to the visiting students.

Relatives appeal court settlement of Tetu estate

The authenticity of a handwritten will leaving about $600,000 to the archdiocese of Sherbrooke is again being challenged.

Relatives have filed a deposit guaranteeing payment of the costs of appealing Judge William Mitchell's decision last month that a will, purported to be that of Miss Eugenie Tetu of Sherbrooke, was in fact written by her.

The deposit was made Wednesday at the prothonotary's office in Sherbrooke.

The court of the Queen's Bench, in appeal, is expected to review the case towards the end of this year.

| al, the fledgling member goes to the House of Commons where he can be fined, expelled, suspended or reprimanded if he doesn't confirm to the rules. |  |                       |  |

In time he may become a cabinet minister or a senator. Or better yet, a prime minister with the power to appoint both, plus judges. There have been 13 prime ministers since Confederation, so there's always a chance.

Under the BNA act, a parliament's life can be five years. But some parliaments don't last their term. To be sure of clear control a party must have 134 seats in the 265 seat house.

CRUDEN — We wish to thank everyone for their kind expressions of sympathy at the time of the death of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Jennie (Sargent) Cruden, a special thanks to all those who sent flowers, food and cards. ## Women's groups

L'VILLE U.C.W.

A general meeting of the Lennoxville United Church Women was held in the Gertrude Scott Hall on the evening of March 26, with the president, Mrs. A. B. Lovelace in charge.

An executive meeting was held prior to the general meeting which opened with a worship service conducted by Mrs. N. Flint, assisted by Mrs. W. S. Richardson.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Gladys Taylor who showed slides and gave a talk on her motor trip to the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival last summer. The speaker was thanked by Mrs. W. J. Lane.

Following the program a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lovelace.

In concurrence with a recommendation made by Mrs. D. Baldwin, it was decided that a memorial case, in honor of Miss Myrtle Desruisseaux, be made for the Memorial Book, the cost of the case to be taken out of the bequest made to the U.C.W. by the late Miss Desruisseaux.

It was decided that the Lennoxville U.C.W. would continue to support the two children adopted under the Save The Children plan.

Mrs. D. Hadlock reported that the kitchen renovations were completed. Letters of appreciation were sent to Mrs. D. Hadlock, Mrs. A. B. Lovelace and Mrs. R. G. MacMillan for their contributions to the remodeling of the kitchen.

Mrs. Z. Judson reported on the Program Workshop held in Granby recently.

Reports were made by Mrs. W. J. Lane and Mrs. A. Mack on the World Day of Prayer services held in March.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, a lunch was served by Unit III.

ST. PATRICK MISSION CIRCLE

The St. Patrick Mission Circle met on Monday night in St. Patrick's Church Hall, with Miss Trudy Evans, presiding.

Final plans were made for the Salad Tea to be held in St. Patrick's Church Hall on Saturday, April 20. It was decided to have chicken salad for this occasion in addition to vegetable and fruit salads.

The conveners were appointed for the home baked food table, aprons and gifts, surprise boxes, jewellery and African violet tables.

The secretary read a letter from Miss Florine Mullins thanking the Mission Circle for cancelling a meeting to allow the members to attend a special Guard of Honor devotion which was held at the Blessed Sacrament chapel.

The forthcoming rummage sale was discussed and the date was tentatively set for Friday, May 17.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned to meet again on May 6.

Social and Personal

Friends of Mr. Forest Millar, Melbourne, will be pleased to learn he is progressing favorably following surgery in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

The many friends of Raymond Winstanley, formerly of Sherbrooke, now of Buffalo, N.Y., will be sorry to learn he is a patient in the Sisters of Charity Hospital, Buffalo, 14, N.Y. Room 435.

The acquaintances of James Swinden, S.K.S.N., of Danbridge, Maryland, U.S.A., will be interested to learn he is spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Swinden, Galt Street, East.

Anyone having items of interest for the Social Column please phone Mrs. P. Pickford, LO. 9-3636, Local 38.

DEAR POLLY—I am a 15-year-old boy who has discovered a few ways to make the household run more smoothly. I have made several one-foot extension cords. This length is perfect for cords that just miss reaching the electrical outlets (so close and yet . . .) and you do not have to roll up and hide all those extra feet of cord.

I put two sets of measuring spoons on one ring. This is a small thing but very convenient. In the middle of a recipe you do not have to stop and wash a spoon that has been used for liquids in order to measure dry ingredients.

