The ex-Prime Minister of Canada Brian Mulroney

The ex-Prime Minister of Canada Brian Mulroney

The ex-Prime Minister of Canada forgot the lesson number 1 concerning the relationship with the journalists: Never to entrust to a journalist, even a close friend, with confidences! Brian Mulroney knows the media and he is very passionate about information. When he was in active politics, he read over tens of newspapers each morning. The person is from Irish origins thus with an ebullient character but he always knew how to control his emotions in public and he always took a time of reflection before making a significant decision. He is also willing to admit his errors. The journalist Peter C. Newman, well-known for his biographies of businessmen, had developed a special friendship with the ex-Prime Minister. Newman has published a biography reporting the confidences made into private.

Is this acceptable? No but thus goes the journalistic life. To use again the words of Miss X, LeStudio1 offers this advice to Mr Mulroney: "My God, protect me from my friends, my enemies I will take care of them myself..." www.lestudio1.com/BrianMulroney

Radio-Canada and his programming

Radio-Canada headquarters in Montreal

The management of programming at Radio-Canada in Montreal, try to regain their former place with the listeners and televiewers. Several changes were brought to the programming during the last year and in particular with the new autumn season 2005. Among the changes, one notices those of the FM French-speaking radio network of Radio-Canada, Espace Music, (100,7) formerly called the Cultural Chain. This network would have increased its shares of the market by some 35%. The management recently held a special evening in Montreal at the Bonsecours Market in front of public to thank the public about this success. The sector of the radios is sollicitated as never before and the new initiatives are numerous. It will have to be seen the evolution when the satellite radios enters on the market as well as the Internet Radio which only begins its existence (podcast). www.radio-canada.ca/radio

Horses racing in Quebec

Frank Stronach (Magna) and Lucien Rémillard (Remstar)

The amateurs of horse-racing will perhaps again know the old days! The right to operate the four tracks of horse-racing in Quebec are to be sold to the private sector. The tracks are Montreal, Quebec, Aylmer and Trois-Rivières. In all, there would be eight groups who proposed offers to the government of Quebec. The tenderers groups have until next October 13 to explain their proposal. There is however two favorites, according to observers, that is to say Magna and Remstar. The two owners of these companies are horses lovers. In the case of Frank Stronach, he is already owner of several races tracks in the United States. He rather see the operation of a track like a place of entertainment instead than a simple races track. Lucien Rémillard, of Remstar is the owner of the St-James Hotel of Montreal.

Art gallery Parisian Laundry

Interior of gallery Parisian Laundry (photo Serge Beauchemin)

An art gallery regarded as the largest in Canada, Parisian Laundry, has just opened its doors in Montréal at 3550, St-Antoine St. West. The space of 15,000 square feet is an old commercial wash-house which dealt with linen of the large Montreal hotels. The brick building has a large fenestration which allows the presentation of art in connection with the external environment. The Montreal fashion and movie photographer, Serge Beauchemin, who was until very recently in Las Vegas, photographed the gallery and he offers to the readers of LeStudio 1 his personal glance at the place. Good visit. www.lestudio1.com/GalerieParisian

Salon of the condominiums industry in Montreal

The Phénix of Montreal

The life in condominium is increasingly popular in Montreal. The investment in this kind of residence proved to be a good placement for the purchasers and the quality of constructions is generally excellent and without concern. Professionals of this industry decided to organize a congress in order to gather in the same room the majority of the experts working in this sector. In all 120 exhibitors will take part in the show presented September 23,24 and 25 at the Palais des Congrès of Montreal. The organizers expect to welcome beyond 10,000 visitors for this first show. Among the activities, it will be possible to consult lawyers, notaries, architects or managers of condominium projects.

The owner of AQUAMEDIA, Lupo Masse Blume, intends to contribute to the fight against the breast cancer by offering his advertising vehicle to promote this cause. Aquamedia is an advertising media whose messages are printed on water bottles distributed free in a targeted network of tradesmen. Aquamedia was one of the sponsors partners at the World Films Festival of Montreal. Aquamedia will launch on its network, at the time of the CIBC Race of next October 2, "the pink label". This label will present a monthly message of prevention or a testimony. The company intends to distribute between 10,000 and 20,000 water bottles each month inside a network of more than 50 merchants of products specialized for women in Montreal and Quebec. Mitsou Gélinas recently became the official spokesman for the Foundation of the breast cancer of Quebec.
