MAY NOT CONTINUE IRISH CONFERENCE TODAY

Explanation Of Mystery Ships Given By U. S. Officers

APPEARS LIKELY THAT NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE AND DE VALERA WILL BE POSTPONED; COMMENT IS GENERALLY CAUTIOUS

Indications Early Today Were that the Conference Would Be Postponed Until Tomorrow in Order to Give Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, an Opportunity for Further Consultation with His Followers—Intimated that the Sinn Feiners Are Not Inclined to Hasten Deliberations and that Conference Between Lloyd George and Republican Leader Will Be Long Drawn Out.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, July 18.—Postponement of the Irish negotiations until tomorrow at least appeared likely this morning when it was learned that conversations between Mr. Lloyd George and Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, might be halted until Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, had been given opportunity for further consultations with his followers.

Mr. Lloyd George returned early this morning from Chequers Court, his country residence, but late this forenoon no decision had been reached as to whether he would be able to meet De Valera today. Both De Valera and Craig contingents remained in London over the week-end, consulting among themselves, but resumption of the Downing Street conversations undoubtedly depend upon the progress Sir James makes in solving the difficulties facing him and his party in the negotiations.

DEFINITE OUTCOME NOT TO BE EXPECTED FOR SOME TIME

In view of the secretiveness of all those principally concerned in the Irish negotiations, this morning's editorial comment generally is cautious in referring to the outlook, but some writers venture the belief that any definite outcome is not to be expected for some time yet, and intimate that Sinn Fein leaders are not inclined to hasten the deliberations.

The Daily Mail, to substantiate its belief that the conference now going on between Premier Lloyd George and De Valera will be a long drawn out affair, hints that Mr. De Valera will have to return to Dublin for a consultation with the Gaelic League leaders after Mr. Lloyd George has given a final expression of the British Government's attitude concerning the entire Irish situation. This newspaper also predicts that the Irish Republican leader will not be able to arrange a meeting with Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, until after he has consulted with leaders of the Southern Irish Parliament.

Citing another reason for delay, the same writer says that a special treasury department report has been ordered on certain financial aspects that already have been discussed, and adds that should any definite developments depend upon such a report, they must necessarily await its completion, which would consume considerable time.

STATED THAT IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY IS BUSY TRAINING

In some quarters, however, there are warnings against over sanguineness because of the many serious difficulties which yet remain to be surmounted. Another reason for these less optimistic expressions is found in a despatch from the Herald's Dublin correspondent, who says that the Irish Republican Army training and equipping operations, which are not forbidden by the recent armistice, are proceeding vigorously, so that should the London negotiations fail, everything will be in readiness to resume the field.

MANY BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE IN SYDNEY

Fire Started in Hotel and Spread Rapidly—Loss Estimated at $100,000.

SYDNEY MINES, N.S., July 18.—The worst fire in the history of Sydney Mines occurred here at an early hour this morning. Fifteen buildings were destroyed, including the King Edward and Coronation Hotels, with an estimated loss of $100,000.

The fire was discovered about 2.15 a.m. in the Coronation Hotel. It was then breaking through the walls and roof of the building. A call was sent to the North Sydney firemen, who came to the assistance of the Sydney Mines brigade. Notwithstanding the efforts of the firemen, the fire rapidly spread to the King Edward Hotel and to the adjacent buildings, the prolonged drought having made every bit of wood as dry as tinder. It was not until after seven o'clock that the fire was brought under control.

Guests in the hotels and occupants of other buildings got out with considerable loss, several escaping in their sleeping clothes. No one was injured.

In addition to the two hotels, the buildings destroyed include three houses belonging to John Egan, two belonging to John Vickers, the shop occupied by Joseph Henry, Kilpatrick's livery stables, an old tenement room known as Rankin's Row, and another tenement room, one of the oldest in town, known as the "Long Watt." Several barns and outbuildings were also burned.

Prohibition Officers Give Explanation For Peculiar Actions Of Mystery Ships Declare They Are Confident Smuggling of Intoxicants Being Conducted on a Tremendous Scale—Cargoes Worth Vast Fortunes Are Believed to Have Been Brought from Foreign Countries.

(Associated Press Despatch)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 18.—Pirate yachts and reports of mysterious ships seen lurking along the trade lanes of the north Atlantic may be explained by the discovery of "blockade runners" that have been hauling valuable cargoes of contraband liquor on the Jersey coast in open defiance of revenue agents in this district.

In maritime circles, persistent stories have been told of strange vessels approaching merchantmen on the open seas, as though prepared to attack, and then dashing off into the darkness without observing the individual rule of answering code signals. It was even suggested recently that these spectre-like craft might be able to explain the disappearance of certain vessels.

What revenue agents believe to be the explanation of such unusual actions on the high seas, was brought about by the seizure of whiskey valued at twenty thousand dollars, which is said to have been landed along a cove, near

REV. CHAREST PASSED AWAY ON SATURDAY

Well Known Member of Roman Catholic Clergy Dies After a Brief Illness.

The death occurred Saturday afternoon of the Rev. Abbe Francois Vincent Charest, a well-known member of the Roman Catholic clergy of this city, who passed away in his 78th year, after a brief illness at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Father Charest was born at Ste. Anne de la Parade, Champlain County, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1844. He was parish priest at Ste. Camille de Wotton, and afterwards at Stoke Centre, but being greatly interested in French-Canadian farm subjects he was appointed agricultural missionary, and held this post until some three and a half years ago, when advancing age compelled him to resign.

Thoroughly familiar with scientific farming, for many years, during the winters, he visited the parishes, lectured on agricultural subjects, attended the conventions and conferences held in Ottawa, Oka and other places, and kept in touch with all the newest theories, as well as the practical side of a subject so important to this country.

His advice and assistance were greatly valued and were always at the services of all who required help. His genial disposition and friendly manner made him popular, and he was always received with pleasure on his official visits.

Father Charest made his home at the Bishop's Palace, where he studied and conducted his extensive correspondence, at the same time taking part in the active work of the ministry. He had outlived the members of his family, but his death came as a shock to his brother clergy of the Palace, as up to the time of his illness he seemed in his usual health. He will be regretted and greatly missed by many old friends in the diocese, both clergy and laity.

The body, which has been lying in state in the Bishop's Palace, will be taken to the Cathedral this evening and the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock with interment in the crypt.

JEWEL THIEVES HAVE BEEN BUSY ABOARD SHIPS

Detectives Placed on Vessels in Effort to Run Down Suspected Band of Jewel Thieves.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Detectives employed by insurance companies have been placed on board trans-Atlantic liners in an effort to run down a suspected band of International jewel thieves, it was learned today.

Several robberies of steamship passengers have been reported recently, the latest being that of Mrs. J. L. Seligman, of New York, who reported the loss of nearly twenty-five thousand dollars in jewelry when she was a passenger on the steamship Olympic. Detectives are working on the theory that a band of thieves select one after another of the great trans-Atlantic liners and "work" it during passage.

ENGLISH EDITORIALS ARE HOPEFUL REGARDING DISARMAMENT PLANS AND IRISH PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Sunday Observer Sees Harding's Invitation as One to Consider a Policy Which Will Make Naval Disarmament on the Pacific Possible, and Does Not See in Japan's Qualified Answer Anything More than a Prudent Desire for a Voice in Determining the Nature and Scope of the Conference's Agenda.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, July 18.—World peace as the ideal of the proposed Washington conference, and Irish peace, which it is hoped will come from the conferences between Mr. Lloyd George and Eamonn De Valera, furnished the subjects for optimistic editorials in the Sunday papers.

