Notre Dame School Additions Will Provide 19 Classrooms

The work on the new additions to the Notre Dame School started last September is expected to be completed by July. This $200,000 construction by local contractor Earl Fournier is progressing quite nicely although the winter months delayed work to a certain extent.

The brickwork on the buildings has just been finished and the roofing is nearly competed. The terrazo contractor is expected to start work any day now. After this work is completed the plasterers, plumbers, carpenters and painters will take over. The neww additions will be ready to use for the school opening next September.

The contract is for additions and renovations. The nun's living quarters are being enlarged and a new chemistry classroom added. The former recreation hall of Notre Dame School has been divided into six classrooms.

When these renovations and additions are completed it will give Notre Dame School 19 classrooms. At the moment there are 509 pupils attending this school and it is expected the enrollment for 1957-58 will see another 90 to 100 new pupils.

A new gymnasium is being added to the school. This building measures 50 feet wide by 140 feet long and will be most modern. A cafeteria will be installed in the basement of the gymnasium to provide lunches for the children. Showers and lavatories will also be located in the basement. The present entrance to the school is also being renovated.

These additions will provide more room for the ever increasing number of students as well as better teaching and recreation facilities.

Chief Justice J. T. Brown Died in Regina On Monday

Chief Justice James Thomas Brown, Chief Justice of the Saskatchewan Court of Quee's Bench for 39 years, died suddenly in hospital in Regina, on Monday, April 29th. Judge Brown, as he was more familiarly known to the people of Huntingdon, Que., was born in Huntingdon on October 2nd, 1871, was thus his 86th year.

He was one of the worthy sons of Huntingdon, who has gone far afield and has done much for the good of law and order in Canada. He received his early education at the Huntingdon Academy and later attended McGill University from which he graduated in 1893 with a B.A. degree. He studied law in Winnipeg, Man., from 1893 to 1896 and was called to the Bar in Manitoba in 1896, and in the same year to the Bar of the North West Territories. He started practice in Moseomin, N.W.T., in December 1896. In 1907, came the honor of being made a King's Counsellor and in 1921 he was made an L.L.D. at McGill.

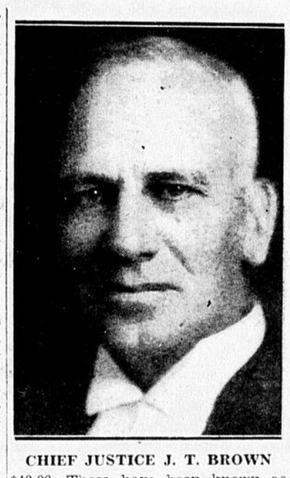

Chief Justice Brown was married in 1902 to Alice M. Lewis and four sons and one daughter were born. All the family received college educations and degrees as follows: Lloyd Brown, M.D., C.M., at McGill, is a child specialist; W. G. Brown, B.C.L. for Saskatchewan; A. L. Brown, C.A. for Ontario; L. R. Brown, B.A., S.C., Toronto University and Miss Winnifred Brown received her B.A. from Toronto University.

Chief Justice Brown was married a second time to Laura Ross, sister of Rev. Mr. Ross of Nova Scotia.

In politics James Brown was always a Liberal and was member of the first Saskatchewan Legislature from 1905 to 1908. He was appointed to Supreme Court of Saskatchewan in 1910 and first Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench in 1918, which position he still held at the time of his death. Being a man so well versed in law and being genuinely sincere and energetic, he was appointed to serve on many commissions, some of them being: Chairman of Wesley College Manitoba Commission. Chairman of Saskatchewan Legislature Commission re Bradshaw-Chicago. Chairman Dominion of Canada Customs Commission, 1926-27. Chairman Saskatchewan Grain Commission, 1928-29. Associate on Sir Josiah Stamp Commission on Grain Futurities, 1931. Chairman of Regina Riot Commission, 1935-36. Chairman Board of Review under Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act (Dominion), 1936. In 1931 was appointed Administrator of the Province of Saskatchewan during the vacancy of office of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Chief Justice Brown's home was in Regina, Saskatchewan, and he was a member of the Metropolitan United Church there. In sports, he was at one time one of Regina's most enthusiastic curlers and golfers. Tennis was also another of his greatest pastimes. He was awarded the senior golf championship for Saskatchewan in 1935.

For many years past, Chief Justice Brown has provided two scholarships for the Huntingdon Academy, one being for $60.00 and the other for $40.00. These have been known as the Judge Brown Scholarships.

CHIEF JUSTICE J. T. BROWN

Mrs. E. C. McCoy (Edna Brown) is sister of Chief Justice Brown and Mr. Frank Brown is his brother, who still live in Huntingdon and survive him. Also are his nephews James and David McCoy of McCoy Bros. Store in Huntingdon, and Dr. E. Clarence McCoy of Vancouver, B.C.

It is thus seen that this native of Huntingdon lived a busy and important life as a Canadian citizen and gave the majority of this life to the welfare of his country and fellow citizens. He may have passed on, but his name will be carried down in the annals for ever.

Hgts. Recreation Group Stage Excellent Play

The Production of the Drama Group for this year was quite an innovation, being a play staged in the Chinese fashion, followed by a dance. The comic-tragedy "The Romance of the Willow-Pattern" was presented in the Club on Friday, April 27th.

The Hall was very beautifully decorated with bamboo screens, and scroll paintings, and the lighting was subdued to give authentic atmosphere.

The story of the play concerns the love affair between the beautiful Koong-See (played by Margaret Pritchard), daughter of the evil and greedy Mandarin (Phyllis Leaby) and his secretary Chang (Madeleine Lepine). Koong-See, betrothed against her will to an elderly Mandarin, attempts to elope with her lover, but the two are overtaken and slain by Koong-See's Father. However, the depths of their devotion touches the High Gods and the lovers are changed into doves.

The play was produced entirely in the Chinese manner, with no scenery, with a property-man who is invisible, because he is dressed in black. His part was taken by Pamela Rayment, and that of the incense-bearer, who crosses the stage to denote the passage of time, was taken by Kay Percival. The Director was Gunther Nicholson. The play was produced by Margaret Pritchard.

The artistic arrangements were carried out by Mrs. D. Garstim, Bill Perry was in charge of music and the stage lighting which was unusual and exotic was contrived by Clarry Jobber and Bob Pritchard. Special music for Koon-See's Song from her prison was composed by Mrs. L. G. Smith. Refreshments were served by members of the group, who looked charming in Chinese costume.

Huntingdon County Hospital Has Splendid Annual Report Of Operations For 1956

Thanks, due to the fact The Huntingdon County Hospital has a commendable annual and life membership list and people who are generous when it comes to making cash contributions as well as of kind, the financial statement shows the Hospital operated with a surplus in 1956. True the actual operations of the Hospital show a deficit of $1,971.42 but with the revenues received as above stated, it means the surplus for 1956 was $851.01 plus the fact that $2,000 was transferred to the Life Membership Fund. The Life Membership Fund was used for capital expenditures when the Hospital was created and there is still a sizeable amount of money needed to fully restore this fund, but in due time such will undoubtedly be accomplished.

Hospital Governor Mr. H. A. D. Somerville, M.P.P., presented a cheque from the Quebec Province Department of Health as a special grant and was for the sum of $3,000. Mr. Somerville suggested that as the donations of 1956 amounted to a little over $3,000 it might be in order to consider the donations as rightly belonging to that Fund and that the special grant money be used for Hospital operation expenses. Thanks were accorded Mr. Somerville for the special grant received through him as from the Quebec Department of Health.

Governor J. A. Brown made reference to the excellent services being accorded in the Huntingdon County Hospital. He based his comments upon the personal experiences he had on two occasions when a patient in the Hospital for several weeks.

In the early days of our Hospital we found many people quite skeptical as to the necessity of the Hospital and some felt it would not serve its intended purpose. Fortunately such is far from the real state of affairs. The Hospital service accorded by the Matron, Mrs. Curran, and the entire hospital staff is excellent. Years ago it was a real chore for a doctor to make calls upon rural folks in the fall and spring months, for often the mud on the roads would be as deep as we see snow in the fields during the winter months. With today's facilities, winter roads maintained, warm automobiles to travel in, it means that within a space of twenty minutes a patient can be conveyed to the Hospital and properly cared for. In the horse and buggy days it meant a patient had to be conveyed to the railway under great difficulties and the patient placed in the express car and taken to Montreal. Many of the present rising generation accept the hospitalization services we have today as a matter of course, without thinking of the problems confronted in the past. The doctors we have are what we might classify as local boys and we are all quite prepared to consider Dr. Cameron as one of our own boys. The Doctors and Hospital staff are genuinely interested in the welfare of every patient.