This is for the men especially. On coats of all sorts, tuck the outside flap of the coat pockets into the pocket when not wearing the coat. When you put on a coat, lift out the pocket flaps; they will be smooth with no turned-up corners.

Thank the Lord that you have something to do when you get depressed during the day. When the kids make you want to pull your hair, be glad you have them. Be thankful for what you have and remember that it's what you do with what you have that counts.—RON.

Well, that letter should set some of us oldsters back a bit. Imagine having a 15-year-old like Ron around the house. Sounds as if he may turn out to be an efficiency expert.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—Place a golf ball inside children's socks that are too small for a darned egg. It makes mending much easier.

I also put reflector tape on my dog's collar to cut down on the danger of his being struck by a car at night.

I love to embroider but my thread always used to get so tangled now I wind each color in a little ball and put each ball into an empty pill bottle. A hole is punched in each plastic lid so I can pull out the length needed.—R. H.

DEAR POLLY—We found that wrapping a wash rug around the next-to-the-top step of our basement stairs and pinning it underneath with safety pins keeps us from tracking dirt up to the first floor.—MRS. H. E. B.

GIRLS—This is for stairs with open risers only.—POLLY.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, April 4th—In Spring, a man's fancy often turns to thoughts of the pleasures of owning a new car—and that goes for women's thoughts, too. If you have your heart set on a bright new buggy—and have some financing in mind—take a tip from me. When you know what you want, drop into your neighbourhood branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL and discuss a Family Finance Plan loan. Here is the best way I've ever known to keep car financing costs low—and you get the advantage of life insurance. So shop around all you like for the car of your choice, but when you find it—be sure to talk to the B of M. You'll be miles ahead!

APRIL SHOWERS BRING MAY FLOWERS, but often for those whose work is out-of-doors, they bring unpleasant aches and pains. I have a letter from a mailman about this—he says:—“I used to suffer greatly from sharp pains of sciatica in my hip and thigh. Eventually I got around to taking TEMPLETON'S TRC's and found wonderful relief”. Do try TRC's if you suffer from rheumatic, arthritic, neuritic or sciatic pain. And, for fast DOUBLE ACTION, when taking TRC's internally, apply TEMPLETON FLAME-cream Liniment externally. Ask for Templeton's TRC's—and for FLAME-cream in the roll-on, applicator bottle—at your favourite drug counter.

BEGIN THE DAY RIGHT for your family . . . with a special treat like muffins, for instance. So easy to make with TEA-BISK, the famous all-purpose baking mix. You'll be proud of your baking when you bake with Tea-Bisk . . . that's a promise from the makers. And, believe me, your family will be proud of you! So ask for Tea-Bisk. I'm sure it will be one of the handiest mixes on your shelf . . . your grocer has it in either the 19 oz. size with handy, pre-measured one-cup envelopes—or the big 37 oz. size with convenient pouring spout.

FLAVOR IT FOR THE LOVE OF LEMON WITH SHIRRIFF . . . here's a way to make popcorn balls pop into your mouths even more eagerly. Just lemon them by adding a dash of SHIRRIFF Pure Lemon Extract—the quick way to better flavor!

Lemon Popcorn Balls: Combine 3 tbsps. corn syrup, 1/2 cup water, 1 cup sugar and 1/2 cup pineapple juice. Cook to hard ball stage (265° F.). Remove from heat. Add 1/2 tsp. Shirriff Pure Lemon Extract and desired amount of Shirriff Yellow Food Color. Pour over 2 1/2 qts. popped corn, mixing constantly. Form into 3/4" balls. Yield: 3 dozen.