The United States has given a Great Britain will not fail her, says the Sunday Observer, commenting on the events of the week, which it declares, "have wrought extraordinary changes on the world stage, comparable only to the dramatic transformations resulting from the declarations of war seven years ago."

The paper sees President Harding's invitation as one to consider a policy which will make naval disarmament on the Pacific possible, and does not see in Japan's qualified answer anything more than a prudent desire for a voice in determining the nature and scope of the conference's agenda.

"It does not lead us to believe for a moment," the paper declared, "that Japan is not prepared for a full conference or that the Interference of armaments and policy is less obvious to her than to anyone else. Japan's interest in a settlement guarantee her peaceful development is not less imperative than that of other powers concerned."

The paper utterly refuses to consider the chance of failure and says:—"Success in Washington means success elsewhere. Peace breeds peace as war breeds war. Europe will catch either infection. From continent to continent, from foreign policy to home policy, peace or war will spread, according as the choice now offered is determined."

Commenting on the Irish question the Sunday Times says: "Ireland is first in our thoughts, and if there is anyone who doubted the genuineness of the desire for peace in both countries, he cannot doubt longer after the events of the past week."

All the Sunday papers comment in hopeful vein on the Irish outcome, but all, likewise, carefully refrain from using words, which they consider would be likely to prove unfavorable to the success of the negotiations.

U. S. STAND REGARDING DOMINIONS

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, July 18.—The action of President Harding of the United States in refraining from extending to the British overseas dominion to the disarmament conference was a necessary deduction from the attitude of the Republican party to the action of the League of Nations in granting the Dominions separate voting power, according to Professor Keith, of Edmonton University, writing in the London Times today.

For practical purposes the difficulty can be surmounted, the professor says, by including Dominion representatives in the British delegation to the disarmament conference, but the episode is none the less of fundamental importance as a reminder that, as far as concerns the United States, the Dominions have not yet attained the International status, which must be recognized as theirs by all the powers which ratified the Treaty of Peace with Germany.

The recognition conferred by the negotiations of President Wilson was obliterated by the refusal of the American Senate to approve his action, and it must be recognized that the status of the Dominions must be still imperfect, so long as they are not recognized as nations by the greatest of the world powers, professor Keith concludes.

SUB-COMMITTEE TAKE UP DISARMAMENT QUESTION

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, July 18.—Discussion of disarmament questions was taken up today by the sub-committee of the temporary mixed commission for the reduction of armaments, appointed by the League of Nations, which began its sessions here Saturday.

The sub-commission's sessions were private. They will continue until it has framed reports for the full commission.

The first question taken up today was that of the traffic in arms. The sub-commission decided, it was learned, that one of the first essentials in this connection was to secure ratification of the covenant signed at St. Germain at the same time as the Austrian peace treaty, prohibiting the sale of arms in Africa and other places where such sales would be likely to encourage trouble.

Ratification by the European Powers of this convention is declared by members of the commission to have been delayed because the United States failed to ratify it.

The sub-commission also discussed the private manufacture of arms, which is regarded as attended by many dangers, and looked into ways and means of controlling such manufacture.

Another sub-commission, presided over by Rene Viviani, of France, took up the question of control of armaments by mutual agreement, and Jean Jouhaux, Labor representative from France, offered his proposed amendment to the covenant of the League of Nations, covering this point, as the first subject for discussion.

The sub-commission will decide later whether to report this amendment as one to be considered by the Assembly of the League.

ARTHUR SAUVE AGAIN REPEATS HIS CHARGES

Defies Premier to Prove His Government in Good Standing with Municipalities.

(Associated Press Despatch)

MONTRÉAL, July 18.—Speaking at Berthierville yesterday afternoon Arthur Sauve, leader of the Quebec Opposition, reiterated his statement that the Provincial administration has failed to observe the provisions of its Good Roads Act, by failing to pay the municipalities the provincial share in support of the cost of road construction, and defied Hon. Mr. Taschereau, Premier of the Province, to prove that his Government was in good standing in this respect with the municipalities. He gave instances of belated action on the part of the Government, and of losses sustained by municipalities.

Hon. E. L. Patenaude, former Secretary of State in the Borden Government, also spoke at the meeting and touched on alleged abuses of the colonization programme of the provincial administration.

Rear Admiral Sims Commended By The Majority Report Of U. S. Senate Laval Committee—Report Scored Mr. Daniels

Admiral Sims Is Upheld by the Majority Report of Committee that Held Investigation, but Assailed by the Minority Report—Recommendations Were Presented with the Reports.

(Associated Press Despatch)

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A conflict between Republicans and Democrats as to justification for Rear Ad. Wm. S. Sims charges of misdirection and delay on the part of the United States naval administration during the early months of the war, was shown in majority and minority reports, published today, of the Senate Naval Committee's investigation of the controversy between Admiral Sims and former Secretary Daniels.

Assailed by the majority for having pursued what is declared was a "self-defensive, non-aggressive and non-helpful policy" during the early stages of the war, the naval administration under Secretary Daniels was upheld in the minority report as simply vindicated by the uniform success of our operations, and deserving the "heartiest commendation of this committee and of the people."

With the lapse of more than a year since the conclusion of the naval sub-committee's inquiry, the publication of the reports constituted the closing chapter in the notorious Sims-Daniels controversy of May 1920, precipitated by Rear Admiral Sims' letter, sharply criticizing the Daniels war administration. The letter, which charged numerous delays and derelictions in the navy department was brought to light during a committee inquiry into Admiral Sims' controversy with the former former secretary over naval awards of distinguished service decorations.

Charging many sins of omission and commission both in the matter of preparedness and in naval prosecution of the war, the majority report scored Mr. Daniels, former President Wilson and Rear Admiral William S. Benson, former chief of operations, as the responsible administrative officers. These officials were warmly defended in the minority report in line with its opposite view in the controversy. Admiral Sims, the commander in chief of naval operations overseas during the war, was commended by the majority and assailed by the minority.

Opposed to the majority charges that many serious delays in naval operations resulted from the "non-aggressive policy" pursued prior to 1918, was the declaration of the minority that "at no time did the navy fail to perform promptly and efficiently every task that was imposed upon it."

The majority report presented two recommendations, one for the appointment of a commission of naval officers to study the application of lessons of the war to the United States Navy and the other for a presidential commission, including civilians, to study and recommend reforms in the naval organization. The minority made no recommendations.

In supporting, against the operation of the minority, many of Admiral Sims' charges, the majority, as did the minority report, dealt conspicuously with the Admiral's overshadowing charge that navy department delays in prosecuting the war estimated to have cost unnecessarily five hundred thousand lives and fifteen billion dollars.

DEMAND FOR TANLAC BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Amazing Success achieved by Celebrated Medicine Not Only Phenomenal, But Unprecedented—Over 20,000,000 Bottles Sold in Six Years—Foreign Countries Clamor for It.

Never before, perhaps, in the history of the drug trade has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this country and Canada.

