Yokohama City Of Desolation-- Port Destroyed

Japan Turns Bravely to Tremendous Tasks Ahead, Marshalling Her Shattered Resources to Succor Hundreds of Thousands Who Suffer from Injury and from Hunger, and Making Her Plans for Rebuilding of Her Ruined Cities—Yokohama, Greatest Port of Japan, Has Been Completely Destroyed, with Tremendous Loss of Life—City's Streets and Canals Filled with Dead and Injured—Harbor of Yokohama Practically of No Value to Relief Ships, for Floor Has Been Raised.

THE Japanese nation, stricken by what is probably the greatest disaster of the modern era, turns bravely to the tremendous tasks ahead, marshalling her shattered resources to succor the hundreds of thousands who suffer from injury and from hunger, and laying her plans for the rebuilding of her ruined cities.

While the rest of the world hurries its ships of war and commerce, deep laden with relief supplies to Japanese waters, Premier Yamamoto broadcasts a message to his people urging them to unite in the trying hours through which they are passing, and appealing to them to make a supreme effort to relieve the suffering and expedite the work of reconstruction.

The cables say that already orders for collecting materials have been received in England, while leading construction engineers and architects in New York have proffered their assistance in making a new Japan.

Yokohama is a city of desolation, far more severely smitten than is the capital, Tokio. A message received from Kobe at the State Department in Washington confirms previous word that the greatest port of Japan has been completely destroyed, with a tremendous loss of life. The city's streets and canals are filled with dead and injured; one despatch says that only three or four houses have been spared. The harbor is practically of no value to the relief ships, for the floor has been raised, the breakwaters torn asunder and the many lighthouses, with only two exceptions demolished.

Five hundred foreigners are said to have been killed in Yokohama.

The Japanese Home Office this morning announced that in Tokio 30,000 are dead; 100,000 injured and 350,000 homeless. These are the first official figures issued. No official count of the victims in Yokohama or the other cities of the devastated area has yet been made.

A cable from Peking reports that a new island has appeared off the Izu Peninsula. The island of Oshima has disappeared and it is feared 10,000 inhabitants have perished.

CANADA TAKING PROMINENT PART IN RESCUE WORK

Canada is taking a prominent part in the work of rescue. Despatches from Kobe say that refugees reaching there pay warm tribute to the splendid work of the officers and men of Canadian ships which were in Japanese waters when the upheaval came, and which promptly were rushed to the scene of the disaster to care for the survivors. The Canadian ship, Empress of Canada, arrived at Kobe on Wednesday with fourteen hundred refugees. The Empress of Australia is at Yokohama serving as a home for refugees.

The Dominion Government today began rushing supplies to the stricken nation. The steamship, Empress of Russia, sailed from Vancouver with all available space filled with emergency food supplies to be turned over to the Japanese Government. British Columbia has offered to give timber for rebuilding.

Throughout the Dominion funds are being liberally subscribed for relief work.

A cable from Melbourne brings the news that the Australian Government has appropriated sixty thousand pounds sterling for relief, one-sixth of this amount having already been cabled to Tokio.

BRITISH SQUADRON ORDERED TO JAPANESE WATERS

The British-China squadron has been ordered to purchase supplies and food and proceed to Japanese waters to render whatever assistance is needed.

Everywhere throughout the stricken area the authorities are trying to meet the two immediate needs of the situation: care for the wounded, and food for the hungry. Supplies of rice are being requisitioned throughout the Empire, while engineers, working with make-shift forces, repair the railways to rush the food to the starving.

Meanwhile, there are no reports of disorder, although there is some plundering and looting.

ORDER BEING QUICKLY RESTORED IN TOKIO

(Associated Press Despatch)

NAGASKA, Sept. 6.—It is reported here that the Prince Regent is contemplating the postponement of his marriage, which was to have been celebrated in November.

General Fukuda, in command at Tokio, says order there is being quickly restored. Food and other materials have been requisitioned everywhere and are now arriving in Tokio by sea and are being distributed to the destitute. Army engineers are repairing the railways and roads, so as to enable supplies to be transported by land.

General Fukuda announces that looting and plundering must be stopped and martial law withdrawn at the earliest possible moment. He deprecates the floods of false rumors, such as reports of socialist activities and acts of violence by Koreans.

Large numbers of Yokohama refugees are arriving in Kobe. The steamer brought 504 of all nationalities, including 172 Chinese. The President Jefferson arrived with 255 Europeans. The steamer Lyceum brought 119, including 21 Europeans, 13 Chinese and 46 Indians. The Empress of Canada has 1500 survivors on board.

Many of the refugees are in a deplorable condition owing to injuries. A majority of them are without clothing.

Of the 10,000 Chinese inhabitants of Yokohama, 5,000 are said to have perished. Chinatown went down in an avalanche of bricks.

TWO CAPITAL SHIPS WERE DESTROYED AT YOKOSUKA

(Associated Press Despatch)

PEKING, Sept. 6.—Two capital ships were sunk at the naval base of Yokosuka by the tidal wave following last Saturday's earthquake, according to a Japanese news agency, received here today.

(Previous reports have indicated great damage was done to naval craft at Yokosuka, but had given no indication of the class of vessels damaged.)

The report was filed from Osaka.

CANADIAN RED CROSS TO RENDER ASSISTANCE

(Associated Press Despatch.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—The executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society will meet in Toronto on Friday to consider what it can and should do, as a voluntary auxiliary of the government, to render assistance to suffering Japan. A statement to this effect was made by Dr. J. W. Robertson, chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross, last evening. Sir Robert Borden is president of the Canadian Red Cross Society. The committee, said Dr. Robertson, will consider supplementing what the governments proposes to do, by receiving contributions throughout Canada to assist in mitigating the suffering caused by the disaster.

Dr. Robertson stated that the Japanese consul at Vancouver had informed the British Columbia division of the Canadian Red Cross that he was anxious to have supplies sent to Yokohama and Tokio without delay because the white population was dependent upon exports, particularly milk. In view of this, it was the intention of the Red Cross to ship by the Empress of Russia, sailing today, all the milk obtainable at Vancouver. The Society would also send on the same boat two experienced Red Cross nurses with Red Cross forms which have been prepared for the organization and administration of emergency disaster relief.

MAKE GIFT OF LUMBER WORTH MILLION AND HALF

(Associated Press Despatch.)

TACOMA, Wn., Sept. 6.—Gift of lumber worth $1,500,000 for the building of the devastated area of Japan was voted here yesterday by the Price Commission of the Douglas Fir Exploitation and Exporting Company. The committee voted to donate 45,000,000 feet of lumber of all kinds to the Japanese Government. The gift is (Continued on Page 12.)

SCRAPPING OF U. S. WARSHIPS UNDER TREATY

Ships Destroyed Were the Once Proud Virginia and New Jersey—Planes Dropped Bombs.

(Associated Press Despatch)

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C., Sept. 6.—A spectacular show, staged by United States airmen over this famous graveyard of ships, marked the beginning yesterday of the scrapping of United States warcraft required under the naval limitation treaty.

The ships destroyed were the once proud Virginia and New Jersey, which made up a part of the United States battle fleet.

It required just thirty minutes for the sinking of the Virginia, eight planes flying at an altitude of 3,000 feet accounting for her with thirteen 1100-pound bombs.

The New Jersey, after two attacks, still was afloat, but was listing badly to port as a result of the dropping of 600 and 2,000-pound bombs close beside her hull. Few direct hits were scored on her, and her superstructure was only slightly damaged. A plane flying low sank her at the third attempt.

NOT BOTHERED BY PERIOD OF LEISURE

(Associated Press Despatch)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—Reports from the anthracite regions indicate that the miners, who have been idle since last Friday, when the suspension of operations went into effect, are awaiting philosophically the outcome of the negotiations at Harrisburg between their representatives and the operators.

To all appearances, the anthracite workers, for the most part, are not at all bothered by their period of leisure, although it is reported from one section that some of the younger miners are prepared to seek permanent employment in middle western industrial establishments should the conference called by Governor Pinchot not show signs that a rapprochement between the two groups is likely in the near future.

STATES RUHR TROUBLE WOULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED

(Associated Press Despatch)

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—Speaking a second time here last night at the eighth annual dinner of the Canadian Bar Association, the Right Hon. the Earl of Birkenhead, former Lord High Chancellor of England, referred to a speech made earlier in the evening by Martin Conboy, of New York, representing the American Bar Association, who had said that the United States was satisfied to live its own life and not meddle in European troubles.

He added that if "we had known at Versailles that the United States were to remain out we should have known and been prepared for what the United States did with Armenia, what happened in Greece, and in that case the Ruhr trouble would have been avoided."