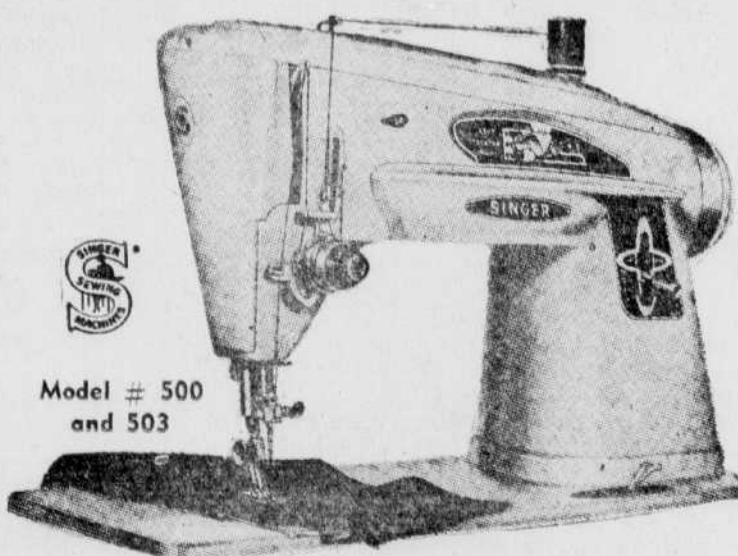

NOT A SOAP . . . NOT A DETERGENT . . . and it does something in the washer that neither soap nor detergent can do. It's CALGON, the wonder water-conditioner that cleans away washing film. Add Calgon with less of your favourite soap or detergent. Linens will shine . . . towels fluff up like new . . . no washing film to build up and leave things not quite clean! Soaps and detergents can't get rid of washing film . . . in fact, they and water minerals cause it. Even bleach won't dissolve it. But, you'll see what I mean when you try Calgon . . . first, in the wash . . . then, in the rinse. Calgon gets rid of washing film just . . . like . . . that!

INEXPENSIVE LUXURY . . . that's what wine-with-dinner is when it's delightful Bright's MANOR ST. DAVIDS Claret. Yes, serving Manor St. Davids with a meal is a delicious luxury touch . . . but not at a luxury price! That's because Manor St. Davids is a good 'wine of the country' . . . made from grapes grown in Canada . . . in the Niagara Peninsula. Serve it with steaks, chops or red meat of any kind . . . the first sip will tell you that this Bright's Manor St. Davids is a wine you can be proud to serve!

terns for a good fitting back and shoulder:

Full or Rounded Backs—For such figures, consider front and back measurements individually.

Lay out the pattern; press it; slash the skirt and waist lengthwise to give the necessary width. Slash the waist pattern across the back at a point to provide length at the full or rounded part of the shoulders. Lift the slash up enough to gain the needed length for the center side and up, and pin a piece of paper underneath to make a straight and continuous center-back line. The excess fullness this gives at the neck in the back will be needed for darts or tucks to provide comfortable ease across the shoulder blades.

Mary Brooks Picken on sewing

Adjusting a pattern is very simple

Looking into fashion's crystal ball, we see that the straight dress has been invited by top designers to stay for a while.

If such a dress is becoming to you, by all means make up not one but several. Use good quality fabric, buy just what you need for each dress. Adjust the pattern for your measurements first.

I have three letters from young women who say they have worked over a desk until they are round-shouldered and wider in the back proportionately than in front. Here is how to alter the pattern. You will notice that the added width in the back broadens from the tip of the shoulder toward the bottom of the skirt, whereas no width is added to the front.

Flat Fronts—If your front is flat, check the front measurements with the pattern and, if necessary, lay a fold across the chest to make up any excess length. When you do this, lay a slightly smaller fold in the front of the sleeve, as shown—or use two rows of fine shirring in the top of sleeve and ease fullness in. Mark a new arm-hole line, as the dotted lines show. For such figures it is often safer to cut the back waistline straight across, rather than curved, as indicated by the pattern line. This provides a longer back and makes for a more comfortable garment.

High Full Fronts—The full back alteration can be made for the front pieces of the pattern for "pouter pigeon" figures, those slightly full in front and having a medium-high bust. This is especially satisfactory in dresses that open in the center-front and have a V-neck or revers.

Make Adjustments—Adjustments are easy when you make them in a pattern, rather than after you have cut your fabric. For example, illustrated here is a figure ordinarily difficult to fit. But, with measurement's checked and necessary adjustments made on just four pieces of the pattern, it's no problem.

For a straight shift dress, pin pattern together at the waistline. Then draw a slightly curved line from underarm notch to hip notch. Cut front and back—on fold of fabric—each in one piece.

Once you become familiar with your own measurements and acquire the courage necessary to slash or fold a pattern as your measurements require, you will thoroughly enjoy the few minutes it takes to make sure of your pattern proportions before cutting into valued fabric.

Your reward is certain when the time for fitting comes and you have a garment right in every detail, with seams correctly placed for your measurements.

Teams set for fifth tilt of NHL semi-finals

Just case of nerves with Boomer, says Blake, nothing wrong with legs, Imlach expects tough battle

TORONTO (CP) — There's a malfunction in Montreal Canadiens' and Toronto Maple Leafs heavy artillery. Both clubs hope the duds will boom out tonight.

Bernie Geoffrion, an explosive right winger, has been short-circuiting the Montreal attack.

Frank Mahovlich, usually a free-skating and high-scoring left winger, is taking some of the punch out of Toronto's onslaughts.