The first bottle of Tanlac to reach the public was sold just a little over six years ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize it as a medicine of extraordinary merit. Since that time there have been sold throughout this country and Canada something over Twenty Million (20,000,000) bottles, establishing a record which has probably never been equalled in the history of the drug trade in America.

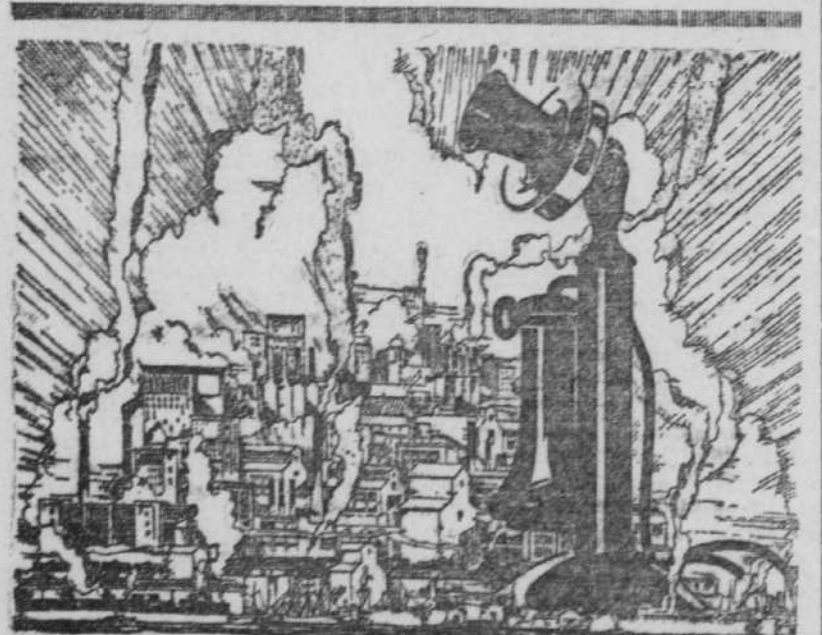

Fame is International. The instant and phenomenal success which Tanlac won when it was first introduced has been extended to practically every large city, small town, village and hamlet in North America. Its fame has become international in its scope and England, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Alaska, Porto Rico and many European countries are clamoring for it.

MANSONVILLE

Funeral of Late Mr. Labell. It is with regret that many will read of the death of Mr. J.N. Labell, who passed away on July 5th. Mr. Labell had been in failing health for some time past, but the end came rather suddenly, he being in his usual health until within a few minutes of his death. He was able to be up and dressed, and had spent a part of the time each day outside on the verandah. He was able to visit with friends and took a keen interest in the affairs of the day. Mr. Labell was born in Heighsburg, Vt., and was fifty-eight years of age. He came to this town when he was nine years of age. On April 2nd, 1897, he was united in marriage to Miss M. Magoon. Two children were born to them, Maurice, a graduate of McGill, now of Holyoke, Mass., and Etta, who is at home, having just finished her year at Macdonald College. Mr. Labell lived at Vale Perkins, where he was engaged in the butter and cheese business for a period of twenty-one years. Nine years ago the family moved to the village of Mansonville. Mr. Labell was immediately elected secretary-treasurer of the town, which position he occupied until a year ago, having resigned on account of failing health. Mr. Labell was a man of fine Christian character, and will be greatly missed in the home and in the community, but the memory of his good life will live long in the hearts of the people. The funeral took place at his late home, the Rev. L. E. Roy officiating. Many neighbors and friends gathered to show their sympathy and respect. The bearers were Messrs. W. B. Magoon, Ernest Magoon, D. E. Warner and H. A. Gilman. The flowers were many and beautiful, including a wreath from the Town, besides many other beautiful pieces from relatives and friends. Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mrs. John Potter, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Russell, Mrs. Dan Fulford, Mrs. J. D. Turner, of Lowell, Mass.; Guy Magoon, of Newport; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gilman and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Magoon, of Richford, Vt.; Miss Ellen Magoon, of Newport, Vt. The sympathy of the community goes out to the family in their sad bereavement.

Goodyear Quality Keeps these fires burning Goodyear Quality Keeps these wheels turning

During More Than a Decade

FOR OVER TEN YEARS Goodyear Tires have been made in Canada. During all these years only Christmas-New Year week ever silenced the wonderful machines for a seven-day period. More than five hundred weeks of production record the constant demand for a good product, growing better.

Goodyear quality never stands still. It is being improved constantly.

For instance, Goodyear is producing at New Toronto two new clincher tires—each better for its purpose than anything which has gone before.

The new Goodyear All-weather Tread Clincher (30 x 3 1/2 and 31 x 4) is bigger, tougher, handsomer than even the famous All-weather Tread Tire which has been the most widely used tire in the world.

The new "Goodyear Non-Skid" clincher (30 x 3 1/2) gives full Goodyear quality and mileage to the man who does not need the great gripping power of the All-weather Tread—and saves on the first cost.

These tires were developed by the same manufacturing spirit which produced the Goodyear Cord Tire—the highest development in tire construction—extremely long mileage with a bonus of comfort and fuel economy.

Over 4,000 Canadian dealers recommend Goodyear Tires for just the same reasons that a majority of Canadian motorists use them—long mileage and low cost-per-mile.

Stage and Screen Attractions At Local Playhouses This Week

At His Majesty's Theatre.

The incomparable Nazimova in "Toys of Fate," for the first part of the week, and the big special Marshall Neilan production, "Bob Hampton of Placer," during the last half, should prove interesting to movie fans.

Nazimova in her newest picture, is more interesting than ever. The story is one that suits her acting down to a tee. This is her first production made in a very long while, and her many admirers will welcome it as a change from the ordinary. As is the case in all of Nazimova's pictures, the direction and photography are of the very highest order.

Great though all of Marshall Neilan's previous productions have been, they are all surpassed by the indescribable wealth of thrills, human interest, smiles and splendid emotion he presents so graphically in "Bob Hampton of Placer." Its main characters are excellently portrayed by Wesley Barry, James Kirkwood and Marjorie Daw. The scenic grandeur of Glacier National Park is its background, and its climax comes in the inspiring moments of Custer's last stand, wherein thousands of Indians and frontiersmen participate. The dramatic sequence provided by the scenario is a masterpiece in itself.

At the Casino Theatre.

"The Call of Youth" is the feature picture at the Casino on Monday and Tuesday. This is produced by the famous Players-Lasky British Producers, and some of the most picturesque jungle scenes ever filmed are shown. The picture tells the story of a young girl who is going to marry an elderly rich man, to save her uncle from financial difficulties, but at the last moment the man of many years restores his fiancée to her young lover.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Ethel Clayton in "Sham" will be the special attraction. "There is many a laugh in "Sham," for Miss Clayton is supported by three fat, famous fun makers, who put plenty of pep into the production. Miss Clayton plays the role of Miss Van Ryzar, a lady of high social standing, who forgets to pay her bills. Her only solution seems to be a marriage for money, but her course is changed by fate, and a real, live romance is the climax.

"Know Your Men," featuring Pearl White, is the big picture for the last two days of the week. Miss White is supported by Wilfred Lytell, a brother of the well known Bert, and the picture is a strong domestic drama of New York life. This is a good picture for the lover of the drama, and will be certain to entertain.

Mr. Ed. Bean and son Earl, also Mr. Benjamin Babb, of Lawrence, Mass., motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Bean recently.