Operators And Representatives Of Miners' Union Agree To Material Changes In The Positions They Held—Meet Again Today

Tentative Agreements on Part of Employers' Group to Drop Stand for Arbitration Understood to Be in Governor Pinchot's Hands as Result of Executive Sessions Yesterday—Miners, Too, Moderated Demands by Agreeing that Ten Per Cent. Wage Increase for Contract Miners Might Do.

(Associated Press Despatch)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 6.—Leaders of the miners' union and anthracite operators, whose differences have led to a general suspension of mining, had some ground to go over, but still exhibited marked difference in views when Governor Pinchot reassembled them today in the course of his peace effort. Tentative agreements on the part of the employers' group to drop the stand for arbitration, which has been upheld since the inception of negotiations, were understood to be in the Governor's hands as a result of the executive sessions of yesterday.

Miners' union officials, too, had in some degree moderated the original scope of their organization's demands by agreeing that a ten per cent. wage increase for contract miners might do. They continued, however, to ask more for the day workers, who constitute the bulk of anthracite employees, and this the operators were not willing to concede.

The union likewise tentatively offered to put a limit to the amount of dues which would be assessed against the members if the operators would agree to collect those dues by the "check-off" method of holding the amounts involved out of each individual miner's pay check.

WILL COMPLETE SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND ROAD

Grand Trunk Railway Agrees to Project—Will Probably Require Two Years.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Sept. 6.—Completion of the Southern New England Railway from Palmer, Mass. to Tidewater, in Rhode Island, has been agreed upon by officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, and gangs of men are at work on the project, which, it is said, will probably require two years.

In Rhode Island the roadbed is forty-five per cent. completed. In Massachusetts the project is eighty-five per cent. completed, laying of some rails and building of stations and bridges remaining to be done. The largest single piece of construction to be done here is a tunnel under Smith Hill.

Construction of the Southern New England Railway from Central Vermont through Massachusetts to Rhode Island was discussed here in 1910. The corporation was chartered by the legislature the following year and actual construction began May 2, 1921.

QUEEN MARIE GAVE BIRTH TO A SON THIS MORNING

(Associated Press Despatch.)

BELGRADE, Sept. 6.—Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia gave birth to a son this morning.

Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia is the second daughter of Queen Marie of Rumania, and was married to King Alexander at Belgrade on June 8, 1922. She is twenty-three years of age and her royal consort thirty-two.

The heir to the Jugo-Slavian throne is the second grandchild of the Rumanian Queen, as a son was born in October, 1921, to Princess Helena, wife of the Rumanian Crown Prince Carol.

LARGE CROWDS ATTENDING FAIR AT SCOTSTOWN

Judging Well Under Way—Many Attractions This Year—New Features.

(Special to The Record.)

SCOTSTOWN, Que., Sept. 6.—Favored by fine weather the fifty-fifth annual exhibition of Compton County Agricultural Society No. 2 got under way yesterday. All preparations had been completed in time for the opening and a large number of visitors were on hand to view the numerous fine exhibits on display.

The president, Mr. A. M. MacKenzie, is doing all in his power to make this year the most successful ever experienced; also the vice-president, Mr. F. G. Bennett, and the secretary-treasurer, Mr. G. F. Cowan.

The midway attractions are of a better class than formerly, there being a vandeville performance with a company of eight, as well as the many games of chance and other side performances.

The secretary-treasurer states the entries are quite heavy.

The Boys' and Girls' Swine Club is receiving more attention than last year, there being a number of entries made in this class. The pigs entered will be sold on the grounds on Thursday afternoon.

The local sheep and lamb fair instituted by the provincial department of agriculture and the Dominion live stock branch, sheep and swine division, is also receiving a good deal of interest this year, free entry being given each competitor.

This competition takes place today, and all lambs will be sold on the grounds in the afternoon.

There are many visitors in town from a distance, many being old residents. The train service is better than in former years, as the "scout," which arrives from Sherbrooke at 12 noon, was not taken off the first of the month, as was the custom in the past.

The dining hall is under the management of Mr. John Smith, of Gould Station, which is the only place meals or lunches can be procured.

The different departments in the main building—the ladies' department, the girls' department, dairy products, garden, orchards and farm products—will be judged on Wednesday, the ladies' department by Mrs. Smith, of Sherbrooke, and the dairy, garden, etc., by Macdonald College demonstrators. The ladies in charge of this department are Mrs. G. A. Burrell, Mrs. A. G. Sherman, Mrs. F. G. Bennett and Miss M. Bowman.

Problem Is Considered By Council

League of Nations Assembly Will Not Go into Session Until the Council Has Reached Some Agreement on Greco-Italian Crisis—Tension Lightened Somewhat.

(Associated Press Despatch)

GENEVA, Sept. 6.—Efforts of the League of Nations' council to reach some agreement on the Greco-Italian crisis constituted the reason for the sudden decision to hold no session of the assembly this morning.

Lord Robert Cecil and other members of the council desire to go before the assembly with something definite, for they realize that if the world nations met together as a forum before any tangible results were obtained, there would doubtless be a forest explosion on the floor.

The Assembly as a whole is looking to the council to take some action on the Italian question, and the council, as the executive body, is concerned with saving the League of Nations and preventing any dangerous split.

No meeting of the council was held this morning, but its members consulted together privately in attempts to reach a tentative accord with regard to procedure and the attitude to be adopted at the next formal meeting, which may possibly be convened this afternoon.

There has been expensive telegraphing by all the delegations to their home Governments asking definite instructions on the great question of the day, which has removed all interest from the problems figuring on the agenda of the conference.

M. Politis, former foreign minister under Venizelos and chief representative of Greece here, said today that the tension seemed to have lightened somewhat, but he added that the problem of the Italian occupation of Corfu Island offered supreme difficulties. Much interest is felt here in possible action by the council of ambassadors at Paris, to which Greece also has appealed.

GREEK FLEET ORDERED TO RETIRE TO GULF OF VOLO (Associated Press Despatch)

ATHENS, Sept. 6.—The Greek fleet has received orders to retire to the Gulf of Volo to avoid contact with the Italian fleet, it was learned on good authority today.

(The Gulf of Volo, an arm of the Aegean Sea, is on the eastern side of the Greek peninsula, and approximately ninety miles north of Athens.)

TWO MORE WITNESSES ARE ARRESTED (Associated Press Despatch)

ATHENS, Sept. 6.—According to a report received here from Janina two more alleged witnesses of the killing of the Italian members of the Greco-Albanian boundary commission have been arrested. It is asserted that all the evidence obtained thus far indicates that the murderers made their escape into Albanian territory.

DECIDED TO DELAY ACTION (Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The first observation made by each member of the council of ambassadors when it met yesterday to consider the Greco-Italian dispute was to say that he had no instructions from his Government. It was agreed that this being so, the council for the present should delay definite action.

BREK OFF COMMERCIAL RELATIONS (Associated Press Despatch)

ATHENS, Sept. 6.—The Athenian Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting yesterday decided to break off commercial and industrial relations not only with Italy, but also with all Italian firms in Greece.

CONFISCATE ALL ARMS (Associated Press Despatch)

CORFU, Sept. 6.—The Italian occupation authorities have ordered the confiscation of the arms of all nationalities resident there, including members of the Italian colony. British subjects may store their weapons in their own consulate.

This city is quiet and orderly, but the inhabitants are anxiously wondering how long the occupation will last. No Greek ships are arriving or departing, and it is impossible to proceed directly to Athens.

WORK IN RUHR MINES HAS BEEN RESUMED (Associated Press Despatch)

ESSEN, Sept. 6.—Work in the Ruhr mines has been resumed in all but one, the men returning of their own accord.

The Ladies' Aid held a dance in the Guild room on Saturday evening. Labaree's orchestra supplied the music. All spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison Jackson and family, of Beebe, were guests of their friends in town for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Bailey, of Moe's River, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, of Milby, have been guests of Mrs. M. Mack.

RICHMOND

St. Francis College opened up in all departments on Monday morning, with Principal S. L. Scott in charge and chairman J. D. Smith and Commissioner P. C. Duboyce present to represent the School Board. Principal Scott and Miss Marjorie Reed have joint charge of Grades nine, ten and eleven. Grade eleven opened with fifteen candidates, while Grades nine and ten each have twenty. Mrs. Edythe B. Chamberlain, with advanced elementary diploma, has charge of Grade eight, with Principal Scott taking certain subjects, while Mrs. Chamberlain alternates with Miss Reed in some Grade nine subjects. Miss Marion Smith is the Grade seven Miss May E. Astell French Specialist and also teaches grades five and six, while Miss Aletia Howe has Grades three and four and Miss Marion M. Robertson has grades one and two. Altogether, it is an exceptionally efficient staff and much good work is expected to result. Last year the College stood very high, having scarcely any failures in the higher grades, which were all well filled. There is in the entire building hardly any extra available seating, every room being practically filled to capacity.