Gilbert Macmillan, Chairman of the Board of Governors presented his report which reads as follows.

As Chairman of your Board of Governors for 1956, I am pleased to be able again to report a year of successful operation for the Huntingdon County Hospital.

While there is an occasional quiet period, during the greater part of the time the facilities of the entire Hospital are in use to it's full capacity. The Medical Superintendent's report will show in detail, the increase in patients cared for, and the various services rendered. It has been found necessary to make some increase in the room rates, and service charges. These increases have however been held down to the very minimum that will keep this institution operating on a sound financial basis.

That we have been able to hold them down to the present level is due to three factors: strict economy in operation, no overhead debt, and the fact that we have trained nursing personnel available that help out whenever called on. This allows us to operate with a smaller permanent staff than would otherwise have to be maintained.

These three factors together with the support of Annual Membership, donations from friends of the Hospital and the Provincial Government Grants continue to keep this institution operating on a reasonably sound basis.

There are however some additional facilities that could be added to this institution, if funds were available that would increase its efficiency.

It is too early to forecast to what extent the operation of the Hospital will be affected by the National Hospitalization plan that is now being formulated.

It is to be hoped however that the prospect of this plan coming into effect will not reduce the valuable voluntary aid which we have received in the past. It may be some time before the plan is in operation. As will be noted from the financial statement, a start has been made in setting up an endowment fund, which it is hoped will in time provide a substantial permanent source of revenue.

We would again appeal to the Municipal Councils in the region served by the Hospital to take a humanitarian view of cases where Quebec Public Charity cards are applied for. In many cases, where the applicants may not be actually indigent, they have no means of paying hospital charges, this only means a small charge to the municipality, whereas if no card is signed it generally means a complete loss to the Hospital.

The chief addition to the Hospital equipment in 1956 has been the installation of an entirely modern X-ray machine, which was financed by a Special Provincial Government Grant. This equipment has greatly improved and increased the diagnostic facilities of the Hospital.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Hospital, continues to render valuable aid in many different ways, for which we tender our sincere thanks. A full report of their operations will be presented to you, by one of their officers.

We have also during the year received money contributions from individuals and organizations, and to all of them on behalf of the Board of Governors I wish to tender a word of appreciation. This also applies to Mr. Somerville our Provincial Member, who has been most co-operative in all our relations with the Department of Health.

I also wish to extend to the Medical Board, the Matron, and the entire operation staff of the Hospital a very sincere thanks for making my duties as easy as possible. This also applies to our Board of Governors who have cheerfully carried out all the tasks assigned to them.

Hospital Governor F. E. Cleyn, treasurer, presented the Financial Statement. The statement was quite encouraging, but Mr. Cleyn felt it would be well to have a greater number of both annual and life memberships enrolled. With an enlarged membership it gives the Hospital a more secure position plus an enhanced financial standing.

Modern House Gutted; Basin Fire Brigade Answers Nine Fires in April

On Thursday, April 25th, at 2.10 p.m., a call was received at the Fire Brigade, that the home of Mr. Roger Benard, Jeanne d'Arc St., Chateauguay Basin, was on fire.

Eight firemen of the Volunteer Brigade were on the job, but it was an hour before the fire was brought under control. By that time the interior of the house was completely gutted, leaving but a shell.

Mr. and Mrs. Benard and their five children are staying with neighbours for the present.

The house was a modern building, built four years ago. Though Mr. Benard carried insurance, it will not be sufficient to offset the complete loss of the home and furniture.

The cause of the fire is thought to have been faulty electric wiring, though the loss is tragic, the results could have been far worse had the fire occured at night. The path taken by the flames was right through the bedrooms occupied by the Benard children. However, no one was in the house when the blaze started, and thus the fire had a good hold before the brigade arrived.

The Fire Brigade of Chateauguay Basin have had a busy time during April. They have been called to eight grass fires, one of which, in Chateauguay Heights, threatened to destroy property. By the time the fire was brought under control, the flames were within a few feet of Mr. Reg. Holmes' house on Birch Avenue. To fight this fire, the firemen used the 400 gallon tanker truck, which has proved its worth many times.

Henrysburg

Hewson Cockerline, Miss Louise Cockerline, Mrs. Laura Barbe and Mrs. Hazel True attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Lachlan Van Vliet of Lacolle on Tuesday. Sincere sympathy is extended to the Van Vliet family in their recent loss.

Miss Dorothy Akester of Hemmingford, Mr. Alfred Cookman, Miss Shirley Cookman, Ronald and Robert Brownlee left on Friday to take the Brownlee Boys to Port Eric Ont., to see their father. Mr. Elliot Brownlee during the Easter week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fraser, Barry, Jessie, David and Janice of Dundee were recent guests of the Cockerline family. Jessie remained to spent her Easter holidays at her grand'parents.

A very serious fire began on Friday when someone started a grass fire to clean up their lawn just north of the Henrysburg United Church next to the highway. The fire was believed to have been all put out when it was noticed to be burning in the cedar bush. It covered a large area in a very short time before the fire engine from Lacolle arrived. They succeeded in putting out the fire before it got near enough the church to destroy the property and the cedar trees near the cemetery. Two other farm homes were in the path of the fire but were saved. Thanks to the efforts of the men with the fire engine.

Miss Louise Cockerline and Mrs. Laura Barbe motored to Brosseau Station on Saturday and called on Mr. and Mrs. Gunther Quade and family and Mrs. Joseph Zauppon and Anna Marie.

What You Should Know About Cataracts

A cataract is a condition in which the lens of the eye is opaque or partially opaque. When the lens is opaque, the cataract is called mature and when it is only partially opaque, it is called immature, writes Dr. R. G. C. Kelly, in the current issue of "Health" Magazine, official organ of the Health League of Canada.

The lens of the eye is situated inside the eye behind the pupil. Its purpose is to focus the light which enters the eye, just as the lenses do in other pieces of optical equipment (cameras, microscopes, etc...) Without the lenses, there would be no focus and therefore no clear image.

For some reason or other, which is not well understood, the lens start to get cloudy and this is the start of a cataract forming. The majority of cataracts appear with advancing years although they may appear in the 40's or 50's. These are called the senile type and nearly always appear on both eyes. One eye may precede the other. Less common is the congenital type in which a child is born with lens opacities in both eyes. A third type is called traumatic cataract, which means a cataract developing after the lens of the eye has been injured. A fourth type is called a complicated cataract. This type develops after certain damaging inflammations of the eyeball.

Once a cataract starts in an older person, it gets slowly but progressively worse. Some very slow types never reach the stage when it is necessary to do anything about them.

Many people are greatly upset when they realise they have cataracts and their eyesight is progressively deteriorating, but they should not be. The sooner they get worse, the sooner they can be fixed. There are many worse things to get than cataracts, for which not so much can be done.

There is only one effective treatment for cataract and that is an operation and the operation is the removal of the opaque lens, because it has ceased to be of use and it is in the way, stated Dr. Kelly. In the old days people had to wait until the cataract got ripe or mature. This condemned people to wait possibly for years and they often had to give up their work and just sit around. This was very hard on the patient and his family. With modern methods of cataract extraction this trying and tiresome period is greatly shortened but the operation should not be done until it is necessary.

In the case of senile cataract, if it has started on one eye first, it is not necessary to touch it until the second eye is well on the way. If the cataract starts on both eyes at the same time, one should wait until the patient is having difficulty getting about or doing his usual tasks, which of course will be earlier if the patient is working than if he is already retired.

The reason for making people wait is because they are better able to wear the necessary glasses. When the lens is removed from the eye, which is what is done in a cataract operation, you have to depend on special lenses in a pair of glasses to do the focussing. Whereas these lenses bring things into focus very well, they are not the same as your own "living" lenses. Therefore, one should use his own lenses as long as possible.

Some congenital cataracts should be operated and some not. If they are very opaque, they should be operated on at a very early age, possibly before they are a year old.

Traumatic cataracts are unusually in one eye and there is no rush about operating on them. Very often they are on young people and they are eventually operated on for appearance reasons.

Complicated cataracts are, as the name implies, very complicated cases and have to be dealt with on their individual merits.

Many people dread cataract operations because they feel they are going to have to lie very quietly in bed for several days but modern methods in which stitches are used to close the incision obviate much of this and enable the patient to get out of bed sooner.