Mr. George Henry and daughter, Ruby, of Barnet, Vt., have been visiting relatives in the city, Mr. Henry returning on Sunday, leaving his daughter for a longer stay.

The pleasant cool weather after the intense heat made the club house of the St. Francis Golf Links an uncommonly attractive place of resort Saturday afternoon, and the "mixed foursomes" played exacted great interest, while the tennis courts were by no means deserted. Tea was served, Mrs. E. W. Gilman presiding at the table, which was tastefully decorated with flowers, assisted by the Misses Gilman and Mrs. Craft.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pearce, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. McDougall, Stanstead; the Misses Mackie Barnett, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cate, Master John Cate, Montreal; Miss Ruth Blodgett, Newport, Vt.; Mr. A. B. Copping, Mr. Stuart Kay, Messrs. Earl Thompson, Douglas Read, J. C. Nutter, of the Signaling Section, Sub-Division, McGill Siege Battery, comrades of the groom overseas; Mr. Murray Brooks, Ceylon; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LeBaron, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hovey, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hovey, Sherbrooke, etc.

They will take up their permanent residence in Montreal. The bride's travelling dress was blue homespun with white voile waist and blue hat trimmed with flowers. The wedding presents from the many friends of the young couple in Lennoxville, the birthplace and home of the bride, Sherbrooke, Montreal and many other places were handsome, valuable and well chosen. The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a pearl and gold blouse set, and to the bridesmaids, bracelets. The groom presented the best man with a gold pencil and the ushers with gold tie pins.

MARRIAGES

LeBARON-ABBOTT.

An exceedingly pretty wedding took place at St. George's Church, Lennoxville, Saturday, at noon, when Miss Jean Eleanor Abbott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Abbott, was married to Mr. Karl Shurtleiff LeBaron, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LeBaron, of Sherbrooke. The pretty church was brilliant with sunshine, which brought out the beautiful floral decorations of the chancel and altar and the arch of evergreens and white flowers across the centre aisle in strong relief. Knots of red and white ribbon, the McGill College colors, marked the seats reserved for the guests, about fifty in number, principally relatives and intimate friends of the two families.

The Lohengrin bridal music was rendered by Mr. A. E. Whitehead, organist of St. Peter's, Sherbrooke, and before the service Mr. Murray Brooks, who has recently arrived from Ceylon, sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," (F. Aylward) with organ accompaniment, very effectively.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. W. H. Abbott, who gave her away, wore a gown of rich white corded silk covered with lace, tulle veil, confined to the dark train, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy White, cousin of the bride, who was gowned in pale yellow silk, with yellow hat, and her flowers were sweet peas, to harmonize.

The bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn LeBaron, in mauve organdy, trimmed with white and mauve hat, and Miss Margaret McKinley in pale pink organdy and pink hat. Both carried arm bouquets of pink sweet peas. The flower girl, little Miss Katherine Speid, wore a pale blue organdy frock, white poke bonnet, and scattered tea blossoms before the bride from a fancy basket she carried. The best man was Mr. Stuart Kay, of Montreal. The ushers were Mr. Douglas Abbott, Lennoxville, and Mr. Kennan B. Jencks.

The bride and groom, with the bridal party and guests, left the church as the wedding march was played, and proceeded to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abbott, where the reception was held. The drawing room was tastefully arranged with flowers and quantities of ferns, the wide window forming a green, feathery background. The wedding luncheon was served on the lawn at small tables, the table for the bridal party, adorned with red and white sweet peas, being placed on the verandah. Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron left later by motor for Knowlton's Landing to spend a few days of the honeymoon at Mr. Abbott's Cottage before going to Ste. Agathe till the autumn, when

LeBARON-ABBOTT.

An exceedingly pretty wedding took place at St. George's Church, Lennoxville, Saturday, at noon, when Miss Jean Eleanor Abbott, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Abbott, was married to Mr. Karl Shurtleiff LeBaron, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LeBaron, of Sherbrooke. The pretty church was brilliant with sunshine, which brought out the beautiful floral decorations of the chancel and altar and the arch of evergreens and white flowers across the centre aisle in strong relief. Knots of red and white ribbon, the McGill College colors, marked the seats reserved for the guests, about fifty in number, principally relatives and intimate friends of the two families.

The Lohengrin bridal music was rendered by Mr. A. E. Whitehead, organist of St. Peter's, Sherbrooke, and before the service Mr. Murray Brooks, who has recently arrived from Ceylon, sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," (F. Aylward) with organ accompaniment, very effectively.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. W. H. Abbott, who gave her away, wore a gown of rich white corded silk covered with lace, tulle veil, confined to the dark train, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy White, cousin of the bride, who was gowned in pale yellow silk, with yellow hat, and her flowers were sweet peas, to harmonize.

The bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn LeBaron, in mauve organdy, trimmed with white and mauve hat, and Miss Margaret McKinley in pale pink organdy and pink hat. Both carried arm bouquets of pink sweet peas. The flower girl, little Miss Katherine Speid, wore a pale blue organdy frock, white poke bonnet, and scattered tea blossoms before the bride from a fancy basket she carried. Refreshing Menus For Warm Days

SO many gelatine dishes are used during the warm summer days that it may prove helpful for the home caterer to know just how to prepare them. As every one knows, a too stiff, gluey jelly or one of a soupy consistency is not an appetizing dish, but if a few important points are carefully borne in mind, both these failures may be avoided.

As a rule, allow one tablespoonful of the granulated gelatine for each pint of the liquid to be jellied, and if fruit, meat, fish or poultry are to be added, slightly increase the amount of gelatine.

Never add fruit juices to a hot liquid and do not cook the gelatine, but merely add to the hot liquid (after softening in cold water) and stir until dissolved. To develop a gelatine into a sponge, reduce one-fourth the amount of liquid necessary to make a pint, adding when cold, the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs; or add three-fourths of a cupful of whipped cream to make a Bavarian cream.

BREAKFAST.
Blackberry Plummary With Cream.

LUNCHEON.

DINNER.

CARAMEL COFFEE JELLY.

Caramelize one-quarter of a cupful of sugar and add to three cupfuls of boiling, strained coffee, blended with one cupful of thin cream. Cook until smooth. Soak two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatine in a quarter of a cupful of cold water for five minutes, dissolve in the hot coffee and cream, add half a cupful of additional sugar and a quarter of a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into moulds to chill and serve unmoulded with sweetened, whipped cream.

JELLIED FISH SALAD.

Remove the skin and bones from the leftover halibut, cover with a cupful and a half of cold water and add a quarter of a bay leaf, a sprig of parsley, salt and paprika to taste and a slice of onion, stuck with two cloves. Simmer for ten minutes, strain and add the juice from a quarter of a lemon and a generous half tablespoonful of gelatine, softened in two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir until the gelatine is dissolved and cook. With the assistance of the liquid jelly, mould the fished leftover fish, in layers, with small pieces of chilled cucumber, sliced stuffed olives and sliced hard boiled egg. Be sure that each layer is firm before the next is added and chilled on the ice. Serve out in slices, laid on lettuce leaves and garnish with mounds of mayonnaise dressing.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PLANNING THE MENUS AND MARKETING.

The blackberry plummary is a very old fashioned dish, but it is very good and as it combines the fruit and cereal courses and only a small amount of berries are required, it is not expensive.