Although Richmond is the proud possessor of some asphalt pavement on Main Street and Craig Street and their interesting squares, still the residents of College Street find that the dust nuisance has been almost intolerable this season, getting into the houses, spoiling floors and adding greatly to the general discomfort. Two of the citizens, Messrs. M. T. J. McKee and P. C. Duboyce, have purchased and spread in front of their respective residence a dust-layer manufactured in Syracuse, N. Y., composed of calcium-chloride, and have for the past few days enjoyed an entire relief from dust. This composition gathers out of the air and retains for a number of days sufficient moisture to render the road to which it is applied in a condition as though freshly sprinkled. It is understood that this needs to be applied only twice in the season, and if so it is to be hoped that the council will get a carload of it for use next summer or else install a pumping system on the St. Francis River to supply the watering cart with water that will not deplete the town reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lyster and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mills, of Montreal, are visiting friends in town.

Miss Enid Morrison, of Farnham, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Powers and Miss Powers, of Montreal West, have been recent guests at Elm Terrace, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hall.

Mrs. David Adams has returned from a visit to St. Eustache.

Major and Mrs. William Melrose, of Charlotte, Vt., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bidgood.

SUMMER COMPLAINT GRAMPS and DIARRHOEA

There is no other kind of disease that comes on so quickly and with so little warning as an attack of bowel trouble.

One may retire at night, in the best of health, and before morning be awakened by terrific cramps and pains in the stomach followed by diarrhoea, dysentery, summer complaint or bowel trouble in one form or another.

At this season of the year, when bowel troubles are so prevalent, we would advise the precaution of always having on hand a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry so that you will be ready for any and all emergencies. You will find that a few doses of this valuable remedy, taken promptly, will be the means of preventing a great deal of unnecessary suffering, and many a time save life.

Mrs. W. H. Todd, 174 Catherine St., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "Last summer I had a very bad attack of summer complaint, cramps and diarrhoea. I tried many different remedies, but they did not seem to help me. I heard of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I decided I would try it. I only took a few doses, and in a short time I was better."

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling something known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweeps the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial stimulants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

This Leaves the Arms Free from Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.

WESTBURY BASIN EXPENDITURES ARE REVIEWED

City Already Involved to Extent of Over $50,000 — Interest Accounts for Largest Item.

Complete statistics relative to the cost of the Westbury Basin insofar as the city of Sherbrooke is concerned, have been prepared by Mr. B. A. Dugal, chief accountant, and show that a total expenditure of $51,798.92 has been incurred to date. This amount does not, however, represent actual money paid out by the city, over half being interest calculated yearly on the basis of six percent, which is being accounted for on the city books.

In 1902 the Westbury Basin was purchased for the price of $9,500, and at the end of 1909 the proposed development had already cost the city the sum of $16,108.55 including interest. In 1910, a report was secured from Messrs. Ross and Holgate at the expense of $4,820.

Since 1910 practically the only expenses involved have been for taxes and interest. Incidental expenses amounted to $9.05 in 1916 and $82 in 1921. A complete resume of the expenditures as shown on the city books is as follows: Original cost $9,500.00 Ross and Holgate report . . . 4,820.00 Incidentals 223.56 Taxes 5,638.44 Interest 31,816.92 $51,798.92

The interest, not actually paid, but shown on the city books is more than half of the amount involved and the issue is now before the city council to consider whether they will endeavor to secure complete rights for the development of the project in accordance with the stipulations outlined by the government or whether they will allow the sum of $51,798.92 to be passed up. Negotiations are still proceeding but nothing definite has been concluded.

ies who are in peril in Japan on account of the disastrous earthquake, and on behalf of their friends and relatives in Canada. Mr. Brown pointed out that there are twenty-one Methodist Missionaries from Canada in Japan.

There are two hundred and thirty-five native pastors of the Methodist Church, which has some twenty-seven thousand members in the country. There are thirty-three self supporting Methodist Churches there. The pastor urged all Methodists throughout the country to remember in their prayers the suffering people.

CANADIAN WOMEN WRITERS WILL HAVE SPLENDID TRIP THIS MONTH.

The Canadian Women's Press Club, the membership of which now exceeds seven hundred, will hold its triennial meeting in Vancouver, B. C., this month, the dates for the meetings having been announced as September 24, 25 and 26. Since 1920, when the triennial was held in Toronto the western trip has been much anticipated, and the final announcements give proof that it will undoubtedly be a "wonder trip."

Through the courtesy of the Canadian railways the club members are provided with free transportation (berths and meals excepted) from any point to Vancouver and return. They have the privilege of going C.P.R. or C.N.R.; they may go one way and return another, take the lake trips, also via Prince Rupert, but are cautiously advised in the club circular to choose their routes, then stick to them. This point is emphasized by the practical appeal: "We have been asked to stress this point by the railways. We ask you to help in keeping faith on this matter. Show that a woman does not have to change her mind always." The three days' sessions close on September 25, and on the following day the club members will be the guests of the C.P.R. They will go to Victoria by boat, with luncheon on the steamer. On arrival at Victoria they will be guests of the local Press Club at dinner, followed by a reception at the Government House in the evening. Rooms, breakfast and lunch will be provided at the Empress Hotel, and the party will return to Vancouver Friday afternoon.

It is also announced that the visitors may be entertained to lunch on the Empress of Asia on Saturday; also by the C.P.R. The passes are for sixty days—September 1 to November 1—and many of the members will take advantage of the lengthy period to visit friends and enjoy a long holiday. It is expected that fully four hundred will meet in Vancouver. One of the chief items to come before the conference is an engrossing subject, "The Women's Page," and it is expected that some bright rays of light will find their way through the present clouds that envelope the present part of women's journalistic work. Mrs. B. W. Price, of this city, who is a member of the club, is taking the trip, and expects to leave Toronto on September 15. During her stay in Vancouver she will visit her brother, Mr. Henry Weston, and will make the return trip via the Kettle Valley Railway, Okanagan Lake trip and Crow's Nest Pass.

THIEVES KNOWN TO POLICE

Within the past few months a series of small thefts have taken place throughout the city, and an investigation on the part of the police shows that in practically every instance young lads were responsible. A little group of three and possibly four young lads has been operating throughout the city, and the local police have already laid their hands on three of them and are anxiously awaiting advice from

Boy Scout News

At the conclusion of the usual ushering at the grand stand at the Exhibition, the Scouts of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville were treated to a splendid banquet, which was partaken of with great zest, as becomes healthy Scouts. As a token of their appreciation of the boys' work the directors of the E.T.A.A. provided ginger ale, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Waller, firm supporters of the Scout movement, undertook to supply the "eats," which were delicious. Several ladies gave their time and services to waiting on the boys, who numbered about sixty.

Scouts of the 2nd Troop are urged to attend an important meeting on Friday evening next, September 7, when interesting news is likely to be discussed. Extensive activities are being planned for the fall and winter, and on next Saturday afternoon a corn roast will be held in connection with a hike to the woods.

Election of New Councillors. Each scripitor should make sure that the Square's representatives in the new council are appointed on Sunday, September 9, and in the hands of the secretary not later than September 11.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GUSTAVE L. DE LOTTINVILLE

Conspicuous in Legal Circles—Clerk of the Court—Registrar of Bankruptcy Court.

Sherbrooke mourns the loss of another prominent citizen in the death of Mr. Gustave L. DeLottinville, who passed away at his residence, 71 Montreal street, yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. Less than a week ago Mr. DeLottinville was at his office in the court house carrying on his official duties in his usual efficient manner. Taken ill during the course of the evening it was not until Sunday that his condition was considered really serious, and his rather sudden death came as a surprise to his many friends throughout the community.

The late Mr. DeLottinville was conspicuous in court circles, and at the conclusion of his studies at the St. Joseph Seminary, Three Rivers, he devoted himself entirely to a legal training and was duly admitted to the bar on January 12, 1884. He was appointed clerk of the Crown and clerk of the Circuit Court for the district of St. Francis on August 3, 1897, and within the past few years has been appointed registrar of the bankruptcy court as well as clerk of the peace.

He was born at Three Rivers on November 18, son of Octave DeLottinville and Lucie Beaudry, whose ancestors came from Picardie, France. He married Marie Emilie Gauthier, daughter of Ed. Gauthier, Three Rivers, May 18, 1885, and in addition to his widow leaves one son, Maurice, to mourn his loss.