So, it is not such an ordeal to be told that you have cataracts. Most operations are successful and after all there is nothing else that will restore useful vision in these cases.

Editorial Notes...

Is It Nothing to You?

DR. John E. White, a well and favourably known surgeon of Malone, has on several occasions made addresses in Montreal and before large audiences in the United States. His addresses have on occasions revealed what one might term as startling information.

In the current issue of the Rotarian Magazine, a publication that circulates to well over a half million men about the world, he has written a guest editorial that can be truthfully applied to people far removed from being identified with any service club. It can rightfully be of marked interest to people of all religious denominations, people interested in sports, boards of trade, chambers of commerce, church organizations and amongst any group of people who have become affiliated with a cause where unity is strength.

Dr. White's editorial is headed: "Is It Nothing To You?". It is a gentle jeremiad on the apathy which sometimes overtakes men and women and makes a mockery of their intent to serve.

"Is It Nothing to You?"

Jeremiah stood on a hill overlooking his beloved city and his anguished heart cried out, "Is it nothing to you?" He was the last pre-exile prophet and repeatedly he had told the inhabitants of Jerusalem what the future held if they did not mend their ways; that Jehovah had said: "Return, oh faithless sons, I will heal your faithlessness." But they had refused to change. After all, Jerusalem had existed for 33 centuries, had suffered at the hand of man and Nature, and had gone through 20 sieges and blockades; it had had 18 periods of reconstruction and two eras of desolation. Six times its religion had changed and its people had been slain or exiled. Jerusalem had always staged a comeback. Why listen to this crackpot Jeremiah and his cry, "Is it nothing to you, all who pass by?"

And Jeremiah's warnings went unheeded. Jerusalem was sitting pretty. There was plenty of money. Commerce and trade were good. This was still the meeting place of East and West — and large and many were the caravans which came and went. Why worry? And why work? Let the simple ones toil — you cash in on their efforts. Jerusalem is eternal; it will survive.

Rotary celebrated its Golden Anniversary not so long ago. Like Jerusalem it has suffered from wars and dictators, and economic disturbances. Its head has not been bowed down; like Jerusalem it has recovered, has grown in stature, and its spirit seems eternal. My own Club has had its charter more than 30 years; we, too, have had our ups and downs, but always we have survived.

As a charter member, I'm disturbed just now as I look around at home and in other places. I'm wondering if a good many of us aren't lapsing into apathy and indifference. Perhaps we need a Jeremiah. Please don't misunderstand me. I myself am a mine-run Rotarian and I'm certainly not a prophet, but I'd like to ask a few questions, nevertheless.

Is it nothing to you that your Club is run by a clique? Well, it is. And who are the members of that clique? They are the men who really have Rotary in their hearts, the foolish ones who always volunteer to do a job, serve on Committees, and keep their attendance up. Men who get a lot from Rotary because they give a lot.

Is it nothing to you that when a Club Assembly is called you don't go? Do you say to yourself, "Oh, my Committee isn't too important — and anyway there's a good fight on TV tonight"? Or, "Let the others set the policy of the Club — I'll go along with it."

Is it nothing to you that you don't get to know the new members? That you don't bother to sit next to them at lunch? Is it to be wondered at if they feel unwanted and soon give up their membership?

Is it nothing to you that we don't have good speakers at every meeting? Did YOU ever speak? Most of us have a good talk within ourselves; most of us have business and professional contacts which could bring us excellent speakers. Did you ever volunteer to fill a program?

Is it nothing to you that every time you miss a meeting you knock the Club percentage down a little? That's what you do to your Club, but do you realize what you do to yourself? You miss the hour of fellowship; you miss the chance of hearing a speaker from whom you MIGHT derive something worth while. We miss YOU.

Is it nothing to you that you don't visit neighboring Clubs? Their members are regular fellows, too — men who are worth knowing, men in your own classification. Maybe their programs will be better and more to your liking than those of your home Club. Maybe you'll learn something.

Is it nothing to you that when you do agree to attend an international, District, or intercity meeting you don't show up, you disrupt everyone's plans? Is it nothing to you that some Clubs say, "You can't count on Blanktown"?

Is it nothing to you that when you are appointed to a Committee, don't even attend a meeting, do absolutely nothing on it, you are forcing some other Rotarian to do your work?

Throughout the past 52 years thousands of gifted, generous men have given of their time, their money, and their talents to Clubs just like yours and mine. They know that Rotary is worth while, that for every effort they have given they have been repaid a thousandfold in the personal satisfaction of seeing their friendships expand, their trades and professions improve, their communities brighten, and nations grow better and better acquainted and more and more determined to try to understand each other.

"Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by?"

Still Need Friendly Hand

MORE than 10,000 Hungarian refugees now are in Canada, and another 18,000 or so are scheduled to arrive in the next few months.

Like the thousands of other immigrants who have come to this country, they eventually will become integrated into the Canadian way of life.

The process of becoming a Canadian is a challenge to any immgirant. But the task is even more difficult for the immigrant who is a refugee.

The average immigrant decides to come to Canada voluntarily and after careful planning. He experiences difficulties in adjusting himself but they are not nearly so great as those faced by the refugee.

In the case of the Hungarians they fled from their native land to escape communist oppression. They had to leave their homes and possessions and many suffered the shock of losing next-of-kin. Others are worried about the fate of relatives and friends still in Hungary.

These circumstances will result in most Hungarians experiencing a difficult period of adjustment before they will feel at home in this country.

But the Hungarians can be helped if Canadians meet them with tolerance and understanding.

Most Hungarians will go through an initial period of adjustment lasting about two months. During this time the refugees will experience a feeling of exaltation at being in a new and free land.

But after this period the refugee begins to appreciate language difficulties, differences in customs and values and problems to be faced in the future. He begins to experience worry and strain, sometimes accompanied by depression and nostalgia caused by a desire to return to familiar surroundings.

This feeling of frustration and helplessness can be reduced if the refugee knows he is wanted. In a practical way it can be reduced by the refugee quickly acquiring a knowledge of English or French.

A knowledge of either of the two languages will help him in getting a job. It is essential for communication with Canadians and for an understanding of the Canadian scene.

Canadians can help Hungarians become happily adjusted by trying to understand their problems and by helping interpret Canadian ways to them in a spirit of friendliness.

Fishing at Night

SINCE the beginning of the fishing season, it has been noticed that many people prefer to fish at night. To keep warm, they build large bonfires which also help to attract the fish to the lines in the water. It might be a good way to fish, or as some would say, it is not too sportsman like. However, we are not going to discuss the pros and cons of night fishing, but rather the danger of the bonfires.

We have had a relatively mild winter with not too much snow and certainly, there has been very little rain this spring. The result is that the ground on the whole is very dry and many grass fires have been reported. It has been noticed that for some reason or other, people prefer to build fires near trees, and especially pine trees. Pine trees are very easily ignited and throw sparks for quite a distance if not held in check, and could start other fires, especially if the trees are near or adjacent to buildings.

With the dryness of the countryside, we would strongly recommend that fishermen should not fish at night for the time being. Fire is a terrible competitor to win against at any time, and it is the hardest thing to fight against at night, when there is less likelihood of one being noticed. Let's likelihood of them being noticed. Let's prevent those terrible fires by eliminating the hazard of bonfires at night.