To prepare it, heat one pint of blackberries with two cupfuls of water and add a scant quart of a teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of sugar and ten tablespoonfuls of farina. Cook over hot water for half an hour and serve with sugar and cream.

The breakfast for four will cost $1, the luncheon for three 85 cents and the dinner for four $3.

Home Made Hints For 'Setting' Colors

Wash dresses for the summer are being made in such a variety of delicate colors that setting the colors when the garments are to be laundered many women feel has become a perplexing problem. In laundering colored fabrics, it is well to abide by a few general rules as failure to do so has ruined many a dainty garment. Extremely hot water and hot irons should not be used in washing and ironing colored fabrics. Strong soaps likewise may either dull the color or cause it to run. Each colored garment must, of course, be washed by itself.

Although the use of salt is probably the simplest method of setting colors because it is cheap and always at hand, other substances have been found to give more lasting results for specific colors.

The following inexpensive substances for setting different colors in cotton or linen have been used successfully by home economy workers at the State College of Illinois.

To set blue, one-half cup mild vinegar to a gallon of water may be used; for pink or red, from one tablespoonful to one-half cup of vinegar to one gallon of water; for lavender, one tablespoonful of sugar of lead is each gallon of water; for green, one-half to one ounce of alum according to the depth of the tint, or the same proportion of sugar of lead. For black, deep blue, or very dark colors, from one to two tablespoonfuls of ox gall may be dissolved in each quart of water; the garment is soaked in this solution, dried, and then washed.

If salt is to be used, the material should be placed in a solution made from a handful of salt and a gallon of water, and allowed to remain for some time.

Aids to Amateur In Culinary Art

Few home caterers realize how very valuable are the ends of the leaves of bread and the odd slices that is often left over from a previous meal. "It is only a slice of bread," we say as we scrimp it into the waste can, and yet several of these scraps will furnish a delicious summer breakfast cereal and may be converted into tempting puddings, souffles, timbales, salads, muffins and griddle cakes.

It may also be helpful from a dietetic standpoint to learn that a generous slice of bread is equal in caloric value to a saucetful of rice, a good sized cube of cheese, one egg, a dozen oysters or a cupful of vegetable soup.

In Monday's menus and ends are given for using up odd bits and waste of bread that are too valuable to be wasted.

Summer---and Again the Gingham Gown in All Its Gaiety!

There is a certain type of both blonde and brunette to whom red is strikingly becoming, and she can be depended upon to have at least one red and white checked gingham a season.

By This Time One's Wardrobe Would Seem To Be Complete, Yet, No Matter How Many or How Sheer the Frocks It Boasts, Unless It Numbers a Dress of This Once Humble Fabric All Is Not Quite as It Should Be—Adaptability Is Its Chief Characteristic—It Develops Chic Apparel for Mother Quite as Satisfactorily as Playtime Clothes for the Kiddies.

It takes no time at all to fashion these harem-scarum playtime suits for Miss Murrer, and not only are they as attractive as can be, they are wonderfully comfortable. The collars and cuffs of white organdie give them quite a dressed up air.

The present era of things clothes do not so suddenly go out of style as once they did. Think of the uninterrupted favor that the short skirt has enjoyed—and the short sleeve—and when it made its appearance who dreamed that the basque bodice would last so long!

Perhaps one reason for the continued popularity of these three particular features is the little trick they all have of expessing youth. And ladies of today are forgetting just as long as they possibly can—and so well are they succeeding in putting this unpleasant inevitability out of their minds that they are very materially delaying its coming.

As to fabrics, early in the spring gingham was heralded as a "repeater," and summer was certainly right. Gingham it is and there is no color known to mortal that is not reproduced at some time, in some way, upon this once humble, now exalted material.

STAINS REMOVED.

To remove stains or grease from oil paint—Use bluing of carbon, spirits of turpentine, or if dry and old, use chloroform. These and tar spots can be softened with olive oil and lard.

Stains, iron rust or ink from vellum or parchment—Moisten the spot with a solution oxalic acid. Absorb same quickly by blotting paper or cloth.

FASHION cannot help being fanciful, and what a pity it would be if it could and did. Just imagine a conservative, steadfast policy on her part! How much joy it would take out of life!

There was a time, though, when mere fancy was indulged in at the expense of everything else, and the result—capriciousness. Now, capriciousness, as everybody knows, is too expensive a quality for most of us to afford for very long at a time—delightful, to be sure, but as a general thing requiring us to pay too high for the privilege.

Fashion discovered this truth and, like the sensible soul that she really is, underneath her thoughtless exterior, she stepped going her merry way regardless of all else save outside appearances and became a close student of economics.

Now she no longer decides that such and such a thing shall be the mode just because it is unique or has been absent from the sartorial stage for what seems to her a sufficiently long time. She weighs the possibility, and if it is found wanting it is introduced simply as a "side feature" in the season's bill, if, indeed, 'tis introduced at all.

Philippa Fashion, turned thrifty Madame Mode, calculates the cost of material, its scarcity, the high cost of laundering, comfort, common sense—and, oh, ever so many things—before deciding definitely upon a feature. And even then she is not arbitrary—she offers so much variety that her followers have lost all sense of those rules and regulations that have been known in days of yore to detract from sartorial pleasures.

And this summer Fashion has certainly concentrated on comfortable apparel—frocks and blouses and suits that are easy to put on and easy to take off—clothes that will give their fair wearers the maximum amount of charm and comfort with the minimum amount of expense and energy.

It is most noticeable, too, that in the Child's Book Path to Fairyland

MANY parents and teachers have become solicitous in the matter of expurgating fairy tales and other traditional stories in which children delight so that the cruder and more primitive elements are eliminated. They have the notion that these would wrong ideas into the child's mind, or that they would shock his sensibilities and instill him with fear.

The fairy tales in their unadorned form are told in the way former generations understood them. They portray conditions of life, customs and laws, forms of government, relations of social classes, methods of punishment and cruel vengeance entirely out of gear with modern conceptions and experiences. Royal might and sanguine fights, wicked magicians and tricksters, barbarous "justice" with multi-staged barbed hangings, can well be omitted from the modern versions. Our children have fortunately not the same odious environment which made the children of the past callous enough to bear such things.

But much that is omitted in modern "purified" editions is harmless and even serves a purpose. Witches need not be eliminated, for instance. The child has not the notion we adults have who remember the burning of witches and the Salem persecutions. A witch to the child is an evil fairy, personifying to him the lower passions which assail his own budding personality. Just as Santa Claus symbolizes to him in graspable form the love that leads to giving, "The gift without the giver is bare," and the spirit of Christmas, not merely that of parental love, is expressed to his immature consciousness by Santa Claus or the Christ Child.

Fairies personify to the child the thousandfold forces of nature that impress him in the growth of flowers, in the glory of the sun, in the twinkling of the stars and in the pulsing of his own heart. While he may know of God, or the great power that is behind all of it, he cannot grasp this great abstraction, so just as early man had a multitude of lesser divinities, as even the Greeks and Romans had their nymphs and naiads, their Apollo and Diana, as there are saints and angels in religious symbolism, the child has his fairies. They are only the reverberations of the mythological conceptions of our own remote ancestors in the forests of the northland, or the southland, or wherever they happened to live, and our children live their lives over again.