The late Mr. DeLottinville was very active in organizations which stood for the improvement of conditions among the poor and sick, being greatly interested in the work of the Red Cross Association, the Gouette de Lait, the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. He was also a keen politician, and during the years 1884 to 1897 took an active part in the political battles of his party throughout the Eastern Townships. He was a strong speaker, a hard worker and a valuable organizer. He was a past grand knight of Sherbrooke Council, No. 539, K. of C., a member in the Caribiers and closely associated with the St. Joseph Society, the St. Jean Baptiste Society, the Royal Guards, Tuque Rouge Snowshoe Club, Sherbrooke Automobile Club and several other organizations of minor importance. In politics he was an ardent Liberal, and was a member of the Roman Catholic Church. Death was due to angina pectoris, and the last rites were administered to him before he passed away.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 11 a.m. daylight saving time. The cortege will leave the late residence at 71 Montreal street and proceed to the Cathedral, where the service will be held. Interment will be held in St. Michael's cemetery.

Boisvert is Successor. The official court duties are being carried on by Mr. Boisvert, assistant to the late Mr. DeLottinville, and it is generally presumed that Mr. Boisvert will soon be officially appointed to permanent tenure of the position. He is well versed in the functions of his legal duties, and his courteous manner and general efficiency promise to provide an able successor to the late Mr. DeLottinville, whose successful career has been so closely associated with the local court.

BROKE INTO GROCERY STORE

The grocery store of Messrs. Hunting and Son, of Huntingville, was entered by thieves last night and about seventy-five dollars in cash, which had been left in the till, was stolen, together with about twenty-five dollars worth of groceries.

The thieves gained entrance through a cellar window, which was broken open, and going upstairs, removed the till to the cellar, where they rifled it of its contents. They packed the groceries in a box and departed, evidently by the same way they entered.

Mr. Hunting noticed his loss at seven o'clock this morning when he opened the store for the day's business.

Mr. Hunting notified the police of his loss, and also notified the banks, since there was a cheque for a small amount among the roll of bills taken from the till.

SHORT REVIEW OF GROWTH OF GRANBY CITY

Many Important Factories Located in "Rubber Town"—Steady Increase Experienced.

GRANBY, Sept. 6.—(Special)—The city of Granby is a place of which not only its own residents have reason to be proud, but which is also a credit to the Province of Quebec and to the Dominion of Canada. Starting from very small beginnings, it has steadily advanced year by year. There has never been a spectacular boom in its history, nor any mushroom-like growth in its record, but on the contrary, since the year 1818, when the place consisted of three log dwellings, a grist-mill and a primitive saw-mill, it has been continuously advancing. This growth, without the place being possessed of any conspicuously natural advantages in the way of location, water power or anything of that nature. This steady progress is probably due to the fact that Granby has always seemed to be fortunate in the type of men who were its leading citizens and business men. They have been men who were not only shrewd and capable in a business way, but men who did not limit themselves alone, but who believed in the development of the whole community and making it a desirable place in which to live. This spirit, which has descended from the pioneers, seems to survive in full vigor in the present generation, with the result that nearly everyone who has been a resident of Granby—whom fate or for fortune has transferred to other parts of the universe, looks back with wistful longing to the days spent in Granby. By 1868 the town comprised 125 private dwellings and several business establishments, the total assessable value of the property at that date being $113,000. At the present time the value of the taxable property is $3,947,000, and of non-taxable is in excess of $2,000,000, a total of upwards of $6,000,000. The population is between 7,500 and 8,000.

A City of Factories
Granby is essentially a city of factories, there being upwards of fifteen industries located within its borders, of varying size and importance, which send their manufactured products throughout the Dominion of Canada, but across the waters to distant and foreign lands. Quite early in its manufacturing history Granby became known as the "Rubber Town," this being due to the fact that the Granby Rubber Company was about the first large and important industry to be developed here. This concern was one of the factories which, with several others in different parts of Canada, merged into the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co. It is at present one of the important plants of that system, employing several hundred hands and turning out all kinds of rubber footwear with the exception of tennis and running shoes, which are made at the St. Jerome factory. The Miner Rubber Factory, although of more recent origin, having been constructed in 1910, has been the equal of any agency in keeping Granby on the map of the rubber world. In their modern and up-to-date factory they have hundreds of employees and turn out rubber footwear of every description.

Perhaps competing with "Rubber" as the cognomen for the city is the word "Tobacco," for there are two factories devoted to the manufacture and distribution of that commodity in its various forms. The larger of these two concerns was originally established here by the Messrs. Archibald under the name of the Empress Tobacco Co. as an independent factory. It later passed into the control of the Imperial Tobacco Co. and is now one of the important plants of that organization, employing hundreds of hands and turning out tons of its popular brands of both smoking and chewing tobaccos. Within the past year a cigar-manufacturing addition has been installed and equipped.

The other concern manufacturing tobacco is J. Bruce Payne, Ltd. This concern confines itself more exclusively to the manufacture of cigars from imported leaf and the curing of Canadian leaf tobacco to make it suitable for use by cigar manufacturers. The products of the Payne factory have been widely and favorably known throughout the cigar-smoking population of Granby for many years.

The Granby Elastic Web Co., which manufactures elastic web and braid of all descriptions, has forged ahead steadily since its organization a few years ago. The plant has twice been enlarged and further extensions are under consideration. Giddings Limited manufacture reed and wicker chairs and baby carriages. In addition to a connection which covers the whole of Canada, they have a large export business, shipping goods to Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The Meyer-Thomas Co. is one of the largest concerns of its kind in Canada. They manufacture all kinds of cigar boxes and wooden packing boxes. Their production is limited only by the capacity of the plant, and then they are unable to accept all business offered them, and enlargement is under consideration. Two factories devote their energies to supplying the women of Canada with fancy combs, hairpins and hair ornaments. These are the Granby Manufacturing Co. and R. B. McCormick and Co. Their products are found in the stores from coast to coast.

The Broom Company of Canada manufactures the ordinary household broom and turns out this humble but useful and necessary article in generous quantities.

The Granby Clay Products manufactures building brick of all kinds. This is a rejuvenation of one of the oldest of Granby's industries, which was established by the late John Elkins. The present concern has installed the latest improvements in the way of kilns and equipment and is turning out a superior article.

Three concerns cater to the requirements of those building with or using lumber of any form, building material of all sorts, roofing or cement. These are the Kent Lumber Co., Barre & Charon and A. A. Caron.

The Sanitary Plumbing Mfg. Co. manufacture plumbers' supplies of all sorts and operate a brass and iron foundry.

The United Maple Products, which is but the evolution of the maple sugar and syrup business established by McDonald Bros., is perhaps not a factory in one sense, nevertheless thousands of gallons of maple syrup and tons of maple sugar are received at the plant here and are made into forms and packages to suit the requirements of the market. A good export business with England is being established. Also at this plant the McDonald patent sap spout is manufactured.

The Granby Dairy receives the milk and cream from all the farmers in the surrounding country. They not only cater to the local city trade in the line of butter and milk, but ship thousands of boxes of butter for the Montreal and export market and have an extensive demand during the hot weather for their high-grade ice cream.

The Dealers' Supply Co. is not a factory, but nevertheless it is a concern which advertises and emphasizes the important position Granby occupies in this portion of the Eastern Townships. It is a wholesale grocery house established by the late Nelson Mitchell, and serves the towns and villages of Shefford and adjoining counties.

The Late S. H. C. Miner
No account, however brief, regarding the industrial life and growth of Granby would be complete without special reference and tribute to the late S. H. C. Miner. He was born in Granby in the year 1835, and he died in Granby in 1911. In his early days he was interested in the tanning business, but with the passing of that industry he turned his attention to other lines. He was the first to establish the Granby Rubber Co., and the success and growth of that industry was mainly due to his energy and ability. When the merger took place he was the first president of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co. After leaving the Consolidated, Mr. Miner established the Miner Rubber Co. While Mr. Miner has extensive interests in copper mines in British Columbia and coal mines in Alberta, as well as important business connections elsewhere, he was, last and at all times a citizen of Granby, keenly interested in the municipal life. He was for twenty-three years mayor, and was always anxious for the development of a bigger and better Granby, and he devoted much of his unusual ability to the carrying out of his ideas in this respect. There is no doubt of the fact that during his lifetime the late Mr. Miner was the most valuable and important factor in the growth and development of the town.

Present Administration
The present municipal administration is in the hands of Mayor P. E. Boivin, who has occupied that position now for six years, and the board of Aldermen, who are as follows: Messrs. O. H. Jackman, H. Giddings, H. E. Comtois, Aug. Girard, P. Hebert and J. B. Langlois. Mr. Jos. Bergeron is the city clerk and treasurer.

The banking requirements of the city and surrounding community are amply accommodated through branches of four of Canada's leading banks, namely, the Bank of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Hochelaga.