Looking Back Along the Trail

No greater boon was bestowed upon the settlers of Trout River and the adjacent country than the building of a grist-mill in their midst in 1828. Before that, they had to go to Cockburn's old mill in Constable, or Buchanan's at Fort Covington, or Bowron's at this village. In any case the journey was a difficult one, and, except when there was sleighing, had to be made on foot, with the bag on shoulder, when the settler was too poor to own or hire a horse to carry the bag on its back. The mill was built by Archibald Henderson and Andrew Anderson, and was a primitive affair, having 3 run of stones, driven by a board wheel, so high that the machinery had to be placed on the second story, necessitating a great deal of carrying. The bolts were on the story above, and elevators being then unknown the farmer had to carry the ground stuff up to them. Situated on the south bank of the river, a bridge had to be built, so that the farmers on the Elgin side gained in both ways—they got a mill at their doors and a sure mode of communication with Godmanchester. The great freshet of 1831 carried away one end of the dam, when Messrs Henderson & Anderson bought 5 acres opposite their mill, and, in rebuilding the dam, adapted it for driving a saw-mill, which was built that winter. Neither mill paid, the grist from there then being too little land cleared to give it a sufficient quantity of grain to keep it running, and the saw-mill from a great decline in the price of lumber. In 1835 an arrangement was made with the creditors, when Anderson withdrew to a farm on the Ridge, and Mr. Henderson assumed the sole control of the property, which, by his keen management, became, in course of time, very profitable. In want of a miller, he arranged with Robert Clark to run the grist-mill on shares, and thus came to the county a man who became known far-and-wide and respected wherever known. He was a native of Edinburgh and emigrated to Canada in 1831, and came to Trout River from the La Tortue mill. The year he came was an unfortunate one for his business. On the nights of the 18th, 19th and 20th August there was frost, severe enough to destroy all the grain except what little was ripe. The blow fell heavily on the settlers, who, under the most favorable circumstances, had then enough to do to make a living. Mostly Scotch, they made a shift with barley and peasemeal, and, by making potash, earning enough to occasionally buy flour, with rose to $5 and $6 the quintal, and was difficult to get even at that, for about the only flour made by Mr. Clark that year was from wheat hauled from the Basin, where the frost had done no damage. The scarcity rose to its height the following summer, when Mr. Clark told of a farmer begging him to be allowed to take the bran and shorts below the bolt, which, he confessed, he wanted to mix with the berries on which he and his family were subsisting. That was the only season of scarcity ever known in the western end of Huntingdon, and it was relieved by the harvest of 1837, which was a bountiful one. Mr. Clark, who was an excellent miller, obtained a high reputation for the Trout River mill, so much so that grist came in from all quarters, even from Ormstown and Jamestown, and so he did well both for himself and Mr. Henderson. The habitants of St. Anicet contracted a great respect for him, and so long as he kept the mill, they went nowhere else. His character was one that invited confidence, for to perfect honesty he united a kindly disposition and a shrewdness and clearness of intellect that made his advice valuable. Coming at a time when the country was little removed above a state of nature, with no roads to speak of, no vehicles, and the current and only coin ashes, he had opportunities of being helpful and useful, which he did not miss. In 1851 the old mill was replaced by one more suitable to the times, and Mr. Clark continued in charge until 1869, when he retired from a position in which his name had become a household word, and in which he had earned a modest competence, and devoted himself to his farm, about 5 miles from Huntingdon. The same close application to his duties and good management that had characterized him as a miller, did so as a farmer, and, indeed, his anxiety to superintend everything was the cause of his death. During the late severe spell he went to the bush to direct the taking out of logs, and caught a cold, which ended in an acute attack of bronchitis, from which, by a singular coincidence, he died on his seventy-third birthday. He was an elder of the Elgin church, and in its graveyard, where lie so many of his old companions—the men and women who laid the foundations of one of the finest sections of the Dominion—he rests.

Enemy Within the Gates

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Great nations have seldom fallen to a foreign foe, but many have been weakened and brought to their downfall by enemies from within. For five years Britain fought and drove off a foreign enemy in the form of a mightily militarized National Socialism under Hitler. But no sooner was that outside enemy defeated than another of the same type, under the guise of a wartime ally invaded Britain by the siniste propaganda of Soviet Socialism. When the Labor Government came to power with an overwhelming majority under the banner of Socialism, the enemy was within the gate in full political possession. The labor unions regarded it as a Marxian victory for the proletariat — themselves.

During its period of office the Labor Government nationalized big industries and services and did everything within its power to transform Britain into a Socialist State. Economic and social planning were to take the place of private enterprise and individual thrift and endeavor. With the consequent rise in the cost of government, taxes had to be increased accordingly. Foreign trade and credit ebbed away and Britain was reduced to the condition of an animal devouring its own vitals.

Fortunately the creeping paralysis of Socialism was arrested with the defeat of the Labor Government; but the disease has not been eradicated. The so-called "Welfare State" has enervated the working people and sapped the energies and resources of industrial enterprise by excessive taxation. Labor unions are as blind as never to their own or their members' interests. They complain of the high cost of living, and by their perpetual demands and crippling strikes are increasing living costs and pricing their products out of the foreign markets upon which their welfare depends.

The recent abortive strike of nearly two million shipyard and factory workers, which held up shipping and entailed the loss of millions of pounds in trade and wages, can only be described as an act of sabotage. Here are the facts as contained in a Reuter's dispatch from London on April 1 last:

"A total of 1,700,000 British shipyard workers stayed home today, a day marked by isolated picket-line violence in some parts of outer London. Strike leaders have threatened to call a total of 3,000,000 men off their jobs by Saturday if their demand for a 10 per cent wage increase is not met. Employers' offers of a 4 to 5 per cent increase have been rejected. The 81,000 ton Queen Mary was blacklisted by Southampton dockers when she sailed for New York 12 days ago aided by Cunard officials and the Royal Navy tugs. The 1,150 passengers remained on board before transferring to the Ivernia for the trip to Plymouth. A tanker loaded with 1,000 tons of fuel oil is expected in Cherbourg tomorrow morning for the Queen Mary's return journey to New York. Southampton strikers replied to Cunard moves by demanding that union members in all British ports have 'nothing to do with the Queen Mary'. At Weybridge, in Surrey, pickets lifted cars off the ground and swung them in the opposite direction as they tried to enter the Vickers-Armstrong factory. Scuffles occurred between pickets and non-strikers near London as union leaders claimed that well over 500,000 workers in engineering and allied industries were idle in the London area."

While all that riotous disruption was going on at home, Prime Minister Macmillan was in Bermuda conferring with President Eisenhower, not only on the critical Suez crisis, but also on trade and financial relations, which were of vital importance to the livelihood of those strikers and the welfare of the British people as a whole. What sort of men are those labor leaders who could deliberately hold up great shipping services, close down factories and put millions of workers out of employment, and all over the difference of a few cents in wage rates? On his return from Bermuda, the Prime Minister must have felt like the man in the parable who found his field sown with tares and exclaimed, "An enemy hath done this!" The enemy within the gates.

The Week at Ottawa....

OTTAWA (CP) — The addition of two new members to the cabinet and the filling of one of the 17 vacancies in the Senate, were announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent following a cabinet meeting held here, four days before he was scheduled to open his election campaign at Winnipeg. The prime minister also told a press conference that the government's hospital insurance would be proclaimed on May 1.

The new cabinet ministers are Hon. Lionel Chevrier, 54, who quit his job as president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority to become president of the council, a rather minor cabinet post previously incorporated as part of Mr. St. Laurent's duties, and Paul Hellyer, 33-year-old Commons member for Toronto Davenport in the last Parliament, who becomes Associate Defence Minister.

J. Eugene Lefrancois, 60-year-old Liberal member for Montreal Laurier in the last Parliament, was named to the Senate, thus leaving the riding free for Mr. Chevrier to contest. Mr. St. Laurent said he was sure Mr. Chevrier would be nominated.

Seen Stepping-Stone

As president of the council, Mr. Chevrier will be responsible to the cabinet for the St. Lawrence Seaway. But Mr. St. Laurent made it clear that the former transport minister is due for a more important office after June 10 if the Liberals win the election. He said there would then be a cabinet "rearrangement".

His move to a Quebec constituency lent some weight to past speculation that Mr. Chevrier is being groomed as a potential French-Canadian "strong man" for the Liberals. In his 11 years in the Commons, he previously sat for the Ontario riding of Stormont.

Mr. St. Laurent announced no immediate replacement for Mr. Chevrier as Seaway chief. Speculation had Charles Gavsie, 51-year-old vice-chairman, in line for the job. Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Gavsie would take charge until an appointment was announced.

Mr. Hellyer is to concentrate mainly on defence administration, leaving greater concentration on policy Mr. Hellyer becomes the youngest cabinet minister the first from the Toronto area in 12 years.

Hospital Insurance

Mr. St. Laurent made it clear that proclamation of the federal hospital insurance legislation as of May 1, while it enables the government to enter into formal agreements with each of the six provinces that have indicated willingness to join the scheme, does not by itself bring the entire scheme into operation.

This would come about when each of the provinces—Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland —formally signs agreements with the central government and brings its own scheme into force.

The prime minister said he did not want to be too specific as to when the scheme might actually start operating. Much would depend on provincial timing. He assumed the provinces would proceed expeditiously with agreements.

Fowl Price Support

The government made a move which farm groups have been urging for years, when it announced a price support program for fowl.

The agricultural prices support board said the floor price will be the equivalent of 23 cents a point liveweight at Toronto for top grade fowl five pounds and over. The floor prices is to be in effect at all principal Canadian markets and to operate in the August-November period, usually the peak marketing time.