In the same way it is quite unnecessary to do violence to the old story of Little Redcap (or Little Red Riding Hood) by preventing the wolf from swallowing grandmother and child. The young child cannot see any particular horror in that, and in fact part of the "moral" of the story, if there is any, is lost that way. To the child there is no strangeness in this swallowing process, and he can quite understand why both victims jump out of the wolf's belly, whole and hearty, when the hunter cuts it open. For to him the "inside" of the wolf, or of any being, is nothing but a hollow space, as the whale's belly is to the story of Jonah. He has no conception of intestines and digestion.

This story is a fairy-tale form of the mythological conception of the Toutentribes that in winter the Sun god is swallowed by a wolf; the Fenris Wolf, giant child of Lo Ki, the God of Evil, is kept in bonds until the world is destroyed, when he will swallow the Aesir gods, and the sun and the moon, but be slain in turn by the avenger.

Colored Sail Cloth Makes Attractive Awnings.

Do you want to know a secret? Here it is. You know that heavy colored sail cloth that is used by Venetians to make sails from? It is colored brilliantly, sometimes orange, sometimes red. And it is sold by some few shops in this country for awnings. Here is the secret: You can buy the heavy cloth uncolored—awning cloth or heavy unbleached cotton. And then you can paint it to the desired color. You buy plenty of it, for the cloth absorbs a great deal of it—in the desired color, an oil stain that dries without a gloss. And then you stretch the cloth down on the floor of the cellar, perhaps, or the attic, over papers spread out under it, and you go to work with a medium sized brush and apply your color evenly. Let the cloth dry thoroughly. If there are any little irregularities of color caused because you do not apply it quite evenly they surely won't matter. They will be simply an evidence of that handwork which to many persons nowadays is so important. The color will probably soak through, but both sides should be painted, as the soaking is uneven.

Be Ready for Blackberries

ONE of the most objectionable features of the blackberry—the only objectionable feature to those who like them—is the pithy, numerous seeds. If the berries are big and ripe and luscious this defect can be overlooked. Who ever objected to the seeds when the berries were eaten fresh from the bushes, with the heat of the sun still on them? But when the berries are cooked they stand out, whenever it is possible to do so, be freed from the seeds.

One recipe for blackberry jam made without seeds calls for mashed berries added to granulated sugar in the proportion of a pint of pulp to three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Strain the sugar and berries after they are thoroughly mixed and boil the strained mixture. Roll it in a porcelain kettle, skim it as it boils and stir frequently over a slow heat to prevent sticking. Let it cook until it is thick.

One rule for blackberry pie calls for a lower crust. Put it in a deep earthen or graniteware pie plate. Rub the lower crust with a strip of crust an inch wide, moistened and spread around the edge of the plate. Spread half a cupful of granulated sugar and a rounded tablespoonful of flour over the crust, and then fill it with berries which have been rolled in granulated sugar. Put on an upper crust, pierce it in half a dozen places and bake slowly for thirty minutes.

There are, some people who do not like to eat blackberries raw on account of their somewhat insipid flavor. To these people the addition of a little lemon juice and a little grated lemon rind usually appeal. Another way to give piquancy to the flavor of blackberries is to add a little chopped tart apples, in the proportions of one part of chopped apples to two parts of blackberries.

An inexpensive dessert which is palatable and good for children is blackberry sponge. To make it fill a bowl with cubes of bread and pour over them blackberries, cooked until soft with sugar to taste and then pressed through a colander. Pour on all the juice the bread will absorb and let it cool for three or four hours. Turn it from the mold and serve with sugar and cream and fresh blackberries.

Blackberry jelly made thus is not much different from strained blackberry jam. Mix a quart of blackberry juice free from pulp and seeds, two pints of water and a pint and a half of granulated sugar. Boil the liquid for fifteen minutes, add the sugar, which has been heated in the oven, boil it for four or five minutes, skimming several times, pour it into glasses, previously heated in water, and let it cool. Cover it with braided paper and paraffin.

Blackberry syrup is made with a pint of juice, a pound of sugar, half an ounce of powdered cinnamon and a quarter of an ounce of mace and two teaspoonfuls of cloves. Boil this fifteen minutes and strain it. To each pint add a saucetful of French brandy and bottle.

Tray Saves Weary Feet

An authority on household matters has said that the usefulness of a tray in your house will depend entirely on the intelligence of the person who uses it. Often the housewife who does her own work intelligently can save as much as half an hour a day by the thoughtful use of trays in clearing off the table, setting it, getting things from pantry and ice box and even in going through that daily task of putting rooms to rights. There are always things upstairs that belong downstairs. There are glasses and dishes, books and vases. If a tray is placed conveniently on a table in the hall when you are doing your upstairs work all these things may be placed on it and a single trip downstairs does the work.

But you must be one of those who would rather use your brain than your legs and arms. Frankly, a great many women find it fatiguing to do this. Housewives do not always realize this in training new maids. To the intelligent housewife it is infinitely easier to set the table by assembling everything needed for it in kitchen and pantry and taking it in at once than to go in with various objects as they occur to her. But a good many maids would much rather spend more time at the task and do it the old way.

Sometimes, of course, we get out of the habit of using our heads in housework. We go about with stupid thoughtless steps, just because we have seen other people do housework that way. And then we complain because it is such brainless work. If we put more brains into it we could do it much more quickly and with less fatigue.

The tray is certainly a time-saver in clearing away a table after the meal is over. But good form prohibits the use of a tray in waiting on table. In restaurants, to be sure, waiters bring their orders to the dining room on trays, but these trays are deposited on stands or serving tables. In the home, however, the tray should never come further than the pantry when a meal is to be served in good form.

Frozen Fish Is Wholesome Food

Many housewives have a feeling that they would be frying in the face of Providence as far as the welfare of their families is concerned if they made use of frozen fish. They have learned that the best fish is fresh fish and they have learned how to tell fresh fish when they see it and there their fish lore ends.

Now frozen fish is a very wholesome article of diet and a very economical one and there is not the slightest danger from it if it is cooked as soon after it thaws out as possible. There is true national economy in educating our housewives to make use of this kind of fish, too, because, as the Department of Agriculture points out, this fish is caught in a season of overproduction and is frozen as soon as it comes out of the water. If it were not for the fact that it can be frozen and shipped long distances in ice it would have to go to waste. Therefore frozen fish is usually sold at a far lower figure than fresh fish just caught.

But as soon as the warm weather comes in earnest of course you cannot make use of this frozen fish. When you do buy it be sure that it is still covered with ice and then have it cooked as soon as possible after that outer ice has melted. Weakfish, mackerel, whiting and herring are some of the kinds of fish that have been in the markets in large quantities in this form.

But no fish dealer has a right to sell frozen fish without letting you know that it is frozen or to mislead you to believe that it is freshly caught fish.

Systematic Plans Aid the Maid.

Whether you have one maid or a dozen you ought to systematize their work so that it can be given them in definite written form. It may be that the maid will not refer to your written instructions, and that your oral instructions will have more weight, but the fact that you do write out her duties will aid you to have them definitely in mind when you start the new maid in her work.

It is usually a mistake to let two or three maids attempt to do the work among them to suit themselves. For every there will be one inclined to shirk and another who will permit herself to be imposed on.