The Schools
Educational facilities for the Protestant community are provided through the Granby High School, which is one of the best buildings of its nature in the Province. The following constitute the Board of Commissioners: Messrs. M. A. Vitte, H. D. Bradford, Dr. D. K. Cowley, H. Giddings and A. C. Smith. Mr. W. Russell Bradford is secretary-treasurer of the board.

For the Roman Catholic portion of the community there is St. Joseph's College for the boys, and St. Mary's Convent for the girls. The Roman Catholic School Board consists of the following: Messrs. J. H. Leclerc, Arthur Monty, Candide Leroux, Dr. Wilfrid Lord and Augustin Gravel. Mr. Jos. Lemieux is secretary-treasurer of the board.

The Granby Churches
The religious needs of the city are supplied through the medium of four churches. Taking them in the order of seniority, they are as follows: The Congregational Church was organized in 1830. The present pastor is Rev. I. W. Pierce, who settled here in 1920.

The Roman Catholic Church was organized in 1842. The present parish priest is Rev. R. T. Lamoureux, who was settled here in 1916. With the assistance of two vicars he attends to the spiritual needs of over 7,000 parishioners.

The Anglican Church was instituted in 1843. The present incumbent is Ven. Archdeacon Longhurst. It is worthy of special note that Archdeacon Longhurst was ordained in 1870, and in 1880 he came to Granby as rector of the parish and has remained here continuously since that time. Forty-three years of service as rector of one parish is a record not often equaled.

The Methodist Church was organized in 1855. The present pastor is Rev. Thomas Brown, who was station here in 1920.

Horticultural Exhibition

One of the annual features of the life of the city of Granby is the Horticultural Exhibition held each autumn. Originally this was a small affair held in part of the Town Hall. At present the Horticultural Society owns spacious buildings located on the G.A.A. grounds. Poultry and other departments have been added, and the annual event lasts for three days and attracts a large number of visitors from outside points. The exhibition this year is to be held September 6, 7 and 8. The following are the officers of the Society: Hon. President, W. H. Miner; Hon. vice-president, A. C. Smith; president, A. W. Hale; vice-president, C. P. MacDonald; secretary-treasurer, W. R. Bradford; directors, A. P. Stapleton, Wm. Kennedy, S. Martin, James Duncan, C. D. Porter, Geo. W. Jackman, Ernest Guertin, W. O. Lewis, W. H. Stevenson and W. R. Leggs.

These gentlemen have been busily engaged in the work of preparation and the present year's exhibition promises to be the most successful of any that has yet been held.

DISPLAY IN HORTICULTURAL AND VEGETABLE BUILDING A FEATURE AT BROME—JUDGING COMPLETED

General Consensus of Opinion Was that Never Before in History of Fair Has Such a Gorgeous Collection of Flowers Been Seen as Is the Case This Year—Large Crowd in Attendance Yesterday—Excellent Quality of Work in the Ladies' Department.

(Special to The Record)
 BROME, Que., Sept. 6.—(Special) "The fair is just as good as it ever was," said Mr. E. Caldwell, Secretary-Treasurer of the Brome County Agricultural Society. And judging by the appearance of the grounds yesterday, Mr. Caldwell was certainly right. Even before nine o'clock in the morning, visitors had started to arrive and by noon it was difficult to make one's way through the midway or through the principal buildings. The people came from all directions and it truly seemed that nearly every resident in the surrounding districts had left his or her labors for the day and turned to the fair grounds for amusement and education. Both could be had and the crowds apparently enjoyed themselves to the utmost.

Although the visitors came on foot on bicycles and in carriages and buggies motor vehicles won the day. Automobiles were parked line after line within the race track oval and hundreds were left along the streets of the village in the vicinity of the grounds. It is quite probable that never before has Brome witnessed such a large number of cars and a strong indication of the growing popularity of automobiles was given.

All sections were in full swing yesterday and the midway attractions proved to be big drawing cards throughout the entire day. The whip, the ferris wheel and the merry-go-round started early and stopped late and young and old obtained amusement by patronizing these popular mechanical contrivances. The irregular explosions of gasoline engines, the tiny notes of mechanical bands and the shouting of ballyhoo men combined into a discordant din, which drew the crowd like a huge magnet.

In nearly all departments the judges had completed their work by the end of the day but in some sections the tasks were too heavy and will be finished today.

Good Showing of Cattle.
 Mr. A. R. Ness, of Macdonald College, was judge in the cattle section and expressed general satisfaction with this year's showing. Mr. Ness stated that he has seen the show better, with more top class cattle, but claimed that on the whole the exhibits were quite fair. He said that the pure bred animals were of good quality but did not utter any commendatory remarks regarding the grade cattle. Mr. Ness said that the entries of Messrs H. I. Hastings and Sons and J. E. Jackson and Sons were the best among the Ayrshires and that those of Messrs. M. W. Miller and Sons and F. Fay and Sons were outstanding among the Holsteins.

The situation in the horse section was a varying one, ranging from bad in some classes up to good in others. The young classes, are small, stated Mr. C. W. Collins, of Hemmingford, the judge, and added that the draught horses were only fairly good. The general purpose class made a fine showing, however, and quite a satisfactory state of affairs existed in the carriage class, especially the singles. Mr. Collins carried on the judging before the grand stand, which was well filled yesterday afternoon, and the competitions created keen interest among the spectators. There was a good deal of friendly rivalry in the single drivers and general purpose class, both single and double, and the decisions were given only after the most careful consideration and observation.

The class for lady riders brought out three entries and the degree of equality was such that three firsts were awarded. All the girls handled their animals well and gave a pretty exhibition of riding, which brought forth rounds of applause from the spectators. It was stated that other specials would be productive of good competition and horse lovers are looking forward to some closely contested events.

The judging in the sheep and swine sections was completed and though in both cases the entries were not extremely large, the quality was high, much attention being paid to pure breeds.

Greatest Cause of Admiration.
 The greatest cause of admiration and enthusiastic comment was the Horticultural and Vegetable Building. The general consensus of opinion was to the effect that never before had such a gorgeous collection of flowers been seen. As Mr. Caldwell, the secretary, said "The fruit is lighter but the exhibits of flowers were never better." A walk through the building gave ample proof of this for both sides of one long aisle were entirely devoted to floral exhibits. The class for the best collection of cut flowers included numerous entries, brilliant colors intermingling one with another, creating in the totality a wonderful and harmonious array of tints and shades. Some cleverly artistic wreaths and floral designs were included, as well as five collections of plants. Hydrangeas were popular but there were an exceptionally large number of geraniums in competition.

But there were more than flowers in the building for a large section was given over to cooking, canning and fruit. Because of the unfortunate season the entries in the last class were not considered large. Apples constituted practically the entire show and although the quality varied, some good specimens were seen.

A long line of jars, containing jellies and canned fruits and vegetables, gave visual proof as to the popularity of this section. This was undoubtedly one of the outstanding exhibits of its kind in the Eastern Townships and was highly praised by those who saw it. The quality was high and the resultant competition was close.

The cooking consisted largely of pies, cakes, bread and rolls and the entries nearly filled glass covered cases running the entire length of the building. There were also a good number of eggs entered, as well as some maple sugar.

The vegetable section was very well filled and contained some excellent specimens of the products of the soil. Entries of fine corn were prominent and many wondering comments were heard, as to where such corn could have possibly been grown this year. Cauliflowers, carrots, turnips, potatoes, celery, tomatoes, squash, pumpkins and various sorts of grains made up the greater portion of the show.

Fine Exhibits in Ladies' Department
 Miss Eleanore M. Roach, judge in the Ladies' Department, was pleased with the quality of the work which came under her jurisdiction, stating that it compared very favorably with the ladies' work in other fall fairs, such as the Sherbrooke Exhibition. The upper part of the main building was occupied by this department and was the gathering place for the ladies of Brome, who showed a deep interest in the work exhibited. Fancy work predominated and fine specimens of expert needle work could be seen. There was in addition, a large collection of handiwork, including handsome rugs, patch-work quilts and carefully knitted sweaters and socks.

Yesterday afternoon, in the W.C.

OLD FIDDLER FOUND BY FORD AND EDISON

Zep Bisbee, at 81 Years of Age, Will Play His Jigs and Quicksteps for the Gramophone

JEP BISBEE, an old fiddler, steps into fame at 81 years of age.

Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford discovered him. Soon everybody will be hearing Bisbee on the gramophone.

It was in the course of their summer outing that Edison and Ford came upon the old man at Paris, Michigan. For more than fifty years Jep had fiddled at all the soldiers' reunions and fair time dances up and down western Michigan. Ford and Edison enjoyed the square dances, jigs and reels of the veteran musician.

Whereupon Mr. Edison decided to perpetuate for all time the merry tunes that roll from old Jep's fiddle. He has invited Bisbee to New Jersey to play into records just like Kreisler does.