In tonight's fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final between the two clubs, the Canadiens have to win or pack their bags until the fall. They're down 3-1 in games in the best-of-seven series.

Toronto won the first three games on the strength of solid goaltending and defence work, and hard-checking forwards, and Montreal stole a page from the Leafs' book in its 3-1 victory in Montreal Tuesday night.

WON'T STRESS DEFENCE
Montreal coach Toe Blake, who brought his club into town Wednesday night, said he does not plan to stress defence tonight.

"We never plan a defensive game—we can't play one," But, Blake said, good checking, as long as you have some offensive power, is "the secret of beating any team."

Toronto manager-coach Punch Imlach has said during the series that if a team plays good defensive hockey the breaks will come—and they did for Leafs in three of the games.

But both coaches would be exultant if their ailing wingers broke out. Geoffrion asked to be benched in Canadiens' victory Tuesday, saying his legs felt stiff. Blake disagrees, claiming "it's nerves, that's all."

Mahovlich got the flu near the end of the season and an eight-stitch whack on the mouth in the series' first game. The ill-wind and the injury put him on a liquid diet, depleting his strength. Imlach says only that the big winger is playing poorly today night.

game that keeps the Independents on the hop all the time.

Several Seconds have stood out very well in the series to date: Mike Leveque, Bob Aiken, and Ken Taylor just to mention three.

Tonight's tilt could go either way, depending on what sort of show the Seconds put on. The Independents always play the steadier game and can be relied upon to floor another powerful squad this evening.

Bishop's Seconds certainly have an excellent chance of copping the title while the Independents will be out there to try and make it their fourth straight ETABA crown.

Spectators are welcome to attend the tilt and no admission is charged. It is the final game of the season and everyone is urged to turn out and support their team.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Hull - Ottawa drop opener minus players

You couldn't blame Hull-Ottawa Canadiens if they are rooting for Toronto Maple Leafs to eliminate Montreal Canadiens tonight from the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs—and soon.

Hull-Ottawa, which fought for the lead in the Eastern Professional Hockey League most of the season, faded late in the year and finished eight points out of first place.

Wednesday night they lost the first game of their best-of-five semi-final series to third place Sudbury Wolves, 3-2 in overtime.

A big reason for the Canadiens' slump has been the calling up of key players by the parent Montreal club. Montreal took defencemen Terry Harper and Jacques Laperriere and ace winger Bill McCreary. And Red Berenson, currently with Montreal, has been up and down all year.

Wednesday night's victory gave Sudbury a one-game jump in the semi-final. Two more wins would finish it.

Winger Len Ronson and goaltender Gerry Cheevers led the way for the Wolves. Ronson scored a pair of goals, including the winner after five minutes of overtime. Cheevers stopped 38 shots. Paul Andrea scored the other Sudbury goal. Keith McCreary and Bob Ellet scored for Hull-Ottawa.

71 skiers to compete in US Alpine events

MOUNT ALYESKA, Alaska (AP)—Dazzling sunlight on the snowy slopes and blue-green spruces turned Mount Alyeska into a postcard paradise Wednesday as 71 skiers from the U.S., Canada and Europe made their final warm-up runs for the opening today of the U.S. national alpine ski championships.

Forty-four men and 27 women will take the plunge down from Alyeska's glacial cap in the downhill run. Friday they will swish through the gates of the giant slalom and Saturday's finale will send them through the shorter, but testing, slalom.

For the Americans in the field this also will be the climactic test before selection of the United States Olympic alpine team. Several Canadians, three young men from Switzerland and a West German girl, Barbi Henneberger, also are competing.

Among the Canadians were Nancy Green, 19, of Rossland, B.C., and Linda Crutchfield of Shawinigan, Que., who observed her 21st birthday Wednesday.

THEIR OWN LITTLE WORLD

Masters' 1962 winner is all set

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The 27th Masters golf tournament starts today and Dow Finsterwald, a slender, soft-spoken veteran, finds himself in the role of the forgotten man.

Most of the pre-tournament speculation has centered on golf's ruling triumvirate—Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. Finsterwald and the other 80 competitors have been lumped together as "the field."

There is a tendency to forget that last year's Masters involved a three-way playoff. And one of the three men all square at 280 after 72 holes was Dow Finsterwald, who plays out of Tequesta, Fla.

Finsterwald played poorly in the 18-hole tie-breaker, taking a 77 to Palmer's winning 68 and Player's 71. But for 72 holes he matched Palmer and Player stroke for stroke—and finished 11 shots ahead of Nicklaus.