Under the program, the government would buy up all surplus fowl if market prices fall below the 23-cent floor. Current prices have been ranging at 20 and 21 cents. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said the Federation had asked for the move for three or four years.

The government now has support programs for butter, eggs, hogs, fowl and skimmed milk.

Unclaimed Credits

About 132,000 veterans of the Second World War still have not picked up re-establishment credits totalling $22,000,000—an average of $167 a veteran.

Veterans Affairs officials said last week that the department paid out about $303,000,000 in credits since he Veterans Charter came into force Jan. 1, 1945. This included about $3,-000,000 paid to the veterans of the Korean fighting.

The credits—alternatives to benefits under sections of the Veterans Land Act and to rehabilitation training—are available until Jan. 1, 1960, or 15 years after discharge, whichever is the later date.

But nearly $22,000,000 is still unclaimed apparently because many separate amounts are small, some veterans have died and some forgot about what was coming to them. Another reason officials put forward is that some veterans just can't be bothered.

Nearly 60 per cent of the credits that were collected went for the purchase of furniture. Other purposes for which they were authorized—and used—were acquisition and repair of a home; reduction of indebtedness on a home; purchase of a business or of equipment for a business or profession; payment of premiums under any Canadian government insurance scheme.

Subs Pose Threat

Defence officials said last week that big inland cities such as Montreal, Toronto and Windsor, Ont., are within missile range of Russian submarines.

They were commenting on reaction to warnings in a government report, tabled last month in the Commons, of the dangers posed by the missile-launching vessels. Officials said it appeared the Canadian public assumed the warnings to have been aimed at the coastal cities.

The report estimated the Russian submarine fleet as seven times bigger than Hitler's in 1939. Hitler had about 60 U-boats at the start of the Second World War.

The officials emphasized that most of the heavily populated centres of Canada are already within missile range of Russian submarines. For that reason, heavy emphasis is being placed on means to locate and destroy hostile submarines well away from North American shores.

Labor Troubles Feature This Week's News in Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Long-smouldering labor troubles erupted in the Gaspe Peninsula this week and a spokesman for the striking United Steelworkers of America (CLC) said a "showdown" is imminent.

More than 100 Provincial Police and men hired by the Gaspe Copper Mines Limited patrolled the streets of Murdochville, Que., where USWA men struck last March 11. The town is 60 miles west of Gaspe.

A 60-man squad arrived Thursday and stopped all picketing in the town. More officers were brought in after an explosion Friday blew a hole in a Gaspe Copper Oil storage tank at Mont-Louis, the company port on the St. Lawrence river 35 miles north of Murdochville. Police said dynamite was used to rip open the tank which spilled out about 1,000,000 gallons of fuel. It did not catch fire and no injuries occurred.

Monday, about 500 strikers were expected to come to Murdochville from their homes in the surrounding district. There are about 300 workers living in the town itself. Some of the 1,000 employees at the mine left the area after the strike started.

In an appeal broadcast over radio stations Sunday, the company asked the workers to return to the mine which would re-open Monday. Union spokesman Roger Bedard said the men should report to Union headquarters for strike pay the same day.

"I don't believe they will go back to work... the strikers are more convinced than ever of the need for a collective bargaining contract", Bedard said. "Apparently things are headed for a showdown".

Police mounted a tight check on the two roads leading to Murdochville and Bedard said he believed they would search all workers who came to town and make them identify themselves. Strikers have been asked to remain calm and he believed there would be no incident.

The company appeal said all workers employed before the strike would be rehired but any person arrested by police and charged with a criminal offence would be suspended. Conviction of such a crime would mean dismissal, the statement added.

It also said no enmity toward those employees who stayed on during the strike would be tolerated.

Murdochville's streets have been almost desered since the arrival of police. Street gatherings have been banned and strikers reported all persons who went outside their homes were questionned by police.

One young mine worker, Yvon Poirier, said he was ordered off the streets by an officer holding a revolver. No incidents have been reported.

The dispute between the company, a subsidiary of Noranda Mines, and the USWA dates back to last June. The union claimed it had sufficient membership to represent workers at the mine and sought certification by the Quebec Labor relations board. The company obtained an injunction against the demand and the case is still before the courts.

The March strike was set off by the firing of the local union president.

The Canadian Highway safety conference two-day meeting in Québec ended on notes of need and encouragement. The 250 delegates from every province met in five committees — engineering, education, law and enforcement, vehicle administration and public action.

The conference urged uniform motor vehicle legislation, a standard test for driving permits, increased safety education, adoption of a uniform traffic ticket and establishment of traffic court clinics.

A labor arbitration board this week recommended wage increases and a 40-hour week for the workers of the Aluminum Company of Canada plant at Arvida, Que.

The board urged a three-year collective contract be signed between Alcan and the National Syndicate of Aluminum workers of Arvida (CCCL). The union wanted the contract held to a two-year period. The last agreement expired Nov. 13.

The contract would cut two hours from the present work week and raise wages a total of 47 cents an hour over the three-year period of the agreement.

MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

During the year 1956 there were 833 patients cared for in the Hospital — an increase of 33 over 1955. There were 183 births — an increase of 3 over 1955. There were 21 deaths of which 4 were new-born. The new-born deaths were 3 less than in 1955. There was 1 still birth — a decrease from 8 in 1955. Of the 14 deaths among those other than new-born, thirteen were old or chronically ill patients and one was a young boy who died a few minutes after being admitted following being struck by a car.

Hospital Operating Revenue for the year was $49,845.65. Operating Expense was $54,097.24. The Operating Revenue increase over 1955 was $8,494.49. The Expenditure Increase over 1955 was $5,776.65. The increase of Operating Revenue was due largely to the increased work done by the Hospital. There were 6,576 patient days against 5,500 in 1955 — an increase of almost 20% and, during the last four months of the year, there was almost full occupancy of the private rooms.

That the expenditure increased by only 68% of the increased revenue is a tribute to efficient management.

During the year more needed Medical and Surgical Equipment was obtained. Through the kindness of Mr. Somerville the Provincial Government made a Special Grant of $25,000. to the Hospital for the purchase of Surgical and Radiological equipment. An Imperial Model General Electric X-ray apparatus and accessories was obtained at a cost of roughly $23,000. This machine is suitable for any type of diagnostic radiology and it has very considerably enlarged the scope of our X-ray work. Since its installation, X-ray examinations of stomach and bowel can be done here. One of the staff Radiologists of The Montreal General Hospital, Dr. Marvin Lougheed, comes up every two or three weeks and radiologically examines our cases with stomach or bowel complaints as easily and efficiently as he could do it in Montreal. This has contributed to the expansion in services offered by the Hospital.

During the year further purchases of Medical and Surgical Equipment were made from the $2,000. so kindly donated for this purpose by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Hospital. — notably a Dictaphone for quick transcribing of records and a Hawley Table apparatus for treatment of certain fractures. This latter —a rather complicated piece of apparatus, was most efficiently made by our own local expert Mr. Marshall Hooker. Our total purchases to date from the Ladies Auxiliary donation are $1,879.91.

We are still in need of further equipment. At present we are negotiating for a new obstetrical table and air conditioners for use in the Summer months in the Operating and Case rooms. Enquiries are also being made concerning emergency lighting equipment for at least the essential services of the Hospital in case of power failure. A High Pressure Autoclave and miscellaneous instruments are also needed. The needed items that can be considered surgical equipment can be taken care of to some extent by the grant received from the Provincial Government for surgical equipment along with the grant for the X-ray.

We have again been fortunate during the year in having an excellent Nursing Staff under the able supervision of Mrs. Madeline Curran. Though the regular staff was small, it was augmented as the work load required, by married nurses living in the Community — Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Rottensten and Mrs. Dumouchel — who came in when required.

Our relations with the Nursing Staff have been of the best, there being a wonderful spirit of co-operation existing among the nurses who are always ready to work beyond the call of duty and rise to an emergency when necessary.

Special credit for the smooth operation of the Hospital is due to our efficient and amiable Matron, Mrs. Curran, who by personal example and pleasing personality helps maintain an esprit de corps among the staff and her efficient management of Hospital affairs in general is reflected in the good financial report.

On behalf of the Medical Staff I would like again to thank the Ladies Auxiliary for their excellent aid to the Hospital in money and time during the year.

I would like also to thank all those other individuals and organizations who have so generously donated funds, equipment and time to the Hospital.