"I am going and I shall play them just what they want, and my tunes date back 100 years," Jep says.

Henry Ford has negotiated for one of Jep's handmade fiddles and the price agreed upon is an even $100. Jep is also going to be the owner of an automobile. It will be "made in Detroit" and it will come from Mr. Ford.

It was a big day in Paris when the notables arrived. Seven big automobiles ranging from limousines to trucks were in the train. They were loaded with passengers and tents and driven by a group of men in khaki uniforms. Paris, Mich., has seen tourists before, but never did so many come at once. They purchased close to 100 gallons of gas and many quarts of oil—a record sale for the garage man.

A crowd gathered to give the caravan the once or twice over, and somebody suggested that "that guy in the back seat looks like Hank Ford."

"That is Henry Ford—by George, it is," was the assertion from another. "And that must be Mrs. Ford—and, say—I read that Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone are with him. That's them."

"By George, it is." At this the man in the back seat asked the crowd if anyone knew the way to Jep Bisbee's house. The crowd said in chorus, "You bet," and pointed the way, and in a moment Mrs. Bisbee, 77 years old, was smiling on the doorstep in her home and saying:

"Mr. Ford? Why, yes, of course. And Mr. Edison? Of course. I will go and get my husband and have him play for you. Come on right in."

Jep Bisbee played. He is at his best when he faces an audience. He fiddled the old reels, the old quicksteps and the old jigs until the visitors' feet were dancing and Mr. Edison's hand was moving back and forth to mark the rhythm.

"They came to see if they could get me to play the old music," Mr. Bisbee said the other day. "They said they wanted the kind of music they couldn't get nowadays. G. E. Kingsford, who runs the Ford mines at Iron Mountain, was in the party, and it seems he had heard me play forty years ago. He told Mr. Ford about me."

"Mr. Ford said: 'Do you feel like playing a little?' and I said, 'Yes, I feel like playing any time,' so I started in. Before he got away he got looking at my violin. 'I will give you $100 for that violin,' he said, and put the money down on the table. He is coming back for it later."

"Mr. Edison got right down close—he is slightly deaf, you know—to see if all my measures were correct. I took pains to see that the accent was right. I even accented more than usual. I played Howe's maule—music 'way back—you can't get it now, and somebody said: 'It seems so good to hear that.'"

"And after that Mr. Edison got talking about me going down East. He wants me to play so everybody can hear it. I am going to do it."

Just before Mr. Ford left Bisbee's he said: "If a man drives up here with a nice little car for you, don't tell him to take it away, will you?"

When Margot Says "Wait," She Means to Be Obeyed

"When I Tell My Daughter to Wait She Waits," But She Didn't

MRS. ASQUITH'S welcome home to her daughter, Princess Bibesco, at Southampton, a few days ago, was a comedy of hide and seek.

Mrs. Asquith had wirelessly her daughter aboard the Olympic to wait on board. When she arrived the ship lay deserted at the dock side, but Mrs. Asquith pooh-poohed the suggestions of officials that her daughter had gone ashore.

"When I tell my daughter to wait for me, she waits," was her terse comment.

But a moment later she discovered the princess' maid. A torrent of expostulation was met with the demure assurance that the princess really had gone to her hotel.

Margot, now thoroughly annoyed, and smoking feverishly, swept off in her car and tormented into the hotel.

"Where is the Princess Bibesco?" she asked the uniformed porter.

But, alas, the porter knew neither Margot nor her daughter.

So completely nonplussed was Margot that, when the princess appeared round the corner, she collapsed into her arms, overcome by such a variety of emotions as even versatile Margot could not cope with.

Mr. Ferguson Says 'Gid-dap' To a Very Balky Launch

Slipped Overboard Into the Rideau River and Towed Passengers to Shore by His Teeth

YOU never know what you can do until you get up against it, but when you get up against it you do it.

That is a sentence which Hon. G. Howard Ferguson used on more than one occasion during his strenuous election campaign, when, for instance, he was going along on two meetings a day, a hundred miles or so of motoring and about two hours of sleep.

That was the spirit which he put into the campaign, and it accounts to a great extent for the remarkable fight which he put up, not only during the big drive, but for years before.

As further illustration of his disposition to beat down all barriers, there is the story of the time, not so long ago, when he was caught on the Rideau river in a difficult situation. Hon. Mr. Ferguson had a gasoline launch, thirty feet long, and he had taken out a party of five ladies. Then, towards evening, the engine declined to carry on, while the boat was in the middle of the river, with the result that the future premier had to do his own carrying-on. Here is how he did it.

He calmly slipped overboard into the water, took the tow-ropes in his teeth, and tried to swim. For a time he just made the motions, then at length the balky launch began to move, and so he carried on, swimming upon his back until he towed the thirty-footer and its five passengers safely to the shore, a hundred yards distant.

ENGLISH GIRLS WON'T KISS WEALTHIEST BACHELOR

Sir Philip Sassoon Gets Absolute Refutation of Allegation That Modern English Girls Are Too Forward

SIR PHILIP SASSOON, M.P., who is said to be the richest bachelor in England, and whose magnificent estate near Hythe was admired by thousands of Canadians who trained at Shorncliffe and neighboring camps, is a disappointed man. He was opening a garden fete at Aldington, Kent, the other day, and in his address read certain passages from a letter written by Erasmus, the famous Dutch divine and man of letters, describing his reception in England.

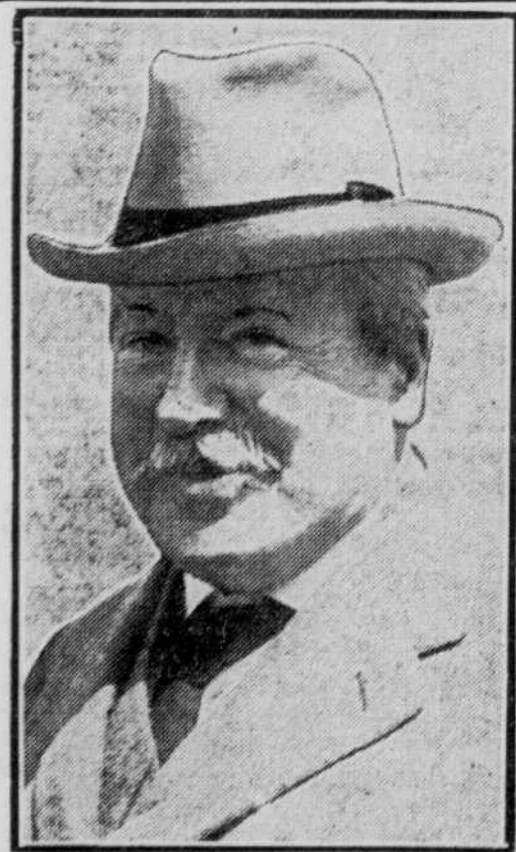

English women kiss you when you arrive, kiss you when you go, and also kiss you at intervening opportunities.

"Ah, Faustus," he continued, "if you had once tasted the tenderness, the perfume of these kisses, you would want to stay in England, not merely ten years, but for all your life."

Sir Philip rather pessimistically said that if the women present would revert to that custom of four centuries ago he for one would vote the fete a huge success.

The result was an absolute refutation of the allegation that the modern English girl is too forward. The wealthiest bachelor in England left the fete having had no charming lips upturned to his.

American Professor Becomes Earl
WHY shouldn't he smile? This is Professor Charles Ernest Pellew, former professor at Columbia University, who left on the SS. France for England, to take his seat in the House of Lords as Seventh Viscount Exmouth. The new viscount, like his father who died in February 1900 after the news of his inheritance, is an American citizen, but will become an English subject as soon as possible.

"Saying Peace, Peace: When There is No Peace"

IN this way, as the impersonation of peace, with his doves and olive branch, Punch pictures Lloyd George, but the masked author of "When There is No Peace" has a different idea. He confides to us that there is no peace in Europe principally because of Hugo Stinnes, German arch-profitier, and David Lloyd George, arch-opportunist. He thinks Lloyd George's shiftiness and evasion, as he says, to blame for the repeated failure of conferences upon which the reading public were assured hung the fate of the world.

Love After the Port Sunlight Fashion Gains Dislike for Lord Leverhulme

General Tidying-up and Industrializing of the Hebridean Islanders Resented—Stupendous and Eccentric Capitalist-Manufacturer Likes Illuminating Arab Proverb

A SOAP BOILER, who claims the ancient and romantic title of Lord of the Western Isles;

A builder of model villages, who owns the mystic isle of Lewis, famed in Scottish story, where the Brahan Seer died, singing true prophecies amidst the flames;

A patron of art, who cut the head from a portrait of himself by one of the greatest artists of the day, and wished to pay for another by the yardstick;

A stupendous capitalist-manufacturer, who is an almost violent advocate of the six-hour day for workmen;

Viscount Leverhulme, of the Western Isles and the Sunlight Soap Company, certainly presents to us a variegated personality.