Two years previously, a practice putt during a play cost Finsterwald a two-stroke penalty. Those two strokes, as it turned out, spelled the difference between a tie with Palmer for first place and Dow's actual third place finish.

Finsterwald isn't concerned. "This is a tournament where you either do or you don't," he said. "You either get it going, or you don't. If you get a couple of good shots at the right time, or hit bad shots at the right places, where they don't hurt you, then you can go."

He said the massive, beautiful Augusta National course, with its demanding par of 36-36-72, is playing about the same as last year.

Finsterwald is taking pills for an upset stomach — "probably flu, or a virus"—that hit him Tuesday.

Nicklaus, too, is ailing—but sits in his left hip hurts him when he walks, but he says it doesn't affect his swing.

Palmer's trouble is with his driving—and placement of the tee shot is a big factor in this tournament.

Palmer is seeking an unprecedented fourth Masters title. He, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret have won three apiece.

The 83-man field will be trimmed after the first 36 holes. The top 44 players, plus ties, or anyone within 10 shots of the mid-point leader, will qualify for the final two rounds.

Coaticook Carpet Bowling Club to hold bonspiel

The annual bonspiel sponsored by the Coaticook Carpet Bowling Club is set for this coming weekend, April 5 and 6, at the Coaticook High School auditorium.

The Club executive met last Sunday and drew names to arrange schedule of games.

Thirty-two teams have entered the event, and nine boys' teams will be competing against themselves for separate trophies. Spectators will be allowed to watch the play from the auditorium gallery.

The trophies and prizes for the bonspiel will be presented at the banquet Saturday at Hotel Maurice. Dr. W. B. Perry will be guest speaker at the banquet. Teams from Magog, Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff, Waterville, Coaticook, Baldwin's Mills, Drummondville and other towns will be competing.

Fighters hold meeting to defend boxing
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavyweight Eddie Machen, insisting that boxers do not try to inflict serious injury, led a parade of northern California fighters who spoke their piece Wednesday night on why the sport should not be abolished.

The boxers talked to about 100 fight fans in a downtown San Francisco gym, hoping to stem the anti-boxing tide that has risen following the recent death of Davey Moore.

"In my eight years I never went into a bout with the aim to create any injury—any serious injury," said Machen. "Yet some say the sole intent of a fighter is to create mayhem or great injury."

"To me boxing is a sport and an art. There's an art of defence. I think Governor Brown forgot all about that—he only talked about the offence."

Governor Edmund Brown seeks the abolition of boxing in California.

Honest police could close down bookies

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — A sports columnist said Wednesday night he could close down most of Canada's bookies with 30 honest policemen and the co-operation of telephone companies.

Jim Coleman, columnist with the Southern Newspapers and former public relations director for the Jockey Club Limited, said: "bookmaking exists primarily because of dishonest policemen."

"You can't tell me that the policemen on the beat doesn't know where the bookmaking is going on."

He was one of three members of a panel speaking to more than 150 magistrates, judges and lawyers at the Hamilton Lawyers' Club annual banquet.

Coleman said the only remedy would be to pay policemen more money. Then they would not be in a position to accept handouts from gamblers.

He did not think legalized off-track betting would, serve any useful purpose in Canada. The only people who wanted off-track betting were the bookmakers.

Wings arrive minus Vic Stasiuk but club is ready, says Abel, Hawks hold hard workout for tilt

CHICAGO (CP) — Chicago Stadium hockey fans, who demand blood with their seat stubs, may get just that tonight. If not, they'll probably witness a lot of shooting by the Black Hawks.

That's the word as Detroit Red Wings and Hawks get set for the showdown fifth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final. They enter the contest all square at two games each.

However, all the talk isn't scaring Sid Abel, coach of the Red Wings.

"They're running out of all this," said Abel. "When we won that game last Sunday they said it was because they didn't have Bobby Hull. They had Hull on Tuesday and we still won."

"What will they say when we win the next one?"
The Red Wings arrived Wednesday night after a bumpy plane ride from Detroit minus left-winger Vic Stasiuk, who has a neck injury.

"We could have played him but it meant taping him up," said Abel. "We didn't want to take any chances. But I'm sure he'll play in the sixth game at home Sunday night."

"We're all healthy apart from Stasiuk."

MACNEIL FIT
Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks was glum, although he plucked a regular from sick bay Wednesday. Defenceman Al MacNeil, out for a couple of games with cracked ribs, skated at a 75-minute practice and was declared fit to play.