We wish to thank Mr. Alister Somerville, M.P.P. most sincerely for his good offices in securing the Government Grant for the new X-ray and Surgical Equipment. This has really elevated our Hospital to a higher category so far as ability to give service is concerned.

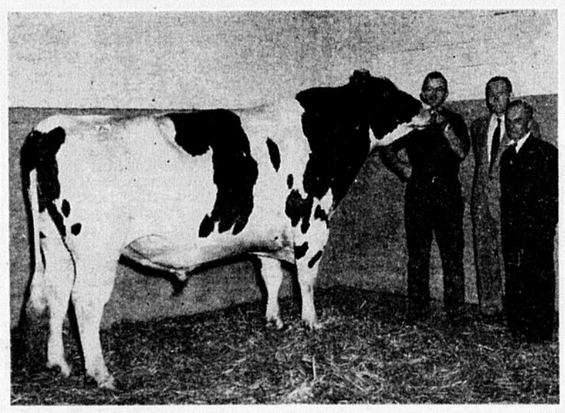

We wish to thank our efficient

QUEBEC BREEDERS BUY TOP HOLSTEIN SIRE

Two Quebec breeders bought this six-year-old Holstein herd sire CFRA Posch Pabst Bob for $735.00 at the dispersal sale of the Kilreen herd of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, Ottawa. They were Armand Pinsonneault and James Winter, of Ormstown, Que. Bob was Grand Champion at Ottawa Winter Fair in 1954 and received Honourable Mention for All-Canadian Aged Bull in 1955. — The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, Brantford, Ont.

C.F.R.A. "Bob"

As briefly reported in last week's Gleaner, and as indicated above, the well-known C.F.R.A. Posch Pabst Bob was purchased in the C.F.R.A. dispersion sale, April 22, by James Winter and Armand Pinsonneault, both of Ormstown, Que.

"Bob" has just turned 7 years of age, and has established an outstanding reputation as a sire and prize winner. He received an Honorable Mention in the 1955 All-Canadian Aged Bull class and was grand champion at both the 1955 and the 1956 Carleton-Russell Black and White Shows. He has also sired a considerable number of prize winners, while his 16 tested daughters average 102-109% B.C.A.

He was sired by Montvic Abbekerk Posch Pabst, that "Very Good-Extra" son of the famous Montvic Pathfinder and Lady Meg Posch.

His dam is Norda Sylvia Pabst, "Very Good", one of the foundation cows in the C.F.R.A. herd. Now 11 years of age, she is very close to the Hundred Thousand Pound milk class.

C.N.L.S.R.

The annual meeting of Canadian National Live Stock Records was held in Toronto recently. As most everyone is aware that organization is the Central Registration Office for all breeds of livestock except the Holstein-Friesian, which latter processes its own registrations.

It was reported that the 1956 registration and transfer totals suffered by comparison with the record totals of 1955 and the near-record totals of 1954. However, they showed an increase of some 5,000 registrations over the years 1952 and 1953, and an increase in transfers of 14,700 over 1952 and 10,000 over the year 1953.

It was further reported, however, that there was an increase in the receipts for the first quarter of the current year (1957). An increase of $14,900, over the similar period of 1956. Registrations for the first quarter totalled 41,541, an increase of 2,154 over the same period in 1956. Transfers for the first quarter of 1957 totalled 26,341, an increase of 3,700 over the same period of 1956.

Record Committee

The following were elected to constitute the Record Committee of Canadian National Live Stock Records for the ensuing year:

A double ring, candlelight ceremony was solemnized on April 26th, at 7 p.m., in St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, Man., when Delores Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Gerus, was given in marriage by her father, to Laurence Howard Sidney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith, of Huntingdon, Quebec. The Very Rev. J. Burton Thomas officiated. Mr. D. Hadfield presided at the organ and the soloist was Mr. Roy Firth.

The bride, carrying a cascade of stephanotis, chose a Juliet style gown of ice blue faille with lilypoint sleeves. The floor-length skirt was bouffant ending in a chapel train. The headdress, a coronet of the same material lined with seed pearls, held her ice blue nylon net, finger-tip veil. Miss Helen Rischinsky was maid of honour and Miss Darline Zoles was bridesmaid. The bridesmaids wore smoked rose delustered satin cocktail gowns with white accessories and carried cascades of deep blue iris. Miss Barbara Smith, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was dressed in a short and full skirted nylon dress of white, with tiny pink roses on it. She wore white accessories and carried a small bouquet of pink carnations. The bride's mother wore a navy peau de soi dress in the Empire style with sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and full bustle back. Her accessories were pink and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a chocolate and white print sheath dress with cap sleeves. Her chocolate duster coat was of linen and was lined with the same print as the dress. She wore brown and white accessories and her corsage was of yellow roses.

The best man was Bruce Smith, rother of the bridegroom, and David Gerus, brother of the bride, and Murray Krovats, ushered the guests.

The groom was attired in the dress uniform of the R.C.A.F. and the best man and ushers wore blue blazers and grey flannels.

A rehearsal was held on April 25th, after which a small party was held at the home of the bride's parents. During this time the wedding gifts, the trousseau and bridal party gifts were shown. Evening Auxiliary

St. Andrew's Evening Auxiliary held an Easter Thankoffering meeting on Tuesday evening, April 23 in the church annex. Members of the district auxiliaries and the local W.M.S. were well represented at this special meeting. Mrs. J. M. Grant introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Neil Ramsroop of British Guiana, who is at present in Montreal taking a post graduate course. Rev. Ramsroop gave a most interesting address and synopsis of the growth of Christianity in British Guiana, the Presbyterian missions dating back to 1895 with a decided uptrend during the period from 1940 to the present time. Rev. Ramsroop pointed out though that there was still a great need for teachers and people who were really interested in teaching to go to British Guiana. Following the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

COUGHS AND COLDS

More time is lost from work because of "common cold" than for any other reason. That means more physical discomfort is caused by colds than any other illness. Doctors today list colds as one of our greatest enemies.

Although there are no "cures" for the common cold — there are good medically proven preparations which will do much to relieve the discomfort of colds and such side effects as coughs and muscular aches. Many people tend to rely on home-remedies passed down from generation to generation. However, medical research teaches us that colds should be treated with modern, up-to-date preparations, not by hearsay medication.

Your pharmacist is ready and able to help you select preparations which he knows are properly compounded. These will aid in positive relief of cold symptoms and discomforts. At the first sign of a cough or cold ask your pharmacist for one of the many helpful preparations on his shelf.

Bruce Campbell Thrills Men With Hair Rising War Experiences

The Men's Group of St. Andrew's United Church, Chateauguay, held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, April 25.

The President's rose, a monthly token award for service to the Community, was presented to Mr. S. Modeland, for his work in connection with the Commanter Services Committee, by the President, Gordon Conquergood.

The guest speaker was Mr. Bruce Campbell, of Pointe Claire, who spoke on his experiences as a prisoner of war from 1941-1945.

Mr. Campbell spent the years 1934-39 in the Eastern Arctic, and is the author of a book "Where High Winds Blow" which is a standard reference in Canadian schools.

In 1940 he joined the R.A.F., and was shot down by a night fighter over Holland. He told his audience how he was at liberty in Holland for five days, and then was picked up by the Dutch police. He was informed by them that the man who had won his confidence by posing as a member of the Dutch Underground movement, was in reality a German counter-intelligence agent. This Agent had been hoping to use Mr. Campbell to discover details of the Underground's methods of operating.

After his capture, Mr. Campbell was kept in solitary confinement on bread and water for three days following this confinement, a bogus Red Cross Official tried to trick him into giving more information than that required of prisoners by the Geneva Convention. He mentioned how difficult it was not to give out the information required, after his three days' confinement and the fact that the interrogator spoke his own language. After this, he was sent o a camp near Lubeck, where the food was terribly poor, both in quantity and quality. Although the rations required as a minimum were very scanty—1/5 loaf of black bread, margarine and mint tea—even this meagre fare was not provided, and the speaker's weight dropped to 98 lbs. The only meat he tasted for six months was when the Commandant's Persian cat was lured under the wire, strangled, then skinned rapidly by methods learned during his stay in the Arctic. The cat was cooked over the stove in one of the huts, and had just been disposed of when the Commandant discovered his loss, and had the whole camp searched. As no-one would admit knowing anything of the disappearance, 20 of the prisoners were sent to the "cooler", but as the food was superior there, none of the 20 minded at all.