He started life, in 1851, as the son of a grocer in Bolton, Lancs. He became, successively, a grocer in Wigan, a soap maker, the creator of Port Sunlight, a political power, a baronet, a peer, and perhaps the greatest industrial magnate on the face of the earth.

Over thirty years ago, when Sunlight Soap was already a household word, Wm. Lever, as he was then, became tired of squabbles with neighboring landholders. He walked one day along the Mersey River, stopped at a field gate, and looked out across a flat, rather swampy tract of country. To-day that tract is covered by an industrial town of almost unbelievable perfections. It has railway and shipping facilities. It has model factories, model schools, model hospital, model cottages, at a model rent. Model children play in its streets, and model work-people proceed industriously about their business, while a model proprietor gazes upon all, from a model mansion named Hulme Hall.

That is the impression which one gets from the descriptions. There is something about it which fills the unregenerate with a desire to go out immediately, and break a window.

Lord Leverhulme's scheme for a six-hour day does not mean a factory open only six hours. The overhead would not permit of that. There would, according to him, be two shifts, of six hours each. He claims that under these conditions the work is more efficient, and the loss of time through sickness is much less.

This plan is not in use at Port Sunlight, and the real reason is a strange one. It is simply that Labor will not permit it. The Unions look with deep suspicion upon a two-shift day, and fear over production. There the matter rests.

As an art patron, his Lordship reminds one of the old wives' saying about the hen that laid a good egg, and then put her foot on it. The Lady Lever Art Gallery at Port Sunlight, and the donation of a twenty-eight years' lease of Stafford House to house the London Museum Collections are pieces of constructive and generous work. To these he adds, however, most egregious quarrels with two great artists, Augustus John, and Sir Wm. Orpen. In the one case he

Bird Man's Freckles More Than Toad's Warts

Incident Trekking Into Canada With His Father Influenced Whole of Jack Miner's Life

JACK MINER, the well known naturalist, who to-day, has become famous throughout Canada as "the bird man" tells the following anecdotes of his life.

Born in Ohio, of humble parentage, father decided to move northward and make for himself and family a home in western Ontario.

Before leaving, a friend asked him if he thought he could make a living up there. He replied, I think I can, and more than that, I can make "A Life." These words were indelibly impressed on Miner's young mind and have had an influence for good on his whole life, he says.

"Halting at a certain little town," he continued, "my father inquired how many saloons were to be found there and on being told he said, 'This is no place for my boys to start life in.' We boys were gathered in and the caravan rolled on."

Jack still laughs as he tells of a remark made by a girl one day while riding on the train. "That fellow," she said, "has more freckles on his face than a toad has warts." But as beauty is only skin deep this remark caused me little worry."

WINSTON DODGED CHURCH TO AID POLICE REPORTS

AMUSING details of the early life of Winston Churchill are published in the current number of the Police Chronicle.

The anecdotes are written by a member of the force who was stationed at Harrow when Winston was attending the great public school there.

One of the best stories tells how he used to dodge church on Sunday mornings. When the procession of boys started from the school Winston at a certain turning would slip out of the procession and make his way to the local police office, where he would pass the time helping the sergeant to make out his reports. As the sergeant was not an expert penman this help was always welcome.

When the procession reached the same turning young Churchill was ready to slip into his place again, and marched back to the school looking as spiritually impressed as any boy present.

HELLO—PARAGRAPH?

WALTER MAUGHAN, who was recently appointed head of the Canadian Pacific steamships, was for many years city passenger agent for the C.P.R. in Toronto, and was noted for his great popularity not only with the public but with the members of the staff.

On one occasion, when he was in the throes of dictating a heavy morning's mail, he was interrupted by the ringing of the telephone. Turning from the stenographer to the phone, he surprised the person on the line—and no doubt himself, by answering: "Paragraph?"

THE SHERBROOKE POSTAL DIVISION.

Again reports are current of the early closing of the Post Office Inspector's office in Sherbrooke and the bringing of this division under Montreal.

At present the whole Eastern Townships and some territory outside is under the direction of the Sherbrooke office. This territory includes 272 rural routes. The yearly payment to mail carriers amounts to about $300,000.

It will be recalled that some two years ago the proposal to centralize the postal supervision was up for discussion, Kingston, Edmonton, Charlottetown, Lethbridge and Victoria were to go into the discard with Sherbrooke. Action was deferred at that time but according to reports is now imminent. The purpose the department has in mind is to effect an economy in operation.

It is said that in the event of the Sherbrooke division being joined with Montreal, one official would be retained in Sherbrooke and that other employees of the P. O. Inspector's Office would be provided for elsewhere.

Sherbrooke and Eastern Townships people would very much regret to see these proposals carried into effect. The Eastern Townships is an important territory in postal matters and the Sherbrooke office makes for efficiency in service. It is doubtful if much saving in operation would actually result from this move. Saving in cost could, indeed, be the only reasonable excuse for service would be bound to suffer to some extent.

If the other offices noted above are to be closed, Sherbrooke will probably go, also.

Official announcement has not come, as yet, in this connection and it is yet possible that it may be found practical to continue the Eastern Townships office.

THE SECURITY OF BANKS.

The tendency to criticize banks is recalled by the Ottawa Journal which believes that the failure of certain banks indicates that "conservatism" is not overdone by any of the leading banking institutions.

The Journal says: "The bankers of Canada seem to get criticism 'both coming and going.'"

"It is a common complaint in Parliament and on the street that the banks are too conservative in the matter of credit, charge too much for loans and pay too little interest on depositors' money. Because of this they are accused of monopolistic tendencies.

"But when a bank gets into difficulties, suffers losses on investments and has to suspend or be absorbed by some other institution, much is heard about Government responsibility for the protection of depositors and customers debarred from the use of their money.

"We can't have our cake and eat it. If Government is going to be responsible for the absolute security of banks, the business of the banks must be made more and not less conservative; there must be a tightening of credit or higher rates on loans or lower interest on deposits. Then would arise the question whether the last state would not be worse than the first."

TURN OF THE WHEEL OF FORTUNE.

President Coolidge says that but for the advice and encouragement of an old cobbler friend in his home town he would not have become President of the United States.

The following bearing upon this is taken from the Winnipeg Telegram:

"Speaking of cobblers, the truth is that they are wonderfully clear observers of events. We have some of the finest and rarest of them in Winnipeg, and apparently there are many of the same standard over the line. One of the first acts of President Coolidge on succeeding to the highest office in his land was to write a charming note on White House stationery with his own hand to his old friend, James Lucey, a highly respected jobber at Northampton, Mass., Mr. Coolidge's home town, to give him due credit for a large share in his political success. Here is President Coolidge's letter:

"The White House, Washington. "My Dear Mr. Lucey,—Not often do I see you or write you, but I want you to know that if it were not for you I should not be here and I want to tell you how much I love you. "Do not work too much now and try to enjoy yourself in your well-earned leisure of age. "Yours sincerely, "CALVIN COOLIDGE. "August 6th, 1923. "Mr. James Lucey, "Northampton, Mass."

"Shortly after Coolidge began the practice of law he formed the habit of visiting Lucey's shop almost daily and discussing the news and events of the day with him. The cobbler's wisdom and sage observations appealed strongly to the rising young lawyer and helped him greatly in his mental and political development. The shoemaker was a faithful friend as well as adviser and their close relationship has continued unabated as the President has climbed to his present eminence successfully through the lieutenant-governorship and governorship of Massachusetts, and the vice-presidency."

PARAGRAPHS

Dignity goeth before a banana peel. The Greek letter fraternity most popular among politicians appears to be All B. "Do motor cars make us lazy?" asks the Digest. Well, not if we're pedestrians. Whiskey may improve with age in some respects, but not as a topic of conversation. An educated man is one who knows how to spell Czechko-Slovakia or whatever it is. Ridicule isn't really funny unless it hits somebody whose superiority is an offence to our vanity.

The proper study of mankind is back yards. Another thing that straw votes demonstrate is that they have little influence on political conventions.

The objection to a third party is that nobody wishes to contribute anything more substantial than ideas.

If Government really wishes to do something for the farmer, let it discover a way to burn wheat in a tractor.

Consider the mosquito, for example. He never gets a slap on the back until he stops his racket and goes to work.

The old-fashioned hard-boiled guy could shoot a buffalo in two-fifths of a second; the modern can shoot the bull for an hour.

The head that holds the idea that the owner is a raving beauty isn't troubled with any other ideas worth mentioning.

Correct this sentence: "Frankly," confided the salesman, "there isn't another car in this price-class that can compare with it."