Every day should have its special duties in the work of most maids. And if everything that a maid is expected to do in a week finds a special time definitely assigned to it you will be far surer of having it done than if you adopt the policy of expecting it to be done and complaining when it is not.

There is an interesting bit of psychology here. If the maid feels that she is working in a household where the work is well organized she will at once have a greater respect for the manager and will do better work without feeling that she is actually working any harder. This system of having duties clearly defined also helps the maid who is a procrastinator. If she has it before her in black and white that certain duties are to be done on certain days she has less temptation to let the work pile up to the end of the week.

In some houses the duties of the various maids are written on little cards posted up in the pantry or kitchen.

Details That Count.

Black and white sport shoes are in good style this summer. The black is usually used at the heel and toes, and is really helpful in keeping the shoes in good condition. For the black comes at the places which get the most wear.

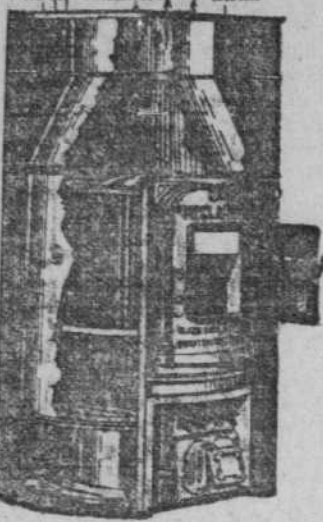

Shoulder shawls, too, are new. We have been noticing the presence of big Spanish shawls for evening wraps for some time. But the little silk embroidered shoulder shawl, from the same country, is new. It is quite as effective on the right woman as is the bigger shawl.

Two calli lilies, one yellow and one white, form the only decoration for a white felt hat of the softest and floppiest variety. It is the permeation of coolness in appearance.

A little feather hat is made with two yellow beaded eyes to look like an owl's head.

A Substantial Brick and Stucco House

A HOUSE that is built on what might be called the "square" plan is always economical in the long run as there is never a space wasted by little odd or extra corners, as is so often the case in houses planned on what one might say, in "heiter skelter" fashion. Today's house is a "square" house that not only presents an attractive appearance outside, but inside it has ever convenience and at once gives a sense of comfort and rest and ease. There is no fussiness, no cat-a-corners, no elaborateness. All is simplicity, plainness, substantiality.

Take the first floor plan. From the front porch with its delightful sun parlor on the left through the bright cheery living room with the open stairway ascending therefrom, the many windowed dining room, the modern kitchen and enclosed service porch with the breakfast room leading from it, one is impressed with the general sense of comfort and spaciousness which this house exudes. Upstairs the same restful feeling abides as one passes through the three bed rooms, the bath room and sleeping porch and on out to the balcony from which a delightful view of the surrounding country is gained.

This house which is 32 feet wide by 27 feet 6 inches deep, exclusive of the front and rear porches, is built of substantial frame construction with "Textured" brick up to the window sill course and cement stucco above to plate. The roof is covered either with slate or tile and there is a wide projected cornice stuccoed on the under side. The living and dining rooms are in Mission stained oak and all other rooms in both first and second story are white enamel on birch with mahogany doors. There is a full basement with concrete wall and the stories are nine feet and eight feet six inches, respectively, the basement being 8 feet high. The estimated cost of building this house, exclusive of the plumbing and heating, is placed between $8,000 and $10,000.

BROME

Mrs. Avery, of Beebe, is spending the summer with her brother and family, Mr. E. W. Poach.

Rev. J. Irving was in Sutton on Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late Philip Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and son, of Lowell, Mass., have been spending a week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox and daughter Gladys, Miss Grace Mandigo, of Quincy, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Owens, of Walpole, Mass., were calling at Mr. C. C. Jenne's on Wednesday, prior to their departure for home, having had a very pleasant motor trip, coming by way of the White Mountains and returning by way of Albany, N.Y.

Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Wm. Burbank, of Richmond, Vt., were guests of Mrs. G. M. Owens on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Owens, of Sutton, were in town on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Dickenson, of Farnham, were in town on Friday.

Mr. Charles Wilson was in Knowlton on Wednesday.

Mr. Bert Richardson, of Sutton, was a guest of his mother on Thursday.

Mrs. E. W. Patch entertained on Wednesday afternoon at a children's party given in honor of her daughter Arlene's tenth birthday. There were fourteen little girls present.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in games, after which a sumptuous repast was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Avery and Miss Eva Bousquet. The long table was laid in the dining room, which was prettily decorated in different shades of pink, the large birthday cake with its ten candles occupying the centre of the table. Little Miss Arlene was the recipient of many pretty gifts.

Mr. John Worden has purchased three carloads of hay. A number of the farmers are buying their supply now and taking advantage of the low price, as there will be a shortage in that line throughout the country.

The funeral of the late Albert Tibbitts was held at St. John's Church on Friday morning at ten o'clock, the Rev. Joseph Irving officiating. Interment was in St. John's Cemetery.

Mrs. Patterson and children are spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson.

All are sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. Albert Cook.

Nurse Sweet was in West Brome last week with her niece, Mrs. Gilman Sweet, who has been very ill, but is now convalescing.

FIELD OF THE 2ND MORTGAGE CORPORATION

Housing Shortage Creates a Demand for Funds.

Several organizations are now offering to the general public the securities of various companies which have been formed for the purpose of financing, building, by the purchase of first and second mortgages. As funds for good first mortgages can be obtained from the established mortgage companies, the second mortgage end of the business is one on which these newly-formed finance corporations are likely to concentrate their endeavors.

The feeling of the opinion of these men behind these second mortgage corporations is that the housing shortage has been and still is one of the most acute problems of the post war adjustment period. They feel that many of the suggested remedies for the situation that have been tried—many of them involving government or municipal assistance—have failed to meet with the success their originators expected. This has left the housing and building question one for private initiative, and it is felt that the proper impetus to adjust the necessity is more likely to be found in the efforts of individual citizens acting either singly or as companies. And as building will require capital, these companies have sprung into existence to supply a portion of that capital.

What the Plan Involves.
Briefly the plan is to sell—on an instalment basis—to the small investor the security of the finance company and then in turn to handle the financing of house construction so that the purchaser may pay for his time likewise on an instalment basis. The idea is not without some merit and it would seem that a reasonable increase in building activity would provide business for such companies. Granted then a reasonable opportunity for doing business the question of success profit and safety of capital devolved to a great extent upon the individual management of each company.

The trouble is that the factor of safety is a problematical one. The second mortgage is always a security that ranks below the first mortgage. On the other hand, the return to the purchaser is much higher, due to the fact that the second mortgage is usually discounted by the purchaser at rates up to 20 per cent. Certainly the risk for the finance company is not going to be any greater than for the individual purchaser of the second mortgage, but the risk is there, and it adds a speculative element to the operations of these organizations that puts their securities out of the class that the

LABOR DELEGATE NORTHCLIFFE TO VISIT CANADA DURING TOUR

Moore Says Wages Paid to Women Employees Are Ridiculously Low.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, July 18.—President Tom Moore, of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, at the meeting of the Allied Trades and Labor Council held here, urged the necessity of Labor having a representative at the meeting at Toronto on Tuesday of the Ontario Minimum Wage Board. As one of his reasons, he alleged that it was notorious that ridiculously low wages were paid to female employees in many of the local industries and mercantile concerns, in comparison to wages paid in other large cities.