The speaker paid tribute to Wing-Commander Douglas Bader, whom he met when he was moved to Warbwig Camp, and said that Bader was a man of tremendous courage. After a short stay at Warbwig, he was removed to a camp near the Polish border, and spent a bitterly cold winter there.

His next move was to Sagan — the camp made famous by Paul Brickhill and Eric Williams in their books "The Great Escape", and "The Wooden Horse". Conditions in this camp were much better, because Red Cross parcels came through regularly, and there were greater facilities for reading and studying. There was also a camp theatre. In this connection, Mr. Campbell told an amusing story. The Germans had claimed Shakespeare as a German play wright, and had been using this claim to glorify German literature. A prisoner who was a Professor of English wrote a thesis to prove that Shakespeare was Jewish, using quotations from the plays, and this lecture was given, tongue in cheek, with the Commandant in the front row. When he realized the joke that was being played on him he stalked out angrily, and ordered the theatre closed for a week. Such things as this explained Mr. Campbell, though not very praiseworthy in themselves, served to keep morale high, as anything which aggravated the Nazis had a correspondingly great effect on the spirits of the prisoners. He spoke of the famous "card-table radio". This was a radio built into a card-table, which, as soon as the German direction finders discovered it, was moved, with the assistance of the German guards themselves, into the open so that a search of the huts could be made. Then, while the guards carried on their search, the prisoners calmly sat down to a game of cards on their "radio".

He described the tunnel which forms the subject of Brickhill's book, and explained that owing to the stupidity of the Nazis in allowing escaped prisoners to be returned to the same camp, many improvements in documents, passes and clothing were able to be made, when returned prisoners described their difficulties and errors during their brief periods of freedom. Mr. Campbell was No. 169 on the list of those who were to escape via the tunnel "Harry". This number probably saved his life, for out of the seventy-six who got clear of the tunnel, only 3 got back to England — while fifty were shot in cold blood by the Gestapo. Mr. Campbell stressed the fact that although only these three made good their escape, it took the co-operation of the whole camp to organize the escape.

Mr. Campbell ended his talk by describing the great march westward at the end of the war. As this march of 23,000 prisoners progressed more and more of the initiative and authority was taken by the prisoners themselves. Their improving physical condition, as they marched, living on the countryside, and the knowledge, shared by their guards, that the war was drawing to a close, made them the masters of their guards to such a degree that by the time they encountered the Allied Forces, they were completely in command of the situation.

In thanking the speaker for his fascinating account, Mr. Ted Longley said that the courage shown under such appalling conditions as those described, were an inspiration to others in the troubles of their daily lives.

Any men of the congregation of St. Andrew's Church who would be interested in joining the Group are asked to get in touch with Gordon Conquergood, President, phone OL. 7-8725, or Lee Gilbert, Secretary, phone OL 7-6644.

A Friendly Chat With Merrill Barrington, Official Progressive-Conservative Candidate.

My dear Friends:

As we are now in the campaign period of the General Election for the 23rd Parliament, I again have the honour of being the Official Progressive Conservative Candidate for the riding of Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie. I consider this a great responsibility to my fellow citizens, and, I vow to carry on a clean, honourable, and with your help, I trust, the successful campaign, as I know the citizens of the three counties would desire.

Because of the extra large area of the three counties, it can be realized that I shall be unable to visit each and every elector, much as I would desire to do so. Therefore, I have decided that through the medium of the Family Newspaper, such as this paper, I will chat with you about the many problems at hand and describe myself to you. At the same time, I shall visit as many of the electors as humanly possible between now and election day. I might be at your home tomorrow to discuss your important questions. If you do have a problem, feel free to contact me or better still visit and make your acquaintance with the local poll organizer, who is a very important man both to the organization and to you, the elector.

I am 37 years old, one of seven children, six boys and a sister, the children of Mr. and the late Mrs. D. A. Barrington. We were raised in a good Christian home, given a good education and encouraged to become fluent bilingually, which has been a tremendous asset to all of us. My father has been successful in business locally and his sons have become Farmers, Industrialist and Commercial, and my own occupation being that of a General Insurance Agent and Accountant.

I served in the Canadian Armed Forces during the Second World War. I have been married to my wife, Dora, for eleven years now and we have two children, daughter Rita, 9 and son Cecil, aged 5 years.

I enjoy all types of sports, especially hockey, curling, fishing and hunting. During rainy days I really enjoy reading especially newspapers and good literature.

During the past ten years I have taken an active interest in many of the organizations within the three counties. I am, at present, a Councillor of the Corporation of Ormstown; a Director of the Ormstown Board of Trade and Chairman of the Industrial Committee of that Organization, and in the past years have held the offices of Secretary and Treasurer. I have also served in various offices of the Ormstown Curling Club; the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Branch No. 196, Ormstown; the Salvation Army Appeal; the Red Cross Campaign, and the Chateauguay-Huntingdon Hockey League. I have been one of the Principal Organizers of the Union National Party in Chateauguay County for the past ten years.

Though not everyone, naturally, has been satisfied with my participation in the different organizations, they do respect my code of ethics, to which I strongly adhere to, "Justice for All and Favours for None". I have served the many associations faithfully to the best of my ability and have a personal feeling and conviction that I have performed duties for the good of my community and the three counties as a whole.

This, my friends, is my little chat with you for this week, and, I must say that I have enjoyed it a great deal. I shall look forward to another chat again next week with great pleasure. Please don't let me do all the talking. I would appreciate if you would talk a litle for and about your Conservative candidate in this constituency of Chateauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie. In so doing, you will be giving me your own support in order that I shall be permitted to give our counties, true and faithful representation in the next Federal Parliament. I need you and you need me, so let us work together as a team and we shall be successful.

Yours respectfully,

MERRILL BARRINGTON.

Easter Seals Objective Reached This Week

$999.55

Easter Seals campaign has practically made the minimum objective this week with a total of $999.55, which is just 45 cents short. No doubt the objective will be passed as time goes on for there are still a number of persons who have not replied to the letters sent out. It is most gratifying to the members of the Huntingdon Rotary Club that the people have responded so well to the campaign. News Brief

Jordan's new government has set up military courts to try cases arising from that Arab country's political turmoil. King Hussein's Arab legion continued a roundup of Communists, left wing leaders and extreme nationalists in an attempt to wipe out Communist influence contributing to Jordan's ferment.

The new cabinet is led by Premier Ibraham Hashem. Government officials who had been fired during the administration of former premier Suleiman Nabulsi were all given back their jobs. Nabulsi, ousted by the King more than two weeks ago, was said in one report to be under house arrest in Amman, the capital.

The 21-year-old King's hand was strengthened by pledges of loyalty to him and his new government from sheiks and mayors in the older parts of his desert realm. He also received some public expressions of support from the small but crowded Palestinian part of Jordan, acquired during the 1948-49 Arab-Israeli war.

1st. Nitro Girl Guides

An outstanding event took place at the Guide meeting on Monday, April 15th, 1957, when a new Company flag, donated by the ladies of the Nitro Willing Workers, was presented. The presentation ceremony was attended by several parents; the Division Commissioner, Mrs. Jean Gregory, representatives of The Willing Workers the Guide local association and the Nitro Boy Scouts Group Committee.

Mrs. H. Davies, president of the Willing Workers group, in making the presentation to the Guide Captain, Mrs. B. Bailey, spoke to the guides on the value of belonging to such an organization. The flag, she said, was an emblem of a large world-wide movement, to which each guide could feel proud to belong. Quoting the Guide Law and Promise, she urged the Company to be sincere in their aim to live by them always.

The Local Association then presented to the Company, a Trefoil for the flag top. In handing over the Trefoil, the president of the Association, Mrs. Gwen Secton, explained the significance of the parts of the flag emblem in relation to Guiding. All were then invited by the Guides to attend a camp Fire, led by the Guide Captain. In the warm glow from the camp fire, the singing of folk songs and the tribal dances performed, were much enjoyed by both the participants and the visitors. The recently appointed Guide Commissioner, Mrs. Jean Gregory, was introduced at the Camp Fire and congratulated the Guides on their excellent program and smart appearance.

Mr. L. Beauregard, Chairman of the Nitro Scout Group Committee, was also introduced and expressed pleasure in having the opportunity to be present at the interesting Flag Presentation ceremony.

and conscientious bookkeeper, Miss Mary Macfarlane, for her many kindnesses and courtesies to us.