Still on the shelf, though, is left-winger Ron Murphy. He has been in a hospital isolation ward for a week while doctors have been trying to figure what drug he can take with no ill effects for an infected ankle cut.

toe and with a bruised right shoulder, isn't 100-per-cent fit.

Defenceman Elmer Vasko and Pierre Pilote have head cuts, but these are incidental to National Leagues. The Hawks, who dropped 4-2 and 4-1 games on Detroit ice after opening the series at home with 5-4 and 5-2 victories, have orders to shoot and forget about the fancy stick-handling and passing plays that marked their games on the road.

Pilous called Wednesday's practice to correct that fault. And the Hawks were letting fly from all directions. They had directed only 39 shots against Detroit goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk in the last two games while the Red Wings bombed Glenn Hall with 88.

"Eric Nesterenko will continue to shadow Gordie Howe," said Pilous. "That's our plan and I think he's been doing a great job. I have no criticism of his play but I can't ray the same for some of the others."

Nesterenko has stayed with Howe most of the time but big Gordie has still scored four goals in four games.

The sixth game will be played at Detroit Sunday. A seventh, if necessary, will be here Tuesday.

Louis whipped Washington 6-4 at St. Petersburg and Houston downed Los Angeles Angels 5-2 at Porterville, Calif.

Besides Mejias' extra-base hits, Koufax was touched for run-scoring singles by Lou Clinton and Frank Malzone before Ron Perranoski came on and finished up with two scoreless innings. John Roseboro had a big day for the Dodgers with a homer, double and single.

Vada Pinson stroked three hits for Cincinnati, while Larry Burright and Ed Kranepool got the Mets' hits.

LeMaster held the Orioles to three hits in seven innings before Cloninger finished up. The Braves clinched it with two runs off Milt Pappas in the fifth inning on Ty Cline's double and singles by Frank Bolling and Len Gabrielson.

US to send 372 athletes to Pan-Am Games
NEW YORK (AP)—The largest squad of athletes ever assembled for foreign competition—372 men and women—will represent the United States in the Pan-American Games in Brazil this year.

The Olympic Selection Committee announced Wednesday that the squad will be made up of 279 men and 93 women in 21 sports classifications which make up the games, scheduled Yankees 6-4 at Fort Myers, St. at Sao Paulo April 20-May 5.

Two-minute round gets tryout and results surprising, fighters have different views on idea

The two-minute round for professional boxing, advocated in New York, got a tryout in New Jersey and Alaska with some surprising results.

A fighter who lost liked the rule. And the man who beat him didn't care much for it.

Marcel Bizien, 138, Jersey City, N.J., outpointed Baby Beau Jack, 132, New York, 8, in an eight-round feature at Union City, N.J., Wednesday night, but said he would have preferred the old, three-minute round.

Baby Beau Jack, 132, New York, said the shorter rounds increase the action because both fighters try harder.

ENDS IN TKO
The two-minute round also was tried in Miami Beach, Fla., where Mike DeJohn scored a sixth-round technical knockout of Don McAteer. The heavy-weight bout was scheduled for 12 rounds.

DeJohn, of Miami, weighed 210. McAteer, Clifton, N.J., came in at 177.

Referee Cy Gottfried stopped it at 53 seconds of the sixth after DeJohn opened a wide cut over McAteer's left eye.

Gen. Melvin Krulwich, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said earlier this week the two-minute round would be used as an experiment in some four-round preliminaries in that state.

The two-minute round experiment is one of several which will be tried in the wake of the ring deaths of Benny Paret and Davey Moore.

Honoured the world over for its true lightness of tone and its rare brilliance of taste.

Knowlton social notes

Lodge No. 28, I.O.O.F. met in regular session on March 28. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, at the close of the meeting.

Friends will regret to hear that Dr. A. S. Douglass was taken by ambulance, to the Montreal General Hospital.

Mrs. Agnes Duncan, Mrs. Rose McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munn were in Montreal recently.

Mrs. Clara Chamberlain has returned to her home in Waterloo, after spending several days with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Taylor. Other guests at the same home included Mr. and Mrs. Dick Shaw, of Ottawa.

The Girl Guides under the leadership of Mrs. G. A. Rotherham held a successful dance in the Legion Hall on Main Street, with about 50 youngsters in attendance. The music was furnished by Wally Bowbrick. Square Dancing seemed to be the favorite dance and Mrs. Rotherham hopes that another such dance will be held in the near future, when more square dancing will be featured.