The executive committee was authorized to co-operate with the unions concerned and to lend financial assistance if required, so that Labor shall be represented at this meeting.

inexperienced investor should risk his funds in.

Sound Management Counts.
The risk can be greatly reduced by sound management. In fact, a company that is assured of experienced and conservative management has excellent chances for success. In a period of rising prices these companies too would find the security behind their individual mortgages increasing from day to day. But in a time of declining building costs the risk increases, and beyond that is the fact that were the country at any time to enter into a period of economic upheaval such as was experienced in 1907 and still later at the outbreak of the war, the position of these companies tied up with second mortgages that would undoubtedly be very difficult to handle, would not be very satisfactory. It is a risk that many business men take in the investment of a portion of their funds in second mortgages at the present time, and to such men the securities of the second mortgage companies might have an appeal. But as it is the securities lack three essentials that would make them suitable for the small investor. These essentials are: (1) absolute safety of principal, (2) guaranteed interest return, and (3) ready saleability.

BUTTER PRICE INCREASES ON THE EXCHANGE

Butter Sold at Forty and Five-eighths Cents Per Pound on E. T. Dairymen's Exchange.

(Special to The Record) FARNHAM, QUE., July 18.—The price of butter continues upward, no doubt chiefly as a result of conditions brought about by the long drought that this district has suffered from of late. Butter for the past few weeks has been steadily climbing in price, and at the usual session of the Eastern Townships Dairymen's Exchange here on Saturday an increase of from 3 1/2 c to 3 3/4 c a pound as compared with the figures of the previous week was recorded.

The previous week the quotations for butter were from 37 1/2 c to 37 3/4 c per pound, but this last Saturday the quotation was 40 1/2 c per pound. Fourteen factories boarded 560 packages of butter, which is a decrease of 117 packages as compared with the previous week.

The Bond Market both in New York and Montreal has shown quite a marked strong tendency the latter part of this week with the higher grade Municipals and Provincials in good demand. While there is an opinion in some quarters that the issues made up to date have not been completely digested, nevertheless, it has been our experience in the last few days that Bonds have been hard to buy. Practically all the Province of Ontario issues have been marked up, and the short term Municipal and Industrial Bonds payable in New York have been practically unobtainable, although Industrial Bonds as a class have not yet responded to the slightly better tone of the Government and Municipal Bonds.

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh

Times—While there are underlying factors in the industrial affairs of the country which appear to be paving the way for better conditions in the future, the stock market seems still to be governed by affairs of the moment.

Wall Street Journal—We are in a typical summer market, with no incentive to do anything. It is acknowledged that big money has already been made on short side of the market and as yet there is nothing in business conditions to make traders go long of stocks.

Herald—While the outlook remains obscure, it is by no means discouraging from point of view of present or in respect to autumn when improvement is expected.

Tribune—Stock fluctuations last week once more told a negative story. Meanwhile, while the markets wait the world is gradually escaping from conditions made for impaired confidence and depression.

Wall Street Journal will say today: American Car Foundry inventory so reduced from 1919 all on hand will be needed to fill orders. Forty-two out of fifty copper com-

LOCALS DEFEAT GRANBY BEFORE A LARGE CROWD

Pitching Duel Ended in Favor of Thormahlen — Colored Tigers Showed Their Hitting Ability.

Sherbrooke surprised her most ardent supporters by defeating Granby on Saturday afternoon by a score of five to two. It was a very well attended game and the fans were treated to an excellent duel, both star twirlers being in the box.

Granby opened the scoring in the first inning, Lafontaine being assisted across the plate by an error. In the second, Barcroft opened up with a single and was sent home by Chartier's three bagger, while Molyneux's single scored Chartier, incidentally placing Sherbrooke in the lead.

Both pitchers settled down to air tight ball and the opposing batters were kept well in hand. In the first of the seventh, Granby equalized and in the following inning it looked as though they would break into the lead. With the bases full, Thormahlen rose to the occasion and struck out Bowden with two down. It was a narrow escape and the fans heaved a sigh of relief as the inning was brought to an end.

In the second of the eighth, the local tallenders waggled their rudders, strenuously but with the bases full, Savage and Landry were both thrown out.

Thormahlen was given an opportunity of winning his own game and he smashed out a single scoring Molyneux and Baker, while Bridges came in on a single by Barcroft.

The local fans were highly delighted with the win over Granby and it is understood that Granby left quite a little coin in the city before leaving for their own home town.

Saturday's victory entitles the locals to anticipate a series of games with some of the strong Montreal teams and no doubt Granby will be anxious to retrieve Saturday's defeat.

The detail scores were as follows: Sherbrooke a.b.r.h.p.o.a.e. Landry, c. 4 0 0 2 1 0 Thormahlen, p. 4 0 1 0 3 0 Barcroft, c.r. 4 1 3 0 0 0 Downey, 3rd b. 4 0 0 0 0 0 Chartier, 2nd b. 3 1 4 1 1 1 Molyneux, 1st b. 3 1 2 10 3 1 Bridges, l.f. 2 1 0 1 0 0 Bousquet, r.f. 3 1 1 1 0 1 31 5 8 27 8 3

BOSTON TIGERS WERE HEAVY HITTERS. In yesterday's game, Sherbrooke got off to a very bad start and the very first ball pitched was cracked out for a single. The first five con batters got clean hits, one of them being a three bagger by Sisco with the bases full. With two down in the second inning, the next three batters scored singles and Sisco came very near repeating his effort in the first inning. Fly to two on bases he crashed out a fly to left field where the ever watchful Baker smothered it.

Sherbrooke had a great opportunity in the third with Landry and Thormahlen on third and second respectively. A misunderstanding proved disastrous and Landry was out at the plate.

After this the locals were never really dangerous while the "coons" seemed to be able to hit at will, and assisted by errors, they added another couple of runs to their score.

Outstanding catches were made by Baker, Chartier and Thormahlen and the fielding was pretty good on the whole, the errors generally being registered after the ball had been fielded.

GARRISON WIN FROM ANGUS BY FOUR TO TWO. Fine Exhibition of Football Saw the Better Team Win.

Undoubtedly one of the finest exhibitions of soccer ever played in Sherbrooke was witnessed on Saturday afternoon when the Garrison United defeated the strong East Angus team by score of four to two.

The first goal was scored by E. Croft, of the Garrison United, who accepted a pass from Mitchell. The second goal fell to Grisyby, who scored unassisted after a beautiful run. The third goal went to East Angus and was scored by W. Rice unassisted. This finished the scoring in the first half.

On resuming play East Angus counted another when Prinn kicking out from goal, misjudged and kicked through his own goal. Bennett at outside left was responsible for Garrison's third goal, accepting a difficult pass from Croft.

Garrison's fourth goal was one of the prettiest plays during the game. G. Mitchell, outside right after a spectacular run passed to Croft who again scored for the Garrison. It would be hard to award individual honors, every player on the Garrison United played a sterling game.

Laughed in goal played a stalwart game and Webb, who has lately been transferred from the Circo, was a source of strength to the Garrison forward line.

The East Angus players were in the game from start to finish and if they had played as good a combination game as the Garrison it would be unwise to predict what the final score would have been. Referee Whatley handled the game in an efficient manner and it was not necessary for him to wear a single player during the afternoon. The final score was Garrison United 4; East Angus 2.