Lastly, I wish to express our thanks to our Board of Governors, all public-spirited men and women, who give so freely of their time and talents to Hospital work and with special thanks to our most able Chairman of the Board, Mr. Gilbert Macmillan, whose contribution is outstanding.

F. G. McCrimmon, M.D.,
Medical Superintendent,
The Huntingdon County Hospital.

REPORT OF MATRON

Last year as in the past few years our hospital staff remained about the same.

The nursing staff consisted of 5 Registered Nurses and 4 Ward Aides. We were able to manage with this skeleton staff due to two factors. One being, the co-operation of the nursing staff and the other having nurses in the community, namely Mrs. Hawley and Mrs. Rottensten to call on when necessary, their willingness to help was extremely appreciated.

When available two nurses will be added to the staff so a 44-hour week may be put into effect.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the Ladies' Auxiliary for their splendid job redecorating the Nurses' Residence and other donations which have made working conditions much easier.

During my three years as Matron I have found the Board of Governors always co-operative. They, and the Medical Staff, have been kind and considerate and I can truly say I enjoy being Matron of the Huntingdon County Hospital.

HOUSE COMMITTEE REPORT
by Mrs. Mae O'Connor

Mrs. O'Connor gave a verbal report in which she stated that the report of the Ladies' Auxiliary which would be received, would cover most of the activities usually looked for as becoming that of the House Committee. Mrs. O'Connor was loud in her praise of the excellent work being done by the Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary. Mrs. O'Connor singled out Miss Norma Lunan and Mrs. Howard Kelly for the appreciated efforts they put forth toward creating a festive atmosphere about the Hospital at Christmas and on other festive occasions. To Mrs. Antoine and Mrs. Harper special mention was made in appreciation of the great amount of sewing they personally did or had others help for the good of the Hospital. Thanks were also accorded Miss Mary Macfarlane who with marked regularity aided the House Committee in so many ways, and always with graciousness.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF HUNTINGDON COUNTY HOSPITAL
by Mrs. W. U. Hughes

During the year the executive of the Auxiliary, the various committees, and the members were all very active and it is due to their untiring efforts that we owe our very successful year — and I would like to take this opportunity to thank them all most sincerely.

The Auxiliary has a paid-up membership of 284. Unfortunately there are 168 members who, for one reason or another, have not rejoined. We sincerely hope that when they realize the great need for members, that they will reconsider and that we can look forward to a membership of close to 500 this year.

There is an active sewing committee who reported that 724 new articles had been made as well as 533 articles which were mended. To accomplish this work required approximately 300 sewing hours.

As our financial statement was published at the time of our Annual Meeting — the figures which I shall quote are for comparison only and will be used to show what has been accomplished by the Auxiliary.

Through our efforts the sum of $1519.73 was raised by means of the following methods:

An afternoon tea at the Art Exhibit; A Tag Day at the Huntingdon Fair; A Milk Bar at the Fair; The Children's School Fund; A Penny Sale; Memberships and Donations.

This money was spent (aside from various current expenses) in the following ways which were all of benefit to the hospital:

Shrubs and Bulbs for Hospital Grounds	$ 125.00
Garden tools	11.35
An institutional type vacuum cleaner	211.64
China, etc., from Cassidy's	156.93
Treasure chest	18.50
Redecoration and refurnishing of nurses' quarters	430.31
Silver mug for first baby of the year	6.32
Christmas party	25.00
Four babies' cribs	177.60
Dividing curtains for the wards	1,074.00
	$ 2,236.65

As can be seen, the amount spent exceeds the amount raised by nearly $800.00 which means that, while in 1956 the executive started their year with a bank balance of $1,728.73, this year it will be less than $1,000.00.

This is a healthy situation however, as the money was raised by the people of the County and, as can be seen, it is being used solely for their benefit and comfort.

In closing this report I would like, on behalf of our members, to thank Mr. Adam Sellar and The Huntingdon Gleaner for their continued support — Mr. Raymond Rowat who so ably represented the Board of Governors at our Annual Meeting — Mr. William Hughes who read Dr. McCrimmon's most interesting and informative report on the expenditure of the $2,000.00 which had been donated some time ago by the Auxiliary for the purchase of Surgical Equipment, etc. In this statement of purchases it was shown that $1,879.91 of the money had been spent to date.

And last but most important of all our thanks go to the people of Huntingdon County without whose support and most generous donations none of this work would have been possible.

Hospital Governor W. U. Hughes stated no major building operations had taken place in 1956. Some repairs had been made, the most important being that of overcoming a leak in the slate roof of the main building.

Five Governors elected for the coming three years are Mrs. Ruth Kelly, Mrs. Gordon McHardy, Ernest Watterson, F. E. Cleyn (all re-elected) and Harold G. Bickford.

Since the founding of The Huntingdon County Hospital Mr. Alex Fawcett has been a member of the Board of Governors. Mr. Fawcett is frequently away from Huntingdon and was unable to attend the regular monthly meetings in 1956 and was replaced on the Board by Mr. Bickford. A letter of appreciation is to be sent Mr. Fawcett for the many valued services and assistance he has accorded the Hospital.

Clean-up Day Held At Chat. Heights

CHATEAUGUAY HEIGHTS — A regrettable lack of interest in the Council's "Clean-up Campaign" resulted in only five men of the Community taking part in the job scheduled for Saturday, April 27th.

The Mayor, D. M. Currie; Aldermen O. Bradley and F. MacDonald, Mr. A. Laberge, and Mr. D. George were the public-spirited citizens who took part in the Campaign, together with the young sons of Messrs. Currie and George.

The idea of the clean-up was to smarten the appearance of the town by clearing vacant lots and town property of rubbish and debris accumulated through the winter.

The men and boys of the Community had been invited to join in to make a good job for the town. Seemingly the appeal fell on deaf ears, but the Mayor and his few co-workers went ahead as planned, and did their best to make some impression.

Also included in the work of the day was the clearing and ploughing of a site for a baseball field, which it is hoped will be ready for use when school closes. We have no doubt there will be no lack of attendance when the field is opened for use, but it seems a pity that some of those who will be using the facilities provided by the town were not on hand to help in the preparation.

DEFENDS DOGS

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. (CP) — Alderman Henry Lang proposed in city council that dogs be allowed to run at large in the winter months. He said the dogs are listed on the assessment rolls, but have no vote and no one to speak for them.

CHATEAUGUAY YOUNG PEOPLE'S HOLD SUCCESSFUL DANCE

CHATEAUGUAY—The Young People's Group of St. Andrew's Church held their first dance on Friday, April 26th, in the Memorial Hall.

This was a very successful function and was greatly enjoyed by both the Young People, and the chaperones. Acting in this capacity were the Rev. and Mrs. R. H. McColl and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Adams.

A group of Young People from Lachine also attended this dance, and will probably be present at the next one.

The sum of $35. was made for the Group's funds, and it has been decided to hold a second Dance in late May, at which the W.A. will act as hostesses.

This group is interdenominational and any young people in the Community who are interested in joining should get in touch with David Smith, OL-7-8849; Jane Craik, OL 7-6487, or Bobby Moore, OL 7-8086.

End Of The Bushel?

Hundredweights may replace the historic bushel as the basic unit for measuring grain. A move with that in view has been under way for some time in Canada and the United States, says The Financial Post.

It's going to require a bit of mental exercise to try to figure out whether a 300 million cwt. wheat crop is big or little and if we put it in tons, that won't help much either. But aside from the fact that we are used to them the present units have little to recommend them. They have well been described as a "conglomeration of accidents". Few of us can remember from our school days that bushel means very different weights with different grains, 60 lb. for wheat, 34 lb. for oats and so on.

FLOATING MUSEUM

Penticton, B.C. (CP) — City council is considering a proposal to turn the lower deck of the famed sternwheeler Sicamous into a museum.

COSTLY SHOW

St. John's Nfld. (CP) — The provincial public works department spent $396,000 in snow-clearing operations during the past winter. The report to the legislature showed that of the four divisions, the Deer Lake area received the largest sum, $144,653.

OVERSEAS LINK

Liverpool, N.S. (CP) — Mayor R. H. Lockward of this town received a telephone call the other day from the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, England, in connection with the English city's 750th anniversary. Mayor Lockward extended best wishes for the celebrations there.

BOOSTING FUND

Rimbey, Alta. (CP) — Fifty-three "slaves" sold over the block here brought $375 for a fund for improvements to the Rimbey golf course. The "slaves" were volunteers who agreed to do four hours' work for the buyers.

P.-C. Candidate