On March 25, members of Unit No. 2, held a work meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Needham. Holiday Plates were completed and other articles for the summer sale were worked on. At the conclusion of a busy afternoon, Mrs. Needham served tea.

Emmanuel United Church Unit C is entertained at Fordyce home

FORDYCE — Mrs. Earle Ford, Mrs. S. Peron, Mr. and Mrs. Harding Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cart and from the Salvation Army in Montreal for three boxes of good used clothing.

Mrs. Amy Hooper reported having sold $10.30 worth of remnants.

Thank-you notes are being sent to friends who gave donations to the Shamrock Tea and to non-members, who had helped serve, also to A. T. Dryden for making a masonite flip chart. The chart was used for

The first time at the meeting by Mrs. Ruby Moore in a helpful discourse on the Understanding of the Bible and on mission study of Korea. Special thanks went to Stanley Aiken of Sweetsburg, an advanced art student at the Cowansville High School, for making posters to advertise the Shamrock Tea.

The gratifying proceeds of the Shamrock Tea totalled $160, the treasurer, Miss Guilla Jones reported.

Mrs. F. B. Archer spoke on stewardship and recruiting.

Mrs. A. Hooper gave a short talk on community friendship and visiting, of which she is convener, and also offered her services to the U.C.W. to anyone furnishing transportation, who wishes to learn handicrafts, such as crocheting, knitting, quilting, rug making, hammered aluminum and brass work, smoked cushions, etc.

An interesting report of the U.C.W. workshop held in Granby was given by Mrs. R. Moore and Mrs. F. B. Archer.

Mrs. E. Dryden reported on Christian citizenship, including the forming of a Golden Age group, which will be ecumenical in this community.

OBITUARIES

ARTHUR LEFEBVRE, OF WEST SUTTON

WEST SUTTON — After over two years illness, mostly spent in hospitals, Arthur Lefebvre died March 26, in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke.

Mr. Lefebvre resided with his family on the late Percy Bresee Farm. He leaves his wife and six children; five brothers, Edward, George, Maurice, Lucien and Raymond; three sisters, Mrs. Ami Paul, Juliette, Mrs. Conrad Meunier, Margaret, and Mrs. Lawrence Godin, Noella; besides several other relatives.

The funeral was held March 29, at St. Andre Catholic Church Sutton, with burial in the Catholic Cemetery.

LEO GAGNIERE, OF STANSTEAD

STANSTEAD — The sudden death of one of the Boundary communities' prominent business men, Leo Gagniere, occurred at his residence on Dufferin Road, March 23, from a heart attack.

The funeral was held on March 26, from Rodrigue Funeral Home, Rock Island, to the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church Stanstead, for the High Requiem Mass at 10 o'clock, sung by Father N. Comeau, assisted by Father George Guay, Rock Island, and Father Jean Malascol, Beebe. In the sanctuary were Father Joseph Dussault, Derby Line, and Father Albert Dionne, a former parish priest at Stanstead.

Mrs. Gilles Grenier played the organ music and accompanied the men's choir of the church.

The honorary bearers were Henry Routhier, Hugo LePenne, Leo Gaudreau, Paul Emile Macfure, Alcide Surprenant and Albert Fluet, with Ivan Letourneau, the head bearer, taking the place of his father, Rene Letourneau, M.P. The pall-bearers were Ernest Roy, Leo Groleau, Eugene Lachance, A. Fournier and Lionel Goudreau. Entombment took place to await spring burial in the St. Aime Cemetery, Asbestos.

Mr. Gagniere was born on March 11, 1922, at Asbestos, the son of Francois and Corina (Dubois) Gagniere. He received a college education and in 1946 came to the Boundary and established what became a successful trucking business between the Border and Montreal. For several years he was the first Canadian manager for Quinn Freight Lines, resigning from this position a few months ago.

In April, 1960, he purchased and had since operated the Border Propane Gas service. Mr. Gagniere had served two years as councillor on the Stanstead Municipal Council. He was a member of the Border Rotary Club and Border Curling Club and was a former member of the Rock Island Knights of Columbus council.

July 8, 1946, he married Therese Plourde, of Asbestos, by whom he is survived. Other survivors include two daughters, Nicole and Diane, at home; his mother, Mrs. Francois Gagniere; four brothers, Raoul, Rene and Roger, Asbestos, and Albert, Derby Line, and a sister, Rita, Asbestos.