Science asserts that fish isn't brain food. Then how does it happen that we're smart enough to have a pay day right after Friday?

Correct this sentence: "In the old days," said he, "you could drink a barrel of it and it wouldn't make you feel that way the next morning."

PRESS COMMENT

COUE AND CANADA.

(Peterboro' Examiner.) What is required just now is a little more Coueism—lay by cay in every way, Canada is getting better and better.

A CONTINUAL TROUBLE MAKER.

(Washington Star.) Germany starts out in the expectation of making trouble for the entire world, and this aspect of the enterprise still gives a slight promise of success.

CHEERFUL THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

(Cincinnati Inquirer.) It didn't take long for the "Every day in every way" stuff to die out, and maybe if we can hold on a little longer this "Yes, we have no" epidemic will also disappear.

EUROPE AND OUR WHEAT.

(London Free Press.) Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan has properly sized up the situation in regard to the low price of wheat when he says that the whole trouble is that they have some wheat to sell to a market 5,000 miles away which has no money.

HAVE FAITH IN CANADA.

(Ottawa Citizen.) The need today is to throw off the mental condition which cannot see the wood for the trees and to look a little further ahead. Courage, confidence and good cheer will do much in restoring the right attitude toward the nation's future. Have faith in Canada. Her people have advantages which are the envy of other nations. Use those advantages wisely, forget the forebodings of the faint-hearted, have confidence in the superior position and ability of Canadians, and the outlook will undergo a much-needed change.

CANADIAN CHEESE.

(Kingston Whig.) Canadian cheese producers have it in their power to regain their lost position, but a re-casting of the methods is necessary. This country can produce, and has produced, finer cheese than any other country in the world. The realization that keen competition now exists should spur the producers to regain that high standard of quality which made them famous in the world's markets. The remedy, however, does not end there. The greatest change is needed in the export department of the industry. A strict system of grading for quality has been approved, and this should be effectively enforced.

SMALL HOUSES NEEDED.

(Brandon Sun.) The fact that there are few small houses that are actually good to live in is only too apparent in Brandon. There are those which some cities would close as unfit for habitation. The shortage of houses at a reasonable rent forces citizens to occupy some of the unfit and to raise families within them. All the preachings about the happy influences of home life are farcical when decent houses for homes are not available. The shortage of houses at reasonable rents and the consequent overcrowding of families into larger or smaller houses are a menace to morals, health and family life. To talk of home influences without moving to encourage better homes is mockery.

"DESIRABLE INDEED."

(Victoria Colonist.) New Zealand is effecting a reduction of 20 per cent. in its income taxation which will be better appreciated. The tangible way in these times to restore confidence is to reduce taxation. We say this with emphasis at a moment when our administrators continue to canvass ways and means of devising fresh sources of taxation. We say it because we believe they have mistaken the spirit of the times and have not yet learned to tread the rigid path of economy, and we say it in the hope we may take an example from New Zealand which enterprise, economy and a sound outlook have made one of the most prosperous portions of the Empire in these latter years. It is desirable, indeed, to recur again and again to this subject of economy in a municipal, provincial and federal sense.

A CHECK ON LAKE RATES.

(Vancouver Province.) Vancouver hears with interest the clamor about excessive charges by grain transports on the lake routes. These prices may be impositions, but the shippers defend them. They may be paid in the end by the grain grower, but that does not reduce them. One check on any such monopoly is the Pacific ocean route. Manitoba growers, who are asked by Winnipeg to oppose the reduction of railway rates on westbound freight may be great gainers by the competition of the Panama Canal route. Honest freights on grain shipped by the Pacific will promote fair charges on the lake boats. Otherwise the lake boats will lose their business.

HONORS WERE EVEN.

(Exchange.) The humor of English names appeals to United States Ambassador Harvey. He says that one of the Cave-Brown-Caves went over to New York and made there the acquaintance of a man named Home. Home, as he talked to his new friend, kept calling him Mr. Cave. The Englishman winced every time this happened, but Home didn't notice anything amiss, so finally he said: "I say, call me Cave-Brown-Cave, there's a good chap, won't you?" Home accepted the correction humbly. But he was biding his time. After a while the Englishman called him Mr. Home, and he said: "I'll ask you to call me Home-Sweet-Home, if you don't mind."

The Wings of the Morning

A Great Story of Adventure and Romance BY LOUIS TRACY.

"Ah, sahib! Praised by the name of the Most High, you are alive. I was searching among the slain with a sorrowful heart."

The Mahomedan's voice came from some little distance on the left. "The slain, you say. How many?"

"Five, sahib." "Impossible! I fired blindly with the revolver, and only hit one man hard with the iron bar. One other dropped near the wood after I obtained a rifle."

"Then there be six sahib, not reckoning the wounded. I have accounted for one, so the miss-sahib must have—"

"What is he saying about me?" inquired Iris, who had risen and joined her lover.

"He says you absolutely staggered the Dyaks by opening fire the moment they appeared."

"How did you come to slay one, Mir Jan?" he continued. "A son of a black pig followed me into the cave. I waited for him in the darkness. I have just thrown his body outside."

"Shabash! Is Taung S'Ali dead, by any lucky chance?" "No, sahib, if he be not the sixth I will go and see."

"I have found a sword, sahib. You left me no cartridges." Jenks told him that the clip and the twelve packets were lying at the foot of the rock, where Mir Jan speedily discovered them. The Mahomedan gave satisfactory assurance that he understood the mechanism of the rifle by filling and adjusting the magazine. Then he went to examine the corpse of the man who lay in the open near the quarry path.

The sailor stood in instant readiness to make a counter demonstration were the native assailed. But there was no sign of the Dyaks. Mir Jan returned with the news that the sixth victim of the brief yet fierce encounter was a renegade Malay. He was so confident that the enemy had had enough of it for the night that, after recovering Jenks's revolver, he boldly went to the well and drew himself a supply of water.

During supper, a feast graced by a quart of champagne worthy of the Carlton, Jenks told Iris so much of the story as was good for her: that is to say, he cut down the casualty list.

It was easy to see what had happened. The Dyaks, having missed the Mahomedan and their water-bag, searched for him and heard the conversation at the foot of the rock. Knowing that their presence was suspected, they went back for reinforcements, and returned by the shorter and more adventurous route along Turtle Beach. Iris would have talked all night,

FRESH

Tea—to be good—must be fresh

is always fresh and possesses that unique flavour of 'goodness' that has justly made it famous.

but Jenks made her go to sleep, by pillowng her head against his shoulder and smoothing her tangled tresses with his hand. To wine, too, was helpful. In a few minutes her voice became dreamy; soon she was sleeping like a tired child.

He managed to lay her on a comfortable pile of ragged clothing and then resumed his vigil. Mir Jan offered to mount guard beneath, but Jenks bade him go within the cave and remain there, for the dawn would soon be upon them.

Left alone with his thought, he wondered what the rising sun would bring in its train. He reviewed the events of the last twenty-four hours. Iris and he—Miss Deane, Mr. Jenks, to each other—were then undiscovered in their refuge, the Dyaks were gathered around a roaring fire in the valley, and Mir Jan was keen in the hunt as the keenest among them. Now, Iris was his affianced bride, over twenty of the enemy were killed and many wounded, and Mir Jan, a devoted adherent, was seated beside the skeleton in the gloom of the cavern.

What a topsy-turvy world it was, to be sure! What alternations between despair and hope! What rebound from the gates of Death to the threshold of Eden! How untrue, after all, was the nebulous philosophy of Omar, the Tentmaker. Surely in the happenings of the bygone day there was more than the purposeless

Their Future

Your Boy, For Instance

Your boy can be interested in his own future.

His ideas will be "steadied" by the knowledge of your plans for him.

His "preparation" expenses are provided for "no matter what happens."

Later on his training helps to win confidence,

Leading to his ultimate success, and your deep satisfaction.

If your boy or girl could speak now with the wisdom of later years, they would ask, above all else, for education, training for business,—a real start in life.

Every parent knows that the boy who has training is selected for a good position; and the girl who has the right start can make a place for herself in the world, and always be sure of independence and happiness.

You want your children to be equipped for the battle of life, as others are.

Make Your Plans Secure

Why not provide, as many parents are now doing, that "no matter what may happen", your boy or girl will have the advantage of a good start in life?

In these times they need training and the help you can give as never before.

See what the Canada Life can do with the new

Educational Policy

It will provide immediately, if you should die, an educational fund, to be held in trust at interest for your child's training.

This fund cannot be touched by the child until the date set by you has been reached.

It will then be paid in eight separate payments, six months apart, to cover the four vital years of training.

If you should live, the cash value of the contract, with dividends, will be available at any time to carry out any of your plans.

Nothing could be more simple—the funds provided—your plans made definite and secure—whether you live or die.