Relatives, friends and business associates attending the funeral were from Lewiston, Me., Asbestos, Lowell, Mass., Drummondville, Magog, Montreal, Longueuil, Ivesville, Sherbrooke, Newport, and other points of the Townships and Northern Vermont.

Knowlton groups hold meeting

KNOWLTON — The Canadian Girls in Training and Explorers' Groups met in the United Church Hall on March 25, when the meeting opened with a worship period, conducted by May Badger.

The respective groups retired to their corners for their business meetings.

May Badger welcomed Mrs. Rose McLean, who had been absent from C.G.I.T. since Christmas, due to illness. Mrs. McLean expressed thanks to Miss Christine Miller, who took charge during her absence and also to the girls, for their loyal support.

There were many surprises for Mrs. McLean, which included Mission Maps, future plans for the balance of the year; tentative plans concerning date and menu for Mother and Daughter banquet and Mrs. McLean's plans for graduation. Both these events will probably take place in May.

Susan Badger will be in charge of the Worship Service at the next meeting.

Bishopton club holds meeting

BISHOPTON — The Christian Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Vintinner on March 26, with 500 being played at two tables.

The prize winners were Mrs. Lyle Herring, Mrs. Lloyd Harrison, with the floating prize going to Mrs. Jack Couchman. Lunch was served by the hosts.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. Spence.

Perfect Pastry demonstrated at Border meeting

DERBY LINE — Mrs. Shirley Davis entertained the March meeting of the South of the Border Home Demonstration Club at her home on March 27, with members and guests enjoying the subject, Perfect Pastry, in charge of the Orleans County agent Mrs. Marion Buckland.

After the business meeting, all assembled in the kitchen, where Mrs. Buckland gave a demonstration of her subject and talked about the different methods. Later the pastries were served by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Anita Judd, the co-hostess, for lunch.

Mrs. Lorraine Younib will be in charge of the April meeting roll call.

Mrs. Barbara Leavens, president, Mrs. Rita Day and Mrs. Bertice Bowen reported they had attended the Self Health course at Newport, and that a refresher course is to be held at a later date, when it is hoped that more members will attend.

Commencing on April 4, and every Thursday thereafter, this club is sponsoring a course in physical exercises at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall which will be directed by Mrs. Ruth Hunter, of Derby Line. These classes are open to the public and anyone interested should contact Mrs. Joan Racine, Derby Line.

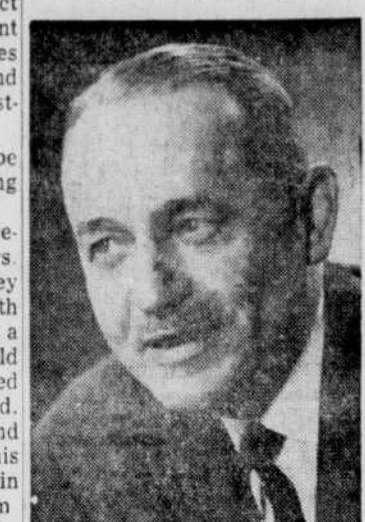

A meeting open to the public on Banking Know How, is taking place the evening of April 10, at Derby Academy, with Lloyd Selby, president of the National Bank of Derby Line, a speaker. This club to be hostesses.

The Jitney was won by Mrs. Joan Racine. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edith Griffin. Subject to be, Collars and Sleeves. Hostesses, with Mrs. Griffin, will be Mrs. Jean Moore and Mrs. Barbara Stetson.

Ways Mills

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Ashman will be sorry to hear that she is ill in the Sherbrooke Hospital. Mrs. Ashman was hospitalized earlier this year but had sufficiently gained in strength and was at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Williams, in Coaticook, until she re-entered the hospital.

Mrs. Henry Clark, a former resident of this place, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Whipple, and Mr. Whipple, Kingscroft Road, and was a guest of her son, Mr. Percy Clark and family on March 25. While a guest at the Clark home, she was taken suddenly ill and was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharman Maloney and Mrs. P. M. Standish attended the funeral for Mr. Ola Davis in Christ Church, at Stanstead, and later called on Mr. Herbert Davis at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Davis.

Some of the bridges in this area have been undergoing repairs under Government supervision.

Mrs. W. Bolton, of East Hereford, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Nason, and also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. May, Libbytown.

Mrs. Alta Dustin, of Beebe, is spending an indefinite time with Mrs. W. N. Horn.

Mrs. S. H. Davis accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis of Coaticook to Sherbrooke to visit Mr. S. H. Davis, who underwent an appendectomy at the Sherbrooke Hospital.
